Speeding in channel to be monitored here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The West Cameron Port Commission has declared war on the boats that are speeding in the Calcasieu ship channel, according to Cliff Cabell, commission president.

Board members have had reports from citizens telling about the high rates of speed boats causing waves eroding the river banks and swamping small boats in the Calcasieu River, and even washing over the jetties causing danger to the fishermen there.

The members are asking anyone who observes these incidents to try to get the proper ID, document the time and place, and the boat name, to be turned over the shipping agent.

C. J. Kiffe suggested that the board write letters to the Bar Pilots and Sheriff's Department to take official action against anyone breaking the law, and to slow down ships using the channel in a reckless manner.

The board will invite representatives from the Sheriff's office, Lake Charles Pilots, Lake Charles Port Board, and Coast Guard to attend the next meeting of the the Port Commission on May 27, at 6:30 p.m. at the Holly Beach Fire Station.

A letter was read from District Attorney Glenn Alexander informing the board that the Ship Breaking Industry had cleaned out the sunken barge at Commissary Point on the East Bank of the Calcasieu River and has removed it from the area. He asked that the board drop the suit it had against the owners.

The board voted to do so provided it was all cleaned up.

Ed Kelley said he wanted to compliment the Police Jury for trying to get the Old River dredged deeper in order to handle deep draft ships.

The board agreed to postpone a tax election that had been originally planned, and to look into the possibility of leasing the west side of the river for hunting.

Two South Cameron FFA teams win state honors

Two South Cameron High School FFA meat identification teams who qualified for state competition at LSU brought honors back to Creole. The senior team composed of Jarod and Lacie Baccigalopi and Benjamin Richard placed third. The junior team, composed of eighth graders Ryan Bourriaque and Sarah Richard and freshman David Lee Savoie scored higher than predominantly 11th and 12th graders against whom they competed and placed sixth in the state. This was the first year that any members of this group competed.

To qualify for the State FFA Judging Contest, teams must place in the top four in each of the four area FFA contests. Over two hundred teams are in contention for the sixteen slots at the state contests. All size schools compete together. This year's state contest was held Apr. 24, at Louisiana State University. Contestants identified 30 retail cuts of beef, pork, and lamb. They were also required to place carcasses of beef, pork and lamb along with various wholesale cuts of the three species.

In individual competition Jarod Baccigalopi ranked 10th, Ryan Bourriaque 13th, David Lee Savoie 16th, Lacie Baccigalopi 17th, Benjamin Richard 22nd, and Sarah Richard, 25th in the state.

Prior to area and state competition, the teams also competed in invitational contest against teams from Texas, Arkansas, and Mississippi, as well as Louisiana. At the McNeese State Individual, held Mar. 5, the senior team placed first and the junior team sixth.

On Mar. 12, at the Nicholls State Individual Contests, the senior team placed second and the junior team, third. Benjamin Richard was high individual at the McNeese Contest.

At the Area III Judging Contest held Mar. 18, the senior team placed first and the junior team, second. Jarod Baccigalopi was high individual at the area contest. Training both teams is FFA Advisor Nicky Rodrigue.

The senior team of Baccigalopi, Baccigalopi and Richard will also represent Cameron Parish in the meat identification contest of LSU's 4-H Shortcourse in June.

FISHING REPORT

Fishing is more popular in Louisiana than most states, ranking 17th in number of recreation fishing licenses sold among the 50 states, accounting for $622,034,000 being spent around our state.

Anglers since 1996 aren't having the success they once did. Action is slow, and fewer anglers are hitting the water. However, state fisheries officials say success of Florida bass stocking, the recovery of the Atchafalaya Basin after Hurricane Andrew, and the recovery of redfish stocks across our state have really helped license sales and has helped keep anglers alert. Anglers were also disappointed with catches of speckle trout in 1996, however, biologists claim 1997 will be better, especially for large speckle trout.

I'll say this, it seems bad weather with high winds and hail, heavy rains have kept anglers in, even cooler weather has hampered fishing this late. There's quite a bit of freshwater in our system, but things should start to level off.

There's one thing about Louisiana fishermen that they like more than a good fight, and it's a great meal, and fish is on that menu. Lemonfish (Cobia, ling) should be our official state fish. It fights like a raging bull, but grills like black angus.

Not many fishing reports because of the weather, but the Big Burns is producing white perch in the deep canals, using beetle spins, small ones. Lacassine Refuge has had a few bass taken on watermelon and green sparkle lizards and red shad worms. The southern end of Big Lake is still the best toward the jetties to the Gulf. Redfish being caught on broken crabs and trout on topwater baits, and cocahoe minnows. Redfish are starting to show up in Mermentau River around rocks.

NEW UPDATE

A Santa Rosa, Calif., angler may have thrown the world record bass back in, and cost him a fortune and a top place in the freshwater fishing record books.

Fishing a 74 acre spring lake on Mar. 1, throwing a nine inch plug, he caught the big bass. He brought it to the docks, called his wife to bring the bathroom scales, weighed himself first and then himself and the fish and there was a 24 pound difference, easily passing the existing record of 22.4. He took a few pictures and released the fish. All he could think about was keeping the bass alive and let it go back in the lake. It surely will not be recorded, but we do know it's just a matter of time before it will be officially broken.

HUNTING UPDATE

I know it's early to discuss hunting seasons, but I do want to let you know the latest of trying to get a later duck season. Lots of hot weather through most of the duck season, plenty of water, kept our fall flight of ducks in a spread-out area of the southern U.S., then when at the end of the season, we got cold weather, the season was over.

Well, frustrated hunters from lack of activity, complained to the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission about the early closing date of Jan. 19. The Commission does understand, it seems January 20 was the latest date that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service allowed the duck season to be open.

Our Secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries, Jimmy Jenkins, in March met with representatives of Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky and an agreement was reached to ask the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to change the last day for an open duck season to Jan. 31. Mr. Jenkins didn't ask for anything else like more days or more ducks just to keep hunting open when hunting would be best for southern waterfowl. Let's just hope this could happen, however, the feds are hard to persuade.

Things against us are biologists believe ducks begin to pair off in late January, some actually start nesting like wood ducks. Then a late season allows ducks to be killed who would have survived the fall flight and the cold weather. Duck populations have been watched closely in recent years. We can keep our fingers crossed, but don't count on it, but we appreciate Mr. Jenkins and his staff for going all out for our duck hunters.

DID YA KNOW?

The first federal migratory bird hunting and conservation stamp (duck stamp) was issued in August 1934. The first year there were 635,001 stamps sold, and each stamp cost $1. The year the least of the duck stamps sold was 448,204 in 1935. In 1950 the price doubled to $2. Peak sales year was 1971, with 2,445,977.

From 1934 through May 1996, 107,612,821 stamps were sold and raised $500 million.

Horse Salve Eases Arthritis Pain

LOUISVILLE, KY -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, has now been approved by government researchers for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx®. ARTH-Rx comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1996 PGC

Legislation will aid hospital here

Legislation approved by a Senate committee last week in Baton Rouge would help 36 small rural hospitals in 31 parishes remain open and stay competitive by offering more flexibility on funding, staffing and their ability to participate in pilot programs, according to Dept. of Health and Hospitals Secretary Bobby Jindal.

The DeQuincy Memorial Hospital, South Cameron Memorial Hospital and hospitals in Kinder, Oakdale, Jennings, Welch and Kaplan are among the area hospitals which will be aided by the bill.

The legislation was introduced in the Legislature largely through the efforts of Joe Soileau, chief executive officer of the South Cameron Memorial Hospital and chairman of the Louisiana Rural Hospital Association.

Secretary Jindal said the proposed Rural Hospital Preservation Act, authored by State Senator Don Hines of Bunkie, would help rural hospitals which have 60 beds or less. The proposal was approved by the Senate Health and Welfare Committee and now moves to the full Senate for action.

Secretary Jindal said the small rural hospital provide necessary medical services, especially for those persons who live miles away from larger hospitals in metropolitan areas.

Senator Hines, chairman of the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, said, "This is important legislation designed to help keep our rural hospitals open so they can continue providing necessary medical care to citizens who live in rural areas."

New food program told

Eligible children at each site will be served the same meal at no charge.

Meals will be served from 11 a.m.-12 p.m. The program will run from June 9-July 14. Please call 775-5145 for more information.

CAPITAL NEWS

If the state Department of Transportation and Development accepts bids received for bridgework on La. 27 in Cameron Parish, it could be a more expensive proposition than expected.

The apparent low bidder for grading, widening, paving and installing concrete slab span bridges on the highway is Guinn Brothers Inc. of Oil City. However, their nearly $4.5 million bid is $488,337 higher than DOTD engineers had estimated for the work. That could mean an overrun of 12.1 percent if contracts are signed.

The only other bidders on the bridgework were F. Miller & Sons Inc. of Lake Charles, which suggested a price of $4.7 million.

The bid was among those opened April 30 on 38 projects affecting 25 parishes around the state.

Legislation on fishing is listed

A special issue of Fisheries and Wildlife Newsletter has been published by Kevin A. Savoie, Associate Area Fisheries Agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes with the La. Extension Service.

In it he lists all of the new fisheries bills that have been introduced in the Legislature as of April 1. A copy of the newsletter may be secured from Savoie at County Agent's office in Cameron or by calling 775-5516.

Savoie further states in the newsletter:

"It must be noted that each senator and representative is also allowed to introduce up to five late bills before April 29. If you need information on any of these bills, you may call 1-504-342-2456 or 1-800-256-3793. Someone will be able to answer your questions on the progress of the bills that you are interested in and when they will be heard in committee.

"People with computer access can do the same by using the following Web Site addresses: Senate--www.senate.state.la.us and House--www.legis.state.la.us/house.htm. In these bill summaries, the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is referred to as DWF, the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission as WFC, and the Department of Natural Resources as DNR."

Reunion set

The Savoie/Savoy reunion will be held Sunday, May 25, at the Cameron Multi-Purpose building beginning at 10 a.m. Please bring covered dishes. For information call Debbie Savoie at 775-5316.

AT CAMERON SENIOR CITIZEN DAY

Rec Center was a rocking!

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron recreation center was rocking all day Friday with old-time favorite tunes from fifty years ago along with French music.

The event was the Cameron Parish Senior Citizen Day, sponsored by the Cameron Area Council on Aging in celebration of Older Americans Month

In attendance were approximately 200 parish senior citizens, entertainers, and friends.

They welcomed local musicians to join them which was done by 4-year-old Justin trahan, singing; 11-year-old accordion player Kaleb Trahan, Linda "Fischu" Dahlen, singer and guitar; and John Faulk, a member of the Hackberry Ramblers band on his base violin and guitar.

Bob Carriveau, the band leader, and his wife, Wilma, have a honey farm in Michigan. Wilma is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Red Nunez of Oak grove.

They entertained the swingbed patients at South Cameron Hospital Thursday and Carriveau said it was the greatest experience in his life to see patients in their wheel chairs dancing to the music.

Around 80 door prizes were handed out, furnished by local merchants, including a television set from Cameron State Bank, which was won by Alva Mae Savoie.

Certificates of appreciation were handed out to Police Jury members George LeBouef, Malcolm Savoie, and Brent Nunez, for their help to the Council and to Ray Conner, former police juror and a member of the Silver Haired Delegation in Baton Rouge, representing the local Council on Aging.

A special gift of a Bill Turnbull picture of a local beach, was presented to Mrs. Landry by Alice Mason, on behalf of the Council on Aging staff.

Parish officials testify before Legislature

Sheriff Sono Savoie appeared before the Civil Law and Procedures Committee in support of House Bill No. 84 which was authored by Representative Dan Flavin. This legislation limits the liability of the sheriff for injury or loss sustained or caused by prisoners on litter detail. This legislation was requested by Ed Kelley, president of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber was concerned because the litter problem along the highways in Cameron Parish was steadily becoming worse. The members felt the problem was detrimental to the tourist trade in Cameron Parish. This legislation will now go before the full House for hearing.

Cameron Parish School Superintendent Pam LaFleur and Calcasieu Parish School Superintendent Jude Theriot appeared before the Education Committee in support of House Bill No. 309 which was also authored by Rep. Flavin. This legislation provides for the disciplining of pupils found carrying or possessing a firearm or knife on school property.

Present law states that a school principal may suspend from school or suspend from riding on any school bus any pupil who is found carrying firearms, knives or other implements which can be used as weapons and that can inflict harm or injury when used carelessly.

Other provisions of the present law require certain disciplinary actions to be taken against students found carrying or possessing a firearm, knife or other dangerous instrument. These mandated actions include immediate suspension.

House Bill No 309 retains present law's discretionary provision relative to disciplinary actions applicable to a pupil carrying an "implement" which can be used as a weapon but specifies that a pupil found carrying or possessing a firearm or a knife shall be disciplined as provided for in other provisions of the statute. This bill is waiting in line to be introduced to the Senate.

If these bills are passed and signed by the Governor they will become law on July 1, 1997.

Jury will detail new insurance

Cameron Parish police jury employees and their spouses, as well as retired employees, have been urged by the jury to attend one of the five meetings to be held around the parish to hear details of the jury's new group insurance plan which becomes effective June 1.

The jury last week accepted a proposal from Blue Cross-Blue Shield to cover parish employees and cancelled its contract with Aetna.

Bonnie Conner, jury secretary, said the new plan is a preferred provider plan, but the South Cameron hospital and the local doctor are included in the plan, as well as Lake Charles Memorial and the West Cal-Cam Hospital.

She said the new plan has a $500 annual deductible like the old plan but provides for additional benefits not provided by the old plan, including infant care, a prescription drug card and some additional dental benefits.

She said the new plan also will offer employees term life insurance on a payroll deductible basis.

5:30 p.m., Monday, May 19, Creole Multi-Purpose Building.
6:30 p.m., Thursday, May 22, Grand Lake Firemen's Center.
5:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 27, Cameron Police Jury Annex.

PROCLAMATION

Our children deserve the best we have within us. They look to us to be their protectors, role models, heroes, and heroines.

Children who are loved and nurtured grow up to love and nurture others. They give back to their families, their neighbors, and the entire nation the good that was bestowed on them. When we show we care, they can show they care. And so the chain continues, or should continue.

The frightening reality is that nearly 3 million children each year are abused and neglected. Every year, over 1,000 of these children die from their injuries. The rest live on, but they may carry the burden of their maltreatment into adulthood. Children who were abused are more likely to suffer from substance abuse, depression, learning disabilities, school failure, emotional and behavioral disorders, criminal activity and an inability to foster healthy relationships. Child maltreatment knows no social or economic boundaries. It occurs in every neighborhood in America. We must dedicate our energies to eliminate child abuse, sexual abuse and neglect and their terrible legacy.

I encourage the citizens of this great community to show they care by committing themselves to fighting child abuse and neglect. In our homes, businesses, schools, and neighborhoods, let us all accept the responsibility of assuring a safe environment for all children. The problems that face too many of our nation's children can be met if each one of us is determined to make a difference.

Therefore, the Cameron Parish Police Jury does hereby declare that April, 1997, and every April hereafter be designated as "Child Abuse Prevention Month" throughout this community. We pledge to create communities that care enough to protect our children.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED, by the Cameron Parish Police Jury this 1st day of April, 1997.

Infant mortality rate is high in the parish

CAPITAL NEWS

While Cameron compares well to other parishes in most areas of a recent study of the well-being of children in the state, it does not do as well in infant mortality figures.

The "Kids Count Data Book on Louisiana's children" indicates that 16.6 percent of the children in the parish between the ages of 5 and 17 were living in poverty in 1993. That ranks the parish second in the state on a best-to-worst scale, which also ranks it fifth in the percentage of poverty-stricken female heads of household who have minor children. The current poverty level is $12,980 annual gross income for a family of three.

Agenda for Children, a private non-profit child advocacy organization, distributed the book compiled from information gathered by the Department of Sociology at the University of New Orleans and the School of Social Work at Southern University in New Orleans. The report uses several measures to gauge the state of children's well-being, among them poverty, unemployment, child health, children in trouble, child abuse and education.

The parish's 6.4 percent unemployment rate in 1997 ranks it 11th in the state with 220 of its 9,057 residents unemployed. Its median family income in 1997 is listed as $36,300, meaning half the families make more and half less.

Louisiana's teen pregnancy rate of 19.1 percent is one of the highest in the country, and Cameron beats it with 14.9 percent of the 114 live births in 1995 being listed for teens. Agenda for Children points to evidence that early parenthood tends to limit life options of both the parents and their children since teen parents often drop out of school, limiting their resources and making poverty more likely.

Three parishes have a lower percentage of births to teens, but fifty-six have a lower infant mortality rate, which documents the deaths of children before their first birthday. The trend in infant mortality has improved in the last five years, dipping from 10.9 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1993 to 10.4 in 1995. But Cameron's infant mortality rate was 17.5 per 1,000 live births.

The data book also shows that the parish spent $6,099 on each of its 1,972 public school students during the 1994-95 school year. No parish had a higher per-pupil spending level. Cameron registered only seven dropouts during that year, when 8,928 students across the state failed to finish school.

Looking at "children in trouble," the report shows 25 Cameron Parish youth in custody or under supervision of the Office of Youth Development during the 1996 fiscal year. Crimes ranging from truancy to homicide can bring youngsters in contact with the office. During the same fiscal year, four children were in foster care.

Parish man is fined for sign damage

(American Press) - The man who destroyed a sign marking the entrance to the Holleyman-Sheely Migratory Bird Sanctuary has been ordered to pay a $1,500 fine plus court costs and placed on unsupervised probation for a year by 38th Judicial District Court Judge H. Ward Fontenot.

Laurence Joseph Suire, 40, of 119 Tarpon Springs Ave., Cameron, pleaded guilty to a charge of relative felony theft, reduced from felony theft.

He was arrested Sept. 12, 1996, in connection with the removal and burning of the sign at the corner of La. 82 and Gulfview Avenue. An additional charge of simple criminal damage to property was later dismissed.

Suire was also ordered to make restitution of $220 for the sign.

Suire, whose property in the Little Florida Subdivision adjoins the sanctuary, had been at odds with the Baton Rouge Audubon Society over its expansion of the sanctuary and use of the road in front of his house.

The Cameron Parish Police Jury tried unsuccessfully in August to order the Audubon Society to clear the sanctuary lots inside the subdivision. The Baton Rouge Audubon Society filed suit Sept. 16, 1996, to stop the clearing, and Fontenot later ruled in favor of the Audubon Society.

MICHAEL MCCOY has been named president of the staffing and patient care division of Amedisys, a diversified health care company headquartered in Baton Rouge which provided home care, staffing, outpatient surgery and medical management services. He was previously vice president of nursing services. He is formerly from Grand Chenier and was a 1970 graduate of South Cameron High School.

The Miami Corporation Permit Fishing Lands including the Big Burn, are starting to produce some nice bass, fair in size and nice white perch and bream. In some of the deep canals, nice catfish are being caught on shrimp.

Redfish were caught up the Mermentau River along the rocks, but the water got dirty. The weather is better and the water should get right again. Little Pecan Bayou - catfish and a few redfish; Rockefeller Refuge - redfish and a few speckle trout right out of Joseph Harbor. Calcasieu Lake fishing is picking up and a few specks and redfish reported surf fishing along the western Rutherford Beach.

Board suspends employee here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Angie Styron, a secretary in the Cameron Parish School Board Office, has been suspended for 90 days without pay, according to a 4-2 vote at the monthly meeting of the School Board last week.

A hearing on her firing, which had been recommended by Superintendent Pam LaFleur, which had been scheduled at the April school board meeting postponed because Mrs. Styron's attorney, Walker Sanchez, said his client had not been properly notified of the meeting.

At the May meeting, Sanchez was denied a request to address the board by a 4-3 vote, with board members Bill Morris, Karen Nunez, Clifton Hebert, and Tony Johnson, voting to deny the request, and Daniel Billiot and Glenda Abshire voting no.

Abshire then made a motion that Styron be given a full hearing which deadlocked with Nunez, Abshire and Billiot voting in favor.

Before the termination vote Bill Morris addressed the board stating "A year and a half ago we hired Pam LaFleur, superintendent, to run the school board. In this capacity she has determined that an at-will employee should be terminated due to the unbecoming conduct of an employee. I feel that we must given Mrs. LaFleur the authority to run our office and that we should stand behind her.

"She had an investigation done by the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department at our request, and she will never know if we are backing her up in her decision if we do not stand behind her.

"This is no different than corporations or businesses that can terminate at-will employees that are not doing their job. We will be telling her that she does not run this office, other people are."

Johnson's motion to fire Styron failed in a deadlock, with Nunez, Morris, and Johnson voting to fire her.

A second recommendation offered by LaFleur was to suspend Styron for 90 days without pay which was passed on a 4-2 vote, with Hebert, Billiot, Abshire, and Nunez voting for, and Morris and Johnson voting no.

TEACHER ISSUE

Tony Johnson read a letter that he had written to fellow board members concerning a non-certified teacher who had been hired to teach science at South Cameron High School, which was done at a meeting he could not attend due to his work schedule.

Johnson contends that the decision to hire a non-certified teacher was politically motivated

Legislators are feted

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Most of the members of the Louisiana Legislature turned out last week to the "Friends of Cameron Parish" shrimp boil held at the governor's mansion in Baton Rouge.

It was hosted by Sen. Jerry Theunissen and Rep. Dan Flavin, and gave Cameron Parish leaders a chance to mingle with Louisiana's state leaders.

The weather cooperated and the event was held on the mansion's lawn.

Tarpons scrimmage at So. Beau.

By JOE MUELLER

The 1997 South Cameron football team completed their spring football drills last Friday as they traveled to South Beauregard and played in a scrimmage with the Golden Knights.

The Tarpons, who advanced to the Dome in 1996, scored five touchdowns and held the Golden Knights scoreless.

The Tarpons had a strong running game as all four of the backs, Brandon Conner, Cory Broussard, Steve Moore and John Pradia, each rushed for over 65 yards.

On defense, the Tarpons held the Golden Knights out of the end zone. The Golden Knights did complete five passes on the night and had only one sustained drive.

The Tarpons will continue with a weight program work-out starting in early June.

They will start their work-outs for the '97 season in mid-August. They open the '97 season in the Iowa Jamboree.

The Tarpons also have two new district opponents in '97 as the Kinder Yellow Jackets and the Oakdale Warriors join the district replacing Notre Dame and North Vermilion.

The Tarpons will play a ten game schedule in 1997 as they have scheduled Lake Charles-Boston to fill their open date of recent years. Other non-district opponents are DeQuincy, St. Louis, Vinton and Pickering.

Mystery dinner is held at Grand Lake School

The Grand Lake High School PTA murder mystery dinner and auction was held recently. Cameron State Bank, Mr. D's, Brown's Grocery and lots of area dessert makers donated the dinner.

The Grand Lake Junior Beta, cheerleaders, and literary rally students served the meal and waited on tables. Lindsay Smythe and Dolores Arceneaux wrote a play that entertained over 100 persons.

"Who Killed David Duhon?" accused seven Grand Lake School employees and two students of forcing Mr. Duhon's tie into the fax machine to reach a sordid fate. The acting crew consisted of Lindsay Smythe: Mrs. Holmes; Dolores Arceneaux: Mrs. Dar-nutzer; Mary Beth Crochet: Mrs. Delord; Kourtney Precht: Mrs. Delaney; Russel Faul: himself; Trisha Broussard: Mrs. Eagle-son; Chris Duhon, himself; Billy Taylor: Mr. Pool.

The PTA thanked everyone in the community who supported the event which raised over $5,500 for the program. Parents and teachers are to attend the first PTA meeting of the year with ideas and suggestions on how to use these funds.

Some of the proposals have been computers, play-ground equipment, TVs, VCRs, and a new microwave for the teachers lounge.

Whoever is present when the vote is taken will make these decisions.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

To the People of Cameron Parish:

When are we going to stand up for what is right? For too long, the "Good Ole Boy System" has been in effect Our administration assumes they do not have to follow the rules set by Louisiana Department of Education. We have a school system which is falling apart and uncertified people are being hired because of their family connections and politics. What is this teaching our children? That it is okay to lie and cheat. Just don't get caught. But don't worry, if you do, it will be covered up or don't talk about it and it will go away. Is this the role models we want for our children to look up to?

Where is the leadership in our school system: The schools and the school board office. A few of the teachers could care less about the education of our children. Their main concern is the paycheck they receive at the end of the month. No names need to be called. Each of them knows who they are. And we do too!. Maybe we should pay the teachers according to the performance of our students; it is the teacher's responsibility to teach, not babysit. It is a sad situation when our honor students have to take remedial classes before than can begin regular classes at college. It seems to me that we are paying for something twice. Our tax dollars and contributions are not being used appropriately. Do it right the first time and be done. People are entitled to mistakes, but do we make the same mistakes repeatedly, or do we learn from our mistakes. If a teacher or administrator is there just for a check, replace them with someone who will do the job. Demand that we receive what we are paying for.

If you bury your head in the sand, you are getting what you deserve. Evidently, our heads are fairly deep in the sand. How many of our parents are willing to ignore what is going on and let our children's education be minimal? If energy was put into controlling the environment of our schools and the quality of their education again, we would have a strong system. Our schools are funded with taxes which are paid by all the people, so shouldn't all of the people benefit, not just a few handpicked by one of our "famous committees". What happened to the rules? They seem to apply only to certain people, depending on your political poll.

We need to work together to stop the violence and drug problems in our schools, along with the cheating and the lying in our school system. If we can accomplish this, the cover-ups will also stop. Favoritism has got to stop. If people know they are accountable for their actions, they will do the right thing. Tell your school board members they were elected to represent the people, not buckle to political power. Because, right is right, and wrong is wrong, no matter who you are. After all, the people you are hurting are our children, which happens to be our future. How many people would watch someone intentionally hurt a child? Well, that is exactly what the people of Cameron Parish are doing by not standing together and insisting that our children receive the education they are entitled to receive. It can work if we do the right thing. For the good of our children and their future, let's start cleaning it up now!

Respectfully,

Dear Editor:

In reference to the May 14th, School Board meeting and the suspension of Angie Styron, I would like the public to consider the following:

•Angie Styron has been a good and faithful employee of the CP•I believe Angie when she says she did not send personal letters of another employee.

•The CPSB is not a private business. The Superintendent is named by the board members - the members are elected by voters and thereby all are answerable to the entire public. All the resolutions in the world won't change that!.

•Angie was denied due process at the meeting when neither she nor her attorney was allowed to speak in her behalf. Why not?

•This "unbecoming behavior" Angie is accused of "not a proven fact" is a personal thing between the writer and sender of personal letters. I am truly sorry for the embarrassment to the writer, but feel that this petty act of someone who felt the need to copy/send them is unfortunate, but hardly worthy of a criminal investigation or so much time and attention of the CPSB.

•I though the American way was innocent until proven guilty - not guilty until proven innocent.

Angie will go back to work in 90 days and go about doing her usual work. Her reputation is publicly marred, but her personal friends and family believe in her and her ability to perform her duties and put the past behind her. Will all your employees?

/s/ Goose and Carla Richard,
Cameron, La.

RESOLUTION
PARISH OF CAMERON
RESOLUTION URGING AND REQUESTING THE CAMERON PARISH LEGISLATIVE DELEGATION TO SPONSOR LEGISLATION AT THE UPCOMING SESSION OF THE LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE TO AMEND THE LOUISIANA CONSTITUTION RAISING THE CAP ON THE ANNUAL GENERAL SEVERANCE TAX ALLOCATION TO THE PARISHES FROM ITS CURRENT $500,000 TO $1,500,000.
WHEREAS, the Louisiana Constitution requires that twenty cents (20%) of all general severance collected by Louisiana's state government be returned to the parishes where the resources was produced; and
WHEREAS, the drafters of our Constitution put this provision into law to insure that local governments would receive some revenues raised as a result of mineral production in their parishes to compensate them for the additional demands that natural resources industry places on local services and local infrastructures such as roads, bridges, drainage and the like; and
WHEREAS, the Constitution further provides that local governments are prohibited from levying severance taxes; and
WHEREAS, the Severance Tax distribution to the parishes is further limited by a cap of $500,000 per parish, per year; and
WHEREAS, as a result of the corrosion effect of inflation, and according to the current Consumer Price Index, the actual purchasing power of this $500,000 cap, which was instituted in1974, has been reduced to less than $150,000; and
WHEREAS, therefore, in order to maintain the purchasing power of the cap of $500,000 in terms of its 1974 value, it would be necessary to raise the ceiling of the cap at least three-fold, or to $1,500,000;
NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Cameron Parish Police Jury convened in regular session on the 4th day of March, 1997, that it does hereby urge and request its Legislative Delegation to sponsor legislation at the upcoming session of the Louisiana Legislature to amend the Louisiana Constitution raising the cap on the annual general severance tax allocation to the parishes from its current $500,000 to $1,500,000.
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be sent to individual members of the Louisiana Congressional Delegation and Cameron Parish Legislative Delegation, so that they may know the position of this body on this important matter.

Box 2627, Baton Rouge, LA 70821) on or before the 19th day of June, 1997 at 10:00 a.m., for a lease to explore, drill for and produce oil, gas and any other liquid or gaseous minerals in solution produced with oil or gas on the following described tracts (Tract Nos. 30024 through 30028) on which time and date the bids will be opened publicly in the Natural Resources Building, Capitol Complex, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

TRACT 30037 - Cameron Parish, Louisiana – All of the lands now or hereafter constituting the beds and bottoms of all water bodies of every nature and description and the islands and other lands formed by accretion or reliction, and/or lands, covered by or not under mineral lease from the State of Louisiana on June 11, 1997, situated in Cameron Parish, Louisiana, the following described boundaries: Beginning at a point having Coordinates of X = 1,515,788.33 and Y = 449,330.00; thence West 18,480.00 feet; thence North 01 degree 25 minutes 30 seconds East 15,746.00 feet; thence East 18,480.00 feet; thence South 01 degree 25 minutes 30 seconds West 15,746.00 feet to the point of beginning, containing 6,679.00 acres, more or less, as shown outlined in red on a plat on file in the Office of Mineral Resources, Department of Natural Resources. All bearings, distances and coordinates are based on Louisiana Coordinate System of 1927 (South Zone).

NOTE: The State of Louisiana does not guarantee, and this lease shall be subject to, the imprescriptible right of surface use by the owner of a servitude in favor of the Department of Natural Resources, including its Officers and Commissions, for the sole purpose of inspecting, constructing, servicing and maintaining approved coastal zone management and/or restoration projects, including all or any and all projects in existence at the time these leases, its agents, successors or assigns, shall not interfere with nor hinder the exercise of the surface use by the Department of Natural Resources, its Officers or Commissions, as hereinabove reserved.

Upon like payment annually, drilling operations may be further deferred for successive periods of one year each during the primary term of three years. The lease shall provide for the drilling of offset wells where necessary to protect the State's interest and shall contain the provisions against the assignment or sublease of the lease except as approved by the State Mineral Board. The lessee shall have the right to enter into pooling or unitization agreements with respect to development of the leased premises subject to the approval of the State Mineral Board.

Certified checks, cashier's check or bank money order payable to the OFFICE OF MINERAL RESOURCES for the full amount of the aforesaid cash payment, shall accompany and be submitted with each bid, and no bid thus submitted may be thereafter withdrawn or canceled and the certified check, cashier's check or bank money order accompanying the bid of the successful bidder shall be immediately negotiated and the proceeds thereof disbursed in the manner required by law.

"THE VERY BEST"
A million times we've needed you; A million times we've cried; If our love could have saved you; You never would have died. If all the world was ours to give; We would give it, and more; To see you driving up, And walking through the door. To hear you say, "What's going on?", to see your smile; To sit and talk with you a while; To be with you the same old way; Would be our fondest wish today. Hearts of gold stopped beating; Smiling eyes closed to rest; God broke our hearts to prove to us; He only takes "The Very Best." We love and miss you.

LEGISLATION

There are over 250 bills in the legislature pending that could affect the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries various operations. One is the LDWF worth keeping? I'd say yes, because look at all the structures and improvements that help our fishery, hunting, hiking, boating, bird watching and many more, plus all the jobs not only in the department, but for the monies being spent by these folks who enjoy the outdoors, plus the sportsfishing and commercial fishing.

AREA FISHING

Good reports of area fishing, both saltwater and freshwater. Saltwater inland waters and offshore are getting better each day. Good catches of large bream and white perch are being taken, as well as gooe catches of redfish reported. Calmer waters offshore saw some good catches of red snapper last week.

NAME CHANGE

As of Jan. 1, 1997, the Gulf Coast Conservation Association of Louisiana (GCCA) officially became Coastal Conservation Association of Louisiana (CCA). It's a new name but still the same association and they are going to keep the redfish logo.

BOATING

Nationwide boating fatalities dropped to an all time low of 714 in 1996.

Nationally, in 1996, there was a 13 percent decline over 1995, where there were 818 casualties. This is the greatest drop in a decade. The greatest number of deaths were recorded in 1973, when there wre 1754 deaths nationwide.

Most deaths were due to drowning, not wearing life jackets. Boating accidents without deaths have also declined.

MEMORIAL DAY

Many anglers and outdoors folks are gearing up for Memorial Day weekend, May 24-26. There wil lbe plenty of water traffic as well asl highway traffic, so be extremely careful.

SERIOUS FISHERMEN

Are you a serious fisherman? Well, if you are a serious fisherman, you're cheating on your wife, by hiding those fishing tackle shop charges on your credit card. Your boat payments are higher than your house mortgage, or payments on your trialer house. Maybe you're on a first name basis with the outdoor writer and your phone answering machine says, "We're out fishing, but you can leave us a message at the sound of the tone."

SUNDAY HUNTING

You say I can hunt on Sunday. Laws which prohibit hunting on Sundays still occur in the United States and date back to an era of "The Blue Law", which limits social, business and retail activities.

Sunday hunting is prohibited or drastically restricted in eleven eastern states.

LEGISLATIVE BILLS

To restore enforcement powers to those DWF personnel who had them before Sept. 25, 1996 on game management areas and refuges of the state.

Allow the suspension of recreational fishing and hunting licenses, as well as other licenses, for failure to pay state personal income tax.

Repeal the 7-day nonresident basic recreational sports fishing license and keep the 3 day license only.

To outlaw the use of bow and arrow to take largemouth or spotted bass, black or white crappie, white or yellow bass, striped or hybrid striped bass or bream.

Allow residents between 60 and 65 years old to recreationally fish or hunt with the purchase of a basic fishing or hunting license without having to buy additional licenses. Now any person over 60 years of age are exempt from buying any hunting or fishing license.

Allow recreational fishermen to possess a two day bag imit of redfish and speckle trout, except while fishing or while on the water.

Allow any U.S. citizen over 65 years of age to recreationally fish in Louisiana without the purchase of a nonresident or resident license.

Require anyone operating a personal watercraft (jet ski) to have a driver's license or proof of a completion of a water safety course.

Make speckle torut and redfish gamefish.

Create a constitutional amendment that prevents actions that interfere with the right to hunt, fish or trap.

DID YA KNOW?

TO THE VOTERS OF CAMERON PARISH IN DISTRICT 5,

I am writing this letter, because I cannot think of any other way to get the concerns that I have to each of you. I have heard as a board member that the people are tired of hearing the "hear say" and just what "they" want you to know. I feel an obligation to you, the people, because when I ran for this office that is what I promised you, not to play the game and to keep you informed.

I would like to say at this time that I have the utmost respect and admiration for our Superintendent of the Cameron Parish School Board. I admire her in the way she is attempting to lead our Parish. Although, she has the right intention, she cannot do it alone. Without support, her hands are tied. A leader, who has a sense of direction, but is given no tools to help her accomplish the mission, has nothing. This is a big concern of mine, and it is affecting the quality of our education system. Our country has won wars with leadership, and without leadership, we have lost them. Who suffers the most in the losing of these wars? Everyone, the soldiers and the people of our country. In the education system, there is no question who will suffer, OUR CHILDREN, OUR FUTURE!

I would like to tell you how I feel about playing the game of POLITICS and how it can destroy what it is intended to build. Politics can be used to assist us in our mission, or it can be used to teach our children some very bad habits. Why, in Louisiana is the education process ranked at the bottom of our nation? Lack of leadership, a clear lack of focus and political involvement are just some of the reasons. However, with the current leadership we now have in office, I do see positive changes for our future. If we do not set good and morally motivated examples for our young people to follow, what should we expect back from them? These people are our FUTURE! How can we prepare them to do the right thing, if they see the supporting of wrong doing? It is our responsibility to set the right examples, so that they can learn from them.

Our CHILDREN are the reason I ran for this office and NO OTHER! I thought I could get in there and do the right thing. Boy, was I let down, and in the process have let you down. I am sorry for that, I had no idea it was this out of hand, with just a handful controlling our problem.

There is no question why, outside qualified and certified teachers do not want to come teach in this parish, I certainly would not want to if I were a teacher. There are some of our current, good, qualified and certified teachers who want to leave our system. This saddens me, but I cannot blame them. They are suffering right along with the children. However, I as a board member can assure you we are infiltrated with this problem.

We have classrooms without certified teachers, whenever they are available! Maybe not in the field, but they are certified, and just passed right on up. This is sending a very sorrowful message to the young men and women who are attending college and wanting to return to their parish to use there education to benefit the children. Let us not forget the parents, of these young men and women, who spend their time and money to send their children to further their education.

I would like to say that my vision when I began this office was to begin with an end in mind. Ask yourself a question, starting on a pre-school level, at what level would you like your child to be when he graduates from our schools? Without leadership, integrity and accountability this vision will not be given to our children for them to have a chance.

In closing, I would like to leave you with a thought, which is a quote from one of our famous presidents: "The art of war is simple. Find out where the enemy is. Get at him as soon as you can. Strike at him as hard as you can and keep moving.

Respectively Yours,

Tony Johnson

FOR HOLIDAY WEEKENDS

Jurors vote no on Sunday sales

By a 3 to 2 vote last Friday in a special meeting, the Cameron Parish Police Jury voted to deny a request from parish bar owners to be allowed to stay open last Sunday during the Memorial Day weekend.

Bar owners at Holly Beach had asked the jury to make an exception to the parish's ordinance prohibiting alcoholic sales on Sunday stating they would be losing business from the large number of holiday visitors on the beach.

However a number of persons appeared at the meeting or called jurors in opposition to Sunday sales.

Juror Dusty Sandifer offered a motion to allow Sunday liquor sales on Sundays during the Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends, which draw large crowds to the beach. Malcolm Savoie seconded the motion.

However Jurors George LeBouef, George Hicks and Douaine Conner voted against the motion killing it. (Juror President Brent Nunez did not vote.)

Later Sandifer asked that a item be placed on the June 3 jury meeting dealing with the amending of the liquor ordinance for Ward 5 only. Ward 5 includes Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou.

"Area residents attending the Coastal Wetlands Planning, Protection and Restoration Act task force meeting April 24, 1997 in Baton Rouge were given good news when the Black Bayou Hydrologic Restoration Project, located in the Calcasieu-Sabine Basin, was ranked number 1 in the state for funding under CWPPRA for the sixth priority listing" according to Representatives Dan Flavin, Ronnie Johns and Senators Jim Cox and Jerry Theunissen.

This project was fully funded for the sixth priority listing with $6,316,800 and was sponsored by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, National Marine Fisheries Service. This project is an important component of restoring wetlands in southwestern Calcasieu Parish and northwestern Cameron Parish. The project was supported by numerous local, state and federal authorities and overwhelming support from user groups in these areas.

The Black Bayou Hydrologic Restoration Project has a project area of 25,529 acres.The objective of this project is to divert freshwater from the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and create a freshwater hydrologic reservoir that maximizes freshwater retention time and reduces salt water intrusion and tidal action.

The second phase of the Sweetlake-Willow Lake Hydrologic Restoration Project, was funded by the task force at $2,500,000. This project will help deter the erosion in the Sweetlake-Willow Lake area of central Cameron Parish in the Mermentau Basin. This project was proposed by the United States Department of Agriculture, Natural Resources Conservation Service. Phase one of this project was funded under the fifth year CWPPRA project listing. Phases two and three were combined and funded at the meeting to facilitate a timely construction of this project.

The Legislative delegation also stated that the monitoring plans for the Highway 384 hydrologic restoration near Big Lake in Cameron Parish and the monitoring plans for the Brown Lake Project were also debated and approved by the full task force at this meeting.

Cameron God-fearing in 1884 said elder

(EDITOR'S NOTE--Cameron Parish was a God-fearing place in 1882 as the following article testifies. It was researched by Keith Hambrick.)

Lake Charles Echo
May 20, 1882

We take the following extract from a letter to the New Orleans Christian Advocate, by Rev. Lewis A. Reed, Presiding Elder of this district for the M. E. Church, South. It explains itself and speaks volumes for our Cameron friends.

Grand Chenier is in Cameron Parish, one among the few parishes in the state where the Sabbath is kept and everybody goes to church if they have preaching; where no whiskey or any intoxicating liquor is sold or drank by anyone, nor has been for several years; drunkards are compelled to be sober, or seek some place where license is granted for the sale of that which ruins men and society, and entails a burdensome tax upon the people, for they can not find it in Cameron, and perhaps never will again, as they have realized from its expulsion small taxes, few criminal prosecutions, people moral and law-abiding, parish out of debt, with sixteen hundred dollars in the treasury. The stewards found it very difficult to obtain wine for the sacrament at the quarterly meeting. For temperance it is sending out an influence that is felt.

Coming to this appointment, I spent about forty-eight hours on board the schooner Lavonia Perkins, Captain A. Rolifing, loaded with railroad ties, and bound for Indianola, Texas, and during all the passage, I saw no intoxicating liquor of any kind, not even a glass of wine. I heard no swearing, nothing boisterous, no loud talking, no loud or harsh commands. All the captain's orders were given in an undertone of voice, and were obeyed in like spirit, the captain controlling his crew like the government of a well regulated family, in all mildness, a religious influence seemed to pervade through the whole ship's company, impressing me with the fact that man can serve God, if he will, in all the lawful occupations of life, whether on water or land. What instructions does the management of this vessel impart to captains of steamboats, steamships, sail ships or railroad agents, showing that men can be governed by moral suasion, without brute force.

Food signup being held

The Cameron Community Action Agency will begin re-certification for USDA donated food distributed to needy families under the Temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program. Re-certification will be from May 22 to June 6 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 723 Marshall St., Cameron.

WILDLIFE DRIVE OPEN

The Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge has opened the new 3-mile Pintail Wildlife Drive. The one way road will have signs posted and many plants and migratory birds can be seen, as well as small and large alligators, mottled ducks, whistling ducks, rails and gallinules.

It will be open seven days a week from official sunrise to sunset. Located one mile north of the Gibbstown Bridge on La. 27 on the east side, it will be accessible by school and tour buses as well as motor homes and vehicles pulling trailers.

The refuge visitors center is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays. The refuge is closed on Sundays and federal holidays.

Public fishing is allowed only on the west side of La. 27, along the bank, Fishing Road and Outfall Canal, accessible only by boat. A free fishing permit is available at the Refuge center by writing 1428 Hwy. 27, Bell City, La. 70630, or call 318-5908-2216. East Cove, next to Calcasieu Lake, is also part of the refuge rules. A free public fishing permit for 15,000 acres of brackish marsh is available upon request from refuge headquarters.

FISHING REPORTS

A Lake Charles angler fishing Big Lake came close to breaking a speckle trout Louisiana record. Boating a 10 lb. 13 oz. speckled trout put him in second place. The record, 12 lbs. 6 ozs., was caught in May 1950. The third place catch was 10 lbs. 13 ozs. caught in 1977.

The trout caught by Kevin Gally had a length of 20-5/16 inches, fork length 29-5/8 and 17 inch girth.

Fishing has really picked up in our saltwater areas, with nice speckle trout and good size redfish being reported. Offshore fishing is also good with reports of large red snapper and fair size Spanish mackerel being taken.

Bass fishing on Lacassine Refuge has gotten tough, but fish are being caught. Quenton LeBoeuf and Darren Thibodeaux of Creole won a Saturday morning shoot-out as well as a Monday night shoot-out. Not many large bass are caught, but still average.

The Big Burns and Miami Corporation permit fishing has picked up. Limits of bass, fair in size are reported, and good catches again this week of bream and also catfish.

Sabine Refuge is still fair fishing. A friend of mine caught a 7 lb. bass last weekend backed up with a 4-1/2 and 2 over 3 pounds.

HOUSE BILLS

Here is a few more bills that could affect fishing and boating if passed by the La. State Legislature:

Legalize the use of seines in saltwater areas.

Homemade boats to be inspected by regional office of DWF after application is made; if boat passes, the agent will stamp a hull number on the boat and the owner will send registration form with favorable report and $25 fee to DWF.

To require every outboard motor used on a boat in the state be registered with DWF, and the registration number be on the motor itself. A $2 fee per year will be charged.

Authorize the WFC to create rules to register all freshwater fish netting, not just commercial netting.

