The Borealis Rex 'reigned supreme' on the Calcasieu

(AMERICAN PRESS) What can you tell me about the Borealis Rex, the old paddle-wheel steamer that once operated on the Calcasieu river?

The Borealis Rex, "the northern king," was a Mississippi River steamer that was brought to Southwest Louisiana in 1905 and reigned supreme on the Calcasieu River for the next 25 years.

T. C. McCain, A. B. McCain and J. S. Thomson, each of whom purchased a one-third interest in the new business they called the Lake Charles and Cameron Transportation Co., conducted an extensive search for just the right vessel and ended up purchasing the Borealis Rex in Morgan City for about $14,000.

At that time there were other steamboats and tugs operating on the calcasieu such as the famous Romeo, and the Hazel, the Lake Charles-to-Westlake ferry. But none were as large as the Rex, nor they could match the steamer's 13 knots (about 15 mph) top speed.

Rex was built in Still Water, Minn., in 1888. Old side-view photographs show that the Rex had two decks stretching out ahead of a large rear paddle wheel. Above the second deck near the front were mounted its two tall smokestacks, and behind them, about one-third of the way back, stood its ornate pilot house with its 8-foot steering wheel. The Rex was 22 feet wide and 121.5 feet long. Its volume of displacement was registered at 89 tons.

Week after week, year after year, the boat's schedule remained basically the same. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays it headed south from Lake Charles and arrived in Cameron in the afternoon. The next day on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays it made the return trip to Lake Charles.

On Sundays during the warm months the Rex made one-day round trip excursions to Big Lake and the Gulf of Mexico. On these trips it often carried more than 100 paying passengers, a dance band and food and refreshments for everyone.

The roughest weather the Rex ever faced was the hurricane that struck Southwest Louisiana on Aug. 6, 1918. Fortunately for the 40 passengers on board that day, the crew was able to pull ashore and get everyone off before the storm's 100 mile-per-hour winds broke the Rex's mooring lines and shoved the steamer downriver until it turned on its side and sank.

A few weeks later, with the help of divers and heavy equipment, the boat's owners hoisted their stern-wheeler from her would-be grave, thus transforming their Northern King into the Phoenix of the Calcasieu. It was repaired and put back into service in late April 1919.

Eventually, after nearly a quarter century, two economic factors came into play that spelled doom for the Rex. The first of these in the 1920s was the loss of the Cameron mail contract to a faster, gasoline-powered boat. The second coming a few years later, was the building of the highways across the marsh to Cameron.

No longer needed and too expensive to be kept up, sometime in either 1930 or 1931, the old steamer was tied up and left to rot at her berth on the lake front at the foot of Pujoe Street.

In 1993, the Southwest Louisiana Historical Association put up a plaque honoring the old paddle-wheeler at the old Rex landing site, now on the Civic Center grounds, across from the foot of Pujoe Street.

Three projects funded for Creole Nature Trail

Three Creole Nature Trail All-American Road projects were recently funded for $213,360 under the 2003 National Scenic Byways Discretionary Grant Program.

A second incremental Hurricane Audrey Museum grant was awarded for $144,800, which will fund the fabrication of the museum exhibit, including the incorporation of artifacts from the hurricane with a weather station, multi-media equipment, computers/peripherals, and display units.

Preliminary work will begin immediately on the accumulation and preservation of artifacts from Hurricane Audrey, one of the worst natural disasters to strike the United States, according to Monte Hurley, chairman of the board for the Creole Nature Trail Scenic Byway District.

"The district anticipates that the resulting exhibits will feature the mementos of many survivors; the effects of weather, climate and hurricanes on the natural resources, history and other intrinsic qualities of the Creole Nature Trail; and examples of technological advancements in forecasting a storm's landfall and intensity of wind, rain and storm surge," said Hurley.

Funds were also awarded to the Creole Nature Trail for the installation of new America's Byways Marker Signs along the 180-mile route. The National Scenic Byway signage that was installed under a prior grant will be replaced to reflect the Trail's recent All-American Road designation.

"This project will also expand the number of signs currently used along the corridor to promote the trail and direct visitors along the route," said Shelley Johnson, executive director of the Southwest Louisiana Convention & Visitors Bureau and member of the Creole Nature Trail Scenic Byway District executive committee. Our plans include installing six additional site-specific interpretive signs giving travelers information about the services and attractions available in the communities along the route."

