Mosquito election set Jan. 18

—CAPITAL NEWS—

Mosquito Abatement District No. 1 of Cameron Parish now can officially place a tax renewal proposition before voters during the Jan. 18, election.

The Cameron Parish Police Jury sought and received approval of the election from the State Bond Commission last week, the final step which must be taken before local items are placed on the ballot.

The district will be asking voters to authorize renewal of a 5-mill tax for purchasing, maintaining and operating machinery and equipment for eradication and control of mosquitos. The millage would be levied for ten years, if voters approve it, and the millage would be placed on the 1992 tax rolls.

According to the summary prepared for the commission by its analyst Steve Dicharry, the millage is expected to bring in about $593,780 annually, which would provide 100 percent of the district's budget.

All local governmental units must get authorization from the State Bond Commission to place issues on the ballot, and the mosquito abatement district's request was approved unanimously at the commission's meeting last week.

Absentee vote begins Jan. 6

Coast Guard offers free dockside exam

The U. S. Coast Guard Marine Safety Office, Port Arthur, Tex., is implementing a free commercial fishing vessel safety dockside courtesy examination program to reduce fishing vessel losses and fatalities.

The examination is targeted to all commercial fishing vessels which operate offshore. It is strictly voluntary and will be done at the dock upon the invitation of the fishing vessel owner.

The purpose of the voluntary dockside safety examination is to verify compliance with the safety equipment provisions in Title 46 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 28. No violations will come as a result of these dockside examinations. The examining U. S. Coast Guard officers will recommend to the vessel owner what must be done to bring the vessel into compliance.

The scope of initial exams will concentrate on ensuring these vessels have critical safety items: personal flotation devices (PFD), emergency position indicating radio beacon (EPIRB), distress signals (signal flares) and fire fighting equipment. Nevertheless, all the requirements of the new law and regulations must eventually be satisfied.

A commercial fishing vessel successfully meeting the requirements of the Fishing Vessel Safety Act passed by the U. S. Congress will be issued a decal. It will be placed in a location where it may be seen by other vessels and Coast Guard boarding parties.

Vessels which are boarded for law enforcement purposes, while underway, can expedite the safety aspects of the boarding process by displaying an examinaiton decal. Displaying the decal does not preclude boardings for other law enforcement reasons.

Fur Festival is next week

The 36th Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will be held Jan. 9-11, at the Multi-Purpose Building and grounds behind the Cameron Courthouse.

This event is considered the coldest festival in Louisiana. It honors the fur industry and features contests representing outdoor sports related to fur and wildlife including: trap shooting, nutria and muskrat skinning contest, duck and goose calling contest, and retriever dog trials.

This year's festival will honor the rice industry. There will be carnival rides, beauty pageants, dances, children's entertainment, craft and food booths, and a parade.

Christmas trees to be picked up in Jan.

Cameron parish residents have been asked by the Cameron Parish Police Jury to again take part in the Christmas tree project which will help restore wetlands in the parish.

After Christmas parish residents are asked to place their old Christmas trees at the roadside next to their home on Jan. 7. Or they can take the trees to one of the parish solid waste collection sites before Jan. 6.

You are asked to remove all ornaments and tinsel from your trees. Flocked trees will not be picked up as they are a hazard to wildlife and fish.

In addition to the Cameron Parish jury, other participants in the Christmas tree project are the Calcasieu Parish Police Jury, B.F.I. and Waste Management and all of the cities in Calcasieu Parish.

Last year Christmas trees were placed in the Kelso Bayou area along the eastern boundary of the Sabine Refuge. This year two more projects will be started near Hackberry.

Illegal oystering stopped

(Abbeville Meridional, Dec. 30; 1911)

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well, we are having rain, rain and more rain. All farm work is at a standstill and the lake is coming up pretty fast.

Dormiel Garrie is grinding cane and will have quite a lot of fine syrup.

The mermentau is on a rampage and Lakeside is pretty wet these days. Large pieces of the bank have caved into the lake. The lake road has gone in several places and only the bank road can now be used.

The high water has about finished the trapping for a time. Ducks are scarce too and the hunters are not accumulating wealth very fast.

The wind Tuesday night demolished the boat house and wharf of Pomeroy Bros. sinking their gasoline boat and also several others on the lake, but no casualties are reported. A chimney was blown from Mr. Diehl's home.

SOUTH CAMERON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

(By Geneva Griffith)

The South Cameron Athletic Association met recently at South Cameron High school.

U. W. Dickerson reported that Mudd Supply had donated $100 to the funds of the Athletic Association. He also stated that for the present the transortation problem has been solved. Mr. Gaspard, driver of the Little Chenier school bus has agreed to transport the teams to the games.

Those attending the meeting were Fredman Theriot, Odia J. Duhon, Gilford Miller, J. H. Boudreaux, Wynona Welch, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Welch, Mrs. U. W. Dickerson, Lee Conner, Harold Carter, G. B. Kirnegay, H. D. Primeaux, Don Broussard, Sammy Moore, D. Y. Doland and Mrs. D. W. Griffith.

DONATIONS TO ASSOCIATION

Checks totaling $850 were received during the Christmas holidays, by the South Cameron Athletic Association. This was in response to a drive for money to replace football, basketball and track equipment lost during Hurricane Audrey.

A previous drive of local businesses and individuals yielded about $1400. In the words of association president, Joe O'Donnell, "these last donations will get us out of the 'red' and we will begin 1959 in fine financial shape."

FIRE DEPT. OFFICERS

The Cameron Fire Department held its annual election for officers Monday at a regular fire meeting.

ILLEGALLY TAKEN OYSTERS

A fleet of oyster boats were caught illegally taking oysters from Calcasieu Lake Monday and were forced to dump them back over-board. However, no charges were filed.

Upon receiving a report that the boats were dredging oysters from the lake without a health department permit, State Game Agent "Foots" Rutherford and State Trooper C. E. Jones went by boat out into the lake and told the oyster fisherman to bring their boats into Cameron and tie up.

Since the fleet did not have a permit to remove the oysters, the fishermen were told to take the oysters back out into the lake and to dump them. Deputy Sheriff Durphy Vincent went along with the boats Tuesday to see that the order was carried out.

There were nine boats in the

Fishing maps are planned

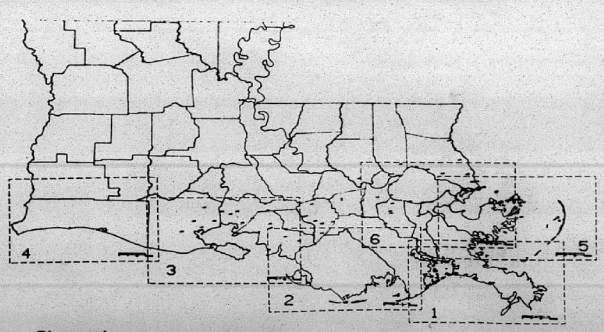
Nothing is more useful to fishermen than good maps. The Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is in the process of putting Louisiana at their fingertips.

A series of six comprehensive marine recreational fishing maps is being planned for Louisiana's coastal and offshore waters. The project is part of a joint venture between the LDWF and the U.S. Department of Interior's Minerals Management Service.

The first map, which is expected to be distributed around May of 1992, will include the area from Venice to Fourchon and out 40 miles. Each of the six charts in the series will contain marine features such as offshore (federal) and inshore (state) oil and gas platforms, wrecks, artificial reefs constructed by the state and other coastal features.



They will also include coastal communities and towns, public and private boat launches with launch fees, availability of ancillary services (fuel, food, ice, etc.) and major access routes to fishing areas.

The 35" x 45" charts will be available either folded or rolled. They will also contain information on fish identification and how to attain current information on state and federal fishing regulations as well as other information to ensure anglers safe and successful fishing trips.

Owners and operators of marinas and launch facilities who wish to be included on the maps should provide all available information about their facilities to the LDWF's Information and Education Division, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70890-9000. The material should be furnished as soon as possible and no later than Jan. 31, 1992.

Funding for the project was provided by the Minerals Management Service and LDWF's Artificial Reef Trust Fund. The trust fund was generated by savings oil and gas companies realized by their participation in Louisiana's Artificial Reef Program. In addition to their obsolete petroleum platforms, the operators are required to donate 50 percent of their savings realized over the traditional onshore abandonment.

These maps will be sold for a nominal fee and the proceeds will be used to fund the preparation and printing of the five subsequent maps.

Planned map coverage areas

Yes, Holly Beach will live again, and will go on to even greater things than in the past.

The community seems to have been rebuilt almost overnight. We have seen weeks when as many as a dozen buildings were under construction at one time.

People still like the Beach! They still like the water, the summer breeze and the abundance of seafood and wildlife. For which we are grateful. This is our livelihood.

Our area will look back on 1958 as one of the most significant years in its history--not only for the vigorous comeback made following disastrous Audrey, but for the progress that has been made "above and beyond."

Johnson Bayou saw the start of the new Magnolia plant, the new school, the many activities at the Mecom dock, the causeway opening and the plans for the new Baptist, Church.

We on Holly Beach had a most gratifying year. We saw the building of our beautiful Catholic church and the springing up of a community from its storm ruins.

Yes, 1958 was a good year for our area. May 1959 be as equally encouraging.

1958 YEAR OF REBIRTH
(By Mrs. Walter Stanley)

January 1, 1958 dawned upon all of us bleak and desolate. The panorama around us was bare except for the rusting, mutilated heaps that once had been household goods. Everyone wondered the same thing: would Holly Beach ever again become the thriving tourist community that it once was or would it die in silence?

Would any of us ever dare hope to regain even partially what we had lost? Would our children ever be aware of the dreams we had nourished for years? Could we survive seemingly unsurmountable debts?

Janaury 1, 1959 brings with it the answer to these questions.

Christmas Customs

Our Christmas customs and traditions are a composite of those of many nations. Some of them are directly related to the birth of Jesus Christ and to religious interpretations and observances. Others go back in history far beyond the coming of the Saviour. Scholars themselves are not always in accordance as to how these customs originated.

Since the Bible does not record the date of Christ's birth, it became necessary to designate a certain date and month in order to designate it. January 6 was celebrated as the day of the Nativity for many decades. In fact, the birthday of the Saviour was not celebrated as we know it for hundreds of years after His life on earth.

Even the exact year in which December 25 was designated as His birthday was not well defined. We have on hand several sources that give conflicting dates. Our records show the year as A.D. 320; another A.D. 354; two give A.D. 375.

They all agree, however, as to why December 25 was chosen. In the Julian calendar of the Romans, December 25 marked the date as the birth of the sun. On that day the rays of the life-giving sun become longer and stronger insuring light and heat for growth for crops and grass upon which man and beast might thrive.

The Sun Festival, the greatest of all pagan holidays was celebrated on December 25. It was followed by twelve days of merry-making devoted to the expulsion of evil. The population went about with torches, bells, and noise makers to ferret out and frighten away all evil spirits, including witches and demons.

The early Christian leaders of the fourth century in order to minimize the importance of pagan festivals turned the occasion into a Holy Day. Since that time almost all of the Christian world has observed Christ's birthday on December 25. Greek Orthodox churches, which still follow the old Julian calendar, observe Holy Night on January 6 and Christmas Day January 7. Armenian churches celebrate both Christmas and Epiphany on January 19. In Ethiopia Christmas is celebrated once each month and twice in April. Ethiopians insist that since Christ possessed so many virtues he must have been born many times.

The word "Christmas", according to the Rev. Cyril Martindale, a Roman Catholic historian, is derived form the old English "Christes Maesse" (the mass of Christ) and was first called by that named in 1038. The Dutch word is "Kerst-misse." "Dies Natalis" is Latin for Jesus' birth. It is the root of the French "Noel" and the Italian "Il Natale."

SEASON REOPENS

Our first weekend of the last split of duck hunting has opened. Fairly good hunts reported. The ducks had time to rest up and not be as spooky of the blinds. After a couple of days things could get a little slow again.
Goose hunting in our area is good, but slower south of the Intracoastal Canal.
A reminder - duck hunting is over Jan. 5, dove hunting Jan. 3, and deer hunting Jan. 1, in our area.
Talking about geese, we have lots of young geese down and of course easier to decoy from lack of experience like the older, smarter birds.
The wintering range is primarily the coastal marshes of Southwest La., and Eastern Texas. However, in the last few years, geese have moved more to the west of us. Now, more than 2 million ducks and geese, the heaviest concentration in the central flyway, winter about 100 miles of the Houston, Tex. metropolitan airport.
They claim that this is the best goose hunting left in America. It's truly a sportsman's paradise here in Southwest Louisiana and East Texas for good hunters.
The harvest of geese in La. is around 100,000 birds killed. Cameron, Vermilion, Calcasieu, Jefferson Davis and Acadia parishes are the prime parishes here in Southwest Louisiana. In northern Louisiana, Morehouse Parish has good goose hunting also. I do know that the state of Arkansas has more and more grain planted and keeps lots of birds from coming to our tate, stopping them short.

DUCK POISON

Many of our ducks a few years ago died from the silent killer. Open pits that looked like fresh ponds were actually pits with caustic soda and other oil filled byproducts, that killed many thousand birds. Not only ducks have died and are still dying from the poisoned pits, but many insects, hawks, rabbits, sparrows, nutria, coons, deer, dogs and even cattle have fallen prey to these silent killer poison pits.
Ducks, especially mallards and teals find these pits attractive. I wonder if all the pits across the country haven't help deplete our duck population. In 1979 alone the feds estimated over 1.5 million birds per year were dying in American's open oil pits.
It's not only the open oil pits that kill ducks and others, but the cyanide ponds used by the gold mining industry do the same.
Louisiana produces large amounts of oil and has many open pits, but lack of federal funds, has kept offices to a standstill from checking out these pits.
It's said that caustic pits kill more ducks than illegal hunting.
I realize that the drought and lack of nesting land has taken a toll on our duck population, but we can't ignore these poison open pits. Many of these pits are now being backfilled, but there are still many that haven't.

POACHING

Poachers are killing endangered birds and animals more and more and bagging more than their game limits.
Deer, eagle, bear, quail and migratory game birds are the most sought after birds and animals from poachers.
It's no longer a matter of killing to survive to have food or a few extra dollars, it's an industry today.
The poachers sell and make millions of dollars. How? Bird feathers, bones for beads and jewelry and yes, the meat.
Some of the poachers have foreign trade, by selling to wealthy foreign buyers.
It's tough for our game agents to be in every place at the right time, and besides, money is not there for the agents to cover all the ground they could.
It is said that game wardens are assaulted more often than other enforcement groups.
Our U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service have laws set by our Congress to protect our game, but someone forgot to put enough money for them to carry out these laws.
Here in our state, it is said, killing over the limits of ducks is four times the number of ducks killed. Just ten years ago, we had 90 million ducks in the U.S.A., and now we have less than 60 million.
Deer are another big dollar for poachers. In some cases, deer are killed in large numbers and sold for up to $100 each.
Well, another year has passed and I've enjoyed bringing you the news, not only local, but state and country-wise.
Have a Happy New Year.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

In c1719, the year following the founding of New Orleans and just above what would become that major city, the first village of Louisiana's German Coast was founded by 21 German families; in 1721 the second German village was founded.
Historians differ on the figures, but within these two years an estimated 900 German emigrants disembarked some 10 ships to French colonial Louisiana, populating the Cote des Allemands (German Coast) in what became St. Charles and St. John the Baptist parishes.
As time passed, Germans married with French and later, Acadian families, so that in 270 years the majority of our state's earliest families have shared a Louisiana French-German heritage.

GERMAN COAST

The Settlement of the German Coast of Louisiana and The Creoles of German Descent by J. Hanno Deiler is a book of great importance, now in its 4th reprint with a new preface, chronology and index by Jack Belsom.
Originally published in 1909 by Deiler, Bavarian born Professor of German at Tulane University, this small volume gives the background for and history of German Coast settlement with many German names and their later French variants.
Scheckschneider (Cheznaidre), Schaf, Katzenberger (Casbergue), Trischl and Traeger (Tregre), Krebs, Koly, Keller, Schaf (Chauffe), Heidel (Haydel), Rommel (Rome), Hofmann (Ocman), Schantz (Chance), Huber (Oubre, Ouvre, Hoover), Dubs (Toups), Friedrich (D'Arensbourg), Manz (Montz), Bischof, Raeser, Deucher, Bierzel, Mayeur, Lambert, Troxler (Trosclair), Bock, Betz, Matern, Ritter, Vogel, Funck, Horn, Monthe, Marx, Grabert, Weller, Reynard (Reinhard?), Hencke, Foltz (Folse), Wagensbach (Waguespack), Lesch (Leche, Laiche), Weber (Webre), Zehringer (Zeringue), Wilsz (Wiltz), Wichner (Vicner, Vicnair, Vickner), Richner (Rixner), and many other families are listed from arrival records, censuses from 1724 and other sources.
More genealogy is given for the families of Zweig (Labranche), Kleinpeter and Gravy than any others but there are numerous stories and assorted facts for a great many of the additional families and allied lines.
This again-in-print reference is one that no South Louisiana family researcher should miss. Hardcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 154 pages, fully indexed, illustrated, it is available at $20.50 incl. mailing from: Clearfield Co., 200 E. Eager St., Baltimore, MD 21202.

KITE

The Kite Family History by Merle Kite Dorius traces the Kite name in English history from the 9th century including spellings of Keyt, Kyte, Keit, etc.; to Kyt in Virginia by 1624; Kites in North Carolina by the early 1700s; in Georgia early 1800s; to Alabama, Arkansas, Texas; now in many states, spelling including also Kight.
From the 17th and 18th centuries are Kite, etc. records also from Maryland, Penn., N. Jer., Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Iowa, Utah, Idaho, Calif., with thousands of names, dates, places and relationships.

REMEMBER. . . By Keith Hambrick

(Abbeville Meridional, Oct. 24, 1908)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

The little boy of Semer Benoit died on the 6th of October. He was about seven years old and was buried at Shell Beach.

The Shell Bark crop is very plentiful this year and the Lowery woods are furnishing a good many bushels of the nuts to the residents of the vicinity.

The acorn crop is also very plentiful. Hogs certainly ought to get fat this year.

Judging by the holes in the roads the road supervisor of this district has gone out of business for good.

The State Crop Pest Commission is publishing a warning to all cotton farmers to be sure and destroy by burning all green bolls immediately and thereby destroy next year's crop of boll weevils. Our farmers here claim that no boll weevil has appeared as yet in this vicinity. Some farmers from the Chenier section claim that the boll weevil is brought in from previously used sacks brought from Texas.

Considerable sickness is among the Chenier range cattle. The disease is fatal and is called charbon, but it would take a vet surgeon to surely state what the trouble is.

CAMERON TO BE ON TV

Cameorn Parish will find itself in the national limelight again next month as the parish and its struggle for survival during Hurricane Audrey are featured in an NBC program.

A 10-man crew of NBC photographers, writers and producers were in the parish last week gathering material, taking film footage and interviewing local people for the program.

The Cameron show will be one of ten programs in a series to be called "Ten for Survival." Sponsored by the U.S. Civil Defense Agency and NBC, the series will be of an educational nature designed to instruct the U.S. public what to do in the case of a major disaster.

Interviews of numerous local people were conducted by Dick McCutcheon. Chet Huntley will be master of ceremonies for the series.

R. H. Pittman, former South Cameron high principal who served as parish Civil Defense coordinator following the storm, has been assisting the NBC personnel with their interviews and photography in Cameron.

JOHNSON BAYOU ROAD

The Johnson Bayou road has been put in fairly good shape during the last few weeks of good weather, State Rep. Alvin Dyson reports. The road has been completely shelled from the Johnson Bayou school to the causeway; and the section from the school to Holly Beach has been graded and shell placed on the bad spots.

DISASTER RELIEF WORK

The work of the Cameron Parish Disaster Relief Committee is just about completed, it was decided by its members at a meeting in the courthouse Friday afternoon.

The committee was established last year to administer the more than $70,000 in cash, and gifts received by the parish from individuals and organizations all over the United States following Hurricane Audrey. Some $50,000 was distributed among needy families and a little more than $20,000 was set aside to pay for the recovery of burial vaults from the marsh, where they had been washed by the storm.

The tomb recovery and reburial has now been completed at a cost of $21,174. Of this amount, $14,850 was paid to Crain Brothers for the removal of the tombs from the marsh; and $6,324 went to O'Donnel funeral home for the reburial.

Eight members of the committee were present: Edras Nunez, Frankie Henry, Bolo Trosclair, Jennings Jones, Rev. Henry VanDyke and Mesdames D. W. Griffith, Charles Rogers and Iva Free.

STORM WRECKED AUTOS

Some 50 cars and trucks wrecked by Hurricane Audrey have been sold at public auction to the Cameron Salvage Yard according to Ray Champagne, who was in charge of the sale.

BAND PARENTS

The Band Parents Club met in the band room last week at the South Cameron High School for its regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Alonzo Harper is club president.

U. W. Dickerson reported on the results of questionnaires sent out to parents of band students. I. P. Renfro, band director reported that new pupils were enrolling in the band each week. He also reported that he is trying to secure used band instruments for pupils who feel they cannot afford to buy instruments at this time, and could not otherwise participate in the band.

Mr. Renfro also discussed plans for the homecoming game on Oct. 31, at the Grand Lake game. He said his plans were to combine the Grand Lake and Cameron bands for the performance that night. He stated that he also plans to combine the South Cameron, Cameron and Grand Lake bands to march in the Fur and Wildlife Festival to be held in February.

Mrs. D.Y. Doland told the club that she is planning a barbecue for the band members in the near future.

Other members present at the meeting were Alonzo Harper, Corral Lee Crain, Mesdames H. D. Primeaux, J. N. Theriot, A. P. Welch, D. W. Griffith and Dalton Richard.

CAMERON SCHOOLS

Cameron Parish Schools will open for the fall term Monday as usual, but there will be a marked contrast between this year's opening and the one a year ago.

September, 1957 found the parish's school system battered and partially destroyed as a result of Hurricane Audrey. Four schools had been leveled or gutted, and students were scattered all over southwest Louisiana. The remaining had to be crowded into makeshift buildings much better than before.