REMINDER

June 6-8 is National Fishing Week. Frog season opens June 1. Father's Day, June 8. Fishing licenses will be on sale in June. Remember to get your new Basic Residents Freshwater and Saltwater licenses before July 1.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Student questions fairness in ruling

Letter to the Editor:

Eleven years ago my dream in life was born. I was selected to be a cheerleader in my kindergarten class. From that day on I knew what was most important in life to me, cheering. Since then I have worked hard and pursued this activity with all of my heart. As an elementary student, I was a cheerleader for each year that I was eligible. I was the only person in my class selected to cheer for the first two years that I attended high school. The greatest moment in my life occurred the summer before my tenth grade year, I was selected as an "All-American Cheerleader" for the National Cheerleader's Association. For this honor I was allowed to cheer in Dallas, Tex., for the Adolphus Children's Christmas Parade.

This fall, I made what was to be a mistake that would change my life forever. I became pregnant. Since the time that I found out I knew what I had to do, and that is the best that I can for my child. I became more health conscious and began eating the right foods and taking care of myself. My parents have been wonderful during this time. They have been very supportive and have not belittled or judged me because of my mistake. Most of my friends have also been very supportive, because they all understood that this could also happen to them. I did not try to hide anything about my situation. I was always very forthcoming about my condition with my school sponsors and teachers. I always felt that telling the truth and taking responsibility for my action was very important, and that because of this I would be treated fairly. I have recently found out that this is not the case.

In February I and another cheerleader were pulled out of class and told that we would not be allowed to participate at that evening's basketball game because were both pregnant. To the best of my knowledge, this was the first time that this had happened since I came to the South Cameron High School. My parents contacted the superintendent and with her cooperation and a doctor's release, I was allowed to cheer that evening. That, however, was only the start of my problem at school.

In April when cheerleader tryouts were beginning, I was brought into the principal's office and told that the one thing that I had dreamed about and loved for so long was being ripped from me. I was not going to be allowed to try out for cheerleading my senior year. This would be the last time that I would be allowed to support my team, my friends, and my school. The reason given, I was pregnant. There had never been any hint that I would not allowed to tryout. I was always told that if I obtained a doctor's release there would be no problem. Suddenly my world began crumbling around me. The cheerleading sponsor, who had been very supportive of my situation, resigned her position. My doctor of several months, the one who I had obtained a medical release form, suddenly changed his position and then told me to find another doctor. When I asked why, he told me that he had talked with my principal and he would no longer be able to help me. Several of my friends began telling me that some high school teachers were lecturing their classes and using me as an example. They were saying that I was a symbol of the decline of morals in our school and should not allowed to cheer. My position has always been, "I have made a mistake which I will have to find a way to live with. I have always been honest and forthcoming about my situation. Why. then am I being punished by the very people who I was taught to trust the most, my teachers and principal."

There are many more questions that I have been asking lately. Unfortunately, no one seems to have any answers. For example, two years ago another girl became pregnant, told no one, tried out for cheerleader, and made the squad. Nothing was ever said about her being on the squad. Before her pregnancy, there was a statement on the cheerleader's sign-up form which stated, "Any persons that is married, a parent, or a parent-to-be will not be allowed to continue participating in that sport."

Shortly after that incident, the statement was removed from the sign-up form. Why? Several years prior to that incident, a girl was pregnant, had the baby, and played fast pitch baseball for the first few months of her pregnancy and then again the very next year. Why was nothing ever said about this incident? During this football season one girl was pregnant on the pep squad and allowed to walk on the field at the New Orleans Superdome Classic. Also, the other cheerleader, who became pregnant shortly before I did, was allowed to continue cheering with no questions asked, until the announcement of my pregnancy.

Neither of these girls was told anything until my pregnancy. Why? Another point that I feel that I have to address is why is nothing done to any of the fathers of these children. The girls are being penalized for their situation, however, none of them became pregnant alone. Why were they not told that they could not play football, wrestle, or any sport. In fact in almost every case that I have cited above, nothing at all was done to the fathers.

Please let me be clear about my next point. I have nothing against these girls or what happened to them. I feel that they are no better or worse than me. None of what happened to them was their fault, however, what I would like to know is why they were treated differently. Why did my principal, whose job is to run our school in a responsible manner, take it upon himself to drive to Lake Charles and talk to my doctor? What was said between the two of them: Why did my doctor then drop me as a patient when he had previously been nothing but supportive?

Where were our superintendent and school board members during all this? Why have they not gotten involved? I thought it was their responsibility to see that everyone is treated fairly. Why have my teachers and principal, who I had the utmost respect for, turned against me? Are they so perfect in every way that they are going to be allowed to be my judge and jury? What they do not realize is that they may one day have to face the same situation that my parents had to face, a pregnant child.

My parents, who have been nothing but supportive, are tying to provide me with the extra strength that I now need. Unfortunately, they can get no answers to my questions either. I am sure that they have a few unanswered questions of their own, like why is their child being treated differently.

I feel that I must begin looking toward the future, rather than the past. I have to think about my little angel who will arrive soon. He will surely show me that there are brighter days ahead. I know that my life will be forever changed with his arrival, however, as with all changes in life we must make the best of them. My only concern is how I will face him and tell him that not everyone will always treat him fairly. How will I tell him about the people who will look down on him and will label as "not good as we are". How can I tell him to trust the very people who will place roadblocks in his path? How can I protect him from the pain that has been inflicted on me? Will the people who have questioned my morals and told me that I am no longer a role model still be in power when he reaches my age? Will they judge him as they have judged me? How can we, as parents, face our children knowing that we have allowed this to continue?

PARISHWIDE SUMMER RECREATION PROGRAM

A parishwide summer recreation program for Cameron Parish was unveiled at a meeting of community recreation leaders at Fred's Restaurant in Cameron Monday night.

The program, which will include little league baseball for boys and softball for men and girls, will be financed by the sheriff's department, which is permitted to allocate funds each year for youth recreational work.

Sheriff O. B. Carter, who will retire from office on May 20, and Sheriff-elect Claude Eagleson, both were present at the meeting and expressed their support of the program.

It was agreed that the sheriff's department will appropriate $600 for each of the seven major communities of the parish, for a total of $4,200 for the summer program.

Robert Manuel, South Cameron High School coach, will be hired as the parish co-ordinator for the project, with his salary to be paid by the sheriff's department in addition to the community appropriations.

Recreation directors will be hired for each of these communities: Cameron, Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach, Hackberry, Sweetlake-Grand Lake, Creole, Grand Chenier and the black community.

The parishwide program will be supervised by a parish recreation board composed of the following members: Diel LaLande, Cameron; Joe Bonnier, Johnson Bayou; Alfred Dahon, Grand Lake; Sonny McCall, Grand Chenier; Tommy Savoie, Creole; and Nyles Spurlock, Hackberry.

RETIRING JURORS HONORED

Three retiring members of the Cameron Parish Police Jury were honored at the monthly jury meeting Monday at the courthouse by being made honorary members of the jury.

Cited for their "exemplary service" to the public during the past were Eraste Hebert of Sweetlake, Mrs. Adenise Trosclair of Cameron and Vian Theriot of Creole. Their terms of office ended last Monday when newly elected jurors took office.

Hebert and Theriot had served as jurors from Wards 4 and 2, respectively, for the past 28 years. Hebert had also been president of the police jury for the past 16 years. Mrs. Trosclair served out the remainder of the four-year term of her late husband, Roland Trosclair, who died last year.

BRIDGE DOUBLE TROUBLE

Cameron Parish had a double dose of bridge trouble last week.

The new Grand Lake bridge, just opened last Tuesday, was put out of commission Thursday after a boat broke a cable on the bridge. However, it was back in operation by the end of the week.

At Port Arthur, the much plagued Pleasure Pier bridge was hit by another ship Sunday morning. However, the damage was light and the bridge was back in operation that afternoon, serving as the vital link to Cameron Parish.

THIS WEEK
(By Jerry Wise)

The Cameron Parish Home Demonstration Council report for 1963 placed second in Southwest Louisiana competition against 20 other parish s recently. Calcasieu Parish was first. Congratulations to the local council.

Speaking of old established businesses, congratulations also to the Fawvors on completing their second year of operating Fawvor Chevrolet Co. at Creole. They certainly have been selling the cars this year.

Sunday sales election set

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday voted to allow voters of Cameron Parish decide on the issue on Sunday alcohol sales. An election on the matter will be held in October.

Representatives of local churches crowded the Police Jury meeting room Tuesday morning for their regular monthly meeting.

The Jurors asked them to meet with Tina Horn, parish administrator, and Bret Barham, assistant district attorney, to discuss the parish liquor ordinance and to answer questions they might have, then to meet with the Jury after their meeting. No jurors attended the private meeting.

When the Jury meeting reconvened, Barham read a letter from Glenn Alexander, District Attorney, concerning the Jury's inquiry on allowing the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

Alexander stated that he had researched this question and in particular Louisiana Revised statute 51:191 enacted in 1986 and revamping the Sunday closing laws and repealed the old Blue Laws.

The conclusion reached by the Third Circuit Court of Appeal is that a local government may not prohibit Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages without holding an election, and a Sunday closing ordinance may be enacted only if an election is held.

The opinion made it clear that ordinances enacted before R.S. 51:191 are not enforceable unless approved by the voters in an election. Alexander stated that Cameron's Sunday sales and closing ordinances are not enforceable since it has not been submitted to the voters.

Barham explained that this means that bars can continue to sell alcoholic beverages and stay open on Sundays until the October election is held.

SHERIFF'S LETTER

Theos Duhon, Chief Deputy for the Sheriff's office appeared on behalf of Sheriff Sono Savoie, who read a letter form the Sheriff opposing amending the ordinance to permit Sunday liquor sales at Holly Beach.

His letter said in part:

"I don't think one part of the Parish should be different from the others. If you exclude Holly Beach I don't think justice is being done. As far as I'm concerned if it is excluded I don't see why I should subject my department to the abuse and harassment they confront in trying to keep law and order among the drunks.

"We are in the business of saving lives and keeping law and order. If Holly Beach decides they don't want peace on the 7th day, maybe we should spread out and serve the rest of the people who do.

"My friends, do you want law and order or do you want the wild west? Maybe we should let the voters of Cameron Parish decide whether or not they want the sales of alcohol on the Sabbath Day."

OPPOSITION EXPRESSED

Representatives of the local churches opposing the passage of the ordinance included Paul Jones who stated, "We have representatives from all churches in Cameron. We feel like we have enough violence in the parish without adding to it with liquor sales."

Pier, park discussed

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A meeting of various agencies associated with the Cameron Salt Water Fishing Pier met Tuesday afternoon with the Cameron Police Jury to discuss plans to develop a pier and proposed state park along the Cameron beach.

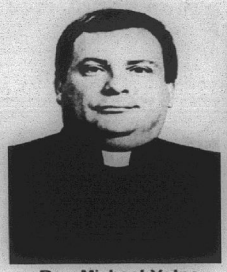
George LeBouef, Police Juror, said $204,200 from the Wallup-Breaux Bill and the $32,000 from Rural Area Development has been appropriated for the pier, which will be located at the end of the Cameron jetty road.

Parish administrator Tina Horn reported that the Congress has appropriated some money for state parks and Clay Fontenot of the Office of State Parks is scheduled to come to Cameron soon to discuss with the Jury what is needed to qualify for the funds.

Fontenot said that from 300 to 400 acres would be need for a state park, which could be created as an addition to the jetty pier.

It was pointed out that approximately 1/4 miles of mud flats have built up along the beach which now belongs to the state and could be surveyed to determine just how much property the state owns in that area.

Father Volpe to b Cameron Pastor



Rev. Michael Volpe

Father Alphonse Michael Volpe, Catholic chaplain for the Lake Charles Memorial Hospital, has recently been named pastor to the Church of Our Lady Star of the Sea in Cameron.

A former school teacher, Father Volpe is the son of Vera and Alphonse Volpe Sr. of Attleboro, Mass. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Providence College run by the Dominican Friars of Rhode Island and taught school a number of years in New England. He came to Louisiana in 1976 to begin his seminary with the Benedictine Order then based in Lake Charles. He completed his Master of Divinity degree from St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn., conducted by the Benedictine Order.

Father Volpe completed his diaconate internship in pastoral ministry while serving at St. Raphael's Church in Iowa, La., and was ordained by Bishop Jude Speyrer in 1983. He served as associate pastor at St. Henry's Church in Lake Charles and taught freshman biology and religion at St. Louis High School. He also served as a Chaplain to the Sisters of Charity-St. Patrick's hospital in Lake Charles. He was then assigned to Jeff Davis Parish and became associate pastor at Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Jennings. There he joined the faculty at nearby Goretti Catholic High in Lake Arthur and was interim principal until the school closed in 1988.

In 1989, Father Volpe was assigned to his first pastorate at St. Charles Borromeo Church in Fenton and became Chaplain for the Jennings City Police Dept. for five years. He currently holds membership in the International Conference of Police Chaplains and served as state representative for Louisiana for two years.

In 1995, Father Volpe received a grant from the Office of Continuing Education for Priests (Diocese of Lake Charles) and received his second masters degree in religious education from Loyola University staffed by the Jesuit Fathers of New Orleans. His specialization of study was in the area of Adult Education for Bible Study.

Father Volpe's second appointment as a pastor becomes effective July 1, upon the retirement of Monsignor Curtis Vidrine who served the Cameron area for 20 years.

Installation ceremonies for the new pastor on July 11, at 6 p.m. in the church. A reception will follow.

Youth to go to Washington meet

Trisha Silver of Hackberry was one of 30 high school students who gathered in Baton Rouge recently to attend a Youth Leadership Conference, meet with state officials and to learn more about electric cooperatives.

The conference was hosted by Jeff Davis Electric Cooperative, together with Louisiana's 11 distribution cooperatives from around the state, and was in conjunction with the "Government-in-Action" Youth Tour of Washington, D. C., sponsored each year by Jeff Davis Electric.

Jason Istre and Trisha won the trip by participating in a statewide 4-H achievement competition.

Jeff Davis Electric's youth tour winners joined 30 Louisiana high school students for the training session where they formed and operated mock cooperatives, toured Cajun Electric Power Cooperative's "Big Cajun II" power plant in New Roads and spent an afternoon meeting lawmakers from the Louisiana House of Representatives and Senate.

In June, the students will return to Baton Rouge and then travel to Washington, D. C., where they will join over 1,500 students from 36 states. While in Washington, they will visit the offices of Louisiana's representatives and senators, the U. S. Capitol, the Smithsonian Institution, Arlington National Cemetery and other historical and government sites.

Mike Heinen, manager of Member Services for Jeff Davis Electric said that the conference gave the students an opportunity to get to know each other before the trip to Washington, D. C.

One of the highlights of the trip to Baton Rouge was a visit to the Louisiana State Capitol to visit with lawmakers.

J. Bayou was 'No Man's Land'

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Visitors from all over the United States and world are now coming to this area via the Creole Nature Trail National Scenic Byway, which starts at Sulphur and continues south into Cameron Parish.

The trip south enters an area at Johnson Bayou which at one time was a notorious "no man's land".

It was known variously as the Neutral Strip, the Neutral Ground, Neutral Zone, No-Man's-Land, Grand Free State of Sabine, Stinking Hole, and the Back Door to the United States (so named by John Quincy Adams, 6th U. S. President from 1825-29).

The territory served as the back door to Spanish-Mexican held Texas, and it was from here that Americans entered Texas and severed it from Mexico.

This Neutral Zone of Southwest Louisiana was the result of a boundary dispute between the United States and Spain.

Louisiana had purchased the Louisiana Territory in the Louisiana Purchase from France in 1803 for $15 million. It was composed of 827,987 square miles. This vast area lay between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, stretching from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border. Eventually all or a part of 15 states were formed out of the region. Spain owned Texas and Mexico until 1821.

Meanwhile, the two governments argued over a 5,000 square mile strip from the Rio Hondo on the north near Natchitoches between the Sabine and Calcasieu rivers on the west and east to the Gulf of Mexico on the south.

Spain held that the Calcasieu River was the boundary and the United States maintained it was the Sabine.

It is also believed that there had been a mix-up with possibly one or both of the countries thinking the two rivers were one and the same.

NEUTRAL ZONE

As a reasonable way to avoid war, the Spanish and American military commanders agreed to create a neutral zone into which neither side would send troops until the boundary issue was settled. Outlaws immediately took advantage of this safe haven.

NO MAN'S LAND

The United States and Great Britain agreed in 1818 to establish the northern boundary at the 49th parallel. In the south, the U. S. claimed West Florida as apart of Texas.

Thomas Jefferson pointed out that as early as 1696 France had actual possession of the Gulf Coast from Mobile, Ala., westward, and that 1755 maps published by the French government showed the Perdido River as the eastern boundary of France's possessions.

This, Jefferson claimed, was part of the land that Spain gave back to france in 1800, and therefore a part of the Louisiana Purchase.

In the treaty of 1819 with Spain, the U. S. purchased Florida and surrendered its claim to Texas, and Spain, in return, gave up its claim to West Florida.

JOHNSON BAYOU

On the extreme southwestern edge of the Neutral Strip was Johnson's Bayou, named after Daniel Johnson, the first white settler, who had come over across the Sabine River seeking grazing land for his cattle herd.

Because of the salt in the marsh grass no salt blocks were ever required for the herd.

Before this there is evidence of a large Indian community there from excavations found in the area.

During the battle of New Orleans 91815) Jean Laffite, the buccaneer, met many people from the Neutral Zone. He already had a trade route established there, but now he recruited men from this area to join him.

His contraband flowed freely up the Red, Calcasieu and Sabine rivers, including slaves, spices, jewels, and traded it for supplies he needed for his operations.

He was not a "slaver", but got in the business by capturing ships with slaves aboard for which he built large slave pens (baracoons) on Galveston Island, the Calcasieu and Sabine rivers, north of the present day Orange, Tex., where slave auctions were held.

Some of Laffite's associates who were from the Neutral Zone, or who lived in it either before or after 1821, included Henry Griffith (Johnson Bayou, who had married the granddaughter of Daniel Johnson), Henry Perry, William Smith, Arsene LeBleu, John Ayres, Latney Parrot, Raymond Daley, Michel deRiviere (Pithon), James Campbell, Jean Baptists Callistre, Charles Sallier, Pierre Guillotte, Henri Nunez, Burril Franks, Charles Cronea (who lived in Calcasieu Parish before returning to High Island, Tex.), and no doubt many others.

In 1812 Father Jose Antonio Richardo, trying to prove Spanish ownership of Southwest Louisiana, wrote: "Supposing that the French did not possess the territory of Attakapas and Opelousas, that because of the brashness of all the Frenchmen who established themselves as far as the Sabine River without permission, France could not acquire any right to those lands. Then the U. S. bought Louisiana without these lands from France. Then Spain ought not to give the U. S. These lands. Then the U. S. must not take these lands from Spain."

Our ancestors were not timid. Creoles and Acadians had been planted in the prairies, marshes and the bayous of Southwest Louisiana for three or four generations by the time the scholar-priest wrote this.

It is entirely possible that had those Frenchmen not been so brazen, settling without title to the land, Southwest Louisiana would have been Spanish territory for a long time, even today.

FISHING REPORTS

Our weather wasn't the best for the Memorial Day weekend, but many anglers were out, especially inland waters, as well as folks out crabbing. We dodged the weather for two days and caught a few nice bass in the Big Burn and Amoco Field.

Lacassine Refuge has slowed down quite a bit, but good bass are still being taken. A 1/2 or 3/4 Johnson spoon with a green spot port #11 chunk works well in the lily pads, but don't forget to throw the worm, like grape pearl or red shad and don't be afraid to throw a 10 or 11 inch worm.

In the Big Burn use same pattern, but spinner baits and buzzbaits are also working, using a white or baby bass skirt.

A friend of mine fishing Sabine Refuge says bass fishing is doing better and he's using moccasin color worms.

Offshore has been a touch and go thing, many days the weather just won't cooperate, but some have made quick trips off Grand Chenier jetties to the platforms 5 to 7 miles out, catching a few speckle trout.

The Mermentau River is producing redfish from the jetties up the river to Mud Lake. June should be a good month on the river for specs and reds from the jetties to Catfish Locks. Live bait works well but don't forget the avocado/red grub and the white/red cocahoe. Fishing a rattle trap will also pay off.

Calcasieu lake should also be hot for June with nice size speckle trout being reported and a few redfish. Some good specs were caught last week at Commissary Point. Good catches of flounder on the south end of the lake.

The pontoon bridge over the Intracoastal Canal on La. 384 will surely hurt many anglers in their travels. We would either have to go around through Lake Charles or Hackberry to get to the north end of the lake, unless you have a big boat and leave from Cameron.

We have quite a few parish anglers starting to fish Sabine Lake and they tell me they're catching some nice redfish. This is kind of a forgotten lake.

Rockefeller Refuge is producing redfish and speckle trout are beginning to show up. This refuge with the Gulf outlets and many deep canals, can really get you excited when the large redfish start hitting and specs of good size makes your hair stand up on your head.

Remember when fishing the refuge, sunrise to sunset or you just might get a citation, not an invitation.

LEGISLATIVE BILL

A serious fight might have to take place again. It seems that the La. House Natural Resource Committee in an 8 to 5 vote approved taking the gamefish status off of redfish. Both the state and federal government have a ban on redfish, but the federal ban is a total ban on both commercial and recreational fishermen. In Louisiana state waters, recreational sportsmen have a limited daily bag of 5 redfish all having to be at least 16 inches long and only one can be 27 inches or over.

This bill still needs approval of the full house and senate and needs the governor's signature.

BEWARE

There have been some phone solicitations in the name of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. The department is in no way connected to these calls, so Mr. Public, do not contribute to these solicitations. It's a scam.

By the way, don't feed, swim with or harass the dolphins. It's against the federal law and up to a $20,000 fine.

Horse Salve Eases Arthritis Pain

LOUISVILLE, KY -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, has now been approved by government researchers for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx®. ARTH-Rx comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1995 PGC

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

This letter is to let those involved or more less in charge of Monsignor Vidrine Day, know that the ad placed in the Cameron Pilot was a public invitation for all those who are members of Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church.

Saturday afternoon following 5 p.m. mass, reminder notes of the celebration were put on every vehicle except for mine. These could have been placed in the church or could have been handed out to each person. I myself did not need to be reminded of the event.

I am not a child, nor need to be treated like one. This was a personal attempt to specifically let me know that I was not welcome to the celebration. It seems that those who give the most in funds to the church think that they're in charge and in control of everything but in reality they're not.

I'm not blaming every member of Our Lady Star of the Sea for this incident because I know specifically who is responsible for this cheap and tacky attempt to exclude me from the celebration. It is a fact that those who are miserable in their personal lives find ways to meddle in others personal lives like mine even if it's at the church's expense.

I'm making you all aware of this incident and letting those who are responsible know that you can't fool the Lord above and you can't buy your way to Heaven, you have to earn it.

Sincerely,
/s/ Monique Taber Pregeant

Drainage problems discussed at meet

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Drainage problems in the Creole, Oak Grove and East Cameron areas were addressed at a town meeting of the District 4 held Monday night at the Creole Multipurpose building.

J. B. Meaux, chairman of the board, said the meeting was called to give the citizens an opportunity to discuss the problems of the high water in the area. He said that the district is operating on a budget of $35,000 which doesn't go very far to cover the vast district.

Lonnie Harper, parish engineer, explained that the drainage district is hampered with addressing outlets, upgrading laterals, ditches and bayous, while trying to deal with an old deteriorating system.

Homeowners spoke of long standing water in their yards that couldn't drain and cattlemen complained about the marshes being so full of water that they were useless to the cattle.

It was suggested that oil companies be charged higher prices for permits for drilling, due to the fact that some of these activities contributed to some of the drainage problems.

Malcolm Savoie, police juror, explained that the mitigation funds collected from the oil companies for damage to the wetlands can only be used for things approved by the Corps of Engineers, and efforts to get the corps to allow it to be used for drainage have been unsuccessful.

It was the conclusion that the district should pass a bond issued to be used only for construction of a new drainage system to replace the old one, and raise the present 3-1/2 mill tax for the maintenance of the system when it comes up for renewal in the fall.

Harper also pointed out that, "If our sea level keeps rising, we are going to have to install a pumping system to get ride of the water."

The drainage board agreed to prepare a list of specific project needs and present it to the voters.

New Orleans is a good place to visit

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Summer vacation time is here and those who only have a short time or cannot afford an extended vacation, should consider one closer to home, where all that is needed is a good pair of walking shoes and a love of history. The answer is New Orleans, only a few hours east of here.

This carefree, romantic, historic, and festive city is a perfect spot to let loose and enjoy yourself.

Settled by the French in 1718 and later ruled by the Spanish, New Orleans has a rich past as a booming port city, making it a fascinating place to visit. The mix of French, Spanish, Irish, Italian, German and African-American cultures is reflected in the city's diverse offerings.

The Vieux Carre, or French Quarter, is the original 75 square block site of Old New Orleans. In the heart of the Quarter is Jackson Square, named after Andrew Jackson, hero of the Battle of New Orleans, marked by the spires of St. Louis Cathedral, the oldest active cathedral in the United States.

Around the Square, artists and street musicians create a festive atmosphere, as shoppers stroll down Royal Street where antique shops and art galleries abound, or browse at the outdoor French Market along the river.

You will also take a rest in the Cafe DuMonde with a cup of fresh coffee or cocoa with powdered sugar drenched biegnets (doughnuts).

A walk around the Square is like a visit back in time. Two handsome buildings bracket the Cathedral. On the left, facing the Cathedral, is the Cabildo, completed in 1799, which housed the city government during the Spanish era.

Important ceremonies transferring power over the territory were held in the Cabildo, which has been visited by notables, including Henry Clay, Mark Twain and Teddy Roosevelt, as well as contemporary leaders.

On the right of the cathedral is the Presbyter, once home to city courts, whose construction began in 1792.

$47 MILLION PROJECT

JOHN CUMMINS
(Lafayette Daily Advertiser)

The three-dimensional mapping done by seismic companies is the "leading edge" of the oil industry, experts in the field say.

"It's the very best thing we have," said Gary Kinsland, a professor of geology at USL. Kinsland was part of the first 3-D study done in the early 1980's in South Louisiana, conducted in the Parcperdue area between Youngsville and Erath. Three-dimensional mapping, he said, is making it easier to find oil, and that has increased interest in oil exploration.

In a typical 3-D test, he said, lines of wires connecting ground sensors - or geophones - are laid out in a grid pattern across the area to be tested.

Lines of explosives - or shot-lines - are then laid and detonated one at a time. Explosives, however, commonly aren't used in densely populated areas. In that case, equipment that creates a similar acoustic mark, either mechanically or with compressed air, is used.

The geophones pick up how the resulting sound wave travels underneath the earth, and transfers the resulting signals to recording units.

The recording units amplify the signals, and convert them to digital data. The data is processed to create an image of what lies beneath the surface of the ground, or bottom of a lake or ocean.

Kinsland said an area usually is mapped in sections no larger than a few square miles.

"Think of it, the total job, as a large patchwork quilt, done in 5 square mile patches", Kinsland said.

Veritas/DGC currently is conducting a 3-D mapping over a 525-square mile swath of Vermilion and Cameron parishes, said Bobby Patrick, Seismic Exchange Inc. vice president.

The job, which SEI is paying Veritas/DGC to conduct, will last well into 1998, and cost $47 million, Patrick said.

Hackberry's $247,203.47 recreation facilities--some of the most up-to-date to be found anywhere--will be opened officially to the public this Saturday at Grand Opening festivities.

Julius T. Johnson, chairman of the Hackberry Recreation Commission, and Nyles Spurlock, recreation director, extend an invitation on behalf of the commission to everyone in the area to come out and celebrate the opening.

Charles A. Riggs, Ward 6 police juror who was instrumental in getting the Hackberry Recreation District completed, a bond issue passed and the facilities constructed, is chairman of the opening day activities. These will get underway at 11 a.m. with a ribbon cutting ceremony.

The Rev. Richard Donahue, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church, will give the invocation, followed by the introduction of parish officials, commission board members, and other guests.

The recreation center contains a large activity hall, kitchen, meeting room and offices. The swimming pool is 80 feet long. Several bills of interest to Cameron Parish have been introduced in the state legislature by Conway LeBleu, who is the parish's new representative.

One is a bill to appropriate $375,000 for the construction of a salt water intrusion lock on Kelso Bayou to prevent salt water from the ship channel getting into Black Lake, north of Hackberry.

Another appropriation bill for $300,000 would give the state highway department funds with which to start construction of the "Hug the Lake" road north from the town of Cameron along the east banks of Calcasieu Lake.

Hackberry 4-H meet

By MICAH SILVER

The Hackberry Jr. 4-H Club held their monthly meeting May 9. Miss Penny Maynard, Assistant Home Economist, told the club that 4-H work didn't have to end with the school year. Members were encouraged to continue working throughout the summer on projects that there was not enough time to do during the year.

She told of ways to earn extra money by baby sitting, cutting grass and helping do extra work around the house. These jobs not only help our record books, but also our bank accounts.

Mrs. Roxanne, local leader, recognized the president, Shannon Day along with two other members, Christy Murray and Tricia Perrin, as 8th graders who were going up to the Senior 4-H club next year.

Creole KCs observe 50th anniversary of Council

By LOSTON McEVERS,
Council Reporter

The J. P. Boudoin Sr. Knights of Columbus Council 3014 of Creole celebrated its 50th anniversary at the annual Knight of the Year awards banquet.

NEW ORLEANS

The four story buildings that flank the Square are the Pontalbos, apartment buildings constructed in 1849 for the New Orleans born Baroness Pontalbo, who took it as her mission to complete and beautify the Square. The city now owns them.

Across Decatur Street from the Square is the Moon Walk, and to its left is the famous French Market, on the site of an Indian trading post that existed long before the city.

In 1791, the Spanish built a roofed market here that was destroyed by a hurricane, and replaced by the French in 1813.

Also located in the Quarters are many interesting old homes steeped in history, haunted houses, museums, the U. S. Mint, homes of famous writers, Preservation Hall where Jazz was born, and many more.

A visit to the Quarter would not be complete without a visit to Brennan's Cafe for a "Breakfast at Brennan's" which can be served at any time of the day, and has become a tradition.

In the 1950's New Orleans was a major port of entry for bananas shipped from Central and South America. Owen Edward Brennan challenged his talented chef, Paul Blange, to include bananas in a new culinary creation - Owen's way of promoting the imported fruit .Also, Holiday magazine had asked Owen to provide a new recipe to appear in a feature article on Brennan's.

In 1951 Chef Paul created bananas foster, a scrumptious dessert named for Richard Foster, who served with Owen on the New Orleans Crime Commission, a civic effort to clean up the French Quarter.

Little did anyone realize that bananas foster would become an international favorite and the most requested item on the menu.

BANANAS FOSTER
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup dark rum
4 bananas, cut in half lengthwise, then halved
1 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup banana liqueur
4 scoops vanilla ice cream

Combine the butter, sugar, and cinnamon in a flambe pan or skillet. Place the pan over low heat either on an alcohol burner or on top of the stove, and cook, stirring, until the sugar dissolves. Stir in the banana liqueur then place the bananas in the pan. When the banana sections soften and begin to brown, carefully add the rum. Continue to cook the sauce until the rum is hot, then tip the pan slightly to ignite the rum. When the flames subside, lift the bananas out of the pan and place four pieces over each portion of ice cream. Generously spoon warm sauce over the top of the ice cream and serve immediately.

FISHING NEWS

A while back, anglers in many Louisiana lakes were saying that we needed to protect our white perch, as fishing numbers have gone down. Catch and release could catch on just like bass anglers.

Our La. Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries is considering placing a size limit on our popular white perch (crappie), taken on Toledo Bend waters. A 10 inch minimum size limit would run from March 1 to Nov. 30. The rest of the year would have no size limit.

Crappie taken under the size limit would also count towards your daily creel limit of 50 fish.

The reason given for the proposed change is to make La. regulations consistent with Texas rules.

Many are opposing this change, as many people go to Toledo Bend just to fish crappie and the size limit would reduce their catch. There would also be many crappie die, as most of the time they swallow the hook.

Most sportsmen would rather a 25 fish limit, instead of a minimum size limit.

Quenton LeBoeuf and Darren Thibodeaux won the June 2, Lacassine Refuge Dogfight. Fishing was tough as a cold front moved in on Friday and made bass fishing a tough job. Fair fish caught in Lacassine Refuge,, fair on Sabine Refuge, poor in the Big Burn and fair in the old Amoco field.

Good catches of flounders caught on south end of Big Lake, around the old jetties and West Cove banks. Both the Cameron jetties and Grand Chenier jetties were producing nice speckle trout and a few redfish.

Offshore things are getting better with nice catches of good fish. Those fishing for red snapper, say pogy is the best bait to use and draw strikes from amberjack, king and cobia. Snapper were running small last Friday.

One local angler says most anglers get too close to the rigs to fish red snapper. The big loners are mostly away from the rigs and if you do hook a large red snapper close to the rig, you'll probably not get it out anyway.

Doctor's discovery may end obesity

HILTON HEAD, S.C. -- A doctor has discovered that an ingredient found in a small fruit grown in Asia, combined with an ingredient praised by the U.S. Department of Agriculture can help cause significant weight loss.

In a study published in a prestigious American medical journal, Dr. Anthony A. Conte, M.D. reported that the formula, now called Bio-Rex 3000(formerly Bio-Max), caused patients to lose more than twice as much weight as a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition confirms that you don't have to reduce the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

Scientists suggest that the mechanism behind the weight reduction may include decreasing sugar cravings and interruption of the "Krebs Cycle", an important step in the body's fat storage process. "The best part of this unique discovery is that it is not a drug, but a safe dietary food supplement" says Dr. Conte. The Asian fruit, called garcinia, is similar to citrus fruit found in the United States with one big exception-- it may help some people fight obesity! While Dr. Conte's study may be preliminary, the exclusive North American distributor, Phillips Gulf Corp., is calling the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement "Nature's Ideal Diet Aid."

According to a spokesperson for the company, Bio-Rex 3000 is now available on a limited basis through pharmacies and nutrition stores or call 1-800-729-8446. © 1997 Phillips Gulf Corp

Red Drum Sciaenops ocellata

Reds are popular fish on Sabine Refuge and in area

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is the first in a series of articles on various fish that can be found on the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge in Cameron Parish. They were prepared by Roy L. Walter, a biologist on the Refuge staff.)

The red drum or red fish is an estuarine-dependent species distributed from Laguna Madre, Mexico to south Florida and along the Atlantic coast of the United States to New York.

Relative abundance, as indicated by commercial harvests, is greater in the Gulf of Mexico than along the Atlantic coast.

The body is coppery brown or reddish with one or more black spots above the lateral line at the base of the caudal fin. They are one of the largest members of the drum family, often exceeding 40 inches in total length and 40 pounds in weight.

Red drum are a long-lived species and have been reported to attain a maximum age of 37 years in the Gulf of Mexico and more than 50 years in the North Carolina waters.

Adults are able to withstand a wide range of saltwater concentrations, but have been found to be most abundant at salinities between 30-55 parts per thousand (ppt). There have been limited successful freshwater introductions. Adults are also tolerant to a wide range of temperatures, having been observed in water from 25.6 degrees to 91.5 degrees F. Rapid reductions in water temperatures, especially in shallow estuaries during the winter, can cause substantial mortalities.

It is convenient to divide the life history of the red drum into the estuarine and offshore phases (offshore implies outside the estuarine habitat in coastal waters). Although there may be exceptions in some areas, the estuary is the juvenile habitat and where pre-reproductively active individuals are found; the spawning population of red drum is found in the coastal habitat. Red drum in the Gulf of Mexico spawn from mid-August to mid-November with peak reproductive activity in late September.

Females produce 0.5 to 3.5 million eggs, depending on size and age. The eggs are buoyant, clear, and spherical. Along the Gulf coast, tidal currents transport the newly hatched larvae into bays. Once recruited to the estuaries of the Gulf of Mexico, red drum use quiet backwaters and lagoons with sandy-mud or muddy bottoms, and submerged aquatic vegetation as primary nursery habitat.

Small juveniles initially prey upon small planktonic crustaceans and, as they grow, their diet changes to include larger crustaceans and small fishes. The sub-adult phase of the red drum's life generally lasts from two to five years after which they leave the estuary and join the offshore spawning stock where they travel in large schools.

The larger fish (usually females) are known as "bullreds". Concerns that heavy exploitation of sub-adults reduces "escapement" (recruitment to the off shore spawning stock" to unacceptably low levels have been voiced throughout the species' range.

A variety of management measures have been implemented in an attempt to reduce fishing mortality so that the population size of the spawning stock is maintained at levels high enough to prevent a collapse.

Volunteers welcome at Lacassine Refuge

Would you liked to support President Bill Clinton and General Colin L. Powell in their efforts to have Americans "give back to their communities through their own service"? What better way to support your country than by volunteering for projects on your own public lands? Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge is just the place.

Refuge Manager Vicki Grafe would like to invite all of you to participate in the "America's Promise" program by lending a hand to improve Lacassine Refuge. The refuge has received "challenge grant" funding for two special projects that need your labor and time as matching volunteer contributions.

The first project is called "Backyard Habitat." The refuge office has a large expanse of lawn that will be converted into hummingbird gardens, butterfly gardens, native Louisiana prairie, and other examples of backyard habitats that the public will be able to come see and copy in their own backyards.

The project will include feeders, nest boxes, bat boxes, and water sources. The money that has been funded will be used for plants, topsoil, soil additives, lumber and other needed materials. Volunteers are needed to prepare the sites and soil, plant the plants, build the boxes and feeders, and all the other "hands-on" work.

The second project is renovating the refuge's bunkhouse. This small building is used by volunteers and student interns who live at the refuge free of charge while volunteering their time to help out or to gain experience in the resource management field or technical fields. The project will include installing cabinets and counters for eating, computer stations, and storage areas. The small kitchen area also will be modified.

Reading program draws big at library

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Library's Summer Reading Program got off to a rousing start last week with the first special event.

Ninety-seven attendees heard the presentation by Lynnette Braxton, a Lake Charles storyteller, on "Tales From Many Cultures."

Because of the large number of children present, the programs are being held next door in the Masonic Temple, according to DeDe Nunez, program coordinator.

Lynn is an actress and storyteller for the Louisiana Black Heritage and has traveled throughout the state, Texas, Canada, Germany and South africa.

She is a frequent guest storyteller at festivals, universities, churches and schools, and special events such as the Festival de Louisiana.

The stories she shares are from the Bible, and various Native American, Creole and African sources.

During her presentation alligators, frogs, birds and bees suddenly come alive and can talk, through Lynn, and suddenly becomes real to the audience.

She shared with the library patrons the memory of her trip to Africa, where she went in search of her roots, and was able to witness the return of Nelson Mandella after his long sojourn in prison.

She has many close friends in Africa, and has chosen to dress every day in African fashions to show her pride in her heritage.

Chris Brown, Cameron Librarian, reported that 30 patrons were on hand at the Johnson Bayou Recreation Center for the afternoon session of the program.

Five more weekly programs are scheduled in the series, and the next will be Sheila Collins at 10 a.m., in the Cameron Library and 2 p.m. in the Grand Lake Multipurpose building.

In addition to these special programs, the library is featuring "The Great Book Feast", in which children are awarded prizes for books read with a minimum of five.

An activity book is also given to each child which includes games and puzzles.

Free rodeo tickets told

The Louisiana High School Rodeo Association has free rodeo tickets available for Tues., June 24, for children ages to 12 through an agreement with Hibernia National Bank. These tickets may be picked up at any Hibernia Branch or by contacting Nicky or Stephanie Rodrigue at 542-4615.

Free childrens tickets for the Wednesday and Thursday, June 25 and 26, performances are available at local Burger Kings with a kids meal. All performances begin at 7 p.m.

Mailing list being prepared

Parishioners of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Creole should be aware that 411 letters were mailed last week to all parishioners for whom an address was available. It is possible that some addresses were unavailable or incorrect. If you did not receive a letter or if your address is incorrect, call Nicky Rodrigue, who constructed the mailing list, at 542-4615.

The purpose of the letter is to inform parishioners of the meeting scheduled for Thurs., June 12, at 6 p.m. in the Life Center, when plans will be made for the celebration of Monsignor M. J. Bernard's retirement and Father Joe McGrath's arrival as pastor of Sacred Heart. All ideas are welcome. The mailing list will also be beneficial to the new pastor as there has been no mailing list for several years.

ARE YOU PREPARED?

Hurricane season here

Faced with the prospect of another active hurricane season, the nation's top emergency manager called on residents of hurricane prune coastal areas to stay alert to the potential danger posted by these killer storms and to begin early preparations for safeguarding life and property.

"Hurricane Fran last year showed us how devastating these storms can be and the awesome risks that come with being unprepared," James Lee Witt, director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), said in marking the opening of the 1997 hurricane season on June 1. "Our experience also shows us that those who remain alert and plan ahead have the best chance of surviving with the least amount of loss."

In preparing for the coming season, FEMA offered the following basic safety tips to help reduce hurricane risks.

•Recheck your supply of boards, tools, batteries, non-perishable foods, and other equipment you will need if the hurricane strikes your area. Remain alert for official National Weather Service hurricane watches and warnings.

•When you are under a hurricane watch, continue normal activities, but stay turned to radio or television for all National Weather Service advisories.

•Remember a hurricane watch means possible danger. If the danger materializes, a hurricane warning will be issued. Meanwhile, keep alert. Follow official instructions from local and state authorities.

When your area receives a hurricane warning, you should:

•Plan your time before the storm arrives and avoid the last-minute hurry that might leave you marooned or unprepared.

•When directed by local emergency officials, leave low-lying areas that may be swept by high tides or storm waves.

•Moor your boat securely before the storm arrives, or evacuate it to a designated safe area.

•Board up windows, or protect them with storm shutters.

•Secure outdoor objects that might be blown away. Harmless items hurled by high wind become missiles of destruction.

•Store drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles and cooking utensils. Your water supply may be cut off by a power loss or contaminated by flooding.

•Keep car gas tanks at least half full, since gasoline pumps will not be working if the electricity has been cut off.

If the calm storm center passes directly overhead, be aware that there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to a half-hour or more. But also remember that the winds at the other side of the storm's eye rise very rapidly to hurricane force, coming from the opposite direction.

Criminals may have to pay room and board

At the urging of District 25 State Senator Jerry Theunissen, the Senate approved a bill to give parishes across the state the right to charge prisoners for their keep. Senate Bill 223 allows the sheriff of any parish to collect room and board costs from convicted criminals in parish prison facilities.

"Across the state, more and more criminals are ending up in parish prisons and at the same time the cost of keeping those criminals behind bars keeps going up. The challenge is to find a way to deal with the costs of making our communities safer without asking law-abiding taxpayers to pay the price. That is what this bill is all about," Senator Theunissen (D-Jennings) said.

The measure approved by the Senate would allow parishes to collect the room and board fees from an inmate once the sentencing judge approves. The Department of Public Safety and Corrections would set a uniform and reasonable amount for such charges.

Bridge work has begun in parish

Work has begun on the replacement of nine bridges on La. 27 in Cameron Parish, according to the state Department of Transportation and Development.

"Patience will be required during this construction, and the public is being asked to heed all warning signs and be alert to changing conditions at all times," said Ronald Dupont of DOTD.

Seven of the bridges are located between Hackberry and Holly Beach and two are located north of Creole.

The contract does not allow bridge replacement on Creole bridges and those between Hackberry and Holly Beach at the same time. This is in case a hurricane evacuation would be required, Dupont said.

The contract was awarded April 30, to Guinn Brothers Inc. in the amount of $4,497,615. The contract time is 500 working days which translates into approximately two and one-half years, depending on weather conditions.

The contractor plans to place limestone widening at all bridges while beginning bridge replacement north of Creole.

A temporary traffic signal will be placed at each bridge site to control traffic during bridge replacement. One lane of traffic will be allowed during replacement of each bridge. Work will be allowed on only two bridge sites at any time.

The contractor plans to complete the two bridges near Creole first. Work has begun there and should be complete by the end of 1997. Work will then proceed from Holly Beach to Hackberry.

Hospital bill is passed by House

The House of Representatives approved the Rural Hospital Preservation Act by a 79-22 vote Monday in Baton Rouge.

Senate Bill 500 by Sen. Don Hines, D-Bunkie, was amended on the House floor to exclude plans offered through the State Employees Group Benefits Program. It now heads back to the upper chamber for concurrence.

The bill would allow parishes with a population under 50,000, or towns of less than 20,000, to use local millages to match federal Medicaid funds for hospital patient care. The South Cameron Memorial Hospital will benefit from the bill.

It would also require health maintenance organizations (HMOs) to allow rural hospitals or physicians to participate in their plans if they agree to the same fees as other providers in the plan.

A House committee amended the bill to apply only in parishes where the HMO enrollees live or in parishes served by the HMO.

Opponents said the bill would drive up insurance costs. Supporters said costs would not go up, and the bill will benefit those who want to use rural hospitals and physicians.

SCHOOL BOARD TOLD

Parish kids score well in testing

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish School Board received the good news at their monthly meeting Tuesday that Cameron Parish students scored higher than students across the nation on standardized tests in both the LEAP and CAT tests.

Judy Jones, Supervisor of Elementary Instruction, gave a slide presentation showing the comparative percentages for grades second through eighth.

The Cameron Pilot was selected as the official journal for the board for 1996-97.

The board voted to eliminate the assistant superintendent position effective June 30, by accepting Roger Richard's retirement.

