Festival to be held in Cameron next week

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will honor the fur industry at this year's festival, set for Jan. 9-11, in Cameron. The Festival King will be chosen from that industry.

Fur trapping has been an important part of the economy of Cameron Parish since the very first settlers came to the area in the early 1800's.

Louisiana leads the United States in wild fur production, averaging over 40 percent of the total catch each year.

The state fur catch in some seasons has amounted to as much as 65 percent of the total production for the nation, bringing in millions of dollars to Louisiana, with Cameron Parish being the highest producer.

The history of the Louisiana fur industry dates back to the 1700's, and the founding of New Orleans.

As the French and English battled for the great fur wealth of the new world, Iberville, founder of the French colony of Louisiana, realized the secret to the fur commerce was transportation.

Since the Mississippi River reached into the center of America, it was a natural means of transporting fur collected along the waterway to New Orleans to be shipped to world markets.

In world history it played an even more important roll. In the 13th Century, Marco Polo made a fortune from furs, and in 1319 a trading guild known as the "Skinners Company" was formed in London, England to find new sources of fur.

Louisiana's importance to the fur trade was first recognized by an English company which became known as the Hudson's Bay Company, which is still in existence. Company records show that fur auctions were held as far back as 1672.

The popularity of furs in the garment industry serves as a barometer of prices that range from the finished product to the trapper. The market is especially good in Russian, Germany and Japan.

Pageants are Sat.

PICKED BY COACHES

LaLande named Coach of Year

By JOE MUELLER

The coaches in Southwest Louisiana have a way to select the best coach in Southwest Louisiana as they vote for the top coach in the circulation area of the Lake Charles American Press and this year there was no doubt as to who earned the coach of the year. The winner was Parry LaLande, head coach of the South Cameron Tarpons.

Coach LaLande took a group of inexperienced players who compiled a 4-5 record in 1995 to a 10-4 record in 1996 and the finals of the Class AA championship in the Superdome.

The coach started his head coaching career at South Cameron 1982 and has only coached at South Cameron. He spent five years on the staff at South Cameron before being named head coach by Principal Frank Brocato. LaLande graduated from McNeese in 1977 with a degree in health and physical education. He was freshman coach at South Cameron in 1977 and was named offensive line coach in 1978 by head coach Wayne Batts.

Coach LaLande's first win as a head coach was a 12-6 win over Iowa in the opening game of the 1982 season.

Since that first win LaLande has gone on to win 127 other games. His teams, which are always very sound fundamentally, have made the playoffs 11 out of 15 years.

He took the 1986 team to the state finals. His teams have advanced to the quarter finals seven different years.

Coach LaLande has a very experienced staff and does an excellent job of coordinating all their experience into a win on Friday nights. His teams are always well prepared and they play with lots of determination and enthusiasm.

Coach LaLande this year took his team to Lamar prior to the start of the season and they worked hard practicing three times a day in preparation for the 1996 season.

Coach LaLande

Coach LaLande has said that, "All the wins and the trips to the big show are fun, but the greatest thing is to be able to turn a kid's life around."

He has spent all 42 years of his life at Creole, has no plans on going anywhere else. He says a change of environment for him would be very traumatic.

Coach Lalande is a very team oriented coach and spends time with the entire team, not just the super stars.

Some comments from his peers on awarding him coach of the year honors were "Cameron is always one of the most fundamentally sound team we play. parry and his staff do a great job of teaching football."

"Coach LaLande seems to be one of the best at getting the most out of his players."

"His time has come. passed over before; he did a great job in a rebuilding year."

Congratulations to Coach LaLande, you are very deserving of the honor your peers have bestowed upon you. Thanks for a great 1996 season by you, your staff and the entire team.

Jury will honor Tarpons & LaLande

The South Cameron high school football team and their head coach will be given special recognition by the Cameron Parish Police Jury at its monthly meeting at 10 a.m., Jan. 7.

The Tarpon football team and their coaches will be honored for being the state AA runnerups.

And Head Coach Parry LaLande will be recognized for being named the Southwest Louisiana Coach of the Year.

Players and coaches are expected to be present at the meeting.

The jury will also elect a new president and vice-president for the coming year. Jurors probably will continue the rotation of these jobs amoung the members, as has been custom in past years.

Tina Horn and Bonnie Conner, parish administrator and jury secretary, respectively, are expected to be reappointed to their positions. Conner, who is also parish treasurer, was appointed to a 2-year term in that position last year.

Juror George LeBouef has also placed the Monkey Island ferry on the agenda. The state's transportation department has proposed shutting down this ferry for an annual saving of $265,243 to the state. However, if the ferry is closed access to Monkey Island would be by boat only unless a bridge is built.

The jury will also hold a condemnation hearing on a structure at Holly Beach.

4 Tarpons get SW La. honors

The South Cameron Tarpons had four players named to the All Southwest Small School Team which is picked by the Lake Charles American Press.

Chad Bridges and Derrick Vaughn were selected as offensive linemen. Scotty Brown was selected as a defensive lineman and Cory Broussard as a defensive back.

3 named as All State

The South Cameron Tarpons, runners-up in Class AA, placed three players on the All State Team, released last Sunday.

The Tarpons Chad Bridges and Cory Broussard were named to the first team and Derrick Vaughn received honorable mention honors.

Looking Back In Time

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press Dec. 30, 1921 Cameron Parish Expenditures)

Grand Chenier -- The public schools throughout the parish gave holiday programs.

Hon. J. A. Wakefield and Hon. W. R. McCall, who served on the Cameron Parish Board of Equalization last year, will be recommended again at the January meeting, to serve for the year 1922. Hon. Eugene Miller was elected by the Louisiana Tax Commission last year, but no action has yet been taken with that board for a successor to Mr. Miller. The board did very satisfactory work last year.

Cameron has spent up to date, for the year 1921 on tick eradication, $3,226.25 for chemicals plus the freight and $6,950.92 for salaries for inspectors, repairs, etc., a total of $10,177.17. The estimated revenues for Cameron for 1921 was $20,000, of this amount the public schools received $6,000, leaving a total of less than $4,000 for the many other items such as sheriff's salary, assessor's salary, treasurer and clerk's salary, district attorney, road and bridge and other expensive items. The revenues for 1922 cannot exceed the 1921 revenues, much.

Cameron Parish has had to give special attention to her expenditures and by so doing had, prior to this year, accumulated quite a little surplus. The surplus is about exhausted. Mr. Medkiff has been giving the situation a great deal of thought, through his suggestions, the British are maintaining inspectors at the most important points along the boundary lines, throughout the winter months, in order that no cattle infested with ticks might invade the parish and reinfest the country. If this plan works out successfully, from all probability, the cost of tick eradication for 1922 will be negligible.

The criminal expense this year exceeded the amount allotted that item. The amount usually required for witnesses, jurors, feeding and transporting prisoners was $6000. This year, the amount spent on that item was $1937.40. Other items included in the 1921 budget for the parish is now being considered.

Miss Tassie Doxey, who has been teaching in Calcasieu Parish for the last five or six years, arrived recently to spend the holidays with her mother and relatives.

Mark Richard of Cameron on T.P. "Blanc" Bonsall of Creole were named "Knights of the Year" Saturday night by the Knights of Columbus, Cameron Council 3014. They were named during a banquet in their honor at the K. of C. Home in Creole.

Two men were named this year because Richard recently transferred to the newly-formed Our Lady Star of the Sea Council 5461.

Richard, a charter Grand Knight of Council 3014, which was formed in 1946, has been active in KC work for many years. He is a Fourth Degree member of Msgr. Hubert Cramers General Assembly. He served as Clerk of Court of Cameron Parish from 1928 to 1936 and as Cameron Parish Sheriff from 1936 to 1948. He is active in the statewide soil conservation movement and is a member of the Soil Conservation Service state committee representing a number of Louisiana parishes.

He is president of the Cameron Parish Cattlemen Association and a member of the Cameron Parish Development Association. He is the Esso Products distributor in Cameron and is married to the former Beulah Montie of Creole and has three children. He was recently elected Judge Advocate of the new KC council in Cameron.

Bonsall is Chancellor of Council 3014. He, too, is a Fourth Degree member of the Msgr. Hubert Cramers General Assembly. He is active in KC work and a serving chief cook of the council. He is the fire chief of the Creole Civil Defense Fire Department and is employed in the maintenance department of the South Cameron Memorial Hospital. He is married to the former Lucia Broussard of Creole and has two children.

Dalton Richard of Creole, district deputy of this District, who was the first recipient of the award in 1959, presented the awards to Bonsall and Richard.

Other recipients in the past were Norman McCall, 1960; J. Berton Daigle, 1961; and Servin Miller, 1962. The award is given annually for "outstanding service to the Knights of Columbus, the church and the community, during the past year."

Rev. Theodore Brandley, M.S., Assistant Pastor of Sacred Heart Parish in Creole, was the principal speaker for the banquet.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

John A. KILE was born 1840 in Natchitoches Parish just south of Cloutierville, the son of Jacob and Sarah (Airhart) Kile who had migrated the year before from Monroe County, Tennessee. Traveling with them were Sarah's parents, Nicolas and Sarah Airhart; her brother, Alexander; and sister, Margaret Lee and family.

Friends and neighbors of the Kiles were Francois and Sarah Elizabeth (Wrinkle) Adle. Following the deaths of Sarah Kile and Francois Adle in 1856-1857, the widowed Sarah Elizabeth Adle and Jacob Kile were married.

In 1860, John A. Kile married Rosanna Francine, one of the six daughters of Sarah Elizabeth; and they lived near Cloutierville where the following year a daughter, Sarah Alease, was born.

Six weeks later, John A. joined Co. C (The Natchitoches Rebels) of the 18th Louisiana Infantry, Confederate States Army. In his first military action, at the age of 21 or 22, John A. was critically wounded, captured, and soon after died on a Federal gun boat on the way to a prisoner-of-war camp at Louisville, Kentucky.

His remains left on the wharf at Owensboro, KY were buried by sympathetic citizens and a monument erected to the memory of this "unknown soldier".

NATCHITOCHES GENEALOGY

The Natchitoches Genealogist, twice a year publication of the Natchitoches Genealogical & Historical Association, in its 1996 No. 2 issue, includes the interesting family history above in an article, "John A. Kile", by Ginny Tobin whose husband, Ted, is a direct descendant of John A. Kile, whose daughter, Sarah Alease (see above), married John William Tobin in 1876 at Kisatchie.

Rosanna Francine, John A.'s widow, married 2nd, Edmond Bush in 1866; they moved to Navarro County, Texas; had 9 children.

Another very interesting article in this issue is "Log of Hunting Party" from the "diary" of Upshur P. Breazeale, first printed in a 1905 Natchitoches Enterprise newspaper about his deer hunting trip "on the Kisatchie" with Morris Aaron and M.E. Prudhomme.

This issue includes also about 30 other features: Group Sheets for Leach-Tompkins, Martin-Vigneau, Trahan-Brun, Brun-Brot, and Trahan-Delonges families; cemetery inscriptions from Choctaw Island Baptist south of Clarence, Demery off Holden Road and Killingsworth west of Goldonna; and 1943-44 records from the First National Funeral Home of Natchitoches.

Also: "John Heard Burns and the Freedmen's Farm Contract" of 1865 in Caddo Parish, Natchitoches Parish Court Suits of 1844-1871, Physicians of Sabine Parish 1921, Natchitoches Parish Police Jury Members 1906, excerpts from the Sabine Index newspaper at Many and from the Natchitoches Times, Book Reviews, Queries, etc.

The Genealogist is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., about 50 pages, indexed, available with $15.00 annual membership in the Association, P.O. Box 1349, Natchitoches, LA 71458-1349.

Publications reviewed in this column are given to the Erbon and Marie Wise Genealogical Library, Louisiana State Archives, Baton Rouge.

Ecotourism Industry Offers Exciting Job Opportunities

(NAPS)—An adventure abroad used to mean Paris in the spring. But today's "hottest" travel destinations are places like Alaska, the Galapagos Islands and the rain forests of Latin America. Travelers to these exotic locations are seeking adventure and up-close contact with nature. "Ecotourism," which can include anything from whale watching to jungle trekking, sea kayaking to canoeing on the Amazon, is booming, and it's creating some of the most exciting career opportunities ever.

Young people are learning to lead in the new field of ecotourism—environmentally responsible nature travel.

The need for trained resort managers, trail guides, interpreters and experts in a thousand other skills is acute in the ecotourism industry. That's because simply calling a resort or tour "green," doesn't make it so. Conducting tourism in delicate areas like the rain forest calls for acute sensitivity and skill in preserving the natural environment. At the same time, this kind of activity, done correctly, creates jobs, stimulates local and national economies, and actually helps preserve and protect the environment for generations to come.

One school, Hocking College in Ohio, confers a two-year associate degree in ecotourism. The program, which covers a broad range of skills, includes a student exchange program with Latin America and opportunities to train on the school's pastoral 1600-acre campus and in exotic, far-flung places like Brazil.

For information on Hocking's ecotourism and other natural resources programs, write to Hocking College School of Natural Resources, Dept. SRA, 3301 Hocking Parkway, Nelsonville, Ohio, 45764 or call toll-free 800-282-4163 or 614-753-3591.

Yule tree project told

Tina Horn, parish administrator, asked Cameron parish residents to place their used Christmas tree at the roadside next to their homes on Monday, Jan. 13 to be picked up by a parish road crew.

Please remove ornaments and tinsel from the trees and flocked trees will not be picked up.

In cooperation with the La. Dept. of Natural Resources, the trees will be used to build barriers in wetlands to stop erosion and to cause sediment build up to improve the marshes.

The parish has taken part in this project a number of years and has benefited from the wetland projects in various parts of the parish.

McNeese archives to be Assoc.'s topic

Kathie Bordelon, archivist at McNeese State University Library, will speak on "Preserving the Past and the Present," and give a general orientation and tour of the McNeese archives at the January meeting of the Southwest Louisiana Historical Association.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m., Tues., Jan. 14, in Meeting Room C of the library.

The McNeese archives, which primarily collects and preserves materials relating to the history of Southwest Louisiana, has grown over the years to include 94 collections. It was started with the Rosa Hart-Little Theater Collection. Its most recent addition was the Lovingston-Franks Historic Newspaper Collection.

The public is invited to attend this meeting, according to Robert Benoit, President of the Association.

Life Advice

About . . .
AUTO INSURANCE

Today's Guest Expert is the Insurance Information Institute

Dear Life Advice Columnist:

I have a son who will be turning 16 this year. I'm afraid that adding a teenager will increase my premiums dramatically. How can I cut my auto insurance costs? —Stretched To the Limit

Dear Stretched:

Teenagers can put a crimp in your savings in many ways, and they will usually bump up your insurance costs. But try to come at it from another angle and shop around for the best deal. First of all, ask questions about discounts. Will there be a discount for your age, for your good driving record or for your child's good grades? Is there a discount if your automobile is equipped with air bags, passenger seat belts and an anti-theft device? If you insure all your cars with the same company? If you convert all your insurance policies (homeowner's, for example) to one company as a package deal? You may even be eligible for a discount if your child is a student, lives a minimum of 100 miles from home and does not have access to the family car. Raising your deductible can decrease your premiums appreciably. And if your car is worth $1000 or less, purchasing comprehensive and collision coverage may not be cost effective.

Finally, compare the prices and services of at least three different companies. Make sure that all the quotes are for the same coverage when comparing pricing.

Dear Life Advice Columnist:

A friend in another state says she has personal injury protection insurance as part of her auto insurance. What is it and do I need this coverage? —Curious

Dear Curious:

Personal injury protection (PIP) is a type of no-fault insurance, and your friend probably lives in a state with no-fault laws that require it. PIP is for treatment of injuries to the driver and passenger of the policy holder's car. Although the coverage varies from state to state, in theory it is a more comprehensive form of medical payments insurance. At its broadest, PIP covers medical care, lost wages and the cost of replacing services for someone injured in an accident. And like no-fault insurance, it doesn't hinge on legal responsibility—both parties can collect.

PIP is occasionally offered in states without no-fault laws, too. Call your state insurance department for details.

SW La. Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

The start of the second split was as it should have been, cold weather, water levels just right, plenty of ducks. Things sure changed fast. First, it got hot, the ducks left, we got rain and I believe in some marshes the ducks left completely. Many hunters are missing their limits and where the ducks went is a good guess.

The marshes that are holding ducks do have pintails and mallards, but not as many and the teal ducks are not as plentiful.

There are a few speckle-belly geese taken in the duck blinds which helps, but again nothing to brag about. Duck season in our area goes through Jan. 16.

A couple of seasons to end this week will be gallinules on jan. 8, as well as king and clapper, sora and Virginia rails. Dove season will close Jan. 12, and the gun season for deer is over Jan. 5.

NEWS TALK

The inland waters of Louisiana's fall inshore shrimp season is closed in our area. The reports from the National Marine Fisheries Service indicate that the white shrimp harvest this fall was below average.

There will be 12 new sportfishing programs on refuges across the United States. The new hunting and fishing programs will carry out a pledge for continuing recreational activities. When new refuge land comes into the system, with the new programs, we'll have 283 refuges open to hunting and 276 open to fishing.

The National Wildlife Refuge System includes 508 refuges in all 50 states. It's 92.3 million acres also includes easements on waterfowl production areas in 12 states and state& managed coordination area in 19 states.

We have three national wildlife refuges in our parish plus one large state refuge. We also have landowners and companies with set aside land, some managed by the state or federal refuges, to have resting places for waterfowl and birds.

Threatened species of shark, will be protected under a prepared regulation restricting recreational and commercial fishing for shark in federal waters of the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Cameron parish swine win at Covington show

Jarod Baccigalopi, a South Cameron FFA exhibitor and the son of Michael and Melasey Baccigalopi, exhibited the reserve champion prospect hog and was also named Senior Showmanship Champion. Junior Showmanship Champion was Chase LeBoeuf, the son of Mark and Janice LeBoeuf of Oak Grove and a South Cameron Elementary 4-H member.

Baccigalopi's lighter weight hog was first in the third class. In the fourth class, from which the champion was named, Andre Savoie's hog placed second, Marcus Harris' hog was third and LeBoeuf's hog was fourth. Baccigalopi's reserve hog was first in the fifth class and Ryan Bourriaque's hog was third.

Cameron parish exhibitors left the show with one buckle, two plaques and over $400 in cash winnings. Accompanying the group was Nicky Rodrigue, South Cameron FFA Advisor. Over 120 hogs were entered.

Legislative report told

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is a continuation of a summary of items coming up before the Legislature in1997 as outlined by Cameron Parish's new state Senator Jerry Theunissen.)

Expect to see a lot of activity at the State Capital when the 1997 Regular Session of the State Legislature begins at noon, Mon., march 31, 1997. It is the first "general" session since the new Senate was sworn in.

The 1996 Regular Session was limited to fiscal matters only, so this regular session is the first time lawmakers will be able to address specific issues not relating to money or taxes since they took office for this term. The only things lawmakers cannot deal with in the general session are taxes and tax exemptions, exclusions, deductions or credits.

With that in mind, legislative experts are predicting lawmakers will introduce over 4,000 bills. Legislators must deal with all those matters in a relatively short amount of time. The Regular Session must end by 6 p.m., Mon., June 23, 1997, and can include in the 85 calendar day period only 60 working legislative days.

You can expect lawmakers to wrestle once again with limited state funds for health care, another installment in the teacher pay raise plan; a possible pay raise for other school workers; limited state construction money; changes in the state's open primary election laws; other possible election law changes prompted by all the controversy over the recent U. S. Senate Race; another stab at changing state laws to lower auto insurance rates; changes in speed limits on certain interstates and state highways and continued attempts to change or repeal state gambling laws.

With all of these important issues facing us in the coming months, some as early as January or February in a special session, your ideas and comments are needed more than ever. Just call the Senate District office at 318-824-0376.

New seafood regulations

In December 1995, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) published new inspection regulations for seafood processors.

These new regulations will use Hazard Analysis Critical Control point (HACCP) concepts as a basis for inspections. Beginning in December 1997, all seafood processors will be required to comply with the new regulations.

Processors must have HACCP plans, monitor critical control points, and keep and maintain records. In addition, all processors must attend a standardized training course recognized by FDA.

This course will be offered in this area on April 8-10, at the Calcasieu Extension Office in Lake Charles. The cost of the course is $100.

Tips To Help You Write Your Classified Ad

1. Identify-begin with the item for sale, service you are offering, or job title of the person you're looking to hire.
2. Describe - the more information you provide to the reader the better the responses. Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know?
3. Don't Exaggerate - list the features and the condition. Make your description attractive, but believable
4. Include Price - research shows that people are more interested when they know the price. If the price is negotiable, say so.
5. Be Home - when you run your ad, be home. Specify the hours buyers can call, or ask them to leave a message on your recorder. Most people won't call back.

Come by the DeQuincy News Office at 205 East Harrison St. and we'll be happy to help you write your ad.

Dear Editor:

I am a 12 year old 7th grader at Columbia Middle School in Irrigon, Oregon and in my language arts class we are writing to newspapers across the country in hopes of getting published in all 50 states.

I would like to tell you how I feel about people cutting down trees in the rain forests. I think that instead of cutting down the trees, we should be planting more trees. The rain forest supplies about half of the world's oxygen, so if we cut them down we will have less clean air to breathe and more air pollution.

Thank you,

Dr. S.O. Carter was pioneer physician

By NOLA MAE WITTLER ROSS
American Press Writer

Life was hazardous when Dr. Stephen O. Carter first came to Creole in 1893.

"One cold winter night when returning on horseback from Oak Grove, where he'd delivered a baby, he became so numb in the below-freezing weather which had also dumped about four feet of snow on the ground, that he lapsed into a state of semi-consciousness," wrote his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold Carter.

"Old Rip, his horse, carried the almost-frozen doctor home. After stomping at the Carter gate and getting no response because the doctor's family was spending the night at a neighbor's because of bad weather, the horse went on to the next house, the Edras "Boy" Nunez home.

"The horse broke down the gate, made his way through the snow to the house, and was about to push the door open when Mr. Nunez heard the commotion.

"He found Dr. Carter so tightly frozen to his saddle that he had to take a knife and chip the ice from around the stirrups."

After a night of hot water bottles, blankets and a roaring fire, the doctor fully recovered.

Before Dr. S.O. Carter arrived in Creole, the people had learned to rely on home remedies. They raised and used medicinal herbs such as sassafras, Mamou plant and elderberry. But all of this changed in 1893 when Dr. Carter arrived.

A fellow-medical student had asked Dr. Carter to fill in for him in Cameron Parish for a year. Dr. Carter agreed — and ended up staying a lifetime.

Born in 1870 in New Iberia, S.O. Carter decided to follow the footsteps of his father — Dr. Nelson Carter — and attended Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. His father had remained in Louisiana after being sent there with the Tennessee Regiment during the Civil War.

After graduation from Vanderbilt, Dr. S.O. Carter brought his bride, the former Selika Penouilh, to Cameron Parish. Dr. Carter, his bride — and his buggy — made the trip to Cameron on the steamer Olive by way of the Mermentau River, landing on the east end of Chenier Perdue. They made their way to Cameron, where they stayed temporarily in the old Jones Hotel because there were no homes for rent in Creole.

"In order to help the young doctor locate in Creole where he could serve both east and west ends of lower Cameron, Mr. Belonie Weber, who owned a general store in Creole, moved out of his home and into the back quarters of his store, then rented his little home to Dr. Carter," wrote Mrs. Harold Carter.

"Creole at that time consisted of about five houses and one general store, and was so small that the government wouldn't consider it for a post office. So Dr. Carter and his wife started a mail campaign, writing letters to all their family and neighbors. Impressed by this volume of mail, the federal government opened a post office in Creole."

"Much of the territory Dr. Carter covered was boggy marshland reached only by horseback, and sometimes not even the horse could traverse the marsh," reported Maude Reid in her book, Early Calcasieu Doctors.

"Then he'd have to get off the animal, throw his saddle bags full of medicine over his shoulders, and try to walk through the boggy marsh between the ridges.

"On one occasion, crossing the marsh, his horse stumbled, leaving him with one foot caught in the stirrup. To keep from being dragged to death, he got out his pocket knife and cut himself free."

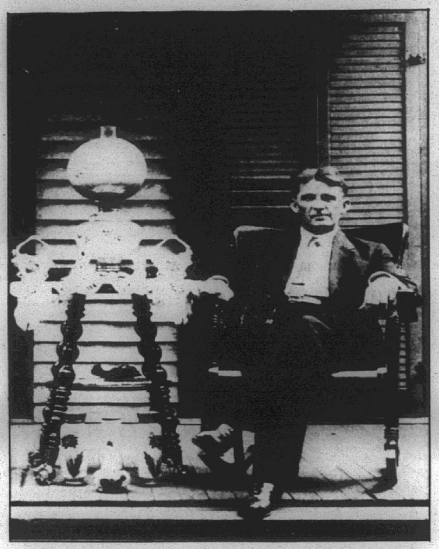
To families who lived up and down the lower Cameron ridges, Dr. Carter was physician, surgeon, obstetrician, pediatrician and orthopedist. He was so skilled in setting bones that there was never a case where he had to go back and re-set a bone.

But it was in the field of obstetrics that the doctor was busiest. During his career, he delivered over 6,000 babies.

In 1952, the people of lower Cameron Parish celebrated Dr. Carter's long years of service with a "Dr. Carter Day."

A marble monument with the occasion and date on it was placed in front of the Carter Clinic, and later moved to the front lawn of South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

Dr. S.O. Carter died at the age of 98. Had he lived two more years, he would have celebrated his own centennial birthday along with that of Cameron Parish, which turned 100 years old in 1970. The parish's centennial celebration was fittingly dedicated to the memory of Dr. Carter.



Dr. Stephen O. Carter thought enough of this unusual table, lamp and decorative china that he posed with it in a photo taken about mid-career.

Dr. S.O. Carter sent his brother, Dr. J.D. "Joe" Carter, through dental school. Dr. Joe Carter then opened a dentist's office in the Nagem Building in Lake Charles, where he practiced for many years.

The S.O. Carters raised seven children. Bertha Stanley Clifton, Stephen L. Carter, Warren "Black" Carter and O.B. Carter are deceased. Vida (Mrs. Rupert Doxey) lives near Cameron, as does her son, Rupert Doxey. Ethel Carter lives in New Orleans and Harold Carter in Sweetlake.

Warren "Black" Carter was a well-known businessman in Cameron in the trucking and dragline business. He also operated a store. His widow, Annie Beulah Duhon Carter, lives in Sweetlake.

Orlando "O.B." Carter was sheriff of Cameron for 16 years, from 1948 to 1964. In 1920, he was a teacher in Cameron Parish, then later went to SLI in Lafayette to get a degree in business administration. Next, he worked for a realty company in Port Arthur, Texas, then worked for a bank in Lafayette before returning to Cameron as director of public welfare. In 1942, he entered the Army in World War II.

After spending 32 months in the service, including 12 in the European Theater of Operations, O.B. Carter came back to Cameron and worked for the state Department of Veterans Affairs. In 1948, he was elected sheriff.

In 1957, Hurricane Audrey swept ashore in Cameron Parish. Sheriff Carter and his wife, Tavia Rutherford Carter, narrowly escaped death when their home was destroyed, but the sheriff went right to work, helping Cameron survivors get back on their feet.

"Sheriff Carter's personal courage and cool-headed leadership was largely responsible for bringing order out of chaos following Audrey's death-dealing blow," reported the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate.

Another newspaper article reported, "The slight, white-haired sheriff lifted his tired eyes from the harsh ruin of the hurricane and, glancing at the friendly sun, said, 'Cameron will be liveable again in six weeks. The people who are left will rebuild. Their minds and their hearts are here even if they have to live in a 6-by-8 tent.'

"Through it all, the sheriff never lost his composure, never gave in to his weariness, never forgot that all of Cameron Parish was depending on him."

Sheriff Carter's widow, Mrs. Tavia Rutherford Carter, and his stepson, James Trahan, live in Cameron Parish today.

One of Dr. S.O. Carter's daughters, Ethel Carter, lives in New Orleans. She recalls the early days in Creole as being "very rough, harsh and isolated. To give the children an education, my parents bought a home in Lake Charles so that we could go to schools there."

Harold Carter, youngest son of Dr. S.O. Carter is married to Olga "Butsy" Kurucar Carter, and he operated a Chevrolet dealership in Creole from 1938 until 1962.

"My job when I was young was to take care of my dad's three pace horses which he kept ready for trips to care for patients," recalls Harold Carter.

"Every evening I would shuck about a hundred ears of corn for them and then I'd be sure one of the horses was saddled and in the barn ready, so all my dad had to do if he got a night call was put the bridle on and ride.

"He never turned a patient down. I've seen him leave on a call when he had a fever and the weather was icy cold. I know how hard it was for him to cross the marsh, because I tried it one time. I had to get off my horse since he was bogging down, and it was all I could do to crawl and drag myself across the marsh.

"I recall my dad's first car — a Model T Roadster — which he had to teach himself to drive. He had quite a few adventures with it."

Harold Carter's daughter, Joan (Mrs. John Liebert), lives in Baton Rouge.

Another son of Dr. Carter's was Stephen L. Carter, who was a cattleman in Oak Grove. He married Lorena Miller and they had three children — Dr. Stephen E. Carter, who is deceased, Brandon Carter, who lives in Creole, and Aloysia (Mrs. Larry Butler), who lives in Lafayette.

Brandon Carter, who lost his wife and two children during Hurricane Audrey, recalls his grandfather's "good horses which were kept ready for him to use. I remember him as being kind and polite, but always busy because of the large territory he had to cover."

Although none of the doctor's children entered his profession, one grandson, Dr. Stephen E. Carter, joined him in the practice of medicine in Creole in 1955. The older Dr. Carter was 84 years old, and gradually tapering off in his work as a physician. For the patients, the change-over to another doctor was made easier because the new one was a native son.

Practicing first at the old St. Gabriel Hospital in Creole, which had been built by Gabriel Richard in hopes of luring more doctors into the area, Dr. Stephen E. Carter joined Dr. George W. Dix, and they soon built a clinic nearby.

Hurricane Audrey also made unsung heroes of these young doctors. They spent many days helping the injured and families who had lost loved ones and their homes. The two doctors went without rest or sleep — spending all of their time helping neighbors get back on their feet.

Young Dr. Stephen Carter's family rode out Hurricane Audrey in his grandfather's home, which stood firm, but his nearby clinic was damaged and it took a year of cleaning and rebuilding to get it back into use. His days were spent in Creole, and late evenings he'd journey to Lake Charles to see patients in hospitals there.

In 1966, Dr. Stephen E. Carter went back to medical school and specialized in radiology. Then he came back to Lake Charles and joined the firm of Cavin and Warsaw, where he practiced until his death in 1986.

Dr. Stephen E. Carter's widow, Mrs. Dolores Thompson Carter, lives in Lake Charles today, as do daughters Jennifer (Mrs. Grady Sutton) and Marcia (Mrs. Todd DiBartolo) and a son, Frederick Thomas Carter. Kathryn (Mrs. Michael McBride) lives in Seabrook, Texas, and Eugene Carter lives in Lafayette.

The other son, Dr. Stephen Lyall Carter II, carried on his great-grandfather's profession by becoming a pediatrician in Marietta, Ga.

Dr. S.O. Carter was "one of a group of stalwart vanishing Americans who contributed immeasurably to the health and welfare of their fellowmen and who could never be replaced on their particular page in American history," wrote Harold Carter."

Jury to seek new contract on waste disposal work

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The South Cameron High School football team, Head Coach Parry LaLande, assistant coaches and mascots were honored at the Cameron Parish Police Jury meeting Tuesday for a very successful football season.

Coach LaLande was presented with a plaque in recognition of being named the Coach of the Year in Southwest Louisiana by his peers.

Assistant coaches Pete Picou, Baron Thomas and Steve Barnett were presented with certificates of appreciation, and members of the football team were presented with a giant letter of appreciation signed by Police Jury members Brent Nunez, Dusty Sandifer, Douaine Conner, George LeBoeuf and Malcolm Savoie.

The coaches and team were congratulated on placing second in the state Class AA football finals in New Orleans recently.

Brent Nunez was re-elected president of the jury for his second term; Douaine Conner was elected vice-president; Tina Horn was reappointed Parish Administrator and Bonnie Conner was reappointed secretary.

GARBAGE PICKUP

A lengthy discussion was held on the disposal service provided to the parish by Waste Management.

Brent Nunez said in the Sweetlake community pickup service is erratic, whole streets are missed and isolated areas are ignored, and it has gotten worse in the last 6 to 8 months.

"Just yesterday the heavy garbage truck got bogged down in a man's yard and his mailbox was torn down by the tow truck that was sent to pull him out," he said.

Malcolm Savoie cited an incident in the Creole area, also.

Dusty Sandifer said, "How many complaints does it take to break the contract with this company and advertise for another one?"

Sandifer made a motion, second by George LeBoeuf, that Glenn Alexander, district attorney, negotiate the breaking of the contract to re-bid it, and stipulate that the company continue to furnish service until a new contract is signed.

A special meeting will be planned to draw up a proposed contract.

George LeBoeuf reported that he had met with the land owners regarding a by-pass for a portion of Wakefield road by the Calcasieu River that floods when the tides are high. He said that he is having the road superintendent look into the feasibility of raising the present road or building a by-pass road.

LeBoeuf asked the jury for support in keeping the Monkey Island Ferry until a bridge can be built. The state is considering cutting out the present ferry since they say it only serves seven families. LeBoeuf said that this is untrue because it serves the Lake Charles Pilot Association Office, the Port Commission and docks along the river.

Scott Henry appeared before the jury as a member of the local Economic Development Board and said that whatever type bridge that will be built should not hinder commerce to the island, and that if a waterway is not used it will silt up.

The jury agreed to ask the Lake Charles Pilots and the Lake Charles Port Commission and the local legislative delegation for their support in the matter.

The jury agenda meeting was set for 3 p.m., on the last Tuesday of each month.

An extension on a condemnation hearing was granted to frederick of Holly Beach to make repairs to his building.

The jury accepted a right of way in Channelview Harbor Subdivision at Hackberry from Joe Devall, 3 roads equalling 3/4 miles in all.

The jury accepted bids on culverts and a low bid of $16,700 to repair pens for the Christmas Tree Project on the boundary line of Miami Corporation and Cameron Prairie Refuge. Miami and the refuge are donating the materials for the reconstruction.

Drilling and pipeline permits were approved.

The Police Jury amended the liquor ordinance to allow businesses to sell liquor until 2 a.m. on Sunday morning for the Fur Festival.

Parish need[illegible]re studied at meeting

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

An economic planning meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the Cameron Police Jury office with representatives of various state agencies and the police jurors attending.

Deborah Tootle, of LSU, said the purpose of the meeting was to get input to help the parish develop its resources.

Brent Nunez, jury president, said the jury has selected 18 people from throughout the parish to serve on an Economic Development board to help with the Police Jury figure out the needs of the parish.

Juror Dusty Sandifer stated that FEMA flood regulations have been a drawback to building along the coast because of their stringent elevation restrictions. "These regulations need to be changed," he stated.

Juror George LeBouef stressed the need of building a road through the marsh connecting Cameron and Sweetlake making a shorter route to Lake Charles.

"If we cannot get any help in developing the parish, it will all be a federal refuge in 50 years," he said.

Parish Administrator Tina Horn said, "We are in the process of inventorying sites in the parish which would be available for establishing of business. We need to have more industries come into the parish to provide jobs for the younger generation so they won't have to leave to earn a living."

Lonnie Glenn Harper, parish engineer, explained the drainage problems that must be addressed before the parish can move on.

Bill Good, Department of Natural Resources, reported that his department is working on filling in the gaps between the rock formation at Holly Beach-Constance Beach to help control the beach erosion.

Others attending the meeting were Craig Lamendola, Johnnie Tarver, and Guthrie Perry with La. Wildlife and Fisheries, Police Juror Malcolm Savoie, and Paul Coreil and Sandy Dooley, with the LSU Ag Center.

Safety measures are given for heaters

The Cameron Community Action Agency, Inc. will be featuring weekly efficiency articles in the Cameron Pilot. The first of these articles is information on zone heating for mobile homes.

According to tests conducted by the National Center for Appropriate Technology in Pennsylvania a joint effort of a zone heater (propane, gas, kerosene, space heaters, etc.) and the central heating system of a mobile home can save 10-20% of the heating costs in that mobile home.

The problem with zone heating is that many common zone heaters are not safe for use in mobile homes. A person should never use open combustion gas, propane, and kerosene space heaters in mobile homes.

Unvented space heaters deplete oxygen and produce unsafe quantities of carbon monoxide. Oxygen depletion and carbon monoxide are serious health hazards and can be life threatening according to Your Mobile Home Energy and Repair Guide. Because mobile homes are smaller than conventional homes they have less air to lend to vented or unvented combustion space heaters.

Many cheaper and older portable electric space heaters are also not safe because red hot elements and lack of safety features can lead to fires. Electric space heaters can be safe depending on the type you choose and the way you use them.

According to Your Mobile Home Energy and Repair Guide you should use the following guidelines when employing electric space heaters.

1. Make sure that you have a properly functioning smoke detector.

2. Protective Grill - all electric elements that glow must be protected by a study guard. A wire grill or other protection is essential to keep fingers from touching the hot element.

3. Sealed heating elements - the heating must be sealed or otherwise inaccessible. Young children might push objects through the protective grill so having sealed heating elements reduces the risk of electric shock.

4. Temperature controller - an ajustable thermostat, variable wattage selector, or other energy control is necessary to regulate room temperature and to avoid overheating.

5. Signal light - an indicator light that stays on when the heater is working.

Some mobile homes are equipped with built-in electric resistance heaters. These zone heaters, such as electric baseboard heaters, should have their heating elements gently dusted periodically to remove dust.

1921 and 1922 parish news is remembered

CAMERON PARISH NEWS

The long continued drouth was broken Saturday night by heavy rainfall; the marshes are filled with water, which will greatly improve stock grazing and add millions of ducks and geese to the shooting grounds.

The state fire marshal has a representative here investigating the recent burning of two school houses in the parish. The superintendent, Thomas W. McCall, of the public schools, met with the marshal yesterday. The marshal will hold a hearing this morning at 9 o'clock, at which will be heard several parties.

Two school houses were burned last month, within a period of ten days. A thorough investigation led the authorities to believe that the crime was done by some party holding a prejudice against someone in close connection with the interest of the schools. Work is now being done on the school and as soon as completed, school will reopen.

The teachers of Cameron Parish will meet in Cameron court house next Friday, where an institute will be held. This is the first meeting of its kind to be held for several years.

Hunting is on in full force, and game is plentiful. Hunting parties arrive and depart every day, all getting their bag limit. The white-fronted goose, one of the finest of geese, for an unknown reason, has shown up more abundantly this season than ever before.

Grand Chenier is a splendid place to make a hunt. Anyone interested in making a trip down for a good duck hunt might write to Mr. Roy of Lake Arthur, who owns a speed launch that will make the trip down that river in less than one and one-half hours. Accommodations can be had on Grand Chenier and professional guides secured at reasonable rates, and at any time. Better still, write Jennings Jones, game warden, who would be pleased to furnish any information.

The market for fur has opened and a very good price is being paid. Trappers are not doing much at this time, due to the warm weather. Fur-bearing animals are plentiful and as soon as the weather conditions change, trappers will be kept busy.

Nunez re-elected as jury president here

A tradition of many years of rotating the presidency of the Cameron Police Jury each year was broken Tuesday when Malcolm Savoie, who was next in line, declined the position.

Savoie, who is serving his first term on the jury, said he was still learning and felt the position should be filled by someone with experience.

Douaine Conner had nominated Savoie for the job but when he failed to get a second Savoie nominated Brent Nunez for a second consecutive term as president. He was renamed by acclamation.

Conner was re-elected as vice president and parish administrator Tina Horn and secretary Bonnie Conner were reappointed to their positions for another year.

(Bonnie Conner continues as parish treasurer, a position to which she was elected for a two year term last year.)

The jury will continue to hold its monthly meetings on the first Tuesday of each month at 10 a.m.

Appointments made

Three persons were appointed to two boards in the parish by the Cameron Police Jury Tuesday.

Dr. Richard Sanders was reappointed to the parish Housing Authority.

Randall Jones and Judy Poole were reappointed to the Fire District 14 board.

The jury also approved issuing a permit to itself to construct a walkway to the beach behind the Cameron Recreation Center. This will permit access to the beach there.

Two oil and gas drilling permits were approved, one for Union Pacific Resources in the Oak Grove area, and the other to Amoco Production in the West Hackberry field.

Commodity distributions

Commodity distribution by the Cameron Community Action Agency will be held Wed., Jan. 22, at the Wakefield Methodist Church in Cameron for the Cameron, Creole, and Grand Chenier areas. The times are 9 a.m.-noon and 1-3 p.m.

Thurs., Jan. 23, the distribution for the Hackberry and Johnson Bayou areas will be at the Hackberry Multi-Purpose Building from 9-11 a.m.

Also on Thurs., Jan. 23, the distribution for the Grand Lake and Lowery/Klondike areas will be at the Grand Lake Multi-Purpose Building from 1-3 p.m.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Thomas A. JACKSON and family migrated to Louisiana in the mid-1850s from Jackson County, Mississippi, where his wife, Cynthia Ann (either Gill or Eason) had been born.

Many other Mississippi families came at the same time including Cooleys, Hesters and Vaughans; and, according to family tradition, also came at least one of Thomas' brothers said to have gone on to Texas. The 1880 census shows Thomas' father as born in New York and his mother in Mississippi.

The Jacksons and many of the other families on the 1850s wagon train settled in Calcasieu Parish near what is now Ragley, north of Lake Charles.

SW LOUISIANA FAMILIES

Kinfolks, quarterly publication of the Southwest Louisiana Genealogical Society, gives in its Vol. 20 No. 4 issue the above family information in an article, "An Interesting Ancestor, Thomas A. Jackson" researched by Glenda Jackson Reed who is a direct ancestor.

Mrs. Reed's grandfather was William D. Jackson who moved to DeRidder in his youth, then to Russville (Fullerton); was buried at Pitkin. There are many descendants in this area.

Also in this issue of Kinfolks are two interesting articles and a map on The Neutral Zone, one entitled "More Mclungeon Information", and one on James H. "Harvey" Jacobs 1830-1924 who raised a large family near Fields in Beauregard Parish.

Softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 40 pages, indexed, queries, available with $12.00 membership in the Society, P.O. Box 5652, Lake Charles, LA 70606-5652; single issues $4.00.

FAMILY ASSN. DIRECTORY

Directory of Family Associations based largely on data received in response to inquiries sent family associations, reunion committees, and one-name societies, is now in its new and better-yet 3rd edition.

This directory has proven itself immensely useful for genealogical research - for making contact with family members, sharing information about family history, developing common ground between people of the same surname, arranging reunions, discovering who's out there and where you connect on the family tree, and finding out where you can go with your own research."