Funds totaling $25,000 were awarded for the corridor Management Plan Implementation, which will include the production and distribution of materials to promote the byway, an update of the byway's action plan, and the creation of a non-profit "byway friends" group.

Workshop to be held here for fishermen

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council will conduct workshops on collecting information about vessel expenses and earnings in the Gulf of Mexico reef fish and coastal (mackerel) fisheries. The main goal of the workshops is to solicit the views of participants on the importance and necessity of collecting vessel and trip level information on expenses and earnings. In addition, participants will be asked for their views on the methods of collecting such information.

One of the workshops will be held at 6 p.m., Thursday, June 12 at the Cameron Parish Police Jury building in Cameron.

Vessel expenses and earnings, information is extremely important so that Council members can have a better understanding of the economic impacts of proposed management actions while they are still under consideration.

In addition, several laws such as the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act, National Environmental Policy Act, Regulatory Flexibility

Act, and Executive Order 12866 require the use of economic information in the deliberation and formulation of regulations.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

It is with the deepest sincerity, on top of genuine humiliation and with a heart full of remorse that I write to you all today. I am not writing to you today to make excuses for what I have done. My actions of embezzlement, the dishonesty and disloyalty I have done to these wonderful communities, especially my board members, my Supervisor and his family and the past and present Police Jury Men, I offer my deepest and genuine apology.

This past year has been very painful, but it has taught me the meaning of true humiliation, a concept I never would have had to experience. I am writing this letter because I want the communities and customers to know that I have made my amends to the Cameron Parish Waterworks District #11 in the form of complete restitution and have gracefully accepted the consequences that were imposed on me through the court system.

It is strange, but a very true phenomenon, of just what and where alcohol can take even a good person. It took me to incomprehensible demoralization, the gates of insanity and even death.

I am willing to go to any length to make individual amends to each and everyone in the communities and to ask for your forgiveness. However, I will carry the guilt and shame with me for the rest of my life.

I would also like to thank our friends who have been there for us in this the most humiliating and difficult time of our lives. Without your friendship and the encouragement, understanding, and support, I would have not had the courage to press on. The compassion you all showed touched me very deeply and for that I will be forever grateful.

In closing, please know that these words come straight from my heart and are written with genuine sincerity and great remorse. The impact that this event has made in my life is drastic. It is a change in my life that is totally dedicated to God and to the Society known as Alcoholics Anonymous by reaching out and carrying the message of sobriety to those who suffer and are maybe afraid to take that first step on the journey of recovery. There is one prayer I would like to close with. It is the Serenity Prayer and can be applied to any obstacle in one's life.

"God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference. Thy will, not mine, be done."

Sincerely and Respectfully
Yours,
/s/ Lori W. Nunez

LEGAL NOTICE

This class action notice about crawfish and ICON-treated rice seed may affect your rights.

You may be affected by a class action lawsuit to decide if rice seed treated with the pesticide ICON damaged crawfish farmed in Louisiana. The case is in the 27th Judicial District Court of Louisiana, St. Landry Parish, known as West, et al. v. G&H Seed Co. and Rhone-Poulenc AG Co., Inc., et al., No. 99-C-4984-A.

The Court decided this lawsuit should be a class action on behalf of a "Class," or group of people, that could include you. This notice is a summary of your rights and options. More information is in a detailed notice available online or by calling the toll free number below. If you're included, you have to decide whether to stay in the Class and be bound by the results of a trial, or exclude yourself and keep your right to pursue your own lawsuit. At this time, there is no money available to Class members, and no guarantee that there will be.

WHO IS INCLUDED?

The detailed notice explains exactly who is included. Generally, Class members include people and legal entities in Louisiana who, since January 1999, claim their crawfish crops were damaged by exposure to ICON, and who either: 1) bought ICON-treated seed for rice farming; 2) farmed crawfish, including those who did not buy rice seed themselves; or 3) participated in a crawfish farming sharecropping arrangement. Note that you may be included if you claim that water from a rice field—"tailwater"—caused you crawfish losses downstream. Also, you didn't have to personally farm crawfish to be included.

WHAT IS THIS CASE ABOUT?