South Cameron High School in Oak Grove, left only a shell by Audrey, has been completely restored, and a new wing of classrooms has been added to take care of the Creole area elementary students. (The school board decided to consolidate the elementary and high school after the old grade school was destroyed in the storm.)

An ultra-modern concrete and steel building, designed to withstand future hurricanes, has been erected on the site of the old wooden Cameron elementary school. Built six feet off the ground on piers, the new school is one of the most modern in the entire state.

The Cameron Negro School, of which nothing was left following the storm, has been rebuilt and has named "Audrey Memorial School" in memory of the school's many students who lost their lives.

ASC COMMITTEE

Charles Precht of Sweetlake was elected chairman of the Cameron County Agricultural Stablization and conservation Committee at the annual convention of community ASC delegates held Wednesday in the ASC office in Cameron.

Other officers elected were Francis Klein of the Klondike community, vice chairman, and Lionel Theriot of Grand Chenier, third regular member of the committee. First and second alternates chosen were A. H. Crain of Grand Chenier and George Greathouse of Sweetlake.

KIDS SHOOT ELECTRICAL LINES

The Jeff Davis electric men have issued an urgent request for parents to keep their children from shooting electrical lines in the Johnson Bayou area with BB guns and 22 rifles.

The linemen say that many unnecessary outages have occurred on Johnson Bayou due to lines having been cut with shots. One man said sometimes they are called there twice a day.

GRAND CHENIER PARK

Someone wrote an article recently about Grand Chenier park needing cleaning up. This past week much has been done on the situation.

The reigning 1991-92 Louisiana High school Rodeo Association's state queen, Adrienne Larissa Picou of Grand Chenier, received a number of honors at the Louisiana High School Rodeo finals last summer.

In addition to being crowned as the state queen, she also earned the highest number of individual points and acquired the title of All Around Cowgirl. Highlights of her winnings included Champion Pole Bender, Fastest Pole Time, second place in Girls Cutting, and third place in Barrel Racing.

Adrienne's national titles, earned in Shawnee, Oklahoma, include Queen's Appearance Award Winner, third runner-up to the National Queen Title and second place in Girls Cutting in the nation.

The banquet is opened to the public and tickets may be secured at the Chamber office in Cameron.

Safety zone set for fishermen

In December 1989, Trunkline LNG in Lake Charles resumed importing liquefied natural gas. In the interest of public safety, the Coast Guard once again began enforcing a safety zone regulation established in 1982.

The regulation then prohibited vessels from entering this safety zone which extended 150 feet from the shore of Trunkline LNG property and 50 feet from any LNG ship moored at the facility. Civil penalties have been assessed for violators since the Coast Guard resumed enforcement in 1989.

In response to concerns expressed by many recreational fishermen, the Coast Guard has proposed changes to this regulation which would allow more use of this popular fishing spot. The final revised rule was published in the Dec. 14, 1991 Federal Register.

The new rule sets the safety zone at 50 feet from all Trunkline property including mooring dolphins, docks and shoreline. When an LNG ship is moored at the dock the safety zone extends 50 feet around the ship as well.

Knowingly and willfully entering the safety zone carried a $50,000 maximum penalty and up to five years in prison.

Oil spill cleaned up at Rutherford

(From American Press)

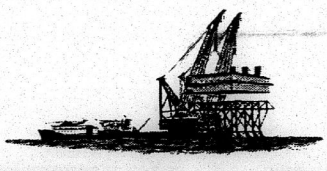
Cleanup of 86 barrels of oil that spilled Sunday from an Alliance Operating Co. storage platform off Rutherford Beach finished Tuesday, according to U. S. Coast Guard officials.

No environmental damage is expected from the light Louisiana sweet crude that went ashore in the sand at Rutherford Beach and off-shore at the mouth of the Mermentau River, said U. S. Coast Guard Lt. Dave Lersch.

The 3,600-gallon spill happened when a remote operating valve connected to a platform storage tank malfunctioned and let the tank overflow into the Gulf of Mexico, said Lersch.

The platform is the same one that leaked an undetermined amount of oil onto Rutherford Beach during June 1991, said Lersch. That spill happened when a support structures under an 86,000 gallon storage tank on the platform gave way, connections broke and a tank tipped over into the water.



This week's spill was reported about 11:30 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 5. Alliance assumed responsiblity for the spill and hired a Broussard-based oil spill clean-up company to recover the crude.

Breakwaters are inspected here

Four representatives of the Coastal Restoration Division of the Department of Natural Resources visited the Constance Beach area Tuesday to inspect the breakwater structures installed by the state last year.

They were Van Cook, Carroll Clark, Chet Fruge and David Grouchy.

Rodney Guilbeaux of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce said a study presently is being made on the effectiveness of the breakwaters with the possiblity that more structures will be added in the future.

Parish is given grant

Cameron Parish has been awarded federal funds for emergency food and shelter programs. The Cameron Community Action Agency has been chosen to receive $1,854 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the area.

A local board made up of representatives of the Police Jury, United Way and general public will determine how the funds awarded to Cameron Parish are to be distributed. The local board is responsible for the agency receiving the funds.

The local agency has distributed emergency food and shelter funds previously. The agency is responsible for providing utility assistance to 20 families in Cameron Parish.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting Dinah Nunez, 775-5145.

Don't forget mosquito vote

Don Menard, director of the Cameron Parish Mosquito Abatement District, would like to remind everyone that there are only a few days left to vote absentee for the Mosquito Control tax renewal.

Since the voting day happens to fall on the same day as the 4-H show on Jan. 18, some people will have a hard time getting away to vote.

Weekday hours to absentee vote are from 8:15 to 4:15 and 8 to 12 on Saturday.

The Mosquito Control renewal tax is a homestead exempt tax and no monies are received from outside of the parish.

Chamber meeting

The January meeting of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday, Jan. 16, at the Chamber office.

The meeting will start at 11:30 and continue through the noon hour, according to Dinah Nunez, president.

Adopt an Elderly urged by council

The Cameron Council on Aging is sponsoring their Adopt an Elderly Person Program for 1992. By adopting an elderly person you will be providing funding for a service desperately needed but not available due to lack of funding.

Elderly persons may be adopted in several ways for several different needed services:

Absentee vote

Mrs. Ruby Kelley, Registrar of Voters for Cameron Parish, announces there will be absentee voting for the Mosquito Control Abatement Renewal Tax election from Tuesday, Jan. 6, through Saturday, Jan. 11.

Voting will be in the Registrar of Voters Office, Room 106, bottom floor of the Cameron Parish Courthouse, times are 8:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday, Jan. 11.

The election is set for Jan. 18.

Financial aid visits set

Financial aid officers from McNeese State University will visit area high schools in January and February to help college-bound students apply for grants and loans to attend school in the fall. According to Financial Aid Director Mary Kay Eason, prospective students should begin the application process now to receive aid for the fall semester.

Visits in Cameron Parish are as follows:

Grand Lake, 11:30 a.m., Feb. 6; Hackberry, 8:30 a.m., Jan. 21; Johnson Bayou, 10 a.m., Jan. 21; and South Cameron, 2 p.m., Feb. 10.

MSU financial aid officers help students apply for aid through the following programs: Louisiana Opportunity Loans, Pell Grants, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, State Student Incentive Grants, Perkins Loans, College Work-Study Program, Stafford Loans, PLUS loans and Supplemental Loans for Students.

Method I: Adopt an elderly person by providing funds for them to receive a hot noon meal five days per week, 21 days per month, 12 months per year. The cost of this program will be $3.55 per day x 21 serving days per month = $74.55 monthly or $894.60 per year or $223.65 per quarter.

Method II: Adopt an elderly person by providing funds for transportation services - $3.50 in town, $5 out of town or services can be provided by the volunteer and reported to the Council on Aging.

Method III: Adopt an elderly person by providing escort services for the client or funds to pay for the services: $2.50 in town or $3.75 out of town.

Method IV: Adopt an elderly person through providing needed homemaker services or the funds to pay for the services: $5.50 per hour/unit of service.

Method V: Adopt an elderly person by providing telephone assurance service on a daily basis or pay $3.35 per hour for the service.

Youth dance set

The Cameron Parish 4-H Junior Leadership Club will hold a youth dance Saturday, Jan. 11 from 8 to 12 midnight at Multi-Purpose building behind the courthouse.

The dance will be a function of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival that will conclude that evening.

NAACP note

Because of some changes in the checking account for the Cameron Chapter of the NAACP, any local merchant presented with a NAACP check is asked to contact Louise Cole, president, at 775-5240 before cashing it.

Largest lift in the hemisphere is made

The power plant module for Freeport-McMoRan's Main Pass sulphur/oil & gas project was positioned on its platform in the Gulf of Mexico recently. The module weighed 5,450 tons and was the largest single lift ever in the Western Hemisphere.

The lift is one of the most important components in a 2½ year project to develop the world class mineral deposit located 17 miles off the coast of Louisiana. The project combines the efforts of Freeport-McMoRan Resource Partners, an affiliate of Freeport-McMoRan Inc., and its joint venturers IMC Fertilizer Inc. and Homestake Mining Co.

The module, which is 122 feet wide, 237 feet long and 65 feet high, took approximately 24 hours to lift and set in place on its platform jacket 80 feet above the waters of the Gulf. The lift of the power plant module was accomplished using two McDermott derrick barges and is the equivalent of lifting 3,600 automobiles at the same time.

The power plant module will supply the thermal and electrical power needed for the entire sulphur/oil & gas operations and facilities at Main Pass. The cogeneration capabilities of the power plant will allow it to heat 11 million gallons of water a day to 325 degrees Fahrenheit, while producing an additional 17 megawatts of electrical power. The power plant will consume approximately 24 million cubic feet of natural gas per day used in producing the superheated water and the cogenerated power needed for the project.

Prairie Refuge is described

(This is an article on Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge prepared as part of a monthly series on the three National Wildlife Refuges located in Southwest Louisiana.)

The 9,621 acre Cameron Prairie NWR was established on Dec. 29, 1988 to preserve and protect wintering waterfowl and their habitat. It is the first refuge established under the auspices of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan's Gulf Coast Joint Venture. The refuge was purchased from two willing sellers, the Hebert-Helms Co., Inc. and the Trahan Land Co., Inc. The refuge was purchased with $6.1 million from the Migratory Bird Stamp Act (Duck Stamp Fund). Cameron Prairie is the 447th refuge established within the National Wildlife Refuge System.

The refuge staff includes Refuge Manager Paul Yakupzack, Assistant Manager, Glenn Harris, Office Assistant Dewana Young, Dragline Operator Charles LeBouef and Maintenance Worker Wilton Hebert. Harris, Hebert and Young reside in the Sweetlake Area. LeBouef resides in Creole and Yakupzack resides in Lake Charles.

The public fishing program at Cameron Prairie NWR has been limited to only one canal east of the office and the Bankfishing Road West of LA Highway 27. We have requested that a fisheries biologist conduct a survey in the 1,600 acre impoundment located on the southeast corner of the refuge. The results of this fisheries survey may allow us to open this area known as Unit 8 to public fishing on March 15, 1992.

The first annual bowhunt for white-tailed deer was held on the refuge during October 1991. A total of 22 deer were harvested of which half were bucks and half were does. Five bucks with 6 points or better were taken. The largest was a 10 point that weighed in at 160 poounds (live weight). Conditions are favorable to conduct this bowhunt again in October 1992.

Waterfowl population numbers on the refuge have been quite variable this winter. Ring-necked ducks and green-winged teal are the most numerous ducks on the refuge. Gadwalls, wigeons, shovelers and blue-winged teal are also present along with mallards and a few pintails. Duck numbers have ranged from 9,500 in October, to 16,000 in November and 20,000 in December.

Snow geese have been plentiful on the refuge again this fall. White-fronted geese (speckle bellies) are also abundant. Continental populations of geese are way up compared to the extreme low contiment population of ducks. Assistant Manager Harris observed the first migratory Canada geese of the season on Dec. 9, in a field near Holmwood Mini-Refuge.

Plans are currently being made to construct an office/visitor center and maintenance facility on the west side of LA Highway 27, about 2.5 miles north of the Gibbstown Bridge (old site of the Red Barn). Once these facilities are constructed, an observation deck, nature trails, interpretive pond and a wildlife drive will be provided to improve public viewing of wildlife on the refuge.

Hunters and other individuals that use the Red Barn Road and the North Boundary Road as well as any other road on the refuge are reminded that all guns must be unloaded and encased or dismantled when traveling through the refuge. It is a violation of federal law to possess an uncased firearm on the refuge.

Cameron Prairie NWR is open to the public for wildlife observation along the entrance road from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays. Interested groups or individuals who wish to visit should contact the refuge at (318) 598-2216 or by writing Cameron Prairie NWR, Rt. 1 Box 643, Bell City, La. 70630.

DUCK HUNTING ENDS

Our duck hunting here in Southwest Louisiana again comes to a close. I guess instead of ending with a bang, it ended with a wham bam!

The last eight days of the split were real bad in some marshes. Hunters reporting of one or two ducks per blind and that's with two and three hunters shooting the blinds.

In some area marshes, like the Big Burns for the Oak Grove Hunting Club, they did good all season. In the Savant Newvelle Hunting Club, same marshes, just closer to Highway 82, they didn't do as good. Close to the Creole area, Tete Ell, Coato Plaque (French names), they had great shooting, as did the people on the lease for the school board north of the Creole Dump site.

The Grand Chenier area was I think hardest hit - in most areas it was slow. It was sort of funny, in the front of Grand Chenier where I hunt, they always had at least 2 to 3 thousand ducks, close to the highway, but further out where we had our blinds, we really had to work some days to get our limits. On our other grounds, next to Rockefeller Refuge, it was really bad.

I tell you, three ducks was a good limit, because many hunters didn't get their limits some days.

I was told in the Holly Beach - Johnson Bayou area, there were mostly spoonbill and canvasback and you couldn't shoot canvasback. One game agent said there were many cases made this year in our area on ducks.

Goose season will continue until Jan. 30, for blues, snows and speckle belly and a special season for 10 days, Jan. 31 to Feb. 9, where all you can kill is blue and snow geese.

Other seasons still open are rabbit and squrrel until Feb. 28, rail and gallinule until Jan. 20, snipe until Feb. 23, and woodcock until Jan. 31.

It seems to me it's been a quick hunting season and it's almost time to check out the old fishing boat and motor and the tackle and rod and reel.

REMINDER

Don't forget the 36th annual La. Fur and Wildlife Festival, starting Jan. 9 thru Jan. 11. There will be plenty of fun for the whole family.

AREA FISHING

Most of our anglers have been hunting, but there's still some fair red fishing all along the Gulf inlets. Some anglers have even done good bass fishing in private marshes and ponds and the roadside canals.

Talking about bass, I think this new La. Management Plan to try and produce trophy bass has turned into a political story.

First, we had a 15 daily bass limit for a year, no size, then we had a drop to 8 bass and now back up to 10 bass and a slot limit proposed. In most parts of the state including Cameron Parish, it really upset fishermen.

It seems some of our representatives, after talking to their constituents at home, decided that the plan for reduction of the creek limit, was considered to be a "for tournament fishermen only." Although eliminated, the committee action was vetoed by Gov. Buddy Roemer and put back in.

Again, last year it was tried to put it back where it was to start, it didn't make any headway. Now, don't think once that opponents of this new plan will stop, they haven't given up and it will come in again this legislative session.

One of the central La. representatives said he would keep on trying for the 15 daily creel limit of bass, back like it was. This seems to have made some state biologists steaming hot. It should get interesting and surely we'll hear more on this. In fact, contact your local representative and tell him how you feel.

OVER LIMITS

There were many tickets issued this past year along the Gulf Coast, mostly on undersized red fish and over limits of speckle trout.

Speckle trout limits, 12 inches long and 25 daily for sports fishermen is good. However, two anglers just getting caught had a few over their daily limits.

One angler had 102 speckle trout and another 117. It seems they were handing out fish to their workers and would get paid later. Both had only sport fishing licenses.

This is a Class IV violation, punishable by a fine of $400 to $450, a jail term of up to 120 days or both.

CATFISH FARMING

It seems our catfish farmers are losing money. This type of farming started out a few years ago and there was really some good money made.

What I think has happened, the market is flooded. There are way more catfish farms now than there were a few years ago.

From the middle of the 80's there has been an overpopulation. From 1987 to 1990, reports that the amount of catfish that farmers sold has increased close to 30 percent. In 1987 280 million pounds were sold and in 1990 360 million pounds were sold. Even the acres for catfish farming has increased over 80 percent. In 1987, 83,000 acres have catfish and in 1990 there were 152,000 acres of catfish farming.

There are complaints from farmers as the prices are down. In fact low enough to where the catfish farmers are selling for less than their cost to raise them. There is a surplus of catfish for the market.

We all thought that after the blackened redfish was out, blackened catfish would be the thing, but the public doesn't seem to like the blackened catfish as well as they did the blackened redfish.

Many anglers asked me to start putting the feeding periods back on my article. Well, I will start it back up the first week of February.

Until next week, enjoy the outdoors of our parish.

Coast Guard offers free dockside exam

The U. S. Coast Guard Marine Safety Office, Port Arthur, Tex., is implementing a free commercial fishing vessel safety dockside courtesy examination program to reduce fishing vessel losses and fatalities.

The examination is targeted to all commercial fishing vessels which operate offshore. It is strictly voluntary and will be done at the dock upon the invitation of the fishing vessel owner.

The purpose of the voluntary dockside safety examination is to verify compliance with the safety equipment provisions in Title 46 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 28. No violations will come as a result of these dockside examinations. The examining U. S. Coast Guard officers will recommend to the vessel owner what must be done to bring the vessel into compliance.

The scope of initial exams will concentrate on ensuring these vessels have critical safety items: personal flotation devices (PFD), emergency position indicating radio beacon (EPIRB), distress signals (signal flares) and fire fighting equipment. Nevertheless, all the requirements of the new law and regulations must eventually be satisfied.

A commercial fishing vessel successfully meeting the requirements of the Fishing Vessel Safety Act passed by the U. S. Congress will be issued a decal. It will be placed in a location where it may be seen by other vessels and Coast Guard boarding parties.

Grand Chenier News

By Elora Montie

Sunday, Jan. 5, marked the end of the last half of the split duck season. All the fishing and hunting camps were filled and many brought in mobile homes for the last weekend.

One of the reasons for the big turnout was not because the ducks were plentiful but because hunters wanted to bring in their hunting boats, pirogues, decoys, four wheelers, etc.

The duck hunt reports of the weekend were poor. Most sportsmen who bagged their limits got teals. A party of three stayed zero on the last two days of the weekend hunting. Another party of five bagged two ducks.

These hunts were mostly in the south marshes. Sportsmen claim they had no duck moss or weigon grass in their ponds due to salt water spreading around their areas.

RESOLUTION

A RESOLUTION RATIFYING AND APPROVING RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF GRAVITY DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. NINE OF CAMERON PARISH, LOUISIANA.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Police Jury of the Parish of Cameron, State of Louisiana, as follows:

SECTION I: Authority and approval of this Police Jury is hereby given in compliance with the constitution and Laws of the State of Louisiana to the Board of Commissioners of Gravity Drainage District No. Nine of Cameron Parish, Louisiana, to adopt a proposed resolution, the title of which provides as follows:

Remember?

By Keith Hambrick

(Abbeville Meridional, Jan. 10, 1914)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Ove Benoit and family have moved into our town. It seems we will be pretty well filled up by the time the new year's work starts off.

The Broussard Company are making arrangements to put the place in rice again. it has laid out for quite a few years.

JOHNSON BAYOU BLACKTOPPING

Work got underway this week on the blacktopping project for the highway between Johnson Bayou and Holly Beach.

The job calls for 7.6 miles of blacktopping along State Route 82.

DRAINAGE DISTRICT COMMISSIONERS

New commissioners for Gravity Drainage District No. 4 in the Creole area have been named by the Cameron Parish Police Jury.

They are Dalton Richard, J. P. Boudoin, Jr. and Treville Broussard. In addition, the jury has asked Gov. Earl Long to appoint Joe P. Rutherford and A. P. Welch as the remaining members.

The district was created years ago to dig the Creole canal and provide drainage in the area. All of the former commissioners terms had expired, and two had died--B. F. Rutherford and J. P. Boudoin, Sr.

NO CUSTOM HOUSE

Cameron has no need for a U. S. custom house, the Cameron Lions Club was advised in a letter from the U. S. Commissioner of Customs. The club recently initiated efforts to get better Coast Guard facilities here and also custom facilities.

The official's letter stated that since Cameron had no shipping and no smuggling that facilities were not needed, and that the area was amply served by the Port Arthur custom house.

SCHOOL BOARD NEWS

Alton Trahan of Johnson Bayou was elected vice-president of the Cameron Parish School Board at its Monday meeting. In that position he succeeds John Richard. Ray Dimas, a newly elected member of the board took his seat.

The future of the Klondike elementary school will be decided in an election among the school patrons sometime in March.

The small school, which serves the communities of Klondike and Lowery in Cameron Parish south of Lake Arthur, has been steadily losing enrollment for the last few years. At one time, students numbered between 75 and 85, but last year the enrollment dropped from 69 to 49, and at the present time there are 52 students.

In the election, parents will vote on whether they want to continue the Klondike school or to send their children to schools in Lake Arthur or Gueydan.

If the parents approved closing the school, an arrangement will be worked out with the Jeff Davis or Vermilion school boards to take the students. This arrangement, it is said, would probably save money for Cameron Parish.

NEW OYSTER STUDY MAY BE MADE

There was encouraging news on the Cameron front on oysters this week: the state health department said it might make a new study of oyster pollution here next summer if it can get the necessary funds and assistance from other state agencies.

W. C. Martinez, sanitarian with the food and drug division of the health department, conferred in Cameron Tuesday with Dr. Cecil Clark and Edison Mhire, local health unit sanitarian.