Giving addresses, phone numbers, contact persons, and publications (if any), the A-Z listings offer information on some 6,500 family organizations across the U.S. Included are surname exchanges, databases on single surnames or related groups, independent periodicals and, new to this edition, publishers of family histories; plus subscription or membership costs, reunion locations, and much more.

Elizabeth Petty Bentley, the compiler, has produced an indispensible aid to genealogical research: softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 355 pages, $34.95 plus $3.50 mailing from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

Publications reviewed in this column are given to the Erbon and Marie Wise Genealogical Library, Louisiana State Archives, Baton Rouge.

Whoever said, "The more things change, the more they stay the same," never got married. Certainly never had children. Most likely never switched jobs. And doesn't really understand how scary change can be. That's Life.

Maybe it's time to talk to someone who does understand your financial needs. Someone who not only is a well-trained insurance professional, but who's been where you've been. Someone who's got a family. Someone who owns a home. Someone who has an idea what college will cost in 2005, and is thinking about retirement in 2016. Someone who can relate to your life, and knows a thing or two about change.

That's New York Life.

Tips To Help You Write Your Classified Ad

1. Identify-begin with the item for sale, service you are offering, or job title of the person you're looking to hire.

2. Describe - the more information you provide to the reader the better the responses. Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know?

3. Don't Exaggerate - list the features and the condition. Make your description attractive, but believable

4. Include Price - research shows that people are more interested when they know the price. If the price is negotiable, say so.

5. Be Home - when you run your ad, be home. Specify the hours buyers can call, or ask them to leave a message on your recorder. Most people won't call back.

Come by the DeQuincy News Office at 205 East Harrison St. and we'll be happy to help you write your ad.

HUNTING NEWS

The deer season closed this past weekend and still some deer were taken. There are also lots of deer along the parish highways, and they are being killed, especially with the heavy fog we had. We also see lots of young deer.

Duck hunting is still a hit and miss situation in lots of marshes, while some marshes are doing well. Many of our ducks have left. Remember, next Thursday, Jan. 16, it's all over at sunset. We'll still have plenty of goose season left.

Many will get ready for fishing, especially redfish. The Hog Bayou area in Grand Chenier and Turner's Bay in Calcasieu lake have been fair on large redfish. I'm ready for bass fishing.

Going back to the hunting, we know that bismuth is on the market along with the steel shot. Probably next year we'll see tungsten shots come out. Steel shots run from $11 plus to for 12 gauge regular 2-3/4 to $14 plus for 3 inch magnum. Both bismuth and tungsten shots will retail for about $16 to $19 per box. You may say, well that's not bad, but steel shots are 25 shells per box, where bismuth and tungsten shells are 10 shells per box. That's $1.60 to $1.90 per shell compared to 40-60 cents per shell for steel shots.

I'll say this, with the prices of boats, motors, guns, leases, blinds and a good dog, we don't need an increase in the price of shotgun shells, but I'm afraid we can prepare ourselves for the worst. This could cause hunting license sales to go down.

FISHING LICENSES

Speaking of licenses, fishing licenses around the country have gone up slightly in 1995. Louisiana license sales were up from 585,495 in 1991 to 621,283 in 1995. Other years in between: 1992 - 637,460; 1993 - 606,200; 1994 - 613,476 for an average of 612,883 for five years. All across the U.S., 1993 was the worst year, including Louisiana.

United States sales for 1995 was down 1.3 percent from 1991-92.

Some of the reasons for the decline in fishing in a survey was 78% no time, no place to go, no interest anymore, weather conditions, family issues, health and age, too expensive, no one to go with, fish to hard to catch, poor water quality and too many anglers.

The reasons given why fishing has become more difficult were too crowded on waterways with boats, jet skis and anglers, litter on our waterways and poor sports among anglers, polluted waters, more restrictions and yes, expensive licenses.

Welcome To Our Visitors !

On behalf of the citizens of Cameron Parish, I wish to extend to you a big welcome to the Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival and to Cameron Parish.

We are proud of our Festival because it calls attention to the fact that Cameron parish is the leading fur producing area in the nation and has varied and concentrated populations of waterfowl, wildlife and fisheries to be found anywhere on the North American Continent.

Take time while in the parish to visit the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge at Grand Chenier and see waterfowl and the shrimp boats, take a ride down the beach road between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou and view the longest stretch of accessible beach in Louisiana and take a walk on the natural trail at the Sabine Refuge while visiting the visitors center and marvel at the thousands of ducks and geese that can be seen feeding in the marshes along the road..

But while you are here in our parish, we do urge you to drive safely. While our long stretches of roads may entice you to drive a little faster, we encourage you not to exceed the speed limit. The 55 mile limit IS enforced in Cameron Parish and all Cameron Parish Sheriff units are equipped with radar units. We have strict enforcement, not to harass motorists, but to save lives--and we have been successful in those attempts.

We hope you enjoy your visit to the Festival and to our parish and that you return home safely. And be sure to come back to Cameron Parish again--you're always welcome!

Fur trapping has long been important to economy here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will honor the fur industry at this year's festival, set for Jan. 9-11, in Cameron. The Festival King will be chosen from that industry.

Fur trapping has been an important part of the economy of Cameron Parish since the very first settlers came to the area in the early 1800's.

Louisiana leads the United States in wild fur production, averaging over 40 percent of the total catch each year.

The state fur catch in some seasons has amounted to as much as 65 percent of the total production for the nation, bringing in millions of dollars to Louisiana, with Cameron Parish being the highest producer.

The history of the Louisiana fur industry dates back to the 1700's, and the founding of New Orleans.

As the French and English battled for the great fur wealth of the new world, Iberville, founder of the French colony of Louisiana, realized the secret to the fur commerce was transportation.

Since the Mississippi River reached into the center of America, it was a natural means of transporting fur collected along the waterway to New Orleans to be shipped to world markets.

In world history it played an even more important roll. In the 13th Century, Marco Polo made a fortune from furs, and in 1319 a trading guild known as the "Skinners Company" was formed in London, England to find new sources of fur.

Louisiana's importance to the fur trade was first recognized by an English company which became known as the Hudson's Bay Company, which is still in existence. Company records show that fur auctions were held as far back as 1672.

The popularity of furs in the garment industry serves as a barometer of prices that range from the finished product to the trapper. The market is especially good in Russian, Germany and Japan.

40th Annual
Louisiana Fur & Wildlife
FESTIVAL

Hospitality and friendship are the by-words in Cameron year-round, but it is especially true during our gala winter festival each year, when we celebrate the abundance of the waters and marshlands around us.

The emphasis is on wildlife-with duck calling contests, field trials for retrievers, nutria and muskrat skinning contests, shooting competitions and arts and crafts displays centering around the fish, fowl and furbearers that are so much a part of our culture and economy. But there are also plenty of other things that mark the festive spirit of Southwest Louisiana-parades and beauty queens, abundant good food and lots of fun.

Come join us for one of the most unique festivals in Louisiana, and experience first-hand the delights of one of America's most naturally abundant regions.

We'll make you feel right at home.

(Lake Charles American Press, Nov. 16, 1923)

S. W. Sweeney, of Cameron, conservation agent in Cameron Parish, was a business visitor to Lake Charles Tuesday. While here, Mr. Sweeney stated that ducks are not as plentiful in his part of the country as they will be a little later on, and that several hunting parties have already been in his parish.

Asked about the prospects for a good fur business in Cameron this season, he said that there is an abundance of fur-bearing animals, particularly muskrats and that trappers are so anxious to begin the harvest, that they cannot wait until Nov. 15. He stated that Monday while out in the marshes in a little cover, he came upon two trappers' camp and found 28 fresh hides. He said he was sure there were others and a search revealed 100 beautifully cured and put away hides.

He arrested the two law violators, brought them into Cameron and put them under bond for appearance in court in his parish on Mon.

They'll be on the job as usual!

TWO FAMILIAR faces that Fur Festival goers will again see at the festival's night programs are Blanc Bonsall and Roland Primeaux, in charge of tickets.

Looking back . . .

CAMERON WAS "PARADISE"

Isolated for centuries from the mainland of which it is a part, the parish of Cameron on the gulf coast of Louisiana will be connected by a hard surfaced highway with the remainder of the United States within the next 12 months. Although situated within 50 miles of a transcontinental railroad and a coast-to-coast highway, the Old Spanish Trail, the lower part of Cameron Parish and the towns of Cameron and Grand Chenier have remained almost as inaccessible as Alaska, due to the presence of a wide marsh which has separated them from the world, the only form of communication being by steamboat every other day.

This condition will soon come to an end as rapid progress is being made on the construction of a hard surfaced highway across the marsh which will give the southern part of the parish a much needed outlet, and it will have the effect of literally annexing this portion of Louisiana to the state proper.

Married couples who wish to remain together and who do not believe in divorce would probably be more certain to attain their desires along this line in Cameron Parish than in almost any other section of the south, judging by the records in the office of E. D. Sweeney, clerk of court, extending over a period of more than 25 years.

During the last five years, there have been three divorces granted in the parish, or an average of one and two-thirds a year. Prior to five years ago, the average was lower, not more than one every three years. Contrast this with the records in Jefferson County, Tex., where the divorces granted in 1926 numbered more than 750, and more than 800 in 1927.

There are other advantages to living in Cameron Parish. It is perhaps one of the most law abiding communities or groups of communities to be found anywhere in the United States. Crime is not entirely unknown, but it is so rare that the parish jail is used more often for a storage warehouse than for the incarceration of obstreperous individuals. Pessimists who fear for the future of American civilization after reading accounts of crime and crime waves in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and other large cities, might change their opinions if they would spend a few days in this gulf coast parish of Louisiana.

They would find first of all a peaceful community. The people are very much like the people anywhere else, except for the fact that many of them speak with the Louisiana French accent. They are plain, unassuming, kind and hospitable to strangers. While they do not exactly let the rest of the world go by, they do not worry about the world, about building up a fortune and other material things. They are the personificaiton of contentment.

As for crime: there have been only two murders in the parish since its organization in 1870--at least that was all John Miller, sheriff, could recall. There has never been a bank robbery. To be exact, there are no banks to rob. How do people get along without banks as well as a number of other things usually reckoned among the essentials but which, after all, are not.

To return for a moment to the jail: it has been occupied twice, for a few days at a time since last June. Both times the offender had been guilty of no more heinous offense than disturbing the peace. What about drunkenness, the sheriff was asked. He admitted that there might be occasional cases of men who drank to excess and created trouble, but such cases were isolated, and off-hand he could not remember any in the last several months which necessitated arrest. If it were not for the fact in Louisiana the sheriff is also the tax collector, Sheriff Miller's job would be almost as much of a sinecure as the position of engineer on a peanut roaster.

But if the citizens of Cameron Parish lead the simple life, it does not mean they are backward by any means. There are no telephones in the southern part of the parish, no electric power stations, but a large number of people have small individual motor-driven electric light plants, and a census of the radio sets in the parish would reveal as many per capita as in any other part of the state. They have no banks, but that does not worry them in the least. When they have a surplus of cash, they send it by express on the boat to Lake Charles or some other nearby city.

There is no chamber of commerce, no Rotary or Lions clubs, no slogans for their basic idea the bringing in of more people and increasing the population.

"And why should we want to increase our population radically?" asked one citizen. "The parish now has a population of about 4,000, which under present conditions is about all the country will support. Suppose there were 6,000 or 8,000: would the parish be any better place in which to live? Our available land for farming is limited. Why try to bring in a number of farmers who might not be able to make a living? And why advertise to attract merchants? Those who are here are making a living, but not much more. It would be senseless to induce businessmen to come here from elsewhere then there would be such a limited number of customers from who they could obtain business."

There aren't any porcelain bath tubs with hot and cold running water to be found there, but there is an atmosphere of happiness and contentment which is worth more than modern plumbing fixtures. Mothers and fathers do not frighten their children by telling them a policeman will get them, because there are no policemen, and the average child who grows up in the parish would never know what a policeman looked like unless he saw the picture of one.

The most remarkable thing about Cameron Parish is that there is nothing remarkable about it. It offers few opportunities to one who wants to get rich. There are no really rice men in the parish, although there are a few who might be termed comfortably well off. On the other hand, there are no really poor people. It is perhaps one of the easiest places in America in which to make a living, provided the one doing the living is willing to work a little. He does not have to work extremely hard either.

Cotton is the principal crop. Yields of a bale to the acre are quite common. On the ridges which have never been inundated by the salt water from the gulf, almost anything will grow and almost everything is grown, including sweet potatoes, corn, melons and on the low land along the coast, cotton is the only crop which appears to thrive. In the northern part of the parish rice is raised.

Cattle raising has always been one of the leading industries of the parish. Cattle thrive on the grass in the marshes which cover almost a third of the parish, and even horses and mules can keep in good condition on the luxurious grass and it is seldom necessary to feed them except whey they are being worked regularly.

Hogs do well in the parish as there is an abundance of roots, shellfish and other things for them to eat. Of course, they are scrubs just as are the cattle and they do not get as fat as do thoroughbreds, but they rustle their own food, take care of themselves and show their owners more clear profit than the same number of better animals would where it was necessary to feed them. When a farmer sells a range hog, weighing 300 pounds for $20, he has made just $20 clear profit, because it has cost the farmer nothing to raise the hog. Nearly every farmer has his own vegetable garden, chickens and eggs. There are also large quanitites of eggs shipped out on the boats to Lake Charles and other cities.

Retriever dog trails set for Fri. and Sat.

Social events scheduled

Several social events honoring festival participants have been planned for the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, according to Pete Picou, president.

Thursday night the delegation from the National Outdoor Show in Cambridge, Maryland, will be honored at a buffet at Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge following the evening program.

Friday at 2 p.m., a tea honoring the Miss Cameron Parish contestants will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Vaughan at Oak Grove.

Friday at 5 p.m., a buffet will be held at the home of Jennifer Bercier in Cameron for the contestants.

Saturday at 9 a.m., a brunch will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Greg Wicke in Creole for the queen contestants.

Miss Rodeo featured

Adrienne Larissa Picou, the reigning Miss Rodeo Louisiana, will be a featured visiting queen at both the Miss Cameron and Fur Queen Pageants. Picou, daughter of Fur Festival President Hayes "Pete" Jr. and Mary Picou of Grand Chenier, was recently named a top ten finalist in the Miss Rodeo America Pageant, held in conjunction with the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, Nev.

David Devall to be the parade marshal

David Devall of Hackberry, who was the 1995 High School National Champion Calf Roper, will be the parade marshal for the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival this Saturday. The parade will begin at noon.

Devall, the 20-year-old son of Mike and Francis Devall, is currently a business sophomore at McNeese.

After years of competing in Little Britches and HIgh School rodeos, Devall has taken a break from rodeoing for the past two yards but may go out for the college rodeo team later.

Following his national win in Gillette, Wyo. in 1995, Devall was given a big homecoming in Hackberry by residents who were proud that he had put the town "on the map."

Ferry's fate to be considered

The Joint Committee on Transportation, Highways and Public Works will hold a hearing to review ferry operations in Louisiana on Thurs., Jan. 16, at 10 a.m.

The hearing will take place in House Committee Room 1 in the State Capitol Building in Baton Rouge.

The committee will review DOTD's report on statewide ferry operations. The meeting is open to the public.

The committee is expected to consider a recommendation that a number of state ferries be closed as an economy move. The ferry that serves Monkey Island at the town of Cameron is one of these.

After more than 50 years he's retiring

After more than 50 years on the job J. P. Boudoin, Jr. retired this month from one of Cameron Parish's oldest continuously operated family businesses.

Boudoin, 65, has worked at Boudoin Bros. Exxon Station in Creole since graduating from high school in 1948, but he was working part-time there even before then so he put in well over a half century with the station.

The service station, one of the first in Cameron Parish, was established some time in the 1930's by J. P.'s father, J. P. Boudoin Sr. Following his death, J. P. and his brother, Johnny, took over the operation. Johnny died 11 years ago and J. P. has operated it since then.

Johnny's son, Frederick Boudoin, is taking over the operation of the station now and J. P. will continue to work part-time on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Power crews praised

Dear Mr. Wise,

Our recent experiences with the weather, especially the ice storm that hit Cameron Parish on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, tested everyone's patience. As always, there were some people in our area who were not properly and adequately prepared for several days without heat, electricity and, sometimes, water.

Through the generosity of friends, neighbors and kin, most of us made it through this latest episode with few problems and limited discomfort. However, the number of electrical lines that were down because of ice problems were quite numerous.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my personal appreciation to Mr. Mike Johnson and his crews at Jeff Davis Electric for the very outstanding job they did in getting "juice" back to the many people's houses and businesses as quickly as they did. Few of us would like to spend the long hours out in the weather that existed, the rain and ice and cold wind, day and night as these men did. And, the dedicated office staff, manning the phones, taking complaints, issuing information and consoling the people who were in the dark should also be complimented.

I think that the people of lower Cameron Parish are very fortunate in having these service people working for us and we surely owe them a debt of gratitude. How about telling them "Thanks" when you see them again.

Bill Morris, Creole

In a reserve bid auction, the seller reserves the right to place one last bid after the other bids are opened. In other words, the seller has a price below which he or she will not sell. Instead of announcing that price before the auction, it is common practice for the auctioneer to list the high and low end bids he or she expects to get. You can usually assume that the seller's reserve bid is about two-thirds of the lower estimate.

Tips To Help You Write Your Classified Ad

1. Identify-begin with the item for sale, service you are offering, or job title of the person you're looking to hire.

2. Describe - the more information you provide to the reader the better the responses. Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know?

3. Don't Exaggerate - list the features and the condition. Make your description attractive, but believable

4. Include Price - research shows that people are more interested when they know the price. If the price is negotiable, say so.

5. Be Home - when you run your ad, be home. Specify the hours buyers can call, or ask them to leave a message on your recorder. Most people won't call back.

Come by the DeQuincy News Office at 205 East Harrison St. and we'll be happy to help you write your ad.

"D" DAY HERE

Today is "D" Day for many duck hunters in the west zone, which is us. It's over with until the next duck season.

This past week we've seen some cold, wet weather and the ducks seem to move way better. I know our marshes had more pintails, mallards, grays and teals and in good numbers. Still lots of marshes are the same old story, but it's over now and we'll think about it next season.

Seasons that are still open are: snipe until Feb. 23; woodcock until Jan. 31 (I ran across 2 woodcocks walking a levee, the only ones I've seen this year); snow and blue geese until Feb. 23 and speckle belly until Jan. 29. For those of you who have a special permit and hunt in the right boundaries, Canada goose season is Jan. 21-29. Quail is open until Feb. 28, archery closes statewide Jan. 31. If you want the four legged animals, all you have is squirrel until Jan. 26 and rabbit until Feb. 28. As you can see, there's still plenty of hunting activity left.

FISHING REPORTS

Some anglers are fishing private marshes and ponds, catching a few bass, but bream, perch and white perch fishing is better.

COMMERCIAL FISHING NEWS

State officials have closed down some oyster beds in the eastern part of the state. People who ate raw oysters during the Christmas holidays got sick, numbering over 100. These are the same areas that were closed in November, 1996. These areas are located east of the Mississippi River.

The oysters taken out of Cameron's Calcasieu lake are good to eat and the fishermen are still fishing. Prices are running about $15 per sack to the fishermen.

Our shrimper are facing the new requirements to have to have TEDs in their trynets longer than 12 feet. This goes into effect March 1, 1997. This is still about the sea turtles. Soft TEDs will have to also be replaced with a hard TED.

The new measure is for waters along the Texas and Louisiana coasts that extend 10 miles from shore from the Mississippi River South Pass to the U.S.- Mexican border.

It is said that sea turtles are caught from shore to 6 miles out, but they put it 10 miles. I wonder if the shrimpers are against a group like the anti-hunters and anti-fishing organizations. This has got to make many shrimpers quit or get put out of business.

It is said that over 50,000 turtles died because of shrimping, but who can say really what's killing the sea turtles.

Texas is restricting the number of licenses commercial shrimpers operate in bays. shrimpers can sell back their bay licenses with a bid process and they say how much they want for their licenses. Once the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department purchases these licenses, they are retired.

We all know our crawfish farmers took a beating last year as the Chinese crawfish tails sold for half price of American crawfish, and this has caused Louisiana processors to lose 60 percent of the crawfish market.

Chinese crawfish imports have gone up from 150,000 pounds in 1991 to over 4 million pounds in 1996.

The U. S. Trade Commission will rule on Feb. 12, on an antidumping tariff on crawfish imported from China. This would protect the Louisiana crawfish industry by making importers post a bond to make up the difference between the United States value of crawfish and the price for which the Chinese crawfish are being sold.

Picard pays visit

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Louisiana Superintendent of Education Cecil Picard spent a day in Cameron Parish last week visiting some of the schools, assessing the needs of the system and explaining his plans for revamping the educational system in Louisiana.

He has already started with the state office, by putting all of the state educational funds into one account and using it where it is needed instead of doling it out to separate programs in which the money could only be spent in that program.

Now instead of 200 different programs there is one and the various departments are working together to bring the educational system up from the bottom of the states. It is now 49 out of 50 in teen problems.

"I want to start my comprehensive education program from the bottom up instead of the other way around," he said.

He plans to visit all of the systems in the state and out of 1400 schools, has already visited 66.

His aim is also to raise the pay of teachers more in line with industry, pointing out that Louisiana teachers are $11,000 below the national average.

He is working on early childhood education and pre-k and at-risk children, which he figures is a long-term investment.

He would also like to establish a leadership academy for principals, and government grants for schools other than college for those students who are not enrolling in college and only need a trade.

"We need to encourage Partners In Education with business and industry and the support of parents in each community", he said.

He spoke to 31 community leaders, school personnel and public officials at a luncheon at pat's in Cameron, underwritten by Cameron State Bank. He challenged the group to work together to help him achieve his goals.

Ferry gets reprieve here

The Monkey Island Ferry at Cameron has been given a temporary reprieve after having been scheduled to shut down in about 30 days.

A hearing on shutting down a number of state-owned ferries around the state was held last Thursday in Baton Rouge.

A number of lawmakers and community representatives attended the meeting to protest the closings in their areas. However, no one from Cameron was at the meeting and afterwards the state transportation secretary issued a memo that based on the lack of public input on the Monkey Island ferry the state would proceed with its closing.

However, it was quickly learned that there had been no public input from Cameron since none of the concerned officials had been notified about the meeting, including the parish's representative and senator and the police jury.

(The Cameron Pilot did receive a news release concerning the hearing but the paper did not come out until Thursday morning, too late for anyone from Cameron to attend the meeting.)

After calls from Rep. Dan Flavin, Senator Jerry Theunissen and Rep. Vic Stelley to the governor's office, the transportation department was told to cancel the closure plans until after the Legislature meets and full public hearings can be held on the matter.

Police Juror George LeBouef said the Cameron Police Jury is asking the state to keep the ferry in operation until a bridge can be built to replace it. Bridge studies already have been made and funding is what is needed now.

Mo. Island ferry sets closure

Louisiana should close six of its 11 ferries, including the Monkey Island Ferry in Cameron Parish, according to a report submitted Thursday by the Joint Transportation Committee of the Louisiana Legislative committee in Baton Rouge.

The report said the Monkey Island ferry to cameron serves just seven families and has cost the state $33 million over the past 36 years.

But some lawmakers argued against shutting down the vessels, saying many people in their districts have no other form of transportation and rely on the ferries to get to and from work.

The report was prepared by the state Department of Transportation and Development at the request of the Legislature.

The committee did not act on the report.

DOTD Secretary Frank Denton told the transportation committee that the cost of operating the ferries ranges from $6 per vehicle per crossing in some areas to as much as $61 per vehicle in others.

The report looked at the money the state could save by closing the White Castle to Carville ferry south of Baton Rouge, the Melville ferry crossing the Atchafalaya River into Pointe Coupee Parish, the Duty to Enterprise ferry across the Ouachita River, the Monkey Island ferry across the old Calcasieu River, the Algiers-Morgan and Canal streets in New Orleans and the Gretna-New Orleans ferry.

The Monkey Island ferry costs $9.51 per vehicle but serves only the seven families on the island, which includes two DOTD employees' families.

Rep. Steve Scalise, R-Jefferson, said it would be cheaper for the state to build a bridge.

According to Denton's report, closing the ferries would produce the following annual savings: White Castle-Carville, $573,072; Melville-Morganza & Lottie; $452,751; Duty-Enterprise (Ouachita River), $310,426; Monkey Island-Cameron, $273,243; Algiers-Morgan and Canal streets in New Orleans, $152,125; and Gretna-New Orleans, $768,671.

Touchet, Richard are recognized

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

School Supervisor, Roger Richard, presented a new Reduction in Force (RIF) policy to the Cameron Parish school board at their monthly meeting last week and a lengthy discussion followed over several items in the report.

The school board is trying to develop a clearer policy on the two policies, one for educators and administrators and the other for support personnel.

Under state law, four standards must be considered in the RIF plan - seniority, tenure after 3 years, certification, and academic preparation in the individual's field.

A point system is used in determining the status of each employee. Under the old system, a five-point system was used. Under the new plan, it would be a one-point system, even though the values will remain the same. Employees would receive one point for certification in the area being reduced, one point each for tenure, satisfactory evaluation for the past three years, post-secondary education completed, each year of employment in the Cameron system, and would lose one point for each unsatisfactory evaluation.

Tie breakers were also listed, but a seventh item, a coin toss in case of a tie was eliminated at the request of board member, Karen Nunez, who said it was not professional.

A difference of opinion by board President Bill Morris, and Superintendent Pam LaFleur, over whether a person's overall experience in the school system should be considered or just experience in that classification. In the case of support personnel, an employee would lose seniority by changing from an educational aide to a tutor position, whereas someone who stays in the same position his entire career would have an advantage over someone who changes.

LaFleur said that there are problems with both, and someone will be unhappy.

Morris said that it was unfair for someone to lose seniority just because they were trying for a promotion to a higher paying position.

He and LaFleur also differed on the weight vocational and college carried for support personnel. Morris said giving them the same weight would downplay the importance, and that college education hours should be worth more, and that these factors should be considered when hiring and should not be considered in

Paul Gerald Touchet, Holly Beach businessman, was the recipient of the annual Citizen of the Year award at the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce banquet held Monday night at the Hackberry community center.

Touchet was cited for his contribution to the community and parish through the Catholic church, Knights of Columbus, Cajun Riveria Festival, the beach cleanup and the Chamber of Commerce.

Also recognized at the banquet were the two other nominees for the award--Viola Bourriague of Creole and Charles F. Hebert of Cameron.

The late Riley Richard of Johnson Bayou was named as the recipient of the annual Memorial Award. He was honored for his contributions to the Lions Club, fire department, Civil Defense, Boy Scouts, Knights of Columbus, Catholic Church and the drainage board.

Also nominated for the Memorial Award was Clyde Theriot of Grand Chenier.

Outgoing Chamber President Edwin Kelley said the Chamber had completed a new resource directory this past year, help secure a project to construct pulloffs for tourists along Hwy. 27, worked on parish litter cleanup and provided tourist information to 519 persons during the year.

Bill Turnbull was inducted as the 1997 president.

State Rep. Dan Flavin introduced the two guest speakers, , Shelley Johnston, executive director, and Monte Hurley, chairman of the Southwest Louisiana Tourism Commission.

The two reviewed the history of Creole Nature Trail which follows a big circle through Cameron Parish showing off the outdoor attractions of the parish.

The Trail was established by the Legislature in 1975 and was designated as a State Scenic Byway in 1993 and as a National Scenic Byway in 1996.

Johnston said the national designation was unique in that there is only 14 in the United States and this is the only one in the south.

She said the next goal for the trail is to secure its designation as an "All American Road" which would give it real national recognition.

Others on the program were Rodney Guilbeaux, master of ceremonies; Father Roland Vaughn, blessing; Rev. Gerard Little, benediction; John DeBarge, pledge; Janie Turnbull, presentation of Memorial Award; Donna LaBove, presentation of Citizen award.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harrison visited Dexter, Terri and Chloe Harrison in Sugarland, Tex. last weekend. Dr. Gregory Harrison of Murphysboro, Ill, and Suzanne Garoian of Carbondale, Ill, joined them.

The Harrisons visited the George R. Brown Convention Center featuring America's Smithsonian Exhibition in Houston, Tex., Sat., Jan. 11.

The exhibition is celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Smithsonian Institution. The 100,000 square-foot exhibition is the largest show ever put on the road by the Smithsonian or any other museum.

America's Smithsonian has more than 300 objects from national collections: from first ladies gowns, extraordinary works of art and famous gems of dinosaur fossils, a Wright brothers' plane and an Apollo capsule. Many of the objects have never been exhibited outside of the Smithsonian.

Visitors were invited to take a spin on the 50-foot carousel, meander through the Discovering, Imagining, and Remembering galleries, explore Corporate Partner exhibits, and learn about the national treasures that make up America's Smithsonian.

Of special interests to the Harrison were exhibitions of the Discovery Gallery which presented treasures that tell us about the natural world such as meteorites, dinosaur fossils, crystals and minerals. Butterflies and beetles, mollusks and moths, starfish and sea fans revealed nature's mysteries.

New technologies that have expanded the frontiers of discovery were the Apollo 14 Command Module (1971); the 1961 Mercury spacecraft, in which Alan Shepard became the first American in space, the Lunar Module, and a moon rock are just some of the artifacts on exhibit.

The Imagining Gallery showcased human creativity and imagination. The geometric lines of a chair designed by architect Frank lloyd Wright, the brilliant colors of a Tiffany lamp, and the complex designs of a handmade quilt offered new perspectives on practical objects. This gallery also features creations from around the world. Some of the oldest artifacts displayed are Chinese jades and bronzes. The Tucker automobile (1951) in which only 52 sere produced, featured number 39 at Smithsonian. Its engine was in the rear, discs instead of springs, crouch-space for a front-seat passenger during a collision, and a center headlight that turned with the steering wheel were some of the features offered a driver.

The Remembering Gallery was a reminder of famous individuals, momentous events, technological achievement and everyday life. Abraham Lincoln's top hat, an Edison light bulb; a Morse telegraph key, a Singer Sewing Machine, and a Jarvik 7 artificial heart were only a few of the displays.

The exhibition travels to over 12 cities over a 2-year period.

MARATHON

Sunday, Jan. 12, Dr. Gregory O. Harrison was among 6,000 who ran the Methodist Health Care Houston Marathon in intermittent rain and sleet. He finished with a time of 3:20:16. The 25th Houston Marathon was the coldest and most miserable in its history. The weather did not dampen the enthusiasm of Dr. Harrison's family and friend who stood at the finish line to cheer him on to completion of the 26-mile run.

CAMERON LIVESTOCK TEAM IN PARADE

The Cameron Parish Livestock Show Team entered a float in the Southwest District Fat-stock Show Parade scheduled for Wed., Jan. 29.

All 4-H and FFA exhibitors, including peewee exhibitors and future 4-H and FFA members from all seven schools in Cameron Parish, are invited to participate. Participants are asked to wear the black and white Cameron Parish Livestock Show Team sweatshirts or plain black or white sweatshirts. Participants must report to the float in the Prien Lake Mall parking lot by 4 p.m. that day, and bring their own candy or other items to throw. The parade will run south on Ryan Street and parents may pick up their children in the K-Mart Shopping Center.

Parents who are interested in helping paint the murals for the float or who would like to help in some other way should meet in the cheerleader room at South Cameron High School on Fri., Jan. 24, anytime after 2 p.m.

The trailer will be provided by Wendell Wilkerson and the 18 wheeler by Jerry Boudreaux. All of the plywood has been donated by Jim Paul Dupont.

For more information, contact Stephanie Rodrigue at 542-4615.

LIVESTOCK SALE PRESENTATIONS

The 1997 Cameron Parish Livestock Sale opened Sat., Jan. 18, with an acknowledgement of the top 15 buyers of 1996 by President Shane Jouett and sales committee chairman Ricky Poole.

That group included Hibernia National Bank (formerly Calcasieu Marine) of Cameron, Billy Navarre Chevrolet of Lake Charles and Sulphur, McCall's Boat Rental, Cameron State Bank, Dupont Building, Hibernia National Bank of Sulphur, Roy Bailey Construction, Brown's Food Center of Hackberry, Devall Towing, Cameron Telephone, Badon and Ranier, Ricky Guidry, Joe Sanner, T-Claude, Inc., and Friendly Builders.

On behalf of all 4-H and FFA members, Stephanie Rodrigue, welcomed John Laing, the new president of Hibernia National Bank to Cameron Parish and presented official Cameron Parish Livestock Show Team sweatshirts to Laing and Yvonne Mhire, Hibernia's branch manager.

"This small token of appreciation does not represent just what Hibernia does for our livestock program, but for all that you do for the programs involving our boys and girls of Cameron Parish."

Jim Miller of Miller Stockyards also presented opening remarks including the change from sales per head instead of per pound. This change was made at the request of many buyers who were working within specified budgets and found per head calculations quicker and more efficient. As is traditional, Miller sold the champions and auctioneers Mike Montie and Darrell Crochet assisted with the sales that followed.

An annual highlight of the opening ceremonies is the presentation of the Channing Conner Memorial Awards for outstanding livestock participation in 4-H. The South Cameron High School 4-H Club donates the trophies and plaques which are presented yearly to large animal exhibitors who have excelled in exhibition, showmanship and record keeping. Eligible 4-Hers submit applications to the 4-H office where the forms are judged.

This year's winners included, in the elementary division: Amber Trahan, 1st; Scott Savoie, 2nd; and Brett Baccigalopi, 3rd; in the junior division, Dusty Savoie, 1st; Julie Trahan, 2nd; and Michael Boudreaux, 3rd; and in the senior division, Heather Taylor, 1st; Christi Kay Canik, 2nd; and Mandy Broussard, 3rd. The Conner family represented by Douaine, Sheila, Lancey and Santana, presented the awards to the winners.

An added feature of this year's shew and sale was computer monitoring of activities, results, sale order and added money. The Cameron Parish Livestock Show and Sale was one of the first major programs in the parish to be computerized over 7 years ago and the system has been upgraded and improved yearly.

This year's computer monitoring enhanced the program and is yet another example of how both FFA and 4-H members receive instruction in and are made constantly aware of the importance of computerization and technology in all areas.

On January 12th, Jefferson Davis Electric Cooperative experienced the most widespread outage since 1957, affecting many lines in its entire system.

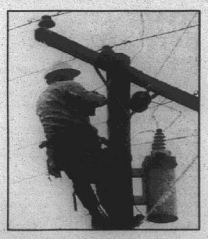
What Equals an Ice Storm?

We want you to know, that from the very beginning Jeff Davis Electric's challenge was to restore power to our consumers as quickly as possible. We put all Jeff Davis Electric crews — along with crews from Claiborne Electric Cooperative, Concordia Electric Cooperative, Dixie Electric Membership Corp., Pointe Coupee Electric Membership Corp., South La. Electric Cooperative Association, Teche Electric Cooperative, Washington-St. Tammany Electric Cooperative and Red Simpson — to work immediately. For six days and nights crews worked to get the power restored so you could get your lives back to normal again.



We realize that many of you were inconvenienced. With such a large number of consumers affected, many of you even encountered a busy signal when reporting an outage. Through it all, you had faith in us to get the job done right — and we did.

One thing is for certain. All of us at Jeff Davis Electric learned that the only force equal to an ice storm's power is the support, cooperation and patience of our consumers. That's what! Thank you.

Calf scramble set at rodeo

The Southwest District Livestock show, McNeese State University, Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service and the Calcasieu Cattlemen's Association will conduct a calf scramble as part of the district livestock show and rodeo scheduled for Jan. 30-Feb. 2.

The contest is patterned after the highly successful program conducted at the Houston Livestock Show.

Participants must be bonafide members of either a 4-H Club or an FFA Chapter. A number of calves are turned loose in the rodeo arena. Approximately 20 eligible participants will then attempt to catch, halter and lead the calf across the finish line.

There will be a calf scramble held at each rodeo performance and the winner will receive $1,000 towards the purchase and upkeep of the calf.

The competition will be sponsored each night by Farmers Rice Milling Company of Lake Charles, a member of Powell Group.

The scramble not only allows a young person to acquire a registered animal, but also assists in the feeding, grooming and care of the calf which must be shown at next year's District Livestock Show.

Vote set on referndum

Cameron Parish rice growers and spouses will vote Jan. 27, in a referendum to renew the current 3 cents per hundredweight checkoff for promotion and research and to add 2 cents per hundredweight to the research checkoff. These are to be three separate voting issues. The funds collected through the assessment will be used to expand rice research programs in Louisiana and expand domestic and international rice markets through promotion.

A simple majority of those voting will be necessary for approval. If approved, the program will be in effect for only 5 years.

All persons or legal entities who shared in the cost of production and proceeds of rice produced in 1996 are eligible to vote. This includes spouses of producers but excludes persons on entities that received cash rent for land used to produce rice. Polling will be held at Grand Lake Multi-Purpose Building from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Among other things, rice research has led to the development of the rice varieties Cypress and Bengal. The economic returns to Louisiana growers from the harvested acreage of these new higher yielding, better milling varieties for the 1996 rice crop alone are estimated to exceed $60 million.

HOSPITAL BUILDS HELIPORT

A 40 by 40-foot concrete slab heliport has been completed on the west side of the South Cameron Memorial Hospital to provide a landing area for helicopters bringing emergency patients from out of the Gulf.

The heliport is lighted so that 'copters may land at night. The first night flight came in Tuesday night of last week with a man who fell 40 feet from a rig. He was treated for a dislocated elbow and released.

Administrator K. H. Hopper said about six or eight helicopter flights have come into the hospital since it opened last June.

He also announced that Mrs. Shirley Crain of Grand Chenier, a medical technologist, has been placed in charge of the hospital laboratory.

BURGLARS HIT THREE PLACES

Three establishments in the town of Cameron, including the post office, were burglarized early Wednesday morning and nearly $400 taken.

A safe at Singletary's Western Auto Store was broken open and $340 in money, belonging the the Cameron V.F.W. was taken. Some money from the cash register was also taken.

Sonny Singletary, son of the owner, C. M. Singletary, heard the noise and came down from the living quarters upstairs. He chased one man, who leaped a fence near Kornegay's grocery, losing some change and a hammer in the process. The man fled in a car believed to have been driven by a second person.

At the post office, the burglars gained entrance through a window. Unable to get the post office safe open they broke into the Cameron Drug Store, in the same building, where they were also unable to open the safe. They did get about $25 in cash from the cash register.

THIS WEEK
(By Jerry Wise)

It's still in the talking stages, but the Cameron Lions Club has begun to look into the prospects of getting a swimming pool for the town. Although there are a number of problems involved--the main one being the financing--everyone seems to agree that a pool is a big need, primarily for the youngsters of the area.

The Lions hope to get a Grand Ole Opry program lined up sometime in the near future.

The club held its monthly board meeting Monday night at E. J. and Hazel Dronet's new home in the Garber subdivision. The Dronets certainly have a beautiful home.

Rules changed on bait shrimp

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission amended the regulations governing the Special Bait Dealer's permit, allowing bait dealers to have no more than two gallons of dead shrimp aboard vessels.

The regulation reads as follows: "No more than two gallons of dead shrimp may be aboard the vessel while it is operating under the (special bait dealer's) permit. All dead shrimp in excess of two gallons must be immediately returned to the water. Shrimp dying in onshore holding facilities may be sold for bait use only, in lots not to exceed 16 oz. in weight."

Bait dealers were previously prohibited from having any dead shrimp aboard vessels.

In September when the Commission began the process to amend this rule, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Shrimp Programs Manager L. Brandt Savoie reported that the 2-gallon limit was a consensus between bait dealers and LDWF.

Special session to be held in February

--CAPITOL NEWS--

State lawmakers can begin preparing to return to the Capitol in late February for a special session preceding the March 31 regular session.

Among the issues the Foster administration plans to include in the call is renewal of the 1-cent sales tax which is scheduled to go off the books June 30. Chief of Staff Stephen Perry told members of the state's four governing boards for higher education that Gov. Mike Foster wants to use the $110 million the tax would generate to help education.

Realizing the difficulty of passing the tax proposal, Perry urged members of the governing boards to support the plan. He pointed out that recent polls have indicated voters support taxes if they are reserved for education.

The administration envisions allotting about $15 million of the tax proceeds for higher education. Another $15 million would be earmarked for reading programs for kindergarten through third grade, and a like amount would be used for programs to strengthen public school discipline. The remainder of the $110 million would be allocated for other elementary and secondary school needs, such as teacher pay raises.

Some lawmakers have expressed doubt about renewing the tax on traditionally exempt items such as food and utilities. They say the public has been promised that the tax would be discontinued when the Louisiana Recovery District debt was paid off, and renewing it now would be reneging on a promise.

Perry said the special session probably will begin at 5 p.m Feb. 23. It will be set to last three weeks, but Foster has said he believes the issues can be handled in only two weeks.

The other issues the administration plans to pursue in the special session include elementary and secondary eduction, restructuring higher education to strengthen the Board of Regents, workforce development and transferring control of the charity hospitals from the Louisiana Health Care Authority to LSU.

Foster has repeatedly said he would not call a special session without some assurance that there was a consensus among lawmakers on at least three of the issues he wants to address.

The tax issue has been added to the list recently, and promises to be a controversial one. Members of the state's congressional delegation have said renewal of the tax also is key to their ability to convince the federal government that Louisiana needs another year of additional Medicaid funding. They say it will be difficult to convince federal authorities of Louisiana's fiscal need if it allows a tax to expire. Having a $318 million surplus from 1995-96 adds to the problem.

SCHOOL BOARD

RIF. LaFleur said the factors that affect employment should also affect unemployment.

After revisions the proposals will be brought back to the board for final acceptance.

ELECTION POSTPONED

The board postponed the election of officers because of the absence of two board members, Dan Billiot and Tony Johnson, who work offshore and have been having trouble making the meetings due to work schedule changes. The board was operating with barely a quorum this week because both of the men were absent. The following items were approved during the four hour meeting:

They voted to buy four 66-passenger buses, part of a plan to replace the board's aging bus fleet.

Atterberry International submitted the only bid for the chassis, $26,970 for a 60 passenger chassis or $27,046 for a 66-passenger chassis.

A separate company builds the body on the chassis and Southland International submitted a bid of $12,988 for a 66-passenger body, just $800 more than the 60-passenger model.

The larger body also includes a roof vent which helps keep the bus cooler in hot weather and can serve as an escape hatch if the bus flips on the side blocking the door.

Transportation supervisor Ron Vining recommended the larger buses because schools like Hackberry and Grand Lake could use them, especially when some drivers are running double routes. The board opted for the larger buses.

Vining said he was pleased with the prices and that the buses would probably arrive in November.

The board set two meeting dates for Feb. 5 and May 14, and will try to work out other dates when the two board members not present can attend.

A summer maintenance list of around $300,000 was approved.