Other personnel changes approved by the board: Wayne Batts was named Secondary Supervisor as of July 1; and Tammy Guidry was hired as lunchroom technician at Grand Lake High School.

The following resignations were received: Wanda Conner, sweeper at Grand Lake High School; Cecile Devall, sweeper, Johnson Bayou High School; and Darby LaRocca, Brett Schultz, teacher, Johnson Bayou High; and Tommy Bonsall, janitor at South Cameron High School; and Nell Colligan, school nurse.

RECOGNITIONS

The board recognized the following achievements: Brandy LaBauve, Hackberry High School, who was selected to LHSCA 1997 All Star Softball Team and Grand Lake Boys and Girls track teams and coaches who won second place in the 1997 State Track Meet. Also, winners of two gold medals each at the State Special Olympics Meet at LSU in Western Stock Seat and Trail Riding in their divisions - B. J. Primeaux, a student at South Cameron Elementary, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Primeaux; and Boyd Reeves, a student at Grand Lake, and son of Patricia Bailey, who were introduced by Willyne Kestel, Supervisor of Special Education, sponsor. They were presented certificates by Mrs. Pam LaFleur, School Superintendent.

Ron Vining, Transportation Maintenance Supervisor, reported to the board that a fire of unknown origin had destroyed the concession stand at South Cameron High School Monday night, which was valued at $8,000. It was a complete loss. Even though the school board has the buildings insured, there is a $100,000 deductible. Vining said that the contents, many of them donated, were all destroyed and had a full kitchen to serve the stadium activities.

The board received an insurance package for property, vehicle and general liability from Slocum Associates which was approved by the board, with board member Bill Morris voting no.

The board also reviewed existing and accepted a two year renewal of the self-insured worker's compensation program presented by Slocum.

The board approved payment of unused sick leave days for retiring personnel Robert Henry, Joan Alexander, Janie McCall and Roger Richard.

The board also voted to add a bus driver at Grand Lake High School and to advertise for the position.

The board also agreed, upon the recommendation of LaFleur, to divide the school board money between the two local banks, Cameron State and Hibernia, as is presently done.

They voted to advertise for bids for school furniture needs of about $50,000 as proposed by Vining.

The board approved out-of-state travel for South Cameron High School football team and coaching staff. There would be no cost to the board, but approval was needed.

The board went in to executive session to consider request from an expelled student from South Cameron School for readmittance to school on a probationary basis, which was deferred to the July 1, meeting.

A special meeting of the school board will be held at 10 a.m., Mon., June 30, to adopt a final budget.

Menhaden oil OKed for U.S. food use

The dedication of Senator John B. Breaux was essential to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's recent decision to approve refined menhaden fish oil for general use in foods, a status that has been sought by Louisiana's menhaden industry for more than a decade, according to National Fish Meal and Oil Association Chairman Barney White.

"FDA approval means that NFMOA's menhaden members can finally sell their healthful fish oil to consumers here in the United States and this cannot help but benefit the State of Louisiana," White said. "This would not have been possible without the consistent and steady support of Senator Breaux during the 11 years it took for the industry's petition to make its way through the FDA approval process."

Menhaden fish oil has been exported to Europe for decades where it is used in a variety of foods, including margarine, cooking oil and baked goods. When refined, menhaden fish oil does not have a "fish" odor or flavor and is high in nutritionally desirable Omega-3 fatty acids. Menhaden are an oily, bony relative of the herring that are found in great abundance along the Gulf of Mexico and Mid-Atlantic Coasts of the United States.

"The importance of this approval goes beyond the opening of a significant new market for refined menhaden fish oil because it also frees the menhaden industry for dependence on uncertain European markets, which have nearly been closed on more than one occasion in recent years because of tariff disputes between the United States and European Union," White said.

National Fish Meal and Oil Association member companies have operations on all three coasts of the United States, including menhaden fishing fleets and processing plants at Abbeville, Cameron, Empire and Morgan City, Louisiana.

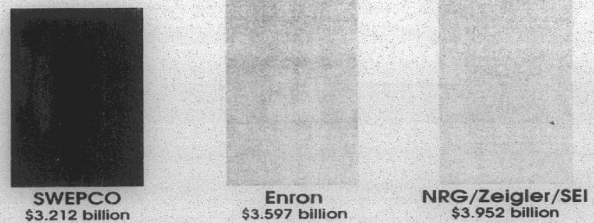
JEFFERSON DAVIS ELECTRIC and SWEPCO

POWERFUL PARTNERS FOR COMPETITIVE RATES

Jefferson Davis Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Southwestern Electric Power Co., along with seven other cooperatives across the state, are working together to win court approval of the Cajun Electric bankruptcy reorganization plan proposed jointly by SWEPCO, the Members Committee of Cajun cooperatives and Entergy Gulf States.

Rate relief is crucial to the cooperatives' ability to survive, grow and compete in the future. If the SWEPCO plan is successful, the cooperatives can move ahead with wholesale power rates that are approximately 1/3 lower than before the Cajun bankruptcy. SWEPCO's wholesale rates in the first year, combined with co-op rate reductions over the past three years, make this achievement possible. The SWEPCO plan also offers the lowest long-term costs for the co-ops -- and ultimately for co-op customers across the state. Compare the 25-year total cost of electricity under each of the competing plans: *



* Base case comparison prepared by ICF Kaiser for use in bankruptcy confirmation hearings the week of June 2. Net present value (today's dollars) comparison of SWEPCO actual fuel cost plan, Enron 25-year contract and NRG/Zeigler/Southern Electric International non-consensual plan. Assumes 8% discount rate, 3% inflation rate.

Jefferson Davis Electric's Board of Directors and Management, including President Eugene C. Todd and General Manager D. Dale Landry, have been working diligently to bring about a balanced, long-term solution to the Cajun bankruptcy. We are proud to be partners in this effort.

SALTWATER FISHING HOT

Saltwater fishing is hot, and catches are good. From Rollover Bayou on Pecan Island all the way to the Sabine River, good catches of redfish and speckle trout are being taken.

Big Lake has produced several speckle trout over 7 pounds and plenty the limit size from12 inches with a couple of 8 pounders and one 9 pounder reported.

Our local anglers are doing their best at the old jetties and Lambert Bayou and also in West Cove. Follow the birds is the trick, but many say they're drifting with the wind or tide, while others are using their troll motors.

A few specks are also being taken at both the Cameron and Grand Chenier jetties, but on and off. Redfish are being caught also in Big lake and Grand Chenier Mermentau River as well as Rockefeller Refuge and Rollover Bayou. If you're fishing Rockefeller Refuge and going to either Little Constance or Big Constance, be careful, as the water level drops and it becomes very shallow.

Live cockahoe, mullets and shrimp are good baits for redfish in these areas.

FRESHWATER REPORTS

If you're fishing for bass, it's best early in the morning or late lint he evening, as the hot weather is here. The Big Burn is still slow on the east and southeast sides, but better from Gibbstown a mile or so east and about the same south. A few good catches of white perch reported in the deep Humble Canals.

Reports from Sabine Refuge are that it's slow, as well as the Rockefeller Refuge freshwater side. Amoco's Miami Corporation lands are fair. Lacassine Refuge is still holding on the top big bass spot in the parish.

The June 9, Lacassine Refuge Shootout was a close call with top stringers of 10 plus, 9 plus and 8 plus pounds. Large bass were 7 plus, 7 plus and 6 plus pounds.

NEWS TALK

The July 6, fishing rodeo to be held in Grand Chenier, as we mentioned last week, is getting its final touch by Carl Broussard.

The team only bass tournament (Cameron Parish waters only) is $30 per team. A team is one person or two persons. A stringer of five pass per team with three places for money.

The optional Big Bass Pot will cost you $5 to enter. Both anglers in the team must enter and only the top bass will be paid.

Weigh-in is at 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The saltwater division will be redfish and speckle trout - two separate categories. Anglers may fish either or both. Each category is $15 and $30 for both. This is a one person entry.

Fishing areas are any river, bayou, lake, Gulf of Mexico, up to 3 miles off beach; and refuges open to public fishing and located in Cameron Parish.

There will be money paid in the first three places of speckle trout, and also the first three places of red fish.

Anglers may weigh-in three fish in each saltwater category and could place in each.

Weigh-in is at 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be plenty of food served at the park, music and a good time for all, so put it down on your calendar for Sat., July 6. Entry forms can be filled and paid in cash at Rudy's Fish 'N Stop in Creole, Larry's Seafood, Booth's Grocery and Kajon Food Store in Grand Chenier.

COMMERCIAL FISHING

A bill that would have allowed commercial red fishing as well as speckle trout fishing, both with a $50 per year commercial license for rod and reel, was tabled by the House of Representatives last week, which will probably kill it for the rest of this legislative session.

Sportsfishermen had opposed this bill.

Mermentau River group meets with U. S. Corps

By TOMMY PRICE,
President, Concerned Citizens of the Mermentau River Basin

Members of the Concerned Citizens of the Mermentau River Basin, the Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana, and Willie Fontenot, from the Attorney Général's Office met with the Corps of Engineers in New Orleans Wed, June 11, to discuss proposals to change the operating procedures of the Catfish and Schooner Bayou locks, which could improve the water quality and enhance the fisheries of the Mermentau River Basin.

The Catfish Locks are located on the Mermentau River below Grand Lake in Cameron Parish. The Schooner Bayou Locks are located on Schooner Bayou Canal between White Lake and Vermilion Bay in Vermilion Parish.

The group stated that Grand Lake and White Lake was a low salinity estuary for a variety of marine species including redfish and speckled trout prior to installation of the lock system. This lock system effectively converted Grand Lake and White Lake to a freshwater system. Water exchange in the basin has been eliminated as no tidal flow is allowed under the present operating procedures.

The corps acknowledged that the lock system was installed and is operated for the benefit of the rice farming industry. The CCMRB contends the present operating procedure leads to a stagnated water condition in the whole Mermentau River Basin, including Lake Arthur, Grand Lake, and White Lake as well as all tributaries north of Lake Arthur.

The Catfish locks have a procedure to leave a 1' opening in the gates on incoming tides to allow for the ingress of marine species. Although this procedure allows for some species to enter the basin, we feel it is far from allowing this area to reach its full potential. Also it is inadequate for water exchange, which is so important for the health of the basin. The Schooner Bayou locks have no procedure in place to allow for the ingress of Marine Species. It is important to note the general operating plan for both locks calls for interest of fish and wildlife to be served when not detrimental to other interest which we feel is unfair and also not in the best interest for the basin.

Many marine species are still caught in the basin on a limited basis. I have caught redfish 38" long in Grand Lake. I have seen many redfish caught on trout lines in the fall of the year. Shrimp and crabs are still caught on a limited basis. Most of these species are coming in the basin through the 1' gap and with boat traffic.

The water around the catfish locks will get clean, but the rest of the basin stays very muddy with no water exchange. Improved operating procedures would also benefit the Town of Lake Arthur and the City of Jennings as the basin has the potential of drawing fishermen to the area should the potential of the area be realized.

The Corps is planning a meeting with area rice farmers, landowners, our group, and other interested parties to develop an operating plan for the locks to serve all interests in the basin.

For more information, interested persons can contact the CCMRB, at P.O. Box 767, Lake Arthur, La .70549 or call 318-774-5622 or 774-3654.

Sheriff, jury go after litterers

By SHERIFF JAMES R. SAVOIE

The Cameron Parish Sheriff's Office is joining forces with the State of Louisiana and Cameron Parish Police Jury in efforts to stop littering and clean up our parish. The State is providing crews to clean up the highways nd the Parish has recently passed an Ordinance to clamp down on offenders that habitually allow trash and litter to hide the beauty of Cameron Parish.

The Parish Code of Ordinances has changed to amend the title of Chapter 9 to read Garbage, Trash, Refuse and Litter and specifically cites persons responsible for throwing, dropping, depositing, discarding, or permitting the intentional or accidental ejection, emission or escape of litter, etc. upon any public or private property in this parish not located in rural areas in the parish, other than designated receptacles and dump facilities.

The drivers of boats and vehicles will be held responsible for litter thrown from them. The offense need not occur in the presence of a law enforcement officer if the preponderance of the evidence indicates that he committed the offense. All we need is a license number to investigate.

Offenders will be cited by means of ticket or summons and fined and required to remove litter from state or parish roadways and parks. The fines are $100 for the 1st offense, $250 for the 2nd offense and $500 for the 3rd offense.

There will not be any excuse that you didn't know that paper or ice bags were in the back of your truck or excuses for those hauling trash to the dumps and not having it well secured. From this day forward, the laws on littering will be enforced to the fullest. So it's just as easy to clean up your act before you leave home as it will be to pay a fine and clean up 500 feet on both sides of the roadway.

Let's all unite and work together to have a clean Cameron Parish once again. I know we can do it, we just have to get into the habit. Throwing trash from a car is a bad habit - let's break it.

Shrimpers sue seismic companies over debris

By JOHN CUMMINS
(Lafayette Daily Advertiser)

Ovey "Mo-Mo" Benoit isn't shrimping this summer, for the first time in years. And that makes him angry.

Built low and heavy, still powerful at 64-years-old, Benoit stalked around the piles of wire, iron pipe and cane poles in the front yard of his Gueydan home. As frustration seethed from him, Benoit said it was the debris that caused more than $8,000 in damage to his shrimp boat -- $8,000 that he does not have.

It is only a small portion, he said, of the junk left last summer in Grand Lake, where he and other fishermen try to make a living. Benoit said the debris made a dangerous mess of the 71-square mile lake, and he said the lake contained potential time bombs: "live" explosives that could be detonated accidentally.

Despite an eight-day cleanup, much of the debris remains in Grand Lake, Benoit said. And two companies -- seismic exploration company Veritas/DGC and Baton Rouge-based oil company Flores & Rucks Inc. -- are responsible for leaving the mess, Benoit and other shrimpers said.

Benoit and 12 other commercial fishermen have gone to court, asking for compensation for their battered boats and equipment, and income lost while their vessels were being fixed. They filed suit May 8, in state court in Cameron Parish against Veri-tas/DGC and Flores & Rucks.

(Veritas/DGC was known as Digicon prior to an August merger. Veritas/DGC currently is conducting a seismic exploration in Grand Lake and Vermilion Parish's White Lake, under a contract with New Orleans-based Seismic Exchange Inc. This month, Flores & Rucks shareholders also will consider changing that company's name to Ocean Energy Inc.)

The lawsuit claims that while conducting a geological survey from May through July, the two companies "allowed unexploded charges, seismograph equipment, cables, wires and other debris to remain under the surface (of Grand Lake) after the operations were completed."

Flores & Rucks paid Veritas/DGC to explore Grand Lake in Cameron Parish and neighboring marshes in Vermilion Parish, according to documents Veritas/DGC filed with the state and parishes. The seismic exploration was to center on Mallard Bay.

Seismic exploration on lakes requires the use of explosives and large amounts of equipment such as pipes, cane poles, rope and floats, as well as literally miles of wire.

The explosives, when detonated, send sound waves through miles of underground rocks. Sensors laid out by seismic crews pick up the sound waves and convert them into data.

Eventually the data is used to compile a rough map showing where oil and gas deposits may lie.

State law requires this debris to be picked up after a job is done. Benoit, a Mobile Oil Co. retiree, and other fishermen claim this wasn't done after the Veritas/DGC job.

Flavin now Republican

The Louisiana Republican Legislative Delegation this week welcomed two new members into its ranks when Rep. Dan Flavin (District 236, Lake Charles) and Rep. Michael J. "Mike" Michot (District 43, Lafayette) joined the Republican Party. These legislators announced their party change in Baton Rouge at a reception with Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich attended by the Republican legislators. They become the 42nd and 43rd members of the Republican Legislative Delegation.

In making his switch, Rep. Flavin said, "After serving for two years under Governor Mike Foster's leadership and conservative views, my philosophy of less government is a better fit to the Republican Party than the more 'tax-and-spend' philosophy of the Democratic Party." He further commented, "As an Irish-Catholic, I support the partial birth abortion restriction which is more in line with the Republican Party's philosophy than the Democratic Party."

Flavin serves on the House Committees on Commerce, Natural Resources, and Retirement. He is the owner of Flavin Realty, Inc. His district includes all of Cameron Parish.

Storyteller coming July 2nd

Professional storyteller Anne St. Romain will bring her unique program to Cameron Parish on Wed., July 2, when she appears at the Cameron Parish Library at 10 a.m. and the Hackberry Recreation Center at 2 p.m. She is being sponsored by the Library.

The 45-minute performance for ages 4 on up is entitled "An Apple A Day. . ." and will feature folktales that stir up the imagination, tickle the funny bone, teach healthy eating habits and provide food for thought.

The audience will meet Johnny Appleseed in an origin rap-like story and peep into the kitchen of the "Little Red Hen." They will also help the "wide-Mouth Frog" find lunch for his little polliwogs. Aesop's famous characters from "The Ant and the Grasshopper" and William Tell and his son are likely to appear, too.

St. Romain studied the dramatic arts at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, Illinois State University, and Southern Illinois University from which she received a master's degree in drama. During course work for a Ph.D. in Oral Interpretation at Louisiana State University, Rose Anne recognized the power of performance to motivate reading and proceeded to earn a masters degree in Library Science. For eight years she frequently used drama and storytelling in her work as a children's librarian in Lafayette and Baton Rouge. Now a full-time professional storyteller, she performs at schools, libraries, conferences and festivals for about 50,000 people a year.

Flower Garden Banks may get recognition

As marine scientists declare 1997 the "International Year of the Reef", Sen. John Breaux has agreed to co-sponsor a resolution recognizing the significance of maintaining stable coral reefs like the Flower Garden Banks south of Louisiana in the Gulf of Mexico.

Sen. Breaux signed onto a Senate resolution to promote healthy coral reefs, which, in turn, provide a thriving coastal and marine tourist industry for Louisiana and many other coastal states.

The Flower Garden Banks are roughly 110 miles south of Louisiana in the Gulf and were originally authorized as a marine sanctuary by Sen. John Breaux when he was chairman of the fish and wildlife committee. The 50 square miles were named a national marine sanctuary five years ago. Today the area is a premiere diving destination and host to many coral reef research and education activities.

Tri-parish Home Health, South Cameron Home Health, and Patty Carter, COA nutritionist, provided health screenings. Johnny Faulk, Justin Trahan and Caleb Trahan gave the band a hand with the entertainment.

Med student trains with Dr. Sanders

The Southwest Louisiana Area Health Education Center, in cooperation with the Louisiana Chapter of the American College of Physicians, recently announced the names of summer participants in their Primary Care Elective Program. These students currently study at either the LSU School of Medicine in New Orleans, or at Tulane Medical School in New Orleans. All participants will complete four weeks of "hands on" training under the guidance of primary care physicians from around the state.

This elective serves as the first clinical experience for students participating in this summer's program. One of the students is James Connolly, training with Dr. Richard Sanders in Creole from June 9 through July 3.

In recent years, small rural areas have seen a decline in the number of physicians practicing in their communities. The Louisiana Area Health Education Centers have developed the elective program to combat primary care physician shortages in thse areas. The goal of the elective is to begin the recruitment process early int he medical student's academic career. By training in rural communities, these areas have the opportunity to retain the doctor for primary care work after medical school.

Banks gets recognized

Nine Louisiana business organizations received the Distinguished Partners in Education Award Wed., May 21, at a dinner hosted by Cajun Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. The dinner was held at White Oak plantation with State Superintendent Cecil J. Picard and members of the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education on hand to present the award to executive officers.

Cameron State Bank of Cameron and Lake Charles was one of the honorees.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Bro. Buzzy Fusilier of Sulphur was sent from the Log Cabin Calvary Baptist Church, located at 800 Louis St., in Sulphur, pastored by W. T. Darnell.

Bro. Buzzy said the Lord put a burden on his heart to start a mission of Solid Rock Baptist Church in the lost colony section of Hackberry. He feels there is need for strong independent Baptist work in this area.

Starting in Feb. of 1997 he knocked on doors and passed out hundreds of gospel tracts. Finally a door was opened to him that led to Bertha and Elton Fisher of Olive Branch, Miss., leasing the land and building at 151-b Ch. Dr., to the church for 10 years without cost.

The building is in the process of being renovated into a church. Several neighbors in the area have helped.

Bro. Buzzy has been inspired by Isaiah 58:12. His quest is to establish within 10 years a self-supported, mission-minded church. He hopes to start services in late summer.

Cameron WILL Rise Again!

By Jerry Wise
Cameron Parish Pilot Publisher

Cameron will rise again!

Of this fact we are convinced.

Like many other Cameron people, we, at first, were overwhelmed by toll taking by Hurricane Audrey in lower Cameron parish; but after a week of talking to and working with the people of our area, we have found a new hope, a strong belief that Cameron will come back as strong as ever before.

Let us look at the facts:

First, although the death toll may run over the 500 mark, there are still thousands of Cameron folks who are alive and in good health.

Second, although hundreds of homes were destroyed in Cameron, Creole, Grand Chenier, Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou, many homes still stand; many can be put back in liveable condition in a short time; and some folks spent the hurricane in their homes and are still living there.

Third, although every business establishment in South Cameron was put out of operation by the storm, a large percentage of business places, especially in the town of Cameron, still stand and can be repaired.

Fourth, although we have heard one or two families and one or two businessmen say they will not return to Cameron, every other person we have talked to says he will come back and rebuild again.

Fifth, the Red Cross, the state and the federal government have already made it clear that they intend to stay in lower Cameron until the people are on their feet again. This includes giving aid to rebuild homes and businesses and furnishing assistance until such time as lower Cameron can become self-sustaining again.

Sixth, all of our public buildings and roads which were destroyed or damaged, will be restored in one way or another. Our schools, although heavily damaged, will be repaired with the insurance that was on them and with state and federal aid. The state and federal governments say they will restore our roads to their former shape. Our courthouse still stands with almost no damage, except for water in the basement. Our REA building, health unit, school board office and other public buildings are damaged, but they will be restored without extra cost to Cameron people.

Seventh, and perhaps most important, there is a new spirit here in Cameron—a spirit of determination, of willingness to work, to fight back to save our way of life here.

No, we are not discouraged, and neither are most of other Cameron folks to whom we have talked. CAMERON PARISH WILL RISE AGAIN.

On this you can depend!

THE Cameron PARISH Pilot

We believe in the future of Cameron parish

TO ALL OF YOU —

OUR APPRECIATION

On behalf of the people of Cameron parish, we would like to extend heartfelt appreciation to everyone who has helped the parish in its need . . .

. . . the people of Lake Charles and Sulphur and surrounding areas who helped rescue survivors, furnished shelter and food in their schools and in their homes, who donated clothing, money, and their time to help our people . . .

. . . to the Red Cross, Salvation Army and other welfare groups who immediately came to the aid of the survivors and who are staying on to help Cameron people get a new start . . .

. . . to the Army, Air Force and Coast Guard who sent in men, planes, helicopters, trucks, and vehicles from all parts of the nation to carry out rescue work, recover bodies and start the tremendous cleanup job . . .

. . . to the Civil Defense, National Guard, and law enforcement officers from all parts of Louisiana and Texas who moved in to help bring order out of chaos . . .

. . . to the hundreds of volunteer workers, who came from all parts of the nation to aid in any way they could . . . many of whom had never seen Cameron parish, but had a genuine desire to help . . .

. . . to our fellow citizens, who while they had lost members of their families and everything they owned, stayed on in Cameron to work tirelessly toward the rebuilding of their community . . .

. . . to people of the United States and Canada from which have come donations of clothing, food and money . . .

. . . to the state and federal governments who have thrown open their entire facilities to help Cameron people rebuild their homes and businesses and start a new life . . .

. . . to the multitude of other individuals and organizations, whose names may have been forgotten in the confusion, but who have done their share in aiding our people.

To all of you, on behalf of Cameron parish, we say thank you. We can never fully express our true appreciation.

OPEN LETTER

TO THE RESIDENTS OF THE CAMERON AREA

The Calcasieu Marine National Bank, with the recognition of the grave responsibility that has been placed in its hands and with the deepest humility, extends its heartfelt sympathy to the residents of the disaster area of Southwest Louisiana . . . especially to those that have suffered the loss of their loved ones and to the many hundreds who have suffered untold property damage.

We, too, of the Calcasieu Marine National Bank spent many anxious hours during the past hurricane . . . the bank was and is the custodian of hundreds of valuable papers, records and deposits . . . all of these deposits, records and papers were saved with very little damage from the force of the hurricane.

The officials of the Calcasieu Marine National Bank announce today that the building in Cameron, Louisiana is still intact, but will have to be renovated and that operation of the Cameron Branch Bank will be resumed as speedily as possible . . . all deposits, records and valuable papers held by the Cameron Branch, were in the vault and are safe.

Due to the hurricane, these records will be moved to the Main Office in Lake Charles for future safe keeping. Red Cross to give parish all-out aid

The American Red Cross established headquarters in Lake Charles and Cameron Wednesday and moved into a long-term rehabilitation program for the hard hit Cameron area.

Don Stout, director of Red Cross operations, and some 100 staff members will work in the Southwest Louisiana-East Texas area to assist storm victims to rebuild their homes, to get on their feet financially and to start life anew.

One thousand families in Cameron and Calcasieu parishes have been granted emergency funds, food and clothing, and this number is expected to rise to 1500 and 1800 families.

A registration program has been set up under which each family is given the opportunity to apply for Red Cross assistance. Red Cross offices are located on the top floor of the Cameron courthouse and in the old First Presbyterian Church building, corner of Ford and Broad in Lake Charles.

The needs of each family is studied, and if these family has no other way of rebuilding its home and getting on its feet again, out-right grants are given by the Red Cross.

These are not loans and do not have to be repaid.

The grants are given in the form of disbursing orders which

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS:

Rodney Guilbeau, owner of Guilbeau's Laundry & Cleaners in Cameron, announces that he and his son, Rodney, Jr., will be at the shop this Sunday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. to retrieve all clothing that was in the shop at the time of the storm.

An issue of hope

Although the biggest news story in the history of Cameron parish has occurred, this issue contains little of the calamitious events that have occurred. The people of our parish have had their fill of tragedy — all they want now is hope.

We hope that in a small way that this issue of the Pilot can bring to you, our reader, just such hope—hope that you can return to Cameron, hope to rebuild your homes and businesses, and hope to build a new life.

A BRIEF WORD ABOUT the future of the Pilot:

There was no issue of the paper last week. This week's issue contains only four pages.

Although the paper suffered little physical damage, practically all of our advertisers have been put out of business by the storm. The only advertising that we have left now will be the little that comes from outside sources.

However, because we believe that Cameron parish needs its own local newspaper even worse than before, and because we have faith in Cameron parish and its people, THE CAMERON PARISH PILOT WILL GO ON.

We are dedicating our efforts and those of the PILOT to the rebuilding of our parish. Our news and advertising columns will be open at all times to the reporting of constructive news, news of hope for the parish.

ANYONE WISHING to contact the Pilot may find us at the courthouse. If not there, we may be reached by calling JA 7-7076 or JA 7-9255 in Sulphur, or by writing Box 485, Sulphur.

All out efforts made to aid disaster survivors

All-out efforts on the part of all Federal Agencies in rehabilitating the hurricane disaster area of Southwest Louisiana will be forthcoming, was the view of Senators Allen J. Ellender and Russell B. Long, following a lengthy conference with some thirty top federal officials held Monday in Washington. Also present and participating in the conference were Will Candler, Secretary to Congressman Willis of the 3rd Congressional District, and Mrs. Clara Harrison, secretary to Congressman Thompson of the 7th Congressional District.

"All federal agencies seem to either have funds on hand or appropriation requests pending before congress to carry out the disaster relief programs which congress has provided to meet situations like that prevailing in the Cameron area, "The two Louisiana senators stated at the conclusion of the meeting, and "All officials are moving with top speed to get their rehabilitation programs into operation, in the wake of emergency relief measures already in operation."

The meeting with representatives of eight federal government departments was called by Senators Ellender and Long to determine the extent of federal assistance which might be available in rehabilitating the disaster area, including the reinstating of community services, rebuilding homes and business est

Rep. Dyson says parish will be aided in rebuilding

Cameron parish's state representative, Alvin Dyson, this week urged the people to take hope and to plan to return to rebuild their homes, businesses and lives.

"Sheriff Carter and I have been in conference with Red Cross, Civil Defense and governmental agencies, and we are happy to announce that every possible assistance will be given the people of our parish in the job of rebuilding."

He said the Red Cross is helping already by making outright grants to families in need, and that the agency would remain in the parish to help every family get back into its own home and on its own feet again.

Cameron's business establishments will be aided by Small Business loans, which are given at low interest rates for a long period of time.

"We are encouraging all residents of Cameron to plan to return to this their home. I as state representative will give all the assistance possible in assisting the people of Cameron."

Mr. Dyson said he believed that lower Cameron could be rebuilt completely within two years.

"If we plan right, we can rebuild our area even better than before," he stated.

TEMPORARY LIVING quarters will be furnished families in tent structures, which will have wood floors and cable, as well as screens.

Mr. Dyson said these tents would be put up on each family's own lot or farm, and that there would be no such thing as a "tent city."

The federal government will pay half of cost of repairing the state roads and aid for the parish's insurance will not cover work to do with the state putting up the rest of the money.

MR. DYSON ALSO had some encouraging word that had to say about the insurance on Cameron homes and business.

"It was rumored that it was a put up an all-out fight, if necessary, to see that insurance damage to Cameron parish and that sales were paid.

ALTHOUGH SUFFERING extensive damages, the Gulf Menhaden Co. still is in fair shape and will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

Cameron Outdoors By Loston McEvers

FISHING REPORTS

I talked to a Texas offshore angler who was down for some inland speckle trout fishing. He started at the Cameron jetties, but quickly ended up in the south end of Big Lake and the party of four limited out on the trout, with two a little over 5 lbs. They also caught 4 redfish, 22 to 24 inches long. As we talked after the trip, he was saying how most of his fishing was done offshore off the southeast Texas coast.

The structures he's fishing are inside 40 miles, using a light tackle with 20 lb. test line most of the time. They drift natural baits such as cigar minnows, working structures, sunken shrimp boats, shell reefs, not visible from the surface, but using a Loran C lets them see the bottom.

He admits using the 20 pound test you have to play your fish 15 minutes or so. If you're not willing to fight the fish, he says use 30 pound test, however, use at least 200 yards and even maybe a steel leader of 120 pound test.

He does have a weather radar because, especially in July, there is always a risk of dangerous thunderstorms and it only takes a couple of hours to get in trouble.

Albert John Crain of Grand Chenier catches his share of bid red snappers. He has rigged up an aluminum boat with 2 new motors and thinking hard of maybe chartering a few trips later on.

Action in Big Lake is still strong, last week's bad weather kind of held things back a couple of days, but specks and red and flounders are there.

John Henry Swire of Grand Chenier has been doing good fishing out of Holly Beach. He's catching speckle trout on a blue, blue glidder yellow tact H & H cockahoe minnow. I do know that the purple-chartreuse tail cockahoe minnow is also hot.

FRESHWATER

Larry Boudreaux of Grand Chenier and Royce Morris made a Toledo Bend trip two weeks ago. Fishing out of McGee's Landing they had quite a number of catfish up to 9 lbs., two stripers (one going 12 lbs.) and even ended up with 100 perch.

If you don't think Lacassine Refuge is still producing big bass, just sk Chris Morales of Grand Lake. He landed a nice bass weighing in at 8 lbs. 11 ozs.

RED FISH STATUS

The Louisiana House of Representatives voted against lifting the game status on red fish. House Bill 1473 was defeated by a vote of 61-31.

The National Marine Fisheries Service has determined that full recovery of red fish stocks will not be reached until the year 2001, at the very least.

There were many other bills concerning fish limits that were handled by the La. Wildlife Commission.

NEWS BRIEF

A house committee has approved a Senate bill which suspends hunting, fishing licenses, drivers licenses and professional licenses of people who don't pay their personal income tax.

Professional licenses like attorneys, physicians, architects, veterinarians and engineers were included.

Fees and Expenses

Payment Options
1. Pay fees at the Cashier's Office during regular business hours prior to payment deadline; or
2. Mail your statement with a check or money order (include your Driver's License and Social Security number) to be received by the payment deadlines to the Cashier's Office, Lamar University - Orange, 410 Front Street, Orange, Texas 77630.
3. Pay fees at Drop Box located at the switchboard in the Education and Administration Building. A payment envelope is provided for your convenience. Only checks and money orders will be accepted. Include your social security number on all checks and money orders.
4. Options such as installment payment and photo ID may be selected when paying the cashier in person.

Payment of Fees
Lamar University reserves the right to change fees in keeping with acts of the Texas Legislature and the University's Board of Regents.

A student is not registered until all fees are paid in full. Other options, such as installment payment or payment by credit card, may be available. Contact the Cashier's Office for details of currently available payment options.

Summary of Fees
Tuition is based upon the number of hours for which the student registers and is determined by the student's classification as a Texas resident, a non-resident U.S. citizen, or a citizen of another country. Determination of legal residence for tuition purposes is made on the basis of statutes of the State of Texas.

Returned Check
Checks that are returned to the University due to insufficient funds or stopped payments will be subject to the following fees: (1) $15.00-Returned check charge; (2) $10.00-Late registration fee; (3) $15.00-Installment late penalty.

Property Deposit
Each student will be required to pay a $10.00 property deposit. Any unused portion of the $10.00 will be refunded upon written request after the student graduates or withdraws from the University.

Matriculation Fee
A matriculation fee of $15.00 will be incurred by students who withdraw prior to the first day of class. This $15.00 fee will be deducted from refunds.

Fee Exemption
Students who feel that they may be exempt from some fees should contact the Office of Admissions and Records. Exemptions may include veterans and high school honor graduates with special scholarships.

Installment Payment Agreement
Students may enter into an installment contract with the University. Any payment for an amount less than the full balance of your account constitutes an acceptance of an installment contract with the University. Drop and/or withdrawal refunds for students using the installment payment plan are calculated as a percentage of the total tuition and fees assessed, not as a percentage of any partial payments.

A non-refundable service charge of $20.00 is assessed for the three (3) payment plan. A late fee of $15.00 will be assessed beginning the first day after an installment due date for each delinquent installment payment.

Students who are delinquent on installments will be prohibited from registering for class until the installment debt is paid in full. Holds are placed on academic records so that students cannot obtain transcripts until all installments are paid.

All delinquent installment accounts and short term loans will be released to a Collection Agency/Credit Bureau. All costs of collecting delinquent installments are payable by the student.

Withdrawal from the University
Withdrawing from the University does not relieve the student of any financial obligations under the Installment Payment Agreement or Student Loans for these are the student's legal financial commitments. Refunds will be processed in accordance with the published schedule. Adjustments will be reimbursed for multi-campus students. Withdrawing from the University must be done with an advisor in order to receive a refund.

Refund of Fees - Withdrawals
Any student officially withdrawing will receive a refund on tuition, laboratory, student services, computer use, general use, student center and private lesson fees paid and/or obligated according to the following:

Fall or Spring Semester
1. Prior to the first class day, you will receive 100% less $15 matriculation fee.
2. During the first five class days, you will receive 80%.
3. During the second five days, you will receive 70%.
4. During the third five days, you will receive 50%.
5. During the fourth five days, you will receive 25%.
6. After the fourth week of the semester, no refunds will be given.

2. During the first, second and third class day, 80 percent.

NOTE: REFUNDS ARE CALCULATED AS A PERCENTAGE OF TOTAL FEES ASSESSED, NOT AS A PERCENTAGE OF PARTIAL PAYMENTS ON INSTALLMENTS. No refund is given on the student service fee unless the student ID card is returned. Refund on the property deposit is given only after written request to the Business Office.

Refund of Fees - Dropped Courses
All students who drop courses during the first 12 class days of the Fall or Spring Semester, or within the first four days of a Summer Session, and remain enrolled at Lamar University, will receive a refund on tuition and fees for that particular course or courses. Approximately 60 days are required to process drop refunds. Refunds are mailed to the student.

ALL STUDENTS SHOULD KNOW

COURSE

The unit of instruction for credit purposes is the course. Most courses meet three hours each week and have a credit value of three semester hours for one semester, or six hours for two semesters. Unless otherwise stated, a course represents three semester hours.

COURSE NUMBERING

Each course has an individual alpha-numeric code (such as Eng 131). The alpha part indicates the subject area. Each number contains three or more figures. The first digit indicates the rank of the course: 1 means that it is freshmen level; and 2, sophomore level. The second figure indicates the number of semester hours credit. The third figure (or figures) indicates the order in which the course normally is taken. Applied music courses are numbered so that the second number indicates both semester hour credit and number of private lessons each week.

Applied music courses are numbered so that the second number indicates both semester hour credit and number of private lessons each week.

SEMESTER HOUR

The unit of measure for credit purposes is the semester hour. One hour of recitation (or equivalent in laboratory work) each week usually is equal to one semester hour. For each classroom hour, two hours of study are expected. Two or more hours of laboratory work are normally equivalent to one classroom hour. For laboratory work which requires reports to be written outside of class, two clock hours are usually counted as one semester hour.

MAXIMUM COURSE LOADS

The normal course load in a regular semester is 15-18 semester hours; for a six-week summer term 6-8 semester hours. Overloads must be approved by the Office of Academic Affairs. No student will be allowed to enroll for more than 21 semester hours regardless of the number of grade points earned the preceding semester.

MINIMUM CLASS ENROLLMENT

The University reserves the right not to offer any course listed in this schedule, if fewer than ten students register for the course.

AUDITING OF COURSES BY SENIOR CITIZENS

Senior citizens, 65 years of age or older, may audit courses without the payment of fees, on a space available basis.

ENGLISH REQUIREMENT

A full-time student (one taking 12 or more semester hours) must register for freshman English until credit for six semester hours has been earned. This policy does not apply during summer terms.

A student's use of English is subject to review prior to graduation. If found unsatisfactory, additional course work may be recommended.

ACADEMIC MAJOR PHYSICAL ACTIVITY REQUIREMENT

A full-time student (one taking 12 or more semester hours) must register for physical activity until he/she completes two semesters, except the following:

1. Those who are unable to participate in a regular or modified activity course because of physical handicaps (must have written exemption from a physician);
2. Students who are 25 or more years of age may be exempt from this requirement at their option;
3. Veterans who have completed basic training as a part of their military service are exempt.

Students who are exempt from the physical education requirement must submit elective hours approved by their major department in lieu of the requirement.

DROPPING COURSES

After consultation with their advisor and/or division chair, students may drop a course and receive a grade of "Q" during the first six weeks (two weeks in the Summer Session) of the semester. For drops after this penalty-free period, grades are recorded as "Q" or "F" indicating that the student was passing or failing at the time of the drop. A grade of "Q" may not be assigned unless an official drop has been processed through the Office of Admissions and Records. A student may not drop a course within 15 class days of the beginning of final examinations or five class days before the end of a Summer Session.

The Texas Academic Skills Program (TASP) requires that a student who is deficient on one or more of the basic skills (reading, writing, and mathematics) must participate continuously in a program of remediation until all deficiencies have been removed. TASP students are prohibited from dropping any course that is required for compliance with TASP regulations.

INSTRUCTOR INITIATED DROP

When absences, other than approved absences, interfere with the student's performance, the instructor may recommend to the division chair or Vice President for Academic Affairs that the student be dropped from the course. If this action is taken after the first six weeks of the Fall or Spring semesters, or after the first two weeks of the Summer Sessions, a grade of "F" may be recorded for the course.

WITHDRAWALS

Students wishing to withdraw should fill out a Withdrawal Petition in the Office of Admissions and Records. Students must clear all financial obligations and return all books, laboratory equipment, and other materials to the point of original issue. Three copies of the withdrawal form signed by the division chair, the Director of Library Services, and the Cashier's Office are presented to the Office of Admissions and Records by the student.

The Cashier's Office, on application before the end of the semester or Summer Session, will return such fees as are refundable according to the schedule shown under the "Fees" section of the catalog. If a withdrawal is made before the end of the sixth week (second week of a summer term), or if the student is passing at the time of withdrawal after the sixth week, a grade of "W" is issued for each course affected. A grade of "F" may be issued for all courses not being passed at the time of withdrawal after the penalty-free period.

A student may not withdraw within 15 days of the beginning of final examinations or five class days before the end of a summer term. A student who leaves without withdrawing officially will receive a grade of "F" in all courses and forfeit all returnable fees. NOTE: Refunds are processed based on the date the withdrawal slip is returned to the Office of Admissions and Records (effective date).

CHANGE OF MAJOR

Students wishing to change their major must have the approval of the division chair of their former major and approval of the new division chair. These approvals must be in writing on the form entitled "Change of Major" available in the Office of Admissions and Records and the Office of Advising and Counseling.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS

Students are classified as freshmen and sophomores. For the purpose of determining eligibility to hold certain offices and for any other reason, officially enrolled students are classified as follows:

Freshman: has met all entrance requirements but has completed fewer than 30 semester hours.

Full-time student: an undergraduate student taking 12 or more semester hours (four or more in a summer term).

Grading System

A-Excellent	W-Withdrawn
B-Good	Q-Course was dropped
C-Satisfactory	S-Satisfactory, credit
D-Passing	U-Unsatisfactory, no credit
F-Failure	NG-No grade
I-Incomplete

The grade W (Withdrawal) or Q (Dropped, but not held against the student) is given if the withdrawal or drop is made before the penalty date (see Dropping Course), or if the student is passing at the time of withdrawal or drop.

The grade of I (Incomplete) may be given when any requirement of the course, including the final examination, is not completed.

Incomplete work must be finished during the next long semester, or the Office of Admissions and Records must change the I (Incomplete) grade to the grade of F (Failure). The course must be repeated, if credit is desired.

The instructor may record the grade of F (Failure) for a student who is absent from the final examination and is not passing the course.

Semester grades are filed with the Office of Admissions and Records. A grade may not be recorded for a student not officially enrolled in a course during the semester covered. A grade may not be corrected or changed without the written authorization of the instructor giving the grade. The written instruction for a grade change should be accompanied by a statement explaining the reason for the change.

A student desiring to register for a course to receive a No Grade (NG) must have written approval of the major division chair, instructor and instructor's division chair, and the Office of Admissions and Records verification. Student semester hours attempted will be reduced by the appropriate number of hours.

Students are responsible for completing and filing the appropriate petition from the Office of Admissions and Records. A student must petition for No Grade after the 12th class day for Fall and Spring semesters and after the 4th class day of the Summer sessions and before the deadline for dropping or withdrawing from a course without penalty.

Final Grade Report

Grade reports are mailed at the end of each semester or summer term. These reports include the semester grades and the grade point average (GPA) for the semester and for all work attempted at the University THROUGH SUMMER II 1994. Note: EFFECTIVE FALL 1994, grade reports will no longer reflect a Lamar University System-wide grade point average (GPA). Grade reports and transcripts will reflect only work attempted and completed at the respective campuses. Consult the Office of Admissions and Records for further information at (409) 882-3364.

Dean's List

At the end of each semester, the Office of Admissions and Records prepares a list of all full-time (those who complete 12 or more semester hours at Lamar University-Orange, not including Developmental classes) freshman and sophomore students who have earned a grade point average of 3.60 or above for the semester. This is the Dean's List and is announced by the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

President's List

In order to be on the President's List, a student must complete twelve or more semester hours at Lamar University-Orange with a semester grade point average of 4.0. Any student who is on the President's List is also on the Dean's List.

Scholastic Probation and Suspension

Students are expected to make acceptable scholastic progress toward their degree objectives. A "C" is the minimum satisfactory grade and a "C" average, or 2.0 grade point average (GPA), constitutes satisfactory performance. Since two grade points are awarded for each semester hour of "C," students are in good standing if they have earned at least twice as many grade points as semester hours attempted. Students with a grade point deficiency shall be placed on scholastic probation and continued on probation as long as a deficiency exists.

All students with a deficiency of 25 or more grade points at the end of the Fall or Spring semesters shall be suspended. However, they may attend the Summer Session on probation. Students with a grade point deficiency of less than 25 at the close of the Summer Session will automatically be reinstated and may register for the following Fall Semester.

Students with a grade point deficiency of 25 or more at the end of Fall or Spring must obtain approval for probationary re-enrollment from the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Students wishing to return to Lamar University-Orange, after an absence, who are 25 or more grade points deficient must obtain written permission from the Vice President for Academic Affairs prior to being accepted for re-admission for Fall or Spring.

A division, with the approval of the Vice-President of Academic Affairs, may prescribe academic requirements for its majors in addition to the basic university grade point standard. Students suspended under this provision may register in another division at Lamar provided they meet the prescribed standards and are accepted through the normal change of major procedures.

Absence for Religious Holy Days

In accordance with the Texas Education Code 51.911, a student who will be absent for observance of a "Religious Holy Day" must notify the instructor for each class in writing no later than the 15th day after the first day of the semester to be excused. The instructor for each class will verify the student's request in writing.

A student who is absent from classes for the observance of a "Religious Holy Day" will be allowed to take an exam or complete an assignment for that day within a reasonable time after the absence.

A "Religious Holy Day" means a holy day observed by a religion whose places of worship are exempt from property taxation under section 11.20 of the tax code. For more information, contact the Dean of Student Services.

Change of Address or Name

Students are responsible for all communications addressed to them at the address on file in the Office of Admissions and Records. Any student who moves during a semester must immediately register his/her change of address in the Office of Admissions and Records. Change of address forms are available in the Office of Admissions and Records.