Dr. Clark told the Lions Club Wednesday that Mr. Martinez stated that oyster pollution in Calcasieu lake has been lessening every year and at last report that there was hardly any contamination in the lake at all. The health official felt that a new survey might find the situation so improved that the lake could be opened up again.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. Ducote, seconded by Mr. Douaine Conner and declared duly adopted:

PARISH OF CAMERON

WHEREAS, the Cameron Parish Police Jury does not agree with the opinion the U. S. Supreme Court issued concerning Phillips Petroleum Company vs Mississippi, which basically stated that a state's claim to the ownership of bed and bottoms of streams, rivers, lakes and/or other water bodies was not just limited to those that were navigable but also those that were subject to the ebb and flow of the tide, whether or not those waters be navigable.

WHEREAS, Louisiana Attorney General's Opinion No. 90-35 suggests that unless a statute of limitation bars the State's claim to tide lands, "every private domain owner of an opening in the marsh, large owners and small, would need to stand ready to litigate on the level of the instant case, and produce like testimony on a complicated historical subject, or forfeit their ownership to State claims which had been allowed to lie dormant for nearly a century.

WHEREAS, Cameron Parish's Geography includes vast amounts of marsh that are subject ot the ebb and flow of the tide that belong to private landowners, that could be subject to State confiscation.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Cameron Parish Police Jury that the marshes and non-navigable waterways should remain as is (belonging to private landowners) and this body does hereby request all the State Legislators support legislation to protect private property from cases like the Phillips Petroleum Company vs Mississippi.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED, this 3rd day of September, 1991.

APPROVED:
/s/ Ray Conner, President
Cameron Parish Police Jury
ATTEST:
/s/ Earnestine T. Horn, Secretary

Happy New Year!

The past week has been filled with greetings of "Happy New Year." I have wished that for my friends and acquaintances, and so have you.

How can we have a happy new year? What will 1992 mean to each of us? It is my belief that the coming year will be what God and you and I make of it. We have been created with certain abilities and amounts of intelligence. If we use these gifts and seek God's guidance, we should have a blessed if not a carefree year.

During my childhood a great-aunt used to say, "It's always the unexpected that happens, and it's nearly always bad."

My grandmother would respond, "It seems to me that we pretty much get what we expect. If we anticipate the bad, we get it. If we expect the good, it usually comes our way."

I like my grandmother's philosophy. My friends tell me that I am a born optimist. Each morning I wake wondering what nice thing will happen before the day is over. Good things invariably do happen. Oh, yes, there are disappointments and sad events that occur, too, but the wonderful things that with God's help I can handle them.

As we wish for a happy year for ourselves, let us be careful that all our desires are not self-centered. Let us think of others and of how we might brighten their year. Let us be understanding and sympathetic, cheerful and helpful. Let us be practical by doing kind deeds and saying the encouraging or comforting word at the opportune moment. And happiness will come back to us as a result.

As 1992 progresses, may we cast aside anxiety and fear and dismay. May we allow the beautiful 2,000-year-old promise permeate our thinking.

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give unto you... Let now your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

Griffith still a festival stalwart

One of the persons who will be busy this weekend helping put on the 36th Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will be Geneva Griffith, who was one of the dozen or so local leaders who first organized the first festival in 1955 and who has been active in every festival since then.

Mrs. Griffith is the only member of that original group who is still active in the festival. Some have moved away, some are deceased and others are no longer in the festival organization.

Mrs. Griffith has served as secretary of the festival, as a director and as the official publicity person and photographer for the festival.

About the only time Mrs. Griffith had to miss part of the festival was several years ago when she fell off of a stage and broke her arm while photographing festival winners.

In addition to Mrs. Griffith, others of the original festival organizers were: Whitney Stine, who served as organization chairman; Leslie Richard, Edward Swindell, Jr., Hadley Fontenot, Rep. Alvin Dyson, Ray Burleigh, Joe O'Donnell, Mrs. Iva Free, Roberta Rogers and Sam Tarleton.

WELCOME TO OUR VISITORS!

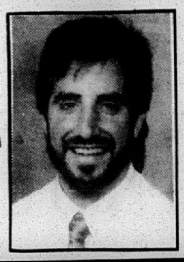
On behalf of the citizens of Cameron Parish, I wish to extend to you a big welcome to the Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival and to Cameron Parish.

We are proud of our Festival because it calls attention to the fact that Cameron Parish is the leading fur producing area in the nation and has one of the most varied and concentrated populations of waterfowl, wildlife and fisheries to be found anywhere on the North American Continent.

Take time while you are in the parish to see some of the examples of this wildlife and fisheries. Visit the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge at Grand Chenier and see waterfowl. Take a look at the shrimp boats tied up at the Cameron wharves. Take a ride down the beach road between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou and view the longest stretch of accessible beach in Louisiana. Walk the natural trail at the Sabine Refuge, visit their new visitors center and marvel at the thousands of ducks and geese than can be seen feeding in the marshes along the road.

But while you are here in our parish, we do urge you to drive safely. While our long stretches of roads may entice you to drive a little faster, we encourage you not to exceed the speed limit. The 55 m ile limit IS enforced in Cameron Parish and all Cameron Parish Sheriff units are equipped with radar units. We have strict enforcement, not to harass motorists, but to save lives--and we have been successful in these attempts.

We hope you enjoy your visit to the Festival and to our Parish and that you return home safely. And be sure to come back to Cameron Parish again--you're always welcome!!



Your Friend,
James R. Savoie,

Sheriff,
Cameron Parish

Festival cookbook is now on sale

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Each year the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival publishes a new cookbook containing many old "tried and true" recipes of the area. The 1992 book is just out and is bigger and better than ever.

The Festival, set for Jan. 9-11, is honoring the rice industry, and the new Festival King will come from that industry.

Co-editors Norma Jo Pinch and Bobbie Primeaux have done an outstanding job on the new book and have included twice as many pictures from last year's Festival as have been used in the past.

The cookbooks are on sale for $6 at all branches of Cameron State Bank in Cameron parish and in Lake Charles and Sulphur.

They can also be ordered for $7.50, which includes postage and handling, from: Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival Cookbook, c/o Norma Jo Pinch, P.O. Box 123, Cameron, La. 70631.

Safety rules adopted for the Fur Festival parade

Oscar Reyes II, chairman of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife parade which will be held Saturday, Jan. 11, at 1 p.m., asks that everyone in the parade abide by the following rules:

1. Drivers are to be at line up point no later than 1 hr. and 15 min. before parade starts.

2. No drivers shall consume any alcoholic beverage before or during the parade; drivers will not be allowed to drive if found intoxicated. Drivers found drinking during the parade will have their floats disqualified and be subject to fines by law enforcement personnel.

3. Once parade starts, floats must continue to finishing area, and must not let people off early.

4. Candy and other articles should be thrown past the white line on the street, and not give anything to any person coming up to the parade vehicles.

5. Parade watchers are asked to keep behind the white line marked on the street, and are not to approach the floats for any reason.

6. There should not be any open flames on the floats.

7. No person in the crowd will be allowed to get on any parade vehicle or floats.

Reyes and Sheriff Sono Savoie said that they want this to be a very safe parade and if everyone will cooperate, it can be.

Sheriff Savoie will have his deputies out all along the parade route to see that these rules are carried out.

Special guests to be feted at events here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Some special events have been planned for special guests of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival this coming weekend in Cameron.

On Thursday night a dinner will be held in the home of Mrs. Karen Howard honoring the delegation that will be accompanying the National Outdoor Queen from the National Outdoor Show in Cambridge, Maryland, the festival officals and the program judges for the Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish.

The Friday afternoon tea honoring the Miss Cameron Parish contestants will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wilkerson in Creole and hosted by Mrs. Barbara Wilkerson.

The Friday night buffet will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roland for the Friday night program workers, the Maryland visitors, and the Friday and Saturday night contestants.

The Saturday morning brunch will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Guthrie in Cameron, and the Saturday night buffet will be held in the Creole multipurpose building, hosted by Tressa Doxey.

Essay contest is on parish landmarks

The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival is again sponsoring an essay contest for students enrolled in Cameron Parish schools. The topic for 1992 is "Cameron parish Landmarks".

The elementary division was open to students in grades 3-7. The high school division was for students in grades 8-12.

The winner in each division will receive a $50 cash award, courtesy of Lonnie Harper & Associates of Grand Chenier, and will be eligible to compete in the Louisiana Association of Fairs and Festivals held in February.

Art exhibits should be in on Thursday

Margaret Shove, who is the superintendent of the Art Show of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, asks that those planning to enter their works in the show bring them to the Cameron Recreation Center, in back of the courthouse on Thursday afternoon between 4 and 6 p.m.

There are adult and children divisions in painting and drawing.

GENEVA GRIFFITH, long time Fur Festival volunteer, is congratulated by Festival President, Pete Picou, after he announced that this year's festival was being dedicated to her.

Tribute paid to Mrs. Griffith

The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival paid special tribute last weekend to a festival worker who has been active in every Fur Festival held since its inception 36 years ago.

At the Thursday night program, Festival President Pete Picou announced that the 1992 Festival was being dedicated to Mrs. Geneva Griffith and that she was being named as the Grand Marshal of the parade Saturday.

Picou presented Mrs. Griffith with a custom made gold pin in the shape of Cameron parish in appreciation for her years of service.

All of Mrs. Griffith's children and grandchildren, as well as a delegation of old friends from the Port Arthur area, were present for the surprise presentation.

Mrs. Griffith was one of the dozen or so civic leaders who got together in 1956 to organize a Festival to recognize the trapping, wildlife and fishing industries of Cameron Parish. Over the years she served on various festival committees, as festival secretary and vice-president and as the official press agent and photographer for the festival.

A native of Port Arthur, Texas, Mrs. Griffith came to Cameron parish some 40 years or more ago after marrying D. W. Griffith. She worked a number of years for ASCS office and for a good many years has been a secretary working under several Cameron Parish

Chamber to hold banquet on Thursday

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Citizenship Award banquet Monday night, Jan. 20, at the Johnson Bayou Multi-Purpose Facility.

A Cameron Parish Citizen will be honored for his contribution to the community and new Chamber officers will be installed.

Richard Ieyoub, newly elected Attorney General for Louisiana, will be the speaker of the banquet which will start at 6:30 p.m.

The late Charles (Buster) Rogers will be honored with the memorial award. He was a lifelong resident of Cameron Parish and was the owner of Cameron Construction Company. He was associated with the oil business in the parish from the earliest days of the oil industry, having worked as a derrick man on the first offshore oil platform in the Gulf of Mexico, a replica of which is in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C. (called "Old Creole Pier").

He helped form a barge terminal, an oilfield supply company, a tug boat company and oilfield rental equipment business and a sand, shell and limestone installation.

He was a member of many civic clubs and was a charter member of the local Masonic Lodge, a patron of the Eastern Star and a charter member of Habibi Shrine Temple.

A. Kell McInnis III, secretary of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, announced that the public tonging season in Calcasieu and Sabine Lakes previously scheduled to close March 1, 1992, has been extended to one-half hour after sunset April 1, 1992.

Eagleson, Soileau are Fur Festival royalty

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Claude Eagleson of Sweetlake was crowned King Fur XXV at the Friday night program of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival. He was crowned by Phillip Trosclair, King Fur XXIV.

Eagleson was recognized for his many years in the rice farming industry, having come from an early rice farming family in the Sweetlake area. The festival is saluting the rice industry this year.

Eagleson introduced his wife Hortense on stage saying they had been married 61 years. Sha Oui, the fur festival mascot, presented Mrs. Eagleson with a breakfast tray from the Cameron State Bank. Mr. Eagleson is also a former sheriff of Cameron Parish.

Brandi Brice Soileau, an 18-year-old beauty from the Oak Grove area, won the Miss Cameron Parish title, and was crowned by last year's queen, Renee LaLande. Soileau is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Soileau and a freshman at McNeese State University.

Ordinance on cable passed

The Cameron Parish Police Jury may have some control over cable television rates in the parish in the future as the result of an ordinance passed by the jury Monday.

District Attorney Glenn Alexander told the jury as the result of a new federal law that went into effect Jan. 1 the jury by passing an ordinance could require cable TV companies operating in the parish to obtain jury approval of any new rate increases.

He said the new federal law pertains to any jurisdiction that has less than six cable TV companies serving it. Cameron parish presently has two or three such franchises.

Juror Ray Conner asked if the new law permits the jury to also regulate cable TV service, and Alexander said that perhaps it did.

Jurors, who have frequently complained about cable rates and service, were quick to pass the proposed ordinance which will not affect a rate increase that was announced earlier.

The jurors also agreed to write the cable companies serving the parish asking them to extend service to more homes in the parish.

OFFICERS NAMED

Two new members and four old members of the Cameron Parish police jury were sworn in for four year terms Monday morning and new jury officers were elected.

Russell Badon and George Hicks were sworn in as new jurors representing the Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach and Hackberry areas respectively. The two former jurors serving these districts did not seek reelection.

Sworn in for new four year terms were four jurors who have been serving in the past--Brent Nunez, Ray Conner, Douaine Conner and George LeBouef.

All six jurors were administered their oaths of office by Clerk of Court Debbie Theriot.

Douaine Conner and George LeBouef were then unanimously elected as president and vice-president, respectively, continuing a practice begun some years ago of rotating these office among all of the jurors.

Parish Administrator Pete Picou, Jury Secretary Tina Horn and Treasurer Bonny Conner were reappointed to their positions for one year terms.

Mosquito vote Sat.

Cameron parish residents will vote Saturday, Jan. 18 on the renewal of a 5-mill tax for 10 years for the operation of the mosquito control program in the parish.

The program has been in operation here for many years and has been successful controlling the mosquitoes that are a particular problem to a parish such as Cameron due to large area of wet breeding grounds available to the mosquitoes.

Little Miss, Mr. named Thursday

One of Louisiana's oldest festivals got underway Thursday night when the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival had its first event of the weekend.

President Pete Picou opened the 36th annual festival and announced that Geneva Griffith would serve as grand marshal of the parade on Saturday.

Griffith is a charter member of the group that originally started the festival in 1956 and is the only one of the group still working on the festival.

Also, serving as special honorees and marshals were DJuana Nunez, "All-World Softball Team Pitcher", and Brandon Devall, "National Champion Team Roper."

Renee LaLande, Miss Cameron 1991, welcomed guests. She also narrated the talent show and the LIttle Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish contest.

Nicole Yvette Fenetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fenetz of Hackberry was the winner of the Little Miss title and Chad Alan Broussard, son of Mark Broussard and Lori Desonier of Cameron, won the Little Mr. title.

First runners-up were Misty Michelle Badon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Badon of Johnson Bayou, and Reuben "Wade" LaBauve, son of Charlotte LaBauve of Hackberry.

Farming report given for Cameron Parish

The Cameron Parish Police Jury and School Board Monday each heard the annual report of the LSU Cooperative Extension Service on the work with adult programs in the parish.

Gary Wicke, associate county agent, reported that he has been named parish chairman since Paul Coreil, who formerly held that position, has transferred to Baton Rouge.

He said that Coreil's position as fishery agent and the position of home agent will be filled hopefully in the near future and that the fishery agent will continue to operate out of Cameron parish although serving Calcasieu as well.

Wicke said a Calcasieu-Cameron Rice Growers Association has been formed and will work with the state association.

He said that the rice crop was late this year and there was a problem with blackbirds and disease but the yield stayed the same as last year due to new rice varities.

He said there had been 6000 acres in soybeans last year and none this year.

Cattle growers had a good year and are expecting another good year with prices coming down some but the number of cattle increasing.

Home Economist Cindy Richard, who serves both Calcasieu and Cameron parishes, said she was working with three homemaker clubs in the parish as well as a number of special interest groups.

A new parenting program for teenage mothers has been begun, she said, and classes can be offered throughout the parish.

The queen was crowned by Sonya Landry, the 1991 Fur Queen. Judges for the queen's contest were Patricia Herpin, Mille Kay Lupo and Earlene Latiolais.

A special Fur Festival guest was Alicia Foxwell, the National Outdoor Queen, from Cambridge, Md. She was presented on stage by Roach.

Earlier in the day, the contestants were feted with a brunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Guthrie in Cameron. It was hosted by Evonne Mhire, Barbara LaBlanc, Jerrie Wainwright and Charlotte LaBove.

Rain showers did not stop a parade on Cameron's main street held at 1 p.m. In the evening, a buffet was held in the Creole Recreation Center hosted by Tressa Doxey, Janee Quinn, Judy Rutherford, Caprice Aucoin, Henry Rice, Jimmy Marcantel and Jimmy Saltzman.

John Driscoll, who has worked with the skinning contest for 18 years, was presented with a windbreaker from the festival for his years of service.

ORDINANCE

Smith of Grand Chenier were named to the new Rural Conservation and Development Council; Kenneth Ducote was renamed to the Wetland Task Force; and George Hicks was named to replace Ducote on the Calcasieu Ship Channel Task Force.

IN OTHER BUSINESS the council adopted a resolution honoring the late Tommie Edith "Beau" Alexander, local justice of the peace, who died on Dec. 29, 1991.

Local fisherman Ashful Authement told the jury about a problem with the snapper fishing quota. He said the quota of 1.9 million in the Gulf had been half way reached by the second or third day of the season not leaving many fish for local fishermen to catch.

The jury agreed to contact the state representative and senator and ask them to take the matter up with the National Marine Fisheries agency.

The jury also agreed in the future when issuing seismic permits to require the seismic firms to pay for an inspection of the holes shot to make sure they were properly plugged so as not to endanger ground water.

Texan gets prison term

Troy Quentin Stein, 21, of Groves, Tex., who pleaded No Contest to two counts of vehicular homicide has been in the Cameron Parish jail since his arrest on Aug. 11, 1991, in connection with the deaths of two young people, Kim Slayton and Ricca Sebastien. They were struck down on La. 82 at Holly Beach by Stein's truck during the Cajun Riviera Festival.

Stein last week was sentenced by Judge H. Ward Fontenot to 4½ years in the Department of Corrections, the two charges to run consecutively, and was given credit for time already served.

He also received credit for time served for driving while intoxicated, no insurance, failure to maintain control, hit and run, no headlights, and traveling at a speed greater than prudent.

Glenn W. Alexander, Cameron Parish District Attorney, prosecuted the case.

Crop disaster aid told

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will administer a crop disaster assistance program to compensate eligible producers for crop losses caused by drought, flood, and other natural disasters in either 1990 or 1991.

Kirk L. Smith, ASCS County Executive Director for Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes, explained that producers with crop insurance must have had losses greater than 35 percent to be eligible. Producers without crop insurance must have had losses greater than 40 percent.

Program applications may be filed form Feb. 3 through March 13, at the Calcasieu-Cameron Parish ASCS Office.

The 1990-91 crop disaster program provides cash payments for production losses on participation program crops including feed grains and rice; nonparticipating program crops of soybeans and all commerical nonprogam crops.

Winners told in cookoff

The New Iberia Jaycees were the winners of the first annual Cajun Gumbo Cookoff held Saturday on the fair grounds of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival.

All winners were given cash prizes, according to Tim Dupont, chairman of the event for the Cameron Parish Jaycees.

Price support rate is told

Commodity Credit Corporation's variable interest rate for January 1992 has been announced at 4.50 percent per annum on commodity loans. The price support loan program for certain commodities is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Kirk L. Smith, County Executive Director of the Calcasieu-Cameron ASC Office, said that the regular loan interest rate on commodity loan disbursed during January 1992 is 4.50 percent per annum subject to adjustment each succeeding January 1.

The Commodity Credit Corporation's interest rate is based on the monthly rate established by the United States Treasury as the cost of borrowing money. As Mr. Smith explained, ASCS makes price support loans to farmers using their commodity for collateral in securing a loan.

Rice growers vote Jan. 28

Rice growers in Louisiana will vote on Jan. 28, to decide on an equal assessment for all rice growers support rice research and rice promotion. The assessment will continue at three cents per hundredweight for research and three cents per hundredweight for promotion. If approved, the equal assessment will begin on July 1, 1992 and will be in effect for a five year period.

All persons or legal entities who shared in the cost of production and proceeds of rice produced in 1991 are eligible to vote. This includes spouses of producers but excludes persons or entities that received cash rent for land used to produce rice. The location of parish polls is available from the county agent's office.

The funds collected and programs for research and promotion are guided by a board of 12 Louisiana rice growers for research and 9 growers for promotion.

Proponents say that rice research and promotion are vital to the survival of the Louisiana rice industry and the equal assessment is essential for those programs to succeed.

SECTION 3. Redemption. Those Bonds maturing November 1, 2002, and thereafter will be callable for redemption by the Issuer in full at any time on or after November 1, 2002, or in part, in the inverse order of their maturities, and if less than a full maturity, then by lot within such maturity, on any interest payment date on or after November 1, 2001, at the principal amount thereof and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption. In the event a Bond to be redeemed is of a denomination larger than $5,000, a portion of such Bond ($5,000 or any multiple thereof) may be redeemed, but no Bond which is to be redeemed in part shall be surrendered at the office of the Paying Agent and there shall be delivered to the Owner of such Bond a new Bond or Bonds of the same maturity and of any authorized denomination as requested by such Owner in aggregate principal amount equal to and in exchange for the unredeemed portion of the principal of the Bond so surrendered. Official notice of such call for redemption (i) may be given by means of first class mail, postage prepaid, by notice deposited in the United States mails not less than thirty (30) days prior to the redemption date, addressed to the registered owner of each Bond to be redeemed at his address as shown on the Bond Register of the Paying Agent, or (ii) any Bond called for redemption prior to maturity during a period beginning at the opening of business fifteen (15) days before the date of the mailing of a notice of redemption of such Bond and ending on the date of such redemption.

This Bond may be transferred, registered and assigned only on the Bond Register of the Paying Agent, and such registration will be at the expense of the Issuer. This Bond may be assigned by the execution of the assignment form hereon or by other instrument of transfer and assignment acceptable to the Paying Agent. A new Bond or Bonds will be delivered by the Paying Agent to the last assignee (the new registered owner) in exchange for this transferred and assigned Bond after receipt of this Bond to be transferred in proper form. Such new Bond or Bonds will be in the denomination of $5,000 or any integral multiple thereof. Neither the Issuer nor the Paying Agent will be required to issue, register, transfer or exchange this Bond during a period beginning after the opening of business on the 15th day of the month next preceding any interest payment date and ending at the close of business on the interest payment date, or (ii) any Bond called for redemption prior to maturity during a period beginning at the opening of business fifteen (15) days before the date of the mailing of a notice of redemption of such Bond and ending on the date of such redemption.