They received bids on computer equipment and approved the purchase of 3 for lunchrooms and one for Title I, (which will be paid for from federal funds).

They approved a bid on Section 43-15-5 (4 acres at the Grand Chenier School site) at $258 per acre and 25% royalty by Marshland Production Company, which was presented by Uland Guidry, who also recommended that the board advertise for a mineral lease for the east half of Section 16-14-7 containing 220 acres as nominated by Specter Exploration, Inc. in the Creole area.

They authorized the superintendent to appoint a scholarship committee to select a scholarship applicant for the Louisiana School Boards Association scholarship. It must be in the Education field and the applicant must have a 3.0 average or above, and the winner will be announced May 1.

At the request of Peggy Boudreaux, the board agreed to have Mrs. LaFleur appoint a committee to study the creation of more specific guidelines on voluntary staff transfer policy. Mrs. Boudreaux is president of the Parish Association of Education.

The board commended the Tarpon football team, coaching staff and others for achieving the Class AA State Runner-up and also commended Coach Parry LaLande for being named the Southwest Louisiana Coach of the Year.

A resolution was adopted declaring January 22, 1997 as School Nurse Day and commended Mrs. Colligan on her work as school nurse.

At the request of school supervisor Judy Jones, the board voted to reinstate CAT 5 testing for Grade 2, which was eliminated during the school budget crunch, at a cost of around $2,000 and will be given in the spring.

The board voted to raise the price of alligator eggs harvested on school lands from $3 to $4 each after the current contracts expire. Up to 3,000 eggs are harvested per year on these lands.

Energy saving tips from Cam. Comm. Agency

A homeowner can lower their monthly utility bills by following a few energy saving tips for appliances from the editors of Consumer Guide.

Refrigerator/Freezer: 1. Don't set the temperature dials too low. Experiment to arrive at the highest freezer setting that will keep ice cream firm but not rock hard. The refrigerator temperature should stay within the range of 34 to 37 degrees. 2. Leave enough space in the refrigerator for air to circulate. 3. Keep your refrigerator and freezer clean and in proper working condition.

Dishwater Energy: 1. Run the unit only when it contains a full load. 2. Don't pre-rinse, but do scrape away all food particles from the dish surfaces. 3. Be sure to use the proper amount of detergent. Too much or too little or even the wrong kind of detergent reduces your dishwasher's efficiency.

Oven and Stove Energy: 1. Put a lid on the pot or pan you're using. Water boils faster when covered, saving up to 20% of the energy that would otherwise be consumed. 2. Don't turn on an element or burner until the pan is on the stove. 3. Try lower oven temperature settings when you bake in glass or ceramic dishes.

Pavell Knights of Columbus Council 8323 of Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach. 18 boxes were given to needy families in the community for Christmas. Some of the youth helped the knights to distribute these boxes along with nearly 75 gifts to senior citizens in the area.

1. Crain Brothers, Inc. $5,490.00
2. Campbell Gas & Oil Co., Inc. $402.00
3. Cameron Parish Pilot $58.00
Mr. Brent Quinn reported that we have received a letter from Texas Meridian Resources Corporation agreeing to repair the levee damaged in recent work being done by their company south of the Henry Estate 27 No. 1 location.
Lonnie Harper reported that the contract with H & S Construction (Larfay Ancelet) has not been signed as yet to do the clean-out work on the Big Pasture area.
A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to authorize Mr. Ed Quinn to sign the contract with H & S Construction Co., Inc. for Project No. 1996-04 Drainage Improvements in the Big Pasture Area. Mr. Harper and Mr. Henry reported that Mr. Ancelet has experienced some equipment problems that may delay his beginning work on this project for another month or so.
Mr. Glenn Harris presented the Water Management Report on the Cameron-Creole Watershed for the previous month. Water levels and salinities are back up because of recent weather conditions. He stated that monitoring on weekends is difficult because the staff has been instructed to minimize overtime. Even if one person is on call, that person cannot perform gate manipulations by himself. Scott Henry offered to assist with gate manipulations should that be permissible. Mr. Brent Nunez stated that the parish's legal counsel has recommended against Board Members assisting the employees with actual work in their water district. Tina Horn suggested an interagency agreement to allow Scott Henry or someone else to assist with gate manipulations.
Mr. Quinn reported that the Memorandum of Understanding regarding the Cameron-Creole Watershed Project has been ready to be signed since August, but it has not been approved by U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service as yet. A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried to authorize Edwin Quinn to sign the MOU when it comes back from Atlanta signed by a representative of U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service.
Mr. Henry stated that if gates are going to be locked on top of plugs, this Board should be furnished with keys for these locks.
Mr. James LeBoeuf asked about repair of the opening between the Mobil pump and the bridge in Cameron to prevent water from going into the downtown area, so that water can be pumped out when the tide is high in this area. After a brief discussion, it was agreed that estimates be secured for these repairs. Tina Horn stated that the labor can be done by the Parish road crew personnel. Mrs. Horn also stated that over the long-haul we should look toward building a bulkhead in the river to prevent water from coming up in that area.
A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve Scott Henry to have this problem corrected, provided the cost doesn't go over $1,000.00
There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

THE BIG CHILL

I guess Jan. 12 thru 19, will kind of stay on our minds for quite a while. The arctic cold fronts brought misery throughout our parish and other parishes of southwest Louisiana. Many of our old, old trees took a beating as well as many animals, pipes and, yes, us folks. No water in many areas and electricity was a memory for a few days. One or two things did do well, a big time at the Fur Festival, better duck hunting the last week and yes, water and electricity back to most folks.

There was a duck hunter who went before the Louisiana Wildlife Commission to ask for an extension to our duck season, as new ducks were just coming down, but the request was turned down, so that's that until next year.

Now it's time for spring, but until that time, we can catch the four seasons on television, bass, deer, duck and trout, it's almost like being there.

There seems to be more geese in our area, so there is still a little wing shooting left for a while.

The Oak Grove Hunting Club shut their commercial hunting club down early. The cold weather kept hunters from getting to the club and no electricity was a major factor.

NEW CORPORATION

The La. Fur and Alligator Advisory Council efforts to develop new fur markets has panned out. Louisiana Bayou Furs Inc., a newly formed corporation is now in the fur business.

Many buyers, especially overseas buyers don't buy fur usually until late spring or early summer, well after the trapping season is over. La. Bayou Furs Inc. will buy fur during the regular trapping season, especially nutria, from buyers and dealers at a fair price, hold them until the customers are ready to buy.

Many trappers didn't know if there was a market or what price they would get until way up in the season, this will eliminate this worry. Fact is, lots of trappers just gave up trapping for the uncertainty was too much.

Many coastal land companies became interested as over population of nutria was causing increased vegetation damage, soil-coastal erosion and many of these companies owned thousands of acres of these lands.

There are seven land companies who are investors of Louisiana Bayou Furs Inc. Fina Oil and Chemical Co., Miami Corporation, Ghenns Golden Ranch, North American Land Co., Williams Inc., Jeanerette lumber and Shingle Co Ltd., and the Louisiana Land and Exploration Co. A Furman, Irving Camlot, from Canada, serves as president of the company, with experience of more than 40 years in the fur business. The Whitney national Bank of New Orleans is taking care of financial affairs for the company.

Darrell "Fats" Dupont, chairman of the Fur and Alligator Advisory Council, says the council is very pleased and could stabilize the fur industry. This results in fairer prices for fur, so more La. families will trap and also help protect the coastal wetlands.

KING FUR

Congratulations are in order to Darrell "Fats" Dupont, on being selected King Fur for the La. Fur Festival. Fats is a trapper, alligator hunter, hunter and sports fishermen as well as a local businessman. He and his wife Fay-B reside in Cameron.

Most of us are now cleaning up the boats, decoys, shotguns and other hunting gear, ready for storage until next season. Next is getting the boat ready as well as fishing tackle and gear. We will start getting some fishing weather next month, unless old man winter decides to make us wait.

1. Identify-begin with the item for sale, service you are offering, or job title of the person you're looking to hire.
2. Describe - the more information you provide to the reader the better the responses. Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know?
3. Don't Exaggerate - list the features and the condition. Make your description attractive, but believable.
4. Include Price - research shows that people are more interested when they know the price. If the price is negotiable, say so.
5. Be Home - when you run your ad, be home. Specify the hours buyers can call, or ask them to leave a message on your recorder. Most people won't call back.

Come by the Clipper Office Supply, School St., Cameron and we'll be happy to help you with your ad.

Petroleum processing tax proposed by three

Governor Mike Foster should open the special legislative session to consideration of a petroleum processing tax as an alternative to his plan to raise taxes on consumers, say four state senators.

Sens. Foster Campbell, Jim Cox, Paulette Irons and Don Cravins say a processing tax on imported oil and gas can fund raises for school teachers and police officers, provide better roads, reduce taxes on small businesses and eliminate the three-cent state sales tax on food and utilities.

"We want to give the people of Louisiana a fair alternative," said Campbell, D-Elm Grove. "We want to reduce the burden on families, small businesses and senior citizens."

International oil companies have exploited Louisiana's natural resources for nearly a century, Campbell said, and the state has little to show for it.

"What we have is smog in our cities, coastal erosion and thousands of miles of pipelines crisscrossing our woods, wetlands and waterways," Campbell said.

Cravins, D-Arnaudville, said petroleum processing tax will raise $1.5 billion a year, with most of the money coming from out of state.

"Our citizens will pay one cent more for gasoline, but so will motorists all across the United States," Cravins said. "That's how much America depends on Louisiana to process its oil and gas."

The petroleum processing tax would require a state constitutional amendment allowing a tax on the processing of crude oil, natural gas, refined petroleum products and petrochemicals. Means of processing would include transportation, pipelines and refining.

"Louisiana is a processing state, but the state bases oil and gas taxation on production, as if we were still living and working in the 1920's," Campbell said. Our tax code must be based on today's reality, which is that production is down but processing is up. The major oil companies are reporting record profits.

"We will raise teacher pay to an avrage of $34,000, highest in the South. In Cameron Parish, that's an average pay raise of over $3,700 a year," he said. "We'll raise college faculty salaries. We'll provide summer school opportunities for at-risk children in every parish, and we'll provide $1 million in endowment funds for every school district in Louisiana.

"We believe it's time we returned fairness to our state tax code. The international oil companies have used our state for long enough. Louisiana deserves her fair share."

Irons said, "We'll put $25 million a year into a law-enforcement endowment fund and, in addition, raise state supplemental pay to $125 a month for all police officers, sheriff deputies and firefighters."

Different versions of the petroleum processing tax have been proposed in Louisiana since the mid-1970's, but each time they encountered stiff opposition from major oil companies.

Campbell said the Legislature last year approved a Foster bill giving oil companies a $100 million tax break with the coke-on-catalyst issue.

"Louisiana is a processing state, but the state bases oil and gas taxation on production, as if we were still living and working in the 1920's," Campbell said. Our tax code must be based on today's reality, which is that production is down but processing is up. The major oil companies are reporting record profits.

Sweetlake Rd. to be closed

La. Hwy. 384 between Boone's Corner and Hackett's Corner in the Sweet Lake area will be closed to traffic from 8:15 a.m. to 3 p.m., Feb. 4-7, according to the La. Dept. of Transportation. The closure is necessary to replace drainage structures in the area.

The closure had been scheduled Jan. 14-17, but was postponed due to the ice storm.

Gun permits about 20,000

–CAPITAL NEWS–

Louisiana State Police have received about 20,000 requests from potential applicants for concealed weapons permits since the program began, but the officer who heads the operation says they have not seen an increase in weapons purchases.

Reporting to a legislative committee on the concealed handgun section's activity, Sgt. Michael Noel said about 800 permits have been issued since late 1996, and only two applicants have been rejected. Most of the permits issued so far have gone to residents of metropolitan areas such as Baton Rouge, New Orleans and Shreveport.

Noel, who supervises the concealed handgun section, said that "It's going pretty good, actually a lot better than I thought it would."

The special division of the State Police has sent out about 18,000 application packets in response to the requests it has received, and about 3,000 applications have been submitted. As many as 1,500 of those have been returned to the applicants, Noel said, because some of the requested information was omitted or applicants failed to send in a check or money order to pay the application fee.

Characterizing most applicants as "average, upstanding citizens," Noel predicted that the number of rejections will be fewer than 1 percent.

Drug law defended

–CAPITAL NEWS–

State Police spokesmen last week told state lawmakers that the state's drug forfeiture law is a valuable tool in fighting drug trafficking, but one said his agency isn't really concerned with what happens to the forfeited property.

Current state law allows seizure of vehicles, money and property if a person is suspected of being involved with drugs. Upon conviction, the seized assets are divided among the arresting law enforcement agency, the local district attorney and the judicial expense fund.

After an NBC "Dateline" broadcast in early January alleged illegal traffic stops are being made and property seized solely to raise money for the benefiting agencies, some state lawmakers are considering changes to the state's drug forfeiture law.

State Police Capt. Ronnie Jones said at a meeting of the House Criminal Justice Committee that the State Police doesn't have enough manpower to patrol interstate highways without help from local police. He asked lawmakers to allow local officers to at least respond to and help troopers if the Legislature decides to give sole responsibility for the interstates to state police.

Both Jones and State Police Commander William "Rut" Whittington agreed that the forfeiture law is needed. They said it is important in law enforcement's continuing war on drugs.

Jones said state troopers seized only 45 vehicles as aresult of 400,000 traffic stops during 1996. He said "Dateline" questioned State Police about some of their stops, but none of them were mentioned in the televised report which concentrated on Calcasieu and Jefferson Davis parishes.

Some lawmakers have suggested allocating proceeds from seizures to education or some other area instead of allowing law enforcement agencies to share the funds. That would cut down on abuses of the law by eliminating the "profit" in seizures, they say.

Jones said State Police has no preference about where the money and property go. "We're not in the business of putting together a used car lot," he said.

Whittington said the state is primarily a transit point between "the big folks" in Mexico and eastern states. State Police generally try to convince the "mules" transporting the drugs to take part in a controlled delivery of their shipment to apprehend the major dealers.

HUNTING NEWS

Many of us are finished with the duck season, having cleared out the duck blind, washed and stored the decoys, pirogue, cleaned out the boat for fishing and cleaned the old shotgun. Now the shotgun will still be used, as goose (snow and blue) is still open, until Feb. 23. Speckle-belly season is over as of Jan. 29. There's still snipe season until Feb. 23, but woodcock is over with on Jan. 31, as well as archery season for deer.

Squirrel season was over Sun., Jan. 26, but rabbit season runs until Feb. 28. Quail season runs through Feb. 28, also, but that's about like woodcock, we don't see much of that in our parish.

FISHING

Most everyone is preparing for the upcoming freshwater fishing, however, if things stay the same, Rockefeller Refuge will be the first to open March1, while Lacassine Refuge, Cameron Prairie and Sabine refuges are usually open around March 15. No word yet on the Big Burn permit fishing, but that's usually on a Saturday around March 15, and this year March 15, is on a Saturday as well as March 1.

In the month of February, depending on how cold it is, white bass will begin to spawn and schools of white perch will begin breaking up. Largemouth bass will begin to build nests and will start to spawn towards the end of March.

Toldeo Bend bass should start hitting in the latter part of February, again, depending on the weather. During this period we'll see wintering waterfowl begin migrating northward.

Our summer mallards will also be at peak nesting in March. I'll say this, for all the large hatches of summer mallards we saw last spring, we sure didn't see many summer mallards during the hunting season.

Talking about fishing, most Americans (95%) approve of fishing, but with a population growth of about 6%, fishing shrank by about 2%. It's hard to predict what fishing will do in the next century.

If you're planning on an early, or should I say, a late winter fishing trip, one of the best Louisiana lakes to fish is Caney Lake, the big bass are there, fairly deep water and vegetation is down. It's also the home of the top ten Louisiana bass, with a 14.83 pounder to prove it.

Something new that will soon hit our market for the fisherman, hunter and boaters, is the new U. S. Coast Guard approved inflatable life jacket. They are like a vest, slim with suspenders and inflate when they come in contact with water.

These jackets have been used for years for commercial and military vessels, but just recently approved by the Coast Guard for recreational use.

These vests will be attractive and worn more often because they are light weight and less bulky than the older vest.

It is said that approximately 800 people die each year in boating accidents nationwide and 75% weren't wearing life jackets.

Now, these jackets could be high in price, but should become less expensive because of the Coast Guard's acceptable standards. Also, more manufacturers should be interested in making them, which could also bring prices down.

Still not much to report on salt water fishing. I guess the weather is still the factor.

Catch ya next week!

The Super Bowl went as the crystal ball saw it. My score predicted was 38-17 Green Bay and the real score was 35-21 Green Bay. I hit on the Packers with an August prediction so I hit both the football NCAA champion and the Super Bowl champion.

It's time to put the crystal ball up for awhile. I finished the football season with a 191-80 record. Well, the ball will be resting until the basketball playoffs.

On record now in the NBA I look for the Houston Rockets to lose to the Chicago Bulls in the finals in six games.

In college basketball it looks like the Kansas Jay Hawks will win the NCAA championship.

Letters to the Editor

Beaches

Dear Editor:

With Cameron Parish working so hard to draw tourists into the area, you would think that they would find some way to do it properly.

The beaches in this area are appalling. They cannot be driven onto and are so covered with trash that no tourist would even consider taking their families onto these treacherous grounds.

Other resort areas find ways to keep their beaches clean by raising property taxes to assist with the clean up of their beaches. It is a shame that an asset like this for the parish is being let go to "rot and ruin".

If Cameron would not be so tight fisted with the almighty dollar it would not be so difficult to do something for the parish.

At the present time if a person gets stuck in the sand on the beach there is no way to get out without great expense to the traveler. All it would take is to grade it occasionally to prevent the soft sand from settling on the area where vehicles have to pass. The parish already has the personnel and equipment to perform this task. All it would take is someone with the initiative to see that the job gets done.

It is a shame that parish officials cannot get their heads together and solve this problem and make it a really pleasant experience for out of state tourists to come to the beaches of Cameron Parish.

There are departments made for every other sort of saving, such as "Save the Whales, Save the Porpoises, Save the Turtles, Save the Wetlands." Why can't Cameron's motto be "Save the Beaches". If someone cares enough maybe everyone can benefit from making this a goal for Cameron Parish.

Come on. It is time to step up and step on clean beaches in Cameron Parish.

William O. Morris

Morris gets top scouting recognition

Bill Morris, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 202 of Creole, was presented the Silver Beaver Award Jan. 23, at the annual Calcasieu Area Council Banquet in Sulphur. He was one of four Scouters in the Council to receive this highest honor that a Boy Scout Council can award.

Mr. Morris has been a Boy Scout and Scout Leader for 26 years. He has served in the capacity of Scoutmaster, Assistant Scoutmaster, Cub Master, Webelos Leader, Unit Commissioner and District Commissioner. He is a Wood Badge holder and has served on the staff for Wood Badge training. He has also received the Cypress Knee District Award of Merit.

A native of Colfax, Morris graduated from Colfax High School, received a BS from Louisiana Tech and an MEd plus 30 hours from McNeese. He is an Air Force veteran, having separated with the rank of Captain.

Mr. Morris served in the Cameron Parish school system and retired after 27 years of service. He has worked in the petrochemical business since retiring. He is serving a second term on the Cameron Parish School Board and is presently serving as president.

He is married to the former Willa Dean Theriot. They are the parents of four children and have six grandchildren. Mr. Morris' one son, Mike, is an Eagle Scout.

Jury returns indictments

A second-degree murder indictment was returned against Bruce A. Sparks, 32.

Sparks is accused of shooting Christopher L. Fountain, 23, of Hackberry while at the Hideaway Bar on La. 108 in Sulphur on Nov. 30. Reports at the time of the slaying said Sparks got into an argument with a man, left the bar in his truck, returned and allegedly fired one shot that hit Fountain.

Fisherman gear notice

The Dept. of Natural Resources reports that it now has more personnel working with the Fishermen's Gear Compensation Fund to help with applications and decrease the turnaround time of processing a claim.

However, a spokesman said, the commercial fishermen can play a big part in decreasing the time needed to process applications by meeting a number of requirements.

A list of the requirement can be secured from Kevin Savoie, fisheries and wildlife agent, Cameron County Agent's office.

St law adopted fo. districts

A stock law for Police Jury Districts 3 (Grand Lake) and 6 (Cameron) was adopted by the Cameron Parish Police Jury at its monthly meeting Monday.

Under the new ordinance, cattle will be prohibited from roaming at large in District 3, with the exception of the south end of La. 1144, Bozo Road and Mhire road.

Parish Road 3110 will be exempted in District 6, the Cameron area.

The jurors also voted to exempt the north end of Rutherford Beach Road from the restrictions in the old cattle ordinance.

The old cattle ordinance only empowers the sheriff department to impound cattle when they are actually roaming on roads, not private property.

The new ordinance will raise the impounding fees from $10 to $25 a head, and from $2.50 to $10 per day for feed. Sheriff James "Sono" Savoie said the higher fees are needed to pay for rounding up and keeping the cows.

"You should have some good teeth in these things, so if we impound their cattle, they'll see fit to go build a fence," Savoie said.

He said the sheriff's office tends to have recurring problems with the same few owners, because the penalties have not been strong enough.

Police Jury President Brent Nunez said the ordinance will only come into play when owners refuse to round up their strays and mend their fences after they have been notified about the problem by the sheriff's office.

Waste contract topic at Police Jury meet

The Cameron Parish Police Jury had a long discussion about the parish's contract with Waste Management to pick up the parish's solid waste but decided not to take any action on the matter at this time.

BFI has offered to accept the waste from the parish at its landfill at a lower price than the parish now is paying through its contract with Waste Management.

However, Frank LaBarbera, Waste Management representative, said it would cost his company up to $10,000 more a month to change from its present landfill.

In other business the jury:

Authorized the parish road crew to build up a section of Wakefield Road that floods regularly. The project is expected to cost $32,000-$35,000, according to roads superintendent Ellis Nunez.

Approved Police Juror Brent Nunez' request to create a road district in District 3. The state Legislature has to approve the district. Nunez said he wants to have the district on record, in case a tax is ever needed in that area.

Voted to support state efforts to get the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to use dredging spoils to build up wetlands instead of disposing of it offshore.

Accepted bids for an air compressor for Fire District 9 and miscellaneous road equipment.

Approved placing an item on the April ballot that would renew a 5-mill tax in Gravity Drainage District 5.

Parish gets energy funds

Cameron Parish has been chosen to receive $3,378 to supplement emergency utility assistance programs in the area under the Emergency Food and Shelter Program.

A local board made up of representatives from the Police Jury, Catholic Daughters, American Red Cross, Council of Churches, Knights of Columbus, senior citizens and United Way, will determine how the funds are to be distributed in this area.

Funds will be used for emergency situations where a household would be in jeopary of having their utilities shut off because of arrears. Clients must have proof of income, names and social security numbers for all household members, and reason the emergency has arisesn.

Appoinsments will be made at the Cameron Community Action Agency located at 723 Marshall Street in the Cameron Senior Center by calling 775-5145 and talking to Kathy Davis.

The body of Alphonso Gonzalez of Port Arthur, Tex., was found by a passing boat at 11:25 a.m. Saturday. The Calcasieu Parish Coroner's Office will conduct an autopsy and results should be completed within a few days.

"At this time, we don't suspect any foul play based on the evidence we have," said Cameron Sheriff's Office Chief Deputy Theos Duhon.

Mrs. Nola Mae Ross and her daughter, Mrs. Goodson, offer the first complete history of Hurricane Audrey as told by some of the survivors of one the most devastating storms ever to hit the Lou-isiana Gulf Coast area. The hardback edition contains over 200 photos of the victims and storm aftermath as well as over 150 personal interviews of those who endured the holocaust of Audrey.

The book is being published in commemoration of the 40th anniversary of Hurricane Audrey, which stormed ashore at Cameron Parish on June 27, 1957.

Rice funds renewed

Louisiana rice producers overwhelmingly voted recently to renew existing funds for rice research and to provide an increase in that funding.

The Jan. 27, vote involved an existing voluntary assessment of 3 cents per hundredweight dedicated for rice research and proposed an additional 2 cents for research. Producers also voted on another measure to renew a 3-cent "check-off" tagged for rice promotion.

Renewal of the existing research funds was approved by 93 percent of those voting, and the increase in research funds received an 82 percent favorable margin, according to preliminary results of the balloting. The promotion funds received 87 percent positive votes.

"I want to compliment the rice farmers for their vote of confidence in the work we're doing," said Dr. William B. "Bill" Richardson, chancellor of the LSU Agricultural Center.

Tips To Help You Write Your Classified Ad

1. Identify-begin with the item for sale, service you are offering, or job title of the person you're looking to hire.

2. Describe - the more information you provide to the reader the better the responses. Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know?

3. Don't Exaggerate - list the features and the condition. Make your description attractive, but believable

4. Include Price - research shows that people are more interested when they know the price. If the price is negotiable, say so.

5. Be Home - when you run your ad, be home. Specify the hours buyers can call, or ask them to leave a message on your recorder. Most people won't call back.

Come by Clipper Office Supply, School Street, Cameron and we'll be happy to help you with your ad.

What an unusually intelligent way your baby rattles that rattle. Obviously destined for the valedictorian's podium.

Of course, by the time the little Einstein is ready for college, tuition may be relatively equal to the national debt. That's Life.

All the more reason to start planning now. During baby's next nap, why not call someone who can help you develop a strategy. Someone who's a well-trained insurance professional, and has a pretty fair idea what college will cost 20 years from now. Someone who can show you how to start getting ready today. So that tomorrow, when those amazing SAT scores come back, you'll be ready.

That's New York Life.

English class holds Literacy Hour

Members of Pat Fletcher's English IV class at Grand Lake High School recently held a Literacy Hour. The purpose was to share ideas and themes found in their assigned novels.

The class has been reading classics found in the Accelerated Reading Program, one that focuses on improving reading skills by exposure to great literature.

AGATE students write to President Clinton

The Cameron Parish AGATE program recently completed an activity which required the gifted and talented students to write to the President and offer their ideas for his second term. Following are some from students from all over the parish:

Dear Mr. President:
I think you should pass a law to eliminate harsh music lyrics. If our youth grow up with this influence, so will their children.
I also think criminals need to get harsh sentences. Criminals must pay for their crimes.

Sincerely,
Natalie Precht

Dear Mr. President:
My name is Rebecca Perrodin and I'm from Hackberry, La. I would like to ask you a couple of questions about some of the big issues here in America.
First of all, there is a lot of teen violence. I want to know what you're going to do about it. Can we just sit here and do nothing forever? It must be controlled. Second, I would like to know what you're going to do about drugs in the streets. It's partly why there is so much teen violence. Thank you so much for hearing me out. Good luck.

Sincerely,
Rebecca Perrodin

Dear Mr. President:
Congratulations on the winning of the election. I hope you do the best you can for America in the next 4 years. I am asking you to help our Earth be a better, cleaner place. I would also like to better our schools. Good luck this year.

Sincerely,
Christy Billiot

Dear Mr. President:
I think education deserves some attention. Teachers are getting less pay for harder work. It's hard to teach and learn in crowded classrooms and schools where you need to go through metal detectors. We need lower tolerance for disrupting students. We do not need to get rid of teachers unions. We need better school buildings, updated books, and computers.

Sincerely,
Amanda Strong

Dear Mr. President:
I'm glad you got elected. I hope you can clean up the United States. You need to stop violence, littering and taxation. I hope you can make our planet a better place. Also, our water in Hackberry is awful. I hope you can clean it up.

Your Citizen,
Ashley Austin

Dear Mr. President:
My name is Raphiel Heard. I hope that you would improve the environment and crime. The environment needs more participation in cleaning it up. Don't cut down trees. Wildlife and birds need some place to stop. In crime, we need more policemen. It is getting worse and we need to stop it. Expand the death penalty.

Sincerely,
Raphiel Heard

Dear Mr. President:
I think you should stop wars before they start and start exporting goods instead of importing them. Give more people jobs. That is all I ask of you.

Sincerely,
Neil Alvarado

Dear Mr. President:
You should help clean the environment. You should be against gambling. It's wasting our money. If you follow these things you will make a great president.

Sincerely,
Jamie Alfred

Dear Mr. President:
I hope you have a good attitude about being President. When you're in there you should try to stop crime. We do not need all that crime. Our environment is very good to us. If people keep polluting the earth we will not have anything left. There are too many people on welfare. You need to stop it. All they are doing is being lazy. You need to try and do all these things and I will be happy.

Tara LeBlanc

Dear Mr. President:
I hope you can do something about pollution. It is very harmful. There is so much pollution today we will have to have gas masks on just to get in our cars. I hope you are very well in your position.

Ashley Kelley

Dear Mr. President:
I hope you can make the world a better place. I'm glad if you do it. Can you help us?

Katherine Wicke

HUNTING NEWS

Ever realize the last day of the season is so much shorter than the rest of the season? That's what it felt like last Wednesday, the last day of speckle-belly goose season. Quite a number of specs killed the last week of the season, the last two days being cold and drizzle rain good for geese, and really makes you hurt, with the ducks that passed over you lower than during the season, and you can't shoot.

Snipe hunting is in full swing, the weather's right, and we do have a good number of birds on the marsh edges. Good hunting reports on snipe reported this past week.

Snows and blues (geese) still open and they're flying, so enjoy this shooting also until Feb. 23. A good goose gumbo is hard to beat. I think it's best to season and marinate geese, because sometimes there's a grassy taste, and this will eliminate that bad taste.

LONGER SEASON

Many hunters, as well as guides and I have been talking about our early duck hunting season. We would like our season to start the weekend before Thanksgiving, 1997; Nov .22 and go 16 days through Dec. 7. Have a split and start the season back Dec. 20 through Jan. 22; 34 days.

Our ducks come in later in the season. If you are interested, please let me know by calling me at 542-4586. Leave a message and I will return your call. Or write me at P.O. Box 240, Creole, La. 70632. This is open also to hunting clubs. We need to do this, sign a petition with a letter and as many of us who can attend a La. Wildlife Commission meeting and talk with Mr. Jimmy Jenkins and the Commission to see what can be done. Remember, we can gripe all we want to, but if we don't try and do something about it, all we'll ever hear is gripes. When outdoorsmen get together people will listen, we buy licenses, pay excise taxes, plus the economy to our business area. We have lots of out of state hunters, that's higher licenses, tourists all helping our state and conservation.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

Our oyster fishermen here in the parish are still doing well with the oysters. Ten sacks a day, however, I was told the price had gone down from $18 a sack to $15 a sack. Most fishermen I talked to said they were still satisfied and could come out at $15 a sack.

Bait dealer regulations have changed. The La. Wildlife and Fisheries Commission amended the regulations governing the special bait dealers permit, allowing bait dealers to have no more than two gallons of dead shrimp aboard vessels.

Bait dealers were previously prohibited from having any dead shrimp.

FISHING REPORTS

Fishing reports were skimpy this past week as weather was in control. A few reports of redfish caught at the Cameron jetties, and a few bass caught in a private pond.

A trip to Toledo Bend made by Lane Bonsall and Todd Gautreaux was a disappointment as it was very slow. A friend of mine from Leesville said the same about Lake Vernon, real real slow. Weather still too cold as well as the water.

NEWS BRIEFS

During the month of January, our mornings have gained five minutes but our evenings have gained 25 minutes, on sunrise and sunset. Days are getting longer.

Ever wonder why people will tell you that rattle snake taste just like chicken, but never tell you that chicken tastes just like rattle snake? I guess it's just like the animal rights activists. They never say anything about killing human beings for revenge in today's movies or television, but it's unacceptable to hunt animals for food.

To open an oyster, gently chip away the thin end of the shell with a hammer. (This is known as "billing" the bivalve.) Next, force a knife between the shell halves at the broken end and pull them apart.

Students make toys

These third grade students at South Cameron Elementary are standing on the tin can stilts they made for a Social Studies project.

While studying about how communities change, they made these old fashioned toys and several students brought in written and tape recorded interviews with their grandparents in which they discussed how their own community has changed.

They learned that the Creole school used to be where the hospital is now and the post office used to be where the Cameron State Bank in Creole is. These students are relieved that they don't have to rely on pot bellied stoves to keep their classroom warm this winter.

They are in Mrs. Kelly Mudd's class.

Karen Nunez

Nunez is S. Board president

Karen Nunez, school board for the Grand Lake area, was elected president of the Cameron Parish School Board last week. She is believed to be the first woman to hold the president's position.

The election was by acclamation.

The parish school superintendent also is a woman, Mrs. Pam LaFleur, who was named to that position about two years ago.

Clifton Hebert was unanimously elected vice-president. Both will serve two year terms.

Mrs. Nunez's first recalls another first for a Cameron parish woman. In 1909 the Cameron Parish School Board named Elizabeth "Lizzie" McCall as its superintendent and she became the first female superintendent in the state. However, she was forced to resign in 1912 since the State Constitution said that the position had to be filled by a qualified voter. Women did not become voters until 1920 when the 19th Amendment was passed.

THE NATURE WALK on the Sabine Refuge south of Hackberry attracts hundreds of visitors from all over the country. Alligators, birds and furbearers can be seen in the walk that goes out through the marsh.

Nightclub is cited by justice dept.

A nightclub in Holly Beach accused of refusing to serve blacks agreed to Friday to end the practice, the U.S. Justice Department said Friday.

A federal complaint alleged that Evelyn's Lounge excluded black patrons. The Justice Department said it investigated after a complaint was filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Cameron Parish.

According to the complaint, two patrons were refused service in July 1995, because one of the pair was black. They were told that memberships were needed, even though several white customers were being served without cards.

When the pair asked to buy a membership, they were told that none were available and were ordered out of the club, the Justice Department said. The two were arrested by police for remaining after being forbidden.

The Justice Department said it used two FBI agents, one white and one black – to confirm that the club served white patrons without membership cards, but refused to serve blacks on the grounds they were not members.

According to a court-approved settlement, Evelyn's Lounge agreed not to exclude black patrons, undergo training on civil right issues and publish newspaper advertisements that the bar is open to all members of the public, the Justice Department said.

Sack limit increased for oysters

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission voted last week to increase the daily sack limit on the Calcasieu Lake public tonging reefs from 10 sacks to 15 sacks daily.

The action took effect Feb. 6, 1997, and will remain in place for the remainder of the season precluding health or other closures.

The Calcasieu Lake oyster season has been closed several times during the 1996-97 season for precautionary health reasons.

Department of Wildlife and Fisheries biologists have surveyed oyster resources on the Calcasieu lake public oyster tonging area. Their findings indicate that there is a significant oyster resource on the pubic grounds.

The Calcasieu Lake oyster season closes April 30.

Representative Dan Flavin made the request to raise the sack limit because of the loss of working days due to the extremely bad weather in January.

School tax renewal set

The Cameron Parish School Board last week adopted a resolution calling for an election on May 3 to renew the present 10-mill property tax in the parish.

This tax had been rolled up to 10.9 mills but the renewal will be for 10 mills.

Superintendent Pam LaFleur said the lower tax will reduce the board's revenue by about $83,000.

A new 10-mill tax was approved by voters last year bringing in about $1 million a year.

Mrs. LaFleur said with this tax and the renewal of the old tax the school system will be in good condition. But she warned if the tax renewal fails, the school system could go back to a $1 million deficit.

Dock Board backs Monkey Is. ferry

(American Press)

The Lake Charles Dock Board passed a resolution Monday asking the state to keep open the eight-car Monkey Island ferry at Cameron.

Port Commissioner James Watts, a Cameron Parish appointee, asked for the item after he received some information from his uncle, Kenneth Roux of Cameron.

The state Department of Transportation and Development indicated recently in a "draft memo" that it wanted to close the ferry and four others. This caused an uproar among Cameron public officials and area legislators.

Gov. Mike Foster said later the issue over closing the ferry would not be addressed until after the legislative session later this year.

Watts said the island was created after the Port of Lake Charles was able to get the proper rights-of-way in 1938 to straighten the Calcasieu Ship Channel.

"When the state negotiated with the federal government for the right to cut across what I think was La. 104, the federal government agreed to build a bridge where the present Monkey Island ferry is," Watts said.

"To some degree, the Port of lake Charles has an interest in that because the channel created it," Watts said.

"I assume I could get some board support to help Cameron Parish's efforts to keep that ferry open until either the federal government or the state comes in with a bridge."

Dock Board President Hillery Langley Jr. said he agreed with Watts' resolution.

"The Port of Lake Charles would not be the port it is today if we had not had a straight shot to the Gulf (because of the ship channel)," he said.

Jesse Knowles, who represents the Lake Charles Pilots Association, said he also supported Watt's resolution.

The pilots association has an office, living quarters for pilots and crew members, and a dock on the island.

"We handle every ship that comes up here.

"They (state) think they are just messing with seven families but they are wrong. There is a big industry down there. I appreciate the resolution very much."

Cameron Parish police jurors have said there is a lot of development potential on the island if a permanent bridge is built to service the island.

The West Cameron Port Commission has been unable to get a tenant for its property on the island because there is no permanent access to the property.

New equipment

South Cameron Memorial Hospital announced that the Respiratory Care Department has acquired a Collins Spirometer. The device gives the hospital the capability to perform a wide range of pulmonary screening and pulmonary function testing, according to Ricky Mouton CRTT, department manager.

In addition to the studies mentioned, the spirometer will enable the hospital and Rural Health Clinics to screen patients for asthma and other lung diseases as well as help employers fulfill OSHA requirements.

"We have the equipment and the credentialed personnel and to perform tests that up until now required a trip to Lake Charles and a visit with a lung specialist," said Craig Winn CRTT, department director.

School calendar

The Cameron Parish School Board has announced the holidays for the 1997-98 school year.

The Board of Directors declared a fifty cents per share cash dividend, which is a 25% increase over last year's shareholders dividend. The dividend is payable to shareholders of record as of Dec. 20, 1996, payable on Feb. 1, 1997.

STOPS OFF IN HOLLY BEACH

Couple making trek across America

Two unusual visitors to Cameron Parish this past week were Rob Reynolds, who is walking coast to coast, and his wife, Marge, who is providing support by driving a vehicle.

The two, on their way from the East Coast to the West Coast, came through Cameron Parish last week and spent several days in the Holly Beach area.

Reynolds will walk more than 11,000 miles -- both coasts plus the Canadian and Mexican borders -- before his experience is over.

The retired bank officer is planning to "let his feet to the talking" as he walks the outer perimeter of the contiguous states for Mission Aviation Fellowship (MAF), an organization based in Redlands, California. MAF provides aviation, electronic communications, and logistics support for missions and humanitarian work in some of the most remote regions of the world.

An avid walker, Reynolds is walking to raise $50,000 for MAF, which celebrates its 50th anniversary in 1995. His extraordinary journey will take an estimated three years to complete.

Reynolds, who has climbed the 14,410 foot Mount Rainier, said that the idea of doing the marathon walk evolved during the times when he was out on his regular walks. Prior to beginning his walk, the Reynolds' lived in Federal Way, Washington.

Reynolds says he hopes that people across the country will sponsor him for each mile he walks. He also hopes to speak in churches along the route. All of the money raised will go toward the work of MAF. The Reynolds are personally covering their living expenses.

Reynolds has witnessed firsthand the work of MAF during two short-term mission trips to Guatemala in 1990 and 1992, where he was a passenger on several MAF flights.

A pilot himself, Reynolds flew C82 and C124 aircraft while serving with the U. S. Air Force and later piloted a single-engine Ercoupe which he co-owned with some friends.

His wife, Marge, who recently retired after nearly 16 years in a public service position at a local hospital, is providing invaluable support by driving him to his starting point each day from where they have parked their fifthwheel -- and the pick him up at the end of each day's walk.

Letters to the Editor

Thoughts on festival

Dear Editor,

Well I didn't move back, but I had an extended visit. I duck hunted more this year than I have in the past seven years put together. Every time I went to the duck camp, I brought friends of mine from Ragley or Lake Charles. They really enjoyed the camp atmosphere that was provided by the guys at the Chateau Backridge, our camp.

What topped the whole season off was the fact that the season lasted through the Fur Festival. I haven't made the festival in about eight years. It was very inconvenient that everything was moved off the Main Street to be all in one area of the old recreation center. Parking was a problem and it seemed difficult for the elderly and maybe even the handicapped.

My fondest memories of the 4th of July and the Fur Festival was when it was held on the Main St. of Cameron. I remember staying at my grandmother's house when it was on the courthouse square, that's when you could walk down the street and see the type of fish caught in the Gulf. They had the fish in ice racks so the children and the non-fishing people could see what a barracuda or redfish looked like. That was the real Fishing Rodeo.

The Fur Festival was held down town where the people could see all their friends. The Fur Festival more so than the Fishing Rodeo was a time to be active in having fun with friends and people that you might only see once a year. Being able to walk down Main Street and meeting your old friends and older adults that meant so much to you growing up in Cameron Parish was the real reason for going to the parade and seeing the activities of the weekend.

I truly believe the trap shoot held behind the Masonic Lodge might well be the beginning of the Festival moving back to the Main Street of Cameron. I hope that bit by bit, more of the Festival will end up where the founding organizers of the Fur Festival wanted it to be. It is a "People Festival" as much as a Fur Festival. The old way that worked is better than a new idea that doesn't. The future is sometimes found in a tradition from the past!

Ragley, La.

School gets help with wind indicator

Sometimes all you have to do is ask. It occurred to J. C. Murphy maintenance man at Cameron Elementary School, that the school should have a wind direction finder in case of such emergencies as gas or chemical leaks. A wind sock was suggested. After some discussion that was ruled out. The school secretary remembered that PHI has a cone-shaped object that indicates wind direction. The manager at PHI, Mr. Break, promptly checked his storeroom and brought the wind direction finder to the school.

School personnel expressed their appreciation to all who aided in this matter.

AMARIS BROWN was crowned queen in the Westlake Mardi Gras Pageant on Feb. 2. and rode in the parade Feb. 8. She was also crowned princess and won photogenic queen in a Valentine pageant held Feb. 9. Amaris is the 2 year old daughter of Pat and Angela Brown of Cameron.

A Special Thank You

I'd like to thank the many people at South Cameron Memorial Hospital for the kindness and sympathy during the loss of my Mother, Laura Haynie. During the 28 months my Mother stayed in the swing bed her care was the best I've ever seen in any nursing facility. Everyone works as a unit of one and best of all, the care for the elderly and sick comes from the heart.

A special thanks to all of you, Dr. Sanders, aides, nurses, Carolyn Bargeman, staff and work members involved with such a nice place in our community that we may one day have to use.

Thank you Rev. Jack Tanner for all your prayers and visits to Mom.

God Bless all of you,
Haynie Family

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Several contracting parties are working on the canals of the Monroe and Klondike rice plantations, cleaning out the water hyacintha and other debris.

Our school has made a very low average on account of bad weather and small pox. It is now picking up and will probably soon be up to its regular average.