Change of name due to marriage or correction of name due to spelling errors may be made by completing a Name Change Card in the Office of Admissions and Records. All name changes must be accompanied by a copy of the legal document making the name change official. This document will be kept on file in the student's confidential folder.

Academic Records and Transcripts

Academic records are in the permanent custody of the Office Admissions and Records. Transcripts of academic records may be secured by an individual or will be released on the student's written authorization. Only course work taken at Lamar University-Orange will be released.

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO ALL LAMAR UNIVERSITY - ORANGE STUDENTS

THE FOLLOWING UNIVERSITY POLICY STATEMENT CONCERNING STUDENT RECORDS MAINTAINED BY LAMAR UNIVERSITY - ORANGE IS PUBLISHED IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE FAMILY EDUCATION RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT OF 1974.

In order that a student may better prepare for individual courses; in order that a student may plan for more efficient use of his/her time; in order that a student may know what is expected of him/her; and in order that a student may know his/her status in any course at any reasonable time, the Student Government Association recommends that the faculty of Lamar University-Orange observe the following Fair Teaching Practices:

1. At the beginning of each course, the professor should clearly state his/her attendance policy, grading policy, and office hours. These should be stated in sufficient detail so as to leave little possibility of misunderstanding;

2. The dates of major tests and due dates of major papers should be announced sufficiently early to permit proper student planning and preparation. One week's notice for major tests and three week's notice for major papers should be considered a minimum;

3. Tests and papers should be graded and returned within a reasonable period of time. Normally, three weeks should be considered as maximum. Major tests should not be given until all previous major tests have been graded and returned;

4. When feasible, students should be provided with a syllabus or outline of the course;

Election called on Sunday liquor sales

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has called a parishwide election on Oct. 18, to submit to the voters the proposition to prohibit the sale, serving or dispensing of alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

The law would read "No persons, business, or organization which is required to obtain State or local permits for the sale or distribution of alcoholic beverages shall sell, serve, or dispense any intoxicating, spiritous, alcoholic, vinous or malt liquor of any alcoholic content between the hours of 12:00 midnight on Saturday and 12:00 midnight on Sunday."

Speaking in favor of this proposition were Ann Badon, a bar owner at Holly Beach, and Butch Hebert, a store owner at Boone's Corner at Grand Lake.

Speaking in favor of the existing no Sunday Sales ordinance was Sheriff's Deputy Ron Johnson. It states "Prohibit the sale, serving, dispensing, or permitting the consumption of alcoholic beverages on Sundays except under certain circumstances."

Both Badon and Hebert stated that they considered the one decided on by the Police Jury was fair to everyone concerned.

At present package liquor sales are permitted in the parish but the bars are not allowed to open. However, it was found that the parish ordinance is void because it was never approved by parish voters.

The matter came to a head last month when bar owners asked the jury for a dispensation to open on Sunday during the Fourth of July weekend. Jurors declined to do so but agreed to call for a vote on Sunday sales in the parish.

Police Juror Dusty Sandifer offered the motion for a vote on Sunday sales including both package liquor and bars. Voting in favor were Sandifer, George Hicks, George LeBouef and Brent Nunez. Opposed were Malcolm Savoie and Douaine Conner.

The vote on Oct. 18 will come down to this: either all establishments will be permitted to sell alcohol on Sunday or none will be. Cameron Parish voters will decide.

Refuges opposed

A resolution opposing the creation of any additional wildlife refuges and reserves in Cameron Parish was adopted by the Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday.

The jury also said it was opposed to the expansion of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge which covers a large part of the western half of the parish.

The resolution was adopted after the jury learned that the U. S. Dept. of Interior is considering buying more land to expand the huge Sabine Refuge.

The jurors pointed out that the three national and one state wildlife refuges now take in 27 percent of the parish and further expansion would hurt parish government with the loss of additional tax base.

The wildlife refuges pay no parish property taxes although some payments in lieu of taxes are made to the parish.

Jurors directed that the resolution be sent to Louisiana's Congressional delegation.

Cancer Society invites residents to participate

Cameron Parish residents have been invited to participate in the American Cancer Society's "Dust Til Dawn Relay For Life" to be held Friday, July 18 starting at 6 p.m. at the McNeese Recreation Complex.

All proceeds from Cameron parish will benefit the Cameron Parish Unit of the Cancer Society, according to Mrs. Virgie LeBleu.

For a donation of $10 a candle will be lit in honor or memory of a person of your choosing. The name of that person will be displayed on the luminary during the Luminary Ceremony at 9 p.m.

Donations, along with the names of the honorees and donors, should be sent to Mrs. LeBleu at P.O. Drawer 266, Cameron, La. 70631. Phone 775-5360 for more information.

Emergency declared on S. Cam. project

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish School Board will make every effort to replace the South Cameron High School concession stand which was recently destroyed by fire, according to board member Bill Morris.

The board, at its monthly meeting Tuesday, considered approval of the replacement of the concession stand and permission to advertise for bids when plans are received from the architect.

Morris pointed out that this procedure would delay the construction until after the football season, and the first game is scheduled for Aug. 28. He said that this is an emergency and proposed an amendment to declare an emergency and to waive the bid process which was passed.

Ron Vining read the Student Transportation Management Regulations regarding bus stops, student loading and unloading procedures, pointing out that extreme situations may require a modification of the general regulation, and good judgment should be exercised with student safety as the primary basis for deviation from the regulations.

The board after an executive session granted a request from an expelled student on Jan. 13, from South Cameron High School for readmittance to school on a probationary basis.

The board took action on two insurance matters, and approved the payment of flood insurance for $1 million coverage with a $5,000 deductible.

The board approved the travel for South Cameron High

Changing of the guard at Creole

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Twenty-five years ago, on March 16, 1972, Monsignor M. J. Bernard arrived in Creole to assume the pastorate of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Catholic Church. The 107 year old church is the second oldest church in the Diocese of Lake Charles.

He had been ordained in Lafayette, had served as assistant pastor at the Immacualte Conception Church in Lake Charles, pastor of St. Bernard's Chruch in Breaux Bridge, and chaplain of McNeese State University Catholic Faculty and Student Union.

As Kathy Nunez noted in her introduction of him at a Mass of Thanksgiving Sunday after observing his retirement, "When Msgr. Bernard arrived in Creole, he brought with him a very unique personality. He is very sentimental and is wearing today an antique Orbe given to him by Father Tourlings, who served as priest at Sacred Heart in the late 1800's."

Msgr. Bernard passed on an antique silver chalice from 1837 to Rev. Johnny Savoie, formerly of Creole, who is studying for the priesthood, who delivered the Homily at the Mass honoring Msgr. Bernard.

It had been given to Msgr. Bernard from a priest and had been owned by several priests over the years. It was also used in the Mass.

Msgr. Bernard is a 4th Degree Knights of Columbus and Knight Commander of the Holy Sepulcher, was appointed Pro-Synodal Judge, Matrimonial Tribunal Diocese of Lafayette,

The students could visit the 26 booths inside the gym, which had representatives from a variety of different areas present to discuss the many occupations available in their respective fields.

The military was represented by the Air Force, Army, National Guard, Marines and the Navy.

Information on the medical field was given out by Diana Foster, nurse, and Trudy Champagne, medical laboratory technician, from South Cameron Hospital along with Lana Bertrand and Dorinda Morris from the South Cameron Memorial Fitness Center.

Kathleen Delaney, law clerk, and Randy Roach, attorney, discussed the choices available in the field of law.

Representing the education field were Ron Vining, Cameron Parish School supervisors, Cathy Denison-Wicke, Ph.D.; Andy Benoit of McNeese and Sherry Busher of DeVry College.

Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries had Barry Wilson, biologist, Karen McCall, secretary, Joan Going, human resource manager and June Gillis, human resource analyst from Baton Rouge, and Malcolm Hebert, enforcement agent representing some of the many occupations available in their career areas. Kevin Savoie with the Cooperative Extension Office, also participate in these discussions.

Dale Landry, Jeff Davis Cooperative, was on hand to discuss management of electric utilities which seemed to interest several of the students. The students had many questions for Donald LeBlanc from Sowela pertaining to aviation and for Katrina Shirley, school to work coordinator from ABC Training Center, about what's available there.

Stage One, the Hair School was a very busy booth as was the booth with the information on civil engineering and surveying sent by Lonnie Harper.

Cameron Telephone representative Rhonda Perry, had an interesting display on the many jobs available with her company. Hibernia Bank representative Carlotta Boudoin was also there to discuss the many facets of banking.

Mona Kelley with the tax assessor's office and Theos Duhon, chief deputy with the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Office, answered the student's questions about working for local government.

ODDS AND ENDS

Today, I won't go into fishing. I'd like to let you a l know a few things bouncing around about duck hunting.

Any person born on or after Sept. 1, 1965 will have to attend a hunter's education course, prior to purchasing a Louisiana Hunting license at age 16. For our parish youth, get prepared before teal season comes around in September, as well as dove season.

A general hunting safety course will be held at the Cameron Prairie National Wildlfie Refuge Headquarters on La. 27/82. The dates will be July 15-17, from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. nightly. There is only an opening for 30, so contact Glenn harris or Remy Broussard at 318-598-2216.

GOOSE CREEPING

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission rejected a recommendation from the department of Wildlife and Fisheries to abolish the regulation that prohibits goose creeping in Louisiana.

There is a great over-population of snow geese, destroying property and even breeding grounds in the Arctic. Biologists in the U. S. tell us we need to do something to reduce the population since snow geese populations have tripled since 1960.

Louisiana is the only state that has regulations against goose creeping.

DUCK POPULATION

The La. Wildlife Federation has voiced concern to maintain duck populations at levels specified in the North American Waterfowl Management Plan.

They do think bag limits and season lengths could increase over those used in the past, the biological impact would not. The reason is a long term decline in hunter numbers. The number of waterfowl hunters peaked in 1970 at 2 million, and declined steadily to a low of 1 million in 1987. In spite of liberal hunting regulations in 1994 and 1995, hunter numbers rose only slightly to 1.2 million.

Some hunters are concerned about increasing the bag limits and season lengths, and the disappointing hunting season in some areas this past fall. Although the projected fall flight in 1996 was one of the largest in decades. Mild weather and abundant habitat may have reduced hunting success in some areas.

Last fall, an average of 10 percent of the adult male mallards were taken by hunters. In the 1970's and 80's, with similar regulations, the harvest rate on male mallards was 13 percent.

1. to allow additional hunting days and duck bag limits, following an outstanding duck population season. Example: 4 extra days to have wildlife agencies be able to open the season on a Saturday and close it on a Sunday for each season split allowed.

2. consideration of splitting Louisiana into a north and south hunting zone for ducks. The coastal areas attract ducks that move to and through the state in early November, while the river bottoms and rice fields of the central and northern parts of the state have the greatest concentration of ducks in January. Currently we're in a east-west zone. They want to provide more duck hunting days in the latter part of the season for areas north of the coast, while providing ample early season hunting days in the coastal region.

(My opinion is our season is better later and we need our season on the coast to run as far down in January as we can get. We do not need more bag limits, maybe more days, but a later season. last year's season was a proven fact in our Cameron Parish marsh, the last week of hunting season was our best.)

3. extending or adjusting the duck season for more hunting days in January. Allow duck hunting through the last weekend in January, provided it doesn't cause disturbance to the duck spring migration.

Something will take place in July, so call our LDWF Secretary James H. Jenkins, Jr. and let him know as a hunter and citizen of Louisiana just how you feel.

I saw a nice covey of quail last week in the Sweet Lake area, the first I've seen in a long time.

RODEO

Sammy Faulk, a past Lemesche Bass Club member, has announced that he will sell tournament entries for the American Legion Lemesche Bass Club July 6 tournament to be held at the park. Anglers in the Big Lake, Lake Charles area can sign up, enter, get the rules at Hebert's Marina on Big Lake. Oh yes, the Grand Lake Bridge is now open.

Exercise is an essential part of treating diabetes, since it usually lowers blood glucose. Diet is also important, and the occasional sweet treat is now allowed.

Jury votes to hire land consultant

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Police Jury on Tuesday agreed to hire land manager David Richard as a consultant to the jury in securing more state and federal grants for parish wetlands projects.

However, Police Juror Dusty Sandifer opposed the appointment and read a letter from Gravity drainage Dist. No. 7 (Johnson Bayou) also opposing Richard's hiring because of a conflict of interest

The letter from district members Rogerest Romero, Ivan Barentine, Magnus McGee, and Leroy Trahan stated:

"Mr. Richard has all of the qualifications, credentials and knowledge for this position as well as the contacts, but as a land manager for Amoco, Gray Estate and Stream Management Properties there could be a gray area involved with permitting, mitigation and projects pertaining to these companies and this board and other board within Cameron Parish.

"These three companies own a substantial amount of property in this Drainage District.

"Mr. Richard has opposed projects and permits that Gravity Drainage District No. 7 has applied for in the past, in fact, he has written a letter of objection to a permit that we had applied for. This revised permit was held up for nearly two years because of his objection."

The Police Jury had met in a special executive session on June 24, to discuss a contract with STream Property Management, inc.

The Jury authorized the president, Brent Nunez, to sign a contract between the Cameron Police Jury and Stream Property Management, Inc. to provide wetlands services for a one year period for $28,000.

Voting in favor were Jurors Malcolm Savoie, Douaine Conner, Brent Nunez, George Hicks, George LeBoeuf. Voting against it was Dusty Sandifer.

Police Juror Malcolm Savoie said the parish is trying to take a more professional approach to securing funding, and could be better prepared by hiring Richard.

President Brent Nunez said there is a lot of demand for the wetlands money that is available, and hiring Richard would "enhance what we already had working for us."

School board sees surplus

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish School Board received the good news Monday at a called meeting to consider the final revisions for the 1996-97 fiscal year budget.

Margaret Jones, board treasurer, reported that there is a surplus this year of $1.3 million, due partly to the increase in oil income and seismic leases. This is in spite of the purchase of four new school buses to replace the aging bus fleet. The total expenditures for the year was almost $12 million dollars.

Rep. Flavin reports on legislative work

By REP. DAN FLAVIN

It's my feeling that the 1997 Legislative Session was a success for residents in District 36. The Session ended June 23, with over 4,000 bills being filed.

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce is directly responsible for one piece of legislation authored by me. This legislation is House Bill No. 84 which limits the liability of the sheriff for injury or loss sustained or caused by a prisoner on litter detail. Sheriff Savoie traveled to Baton Rouge to testify in favor of this legislation before the House of Representatives Civil Law and Procedures Committee. His testimony was essential in getting this bill out of Committee and moving through the legislative process. It is also interesting to note that this legislation was given full support by Governor and Mrs. Foster as it fell in line with their Don't Trash Louisiana campaign.

District 36 fared extremely well in the Capital Outlay Bill. One problem that has plagued Cameron Parish for years is the condition of Hwy. 82. Capital Outlay funds were made available for the emergency reconstruction of La. 82. At this time, the Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Transportation and Development are meeting to develop a plan that will solve this problem once and for all. The Cameron Parish Police Jury has requested that this highway be declared a national disaster.

Senator Jerry Theunissen and I are working closely with the Governor's Office, Cameron Parish Police Jury, Senator John Breaux and Congressman Chris Johns' offices for the purpose of securing FEMA funds to be used in solving this problem.

Money was also allotted for the building of Monkey Island Bridge. Three hundred thousand dollars was granted a Priority 2 rating and the remaining $700,000 falls in Priority 5 and will come from the sale of General Obligation Bond Proceeds. It is important to note that the ferry will not be shut down until the bridge is complete.

Other projects in Cameron Parish receiving Capital Outlay funds are the Rockefeller Refuge water control structure renovations in Cameron and Vermilion Parishes and Rockefeller Refuge equipment sheds. Funds for these projects will come from the Rockefeller Wildlife and Refuge and Game Preserve Fund.

Educators and school support personnel throughout the state will be receiving pay raises and another piece of legislation HB No. 1380 will create a "Teacher Supplies Fund" within the state treasury for the purpose of the enhancement of teaching materials and supplies for the benefit of children enrolled in schools throughout the state. The requests for these supplies will be submitted to the Department of Education.

Another bill which will greatly impact the Cameron area is SB No. 500 by Senator Don Hines. This bill was created to help the 38 rural hospitals throughout the state as it forms the Rural Hospital Preservation Act. The hospitals can have no more than 60 beds and must be located in parishes with populations under 50,000 or communities with populations under 25,000. This bill allows rural hospitals the use of local property taxes as a match for up to $15 million in federal Medicaid funds and to participate in state managed care Medicaid projects.

Rev. Neil Wheelock Early of Leesville will bring a blend of storytelling and creative drama to the Summer Reading Program at the Cameron Parish Library on Wed., July 9.

Neil's newest creation is his characterization of Wilhelm Grimm of Brothers Grimm Fairytales, who will be coming to the 10 am. Story Hour at Cameron and the 2 p.m. Story Hour at Grand Chenier.

The Summer theme, "A Feast of Books", will be developed as Wilhelm Grimm opens his picnic lunch hamper with the assistance of members of the audience. Participants will be invited to help take luncheon things out of the hamper, and each object will become the focus for a story.

He has been collecting stories and food-related objects to illustrate each story's theme for the better part of a year.

Rev. Early uses a highly personal way of involving audience members in his storytelling so that even the same story comes out differently each time it is told.

This will be the second summer that Early will have been a part of the Library Summer program in Cameron and his first visit to Grand Chenier.

Proud and Thankful Dad. . .

I am very proud of you, Jonathan and Kristen. I commend you, my precious children, for the continuous effort that you put forth toward your schooling and activities. It's obvious upon viewing your maturing and loving attitudes toward others, and also, life itself. It's such an honor and a blessing to be your Dad. I love you so much!

Jonathan and Kristen Taylor have attended schools in Florida for the past 4 1/2 years. They have received many awards during this time. Prior to this, they attended Cameron Elementary School and received many awards as well. Jonathan has completed 9 years of school, besides Pre-K and Kindergarten, being on the banner roll and honor roll all but 2 six weeks. He's been active in band, baseball, and is very involved with the youth group of his church. Kristen has completed 5 years of school, besides Pre-K and Kindergarten, being on the banner roll the whole time. She's been active in T-ball, Girl Scouts, and is presently taking piano lessons. She attends church and plans to join the youth group.

Thank you Cheryl, in the continuance of being such a good Mom to our children, considering the circumstances. Thank you Mr. Jim Bradley, for the love and concern you show toward our children. Above all, thank you Lord, for opening our hearts beyond our own understanding in order to allow the children to prosper. May all the glory be to you, our Heavenly Father. (Psalm 90:16-17)

Motion to review and pay bills by Rogerest Romero, second by Leroy Trahan, passed.

After a lengthy discussion, motion by Carroll Trahan, second by Leroy Trahan, passed that the Link Belt Marsh Machine be brought in, complete estimates for all necessary repairs be made, and a rental pontoon Marsh Machine be used on the Shallow Prong Project while our MM is off the job. Rental is from , at an estimated price of $9,250.00 per month plus permit and hauling to and from the job.

After another lengthy discussion on the NGPL Pipeline that crosses the canal that we are cleaning out on the Shallow Prong Project, the Board decided not to dig on their pipeline right of way, to dig up to the south end, skip the right of way and commence digging on the north end of their right of way. It may be another 4 to 6 week before we get to this pipeline crossing.

Lloyd Badon and Joseph Boudreaux reported on the progress of the Shallow Prong Project. A hydraulic hose broke last week and had to be replaced, a new oil cooler was installed, oil and filters were changed, and a general maintenance was done on the machine. The machine is working in the area north of the Snookum Donahoe property, north of Smith Ridge Road.

The Memorandum of Agreement for (CS-20) Est Mud Lake Hydrologic Restoration Project was held on May 20, 1997, at 10 a.m. at the Fina Camp (old Mecom Ranch) west of Holly Beach, La. In attendance were Gene Constance, Cecil Peveto, David Richard, adjacent property owners, Tom Lopus, John Woodard, and Scott Rosteet of Fina, Magnus McGee, Lloyd Badon and Rodney Guilbeaux of Gravity Drainage #7, Dusty Sandifer and Miles Hebert of Cameron Parish Police Jury, Clay Midkiff and Ron Marcantel of NRCS, Carlton Delino of Delino's Seafood. Gary Eldridge of NRCS, Garrett Broussard, Ralph and Dona Weifenbach of DNR/CRD, Carla Hoipas of Fina. This was the first year Review of the East Mud Lake Project. All participants were updated on construction, operations, maintenance and monitoring of the project, locations for new sites for monitoring stations were agreed on and are to be added to the 6 sites now in operation. Concerns of land owners were discussed and solutions were agreed to.

The culvert on the east side of La. Hwy. 27 at the Holly Beach Fire Station was installed today. A manhole cover for a water line valve still needs to be installed.

A driveway permit from La. DOTD to place 2 48" x 38' CMP/Limestone on west side of La.Hwy. 27-0.85 miles north of junction of La. 27 & 82 at Holly Beach has been approved. The permit is in hand and the culverts will be installed shortly.

Bruce Benvenu of Norwell Equipment informed the Board that the one year warranty on the John Deer Back Hoe expires today. The machine has performed very satisfactorily, has only 168 hours, and the Board feels that an additional extended warranty is not needed.

Lloyd Badon reported that the Holly Beach Project is complete.

He also reported that the backfill on culverts south of La. Hwy. 82 at the 4 mile post is partially complete.

Rodney Guilbeaux reported on the CWPPRA meeting held in Abbeville on Tuesday, June 17th. Although he did not attend, Tina Horn of the Cameron Parish Police Jury (she is the administrator) faxed the Emergency Declaration for La. Hwy. 82 (the section from east of Peveto Beach west to Constance Beach, Gulf Breeze Beach, Lil Florida Beach, Ocean View Beach and west of Long Beach). This Declaration was for Cameron Parish. It requested that Governor Foster declare this area a "State of Louisiana Emergency Disaster Area" and request that the Louisiana Congressional Delegation declare this area a "National Emergency Disaster Area". The Board concurred with this declaration from the Cameron Parish Police Jury. After reading of the Feasibility Report on the breakwaters, sand management and La. Hwy. 82 modification, the Board is in support of this vital effort to save the many thousands of acres of pristine marsh, delicate shoreline and vulnerable cheniers.

Executive Secretary Guilbeaux reported that Gus Schramm and Co. Ltd., was conducting the 1996 Audit and should be finished by the end of June.

Guilbeaux also reported that he would be attending the Wetlands Advisory Committee for Cameron Parish meeting to be held at the Annex of the Cameron Parish Police Jury on Mon., June 23, at 10 a.m.

A letter of invitation from CPPJ for a Parishwide Drainage Board meeting to be held in Creole at the Creole Multi-Purpose Building on Thurs., June 26th, at 6 p.m. Dusty Sandifer, Magnus McGee and Carroll Trahan said they would attend.

Motion by Ivan Barentine, second by Rogerest Romero, passed, to replace deteriorated culvert on property of Jack Monroe north of La. Hwy. 82 at 14 milepost. Culvert is 20" x 20'.

A request to replace a manhole cover in Holly Beach by Curley Landry was granted.

President McGee had to report to work, he left the meeting at 8:30 p.m. and Vice President Carroll Trahan assumed the chair at that time.

Motion to adjourn by Rogerest Romero, second by Ivan Barentine, passed.

Next meeting July 17th, 6:30 p.m., at GDD #7 office.

(American Press)

A Sulphur man faces a second-degree murder charge after turning himself in to Calcasieu Parish Sheriff's Office deputies Sunday.

Joshua Brown, 24, of 622 McInnis Drive, has been charged with slashing the throat of his girlfriend, Christine Simon, 21, at her home in Hackberry.

Brown was taken to the Cameron Parish Jail after he turned himself in, according to Cameron Parish Sheriff's Office Chief Deputy Theos Duhon.

"We were rattling the bushes looking for him, with help from some of the Calcasieu deputies. We were checking the homes of his family and friends, and he turned himself in to the Sheriff's Office in Sulphur," Duhon said.

Duhon said the case is still under investigation.

The woman lived with her parents, but they were not home at the time of the slaying, Duhon said. There were signs of a small struggle.

Flavin reports on the Legislature

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is a continuation of a report begun in the Pilot last week by Rep. Dan Flavin on the recent ended legislative session and how it affected Cameron Parish.)

Two other bills which I authored which may be of importance to Cameron Parish are HB No 1789 and HB No. 1795. House Bill No. 1789 authorizes the Commissioner of Conservation in the Department of Natural Resources to issue a work order to enter the property of another person to conduct site assessments and restorations. At least three days' notice has to be given to the property owner. House Bill No. 1795 mandates that no well built for mineral searches may be drilled without a permit from the Commissioner of Conservation. Along the same line, I also authored HB No. 235 which dedicates all of the hazardous waste tax to the Environmental Trust Fund for the cleanup of hazardous waste sites.

There are several other issues that are of major concern to Cameron Parish residents which I am extremely pleased with. The Tourist Commission requested that the issue of funds from the state sales tax on hotel occupancy in Cameron Parish be addressed. In researching this issue, it came to light that there will be approximately $25,000 coming to the Parish. These funds which may be used only for tourism development in the Parish had been deposited into an account with the State Treasurer's office and will be available upon request.

At the time of the next statewide election, a Constitutional Amendment will appear on the ballot which will increase the maximum amount of severance tax on oil and gas revenue which is remitted to the parish governing authority. It is estimated that Cameron Parish will gain approximately $250,000 for general operation of the parish. Residents will be given the opportunity of vote for or against this amendment. Should it pass, it would go into effect on July 1, 1999.

JETTY FISHING PIER

Another project of major importance to the area is the construction of the Jetty Fishing Pier Project. Major strides have been made in the past couple of months that will allow this to become a reality. The funding for this project is coming together -- $200,000 has been awarded from the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, and $54,000 has come from the Governor's Office of Rural Development. An additional $150,000 can be applied for by the end of the year. The total of these awards will make the first phase of the fishing pier a reality.

Also affecting Cameron Parish is the completion of Gulf Highway. This project, from Common Street to Petro Point is scheduled to let in early July. Buying up right of way and utilities to Tank Farm Road will begin shortly.

There is one other piece of legislation I authored that I am particularly pleased with. This is HB No. 2293 which grants qualified immunity to FBI agents who do work with local law enforcement agencies. This bill was requested by the FBI and supported by state law enforcement agencies.

It was a very positive session. Education, insurance, health care and tax issues were addressed and all will have major benefits for our state. My legislative office is always available to anyone needing help and information.

Trash Bash

The annual Grand Lake-Sweet Lake Trash Bash will be held Saturday, July 19 starting at 8 a.m.

Volunteers are asked to meet at the end of Hebert Camp road. Gloves and bags will be furnished by the Cameron Parish Police Jury, sponsors of the event.

TO NEWSPAPER

sh firms are ...ng the top 50

Two firms with Cameron Parish connections are among the top 50 privately owned companies in Southwest Louisiana, according to an article in the current issue of The Times of Lake charles.

Using their 1995 revenues, Cameron Communications, owner of the Cameron Telephone Co., ranked fourth in the area including Cameron, Calcasieu, Beauregard and Jeff Davis parishes. The firm was listed with $100 million in revenues and 437 employees.

Crain Brothers, Inc. of Grand Chenier ranked 45 in the area with $9 million in revenues and 150 employees.

The article had this to say about the two companies:

CAMERON COMMUNICATIONS

Confused by all the improvements and new products in the wireless communications business? Cameron Communications and its growing Mercury companies aren't, and they have their busy fingers firmly on the pulse of legislation affecting the new technology.

The Telephone Communications Reform Act has given companies like Mercury the opportunity to challenge the Bell companies for local telephone service and just like the company did nearly 70 years ago when Cameron was founded, they are expanding phone service -- their own.

Mercury has moved aggressively to buy cellular airtime property contracts in other states where they will implant cellular competition with higher frequency and improved products.

"Our immediate future will be the local (telephone) exchange competition," said Cameron President William L. "Dub" Henning. "We like the new spirit of competition and we've already filed (with the Federal Communications Commission)."

The moves into adjoining states marks a Cameron presence in four states now (East Texas has been in the fold) with a myriad of alternatives including paging services, cable television, long-distance services and the traditional rural telephone business, where the company got its start.

The privately held company attempted to branch off one of their companies publicly in 1996, but didn't like the response they got, despite a solid balance sheet and terrific sales. So they circled the wagons momentarily to decide where to attack next.

"We are going to be a player," says Henning. "We are doing business plans as we speak and we'll be there."

CRAIN BROTHERS

Crain Brothers' work in1996 was "very steady, in fact, it's all we can handle," says Neil Crain of the Grand Chenier company founded in the 1930's by his father and uncle, John Paul and A. H. "Sono" Crain.

Much of Crain Brothers work last year was on pipelines as the oil and gas exploration industry cranks up in the Gulf and Crain brothers unique knowledge of marsh transportation takes workover crews to hard-to-get-at places.

Crain Brothers can literally do anything in the oil field with the unique capabilities of their marsh buggies, huge, treaded barge-like vehicles that can be loaded with cranes and buckets and taken anywhere.

"We had a lot of big projects in 1995, but this year, it's a lot more smaller but consistent work," says Crain, adding that "we expect 1997 to be very big and we are hoping to go near $30 million in 1998."

Crain is basing that projection on the production efforts his company sees in the Gulf of Mexico and that when those fields start coming in, Crain Brothers will be poised to get that product out of the Gulf via pipelines and to the refineries.

Crain Brothers is a Cameron Parish staple, a well-run family business (Lyle "Butch" Crain serves as president) that has endured and improved and now has their core business coming back to them.

Aid told for La. students

Rep. Dan Flavin says that one of the best kept secrets of the 1997 Regular Legislative Session is HB No. 2154 by Rep. McDonald and Downer, which establishes (beginning with the 1998-99 school year) the Louisiana Tuition Opportunity Program for Students (TOPS) consisting of Opportunity Awards, Performance Awards, and Honors Awards that provide differing levels of financial assistance for the three award categories for students attending state public and non-public colleges and universities and public technical colleges who meet defined academic requirements regardless of financial need.

The TOPS program eliminates the Tuition Assistance Plan and the Louisiana Honors Scholarship Program and transfers participants in these programs into the appropriate TOPS award category without any detrimental impact on the students.

In order to be eligible for this grant a student must have a 2.50 Grade Point Average and receive a score of 19 on the ACT. This award must be applied for within 2 years of high school graduation and is for first time freshmen only. The maximum award is the amount of average public school tuition.

Anyone wishing additional information on this program can contact the Louisiana Office of Student Financial Assistance at 1-800-259-5626 ext. 1012 or Rep. Flavin's Legislative Office at 477-1334.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Leesburg, La., June 5, 1879 - The Board of Health of the parish of Cameron met. Present: R. B. Harrison, President; A. Roux, C. M. Thayer, A. J. Kearney and T. E. Gee. Absent: S. P. Henry, P. H. Landry and G. W. Ott.

The President explained that the object of calling this meeting was to take steps to prevent vessels from Mexican ports from entering the river at Calcasieu pass. (This was perhaps due to the danger of Yellow Fever).

CARGO OF RAILS

The second cargo of rails and fastenings for the Louisiana Western Railroad Company, arrived on the 8th, on board the Schooner Sarah L. Bird, Hall, master, from New York. This vessel sailed from New York, May 21, and arrived here on the 4th of June, 14 days from New York to Calcasieu Bar. She has on board 556 tons of steel rails, fastenings, etc.

MONEY-SAVING PROPOSITION

The Cameron Waterworks Board has a money-saving proposition it would like to make to its residential water users: During the month of June, these users may pay for their water service one year in advance and receive one month free as a discount.

Hadley Fontenot, water board secretary, said that by paying a fee of $33 for the coming year, that water users will save $3.

HACKBERRY RODEO

Glenda Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, and Beverly K. Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hebert, were crowned the senior and junior queens of the rodeo, respectively, for selling the most rodeo tickets.

READY TO GO

Ready to answer any emergency all is the new Cameron Fire Department rescue unit. This former Army ambulance is equipped with respirator, ladders, stretchers, first aid equipment. It is manned by a crew of volunteer firemen of which Wilman Saltzman is in charge.

ELECTRIC CO-OP BILLS

Ray Champagne, a director of the Jefferson Davis Electric Co-op told members of the Cameron Lions Club last Wednesday that unless a bill introduced in the current legislature is passed, REA Co-ops will be in serious trouble. The bills will provide that the co-ops come under the regulations of the Louisiana Public Service Commission. It would also provide that territories to be served by the co-ops and privately owned companies would be defined by the commission.

Former State Rep. Alvin Dyson stated that when the private utility companies had an opportunity to have a franchise to serve lower Cameron Parish, they did not want to do so because it was then unfeasible. However, with the growth of the parish, it appears that they would like to move in to especially have the larger commercial users.

Constitutional Amendments are told

--CAPITAL NEWS--

Among the many pieces of legislation approved by state lawmakers this spring were more than a dozen constitutional amendments, which still need voter approval before they can become law.

Several of the 18 amendments which will appear on statewide ballots in future elections deal with taxes and revenue. Others affect the criminal justice system, education or health care.

Senate President Randy Ewing of Quitman is hoping voters in October 1998 will approve his amendment to allow creation of an "infrastructure bank" to expand the way public funds can be spent. Approval of the measure would enable the state to pursue $150 million a year in federal highway money.

His counterpart in the House, Speaker Hunt Downer of Houma, successfully sponsored an amendment to establish a "rainy day fund" which would provide a cushion if the state's finances take another downturn such as they experienced in the 1980's. One-fourth of any year-end surplus or nonrecurring revenue would go into the fund as well as any mineral revenue the state receives in excess of $750 million a year. The fund would be limited to 4 percent of state revenue for the prior year.

An amendment by Rep. Reggie Dupre of Hoja could help parish government if voters approve it. He is proposing increasing the cap on their share of severance taxes from oil and gas production from $500,000 annually to $750,000.

Local government might not, however, be as pleased with a proposed amendment by Rep. Pete Schneider of Slidell. His proposal would require taxing authorities to give notice before authorizing millage increases after property reappraisals.

Homeowners will be interested in the amendment proposed by Sen. Art Lentini of Kenner which would freeze tax assessments on the homestead of anyone at least 65 years old who has an annual household income of no more than $60,000. The measure also would apply to a surviving spouse who is at least 55 and to a surviving spouse who has minor children at home.

Sen. Francis Heitmeier of New Orleans has an amendment to prohibit any state court from imposing a tax on any state or local government.

If voters approve the measure by House Appropriations Committee Chairman Rep. Jerry LeBlanc of Lafayette, the state would no longer be limited in its use of multi-year budgets. Under LeBlanc's direction, the state moved to performance-based budgeting which details certain factors each agency must meet to get funding.

An amendment by Rep. J. D. Smith of Franklin would allow the state Interim Emergency Board to appropriate funds to avert an impending emergency if it is approved at the polls. Currently, the IEB can only act on an appropriation after the emergency has been officially recognized.

The final revenue-related measure is a proposed amendment by Rep. Edwin Murray of New Orleans to provide relative to sale of property for nonpayment of taxes in certain municipalities.

If voters approve Shreveport Sen. Max Malone's proposed change to the constitution, felons would be prohibited from running for office for 15 years after their convictions. Felons who have been pardoned or who are granted probation instead of jail time would not be included in the prohibition.

Sen. Jay Dardenne of Baton Rouge offers an amendment which sets out specific victims rights. If approved they would include, among other things, the right to be present at all critical stages of criminal proceedings, to be informed of the release or escape of the offender in their case, to refuse to be interviewed by the accused or his representative and to seek restitution.

A proposal by Rep. Emile "Peppi" Bruneau of New Orleans would eliminate the possibility of bail for people charged with certain criminal offenses if the judge finds the defendant may flee or poses an imminent danger to others.

The final crime-related amendment, by Sen. Art Lentini of Kenner, would provide relative to joining of parties as defendants in felonies and criminal trials.

On the fall 1998 ballot will be Marksville Rep. Charles Riddle's proposed amendment to guarantee that the Legislature will have oversight of Louisiana State University's management of the charity hospital system. Management of the health care system was turned over to LSU during the legislative session.

Voters also will decide if the Legislature should establish a community college system for the state. If approved, Chalmette Rep. Tommy Warner's amendment would allow the Legislature to choose the LSU, Southern University or University of Louisiana systems when assigning community colleges and would give the State Board of Regents an opportunity to review and comment on the Legislature's college plan.

Finally, Sen. Max Jordan of Lafayette has proposed a constitutional change which, if adopted by the voters, provides for state sovereignty.

Each of the proposals was approved by a two-thirds vote of

Lambs, steers to be tagged

Cameron Parish 4-H and FFA sheep and steer exhibitors wishing to participate in the State Fair Livestock Show need to bring their show lambs and steers to the Burton Coliseum for validation tagging and micro chip implanting. The tagging will take place Fri., July 11, between 4 and 7:30 p.m. in the outdoor arena.

This is the only time that animals will be allowed to be tagged and validated for the livestock show. There will be a $10 nomination fee for each lamb tagged and a $15 nomination fee for each steer.

Remember that lamb exhibitors can show up to 5 lambs at the state fair. The terminal show rule for market animals at the 1997 State Fair is no longer in effect. Only the champion and reserve champion animals will be slaughtered at the show. For more information contact the 4-H office at 775-5516.

The Southern Flounder

COMMON FISH OF THIS AREA

Flounder popular food fish

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is another article on the common types of fishing in the Cameron Parish area as prepared by Sabine Wildlife Refuge biologists.)

The southern flounder occurs in coastal waters from Albemarle Sound, North Carolina through the South Atlantic states to Corpus Christi Pass, Tex. Its distribution is believed to be discontinuous around southern Florida. The species inhabit coastal bays, sounds, lagoons, and river systems from the spring through the fall. They are most abundant in mid-to upper reaches of estuaries, occasionally entering freshwater. Southern flounder prefer substrates of clayey silt or rich organic muds and commonly occur on shallow tidal flats, shell banks, and around pilings.

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

GROWTH

Southern flounder grow rapidly during the first two years of life, reaching 10.5-12.2" TL at age 1 and 143.7-16.7" TL at age 2. Males grow slower than females, but individuals of equal sizes in both sexes have similar weights.

ENVIRONMENTAL TOLERANCES

Adults are offshore in the warmer gulf waters during cooler weather (September through April) and inhabit the warmer estuarine waters in warmer weather (May through August). Adults have been collected at temperatures of 41.0 to 94.8 degrees F in Louisiana estuaries. They are highly euryhaline (able to withstand a wide range of salinity). Some adults have been collected in salinities as high as 60 parts per thousand (ppf), and others have been found in freshwater. In estuaries, adult southern flounder seem to prefer salinities between five and 20 ppt. Although they prefer comparatively shallow waters, in the Gulf of Mexico they are commonly caught at depths of 144 feet and some have been caught as deep as 2316 ft.

FOOD HABITS

Southern flounder are highly predacious, feeding on both benthic and pelagic fishes and crustaceans. They are primarily a diurnal (daytime) feeder. Although flounder may bury their bodies in the sediment, they do not ambush passing prey. Instead they stalk prey on the bottom, striking at speeds of 16 to 20 inches/second. Larger southern flounder tend to prey proportionally more on fish than on other types of prey, but often eat penaeid shrimps and portunid crabs. In southern flounder more than 6 inches, fish constituted 70% and 72% of the food items, respectively; penaeid shrimp were the most frequent invertebrates followed by blue crabs. Fishes commonly eaten by southern flounder in the he Gulf of Mexico include bay and striped anchovy, mullet, menhaden, Atlantic croaker, pinfish, and fat sleepers.

REPRODUCTION

Larger fish leave the bays for the open Gulf during the fall in order to spawn. A severe norther will cause a mass migration, while a moderate winter will cause the larger flounders to disperse over a greater period of time and result in decreased sports and commercial catches. Most all southern flounder are mature by age three. A female may produce up to 40,000 eggs of which 30% to 50% are fertilized and 6% to 35% hatch.

Cancer Society invites residents to participate

Cameron Parish residents have been invited to participate in the American Cancer Society's "Dust Til Dawn Relay For Life" to be held Friday, July 18 starting at 6 p.m. at the McNeese Recreation Complex.

All proceeds from Cameron parish will benefit the Cameron Parish Unit of the Cancer Society, according to Mrs. Virgie LeBleu.

For a donation of $10 a candle will be lit in honor or memory of a person of your choosing. The name of that person will be displayed on the luminary during the Luminary Ceremony at 9 p.m.

Donations, along with the names of the honorees and donors, should be sent to Mrs. LeBleu at P.O. Drawer 266, Cameron, La. 70631. Phone 775-5360 for more information.

Workers trained in survival

A recent addition to USL's Marine Survival Training Center (MSTC) may help save the lives of oil and gas industry workers by teaching them how to escape a helicopter that has crashed into the water.

A helicopter simulator, whose module, seating and emergency exits can be rearranged to accommodate any type of helicopter, has been added to the training tools offered by the MSTC. The movable element makes the training center's simulator unique and appealing to the petroleum industry since a variety of aircraft are utilized to transport workers offshore, said Gerald Lund, MSTC director.

The underwater egress training will go something like this: offshore workers are strapped into the simulator, which has been arranged to replicate the helicopter their company uses. The simulator is lowered into a special pool and rolls upside down. Workers must hold their breaths while operating the exits to escape. A trainer and divers accompany the trainees underwater.

Two views of Battle of Sabine Pass given

In May, 1864, a Civil War battle took place in Calcasieu Pass near where the town of Cameron is now located. Keith Hambrick, who researches the old column for the Pilot has found both the reports of the Federal and Confederate officers on the battle. They are as follows:

--FEDERAL REPORT--

May 6-10, 1864 - Operations in Calcasieu Pass, La. No. 3 - Report of Maj. J. Simpson, Second New Orleans Infantry (Union)

New Orleans, La. May 10, 1864

Maj. Gen. Joseph J. Reynolds, Commanding Defenses of New Orleans

General: I have to report the capture of the detachment sent to Calcasieu, La.; also the gun-boats Wave and Granite City at that place. I arrived at Calcasieu Sunday, 8th instant, at 7 a.m., on the steamer Ella Morse, Captain Pepper. We crossed the bar and entered the river, and when within about 500 yards of the gun-boats, things looking a little suspicious, stopped our boats.

The tide swung her around; we dipped our flag as a signal, and were answered by a broadside from the Granite City. We immediately put on steam and ran down the river, the Granite City throwing shot and shell at us for about half a mile, and then we were attacked by sharpshooters from either shore.

Our pilot was wounded by the first shot. Captain Pepper took the wheel and ran the boat out. We know nothing further in regard to the capture.

I have the honor to be, most respectfully, your obedient servant.

J. Simpson, Major Second New Orleans Volunteers

--CONFEDERATE REPORT--

May 6-10, 1864 -- Operations in Calcasieu Pass, La. Reports of Col. William H. Griffin, Twenty-first Texas Infantry

Capt. L. G. Aldrich, Assistant Adjutant-General, Houston

Sir: I have the honor to submit the following as amendatory of my report on the late engagement with the enemy at Calcasieu Pass: Owing to the hurried manner in which I wrote out my report and the multiplicity of other business on my hands, I omitted entirely to mention the names of the officers of the medical staff engaged with me on that occasion.

Great credit and praise is due to Aasistant Surgeons Barton, Gordon, and Bailey for the indefatigable and energetic manner in which they discharged their duties. At the commencement of the battle, a hospital was established at a vacant house, to which all the wounded were carried as fast as possible. As soon as the wounded of my command were disposed of they lent all their aid to the Federal medical officer.

Only one capital operation was performed upon the soldiers of my command, but there were nine capital operations performed upon the officers and crew of the Granite City. I thought it very strange when I went on board the Granite City that there were so many seriously wounded and so few dead. It will now be ex-plained.

Five dead bodies have washed ashore, to which weights had been attached and then thrown overboard. How many more dead were thrown overboard of course will never be known. I was aboard the Granite City when the knave ran up the white flag. I could after that plainly see pistols, guns, swords, &c., being thrown overboard. It is aid an iron safe was also thrown into the pass. They attempted to throw overboard two Dahlgren howitzers, but failed in doing so. The probability is, therefore, that some 15 or 20 of the enemy were killed in the late battle. It is due to Dr. Gordon to say that all the operations performed on the Granite City, with one exception, were performed by him.

I have the honor to be, sir, very respectfully, your most obedient servant,

Wm. H. Griffin, Colonel Twenty-First Texas Infantry, Commanding

1st locomotive lands

Calcasieu Gazette June 21, 1879

THE FIRST LOCOMOTIVE

Work is progressing steadily all along the line of the railroad (Louisiana Western). West of the Calcasieu, there are several gangs at work, at different points. In the Calcasieu River, piles are being driven, for the bridge. The old piling in Lake Charles is being cut down to the water, and caps placed on them. From this point east, the grading is completed and ready for laying the track, as for as English Bayou. A force is at work at Pine Island, grading eastward to the Grand Marais, where a force of convicts are throwing up a levee.

The Schooner Piper is now in the ditch, in Big Lake, having on board a locomotive; and as soon as it arrives, we understand that track laying will commence.

(Note: The first locomotive was named the "Calcasieu.")