This Bond and the issue of which it forms a part constitute general obligations of the Issuer, and the full faith and credit of the Issuer is pledged for the payment of this Bond and the issue of which it forms a part. (FORM OF REVERSE OF BOND)

This Bond is one of an authorized issue aggregating in principal the sum of one Hundred Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($125,000) of Bonds(*), all of like tenor and effect except as to number, denomination, interest rate and maturity, said Bonds having been issued by the Issuer pursuant to a resolution adopted by the governing authority of the Issuer on October 7, 1991 (the "Bond Resolution"), for the purpose of acquiring property to be used for fire protection purposes in the Issuer, title to which shall be in the public, under the authority conferred by Article VI, Section 33, Article VII, Section 26 of the Constitution of Louisiana of 1974, Sub-Part A, Part III, Chapter 4, Title 39, Part I of Chapter 3 of Title 25 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950, as amended, and constitutional and statutory authority supplemental thereto, and were specially authorized at a special election held on May 4, 1991, the results of which election have been duly promulgated in accordance with law.

Those Bonds maturing November 1, 2002, and thereafter will be callable for redemption by the Issuer in full at any time on or after November 1, 2001, or in part, in the inverse order of their maturities, and if less than a full maturity, then by lot within such maturity, on any interest payment date on or after November 1, 2001, at the principal amount thereof and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption. In the event a Bond to be redeemed is of a denomination larger than $5,000, a portion of such Bond ($5,000 or any multiple thereof) may be redeemed. Any Bond which is to be redeemed only in part shall be surrendered at the office of the Paying Agent and there shall be delivered to the owner of such Bond a new Bond or Bonds of the same maturity and of any authorized denomination as requested by such owner in aggregate principal amount equal to and in exchange for the unredeemed portion of the principal of the Bond so surrendered. Official notice of such call of any of the Bonds for redemption shall be given by means of first class mail, postage prepaid, by notice deposited in the United States mails not less than thirty (30) days prior to the redemption date, addressed to the registered owner of each Bond to be redeemed at his address as shown on the Bond Register of the Paying Agent.

SECTION 11. Cancellation of Bonds. All Bonds surrendered for payment, redemption, transfer, exchange or replacement, if surrendered to the Paying Agent and paid or redeemed or transferred or exchanged as the case may be, shall be promptly cancelled by it and, if surrendered to the Issuer, shall be delivered to the Paying Agent and, if already cancelled, shall be promptly cancelled by the Paying Agent. The Issuer may at any time deliver to the Paying Agent for cancellation any Bonds previously authenticated and delivered which the Issuer may have acquired in any manner whatsoever, and all Bonds so delivered shall be promptly cancelled by the Paying Agent. All cancelled Bonds held by the Paying Agent shall be disposed of as directed in writing by the Issuer.

SECTION 12. Lost, Stolen, Mutilated and Destroyed Bonds. If (1) any mutilated Bond is surrendered to the Paying Agent, or the Issuer and the Paying Agent receives evidence to their satisfaction of the destruction, loss, or theft of any Bond, and (2) there is delivered to the Issuer and the Paying Agent such security or indemnity as may be required by them to save each of them harmless, then, in the absence of notice to the Issuer or the Paying Agent that such Bond has been acquired by a bona fide purchaser, the Issuer shall execute and upon its request the Paying Agent shall register and deliver, in exchange for or in lieu of any such mutilated, destroyed, lost, or stolen Bond, a new Bond of the same maturity and of like tenor and principal amount, bearing a number not contemporaneously outstanding. In case any such mutilated, destroyed, lost, or stolen Bond has become or is about to become due and payable, the Issuer in its discretion may, instead of issuing a new Bond, pay such Bond. Upon the issuance of any new Bond under this Section, the Issuer may require the payment by the Owner of a sum sufficient to cover any tax or other governmental charge that may be imposed in relation thereto and any other expenses (including the fees and expenses of the Paying Agent connected therewith). Every Bond issued pursuant to this Section in lieu of any mutilated, destroyed, lost, or stolen Bond shall constitute a replacement of the prior obligation of the Issuer, whether or not the mutilated, destroyed, lost, or stolen Bond shall be at any time enforceable by anyone, and shall be entitled to all the benefits of this Bond Resolution equally and ratably with all other Outstanding Bonds. The procedures set forth in the Agreement, authorized in this Bond Resolution, shall also be available with respect to mutilated, destroyed, lost or stolen Bonds.

SECTION 13. Discharge of Taxation; Defeasance. If the Issuer shall pay or cause to be paid, or there shall otherwise be paid to the Owners, the principal (and redemption price) of and interest on the Bonds at the times and in the manner stipulated in this Bond Resolution, then the pledge of any taxes or other money, securities, and pledged assets created under this Bond Resolution and all covenants, agreements, and other obligations of the Issuer to the Owners of Bonds shall thereupon cease, terminate, and become void and be discharged and defeased, and the Paying Agent shall pay over or deliver all money held by it under this Bond Resolution to the Issuer.

Bonds or interest installments for the payment of which cash or Government Securities shall have been set aside and shall be held in trust by the Paying Agent at the maturity date thereof shall be deemed to have been paid within the meaning and with the effect expressed above in this Section. All outstanding Bonds shall be deemed to have been paid, prior to their maturity, within the meaning and with the effect expressed above in this Section if there shall have been deposited in trust either (i) cash in an amount which shall be sufficient, or (ii) Government Securities the principal of and the interest on which, when due, will provide money which, together with the money, if any, deposited in trust at the same time, shall be sufficient to pay, when due, the principal of and interest on such Bonds on and prior to the redemption date thereof or, if notice of the call of redemption has been duly given or waived and if irrevocable arrangements therefor have been made) redemption date thereof. Neither Government Securities nor money deposited in trust pursuant to this Section, nor principal or interest payments on any such Government Securities, shall be withdrawn or used for any such purpose other than, and shall be held in trust for, the payment of the principal (and redemption price) of and interest on such Bonds. Any cash received from such principal of and interest on such investments deposited in trust, if not needed for such purpose, shall be held uninvested as a cash deposit or, to the extent practicable, be reinvested in Government Securities (which may be noninterest bearing) maturing at times and in amounts sufficient to pay, when due, the principal (and redemption price) of and interest on such Bonds on and prior to the maturity thereof. Any payment for Government Securities purchased for the purpose of reinvesting money as aforesaid shall be made only against delivery of such Government Securities. All of the foregoing provisions of this Section 13 are subject to the provisions of Section 14 of this Resolution.

SECTION 14. Pledge of Full Faith and Credit. The full faith and credit of the Issuer is hereby pledged to the punctual payment of the Bonds in accordance with the authority of Article VI, Section 33 of the 1974 Louisiana Constitution, and other constitutional and statutory authority supplemental thereto, and the Issuer obligates itself and shall cause taxes to be collected on all taxable property within the territorial limits of the Issuer, ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay principal and interest on the Bonds as the same fall due, said tax to be levied and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes are levied and collected within the territorial limits of the Issuer. The proceeds of such tax shall be devoted and applied to the payment of said interest, principal and premium, if any, as such shall become due, and without further action on the part of the Governing Authority, the proper officer or officers are hereby authorized and directed to levy annually a renewal levy of taxes upon, and to extend upon the assessment rolls against, all taxable property situated within the territorial limits of the Issuer, a sum sufficient to pay the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the Bonds becoming due the ensuing year. The Bonds shall constitute the full faith and credit obligations or indebtedness of the Issuer within the meaning of the Constitution and statutes of the State of Louisiana, and the Bonds shall recite thereon this provision. Issuer shall deposit the avails of said tax in a "Bond Fund" to be maintained by a custodian bank designated by the Issuer.

SECTION 15. In addition to the pledge of the full faith and credit of the issuer, and in accordance with the authority of Article VI, Section 33 of the 1974 Louisiana Constitution, the Governing Authority of the Issuer, does hereby pledge unto the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds herein authorized the proceeds derived from the first taxes, if any, from that portion of the funds received by it from the Revenue Sharing Fund created pursuant to Article VII, Section 26(A) of the 1974 Louisiana Constitution, to offset the losses of the ad valorem taxes caused by the homestead exemptions granted by Article VII, Section 20 of the 1974 Louisiana Constitution.

SECTION 16. The provisions of the Resolution shall constitute a contract between the Issuer and the owners from time to time of the Bonds, and any owner of any of the Bonds may either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceeding, enforce and compel the performance of all duties required to be performed by the Issuer as a result of issuing the Bonds, and may similarly enforce the provisions of the Resolution.

SECTION 17. Payments to Paying Agent. The Issuer covenants that it will deposit or cause to be deposited with the Paying Agent from time to time and from the collection of the taxes levied for the payment of the Bonds in the Debt Service Fund or other funds available for such purposes at least six business days in advance of the date on which principal and/or interest falls due on the Bonds, funds fully sufficient to pay promptly the principal and interest so falling due on such date.

SECTION 18. Severability. In case any one or more of the provisions of the Resolution or of the Bonds issued hereunder shall for any reason be held to be illegal or void, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect any other provision of the Resolution or of the Bonds, but the Resolution and the Bonds shall be construed and enforced as if such illegal or invalid provisions had not been contained therein. Any constitutional or statutory provision enacted after the date or dates of the Resolution which validates or makes legal any provision of the Resolution or the Bonds which would not otherwise be valid or legal, shall be deemed to apply to the Resolution and to the Bonds.

"qualified tax-exempt obligations" within the meaning of Section 265(b)(3) of the Code. In making this designation, the Issuer finds and determines that:

(a) the Bonds are not "private activity bonds" within the meaning of the Code; and

(b) the reasonably anticipated amount of qualified tax-exempt obligations which will be issued by the Issuer and all subordinate entities in calendar year 1991 does not exceed $10,000,000.

The Issuer covenants and agrees that, to the extent permitted by the laws of the State of Louisiana, it will comply with the requirements of the Code in order to establish, maintain and preserve the exclusion from "gross income" of interest on the Bonds under the Code and any amendment thereto. The Issuer further covenants and agrees that it will not take any action or fail to take any action, or permit any action within its control to be taken, or permit at any time or times any of the proceeds of the Bonds or any other funds of the Issuer to be used directly or indirectly in any manner, the effect of which would be to cause the Bonds to be "arbitrage bonds" or would result in the inclusion of any such interest on any of the Bonds in "gross income" under the Code, including, without limitation, (i) the failure to comply with the limitation on investment of Bond proceeds or (ii) the failure to pay any required rebate of arbitrage earnings to the United States of America or (iii) the use of the proceeds of the Bonds in a manner which would cause the Bonds to be "private activity bonds" or (iv) any action that would cause the Bonds to not be "qualified tax-exemption obligations" within the meaning of Section 265(b)(3) of the Code.

The President and the Secretary of the Issuer are hereby empowered, authorized and directed to take any and all action and to execute and deliver any instrument, document or certificate necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Section.

SECTION 22. Parties Interested Herein. Nothing in this Resolution expressed or implied is intended or shall be construed to confer upon, or to give to, any person or entity, other than the Issuer and the registered owners of the Bonds, any right, remedy or claim under or by reason of this Resolution or any covenant, condition or stipulation hereof, and all covenants, stipulations, promises and agreements in this Resolution contained by and on behalf of the Issuer shall be for the sole and exclusive benefit of the Issuer, the Paying Agent and the registered owners of the Bonds.

SECTION 23. Publication. A copy of this Bond Resolution shall be published immediately after its adoption in one issue of the official journal of the Issuer. For a period of thirty (30) days from the date of such publication, any person in interest shall have the right to contest the legality of this Bond Resolution and of the Bonds to be issued pursuant thereto and the provisions securing said Bonds. After the expiration of said thirty (30) days, no one shall have any right of action to contest the validity of the Bonds or the provisions of this Bond Resolution, and the Bonds shall be conclusively presumed to be legally issued, and no court shall thereafter have authority to inquire into such matter.

This resolution having been submitted to a vote, the vote thereon was as follows:

Bumber crop of red snapper is seen along Gulf

Most would think unpredictable things are occurring in the commercial red snapper fishery. Since January first nearly 800,000 pounds of the Gulf fish have been delivered to markets throughout the United States. One dealer in Florida's Panhandle reports fishermen there haven't seen anything like this since the 1930's. Boats are catching more than twice as many pounds of fish in half the number of working hours.

The bumper crop harvest had been clearly expected by many of the industry's "old timers". According to Howard Horton of Galveston Charter Service out of Houston, Tex, "...January 10 or so snapper will fall to $1.00 or $1.25 a pound."

The race to catch red snapper in the northern Gulf has clearly resulted from recent National Marine Fisheries Service Reef Fish Management Plan regulations. Facing an abnormally restrictive quota these Gulf businessmen assert they've no choice but to "catch what they can while they can". Fishermen predict the 2.04 million pound quota may be reached in less than three months before the April closing.

District 6-2A begins play Friday at Cam.

By JOE MUELLER

The girls varsity games start at 6 p.m. and the boys games get underway at approximately 7:30 p.m.

The girls J.V. and boys J.V. games precede the girls varsity contest.

The boys side of the league has no clear-cut favorite but Lake Arthur, Iota and Welsh seem to be just a little above the other three.

The race on the boys side could very easily end up like the football race did with five of the teams finishing district at 3-2.

The girls side has a definite favorite. That favorite is the St. Louis Saints who are 22-2 so far this year. They lost the state championship game last year 57-54, so are figured to go a long way in the playoffs.

The South Cameron Lady Tarpons have a 9-13 record and are young with no seniors or juniors on the team.

The South Cameron boys team takes a 4-11 record into district play. The Tarpons beat Hackberry 71-43 last week with Travis Pradia scoring 16 points, James Daigle 14, and three players scored ten points. They were Mike Styron, David West and Randall Williams.

AREA HUNTING

With the duck season over, many area hunters are goose hunting. There are plenty of geese down, including speckle belly, but getting the smart old birds to come to you is a different story. Oh, there's geese being killed, but it's a little slow. Remember, you cannot crawl up on geese, it's against the law.

You know our duck hunting is down, there's not as many birds as we used to have and we only get 30 days altogether, with only a three duck per day limit.

A few of us duck hunters were talking the other day and we all enjoy hunting. We came to the conclusion that even if the season was only one week, one duck per day, duck hunting would still be worth it.

I guess in all the years I've been hunting the biggest problem I have is accepting people telling me how cruel it is to kill animals. I would rather kill a nice healthy deer, rabbit, duck, etc. for the food and sport than to see these animals go to waste when disease kills them because of overpopulation in a certain area.

I figure if these animals rights groups don't soon face the facts they, not us as hunters, will be responsible for the death of many wild animals.

AREA FISHING

Fishing in our area , saltwater, is a little slow. I think there's a little to much fresh water with all the rain we've had.

Many anglers are enjoying fishing the road sides for bass and doing rather well.

Last weekend my son Rudy and I fished a private pond and caught nine nice bass, 1-6 to 1-10.

We were fishing and I noticed a large bass floating but what it really was was a bass about 2 pounds with another pound fish in his mouth. They both drowned because the larger bass couldn't swallow it because it was too large.

District 8C play will begin Friday night

By JOE MUELLER

District 8C will start district basketball play this Friday. The district is composed of three Cameron Parish teams, Hackberry, Grand Lake and Johnson Bayou.

The game this Friday finds Grand Lake at Johnson Bayou. The girls varsity game starts at 6 p.m. with the boys varsity games to be at approximately 7:30 p.m.

The J.V. games precede the girls varsity game with the girls starting at 4 p.m. and the boys at 5 p.m. The J.V. games are only 6 minute quarters or 10 minute halves.

Johnson Bayou has a 17-6 record and Hackberry brings an 8-18 record into district play.

The girls race will be tight but Johnson Bayou, who beat Sabine Pass last week 56-28 behind Karen Erbelding's 16 points and Jenny Trahan's 12, and Nicole Duhon's 10, bring a 16-5 record into the district race as favorites.

Hackberry, who has a lot of recent playoff experience, could also win the district.

The district with only three teams will have a real tough time getting a wild card entry into the state playoffs.

A fully loaded supertanker traveling at its normal speed of 16 knots needs at least twenty minutes to stop.

S. C. boys team wins game Tues.

South Cameron's record is now 5-11.

The Tarpons will play their first district game against Welsh at home Friday night with the J.V game starting at 5 p.m., followed by the girls J.V.; the varsity girls at 6 p.m. and the varsity boys at 8 p.m.

Tarpon fans are urged to come out and support the team.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON --A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Shrimping still open

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission is allowing the offshore shrimp season to remain open. In previous years, the offshore season had been closed for the winter months.

At their January meeting in Baton Rouge, the commissioners accepted a recommendation, made by the Marine Fisheries Division staff of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, that they allow shrimping in Gulf offshore waters to continue.

John Roussel, acting administrator of Marine Fisheries, said biological data indicated that there are seabob and some legal-sized white shrimp still available, and the 100-count law seems to have been effective in discouraging the harvest of small white shrimp.

Turnbulls are featured in Co-op paper

Many of Bill Turnbull's nature photos are included with the article.

Turnbull retired as maintenance superintendent for Halliburton Services in New Orleans five years ago and his wife quit her work teaching and working for the state. They moved into the Cameron Parish home of her late father, Rusty Fulton, who managed the Jeff Davis Electric office in Cameron for some years.

Turnbull has had a number of his wildlife photos published and one is due to appear soon in the national Ducks Unlimited magazine.

Farmland leasing program is told

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has announced a draft proposal to establish a wintering waterfowl habitat leasing progam to lease up to 110,000 acres of privately-owned farmlands in 5 states within the Lower Mississippi River Valley.

The proposed progam would involve the seasonal leasing of rice fields and other floodable croplands in selected areas along the Mississippi River and its major tributaries in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

According to Service officials, the leased farmlands would provide critically needed private sanctuaries with food, cover, and water for migratory waterfowl. The proposed leases would be implemented during the fall and winter migration period, from October 1 to March 1, when fields generally lay fallow. The leases would extend for up to 5 years.

In addition, the assessment includes maps that show the locations of the prospective lease areas in each state.

Copies of the document are being made available for public review and comment from January 15 to February 28, 1992. Requests for copies and for further information on the proposal should be directed to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 75 Spring Street, S.W., Room 1240, Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

Fishery data protected

The rule means that the department will not release any information reported by individuals or companies when it pertains to their particular identity, catch, location of catch, methods used, etc.

However, the department will continue to make public "aggregate" or total data or figures collected within the fishing industry when three or more sources are involved.

The regulation also provides that confidential information may be supplied to the commission, to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, National Marine Fisheries Service (NOAA/NMFS), and legislative committees and their staffs.

Duhon Citizen of the Year

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

John "Pete" Duhon of Creole was named "Cameron Parish Citizen of the Year" at the annual Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce banquet held Monday night at Johnson Bayou.

Duhon was presented with a plaque by last year's winner, Geneva Griffith, who cited his many accomplishments in civic affairs in the parish, and praised his hard work in community events.

The late Charles "Buster" Rogers was recognized with a memorial award, and members of his family were present to receive it from Janie Turnbull, chairman of the selection committee.

Rogers was a lifelong resident of Cameron Parish and used all of his services to better his church, community and the Masonic Lodge, of which he was a charter member.

State Rep. Randy Roach introduced the new Attorney General of Louisiana, Richard Ieyoub, who was the guest speaker.

Ieyoub said that this was his first official appearance since he assumed his new office.

He pointed out that Cameron Parish had given him the highest percentage of votes (81%) of any parish in the state.

Ieyoub said that he thought the Attorney General should play a vital role in the state government and his goal is to re-establish and reaffirm the constitution.

He said that his will not be a negative office and that he will make himself available to help Louisiana with all of its problems, and to do what he can to solve the problems.

He outlined some of the problems in his office that he has inherited and said that he will push to solve some major litigation problems, some of which are the Texaco case, which has been running 13 years. The documents connected with the case fill four rooms and runs into the millions in number, he stated.

Another is the higher education and segregation suit in which he maintains higher education will not discriminate. He said the proceedings in this case are stayed until a similar suit in Mississippi is settled.

Other cases facing him are voters rights and the abortion case.

He also said that he will make sure that opinions coming out of the office will be right and wants to protect Louisiana citizens from fraud.

He was presented a beautiful shell creation of a brown pelican by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Robicheaux of Holly Beach.

John DeBarge, the 1990 Chamber president, served as Master of Ceremonies and Russell Badon, Johnson Bayou Police Juror, gave the welcome. Senator Cecil Picard gave the pledge.

Dinah Nunez was presented with a Past President's award by Rodney Guibleaux, 1992 president. Ms. Nunez outlined the many accomplishments the Chamber has made this past year during her presidency.

Officers to serve for the year, and installed by Ms. Nunez are: Rodney Guilbeaux, president; Bill Turnbull, vice-president; Rev. Paul Carter, secretary; and Ed Kelley, treasurer.

"Pearls of Wisdom"

The late Grenese Jackson of Jennings was not only our family lawyer and dear friend but he was also a source of sympathy and encouragement during the illness and death of my first husband.

I have before me a sheaf of quotes that he entitled "Jaxon's Collection of Favorite Little Pearls of Wisdom."

May some of the following prove as meaningful to you as they have to Mr. Jackson and to me.

The measure of a man is not the number of servants he has but the number of people he serves.

People are lonely because they build walls instead of bridges.

You can't sprinkle perfume on others without getting some on yourself.

Don't look. You might see. Don't listen. You might hear. Don't think. You might learn. Don't make a decision. You might be wrong. Don't walk. You might stumble. Don't run. You might fall. Don't live. You might die.

There are three ways to get along: bending, unbending, and both. Youth knows the middle; fools the first, and wise men the last.

Famous last words: "If I can't take it with me, I won't go."

The only way you can take it with you is to invest it in someone who is going there.

The place to teach obedience to authority is not in the State Pen but in the Play Pen.