The plaintiffs in the lawsuit claim defendant Aventis CropSciences USA (formerly Rhone-Poulenc AG) brought ICON to market to combat the rice water weevil, without testing the effect on crawfish. They claim ICON is toxic to crawfish and caused crawfish industry losses. Plaintiffs claim the seed distributor defendants (G&H Seed, Nolan Guillot, Mamou Rice, and Crowley Grain) manufactured and sold ICON-treated rice seed, and didn't warn of its danger to crawfish. The plaintiffs ask for money or benefits for the Class from Aventis and seed distributors.

The defendants deny ICON caused crawfish declines, say it's safe when used according to the label, and contend the drought that started in 1999 is the reason for the losses. The seed distributors deny they did anything wrong, contend they didn't manufacture anything, and say they just followed Aventis' requirements. The Court has not decided who is right. The Plaintiffs will have to prove their claims at a trial scheduled to start in March of 2004.

WHO REPRESENTS YOU?

The Court named lawyers to represent you as "Class Counsel." You will not be charged for them and you do not have to pay any money to participate. Instead, if they get money or benefits for the Class, they may apply to the Court for payment of their reasonable fees and costs, which would be paid by the defendants, or out of any funds recovered before distribution of the net proceeds to the Class. You don't need to hire your own lawyer, but if you do, you will have to pay that lawyer. Eight Class members have been appointed by the Court to be Class Representatives. More information about the lawyers and the Class Representatives is in the detailed notice.

WHAT ARE YOUR OPTIONS?

You can choose whether to stay in the Class or exclude yourself, and you must decide this now. If you stay in the Class, you will be bound by all orders and judgments of the Court, and won't be able to sue, or continue to sue, any of the defendants for the claims in this case, in any other lawsuit. If money or benefits are obtained for the Class, you will be told how to get a share, and you may have to take steps, such as submit a claim form. To stay in the Class, you do not have to do anything now.

If you don't want any money or benefits from this lawsuit, but you want to keep rights to file your own lawsuit against any of the defendants for the claims in this case, now or in the future, you must exclude yourself from the Class. The detailed notice explains how to exclude yourself. The deadline for Exclusion Forms is August 1, 2003.

HOW CAN I GET MORE INFORMATION?

To get a detailed notice, call 1-866-942-3634 or write to Patrick C. Morrow, Attn: Crawfish Case, Morrow & Morrow, P.O. Drawer 1787, Opelousas, LA 70571. Or you can visit the website below to view and print the detailed notice, an Exclusion Form, and other documents about this case and your rights.

'Rules of the road' set

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission accepted a notice of intent that would create a set of "rules of the road" for vessels on Louisiana state waters. The proposal was presented by Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Enforcement Division Lieutenant Colonel Charlie Clark at the commission's May 1 meeting.

In order to better enforce safe boating practices on state waters, a set of 20 rules were suggested. The rules follow current U.S. Coast Guard regulations for federal waters. Adopting the rules will allow enforcement agents to prove criminal intent in the event of an accident and allow agents to file criminal charges for negligence. It is hoped that this provides a deterrent

Local girl graduates from Challenge Camp

Rachel Cross of Creole is a recent graduate of the Camp Beauregard Youth Challenge program.

The Youth Challenge program is a 17-month program which offers at-risk adolescents an opportunity to change their future in many ways, culminating with the opportunity to obtain a high school equivalence diploma. The initial program consists of a five-month residential phase during which cadets learn self-discipline, leadership and responsibility. Participants live and work in a controlled military environment, which encourages teamwork and personal growth.

A second 12-month post-to reckless boat usage and reminds boaters to be safe at all times.

A complete listing of the suggested rules is available on the LDWF website, at www.wlf.state.la.us. A 120-day period of public comment will be in effect before the notice of intent is ratified. Any questions, suggestions or comments may be directed to Lt. Col. Charlie Clark, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Law Enforcement Division, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, LA 70898-9000, before July 3, 2003.

The YCP curriculum combines classroom work, community service, physical training and challenging individual and team activities into one unique experience revolving around the program's eight core components - life-coping skills, educational excellence, skills and training, responsible citizenship, leadership/fellowship, health, hygiene and sex education, physical fitness and community-involvement projects - to encourage personal growth and development.