CAMERON CD ON 3 RADIO NETWORKS

Come what may--storm, disaster or enemy attack--Cameron Parish Civil Defense will be well prepared to keep in touch with all sections of this far-flung parish.

Sonny McCall, Parish Assistant CD Director, announced this week the installation of a third radio communication system to serve the parish and the Southwest Louisiana area.

The new CD radio system, which will operate in the high frequency range, will have its base station at the Calcasieu CD office. Other radio units on the same system, in addition to Cameron, include the weather bureau, department of highways, Calcasieu Sheriff Department and Sulphur City Police. In the event of a storm or emergency, direct contact could be established with these agencies.

Cameron Civil Defense also has its own parishwide radio system with thirteen two-way radios in operation throughout the parish. The base station is located in the CD office in the courthouse. Other sets are at the Cameron Sheriff's office, Rockefeller Refuge at Grand Chenier, Creole KC Hall, Sweetlake Community Center, South Cameron Hospital (mobil unit), Cameron fire truck (mobil unit), Cameron fire truck (Mobil unit, Stanley's Store at Holly Beach and Cameron Mobil Unit 1.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Grand Lake - Sweetlake--Ladies from St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church attending the N.C.C.W. meeting at Our Lady Queen of Heaven Hall in Lake Charles were Mesdames J. C. Miller, Wilfred Ojea, Jasper Ojea, Absie Duhon, Nolton Richard, Raymond Blanchard and Polus Doucett.

Black news--Miss Barbara Jane LeBlanc left last Saturday by plane for Seattle, Washington, where she will do post graduate work at a university there. Miss LeBlanc formerly taught at Southern University in Baton Rouge and is presently employed at Fort Valley College in Georgia.

Grand Chenier--LETTER FROM NOAH V. THERIOT OF NEW ORLEANS--We moved from Grand Chenier in 1920 to Lake Arthur. Ask Archie Hollister, we lived right back of his house on the back ridge. Isaac Theriot was my father. We went to school in the one room red school house in Grand Chenier. In 1923, I worked on the farm of my late uncle, Eros Theriot. He had a Model-T sedan Ford.

We had a basketball team and played right back of Grand Chenier High School. I remember such fellows as Valsant Montie and Carrol McCall, who played. That summer the marsh was so dry we motored to Big Pecan Island and played and we'd go to Creole and play.

In 1924, I worked for my late uncle, Travis Sweeney, and we had plenty of mosquitoes and plenty of cotton to pick and plenty of ducks and poule d'eaus.

Adam Nunez's boat brought freight from Lake Arthur to Grand Chenier. He would bring ice in a sack covered with wood sawdust. Signed, Noah V. Theriot.

(Note: Using sawdust was a common refrigeration insulation material in earlier days. In fact, in the really early days, ice was cut from the Northern rivers and put in double walled log cabins with sawdust filler between the two walls. This kept the ice till the summertime.)

Creole--Development is going on at a rapid pace at the Gulf Coast's newest beach, Rutherford Beach, just south of Creole. Two new camps are being built. Jeff Davis Electric highline poles are lying on the ground along the road beading to the beach ready to be hoisted into place to provide the much-needed electricity. Fredman Theriot's Cypress Inn is almost completed just about a quarter of a mile north of the beach. Record-breaking crowds have been jamming the area on weekends, and according to Jack Rutherford, owner of "T-Jack's Stand-in-the-Sand" business is so good that he is now keeping his refreshment stand open 7 days a week.

Holly Beach--Walter Stanley was notified this week that the roadside park, long sought by the Cameron's Lions Club will be a reality.

Cameron--Articles of incorporation for The Cameron Theater, Inc. have been filed with the Cameron Clerk of Court's office. Listed as owners and officers are Kenneth Roux, president; J. B. Watts, vice-president; and Mrs. Oleta Watts, secretary. The firm operates the Grand Theater in Cameron.

New traffic laws

--CAPITAL NEWS--

State troopers will be concentrating on "dangerous violations" as they begin enforcing the state's new highway laws in the coming weeks.

State Police Superintendent W. R. "Rut" Whittington told the Press Club of Baton Rouge that safety issues will be troopers' first concerns. "Are we going to turn around and just start attacking people right off the bat? No," he said.

The Legislature, in the recent session, approved a 70 mph speed limit for interstate highways and raised the limit to 65 mph on four-lane highways with medians. The new speed limits will begin taking effect as the state Department of Transportation and Development gets the new signs posted, which began in early July and is expected to be complete by Aug. 15. The new speed limits go into effect as the signs go up.

The state police commander said troopers are being encouraged to give motorists a little latitude if they exceed the new speed limits. He said the agency understands that drivers do not continuously watch their speedometers as they drive and that some cruise controls are not 100 percent accurate.

Drivers are supposed to be watching traffic as well as their own speed, he said. So troopers will be looking for "the aggressive driver" in enforcing new speed laws.

State lawmakers also approved legislation giving police the authority to impound vehicles if the drivers lack proof of insurance. That law takes effect Jan. 1, 1998, and Whittington said "sense and judgment" will be the watchwords in those cases also.

"We try to be reasonable people in general. We'll use some latitude," he said.

Officers will be able to use the familiar yellow stickers and seize license plates instead of impounding vehicles in some limited instances, according to the new law. If a child under the age of 12 or a handicapped person is in the vehicle, if impounding the vehicle would endanger the driver or the public or if the officer is "reasonably satisfied" that the driver really is insured, he can opt not to impound the vehicle immediately. That will allow the driver a three-day grace period.

A good and HOT cup of coffee . . .

Cameron Pilot, June 25, 1964

By Archie Hollister

It was a pleasant custom of the old days---and one that I hope has not died out---for one member of the family to arise ahead of the other, light the fires, make coffee and serve it to those still in bed.

Mrs. Lawson and her three sons live in Cameron, and in the Lawson family this task had been assigned to Martin because he was the youngest of the boys. Each of the older brothers had served his turn, and now that Martin was growing up, they felt it but fair that he should he do likewise.

Martin discharged his fire-making and coffee-generating duties in the satisfaction of everyone but his older brother, George. George did not like Martin's coffee; it was never hot enough, he said, and he was loud in his complaints concerning the cold coffee that his thoughtless younger brother insisted upon bringing to his bed.

One morning Martin decided that he would put an end to George's grumbling by serving him coffee so hot no one could possibly drink it. He went about his preparations with commendable thoroughness, omitting nothing that would produce extremely hot coffee. He first selected a thick cup from the shelf and dropped that in the kettle of boiling water. And he threw the spoon in for good measure too. When these articles were thoroughly heated, he fished them out, poured strong boiling coffee into the cup, added a spoonful of red pepper and a generous portion of tabasco, wrapped it all in a thick cloth, and dashed upstairs to his brother's bedroom.

George had a habit of opening his mouth wide, and draining the content of the cup at a swallow. Martin remembered this and he wanted to be prepared for the eruption that he felt sure would follow when George poured the scalding brew into his mouth. He handed him the cup and stepped outside the room, half closing the door, but peering around the edge to observe the results of his labors.

The unsuspecting George took the dynamite laden cup in his hand and true to form he drank it dry without once lowering it from his mouth. He smacked his lips a time or two, ran the back of his hand over his chin, and with a smile of complete enjoyment on his face turned to Martin.

"You know, Martin," he said, "that's the best cup of coffee I've had in many a day. Why can't you have it hot like that every morning?"

Storm names

In 1953 the United States abandoned a three year old plan to name storms by the phonetic alphabet (Able, Baker, Charlie) when a new international phonetic alphabet was introduced. That year, the nation's weather services began using female names for storms. By using names, confusion is reduced when exchanging information about the storm, especially when two storms are occurring at the same time. Men's names were included in the list for the Atlantic, Caribbean, and Gulf of Mexico tropical storms and hurricanes for the first time in 1979. If a hurricane becomes strong and causes significant damage, the name is retired form the list and will not be used again, such as Audrey, Betsy, Hugo and Andrew.

Tropical storm and hurricane names for 1997:

Ana, Bill, Claudette, Danny, Erika, Fabian, Grace, Henri, Isabel, Juan, Kate, Larry, Mindy, Nicholas, Odette, Peter, Rose, Sam, Teresa, Victor, Wanda.

The first thing I'd like to mention is to remind those who need a hunter's education course, better get on the ball. Courses will be held at the Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge office headquarters in Sweet Lake July 15-17, from 6 to 9:30 p.m. all three nights. Glenn Harris and Remy Broussard will be instructors. For more information and to pre-register, call the refuge at 318-598-2216.

SALTWATER FISHING

All reports are good for saltwater this past two weeks. Plenty of speckle trout are being taken both at the Cameron and Grand Chenier jetties, on the old river point in Cameron and east of the Grand Chenier jetties.

The purple/chartreuse tail cockahoe minnow is real hot, but most every store is out and since last week the white/red tail cockahoe minnow has blown the speckle trouts mind.

Flounder on the flats in Cameron as well as the lower end of Big Lake are still plentiful.

Don't be afraid to use top water on the specks and in the marshy ares, spinner baits and rattletraps will catch redfish, which will hit spinner baits just like bass, and if he's a big one, you have your fight.

Speckle trout are running up to 7 pounds or better, with lots of 14 inch specks. Redfish are running 24 inches or better in most areas.

Remember, the new 1997-98 fishing licenses are on sale and the old ones are no good.

FRESHWATER FISHING

Tough is the word for our local refuges and permit fishing in the parish. Early morning and late evening are best, unless you have overcast days or a rainy day. Be careful of lightning storms.

The dogfights may tell a tale for size of fish. Lacassine Refuge last week's largest bass was 2.14, Sabine Refuge 2.25, Calcasieu River 2.37, and the Mermentau River North 2.77, really the best was the Mermentau River. This past week three pounders were more plentiful, especially on Lacassine Refuge. The Big Burn is still producing bass but fair in size, but reports are that the east end is picking up and limits are being taken.

Most of June was a tough month. No large bass were weighed in at Rudy's Fish 'N Stop in Creole for June.

NEWS BRIEFS

There are many state records that can be broken here in Louisiana, in fact, you may have beaten a state record fish and didn't even know it. Have you ever thought of getting your name in the record books.

Once a state striped bass record (38 lbs. 4 ozs) caught on Toledo Bend in 1988 is now in fourth place. Blue gill and chinquapin were under bream (2.8). Now separately, there are no bluegill records and only two in chinquapin. The same is true for crappie (white perch). White and black crappie are now separate categories. Only a 3.21 pound black crappie is weighed and no white crappies are on the record books.

Channel catfish is wide open. Flathead catfish only have two with a 41 pounder tops. The top blue catfish is 98 pounds. The biggest alligator gar is 80 pounds and the books only list two weighed in. I know we have some 200 pound garfish in our parish waters. A 20 pound gaspergoo or freshwater drum, sits alone in the category.

For our men anglers, sit down! The largest fish ever taken in Louisiana waters on a rod and reel was a 1,018.8 pound blue marlin, caught in July 1977 by lady angler Linda Koener.

Other species with two or fewer entrants include gafftop catfish, one entry, lady fish, one, bonito, stingray and Vermilion snapper, none, queen triggerfish, one, ocean triggerfish, two and shipjack tuna with two entries. For fly fishermen, many species remain open or have only one or two entrants.

To enter a fish, fill out an official application form, obtained from any LOWA member or write to LOWA Fish Records. Have a witness certify the weight and a biologist confirm the species. Then send the application with $20 processing fee to LOWA Fish Records, P.O. Box 8571, Clinton, La. 70722-8571 or call (504) 344-6707. Be sure to follow all rules on the back of the form.

Remember, all fish must be caught in Louisiana waters legally, and access to the public or landed at a La. port and weighed in this state.

We'll try to get weights for both the Southwest La. 4th of July Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo and the local Lemesche Bass Club American Legion Rodeo next week.

Steve Cole in exercise

Navy Petty Officers 3rd Class Steve W. Cole, son of Jim Cole of Cameron, recently completed a month-long, U.S.-Jordan military exercise while attached to the 15th Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU), currently on a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific Ocean.

Cole is one of approximately 1,500 Marines and Sailors who participated in Exercise Infinite Moonlight in the Jordanian Desert. The annual exercise provides military training opportunities and enhances relationships between U.S. naval amphibious forces and Royal Jordanian armed forces. Infinite Moonlight is part of the ongoing bilateral exercise program between U.S. Central Command and Kingdom of Jordan military forces. Marines and Sailors from the 15th MEU and Jordanian soldiers focused their training on small unit tactics, fire support coordination, and battle skills sustainment training.

During a brief respite from the rigorous exercise, Cole, and other members rocked the port city of Aqaba with a talent show, playing to a packed house which included top ranking Jordanian navy personnel and their families.

Permits asked

The U. S. Corps of Engineer has received applications for the following permits to do work in in Cameron Parish.

Kyle Theriot is asking permission to excavate a borrow pit and use the material to build up a proposed homesite one mile west of Creole.

Francis Drilling Fluids is requesting a permit to construct a processing facility for drilling fluids in the George Marshall Subdivision on Calcasieu Pass in the town of Cameron. The work will include installing timber piles and a pre-cast concrete deck.

Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage Dist. 4 is seeking a permit to place rip-rap on a canal bank in the Creole area to prevent damage to a home and to restore eroded canal bank. About 500 tons of rip-rap will be deposited on the canal bank by dump truck and frontend loader.

IN TOP 50 FIRMS IN AREA

L. C. Diesel is featured

In addition to Crain Brothers which the Cameron Pilot wrote about last week, a second Cameron Parish firm was among the top privately owned companies in Southwest Louisiana featured in an article published in the current issue of The Times of Lake Charles.

Lake Charles Diesel, which had its start in Cameron 52 years ago, was ranked NO. 19 in the list with $26 million annual revenues for 1995 and 94 employees. The Times article on the firm read:

Harold Cooling, the patriarch and founder of Lake Charles Diesel, passed away in 1996 but not before the company he started right after World War II added Perkins Diesel to the existing lines of Detroit, Cummings and Caterpillar engines.

His son, Art, is president now and he could not be more pleased with all the exploration activity in Southwest Louisiana and the Gulf of Mexico.

"The oilfield business is good. The new 3-D seismograph technology is causing a boom in the offshore business and our marine branches are busy," says Cooling. All the offshore crewboats and tugs utilize diesel engines exclusively, and Cooling's maintenance business is as busy as his sales.

Lake Charles Diesel has locations in Cameron, Alexandria, Vidalia and Crowley in addition to the headquarters on U. S. 90 Est. Cooling, in addition to the boom in business, is proud of the addition of the Perkins line.

"They (Perkins) are the largest manufacturer of diesel engines in the world. With this addition, we think we can offer the best in marine and industrial applications in diesel engines," says Cooling.

Lake Charles Diesel is quite a growth story for a firm that began in Cameron in 1945, installing diesel engine generators so that Zapata-Haynie could process pogeys.

Production is up

-CAPITAL NEWS-

The state Department of Revenue and Taxation's April report showed $1.4 million received for work in the parish, up from just under $1.2 million the previous month and the sixth highest overall figure in the state. Both months indicated less production than the $1.5 million recorded during the first two months of the year, but severance taxes have consistently run higher than for the same periods during 1996.

Oil production accounted for the bulk of the taxes received in April, showing $826,266 of the parish total. The $592,327 listed for natural gas was the fourth highest figure in the state in that category.

The parish collecting the tax on oil and natural gas receives one-fourth of the total up to $500,000. Seventy-five percent of all revenue collected on timber products goes back to the parish.

Severance tax receipts statewide held steady in April at $31.6 million for the second consecutive month. They had fallen in February to $37.8 million after a 1997 opening figure of $40.8 million. By the end of April, the state had received a total of $141.8 million in severance taxes compared to $116.1 million during the first four months of 1996.

Alligator season begins Sept. 6

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission set for the 1997 alligator season for Sept. 6 through Oct. 5, 1997. The Commission passed the declaration of emergency at their regular monthly meeting on July 8.

Approximately 26,000 alligators were taken during the 1996 season, which is down slightly from the two previous years but still the third highest harvest since records were kept. Sales of alligator hides contributed approximately $4.7 million to Louisiana's economy, and alligator meat added $4 million. Alligator meal sales were higher in 1996 than ever before.

Phil Bowman, LDWF Fur and Refuge Division Administrator, said, where water conditions were optimal, an increase in alligator nesting activity was noted. This was particularly noteworthy because some areas of the state experienced drought conditions in 1996.

Alligator hunters should submit license applications as soon as possible. Applications are available at Department of Wildlife and Fisheries headquarters, 2000 Quail Drive, Baton Rouge, and Department district offices as well as Fur and Refuge offices.

Harvest rules and regulations are available from all Fur and Refuge offices located in New Iberia, New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge. They are also available at LDWF district offices or by writing the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Fur and Refuge Division, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70898.

Coastal areas are in danger says center

Scientific findings of the U. S. Geological Survey's National Wetlands Research Center in Lafayette were presented at a seminar sponsored by the U. S. Global Change Research Program last week in Wash-ington, D. C.

The potential impacts on wetlands are of great practical concern to those living and working in coastal areas, according to Dr. Robert E. Stewart, Jr., center director.

"Among the coastal areas of greatest risk in the United States are those low-lying coastal habitats that are easily eroded and occur along the northern Gulf of Mexico and southern Atlantic coasts of the United States. These coastal wetlands are especially vulnerable to direct, large-scale effects of climate change, primarily because of their sensitivity to sea-level rise," he said.

Global sea level has already risen between 4 to 10 inches over the past 100 years. The intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change in 1995 projected for the next century a sea-level rise of about 6 to 37 inches due to thermal expansion and melting of glaciers and ice sheets. Continued sea-level rise will increase the depth of coastal waters and increase inland and upstream salinity intrusion, both of which affect brackish and freshwater wetlands.

While there is uncertainty about the influence of global warming on the frequency and intensity of storms, sea-level rise alone has the potential for increasing the severity of storm surges, particularly in areas where coastal habitats and barrier shorelines are rapidly deteriorating, Dr. Virginia Burkett, branch chief of forest ecology at the center, said. These direct consequences of global and regional-scale changes will increase the vulnerability of coastal wetlands (including mangrove and salt marshes) that are already heavily affected by human activities, she added.

Center study results show that changes in sea level are expected to alter the plant community composition and aerial coverage of seagrass beds. Field studies off the coasts of Mississippi and Louisiana have shown, for example, that barrier island overwash is a major determinant of seagrass community composition in the Chandeleur Sound, which contains some of the largest grassbeds in the north central Gulf region.

Because of different species of seagrass support different organisms, changes in the composition of seagrass will be felt at every level of the food web, including shellfish, finfish, waterfowl (especially readhead ducks, which depend almost entirely on seagrass for their winter diet), and people.

Three of the 12 wetlands studied were not keeping pace with the current rate of sea-level rise. If sea-level rise accelerates, some additional sites would also begin to slowly deteriorate and submerge. In some areas, the sinking or subsidence of the marsh system, coupled with human development, is the major cause of wetland loss.

Computer model simulations of the combined influence of sea-level rise, storms, and floods suggest that large areas in the southeastern United States could be converted from coastal marsh to open water and from forest to marsh. Hurricane model simulations also suggest that if hurricanes or the effects of hurricanes become more intense over the next century, wetland community structure and composition would be altered.

The center has produced eight fact sheets discussing the details of these studies. They are available from the National Wetlands Research Center Library, 700 Cajundome Blvd., Lafayette, La. 70506, or can be ordered from 318-266-8692.

Migratory bird seasons told

The 1997-98 season dates, bag limits and possession limits for certain migratory birds were tentatively adopted at the July 8, meeting of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Recommendations were provided by wildlife biologists within a framework set by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. They pertain strictly to dove, teal, rails, gallinules, snipe, and woodcock. Dates for the regular waterfowl seasons (ducks and geese) will be set at the Commission's August 1997 meeting.

The USFWS allows states to choose between a 70-day and a 60-day hunting season for doves and Commission elected to take the 70-day option season this year. The USFWS's framework also cut the woodcock season, reducing the bag limit 40 percent from five to three birds and reducing the number of days for hunting from 65 to 45, a 31 percent decrease.

Dove: Sept. 6-14, Oct. 18-Nov. 17, an dec. 20-Jan. 18; daily bag limit 12, possession 24.

Teal (cinnamon, blue-winged and green-winged teal only): Sept. 20-28, daily bag limit 4, possession 8. Federal and state waterfowl stamps are required to hunt teal.

King and Clapper Rails: Sept. 20-28 and Nov. 8-Jan. 7, daily bag limit 15 in the aggregate, possession 30.

Sora and Virginia Rails: Sept. 20-28 and Nov. 8-Jan. 7, daily bag and possession limits 25 in the aggregate.

Gallinules: Sept. 20-28 and Nov. 8-Jan. 7, daily bag limit 15, possession 30.

Shooting Hours:

Dove: one half hour before official sunrise to official sunset, except for Sept. 6-7, Oct. 18-19, and Dec. 20-21 when shooting hours will be 12 noon to official sunset.

Horse Salve Eases Arthritis Pain

LOUISVILLE, KY -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, has now been approved by government researchers for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx®. ARTH-Rx comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446.

HUNTING NEWS

Waterfowl are the most prominent and economically important of North America's migratory birds. In 1991 nearly 3 million waterfowl hunters spent $1.6 billion on their sport. In that same year, about 19 million people observed, photographed, and otherwise appreciated waterfowl and shorebirds and pumped $9.8 billion into the economy for the pleasure of doing it.

Speaking of waterfowl and game birds, the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission decided a week or so ago that dove hunting will not open on Labor Day weekend, but more time in the field will be allotted dove hunters. Squirrel season was also extended.

Dove season's first split will open Sat., Sept. 6, and run 9 days through Sept. 14. The second split will open Sat., Dec. 20, and run 30 days through Jan. 18, 1998. This will give 70 days of dove hunting. Daily bag limits will be 12 doves daily and 24 possession limit after first day of each split.

The fall teal season will open Sept. 20 through 28, 9 days with daily bag limit of 4 and possession limit of 8 after first day of opening.

Quail season runs Nov. 27 through Feb. 20, daily limit of 10, possession 20 after first day.

Squirrel season, Oct. 4-Feb. 8, daily bag 8, possession limit 16, after first day.

Rabbit season, Oct. 4-Feb. 28, daily bag 8, possession 16 after first day.

Something hunters of small game must do this season is that they must wear orange vests or orange hats if deer season is going on at the time of small game or bird hunting.

FISHING RODEO

The Southwest La. Fishing Rodeo, one of the oldest in our state, held their 60th annual Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. Their headquarters are located in Lake Charles. This rodeo was held in Cameron for many years and then moved to Lake Charles. Many Cameron Parish anglers, both male and female, participate in this event each year. Many youngsters also take part, as this is a family event for all their members. Here are some of the results of the July 4, weekend rodeo:

T- man Racca of Cameron was on the board on Friday with a third place cobia weighing 35.6 pounds. Sarah Henry was first in fly fishing in Spanish mackerel category with a 1.5 pounder. Also in the fly fishing division for speckle trout was 1st, Mike Johnson, 2.8; 2nd, Scott Henry, 1.3. Both of these anglers are from Cameron also.

Mike Johnson also caught a cobia weighing 14.6, although not a rodeo category, he qualified for a state record for fly fishing.

Saturday's fishing gave John Jay LaBove's 4.0 gafftop 3rd place, while Julia Racca had a 2nd place gar weighing 53.8 and T-man Racca had a third place gar, 39.9. All these anglers are from Cameron.

The board changed quite a bit on Sunday, the final day. However, Julia and T-Man Racca held on to second and third place gar, John Jay LaBove had a third place speckle trout, 5.9.

In the fly fishing category, Sarah henry held on to first for Spanish Mackerel, but she had a second place flounder of 1 pound. Mike Johnson and Scott Henry held on to first and second places in speckle trout.

There were 26 species of fish weighed-in regular fishing group, 5 species in fly fishing, 5 species in scuba diving and 2 species in tag and release.

There were no blue marlin, and no tarpon caught.

We'll bring you more next week on first place catches.

PLANT SITE

Opportunity came a-knocking at Cameron Parish's door this week and there were indications that it might be the biggest step forward for the parish since the discovery of oil here.

Famed industrialist Robert G. LeTourneau of Longview, Tex., world's largest manufacturer of earth-moving equipment and offshore drilling rigs, advised Cameron Parish leaders this week that he would like to build a drilling barge manufacturing plant in the parish that might hire as many as 300 to 400 men.

This message came directly from Mr. LeTourneau's co-partner in his wide-flung industrial empire--Mrs. Robert G. LeTourneau, who met with parish leaders Monday night to outline the firm's plans for the area.

These plans are, in brief:

LeTourneau would like to move his barge construction plant from Vicksburg, Miss., to somewhere on the ship channel in Cameron Parish.

He would also like to lease from 5,000 to 50,000 acres of marsh land in the parish to serve as a proving ground for a new ditch digging machine that can scoop up 100 yards of dirt in one bucket.

The plant would provide employment for 300 to 400 men when in full operation. A large number of these men could be local who would be trained on the job.

Mrs. LeTourneau said Cameron Parish was their first choice for several reasons.

Members of the Cameron Parish Development Board, Police Jury and other groups agreed that an all-out effort must be made to secure the land needed for the plant and at a reasonable price.

The following committee was appointed to try to locate the needed land: Dr. Cecil Clark and Hadley Fontenot, president and secretary of the development committee; Frankie Henry, police jury president; J. B. Jones, assistant district attorney; John Paul Crain, Grand Chenier marsh buggy manufacturer; Alvin Dyson, former state representative; J. A. Davis, large Cameron landowner; and Buster Rogers, barge terminal owner.

(Editor's Note--Plans for the plant never materialized.)

CATTLE FREE OF TB

With more than three-fourths of the cattle in lower Cameron Parish having been tested for tuberculosis during the last few weeks, only two animals suspected of having TB have been found, County Agent Hadley Fontenot reported this week.

Mr. Fontenot said about 14,000 head of cattle have been tested by federal and state veterinarians to date and that another 5,000 to 6,000 head remain to be tested.

He said it appeared that the parish would be reaccredited for another six years as free of TB among the herds.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou - - In the past midweek, three Port Neches men fishing in the Gulf ran out of fuel. After five hours of gentle rocking on the waves and no power but their own, they drifted to shore on Johnson Bayou. They then walked for two hours on the beach to General American Co.'s office where there is a phone. The men were a solid mass of whelps from mosquito bites, but happy they had made their way out without worse misfortune.

Out Rt. 1, Cameron Way --

Warner Daigle enlisted in the Army reserve June 9. Gerald Daigle, Leonard King, Jr. and Pierre Savoie drove Warner to Camp Polk where he'll take his basic training.

Grand Lake-Sweet Lake -- Mr. and Mrs. Ernest (Boone) Hebert are enjoying a nice new 1964 Rose Wood color 4-door hardtop Chrysler, which they purchased from Mike Pearson in Many. It has bucket seats and seat belts too.

Creole -- Members of the Creole Little League and softball teams wish to express their appreciation to all who helped make the benefit dance and gumbo supper Sunday night at the KC Hall such a tremendous success. Special thanks are extended to all those folks who went "over and above the call of duty" by making voluntary donations of cash, chickens, shrimp, rice, etc.

Hackberry -- The new Hackberry Lions Club elected officers at its second meeting held last Thursday. Officers named are: Charles A. EAGLESON WINS AS SHERIFF

Claude Eagleson, Sweetlake rice farmer, took his oath of office Wednesday as Cameron Parish's new sheriff almost 50 years from the date that his father took a similar oath, in 1904.

Looking on as Clerk of Court J. Berton Daigle administered the oath, was the sheriff's wife, children and his mother, Mrs. Charles Eagleson.

The new sheriff's father, Charles Eagleson, served as sheriff of the parish from 1904 to 1912. He died in 1957.

Nineteen deputies and employees of the sheriff's department were also sworn into office Wednesday afternoon. All are holdovers from the previous administration. Sheriff Eagleson said he does not intend to make an immediate change in the employees of the department.

The new sheriff, who has been raising rice on a 1400 acre farm north of the Gibbstown Bridge for a number of years, plans to turn his farming operation over to his children and to move to Cameron. He hopes to have a new home built in the Mudd subdivision east of Cameron by this fall.

The number two man in the department will continue to be Charles (Tince) Murphy, who has been chief deputy since November, 1956.

Mrs. Norma Blake will continue as deputy tax collector with Mrs. Henry Ratcliff remaining as assistant deputy tax collector.

Deputies remaining at their posts are: Cameron J. B. Constance, Norman LaBove, Durphy Vincent, Ashburn Roux, Gene Constance, Arsene LeBleu, boat operator, and Carl Reon, radio dispatcher; Hackberry-James Constance and Allen Hinton; Holly Beach-Peter Constance Jr., and Joseph Griffith; Grand Chenier-Claude Bonsall; Creole-Raleigh Rutherford and Edward Broussard; Grand Lake-Dewey Hebert, Lazime LeBouef and Ted Askew; Lowery-Ernest Myers.

Sheriff Eagleson said this week as he took office that he wanted to reiterate his previous statement that gambling will not be allowed in the parish during his administration.

The new sheriff said he intends to enforce state and parish laws concerning gambling as had been done in the previous administration of Sheriff O. B. Carter. Eagleson also said the laws against the sale of liquor and beer on Sunday also would be enforced as in the past.

Ruling given on sex offender notification

--CAPITAL NEWS--

Although state law requires school boards to be notified if a convicted sex offender is living in a school zone, it does not allow the board to notify the parents of the offender's presence, according to a ruling from the state attorney general's office.

The Calcasieu Parish School Board sought advice from Attorney General Richard Ieyoub about whether it could notify parents of a sex offender's residence within a school district and include a photograph in the notice. An opinion written by assistant Attorney general Beth Conrad Langston advises the board not to do either.

"In light of the statutes and (court) cases, strict and narrow interpretation of the notification requirements of a convicted sex offender should be applied," she cautioned. The Calcasieu board's proposals do not fit into the narrow interpretation, and notice to parents including photographs 'does not appear to be allowed by law" since it is very specific as to when photographs are to be published.

Langston does point out that the criminal code gives the court "great discretion in ordering the defendant to give other notice requirements." If the court deemed it appropriate, an offender could be required to use signs, handbills, bumper stickers or clothing labeled to that effect, she said. But the court would have to order notices sent to parents on a case-by-case basis for them to be legal.

The opinion cites three sections of the 1995 law governing notification by sex offenders. Two require a sex offender on probation or parole to register with the sheriff of the parish where the residence is established or with the municipal police department in communities with populations exceeding 450,000. All three sections require the offender to notify various individuals in the district, and all have some similar provisions, Langston said.

Among the notification requirements is a mandate for the offender to give notice of the crime for which he was convicted, his name and address, by mail, to everyone residing in the area where he will be living. The notice must be given within 30 days of release on parole or 30 days of setting up residence, and it must be published during that period on two separate days in the official journal of the parish governing authority. Notice by a paroled offender must include a photograph, Langston said, but an offender on probation does not have the photograph requirement.

A paroled sex offender, the assistant attorney general explained must notify people who live within a one-mile radius in rural areas or a three-square block area in urban or suburban areas. Also among the people to be notified are the superintendent of the school district in the designated area, who in turn notifies the principals of public and nonpublic schools in the area. Those notices are accompanied by clear, recent photographs or photocopies. Superintendents of recreation districts also are on the list and they pass the notices on to park, playground and recreational facility custodians.

Requirements for those on probation are similar, but the notice sent by school superintendents to principals and in officials journals do not include photographs and notification to park, playground and recreation district superintendents is not required.

Jimmy & Nell are retiring here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Cameron Parish will be losing a long time pharmacist and its school nurse when Jimmy and Nell Colligan take retirement and move to Lafayette next month.

"Too many people wait until they are too old to do all the things they enjoy," Jimmy commented.

Jimmy has been working in the Cameron Drug Store since he was 10 years old when he helped out at the soda fountain.

His father, the late Joseph Albert Colligan graduated from college in pharmacy in 1926 and established a pharmacy in the Ged Oil Field near Vinton and then moved to Cameron in 1939. Jimmy said that all of his family worked in the pharmacy as soon as they were old enough.

Two of his sisters became pharmacists, Joyce McCall and Deanne Colligan, who will run the local drug store by herself in the future.

Another sister, Madeline Colligan, teaches kindergarten at Cameron Elementary School.

Jimmy's family has come from a long line of medical people. In addition to his father and sisters, there are the late Leland Colligan and Dr. J. B. Colligan of Hackberry and Dr. John Colligan of Lake Charles.

His wife, Nell Colligan, has just retired as the school nurse of Cameron Parish after 17 years of service.

Their children did not follow in the medical field. Their daughter is a law clerk and the two boys are engineers.

Jimmy said he appreciates all of the loyal friends he has had in Cameron Parish, and that he is leaving the pharmacy in the good hands of his sister, but the move to Lafayette will put his an dhis wife closer to their family. They have already purchased a home in Lafayette and will put their one in Cameron up for sale.

Channel funds told

The U. S. Senate approved the Fiscal Year 1998 Budget on Energy and Water Development which included major funding levels for Louisiana projects, announced Senators John Breaux and Mary Landrieu (both D-La.).

Among the projects earmarked for Louisiana include $6.6 million for maintenance dredging on the Calcasieu River and Pass.

"The funding provided for this study is necessary for the Port of Cameron to learn more about the possibility of Port expansion," said Senator Breaux. "This study will enable federal and local officials to analyze the potential for further development on the Calcasieu River."

"Senator Breaux and I were very pleased that we were able to include a provision in the bill that allocates $200,000 for a feasibility study on increasing the channel depth of the Cameron Loop to 40 feet," added Senator Landrieu. "We are hopeful this study will show a positive benefit to cost analysis which would provide a major economic tool for the Port at Cameron."

Parish books discovered

A number of recently uncovered books on Cameron Parish have been donated to the Cameron Parish Library for distribution to the public. These books entitled "Cameron Parish Resources and Facilities: A Survey by The Cameron Parish Development Board" were published in 1960 by the Louisiana Department of Public Works Planning Division.

Through the use of maps, charts and photographs these books discuss the history and development of Cameron Praish up to that time. They cover in many instances the ways the parish pulled itself back together after the destruction left in Hurricane Audrey's wake.

These books are free to the public as long as the supplies last. For more information call the Library at 775-5421.

Rivers' future to be meeting's topic

A meeting to discuss the future of the Calcasieu, Sabine and Mermentau Rivers will be held at 9 a.m. Aug. 14, and 15, at the Abbeville Courthouse.

At the urging of the Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana, and the state and federal agencies, the federal agencies have begun the process of developing a strategic plan for implementing the coastal restoration plan drawn up in 1993, called "Coast 2050".

It is based around the projected land loss that can be expected to occur by 2050 if the coastal restoration campaign is not ramped up.

Campaign 2050 is intended to combine restoration plans that have been kicking around with stakeholder input about just what values and objectives people and communities want enhanced or secured in the context of the restored coast.

Now the state and federal groups intend to define that single vision by developing a true multiple use approach to ecosystem management.

This state and federal effort is projected to take 18 months and cost several hundred thousand dollars.

The campaign will begin with a series of regional meetings with local governments, coastal zone planners and the public.

The first meeting was held in New Orleans with the Corps of Engineers and two more concerning the Breton, Baraberia and Mississippi Rivers, and the Terrebonne, Atchafalaya and Teche.

Library has exhibit

A traveling exhibit, entitled When the Future Was the Past: Plessy vs. Ferguson, will be on view at the Cameron Parish Library from July 10 to Aug. 8, according to Christopher Brown, Library Director.

The exhibit chronicles the legal odyssey of Homer Plessy, a New Orleans man who represented a group of citizens challenging the segregation of public facilities, claiming it was unconstitutional and that it violated the rights set forth in the 14th Amendment.

Four years after its initial hearing in Louisiana, the case of Plessy vs. Ferguson went before the U. S. Supreme Court. In a landmark decision handed down on May 17, 1896, the Court upheld the Louisiana statute, thereby making the doctrine of "separate but equal" the law of the land for nearly 60 years until it was overturned in 1954 in Brown v. Topeka Board of Education.

Comprised of text panels and reproductions of original photographs and documents relating to the case, the exhibit explores the circumstances surrounding the century-old decision in the context of the civil rights movement in the South, particularly Lou-isiana. It was premiered in May 1996 in the same room in the Cabildo where the case was heard by the Louisiana State Supreme Court. The Cabildo is now a historic property of the Louisiana State Museum.

When the Future Was the Past: Plessy vs. Ferguson was produced by the Louisiana State Museum with the Amistad Research Center and the Southern Institute for Education and Research at Tulane University.

Biker rides for kids

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

John O. Niles, a retired Marine, on a Toys for Tots bike ride from Houston to Baton Rouge, passed through Cameron Parish last week where he spent his second night on the trip.

Before he left home on his 260 mile bicycle trip he had raised over $13,000 for the Marine program Toys for Tots in which the Corps buys new toys and fixes up used ones to distribute to needy children at Christmas.

He has gotten commitments from people who have pledged so much per mile for this trip.

Donations can be made to any Marine recruiting officers in this area.

Coreil to talk about cheniers

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The following article is reprinted from the July 14, issue of the Barred Owl, the Baton Rouge Audubon Society newsletter. Dr. Paul Coreil is well known in Cameron Parish as he worked here for a number of years with the L.S.U. Extension Service.)

At our July monthly meeting Dr. Paul Coreil of the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service will discuss Louisiana's chenier plain - a unique ecological feature found only in southwestern Louisiana and eastern Texas. These long narrow ridges, created by Mississippi River sediments during the past 3000 years, not only provide a barrier to inland saltwater intrusion, but also host a variety of plant communities that provide habitat for migratory birds and butterflies and other animals.

The term "chenier" is French for "places of oak" - appropriate in that live oaks dominate the forest canopy. Other trees, however, also occur on the cheniers. These include hackberry, American elm, green ash, toothache tree and red mulberry. Scrubs, vines and brambles form a dense understory beneath the canopy. Amidst the coastal expanse of marsh, these cheniers are islands of woodland habitat for migratory birds seeking food and cover.

Being long, low forested ridges, the cheniers range from mere inches up to 10 feet above sea level, are less than 1500 feet wide and up to 30 miles long. In the 200-mile coastal area from East Bay, Tex. to Vermilion Bay, more than one hundred cheniers occur. Baton Rouge Audubon Society's Peveto Woods Sanctuaries near Johnson Bayou form a part of one of these cheniers.

Dr. Coreil, an Associate Specialist with the Wetlands and Coastal Research Division of the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service at LSU, will discuss the geological history of the Louisiana chenier plain focusing on coastal land loss and land use.

The public is welcome at our monthly meeting on Thursday, July 24, 1997 at 7:30 p.m. to learn more about Louisiana's chenier plain. As usual, we will meet in the Louisiana Room of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Building on Quail Drive off Perkins Road.

HUNTING UPDATE

This week brings a little more on upcoming hunting seasons and activities. First of all, the 1997 alligator season is set to open Sept. 6 through Oct. 5. Alligator hunters should submit license applications as soon as possible, either from the wildlife office in Baton Rouge or Fur and Refuge offices such as Rockefeller Refuge in Grand Chenier.

Approximately 26,000 alligators were harvested last year. This is down slightly from two previous years, but still the third largest harvest since records were kept.

When teal season opens on Sept. 20-28, you will also be able to shoot king and clapper rails, sora and Virginia rails and gallinules for those dates. King and clapper rails and gallinules daily bag limits are 15 each, possession 30, while sora and Virginia rails have a daily bag and possession of limit of 25 in the aggregate. Shooting hours are one-half hour before official sunrise to official sunset.

Remember when hunting teal, you must have a Louisiana hunting license, a Louisiana hunting stamp and a federal duck stamp in your possession for the 1997-98 season.

Deer season for archery is Sept. 20-Jan. 20, and the first gun season is Oct. 25-Dec. 7 (still hunt) and muzzleloaders Oct. 4-10. This is all first splits except for archery. This is the time to start thinking of planting rye grass for deer feed.

Note: Goose creeping will still be illegal for the 1997-98 goose hunting season.

FISHING NEWS

The Lemesche Bass Club will hold their bass club tournament on Sun., July 27, with weigh-in at 6 p.m. at the Creole community.

At this time of the year, bass fishing is better early mornings and late evening. However, the deadliest lures of all are the plastic worms, and besides its weedless.

The Big Burns have been producing limits of bass, as well as the East Miami Corporation Permit lands, fairly nice size bass.

No reports this week on Lacassine or Sabine Refuges.

Note: The drawdown for Chicot Lake begins Aug. 15, but the lake will remain open for fishing through the Labor Day weekend. The lake will be dropped to 7 feet below poll stage and the gates will be closed to start filling the lake up again in January. This drawdown is in its second year of a three year drawdown. This is to combat hydrilla.

TWO RECORDS SET

A Pine Prairie angler, 28 year old Trampin Williamson, had a goal to catch an 8 pound bass. In early March of this year, he landed a 9.25 pound largemouth bass at Crooked Creek Recreation Area and was certified a new lake record. Six days later while fishing Chicot Lake, fishing where he had caught dozens of 5 pounders, he boated a 13.63 pound bass and it was certified as a new lake record for Chicot Lake.

In one week, two different records, the 13 plus pounder was released. How does the song go: "Some Guys Have All The Luck".

Creole Scouts on Ozark Mountains trip

Creole Scouts go on hiking, canoeing trip

Nineteen Scouts and nine adult leaders and parents from Boy Scout Troop 202 of Creole journed to the Ozark Mountains this summer on a hiking and canoeing trip. The group spent eight days hiking in the Buffalo River National Park and canoeing in the Buffalo River.

After arriving in Ponca, Arkansas on Saturday evening, the Troop toured the area on Sunday. One of the highlights of their trip was a visit to Whitaker Point which required a hike into the mountains of about three miles. Whitaker Point features a rock which extends over the bluffs and provides a panoramic view of the Ozark Mountains and valleys in the area.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were spent hiking along the Buffalo River trail. The group backpacked these three days, carrying their tents, sleeping bags, food and water. No contact with outside sources were made over those three days.

Thursday and Friday were spent canoeing down the Buffalo River from Steel Creek campground to Pruitt, Ark. Although the river was low and the group had to pull their canoes over rocks numerous times, they enjoyed picturesque scenery that rivals anything in the states. The return trip back to Creole was made on Saturday.

Making the trip with the Troop were Scouts Neil Boudreaux, Michael Boudreaux, Nicholas Boudreaux, Jared Cogar, Beau Duhon, Joshua Dupuie, Matthew Guillory, Parry Dean LaLande, Cody McDaniel, Jeremy McDaniel, Bryan Morales, Jobie Richard, Bootsie Semien, Blake Trahan, Joseph Treme, Derrick Waguespack, Joseph Wolfe, Cody Zamora and Vince Zamora.

All of the Scouts on the trip qualified for the Fifty Mile Afoot/Afloat patch offered by the Buffalo River National Park. To qualify, one must hike and/or float over a distance of 50 miles and perform a conservation project of at lest eight hours duration. In performing this, the boys also qualified for the Boy Scouts of America Fifty Mile Afoot-Afloat patch which can be attached to their back packs.

Adults accompanying the Troop were Scoutmaster Bill Morris, Assistant Scoutmasters John Cogar and David Trahan and Danny Boudreaux, Thomas Duhon, Craig Guillory, Ruben Morales, Philip Richard and Randy Treme.

Barrow 5th in nationals

Led by DeQuincy's Mary Ann Barrow's fifth place finish in the All Around cowgirl competition, Louisiana finished fifth as a state at the National High School Rodeo in Pueblo, Colo., last week.

The area failed to produce any event winners this season, but locals dotted the top ten in each event.

Cole visits Eritrea on deployment

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Steve W. Cole, son of Jim W. Cole of Cameron, recently visited Eritrea, while assigned to the 15th marine Expeditionary Unit, (15th MEU), currently on a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific Ocean with the USS Boxer Amphibious Ready Group.

While in the eastern African nation, Cole and fellow Marines provided the Eritrean military with a unique opportunity to conduct military training that is not currently available in their own military. Marines from the 15th MEU demonstrated helicopter assault techniques during the two-day exercise, showing the Eritrean soldiers how to safely board, debark and secure a landing zone from a helicopter.

Following the two days of training, Cole and other members of the 15th MEU helped local citizens to construct and landscape a public library. In addition, the Marines donated more than 1,000 English language text books for use in the library and also donated health care products and sports equipment to the community.

Sweetlake is In Spotlight

With wells drilling in proven territory, and wells drilling "wild cat" sections over a large area of the Lake Charles oil district, and some of the big "exploration lease blocks" being turned loose, the local oil situation is looked upon as entering a stage of some real development that should get worth while results by way of oil production.

The well of the Pure Oil Company in Sweetlake is looked upon as likely to be among the first to attract attention, as this well was reported as reaming around 5100 feet several days ago.

Remodeling of Cameron Church Completed

A remodeling program costing just under $20,000 has just been completed on the Wakefield Memorial Methodist Church in Cameron. The church was destroyed by Hurricane Audrey in 1957.

In building the new church, improvised wood beams were substituted for the laminated beams which the architectural plans called for. In recent years, it was found that these beams were not satisfactory, so a remodeling and reinforcement program was begun.