Lessons learned in the cradle last to the grave.

One problem today is not so much the noise of the bad people as the silence of the good.

Intelligent people talk about ideas. Average people talk about things. Small people talk about other people.

GEE retesting to be held Feb. 3-6

Seniors who have not yet attained the cutoff score in one or more subjects in the state-mandated graduate exit examination (GEE) will be retested at their schools Feb. 3-6, and results will be reported to the parish during the middle of March, according to Director of Curriculum Lennie M. Hanchey of Beauregard Parish Schools.

Those seniors who were scheduled to graduate in May, 1991 and did not do so due to inadequate scores on the GEE are encouraged to participate in both the remediation and testing sessions, Dr. Hanchey said.

Students in Louisiana high schools must pass examinations in English language arts, mathematics, written composition, science, and social studies as well as earn a minimum of 23 Carnegie units of credit in order to receive a high school diploma.

The state tests are administered in the sophomoe and junior years, and remediation and retesting are provided for those who fail to post satisfactory scores.

Extended day remediation will be held at all high schools in preparation for the February retesting. Teachers are provding individualized and small-group instruction before and after school and/or on Saturdays.

The regular schedule for the graduation exit exam will be April 6-9, Dr. Hanchey said.

The recommended proposed limitations may be examined at the Office of Water Resources, 3rd Floor, Department of Environmental Quality, 7290 Bluebonnet Road, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Geneva Griffith thanks Cameron Parish people

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

I am wondering if it is now time to "hang it up", that maybe I have "lost my cool."

I have, up to now, been able to know just about everything that was happening in Cameron Parish that was of any importance.

However, there was a momentous conspiracy afoot for the last month that I was completely unaware of, and I can't figure out how it could have escaped me.

There were so many people involved all around me, and even expanding over into Texas, and never did I even suspect what was going on.

The conspiracy was instigated by Pete Picou, Fur Festival President, when he and co-conspirators decided to honor me at the 36th annual festival and to keep it a secret from me.

Of course, I played right into their hands when I had to miss the big annual board meeting at Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge during the Christmas holidays when the plans were made.

The board decided that night to dedicate the festival to me and keep it a deep dark secret.

My dear friend J. B. Jones almost let it slip, but managed to cover it up and I still didn't catch on. (That shows what a great lawyer he is.)

On the opening Thursday night program, when Pete made the big announcement, I was in the progress of taking his picture, and was so shocked I will have to wait until the pictures are developed to see if I actually got it.

I still don't even remember going up on the stage, where I was met by my whole family.

I almost lost it when I I looked down and saw five members of my "kindergarten gang" from Texas who had come to be part of the conspiracy. (I started to DeQueen Kindergarten in Port Arthur, Tex., over 60 years ago.)

Pete presented me with a beautiful gold pen from the festival which was especially made for me. It is an exact scale model of Louisiana, with Cameron Parish highlighted and a garnet set on "Oak Grove", my home.

The garnet represents the month of January, the month in which the festival is always held.

A gold banner runs across the front inscribed "Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival" with my name, 36 years, and 1/9/92 engraved on the back. The 36 is for the years I have worked in the festival, not my age.

I can't begin to name everyone who helped out in making this such a momentous occasion for me, and to keep it such a secret, because I could easily leave someone out, and everyone is equally important to me.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

To all our people of Cameron Parish, I have decided after deep, deep thought and consideration, to stop inspecting cars and trucks for the State of Louisiana Inspection Program.

It has gotten to the point where I have received a number of citations from the state police, on things they say I'm not doing, or even things they say I'm doing in the program.

As most of you know, insurance has gotten out of hand, plus the expense of bond, licenses and the cost of stickers to me at $5.25 each, the pollution test papers running 42 cents each and then each transaction we pay a $5.50 handling fee. Also, I've been a salesman on the road for eight years, two days a week and I would have to stop that, which is my living, because they want me to inspect 40 hours a week.

I've taken the total of $5.25 plus 42 cents and 25 cents per sticker plus insurance of $3,000 a year, I come up $2.08 per car on inspection of 1500 vehicles a year; so if you add $5.25, 42 cents, 25 cents and $2 each car I inspect, it costs me $7.92 and I get $10, a balance left over for me of $2.08 per sticker profit.

Now, you say that's not bad, well if you inspect 1500 vehicles a year at $2.08 it brings you in $3120.

If you take 40 hours per week at 52 weeks per year, it amounts to 2080 hours. Now just divide $3120 by 2080 hours, it comes out for me making $1.50 per hour.

For the past 21 years, I have tried to help our people by staying in this program. Starting out 21 years ago makes 50 cents per sticker and now only making $2 per sticker, it doesn't add up on paper.

I now want to thank each and every one of you for being kind to me during this inspection period, but I have stopped inspections for the above reasons.

We are now trying to get Fred Conner with Fred's Garage next to me to get certified and I'll help him out, so bear with us until we can get him certified into the program.

I will still be operating my parts house and our convenience store up front. It will give me more time in these two businesses and more time to spend with you, my customers. Again, thanks!

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Lakeside is filling up with new people for the coming year. Mr. Adolph Miller and family have moved into the big house and his son-in-law Mr. Semar has moved into the store building. They expect to put in cane, corn, cotton and vegetable crops.

The continued rains are gradually filling the lake and we are not far from having high water.

Well this is sure one hard winter and it has just commenced; hope the coming months will not increase in severity. If so the wood supply will sure get scarce.

Mr. Arthur Miller will put in about 100 acres of rice on Monroe.

Lake Arthur people report that an auto hack line has been established between that place and Jennings. It leaves Lake Arthur at 7:30 every morning and leaves Jennings at 9:30. It is a great convenience for people of this section. An effort is being made to start an auto line from Lake Arthur to Gueydan, thence to Morse, Midland and Estherwood.

This section is learning something about farming and several of our planters have considerable plowing done. They usually have waited till after New Year's to start. Lakeside will not put in any rice.

There are numerous complaints about the condition of the roads at the ferry at Shell Beach and Lake Arthur.

(Cameron Pilot, Jan. 16, 1959)

TUG BOAT BIDS

Diesel Marine Service of Cameron was the low bidder this week on the furnishing and installing of a 300 hp diesel engine on the state highway department tug boat, "Floyd Hamilton" at Cameron. At present, the boat is being used for the Monkey Island ferry.

SHRIMP BOAT SALVAGED

An Aransas Pass, Tex., shrimp boat which was abandoned by its captain and crew last Friday off Cameron when it appeared it was going to sink, was salvaged by another shrimp boat which came along later.

The distressed boat, "Ocean Maid", was on its way to Morgan City at the time, accompanied by a second boat, the "Lockheart." The captain and two crewmen abandoned the "Ocean Maid" when it began sinking about 30 miles southeast of Cameron. The "Lockheart" towed the boat for a while but cut the line when the boat seemed to be going down.

Hwoever, a short time later the "Dell D" out of St. Augustine, Fla., came along, put a line on the boat and towed it into Cameron.

This week owners of the "Ocean Maid", the "Dell D" and the insurance company were involved in negotiations over the salvage rights.

FUR AND WILDLIFE FESTIVAL

There's big doings in Cameron this weekend. After a year's postonement because of Hurricane Audrey, the third annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will be held this Friday and Saturday.

The festival begins at 1 p.m. Friday and will continue through Saturday night, with a diverse array of events including a parade, water show, queen's contest, muskrat skinning contest, carnival and exhibitions.

Festival leaders expect this to be the biggest and best ever and thousands of visitors are expected from all parts of Southwest Louisiana and East Texas. A large number of Texans probably will attend via the new Sabine Lake causeway.

One of the highlights of the two-day program will be the water show put on by the Bridge City, Texas Ski Club. This show was given at the 1957 Festival and was so well liked that festival leaders invited the club back again.

A new feature this year will be the "quick draw and shoot" exhibit put on by the Lake Charles Police pistol team.

Two outstanding entertainment events are scheduled this year for the first time. One is a ballet to be put on Friday night by a group of girls from the Ida Winter Clark Ballet School of Lake Charles. The other is a talent show from the Chennault Air Force Base, scheduled for Saturday night.

A large parade is planned for 1:30 Saturday, and will include many floats, cars, boats and horses.

Elihu Abbott of Maryland, national muskrat skinning champion, will be here again to demonstrate his skills, and there will also be a demonstration by the national duck calling champion, Maurice Conerly of Port Arthur. Two former goose and duck calling world champs, Clarence Faulk and Dudley Newman, will also perform.

I just want to thank all of you from the bottom of my heart and want you to know how much I appreciate all of you.

I have not done nearly as much for the festival, my parish, my many friends, and my family as you have done for me.

FISHING REGULATIONS

The new 1992 Louisiana Fishing Regulations booklet is out and in most stores and fish shops in our area. It pays you to get this book, as it is free of charge and tells you limits, sizes and other rules and regulations you really need to know.

The booklet is for both commercial and recreational fishing covering salt water and fresh water.

Hunting in our area has really come almost to a halt, as most of the hunting is closed. There is still some goose hunting left, lots of birds, but not too many hunters shooting them.

This weekend we'll see squirrel season close (Jan. 26), and rails, gallinules closed at the start of this week. We still will have rabbits until the last day of February and snipes until Feb. 23. Woodcock will close Jan. 31, and we could very well see some in our area with these arctic cold fronts moving south into our state.

On the fishing scene, activity is fair on salt water, now if you get these good sunshiny days, hot afternoons, fishing for bass along the road side ditches or private ponds and marshes is good. I saw twenty good bass this past week with the smallest of two pounds up to a little over four pounds.

WHAT'S NEXT

We all read about the animal activists, but sometimes they do or try to get done things that don't make much sense. Here are a few examples:

* Washington D. C. had a vote back in November of 1991 to ban horse drawn carriages. This was brought on by the people for Ethical Treatment to Animals.

* In Arizona, they had an elk hunt to try and thin out the overpopulated herd. This was closed for good. Why? Because a judge ruled that the game and fish department should have given a 20 day notice of the hunt, instead of a five day notice. Many of these elk will die of starvation and disease.

* In Kentucky, there's a law suit to stop raccoon hunting to train young dogs. Wildlife people think this could put a stop forever to all forms of hunting with dogs in their state. Animal rights group requested a temporary injunction to stop these hunts, which a judge denied, resulting into a law suit. They say it's the same as animal fights.

* Again in Arizona, more than 180,000 signatures were gathered with only 105,000 needed by animal rights activists to put a vote to the public, to stop trapping on public lands.

* Even in Britain, there's a big election to be held this spring and it could be crucial to the future of their hunting in that country.

There's a proposal to abolish fox hunting and even oppose all hunting. I wonder what the Royal Prince and his guests will do. I guess they'll have to play more polo, or maybe it's too cruel for the horse, and they'll stop that also.

Fox hunters as well as other hunters have been harassed for years, but now the 5 million people of Britain who take part in country sports will really have their work cut out for them if they're to keep enjoying the sport.

Many of us thought a few years ago that this could never happen, but fellow outdoorsmen and our outdoor women, it is happening and we need to keep up with this before they try to hit our state.

FEEDING PERIODS

Here are the feeding periods for all of you who called and requested them:

Friday, Jan. 24 - Best, 2:52 a.m. and 3:17 p.m.; good, 9:02 a.m. and 9:32 p.m.

Saturday, Jan. 25 - Best, 3:47 a.m. and 4:12 p.m.; good, 9:57 a.m. and 10:27 p.m.

Sunday, Jan. 26 - Best, 4:37 a.m. and 5:02 p.m.; good, 10:47 a.m. and 11:17 p.m.

Remember now that changes of weather and habitat conditions can change feeding habits, but if all is right you can expect results by following a feeding time.

Best periods last from 2 to 3 hours and good periods only last from 45 minutes to one and one-half hours.

"THREE CHIPMUNKS"

Little Fletcher Wade Miller has gotten right into the spirit of the fur festival-he has three pet nutria. They are a few weeks old and he has named them Simon, Theodore and Alvin. (He named them after the "Three Chipmunks.") Their favorite food is raw sweet potatoes. Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Miller of Cameron.

OYSTER SURVEY DEFINITE

A new survey of the oyster pollution in Calcasieu Lake definitely is in the mill, State Rep. Alvin Dyson told the Cameron Lions Club Wednesday. He said the chief engineer of the state department of public works would be in Cameron next Wednesday to make an estimate of the cost of the survey. Bolo Trosclair will provide boat transportation out into the lake for the state group.

Local seafood dealers say if the lake is opened, it could mean a "million dollar" industry to Cameron Parish.

Oyster maps to be shown Jan 23

On Thursday, Jan. 23, a supplemental showing of the March-April 1992 oyster water classification maps will be held at the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Office, 2000 Quail Drive, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, 8 to 10 a.m.

All shellfish harvesters are encouraged to attend this meeting. This will be a one-time showing of the maps in Baton Rouge. The initial showing of the maps is still scheduled for Monday, Jan. 27, in the auditorium of the Jefferson Parish Health Unit, 111 North Causeway Boulevard, Metairie.

CHOCOLATE CHUNK PISTACHIO SHORTBREAD

3/4 cup butter
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
3/4 cup coarsely chopped, natural California pistachios
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chunks
1 egg white, beaten

Cream butter and sugar. Add vanilla and stir in flour gradually. Fold in 1/2 cup pistachios and the chocolate chunks. Pat shortbread dough into greased 8-inch square pan. Brush lightly with egg white. Sprinkle remaining pistachios over top. Bake at 300 degrees F., for 20-30 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool and cut into squares. Makes approximately 16 squares.

Some wine will spoil if exposed to light; hence tinted bottles.

Play Lotto starting January 22. And turn six numbers into seven figures.

It only costs a dollar.

How to play.
Just mark six numbers between 1 and 44 on a playslip like the one above. Or mark the Quick Pick box on your playslip and let the Lotto terminal pick the six numbers for you. You can get up to five plays on a play-slip, but you can play as many times as you like. After you've decided on your lucky numbers, pick up your ticket from the Lotto retailer. And don't forget to check your numbers to verify them. That's it. Now all you have to do is figure out what to do with all that money if you win.

Where to play.
LOTTO PLAY HERE

You could win a million, more or less.
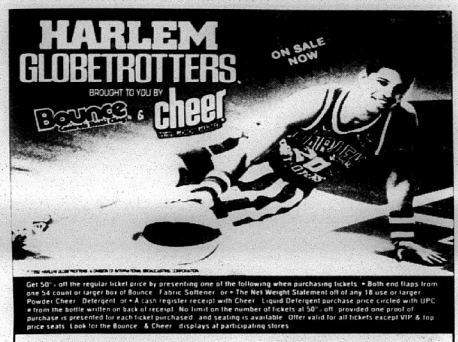
Match all six numbers and win a jackpot of $1 million or more. You can also match five of six numbers and win $1,500. Or match four of six numbers and win $50 instant cash. Not bad for a dollar.

LOTTO



THE HACKBERRY High School academic commitee has announced the winners of the current events contest for the third six weeks. The winners are Shelly Fontenot and Karalee LaBove in the grades 6-8 division and Mitch Hebert in the grades 9-12 division. Each received an engraved plaque.

Sketch of Christmas tree dampening...

Christmas tree project

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has applied for a La. Coastal Use Permit to construct wave dampening fences to be filled with about 4000 recycled Christmas trees in the Portie Lakes area about 1.5 miles west of Hackberry.

The plans call to construct two 100-foot, three 204-foot and one 124-foot fences in shallow water separated by 6-foot gaps. The approximate length of the project will be 1200 feet.

The project is designed to capture sediment and lessen erosion and thereby restore the marsh in that area.

The Christmas trees were collected in Cameron and Calcasieu parishes and the work is being carried out with coastal restoration funds. This is the second year that there has been a Christmas tree project in Cameron parish.

Tax benefits available for Gulf war vets

WASHINGTON — Veterans of Desert Storm and Provide Comfort are eligible for a number of federal tax benefits. The most sweeping benefit applies to soldiers and warrant officers, who do not have to pay federal taxes on wages earned while serving in the Persian Gulf. For commissioned officers, the exemption applies to earnings up to $500 per month during service in the Gulf.

Other benefits include:

- Extended deadline. Desert Storm and Provide Comfort vets have up to 180 days from the date they returned from the combat zone to file and pay their income taxes.
- Extended exemption for those hospitalized. Soldiers hospitalized due to service in the Persian Gulf combat zone retain these benefits until the end of the month they are released from the hospital.
- Tax forgiveness. For survivors of service members who died from injuries or illness while serving in the combat zone or in direct-support operations, the service members' federal income tax liabilities for the year in which they died and the previous year are forgiven.

The details that accompany these benefits are, in some cases, quite complicated. Consequently, the Internal Revenue Service prepared Publication 945, "Tax Information for Those Affected by Operation Desert Storm," which you can have mailed to you by calling (800) 829-3676.

However, there are a few key points to keep in mind when preparing your 1991 tax return:

- The tax exemption or reduction does not apply to social security taxes or to passive income such as interest and dividends.
- One day of appropriate duty qualifies you for these special tax benefits for the entire month.
- These benefits do not apply unless you served in the Persian Gulf area on or after Jan. 17, 1991, when the area was designated a combat zone.

Middle Ages came to S. Cam. Elementary

By CYNDI SELLERS

Students of Mrs. Monica Corley and Mrs. Jendy Trahan, in conjunction with their social studies unit on the Middle Ages, were visited by six medieval gentlefolk in full period garb. The four gentlemen and two ladies demonstrated the medieval arts of music, calligraphy, illumination, heraldry and chivalry.

The highlight of the event was probably the demonstration of medieval fighting techniques. Members of the class helped the fighters into their armor, like true squires. Helmets, chain mail, gauntlets and gorgets were all examined and donned.

Finally each fighter saluted his lady or ladies - the girls of 6A and 6B, and the battle was on. Sword and shield against mace or great sword, the school gym echoed with the force of the blows until the victor was saluted with a ringing "Viva!!"

The visitors were all members of the Society for Creative Anachronism, from the local Shire of Blackmoor. The Society is a non-profit educational organizaiton dedicated to researching and recreating the best of the Middle Ages. Members are available for demonstrations for classes, scout groups and special occasions.

SCA members who participated in the school demonstration were Thorfinn Skullsplitter, Knight Marshall; Kenrick Bosch, Deputy Knight Marshall; Thorgrim the Bald, his lady Gwendolen Elphinstone of Land's End; Herald, Williams deMarmontier; Chronicler and his lady, Mary of Blackmoor.

For more information contact Marcus Tanner at 775-5347 locally, or Vernon Fults, shire seneschal, at 436-1391 in Lake Charles.

MEMBERS OF the Society of Creative Anachronism are shown above visiting the 6th grade classes at South Cameron Elementary School in connection with their studies of the Middle Ages.

Hong Kong a long way off

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Thirty hours after Joy Wise and I left Baton Rouge, meeting up with our tour group of 23 in Dallas, setting our watches back three hours over the desert, and arriving in Los Angeles, we had already eaten two breakfasts, one on each plane.

In Los Angeles we boarded a Cathay-Pacific flight for the long ride over the Pacific Ocean to Hong Kong.

Security was very strict at each airport we went through. I always set off the bells whereupon I had to empty my pockets, send my money belt through the machine again until I got clearance to proceed. My purse was even searched in one airport because of my travel alarm clock.

We were served gourmet meals for lunch and dinner and anything we wanted during the long night (drinks and sandwiches), and were furnished a small velvet pack of cotton socks, a travel toothbrush, toothpaste and eye blinders to use during the trip.

Sleep does not come easy to me on an airplane, especially when my knees practically touched the seat in front of me. I had been told at a travel seminar that on a long trip as this, one should frequently stand up in the aisle, stretch the legs wide apart and lean back as far as possible, doing this several times to help with the circulation and to keep the legs from swelling.

I did this several times during the trip, but have my doubts if it really worked.

Since I was sitting in the middle of the three seat row, it was very hard to get out into the aisle, especially if you have to wake up your seat mate to get out.

There was a burst of excitement as we passed over Japan, which was brightly lit up from one end of the island to the other.

The computer on the movie screen on board the airplane kept us informed as to where we were on the trip, which followed the land areas as close as possible, going up to the northern Pacific near the Aleutian Islands, then curving around south passing the Kurial Islands, then across Japan and Taipei, then on to Hong Kong. We had heard Typhoon Zelda was in the area, but we heard no more of it.

We arrived at the Hong Kong airport on a Sunday night at 8:25 p.m. and a bus was waiting for us to transfer to the Excelsior Hotel, located on the waterfront with a beautiful view of the harbor.

Out of our hotel window we could see rows of sampans docked in the harbor, alongside rows and rows of very fancy pleasure boats.

The harbor is called "The Fragrant Harbor", but it is not aptly named.

The stench is somewhat overpowering at times, which is understandable since many, many families live their whole lives on the sampans in the harbor to escape the high cost of rent on land.

We were told that as many as three generations in a family live on the boats, with the grandparents taking care of the children while their parents make the family living by going off to the fishing grounds on another boat.

Hong Kong is a bustling, vibrant city, renowned for its work hard, play hard ethic and enterprising spirit. Its most valuable asset is its deep water harbor which steadily buzzes with luxury liners, container ships, sampans and pleasure yachts.

To look at Hong Kong, you would never know that anyone is worried about its future. Its blue harbor buzzes with boats, its white skyscrapers shoot into the green hills beyond, and its workers wrestle with pneumatic drills, demolishing the old to make way for the new.

It was interesting to note that all of the scaffolding on the buildings is made from bamboo, going up to the tallest floor on the structures. To look at it you wonder how such flimsy looking scaffolding could possibly hold anyone up, and steel is never used. It was explained to us that the bamboo is very strong, yet very flexible when it needs to be.

For instance, during a typhoon that often strikes the island, the steel will buckle, but the bamboo gives with the stress and strain of the high winds.

There is an edgy sense of countdown as 1997 looms. Hong Kong is preparing to switch sovereigns and pass through what was once called the Bamboo Curtain and merge with the motherland of Communist China from which it was grudgingly separated almost a century and a half ago, when it was ceded to Great Britain at the end of the opium war with China.