COLD HURTS CATTLE INDUSTRY

Cattlemen will lose thousands of dollars as the result of an early morning sleet storm which followed two days of rainy weather. The cold wind which blew last night followed by sleet and a slight sprinkle of snow, has caused hundreds of cattle to die of exposure. The thermometer registered 30 degrees throughout the day.

PROTEST OYSTER DREDGING

Ten boats are presently dredging oysters in Calcasieu Lake in violation of state law, Mrs. Adenise Trosclair, Ward 3 police juror, charged at the Monday meeting of the jury.

At Mrs. Trosclair's request, the jury agreed to ask the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission to send agent here to enforce the no-dredging law.

Mrs. Trosclair, who was recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, Roland J. (Bolo) Trosclair, said that her husband had been one of the persons who had worked for years to get the lake opened for oyster fishing and that she did not want to see the new oyster industry ruined by dredging.

When Calcasieu Lake was reopened to oystering several years ago, regulations adopted by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission were that oysters could be taken by tongs only.

Mrs. Trosclair said that the boats using dredges were pulling them across live oyster reefs killing oysters on the reefs.

She said that she had checked on the boats using dredges in the lake one night last week and found the reports to be true. She said that the persons using dredges had boats staked out in all four directions with "walkie-talkie" radios and that if law enforcement officers were seen coming into the lake, the boats just untied their dredges and staked them out.

FIRE STATION

Construction of the town of Cameron's new fire station, in the planning for some four or five years, will begin shortly as a result of a contract let Monday by the Cameron Police Jury and Cameron Fire Protection District No. 1.

Dyson Lumber Co. of Cameron was the successful bidder with a low bid of $36,313.13 for the construction of the two-story building on the old Methodist Church site on main street.

THIS WEEK

(By Jerry Wise)

There will be four persons attending the National Outdoor Show in Cambridge, Md., this weekend to represent the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival. Besides Judy Hebert, the 1964 Cameron Parish Fur Queen, and J. A. Miller, who will compete in the national muskrat skinning contest, Mrs. Charles Hebert, Judy's mother, and Mrs. Berton Daigle, will be making the trip. They leave by plane from New Orleans.

Sheriff-elect Claude Eagleson has just completed a week's course in police work taught by the LSU extension service in Lake Charles.

Mr. Eagleson says he and his family may move to Cameron so that he will be closer to his work. He plans to turn over his rice farming to his sons.

Police Juror Vian Theriot was one of several people who commented on the photograph of the old steamer Olive which we ran in the paper last week. Mr. Theriot says he believes the man in the big hat on the bow was Desire Richard of Mermentau, a cattle buyer in those days, and that he, himself, was probably in the crowd.

Dr. George W. Dix of Creole told us he wanted to borrow the olive photo, and also try to find one of the old steamer, Rex, so that he can enlarge them as murals for his office.

ANOTHER BURGLARY REPORTED

Cameron Parish had another burglary Tuesday night of last week--the fourth within a week.

Burglars entered the Creole Electric Co. by prying a lock off the back door. They loaded the firm's safe on a furniture dolly and moved into a side room where they broke open the front.

Store manager Norbert LeBouef said that the only things taken were five wrist watches, four transistor radios, a jewel box and some insurance policies. There was no money in the safe.

Three places in Cameron were burglarized on Jan. 22-the post office, Cameron Drug Store and the Western Auto Store. A Houston man has been charged with these breakins.

The following night, the Cameron Super Market was broken into, and a Cameron man has been charged with this offense.

Because of the breakins, an additional deputy was hired for night patrol by the sheriff's department last week.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Creole--The living room of the P. H. Montie residence took on all the air of an old movie house this past Monday night when a group of local residents gathered there to see three short movies shown by Donald Broussard who did the honors at the projector. Adding to the "old movie-house" atmosphere was the serving of popcorn by the hostess. Munching popcorn and enjoying the movies were Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Montie and son Todd, Mrs. Wilma Savoie and Mrs. Harold Carter.

Johnson Bayou--On Saturday, Jan. 25, Clifford Myers and Patsy Granger conducted a record book workshop for members of the Cameron Junior 4-H Club. Twenty-seven members attended: Bonnie Willis Sherry Murphy, Mona and Julia Authement, Paula Dupont, Mary and Elizabeth Woodgett, Edward Peterson, Sallie and Jennifer Jones, Anita Burleigh, Shelly Schwark, Brenda Dosher, Cynthia Tanner, Michael Styron, W. C. Doxey, Bridget McJohnson, Vanessa Booker, Kerry Lin Roberts, Myra and Brent Cheramie, Jessye Roux, Earl Guthrie, Barry Kelly, Charles Bertrand, Marie Ardoin, and Corky Courville. Shellac, a varnish, comes from the lac scale insect, which feeds on plants by sucking out juices.

Blackbird control is planned here

Because of the locally severe damage caused by blackbirds to sprouting rice in Cameron/Calcasieu Parishes, officials with USDA/Animal Damage Control and the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service will be cooperating with local rice growers in a baiting program to control these bird populations.

The baiting program will take place form mid-February to about the end of March, depending on the number of birds present.

A product called DRC 13390 will be used to effectively kill blackbirds while lessening the threat to other species. Only one rice seed in 25 will be treated.

Baits will be applied under the supervision of USDA/Animal Damage Control personnel trained in pest bird management procedures. Although dead birds do not present a significant hazard to humans or pets, officials recommend that no blackbirds be utilized for human consumption.

Dead birds found by the public should be buried.

The program originated through the efforts of the Cameron/Calcasieu Rice Grower's Association. Farm Bureau was also very instrumental in making the program possible.

Those wanting more details can call the USDA/Animal Damage Control Office at (504) 389-0229 in Port Allen, or Gary Wicke at the Cameron Parish Cooperative Extension Service at (318) 775-5516.

Heredity & diseases

The Cameron Community Action Agency will be publishing articles on family ties during February. This week's article is on the building of your medical family tree by Ruth Papaziam who contributed to the book, Marriage and Family.

When it comes to health, the apple doesn't fall far from the tree: Research suggests that an astonishing number of diseases - from rare to common - have some sort of hereditary link.

That is why constructing a family health tree can offer life-saving glimpses into your future. If you're at risk of inheriting a serious disease, you can get regular checkups to spot early symptoms and increase the chances for a cure. You may also want genetic counseling, to learn the risk of passing a disease on to your children.

Susceptibility disease typically occur later in life and include major ailments such as heart disease, diabetes (especially the non-insulin-dependent type) and several types of cancer including breast, lung, colorectal (colon and rectal), prostrate, ovarian and skin. The inherited tendency to develop a disease probably results from complex interactions among several genes.

Also on the list of disorders with a genetic component: rheumatoid arthritis, allergies, asthma, glaucoma, Alzheimer's disease, osteoporosis, glaucoma and behavioral and emotional problems including schizophrenia, alcoholism and depression. ("Hereditary Risk" lists for several diseases the increased risk faced by someone with an afflicted parent.)

Although genes set the stage for these disorders, the actual illness is usually caused in part by some environmental factor - cigarette smoke in the case of lung cancer, for example, or high-fat diets in heart disease and non-insulin-dependent diabetes, as well as prostate, colorectal and perhaps ovarian cancer. Luckily, people who know that susceptibility disease lurks in their family tree may be able to control those nongenetic risk factors, or at least be the alert for early symptoms.

CHICOT DRAWDOWN

The annual drawdown of Chicot Lake is complete and the lake is open to fishing. The lake was dropped to seven foot below pool stage until January when the flood gates were closed to allow water to refill the lake. This was done to combat the hydrilla weed. It is now still 3 to 4 feet below pool stage, but fishable. This is the first of thee stage drawdowns.

The ice storm and a couple of hard freezes also helped to combat the hydrilla weed.

I talked to a friend of mine from Eunice who fishes Chicot regularly and bass fishing is slow but white perch fishing is good.

Many bass anglers from Cameron Praish enjoy camping and fishing on Chicot Lake.

HUNTING

With the close of speckle-belly season, not near as many hunters are hunting just the blues and snows. Those who are hunting found fair to slow this past week, however, there's still snipes in the area and a few rabbits being taken.

The Louisiana Wildlife Federation (LWF) has gone on record supporting resolutions to add or change laws.

It is said people live longer now than years ago and that Louisiana citizens are retiring at an earlier age. Therefore more time to enjoy the sport of hunting and fishing.

Louisiana citizens at age 60 are not required to purchase a Louisiana basic hunting and fishing license, but can still enjoy these two sports just as people who are under the age of 60. They say losses amount to $271,473 annually to the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Department and an annual loss of approximately $228,475 in federal funds, so they're supporting the raising of the age to 65 for Louisiana citizens to legally hunt and fish without the state basic licenses. I think this stinks and should be left alone. Maybe a phone call to the right people could leave it like it is.

FISHING NEWS

Another trip to Toledo Bend last weekend showed a few bass, but still is low. Some of our private marshes are producing some nice bass, but the weather is still not straightened up, and until then, both freshwater and saltwater fishing will be slow or unpredictable.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

Come March 1997, the use of nets that have traditionally used by commercial fishermen for most species of finfish in saltwater will be stopped. Many species of commercial saltwater fish cannot be adequately harvested without nets, such as flounders, sheephead, mullet, blackdrum, and speckle trout, including trawling equipment to harvest these species.

The only time a fisherman can use this trawling gear is when shrimp season is open and really only effective during the winter months when the species are schooling and migratory. There was no extension to shrimp season this year even though there were marketable shrimp still present. Studies have shown there is only .003% by-catch when using modified trawl gear during winter months.

It is said commercial finfishermen cannot fish nights and on weekends where recreational fishermen can fish 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Questions asked are why can't there be a 12 month strike net fishery with seasons and quotas for different species. Create a 3 strike and you're out for violations, and allow night fishing.

Recreational and commercial fishermen need to try and work together, fix rules so both benefit and still be conservation minded. God created this earth and these food sources for everyone, not just a chosen few.

Next week we'll talk on turtle and fish excluder devices, and what it's doing to our commecial fishermen.

No matter how hard we work at it, we end up with more good questions than good answers.

Deposits, loans, capital, assets, new deposit accounts and net income all reached new highs. Deposits increased from $126,572,000 to $143,842,000. Loans increased from $76,242,000 to $90,755,000. Capital, which is an important measure of our financial strength, increased from $11,699,000 to $13,433,000. Assets increased from $143,321,000 to $162,526,000. New deposit accounts increased by over 5,700 due to the opening of new branches in Vinton and Westlake, LA and customer dissatisfaction with the impersonal service of the large, out-of-town holding company banks. All of these growth factors contributed to net income reaching a record high of $1,908,843.

During the year, Bauer Financial Services awarded Cameron State Bank their highest five star rating, naming us as one of the safest banks in the country, based on our capital, performance and stability.

As Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes' only truly locally owned and locally managed community bank, we are concerned about the growth of our local communities and continually demonstrate our corporate citizenship by investing our time, resources and profits in many school, charitable and civic projects.

The future looks bright, thanks to the dedication and teamwork of our staff, the loyalty and support of our old customers and the confidence of our many new customers who chose us as their bank and recognize the importance of having a strong, locally owned independent bank in their community.

If you are not currently banking with us we invite you to open an account. You have our guarantee that you will receive personal banking at its best and will enjoy the personal attention that our local, experienced bankers provide to all of our customers.

Nola Mae Ross and her daughter, Susan McFillen Goodson, of Lake Charles will be at the Cameron Parish Library from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 20 to sign copies of their new book "Hurricane Audrey."

They will also be at Books-A-Million at Southgate Mall in Lake Charles from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, March 1.

The 235-page hardcover books is the first full length book published on the devastating hurricane that hit Cameron Parish on June 27, 1957 taking about 500 lives

The tells the story of the storm from the personal viewpoint of the survivors. More than 150 personal interviews were made by the writers and hundreds of local names are included in the stories.

Also more than 200 photos are included, many of them of the victims of the storm.

One valuable section of the books lists the names of about 420 of the storm victims--which may be the first complete such list ever compiled. There probably are a number of other victims who were never listed.

The book is indexed which will make it invaluable to future researchers and genealogists.

Copies of the book may be purchased from the authors at the book signings or may secured by calling 477-6243 or 474-6779. The books are $22.95 each plus tax and $3 postage.

Ferry will stay open

Gov Mike Foster has promised to keep the Monkey island Ferry at Cameron open for the time being, state Rep. Dan Flavin of Lake Charles said this week.

Flavin, who represents Cameron Parish, said Frank Denton, secretary of the Department of Transportation and Development, had planned to close the Monkey island ferry -- and others -- in 30 days.

Meanwhile, Flavin said a bill is being drafted to appropriate $1.5 million to build a bridge to Monkey Island.

Catholic laymen honored; Bishop blesses new chapel

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, presided over the blessing of the new Blessed Sacrament Chapel of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Saturday night.

The 25-seat chapel is an addition to the back of the church and will be used for daily masses and perpetual adoration.

The chapel was designed by Jerry Filo of Lake Charles and was built by Clifford Conner of Creole. Special wooden furnishings were designed and made by Robert Landry, also of Creole.

One of the features in the chapel is a handcarved life-size statue of Jesus, made in Italy that is one of the two remaining statues of the original furnishings of the former Sacred Heart church which was destroyed in 1957 by Hurricane Audrey.

The statue was located in a nave behind the altar of the church. When people who sought refuge in the church saw the 25 foot tidal wave coming they climbed up into a storage room in the attic, they grabbed the gold sacrament and placed it on the ledge by the statue. Thus they were both saved and they have been placed in the new chapel behind the altar.

Statue saved in Hurricane Audrey

The marble altar came out of the McNeese College Catholic Youth Center where Msgr. Bernard worked before he came to Creole.

Assisting Bishop Speyrer were Father Joseph E. McGrath from Lake Charles and Msgr. M. J. Bernard, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

Bishop Speyrer presided over the 6 p.m. mass in the church sanctuary which featured the conferral of Papal and Diocesan honors on parishioners from Creole and Cameron.

He was assisted by Father Joseph E. McGrath, Master of Ceremonies, and Msgr. Curtis S. Vidrine, Pastor of Our Lady Star of Sea Church, Cameron; Msgr. M. J. Bernard, Pastor of Sacred heart Church in Creole; Father Vincent Vaddakedath, Pastor of St. Eugene Church, Grand Chenier.

Louise Allen was choir director and Steven Branch, organist. At the close of the service a reception for the henorees was held in the Catholic Life Center, hosted by Nelvia Murphy.

Bishop Speyrer conferred medals to the following:

Medal for Devoted Service: Enos Baccigalopi, Willie Bargeman, LeLand Crochet, Bertha Duhon, Joseph and Ina Duhon, Rhonda Duhon, Ray Hendrix, Natalie LaLande, Robert Landry, Ann Meaux, Wayne Montie, Alvin and Ruby Murphy, Roland Primeaux, Milford Rogers, Jeanette Savoie, Fredman Theriot, Man Theriot.

St. Charles Medal: Ray and Margie Dimas, Cathy Soileau, Milford and Alma Theriot.

NEW CHURCH AT SWEETLAKE

(By Mrs. Tom Taylor)

In this age and time when so many small country churches are being closed due to a shortage of ministers and the loss of membership, it is quite an achievement for a comparatively small church such as the Sweetlake Memorial Methodist Church to be able to move into the modern new building that is now being completed.

The new plant consists of a sanctuary, seating 175 persons , a fellowship hall, three classrooms, a study, kitchen, nursery and restrooms.

The church got its building program underway in 1958 when the Rev. Garland Dean was the pastor. During the pastrate of the Rev. W. F. Howell, a building committee, composed of the following persons was appointed: Hardy Stone, chairman; Charles W. Hebert, Mervyn Taylor, Charles S. Hackett and Gerald Helms.

The church building program was completed under the leadership of the present pastor, the Rev. Hubert Gibbs. Members of the present construction and grounds committee include the above named members, with Mr. Stone still chairman, and Donald Todd, Herman Precht, Walter Helms, Billy Wayne Precht, Edmond Helms, Jr., Glenn Hebert and R. O. Hackett.

It was decided that the church's name be changed to the Sweetlake Memorial Methodist Church in recognition of the many members who had been of service to the church.

The church has 29 members, representing about 30 families.

(By Jerry Wise)

A friend of ours and of Cameron Parish recently received a nice promotion in Shreveport. He is Harold G. Anthony, vice-president of the Bozell and Jacobs Advertising Agency, who was named as the new director of public relations for the United Gas Corporation.

Harold, who used to publish the weekly newspapers at Mansfield and Logansport, was a visitor in Cameron Parish in the spring of 1957 to gather information for an article on Cameron for the United Gas magazine.

When Hurricane Audrey hit here in June of that year, it was Harold who sent out letters to all other newspapers in the state suggesting that they run advertisements in the Cameron Pilot, then just nine months old, to help the paper keep going until the paper's regular advertisers got back on their feet.

Three teams in playoffs

Three area girls basketball teams have qualified for the state playoffs.

Grand Lake, who finished second in District 9B, plays District 10B champ Midland.

Hackberry finished second in District 9C and will play District 10C champs Bethany.

Johnson Bayou, third in District 9C received a wildcard bid and will face Reeves at Kinder High School.

All the games will be Thurs., Feb. 20.

J. P.'s, constables attend Lafayette conference

Cameron Parish Justices of the Peace and Constables attended the annual Attorney Generals training conference in Lafayette last week.

Louisiana Department of Justice held the state mandated courses. Constables Stephenson, Broussard, and Constance received training in several different law enforcement procedures. Such as evictions, seizures, and garnishments.

They also attended classes on fire arms interviews and body language techniques. Special agents Ricky Fernandez and Kenneth Petro with the FBI were the instructors. Safety awareness and detection of narcotics violators were taught by Dale Broussard with the Louisiana Sheriff's Violent Crimes and Narcotics Task Force.

Justices Gary, Miller, Trahan, LeBleu, and Bradley were also certified by the Department of Justice. Their training consisted of classes on basic civil procedure, jurisdiction, venue, marriage requirements and media relations.

Louisiana Justice of the Peace and Constables Association is the largest body of elected officials in the state. Over 800 members attended this year's conference. As a whole they attended a mock trial and several banquets. Attorney General Richard Ieyoub hosted a banquet and dance the final night of the conference.

Of course, by the time the little Einstein is ready for college, tuition may be relatively equal to the national debt. That's Life.

All the more reason to start planning now. During baby's next nap, why not call someone who can help you develop a strategy. Someone who's a well-trained insurance professional, and has a pretty fair idea what college will cost 20 years from now. Someone who can show you how to start getting ready today. So that tomorrow, when those amazing SAT scores come back, you'll be ready.

That's New York Life.

Notice is given that the State Mineral Board has established a list of lease provisions to insure applicable payments attributable to the production of minerals and to give advance title claims, disputes, litigation, and/or other matters. The language therein contained is applicable to all successful bidders at the Office of the Department of Natural Resources or the Office of Mineral Resources prior to the opening of bids on the tract, and prospective bidders should carefully examine the same prior to submitting any bid therefor.

Copies of these lease forms may be situated in the Louisiana Coastal Zone as defined in Act 361 of 1978 (LSA-R.S. 49:213). Such tracts may be subject to the guidelines and regulations promulgated by the Coastal Management Section of the Department of Natural Resources.

All lease awarded shall be executed upon terms and conditions provided in the current State lease form with all applicable riders appended thereto, including but not limited to provisions as follows: Should lessee fail to begin the actual drilling (spudding in) of a well on the lease premises within one year from the date of the lease, the lease shall terminate as to both parties to the lease, unless on or before such anniversary date, lessee shall pay a delay rental (which shall in no event be less than one-half (½) of the aforesaid cash payment, paid for the lease), which shall cover the privilege and option of deferring operations for a period of one year. Upon like payments annually, drilling operations may be further deferred for like periods of one year each during the primary term of five years. The lease shall provide for the drilling of offset wells where necessary to protect the State's interest and shall contain the provisions against the assignment of the lease unless approved by the State Mineral Board. The lessee shall have the right to enter into pooling or unitization agreements with respect to development of the leased premises subject to the approval of the State Mineral Board.

FISHING NEWS

The weather we've been having - cold, rainy, cloudy, miserable - for 4 to 5 days at a time is what we always see here in southwest La., from now through March. This still won't stop anglers from trying their luck, although fishing can be hard, and catches poor.

Bass anglers are gearing up for March, as some of our local refuges and the Big Burn and Miami Corporation permit fishing will begin. I just talked to Roger Vincent with Miami Corporation and the opening date will be Sat., March 15 through Sun., Aug. 24. All rules are the same as last year, with a rule that all lands south of Highway 82 in Grand Chenier will be closed. If you launch at the northeast launch at the Superior Bridge, you cannot go south, you have to go north or northeast. Again, we'll see some of the same weather we're seeing now.

March is also a good month to start catching good speckle trout and a few nice redfish. I did get a report that some good redfish were caught at the Cameron jetties last week.

HUNTING

Snipe hunting will close on Sunday, Feb. 23, as well as bluesnows geese. This will end the bird hunting for this season. Quail season ends Feb. 28, but that's not our bird here in Cameron Parish anymore.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

It seems our oyster fishermen are again getting the works. The rains have closed the season, let it reopen and close again. It was good news to have number of sacks of oysters raised from 10 to 15 per day, but the price of $15 per sack went down to $9 and $10 per sack. This makes the oyster fishermen have to tong 5 extra sacks to get the same amount of money, or $5 less per day. Buyers are another problem.

Shrimpers having to use the TED are losing shrimp catches from 13 to 23%. The turtle mortality is aimed at the shrimpers, but what about the oil and gas activities such as platform removal, propellers from boats. They will surely lose more of their catches, plus damage equipment. I don't think inside waters of Louisiana have ever been defined as critical habitat for Kemp Ridley Sea Turtles. I don't believe the feds should impose regulations on Louisiana state waters without more biological data. Some estimates when jelly fish are at high concentrations, shrimp loss from the TEDs can be as high as 65%.

Next week we'll have Fish Excluder Device reports and the effects on the shrimpers.

NEWS TALK

Freshwater anglers are pleased with the rain as it will flush our marshes and water levels should be right for next month. Although the area as a whole didn't need all this weather, this is the rainy part of winter - spring and I'm sure there's more to come.

Audubon Soc. files cross appeal here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Baton Rouge Audubon Society has announced that their board of directors has decided to file a cross appeal in their suit against the Cameron Parish Police Jury in order that their attorneys may continue to argue the constitutional and coastal zone issues.

The appeal will be heard by a three-judge panel of the Louisiana Court of Appeals for the third Circuit which is domiciled in Lake Charles.

It will take a number of months for the district court record to be prepared and the parties to file written briefs.

A date will be set to hear oral argument before the judges will make their decision.

The Audubon Society will continue to be represented by student lawyers from the Tulane Environmental Law Clinic and their supervising attorney.

On Jan. 22, Judge H. Ward Fontenot signed the judgment reflecting his earlier verbal decision in open court permanently enjoining the Cameron Parish Police Jury from removing or destroying any vegetation found on the Little Florida Subdivision lots and from requiring the Baton Rouge Audubon Society to remove any of the vegetation found there.

Judge Fontenot required the refund of the $500 bond Audubon had to post when it filed the lawsuit and ordered the Police Jury to pay all court costs.

On Jan. 27, the Cameron Parish Police Jury filed a devolutive appeal. A devolutive appeal does not keep the judgment from going into effect, so Cameron Parish must abide by the judgment unless it is overturned by a higher court.

Passenger is killed

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Vernon Crawford, 36, of DeRidder, a passenger in a delivery truck, was killed Saturday night in an accident near Ebenezer Baptist Church on Trosclair Road (front Ridge) near Cameron.

The truck was being driven by Louis Thomas of Jennings, and Crawford was thrown from the truck when it rolled over and crashed.

The wreck caused the closing of the road for several hours from the intersection of the Savoie Road and the intersection of Highway 27 and 82 until the debris could be cleaned up.

SOME STRIKE NETTING ALLOWED

(Baton Rouge Morning Advocate)

For the past 18 months, Louisiana has been phasing out the use of gill nets by commercial fishermen in the state's coastal waters.

Come next Saturday, March 1, gill-netting will be banned altogether in saltwater for all species of fish. Strike-netting will be allowed, during limited seasons, but only for mullet and pompano.

That means speckled trout, black drum and sheepshead, for example, will be off-limits to commercial netting. Commercial fishermen will have to get a commercial license to use rods and reels to catch those fish.

The reason is the Louisiana Marine Resources Conservation Act, or Act 1316 of the 1995 Louisiana Legislature.

Act 1316 changed the way gill nets are used, making commercial saltwater finfishing a strike-net-only fishery. The gear used in gill-netting and strike-netting is the same, but the fishing procedure is different and the strike nets can be no longer than 1,200 feet.

The nets, which come in various sizes, are deployed underwater to catch large numbers of fish. The nets trap fish by their gills. The fish are unable to swim backward or forward once trapped in the nets.

Strike-netting, as opposed to gill-netting and as defined by Act 1316, limits the length of netting, demands that the fisherman identify the species to be targeted, requires that he deploy the net on that target, and says he must attend the net. In gill-netting, the net can be longer than 1,200 feet, the target does not have to be specific, and the net does not have to be attended as closely.

Sports fishermen who lobbied hard for Act 1316's passage argued that the nets indiscriminately catch and kill many untargeted species of fish.

Sports fishing groups such as the Coastal Conservation Association of Louisiana, formerly known as the Gulf Coast Conservation Association of Louisiana, claim Act 1316 is saving the state's saltwater fisheries.

Commercial fishermen contend there is no biological evidence to show gill nets are endangering the state's fisheries. They say it is the commercial fishermen who are endangered, adding that Act 1316 has depleted the ranks of commercial fishermen.

Cameron parish has 8 Catholic knights

The institution of Knighthood is linked in the popular mind with the distant past, in the era of King Arthur and the Middle Ages. In fact, however, this institution has never gone out of favor, and is as contemporary as the morning paper.

Almost every nation in Europe, Asia and Latin America has its officially recognized Orders of Knighthood, and there are a number of long-lived international Orders.

Nor is Knighthood a stranger to Southwest Louisiana. According to a survey by the Order of the Fleur de Lis, a Catholic service organization, members of no fewer than 12 such Knightly Orders, with a combined membership of 74 individual Knights and Dames, are residing in Southwest Louisiana (Calcasieu, Cameron, Jeff Davis and Allen Civil Parishes).

The most recent member to join that group is Anthony Zaunbrecher, head of the foreign language curriculum for the Calcasieu Parish School System, who has been invested as a Chevalier (Knight) of L'Ordre des Palmes Academiques by the Republic of France.

CAMERON

CREOLE

Pontifical Order of St. Gregory the Great: Elton A. Bonsall, Jimmie LaSalle, J.B. Meaux.

--CAPITAL NEWS--

While the final month of the year showed a small decline in natural resource production, Cameron Parish recorded improved severance tax receipts for the final half of 1996 compared to figures a year earlier.

Whenthe December figure of $1.48 million was added to the previous five months, collections for the last six months of the year reached $9.2 million for work in the parish. That is a marked improvement over the $7.9 million recorded during the final two quarters of 1996.

Natural resource production in the parish was at its highest point for the period in October, one of three times it topped the $1.5 million mark during the six months. By comparison, the highest monthly figure for the last half of 1995 was $1.47 million collected for work in December.

Most of the current December receipts were received for oil production, which provided $924,330 of the parish total. Natural gas production was responsible for another $557,959 in taxes. Timber products added $508 to the month's total, and the remaining $116 was listed for gravel.

The parish collecting the tax on oil and natural gas receives one-fifth of the total up to $500,000. Seventy-five percent of all revenue collected on timber products goes back to the parish.

The state's overall severance tax receipts dropped from nearly $38.8 million in November to just under $33.8 million in the final 1996 report. Still, the state's collections of $205.4 million during the final six months of 1996 were much higher than the $177.4 million received for the same period a year earlier.

FISHING BEGINS

March marks the opening for lands favorable to fish bass, white perch, bream and catfish.

Rockefeller Refuge in Grand Chenier opens Sat., Mar. 1, at sunrise. No permit is needed, but read all signs, do not cross levees and no overnight camping or fishing. You do need a fishing license to be on the refuge or buy a state stamp, and obey all state and federal rules and regulations. Remember, no firearms. Really, you should go by Refuge Headquarters and get a map with all the rules on the back. Call 318-538-2165.

The Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge will open for fishing and also crawfishing on Sat., Mar. 15. You may enter the refuge one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset.

You may get maps with rules and regulations at the office on Hwy. 3056 in the Lowery area, phone 318-774-5923.

As of this writing I don't have any information about Cameron Prairie Refuge or Sabine Refuge, but they normally open Mar. 15.

The Miami Corporation Permit Fishing will open Sat., Mar. 15, for rod and reel fishing only. No trout lines, frogging, nets, seines, traps, cages, limb lines, cast netting or any other commercial fishing allowed.

There will be no firearms, overnight camping, littering or dumping of trash. Motor size is 25 HP, no more than 33.3 cubic inch motors allowed.

You must have a permit, which is $20 this year. This permit does not grant access to Rockefeller Refuge through the Superior Canal. Sunrise to sunset fishing only and no overnight camping allowed.

The permit covers lands owned by Miami Corporation in Cameron and Vermilion parishes, except west of Hwy. 27 (Cameron-Creole Watershed), Willow Lake, South of Highway 82 in Grand Chenier and around all water control structures. You must sign your permit and the rules and regulations are printed on the permit. You may buy these permits ar local store outlets throughout the parish.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

Oyster fishermen still are not tonging oysters at this writing because of all the rain.

It seems even though the biological data is insufficient to have a fish excluder device (FED) pulled in shrimpers trawls, the federal government wants the state to comply with the FED in state waters.

Eighty-seven percent of all fish species caught as by-catch in shrimp trawls are unutilized species, with the TED loss of shrimp 11 to 23%, the TED allows 30 to 50% escapement of finfish already. With the FED never tested like the TED in inshore waters or near the Louisiana shore waters, they don't know how well it will work.

The testing of the FED done in the Gulf and Atlantic, shrimp losses were from 3 to 50%. With both the TED and the FED in the same nets, losses were 23% on the shrimp.

It is said that if 50% of finfish escape, fish mortality will be 11 to 18% reduction in shrimp available for harvest and with 50% of finfish escaping, what effects will it have on mammals, birds, finfish and crab that feed on the discarded finfish by-catch from shrimp trawls. They will surely be affected.

Shrimpers will surely lose 1/5 of their profits with the FED.

Class had guest speaker

The above picture shows Bethany Vincent and her uncle, John Zamora, who was a guest speaker in Mrs. Kelly Mudd's third grade class at South Cameron Elementary.

The class had just finished a story about fire fighting and Mr. Zamora was invited as he fights fires for a living. He works for Era Aviation, Inc.

He showed the students things fire fighters use including a chain saw, disposable sleeping bag, helmet, freeze dried food, a fire proof safety blanket, etc.

He showed the students pictures of helicopters dropping water on fires and pointed out on the map all the states in which he has fought fires. The biggest fire he has worked was in California in 1996. It burned for two months and destroyed 100,000 acres.

Lacassine fishing set

Refuge manager Vicki Grafe announces that Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge will open for fishing and crawfishing on March 16. Access into the refuge will be from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. State creel and possession limits and fishing licenses are enforced on the refuge so anglers should check the 1997 State regulations.

The Refuge fishing regulations are the same as last year and there is no special Refuge fishing permit. Boats with motors larger than 25 horsepower are prohibited in Lacassine Pool and all boats on trailers must be launched from the cement ramps at the Pool.

Girls basketball playoff scores

GIRLS STATE BASKETBALL PLAYOFFS
First Round

Midland 51, Grand Lake 27 - The Grand Lake Lady Hornets entered the state playoffs as runners-up in district, didn't make it through the first round as they lost 51-27 to Midland.

The Hornets finished the year at 16-11. Missy Cox led the Hornet scorers with 10 points.

Reeves 40, Johnson Bayou 31 - The Johnson Bayou Lady Rebels, who entered the state playoffs through the wildcard route, lost the opening round game to Reeves 40-31. The Lady Raiders outscored Johnson Bayou in every quarter, never by more than 3.

Hackberry 65, Bethany 18 - The Hackberry Lady Mustangs won their opening round game of the state playoffs 65-18 over Bethany. The win raised the Lady Mustangs record to 25-8. They will face Grand Isle in the next round. The Hackberry team had ten girls score with the only one in double digits being Shelly Fontenot with 25.

Commercial trawlers have declined from 32,000 in 1987 to a low of 14,900 in 1995. Every million pounds of shrimp harvested supports 229 directly related jobs, and 449 indirectly related jobs.

It is said that juvenile red snapper have a tendency to swim back into the net, even after they have been excluded.

Where the FED is already mandatory, sharks and dolphins have learned to swim along the net and wait for a free meal, so lots of these finfish excluded still do not survive.

FISHING REPORTS

The weather is still unsettled making the Gulf and lakes too rough to fish. A few bass are being caught along the roadside ditches.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

By Loston McEvers

Loston takes on PETA

WRITERS CRITICIZED

The animal rights organization, People for Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) is asking newspaper editors to stop publishing outdoor hunting and fishing columns. The senior writer for the PETA called newspapers to stop these barbaric columnists to the Stone Age scrap heap. It goes on to say for years outdoor writers with "snuff it" and "stuff it" mentalities have been imposing their true live horror stories about bagging bucks and snagging out trout on newspaper readers.

They also claim newspaper readers prefer wholesome sports, like tennis, biking, swimming, golfing nd jogging. and that we as outdoor writers should put the animals victims in the obituary column.

In 1993, the Outdoor Writers Association of America hosted a PETA representative and other animals rights speakers at its annual conference. Conference organizers though that the message of anti-hunting groups was somehow newsworthy for outdoor writers.

PETA has never in return given an invitation for an outdoor writer to speak at one of its functions.

Americans support animal and fish welfare, but do not believe in the animal rights philosophy. It is important to know the difference between animal welfare and animal rights because sometimes the two terms are mistakenly used. They're not the same.

Animal welfare supports the humane treatment and the responsible care of animals to ensure comfort and freedom from unnecessary pain and suffering.

The animal rights people believe the use of animals for any purpose is wrong. They think you should not fish or hunt, wear silk or wool, leather, sweeten food with honey, eat eggs or eat dairy products, even milk. Oh, no sports with balls made of leather, not patronize zoos, pet shops, aquariums and not watching movies on TV or shows that employ trained animals.

Ninety-seven percent of Americans eat chicken and dairy products, ninety-two percent eat beef, 81% wear leather, 76% own pets, 57% visit zoos, 39% fish, 24% have gone to a circus and 17% hunt. This was in a survey for a two year period.

Many Americans who donate money or support animal rights groups do so because they believe they are supporting animal welfare.

It kind of makes you wonder why Madonna didn't get a grammy nomination for her movie "Evita," playing Eva Peron. She refused to do the movie with fake fur, and she wore real fur for the movie.

I'll cover more on this next week.

NEWS BRIEFS

Hunting in our area is over for this season. Unless you're going to hunt some Louisiana turkeys, you can put up the old gun and hunting equipment.

Not much reporting on fishing. Weather has really been bad, plenty of rain, water is muddy. I didn't get good reports at Rockefeller Refuge opening day. I believe this weather is a jinx.

A couple of questions I had were on limits. Bass (largemouth) is 10 daily of any size, unless you're where there's rules that differ on certain lakes. Crappie (white perch) is 50 daily.

Remember, on crawfish, no wire traps for recreational take.

Sabine fishing opens 15th

On Mar. 15, the interior canals, bayous, ponds and impoundments of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge will open for public sport fishing, crabbing, and crawfishing. The refuge will remain open until Oct. 15. Legal hours for the public to be on the refuge are sunrise until sunset, Refuge Manager Will Nidecker advised.

Nidecker announced that additional stop logs have been installed in spillways of Unit 3 in an attempt to raise the water level. Elevated water levels prior to the growing season will help compensate for water loss due to evapotranspiration during the remainder of the year. The rate at which the water level will increase is dependent solely on rainfall received. Prospects for refuge fishing are mixed due to the drought last summer and higher water levels in the impoundments. This year's water levels are the highest in five years. Bass, crappie, bream and catfish fishing will probably be slow during the early season due to the increased water levels and the fishes ability to spread out over a larger area.

Motor size restrictions for the management units remains limited to no larger than 40 HP. Fishermen are also advised that outboard or inboard motors cannot be operated in the open marsh. These areas are restricted to using trolling motors or push-poling only.

Water conditions in refuge canals provided excellent angling opportunities for catfish, bass, and other fresh water fish species during the spring of 1996. Present conditions should provide good fishing this season. However, if strong spring southeasterly winds move higher salinity waters into the marshes and canals, fishing conditions will change to what it was several years ago.

Cast netting will not be permitted except during the Louisiana Inland Shrimp Seasons. The hours for cast netting are from noon to sunset. Nidecker reminded all cast netters that the refuge legal cast net is a five foot (5 ft.) cast net with a maximum allowable stretch to 72 inches hanging radius length.

Refuge users are reminded that it is illegal to sell any fish, shrimp, crab, or crawfish caught on the refuge because the refuge is open to sport usage only. The use of commercial licenses for sales does not make the refuge user's catch legal.

Fishermen can now pick up the 1997 Fishing Regulations brochure at refuge headquarters and at other locations around the refuge. The brochure not only has the current refuge fishing regulations but also a map of the refuge with a 16 inch ruler at the bottom. Copies of the brochure can be requested by calling (318) 762-3816 or writing to Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, 3000 Holly Beach Highway, Hackberry, Louisiana 70645. Copies of the brochure can now be requested by E-mail at Will Nidecker @mail.fws.gov.

The Archives of the McNeese State University Library is a major depository of documents concerning the history of Southwest Louisiana, but it is also a valuable community asset.

Archives personnel are able and willing to assist area residents in preserving their own family documents, members of the Southwest Louisiana Historical Association were told at the association's winter meeting.

Mrs. Kathie Bordelon, McNeese Archivist, told association members that the library will advise area citizens concerning such things as preserving old photographs, protecting documents from the acids that are present in most paper, and with storing documents and other records.

The Archives Department is also interested in any documents and photographs which area citizens may wish to donate, she said.

"We depend almost entirely on the support of Southwest Louisianians who donate important materials to the Archives. We ask people to be alert to the potential importance of their records and to get in touch with the archives if they wish to dispose of any material."

The Archives collections was started in 1980, with the Rosa Hart Collection, which consisted of several boxes of scrap books, letters and photographs rescued from the Stable Playhouse when it burned.

"At first I worked in the Archives one day a week," Mrs. Bordelon said. "Now it is a full time job, and sometimes includes nights and weekends."

Another important collection is the Haymark Brothers Collection, which was found in a shed in Jennings. The Haymarks drilled the first successful oil well in the state near Jennings, shortly after the Spindletop boom in Beaumont.

The Maude Reid collection is another important asset, consisting of scrap books made by "Miss Maude" who was the unofficial historian of Lake Charles. "One of the scrap books was found in a garage sale," Mrs. Bordelon said.

The Gerstner Field Collection and the John McNeese Collection are other important assets of the Archives, she said.

In addition to a total of 93 collections of documents and photographs which have been processed and are available for use by scholars, the archives contain 2,235 photographs on file, and 1,235 pamphlets, all concerned with Southwest Louisiana history and people. There is also a collection of books written by residents of the area or about the area.

President Robert Benoit announced that the next meeting of the association will be held April 8, and will be a dinner meeting.

ST. JOSEPH'S ALTAR

St. Joseph's altar will be here Wed., Mar. 19, and will be blessed Tues., Mar. 18. A mass will be offered at 10 a.m. on Mar. 19.

The altar will be sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Broussard, Welch Drive. Anyone interested should contact Susan Broussard or Melinda Hicks.

Food stamps applications

The Office of Family Support was at the Cameron Parish Courthouse Friday, Monday and Tuesday taking applications for food stamps from oyster fishermen who have been unable to work due to the high river stages. Anyone who did not have an opportunity to apply may do so at the Calcasieu Parish Office of Family Support which is located at 1605 Broad Street in Lake Charles.

It is important to bring your drivers' license, Social Security Card for each member of your family, your most recent checking and savings account statements, most recent rent or mortgage payment information and utility bills. Please be prepared to identify any income you or your family has received during the period you have been unable to work. Applicants must qualify under normal food stamp guidelines.

Caution is urged here

With warmer weather approaching, Cameron Prairie Wildlife Refuge Manager Paul Yakupzack urges boaters who enter the Grand Bayou boat bay at the refuge's East Cove Unit, to do so with extreme caution. Personal flotation devices (life jackets) should be worn by all boaters using the boat bay.

In the last five months three boating accidents near or inside the boat bay have resulted in damages and loss of property. Although all of the persons involved in the accidents survived, all were thrown into the water. Boaters should be aware that strong water current passing through the boat bay opening can capsize a boat.

A sudden shift by boat passengers or reversing the boat engine will increase the likelihood of having your boat swamped by water coming over the sides or stern of the boat. Boaters should avoid letting the current pull their boats up against the structures at Grand or Lambert Bayous due to the strong current's ability to trap a boat against the structures.

Grand Bayou's boat bay is ten feet wide. Boaters approaching the boat bay entrance from opposite sides should yield the right-of-way to the boat that is going with the current. Strong tidal flow through the boat bay will not allow a boater to safely reverse his power near the opening. For updates on boat bay openings, call 318-598-4235.

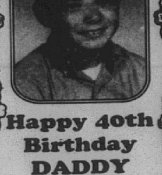
BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION



Happy 40th Birthday DADDY Love, Kimbo

JAUNTING CARTS were once a familiar sight in Ireland. These days they cater to the thousands of tourists who visit the Emerald Isle each year. (Photo by Geneva Griffith)

Ireland is full of history and life

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Ireland ... called the Emerald Isle because of its lush green countryside, no part of Ireland is more than 70 miles form the ocean and it is full of fascinating relics of a tempestuous past.

Ireland has stone circles, dating from 2500 B.C., imposing crosses with intricate carvings, and ancient celtic fortresses remain in almost every part of the country. Yet this historic place does not live in the past; it is full of life, laughter, and a unique atmosphere that never fails to enchant the visitor.

My roommate, Barbara Stone of Sweet Lake, and I met my annual traveling group in Monroe for our Irish holiday which started as soon as we arrived at Shannon Airport and met our driver.

Our sightseeing trip took us through County Clair and the market town Ennis with its narrow streets. Then we headed west to the coastal town of Laninch and to the mighty Cliffs of Mohr, rising 700 feet above the Atlantic. The weather was really cold and misty which made many of us opt to stay on the bus instead of brave the cold to step outside.

In the early afternoon we arrived at the castle manor house Adare Manor, for dinner and the night. High tea was waiting for us in the bar while we waited for room assignments.

Formerly the home of the Earl of Dunraven and now a deluxe hotel, Adare Manor dates back to 1720. It is set on an 840 acre estate on the river Maigue, a magnificent trout stream.