U. E. Hackett, Jr. of Lake Charles, were employed as architect and under is supervision, steel beams were installed throughout the sanctuary, giving the building several hundred percent more strength. Dyson Lumber Co. of Cameron was the contractor.

J. A. Davis and Robert H. Chabreck are chairmen of the official boards of Cameron and Grand Chenier, respectively. J. B. Jones served as chairman of the building committee for the Wakefield Memorial and Lynn R. Jones of Grand Chenier is supervising the improvements to the parsonage.

Repeal of Sunday Beer Law Sought

Petitions asking the repeal of a 1956 police jury ordinance prohibiting the sale of beer on Sunday are now being circulated in Cameron Parish by a number of owners of bars, night clubs and cafes.

The owners held a meeting in Cameron last week and have formed an association to push for the repeal of the ordinance. Copies of the petition are to be found in a number of places which sell beer in Holly Beach, Cameron, Hackberry and elsewhere in the parish.

The jury adopted its ordinance on Oct. 1, 1956, after the Louisiana Supreme Court had ruled that beer was not an intoxicating beverage, according to law, and that Sunday beer salès were not affected by the state liquor laws.

The Cameron ordinance, which has been strictly enforced since its passage, prohibits the sale of "any alcoholic beverages of either high or low alcoholic content to any person between the hours of 12 midnight Saturday and 12 midnight Sunday.

The ordinance was adopted by a 5 to 1 vote at that time.

The bar owners are arguing for the repeal of the ordinance on the basis that beer is legally sold in adjoining areas in Texas and Vermillion Parish on Sunday.

Sheriff Warns Bar Owners

Sheriff Claude Eagleson said this week that a number of bar and night club owners have been selling beer on Sunday in violation of the parish ordinance and have been warned that arrests will be made if these sales are not stopped.

The sheriff said that there had been a rumor going around the parish that he had instructed his deputies not to make any arrests for Sunday beer sales.

"This is not true," he stated. "I told many men not to make any arrests until I or my chief deputy could personally warn these people. I want to be fair to everyone."

The sheriff said he had personally warned a number of the owners about the sales. A number of establishments at Holly Beach, Hackberry and other places, reportedly have been selling beer on Sunday during the last several weeks.

Sheriff Eagleson said before and after he was elected that he would enforce the Sunday closing law.

Roundabout The Parish

Grand Lake-Sweetlake--Bob Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilmore of Grand Lake was recently appointed head coach at Johnson Bayou High School. He will also teach. He is a graduate of Grand Lake High and received his degrees in Physical Education at McNeese. He has been manager of a baseball team in Sulphur this summer.

Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou--An Opelousas man hoping to do an article for his local newspaper on Holly Beach was inquisitive a few days past about what brings so many visitors to the beach. The answer to that was in earlier days the gulf water was considered medicinal. When that phase of thinking went out, pleasure and travel took over. Another good question was "why Holly?" when there isn't a tree in sight. This is an often repeated question within ourselves and if any oldtimer can tell when and why the name "Holly" was applies we would like to hear about it.

Cameron--James L. Derouen was installed as Grand Knight of Knights of Columbus Our Lady Star of the Sea Council No. 5461, last week in Cameron. Other officers installed for the next year were Ray Champagne, deputy grand knight; Whitney J. Broussard, Sr., chancellor; Gene Juranks, financial secretary; Wade Dupont, recorder; Hilaire Hebert, warden; E. J. Dronet, treasurer; Mark Richard, advocate; Amos Miller, lecturer; Hayes Picou, three-year trustee; Roland J. Trosclair, Jr., inside guard; and Claude J. Hebert, outside guard. Rev. Eugene Senneville, Pastor of Our Lady Star of the Sea Parish in Cameron, will continue to serve as the council's chaplain.

South Cameron Hospital--Eight nurses who have completed one-year of service at the hospital were recently pinned in ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Kenneth Hopper, R. N., instructor of nurses aides. The eight are Mesdames Ina Boudreaux, Lou Domingue, Matilda Garry, Lilly B. Guillory, June Harper, Linda LeBlanc, Edith Miller and Willa Dean Morris.

THE ELECTION

Cameron Parish voters gave John J. McKeithen a 134 margin over Chep Morrison in the runoff race for governor Saturday. Cameron had given Gillis Long the top vote in the first primary.

McKeithen carried all of the precincts in the parish with the exception of Cameron.

THE GRAND THEATRE (By Jerry Wise)

The Grand Theatre, one of the landmarks on Cameron's main street, closed its doors at the first of the year after 25 years of operation, and it is very likely that it is the last movie theatre Cameron Parish will ever have.

Brown Watts and Kenneth Roux have operated the theatre since 1950. Archie Hickman and Johnny Roux built the theatre in 1939.

Like most small theatres around the country, the Grand Theatre was badly hurt by the advent of television a few years ago. But unlike thousands of similar theatres, the Grand was able to keep operating until now, mainly because of the trade from the fishermen here.

But even that wasn't enough to keep the theatre going, so the owners have closed it down.

NEW HACKBRERRY CHURCH

The beautiful new St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church at Hackberry, built and furnished at a cost of about $102,000, was used for the first time by its congregation on New Year's Day.

The Rev. Richard Donahue, pastor, said that dedicatory services will be held sometime in the near future whenever the bishop can come.

The modernistic church is of brick and steel construction with fabricated arches and has a 450-person seating capacity. Shipp & Thompson were the architects and Marcellus Fontenot, the contractor.

The church rectory, which occupied the site where the new church is built, was moved to the rear of the church property. The old church building, which dates back to 1926, will be torn down.

The original Catholic church was built in hackberry in 1895. It was destroyed by the 1918 hurricane. A second church was destroyed by fire in 1926.

The old church's bell, given in memory of the Joseph Vincent family, has been placed in the new church.

FARM INCOME A RECORD

Cameron Parish farmers had a gross income of almost $3 million in 1963 to set a new record for the parish, it was reported this week by Hadley Fontenot, county agent. The actual figure was $2,971,000.

This compares with $2,357,827 in 1954 and $1,670,100 in 1949, the last two agricultural censuses. In 1962, the parish farm income was estimated at 2 1/2 million, which was $200,000 lower than for 1961. The drop in 1962 had been due to a lower than average calf crop and two severe outbreaks of mosquitoes which killed hundreds of calves.

CAMERON HAS JAIL BREAK

Thursday night, a plumber who had been doing work in the jail left a door open and two prisoners just walked out. One was picked up that same night at a relative's home in Cameron.

The other prisoner walked to Lake Charles where he "gave himself up to the Lake Charles American Press.

ROUNDBOUT THE PARISH

Oak Grove--It's really cold today. In order to save water pipes and pumps in our area, the water has been cut off and pipes and pumps drained. A few of us have learned the hard way, (about broken pipes during a hard freeze). The weather is beautiful, we are all so thankful it isn't raining.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

The Simpson community of Vernon Parish, Louisiana, dates from the mid 1850s when Joseph Harville settled there with his family.

Soon after, others came, including the Williamson and Kirkpatrick families from Alabama, the Parker and Haymon families from Mississippi, and the Nesmiths from Florida.

By 1860, a branch of the Jackson family which had migrated to Texas from Georgia and Alabama, started back East and settled at Simpson.

Not far away, other families including the Newmans, Beebes, Knights, Martins, Watkins, and Hilgers, had established a new community named Sharp near Campbell Creek which, like Simpson at the time, was part of the greater Rapides Parish.

The two communities of Simpson (also known as Pine Island) and Sharp (Campbell Creek) became entertwined in the early 1890s when Rev. Robert H. Owens (Bob/"Fighting Bob"), a recent convert of the Church of God, came from Mississippi to begin his ministry in Hemphill, Lena Station and Campbell Creek communities.

VERNON PARISH FAMILIES

Welcome Church of God, Established 1897 by Rev. R. H. Owens by Pearl (Tippit) Cooley, is an excellent history and genealogy for this Central Louisiana area in which many descendants still reside.

Jane P. McManus, CPS, a niece of Mrs. Cooley, writes that she organized, edited and published this book for her aunt, now 86 years old, who gathered the material and photographs over a lifetime.

"It is the history of the first church of its denomination in Louisiana and they are celebrating their 100 years this year" Mrs. McManus writes. "We have included biographies of many of the ministers, of all the charter members, and photographs of most."

Well documented and well written, having many reproduced records, having sections of biographies for the church ministers and for the oldest members, and with complete inscriptions from the Welcome Cemetery this volume is indexed for names and places.

It is stiff cover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 163 pages, available for $27.50 incl. mailing from: Jane P. McManus, CPS, 4401 Heyman Lane, #139, Alexandria, LA 71303, or for $25.00 if picked up from: Pearl Cooley, Slagle Loop Road, Slagle, LA.

GENEALOGY, HISTORY RESEARCH AIDS

Geneaological & Local History Books in Print: General Reference & World Resources Volume, 5th Edition as compiled and edited by Marian Hoffman, has been called "The most important and practical aid for genealogists today."

Divided into 2 sections: General Reference with chapters ranging from Adoption, Bible Records, and Bibliographies to Textbooks, Vital Records, Westward Migration, etc; and World Resources throughout the world from Australia to the West Indies; this book lists several thousand books available and in print at the time of its publication.

Typically, each entry gives full title of the work, author or sponsoring institution, if indexed or illustrated, in cloth or paper, selling price and vendor number (listed in front of book with ordering information).

This valuable volume "one of the greatest finding tools in all of genealogy" is softcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 353 pages, available at $25.00 plus $3.50 mailing from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202.

Marsh losses may worsen effects of Gulf hurricanes

As investigators from Louisiana's Office of Emergency Preparedness continue to assess the damage caused by Hurricane Danny, Barataria-Terrebonne National Estuary Program (BTNEP) chairman Windell Curole questions whether impacts from the storm were worsened due to the extensive loss of Louisiana's coastal marshes.

"One has to question whether there is a direct correlation between the loss of coastal land masses and the ability of tropical systems to maintain their strength," says Curole, who is also director of Emergency Preparedness for Lafourche Parish.

According to the BTNEP study, "Economic Value Assessment for the Barataria-Terrebonne Estuarine System," wetlands protect coastal regions during storms by acting as a wave retardant, absorbing water and reducing wind damage, all functions that are particularly important to hurricane-prone coastal areas of Louisiana.

"In the past," says Curole, "these storms would diminish once the systems were in close proximity to the Louisiana coast. but when Tropical Storm Danny grew into a hurricane while virtually centered over Grand Isle, it seems as though the increase of water surface in Barataria Bay allowed the storm to maintain its energy system."

The recently released BTNEP poster, "Lower Barataria-Terrebonne Estuarine Basins Habitat Change: 1956-1988/90," states that over 400,000 acres of marsh in the lower Barataria and Terrebonne Basins were converted to open water between 1956 and 1988/90. In the Barataria Basin alone, the percentage of open-water area increased from 44 percent to 62 percent.

"Now that the majority of our coastal area is open water, tropical storms and low-category hurricanes present a greater flood risk," says Curole, manager of the Hurricane Protection System.

"Twenty to thirty years ago, our coastal regions were able to absorb impacts from a minimal hurricane. But today, since we are losing our marshes at a rapid rate, Hurricane Danny became a greater threat to us," says Curole.

"One of the benefits of our coastal wetlands is that they dissipate storm energy and lessen the impacts of storm surges," says Kerry St. Pe, Acting Director for the Barataria-Terrebonne National Estuary Program. "As coastal wetlands disappear, so do these wetland benefits, and the impacts to people become greater in terms of property damage and associated costs."

The BTNEP economic value study estimates that if a one-mile wide band of wetlands on the coast were to disappear the expected damage would increase by $8,319,152 annually. The study also states that damages would increase by $185.53 per year, per coastal wetland acre lost. Damage estimates include effects from both wind and flooding.

Another analysis in the same study, which assumes that approximately 80 percent of the coastal Louisiana wetlands existing in 1993 will subside by the year 2083, indicates that as wetlands recede the annualized costs associated with preventing inundation by storm surges (building levees) in New Orleans, Houma, Morgan City, Thibodaux and Abbeville will total $280 to $904 per acre of wetland loss.

"The question is simple: we can expend the effort now to slow down wetlands loss, or pay a higher price in the future for more levee construction and grater property damage from storms," says St. Pe. "The choice is ours, but as each hurricane season passes, we're losing our options."

For more information about the program, or to receive a free copy of the habitat change poster and economic value assessment report, contact the program office headquartered on Nicholls State University campus at 504-447-0868 or toll-free 1-800-0869.

Area youths attend Washington meeting

Two southwest Louisiana students recently returned from an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. sponsored by Jefferson Davis Electric Cooperative to attend the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's "Government-In-Action" Youth Tour Conference.

A total of 32 young people from throughout Louisiana joined more than 1,300 students from 40 states for a week of sightseeing and a chance to get a firsthand look at how our government functions.

Attending this year's Washington Youth Tour were Trisha Silver of Hackberry and Jason Istre of Jennings.

Students interested in the Washington, D. C. trip participated in a statewide 4-H achievement competition. Silver and Istre, the top two winners, were then selected by Jeff Davis Electric to make the trip to Washington, D.C.

Before reaching Washington, the students toured the Natural Bridge, in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. In Washington, the students toured the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, Washington Monument, Viet Nam and Korean Memorials, Arlington National Cemetery, Mount Vernon, the Smithsonian Institution, the recently opened FDR Memorial, attended a play at Ford's Theatre and took a boat cruise down the Potomac River. One entire day was spent on Capitol Hill touring the U.S. Capitol and visiting the offices of the Louisiana Congressional Delegation.

LETTER TO EDITOR?

Sweet Lake forgotten?

Dear Editor,

As a resident of the Sweetlake area, I feel that the Police Jury has forgotten about us. I do not hear of any discussions or actions relating to this area, which is one of the fastest growing communities in Cameron Parish.

The waste disposal service is terrible. There are no reliable pickup days. Garbage must be out on specified days only to be left overnight for the animals to scatter all around the area.

The Cable television service, which I believe is authorized to operate in this area by the Police Jury, makes little or no effort to provide a reasonable degree of service to the Sweetlake citizens.

The major problem that should be receiving more attention is a post office, which is needed greatly in this area. As a result of having a Lake Charles address, people in this area are subject to higher sales tax when shopping in Lake Charles, more so than people with a Cameron address.

It will not be long before the Sweetlake area is one of the largest voting blocks in Cameron Parish. Maybe some attention should be given to these problems.

Thank You,
Charles Roper

AN EARLIER DAY

Granger diary recalls Grand Lake in 1800s

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is a portion of P. H. Granger's diary which was edited by the late Archie Hollister and published in the Cameron Pilot on July 26, 1964. He began his diary in 1947.)

This is how I started to make a life in this world. I was born in Calcasieu Parish, on Contraband Bayou. We left Lake Charles in 1882 when I was nine years old, and came to Grand Lake in a two-masted sailboat. It took one week to sail from Lake Charles to Grand Lake.

When we got here I was just big enough to catch crabs. All I had to catch the crabs with was a broomstick with a ten-penny nail at the end, and a washtub with a rope to put the crabs into. I always had crabs in the tub when the crabbing was good.

When I got to be twelve years old I had to take the plow with one yoke of oxen and make corn to feed five of my little brothers and sisters. A little later I got some horses to plow with.

When I was nineteen years old I married. The house where I was married was on the south side of those big pecan trees at the lake where the road runs in front of Mr. Duflot's house. I married in 1892 and that was the start.

I had to buy some land and build a house--something I had never seen anybody do. I made 218 sacks of rice that year and sold it for $2.10 per sack. I bought forty acres of land at Lacassine and paid $150 for it. There I built myself a home a year after I married.

But I didn't like Lacassine so I bought twenty acres of land here in Grand Lake. Fifty-two years ago I had to build the second house. I planted all those pecan trees you see around my home now. I also planted the pecan trees you see at the lake. I planted the trees at the lake in 1891. The boy (my son) can tell you how old things are. This is the start of my life.

July 26, 1947. I started riding horses without a saddle when I was six years old. I had to ride about three or four years without a saddle, and of course I fell off my horse a great many times.

When we left Lake Charles sixty-eight years ago, There were two stores where the two banks are now. An old man had what you may call a saloon. It was a two-room house with a big barrel of whiskey in the center wall. The barrel showed on each side of the wall, with a big faucet at each end. Whiskey was $1.50 a gallon at one end of the barrel and $3 at the other end. The barrel was the ruin of many a good man.

I started to play the fiddle when I was nine years old, and it took me sixty-five years to learn how to play. That was a long time for me because I never did like music.

I play on the same fiddle my father was playing before I was born. The violin is really old. I can play some of the dances they were playing 75 to 100 years ago.

There were only fifteen houses on Grand Lake when we moved here 65 years ago.

When my daddy wanted some redfish, he would always go fishing at two o'clock in the morning. He always got all the redfish he wanted. There was no sun at that time. Redfish could be caught by the dozen or more.

There was only one row of Cherokee bushes about 150 yards long on Grand Lake then; the bushes were south of Mr. Duflot's. Now you can see them everywhere.

Twenty-one years after I was married, I had eleven children of my own to play with. After I built my two houses, I became a carpenter. I worked every year after the harvest was in. But I always did farm. I also raised cattle, hogs, sheep and chickens.

July 27, 1947. We made sausage until 12 o'clock one night to give away to the neighbors. One of the neighbors wanted to buy one shoulder of the bull, and I sold him one that weighed 52 pounds at 3 cents per pound. It cost him $1.50 for 52 pounds of meat.

I had to work at $1.25 a day building houses. Sometimes I got up to $2 per day. I thought I was making money. Of course, I was paying $1.10 to $1.25 for a 48 pound sack of wheat flour.

DUCKS APLENTY!

According to Ducks Unlimited, we should see 104 million ducks down this year in the different flyways. Reports of good hatches were reported, with over 42 million ducks, 13 percent higher than last year. This is the highest number of ducks since surveys began back in 1955.

Species showing higher numbers and increases were: pintails, 3.56 million; shovelers, 4.1 million; gadwall, 3.9 million, red heads, 918,000; wigeon, 3.1 million; and mallards, 9.9 million.

Species showing decreased numbers were: scaup, 4.1 million; canvasbacks, 689,000; and blue-winged teal, 6.1 million.

GUN BUYERS BEWARE

Most folks go out and buy a gun whether shotgun or not, or have a friend buy them a new shotgun; well, if it comes from out-of-state you could be in trouble. Here's a few pointers of interest: It's a federal felony for any persons to transfer, sell, trade, give, transport or deliver any firearm to any person who does not reside in the same state. The penalty: 5 years on each count (5 guns - 25 years in jail).

If out-of-state resident buys from a dealer and makes false statements when purchasing a firearm, false I.D., lie or fake filling out of records, 5 years each count (5 guns-25 years).

If you know it's a gun to commit a crime, it's 10 years each count (5 guns - 50 years).

It's a federal felony to sell or give a firearm or ammunition to a convicted felon. Ten years each count, the same goes to a fugitive from justice or drug addict or addicted to controlled drugs. 10 years each count.

A person should really pay attention as to what he buys for another persons, including a friend, and including ammunition.

COMMERCIAL FISHING NEWS

This is a few words about the ups and downs of people who make a living commercial fishing. The commercial fishermen as well as sports fishermen have a couple of things that pertain to both and especially hurts both. First, there are 400 laws on the books pushed by people who are politicians just going by their voters say, like who worries about land erosion in the desert. It doesn't have a fish problem, maybe animal rights groups put their man in Washington who is surely not for any fisherman, but the bottom line is will commercial fishermen survive, what does the future bring.

Three quarters of the nation's fish production depends on wetlands. Fish use wetlands for spawning, nursery, feeding and staging areas. Seventy-five percent of the nation's commercial catch of fish and shellfish depend on wetlands. Just 5 years ago some 250,000 people worked on 70,000 fishing boats, that hooked or netted $7 billion in fish products, and this was sold to trading partners. About $5 billion of that trade was produced in wetlands.

Sports fish species are also dependent on wetlands, again when jobs, monies spent plus federal and state taxes are spent, about 50 million Americans spend billions annually, making big business, all coming from wetlands.

We here in Cameron Parish can see our wetlands going every day and it seems nothing is being done about it. Look at the Barrier Islands to our eastern cousins, they have problems, and are getting some monies to restore some of their wetland projects. If nothing is done in the next 10 years, we will lose our wetlands and much of our coast, providing we don't get a bad hurricane, and it comes quicker. Our resources depend on the habitat that's right in our back yard. If we don't restore our marshes, we have no future. We need projects to get vegetation back into our marshes, and repair our beaches, raise island heights, so we can decrease water intrusion.

The islands and beaches provide a wetland habitat for area fish resources, but it also creates a home for nesting birds, to include pelicans.

There is much pressure today as the big boats can set huge nets than can take 20,000 pounds of fish in just a short time.

We see our northern states where codfish and other popular fish are almost gone. They are limited to days at sea, cutting fishing in half. Almost two-thirds of the world's 200 commercially important stocks are either over exploited or fished to the edge of what they can bear. Lots of the damage we see today has been done for the last 50 to 60 years.

Here in Cameron Parish we see less local people shrimping, fishing, crabbing and also menhaden fishing. However, the menhaden reports that stocks are abundant and healthy and the menhaden fishing doesn't need any additional management. Our crabbing market is good as well as catfishing, but again our shrimping and offshore commercial fishing is hurting.

In the early days, it was draggers against gill netters, shrimpers against lobstermen and crabbers, then foreign boat and shrimpers had their trouble. Now it's the sports fishing against the gillnetters. This is all greatly said, but our wetlands are what our resources depend on and if we lose these wetlands, and with the loss in the last 30 years, we have seen a decline in our fisheries and worst to come.

With all this happening, these fishermen still have mortgages and financial pressure and hard work to deal with.

Harrisons visit N.Y and meet Spike Lee

By WANITA HARRISON

Peter Moore and Dr. Lisa Jackson exchanged wedding vows July 19, at the Central Park Boathouse Restaurant in New York City.

Dr. Jackson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest (Lillie Bartie) Jackson of South Floral Park, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harrison and Mrs. Mary Cockrell attended the wedding. They met Spike Lee, a playwright and producer, at the wedding reception.

The Lee Harrisons and Dexter visited Dr. Gregory Harrison and Suzanne at the Waldorf-Astoria in Manhattan, Saturday morning. They visited Rockefeller Center and toured St. Patrick's Cathedral. This spectacular edifice was the dream of John Hughes, the first archbishop of New York. The cornerstone was laid August 15, 1858, and St. Patrick's was formally opened May 25, 1879, after the Civil War. The Cathedral has 19 bells, and a seating capacity of approximately 2,400. The Great Organ has 7,855 pipes. The height of the spires from the street is 330 feet and has always been original and distinctive.

The Harrisons went on a downtown New York Double Decker narrated tour. Of the 19 sights visited, Times Square, the Empire State and United Nations buildings, and the Statue of Liberty ferries were picturesque.

Sunday at 8 a.m., the Harrisons attended mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral. They visited the "Today Show" and met Jack Ford.

The excursion continued, and at 10:30 a.m. the Harrisons boarded the Long Island railroad destined for South Floral Park, N.Y. They visited the Earnest Jacksons who hosted a brunch at their home for the families and friends of the bride and groom. Mrs. Mary Cockrell also attended.

Are there too many boats going after too few fish?

Inheritance tax to phase out

Dear Editor:

A lot has been said and written about the recent 1-cent reduction in sales tax on food and utilities. However, Governor Foster and the 1997 Legislature also cut taxes in two other respects, both of which merit mention.

House Bill 1593 by Rep. David Vitter, signed by Governor Foster on July 10, 1997, phases out the state inheritance tax over the next seven years. The tax will be eliminated altogether by July 1, 2004. In addition to saving taxpayers over $55 million annually, repealing the inheritance tax will also make Louisiana more attractive to retirees, which will help us compete with states like Florida, California and Arizona for retirement dollars and the jobs they create.

To make this transition easier for people, the Governor also signed into law House Bill 2368 by Rep. Kyle Green and Sen. Chris Ullo, on July 15, 1997. This legislation exempts the first $100,000 of an inheritance from penalty and interest when an heir fails to file a state inheritance tax return or files late. Many Louisianans don't know this, but the law provides that when someone who owns property dies, the heirs must open a succession and file an inheritance tax return if they wish to obtain clear title to the property.

Unfortunately, it is not uncommon for heirs (usually children of the deceased) to wait until both parents die to open a succession and file an inheritance tax return. By then the penalty and interest due on the delinquent return for the first parent's death, often was greater than the actual tax under prior law. Now the first $100,000 of the property that each heir inherits is exempt from interest and penalty no matter when the return is filed. This will take some of the burden off taxpayers until the state inheritance tax is completely eliminated in seven years.

Inflation and appreciation of assets (especially real estate) have increased the value of inherited property to the point that the inheritance tax now affects thousands of taxpayers. Furthermore, under prior law, those who unwillingly filed inheritance tax returns late also had to pay interest and penalty in addition to the tax. These tax breaks, therefore, are not insignificant.

Sincerely,

/s/ John Kennedy,
Secretary, Louisiana
Department of Revenue

When Kennedy died

By Keith Hambrick

(Cameron Pilot, Nov. 28, 1963)

CITIZENS MOURN PRESIDENT

The citizens of Cameron were just as shocked and grief-stricken as the rest of the nation and world when the news of President John F. Kennedy's assassination was received here Friday.

Residents remained before their television and radio sets for the most part from the time they received the news about noon Friday until after the funeral Monday evening.

Most business places closed on Monday during the funeral and parish and state offices were not opened throughout the day. Special church services were held in most of the parish's Catholic churches Monday and Protestant churches held special prayers for the president Sunday.

Several Cameron residents recalled a personal meeting which they had with Mr. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, in 1959, and it was remembered that the Kennedys almost paid a visit to Cameron at that time.

MET KENNEDY

The occasion was a dinner held for the then Senator Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy at the Pioneer Club in Lake Charles. The senator was then campaigning for the Democrat nomination for president and was in Southwest Louisiana lining up support.

Among those from Cameron attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dronet.

Mr. Jones, Cameron attorney who later was to serve as Kennedy's campaign manager in Cameron Parish, recalls that he was impressed with Kennedy's "determination and sincere qualities of leadership."

"You could feel his presence throughout the room," he said.

Later, Senator Kennedy sent Mr. and Mrs. Jones an autographed copy of his book, "Profiles of Courage", as a Christmas gift.

Mr. Jones said that the shooting of the president was "one of the most horrible things I have ever heard of in my life. I just can't get over it."

On behalf of the Police Jury, to which he is the legal advisor, of Jury President Eraste Hebert and of all the people of Cameron Parish, Mr. Jones sent a telegram to Mrs. Kennedy expressing the sympathy of the parish.

DR. CLARK RECALLS

Dr. Cecil Clark, who also met the Kennedys at the Lake Charles meeting, has several photographs taken of him and the distinguished visitors. He said he had been "shocked" by the death of the president as he had felt a closeness to him.

E. J. Dronet, assistant manager of the local branch of the Calcasieu Marine Bank, said the president-to-be had impressed him "as a new and fresh personality, a figure that was going places."

SEASONS FOR OYSTERS AND DUCKS

Two seasons of great importance in Cameron Parish open this week: duck season beginning Friday and oyster season Sunday.

The duck season opens at noon. Wildlife officials report more ducks in the Cameron marshes than in many years and hunting is expected to be good.

Oyster fishing in Calcasieu lake is also expected to be very good. A large number of fishermen are expected to go after the shell fish with tongs and four Cameron oyster houses will process and ship out the oysters all over the nation.

The Department of Wildlife and Fisheries has requested fishermen to cull out the small oysters off to the edge of the reefs so as to help preserve the natural reefs and increase their size.

"ROARING TWENTIES"

The "Roaring twenties," a colorful and tuneful pantomimic review, will be one of the top attractions at the Friday night program of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival in Cameron.

The review will be put on by the Welsh Theatrical Group of Welsh, which is composed of eleven couples. Tricked out in the fashions of the twenties, they will do song hits and dances reminiscent of the era when "hearts were young and gay."

Other entertainment will include French, Spanish and English folk songs sung by Ward and Martha Fontenot of Baton Rouge, a trap setting contest for local trappers and music by the Grand Lake High School combo. Rodney Guilbeaux of Sulphur will be master of ceremonies.

The Cameron Parish candidate for festival queen will be selected Friday night. Six girls are seeking the "Miss Cameron Parish" title.

by MARIE WISE

By 1724 there were 58 German families settled along Louisiana's German Coast in what would become upper St. Charles and lower St. John the Baptist parishes.

Of prime historical and genealogical importance, this German Coast area which with its heavy concentration on agriculture became the center of the early colonial economy, deserves, along with the city of New Orleans, to be called "the cradle of the colony."

A splendid new book by Albert J. Robichaux, Jr. represents a long-awaited source for German Coast researchers as it "pulls together the results of all of the published, but previously scattered, historical and genealogical research and also his own original research."

"He has succeeded in placing the German and other European families who immigrated to Louisiana into their proper place and importance in Louisiana's history, and has bridged the gap between Louisiana and Europe by tracing most of the families back to their European origin."

FAMILIES OF THE GERMAN COAST

German Coast Families: European Origins and Settlement in Colonial Louisiana is a large, handsome book, richly illustrated with reproduced original records, charts, sketches, etc. It is hardcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 534 pages, indexed.

With hundreds of source records and an extensive bibliography, Mr. Robichaux's expertly written and presented volume begins with 9 chapters of historical and cultural background. Then he gives a list of more than 100 German Coast family names, followed by a chapter for each.

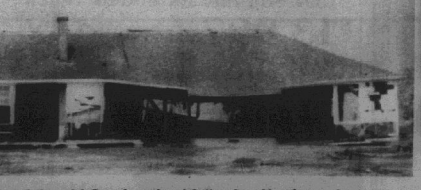
"The purpose of this book is to determine the places of origin of the families recruited by John Law in 1720, and to re-examine the migration within the context of Louisiana and European history...to document their recruitment, voyage, and establishment in Louisiana" Mr. Robichaux writes in his Preface. His purpose is not, he writes, in any way to present complete histories or genealogies for any of the families.

This outstanding volume "accredited to many (named) individuals residing in 13 states and 7 countries" is available at $50.00 plus $3.00 for mailing from: Hebert Publications, P.O. Box 147, Rayne, LA 70578.

WILLIAMS FAMILY

A Williams Family in America, 1993 and Williams-Bennington Ancestors and Descendants, 1996 by Alberta Deen Bennington Taylor are the first volume by this author on her Welch family and the second volume with a great deal of added and updated information.

With much personalized information along with the genealogical data, these well-done two volumes are each indexed, 8 1/2 x 11 in., the 1st hardcover, 276 pages plus index; the 2nd 112 pages; available from the author, 27550 Clark Road, Coolville, OH 45723.



REMEMBER? This was the remains of the old Creole school following Hurricane Audrey in 1957. At the time it was an elementary school, the high school having been consolidated into South Cameron High School.

THIS WAS THE old Klondike school located in northeast Cameron Parish near Lake Arthur. Archie Hollister was the principal there for many years and his sister, Bernice Stewart Denny was a teacher there. This picture was taken in 1957.

CAMERON MEADOWS[illegible]CRES

New r[illegible]ge planned

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service is presently considering the purchase of 18,280 acres of land known as Cameron Meadows at Johnson Bayou for the expansion of wildlife refuges in this area.

Will Nidecker, manager of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, which is north of the proposed acquisition, confirmed these plans at the Cameron Parish Police jury meeting Tuesday.

Noting that some public offi[illegible]pposed the proposed [illegible]grounds that it will [illegible]parish tax base, [illegible]id it is the policy of the Fish and Wildlife Service to purchase land only from willing sellers.

He noted that the negotiations now under way will take at least 18 more months and that the land owner can withdraw the offer at any time.

He said that while refuge lands are no longer on the parish's tax roles, the refuges do make revenue sharing payments to the parish.

Nidecker pointed out a number of benefits that Sabine National Refuge brings to Cameron parish. These include up to 300,000 visitors a year, bringing tourist revenues to the parish; fishing and crabbing on the refuge; and an area for open waterfowl hunting. He also noted that the refuge personnel also participate in parish community and betterment projects.

Monkey Is. bridge comments sought

The La. Dept. of Trans. and Dev. has published a notice of intent to build a low level bridge across Calcasieu Pass at Cameron to replace the ferry to Monkey Island.

The notice was published to determine the "level of support/opposition" to the bridge.

The proposed bridge will be a 30-foot wide, two lane fixed bridge about 900 feet long. It will allow for 10 feet of vertical clearance above mean high water and 65 feet of horizontal clearance between bridge piers.

The bridge would require any large vessels wishing to enter Calcasieu Pass to enter the water way vias the north end of the island. Smaller boats require less than 10 feet of vertical clearance would still be able to enter the waterway under the bridge.

Input is requested from marine operators concerning vessel movements in the area and any positive or negative effects that a bridge at this location might have on their operations. Also they are requested to comment on the need for a fender system for the bridge.

Comments in writing should be sent to: Eighth Coast guard District, Bridge Administration Branch, 501 Magazine St., New Orleans, La. 70130-3396.

The La. Dept. of Transportation recently gave notice that it intended to shut down the Monkey Island ferry on grounds that it was not feasible to operate it for the few families and enterprises on the island.

The police jury and local legislators were able to get this action postponed until it could be determined that a bridge could be built.

Recently police jury employees found a document in their files in which the U. S. War Department agreed to build a bridge to Monkey Island when it created the Calcasieu Ship Channel in 1939.

During the last legislature, $1 million was appropriated to replace the Monkey Island ferry with a bridge. This would save the state about $275,000 a year which is what it now costs to operate the ferry. (If these figures are correct, it would appear that the bridge would pay for itself in less than four years.)

Jury hires parish economic planner

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Jason Benoit, Cameron Parish's new planner for Economic Development, was introduced at the monthly meeting of the Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday.

He was introduced by Walter Grundy, executive director of the Imperial Calcasieu Regional Planning and Development office, who explained that he was the choice out of several applicants for the job.

He will start on the job in September, as he has to give notice to the Zoning Commission of Lake Charles.

Grundy explained that Benoit will be a full-time employee for Cameron Parish, but will be working out of the IMCAL office in Lake Charles, to take advantage of IMCAL's information and machines.

Benoit, 25, lives in Sweet Lake. He is a Crowley native, and has a degree in urban planning from the University of Southwestern Louisiana. He interned in Lafayette's permits office, and worked there for six months before accepting a position with the city of Lake charles. He has been a city zoning inspector for two years.

Nunez said Benoit will be a full-time parish employee, and will be paid $35,000 a year plus benefits.

Tina Horn, parish administrator, said the Governor's Task Force was recently in Cameron making a survey, and is to come up with a plan for the parish to be presented to the Jury and will be incorporated into Benoit's plan.

Brent Nunez, Jury President, pointed out that the parish is badly in need of a comprehensive directory to be presented to industries that are interested in locating here, and to tourists and others who would like to settle here.

PROPOSED ROAD

Algie Breaux, Calcasieu Parish Police Juror, asked the Jury to send a resolution to the Rural Caucus favoring the proposed elevated road from Cameron to Sweet Lake, called The North Island Route, that has been the dream of many residents for over 40 years.

George LeBoeuf, Police Juror, said environmentalists cannot say that it will harm the marsh and wetlands because it would be elevated.

Kaffy Fontenot, with the Red Cross in Lake Charles, said the American Flag that flew over the Red Cross feeding tent in downtown Cameron during Hurricane Audrey in 1957 had been found and the Red Cross wanted to present it to the Cameron Police Jury.

Tina Horn said it would be encased in a frame with an explantation and put on display in the Police Jury Office.

REFUGE PRESENTATION

A. W. "Will" Nidecker III, manager of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, made a presentation to the Jury and asked that they "set aside the rumors and misperceptions that have been circulating about the possible purchase of Cameron Meadows."

This was reported when Juror Dusty Sandifer told the Police Jury that he had heard the rumor, and that the people in his district of Johnson Bayou were very upset as it would lower the tax base of the parish.

After the presentation, Brent Nunez said, "One third of our parish is already a refuge. We present the taxpayer who will have to make up the difference in the loss of taxes from these lands, the 28% the government will not have to pay."

"The general public says, enough is enough, we do not want Cameron Parish to become a National and State Wildlife Refuge."

George LeBoeuf then said, "Mr Nidecker, then the rumor we have been hearing that Cameron meadows is slated to become a refuge is true?", and Nidecker answered, "Yes".

The following committee was appointed to look into the Jury's new sick leave policy: George LeBoeuf, Malcolm Savoie, Tina Horn, Brent Nunez, Ellis Nunez and Bonnie Conner.

District Attorney Glenn Alexander said that there is already a law about crossing a double yellow line, or a no passing zone, and those disobeying this law can be issued a ticket.

JURORS PAY RAISED

Following a short public hearing, the jury adopted an ordinance introduced last month that raises the monthly salaries of jurors to $1,200 plus expenses.

In the past jurors had received $856 a month and president had gotten $956. The raise is effective Aug. 1.

President Brent Nunez said the raise was needed to cover the expenses of jurors in carrying out their duties.

ON THE INTERNET

Parish Administrator Tina Horn announced that the parish's new Internet site is now in operation. The address is: user.camtel.net/cameron/public/index.html.

LIQUOR PERMIT

A liquor permit was granted to Theresa Dean Businelle, d.b.a. Angels Food Mart No. 8 in Grand Lake.

The jury also approved 16 drilling and pipeline permits in the parish, an indication that oil and gas activity is picking up here.

Crab crates tags a must

Commercial crab fishermen and crab dealers are reminded that crab crates must be properly tagged to identify the person who harvested the crabs. The statute applies to any crabs that are sold and shipped in Louisiana.

Required Identification is the whole name of the commercial fisherman, the license number and the date on which crabs were harvested. Fishermen must provide the information, but dealers should be on the look-out for compliance.

Geneva helped save Old Ironsides in 1932

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

We have been reading a lot this year about the 200th birthday of the most famous vessel in the United States Navy, the USS Constitution, affectionately called "Old Ironsides".

The frigate was built at a shipyard in Boston between 1794 and 1797, being 204 feet long and a displacement of 2,200 tons.

The hull was made of oak from Massachusetts, Maine, and Georgia, and the masts were of white pine. It carried provisions for a crew of 475.

During the war of 1812 it earned the nickname of "Old Ironsides" when under the command of Isaac Hull, an American Naval officer, a sailor is said to have been shot from British guns bouncing off the ship's sturdy hull and exclaimed that the ship had sides of iron.

After other severe and victorious battles, the Constitution was condemned in 1830 as unseaworthy and was ordered destroyed.

The poem "Old Ironsides" by Oliver Wendell Holmes, in which he wrote, "Oh, better, that her shattered hulk should sink beneath the wave" aroused public sentiment, and the vessel was rebuilt and restored to service in 1833.

In 1855, it was put out of commission at Portsmouth Navy yard and used as a training ship, but was again rebuilt in 1877.

In 1897 the ship was finally drydocked and repaired, to be preserved as a memorial.

In 1930 American children raised money to recondition the vessel for a tour of United States ports, and Congress appropriated $300,000 to complete the work.

On July 31, 1931, Old Ironsides was commissioned into active service, and after sailing 22,000 miles, returned to the Boston Naval Shipyard on May 7, 1934.

I have always felt like I owned a part of this grand old ship, as I had a tiny part (which I was so proud of at the time) in the saving of this mighty vessel.

I was in grammar school in Port Arthur, Tex., when a little paper we received, called the "Weekly Reader", ran a message urging the school children to donate their pennies to save this vessel from destruction. I distinctly remember opening my piggy bank and giving the whole of its contents, ten pennies, to the project.

That sounds like a meager amount today, but that was during the depression, and 10 cents was a lot to someone my age.

Anyway, all of my classmates contributed what they could, and our teacher sent it off, and we all felt like we were a part of history.

On March 12, 1932, the refurbished ship sailed into Port Arthur and landed at the Mexican Dock along Lakeshore Drive, at the foot of Houston Ave., on the Canal.

All of the school children in town went on excursions to tour the ship, and I remember how proud I was that I had a part in bringing her back to life.

She left Port Arthur after two days to head to Orange, Tex., and from there she went to Lake Charles.

I wish I could remember my teacher's name at DeQueen school who encouraged us students to participate in this great event, and I have often thought that maybe she didn't realize that she had taught us a valuable lesson in taking part in preserving history.

We Americans, often times, are in too big of a hurry to tear things down, instead of preserving them for posterity.

Grass alone won't feed a hard-working horse. As a rule a horse needs at least five pounds of grain for every half-day of work.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB NEWS

The Lemesche Bass Club held a bass club tournament last month. Team winners in order were: Carl Broussard and Kirk Carlson, 13-9; Ricky and Rica Canik, 11-6; Darren Richard and Todd Conner, 10-0; Todd Morales and Rod Richard, 8-14.

Individual stringer winners were: Carl Broussard, 8-3; Ricky Canik, 7-8; Todd Morales, 6-15; Darren Richard, 5-9; Todd Conner, 4-6.

The largest bass was weighed in by Darren Richard, 3-8; Todd Conner, 2-8, Ricky Canik, 2-0.

The last club tournament for bass for 1997 is Aug. 10.

Bass fishing in the marshes is fairly good, with limits of bass caught in the Big Burns. These bass are in the marshes deepest ponds. Water is very low now, so be sort of careful, you could get in a bind.

FISHING PICKING UP

The eastern part of Miami Corporation Permit fishing is picking up. This is the time of the year when the bass hang around the deep canals. Fishing the cuts and points will pay off. There's a lot of canals in this area, lot of points, and a bass or two here and there will limit you out.

Lacassine Refuge is still loaded with bass. With heavy growth and this hot weather, many anglers are fishing the trails, early morning and late evenings. Top water baits are good as well as the old reliable plastic worms. Working pot-holes along the trails is good, throwing a plastic frog. In the heavy dollar lilies, work the spoon with a pork chunk, especially if it's in the middle of the day. Travis Broussard had a 3rd place stringer in the last week's Lacassine Dogfight, with his partner Danny Demarie.

The saltwater fishing is still excellent, all along the coast. The Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou rocks are good, as well as the Grand Chenier jetties and east of the jetties. Rockefeller Refuge is seeing some good speckle trout in the deep canals, as well as a few nice redfish.

The point at the old river in Cameron and the jetties are producing nice specks.

Big Lake's west cove is still good for redfish. The Big Lake area itself is good from the jetties to Long Point for speckle trout. Look for the birds. Red-white; chartreuse-red cockahoe plastic are good as well as live shrimp and live cockahoe minnows.

Specks have also moved further north in the Turner Bay area and Prien Lake. Live baits are best.

NEWS BRIEFS

Shrimping in our Zone 3 has closed as of July 25. This is from Louisiana inshore waters from the western shore of Vermilion Bay and Southwest Pass at Marsh Island west to the Louisiana-Texas state line.

Small white shrimp have begun to show up in the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries samples.

August is the month that all Miami Corporation Permit fishing will close, because alligator season will begin in September. Closure date is Sunday evening, Aug. 24.

It's also the month to start buying hunting licenses for the September dove and teal season. Don't wait until the last minute. Remember, all you need is a resident hunting license for dove hunting, but for teal hunting, you will also have to have a Louisiana Duck Stamp as well as a federal duck stamp.

DID YOU KNOW?

Wild animals don't snore. Giving liquor to fish is illegal in Oklahoma.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Sweet Lake concerns

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter in response to a letter written by Mr. Charles Roper and published in the Cameron Pilot of July 31. Mr. Roper stated that he feels the Sweet Lake area has been forgotten and points out several issues of concern to him.

1) Yes, I admit the Police Jury is experiencing problems with its waste disposal service and has been meeting with the contractor in an effort to get those problems rectified. Anyone experiencing solid waste problems is asked to call Waste Management at 430-3040. If your problem is not taken care of promptly, please contact the Police Jury Administrative office at 477-8655 or 775-5718 or contact your Police Juror. In the future the Police Jury may again handle its own solid waste rather than contracting this service.

2) The Police Jury does hold a franchise for local cable television services in the parish. However, we have no control over the service of the system. A cable television business is similar to a gas company, telephone company, etc. and is only as good as its service department. The only option the Police Jury has is to revoke the franchise, which they choose not to do at this time because it would take away the service to the many people in the parish who are satisfied with their service. If you cannot get satisfactory service from your cable company, may I suggest there are several other alternate services available which are proving to be satisfactory.

3) The Police Jury began working toward getting a post office for the Grand Lake - Sweet Lake area in 1993. The U. S. Postal Department agreed that there was a need for a contract postal unit and sought proposals from several businesses in the community. For now the project has been placed on hold by the U. S. Postal Department.

4) Residents of Cameron Parish who shop in Lake Charles will have to pay a higher sales tax; however, for automobile or products delivered to Cameron Parish or purchased in Cameron Parish they should pay only Cameron Parish's sales tax of 4%. If you are a Cameron Parish resident and have a Lake Charles 911 mailing address, you may contact the 911 coordinator at the Police Jury Administrative office to provide you a means to verify you are a resident of Cameron Parish.

The Grand Lake - Sweet Lake area is experiencing rapid growth and although we welcome all new residents, with growth comes some growing pains. The expansion is taxing our school system, our roads, our water and fire system, etc. It will take time and effort to work them out. All problems need to be recognized and all comments are welcome. I thank Mr. Roper for his interest in our community and his letter to the editor. I wish to invite him and others to work with us to solve the problems he has brought to our attention.