No one knows what will become of the very rich capitalistic city when it becomes the property of Communist China, and some people are apprehensive as to what the outcome will be.

I could not help but think that I was lucky to be here and see it in its "Heyday" of immense prosperity and wonder if it might suffer the same fate as the Soviet Union has, a now-dead union that I was also fortunate to visit two years ago as it was striving to exist.

Marshes have plenty water

WATER EVERYWHERE

I can assure you we do have plenty of water in our marshes with all the heavy rains we've received. This should make spring fishing for bass, crappie and bream real good.

We had lots of fish last year, talking about bass and if we get a good spawn this spring, bass fishing should really get exciting.

This is the time of the year, with all the holidays gone by and not much of anything left to hunt, anglers are getting their boats and motors and fishing gear ready for the spring fresh water fishing.

A friendly reminder: offshore fishermen will have to wait until July to catch king mackeral. The recreation fishing on king mackeral closed this past Monday, Jan. 27, and will not reopen until July 1.

The gulf-wide recreational allocation for the 91-92 fishing year has been reached and it's necessary to close the season to prevent overfishing of the kings.

NEWS AROUND

* The show on television, "Hard Copy", a national show, had hired a person who was an animal rights activist. The person was to host animal issues and his comments were a life is a life. Also stated was if the death of one rat cured all diseases, it wouldn't make any difference.

Many letters were sent in protest of hiring this person and according to Wildlife Legislature Fund of America, the person is no longer working for Hard Copy. This maybe proves that America's sportsmen will not tolerate this type of reporting by an anti-hunter.

In Arizona it's different. Anti-hunters have succeeded in closing the elk hunting, even while the season was going on. Five hundred elk hunters in Arizona quit hunting after the first day of the season.

I had reported to you about the lawsuit in Kentucky to stop a special raccoon hunt to train young dogs. Well, the animal rights group lost one of its supporters, the County Humane Society. It said it didn't want to be associated with such a group. They say animal rights are completely different from animal welfare.

* The Louisiana investigation of all the fish killed this summer in Southeast Louisiana has put the blame on pesticides or lack of oxygen or a combination of both, so I guess this is a closed case.

* Louisiana's turkey population and harvest has continued to grow. The state now has an estimated 50,000 turkeys and hunters harvest about 10,000 of these birds.

Most of the turkeys are found around Pearl River in Vernon parish around Fort Polk Wildlife Management Area in the Alexandria area. The best hunting in the state is found along the Mississippi River, mostly on private leases.

The season varies by zones, some areas open March 21 and all close by April 26. The limit is one gobbler daily, three for the year.

*The old saying is poachers often get away with murder twice, once when they illegally kill game and fish and again when a judge lets them off with a light sentence or no sentence at all.

A MATTER FOR THE RECORDS

Mississippi, our neighbor on the east, has a state record bass of 14.92 pounds, breaking the 1987 record of 14-3/4 pounds. These fish are Florida strain largemouths, caught on the Natchez State Park Lake. For more than a year 10 to 12 pounders are common. Catching 50 to 60 bass a day of 2 to 4 pounds range is common.

The lake is 250 acres. There is a 5 fish daily limit with a minimum of 15 inch size. Thirty pound test line is considered the minimum size line. Most of the fish are caught in heavily wooded shorelines, and are caught in the summer months. They figure if an angler could make these big ones strike in the spring, they would weigh at least 15 pounds.

Now it seems Florida is trying to catch up on the craze they started. It seems they are losing out on the big trophy bass.

* If you're interested, La. sold 272,202 hunting licenses and 556,740 fishing licenses in 1990, for a total of 829,498 licenses. The state of Tennessee sold 600,413 hunting licenses, 600,413 and Florida sold the most fishing licenses 1,016,629. Overall Tennessee sold a total of 1,445,678 fishing and hunting licenses to be the top state on licenses.

Saturday nights are Lotto nights. And to make millions, all you need is a dollar.

How to play.
Just mark six numbers between 1 and 44 on a playslip like the one above. Or mark the Quick Pick box on your playslip and let the Lotto computer pick the six numbers for you. You can get up to five plays per playslip. After you've decided on your lucky numbers, pick up your ticket from the Lotto retailer. And don't forget to check your numbers to make sure they are correct.

Watch your clock and your TV.
The first live drawing of the winning numbers will be this Saturday night, February 1 at 9:59. From then on, drawings will be held every Saturday night at 9:59. You can watch the drawings on your local Lotto television station. But be sure to purchase your tickets for the Saturday night drawings before 9:58 p.m. that day.

Lotto Television Stations

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Alexandria | KALB 5 | NBC |
| Baton Rouge | WBRZ 2 | ABC |
| Lafayette | KLFY 10 | CBS |
| Lake Charles | KPLC 7 | NBC |
| Monroe | KNOE 9 | CBS |
| New Orleans | WWL 4 | CBS |
| Shreveport | KTBS 3 | ABC |

You could win a million, more or less.
Match all six numbers and win a jackpot of $1 million or more. You can also match five of six numbers and win $1,500. Or match four of six and win $50 instant cash. Not bad for a dollar.

Where to collect.
$50 prizes can be collected at your local Lotto retailer. Prizes over $50 can be collected at any of the Lottery's regional or claims offices or at Lottery headquarters in Baton Rouge.

What if nobody wins?
Then everybody wins. Because if no one matches all six numbers correctly, the jackpot amount is carried over to the next week. And it keeps growing until some lucky person (like you) wins.

HOW LUCKY CAN YOU GET?

AT THE November meeting of the Grand Chenier Jr. 4-H Club, a menu activity was held. The object was to plan a menu for Thanksgiving Day with the word Thanksgiving. Members worked in groups of three. The winning group was Heather Sturlese, Adam Coreil and Jodi McCall.

Rep. Roach reports:

By REP. RANDY ROACH

My second term officially began on Monday, Jan. 13, 1992. In the next few weeks I will be announcing a change in the location of our Cameron office and new office hours as part of my efforts to better serve you.

I feel extremely fortunate that Mrs. Myrna Conner will continue her work as my legislative assistant. We are both looking forward to working with you for the next four years.

Our next legislative session will begin on March 30, 1992. This is three weeks earlier than before. The session will end not later than the last week in June. I have already begun to work on my legislative package for this session. As soon as it is finalized I will outline it for you in another legislative column.

After the Representatives were sworn in, our first order of business was to elect House Officers. Rep. John Alario from Westwego was elected Speaker and Sherman Copelin from New Orleans was elected Speaker Pro Tem.

During the next term I will serve as a member of the House Natural Resources Committee and the Ways and Means Committee. The Natural Resources Committee considers all legislation which affects wildlife and fishing issues, the oil and gas industry, environmental matters and the ownership of state lands.

The Ways and Means Committee considers all bills which affect state revenue and which set up the financing for state and local construction projects.

Mr. Alario has also asked me to serve as a member of the Joint Committee on Federal Oil Overcharge Monies. This committee oversees a special fund made up of federal money which the state receives from settlements of disputes between the federal government and various oil companies over amounts due from the sale and production of oil.

This money is available for special state and local projects. Presently there is $18.2 million in this fund which is available for qualified projects.

The most critical problem which we will face in the next legislative session will be balancing the 1992-93 state budget. It's an all too familiar problem. This time, however, we do not have the benefit of a surplus from excess revenue collected over the past budget year.

If we renew the sales taxes on food and utilities and make approximately $308 million in cuts already recommended by Governor Edwards we will still be $350 million short.

In my next legislative column I will try to give you an overview of the reasons for our recurring budget problems.

I want to again thank you for your support over the last four years. It has been an honor and privilege to represent you in the state legeislature.

Stories of buried treasure

Many stories of buried treasure cling to the coastal regions of Louisiana. Nearly all of them refer to Jean and Pierre Lafitte and their pirate crews. Around a half century ago an event occurred at Grand Chenier that lent credence to these tales.

Workmen were building a new fence around the Catholic Cemetery at the western end of Grand Chenier. One of the men, while digging a hole, struck what turned out to be a large brick structure.

The southern end of Grand Chenier ridge was a gulf beach in an earlier day; consequently, it is composed chiefly of fine sand. Within hours after the workman's tool had hit the solid substance the discovery was completely unearthed.

The vault was built in the shape of the capital letter "L". The lest imaginative had no trouble connecting it with the Lafitte legend.

The longer arm of the "L" ran north and south; the shorter, east and west. The longer was approximately 25 feet in length by three in breadth; the shorter, twelve in length and four in breadth.

It was built of hand-molded bricks, which appeared to have been kiln-dried. Suitable clay for brick building lies within two miles of the old cemetery. The bricks were probably made on the spot. Lime for mortar must have been prepared there, for blackened shell had been burned in order to obtain lime.

The brick structure was solid except for a cavity near the end of the longer arm. This hollow was the shape and size of an old fashioned washpot. It had been sealed over carefully, presumably at the time the vault was built. Later it had been broken into through the side. Nor had any attempt been made to repair the opening.

Whatever the cavity may have contained it was now empty.

Speculation mounted as to the presence and purpose of the vault. It seemed quite logical that Lafitte had had the vault built, stored his treasure in it and sailed away. Later he or some of his crew must have returned, broken into the vault and retrieved its contents.

A certain old gentleman at the cemetery was intensely interested in unearthing the vault. No one worked harder in the hot sun that day than he.

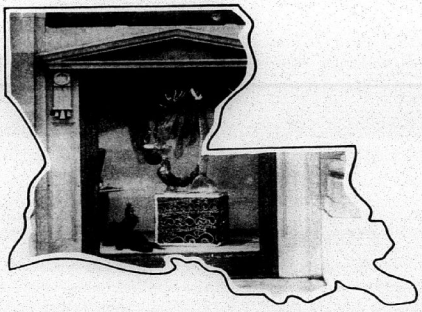
Later he explained his frenzied determination. During his boyhood he had lived with his parents on the south bank of the Mermentau River less than a mile from where the vault was later discovered.

One day four strange men came to visit his father. They were short, heavy-set, dark-skinned. They had come up the river form the Gulf in a lugger. For several days they conferred secretly with the father. They ceased talking whenever the boy approached them.

His curiosity was aroused. He kept his eyes open even if his ears could not catch their whispers. He saw the large sheet of soiled paper with the funny markings on it. Later he realzied that it must have been a map.

After days of consulation with one another, the strangers and the father began operations. They searched until they located a certain point on the bank of the river. With their mariner's compass and a measuring device, they proceeded along a straight line, running somewhat east and south.

The boy, screened from view by bushes and palmettos, trailed along. He said that the men measured a certain distance, stopped, and began to dig. For a day or more they spaded and poked. Whatever they sought eluded them. Finally, they returned to their small lugger and sailed away. Nor did they ever return.



The boy had forgotten all about the search till the vault was discovered. Now, an old man, he probed his memory for more particulars of that long ago incident. As well as he could recall, he said the strangers had dug about 30 feet from where the vault actualy was.

The cemetery workers left the vault intact. They reburied it. There it lies today beneath the sands of the Chenier, its riddle still unsolved. Perhaps a scientific study might reveal the true nature of the vault and its purpose; perhaps it will ever remain a mystery in a land of mysteries.

Marsh burning is good management practice

By HERB BELL
Sabine National Wildlife Refuge

Hey, the marsh is burning.

How many times have you said this? Probably quite a few times through the years unless you are a new resident of Southwest Louisiana. Everyone is awed at the wonder of green grass being consumed by a summer lighting strike. People are amazed when they observe a marsh fire for the first time, and want to know why the marsh is burning.

They are surprised to learn that fire is a common tool used by cattlemen, trappers, hunters and biologists in the management of the marshes.

Marsh burning originated with the Native Americans. The Seminoles were known to burn patches of the Florida everglades to attract wild game. In later years they burned the glades to improve pasture for their livestock and horses. The Indians of Southwest Louisiana also burned the marshes for similar purposes.

The burning of marshes was not always favored. Prior to 1910 along the Louisiana and Texas Gulf Coast intentional marsh burning was an unforgivable sin. By 1926 it was a fairly common practice. Alligator hunting prompted the revival of marsh burning. Since then, marsh burning has been a common tool used in marsh management.

In 1941 Fish and Wildlife Service Biologist Larry Givens documented the results various marsh fire research projects at Sabine National Wildlife Refuge. He noted that water levels within the marsh determined the type of marsh burn. Givens identified three types of marsh burns. The types were peat, root and cover. Peat burns are fires which consume the accumulations of peat within a marsh. This type creates ponds or open water areas within the marsh.

Root burns are fires which kill the roots of plants but do not consume the peat layer. Cover burns are fires which remove only the above ground parts of the plants. Root burns are favored by biologists and marsh managers for manipulating marsh plant species.

Cover burns allow geese and other wildlife to access plant crowns and roots creating greater feeding opportunities for them. Givens research substantiated the proper time of the year to burn the marsh for various desired results that had been developed by cattlemen and trappers.

Cattlemen prefer to burn the marsh in September. Marsh grasses grow rapidly during this period of the year and are readily grazed by cattle. Givens did note that September burns favor salt marsh grass growth while restricting other grasses and sedges.

Biologist Clark M. Hoffpauir of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission conducted marsh burning research at Rockefeller Refuge in the 1960's. He was the first to apply forest fire measurements techniques to marsh burns. Since then most forest fire methods have been adapted to marsh burns.

The Fish and Wildlife Service joined the National Interagency Fire Program in 1978. Yearly fire plans were systematically developed for each National Wildlife Refuge. In 1989, Sabine NWR became actively involved in the National Fire Program.

At that time an aerial ignition technique was used to burn some of the refuge's marshes. The aerial technique used was composed of a helicopter equipped with a Mark 3 Aerial Ignition device. This device can be set to eject ignition balls better known as ping-pong balls at desired intervals. The evaluation of the technique was favorable. Within one hour nearly 3,000 acres were ignited. Most noticeable was the reduction of fire intensity and smoke duration. Approximately 25,000 acres of marsh were burned in a two day period.

In the past, the some area would burn for 4 to 5 days before the desired results were obtained. Better control of the fire and reduction in smoke pollution was obtained by using the aerial ignition technique.

Do You Remember?

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well, the Lake Arthur and Shell Beach free ferry is now in operation. Now if this is well cared for it will prove of immense value to the residents of the south side of the lake. It will pay the merchants of Lake Arthur to keep it up in good shape. The adjacent farms on the Vermilion side will also be much benefitted. This convenient connection between the two parishes ought to make some radical changes in several lines.

The event was celebrated by a grand mass meeting and barbecue on Friday which was a success in every way. Many prominent speakers made addresses, among whom were Judges Gorham, Bilbo and Adams, the brother of our gubernatorial candidate Wilkinson, and Calcasieu's District Attorney.

It is reported that two of the Vaughn brothers were blown out to sea in the storm of the 11th and at present writing have not been heard from.

A large party of Lake Arthur folks went for an outing as far as the gulf in houseboats, had a fine time and on their return trip put in a few days at Lakeside, returning to Lake Arthur last Sunday.

We had ice thick enough to break on the 18th, and several frosts that seemed like light falls of snow. Anything tender in our gardens is a thing of the past.

Mr. Mark Nunemaker is on the sick list this week suffering from a billious attack.

THE FUR FESTIVAL
(By Jerry Wise)

Despite the cold weather which may have hampered the attendance a bit at the outdoor events, I think everyone will have to agree that this was the best fur and wildlife festival ever. In fact, some of the events were so good that festival leaders are going to have a hard time surpassing them in the future.

Take the parade for example, one of the best we have ever seen anywhere. Co-chairmen Jimmie Derouen and Frankie Henry and the various groups who entered floats are to be congratulated on what turned out to be the high light of the entire festival. All of the entries were beautiful and original, and it was a pity that there were not prizes for all of them--they all deserved them.

The float which really caught everybody's attention was Gulf Menhaden's trapping scene. The old trapping cabin was almost perfect. Congratulations to Bobby Styron and fellows at Gulf Menhaden who spent a good deal of time on this float (Incidentally, Bobby says the $50 first prize which the float won for originality was being donated by the plant to the Optimist Club for their youth work.)

Another float, which did not win a prize, but nevertheless, was highly original, was entered by the Lions Club. It consisted of a huge papier mache lion (the four legged kind) with eyes that lit up. Ray Champagne put many hours of work into this float, which originally was to have been self-propelled. At the last minute, however, the mechanism broke down and it had to be pulled.

OFFSHORE TRACTS BIDS

The Louisiana State Mineral Board this week announced that it will receive bids on the leasing of eight offshore tracts in the East and West Cameron areas on Feb. 19. This is the first offshore tracts to be offered for lease in three years.

The action could mean an upturn in the offshore oil activity, which reached a peak several years ago, but which in the past two years has fallen off greatly.

ANOTHER VICTIM FOUND
(By Mrs. H. D. Primeaux)

Another of Hurricane Audrey's victims has been found.

Bleached bones and a few fragments of underclothing were found last week between Sweetlake and Willow Lake and were taken to O'Donnel funeral home.

Dr. S. E. Carter, parish coroner, said the remains appear to be those of a woman, approximately 5 feet, 2 inches tall. He said it was possible that identification could be made from the teeth. This is the first body found within the last six months or more. For almost a year after the hurricane, one or two bodies a week were being found in the marsh.

K OF C HOME TO BE DEDICATED

The new Knights of Columbus Council 3014 home will be dedicated Saturday night in Creole in special ceremonies which will be attended by a number of K of C officers and visitors from other councils.

The new 40 by 80 foot home is being dedicated as a memorial to the members of the Knights of Columbus who lost their lives in Hurricane Audrey. These were Dallas Vincent, S. D. Broussard, Percy M. Richard, Phyllis D. McCall and Clementine Bertrand. A plaque containing their names has been erected in the front of the building.

Council 3014 was first formed in 1946 with 30 charter members and Mark Richard as its first Grand Knight. The old K of C home, remodeled from an old building in 1950 served the council.

The past Grand Knights have been Mark Richard, J. O. Theriot, Wilson Montie, Whitney Broussard, Dalton Richard and Jimmy Derouen. E. J. Dronet is now in his third term in that office.

Albert Miller sold his mules and has invested in 3 fine ponies, returning with them from Iota last week.

We are certainly having fine weather and the mercury got up to 78.

Adolph Miller is in very poor health again.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller are happy over the arrival of a fine boy at their home. Amar Miller is also rejoicing over the advent of a fine girl in his family.

Some of our farmers have made wine from their surplus oranges as the crop was so large it could not be disposed of.

The ground is in fine shape for plowing and quite a few of our neighbors have taken advantage of it. Pomeroys are ready to disc their land.

CATTLE LOSSES FROM WINTER BLAST

Southwest Louisiana cattlemen sustained the heaviest weather loss of the century among their herds in the blizzard that swept down to the coast.

Cameron Parish cattle lie frozen to death today along the beach with fatalities estimated at 1,000. Calcasieu and Jeff Davis losses were estimated at 4 to 5 percent.

Gardens and truck crops were wiped out in Calcasieu, Cameron, Jeff Davis, Allen and Beauregard parishes.

P. T. Sartwell of Lake Charles, secretary of the Southwest Louisiana Livestock Loan Co. said much of the loss could have been prevented had the government bought cattle in the drought program. Calcasieu, Cameron, and Jeff Davis applied for sales of 30,000 head of cattle in that program, but were turned down by the government. Cameron applied for sales on the strength of tidal salt water destroying range grass.

(Cameron Pilot, Jan. 30, 1959)
COMMUNITY CENTER PLANNED FOR CAMERON

A community center building will be erected in Cameron sometime this year if the plans of local civic and veterans groups go through. Representative of the Optimist and Lions clubs, the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Tuesday at Fred's to discuss the proposed building.

The center will be built on the eight and half acre tract of land northeast of the courthouse which was recently leased by the clubs for use as a recreation park.

Dr. Cecil Clark, chairman of the building committee appointed by the Optimist club, which originated the plans for the park and center said a 60 by 120 foot steel prefab could be erected for around $7200 to $9000. After a down payment, the building could be paid off in five years at a cost of about $1400 a year.

Fur Festival President Hadley Fontenot said his group would put up $2000 towards the cost of the building; the Optimists pledged $500, and the Lions are planning to make a contribution. Letters are also being sent to various outside firms who do business in Cameron Parish asking for donations to the fund.

A large amount of money is expected to be raised for the building at a big Fourth of July celebration this year to be held in connection with the annual deep sea fishing rodeo to be sponsored by the local civic clubs, this will consist of a street dance, shrimp boil, cake sale, etc. Hadley Fontenot has been named general chairman.

The community center will be used by the Fur Festival for displays, funs and programs; by the Optimist club for its many youth activities, and by all other various programs and events.

LIBRARY BOARD OFFICERS

Mrs. Charles Precht of Sweetlake was elected president of the Cameron Parish Library Board at its Jan. 12 meeting at the library. She succeeds Mrs. Virgie LeBleu of Cameron in that position.

Unusual events . . .

Unusual events may be more prevalent than we realize. Many are sad; others are humorous.

In January of this year John Thompson, an 18-year-old high school senior in Hurdsfield, North Dakota, was home along grinding feed for pigs when he got caught in a tractor's power take-off unit. One arm was ripped off at the shoulder; the other, near the elbow.

The youth staggered 400 yards to the house and opened a door with his mouth. In the den he picked up a pencil with his teeth and used it to telephone a nearby cousin.

Help arrived. The ambulance driver found the torn-off arms and rushed them and the boy to a hospital, where the limbs were attached.

In southern Sweden in 1989, an 80-year-old lady decided to sunbathe on her balcony. As she sat down, the cloth seat tore and the chair folded, leaving her caught in it with her head between her knees. She was trapped in this position for 48 hours.

Then a caretaker across the street spied the poor soul in this peculiar position. He alerted the police, who forced open her apartment door, went to the balcony and lifted her out. In shock, she was rushed to a hospital.

In a lighter vein was an occurence a few weeks ago in Boynton Beach, Florida. A call to 911 with no one reporting the reason sent the police to Barbara Maple's apartment. They knocked. No one answered.

An hour later a series of quick calls came to 911. Again the police rushed to Ms. Maple's apartment. Repeated knocking at her door finally aroused the lady from her nap. She insisted that no call had been made from her apartment. The police insisted on looking around.