The 74 rooms in the five story castle were beautifully furnished in antiques in keeping with the original building. Our dinner that night was held in the gallery, the largest dining room in Ireland, 132 foot long, and 26-1/2 foot ceiling, which was inspired by the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles, France. It was lined on each side by 17th century Flemish choir stalls. I was intrigued by the center pieces on the long table, opened copies of 1700's books from the library. After dinner we retired to the tack room for night caps and sang songs.

Our breakfast the next morning was served in the dining room where we could look out on the front lawn to the geometric patterned hedges which were set against a 300 year old Cedars of lebanon tree on the banks of the river in which white swans swam around lazily.

Some of the guests enjoyed a ride on a Tub Trap pulled by Irish draft horses, while others rode some of the horses on the estate.

The next day we drove through the countryside on the narrow two lane highways and noted the beautiful fields separated by ancient stone fences, which made the landscape look like patchwork quilts, in all shades of green.

Our next stop was at the Bunratty Castle, Folk Park and village where costumed inhabitants operate working exhibits of village life.

From here we journeyed through tiny Irish villages to Killarny and the Killarny Park Hotel. We hired an Irish folk singer to entertain us at McSweeney's Pub, around the corner from the hotel. On the way back to the hotel we stopped and peered through the window of a recreation center that was locked to observe some of the local citizens taking clogg dancing lessons.

REMEMBER? By Keith Hambrick

Hackberry oil boom

LAKE CHARLES
AMERICAN PRESS
MARCH 6, 1925

Hackberry

So persistent is the belief that a great oil pool exists under or near Hackberry Island and so many have been the test holes put down in the vicinity during the past 25 years for the purpose of locating that pool, that merely to say "Hackberry Island" in Lake Charles, is to remind one of oil and undiscovered oil fields.

And yet prospecting for oil has never been the main activity in Hackberry, although residents and property owners elsewhere have received a total of several small fortunes in oil leases on lands in that vicinity.

Hackberry is one of the oldest agricultural communities in Southwest Louisiana; one of the early settlers there, John Y Kelso, owned many slaves and cultivated a large plantation on the island before the Civil War. The principal crops are cotton, corn and potatoes. Vegetables and poultry do well, but there is no market to speak of for them.

Hackberry Island is on the west side of the Calcasieu Lake a little southwest of the village of Grand Lake, one of Southwest Louisiana's most popular summer resorts. The people of the island, for the settlement is on an island, have a highway north to the Old Spanish Trail and the Southern Pacific Railroad at Sulphur, but they are ambitious to have this road extend on south to the west bank of the Calcasieu River at Cameron, the parish seat of Cameron Parish.

Calcasieu Lake Seismographic Work

Pan American and Texaco oil companies were given permission to do seismographic work in Calcasieu Lake between March 15 and April 15.

Pan American had asked for permission to do the work last November but the request was denied by the jury at that time after a score of local shrimp and oyster fishermen appeared to protest the work.

The fishermen, led by Mrs. Roland J. Trosclair, Ward 3 juror who operated a shrimp and oyster house, declared that overloaded seismographic charges would damage oysters in the lake and that shooting pipes left by shooting crews were tearing up shrimp nets.

Under the terms of an agreement reached Monday between the Jury and the companies permitting the lake shooting, the work must be done between March 15 and April 15, which will be between oyster and shrimp seasons.

Two other shrimp and oyster dealers, in addition to Mrs. Trosclair--Tony Cheramie and Tom Stead--were present and indicated that they had no objections to the agreement.

Marina and Seafood Plan Proposed

He said there are very good possibilities in making such a project a reality with the assistance of the local people, the state, and the SBA.

Lyons Pays A Visit

Unprecedented in the history of Cameron Parish was the visit here Tuesday on election day itself of a major gubernatorial candidate, Charlton Lyons, the Republican hopeful, accompanies by his son, Hall, his sister, Mrs. Sally Logan of Lake Charles, and others. They visited in Creole and Cameron on election day morning.

In Creole, Mr. Lyons went into several business places on a round of hand shaking, and in Cameron, he not only stopped in at various business places but also had lunch at Fred's Restaurant where he met and greeted a large crowd of noon lunchers.

Mr. Lyons said he was no stranger to Cameron Parish since he had been here on numerous occasions in the past and had met a good many of the residents of lower Cameron. From Cameron, Mr. Lyons went back to Lake Charles where he boarded a plane for his home town of Shreveport to cast his vote.

Guice To Retire

R.S. Guice, principal of Audrey Memorial School, will retire at the end of the present school year, as he has reached the compulsory retirement age, it has been announced by U.E. Hackett, school superintendent.

Girls in the picture are Pamela Boudreaux, Julia Authement and Gretta Higgenbotham. Receiving trees here were Charlie LaBove and Gordon Willis

Gas and Garbage Districts

Creation of a gas gathering district and a garbage district for Ward Six will be proposed at the April meeting of the Cameron Police Jury, Juror Charles Riggs advised the police jury Monday. The two districts would serve the town of Hackberry and all of Ward Six, except the Gum Cove area. The gas district would ask the taxpayers of the ward to vote on a bond issue to build a natural gas system to serve the 350 homes and businesses in Hackberry.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

An extraordinary book on the families of Cameron Parish, Louisiana, recently has been published which tells who was with whom and where, how they were related, and what happened to them on the day of devastating Hurricane Audrey, June 27, 1957.

Nola Mae Wittler Ross and her daughter, Susan McFillen Goodson, spent months gathering this information "before all the survivors of Audrey were gone".

With hundreds of personal interviews and help from officials, genealogists, newspapers, libraries, etc., they gathered the material and photos - "all 40 years old and most having endured Hurricane Audrey", as a record and memorial for the families of Cameron Parish.

CAMERON FAMILIES

Hurricane Audrey tells of this time when "Over 425 residents lost their lives, 154 of whom were babies and children under the age of nine. Every home in Cameron, Creole, Oak Grove, the Cheniers and Pecan Island was either completely destroyed or sustained major damage."

Most of the stories - of which there are 135 - begin with a list of who was in a house when Hurricane Audrey struck and how they came to be together. Often there were 3 generation; often more than one family. Given are names, maiden names, relationships, whose house, where, etc.

Following the personal experience accounts are lists of which family members lost their lives, many times when houses collapsed.

This expertly done book begins with a full-name list of the 425 victims of Hurricane Audrey and concludes with an index of some 1,100 names. Its many true accounts of what happened includes stories of heros, sacrifice, endurance and survival among the destruction.

The volume is hardcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., about 250 pages, $22.95, available at bookstores or, plus $3.00 for mailing, from the author, 2499 E. Gauthier Road, Lake Charles, LA 70607.

ROY FAMILY

The Roy Family of Virginia and Tennessee: Goddard, Thomas, Loe, McDaniel by Claude N. Roy traces an English line of this name from John Roy who was born in Virginia, 1797.

Roy is an ancient name in genealogy, especially associated with Scotland from which there were immigrants to America as early as 1637. The oldest line is probably the French which settled in Canada and Louisiana, later spreading through the Mississippi Valley and to the west.

John of the English Roys in this genealogy, moved from Virginia to Tennessee before 1821 where he married Juda Webb in Roane County and had 11 children.

Descendants are traced using many family charts and there are added chapters for church, census and military records; for information from reunions and cemeteries; for the major related families as listed in the book's title.

With photos, many obits, and a full name index, this comprehensive genealogy is hardcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., $25.00 from the author at 28745 Sunray Court, Chesterfield, MI 48047.

New bank program

Cameron State Bank will participate in the Guaranteed Rural Housing Loan Program. Rural Development, a division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has appointed Cameron State Bank a Guaranteed Rural Housing Lender.

The main objective of the housing program is to assist eligible applicants, from low to moderate income families, in obtaining adequate but modest, safe and sanitary homes in rural areas. This is accomplished by guaranteeing sound rural housing loans which otherwise would not be made.

These loans are restricted to purchase and new construction of homes located in rural areas. Applicants can possibly receive 100% financing, which can include closing costs, with interest rates fixed for 30 years, as long as the appraised value is not exceeded. Appraisals, credit reports, and discount points are not considered a part of closing costs.

UNDER SOUTH CAMERON HOSPITAL GRANT

Memorial joins hospital program

South Louisiana's newest telemedicine site will be unveiled during a news conference Mon., Mar. 10, at 10 a.m. at the Lake Charles Memorial Hospital Emergency and Trauma Center where the new site will be located. A live interactive demonstration will take place between Lake Charles Memorial Hospital and South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

Lake Charles Memorial Hospital is a consortium member of the Rural Health Outreach Grant Program, of which South Cameron Memorial Hospital is the lead agency. The telemedicine program is funded by a Rural Health Outreach Grant from the Federal Office of Rural Health Policy.

Telemedicine uses a two-way interactive television system by which doctors at one location are able to see and diagnose patients at another location. Telemedicine provides medical consultations, diagnosis and related health procedures via long distance communications. It is of particular benefit to residents in rural areas who are often unable to travel to the nearest hospital or physician's office.

Patients in Louisiana have already benefited from telemedicine appointments with general physicians, cardiologists, neurologists, ophthalmologists, pediatricians, social workers, orthopedists, dermatologists and dietitians, as well as specialists in endocrinology, gastroenterology, psychiatry, genetics, infectious diseases and more.

Telemedicine is also used to provide medical conferences and continuing education programs to physicians, other healthcare personnel and many others. It will be a vital part of the family practice residency program of Lake Charles memorial Hospital and LSU Medical School/Shreveport that gets underway in July.

According to Cathy Denison-Wicke, Ph.D., LCMH Tele-medicine Director, "A tremendous benefit will be gained by adding Lake Charles Memorial Hospital to the Telemedicine Consortium as a major linkage to both the LSU Medical School in New Orleans and in Shreveport. Thus, a medical link from the north to the south of Louisiana will be provided.

South Cameron Memorial Hospital was awarded the Rural Health Outreach Grant in September 1994 for the Telemedicine Project. Consortium members are: South Cameron Memorial Hospital, Louisiana Health Care Authority, W. O. Moss Regional Medical Center, University Hospital--LSU Medical Center, DeQuincy Memorial Hospital, Southwest Louisiana Development Center, Acadia-St. Landry Hospital and Lake Charles Memorial Hospital.

Students of Year are told

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish school board at its monthly meeting honored the three parish winners of the Student of the Year contest who will compete in the regional contest. Supt. Pam LaFleur presented certificates to: Jacob Johnson, 5th grade at Cameron Elementary School; Shanon Day, 8th grade, Hackberry school; and Karalee LaBové, 12th grade, Hackberry school.

Bill Morris, school board member and a Scoutmaster for Boy Scout 202 asked the board to also send certificates to six South Cameron High School students who were to be inducted into the Eagle Scouts on Tuesday night at a Court of Honor at the Creole Fire Station. They are Christopher Johnson, Jonathan Cogar, Michiel Semion Jr., David B. Trahan and Joseph Boudreaux.

The board heard a report from Supervisor Judy Jones on a plan for the development of curriculum guides to meet new content standards. She asked for funding for the development of the program, and plans to meet with the teachers in K-8th grades to set the standards in June.

In the spring of 1998-99, Louisiana standard-based tests in math and language arts will be administered to grades 4 and 8.

The board heard three complaints about the Cameron Elementary School auditorium. Bill Morris said that many older people had complained to him about there being no handrails on the steps to the auditorium. Clifton Hebert said that he has had many complaints about the parking lot congestion and said the parking lot should be restriped and signs posted telling people where to go. Also, Morris pointed out that something should be done to straighten out the leaning flagpole in front of the school. The board agreed to take care of these problems.

The class is a simulation of an actual hands-on work situation with a business and office run by the students and a fun learning situation taught. Aiding in the presenting was Austin LaBove.

The board received a report from Mrs. Jones on plans for the 1997-98 school year teacher in-service on Aug. 18, at Cameron Elementary School. Rod Kennedy, a former Methodist minister in Cameron, a motivational speaker, will be one of the speakers.

The board authorized letters of recognition to Grand Lake High School and South Cameron High School for receiving grants in the amounts of $37,000 and $31,000 each.

The grants were from an anonymous donor to which the schools had applied. It will be used at Grand Lake for a computer lab update, and a computer sewing machine in the Home Ec department at South Cameron.

Attorney Robert McCall reported that the School Asbestos litigation suit which was filed in 1983 federal court had been denied.

The board went into executive session to receive a report on another litigation suit, by a telephone conference with the attorney.

The following personnel report was approved by the board:

Received resignation from Russell Ferguson, teacher at South Cameron High School, effective 2/28/97.

Approved employment of Hayes Picou III as teacher at South Cameron High School, effective, March , 1997.

Approved leave of absence without pay for Tommy Bonsall, janitor at South Cameron High School, from 3/2/97 to 6/30/97.

Approved of sabbatical leave for rest and recuperation for Patricia Vaughan, teacher at Hackberry High School, for the 1997-98 school year.

Establish 7-hour clerk position at Grand Lake High School in order to provide reasonable accommodations for an employee.

Approved sabbatical leave for professional improvement for Rebecca Rollins, teacher at Hackberry High School for the 1997-98 school year.

SHOWN ABOVE are several of the ways that street numbers can be posted in front of homes and on business places. The Cameron Parish Police Jury is asking that all home and business owners put up their numbers by Sept. 1, in order that the 911-Emergency system may function properly.

Blue crab meeting set at H'berry

A program on the blue crab fishery industry will be presented at 2 p.m., Tuesday, March 25 at the Hackberry Multi-Purpose building, according to Kevin A. Savoie, Fisheries Agent with the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service. The program will be jointly sponsored by the Extension Service and the Louisiana Sea Grant College Program.

Information will be presented on the biological condition of the fishery; commercial, recreational and incidental catch; crab management in other states; processing trends; results of the crabber survey; a report of activities from the Blue Crab Task Force; and proposed legislation for the 1997 regular session.

The meeting is scheduled to last about 2 1/2 hours and is open to the public. Crab fishermen and processors and anyone interested in the crab fishery are urged to attend. For additional information contact Kevin A. Savoie, Fisheries Agent at 775-5516 in Cameron.

Holidays set

EFFECTIVE SEPT. 1

Jury asks citizens to post 911 number at all sites

The Cameron Parish Police Jury is planning to begin enforcing an ordinance adopted last September pertaining to the posting street numbers on all homes and businesses in the parish.

This is being done in connection with implementing of the 911-Emergency system in the parish. In order for ambulances, police, fire and other emergency vehicles to properly respond to calls on this system all homes and businesses must have their assigned street numbers posted.

All numbers must be up by Sept. 1, 1997 and the ordinance provides for a $25 fine for anyone failing to do this.

Following are some rules to remember concerning the 911 system and in the legal section of this issue can be found the police jury ordinance on the system.

911 SUGGESTIONS

Owners must have all numbers visible for emergency responders up by Sept. 1, 1997.

Parish law requires that numbers be not less than 4 inches in height. The numbers must be placed above or to the side of the structure facing the street so that the number can be plainly seen from the street for emergency responders.

Whenever a structure is more than 50 feet from the street the numbers must be placed near the street (on fence post, mailbox, etc.) so that the numbers can be plainly seen by emergency responders.

(See ordinance in legal section of paper).

HOW TO CALL ON 911

1. Remain Calm. Speak slowly and clearly.

2. Give the Location. Give precise location of emergency, including street number, floor, apartment number and any other information such as whether it is front or rear entrance.

3. Tell Why You Are Calling. Explain type of emergency. For example, say "I want to report a fire", "I want to report a break in" or "someone has stopped breathing". If a crime is occurring while you are calling, say it is "in progress."

4. Give Your Name.

5. Give Phone Number from where you are calling.

6. Stay On The Line. If your call requires a fire department and/or ambulance, your call will be transferred by dispatcher. Do not hang up. In the event that a call must be transferred, please hang on the line. The dispatcher will transfer the call and you are not on hold, the dispatcher can still hear you.

WHEN TO CALL 911

1. When life and property are in danger.

2. When you see a fire.

3. When a crime is being committed.

4. When a rescue or emergency medical service is needed.

5. When you need Police, Fire or Ambulance now.

WHEN NOT TO USE 911

Fishing limits to be set on 26 fish

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission gave notice of its intent to adopt fishing limits for amberjack and 25 other recreational reef fish species.

The Commission's action at its Feb. 6, 1997, meeting in Baton Rouge was done at the request of National Marine Fisheries Service and Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. The proposed harvest limit changes would make regulations for these species in Louisiana waters more compatible with those in federal waters.

The proposed harvest limits are as follows: Greater amberjack -- one fish per person per day. Gray triggerfish, queen triggerfish, lesser amberjack, almaco jack, banded rudderfish, tomtate, white grunt, hogfish, lane snapper, vermilion snapper, goldface tilefish, blackline tilefish, anchor tilefish, blueline tilefish, tilefish, bank sea bass, rock sea bass, black sea bass, dwarf sand perch, sand perch, grass porgy, jolthead porgy, knobbed porgy, littlehead porgy and red porgy -- 20 fish per person per day in aggregate.

None of the affected species are heavily fished in Louisiana except for greater amberjack, according to Department of Wildlife and Fisheries marine biologist Harry Blanchet. "The aggregate 20-fish bag limit was adopted in federal waters as a precautionary measure against future uncontrolled increase in harvest," he said. "It wouldn't effect most recreational fishing."

The reduction in the creel limit for greater amberjack was implemented in federal waters in response to a perceived decline in average size and catch rates reported by fishermen from the eastern Gulf of Mexico.

At present, there are no bag limits on the species included in the proposed aggregate bag limit. Existing limits on other reef fish species remain in effect and aren't affected by the proposed rule.

Comments on the proposed regulation change will be accepted until May 2, 1997. Interested individuals should write Harry Blanchet, Marine Fisheries Division, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70898-9000.

Locks are discussed at meet

The Lock Committee of the Concerned Citizens of the Mermentau River Basin met with the Corps of Engineers March 6, at the Calcasieu Locks to discuss the present operating procedures for the Catfish Locks.

Representing the Corps of Engineers was Kevin Galley, Bernadette LeBleu and Mr. Duhon, the operator at the Catfish Locks structure. Mr. Galley was the lockmaster for the Catfish structure, and is now the lockmaster for the Calcasieu Locks. Mrs. LeBleu is now lockmaster for the Catfish Locks.

The main focus of the meeting was to understand the operating policies of the Catfish Locks and the procedures for allowing marine species to navigate through the locks.

The first topic discussed was the one foot gap negotiated by the Southwest Commercial Fisherman Association in 1992. This exception to the normal operating procedure allowed for one gate to be opened one foot when levels on the gulf side did not exceed levels on the Grand Lake side by more than one foot.

The locks would be operated under this criteria until salinity levels reached 40 grains per gallon at a point between Hackberry Point and Umbrella Point in Grand Lake.

The Corps of Engineers produced a document which drew a line between Hackberry Point and a canal near Betty's Lake, with the maximum allowed salinity in Grand Lake allowed at 25 grains per gallon.

This procedure greatly reduces the intent of the one foot gap in the locks, as the area affected is reduced to less than some water wells used for drinking water.

These differences for the one foot gap procedure will be investigated by the Corps of Engineers and hopefully can be resolved. It is unclear at this time if any documents with signatures exist.

The Corps of Engineers also informed the committee that there are no other procedures to allow for the ingress of shrimp and crabs as detailed in the general plan for the Catfish Locks. This section of the plan calls for the Corps to coordinate with the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to allow for the ingress of shrimp and crabs.

The Corps will also seek to install a water level gauge on the outside of the structures, so they can be viewed by the boats passing through the gates, as weather levels in the basin are a major concern of the organization.

The Rock Cashel towers on Irish landscape

Kissing the Blarney stone

Irish trip account told

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is a continuation of Geneva Griffith's account of her trip to Ireland in November with a group from Northeast University of Monroe.)

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

An exciting day was experienced by us the next day as we toured around the Ring of Kerry on Ireland's west coast enjoying panorama of the fingers of land reaching out into the Atlantic Ocean. The Gaelic language is still spoken here and many signs are in Gaelic.

That night some of us attended the opera "The Marriage of Figaro". The next day we headed for Cork by way of the Derry-Nasaggart Mountains and the market town of Macroom. Just north of Cork we visited Blarney Castle. No visit to Ireland is complete without a trip to the castle. and a kiss of the Blarney Stone, which is said to give the kisser great eloquence.

Of course I opted to climb to the top of the bower and brave the backward stretch over the edge to kiss the legendary stone. You are required to lie on your back and lean back thrusting your head back through the hole between the building stones while a guide holds your legs and you kiss the stone which is on the outer part of the building.

I climbed up the 109 stone steps to the top, then back down again. I was proud that I had accomplished this feat, but am still waiting for the gift of eloquence.

While in the town of Blarney we visited the Blarney Woolen Mills and did a lot of shopping.

That afternoon we visited the Rock of Cashel in Tipperary, which is also known as St. Patrick's Rock. It is high on a hill, atop an outcrop of limestone dominated by a group of buildings: a 12th century round tower, a Romanesque chapel, a 13th century cathedral, and a 15th century castle.

Restoration is in progress on the very historical place.

St. Patrick is honored world wide

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Dublin Ireland...Ireland is famous for it's castles, shamrocks, leprechauns, and most of all for it's patron saint, St. Patrick, who brought Christianity to the island.

St. Patrick is said to have use the three petals of the shamrock to illustrate the idea of the Trinity. It is the national flower of Ireland and loyal sons of Eire still wear a shamrock in their lapels on St. Patrick's day.

Some authorities say that the wood sorrel is the true shamrock and its leaves are much like those of the white clover.

St. Patrick was born in England about 389 and died in Ireland March 17, 461. At the age of 16 he was captured by Irish pirates who made him tend flocks of an Ulster chieftan. During the six years of slavery he became a Christian.

He escaped to France and became a monk. He had a vision which led him back to Ireland as a missionary Bishop where he founded 300 churches and baptized more than 120,000 persons.

He is believed to be buried in the graveyard at the Rock of Cashel in Tipperary, the stronghold of the Kings of Munster.

On March 17 people from all over the world will be celebrating St. Patrick's Day with special events such as parades, etc. in his honor.

GRANDMA'S LIFESTYLES

Flowerful Homes

(NAPS)—For a touch of spring, any time of the year, think flowers. Nothing sums up the gentlest season as sweetly or brightens the home as effectively.

"A room is transformed when you introduce freshly cut flowers. Suddenly, it becomes warmer, friendlier—a room where people love to be," said Kevin Ylvisaker, president of the American Institute of Floral Designers (AIFD).

When you bring the outdoors in with flowers, says Ylvisaker, use them to brighten unlikely places. Flower arrangements in the living room and dining room are a natural, of course. But how about flowers on your desk, in the bathroom, kitchen or bedroom for a bright surprise?

Get creative with containers. Depending on the style of your room use everything from clear glass to crystal, terra cotta, baskets, brass and silver.

For a flowerful home AIFD offers the following buying tips:

- blossoms should have a firm, crisp look.
- look at the center of the blossom; if the pollen has built up, the flower won't last long.
- select buds at different stages of opening so that they won't open all at once.
- leaves on stems should be healthy, not wilted; healthy foliage indicates a healthy flower.

When fresh flowers are a part of daily life, they lift spirits, brighten homes and make every season feel like spring.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Felix Laurents, of Shell Beach, died Sat., Jan. 13, of heart failure. He had been ailing for some time. His brother, Capt. Wm. Laurents of Cameron, died quite suddenly only a week before. Mr. Felix was raised at Shell Beach and was well-known and liked by all who knew him. He will be sadly missed in the community where he lived. He leaves a wife and one son, and the entire community extend their sympathy to the bereaved ones.

A person last Friday started a fire and destroyed 200 young trees for Mark Nunemaker and about a hundred posts for Mrs. Robt. Nunemaker. The wind was blowing a gale and only by good management on Mr. Nunemaker's part were the buildings saved from burning.

THIS WEEK

(BY Jerry Wise)

J. W. Doxey of Cameron is one of more than hundred leaders in the fields of business, education and civic affairs from all parts of the state who attended the Louisiana Conference on Judicial Selection and Tenure in New Orleans last week.

It was the first time he had heard about it, said Larry Dyson when we asked him about the rumor around town that he had political intentions. Besides, Larry told us, he had other things to worry about--what to do with ten little "hound" puppies that were born at the lumber yard Friday.

Ray Burleigh has a good milk cow for sale. Says his doctor doesn't want him to have to get up that early each morning to milk her.

The new pontoon bridge at Sweet Lake should be ready to open in the very near future, according to Rep. Alvin Dyson. A big opening ceremony probably will be held.

South Cameron cross-country runners finished third in a meet sponsored Saturday by the school along the beach. The Lake Charles Wildcats finished first with Lake Arthur second. Keith Carlson of South Cameron was third in individual honors running the 1.7 mile course in 8:28.

GRAND JURY FINDS NO WORK TO DO

A new Cameron Parish grand jury was impaneled Tuesday of last week, but it was discharged very shortly thereafter as it could find nothing to do.

The jury had no cases presented to it and therefore returned no bills.

The body reported that there were six prisoners in jail on the day it met and that they were being fed for $1.50 per person a day.

FESTIVAL DELEGATES 'HIT ROAD'

Young Miller will be a contestant in the national muskrat skinning contest at the Cambridge National Outdoor Show. Miss Hebert will be attending the show as a good-will representative of the local festival.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED AT JOHNSON BAYOU

(By Mrs. Walter Stanley)

Services for formal dedication of the Johnson Bayou Baptist Church were held Sun., Jan. 26. Rev. Malcolm Self, pastor, gave the welcome and introduced the guests.

This new church replaces the 1935 structure built under the pastorate of the late Rev. Eugene Broussard.

Prior to 1915, a small church existed at another location. It was demolished by a storm of that year. From 1915 to 1935, services were held in different homes whenever a preacher was available.

The six deacons of the present church are Sullivan LeNormand, Jr., Kenneth McRight, Francis Erbelding, Sid Trahan, Ira Jinks and Ollie Clark.

The Sunday service had double significance for Rev. and Mrs. Self. It was their last church day on Johnson Bayou. Brother Self was called to service at Sabine and they plan to move during the week. They have been here two years.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Holly Beach -- The fog which blanked the coast for four days last week resulted in two minor wrecks. One driver ran into a herd of cattle without injury to man or beast. Another man reported he had wrecked but left without giving details.

Creole--From reports received, the "Mothers March of Dimes" staged in the Creole, Chenier Perdue, Little Chenier areas this past Friday and Saturday went "over the top" in achieving its quota. Duck season wasn't good as expected

The 1996 fall flight was estimated at 89 million ducks, up about 10 percent from last year, which saw records set for the number of ducks taken per hunter in La.

"We and our hunters had great expectations for the season this year, and that likely has something to do with why some people are so disappointed," said Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Waterfowl Study Leader Robert Helm.

"Duck productivity was particularly good this past summer. We anticipated that even more birds would be down this winter," he explained.

Though some areas have reported good hunting success, the consensus is that 1996-97 will be a less than memorable year for most La. duck hunters. Hunters who traditionally depend on mallards, wood ducks and pintails were especially disappointed. The prized birds were much less common than normal.

Grey duck (gadwall) and Teal (both blue and green wings) were the most important birds in the bag this year. Overall they were more plentiful than normal. Shovelers and scaup, not preferred by experienced hunters, were also more common in the bag. This suggests that many La. hunters were not being as selective during this season in pursuing their five birds per day.

Helm explained that fall and winter weather patterns have a big impact on migration of birds from the north. "Birds will migrate from Canada, through the mid-west and ultimately to southern states. Last year it was cold and dry to the north of La., and the birds were forced to come south early.

This past year habitat conditions improved, providing more water north of us during a mild winter. Many ducks, especially mallards and wood ducks stayed longer in some of the states north of us."

Mother Nature contributed to the poor duck hunting conditions by pouring 10 inches of rainfall Oct. 24 and 25, from Lake Charles to New Iberia. This caused the coastal marshes in the southwest parishes to go under an extra two feet of water. These highwater conditions persisted until mid-December and reduced hunter success.

Reports on hunting success have been relatively positive for snow and white-fronted (speckle-belly) geese, particularly in rice fields of southwest La. Flocks contain a large proportion of young this year and weather patterns have been good for goose hunting.

Snow goose season continues through Feb. 23.

Just Yesterday

By Keith Hambrick

(Abbeville Meridional, March 10, 1917)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Some of our prominent rice farmers engaged in a wrestling match last Sunday and they are still suffering with lame backs and declare that they will never engage in any such amusement again.

Ike Nunnemaker took a trip to the Gulf last week and declares the mosquitoes as something fierce.

The rice acreage at Lakeside will be larger than it has been for some years. Mr. Guidry put in 200 acres or more and a few others have patches also.

(Cameron Pilot, March 12, 1964)
ANTI-LITTERING LAWS REQUESTED

An ordinance which would prohibit the littering of beaches in Cameron Parish, is being sought by the members of the Cameron Lions Club.

Walter Stanley reported to the club last week that there has been an increase in the amount of litter disposed of on the beach at Holly Beach. He stated that some people were dumping dead fish from shrimp catches on the beach causing bad odors and a health hazard.

Joe Rutherford of Creole reported the same thing was happening at Rutherford Beach. Berton Daigle also stated that although there are trash barrels at the end of the jetty road at Cameron, there is a considerable amount of litter being dumped and thrown along the jetties and beach instead of being placed in the containers.

BLACK LAKE RESTORATION SOUGHT

Less than 20 years ago, Black Lake, located a few miles northwest of Hackberry, was said to be one of the best bass fishing spots in Louisiana. Furbearers were abundant in the area and in 1946, 22 trappers made a living in the area. The lake was a haven for wintering waterfowl.

Today, according to Charles A. Riggs, Hackberry police juror, the lake is full of salt water; the vegetation, fur animals, game fish and waterfowl are gone.

Riggs, who has been urging local and state action to restore the lake to its former fresh water status for the past four years since he was first elected, says he hopes to see something done about the situation, perhaps this year.

Recently, at the request of the Cameron Police Jury, the Louisiana Department of Public Works made a survey of the project and came up with the estimate that it would cost $150,000 to build a low level dam on Kelso Bayou near the highway bridge to prevent salt water from getting into Black Lake from the ship channel.

FERRY NEWS

The new pontoon bridge which will replace the Sweetlake ferry at Grand Lake in a few weeks will also have a new name -- the Grand Lake pontoon bridge.

The name change will be made by the state highway department at the request of Rep. Alvin Dyson and the police jury. Although called the Sweetlake ferry, the ferry (and new bridge) are actually in the Grand Lake community.

The new 50-car ferry which will be used at Cameron on the ship channel was launched at ceremonies held Wednesday morning at the G. B. Zigler Shipyards at Mermentau.

Built at a cost of $347,701, the new ferry is slated to be a link in the Hug-the-Coast Highway.

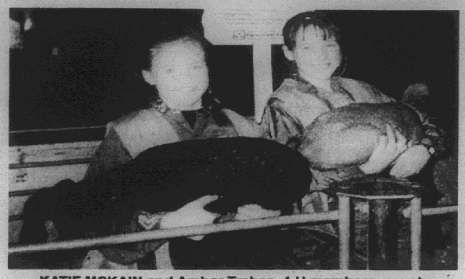
ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Holly Beach -- Voters of Ward Five set a record for a general election last Tuesday; 123 voters were recorded compared to previous numbers always below 100. Sometimes as few as 30 people took part in general elections.

Cameron -- First place winners in the Cameron Elementary School Science Fair held Wed., Mar. 4, were the following: Mary Theresa Cheramie, Jody Courville, Karen Courville, Christi Dyson, Michelle McGaha, Robin Roberts, Barry Kelley, Jennifer Jones, Cedric Hebert, Bonnie Willis, Cynthia Tanner and Arlene Tarter.

Grand Chenier -- Much land drilling is now going on in this part of the parish. Most every day a rig can be seen either being trucked in or out.

Hackberry -- On March 16, the Calcasieu Home Demonstration project demonstration will be held at Sulphur. Mesdames Nata Hebert, Ethel Little, Mamie Gray, Madie Pierce, Clara Lea Barbier and W. E. Reasoner, Sr., of the Hackberry HD Club plan to attend.



KATIE MCKAIN and Amber Trahan, 4-H members, are shown at the State Livestock Show in Baton Rouge working the mini farm.

Swine clinic to be held

There will be a swine artificial insemination clinic at the LSU Agricultural Center Swine Show Barn in Baton Rouge, Sat., Mar. 22, from 8 a.m. to noon.

Topics that will be discussed include when to breed, breeding intervals, methods, hands-on artificial insemination, boar collection, semen handling, genetic companies, and proper nutrition for breeding, gestation, and lactation. There will be no charge for the clinic. For more information contact the Cameron Parish Extension Service Office at 775-5516.

Sacred Heart registration

Registration for the Sacred Heart School of Religion year 1997-98, will take place in the church Life Center hall Mon., Mar. 17, from 4:30-7 p.m., and Tues., Mar. 18, from 3:30-5 p.m.

Textbooks must be ordered in the early spring, therefore an extra fee must be charged to late registrants, according to Stephanie Rodrigue, Religious Education Coordinator.

Historical Calendar

The calendar will feature 12 black and white photographs depicting scenes from around the Imperial Calcasieu area (Calcasieu, Cameron, Beauregard, and Allen parishes).

Each date of the month will be highlighted by an important event which took place on that date somewhere in the five-parish area at some time in the area's history.

"Volunteers are needed to help research historical sources for dates to be used on the calendar," said Mrs. Kathie Bordelon, Archivist for McNeese State University, who chairs the committee preparing the calendar. "We especially need volunteers from each parish to provide historical dates from their particular areas."

The calendar will be issued in time for Christmas gift-giving, and will be planned and printed by area researchers, printers, designers and marketers, Benoit said.

"Anyone wishing to volunteer his or her time to work on the calendar should notify Mrs. Bordelon at 475-5734 or 478-2528," Benoit said.

Reservations for calendars may be made with President Benoit at 478-5753 or at 4201 Alma Lane, Lake Charles, La. 70605.

ATTENTION FISHERMEN, SHRIMPERS, DREDGE OPERATORS AND OTHER MARINE OPERATORS

As pipeline and marine vessel operators, we need to look out for each other to prevent mishaps. Mobil Oil Company would like to point out some common sense things that we both can do to operate safely in the Gulf of Mexico.

What Mobil Oil Company is doing:
- We are periodically checking the condition of our offshore pipelines to ensure burial and structural integrity.
- We report the location of our offshore pipelines to the Corp of Engineers and Mineral Management Service for accurate recording on marine charts.
- We work with the U.S. Coast Guard to ensure that our pipelines are shown on the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's (NOAA) nautical charts.

What Marine Vessel Operators can do:
- Be aware that striking or snagging a pipeline can rupture the pipeline and endanger your vessel and crew.
- Avoid running aground - all pipelines may not be buried. Surf and Storms, among other things, can unearth pipelines.
- Check you charts for pipelines in your area of operation, especially before weighing anchor, lowering equipment, trawling, dredging, etc.

BASS CLUB MEETS

The Lemesche Bass Club held their first meeting of the year last month in Grand Chenier. New officers for 1997 were chosen: Scottie Trosclair, president; Ricky Can-ik, vice-president; Darren Rich-ard, secretary-treasurer. Trus-tees are Loston McEvers, Carl Broussard and Goose Richard.

Club meetings will be monthly on the first Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Charlie Mae's Cafe. All tournaments will be held on Sundays. Times of starting of tournaments will be legal times of wherever fishing in Cameron Parish waters. Respect all lands and go by their rules and all state laws, wherever fished. Fishing is in Cameron Parish public waters only. A club rule is no fishing west of La. 27/82 to Calcasieu Lake.

Weigh-in will be at 6 p.m. at the Creole Community northwest property. Limits of 5 fish per individual angler or 10 fish per team. All fish have to be 12 inches in length or better. It's a choose your partner team tournament. Entry fees will be charged.

Tournament dates set are: Mar. 23, April 6, May 4, June 1, July 27, and Aug. 10.

CANEY LAKE

A number of anglers from the Cameron-Creole-Grand Chenier area made a trip to Caney Lake last month.

Ladd, Zeke, Jeff, Allen and Craig Wainwright along with George, Todd and Brent Morales, and a friend, made the trip.

There is a slot limit on Caney's 8 mile lake from 15-19 inches and a limit of 8 bass.

They had 8 bass over slot limit and 12 under, but caught quite a few 3-1/2 to 4-1/2 pounders that had to be released because of the slot.

Zeke Wainwright had the largest bass of 6 pounds and he also bought the most bait and tackle. They did see a few bass in the 8 pound range while there that anglers weighed-in.

FISHING

Bass fishing was on the slow side opening of Rockefeller Refuge, but the weather didn't help either. Saltwater was limited to inland canals, as the Gulf outlets were real rough. Again, this was fair fishing.

Bass fishing along the Creole Canal saw some real large bass this past week, 5 and 6 pounders.

Many anglers are getting ready for the opening of Miami's Corporation permit fishing, as well as the three national refuges, Lacassine, Sabine, and Cameron Parish.

Boaters are urged when entering Grand Bayou boat bay at East Cove Unit, to do so with extreme caution. Wear your life jackets. In the last five months, three boating accidents near or inside the boat bay have resulted in damage and loss of property. All persons survived these accidents, but all were thrown into the water. There is a strong current passing through the boat bay and can capsize your boat. Also, be careful not to let the current get your boat against thestructures at Grand or Lambert Bayou due to strong currents which will trap your boat against the structures, possibly causing it to sink.

Grand Bayou's boat bay is 10 feet wide. Boaters approaching the boat bay entrance from opposite sides should yield the right-of-way to the boat that is going with the current. A strong tidal flow through the boat bay will not allow a boater to safely reverse his power near the opening. For boat bay opening, call 318-598-4235.

lury cinds vote

...day, March 11, the ... Parish Police Jury unanimously voted to rescind an action that it had taken a week earlier on the parish's solid waste contract.

At its March 4 regular meeting the jurors voted to terminate the contract with Waste Management, Inc. and to advertise for bids on a new contract.

The action came after jurors hearing some complaints on the collection service.

However at a special meeting held Tuesday, March 11, the jurors voted to rescind their earlier action as it was felt that a new contract might actually be higher than the present one.

Jurors decided to stick with the present contract until it expires four years from now.

Broussard wins state 4-H event

During the one-day state competition, 52 teen-agers were judged on their appearance and modeling of garments they made from 100 percent cotton fabrics.

In addition, they were also judged on their clothing construction skills, and suggestions for improvements were given by a panel of experts.

An educational program and skill workshop was attended by 103 junior 4-H Club members, who also showed off their garments during the afternoon style show.

The top three winners were Kari VanWinkle of Beauregard, Amanda Broussard of Cameron and Katrina May of Terrebonne.

Each of the winners received a sewing machine from Fashion Fabrics Sewing Machines. They also will participate in an educational tour of the Apparel Market in Dallas this summer - sponsored by the Louisiana Cotton Producers Association and the Alexandria Mall Merchants Association - where they will learn about clothing and textile careers, visit the Cotton Inc. laboratory and talk to designers.

The winning garment for 15-year-old Broussard, the daughter of Harold and Susan Broussard of Sweetlake, was a 100-percent cotton burgundy velveteen. The semi-fitted, below-the-hip, long-sleeve jacket featured an asymmetrical closure with rhinestone buttons over straight-legged pants.

Penny Maynard was the Extension Service agent who helped Broussard, who has been a 4-H clothing project member for seven years.

AT CREOLE COURT OF HONOR

Six named as Eagle Scouts

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Six members of Boy Scout Troop 202 of Creole were honored at an Eagle Scout Court of Honor at the Recreation Center last week.

New Eagle Scouts are Joshua Dupuie, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Dupuie; Jonathan Cogar, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cogar; Neil Boudreaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Boudreaux; Blake Trahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Trahan; Michael Semien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Semien; Kris Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Johnson. Dupuie and Cogar are from Grand Chenier. The others are from Creole.

Eddie Benoit, another Eagle Scout, said to become an Eagle Scout requires many years of hard work and the earning of many badges.

Former Congressman Buddy Leach gave the Eagle Charge to each scout. He recalled when he had first met those scouts at a ceremony at the Cameron Prairie Refuge several years ago when they had helped out at an event associated with the Creole Nature Trail. At the time he had promised them he would attend the ceremony when they became Eagle Scouts.

Bill Morris, scoutmaster, presented each scout his Eagle badge and presented the sponsors of these awards with certificates.

The invocation was given by Msgr. M. J. Bernard, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Creole; and the benediction was given by Rev. Joe Roundtree, pastor of the Cameron-Grand Chenier Methodist Church.

Ice storm still causing outages

Even though the recent ice storm is history for most of southwest Louisiana, some Cameron Parish residents may still be experiencing lingering side affects due to the storm's devastation.

Jeff Davis Electric Cooperative is asking its Cameron Parish customers, who may be experiencing power outages due to equipment damaged in the ice storm, to bear with them as they survey the problems and repair the damage.

Dale Landry, general manager of Jeff Davis Electric, said that transformers, insulators and other equipment were stressed to such a point during the ice storm that some of them are now malfunctioning.

"Normally this equipment is very reliable," Landry said. "But the effects of the ice storm were so devastating that some of the equipment is now giving us some trouble."

Landry said that Jeff Davis Electric is repairing the damaged equipment as soon as it is brought to their attention.

Parish is 'disaster'

Three Louisiana parishes, including Cameron, hit by January ice storms are eligible for federal aid after President Clinton declared the communities major disaster areas Tuesday.

Under the president's order, federal funds are available on a cost-sharing basis to assist local governments with repairs in Calcasieu, Cameron and Jefferson Davis parishes.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency has been conducting damage surveys of the area, which was hit by ice storms Jan. 12-17.

Cameron Parish Administrator Tina Horn said there were no appreciable damages from the ice storm in the parish since there aren't too many trees. She said that disaster designation may aid utility companies in getting aid for any damages they suffered.

Program set

Upon like payments annually, drilling operations may be further deferred for successive periods of one year each during the primary term of three years. The lease shall provide for drilling of offset wells where necessary to protect the Board's interest and shall contain the provisions against the assignment of a sublease of the lease unless approved by the School Board. The lessee shall have the right to enter into pooling or unitization agreements with respect to development of the leased premises subject to the approval of the School Board.

FISHING REPORT

Today, Mar. 20, is the first day of spring. Largemouth bass have begun nesting and spawning is about to take place. Large spawning size black drum will begin entering our estuaries as pompano and Spanish mackerel will begin arriving. Wood ducks are nesting as well as our mottled ducks are beginning to nest. Fishing fever is in the air and anglers are taking to the marshes, lakes, rivers and the Gulf of Mexico.

We've had more rain again, but Saturday was the day bass anglers hit the refuges and permit fishing areas.

For the anglers who fish the Sabine Pass, be extra careful as lots of water from the Toledo Bend area and other heavy rains runoff into the Sabine River and the current is strong and dangerous.