Tarpons getting ready for fall

By JOE MUELLER

The 1997 South Cameron Tarpons have packed their belongings and headed for Lamar University, their residence until Saturday. The team is preparing for the upcoming football season. All the coaching staff and players are included in this training to be ready for the long hard road they hope to take all the way back to the state championship game.

The Tarps lost in the championship round to Haynesville, the perennial champs of class 2A football. This will not happen again in the near future as Haynesville has dropped to the 1A bracket.

The Tarpons coaching staff returns intact and more than one half the starters will be lettermen.

There will be some changes in District 6-2A. Oakdale and Kinder are coming in and Notre Dame and North Vermilion are moving out.

The pre-season schedule for the state runners-up stays the same. The Tarpons open the regular season at home against the DeQuincy Tigers after tuning up at the Iowa Jamboree.

With their stable coaching staff and lettermen the South Cameron Tarpons are a favorite for another successful season in 1997.

School board tells free lunch policies

Cameron Parish School Board announced its policy for free and reduced price meals served under the National School Lunch and/or School Breakfast Program. All schools and the central office have a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

The following family size and annual income criteria will be used for determining eligibility:

Children from families whose income level is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Application forms are being sent to all homes, along with a letter to households. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out an application for each child and return it to he school. If a multi-child application is used, complete one per household. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility, and information may be verified at any time during the school year by school or other program officials.

For the school officials to determine eligibility, households now receiving Food Stamps or who are on the Family Independence Temporary Assistance Program must provide their Food stamp case number or FITAP number as well as the signature of an adult household member. All other households must provide the following information on the application: names of all household members; the social security number of either the parent/guardian who is the primary wage earner, or the adult household member who signs the application, or a statement that the household member does not possess one; the amount of income (before deductions for taxes, Social Security, etc.) each household member receives,how often the person receives it, and where it is from, such as wages, retirement, or welfare; and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct.

Households that list a Food stamp or FITAP case number must report when the household no longer receives these benefits. Other households approved for benefits based on income information must report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases n household size. Also, if a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size increases, the household should contact the school. Such changes may make the children of he household eligible for meal benefits.

Foster children who are the legal responsibility of a welfare agency or court may be eligible for benefits. if a household has foster children, and wishes to apply for such meals for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Households that receive Food Stamps do not have to complete an application. School officials will determine eligibility for free meals based on documentation obtained directly from the Food Stamp office which will certify that a child is a member of a household currently receiving Food Stamps. School officials will notify households of their eligibility and that the household must notify the school when it no longer receives Food Stamps. households who are notified of their eligibility but do not want their children to receive free meals must contact the school. Food Stamp households should complete an application if they are not notified of their eligibility by August 20, 1997.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced price policy the principal or asst. principal will receive applications and determine eligibility. If a parent or guardian is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. if the parent wishes to make a formal appeal, he may make a request either orally or in writing to: Pam LaFleur, Superintendent, P.O. Box W, Cameron, La. 70631, 318-775-5784.

The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedures.

In the operation of child feeding programs administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, no child will be discriminated against because of ace, color, sex, national origin, age or handicap. If members of a household believe they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Slithery Words

Snakes are animals with long, legless bodies covered by scales. To move on land, a snake usually slides on its belly. Many zoos have snakes on display. How many words can you find hidden on our snake? Begin with the letter S under the snake's head. For your first word you may write start. You may not skip letters in order to form words. Write your words on a separate sheet of paper and see how you do. We found at least 30 words. 25 or more, GREAT; 18-24, Very Good; 10-17, OK; 10 or less, try again.

Batter Up!

Professional baseball is made up of two leagues. There is the National League, which was founded in 1876, and the American League, founded in 1900. Both leagues consist of 14 teams. While the leagues generally follow the same rules, the American League teams have ten positions, while the National League teams have only nine. To find out the name of this tenth player, solve the equations in the gloves and fill in the blanks with the correct letters.

Graphing Surprise

Using the number pairs below, you can graph the picture of a popular zoo animal. For each number pair, find the place where those two lines meet and put a dot there. The first number will be found on the bottom of the graph and the second number can be found on the side. Then find where the next dot goes and draw a line connecting the dots. Start with 4,1. When you finish, draw in the animal's details.

Bishop Speyrer

Pilgrimage coming here Aug. 26th

Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church will host the next Diocesan Millennium Pilgrimage Tues., Aug. 26, at 7 p.m. in the church. His Excellency, Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, will lead the pilgrimage of prayer in response to Pope John Paul's plea for prayers as Catholics throughout the world prepare for the Jubilee Year 2000. Pilgrims from the entire Diocese are encouraged to pray for peace, their families and country as the world commemorates 2000 years since the coming of Christ here on Earth.

Monsignor Irving Alphonse DeBlanc, the former pastor of Our Lady Queen of Heaven Church in Lake Charles, will be guest homilist. Father Al Volpe, pastor, on behalf of the Pastoral Council wishes to invite Gulf Coast residents to join in this evening of prayer and benediction. A reception will follow in Our Lady's Community Center behind the Rectory.

Program for 4-year olds is planned

A program designed to serve the needs of high risk four year old children is planned for Cameron Elementary School. The child must be four before Oct. 1, 1997 to be eligible. This program is funded through the Louisiana Quality Education Support Fund - 8(g).

Children who live outside of the Cameron Elementary attendance zone may attend the program if other eligibility criteria are met. However, these parents must provide transportation to and from school.

Parents may call Stacy Miller at Cameron Elementary School, 775-5518, after Aug. 18, to schedule a testing time for their child.

Oystering to begin on Oct. 16

The Calcasieu and Sabine Lake oyster tonging areas will open one-half hour before sunrise on Oct. 16, 19907, and remain open until one-half hour after sunset on April 30, 1998.

The secretary of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries was authorized to take emergency action to close areas if oyster mortalities are occurring, or to delay the season or close areas where significant spat catch has occurred with good probability of survival, or where it is found there are excessive amounts of shell in seed oyster loads.

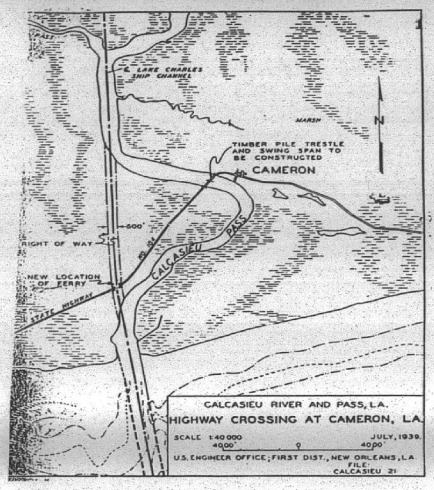
Shrim season open Mon.

The fall inshore shrimp season will open at official sunrise Mon., Aug. 18, in all three of Louisiana's inshore shrimp management zones. The season was announced by the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission at its Aug. 7, meeting.

The Commission also set the closing date for the 1997 fall season as official sunset on Sun., Dec. 14, 1997, except in Breton and Chandeleur Sounds. These areas shall remain open until 6 a.m., April 1, 1998.

The Commission authorized Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Secretary James H. Jenkins Jr. to change the closing date of the 1997 fall shrimp season if biological and technical data indicate a need to do so or if enforcement problems develop.

Jenkins also reminded shrimpers that Act 919 of the 1997 Louisiana Legislature changed the mesh size in shrimp trawls effective this fall season. The act allows use of 1-1/4-inch stretched or 5/8-inch bar mesh in all trawls except from the Atchafalaya River west to the western shore of Vermilion Bay, where mesh size is 1-1/2-inch stretched to 3/4-inch bar.



THIS 1939 MAP shows the location of a bridge that the federal government promised to build for Cameron in exchange for permitting the ship channel to create Monkey Island. The ferry that was provided instead will be phased out in the not too distant future.

Cameron bridge was promised by government 58 years ago

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Things move a little slower in Cameron Parish but 58 years seems to be a bit long for Cameron to get something that was promised by the United States on July 25, 1939.

This was the date a quit claim deed was agreed upon by the State of Louisiana and United States of America in a meeting in Baton Rouge and filed in the Cameron Parish Courthouse.

It concerned a quit claim releasing part of State Highway Route 104 (now La. 82) to the government needed in the construction of the Lake Charles ship channel from the Gulf of Mexico to the Lake Charles City Dock.

The instrument reads, "This quit claim is executed with the understanding that a channel may be dredged across State Highway 104 as presently located and with the further understanding that the United States of America, through the War Department, will construct a bridge in accordance with the present standards for bridges on secondary roads of the United States Public Road Administration across Calcasieu Pass linking the east and west sides of Highway 104, replacing the present ferry facility at this point, and with the further understanding that the United States of America, through the War Department, will relocate the present ferry facilities across Calcasieu Pass joining the east and west terminals of Highway 104 to the point where the proposed Calcasieu River and Pass channel intersects State Highway 104.

"It is further understood and agreed by and between the parties hereto that the State Highway Department of the State of Louisiana is to maintain, repair, and operate the bridge and ferry, after their respective construction and relocation by the United States of America."

It was signed by F. Warren Raggio, Chairman of the Louisiana and W. B. Smith for the Untied States of America, and witnessed by Elmer E. Shutts and Robert L. James. (Note: The map accompanying which states timber pile and trestle and swing span to be constructed).

Through the years local politicians have pushed for a high level or open span bridge to Monkey island to replace the small ferry that now services the island.

In fact, in August 1994 a public meeting on the subject was held in the Cameron Police Jury

Church posts filled

In line with the invitation of Pope John Paul II for lay christians to become actively involved in the ministry of their church, Bishop Jude Speyrer has encouraged Catholic laity to assume their roles in various types of ministries now available to them in their local churches.

At Our Lady Star of the Sea Church in Cameron, Father Al Volpe, pastor, has extended that invitation for members to become actively involved.

Father Volpe has announced the following appointments effective immediately: Donna LaBove has been named to coordinate the ministry for lectors. Roy Nash will be responsible for scheduling Adult Eucharistic Ministers and Carla Richard will resume her position for the MInistry of the Religious Education for children.

Mary Lynn Miller will continue to head the Ministry of Music and Cliff Hebert was renamed to oversee the physical management of the grounds. Terry and Susan Beard will oversee the activities of the Knights of the Altar (Altar Servers).

Hope January, a students at McNeese University, will manage Children's Church and Dolores Duhon was named to the Ministry for Shut-ins as part of her work in Home Health Care. She will be joined by Linda LeJeune, a Eucharistic Minister and a newcomer to the congregation from Lafayette, who also happens to be a registered nurse.

Father Volpe also announced that Ryan Nash, a student football coach at South Cameron High, is also in training to become a Eucharistic Minister and will be commissioner in the near future. This will allow him to help distribute communion and to serve as role model for the youth of the congregation.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

An update on the Lake Charles Ice Pirates hockey team and booster club was given at the weekly meeting of the Cameron Lions Club.

Paul W. Craig, senior vice president of Hibernia Bank, a corporate sponsor of the new team, invited Lions to come to the Civic Center to view the new hockey team sign the bank has erected.

Thom Hager, director of sales and marketing for the Ice Pirates, explained how to become members of the Ice Pirates Booster Club, explaining that a club membership card entitles one entry for two to tailgate parties and other extras.

He said that the ice arena in the Lake Charles Civic Center will be completed in time for the opening game on Oct. 18, at 7 p.m.

The arena seats 5600 people and there will be a $10,000 indoor fireworks display on the opening night.

The tickets will range from $6 to $14.75 and 2,000 season tickets have already been sold.

Hager said there will be a special section set aside for families and there will be plenty of family entertainment at each game. He said the local team has been selected for the All Star game on Jan. 10, 1998.

Board adopts new tobacco policy

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

After a lengthy closed hearing with two expelled students from South Cameron High School, the Cameron Parish School Board Tuesday rejected their request for readmission to school on a probationary basis. However, the board gave each of them stipulations they would have to comply with and said they could come back at a later date to the board for reconsideration. The stipulations were not revealed.

The board also voted to use stricter penalties on tobacco possession and use on the school grounds and at school activities and to look into the zero tolerance policy on fighting.

Board member Tony Johnson asked that information be secured from Calcasieu Parish on their zero tolerance plan and use it to create one for Cameron Parish.

Under the prior tobacco policy, students caught using or possession tobacco on school grounds, buses or at a school function, were suspended for the first three offenses and expelled on the fourth in the same school year, and less for tobacco possession.

Bill Morris, board member, moved to change the penalties for possession or use of tobacco to one to three days suspension for the first offense, five to nine days for the second offense and expulsion for the third, to take place immediately, which was adopted by the board.

Morris said that he thought the former penalties had been too lenient and students were given too many chances before they received severe penalty, to which Mrs. Pam LaFleur, Superintendent, said she did not consider expulsion a lenient policy for coming to school with cigarettes in their pocket.

The board approved the professional personnel for the 1997-98 school year, with all member voting except Morris. Morris said that the reason he opposed voting for the full slate was because one of the positions was created which should not have been approved by the board. There are still two positions to be filled, a speech therapist and a special education teacher.

The board approved revisions to the Support Personnel Plan for Personnel Evaluation, for personnel to be observed at least once a year.

The employment of Crystal Murphy was approved by the board as a five hour lunchroom technician at Cameron Elementary School.

The board agreed to advertise for a mineral lease for all lands owned by the school board in Sections 16-14-5, containing approximately 640 acres, as nominated by Kenneth S. Hill Properties, Inc. at Grand Chenier.

The board awarded two surface leases on School Board land, 16-14-5 (at Little Chenier) to Rick Mitchell for $6,000, and 16-14-6 at Muria to Lloyd Hoover for $3,267 and no bids were receive don 16-12-10 and 16-15-6 which have not been leased in several years.

The board deferred action on 16-12-5 pending discussion with the U. S. Department of Interior on a joint services agreement. The site is under a federal closure order with no hunting according to Uland Guidry, staff member.

The board will meet in special session on Fri., Aug. 15, to hire a new assistant principal for Hackberry High School and a clerk at Cameron Elementary School.

Bass rules revised for Toledo Bend

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, in order to enhance uniform recreational fishing regulations with Texas at Toledo Bend Reservoir, voted to revise rules for bass fishing on the waterbody.

The Commission reduced the minimum total length for spotted bass from 14 inches to 12 inches. For enforcement purposes, a spotted bass is defined as a black bass with a tooth patch.

The minimum total length limit for largemouth bass stays at 14 inches. The daily creel limit for largemouth and spotted bass, in aggregate, remains unchanged at eight fish.

The regulations, along with similar regulations in Texas, go into effect Sept. 1, 1997.

School opens

Cameron parish students will report for school on Wednesday, Aug. 20, according to Pam LaFleur, superintendent.

Tarpons football team practicing for season

By JOE MUELLER

The 1997 South Cameron Tarpons are back from Lamar where they held a camp for the team. The team and coaching staff are back to school and practicing once a day to prepare for the season.

The Tarps finished as runners-up in District 6AA with a 4-1 district and 6-3 overall record. The district runners-up team played an awesome playoff season easily defeating Loyola 20-7, University 48-20, St. Fredric 32-13 and Pickering 20-14.

This season due to reclassification, the Tarpons will be in District 5AA along with Kinder, Iota, Lake Arthur, Welch and Oakdale.

The South cameron Tarpons also have quality non-district opponents in DeQuincy, Vinton, and PIckering.

The Tarpons first action will be in the Iowa Jamboree and their first regular season game will be at home Sept. 5, against DeQuincy.

Knights of Altar commissioned

Fourteen young men were recently commissioned Knights of the Altar at the Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Cameron. Following a training session held at the church, the young Knights gathered around the Table of Eucharist and pledged their fidelity and service to God and to the members of their congregation.

Terry and Susan Beard were appointed by Pastor Al Volpe to coordinate the Ministry of Altar Servers and will be responsible for scheduling and helping with monthly meetings, field trips and outings. Jacob Johnson became a new member of the Knights and was welcomed into the fraternity.

Following the candlelight ceremony, the young men were treated to a barbecue lunch hosted by Brenda and Roy Nash. An NFL Country Football video helped entertain the boys in the Parish Rectory.

CAMERON BRIDGE

office at which local fishermen expressed concern that if a fixed span bridge was not constructed high enough for their boats to go under they would not be able to get to the ice house which would be located west of the present ferry, when most of their boats are located on the east side. They would have to go all around the island, and out into the Gulf, then back down the ship channel and back into the Calcasieu Pass to get ice before they headed out each morning.

Roland Trosclair, local ice house and shrimp plant owner said an economic impact study was needed more than a feasibility study.

At that meeting Wayne Aymond, acting bridge design engineer for the state Department of Transportation and Development, reported the department had done a few studies on a 10 to 15-foot fixed span concrete bridge with a 75 to 100 foot clearance between the piling supports, which could be built for $2 million dollars.

This week a notice of intent was sent out to interested parties for solicitation of views on the proposed construction of a fixed span bridge 30 foot, two lane, 900 feet long. It would allow for 10 feet of vertical clearance above mean high tide.

It would require any large vessel wishing to enter Calcasieu Pass to enter the waterway via the north end of the island.

The expected cost would be around $2 million.

W. F. "Frankie" Henry, Jr., whose family owns approximately one third of the island, says that anything less than a 14 foot clearance would be devastating to the local port board and to the small fishermen, who would not be able to pass under the bridge. In effect, it would also form a plug for that end of the pass because it is the wash from the boat propellers that is keeping the pass open now, since the river has not been maintained by the Corps of Engineers.

One of the battles of the south during the Civil War, the Battle of Calcasieu Pass, was fought just off the island and most of the dead are buried in a cemetery on the island. The local tourism committee is trying to develop it as a historic site which would be off the National Scenic By-Way which was recently named by the government.

Interested parties are requested to write expressing their views to the United States Coast Guard, 501 Magazine Street, New Orleans, La. 70130-3396 by Sept. 2, 1997.

An open letter ...

AN OPEN LETTER TO:
Hon. Mike Foster, Governor of Louisiana
Hon. Senators, Congressmen of the U.S.
Hon. Legislators of Louisiana

Our wonderful state is in grave danger and it seems to be the best kept secret around. I'm talking about coastal erosion. The Gulf of Mexico is eating the Louisiana coastline alive, and no one seems to care. I contend that the people of Louisiana DON'T KNOW about this because if they knew, they'd care.

In Johnson's Bayou and Holly Beach, people have cried silent tears for years as they watched their homes and property slide into the ocean. The natives of the area talk about property, streets and families that aren't there anymore because erosion claimed their homes. Apparently, this has been going on for so long that they seem resigned to their fate.

This year alone, areas along Louisiana's Gulf Coast have lost thirty foot of ocean front property. Thirty feet of property may not seem like much, but Louisiana can't afford to lose one more foot! This thin stretch of land is what separates the ocean from our cherished wetlands. Without this coastal property, the Gulf of Mexico will overtake the wetlands and drown them in salt water.

The value of our wetlands is clear. Not only do they provide habitat for fish and wildlife, but they also serve as protection against floods. They stabilize the water tables and reduce pollution.

We proudly refer to Louisiana as a "hunter's paradise". We have created wonderful preservation areas such as the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge. This area is the largest coastal marsh refuge on the Gulf of Mexico. Please save it!

Do the citizens of Louisiana realize that in 1983, Cameron was the leading fishing port in the United States in terms of fish landed? This port continues to pump millions of dollars into our economy each year. Do we want to lose it?

Off shore drilling has been extremely profitable for Louisiana's economy, but if the oil rigs are located more than three miles from our coastline, their revenues will go to the Federal Government instead of the State of Louisiana. If our thin stretch of land becomes a victim of erosion, and the ocean flows into the wetlands, our oil rigs will become Federal property. We are talking about billions of dollars. The impact of the off shore oil industry on Louisiana's economy can hardly be estimated.

We are in immediate danger of losing Highway 82 west of Holly Beach. It is the only Louisiana access to Johnson's Bayou and the only Louisiana access to the Southwest Gulf. The oil and gas industries are among the many who need this highway. Highway 82 is so fragile that it could be gone within weeks if we don't take action NOW. The state of Texas lost Highway 82 between Sabine Pass and High Island and have found it irreplaceable. Please learn from their huge mistake!

Coastal property is also valuable for its tourism. Admittedly, we have not used our beaches for this purpose, but if we save them, our time will come. When our family moved to Louisiana twenty years ago, Galveston was fairly undeveloped. Now it is a thriving, crowded, valuable resource for the state of Texas. Ocean front property is a treasure, and is becoming extremely rare. Please don't allow our beaches to wash away into our wetlands!

As I have mentioned before, I am not a native of Louisiana. In fact, I've been called a "Yankee" more times than I can count. But I have fallen in love with this state where the winters are almost as warm as the people. I love the Cajun music, cooking and "joie de vivre". My children have grown up here. This is why I am making this desperate appeal.

What does it take for Louisiana to save itself? Are the people of Louisiana aware of the emergency of this situation? Do we realize what will happen if our small strip of coastline is lost? If we're only looking in our own backyard, we may find the Gulf of Mexico flooding it.

Why aren't we watching how other states are preventing coastal erosion? WHY DON'T WE HAVE A PLAN? Once our fragile coastline erodes, there is NOTHING to stop the Gulf of Mexico from reaching the Intercoastal Waterway. Do we really want to redraw the map of Louisiana ending at the Intercoastal Waterway just because we didn't DO anything.

Look around, Louisiana. You are beautiful and have so much to offer! Please take care of the gifts you've been given. Treasure them and save them because once they're gone, they can never be replaced. Please use the funds you have to stop coastal erosion immediately. Yesterday would have been better. We have no time to waste. I just hope this urgent plea isn't too late!

Sincerely,
Joyce Mendelson

CASZELL MORRIS, local student, is shown looking over the special historical exhibit that was on display at the Cameron Parish Library from July 10 to Aug. 8. The exhibit told the story of Homer Plessy, the New Orleans man who challenged the segregation of public facilities.

Freezing tips

Freezing your extra summer vegetables in ice water can yield a better quality product for cooking later on, says Extension nutritionist Dr. Ruth Patrick of the LSU Agricultural Center.

"Freezing food in water is not a new preservation method," Patrick says, adding that people have frozen fish that way for years. "Using the technique for vegetables also has proven effective for preservation of certain vegetables and their freshness for later consumption.

"The color, flavor, texture and nutritive value of vegetables frozen this way resemble the fresh product when cooked and eaten."

To freeze this way, after blanching, chilling, draining and packaging, cover the vegetables with a thin layer of ice water -- about 1 cup per quart -- before sealing and freezing.

"The result will be an excellent frozen product, which will retain high quality for a year or more in storage," Patrick says.

The best vegetables for this type of preservation are green beans, butter beans, peas, whole kernel corn, squash and greens, she says.

Covering the vegetables in water forces out all the air, and freezing forms a protective glaze that keeps the moisture in, Patrick explains, stressing that air and loss of moisture are two of the main causes of lost quality in frozen foods.

Freezing vegetables in water also helps to make nice flat packages, which stack easily when plastic bags are used in freezing.

"Freezing is the easiest and least time-consuming method of home preservation," Patrick says, adding, "frozen foods are a real convenience, allowing you to serve a variety of tasty, nutritious meals on short notice."

"Frozen vegetables cooks more quickly than fresh ones -- in one-third to one-half the time, the nutritionist says.

"Young, tender, homegrown vegetables are particularly pleasing when eaten several months later, especially during the winter, when fresh, high-quality produce may be harder to find at the supermarket," Patrick says.

Most vegetables freeze well, according to Patrick. But many of the salad vegetables with especially high water content, such as tomatoes, lettuce, cabbage and celery, lose their crispness and get limp and tough when frozen.

The Extension nutritionist also offers these additional tips on freezing vegetables.

Prepare vegetables for freezing the same as for cooking. You must blanch or heat them before freezing. All vegetables, except green pepper, onions and herbs for seasoning, must be heated.

Heating destroys the natural enzymes found in vegetables. Enzymes are natural chemical substances, which help vegetables grow and mature, but if their action isn't stopped before freezing, the continue to act on the vegetables and may destroy the fresh flavor after about a month or two of storage.

Unblanched vegetables may develop off-flavors, off odors or may discolor or toughen.

Blanching also softens and wilts vegetables, making them easier to pack.

Blanching is a critical step and should be done properly. The most common method is to put a small amount of vegetables into a large quantity of boiling water for a short time.

Certain vegetables, such as cut okra and cream-style corn, must be heated differently.

For cut okra, blanch the pods whole, then cool and freeze. When you are ready for a meal, remove from the freezer and cut pods into desired slices as they thaw.

The richness of cream-style corn is difficult to retain simply by immersing kernels in hot water. The feature of this enjoyable product comes from the juice that is scraped from the cob after the kernels have been sliced off. So cook the kernels in their juice, plus one or two cups of water, for a short time. Cool and freeze the finished product like any other vegetable.

If you are planning to freeze large quantities of vegetables, it will be easier if you purchase a blancher or a spaghetti pot.

A large Dutch oven or dishpan also works well, especially if you have a colander or wire basket. This will allow you to drain the vegetables and save the boiling blanching water for another batch.

For best results, follow recommended blanching times for each vegetable.

Drain and cool quickly in cool running water, ice water or by using a fan.

Then package in suitable freezing bags or containers.

Barely cover vegetables with ice water. It will take about a cup of water per quarter of vegetables.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Italian-American population of the U.S. is overwhelmingly southern Italy in origin, and even more predominantly Sicilian.

In the century of 1876-1976, some 26 million Italians migrated from their homeland to North and South America, mostly for economic reasons.

The earlier the immigrants arrived in the new world, the more likely they were to be of northern Italian origin; but by the early 1900s, the predominance of Italian immigrants were from the south.

It was in this same period that more Italians came to the U.S. than to anywhere else in the Americas. Today, more U.S. residents can claim Italian descent than any other ethnic group except British and German.

MAGAZINE FOR RESEARCHERS

Family Chronicle, subtitled "The Magazine for Families Researching their Roots", was started in September 1996 by Halvor Moorshead, a publisher with 25 years experience.

The information above comes form "The Italian Exodus", one of the excellent articles in Vol. 1, No. 4 of this magazine, discussing the ethnic, political, geographic, religious, social, etc. complexities of Italian origins and advising on church and state genealogical records and how they may be obtained.

Another fine article, "The Battle of Agincourt Honor Roll", relates and analyzes this famous English-French conflict of 1415, and lists about 1,200 names of the 5,700 English participants.

"Beyond the Genealogy Section" explains some of the surprising resources found in almost every department of your public library; "Hiring a Researcher" is a guide to finding and employing a professional genealogist; and there are some 10 other features, all interesting, informative and expertly done.

This excellent magazine, much of it in color, originating in Canada, has over 80% of its circulation in the U.S.; 15,000 copies distributed to newsstands.

Subscription rate is $21.00 yearly; $35.00 for 2 years from: Family Chronicle, P.O. Box 1201, Lewiston, NY 14092-9934; call toll-free 1-888-FAM-CHRON.

BARBER FAMILY

The Connecticut Barbers, A Genealogy of the Descendants of Thomas Barber of Windsor, Conn. by Donald S. Barber, M.D. begins with Thomas born c1613 in England, migrated to America 1635, married and had 6 children who in turn had 54 more.

Some of the next generation moved to Maine and Connecticut; later generations went west across the nation, south to Georgia, the Gulf States and Texas.

Years of research went into this genealogy which includes 1100 families of Barbers and 700 families of Barber daughters. There is an every-name index of 22,000 entries, extensive references, and a long list of names and addresses of persons who contributed information.

Including a great deal of Barber family data with many individual references, considerable military service through the nation's history, family stories, and tracing into the 13th generation, this in-depth genealogy is hardcover, 6 x 9 in., 544 pages, available at $42.00 from the author, 6 Edgewood Court Ext., Middlefield, CT 06455.

Mr. Barber writes that he will "try to answer queries for anyone who is interested in corresponding but not purchasing at this time. Just enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope."

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Robert Nunemakers, the oldest resident of Lakeside, moved to Lake Arthur this week.

There sure is a water famine in this section. The Lake is so low no boats can land and water must be carried a long distance, and is brackish.

SOUTH CAMERON FHA QUEEN

The third annual Queen's Ball was held at South Cameron High School Feb. 6, sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America.

Miss Janice Cheramie was elected to reign as Queen for 1964-65. Misses Elaine Broussard, Debbie Catha, Kala LeBouef, Shirley Piner, and Carolyn Richard were maids.

The Queen was crowned by Kenneth Isgitt, industrial arts teacher. Principal J. W. Dickerson presented the Queen with a bouquet of red roses.

FIRST MAJOR SURGERY

The South Cameron Memorial Hospital's first major surgical operation -- a caesarean section -- was performed successfully Monday morning, according to Kenneth Isgitt, administrator. Both the baby and mother were reported doing well.

Dr. Frank A. Sewell, Lake Charles surgeon, performed the operation, with the assistance of Dr. Steven Carter of Creole.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE OFFICERS

Rupert Doxey of Cameron was elected chairman of the Cameron Parish Democratic Executive Committee at a meeting last week. He succeeds Joe Rutherford of Oak Grove, who did not seek re-election.

Dr. Cecil Clark was elected vice-chairman and Jerry Jones was re-elected secretary. Both are from Cameron.

Two new members elected in the recent Democratic primary took their seats on the committee. They are Lionel Theriot of Grand Chenier and Charles Riggs of Hackberry.

SCHOLASTIC RECORDS
(By Archie S. Hollister)

The people of the Cheniers have always been justifiably proud of the scholastic records their sons and daughters have set, both at home and in institutions of higher learning.

During the thirty years of its existence, the Grand Chenier High School sent 72% of its graduates on to colleges--a record that no other school in the state can equal. Neither are the inhabitants slow to point out the success that their enterprising and migrating children, seeking wider opportunities, have attained in businesses and professions in their adopted homes.

CAMERON PARISH 4-H LIVESTOCK SHOW

Hackberry and Grand Lake 4-H club members took most of the top prizes in the third annual Cameron Parish 4-H Livestock and Poultry Show held Saturday at Grand Lake.

Jimmy Duhon of Hackberry, who exhibited the grand champion beef animal, a white face steer, won the C. F. Henry Memorial Trophy, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Conway LeBleu of Cameron. This was the second year that the revolving trophy was awarded. Last year's winner was Ernest Hamilton Jr., also of Hackberry.

Jimmy Duhon also won the first place sweepstakes award in the livestock division, amassing the most points on the animals he showed.

Ernest Hamilton Jr., Hackberry, and Wendell Greathouse, Grand Lake, were second and third respectively, in the livestock division sweepstakes.

FOURTH OF JULY IN CAMERON

The day began with rain, and we all expected our celebration would prove a failure, but about eleven o'clock, the weather cleared off, bringing the sunshine of gladness to all hearts and faces, judging from the merry crowd that collected at the Court House.

A picnic on the beach was part of the day's program, Capt. W. L. Hutchins having kindly offered the "Willie" to convey us to and from the grounds. The trip to and from the beach was enlivened with vocal and instrumental music, the notes of the accordion mingling with those of the violin.

This edition of the Echo lists Agents for the newspaper. Included are S. P. Henry, Leesburg; B. F. Fancher, Johnson's Bayou; and A. W. Gillespie, Grand Chenier.

PLANT CONFERENCE

A parish committee appointed recently to find a location for a proposed plant to assemble off-shore oil drilling barges at Cameron, expects to go to Longview, Tex., within the next 10 days or two weeks to consult with R. G. LeTourneau, widely-known industrialist.

J. B. Jones, assistant district attorney, reported that he had talked to Mr. LeTourneau's wife recently about setting up an appointment for the committee with the LeTourneaus. Mrs. LeTourneau said that she and her husband would be in California for ten days and would set a date for the meeting as soon as they returned.

The local committee recently located a 318-acre site on the Calcasieu River at Cameron which they believed would be suitable for the plant. They hope to work out the details on the site with the LeTourneaus when they go to Longview.

SPOIL LEVEE MATTER TABLED

For the second meeting in a row, the Cameron Police Jury Monday found itself unable to reach a decision on a proposed 4.2 mile spoil levee along the west band of the ship channel south of Hackberry.

At the June meeting, former state Rep. Alvin Dyson had asked the jury to adopt a resolution asking the U. S. Corps of Engineers to delete this levee from the ship channel enlargement project.

He said the levee would restrict the flow of salt water into a bay that area hurting the oyster and shrimp industry and also block off a large number of camps from Calcasieu Lake.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Grand Lake - Sweet Lake -- The rain last week was a very much needed in spite of the thunder and lightning we had. The lightning killed two of Leslie Hebert's cows Tuesday. Mrs. Leslie Hebert, Darrell Wilton Hebert and family recently visited with their daughter and sister Betty Jean, in LaPorte, Tex. While there they attended the First Communion of their grandson Christ and also enjoyed a picnic and swimming at the beach.

Holly Beach -- a Crowd estimated well over 4000 persons celebrated the July 4th holiday on the expanse of beach from Holly Beach to Johnson Bayou. Some came in wigs like the Beatles; some as beatniks. Some were just plain folks, others were merry-makers. Their attitude reflected that it was a day to rejoice and have fun. Fun was interpreted in many varieties.

Creole -- Weiner Roast -- Enjoying a weiner roast on Rutherford Beach Sunday were Mrs. Edith Boudoin, Mrs. Maya Richard, Mrs. Gordon Johnson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Boudoin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Burton LaBove, Mr. and Mrs. Vick LaBove of Creole and Mrs. Lorena Theriot of Chenier Perdue.

Rutherford Beach -- Jefferson Davis Electric Co-op, turned on the electric "juice" to Rutherford Beach last week and it was a good sight to see the highline poles up along the road to the beach.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

Sixty hunting days and an increased bag limit for ducks may await Louisiana waterfowl hunters this winter. The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission's action giving hunters this expanded season comes in the wake of news that a fourth year of excellent waterfowl production yielding a record number of breeding ducks and fall flight.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) guidelines allow duck hunters to shoot six ducks per day this year, one more than last season. Other changes raise the number of female mallards allowed in the bag from one to two and the number of pintails from one to three.

These more generous regulations reflect what could be another record season, provided weather and water conditions are favorable for Louisiana. This year's fall flight counts are estimated at 92 million ducks, up from 79.5 million last year. Breeding populations were at a record high of 42.6 million -- a 13 percent increase over last year. Duck species most popular with Louisiana waterfowl hunters are at or near record high levels. This is the third consecutive year that these key species have experienced an excellent breeding season.

The commission accepted waterfowl recommendations from Department of Wildlife and Fisheries biologists at its regular meeting on Aug. 8, 1997. The recommendations are made based on a framework set by the USFWS Office of Migratory Bird Manage-ment.

The Commission accepted the following proposed hunting season recommendations.

The Calcasieu Lock is located in central Calcasieu Parish connecting the Intracoastal Waterway with the Calcasieu Ship Channel. The lock was installed in 1950 to ensure that fresh water would be available for the agriculture industry in the Mermentau Basin. The lock is 72' wide and is operated in accordance with the other locks of the Mermentau Basin. The Calcasieu Lock was examined during a 1992 study of the locks of the lower locks in Louisiana and was identified for replacement.

Replacement of the Calcasieu Lock will benefit navigation due to decreased delays and the availability to navigate the locks during periods of high water. During periods of flooding in the Mermentau Basin, velocities of water moving through the Calcasieu Lock inhibits barge traffic due to the danger of navigating through the lock because of the swift currents. By replacing Calcasieu Lock the availability of removing water from the Mermentau Basin will also be increased.

The location of the Calcasieu Lock adjacent to the Calcasieu Ship Channel enables the removal of water due to tidal fluctuation. The estimated replacement cost is approximately $70 million.

Highway 82 between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou is located in western Cameron Parish on the edge of the Gulf of Mexico. This road is constructed on the only chenier between southwestern Calcasieu Parish and the Gulf of Mexico. This barrier is the only barrier that keeps out saltwater intrusion and maintains the historical hydrology of this area. The road has undergone severe erosion over many years which has been somewhat curtailed due to a state breakwater project constructed in the early 1990's. During severe storms these breakwaters are overtopped and the resultant erosion is severe. We have had three of those storms since October of 1996 and the road is in an emergency condition. Cost of refurbishing Highway 82 and the offshore breakwaters is estimated at $23 million.

Monkey island is a major concern now as the ferry serving the island is one of six being targeted to be closed. The plan is to build a low level bridge to replace the ferry and service to the island will not be discontinued until the bridge is complete. It is also proposed that the Calcasieu River will be dredged around Monkey Island to improve economic opportunities.

During the 1997 Legislative Session, $1 million was set aside in the Capital Outlay bill for the completion of this bridge--$300,000 in Priority 2 and $700,000 in Priority 5. Early in 1997 a economic development team met to assess Cameron Parish and it was their feeling that there is a lot of development potential on the island and access is vital for economic development

FERRY APPROACHES CONTRACT

Work has begun on the approaches and slips for the Cameron ship channel ferry on state routes 27 and 82 under a $515,179 contract to E. Miller & Sons, Inc. of Lake Charles. It is estimated it will take a year to complete the project.

The new 50-car ferry for the facilities are being built was launched on March 11 at Mermentau where it has been constructed at the G. B. Zigler shipyards at a cost of $347,701. The total cost of the ferry, approaches and slip will be $862,880.

OFFICIALS AT MEETING

Four Cameron Parish officials are attending the annual convention of the National Association of County Officials in Washington, D.C. this week. They are Police Jurors Frankie Henry, Horace Mhire and C. A. Riggs, and J. B. Jones, assistant district attorney.

The four will attend a lawn reception to be given for the delegates at the White House by President and Mrs. Johnson. They will also hear a speech during the convention by Senator Barry Goldwater.

RICE YIELD MAY BE HURT

The high winds and heavy rains which hit this area during the past two weeks may cost Cameron Parish rice growers a reduction of two barrels per acre, say County Agent Hadley Fontenot.

Rice crops in the Lowery, Klondike and Sweetlake areas were hard hit Wednesday night of last week when winds gusted up to 60 miles an hour during rain storms.

Mr. Fontenot said that a lot of the mature rice which was ready for harvest had been blown down, but that the greatest loss would be in the young rice in the "milk stage." He said the damage might cause many blank and unfilled grains. Some blast damage is also being found in the parish rice crops.

PARISH CANCER DRIVE

Richards to have a big 1998 reunion

The Richards, who are well represented in Cameron Parish and throughout Southwest Louisiana, believe in doing their reunion in a big way--they make it an international affair.

The Association "Des Richard de Partout, Inc." plans to sponsor the Fourth International Richard Reunion Aug. 6, and 7 in Lafayette.

The Association is experienced at hosting large international family reunions. It was incorporated in 1991 specifically to host the 1993 reunion, which also was held in Lafayette, and similar gatherings in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Fargo, N. D.

The Richard family reunion will focus on Acadian heritage. Plans are to have booths staffed with people who are familiar with the Richard genealogy. And, there will be Cajun culture, including music and food.

H. deputy is charge

(American Press)

Former deputy Charles M. "Mike" Alford, 40, of 339 Meyers Road, Hackberry, was arrested Wednesday and released on a $5,000 bond Thursday afternoon, Sheriff James A. "Sono" Savoie said.

The girls' father said he found them parked at the end of a dirt lane, shortly after 4 a.m., July 31. He said he went looking for his daughter after a family member discovered she was missing from the house.

Alford had been with the Sheriff's Office a little over a year, Savoie said, but was not certified because he had been unable to pass the physical portion of the academy entrance test.

Savoie also said Alford was a "fairly good deputy" and had a clean disciplinary record.

Carnal knowledge of a juvenile is a felony carrying a maximum sentence of 10 years, with or without hard labor, according to Cameron Parish District Attorney Glenn Alexander, who is prosecuting the case.

Wetland projects are dedicated Tues.

U. S. Sen. John Breaux and the Louisiana Coastal Wetlands Conservation and Restoration Task Force dedicated five coastal restoration projects in a ceremony at the Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge Tues., Aug. 12.

The projects, funded under the Coastal Wetlands Planning, Protection and Restoration Act, will restore or protect almost 10,000 acres of wetlands in Cameron and Calcasieu parishes. The projects dedicated are:

*Cameron-Creole Watershed Hydrologic Restoration,

*Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge Shoreline Protection,

*Clear Marais Bank Protection and,

*Sabine National Wildlife Refuge shoreline Protection.

Three federal agencies -- the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and National Resources Conservation Service -- worked with the Louisiana Department of Natural Resources to develop these projects.

The Cameron-Creole Watershed Hydrologic Restoration Project was completed in January 1997 by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. It consists of two sheet-piling plugs installed in the 19-mile-long borrow canal that parallels the Cameron-Creole Watershed levee along the eastern shore of Calcasieu Lake in lower Cameron Parish. The plugs will restore desired surface water flow and reduce wetland loss in the watershed, resulting in a net savings of 487 acres of coastal wetlands over the project's 20-year life. (Cost: $776,000).

The Cameron-Creole Maintenance Project, an ongoing effort of the U. S. Department of Agriculture -- Natural Resources Conservation Service, maintains the structural components of the Cameron-Creole Watershed. These components have revitalized this area, restoring historic wetland functions. The first phase of this project involves repairing cracks in the Grand Bayou structure, and the second phase will involve placing more rock to prevent scouring. The project will benefit about 2,600 acres. Additional phases will be determined, as needed, through routine inspections. (Cost: $3.7 million).

The Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge Shoreline Protection Project, completed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in August 1994, is located along the north bank of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway (GIWW), approximately 1.5 miles east of Highway 27 on and adjacent to the refuge. The GIWW, which forms the project's southern border, is separated from the refuge by spoil banks that eroded over the years to the point where the GIWW threatened to breach into the refuge. The project addresses this problem by placing two miles of rock dike parallel to the spoil bank to protect that bank, and thus protects approximately 247 acres of fresh marsh that would otherwise be damaged by high-energy waters from the GIWW. (Cost: $1.5 million).

The Clear Marais Bank Protection Project is located along the north bank of the GIWW, five miles west of Highway 27. The bank in this area is falling into the waterway, threatening one of the few remaining tracts of fresh-water wetlands in the Calcasieu Sabine Basin. To combat this problem six miles of rock-armored breakwater were built to maintain the existing bank; vegetation may also be planted to further enhance bank protection and promote sediment trapping. The project, completed by the Corps of Engineers in March 1997, protects about 1,066 acres of marsh and provides important wintering habitat for waterfowl, as well as year-round habitat for alligators, furbearers and numerous avian and fish species. (Cost: $3.3 million).

The Sabine National Wildlife Refuge Shoreline Protection Project is located on the east levee of the Burton-Sutton Canal, adjacent to the refuge's Impoundment 3, a 27,000-acre freshwater area that provides habitat for freshwater game fish, alligators, furbearers, songbirds and migratory and resident waterfowl. Boat wakes eroded sections of the impoundment's original levee, and continued erosion would have caused multiple levee breaches, allowing saltier water from the Calcasieu Ship Channel and Sabine Lake to intrude.

To combat this,the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service refurbished 1,000 feet of the impoundment levee with dredged material, and placed five-and-a-half miles of rock breakwater along the east bank of the Burton-Sutton Canal. The work, completed in March 1995, protects approximately 5,542 acres of emergent marsh and aquatic vegetation. (Cost: $1.9 million).

425 was number of deaths in parish

Hurricane Audrey, the most deadly hurricane to strike Louisiana in modern history, was the subject of discussion at the summer meeting of the Southwest Louisiana Historical Association's summer meeting, held in McNeese University's Frazar Library.

Nola Mae Ross, who recently published an account of the fierce storm, was the chief speaker at the meeting, and described the research necessary to write the book.

At the beginning, she said, she was surprised to discover that there was not an adequate list of the victims. From her research, she said, she concluded that there were 425 deaths from the hurricane in Cameron Parish. Of these, 154 were children under the age of 9.

She said she decided to concentrate her research on the stories of the survivors, and what they could relate about the hurricane's terrors, and about the family members who were lost.

"After the research," she said, "the thing that stands out in my mind is the courage of ordinary people under great stress. Many stories were told of men and women who risked their own lives to save others, and who sometimes lost their own lives as a result.

"I was told of one man, secure in a tree, who left the tree eight times to try to save someone else. And there was a black gentleman who made six such trips."

She said she was also impressed by stories of sharing. Whatever small stores of food and water which one survivor may have had, it was always carefully shared with the others at hand.

Despite the tragic loss of life and the enormous cost in damages, Mrs. Ross said there was never any doubt in the minds of most survivors that they would rebuild, and make things better than before.

"I feel that in writing the book," Mrs. Ross said, "I have helped the people of Cameron Parish to see an important segment of their history in print."

Association President Robert Benoit presided at the meeting and announced that the fall meeting of the association will take place Nov. 11.

Getting. . . Personal

By Jerry Wise

For some reason, which we have not been able to find yet, some of the Pilot readers in Creole, Grand Chenier and Hackberry did not receive last week's issue.

The fault was not with the post office and postmasters in all three places were very cooperative in trying to find out what happened.

Extra copies of the Pilot were mailed out to some of the readers who did not get their paper, but unfortunately we did have enough to send to all. To these readers we offer our apologies.