"Cat dialed 911 using auto redial. Case closed," read the police log entry.

An unusual case of cat-calls it was.

Back in 1956, Charlton Heston got the role of Moses in the remake of "The Ten Commandments" because he had sustained a broken nose while playing football in college.

Cecil B. DeMille, while researching for the film, learned that Michaelangelo's statue of Moses had his nose broken in the same place as Heston's.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

The BEASLEY and RINKLE families were pioneer settlers in the Kisatchie area of Natchitoches Parish. James Beasley, Sr. established a stage stop in 1856 at Steep Hill for the route between Many/Ft. Jessup to Alexandria and on to Opelousas.

James, Sr. married Rosanna Sophia Rinkle and James, Jr. married a daughter of John and Louisa Johnson Boswell, one of their 15 children. Rosanna (Rosa) Sophia Beasley, a daughter of James, Jr., maried Louis Griswold Dodd who came to Lotus, LA as a teacher and they had 7 children; Earl, Marie, James, Gladys, Mandy Mae, Louis and D.D.

Family ties by marriage to Boswells included Self, Fox, Whatley, Dempsey, Lee, Marshall and Daymon families; to Beasleys: Fuller, Airhart, Whatley, Boswell and Wade; and through the years, many more to both lines.

Gator hunters to be added at the refuges

Expansion of the alligator trapping programs on the three federal wildlife refuges in Cameron parish was announced at the Cameron Parish Police Jury meeting Monday by Will Nidecker, Sabine National Wildlife Refuge manager.

The number of trappers on the Sabine Refuge will be expanded from five to ten; Lacassine refuge will have six; and the Cameron Prairie Refuge will have three, for a total of 19 trapping positions.

Nidecker said a public drawing will be held at the Cameron Parish police jury building on April 30 at 10 a.m. to award trapping permits to the 19 trappers. The permits will cover alligator trapping programs on the refuges from 1992 to 1994.

Each trapper's share will be 70% for all alligators taken.

Anyone 18 years of age or older, who is interested in receiving a permit and can demonstrate that they have prior trapping experience should contact any of the refuges at:

Nidecker told the jury that the Sabine refuge had 300,000 visitors last year. He said it presently has 12 employees but is seeking five more, one to work with the tourists, a fulltime game warden, two techicians and a computer specialist.

He said improvement projects are scheduled this year, including the rebuilding of Pool 3 levee and the plug project for the Cameron-Creole Watershed.

He said a recent proposal by the police jury that a federal fish hatchery be established in Cameron parish was good and is needed for redfish and speckle trout.

C. J. Kiffe, Cameron businessman, asked Nidecker why so many shrimp had been killed in the marsh on the refuge in the December freeze. Nidecker said he understood that the temperature had dropped so rapidly that the shrimp had not had time to get deeper water where they would be protected.

Society meeting

Directors of the Cameron Parish Cancer Society will meet Thursday, Feb. 6, at 3 p.m. at the Cameron Library.

Plans for the 1992 cancer crusade will be made, reports from standing committees will be heard, a vote will be taken on the certificate of authorizaiton, and a video "Mission Statement" will be shown.

Kelley takes part in Washington program

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Ed Kelley, chairman of the Cameron Parish Tourist Commission, has just returned from Washington, D. C. where he and two others from Louisiana were guests of the National Coastal Resources and Development Institute at a Congressional Forum.

Accompanying Kelley were Mike Liffman of the Louisiana Sea Grant College program and Steve Henning, with the L.S.U. Agricultural Economics program.

The purpose of the forum was to review the success of partial funding of NCRI projects in small coastal towns who need assistance in economic development.

NCRI has been cooperating with Louisiana Sea Grant on this type of program in Cameron Parish.

Kelley reported that NCRI officials are very pleased with the programs instituted in Cameron Parish and noted their success on such items as creating a Cameron Parish Tourist Commission, the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce and the inception of the Cameron Parish Beach Clean-up program.

Kelley has also served as the chairman of the clean-up program since its inception.

Increase asked for oystering

At the suggestion of Juror George LeBouef, the Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday voted to seek legislation to increase the number of sacks of oysters that can be taken daily by a fisherman from 10 to 15 following periods of heavy rains when fishermen are not allowed to fish.

LeBouef also got the jury to agree to write Senator John Breaux to try to get the spoils from the dredging of the ship channel placed on the west side of the channel in the Hackberry area to help with erosion.

At his request, the jury also agreed to try to get the federal government to change its flood insurance regulations requiring mobile homes to be elevated. He said that raising the homes only exposes them to greater damage from high winds.

BY POLICE JURY

Hospital funding being considered

The Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday indicated that it wanted more time to study a request from the Lower Cameron Hospital Board to issue $1.5 million in certificates of indebtedness.

Hospital Administrator Joe Soileau said the board wanted the funds to build a new 20-bed nursing facility and a 12-bed geriatric/psychiatric unit and elderly care facility.

Soileau said the estimate cost of the project was $600,000 but that the board was seeking permissioin for $1.5 million in case more funds would be needed.

Bond Attorney Fred Chevallier told the jury that if the jury approved the request the matter would be brought before the State Bond Commission on Feb. 20.

District Attorney Glenn Alexander advised the jury that it would not be held liable for repayment of the bonds if the hospital district defaults but that it could damage the parish's bond ratings.

Jurors expressed support for the hospital additions, but Juror George LeBouef urged the jury to wait a couple of months to allow furthur study. He pointed out that the parish's economic conditions are not good at this time.

Parents offered free program

A five-week course called "Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" will be offered at South Cameron Elementary School beginning Thursday, Feb. 20. The program is being sponsored by the Cameron Parish School Board Drug Free Schools Program and the Parent-Teacher Association at South Cameron Elementary.

The progam is for parents of children in grades 4-7 and teaches parents to identify the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and to practice skills which will "promote family bonding and reduce those risks."

Surveys conducted for the National Institute of Drug Abuse show that most teenagers today will use alcohol or marijuana before leaving high school. Nearly one in twenty high school seniors uses alcohol on a daily basis. In 1988, eighteen percent of the high school seniors in the U.S. had used marijuana in the past month.

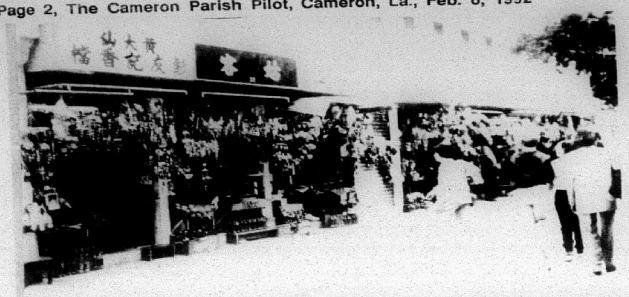
The program is based on research which has identified the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and the protective factors which can help teenagers develop into healthy adults. the program was developed by Drs. J. David Hawkins and Richard F. Catalano of the University of Washington.

In a review of research conducted over the past thirty years, Catalano and Hawkins have identified eleven factors that increase the risk of young people developing problems with alcohol or other drugs. These risk factors include:

-- A family history of alcoholism
-- Family management problems
-- Parental drug use or positive parental attitudes toward use
-- Early antisocial behavior
-- Academic failure
-- A low degree of commitment to school
-- A low degree of social bonding
-- Antisocial behavior in early adolescence
-- Friends who use drugs
-- Favorble attitudes toward drug use
-- Early first use of drugs

The program teaches parents to reduce five of these risk factors which may often be present during the late elementary and middle school grades. The risk factors addressed in this program are positive parental attitudes toward drug use, family management problems, low degree of social bonding, friends who use drugs and early first use of drugs.

Workshop activities are based on Hawkins and Catalano's Social Development Strategy, a theory of human behavior that identifies the factors which promote social bonding and positive behavior. Their research has shown that children who are bonded to their parents, school, non-drug using peers and to the community are less likely to become involved in negative behavior, such as drug use, that may threaten those bonds.



Parents will learn to incease their children's opportunities for involvement in the family, to teach key skills needed in adolescence and to provide rewards for positive behavior as well as appropriate consequences for undesired behavior.

The workshop will be held at South Cameron Elementary School each Thursday from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on Feb. 20, Feb. 27, March 5, March 12 and March 19.

There will be no cost to parents attending the workshop, however there are a limited number of spaces available. Free childcare will be available. For more information on childcare call Barry Richard, Principal at South Cameron Elementary School, 542-4401. A family workbook will also be provided.

For additional information on the workshop and to reserve your space, plese call any of the contact persons listed below:

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is a continuation of an account of a recent trip that Geneva Griffith and Joy Wise made to Hong Kong).

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

We met our tour guide the next day at our hotel, after a hearty breakfast served buffet style, with both Western and Eastern dishes served. The Chinese cuisine was served from bamboo warmers on the steam tables. Our guide greeted us with "Confucius says, It's always a great pleasure to have friends from afar."

We were taken on a sightseeing tour of Hong Kong, including a tram ride to the top of Victoria Peak overlooking the city. The tram was similar to the vaniculars we rode in Spain and Switzerland, and took us straight up the mountain at a 45 degree angle.

From the look-out platform at the peak you can look down on the harbor and all of the giant skyscrapers that make up the heart of the city.

While at the top we heard sirens and my reporter antenna went up and I ran out and got a picture of police cars, fire trucks and ambulances going further up the peak to the residential section.

We were then taken to an opal factory where we observed jewelers making jewelry from Australian opals, where I purchased my Christmas present for myself, a 5¼ ct. opal drop, which I dearly love.

The remainder of the day we did what everyone in Hong Kong "the Shopping Capitol of the World", does - "Shop, shop, until you drop."

We spent the afternoon at "Stanley Market" one of the must places to visit in Hong Kong.

Tiny stalls straddle the streets and alleys around Stanley Market Road selling everything from fake designer gear, good sportswear and jeans, linens, silk ties and happy coats, silk scarves, food, household goods, crockery, toys, and almost anything you could think of to buy.

Here is where we purchased our chops, which are stamps with your last name carved into wood individually in the Chinese character that is your name.

You are asked your name, which is divided into syllables, and my chop became two syllables, Griff-ith.

It was fun watching the craftsman carving out the name on one end of a block which has jade characters on the other end as a decoration.

We bought some lovely souvenirs here, but found that the linens were over-priced, too high to have to wag back in our luggage.

Shopping the Chinese way is to barter, never taking the marked price as the one you will end up with. Many times the merchant will keep coming down on the price until a comprise will be agreed.

Since the Hong Kong exchange rate was 7.7, which means seven dollars and seventy cents for one of our dollars.

When we got tired we strolled over to some park benches overlooking the peaceful bay below where some fishing boats were anchored offshore from the beach and stilted fishing cabins jutted out by the water's edge.

We met a lovely vacationing couple here from Atlanta who said they come here every year, "to get away from it all."

Later, we met a doctor and his wife in a quaint little cafe just across the street who were also there from the states, and we shared a cab with them back to our hotel.

The next morning at our breakfast I got brave enough to try some of the Chinese dishes such as Dim-Sum. It is steamed or braised stuffed dumplings, small cakes and other apetizers (much like the tapas served in Spain.)

Some restaurants will offer something like sixty different dishes, but everyday items include pork, prawn (shrimp), crab, beef, or shark's fin dumplings, as well as spring rolls, toast, rice and cooked meats in lotus leaves, curried squid, chicken feet, turnip cake, stuffed peppers, custard tarts and steamed sweet rolls.

I even learned to use chop sticks, but found it too slow for my taste, so resorted to the trusty fork to finish up.

Do You Remember?

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well, we got that cold spell good and plenty; 26 degrees, and ice is in all the buckets, etc. outdoors. Tomato plants and other tender garden truck are all wilted down.

Range cattle are getting quite thin and if the hard weather continues many will probably die.

By the middle of next month the North American Canal from Lake Misere to the Mermentau to Sweet Water Bayou on the Calcasieu, will be finished and will certainly be a fine thing for this section. A trip to Lake Charles by water will be an easy proposition and the man with the gasoline boat will be right in it.

Mark Nunemaker has been appointed road overseer for this section of the parish. He and Lucius Brossard have been getting in some stringers on the bridge crossing the Klondike canal.

Mr. Graves of Lowery is selling off all of his belongings preparatory to locating in Texas.

Mark Nunemaker and Mr. Benoit made a trip to Little Chenier on the 21 and 22 of the month on Mr. Benoit's gasoline boat and had a fine trip.

(Lake Charles American Press, Feb. 5, 1926)
HIGHWAY TO CAMERON

Mr. J. S. (Doc) Brice, a highway promoter who lives in DeQuincy thinks that in the near future Hackberry Island will become a great oil field with one or more refineries on the Calcasieu Ship Channel at "Port Ellender".

With other prospective oil fields at Big Woods, Starks, Niblett's Bluff, Buhler, Singer, DeQuincy, Choupique and Vincent Settlement, Mr. Brice believes that a modern highway from Deridder to the town of Cameron via Sulphur and Hackberry is a certainty.

Mr. Brice states that a bill will be introudced at the next session of the state legislature for opening a highway the entire distance between DeRidder and Cameron, and adding such road to the state's system of highways for contruction and maintenance.

The single most popular entree in American restaurants is the hamburger.

(Cameron Pilot, Feb. 6, 1959)
SCHOOL LUNCHES

As a result of a 50 percent cut in state school lunch funds, all Cameron parish schools had to go up on school lunch charges to students this week, Supt. U. E. Hackett reported.

Mr. Hackett said that the state had been allowing the parish 17 cents a day per child but this has been cut to 8½ cents.

Cameron schools were probably more fortunate than those of a good many other parishes in that through good management the local schools had small balances in their lunch funds and were not forced to go up as much as some other schools.

REP. ROACH REPORTS:

State budget discussed

By RANDY ROACH

In my last report I told you that I would provide you with an explanation of the State's Budge situation for next year. It will take more than one legislative column to fully explain the "hows and whys" of the budget process. This week I will give you an overview of the projected budget deficit for next year.

Our budget year begins on July 1. The law requires that the budget he balanced. The legislature cannot spend more money than the state is expected to receive during the budget year. The official estimate of future revenue is prepared by the revenue estimating conference committee.

The committee met in January and projected that the state will receive $4.210 billion in revenue during the next budget year if the legislature continues the "temporary" sales taxes on food and utilities. It will cost the state $4.832 billion to continue the present level of state services.

The state will also have to cover a $74 million shortfall in state revenue for this year due to a decline in receipts from corporate income taxes and from mineral revenues.

That means that we will need $696 million to balance next year's budget. ($4.832 minus $4.210 = $622. Add to that $74 for a grand total of $696.)

Where does this $696 million shortfall come from? Last year the state used all of the surplus money it had saved over the past four years ($428 million) to balance this year's budget. The balance, $268 million, represents the additional cost to maintain the current level of state services during the next budget year.

At a special legislative meeting held two weeks ago, Raymond Laborde, Commissioner of Administration, announced that the governor had already asked his new department heads to work together to come up with approximately $380 million in cuts. He also pointed out that the governor was prepared to honor his campaign promise not to raise taxes.

He admitted that this meant that even if the governor was able to make those recommended cuts he would still need $316 million in additional revenue to cover the projected budget deficit.

This $696 million shortfall does not include any money for any new programs or the cost of any additional services. It does not include the $58 million needed to cover a proposed pay increase for college faculty, the $60 million to cover the cost of income tax refunds which many legal experts believe the state will be required to pay federal retirees nor the $150 million in additional funding for local school systems which has been requested by a group of local school boards from around the state.

As you can see it will be difficult to balance the budget for next year without some additional revenue. Before I review the budget alternatives which are currently being discussed I think that it is important that you understand where the money goes and how we compare to other southern states in terms of our present level of state spending. Next week I will summarize how the state spends its money.

How to make millions in your spare time.

It only costs a dollar.
Match all six numbers and win a jackpot of $1 million or more. You can also match five of six numbers and win $1,500. Or match four of six and win $50 instant cash. Not bad for a dollar.

What if nobody wins?
Then everybody wins. Because if no one matches all six numbers correctly, the jackpot amount is carried over to the next week. And it keeps growing until some lucky person (like you) wins.

How to play.
Just mark six numbers between 1 and 44 on a playslip like the one above. Or mark the Quick Pick box on your playslip and let the lottery computer pick the six numbers for you. You can get up to five plays per playslip. After you've decided on your lucky numbers, pick up your ticket from the Lotto retailer. And don't forget to check your numbers to make sure they are correct.

Watch your clock and your TV.
Live drawings of the winning numbers are held every Saturday night at 9:59. You can watch the drawings on your local Lotto television station. But be sure to purchase your tickets for the Saturday night drawings before 9:50 p.m. that day.

Hobby can be relaxing

A hobby is one of the most valuable activities in which one may indulge. It brings personal satisfaction to its possessor by offering relaxation, enjoyment, knowledge, perhaps even friendship. It proves excellent therapy in periods of physical and mental illness. A hobby often yields financial profit, although it should not be its primary purpose since its values may be lost in the stress of business.

Many historical figures took up hobbies. Charles V of the Holy Roman Empire collected watches. King Louis XIV of France designed furniture. Several antebellum homes in Louisiana hold rare antiques which once graced his palace of Versailles. In the last year of Napoleon Bonaparte's life he created a verdant garden on the rocky isle of his imprisonment. With the help of others the one-time conqueror and self-proclaimed emperor planted roses and shrubs, fruit trees, and an oak for shade.

President Thomas Jefferson's various collections ran a close second to his inventions. President Franklin D. Roosevelt's huge collection of 1,250,000 stamps brought $250,000 after his death.

J. Pierpont Morgan, financier, as a child, collected fragments of old stained glass found on the ground beneath cathedral windows. In later life, he collected books, paintings, jades, ivories, bronzes, tapestries, miniatures, snuff boxes, watches, Bibles, Church of England rituals and autographs.

Not all of us have the money for rare collections or other expensive hobbies, but that should not deter us from pursuing others for sheer pleasure.

For years I have collected bells. There are about a hundred of all kinds in my possession. Now I am collecting music boxes. My favorite activity is crocheting afghans.

My youngest grandson's hobby is building furniture. The oldest collects leather-bound classics. The middle grandson has bought a curio cabinet in which to house his collection of clowns and Mardi Gras masks. My sister collects anything in the form of a cow - from earrings to kitchen gadgets to chimes. Their mother collected trivets till she switched to candle holders and teapots. My son-in-law's hobby is golf.

One relative collects pen pals from all over the world. Each month she writes fifty-odd letters to correspondents. Another makes electric lamps out of this and that.

A friend repairs and dresses old dolls. Another travels extensively and logs her journeys. Upon her return she shares her writing and accompanying pictures with her friends. In this respect she reminds me of Geneva Griffith, who has also become a world traveler.

Do you have a hobby? It makes precious little difference what the outside interest is so long as you enjoy it and find in it a means of self-expression. So lasso a hobby and let it carry you to new adventures.

Grand Lake PTA sponsors program

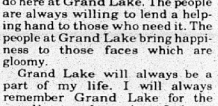
During December the Grand Lake PTA sponsored a program called "Pump It Up Week". The Cameron Pilot published an article and essays on the event. PTA inadvertently sent a wrong essay to be published. Our apologies to Delores Arceneaux of Mrs. LeMaire's sixth grade class, who actually won first place in the fifth/sixth grade category. Congratulations Delores!



WHY I'M PROUD TO GO TO GRAND LAKE

By Delores Arceneaux

Grand Lake has added joy and pleasure to my life. If Grand Lake, the faculty and staff wouldn't be present in my life. I would not be as far as I am today. Joy at Grand Lake comes from the activities we do that brighten our education. Many times I wonder if any other school could do as much for me.

People at Grand Lake always have a reply or a word - "thought to pass on. Teachers bring joy to all I do here at Grand Lake. The people are always willing to lend a helping hand to those who need it. The people at Grand Lake bring happiness to those faces which are gloomy.

Grand Lake will always be a part of my life. I will always remember Grand Lake for the excellent education I have received so far. These memories I have of Grand Lake will always make me proud to say - "I'm Proud To Go To Grand Lake."

The greatest recorded temperature rise in two minutes occurred in Spearfish, S.D. on Jan. 22, 1943. The temperature was -4 degrees F. at 7:30 a.m. and at 7:32 it rose to 45 degrees F.

WET JANUARY

January has really proven to be a wet month. The normal rainfall for the month is around 4 inches, but we've had 12 to 14 inches in some areas of the parish.

Water is all through the marshes, and coming in places upon the ridges. The ones who had goose blinds in the marshes are flooded and the geese are having to feed on the ridges.

I had a chance this past weekend to get on a goose hunt with friends at their camp. We really had a nice time. Duck jambalaya and stuffed speckle belly were the treats and of course a little card game. The hunting was a little slow, 9 speckle belly were knocked down and 6 brought back to the camp. I really enjoyed it and 6 nice speckle belly isn't bad.

We have a few people still hunting geese, but speckle belly is now closed as of Jan. 30. The last 10 days, Jan. 31 through Feb. 9, is for only blue and snow geese.

A hunter could do good with all this water if he could find the ridges the geese are working. I do believe many will leave because of the high water.

I think after February 9, when goose season closes, the only bird hunting left will be snipes. It will close Feb. 23. In the animal hunting, the only thing left open is rabbit season. It will close Feb. 29.

I guess it's really time now to start thinking more on the fishing season ahead.

AREA FISHING

After conversations with our area refuge managers, I have some dates of opening. Rockefeller Refuge will open March 1. This is a great saltwater area for fishing, plus an outlet at Joseph Harbor and Rollover Bayou to the Gulf. There is also excellent shrimping, crabbing and crawfishing. Bass fishing has started to get good also on the refuge. Remember the rules, get them at the headquarters in Grand Chenier.

Sabine Refuge will open March 15. This again is a great fishing area for bass, perch and catfish. Crabbing, crawfishing and shrimping also are good. Get their rules, the main quarters are on La. 27 south of Hackberry.

Lacassine Refuge in the Lowery area will open March 1. This refuge is great for catfish, bass and perch.