The cold windy weather of Saturday morning put a slower pace on bass fishing. Weather had been in the 70 degree range, but wake-up call Saturday morning was in the 40's, with a stiff wind and 30's chill factor.

Some good bass were caught but slower than we would have wanted.

TURTLE SEASON

We are in the turtle season now, a friendly reminder is to be sure you have a fishing license in your possession to pick up turtles and snapper is limited to 4 per day.

John Rogers, a professional turtle hunter from Massachusetts, has caught a half million snapper turtles in his 45 years as a professional. He's 6 ft. 5 inches, full beard and hunts snapper from his canoe. He either spots them or calls them. He has a calling device that's top secret. He gaffs them in their leathery skin of a hind leg and puts them in a heavy burlap bag.

He returns all turtles under 10 pounds and over 50 pounds for brood stock. Of the 120,000 that he' kept to sell, he sold all but one, to restaurants and food mart dealers. The one he didn't sell is a new World record and is placed in the Toronto Zoo.

The turtle weighed-in at 76.5 pounds and weighed more than his Labrador Retriever, and beat his old record by 10 pounds.

The old male snapper's neck measured 19 inches around, about the collar size of a Green Bay Packer linebacker. It's tail was 12 inches around.

HUNTING NEWS

Proposed 1997-98 resident game hunting season dates and bag limits:

Quail, Nov. 27-Feb. 28, daily 10, possession 20.

Rabbits, Oct. 4-feb. 28, daily 8, possession 16.

Squirrel, Oct. 4-Feb. 8, daily 8, possession 16.

Deer, Area 3 (Cameron Parish is in Area 3), Sept. 20-Jan. 20 (archery; Oct. 4-10 and Dec. 13-19, (muzzle loader); Oct. 11-Dec. 7 and Dec. 20-Jan. 4 (still hunt).

Modern firearm scheduled (either sex season) Basic Season Dates: oct. 11 and 12, 25 and 26, Nov. 1 and 2, 8 and 9 and 28 and 30.

The task for enforcing the ban on lead shots for waterfowl hunting has become a bit more complicated with the new non-toxic shot like bismuth and tungsten. The magnets used by game agents will detect steel, so you can't use lead, but it won't detect bismuth and tungsten either, so an agent would not really know if it's lead or not. A new device will have to be used called an electronic detection device.

Lead is not only being targeted in shotgun shells.A proposed federal ban on the use of certain size lead sinkers has been place don hold and a final decision will be known later.

Cowboys, steers on cover of phone book

More than 6,500 copies of the book have been mailed to residents and businesses in Cameron, Creole, Grand Chenier, Johnson Bayou, Carlyss and Hackberry.

The directory is the telephone book for the Cameron Telephone Company and includes listings for the communities in the distribution area. A separate section also includes listings for DeQuincy, Iowa, Lake Charles, Sweetlake, Sulphur and Vinton.

A feature in this year's directory is the "Numerical Cross Reference Section" which enables directory users to identify a name when only a phone number is available.

The directory contains a variety of features including emergency numbers, a listing of area festivals and events, information on Louisiana government officials, profiles of Calcasieu and Cameron Parish, local Zip Codes, and emergency preparedness information including a hurricane tracking chart and local evacuation routes.

Additional copies of the directory may be picked up at any location of Cameron State Bank or by calling the Cameron business office at 775-5100, the Carlyss business office at 583-2111 or the Hackberry office at 762-3101.

Wetlands workshop to be held May 3

The first annual Louisiana Coastal Wetlands workshop will be held by the Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana on May 3, in Cameron Parish. This is the Coastal Wetlands series to highlight the Chenier Plain. Participants will explore the ancient oak ridges and the vast interior marshes they protect.

They will visit the beaches of Cameron Parish, stretching 70 miles and learn what is being done to slow down erosion, also visit the Peveto Woods Sanctuaries, the only chenier sanctuary in Louisiana for migratory songbirds and butterflies, and will travel by boat to view marshes being created in the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge and Mud Lake.

Local residents and guest speakers will describe the geology of cheniers, the richness of local resources, the development of commerce and navigation, and current wetlands restoration methods applied to the coastal beaches, navigation channels and interior marshes.

The workshop is open to all interested adults. The cost is $30 and includes boat tours, land tours, speaker presentations, questions answered, lunch and afternoon reception. Call 1-800-LA-COAST for information.

61 yr. old article tells of Parish

(EDITOR'S NOTE--Port Arthur, Texas is getting ready to celebrate its centennial and the Port Arthur News has been publishing old pages of its paper. One recent such front page published in 1938 dealt with Cameron Parish, just across the Sabine River. Here is what it had to say:)

The garden of a goddess -- fabulously productive and luxuriantly beautiful -- lies at Port Arthur's door, the last bit of the "Old South" untouched by the standardizing hand of modernism.

That is Cameron Parish, just across the placid waters of the Sabine River on the Louisiana side.

Folks who have visited the area once come away with enthusiasm. In a moment of divine compassion, they will tell you the Creator brought into being the Land of Evangeline and the verdant strip of Eden running along the Gulf Coast to Chenier Le Tigre.

Although but a scant 7 miles across the lake from Port Arthur, the national leading oil refining and shipping center, this bayou country has remained for the most part inaccessible to Port Arthur people.

This picturesque spot, its residents descendants of Louisiana's pioneers, at present can be visited only by boat and few straggling roundabout roads.

A new gateway to the verdant paradise across the lake is the proposed $747,454 Lake Sabine Causeway, for which a $335,454 grant has been secured. The area across the lake is believed potentially one of the finest citrus fruit production centers in the country.

Sweeping shell and sand beaches, and excellent fishing grounds would be made accessible by a road through the area.

Those who have made the circulous trip into the Johnson Bayou area know of the acres of fertile farms. Even the swamplands are put to use as muskrat farms.

In addition, in the highlands along the Blue Buck Ridge can be grown some of the finest cotton raised in the entire southland.

The key to the area is now nearly in Port Arthur's grasp. That key is the causeway across Lake Sabine.

(EDITOR'S NOTE -- It would be approximately 20 more years before this causeway the reporter envisioned would become a reality. Two of the officials who had worked so hard to secure the bridge were Jefferson County Commissioner Louie Welch (formerly from Oak Grove in Cameron Parish) who lived in Sabine Pass, and Joy Doxey, Cameron Parish Police Jury Administrator, both now deceased, but who lived long enough to see their dream become a reality.)

Pre-enrollment appointments for Head Start

The Cameron Parish Head Start Program will accept appointments for pre-enrollment, starting April 1. It accepts children between the ages of 3-5 which also includes children with disabilities.

Parents should call 775-2910 to schedule an appointment. Parents will need to bring a certified birth certificate, social security card, up to date immunization card and proof of income. It is not necessary for children to be present at the appointment.

An Easter bingo will be held at the Johnson Bayou Recreation Center, Thurs., Mar. 20, at 6:30 p.m. Free turkeys, hams, cakes, and Easter baskets will be given away. The bingo is for Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach community residents only.

Rabies clinic set April 12

The annual Cameron Parish Rabies Clinic for dogs and cats will be held Sat., April 12. The rabies vaccination fee is $7 and includes tag and certificate.

Vaccinations will be given at the Grand Lake Multi-Purpose Building from 1-2:30 p.m.; at the Cameron Multi-Purpose Building from 1-2:30 p.m.; at the Creole Multi-Purpose Building from 3-4:30 p.m.; at the Johnson Bayou Multi-Purpose Building from 1-2:30 p.m.; at the Hackberry Multi-Purpose Building from 3-4:30 p.m. and at the Grand Chenier Recreation Center from 3-4:30 p.m.

Sanctuary renamed

The board of directors of the Baton Rouge Audubon Society voted at its March meeting to rename the bird sanctuary at Johnson Bayou the Peveto Woods Sanctuary. It was felt that this name would reflect the historic name of the area.

The system is made up of its several parts, including the Holleyman-Sheely and the Hanshaw sanctuaries.

The Peveto family was one of the first families to homestead in the Johnson Bayou area.

The sanctuaries are now located on this land. The Peveto Woods Sanctuaries are dedicated to the protection of migratory birds and butterflies.

Grant received by McNeese

McNeese State University has received a $15,000 grant from the National Marine Fisheries Service to continue its sea turtle monitoring research through the summer of 1997.

Last year, the university received a $20,000 grant to fund initial research through the Louisiana Environmental Research Center at MSU, according to Dr. Edward Proffitt, associate professor and director of the Louisiana Environmental Research Center.

"The National Marine Fisheries Services needs data from this area for its annual surveys conducted from Texas to northern Viriginia," said Proffitt. "three students work on the project which involves counting, identifying and determining size and sex of marine turtles washing up dead on southwestern Louisiana shores."

The grant will provide for the purchase of field equipment, travel expenses and tag readers. Last year, the center purchased two ATV's with trailers to conduct the Louisiana sea turtle monitoring research on the area beaches.

Projects discussed to reduce coastal losses

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Concerned Cameron and Vermilion parish residents, representatives of local drainage boards, and Police Jurors met at the Police Jury Annex in Cameron last week to support efforts to half coastal land losses each year.

The meeting was held to explain proposals to fund projects along the Golf coast under the Louisiana Coastal Wetlands Conservation and Restoration Task Force, commonly known as the Breaux-Johnston Act, authored by Senators John Breaux and J. Bennett Johnston.

Local legislators appeared in support of two projects which directly affect Cameron Parish.

One of the projects calls for the installing of 18 breakwaters at Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge at Grand Chenier at a cost of $5,832,800 which would restore and protect 46 acres.

The total project area is 140 acres and contains 92 acres of saline marsh and 48 acres of open water. There is severe shoreline erosion of 38 feet a year along the shoreline of the Gulf.

The objective of the project is to reduce the shoreline erosion by 50% and the construction of the offshore breakwaters from the most-southwestern point of the Price Lake unit and extending one mile to the east.

The other project is the Black Bayou hydrologic restoration project. It contains 25,529 acres of which 6,516 acres are fresh-intermediate marsh, 7,353 acres of brackish marsh and 11,660 acres of open water.

The area has suffered wetland loss due to hydrologic changes, including reduced freshwater flow, increased tidal fluctuations, increased salinities, high water levels, excessive water exchange, and artificial water circulation patterns.

The objective is to reduce the salt water intrusion and tidal action which is projected to cost $6,3216,800 to restore and protect 3,594 acres.

Gary Roberts presented a slide explanation of the 20 proposed projects from the Mississippi River Basin, Barataria Basin, Terrebonne Basin, Tech-Vermilion Basin, and the Calcasieu-Sabine bAsin.

Carol Clark, of the Governor's Office of Coastal Activities, explained that there is enough money to fully fund $80 million of the chosen projects on this list, and the federal task force will meet on April 24, for the final selection of the projects.

The state task force will review this list on March 26, and urges everyone to contact their congressmen to support the extending funding of the projects even further than next year. Tina Horn, Cameron Parish administrator, said the local Police Jury is already working on their list for next year.

Speaking in favor of the two Cameron Parish projects were Tina Horn, representing the Cameron Parish Police Jury; J. B. Meaux, speaking for the drainage board; Rodney Guilbeaux, a Constance Beach area resident who told about the effects of the 1991 breakwaters installed in 1991; Donald Segrara, representing the Vermilion Parish Police Jury; and Sherill Segrara, Chenier A Tigre area resident who asked for demonstration plots in the area; David Richard, representing Sabine Property Management, who also supported the Sweetlake-Willow Lake, which will be included in the project listing for next year; Scott Durham, Sweetlake Land and Oil Land Manager; and Phil Gray, La. Farm Bureau, who called for the restoration of lost land along the coast and studies to see what can be done to stop the intrusion.

Portrait Sitting Tips

- Dark backgrounds soften dark hair while light backgrounds illuminate them. The reverse is true for light hair color.
- For group shots, select at least one color in each outfit that is the same.
- Make sure young people are healthy, fed and rested.
- Match color choices. Bright clothes with bright backgrounds and pastels with softer backgrounds.

Although air bags saved 500 lives in the last year, children and infants in car seats are safer in the rear seat than they are in front passenger seats.

BASS FISHING

Opening of bass fishing in our refuges and Miami Corporation land saw a cold day turnout better than expected for most anglers. There were quie a few hundred boats on these waters, many giving up early and going in.

My son and I went into Lacassine Refuge at about 8:30 a.m. and were only fourth in line, but we saw 7 boats come out. This was at the north landing. However, at 30 minutes to sunrise, there were several hundred boats waiting to enter, some had camped out sinbe 10 p.m. the night before.

The opening of Lacassine and Sabine Refuges and the Miami Corp. lands is like opening of squirrel season in the Mamou-Eunice area. They don't even have school that day.

We had plenty of water this year, after a drought last year, when much fish and vegetation died. This year fish will be scattered and the water which is fresh will help the spawn.

There was a catch and release tournament at Lacassine Refuge with weigh-in at 12:30 p.m. opening day. The largest team stringer of 17.31 pounds won $1,116 and had an 8.03 second place large bass.

Second place team was 13.80 and local anglers Travis Broussard and Richard Duhon took third with 13.79. Quenton LeBoeuf and Darrin Thibodeaux of Creole took sixth place. The largest bass caught was 8.06. Team stringer was 3 bass live per team.

A tournament on Miami Corp. land saw smaller fish as a third team stringer of 8 bass was 7 pounds. Eleven pounds was tops. Heavy bass was 5.6.

SALTWATER REPORT

Lots of fresh water is surely hurting inland speckle trout fishing as well as bank fishing and wade fishing. March is usually the month for trophy bass, but with all the fresh water coming down from up north of us, I'm afraid the outlook is going to be tough for March and maybe April. It's still a little early for specs, still cold weather, but fishing the jetties for redfish is good. Cracked crabs are not good this time of the year along with grub jigs.

TOLEDO BEND

The Sabine River Authority reports that water levels are high on the Big Bend and grass along the shorelines which grew from the low water levels over the past 13 months has made Toledo Bend great to kick off the year.

The first eleven days of March had 11 lunkers caught. These were certified for free replicas from the Sabine River Authority.

Bass (11) weights were in order: 10.81, 10.23, 11.01, 12.12, 10.77, 10.26, 11.66, 11.0, 10.04, 12.27 and 11.0 pounds.

If you catch a bass weighing 10 pounds or more and agree to release it back alive into the reservoir, the Sabine River Authority will provide a fiberglass replica to you free. Healthy fish is a good spawner and provides brood stock for restocking programs.

Since the program started in 1993, there has been 60 pass certified for the fiberglass replicas.

The weigh-in station and marinas have the brochure on the lunker bass program with the information needed and forms to fill out. You may call Kerry Sumner with the Sabine River Authority at 318-256-4112 for more details.

BAITS

Diabetes "Alert"set

The American Diabetes Association is declaring an "Alert" mar. 25, to locate the eight million Americans with undiagnosed diabetes.

The one-day outreach program, which is held every year on the fourth Tuesday in March, seeks to identify at-risk individuals who might have diabetes, according to Extension nutritionist Dr. Beth Reames of the LSU Agricultural Center. That process involves completion of a short risk assessment quiz by participants.

Home economists with the Louisiana Cooperative Extension SErvice, the LSU Ag Center's educational branch, are providing copies of the Diabetes Association's risk assessment quiz and information about diabetes to clientele in their parishes on request -- in an effort to help reach those who have diabetes but are not yet diagnosed.

"The risk assessment quiz helps to identify those who may have diabetes," Reames says, adding, "Those at risk should contact their physicians for blood glucose screening tests."

The latest Center for Disease Control and Prevention statistics show that 340,000 in Louisiana have diabetes, but half of those don't know it.

Diabetes is the fourth leading cause of death by disease. In addition, the complications of diabetes, which include blindness, amputation, kidney disease, heart disease and stroke, are devastating, Reames says.

Theunissen to take seat 31st

The 1997 Regular Session of the Louisiana Legislature will officially get underway at noon, Mon., March 31 and in th eState Senate that means there is officially a new member. As one of the first orders of business in the State Senate, Gerald J. "Jerry" Theunissen (D-Jennings) will take his seat as the State Senator from District 25. The former state representative won a special election last fall to fill the seat vacated by the current state education superintendent Cecil Picard, but could not be officially seated until the Senate met in official session.

"My top priority is to improve education in Louisiana," Senator Theunissen, who will serve as a member of the Senate education Committee, said. "We have a tremendous opportunity in this session to change our education system and make it more effective and efficient in preparing Louisiana's children for the next millennium. I intend to do my part to make sure we do not let this opportunity pass us by."

Do You Remember?

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, March 22, 1929)
POWER FRANCHISE FOR CAMERON

At a recent meeting of the Cameron Parish Police Jury, Dedino LeBoeuf of Cameron was given a franchise which entitles him to the right of installing power plants over the entire parish of Cameron. LeBoeuf also received the right-of-way on all public highways, streets, and alleys within the parish. This grant was not issued with the prospects of an immediate step of bringing power into the parish being made.

The police jury discussed the prospects of bringing a highway from Abbeville to Pecan Island, thence to Grand Chenier, Cameron, and Port Arthur, Texas. No action was taken on the proposed road, but there appears to be bright prospects of getting the road at sometime during the future.

No action was taken on the road from Grand Chenier Island to Indian Point; also there was no move made to get state aid from the highway commission to assist in constructing a road from CAmeron to creole, thence northward to Lake Charles. This last route has been under discussion by the people of southern Cameron and Grand Lake for several years. The needs of it are obviously great; however, all proposed action has never matured.

BOY NEARLY DROWNS

Pete McCall, little son of Henry McCall, owner of the boat Margie, very nearly drowned Tuesday afternoon when he fell from the Miller wharf into the Mermentau River. He was rescued by his uncle, Captain Nunez Miller, who happened to be nearby when the accident occurred.

Captain McCall had just anchored his boat, and proceeded toward his home nearby, not noticing the presence of the child. Pete was pulled from the water by means of a close fitting, woolen cap just as he was going under the water.

(Cameron Pilot, March 26, 1964)
OYSTER SEASON

The oyster season in Calcasieu Lake will end Tuesday, March 31, after having suffered a severe setback in the harvest this year.

Rep. Alvin Dyson said this week that only about 50,000 bushels of oysters have been taken from the lake this season, a compared to 132,000 bushels last year and 80,000 the year before.

Some of the Cameron oyster houses closed early this season because of the shortage of oysters. There were large oyster houses and several smaller ones operating this year.

Mr. Dyson said he believed that there were two reasons for the decline in the oysters: 1. The lake was overfished last year and; 2. a program for transplanting oysters from polluted areas to other parts of the lake did not work out.

Final installment of Geneva's Ireland trip

(EDITOR'S NOTE - This is the third and final installment of Geneva Griffith's account of her recent visit to Ireland with a group from Northeast University of Monroe.)

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

On the last leg of our trip we witnessed what we thought was a bank holdup. As we passed through Kilkenny we saw at least four or five men brandishing shotguns outside of a bank, with an armored truck near by. Our guide explained that when large sums of money are transported, armed guards accompany the armored vehicles, since the IRA (Irish Republic Army) has raided many armored cars transporting money. I already had my camera ready in hopes of getting a scoop.

During the trip we saw groups of gypsies parked along the roads. In Ireland they are known as Travelers or Tinkers. Our guide said most Irish people feel sorry for them and give them handouts, as they felt the Tinkers have been discriminated against as have the Irish.

We also passed peat bogs where machines were digging out slabs of peat to be cut into blocks the size of large bricks to be sold for fuel. Wood in Ireland is scarce, and is not used for fuel or building, and many building are made of stone.

We visited the famous Waterford Crystal factory where there was time to do some shopping. We were not prolific shoppers on this trip because there were no bargains, since the exchange rate was very bad.

For the last three nights of our tour we were at the Mont Clare Hotel in Dublin, near the center of town and made a tour of the city.

At Trinity College we visited the massive library, one of the finest collection of manuscripts and early printed books, including the Book of Kells, which contains a Latin text of the four-gospels and richly decorated by Irish monks in the middle ages.

When we visited St. Patrick's Cathedral, founded in 1190, a group of young students were practicing on their instruments for Sunday services.

On Saturday we drove along the coast to Wicklow, called The Garden Spot of Ireland and up the 1500 feet hill to Sugarloaf mountain, the highest village of Ireland.

One of our dinners was in a quaint little inn called the Grey Door which was a converted 1700's stable.

That afternoon my roommate, Barbara Stone, and I got to meet Sarah Ferguson, the Duchess of York, at her book signing. Afterward I was determined to find the statue of Molly Malone about whom that famous ditty I had sung as a child was written.

"In Dublin's fair city, where the girls are so pretty, I first set my eyes on sweet Molly Malone. she wheeled her wheelbarrow, through streets broad and narrow, crying cockle and mussels alive, alive o-crying cockles and mussels, alive, alive, oh."

I finally found it on Grafton Street, Dublin, after asking numerous people on the street if they knew where it was. When I finally found it I had to clean all sorts of litter away from it to get my picture.

One of my purchases was a gold bracelet with the Claddagh emblem on it. The design has been in existence since the 17th century and has been traced back to the old fishing village on Galway Bay with that name. The design shows two hands holding a heart crowned, the theme suggesting "Let Love and Friendship Reign." To this day the Claddagh symbol is used as a wedding ring.

Because of its historical origins and romantic appeal the popularity of this ring has increased in recent times.

Two of our group went up to Northern Ireland to Banbridge for a day on the Ulster busline to visit a college chum. They reported that they saw no trouble or violence, or any evidence of any. Some of us were concerned for them.

Our farewell gala dinner was an irish banquet and entertainment at the Abbey Tavern, part of which dates back to the 15th century, amid the picturesque scenery of mountains and sea with the lovely fishing harbour and jewel-like islands of Lamby and Ireland's Eye below. It was built for the local monks as a seminary.

We were entertained by the world-famous Abbey Tavern Singers and musicians. I was thoroughly intrigued with the typically Irish drum called the Irish Codhran played by one of the musicians.

Efforts told to save farms, small business

Senator Mary L. Landrieu recently joined Senate John Breaux (D-LA), Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott (R-MS), Assistant Majority Leader Don Nickles (R-OK) and a bipartisan group of other Senators in unveiling legislation designed to protect family farms and small businesses from burdensome federal tax policies.

The State Tax Relief for the American Family Act would increase the estate tax exemption from $600,000 to $1 million and allow more farmers and small business owners to pass to their children the family businesses they have worked hard to build.

The $600,000 threshold has been the standard for the estate tax since 1987 and reaches as high as 55 percent of an estate's value. Therefore, as a practical matter, more estates are being subject to the tax each year as inflation takes its toll on the value of estates. Had that level been indexed to rise with inflation, the value at which estates would be begin to be taxed would be $828,110.70 this year (according to the Congressional Budget Office). This bill would restore fairness to the tax and give more relief to those who really need it. In fact, under the current system, the average Louisiana farm would be subject to the estate tax. Under the new law, the average Louisiana farm would be exempt.

The Estate Tax Relief for the American Family Act, which is the first bipartisan tax relief bill of the 105th Congress, also would provide special relief for closely-held family businesses. It would allow estate-tax free transfers of up to $1.6 million in small business assets to qualified family members, and a 50 percent exclusion for $8.5 million in assets above that threshold, as long as the heirs continue to operate the business.

Dear Local Merchant,
Number 9 Reason why you should increase your advertising. . .

9. Advertising is "news" about products and services. Most shoppers look for this kind of news in the pages of the community newspaper. In plush times, retailers often experiment with other media. But when the going gets tough, they concentrate their efforts in the newspaper because it provides an immediate payoff at the cash register.

Horse Salve Eases Arthritis Pain

LOUISVILLE, KY -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, has now been approved by government researchers for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx®. ARTH-Rx comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1996 PGC

The Cameron Parish Head Start Program is a comprehensive child development program designed to meet the needs of the individual child. Development socially, physically, and mentally of the child is the design of the program.

The Cameron Parish Head Start Program is accepting appointment for pre-enrollment, starting April 1, for children between the ages of 3-5, including children with disabilities.

Parents need to call 775-2910 for an appointment. At the time of the appointment the parents will need to bring a certified birth certificate, social security card, up to date immunization card and a proof of income. It is not necessary for the child to be present at the appointment.

AT ANY P[illegible] GULF OF MEXICO

Ca[illegible]rophic hurricane possible every 400 years

Based on core samples studied by LSU Professor Kam-biu Liu, the probability of a catastrophic hurricane (category 4 and 5) striking any place on the northern Gulf of Mexico coast is once in an average of 400 years.

Liu, professor of geography and anthropology at Louisiana State University, is organizer of who special sessions on the Ecological and Geomorphic Impacts of Hurricanes to be held during the annual meeting of the Association of American Geographers in Fort Worth, Tex., April 1-5.

The cycle of severe hurricanes in recent years has led to a growing concern about the impact of hurricanes on large coastal cities. "insurance companies, which set their rates based on probability, are getting nervous because of multiple strikes by catastrophic hurricanes starting with Hugo, then Andrew and Opal," Liu said.

"The amount of property damage has skyrocketed because of the increased numbers of intense hurricanes and the rapid development of coastal areas. There is also a growing concern about the effects of global warming: Will it increase the intensity and frequency of hurricanes?" Liu said.

Liu turned to sediments in lakes and marshes to track the occurrence of major hurricanes in the past several thousand years. Modern records exist for only the past 120 years, which does not provide enough evidence to make reliable predictions, he said.

Liu's recent research has been at Western Lake, near Grayton Beach, Fla. Core samples there reveal a 5,000-year history of hurricanes at that site. He found "at least eight catastrophic hurricane strikes in the past 3,400 years." He also discovered that 3,400 years ago "there was a great change in the environmental conditions that seemed to have altered the activities of the Gulf Coast hurricanes," he said.

Liu is also studying core samples from the marshes along the Atchafalaya Bay in Louisiana. "Hurricane Andrew made a direct hit on Morgan City. We are trying to determine how many severe hurricanes like Andrew struck coastal Louisiana in the last 1,000 years. In Louisiana, we have reason to be concerned about the probability of a category 5 hurricane hitting New Orleans," he said.

Litter problem to be challenged here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has declared war on the parish litter problem and will adopt an ordinance on the problem at its May 6, meeting.

Jury President Brent Nunez said that the parish is going after the litterers in earnest. He cautioned the constables and justices of the peace to enforce the law. He spoke at a meeting of parish constables and justices of the peace were invited.

The proposed ordinance was reviewed. It will provide for a $100 fine for first offense, $250 for second, and $500 for third offense, plus the cleaning up of 500 feet of both sides of a parish road.

Litter signs will be posted throughout the parish warning motorists of the consequences of not obeying the ordinance.

Nunez said, "Our goal is to clean up our parish." According to the proposed ordinance "no person shall throw, drop, deposit, discard, permit the intentional ejection, emission, or escape of, or otherwise dispose of litter upon any public place in the parish, private property, but not limited to any public highway, public right-of-way, public park, beach, campground, forestland, recreational area, trailer park, highway, road, street or alley."

Parish schools are given report card

State Superintendent of Education Cecil J. Picard announced that Progress Profiles (School Report Cards) which offer detailed school performance information on nearly 1,400 La. public schools have been received by school districts for distribution to parents of public school children statewide.

This year's Report Cards provide parents, school staff and eduacation policy makers with information on how schools are performing in nine aareas (performance indicators) that affect student learning: class size; faculty with a master's degree or higher; student attendance, suspensions and expulsions; criterion-referenced test (CRT) and norm-referenced test (NRT) results; student average composite scores on the American College Test (ACT); and the percentage of high school graduates who take remedial courses as first-time college freshmen.

The Report Cards reflect school performance during 1995-96, the most recent year for which complete, fully verified data are available.

The profile shows that Cameron Parish has seven schools with 2,066 students and 184 faculty members; 47.3% of the faculty has a master's degree or higher.

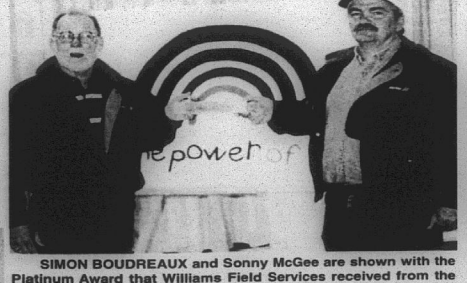
Student attendance was reflected at 94.2%.

Students suspended numbered 80, or 3.5%, and number expelled was four, or 0.2%.

Rabies clinic

The annual Cameron Parish Rabies Clinic for dogs and cats will be held Sat., April 12. The rabies vaccination fee is $7 and includes tag and certificate.

Vaccinations will be given at the Grand Lake Multi-Purpose Building from 1-2:30 p.m.; at the Cameron Multi-Purpose Building from 1-2:30 p.m.; at the Creole Multi-Purpose Building from 3-4:30 p.m.; at the Johnson Bayou Multi-Purpose Building from 1-2:30 p.m.; at the Hackberry Multi-Purpose Building from 3-4:30 p.m. and at the Grand Chenier Recreation Center from 3-4:30 p.m.



SIMON BOUDREAUX and Sonny McGee are shown with the Platinum Award that Williams Field Services received from the United Way.

Williams firm given United Way citation

Simon Boudreaux and Sonny McGee, employees of Williams Field Services in Johnson Bayou, are shown with their Platinum award from United Way of Southwest Louisiana. The award is given to companies when 75% of the employees give one hour's pay per month for one year.

The award was presented at the March 19 annual meeting for the United Way of Southwest La. At this meeting this year's campaign theme,THE POWER OF U, was also unveiled and can be seen in the photo.

The United Way of America recognized The Williams Companies with one of its highest national awards, the Summit, which recognizes companies that achieve distinction in four specific categories. Williams was honored for its excellence in the Employee Campaign and Corporate Contributions categories. In 1966 Williams made cash contributions of more than $6 million to charities nationwide with one third of that amount - $2 million - coming from the company's dollar-for-dollar match of employees' contributions. Locally, Williams Field Services and their employees contributed $16,310.

"Everyone in Williams should be excited and proud of what we accomplished," says Jim Herbster, Williams senior vice president of administration. "This truly is a Team Williams award since the information and data submitted for the judging was from all Williams locations and based on the support from all Williams employees and retirees. We hope all the employees will keep up the good work in years to come."

It will be there, not only because it is a favorite breakfast food, but also because it features large pictures of the 1996 South Cameron Tarpons Class AA State finalist football team on the front of the box and the Tarpon cheerleaders, pep squad and Sidekicks on the back. Also, special recognition to Head Coach Parry LaLande who received the "Coach of Southwest Louisiana" award.

The commemorative edition of the Home Town Stars Golden flakes of corn cereal has just been released by the Carlisle Cereal Company and is on sale at Pat Brown's "Brown Supermarket" in Cameron.

Brown said he was attending a food convention in Texas last year and was approached by the Carlisle Cereal Company about featuring the Tarpons on a cereal for sale in his store.

Brown said the company likes to feature hometown stars on its cereal boxes and had heard about the Tarpons' record 10-4 win in 1996 and the state runnerup placing for the year.

Brown said that the box sells for $4.99 and is in black and white instead of color because if color shots were used it would run up the price of each box to around $10 since color printing costs so much more to process.

The local grocery store features a large pyramid of cereal boxes on one of the aisles and the Associated Grocery store, reminding customers to purchase a box for a keepsake.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

There appears to be confusion and misinterpretation among enforcement officers and the public concerning the new aggregate reef fish bag limit. The 20 fish aggregate bag limit applies to reef fish listed in the reef management plan that are not already subject to a bag limit, and it is in addition to the other species or aggregate bag limits. A recreational fisherman could potentially catch all of the following reef fish on one trip:

gGrouper (other than jewfish), 5; snappers (other than red, Vermilion and lane), 10; red snapper, 5; greater amberjack, 1; aggregate bag limit species, 20 - total 41.

On qualified charter vessels and head boats that are out over 24 hours, a two day bag limit is allowed on all the above fish.

Talking on limits, Louisiana law provides for possession of game animals by a person other than the harvester of the game, as long as a properly executed tag is secured to or accompanies said game. However, no provisions exist for the possession or transport of recreationally caught fish, one day's limit or trip limit, as applicable, being the maximum number of fish that one licensed angler can legally possess.

It would be fair, convenient and not contrary to conservation if a licensed angler could possess or transport fish legally harvested and properly tagged by fishing partners or other family members, without being in violation of the law.

Anglers should be able to have in possession recreationally caught fish and transport just like hunters can transport their buddy's kill, they should be able to transport their buddy's fish catch.

FISHING REPORTS

Good catches of nice bass reported this past weekend. Numbers were not high, but good bass caught. Goose Richard had an 8-11 bass in Lacassine Refuge and reports of several 5 to 7 pounders caught on the refuge.

Good catches reported in the Hackberry area as well as Sabine Refuge.

Miami Corporation permit lands have good areas that produce nice bass, while other areas don't. A few white perch and bream caught, but again, fair.

Our weather has played a greater role in the daily activity of largemouth bass than any other factor. When weather conditions are stable or gradually changing, bass go through a routine of feeding and resting that is most of the time predictable. Fronts see bass feeding heavily before and good fishing will take place for several hours, but once the front arrives, they eat very little until a day or two after the system passes. Sometimes it takes lighter line and smaller lures. With warmer weather and as it gets hotter and ponds warm up, bass become sluggish. In spring, warm winds blowing the same direction for several days can pile up warm water on the downwind side, and this area will hold more bass than other areas. Where muddy water meets clean water is a good place and bass avoid the bright sunlight but can feed in the clear water. Winds too strong in shallow waters push bass towards deeper waters.

NEWS TALK

Why should you care about farmland? Because it's a Haven For Wildlife. More than half of America's farms and ranches provide shelter for migratory birds, deer, fish and other wildlife. Sadly, the agricultural land that's home to so much of our nation's wildlife is in trouble. In th face of rapid population growth and endless suburban houses being built, our farmland is disappearing at the rate of two acres every minute of every day. protecting our farms, protects our wildlife.

Remember? By Keith Hambrick

1929 Literary Drive

(Lake Charles American Press April 5, 1929)

CAMERON'S DRIVE AGAINST ILLITERACY

Superintendent Thomas W. McCall has ordered 225 books to be used in the drive against illiteracy in the parish of Cameron. The number is somewhat smaller than that ordered by other parishes, but, in proportion to the total population and especially the total illiterates, it is believed that this parish is well up in the list in the drive against illiteracy. According to the census of 1920 there were about 650 inhabitants of Cameron unable to read and write; and, with a present enrollment of 225, this parish has about a third of the number enrolled.

Due to the difficulty in reaching isolated regions of the parish, Supt. McCall has not been able to get his estimates as early as some who are not so handicapped, but the work has been going on for several weeks, and as soon as the books are received the classes will be started.

Of the 225 who have shown interest in the classes, approximately half are whites. The whites of several sections have shown that they are in earnest, and especially is this true of the smaller communities of the parish.

The negroes of Cameron, like all other parishes, appear to be over anxious to learn to read and write; and in proportion to the total of each race, the negroes are turning out a larger percentage for the proposed schools.

Fairly large classes of whites will be organized in Black Bayou, Little Chenier, and Grand Lake, while Creole, Grand Chenier, and Cameron, three of the largest sections of the parish, are not organizing classes. There will be several negro classes organized.

As shown by the 1920 census, the percentage of illiteracy in Cameron was very high, but it is the belief of Supt. McCall that the number will be considerably reduced in the next census.

(Cameron Pilot, April 2, 1964)

FIRES, FIRES, FIRES

Fires destroyed two homes and a garage in Cameron Parish last week. The Ozeme Savoie home, east of Cameron; the Walter Wainwright home at Grand Chenier; and the Nelson Faulk garage at Grand Lake were all total losses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright were awakened Monday after midnight, March 23, by the fire. They and their children escaped without injury but they were unable to put out the fire. The family, who has received aid from many folks in the community, have moved into a rent house near their former house.

Thursday morning at about 7:30, the Ozeme Savoie home between Cameron and Creole fire departments fought the blaze and were able to put out the fire before the house was completely burned. However, the building was gutted and the Savoies are tearing what remains down and will rebuild.

The fire trucks kept the Carl Reons' home next door from catching on fire. The Savoies are staying with Reons, their daughter and son-in-law, while their home.

Friday morning the garage and washhouse at the Nelson Faulk home in Grand Lake burned down destroying a lawn mower, outboard motor, shrimp nets and other items. Neighbors helped the Faulks to keep the blaze from spreading to their home.

CAMERON AND THE ALASKAN EARTHQUAKE
by Jerry Wise

Although there were some boats damaged and high waves on the bayous "down east" around Thibodaux and Houma, Cameron apparently weren't too affected by the action set off in the Gulf by the Alaskan earthquake.

The sheriff's department reported that waves came up on the beach at Holly Beach higher than usual and that there were swells on the ship channel from three to four feet high, but there were no reports of damage.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Creole--Although Easter Day was beautifully clear with bright sunshine, the Easter "paraders" and church-goers felt a nip in the morning air cold enough to cause them to wear coats, sweaters, and jackets over their light, summery Easter frocks. Easter egg hunts for the young'uns seemed to be taking place at just about every second home here, furnishing lots of enjoyment not only for the youngsters, but also for the adults who viewed the hunts from the sidelines.

Cameron--Congratulations to Dot Sells Bourgeosis who is owner of Dot's Flower & Gift Shop. Dot had a busy day Saturday and reported that she hoped her supply of flowers and gifts would last thru the day.

Rt. 1, Cameron--Mrs. Ruby Nettles and Andrea spent the day in Port Arthur Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Murphy.

Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou--Woe to us and the air ships. After an earth-shaking rumble Thursday, everyone was craning their necks to see where the explosive sound came from. It was reported over the wires that a plane in our vicinity has passed the sound barrier and the explosion was a sonic boom.

Black News - AUDREY TEAM--Receiving individual trophies for their recent participation in the allstar basketball game at Lake Charles were Audrey Memorial players Jimmy Lasalle, James Savoy, Walter Bartie, Gary Jones, Oscar Harmon and Douglas Dozier.

Grand Lake-Sweetlake--Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poole and son of Fellows, Calf. are here to visit their family, the George Nunezs and Daniel Pooles. The George Nunezs also had Jerry Paul Nunez and family for a 2-week visit recently. They are also from Fellows, Calf.

Grand Chenier-Following the cold weather, Easter Sunday turned out to be a beautiful day after all and there were many family gatherings up and down the Chenier. Chenier folks want to wish H. A. Miller happy birthday on his 85th birthday, March 30. He is the oldest man of the Chenier and is still very active, doing his own garden work and still tending to his cattle.

Wetlands workshop to be held May 3

The first annual Louisiana Coastal Wetlands workshop will be held by the Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana on May 3, in Cameron Parish. This is the Coastal Wetlands series to highlight the Chenier Plain. Participants will explore the ancient oak ridges and the vast interior marshes they protect.

They will visit the beaches of Cameron Parish, stretching 70 miles and learn what is being done to slow down erosion, also visit the Peveto Woods Sanctuaries, the only chenier sanctuary in Louisiana for migratory songbirds and butterflies, and will travel by boat to view marshes being created in the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge and Mud Lake.

Local residents and guest speakers will describe the geology of cheniers, the richness of local resources, the development of commerce and navigation, and current wetlands restoration methods applied to the coastal beaches, navigation channels and interior marshes.

The workshop is open to all interested adults. The cost is $30 and includes boat tours, land tours, speaker presentations, questions answered, lunch and afternoon reception. Call 1-800-LA-COAST for information.

Beware, the demon sun. Never leave the house without a hat, or sunscreen, which should be applied at least 20 minutes before going outside.

First, there's one gray hair. How cute. Then, two. Hmmmmm. Then, a small group. What's going on here? Next thing you know, the little devils are trying to take over. That's Life.

So, you're maturing. Well, good for you. Mature people are wise, and wise people plan for retirement as early as possible. The really wise ones might even seek a little help from an insurance professional who has the tools needed to help you create a long-term financial plan. Who can set up an annuity, talk about the right level of life insurance, and help with a 401(k). With a sensible plan for the future, somehow a little gray isn't so tough to take.

That's New York Life.

Wetlands projects planned

This year residents of coastal Louisiana will see significant progress in wetlands protection and restoration work under the Coastal Wetlands Planning, Protection and Restoration Act of 1990, commonly called the Breaux Act.

The Louisiana Coastal Wetlands Conservation and Restoration Task Force, consisting of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Environmental Protection Agency, Natural Resources Conservation Service, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, National Marine Fisheries Service, and the state, will further the coastal effort in 1997 with a schedule calling for 18 new construction starts to protect or restore almost 21,237 acres of critical coastal wetlands.

Last year, the task force shifted more focus to studies of large-scale projects such as water and sediment diversion, and started construction on eight new projects benefitting 3,530 acres of wetlands. In addition, two large-scale water diversion projects are currently being planned--one for a site near Myrtle Grove in Plaquemines Parish and the other at Donaldsonville--which will divert fresh water and sediment into deprived marsh areas. Construction on these projects could begin in early 1998.

Projects completed in 1996 include the Timbalier Island vegetative plantings which created or will protect 169 acres of vital coastal wetlands; one project within the Bayou Sauvage Refuge restoration impoundment, creating or protecting 1,550 acres of freshwater marsh near Chalmette; and the East Mud Lake project in Cameron Parish, which involved 28 miles of vegetative plantings around the lake shoreline to control erosion, and flapgate structures to help prevent saltwater intrusion. Together, the actions protect 1,520 acres of brackish marsh.

In addition, a second project was started last year in the Bayou Sauvage National Wildlife Refuge which will create or protect another 1,300 acres of freshwater marsh wetlands, enhancing the populations of migratory songbirds and waterfowl.

Louisiana has lost up to 40 square miles of marsh a year for several decades, or 80 percent of the nation's annual coastal wetland loss. If the current rate of loss--estimated at 25-35 square miles a year--is not slowed, by the year 2040 an additional 80,000 acres of wetlands will disappear, and the Louisiana shoreline will advance inland as much as 33 miles in some areas.

Gulf well blows out

At approximately 1 a.m. Tuesday, April 1, an oil and natural gas production platform located approximately 100 miles South-Southeast of Cameron, experienced a wellhead blow-out and fire.

The platform, owned by American Exploration, evacuated all 51 persons from the platform safely to the offshore supply vessel "Trinity Seal". No injuries or fatalities reported.

An oil sheen measuring 200 feet wide by the quarter mile long was reported. An amount of oil in the water has not yet been determined.

Fire fighting efforts were carried out from the vessels SUB SEA MAYO and ENSCO COASTER, which sprayed 7,200 tons of water per hour on the fire. A response team from International Well Control was on the scene to bring the blowout under control as quickly and safely as possible. The source of the fire is natural gas and no oil is leaking from the platform.

The first pencils with graphite were made in England in the mid-1500s.

The Jury proclaimed April as "Child Abuse Prevention Month." The program in Cameron Parish is administered by the Cameron Parish Council on Aging.

The Jury honored the request from Pat Nunez from Grand Chenier to be put back on the road crew as a B-operator from the mechanic position he held.