The mailings are being checked closely this week to make sure that there is no repeat of last week. If you failed to get a copy this week, please let us know.

The fault here does not lie with the newspaper or the local post offices. All issues of the Pilot, both in the parish and elsewhere, are either entered in the Lake Charles post office on Wednesday night or in the Cameron post offices on Thursday morning.

The out-of-state delivery problem apparently lies in the Post Office's large sectional centers such as Dallas, Houston and New Orleans. The problem is nationwide and affects many publications.

Again, the problem of missing papers or late delivery is not the fault of our Cameron parish post offices, all of whom make special efforts to make sure the Pilot is delivered on time.

DURING THE month of July, senior citizens assisted the meal delivery drivers in delivering home delivered meals to the homes of the sick and shut in. Ina Jane Gaspard is the meal delivery driver for the Grand Lake area. Mrs. Ella Rose Benoit is her volunteer.

Hwys. in project

Sections of Hwys. 27/82 from the Calcasieu River at Cameron westward to Holly Beach and then north through Hackberry to Kelso Bayou were included in an asphalt surface treatment project recently bid by the La. Dept. of Transportation.

W. E. McDonald & Son of Glenmora had the low bid of $797,265 on the project, which also included several highways in the Sulphur and Vinton areas.

Monsignor DeBlanc is an eloquent preacher and distinguished lecturer and speaker. Author of numerous articles published in pastoral journals, Monsignor DeBlanc is an accomplished author and educator in the area of sociology and family life.

The program will close with a benediction by Rev. Al Volpe, newly appointed pastor. A plaque which will adorn the entrance to the church commemorating the visit will be dedicated by the Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles.

Nat. Trail given funds

The Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau board approved transfer of funds to the Creole Nature Trail Scenic Byway District to be used as matching funds for federal grants.

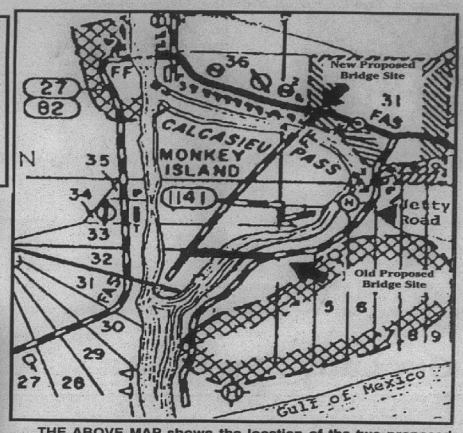
Grants approved earlier were in 1995, scenic auto turn-outs, $400,000,local share of $80,000, and promotional campaign, $20,000, $4,000 local, and 1994, brochure, $55,000, $11,000 local; site and logo signs, $28,000, $5,600 local, and planning study, $25,000, $5,000 local.

A corridor management plan has been completed, Shelley Johnson, executive director of the CVB said, and requests for proposals on the other projects will go out soon.



THE ABOVE MAP shows the location of the two proposed bridge sites to connect Monkey Island to Cameron. One is located south of the town of Cameron on the Jetty road and has received some opposition. The Police Jury will seek comments on a proposed new site at the present Monkey Island Ferry landing on Aug. 28.

Monkey Is. bridge meet set by jurors

The Cameron Parish Police Jury will hold a public meeting at 4 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 28 at the Police Jury building to discuss a proposal for the construction of a fixed span bridge at the present ferry landing going to Monkey Island.

Tina Horn, parish administrator, said all interested persons are invited to attend and express their views.

The Louisiana Dept. of Transportation recently gave notice of its intention of shutting down the ferry that presently serves the island on the grounds that there are only a few residents and installations on the island.

However, Rep. Dan Flavin got the closure postponed until a bridge could be decided on.

The state recently asked for comments on a proposed a bridge near the mouth of Calcasieu Pass. However, at a previous hearing on this site, much opposition to expressed for this location.

There has been some opposition to the construction of a bridge at any site on the grounds that it might cause the river to silt up and harm the marine interests.

However, Horn said the jury is seeking aid from the Corps of Engineers to keep the river cleaned out.

Interesting enough, the federal government promised in 1939 to build a bridge at the present ferry site in exchange for constructing the ship channel across the loop on the river thereby creating Monkey Island. The promise was never kept.

Refuge project told

An updated draft environmental assessment of the Replacement of Water Control Structures at Hog Island Gully, West Cove Canal, and Headquarters Canal, is available for public review at the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge Headquarters.

The purpose of the project is to (1) increase water discharge capacity that would reduce adverse impacts from excessive rainfall and saline storm surges, (2) curtail saltwater intrusion into interior low-salinity marshes, and (3) provide greater cross-sectional access for estuarine-dependent fish and shellfish by moving larger volumes of water during critical periods of migration. This project is authorized by the Coastal Wetland Planning, Protection, and Restoration Act. All comments must be made by Sept. 15.

Blood drive set 29th

The June meeting of the St. Mary and St. Patrick Catholic Daughters Chapter #2411 was held at St. Mary Church hall despite the Grand Lake pontoon bridge being out.

Members planned a "Welcome Fr. Bill Social" to be held after the July meeting.

Members decided to receive communion as a body at the 8 or 10 a.m. mass Oct. 19.

The July meeting was called to order by Regent Laudry Darbonne.

Members discussed adding to the "Adopt a shut-in" project in which every member would offer their service, i.e., taking them shopping, clean house, visiting, etc., as well as sending cards for birthdays, Mother's Day, Easter, and other occasions.

Dezere Richard and Geraldine Manuel volunteered to compile a list of their birthdays, addresses, favorite color, likes, etc., and asked others to gather as much information as possible about each one.

The membership drive was discussed. Everyone was urged to bring a guest to the September 9 meeting.

Some members who had left early for home, returned to the church in a short while. Seems that the Grand Lake Pontoon Bridge had a broken cable and was going to be closed four hours and members were informed there was a problem with the Black Bayou Pontoon Bridge, so they were caught on the island.

Two ladies decided to ride to the Black Bayou Bridge to try to get some answers. The two returned and said the Black Bayou Bridge would have one lane open to car traffic for 45 minutes. Father Bill later stated it looked like a scene from the movie, "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad World" in which everyone runs to their car, jumps in and drives off.

Members cleanup church

Congregation members have been busy these last two weeks helping clean up church grounds around the historic Shrine and Church of Our Lady Star of the Sea in Cameron.

Clifton Hebert and Goose Richard together with their wives, Carla and Carol, have spearheaded several projects which have included washing and painting the Shrine dedicated to the memory of Hurricane Audrey's victims. The entire edifice of the Church and Our Lady's Center have also been washed down with the additional help and interest of Roy Nash.

Carl (Sing) Faulk has also been rewiring outdoor light display outlets and the church road sign has been given a fresh coat of pain and new fluorescent bulbs for brighter illumination.

Know What's Below

The Gulf of Mexico has much to offer its users: recreation, enjoyment, seafood and a source of income for many. We at Vastar Resources, Inc. have an ongoing interest in maintaining the benefits derived for all of the Gulf's users. Natural gas and liquid hydrocarbons are safe and efficient fuels for heating our homes, cooking our meals and aiding in transportation. However, in the offshore environment, anchoring, dredging and/or large vessel traffic in the wrong location can cause damage to offshore pipelines and create a safety hazard. Similarly, in the onshore environment, excavating where pipelines may be present can cause damage to pipelines and create a safety hazard. So, before you drop an anchor, drag a net, or lower equipment in the offshore environment, or excavate in the onshore environment, "know what's below." If you become aware of a pipeline leak, suspect such, or have an emergency of any kind involving a pipeline, evacuate the area immediately and contact the proper authorities. If the pipeline involved belongs to Vastar Resources, Inc., contact us at 281-584-3856 or 409-971-2183.

Vastar Resources, Inc. helps you Know What's Below by:

- Raising awareness through ads like these;
- Working with Federal agencies to ensure our pipelines are permitted and shown on nautical charts;
- Reporting incidents and/or safety-related conditions concerning our pipelines to the proper authorities.
- Including regulated pipelines in the state's One-Call system.

What can you do to Know What's Below?

- Be aware that striking or snagging a subsea pipeline can rupture and endanger your vessel or crew;
- Avoid running aground since some pipelines may have been unearthed due to storms and the surf over time.
- Check your charts for pipelines in your area of operation, especially before weighing anchor, lowering equipment, trawling, dredging, etc.
- Use the Louisiana One-Call system (1-800-272-3020) prior to excavating.

For more information or other assistance concerning our pipelines, call Vastar Resources, Inc. at 281-584-6000.

FISHING REPORT

Many anglers are hitting the Big Burn - Miami Corp. Permit Fishing lands this weekend. This is the last weekend it will be open for fishing until March 1998.

Even though the weather has been hot, and the water low, good catches of bass have come out of the areas.

Lacassine, Sabine, and Cameron Prairie Refuges are still open until october unless they would have to close during alligator season. Should these areas not close, it is advised to be extra careful, as a 12/0 hook can do lots of damage to a person's body. I'm sure we'll have a bulletin from these areas real soon.

WATERFOWL SEASONS SET

Louisiana waterfowlers will get extra ducks and extra days for duck season this year. A 60 day duck season, with six ducks daily limit, comes as the fourth year of excellent waterfowl production with a record number of breeding ducks for fall flights. Other changes let the hunter have two female mallards in their bag limit and the number of pintails allowed is three.

It is said we should have another record season for 1997-98, if our weather and water conditions here in our state of Louisiana are favorable. This year's fall flight is estimated at 92 million ducks, up from 89.5 million last year. The breeding population is up 13 percent over last year. Recommendations for the Commission:

Duck and Coots

Youth Waterfowl Day: Jan. 24, 1998.

Daily Bag LImits: Ducks - six, no more than four mallards (no more than two which may be female; 3 mottled ducks, one black duck, two wooddducks, three pintails, one canvasback and two redheads.

Daily Bag Limit: Coot - 15.

Blue and Snow geese and Specklebelly will open also on Nov. 8. I'll have these limits and information next week.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

The fall inshore shrimp season opened Mon., Aug. 18, in all three zones of Louisiana. Closure is Dec. 14, for most areas, unless it is closed by the Commission for certain reasons.

Oyster season in the Calcasieu and Sabine Lake tonging areas will open one half hour before sunrise on Oct. 16, and remain open until one half hour after sunset on April 30, 1998. Again, the Secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries has the right to open and close the season when certain factors arise.

The commercial fishery for king mackerel in Louisiana waters closed at 12:01 a.m., Sat., Aug. 9, until July 1, 1998.

NEWS TALK

Doc Kennedy's 50 pound four ounce red snapper caught June 23, 1996, in South Timbalier Block 185 in 60 feet of water, south of Fourchon, set records.

The International Game Fish Association, confirms his fish a new species all-tackle world record. The La. Outdoor Writers Association honors his fish as "Louisiana's Fish of the Year."

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB RESULTS

Team Stringers: 1. Ricky and Jerry Canik, 19-2; 2. Todd and Chris Morales, 18-5; 3. Darren Richard and Brett Baccigalopi, 17-10; 4. Scottie Trosclair and Amanda Bertrand, 13-8.

Individual Stringers: 1. Todd Morales, 10-14; 2. Jerry Canik, 10-1; 3. Darren Richard, 9-12; 4. Ricky Canik, 9-4; 5. Scottie Trosclair, 8-1; 6. Brett Baccigalopi, 7-14; 7. Chris Morales, 7-12; 8. Amanda Bertrand, 5-7.

Largest Bass: 1. Todd Morales, 2-6; 2. Jerry Canik, 2-5; 3. Ricky Canik, 2-5; 4. Darren Richard, 2-4; 5. Scottie Trosclair, 2-3; 6. Brett Morales, 1-13.

Largest Shoepick: Amanda Bertrand, 3-10.

BOAT SAFETY

We all hear about boat safety and how to be extra careful, well there's a lot of airboat traffic in our marshes, as seismic crews are working just about all areas of Cameron Parish.

An airboat collision with an outboard took place in the old Amoco Field (Apache Oil Co. Field). Another air boat collision took place in the Big Burn with an outboard. There have been several near misses in both these areas and also on some private landowner marshes. Be extra careful, as these airboats travel on the mud flats, open marsh whether there's a ditch, or water or not. The heavy growth of weeds makes it almost impossible to see, especially if you're sitting down in a small outboard rig.

By JOE MUELLER

The South Cameron Tarpons are looking forward to Thursday, Aug. 21, when the Iowa Yellow Jackets come to town for a scrimmage at Tarpon Stadium at 5 p.m.

The 1997 Tarpons have been working out since early August and are definitely ready to hit someone other than a teammate. The Tarpons who made it to the state finals last year return at lest 25 lettermen and will be favored to go a long way into the playoffs this year.

Perennial state 2AA champion, Haynesville, has moved down to Class 1A this year and the Tarpons are one of the teams favored to take their place at the top of 2AA ranks.

The Tarpons coaching staff returns intact. Coach Parry LaLande will be entering his 21st year of coaching at South Cameron. His first year as head coach was 1992. He has compiled a 128-48-1 record. He has led teams to the playoffs ten times and has won seven district championships. Coach LaLande has coached in two state championship games, in 1986 and last year, 1996.

Offensive starters returning are tight end Scotty Brown, guard Derrick Vaughn, tackle Joe Eaves, quarterback Joe Pradia, tailback Brandon Conner, fullback Cory Broussard and wingback Steve Moore.

On defense the Tarps return starters Scotty Brown, defensive tackle Steve Landry, defensive end, David Sealy, cornerbacks, Cory Broussard and Brandon Conner, safties Ryan Billings and Kelly Roberts and the kicker John Mark Montie.

The Tarpons return to the practice field Monday until Thursday when they travel to Iowa to play in the Iowa Jamboree. They will play in the second game against the Barbe JV at approximately 7:15 p.m.

Thank You,

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not here at all,
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.

Oil & gas up here

CAPITAL NEWS

Natural resource production in Cameron Parish rose again in May and continued to exceed 1996 levels as it did the previous four months.

The May severance tax report from the state Department of Revenue and Taxation listed nearly $1.7 million received for work in the parish during the month, the fifth highest figure in the state. Collections had jumped to $1.4 million the previous month after a sharp dip to $1.1 million in March. But receipts throughout this year have topped last year's, and May was no exception with 1996 May collections reaching only $1.4 million.

Most of the May receipts were in the oil category, where the report showed $939,580 in severance taxes. The $752,700 collected natural gas production ranked the parish third in that group for the month.

The state received $29.2 million in severance taxes during May, marking a decline from the $31.6 million of April May collections during 1996 also were higher, listed at $33.7 million in that report from the department.

As usual, Plaquemines Parish far outpaced the others in overall receipts, showing $5.58 million for May. Its nearest competitors were Terrebonne with $2.7 million and Vermilion with $2.3 million. Lafourche's $1.9 million ranked it fourth, followed by Cameron with $1.6 million and St. Mary with $1.3 million.

Parish 4-Hers take part in fashion revue

From June 17-19, two Cameron Parish 4-H members were responsible for 4-H clothing to be constructed and exhibited at the state short course fashion revue contest. They were senior 4-Hers Mandy Lee Broussard and Megan Vaughan.

A first time participant, Megan constructed a dress made of cotton polyester, using a McCall pattern. She modeled her dress in the casual category for the fashion revue.

She modeled her outfit in the creative choice category at the fashion revue contest. The creative choice category also requires a complete record book. This category is not judged on construction only. Mandy was scored in the top blue ribbon group and she also received two certificates of recognition for Most Fashionable in creative choice voted on by her peers. She also will be serving on the Louisiana State 4-H Fashion Board for her second year.

Parish has 2nd lowest jobless rate in the state

Cameron Parish had the second lowest unemployment rate in the state in July, according to the La. Dept. of Labor. The rate was 4.3 percent, slightly lower than the 4.6 June rate.

Only Lincoln Parish (Ruston) had a lower jobless rate--3.9 percent. For some unexplained reason, Lincoln parish, the home of La. Tech and Grambling Universities, always has the lowest jobless rate.

The report showed that Cameron Parish had 160 persons out of work in July as compared to 170 in June and 180 in July a year ago.

A total of 3580 persons were listed as employed in the parish for July, a slight drop from the 3590 in June and the 3720 a year ago.

Cameron's jobless rate of 4.3 percent for July was much lower than for Louisiana's 6.3 percent and slightly lower than the nation's 4.8 percent.

Cameron parish traditionally has had one of the lowest unemployment rates in the state for years. Several years ago the rate started climbing as the oil and gas bust was felt here. But in the past year the oil and gas work has picked up considerably here and the jobless rate has declined.

Ju[illegible]offered dredge

By GENEV[illegible]

Lake Char[illegible]or Willie Wiseman and Port Board members James Watts and John Polanski appeared before the Cameron Parish Police Jury at their monthly agenda meeting Tuesday to offer help in the Jury's ongoing problem with erosion at Dugas Landing in Hackberry.

Various ways to try to address the problem were discussed with the port offering to buy the jury a dredge to be maintained by the jury.

The problem is the silting up of lanes leading off from the Calcasieu Ship Channel, partially caused by the failure of stone breakwaters installed by the U. S. Corps of Engineers, to work.

It seems that the heavy wake of speeding boat traffic, which is exceedingly fast, is caving in the banks of the Calcasieu River, and even the signs posted all along the banks warning the boats to slow down have been eroded into the channel.

This silting and erosion has gone back up into the various lanes off from the landing causing the navigation problems.

James Watts, who represents Cameron Parish on the dock board, suggested that the Police Jury look at other areas in the parish where the dredge might be used when the jurors expressed concern over the cost of hiring extra employees to run it, maintenance, and higher insurance costs.

Brent Nunez, jury president, told the dock board delegation that the jury would get with the jury's insurance people, and would try to identify other areas in which the dredge could be used, if any, and would get back with the board.

Susan Dupont, from the Cameron Parish Health Unit, asked the jury to install some permanent landscaping at the Health Unit to replace the weeds in the flower beds, and to appoint someone to see that it is maintained. George LeBoeuf volunteered to work on it.

Items of discussion to be put on the agenda for the September meeting were: insurance renewals, sick leave policy, raises for Justices of the Peace and Constables, and a Civil Defense request for installing a street light in Hackberry at Dugas Road and HIghway 27 to be paid for by the Civil Defense.

Cameron State Bank gets education award

Nine Louisiana business organizations recently received the prestigious Distinguished Partners in Education Award at a dinner hosted by Cajun Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. The dinner was held at White Oak Plantation with State Superintendent Cecil J. Picard and members of the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education on hand to present the award to executive officers from the following companies:

Cameron State Bank, Lake Charles; CDI Engineering Group, Baton Rouge; Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Minden, Inc., Minden; Edison Chouest Offshore, L.L.C., Galliano; Gilbert Cheramie Boats, Inc., Golden Meadow; L & M BoTruc Rental, Inc., Golden Meadow; Louisiana Hydroelectric Limited Partnership, Vidalia; Recycled Computers for Kids, Inc., Baton Rouge; Vulcan Chemicals, Geismar.

The award is in its seventh year and Superintendent Picard says, "We are all responsible for education in Louisiana, and business plays a crucial role. These outstanding businesses have accepted that responsibility by providing innovative programs, equipment, financial assistance, and scholarship programs; teaching classes; assisting teachers with curricula; and utilizing their expertise to solve school problems. It is my hope that the efforts of these businesses will encourage other businesses to get involved in our schools."

Cameron State Bank through its partnership with Fairview Elementary School in Lake Charles established the first elementary housed chartered bank in Louisiana. Only the third of its kind in the nation, La Petite Banque, helped students develop a sense of financial responsibility. Fairview students ran the bank's operation with the assistance of employees from Cameron State Bank. The employees also spent time in the early elementary classroom reading to students and assisting with the Accelerated Reading Program. Upon graduation, students are offered accounts at the bank to encourage them to remain responsible citizens and invest in the support of their community.

Miami asks for permit

The Miami Corp. has applied for a Coastal Use Permit for its Sawmill Canal Water Management Plan to be located 18 miles southeast of Creole, west of Little Pecan Bayou and Little Pecan Island Lake.

The project will consist of :

1. Rebuilding deteriorated levees along Little Pecan Bayou, Little Pecan Lake and along the western boundaries of the project area.

2. Removing three existing water control structures; and

3. Installing two additional structures, including a four-barrel water control structure with flapgates and variable-crest weirs across Sawmill Canal.

Another coastal use permit was requested by James Cramberg to excavate a site on School Street in Hackberry and use the material for a house pad and levee.

Channel erosion is discussed by the board

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Erosion problems along the Calcasieu River were discussed at the monthly meeting of the West Cameron Port Board held Tuesday night at the Cameron Prairie Refuge.

Edwin Kelly reported that replies had been received from Sen. John Breaux and Cong. Chris John in regard to the Commission's request for dredging of the Old River Loop, saying that they had convinced the Corps of Engineers to reconsider the feasibility of the dredging.

Gregory Ducote, with the Department of Natural Resources in Baton Rouge, stated his department is working with the Corps of Engineers in regard to the erosion problem stating the need to keep the channels in good condition to maintain an important part of the local economy.

"It's important for the Corps of Engineers to develop a long range plan to benefit the channel as well as the adjoining marsh to utilize the sediment dredged as fill for the spoil banks and to build up the marsh", he said. "We've come up with a 20 year plan for the Calcasieu with two periodic reviews at least every 5 years, and will come back to the next meeting with a plan."

He reported that sediment from the dredging has built up thousands of acres in the refuges.

One of the problems seems to be the disposal area for the sediment and funding from congress to correct it.

Ducote said his department plans to ask for aid from the Corps of Engineers to carry out this work.

Florida has secured $300 million to carry out a similar project under the coastal Zone Management Act, he stated.

He also suggested that the commission contact the 8th Coast Guard District in New Orleans and area shipping agents in regard to the speed of ship traffic in the Calcasieu River that seems to be causing erosion problems.

The board agreed to write the Congressmen to address the problem of the almost new rock banks put up at Dugas Landing which has eroded away and needs rebuilding.

Randy Miller, representing IMCAL, reported that the Cameron Port can apply for a funding grant, with a 60-40 grant from EDA.

Since Cameron Parish is a member of IMCAL, they are eligible for a 10% bonus, and eligible fro the 60-40 instead of the regular 50-50 he said.

The September board meeting will be held at the Holly Beach Fire Station on Sept. 30, at 6:30 p.m.

Mobile screening unit serves rural areas

Most services provided by hospitals these days are costly, but Lake Charles Memorial Hospital has been providing some screening services free of charge for the past several years.

This is done by the Mobile Screening Clinic, a 36-foot van, that travels the rural areas of Southwest Louisiana providing free cholesterol, blood pressure and glucose screening to residents.

The hospital recently added a telemedicine program to its mobile unit permitting patients to be examined in the van by specialists located in Lake Charles, at LSU and elsewhere.

Lake Charles Memorial is a consortium member of the Rural Health Outreach Grant Project, of which South Cameron Memorial Hospital is the lead agency. Other consortium members include the Louisiana Health Care Authority, W. O. Moss Regional Medical Center, University-Hospital--LSU Medical Center, DeQuincy Memorial Hospital, Southwest Louisiana, Louisiana Development Center and Acadia-St. Landry Hospital.

Hackberry Ramblers' CD gets great review

The Hackberry Ramblers, which got their start more than 60 years ago in Hackberry, got a glowing review for their new country record in the national newspaper, USA Today Tuesday. The story was headlined: "The Hackberry Ramblers put kick into Cajun."

The CD, entitled Deep Water, received a three star rating (out of four) in the review, which read:

"After playing swampy Louisiana dance tunes for six decades, the Ramblers have sacrificed a bit of virtuosity but none of this vitality. Octogenarians Luderin Darbone (fiddle) and Edwin Duhon (accordion) still kick out the jams in loose, festive arrangements of raw, countried Cajun music.

"The hillbilly duo, recording since 1935, beat Bob Dylan to the electric folk revolution when they powered a dance hall sound system off the battery of an idling Model-T Ford. The sextet consists of five spry old-timers and boomer Ben Sandmel, the drummer and manager who released this album on his Hot Biscuits label.

"They augment their robust fare with vocal assists from young'uns Marcia Ball on the bluesy C. C. Rider, Rodney Crowell on a two-step Proud Mary and Jimmy Dale Gilmore on Bob Wills' swinging title track."

Driving law changes are now in effect

CAPITAL NEWS

The state's higher minimum driving age during the recent legislative session won't become effective until Jan. 1, 1998, but other changes in driving laws took effect Aug. 15.

Children under the age of 12 no longer can be transported in the back of a pickup truck or in the bed of a utility trailer. Lawmakers this year voted to raise the minimum age for such rides from the previous six years old as a safety measure.

As the result of another debate on highway safety, drivers could face fines if they fail to turn on their headlights when weather makes it necessary to use their windshield wipers. However, another new law now allows motorists to drive on the shoulder of a highway in an emergency, such as getting around a traffic accident blocking normal traveling lanes.

Drivers now must be especially careful not to write a hot check to the Department of Public Safety. Unlike other recipients of checks with insufficient funds, the department will be able to immediately suspend the driver's license or anyone who pays for a license or registration with a hot check.

Several of the new laws deal with more serious driving offenses.

A third conviction for driving while intoxicated could now cost the offender his vehicle as a new law allows seizure by the state in such cases. And underage drivers face a lower threshold for drunkenness and a new charge of "underage driving under the influence." The new blood-alcohol level is .02 for those under 21. Police spokesman said it could take only one beer or one drink to cause a high enough blood-alcohol level to cause problems for those under 21.

Drivers ticketed for exceeding the speed limit by at least 25 miles per hour will be more likely to make the required court appearances, officials believe, thanks to the new law which allows police to retain the alleged speeders' driver's licenses and issue them temporary ones until they appear in court and pay their fines.

Lawmakers also adopted a "shoot the carjacker" bill which makes killing a carjacker justifiable homicide under certain circumstances. Patterned after an existing law applied to protecting one's home, the new law makes the shooting justified if the occupant of a car reasonably believes the alleged carjacker is attempting to break into or use force to enter the vehicle.

Also designed to protect motorists from becoming crime victims is the new law requiring police vehicles involved in traffic enforcement to either be marked, have bar or grill lights or be driven by a uniformed officer. Investigative units such as those involved in narcotics enforcement are not covered by the law, which is intended to protect drivers from thiefs who pretend to be officers in unmarked cars.

Sleeping sickness up

Eastern equine encephalitis infection is being reported in unvaccinated horses in Louisiana, according to Extension veterinarian Dr. Steve Nicholson of the LSU Agricultural Center.

The mosquito-transmitted virus cases "sleeping sickness" in horses, mules and other equine animals.

"It is not unusual for the disease to occur during the summer and fall in the Gulf Coast region," Nicholson said, adding, "In some years, dozens of cases are reported; so far, several cases have been reported in recent days."

Signs of illness appear about five days after an infected mosquito transfers the virus to a susceptible horse, according to Nicholson, who says birds are the source of virus for the mosquito.

"Infected horses should be kept away from other horse -- although they generally are not thought to be a significant source of virus for mosquito transfer," the Extension veterinarian advises.

The disease in horses causes weakness, apparent drowsiness, impaired vision, a drooping of the lower lip, wandering, walking in circles and photophobia (painful sensitiveness to strong light). Some affected animals also stand with the head pressed against the wall.

Death usually occurs in two to three days after signs of illness develop, Nicholson says, adding there is no specific treatment and that fewer than 10 percent of affected horses survive. For the animals that do survive, impaired mental or physical abilities may result, he says.

"The clinical signs of eastern encephalitis in horse scan mimic rabies, moldy corn poisoning, bracken fern poisoning and liver failure," Nicholson says, stressing, "Veterinary medical examination and laboratory tests can confirm the cause of illness."

To prevent the disease, horses that have not been vaccinated should receive the two doses of vaccine -- three to four weeks apart -- which are necessary for initial protection. Horses that have been vaccinated should receive a booster shot, if indicated.

Library to be open on Saturdays in Cameron

For the first time in a number of years the Cameron Parish Library will be open on Saturdays beginning Sept. 6.

The Saturday hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon. The weekday hours will remain the same--9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Librarian Chris Brown said the Saturday hours were being added as a convenience to working people and students who might not be able to get to the library during the weekday hours.

He said the Saturday opening will be tried for a year and if the Saturday opening proves popular it will become permanent.

The extra hours will not cost the library much extra since employees who work on Saturday will be given comp time off.

Brown said the parish library board has increased the spending for books and other library materials to bring the library up to state standards in this department.

The number of books on tape and videos also are being increased, he said.

REGISTERED VOTERS

A total of 3,605 Cameron voters are registered to vote in the Dec. 7 Democratic primary, Miss Wynona Welch, parish registrar of voters said this week. Nov. 6 was the last day to register to vote in the first primary.

Miss Welch said that the current total represents an increase of about 400 voters over the number registered seven years ago before Hurricane Audrey.

GEESE ARRIVE...By Truck

Some 500 ringneck geese arrived at the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge at Grand Chenier this week--not on the wing as they usually do, but this time by truck.

The geese were the first load of some 2,000 Canadian geese which are being transplanted from the Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Missouri in an effort to encourage the geese to fly further south each year instead of stopping in Missouri.

So says County Agent Hadley Fontenot, who reports that the total cash sale of Cameron Parish farm products will total nearly $4 million this year--$3,971,000 to be exact. This is nearly double the farm products sales for 1949 when they were $1,670,100. The figure for 1954 was $2,357,827.

Mr. Fontenot bases the $3,971,000 firgure for 1963 on the following estimates: Rice--13,300 acres, average yield 20 barrels for a total of 266,000 barrels at $6.50 per barrel....$1,729,000; Cattle--50,000 cows, with 40 percent producing calves, for 20,000 calves sold at $50 each....$1,000,000; poultry--30,000 hens, average 16 dozen eggs, for 480,000 dozen at 40 cents....$192,000; Hay, sheep, swine, fruit and vegetables....$50,000.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Charles LE MOYNE born 1626 in Normandy, died 1685 "the richest citizen of his time in Montreal" and one of the most outstanding leaders in Canadian history.

Of his 14 children, two were of particular importance to Louisiana: Pierre Le Moyne, Sieur d'Iberville, considered to be the founder of Louisiana; and Jean Baptiste, Sieur de Bienville, commanding general and governor of Louisiana, 1717-1726.

Of Charles Le Moyne's 12 sons, 9 were distinguished in history, 3 were killed in battle and 3 became governors of cities or provinces. The husbands of his 2 daughters were each a captain of marines and a Chevelier de Saint-Louis.

FRENCH-CANADIAN ANCESTORS

Our French-Canadian Ancestors by Thomas J. Laforest features the important LeMoyne (Le Moine) family in Chapter 1 of its Volume XX'V published this year in its planned 30-volume series.

The following 18 chapters of this Volume XXIV each give background of a pioneer French-Canadian family from the 1600s and 1700s, sometimes into the 1800s, giving origins, marriages, descendants, occupations, relationships, surname variations, etc.

OLD FAMILIES OF LOUISIANA

Old Families of Louisiana by Stanley Clisby Arthur and George Campbell Huchet de Kernion, first published in New Orleans in 1931, is a comprehensive series of genealogical records of foundation families of the state: French, Spanish, English, Scottish, Irish.

Seventy-five chapters - all featuring families settling in Louisiana before the 1803 Louisiana Purchase - each present a colonial family with many related lines.

Most of the family records date from the 1700s and through most of the 1800s, several going further back and into European history.

Detailing many illustrious careers that influenced Louisiana history and including thousands of descendants, the interesting chapters in this book give special insight to the founding families presented - how they lived and what they did during the state's formative years.

Softcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 432 pages, indexed, some sketches, from: Clearfield Co., 200 Eager St., Baltimore, MD 21202.

Rural tourism meeting to be held in Thibodaux

The seventh annual Louisiana Rural Tourism Development Conference will be held on Oct. 16-17, at the Howard Johnson Hotel in Thibodaux. Seminars and field activities are full of information on promoting sustained development in he tourism industry while preserving Louisiana's rich natural and cultural heritage.

The theme of this year's conference is nature-based tourism. Dr. Thomas Potts of Clemson University will be the conference keynote speaker. He has written two books on this topic, and is full of ideas for nature-based attractions, and discovering and sharing the natural treasures in our heritage.

Most of the first day of the conference will be spent at the U.S. National Park Service's Wetlands Acadian Cultural Center, learning ways to "interpret" Louisiana's natural resources. Throughout U.S. history, people have used plants and animals to enrich their lives. Each participant will get a better understanding of ways to use folklife interpretation to share local cultural heritage.

The second day of the conference will feature a swamp tour and technical workshop. Although all swamp tours consist of sharing relatively undisturbed or uncontaminated natural places in our state with visitors who can study, learn about, or just enjoy the local plants, animals and cultural manifestations, no two are exactly alike.

Six rural tourism success stories form throughout the state. selected from a pool of nominees submitted by people involved in rural tourism development, will be shared during the annual banquet Thursday night. The honorees include the Merryville Historical Society, M. Leroy Harvey Jr. of Jackson, Richard Seale of Natchitoches, Mayor Jim P. Petitjean of Rayne, Wildlife Gardens of Gibson, and Laura Plantation in Vacherie.

For more information, contact Bonnie Grayson, Conference Coordinator, Louisiana Sea Grant College Program, 504-388-6448.

Voter numbers are up

-CAPITAL NEWS-

The ranks of registered voters in Cameron Parish increased by several dozen during the first six months of this year, but the prevailing Democratic Party is losing registrants.

Figures released by the State Department of Elections and Registration indicate that the 6,634 registered voters in the parish as of July 3, total 39 more than were on record for the period ending Jan. 3. While voters numbered 6,285 in the parish, 330 registrants were black, and 19 were classified as "other" races.

Democrats in the parish numbered 5,135 in the latest registration report, marking a decline of six voters since the end of 1996. The Republican Party, meantime, has picked up 20 additional registrants to bring its total to 667 as of July 3. Registered voters indicating neither major party as their preference fall into the "other parties" category, which rose by 25 voters to reach 832.

Registration statewide grew by 20,592 voters between he jan. 3, and July 3, reports. The latest numbers show more than 2.59 million registrants. Of those, nearly 1.8 million were white, 752,639 were black and 61,024 were listed as "other" races.

The current report lists 1,632 fewer Democrats than the Jan. 3, figures, leaving their total at 1.6 million. The 550,720 republicans reflected growth of 5,397 in that party. Voters listed in the "other parties" category increased in number by 16,527 statewide to reach 377,341 in the latest figures.

LOSTON HAS ACCIDENT

I missed the last weekend of Miami Corporation Permit fishing. A little accident with a high pressure washer, surgery and four days in the hospital put a stop to my fishing for a while. I'm hoping my left hand will heal in time for teal season as I know I'll probably miss the first split of dove season also.

Many anglers fished the last weekend and fairly good bass were caught. I didn't get a chance to get much on fishing news.

LAWSUIT

There is a lawsuit against Bass Inc. and Ray Scott, who are accused of illegally profiting from millions of dollars in members payments. When the Bass Society was formed in the 1960's, members believed they were joining a conservation-oriented effort, but the suit claims that in 1969, Bass was turned into a profit making corporation. I'm sure we'll hear more about this in the future. Scott sold the corporation in 1986.

TOURNAMENT WINNER

The winner in the adult division of the 11th GCCA annual speckle trout tournament was Al Mouton with a 6-7 speckle trout. In the children's division, Mandy Johnson won with a 6-1 speckle trout.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB

The annual steak supper for the Lemesche Bass Club was held and winners for the 1997 bass year were announced.

Carl Broussard was angler of the year; 2nd, Darren Richard; 3rd, Todd Morales; 4th, Rudy Canik; 5th, Scooter Trosclair; 6th, Loston McEvers; 7th, Goose Richard; 8th, Scott Canik; 9th, Tom Hess and 10th, Jerry Canik. Other places in order were: Chad Portie, Todd Conner, Bryon Richard, Mike Johnson, Brady Richard, Jeff Wainwright, Ladd Wainwright, Allen Wainwright and Bryan David.

The largest stringer of the year went to Darren Richard and Scott Canik, ten fish, 29-7.

The largest shoepick of the year went to Ricky Canik, with a 7-8 pounder.

I would like to tell my good friend from Cameron, Mr. J. C. Boudreaux, that he is no longer King of the Shopeickers, he lost that title to Mr. Ricky Canik of Grand Chenier.

As you can see the prize you get for King Shopicker is Mr. in front of your name. J. C. has held that title for the past 20 years, but no more Mr. J. C.

This year's stamp, painted by Minnesota artist Robert Hautman, features a single Canada goose in a wetland habitat. It is considered one of the most identifiable goose species to many Americans because of its widespread distribution, honking call, and its unmistakable appearance -- a large gray bird with a black neck and head with distinctive white cheek patches.

The Federal duck stamp (formerly called the Federal migratory bird hunting and conservation stamp) is a required annual purchase for all waterfowl hunters aged 16 and older. The stamps are also keenly sought after by wildlife conservationists and stamp collectors. Duck stamps are on sale at most U.S. Post Offices, national wildlife refuges, sporting goods stores, K-Mart, and Wal-mart stores.

Tarpons win scrimmage

By JOE MUELLER

The Tarps outscored the Iowa Yellow Jackets two touchdowns to zip in a scrimmage held in Tarpon Stadium last Friday.

The team, as a whole, was enthusiastic and aggressive. The Tarps are hard at it again in preparation for the Iowa Jamboree tonight. South Cameron plays the second game which should get underway at about 7;15 p.m.

Pick up your Jamboree tickets at the school office. Not only will you save a buck, the school will get to keep all pre-sale monies.

Roundabout The Parish

Creole--The latest local folks to visit Six Flags Over Texas were the Robert V. Landry and Kenneth Isgett families who traveled to Dallas last week in two cars to take in the sights and attractions of the mammoth amusement park. Those making the trip included: Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Landry and sons, Rod, Todd, and Toby, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Isgett and daughters, Carol, Belinda, Annie, and Denise. On the way back, the group stopped over in Houston to visit the large zoo there.

Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou--Since gravel has been spread on the highway for road repairs, car owners have been busy changing car lights and counting pebble cracks in car glasses. Five lights on two cars had to be replaced after one run through the gravel. Some cars have all their window glass damaged.

Grand Lake-Sweetlake--School is just around the corner again. Parents and children are busy getting ready for the school year. Several men from this area completed seven weeks of Rescue Team Training at Cameron. They are: Alfred Dubon, Melvin Chession, James Cox and Morgan Faulk. This was sponsored by the Civil Defense program.

Bayou's History Told In Names

(By Mrs. Walter Stanley)

What is known as Johnson Bayou today, covers the territory form the Texas state line at Sabine Lake up to within a few miles of Holly Beach.

There are many names connected with this community.

Three high ridges running west from the school house and level in line south with the Fred Griffith place, are Blue Buck, Middle and Smith Ridge. All three names are in constant use when one tells of his domicile. The beauty and serenity of these populated ridges are incomparable.

The bayou at the deep end of Johnson Bayou gave the place its name. It is often referred to as Deep Bayou.

Johnson Bayou had a major part in early history. It was never officially named a port, however, at one time it could have been so titled.

A shallow bayou some 300 yards from the mouth of Deep Bayou is called Madam Johnson's Bayou. The name is not in much use today but old timers are quick to recall the difference.

Two ranges have named. Elsi Ridge was not inhabited but used as a cattle range.

The Garrison is commonly heard in talks by cattlemen. It is the clump of trees on a ridge visible directly north of the new Port Arthur road. It has been deserted by humans since the early Twentieth Century. In the late 1800's, it was the home of Subby Berwick and family. He passed it on to his son, Jim, and it went to the third generation to Percy Berwick. The family left the area for parts of Texas.

Early Roadwork Described

In 1908 we had to survey and lay out fifteen miles of public road in the community and I had to take the lead. Some of the commissioners could not write their own names so most of the work fell on my hands. I had 70 individual deeds to play with, so I made a list of all the names and numbered every one of them.

When we went to Cameron to make our final report, old Mr. Frank Shutts was there with his typewriter to type out all the deeds and records.

Some of the owners of the land where we laid out the road got mad and would not speak to me for five and six years afterward. In the end though, they saw that I was right and we became friends again. I still have one of the maps of that old road.

One day when we were buying the right-of-way we came to an owner who was skinning a dead cow. When I told him what we wanted, he faced me with the big butcher knife he had in his hand and said "No!"

He said, "I don't know; my land is seven by eight. (Probably he meant arpents or acres." (Note: an arpent is .85 of an acre.)

I asked him to show me the deed to the land, and he said that he didn't have one. So we laid out the road anyway. A few months later he put a fence on the road and the Police Jury got him up before the courts. It cost him $62 for fencing the road.

Another man too was angry about the road. When I started to build a pasture, he said that he was going to cut my fence as soon as I got it built. I sent him word that if anybody cut my fence, I would have him arrested where he did it or not. He must have been afraid that somebody might cut it, for the first time I met him he walked up with a big smile and said, "Hello, Togo. How are you?" He didn't want me to blame him if anything happened to my fence.

JUPY REAFFIRMS BAN

The Cameron Parish Police Jury rejected a request Monday from the Beverage Association of Cameron Parish to permit Sunday sales of beer in the parish.

A resolution was offered by Ward 6 Juror C. A. Riggs and seconded by Ward 4 Juror Charles Precht and adopted unanimously that the jury reaffirm its ordinance against Sunday beer sales and urge the sheriff and district attorney to continue their vigorous enforcement of the law.

The jury's ordinance was adopted in 1956 after the state supreme court ruled that beer was not affected by the state law against Sunday liquor sales.

However, Juror Horace Mhire stated that Sunday beer sales had been prohibited in the parish since about 1940 when the grand jury ordered Sunday liquor and beer sales stopped.

He said that the 30 members of the association wished to be able to "compete favorably with the recreation dollar." He said that most of the people who came to the beach on Sunday had worked hard all week and were looking for recreation and that they should be able to buy beer.

Arceneaux said that petitions circulated by the association during the past several weeks contained around 1000 names urging the jury to repeal the Sunday law.

Frank Salter, Calcasieu-Cameron District Attorney and Assistant District Attorney Jennings Jones of Cameron both made vigorous statements of opposition to the proposed modification in the ordinance pointing out numerous hazards to the public good if the change was made.

FOOD STAMP REPORT

A food stamp program, which would provide food for needy families, has passed the U. S. Senate and is now being considered by the House of Representatives, Jury President Frankie Henry told the Cameron Police Jury Monday.

The jury had written the Louisiana congressional delegation recently expressing interest in the program. Letters were received form Rep. Thompson and Senators Long and Ellender reporting on the progress of the bill.

Under the stamp program, needy families could purchase $10 worth of food stamps for $6, which then could be exchanged for groceries at any store.

Bike-A-Thon set Sept. 13

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced plans for the Hackberry "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon to be held Sept. 13 at 9:30 a.m. at the Hackberry High School. Coordinator for this year's event is Glenda Abshire who encourages all residents and businesses to support this community project.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, founded in 1962 by the late entertainer Danny Thomas, is the largest childhood cancer research center in America in terms of the number of patients treated and treatment success. Treatment was provided at no cost to the family and all findings are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world.

In the "Wheels For Life Event," participants ask sponsors to make a donation based on each mile completed. All participants turning in money will receive a certificate. Those who raise $35 or more will receive a certificate and a special St. Jude t-shirt. When $75 or more is raised, the participant receives a sports bag in addition to the certificate and t-shirt.

School system receives grant

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Judith Jones, Curriculum Supervisor for the Cameron Parish School System, announced that parish schools have received a $56,529 federal grant for the 21st Century program.

The project is to be implemented in the eighth grade at Hackberry, Grand Lake, Johnson Bayou, and South Cameron high schools.

The goal of the project is to (1) help students increase their academic skills, (2) have students explore careers, and (3) help students meet the objectives delineated in the Louisiana Content Standards in social studies and science at the eighth grade level.

A multimedia cart will be purchased for each participating school, which will contain a computer with a 20-inch or larger screen, CD ROM, and Internet modem, a scanner, mini-camera, VCR, and TV, and CD/tape player and records, and laser printer.

Teachers will develop lessons which integrate technology with the Louisiana Content Standards in science and social studies at the eighth grade level.

Miss Jones said that a parish technology committee consisting of teachers, parents, administrators, and representatives of businesses was formed during the 1997-96 school year which developed a three year plan to implement technology into the instructional program.

With the help of committees organized at each school, it was determined that the eighth grade level should be the priority level and the goals should be to help students increase their academic skills, explore careers, and to help students meet the objectives delineated in the Louisiana Content Standards in social studies and science at the eighth grade level.

A general discussion on timing of installation of structures at Shallow Prong, the situation where NGPL's 2 pipeline crossings, the location survey and field trip to area was headed up by board engineer George Bailey.

George Bailey stated that the new Link Belt machine was awarded to Quality Industries of Thibodaux. They were low bidders at $204,276.00 (the actual bid was $269,276.00 less $65,000.00 trade in on old machine). We are being allowed to keep on using the old machine on our current Shallow Prong project until new machine is delivered. A field trip to the GED area on property of Burrell Bates was taken on Wed., Aug. 20, with Mr. Bates, George Bailey and Lloyd Badon. It was found that his property is in the drainage district of Hackberry, therefore we had no jurisdiction.