LEON RICHARD, 94, of Little Chenier checks his traps on the last day of the season this year. Richard has been trapping since he was 12. (Morning Advocate photo by Bradley Bigley).

Article features Cameron trappers

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The following article is reprinted from the April 6, issue of the Baton Rouge Sunday Advo-cate which also published a front page article on nutrias and trapping).

By BRUCE SCHULTZ

Little Chenier -- It's the last day for Leon Richard's 1996-97 trapping season, his 82nd in a row.

High water has forced him to pare back his trapline to only 10 traps, all st along a levee. The first nine are empty as Richard, 94, gazes at the water's edge from his tractor.

He gets excited as he peers at the end of the line, where he sees something.

"A nutria! Hot damn. That's my last trap," he says in a Cajun accent as thick as gumbo mud.

Richard, wearing white boots, wades out into the water in quick steps. He quickly dispatches the nutria with a whack on the head from a club.

In his back yard, he skins the nutria in just a few minutes, with strokes of a pocketknife that demonstrate he's done this thousands of times before.

"I've been trapping since I was 12 years old," he said, gesturing with hands that have a natural curl from gripping his Model 12 shotgun, tractor steering wheel and other tools of his life in the marsh.

Inside, his wife, Olite Richard, 89, is making coffee. When her husband was trapping on a larger scale, she helped skin the animals.

Richard stretches the skin on a board and uses a scraper to sheer flesh from the hide. Since this is the last day he'll be trapping this year, Richard will sell the hide green, without drying or stretching it.

It's also the last day for fur buyer Wendell Nunez of Abbeville to make his round on a circuit of trappers who will sell their skins to him.

Nunez regards Richard's fur-handling abilities as the best.

"He's an artist with fur," Nunez says. "He was once the biggest trapper in Cameron Parish, and he's something of a legend over there."

Nunez, a fur buyer in Vermilion Parish, started buying furs at age 12.

"My father went wherever the muskrat were," he said. "I love the fur business. It's in my blood. The fur business has charisma. It's unlike anything else."

His small shop in Perry was used by his father before him as a location to buy furs from area trappers.

"We've been in operation since the 1940's to the present without missing a year," Nunez said.

Nunez has dealt with the same trappers for so long that he can tell who caught which hides just by looking at the sub-

Grand Lake School to have program 12th

This year, the Grand Lake PTA is trying something new to raise money for the students. They organized a "mystery dinner and auction" for this Saturday, April 12, at 7 p.m. with tickets at $10 a person. Tickets are on sale in the office. Babysitting services will be available for school age children during the dinner. Children must be attending kindergarten this year or older.

The "mystery" is to figure out "who killed David Duhon". The talented acting crew will consist of students playing the parts of suspected faculty members. They will provide you with a re-enactment of events, clues and a delicious crawfish etouffee dinner. All you have to do is enjoy the entertainment, eat, and take you guess at who the guilty party is.

There will be items on display for both silent and verbal auction: bass fishing trips at the Marshland Club, dinner for two-four at several Lake Charles restaurants, haircuts, swimming parties, a dump truck full of dirt, babysitting services, desserts, delivered home-cooked meals; with all proceeds going to Grand Lake School. If you would like a complete list of auction items, one is available at the school office.

The money will be used to upgrade computers, buy VCRs to aid in classroom education, send different organizations to meets and competitions, improve playground equipment.

Jobless rate is down here

The unemployment rate in Cameron parish for February was 5.5 percent, a big improvement over the 8.7 rate for February, 1996. It was also a drop from 6.5 percent for this January.

Coastal workshop set here May 3

The Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana will hold its first coastal wetlands workshop to highlight the historic "chenier plain" in southwest Louisiana. The all-day workshop at Holly Beach May 3, will show what's currently being done to restore interior wetlands and coastal beaches.

Participants in this first annual Louisiana Coastal Wetlands Workshop will explore the beaches of west Cameron Parish to find out what's being done to slow down beach erosion. Boat and land tours will visit ancient oak ridges and the vast interior marshes they protect. Participants will see first-hand marshes being created in the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge and Mud Lake. They'll tour the Baton Rouge Audubon Migratory Bird and Butterfly Sanctuary, the only coastal chenier sanctuary in Louisiana for migratory songbirds and butterflies.

Local residents and guest speakers will describe the geology of cheniers, the richness of local resources, the development of commerce and navigation, and current wetlands restoration methods applied to coastal beaches, navigation channels, and interior marshes.

The workshop is open to all interested adults on a first paid basis. The workshop begins at Mecom Ranch Field Office, Holly beach, at 8 a.m. and ends at 6 p.m. The cost is $30 and includes all tours, speaker presentations, lunch and an afternoon reception.

For detailed brochure, registration information or questions, call toll free: Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana, 1-888-522-6278.

Dr. Paul Coreil, La. Coop-erative Extension Service, will speak on the geologic history of the Chenier Plain and Clay Midkiff will speak on wetlands restoration.

There will be three field trips. One will be to the coastal cheniers, beaches and Audubon Sanctuary and will be led by Rodney Guilbeaux, Cameron Chamber of Commerce; Charles Fryling, Baton Rouge Audubon Society; and Ralph Libersat, La. Dept. of Natural Resources.

A field trip to the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge will be led by Will Nidecker, refuge manager.

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the January 21, 1997, regular meeting as written.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried to authorize President Edwin Quinn to sign the agreement for Site 3 planting on Calcasieu lake shoreline by Gulf Coast Soil Conservation Service, to be paid for by Cameron Parish gravity Drainage District No. 3. It was greed that the Board will abandon the Primeaux Lateral permit because landowners will not give the necessary rights-of-way. Engineer Lonnie Harper stated that he will withdraw the Primeaux Lateral permit so that the mitigation site will be opened up.

Mr. Ed Smith was recognized and reported that he currently has water standing in his yard to the North of his home, and has had this situation present since the end of October of last year. He asked for some assistance with this problem, and it was acknowledged.

Glenn Harris presented the Water Management Report for the Cameron-Creole Watershed, and stated that gates should be gates remain open because we are expecting more rain. He reported that the plugs are complete, and as of January 28, CS-17 is operational. He also stated that the boat bay is open at Grand Bayou, and they don't anticipate closing it in the foreseeable future. Mr. Harris stated that U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service and Miami Corporation split the cost of repairing the Christmas tree fence offshore in the Johnson Bayou area.

A motion was made by E. J. Mr. Brent Nunez requested that the additional two miles be added to the project in the big pasture area. He stated that if the work is not done now, it will have to be repermitted in the future and will cost around $40,000 instead of the $16,000 that Mr. Ancelet has quoted to do the additional two miles now since the equipment is already in the area. Mr. Nunez stated that N. American Land & Oil has agreed to pay for all of the mitigation required for this project.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by George Kelley, and carried to approve the additional two miles of clean-out of Lateral 25 in the Big Pasture Area.

Considerable discussion took place regarding removal of plugs to aid in marsh drainage.

Mr. Quinn then signed five copies of the revised Memorandum of Understanding between the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, the Louisiana Department of Natural Resources, and the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 and 4, as approved at the November 1996 meeting.

Mr. Brent Nunez then asked for the Board's approval of the appointment of a Parish-wide Advisory Drainage Board. Some discussion took place regarding what function this advisory board would have, and if the benefits outweigh the negatives. Mr. Scott Henry suggested a quarterly meeting be held for all parish drainage boards and the Police Jury.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried that $800/month will be paid to Mr. James LeBoeuf for Labor, as of this month, instead of being partially paid to Mr. Hans E. Petersen and the remainder paid to James LeBoeuf.

Remember When...

by Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American press, April 12, 1929)
GRAND CHENIER EASTER

Easter Sunday, with an egg hunt, box dinner, and boat races, was a big day at Grand Chenier. Under the management of the Grand Chenier Catholic Altar Society, the pleasure-seekers were well rewarded. After church services by the several churches were over, about 200 men, women and children of Grand Chenier, Big Pecan, Oak Grove, Creole and Cameron congregated about McCall's cafe and awaited the auctioning of boxes which contained the Easter dinners. Thirty-six bidders bought boxes. As a result of the sale, $105.05 was collected.

Admission to the egg hunt following was 10 cents. Children were taken to the field of Captain J. N. Miller, and the grown-ups were turned into the vacant lot of Mrs. Alcide Miller. Prizes were offered to the finder of the largest number of eggs.

Steve Canik found 33 eggs. The winner of the prize offered to the children was Annie Mae Richard.

J. B. Jones and Jimmy Doxey furnished their outboard motor boats for races. It appeared among the spectators, in general, that Doxey's boat had the edge on the boat owned by Jones.

NEW CHURCH AT J. B. PLANNED
(By Mrs. Walter Stanley)

The Rev. Richard Donahue, M.S., announced Sunday that two substantial gifts have been received for the building fund of the proposed new Catholic Church at Johnson Bayou.

Most Rev. Maurice Schexnayder, Bishop of Lafayette, donated $5,000 when the plan was first formulated.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Domatti of Port Arthur made a donation of $5,000 last week.

The land on which the small present church is built on was donated by the late Mrs. Agnes Pavell, mother of Mrs. Domatti.

The preliminary plan for Our Lady of the Assumption Chapel calls for a brick structure with a seating capacity of 120.

The cost of the church proper is estimated at $27,000. With the proposed classroom built at the same time, the building would cost $35,000.

MYERS TRANSFERRED

Clifford Myers, Cameron Parish Associate County agent for the past five years, is being transferred to Crowley to work in a similar position in Acadia Parish effective May 1. He will be working primarily with 4-H clubs there as he has been here.

HACKBERRY GAS DISTRICT

The efforts of Ward 6 Police Juror C. A. Riggs to have a natural gas utility district created for the town of Hackberry were temporarily foiled by other jurors and oil company representatives Monday, but Riggs said he would bring the matter up again at the May or June meeting.

Riggs said the intentions of the district, if created, would be to build its own gas distribution system and buy natural gas for distribution to Hackberry homes and businesses. He said the town has been unable to get any utility company to install a gas system.

At the hearing, one Hackberry resident stated that taxes set by the district might stop expansion of the oil industry in the Hackberry area and hurt employment there.

THIS WEEK
By JERRY WISE

The annual Meaux cattle drive from the Creole-Oak Grove area up to the Gillis area in Calcasieu parish got underway Tuesday morning with some 400 or 500 head of cattle being driven to summer pastures. One of the most interesting parts of the drive will be the swimming of the Calcasieu River Thursday.

We heard reports this week of several parish persons being insulted by transient magazine peddlers when they refused to buy magazine subscriptions. We'd like to remind parish folks of two things:

1. Such out-of-parish peddlers are required to have a permit from the sheriff's department to sell--if they don't, do not buy.

2. Many of the local school organizations sell magazines to raise funds for their projects. You would be dealing with someone you know and keeping commissions at home if you help such school groups.

(Note from Keith Hambrick: The above reminds me of when I was little and a group of male one-legged magazine salesmen came to Westlake. They all went around telling everyone that they were in a contest and the winner would receive an artificial leg. Naturally everyone bought subscriptions from each one to help him win. As it turned out, however, my parents did not receive one magazine they ordered.)

tle differences in skinning and stretching. He said he once was called to testify in court for the identification of one trapper's stolen furs.

Nunez remembers 1982 as the peak of the fur business. Nutria hides were selling for $13 to $14, and otters brought $60 to $70. Trappers seeking to take advantage of the high prices sold more furs, and a glut caused prices to plummet in the mid-1980's, Nunez said.

"People lost fortunes in the fur business. It sort of sent us into what I call the dark ages of the fur business," he recalled. "We paid for those high-priced years."

Until 1994, he said ,the fur business was dismal, and little if any profit could be realized for several years.

"I opened off thousands of furs and put them in dumpsters because the shipping cost more than what I could get for them," he said.

Overabundance of furs in the 1950's caused a major depression in the industry too, he said.

By the 1960's, trappers secured laws establishing the nutria as a protected species from harvesting only during the fur season, usually November until mid-March.

Now, prices have stabilized, he said. Nutria bring roughly $6, muskrat $2.50, raccoons go for $10, minks $10-14 and otters for $25.

"The nutria is the backbone of the industry," Nunez said.

Nunez has trapped enough himself to know that it's a not an easy way to make money.

"This is a rough business. You have to fight mosquitoes, snakes, cold weather, hot weather," he said.

Fur buyer Darrell "Fats" Dupont of Little Chenier says he buys furs from 24 trappers, and they depend heavily on trapping to supplement their incomes.

Dupont doubts that Louisiana voters or lawmakers would approve a trapping ban.

"Anything's possible, but I think the people of Louisiana would rise up against it," Dupont said. "The Legislature realizes the nutria is a threat to wetlands."

He said trapping is the best solution.

"If you poison, what else would you poison?" he asked. "And why poison a renewable resource?"

Dupont said the anti-fur movement appears to be losing its momentum.

"People want to wear what they want to wear, and they're tired of people telling them what to wear," Dupont said.

Jury appointments

Dinah Landry was appointed to Ambulance Service Dist. 2 to replace Myles Hebert who resigned.

A liquor permit was granted to Orrie Canik for the Kajun Food Store at Oak Grove.

The jury also created an economic inducement committee to seek new businesses for the parish. Jury President Brent Nunez and Jurors Malcolm Savoie and George LeBouef were named to the committee.

Texas Meridian Resources Exploration was granted to permit to drill for oil and gas in Section 26-14-11.

APRIL'S HERE

April is the month we should start seeing broods of summer mallards that have begun to hatch in our marshes. The purple gallinules start showing up from South and Central America and start nesting.

The alligator snapping turtles will start laying their eggs as well as what we call yellow bellies. We'll also hear the male alligator bellow in our marshes, looking for a mate. We'll see the commercial menhaden season open and the commercial spotted seatrout fishing using rod and reel close on April 28.

The commercial red snapper season closed April 4, in state waters and also federal waters is closed. The quota has been reached. Next season opens Sept. 15.

BASS CLUB NEWS

The March tournament of the L'emesche Bass Club was pretty tough but one good fish of 8-11 was caught by Goose Richard, taking the largest bass. Todd Morales had a 5-4, Scooter Trosclair, a 3-5, Ricky Canik, 3-0; and fifth place went to Darren Richard, 2-13.

Team stringers: 1. Darren and Goose Richard, 21-13; 2. Todd and Chris Morales, 19-6; 3rd, Ricky and Scooter Trosclair; 4th, Chad Portie and Scott Canik, 10-1; and 5th. Tom Hess, 7-6.

Individual stringers: 1. Todd Morales, 14-1; 2. Goose Richard, 12-5; 3. Darren Richard, 8-14; 4. Scooter Trosclair, 8-0; 5. Tom Hess, 7-6; 6. Scooter Trosclair, 7-4; 7. Ricky Canik, 5-6; 8. Chris Morales, 5-2; 9. Chad Portie, 2-13.

There were 17 members fishing and some of us made a big mistake of not weighing in, as some of our fish would have placed in the top four individual stringers.

FISHING REPORTS

I think the fish in Lacassine Refuge have moved off the bed. It seems not as many large bass have been caught off the refuge this year as last year, at least in March.

The Big Burn is still producing bass, but mostly small bass and some days fishing is real tough, while Sabine Refuge is tough fishing.

Toledo Bend has been hot, with big bass up to 13 pounds reported. Scooter Trosclair and Amanda Bertrand and friends made a trip to the Bend and did real good. Two fish over 5 pounds, 6 over 4 pounds and lots of 3 pounders. Scooter Trosclair missed or lost one in the 10 pound category. They caught lots of 13 inch bass which they released. They have to be 14 inches long.

Caney Lake has failed to produce a state record bass for the third straight year. Maybe it's because the lack of grass, which hydrilla was controlled. In the last six months, the largest bass caught and weighed was a 12-1/2 pounder, there have been several 8 to 10 pounders caught. It seems the bass are more spread out, with all the now open water.

Chicot Lake is hot, with 7 to 11 pound bass being taken out of the lake. They say April should be excellent.

The flood waters on the Atchafalaya Basin have made bass fishing tough and probably will be for a while, as the Mississippi River still has snow melt-down to deal with.

On the saltwater scene, the freshwater coming down will push speckle trout and redfish out. There were some fair redfish caught from the Grand Chenier Jetties to the Highway 82 bridge. Still a few speckle trout around the jetties. Rockefeller Refuge is really putting out some nice reds. Broken crabs and shrimp have been the best baits, along with live mullets.

Calcasieu Lake is fair, especially with the warming of the sun during the day. The lake has been muddy from the fresh water run offs. If the rains stop the lake should be good this month. Fishing the Cameron Jetties up to the old jetties is good redfishing, as they feed on baits coming out of the marsh.

Red snapper fishing has been great offshore. Boats are watching the weather and taking a chance to fish calm seas.

The red snapper are not too far out, as good catches up to 12 pounds reported. Further offshore, up to 20 pound red snappers are being taken.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor:

We have heard the statistics. Louisiana ranks high in illiteracy. Too many of our people cannot read well enough to hold a job, to read labels in stores, or to take medicine. What can we do about it?

April 13-19, is National Library Week. The theme is "Kids Connect at the Library." We want to get as many children into libraries as early and often as possible so they can connect with a wonderful world of learning, imagination and adventure through books, computers and other resources.

A small but critically important step to curbing future illiteracy is simple... take children to the library - your own, your grandchildren, or a neighbor's kids. Let them all get their very own library cards. Have a look around. Check out a book. Use the computers. Find games to play. Read magazines. Ask the children to read to you. A visit to the library is an exciting way to help our children become addicted to reading instead of drugs, alcohol or crime.

Being able to read is a basic survival skill today, but our children must also be able to navigate the information superhighway if they are to succeed in the 21st century. Our children must know how to use computers to locate information for school, for work or for play. Within easy reach of almost every citizen, our Louisiana public libraries are becoming better and better equipped to provide up-to-date information with new technology.

I urge every parent, neighbor, or caregiver to think of the library during National Library Week, or any time you may be looking for something fun and interesting to do with a child. With your help, we can connect our children to better futures.

Sincerely,
/s/ Tom Jacques,
State Librarian

Louisianians support strike net

Internationally renowned chefs Paul Prudhomme and Frank Brigtsen announced that Louisiana voters support the commercial fishermen's continue use of the strike net.

The chefs called a press conference to alert citizens, resource managers, and public officials of just how very important fresh Louisiana fish is to the lifestyles,diet and pocketbooks of everyone across this beloved state.

They addressed a recent survey of registered voters which documents how strongly citizens feel about eating fish and the allowance of the strike net. In the wake of the ban on commercial fishing gear, the Louisiana Seafood Management Council contracted an independent, out-of-state consulting firm to conduct a citizen-opinion-survey.

The chefs felt that the facts which emerged from this survey should be widely distributed. They follow:

*64.2% of Louisiana's heads-of-households believe that Louisiana fishermen should be allowed to use strike nets. 23.5% answered "don't know", while only 12% thought commercial fishers should be forced to use the less productive rod and reel.

*The level of fish consumption in Louisiana is one of the highest of any state in the nation.

*The ban on commercial fishing nets has created a shortage of fresh Louisiana fish and fish prices have been driven higher.

*67.5% of Louisiana's adults-heads-of- households believe that fishery management decisions should be governed by scientific data. Only 14% believe special interest groups should dictate fishery management decisions.

The short list for safety

Do you find yourself "tuning out" safety messages? As a farmer, you get plenty. They're all well-intended, and certainly needed. It's an oft-repeated fact that farming ranks as one of the most hazardous occupations.

We've compiled this list to help you break through the clutter. It's not a complete list, by any means. But these points address many of the situations that frequently result in injuries. Embrace them as part of your daily routine, and you'll greatly reduce the odds of you, a family member or employee becoming one of farming's accident statistics.

1. Use your seat belts in your cars, your trucks and your tractors that are equipped with ROPS.
2. Always wear eye protection when doing any kind of work that involves grinding, chipping, cutting or spraying.
3. Keep all equipment shields in place. You've heard this advice since you were a youngster, and the message is every bit as important today. Because shields are so vital to your protection, you'll find that the shields on newer equipment are easy to work with, so there's less temptation to remove them.
4. Keep young children away from equipment.
5. Always use your equipment's warning lights when traveling on roadways. Make sure all lights work. See your Case IH dealer for lighting kits, SMV emblems and strobe lights.
6. Make sure equipment is properly secured when working on it. Never rely on hydraulics to support equipment you are working under. Use mechanical stops or other means of secure support.
7. Add rollover protective structures to all your tractors. Case IH dealers offer retrofit ROPS kits for Case, IH, Case IH and David Brown tractors dating back to the late 1950s. Other manufacturers have similar ROPS kits for their older tractors.
8. Fix the hazards. Take the time to fix the exposed chains and belts, broken ladder steps, unmarked shut-off switches, loose wiring and other potential hazards around your farm. You may have learned to live with them, but you might forget ... and other family members and workers might not know of them at all.
9. Don't allow riders on equipment unless there's a separate seat provided for them.
10. Fatigue and haste are the seeds of accidents. Stop working when you're tired; use extra caution when you're hurrying.
11. Watch those wires. Low-hanging electrical wires and tall equipment pose a deadly combination.
12. Make sure everyone who operates your equipment is properly trained and competent.

Entrance of Christ was re-enacted

For Palm Sunday at Assumption-Holy Trinity Parish in Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach this year, the drama of what happened at that time in the life of Jesus took new meaning.

The procession before the Mass at Assumption Church came to life with the use of one of Father Roland Vaughn's three mules--Spark Plug. The parishioners gathered outside the church for the procession and reading of the Gospel of Jesus entering Jerusalem on a donkey.

The youth choir, under the direction of Anne Trahan, sang the Hosanna hymn while Brent Trahan, an altar server for Mass, portrayed Jesus riding the donkey, as the people gathered for their palms. Another altar server Christopher McGee, assisted, along with Glenn Trahan, Grand Knight of F. J. Pavell Knights of Columbus Council 8323. Father Roland Vaughn, pastor, officiated at the memorable event. This undertaking was the combined effort of the Knights of Columbus, Catholic Daughters, Youth Choir and CYO.

School to be on Internet Saturday

Cameron Elementary School will join NetDay efforts to connect schools throughout the state to the Internet, Sat., Apr. 19. LaNet Day is a high-tech barn-raising, a volunteer morning of wire pulling to connect classroom computer lab, and library to a central point in the school to make the connection to the Internet.

Computer networks offer students and teachers vast resources and exciting opportunities to communicate and work together. Teachers around the world can share curricula on the Internet, and students from Cameron to Bangkok can use it to see and understand people and things they never knew existed.

School's partner aids students

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Many industries and large landowners in Cameron Parish generously donate money and equipment to the schools to purchase things to enhance the educational system.

One such firm is Miami Corporation, owners of the Big Burn marsh north of Creole, which is a Partner in Education, with South Cameron High School.

One of the company's donations is an RCA Panasonic commercial type movie camera which is used daily at the school, according to Ryan King, who is a senior at the school. He is working on a journalism class project using the camera.

King said the camera is equipped with a recording and play back feature and is used in the school almost daily in the school announcements.

It is also used to film performances, plays and programs, for football games, homecoming, and other school and community events, including the annual Fur and Wildlife Festival.

Roger Vincent, a Miami official, made the presentation to King last week at the supper the company gives each year for its hunters, trappers and local officials.

The event was filmed using the new camera.

Church history told

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This account of the Catholic church history in the Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach area was first published in April 16, 1964 issue of the Pilot and was written by then Pilot reporter for the area.)

By MRS. WALTER STANLEY

The history of Catholicism on Johnson Bayou is rather sketchy and broken up in small periods.

In the early 1900's when transportation was by boat through Orange and Port Arthur, Texas, missionary priests would come only occasionally. The priest would take turns staying with the Catholic families and hold mass in their homes. He would go about the community baptizing all children born since his last visit and marrying couples.

In 1917, a small wooden structure was put up somewhere between what is now Head of the Hollow Cemetery and the Bud Trahan residence.

Later, and the date is not known, Johnson Bayou became a mission of Sacred Heart Parish in Creole.

Priests from there would travel by boat, horseback, afoot, or any conveyance available and say mass periodically. They tried to make it once a month.

BERRY COMMUNITY

What is now Johnson Bayou was to distinct communities in its early history. The lower west end was known as Berry with its own post office and school.

The Johnson Bayou school was further up by the home of the late Joseph Erbelding, Sr. A post office was also established in Mr. Erbelding's home and he became the first postmaster of it.

It is not possible to state when Berry passed into oblivion, however, only older relatives know of its past existence.

The two schools became consolidated when trails and roads merged the two villages.

The empty Berry school became the second Catholic church on the Bayou. The classroom was torn down and the church was erected at the three point corner of Bluebuck-Deep Bayou and Middle Ridge Road.

When the highways were opened around the 1930's through Holly Beach, Hackberry and Cameron, the padres would travel to their outpost missions by car.

FIRST CHAPEL

The building deteriorated to a deplorable condition and in the early 1940's it was torn down and the lumber used for the framework of the first chapel on Holly Beach.

There the Creole pastor would come to say mass in the summer months only and the building suffered neglect.

Father Theodore Brandley, M.S., who became the first pastor in Hackberry when it became a parish, later acquired the Calcasieu River to the Sabine area as his mission area.

He renovated the quonset hut church on Holly Beach and established the present chapel on Johnson Bayou.

DO YOU REMEMBER?--These were the seniors on the South Cameron High School football team in 1959. Kneeling: Frank Pickett, Warner Daigle, Gerald Daigle, Gerald Conner, and Leroy Dyson. Standing: James LeBlanc, Mac Arthur Rutherford, Ray Keith Burleigh, J. D. Miller, Butch Watts and Robert McPherson.

SWEETLAKE OIL DRILLING

The Pure Oil Company started drilling operations today on a new well in the Sweetlake field, making it its fourth well for that field. This company's No. 1 well blew out and wrecked itself while the screen setting job was underway at a depth of around 4500 feet about two years ago, and its No. 2 and No. 3 wells were completed as oil producers within the last eight months.

Drilling operations in the new field have been held up for some time, and the new start is believed to be the beginning of a worthwhile move for oil production in that area.

In the good old days, oil fields were located by mere surface indications, escaping gas, oil seepage, sulphur water in wells and springs and paraffin dirt. Then the geologist geologized the terrain and the paleontologist examined the drill cuttings for fossil remains, thus identifying the strata. They still function in these capacities but to their staff of scientific lore has been added the geophysical machines -- torsion balance and seismograph -- for determining the specific gravity of subsurface conditions which spells, in coastal experience, a saline dome, hence oil up along the flanks.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

GERMAN genealogy is prominently featured in the current issue, Volume 21 No. 1, of Kinfolks, quarterly publication of the Southwest Louisiana Genealogical Society.

An article, "German Genealogy", summarizing German immigration, customs, religions, etc. as affecting research, includes a list of German surnames and their meanings, many sources of information in and out of Louisiana, and the publications researched for this article.

Following are a list of German Genealogical Terms, "Frakturs" (old documents), German Abbreviations, Germans and the 1763 Treaty of Paris, Time Line: 1840-1850, Louisiana's German-Acadian Coast Militiamen, Count Leon and Germantown, Louisiana, etc.

SOUTHWEST LA KINFOLKS

There is an article on Rev. M. E. Shaddock (1840-1920) of Lake Charles with a descendant chart; inscriptions from the Richie Cemetery near Moss Bluff; "An Interesting Ancestor, Edward Clyde Shroll, Sr." of DeQuincy by his granddaughter, Nina Annette Shroll; and items excerpted from early (1868 and 1896) Lake Charles newspapers.

"Orcoquisac and Charles Sallier" is about this Texas town founded 1756 and this early Calcasieu area settler for whom Lake Charles was named; "Where Do I Begin" advises new genealogy researchers; and there are a number of other interesting, informative entries in this Kinfolks issue.

Now enlarged to 48 pages, Volume 21 No. 1 is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., surname indexed, a Shroll-Olberg ancestor chart, book reviews, queries (free to members; $2 to non-members), information from Exchange Quarterlies, etc, this quarterly is available with $12.00 annual membership ($4.00 per single issue) from the Society, P.O. Box 5652, Lake Charles, LA 70606-5652.

HISPANIC RESEARCH

Building on the 1984 Tracing Your Hispanic Heritage, this bigger and better guide "treats a large and complex subject with ease and simplicity and guides the researcher over some of the roughest terrain in genealogy".

Language, handwriting, Hispanic surnames, tracing immigrants in U.S. records, how to research in LDS Family History Centers where the largest collection of Hispanic records in the U.S. is to be found - this and a great deal more is made clear to the reader.

Covering the use of civil registers of births, marriages and deaths; church records of baptisms, marriages and burials; census, military, notarial and other records with many illustrations and sample forms, this excellent guide makes itself indispensable for Hispanic research - wherever you are.

Softcover, 6 x 9 in., 308 pages, indexed, a 25 page Glossary of Spanish words translated to English, this volume is available at $19.95 plus $3.50 for mailing from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

Too many geese causing problem

In the mid 1980's, wildlife biologists and conservationists struggled to reverse a sharp decline in duck populations by restoring wetlands in key nesting areas. The effort was successful. Boosted by 3 years of plentiful rainfall and millions of acres of restored wetlands, this fall's duck migration was estimated to be the largest on record.

A decade later, biologists are facing a completely different challenge. Instead of too few ducks, the problem today is too many snow geese--so many, in fact, that they are causing ecological havoc on their arctic breeding grounds.

A recently published report by the Arctic Goose Habitat Working Group, comprised of U.S. and Canadian biologists, found that even liberalized hunting seasons for snow geese have failed to stop the population explosion and, by the most conservative estimates, the number of birds is rising at 5 percent a year.

The long-term impact of the population explosion is still uncertain, the report said, but the possibility exists that the overabundance could cause a decline in other species that nest in the same arctic region. These include semipalmated sandpipers, red-necked phalaropes, yellow rails, American wigeons, northern shovelers, and a variety of passerines.

"The geese are literally consuming their own habitat," said Paul Schmidt, chief of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Migratory Bird Management Office and co-chair of the Arctic Goose Joint Venture of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan. "They break open the turf and uproot plants, especially grasses and sedges, leading to erosion and increased soil salinity. In turn, fewer plants grow and you have a vicious cycle with habitat conditions growing worse each year. The end result is a degradation of the fragile arctic ecosystem. It is an ecosystem in peril."

Action needs to be taken soon, Schmidt said. "The damage to the ecosystem is not only severe but it also has the potential to be long-lasting," he said. "Experiments show it takes at least 15 years for grasses to begin to come back on damaged, hypersaline soil."

While hunting is certainly part of a solution, the report said that more recreational hunting as governed by current regulations and treaty obligations is unlikely to solve the problem by itself.

Possible solutions cited in the report include loosening regulations on baiting, electronic calls, and concealment during spring "snow goose only" season; expanding late season hunting before March 10; and negotiating a revision to the Migratory Bird Convention with Canada to allow appropriate hunting of migratory birds between March 10 and September 1.

The Banyan Tree of India spreads by growing trunklike roots from its branches. In time, a banyan may cover acres of ground.

TOURNAMENT

The Lemesche Bass Club held their second tournament of 1997 with 13 members fishing. It was sort of a "blue bird" day after 10 a.m., with the wind slightly to the north with bright sunshine.

The team of Darren Richard and Quentin LeBoeuf took first place with a 10 fish stringer of 20 pounds 7 ounces; second, Ricky and Scott Canik; 3rd, Todd Morales and Jeff Wainwright; 4th, Goose Richard, fishing alone; and 5th, Scooter Trosclair and Loston McEvers.

Individual stringers were, 1st, Darren Richard; 2nd, Quentin LeBoeuf; 3rd, Ricky Canik; 4th, Todd Morales; 5th, Goose Richard; 6th, Loston McEvers; 7th, Carl Broussard; 8th, Scooter Trosclair; 9th, Kirk Carlson; then Jeff, Ladd and Allen Wainwright and Scott Canik.

The largest bass went to Quentin LeBoeuf, 4-5, Darren Richard 3-3, Ricky Canik 3-5, Goose Richard, 2-13 and Todd Morales 2-12.

The "shoepick" pot for the last two tournaments went to Loston McEvers the only one caught in two tournaments.

ELECTROSHOCKING

Electroshocking is probably the most effective tool biologists have for studying fish populations. Unfortunately, it carries a reputation for killing or injuring fish, especially trout. It fractures trout vertebra and caused internal bleeding. A study showed 50 percent of rainbows brook trout shocked suffer injury.

Shocking of largemouth and smallmouth bass had minimal injury, as well as bluegill.

Nearly 900 rainbow trout were collected by electroshocking. The fish were x-rayed for injury, marked and put in hatchery ponds for observation. Twenty-nine percent suffered misaligned or compressed vertebra, 8 percent fractured vertebra. About half of the trout survived the study.

BOAT SPEEDS

We all know that boat speed on the water contributes to more accidents. Bassmasters, the last big tourmest fishing organization with motor size of 150 horsepower, will change after the 1997 circuit.

They will raise the horsepower to 250 hp next year for 22 foot boats. They say boats are made better and are safer today and can take rough waters. Many say it'll only make states put a 70 MPH speed limit. Some of the popular pros are against this, as they are already doing 70 MPH and think of the safety factor. Seventy miles per hour is fast on the water and bigger and more horsepower will only increase speeds on the water, and speed limit or no speed limit, many will run as fast as they can.

NEWS BRIEFS

The Adaptive Harvest Management Working Group, made up of technical experts on our four duck flyways are working on public comment to have four alternatives to duck hunting for 1997-98. We now have 3 regulatory alternatives. 50 days - 5 ducks, 40 days - 4 ducks, or 30 days - 3 ducks. The new proposed change will be 60 days - 6 ducks, 45 days - 6 ducks, 30 days - 3 ducks or 20 days -3 ducks. There is always the alternate of a closed season.

Lenghtening seasons and raising limits should have little or no biological impact AHM believes, since the number of hunter has declined steadily from 2 million in 1970 to 1 million in 1987 and then 1.2 million in 1995. This could be the large bag limit since the 1980's and the longest season since the 1950's.

Many opponents are from the north, who say the southern states already take too many ducks. AHM agrees that a longer season, one that could go through Jan. 31, would be better for southern states. Comments will be taken until June 27.

Comments: Chief Office of Migratory Bird Management, U. S. Dept. of Interior, Fish and Game Services, MS 634-ARLSQ, 1849 C Street NW, Washington, D.C. 20240. The address is as long as the 60 day season talked about.

AREA FISHING

Joey Trahan from Little chenier was the big bass of the month winner at Rudy's Fish 'N Stop in Creole, a 6-3 bass caught in Lacassine Refuge. It seems April is the month for big bass on Lacassine Refuge. Reports and fish I've seen: 9-10, 7-14, 8-0, 7-11, 7-6, 7-4; 6-10, 5-6, and 5-2. This is only 8 days.

Sabine Refuge is still slow on bass fishing, as well as the Big Burn. Catfishing is good in the Big Burn as well as perch and fair on white perch in the deep canals. (beatle spins).

Speckle trout - redfish are still up and down.

Dredging sought for Cal. Pass

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has written the parish's congressional delegation asking for their help in getting a special appropriation to dredge Calcasieu Pass.

They have asked that the U.S. Corps of Engineers be authorized to dredge and maintain Calcasieu Pass at a 40-foot depth which jurors say is needed by the Cameron port for economic development.

"Cameron Parish is in the perfect place to service the new deep water drilling in the Gulf of Mexico," Parish Administrator Tina Horn wrote on behalf of the jury. "Calcasieu Pass is presently at a depth of 15 feet and will not allow the ingress and egress of deep water vessels. Please make this project a reality for the parish's economy."

In addition, the jury wrote to Cameron oil and gas companies asking that they contact the congressional delegation about the need of a deep water port along Calcasieu Pass.

Complaints heard about 4-wheelers

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Where is the Gulf Drive? This is the question Sheriff James R. Savoie needs to solve before his deputies can make traffic arrests on Rutherford Beach for disobeying posted signs.

Rutherford Beach cabin owners, deputies from the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department, and Police Jurors George LeBouef and Malcolm Savoie, appeared before the Beach Front Development Board last week to try to iron out the problem.

The board, chaired by Cindi Sellers, was crated by the legislature, and board members were appointed by the Police Jury to oversee the parish beaches.

The board has been trying to develop the beaches to attract tourists and has been working on a concession area and floodlight to be placed at the end of the newly constructed entry road to the beach.

Deputy Charles Smith said the Sheriff's office has received numerous complaints about ATV's and vehicles going to fast on Rutherford Beach. However, he said the Sheriff said he is powerless to write any citations unless they are traveling on a designated road, which is impossible to designate on the beach.

High tides come up over the beach depositing loose sand completely obliterating the designated Gulf Drive roadway and there is no way of telling where the exact road is.

Recently there have been two high tides that came up four feet under the beach front cabins, which has left loose sand all over the beach causing numerous vehicles to bog down.

The Police Jurors told the committee they would see that Gulf Drive is designated and maintained.

The possibility of even doing away with the front beach road was also discussed. Some of the cabin owner said, "You can't change mother nature", and that the tides are constantly causing the relocation of the beaches, that even Holly Beach and Constance Beach have lost paved roads.

Deputy Smith pointed out that it is a state law that four-wheelers cannot drive on state roads, that it is not a parish law, and that if a parish road is designated, four-wheelers will be have to be ticketed if traveling on designated roads.

He said the Sheriff sent word that the department wants to encourage tourism in Cameron Parish and wants the people to get back to enjoying the beach because in the past 18 months there has been a lot of back-biting over this and a lot of calls into the office.

AN INMATE CREW from Phelps Correctional Center has been working on Hwy. 27 in Cameron Parish for the past two weeks cleaning up debris along the highway. They cover 3 to 5 miles a day and pick up several hundreds of bags each day.

THE HACKBERRY RAMBLERS, who began playing in Hackberry in 1933, are on the program for the Presidents' Summit in Philadelphia Sunday at which four presidents are scheduled to attend.

CAMERON PARISH'S OWN

Hackberry Ramblers will play for four presidents

Louisiana legends The hackberry Ramblers - the youthful octogenarians who've been playing together since 1933 - will take their toe-tapping blend of Cajun and country music to The Presidents' Summit for America's Future in Philadelphia Sunday, April 27.

The Hackberry Ramblers will play from 5:30-7:30 p.m., headlining the Host City Reception in the Grand Hall of the Pennsylvania Convention Center at 12th and Arch. The group appears by personal invitation of Ed Rendell, the mayor of Philadelphia and a devoted hackberry Ramblers fan.

Rendell's other distinguished guests at this important event include President Bill Clinton, former presidents George Bush, Gerald Ford, and Jimmy Carter, former first lady Nancy Reagan, and General Colin Powell. The three-day Summit for America's Future is dedicated to improving the state of the nation through public service, and such traditional values are embodied by The Hackberry Ramblers; in between national tours, the band frequently performs free-of-charge at nursing homes in their local community of Lake Charles. We're glad to volunteer our time for those old people," says accordionist Edwin Duhon. "A lot of them used to come to our dances. It makes them feel good, and it makes us feel good, too."

At age 87, the energetic Duhon is older than almost everyone in The Hackberry Rambler's diverse audience and legion of admirers. The band was formed in 1933 and still features the two original founders, Edwin Duhon and fiddler Luderin Darbone. The Hackberry Rambl-lers were prolific hit-makers during the 78 r.p.m. era, and cut the first recorded version of the Cajun classic, "Jolie Blonde", in 1935.

The Hackberry Ramblers are also renowned as innovators who combined Cajun music with the Anglo-American country repertoire, and brought amplified sound to the rural dance-halls of southwest Louisiana. Since few such nightspots had electricity back then, the Ramblers ran their Sears sound-system from the battery of Luderin Darbone's idling Model-A Ford. The band originated in Hackberry.

It's precisely this plucky, progressive attitude that has kept The Hackberry Ramblers going strong for 64 years. The band's raison d'etre has always been to make people get up and dance, and then stay out on the dance floor. Towards that end the Ramblers' varied repertoire includes Cajun waltzes and two-steps, wester-swing and country classics, blues, Gulf Coast "swamp pop", and a touch of rock and roll.

The band has been especially active during the 1990's, performing at festivals and night-clubs from coast to coast, and appearing on such national television and radio programs as Entertainment Tonight, Fresh Air and World Cafe. The Hackberry Ramblers have also stayed busy in the recording studio.

And now, just in time for The Presidents' Summit, The Hackberry Ramblers have a brand-new album entitled Deep Water, on the Hot Biscuits label. Deep Water is co-released as Volume 11 of the Louisiana folklife Recording Series, and its production expenses were partially funded by The Louisiana Div--ision of Arts, as administered by The Lake Charles Symphony.

Deep Water covers all of the Ramblers' wide range of styles and features special guest appearances by Marcia Ball, Rodney Crowell, Michael Doucet of Beau-Soleil, and Jimmie Dale Gilmore. "We can't wait to play at The Presidents' Summit, and perform some of the songs from Deep water," says Luderin Darbone. "I just hope that Bill Clinton will bring his saxophone and sit in!"

MARINE CLEAN-UP

Thousands of dollars in federal funds are available to coastal and inland marina operators in Louisiana. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Services recently awarded the state an additional $195,000 in Clean Vessel Act Funds to help marinas construct, renovate, operate and maintain sewage pump-out and dump stations for the roughly 320,000 registered boaters who enjoy our water each year.

Over $9 million has been allocated nationwide this year to help clean-up the country's waterways of man-made pollutants which carry micro-organisms into our rivers and lakes. They sometime cause viral outbreaks in humans when eating tainted shellfish. Human sewage disposed directly into the water poses health concerns for swimmers, skiers and fishermen, both sports and commercial.

Our state has about 10 such facilities, four under construction and studies show another 53 stations are needed around the state.

Federal and state laws prohibit the discharge of untreated sewage from vessels within Louisiana navigable waters, to include territorial seas within the three mile limit.

FISHING REPORT

Well, old man winter came back around a few days ago, and kind of put freshwater fishing to a halt. Things have been warming up and lots of bass spawning is over, and maybe things will pick up.

Top water lures and buzzbaits should start paying off, as many bass coming off the beds will be hungry and aggressive.

Lacassine Refuge has slowed up, but coming back to normal, however, many fish have moved off the beds. Sabine Refuge is still trying to pick up, as well as the Big Burn. Many fishing days are spent for 2 or 3 bass. A few white perch have been reported in the deep canals of the Big Burn.

The marsh that's really fooled anglers is the Apache Oil what we used to call Amoco, on the eastern end of Grand Chenier. Water is beautiful but no bass. Something else that's beginning to show up in that marsh is hydrilla, which has been invading bayous and lakes of our state. It is said that fishermen need to clean the grass, etc., off their boat trailers, but with all the airboats of service in our parish, this will surely spread to all our marshes.

Saltwater fishing is still spotty inland, a few redfish on Rockefeller Refuge, as well as speckle trout, the same around the Mermentau River and Cameron jetties.

Calcasieu Lke - Big Lake has been tough on anglers the past 3-1/2 months. Cold weather then the heavy rains have caused unfavorable conditions. If more south winds continue, it should push more saltwater up the lake and start clearing it up. It could be a little tough to fish at times, but at least there will be fish moving up in the lake. They re catching redfish and a few flounders, but speckle trout are scarce. Next month (May) shrimp will be more plentiful in the lake and things should pick up.

NEWS TALK

May through September is the time to go after record stripers on Toledo Bend. The top five stripers from the Big Bend were 37 to 47.8 pounds. Lots of 10 to 17 pounders are being caught now, so if it's a striper trophy you want, now's the time.

In answer to a phone call, there's a proposed harvest limited of one fish per day for greater amberjack. Will know more next month.

Personnel hearing is set by School Board

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A misconduct charge against an employee of the Cameron Parish School System that was scheduled for the April meeting of the board has been rescheduled for the May meeting.

Walter Sanchez, the female employee's attorney, said that his client had not received the 24-hour written notification of the matter, thus the matter must be rescheduled.

Glenn Alexander, Cameron Parish District Attorney, concurred that the 24-hour notice must be sent.

Bertrand, from New Orleans, is an expert in school board law and was hired by the local board when Alexander had to recuse himself due to his involvement in a criminal investigation related to the case.

Sanchez also said that his client wanted the case to be heard before the full school board. However, Karen Nunez, School Board president, explained to him that this will be difficult because two of the board members, Dan Billiot and Tony Johnson, work offshore and have conflicting work schedules. School Board member Dan Billiot was unable to attend this meeting due to this reason.

It was finally decided that everything possible will be done to see that all of the board members would be present, but that the case would be heard on May 14, at the regular school board meeting, regardless of whether both board members could be present.

At each School Board meeting one of the parish schools gives a special presentation using the talent from their school. This month Mrs. Norma Jo Pinch's sixth grade class gave a presentation on the ancient Wonders of Greek Mythology, which they have been studying. Each pupil dressed in costumes they had made for themselves as Greek gods, etc.

RECOGNITION

Special recognition and certificates were awarded to students who had received special awards by Pamela LaFleur, superintendent.

She presented a certificate to Matthew Sanders, South Cameron High School student who placed third in the regional spelling bee and fifth place overall. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Sanders of Creole.

The board recognized Jared Savoie, winner of the Governor's Award for Livestock Production. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Savoie of Creole, and a student at South Cameron High.

Authorized reduction in force action which Mrs. LaFleur said could affect two elementary teachers, due to decreasing enrollment and/or financial emergency.

The board received retirement notices from Joan Alexander, teacher at South Cameron High School; Robert Henry, teacher at Hackberry High School, and Leathia Dubon, food service technician at Hackberry High.

Teacher comes back after forty years

Dear Editor:

My recent visit to Cameron Parish and South Cameron High School was one I'll always hold dear. I thank the principal, Mr. Jimmie Marcantel, for all courtesies extended, and to Loretta Theriot for making a special trip to her home to get the Tarpon yearbooks. They made me feel at home. To add to the enjoyment, I had the privilege of talking with a trusted friend, J. C. Reina.

After being away from Cameron for some forty years, this return visit just confirmed what I've known for a long time. Cameron Parish has the best people anywhere.

Sincerely,
/s/ L. H. Pipes,
Teacher/coach '55/'57

Veteran wildlife agent is retired

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Anyone committing a wildlife violation in Louisiana last Friday would have been very safe, as many of the state's wildlife and fisheries agents were at Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge in Grand Chenier giving their fellow agent James Nunez a grand send-off.

Nunez was retiring from the La. Wildlife and Fisheries service after 34 years.

He spent his entire career based out of the local refuge. In 1966 he was promoted to Wildlife Refuge Warden which began 30 years of uninterrupted law enforcement service. Although the last half of his career was spent in a supervisory capacity, he never lost his devotion to field duties and accomplished both tasks equally well.

While he is well known for his enforcement career, another side of him shined equally as bright because he aided many a student who began their career at Rockefeller Refuge.

He worked hand-in-hand with the biologist staff and provided assistance to the refuge shop and field crews.

The characteristic that set him apart was his rapport with the public at large and his coworkers, said Guthrie Perry, Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge supervisor.

His may achievements and dedicated service were formally recognized when he was awarded the Safari Club International Wildlife Officer of the Year award in 1974.

He has been married to Jo An Dyson Nunez for 43 years, and they have two children and three grandchildren, and reside on Oak Grove.

Perry, speaking on behalf of the La. Wildlife and Fisheries, said that Nunez has been a dedicated conservationist and a truly gifted peace officer.

Other speakers delivered appreciation speeches: Mae Ann Hebert recognized Nunez's wife for her help to her husband in his work; Allen Ensminger, retired former Chief of the La. Fur and Refuge Division of the La. Dept. Wildlife and Fisheries; Joe L. Herring, retired secretary of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries; Johnny Tarver, Asst. Sec. of the La. Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Nunez was presented with numerous cash gift certificates, a collectors edition knife and wildlife belt buckle, in addition to his numerous awards from his department, friends, and coworkers.

A demonstration of marsh buggies with high-tech equipment was ut on by seismic crews working the refuge for oil and gas development was also presented for those attending.

Warehouse destroyed by twister

A warehouse owned by Ambar, Inc. on Wakefield Road just north of Cameron was blown down at about 7 p.m. Friday evening by what was believed to have been a small tornado.

Walter Slaughter, local manager for the company, said the warehouse contained pallets of oilfield supplies. Two vehicles were under the wreckage but no one was hurt.

Elsewhere in Cameron there was damage to a barn and other buildings and also to trees.

Hospital gets past due half million from state

The South Cameron Memorial Hospital got an early Christmas present last week--a $587,248 past due debt from the State of Louisiana.

The payment represented back Medicaid funds owed the hospital by the state for 1994.

Statewide 118 hospitals received a total of $31 as the Foster administration made good on its promise to pay these past due bills.

Department of Health and Hospitals Secretary Bobby Jindal said:

"There is good news and better news. The good news is that we are paying these old, one-time debts which have saddled the state. The better news is that we are making these payments without costing our taxpayers an extra dime," Secretary Jindal said.

"Many of these settlement checks should have been in the mail two years ago, but this administration is finally delivering. In addition, this is just the first batch of payments. As similar debts are identified, we will pay them too," Jindal reported.

Secretary Jindal said the debts, many of which have lingered for more than two years, are being paid out of a current year surplus generated by tighter management and spending controls in the Medicaid program. He said this year's surplus is projected to be just over $170 million, up from $48 million surplus DHH reported last year.

"Last year, we wanted to pay these debts, but much of the $48 million surplus was appropriated for other state programs and the rest was returned to the state treasury. Fortunately, this year, we are projecting a surplus for the second year in a row, allowing us to repay these debts," Secretary Jindal said.

Secretary Jindal said 96 hospitals, 20 home health agencies or center and two federally qualified health centers are being paid in the first batch. He said those and other providers could receive future payments as other cost reports are audited and debts are identified.

Two taxes to be voted on Saturday

Cameron parish voters will vote on two tax renewal elections Saturday, May 3.

Parishwide they will vote on the renewal of a 10-mill property tax which was originally passed in April, 1987.

Superintendent Paul LaFleur said the School Board needs the tax renewed to maintain an adequate level of funding for the schools. This tax, along with an additional 10-mill property tax past last year, plus income from 16th Section lands, has enabled the system to come out of $1 million deficit this year.

"We want to provide the latest technology, purchase new buses, maintain and improve our school buildings, and maintain competitive salaries for our personnel," Mrs. LaFleur stated.

The other tax vote is in Gravity Drainage District 5, which includes the Grand Chenier, Chenier Perdue and Little Chenier areas. This is the renewal of a 5.13 mill property tax.

The tax provides for about 35 miles of protection levees and about 20 water control structures. The system has been in place since the 1960s and its main purpose is to prevent salt water intrusion, protect the marshes and provide relief in times of high water.

Nature trail gets wide recognition

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The week of May 4-10, has been declared national Tourism Week and a reception to kick-off the event was held at the Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge Monday night. It was sponsored by the Cameron Parish Tourist Commission and the Creole Nature Trail National Scenic Byway.

Bill Turnbull, chairman of the Cameron Tourist Commission, served as moderator.

Shelly Johnson, executive director of the Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau, reiterated how important the tourism industry is to the local economy, stating that tourism is the second largest industry in Louisiana and the United States.

"The Creole Nature Trail National Scenic Byway is the last great wilderness in our nation, and will be an enormous impact to Cameron Parish and Southwest Louisiana," she said.

She said the trail is being written up in numerous books and magazines and more and more tourists will be visiting the area to view the marshes.

Mrs. Johnson said the Bureau worked very hard to get the National Scenic Byway designation and is now working on the designation of "All American Road" for the trail.

The Creole Nature Trail is the only nationally recognized byway on the Gulf coast, and only one of fourteen in the United States.

The state has announced that tourists requesting information on the area phone 1-800-33-GUMBO to receive a book on Louisiana tourism, with information on the local nature trail.

Ed Kelley, with the Cameron Parish Tourist Bureau and Chamber of Commerce, said that the local Chamber receives inquiries from all over the United States and foreign countries, who have seen write-ups in magazines, books and pamphlets.

Monte Hurley, chairman of the SWLA Convention and Visitors Bureau and the Creole Nature Trail Scenic Byway District, explained how the local nature trail received the national recognition.

He said that the program was recently awarded a grant for an internet program.

Paul Yakupsack, Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge manager, reported that the national recognition of the trail has increased the interest of visitors to the refuge. The number of visitors has gone from 100 a month when it first opened to from two to three thousand a month today. He also reported that the local refuge expects will open a 3 mile Pintail Wildlife Drive next month. The auto tour will be enhanced by ten interpreted signs that will be posted

FISHING TOURNAMENT

The Saturday half-day tournament and Monday night shootout at Lacassine Refuge started and was good to a couple of local anglers. The team of Quenton LeBoeuf and Darren Thibodeaux took second place in both outings, while Richard Duhon, fishing alone, took first in both stringer and largest bass for the Monday night shootout. Richard had 3 live bass weighing 14 pounds plus with his largest bass of 6 pounds plus.

These shootouts are 3 fish stringer, have to be alive and then released.

In our other bass fishing reports, it's been slow. We're still having weather problems, but there are good days to fish.

On the offshore reports, more and more are getting out and doing rather well. Good catches of red snapper reported off cameron and then a few nice red fish caught inland. Cigar minnows are paying off on the red fish.

BIRDS RETURNING

Thousands and thousands of songbirds are departing from Central and South america and coming north to Louisiana on their spring migration travel route and many of these songbirds will breed here and stay for the summer. Our Louisiana coast line is a critical stopping point, as we have many live oak trees and hackberry trees on our ridges and a good cover for these exhausted songbirds after crossing the Gulf of Mexico.

There will be many bird watchers viewing these birds and many folks setting up feeders for these songbirds.

Cameron Parish Black News

By WANITA HARRISON

Mrs. Rosa LeBlanc spent the weekend in Jacksonville, Fla., with Douglas Dozier.

Mrs. Carol Smith of Sugarland, Tex., was a weekend guest of Mrs. Mary Cockrell and Mrs. Drusilla Harmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harrison visited Dexter, Terri and Chloe Harrison in Sugarland, Tex., for the weekend.

FIRST SPAWN

Nearly one million Florida largemouth bass were hatched in the first spawning at the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries New Booker Fowler Fish Hatchery, located near Woodworth in southern Rapides parish. This is a new modern facility, with rearing ponds, nest removed and put in indoor troughs to hatch. This keeps large bass from eating the fingerlings.

PUMP STATIONS

There are four more raw sewage pump station to open to the public in Louisiana. June 30, is the opening date for Buckeye Landing, Pleasure Point Marina and Twin Island Marina on Toledo Bend, and Moon Lake Resort on the Ouachita River in Monroe.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

It's still a big fight over the new rules of TED, and the serious impact it will have on our shrimpers and surely will harm the industry.

It is said in 1987 there were 32,000 shrimp trawls in the area as compared to only 14,900 now. Shrimpers have just given up with all the red tape, low catches and high expense. This surely will end up in court as proof that these changes are necessary has no scientific evidence. They keep saying that shrimping is the main cause of turtle deaths.

There was a meeting with officials of the National Marine Fisheries Service at the C. J. Kiffe Net Shop in Cameron on Apr. 9, to show the correct installation of the TED.

Commercial menhaden season opened Apr. 21.

FISHING TIPS

During the post-spawn period, fish the same area where you caught bass during the pre-spawn and spawning periods. Post-spawn bass are harder to catch, so work all areas slowly and thoroughly. Try different lines.

Students to get training at facility

Calcasieu Oaks Geriatric Medical Facility, a Lake Charles extension of South Cameron Memorial Hospital, has recently completed agreements with four universities to provide clinical affiliations for occupational therapy students. The students will be working in Calcasieu Oaks' psychiatric program, which consists of a 25-bed inpatient unit and two partial day programs.

Students have been scheduled from LSU Medical Center in Shreveport, Northeast University in Monroe, Texas Women's University in the Houston Medical Center, and the University of Mississippi in Jackson. Coordinating the rehabilitation experience will be Annette Harlow, licensed occupational therapist.

Students will gain experience in group dynamics and the analysis and selection of activities to meet patient treatment goals. Additionally, students will learn the process of patient care, from the initial evaluation of daily activities to the design and implementation of a treatment plan. As part of the rehabilitation team, students will also gain experience in treatment techniques for swallowing and feeding programs.

GRAVITY DRAINAGE DISTRICT #5 TAX RENEWAL

The Gravity Drainage District #5 drainage and protection system consists of approximately 35 miles of protection levees and approximately 20 water control structures located throughout the Gravity Drainage District of Grand Chenier. This system has been in place since the early 1960's and its main purpose is the prevention of saltwater intrusion, the protection of area marshes, and to provide relief in times of high water. It is extremely important to maintain this system of levees and structures in order to protect home owners and land owners. The renewal of this maintenance tax will insure that this drainage system will function properly and continue to serve the public good.

TO THE CITIZENS OF CAMERON PARISH. . .

On Saturday, May 3, 1997, a tax renewal election will be held throughout Cameron Parish for a 10-mill homestead-exempt property tax which was originally passed in April 1987. The renewal of this tax will provide the revenue needed to continue to improve the academic achievement of our students.

Our system wants to provide teachers with the necessary instructional tools to raise student achievement. We want to provide the latest technology, purchase new buses, maintain and improve our school buildings, and maintain competitive salaries for our personnel.

The improvement of instruction has been and will continue to be my #1 priority.

Please go to the polls with your families and vote YES for the tax renewal. By doing so, you will be making the improvement of the Cameron Parish School System your #1 priority.

Sincerely,

Pam LaFleur

THE LA. DEPT. of Highways' tug boat, the D. W. Griffith, has been anchored for several days on the west side of the Cameron ferry helping with the replacement of piling at the ferry landing. The tugboat was named after the late D. W. Griffith of Oak Grove, who served as port captain for the Cameron ferries before his death 25 years ago. The boat is stationed in Baton Rouge and serves where needed by the DOTD around the state.

The Hackberry oil boom

(Lake Charles American Press, March 18, 1928)
DRILLING ON HACKBERRY ISLAND

Three new well locations have been made at Hackberry, one of which is for another deep test for the Yount-Lee Oil Co., and the other two are for shallow tests for the union Sulphur Co.

On account of the continued activity of the Yount-Lee at Hackberry in its deep test drilling, with new locations apparently being made on the basis of stepping away from the dome gradually, each new test is watched with more than ordinary interest by the major companies as it is believed that this method will result in eventually dropping into a formation that will result in an oil gusher that will make up for a long period of constant drilling in the Hackberry area, that up to the present time has not resulted in worthwhile oil production.

STORM PROTECTION RESTUDY

The U. S. Corps of Engineers has agreed to conduct further surveys and hearings to determine whether hurricane protection for Southwest Louisiana would be economically feasible, it was announced this week.

The Corps recently announced that a survey had shown that a storm protection system for lower Cameron Parish would cost more than it would be worth.

The Cameron Police Jury at its March meeting protested that the Corps had not gotten sufficient information and asked that it be given a year in which to submit data justifying the work.

Did you know that the South Cameron Memorial Hospital has a monthly payroll of $6,000 and hires some20 fulltime employees? That is money that is being kept here in the parish which would otherwise go someplace else if it were not for the hospital.

Rep. Alvin Dyson is getting a first hand view of the work on the big Toledo Bend Dam to be built on the Sabine River near Leesville ashe is a member of the board of supervisors. Bids were recently received on the dam and a contract is expected to be awarded soon.

Just back from the state registrars convention is Miss Wynona Welch, Cameron Parish Registrar. "Miss Nona," who has just gotten through three elections, the primaries and general elections, is now working on the upcoming tax elections.

ROADSIDE PARK SOUGHT

O. M. Pourcious, Jr., Roadside Development Superintendent from Baton Rouge and Robert Rozas, Roadside Dev. Assistant of Lake Charles, reviewed sites on Holly Beach last Thursday as possible locations for a roadside park here.

Requirements for the highway department to get up roadside parks are primarily suitability and 20-year free lease of land. Mr. Pourcious stated they like a place easily accessible to motorists, about one-half mile or so from the main community and a full acre of land.

Both men were amazed at the length and quality of the beach which they said was the best in the state of Louisiana.

Joining the state men for the survey tour were Archie Berwick, Ward 5 police juror, Walter Stanley,Lions' Club representative, and Howard Epps, Mobile Oil Supt. All three men serve on the area Development Board and it is through this channel that they requested a review of the area.

STEED'S SHRIMP COMPANY

Steed's Shrimp Company on Cameron's waterfront is taking on a new look this week as the old tin-sided shrimp building, built in 1940, is replaced with a modern concrete block building.

Tom Steed, manager, said that the building will be the same size as the old one--40 by 60 feet, but that a new 18 by 34-foot office is being added on the side.

Mr. Steed said that all local contractors and labor are being used in the construction. Dyson Lumber Co. is erecting the building. Cameron Construction Co. drove the piling and the Western Auto store sold the air conditioners.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED
(By Mrs. Lee J. Harrison)

The St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church on the Front Ridge was dedicated Sunday with the Most Reverend Maurice Schexnayder, Bishop of the Diocese of Lafayette, officiating.

Rev. Joseph Rengers, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Lake Charles, delivered the dedicatory sermon.

The new edifice was erected at a cost of $28,000 and replaces the wood frame church destroyed by Hurricane Audrey in 1957. The church has a seating capacity of 150.

A conspicuous feature of the new church is the stained glass windows in the baptistry, which were donated by Bishop Schexnayder.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou -- "Amen" and a "forward ho" we say to the Cameron Lions Club for their initiative to try to get an ordinance against beach litter. Cameron Parish beaches are a potential wealth unexploited to their full possibilities. The least desire to most of us is to ever become urban or metropolitan. However, a vast improvement of ourselves would not be detrimental in developing this to a nice summer playground and peaceful mecca to out-of-state visitors in off-season months.

Creole -- As winners of the recent Southwest Louisiana Wrestling Championship, the South Cameron High School wrestling team traveled to New Orleans this past Friday to participate in the La. State High School championship. coach Robert Ortego accompanied the nine member team which includes Burnell Nunez, Bobby Conner, Billy Harris, Austin LaBove, Gene Dimas, Don Hebert, Larry Kershaw, Billy Pinch, and MIchael Savoie.

Oak Grove -- Measles are on the rampage in our area. Latest victims here are Miss Wanda Hoffpauir, band director, Leland Rutherford and Wendell Rutherford.

Grand Lake-Sweetlake -- These 4-H Jr. members of Grand Lake school took part in the General Demonstration March 14, in Cameron: Judy Granger, Margaret Humphries, Martha Lannin, Sandra Corry, Rebecca Faulk, Mary Elizabeth Gary, Marlena LeBleu, Brenda Corry, Darlene Guidry, Darlene McCain, Bonnie Granger, Cheryl Cardeur, Pamela LeBleu. Mrs. Clem Demarest was one of the judges.

Musing -- Among the most interesting stories that have come out of the gulf coastal regions here are some related by Capt. Vinson Laurents, who lived the greater part of his life around the Lakeside-Lake Arthur area.

He said that there used to be an opening form the Gulf of Mexico into White Lake. When Jean Lafitte was hard pressed, he would seek refuge in White Lake. In one place in the bayou, where the opening was, many pieces of fine Europeon china have been found along the levee.

Farmers may get assistance

A presidential Emergency Declaration has been enacted for Calcasieu, Cameron and Jeff Davis parishes. This is due to the severe ice storm that occurred Jan. 12-17. Eligible family farmers may qualify for Farm Service Agency EM physical loss loan assistance.

EM loan applications will be accepted through Nov. 18, 1997, for physical and production losses. For more information if you have suffered a loss, contact the Farm Service Agency Ag Credit Team in lake Charles at 318-436-5020.

Community Action Week

The Cameron Community Action Agency is joining the nation in celebrating National Community Action Agency Week, May 4-10, by recognizing volunteers, supporters and achievements that make Community Action successful in combating poverty.

For the past 10 years the Cameron Community Action Agency has had a positive role in the parish of Cameron. For the past 30 years, Community Action has had a positive role throughout the United States with services such as housing, Head Start, GED programs, commodities, utility assistance, Summer Feeding Programs, etc.

Senior citizens are invited to be at the Cameron Senior Center on May 8, from 12 noon to 3 p.m. for an open house and a light lunch. A tour of the newly remodeled facility will be given.

Rutherford takes basic

Navy seaman James R. Rutherford, son of Regina A. Benoit of Grand Chenier, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Com-mand, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Rutherford completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis is also placed on physical fitness.

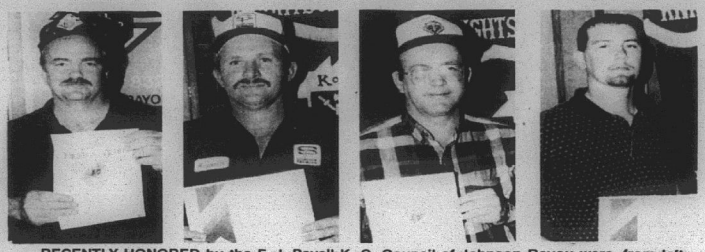
White Sands Missile Range is the largest all-land rocket testing range in the U.S. Located in New Mexico, it covers 2,226,013 acres.



RECENTLY HONORED by the F. J. Pavell K. C. Council of Johnson Bayou were, from left: Magnus McGee and Kenneth Trahan, family and knight of the month for January; Louis Blanchard and Layne Boudreaux, family and knight of the month for February.

Cameron Telephone installs new system

Cameron Telephone Company, a provider of local telephone service in both Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes announced the installation of a new Lucent 5ESS Central Office Digital Switch.

This state-of-the art switch will allow the company to meet the expanding telecommunications needs of their service area, as well as incorporate new service offerings. The conversion project took over six months and 1000 man hours to complete, with an investment of over $1 million dollars.

Today's telephone subscribers are more sophisticated than ever before and demand the latest in high-tech solutions. The 5ESS-2000 Switch is "feature rich", providing hundreds of features to meet the needs of all customers, including residences with one or more lines, both small and large businesses and multi-size corporations.

1500 persons aided here

The Cameron Community Action Agency serves Cameron Parish through various services and programs. In the past year alone, they have assisted 1500 persons.

In recognition of these contributions and of National Community Action Week, May 4-10, the Cameron CAA will host an open house, May 8, at noon at the Cameron Human Resource Center.

For more information on how to get involved in National Community Action Week activities, call Dinah Landry at 775-5145

LAKESIDE LACONICS

We have a new Parish Superintendent of Schools, Mr. T. McCall of Grand Chenier. He was elected to his new position at a recent meeting of the school board.

Mr. Granger, our assessor, has been making his annual visit to this end of the parish.

Azaire Meaux has gone to the marsh for a few days fishing.

The frost of last week was quite disastrous to some of the gardens, but no serious trouble resulted from the cold. 37 was the lowest record of the mercury.

There is more cropping being done at Lakeside this year than for many years past -- sweet potatoes, corn and garden truck.

There is rumor of the S.P.R.R. (Southern Pacific) putting the road through from Lake Arthur to Guoydan. If such should become a fact, it will certainly be a fine thing for us all.

"BOOTSIE" CARTER WINS NEWSPAPER AWARD

For the fifth time within seven years, a Cameron Parish community reporter has been named "Louisiana's Country Correspondent of the Year" by the Louisiana Press Association.

The latest Pilot reporter to win this statewide contest is Mrs. Harold Carter, who has been covering the news of the Creole area for about a year and a half.

As the first place prize in the contest, Mrs. Carter will receive an all-expense paid trip to the state Louisiana Press Association convention this Friday and Saturday in Bossier City. She will be accompanied by her husband and by Jerry and Joy Wise, publishers of the Pilot.

Pilot reporters who previously won first place in this contest were Mrs. Geneva Griffith, Oak Grove, in 1957; Mrs. Walter Stanley, Holly Beach, 1958; Mrs. Bernice Stewart, Lake Arthur, 1959; and Miss Elora Montie, Grand Chenier, 1961.

In addition, Miss Montie won second prize in 1960, and Mrs. Tom Taylor, Sweetlake, won a second place in 1962.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES

The Cameron water board had some good news this week for property owners in the Cameron water and fire protection district No. 1, which takes in most of the town of Cameron.

The Louisiana Rating and Fire Protection Bureau has advised the board that Cameron's fire protection rating has been lowered from No. 10 to No. 7. This is expected to result in sizable savings to property owners on their fire insurance.

S. E. Hottinger, Jr., municipal engineer with the state bureau, held a four-way telephone conversation Friday with Conway LeBleu, water board president; Erraste Hebert, police jury president; and Ray Burleigh, Cameron fire chief, to inform them of the new rating.

The Cameron water system presently has 300 customers and the board expects to extend line later this year to serve some 40 to 50 more customers.

IN BLOOM

A colorful sight along Cameron Parish highways and in the marshes are the wild purple irises which are now in full bloom. Spring flowers are to be seen everywhere in the parish.

BRISTOW FONTENOT RECEIVES TOP HONOR

Bristow Fontenot, Grand Lake High School senior, has received another top honor for his outstanding basketball playing this year, according to Coach Weldon Vincent.

Fontenot has been named as an honorable mention on the 1964 prep All American Basketball squad chosen by a national coaching magazine. He is to be awarded a certificate to this effect soon.

Fontenot, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Fontenot, was named to the all district and All-Southwest District Class C basketball teams and to the second All-State team despite missing the last seven games of the season because of an injured ankle.

THIS WEEK
(By Jerry Wise)

The Southwest Louisiana Coin Club is observing national coin week this week with displays in Lake Charles businesses and with talks at schools. There are a number of avid coin collectors in Cameron Parish, and one, Roy Pohler, who runs the Cameron scrap yard, is a coin dealer who does business with coin collectors all over the country.

About 1000 head of cattle owned by Creole area cattlemen are being moved from their winter pastures at Johnson Bayou back to Creole this week. The spectacular swimming of the ship channel at Cameron will take place about 10 a.m. this Thursday. County Agent Hadley Fontenot estimates that about 30 brands are represented in the herd.

Charcoal is recommended for poisoning

(NU) - Many parents think that if they keep syrup of ipecac in the house, they're ready for a poisoning emergency.

But activated charcoal is now recommended by poison control centers around the country as the treatment of choice. When used properly, it can reduce the severity of improperly taken medications and accidentally ingested household products and other toxic chemicals.

While syrup of ipecac can be effective if nothing else is around, studies show that taking activated charcoal is better. Why? When taking a product that induces vomiting, patients risk having stomach contents end up in their lungs, among other complications.

Medicinal uses of activated charcoal date back to 1550 B.C. Today, besides its use as a poison antidote, it also is used as a deodorizer and cleanser in air purifiers and water filters.

Every home should have a bottle of activated charcoal for poisoning accidents because it needs to be taken immediately after the poison has been ingested. Many times, unfortunately, it is not used until the victim reaches a hospital.

Activated charcoal is specially processed for medicinal uses and is different from regular charcoal. Charred wood or charcoal briquettes are not the same.

Activated charcoal acts like a sponge. The poison molecules stick to the surface of the charcoal and are later eliminated from the body. It is safe because it is not absorbed into the bloodstream.

But it's important to use the correct form of activated charcoal. For example, CharcoAid G, manufactured by Requa Inc. specifically as a first aid poison treatment for children, is the most effective charcoal product available today. It contains "super-activated" charcoal, making it two to four times more powerful than other kinds of activated charcoal.

CharcoAid G can be mixed with any liquid, including soda pop. It can even be taken in juice or chocolate milk to reduce the gritty texture. The product comes in a complete, ready-to-mix package with a straw, instructions and a list of poison control centers in the United States.

Magnus McGee, Lloyd Badon, and Carroll Trahan made the field trip with Ricky Thurs. and Gene Faulk, DNR (Board engineer George Bailey and Exec. Secty. Rodney Guilbeaux met with Richards and Fenstermaker & Assoc. prior to field trip). Bailey recommended that the 2 x 7' culverts be changed to 5 x 30' culverts and that flap gates be put in to prevent salt water intrusion. Others on the trip were La. DNR CMD, US COE-Galveston, US P & WL, etc.

Lloyd Badon reported there was no culvert in the road (Riviera Drive) where it joins La. Hwy. 82 in Holly Beach. Jim Fina had requested a larger culvert be installed at that point.

George Bailey reported on a field trip with John Woodard and Scott Rosteet of Fina to the drainage situation on Constance property on west side of La. Hwy. 27 north of Holly Beach Fire Station. The land owners have requested a 48" be installed in the bar ditch to replace the damaged smaller one which has collapsed. The property owners will sign a right of way agreement, and Fina says that these culverts would fit in well withtheir marsh management plan in the area.

Lloyd Badon and Joseph Boudreaux reported that work on the Shallow Prong Project is progressing well. About two miles of canal have been cleaned out. A portion of the spoil line was crossed this week with Tennessee Gas employees in attendance. Small leaks are showing up in the pontoons. They will be repaired when the marsh machine ges to the levee behind Elvin Donahoe's property. Bailey is to get price quotes on a marsh machine. A paddle and life vests have been purchased fo ruse on the small boat used to bring operator and fuel to and from machine.

Motion to rent large boat to transport fuel to machine by Rogerest Romero, second by Leroy Trahan, passed. If price is not reasonable, he is to get price on new wide flat bottom boat and purchase it.

Motion to purchase a heavy duty chain saw by Ivan Barentine, second by Rogerest Romero, passed.

The financial statement for March was reviewed and accepted by the Board. The Hibernia account has been closed, the funds have been deposited in a MMIA account at Cameron State Bank at 4.83%. When all of the board is present, a decision to invest will be taken care of at the next meeting.

Lloyd Badon reported that the Holly Beach project is in progress.

Guilbeaux passed out literature on the first annual Cameron Wetlands Workshop to be held on Sat., May 3rd in the Holly Beach, Constance Beach, Sabine Refuge and Cal Florida Beach areas. Three field trips will be part of the workshop. A registration and orientation session will take place at 8:30 a.m. at the Fina facility (old Meconn Ranch) 1 mile west of Holly beach with field trips to follow. A noon meal and a recepetion at 5 p.m. will sind up the day's activities.

Mark Jinks requested drainage assistance, item was tabled.

No actions were taken in the offer to have an old marsh machine donated to the board. The machine is older than ours, and ours is in need of much repairs.

Scott Rosteet of Fina gave an overview of Fina's marsh management plan. He showed maps, charts, graphs and salinity readings. He stated that a meeting for review of the plan has been set for Tues., May 20th at 10 a.m. at the Fina Beach Office, 1 mile west of Holly Beach. The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

The family of Daniel Anderson WALKER and his wife, Mary Crocker, had settled in Winn Parish, Louisiana, by 1860 where he acquired a whole section of land in Ward 10 and built the "Walker Home Place".

Daniel and Mary had left their native South Carolina in the 1830s; moved south and west; and by 1850 were in Jackson Parish, Louisiana.

Of their 9 children born in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, Sarah Jane may have married a Ball and stayed in Jackson Parish; James Madison married Mary Jane Moody and had a family in Winn Parish; John-Daniel Marion married Susan Rebeckar Moody and raised a family on the old Walker Home Place, inherited by a daughter, Ada Lee Walker, who married John R. Sullivan.

Daniel married 2nd, Mary Martha Moody, a widow with several children. The Moodys and Horns had come to Louisiana just prior to 1860 from Georgia and settled in or near Montgomery. Later, there were Walker-Moody marriages.

WINN PARISH QUARTERLY

Legacies & Legends of Winn Parish, the well-done new quarterly of the new Winn Parish Genealogical & Historical Association established in September 1996, includes the above genealogy in "The Old Walker/Sullivan Place" by Nora Martin as a feature of its Volume 1, Number 1.

Other articles include "In the Beginning" (of Winn Parish) by Gregory E. Davies; "Points Regarding the (1910) Census" and "Newspaper Abstracts from: "The Comrade" (1894-1910) by Annette Womack; and "Lost in Winn Parish" (when General George S. Patton and his armored tank division during the pre-World War II Louisiana maneuvers of 1940 couldn't find the old St. Maurice Ferry site and Samuel Norwood Smith led them there for the engineers' practice-building of a pontoon bridge); Smith's daughter, Sue Elizabeth Smith Badeaux, wrote this article.

Included also are "Cockerham Cemetery" inscriptions; Probate File of I. A. Hargis" and "1887 Winn Parish Tax Roll" by Peggy Beaubouef; "60 Years of Winn Parish Weather, A Clerk of Court's View" recording extremes of weather from 1929, records courtesy of current Clerk of Court, Donald Kelley; "Reminiscenses of Gen. Thomas S. Woodward" (born 1794 in Elbert County, Georgia; died 1859 in Wheeling, Winn Parish); and ancestor charts for: Smith-Berry, Chandler-Riffe, Beaubouef-Hickman, Castleberry-Newell, Branch-Gilmore, Womack-Carpenter, Collins-Shelton, Davies-Monsour, and Harbin-Brady families.

Furnishing in addition: a list of the Society's charter members and new 1997 members, book reviews, queries (members may have 1 free per year), books, etc. added to the Genealogy Room of the Winn Parish Library and other items, this April 1997 issue of Legacies & Legends is soft cover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 46 total pages, illustrated, indexed, available with $15.00 annual membership in the Association, P.O. Box 652, Winnfield, LA 71483.

The editor, Peggy Beaubouef, invites genealogical material for the quarterly concerning Winn Parish people, places or events, subject to acceptance for publication by the Review Board. Material may be mailed to her at 2656 Hwy. 1232, Winnfield, LA 71483.

The association president, Annette Womack, announces that the program for the next monthly meeting, to be held May 10th, will feature a talk on "Smith Family History" by Senator Mike Smith. Meetings are the 2nd Saturday of each month at the Winn Parish Library, 205 West Main St., Winnfield, beginning at 1:00 p.m. A genealogy workshop is being planned for September.

Lady Mustangs to defend state title

By JOE MUELLER

The Lady Mustangs, defending state champions, open play Friday, May 2, at 5 p.m. against Forest Hill.

The winner will play in the state semi-finals at 1 p.m. and the championship game will be Sat., May 3, at 6 p.m.

The Lady Mustangs take a 14-7 record into the tournament. This is not as good a record as last year when the Hackberry team took a 13-1 record into Alexandria.

Tara Johnson, coach of the Lady Mustangs, says the record is misleading since her team played a much tougher schedule than last year. They faced more big schools this year than last.

The Lady Mustangs bring back two all state player in Sherree Abshire and Brandy LaBauve. The Hackberry squad has 8 returning starters from last year state champion team.

Doctor's discovery may end obesity

HILTON HEAD, S.C. -- A doctor has discovered that an ingredient found in a small fruit grown in Asia, combined with an ingredient praised by the U.S. Department of Agriculture can help cause significant weight loss.

In a study published in a prestigious American medical journal, Dr. Anthony A. Conte, M.D. reported that the formula, now called Bio-Rex 3000(formerly Bio-Max), caused patients to lose more than twice as much weight as a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition confirms that you don't have to reduce the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

Scientists suggest that the mechanism behind the weight reduction may include decreasing sugar cravings and interruption of the "Krebs Cycle", an important step in the body's fat storage process. "The best part of this unique discovery is that it is not a drug, but a safe dietary food supplement" says Dr. Conte. The Asian fruit, called garcinia, is similar to citrus fruit found in the United States with one big exception-- it may help some people fight obesity! While Dr. Conte's study may be preliminary, the exclusive North American distributor, Phillips Gulf Corp., is calling the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement "Nature's Ideal Diet Aid."

According to a spokesperson for the company, Bio-Rex 3000 is now available on a limited basis through pharmacies and nutrition stores or call 1-800-729-8446. © 1997 Phillips Gulf Corp

Jury passes new trash ordinance

An ordinance making it easier to fine persons who throw trash from vehicles in Cameron Parish was adopted by the Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday. It provides fines of $100 for the first offense, $250 for the second offense and $300 for the third offense.

The ordinance will be enforced by justices of the peace and constables.

Drivers, except for bus drivers, will be held accountable for litter that is thrown, dumped or deposited from their vehicles. This will include waste haulers in the parish.

The ordinance also allows prosecution of anyone to whom litter can be traced, unless it was picked up by a waste hauler.

Litterers can be prosecuted even if the offense did not occur in the presence of a law enforcement officer.

Violators will also have to remove litter along both sides of a 500-foot stretch of roadway unless the [illegible] ed or from out of [illegible].

Another refuge is rumored at J. B.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

President Brent Nunez announced at the Tuesday Cameron Parish Police Jury meeting that he had heard that the Cameron meadows property at Johnson Bayou is being considered by the federal government for another Wildlife Refuge.

"We already have four refuges in Cameron Parish and certainly don't need another one", Nunez said. "The refuges only pay 60% of their tax base, and the citizens are left paying the other 40% and if we lose any more of our tax base, we will not be able to run our parish.

"We need to take a stand against this, to stop these so-called management areas from invading our parish before it's too late," he declared. "I also think that the Police Jury should be notified about these plans instead of having to find out about it on the street.

"Our great-grandchildren will say one day, 'My ancestors grew up down there, before all the refuges came, and it must have been a beautiful place back then'".

The Police Jury accepted an insurance proposal from Blue Cross-Blue Shield Insurance Company for parish employees, and sent a letter of cancellation to Aetna, the present carrier.

Pete Picou, Parish Civil Defense Director, introduced the staff of the National Weather Service in Lake Charles, who assured the Police Jury that in spite of cutbacks in the National Weather Service, the local bureau will continue to function.

Some of the Police Jury members questioned the fact that the national hurricane warnings always mentioned Lake Charles instead of Cameron when relaying the paths of the hurricanes, and the answer was that a major city was always used as a reference point, but the local information from Lake Charles takes this information and uses Cameron in telling how many miles it is from this area.

STUDENT OF THE YEAR

The Police Jury recognized Jacob Johnson as Cameron Parish Student of the Year and presented him with a certificate. Jacob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Johnson of Cameron.

Ernie Duplechin, representing Bill Dore with Global Industries, which is building a spool based facility on 620 acres of land north of the Intracoastal Canal, just across the line in Calcasieu Parish on the Calcasieu River, appeared before the jury to explain the plans of the company. The plans are to build a $65 million facility and will employ about 200 people.

He asked the Police Jury to write a letter to the Corps of Engineers favoring the granting of a permit so the building can get underway. The Police Jury agreed to support the project, and was assured of the support of the company in hiring local people.

Ron Marcantel and Charles Achane with Imperial Calcasieu Rural Conservation and Development, appeared to thank the jury for their support of the agency.

The jury adopted three proclamations, one honoring Russell Vincent who passed away April 2; Older American Month, (May); and Community Action Week, May 4-10.

Collection of food set

The Grand Chenier post office will take part in the annual food drive Saturday, May 10 sponsored by the National Association of Letter Carriers and the U. S. Postal Service.

Postal customers are urged to leave non-perishable food and canned items by their mailboxes or to bring them to the post office by Saturday.

All food collected will be given an agency in Cameron to be distributed to needy families.

Taxes pass

A 10-mill property tax for parish schools and a 5.13-mill property tax for drainage in the Grand Chenier, Little chenier and Chenier Perdue areas were both approved Saturday in a light voter turnout.

Juror Hicks is welcomed back here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A sign reading, "Welcome Back Mr. Hicks" in the Cameron Parish Police Jury meeting room greeted the Hackberry juror at the monthly finance meeting this week. Hicks has been absent with a lengthy illness for several months.

Tina Horn, Parish Administrator, discussed the possibility of the jury participating in an internet website at a cost of about $5 a month, which would show the available property in the parish for development.

A discussion was held on the swapping of roads with the Dept. of Highways, in particular, Trosclair Road which is badly in need of repair, and handles much traffic along La. 27-82.

The main focus of the meeting was health insurance after the Police Jury was hit with a 30% increase in premiums with its present carrier.

Four insurance representatives were present at the meeting to discuss their plans with the jurors.

The Police Jury currently pays the full cost of health, life and dental insurance for its employees. Retirees pay their monthly costs in the group plan.

WIDE VARIETY OF WILDLIFE VISIBLE

New wildlife drive now open on Cameron Prairie Refuge

Refuge Manager Paul Yakupzack of the Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge has announced that the 3 mile Pintail Wildlife Drive is now open. This existing auto tour route will be enhanced with approximately ten interpretive signs that will be posted along the drive. The signs will illustrate and explain management techniques, problem plants as well as showcase the abundant migratory birds and native wildlife and plants found along the trail. A feature attraction of the drive will be alligators.

Yakupzack stated that the Pintail Wildlife Drive will be open seven days a week from official sunrise to sunset. The drive is elevated above marsh level for most of its 3.0 mile route. The drive is oneway and begins about 1.0 mile north of the Gibbstown Bridge on LA Highway 27 on the east side of the highway. The first 1.5 miles utilizes the old entrance road to the old refuge headquarters. The remainder was constructed on existing dikes that were modified specially for this purpose. The road has an all-weather surface of limestone. It is accessible by school and tour buses as well as motor homes and vehicles pulling trailers.

Visitors in May should be able to observe wading birds such as white-faced ibis, yellow-crowned night herons, great egrets, great blue herons and , if they are lucky, roseate spoonbills. Other common sighting may include mottled ducks with broods, fulvous whistling ducks, king rails, common moorhens, and purple gallinules.

Alligators ranging in size from three to ten feet are commonly seen sunning along the banks of the borrow canals that are adjacent to the dikes on which the drive is constructed. A refuge bird list complied by members of the Gulf Coast Bird Club includes 199 total species and is available at the visitor center.

The Cameron Prairie NWR visitor center is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays. The refuge is closed on Sundays and on federal holidays. The visitor center features wildlife dioramas, displays, exhibits, and a Cajun robot named Taunte Marie. A ten minute video is shown to interested visitors upon request.