Lacassine had a great bow season for deer and just as good a duck season as the rest of our parish. Again, get your information and rules. Headquarters are off La. 14 West of Lake Arthur on the Lowery Road.

The Cameron Prairie Refuge, our newest refuge, located on La. 82 by Gibbstown Bridge will open for fishing on March 15. Now you really need to check with the headquarters. There's just a few areas open for fishing right now. Also, we'll have to wait and see about this rain, because they'll flood and maybe this could be a delay for opening. Many have asked about the Southeast area of the refuge by the Intracoastal Canal. It will not open unless a biologist recommends it.

The impoundment we're talking about was stocked a couple of years ago with Florida bass, but we had a drought and usually they don't know how many bass survived. They will have a biologist come and make a survey and then he'll make the recommendation.

The refuge had plenty of ducks and geese this year. You cannot hunt migratory birds on the refuge, but it was a haven for the birds. Now they did have a fine bow season for deer, and good bucks were killed, without damage to the herd.

The Big Burns and Miami Corporation's permit fishing lands will open March 14. There should be plenty of water to get around and bass fishing should be tops. When the permit fishing stopped last August, the bass were plentiful and good size were taken. We did not, so far, have a bad winter, and these fish kept right on growing and we had plenty of water, so I'm predicting a great season.

Last year Lacassine Refuge produced some large bass. Several six and seven pounders and one over eight pounds. The Big Burns had lots of 4 and 5 pounders and several 6 pounders with a couple of 7 pounders reported, so these two areas should be great this year.

Many of our area bass and perch fishermen are fishing along the roads and private ponds now. Some are doing real good; in fact I had a call this morning that a ten and three quarters pounder was caught in a private pond, it was weighed on a doctor's scale. the fish, a nice large mouth bass, was released.

FEEDING PERIODS

Nutria meat market

MARKET FOR NUTRIA MEAT
(By Elora Montie)

Here's good news for parish trappers! There is now a market for nutria meat here.

Curley Savoie of Abbeville is making a twice a week round of this area with a refrigeration truck buying nutria meat from the trappers. He is currently paying 3 cents a pound for it.

Jimmy Doxey, Cameron fur buyer, had announced earlier in the season that he intended to buy nutria meat this year, but he was unable to work out arrangements for freezing it. However, he said he hopes to be able to buy the meat next year.

Much interest in nutria meat has been shown in all parts of the state lately. One firm is presently buying it to be used for feed for ranch mink up north.

Nutria pelt prices were very good this past week also. Curley Touchette of Abbeville is presently the only one buying pelts on the Chenier.

MILLION DOLLAR INDUSTRY

Shrimping in Cameron is a million dollar industry, Tom Steed of Steed's Fish Company told the Cameron Lions Club at their Wednesday meeting at Fred's Restaurant.

Mr. Steed's talk is one in a series being made by Lion members on their various professions. He also showed a color movie which shows his shrimp plant.

Last year, which was one of the best in recent years, between 1,900,000 and 2,000,000 pounds of shrimp were brought into Cameron. These had a wholesale value of $1½ million.

The three shrimp houses in town hired more than 200 employees and had a payroll of $83,000 last year. In addition, the shrimp boats spent nearly $50,000 with local grocery stores.

Prospects for shrimping this year are good, Mr. Steed said. He said that the new closed season has had beneficial effects on the shrimp and that they now seem to be on the increase.

Feb. 6, 1959)
COURTHOUSE TO HAVE GENERATOR

A small addition to the Cameron courthouse is being planned to house an auxiliary generator to be used by the Civil Defense in case of a storm.

The Police Jury Monday authorized Alvin Dyson, local contractor, to draw up plans for the addition and to submit prices on the work at a special meeting. Because the jury wants the work completed before the storm season gets here this summer, an emergency was declared so that the job would not have to be advertised.

The addition will be level with the main floor of the courthouse and will be located on the north side. This would place the generator out of the reach of storm waters, it is believed.

AROUND THE PARISH

Army Pfc. Rodney L. Jeffers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie L. Jeffers, Cameron, recently participated with the 4th Armored Division's 54th Infantry in combat efficiency training tests in Germany.

Despite the bad weather, more than 600 persons turned out for the gumbo supper Thursday night of last week at Grand Lake High School, and $420 was raised for the band uniforms.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Campbell of Lake Arthur were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Harrison last Wednesday.

James Daigle named All-State Academic Team

By JOE MUELLER

South Cameron's James Daigle was selected to the all State Academic Class AA Football Team.

Daigle, who has a grade point average of 3.2, was selected as a defensive back.

Other players from 6AA District selected were Chris Dobson at center; Leonard LeJune, quarterback; Cade McManus, nose guard; Travis LeJune, defensive tackle and Leonard LeJune, defensive back, all from Iota.

Athletic Assoc. changes told

By JOE MUELLER

The Louisiana High School Athletic Association held its meetings last week in Lafayette.

Probably the most important thing to come out of the meetings concerning local schools is that football wildcard teams will now be selected on a power rating basis. In the past, you had to finish third in your district to be considered.

If the power system rating had been in effect last fall, probably all of the teams in District 6AA who finished with identical 3-2 records would have gone to the playoffs instead of some 2-8 and 3-7 third place teams.

One other proposal passed was that basketball games will be played on home courts rather than neutral sites in all classes except B and C.

Wrestling tournament set for Saturday

Saturday, Feb. 8, the second annual Calcasieu Marine National Bank Tarpon Wrestling Tournament will be held at South Cameron High school.

The tournament will begin at 10 a.m. with the introduction of Clarence Vidrine, former Tarpon wrestling coach, who will introduce the Tarpon wrestlers who were State Champions during the 1970's and the three State Championship Teams that were the State Champions in 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Three teams will visit South Cameron for this tournament. They are Basile, the 1991 state champions; Brusly High School, 1991 State Runner-up and Bell Chase High School. There will be approximately seven returning state champions who will wrestle for these teams.

The Tarpons will use this meet as a lift for the state tournament that will be held next week in New Orleans at Jesuit High School. The money raised at this tournament will help support the Tarpon wrestlers while they are in New Orleans.

The Tarpon wrestlers will be led by a number of wrestlers who are making a strong showing. These are returning 1990 State Champion Jody LaVergne in the 171 lb. class, Rusty Welch in the 189 lb. class and Robby Peshoff in the Heavyweight class.

Facts & Fancies

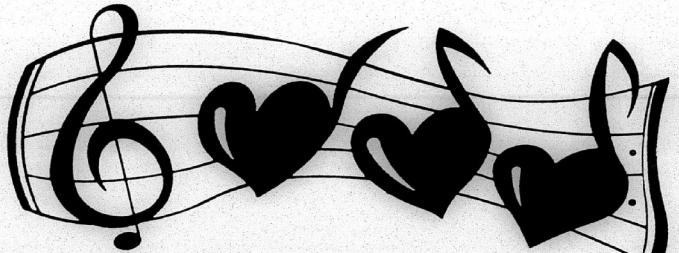
Every dog has its day, they say—but few pets enjoy the "dog days" of summer! Warmer weather can be dangerous for dogs if they're not properly cared for. Fortunately, your pet may stay happy and healthy if you take these six helpful hints:

1. If you leave your dog out in the yard, be sure there's plenty of shade.

2. Keep in mind that school's out—and so are children. For everyone's protection, keep your dog on a leash or within a secure enclosure.



3. Don't leave your dog's food out in hot weather—bacteria grows quickly. If food must be left out, make it the dry kind.

4. Visit the vet for parasite medication. Check daily for ticks and fleas.

5. Try not to leave the dog alone in your car—it heats up quickly. If you must, park in the shade and leave the windows open so fresh air can circulate.

6. Most importantly: always keep plenty of cool, fresh water handy, inside and outside the house.

For more warm weather pet care advice, consult your veterinarian.

Ward 5 vote set on recreation

A complete recreation facility will be built in Ward 5 of Cameron parish if the voters of that area approve three propositions to be presented to them in a special action on Nov. 7.

The first proposition is for issuing $325,000 in bonds to finance the purchase of land, erection of a recreation building, construction of a ball field, and installation of playground equipment.

Proposition No. 2 is for $125,000 which would provide for the construction of a swimming pool and bath house.

The third proposal is for a 4-mill tax to maintain the facilities.

The recreation building will contain meeting rooms, a large recreation and game room which could be used for volleyball, basketball, pool paddle tennis, etc., kitchen facilities and showers. The building would be air conditioned.

A ball field suitable for American Legion type baseball and softball also would be building, complete with bleachers, concession stands and fenced-in field.

Also playground equipment, a water well, and paved parking area would be included in the project.

The swimming pool would be similar in size to the one at the Hackberry recreation center and would also have a wading pool and dressing rooms.

The recreation proposal is being offered to Ward 5 voters by the Ward 5 recreation commission composed of Mason Istre, chairman; Howard Romero, secretary-treasurer; Danny Trahan, Donald Billiot and Francis Erbelding.

Plans for the facilities were prepared by Hackett & Bailey, Architects & Engineers.

No site has been selected yet for the facilities.

All registered voters of the Ward may vote in the election.

Norman McCall, Ward 3 police jury member, announced the opening of a new garbage dump to serve the Cameron area.

It opened this week and is located on the beach approximately a quarter of a mile east of the present site which is located directly on the beach and has created an eyesore in the beach area for 15 years.

McCall said that the new dump is a large pond located on land leased from W. H. "Black" Carter. The pond was formed when Carter dug out the dirt and sand. The garbage will be used to fill it back up.

McCall plans to clean up the beach area where the present dump has been located. He will have all the garbage pushed into large hles and be covered over to form a scenic area.

He asks the public's cooperation in helping to keep these areas as neat as possible. It takes only a short time to throw the garbage into the hole instead of just throwing it beside the road where flies are attracted to it.

The refuse is burned daily by parish employees, McCall said. The garbage dump located on the Front Ridge road is for the convenience of the people in that area.

Lions endorse project

The Cameron Lions Club has gone on record urging the U. S. Corps of Engineers to approve permits for work in the Calcasieu River and Lake that will be part of the Cameron-Creole watershed project.

"Our membership is quite aware of the potential benefits to be derived from the Cameron-Creole Watershed Project when it will be completed. This project has been planned and developed during the past ten years by the local sponsoring districts, Cameron Police Jury, Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Sports Fish and Wildlife, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, Louisiana Department of Public Works, and others.

"We believe the plan is sound and will contribute greatly to the economy of this area by improving the marsh and estuarine area with proper water management. In fact, our information indicates that an additional 11,000 acres of marsh and nursery areas for fish, shrimp, crab and other aquatic life will be open as a result of the project. We believe that unless something is done very soon, vast areas of marsh will continue to deteriorate because of the excessive salt water intrusion from the Calcasieu Lake and ship channel.

"In view of the above reasons, we earnestly ask your favorable action in granting of the permits so that immediate construction is possible."

Church bazaar set in Nov.

Parishioners of St. Rose of Lima Church, Creole, will conduct a bazaar Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 11, 12. Raymond LeBlanc, general chairman for the two day event, said the bazaar would take place at the Cameron Recreation Center.

LeBlanc also announced names of other chairmen: Msgr. M. J. Bernard, pastor, honorary chairman; Mrs. Carolyn Bargeman, treasurer and raffles. Henry Hebert, booths; Mr. and Mrs. Elroy LaSalle, barbecue; Mrs. Lovenia Bartle, games and food; Mrs. Elaine Mayes, sandwiches; Mrs. Edith Bishop, soft drinks; Charlie January, refreshments; Mrs. Rita Simien, bingo, and St. Rose Baby of the Year contest; Mrs. Lee LeBlanc and Mrs. Celena Jones, dance, and Jimmie LaSalle, Sr., traffic.

A St. Rose "Baby of the Year" contest will be conducted between now and the day of the bazaar. The baby receiving the most votes (donations) will be the winner. Any child less than 13 months old may be entered in the contest.

Several items are being offered in raffles: a Remington automatic shotgun, transistor radio, quilted bedspread, a flowered silk quilt. Chances on these articles may be obtained from any of the above mentioned chairmen. Winners will be announced Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12, at 2 p. m.

Creole club has meeting

Featured at the January meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers Club was an educational program conducted by assistant home economist, Cynthia Richard, on "Recipe Magic--Writing More Accurate and Healthier Recipes." The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Wayne Montie.

Using recipes from various sources as examples, Richard pointed out common errors that were either in the recipe's title, ingredients, or directions.

Members, along with Richard, discussed changing the day of the week and time of future club meetings. The consensus was to continue the present holding of meetings the second Tuesday of the month at 2 p.m. with the option of changing some when deemed necessary.

Richard gave a report on the recent Council meeting held at the Extenson office in Cameron. She stated it was decided that two additional representatives from each club be appointed to attend future meetings, and that Mrs. Mayola Wicke and Mrs. Butsy Carter were named as representatives from the Creole club. She further stated that plans were set to hold a Leaders Training meeting Jan. 30, at Lena's Cajun Kitchen in Sweetlake beginning at 9:30 a.m. and ending at noon with a dutch treat lunch.

Kin...rthday holiday to be decided in March

The Cameron Parish School Board agreed Monday to consider at its March meeting declaring Martin Luther King's birthday as an official school holiday.

Action on the matter will be taken when the board adopts the 1992-93 school calendar.

A delegation of black citizens, including representatives of the Cameron Parish NAACP Chapter, appeared before the board Monday requesting the holiday which falls in January.

Supt. Sonny McCall reviewed for the board previous action on this matter. Two years ago, he said, a group of black citizens had requested that a Martin Luther King observance be held. At that time, they and the board agreed that instead of having a holiday special observances would be held in each school for King's birthday.

McCall said there had been programs in almost all of the schools that year and that a report on these had been made public.

However, McCall noted, despite the fact that students and parents had been told that any student missing school that day without a valid excuse would have an unexcused absence, many black students missed school that year and again this year.

Several of the black parents present said that that either they refused to send their children on that day or the children refused to go.

One parent asked why black students were given unexcused absences on King's birthday while other children were allowed to miss school to take part in livestock shows.

McCall replied that livestock shows were part of the school's curriculum as they involved 4-H and FFA clubs which were in the schools.

McCall said that despite the agreement on the King observance two years ago, it was apparent that it wasn't working out and board members agreed to decide at their March meeting on granting the request for the King holiday.

The superintendent noted that next year a school holiday will have to be given for national election day and should the King holiday be added school might have to start as early as Aug. 17 in order to get in all of the required school days.

Permit asked for artificial reef in area

The Artificial Reef Program of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Dept. has applied for a Corps of Engineers permit to locate and maintain the West Cameron Planning Area artificial reef in Block 617, West Cameron Area, about 125 miles south of Cameron.

The artificial reef is one of nine such reefs planned for the Gulf of Mexico. Another one will be in the East Cameron area and the rest will be east of the Cameron parish area.

Purpose of the reefs is to enhance fishing opportunities off the coast of Louisiana as authorized by Act 200 of the 1986 Louisiana Legislature and the National Fishing Enhancement Act of 1984.

Protests to the proposed work, suggestions for modification or objections to it will be received by the Corps until Feb. 18.

Hospital debt gets jurors' approval

In a special meeting Monday, the Cameron Parish Police Jury approved $750,000 in certificates of indebtedness for the Lower Cameron Hospital Service District.

The amount approved is half the $1.5 million originally requested by the district's Board of Commissioners.

The bond revenue is earmarked for expansion and capital improvements to South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

According to a resolution adopted by the five-member Board of Commissioners, the capital improvements consist of a new 20-bed nursing facility, a 12-bed geriatric/psychiatric unit and an elderly citizen care facility.

The expansion is expected to create 40 new permanent jobs.

District Attorney Glenn Alexander said the parish will not be held liable for repayment of the bond issuance, but could suffer damage to its bond rating if the hospital district defaults.

"The bonds are secured by a pledge of the excess revenues the hospital has, over and above its usual and necessary charges for operating expenses," Alexander said. "The bottom line is that the police jury is not liable for the bonds. There is no mortgage on the hospital or any property owned by the police jury."

The issue is expected to come before the State Bond Commission during its monthly session February 20.

Report changes

Kirk L. Smith, County Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for Calcasieu-Cameron Parish, urged producers to report any changes in their farm operations which could affect farm program benefits during 1992.

"Farm records must be up-to-date in order for ASCS to help producers get full program benefits. If a farm will have a new owner, effective for 1992, or if a change is made in the operation of an existing farm unit, producers should contact the Calcasieu-Cameron Parish ASCS Office," Mr. Smith said.

Any changes in land owned or operated should be reported to ASCS as soon as possible and prior to start of signup for the 1992 programs.

Election set

A special election has been called in Ward 3 of Cameron Parish for Saturday, Oct. 3 to fill the Justice of the Peace vacancy created by the death of Tommie Edith Alexander on Dec. 29.

Qualifying for the position will be held Wednesday through Friday, July 22-24.

Sen. Picard to be chair of committee

State Sen. Cecil Picard, D-Maurice, has been selected to chair the Senate Select Committee on Higher Education by Senate President Samuel B. Nunez, Jr.

Nunez, D-Chalmette, said that Picard will also serve as a member of the Senate Education Committee, Senate Retirement Committee and Senate Agriculture Committee.

"I am pleased to have the opportunity to appoint Senator Picard the Chair of this Select Committee. As a recognized outstanding educator, Senator Picard possesses the knowledge and ability to work with post secondary institutions in providing programs that will yield a better work force to Louisiana," Nunez said.

Picard was a public school teacher and principal for 21 years before he was elected to the Senate in 1979.

"It has been easy in the past to overlook the needs of higher educatin with the enormous amounts of primary and secondary education legislaton which goes through the education committee. I view this select committee as an opportunity to work closely with our colleges and vo-tech schools and to be more alert to the needs of the students, teachers and programs they represent," Picard said.

Students to see DWI presentation

All of Cameron parish's high school students will have the opportunity in the near future to see--almost first hand--the consequences of drinking and driving.

At the Cameron Parish School Board Meeting Monday board members were shown a movie depicting in graphic detail what happens in a fatal accident.

The film was shown by State Trooper Roger Thomas of Lake Charles who asked permission to show the film to parish high school students in an effort to impress on them the dangers of drinking and driving.

Thomas also showed the board a video showing how state police are now using video cameras to record the arrest of motorists for drunken driving. He said in Texas where the cameras have been in use for some time 98 percent of the DWI suspects plead guilty before going to court due to the filmed evidence.

The trooper said the state police in this area are now using the video cameras and he wanted to make the students aware of this also.

The board agreed to permit the presentations to be made at all of the high schools in the parish.

H'berry 4-Her national winner

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"I love to tinker around in the kitchen, mixing recipes from my collection of cookbooks, adding this and that in order to come up with a new dish of my own," says Trisha Silver of Hackberry.

Apparently her hobby has paid off for the 11-year-old youngster has been named a national winner in a recipe contest sponsored by Riviera Foods, Inc.

It was called "Kids Recipes for Success Contest" calling for recipes using, rice, which the Riviera company puts out.

Success Rice Home Economist Barbara DeMarco tested each recipe and then enlisted the help of 12 Sunset Pearl Elementary School students from Houston, Tex.

The "kids panel" spent a full day in the Riviera test kitchen preparing, testing and making the final selection of recipes which would be included in the "Kids Recipes for Success" Cookbook.

Trisha poured over several of her cookbooks, picking out different recipes using rice, then started testing out some to try to come up with something different.

Even though her family does not like celery in any dish, she decided to try using celery soup in her dish and found that it was the secret ingredient that she needed, and the finished product does not have a celery taste at all.

She tried it out on her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Silver and brothers, Lancey and Micah. They all loved it.

She submitted her recipe and was notified this month that she had won and that her receipe was being published in a "Kids Recipe for Success" Cookbook. The cookbook has been featured on national television on the Today Show and USA Weekend.

Each of the winning entries received a $50 United States Savings Bond, a copy of the cookbook, and a mention in the book.

Highrises on Hong Kong harbor

Hong Kong trip--more by Geneva

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

We joined our group for a departure by motor junk, "The Golden Dragon" for what I considered the highlight of our trip, a visit to Lantau Island and a visit to Po Lin monastery, home of the largest Buddha in the world, made of bronze, it could be seen for miles before we arrived at the monastery.

As we glide westward out of Hong Kong harbour and pass in the shadow of 1,805 foot high Victoria Peak, we can see old warehouses rimming Possession Point, where a British naval force, in 1841, first raised the Union Jack over Britain's largest remaining colony.

To the other side lies the quarter-of-a-mile square rock called Stonecutters Island, a 19th Century Alcatraz.

Looking back toward Hong Kong harbour is a beautiful sight, withmulti-colored apartment blocks springing from the beautiful gren and brown hillsides, while beneath them a mile-wide strip of silver and green water is plied by an extraordinary variety of vessels, bright-varnished company launches, cargo ships from nations all over the world, police and customs patrol boats, grimy motorized water-taxes called walla-wallas, fishing junks, smaller sampans poled by women, many with babies nodding in slings on their backs, and ferries dodging among the moored freighters and American warships.

The two sides of the strait, varying in width from one to six miles, are joined by a mile-long underwater road tunnel, the longest in Asia.

In occupies only 3.25 square miles, but immediately to its north lies the New Territories, 390.5 square miles of mountainous land that the Colony of Hong Kong holds on a 99-year lease from China.

Beyond the dividing strait, to the east and west, the Colony also has 235 islands, mostly too small or too barron for habitation. They are strewn like jade carvings on the silky surface of the South China Sea.

As we rode past the hundreds of container ships being off-loaded onto smaller boats to be taken into port I couldn't help but wonder what all that cargo contained.

A bus was waiting for our group when we reached the beautiful island of Lantau, which had taken us about 1½ hours to reach.

It was like taking a trip back into time, for the beauty of the Island seemed to untouched by time, much as some of the outer islands of Hawaii.

Lantau is twice the size of Hong Kong, and the largest of the outlying islands, yet it has the population of less than 20,000 compared to Hong Kong's island of over one million people.

Most of the population lives in the principal fishing port of Tai O, on the southwest side of the island, a rare and picturesque example of a stilt-house community.

It was a rare experience to stroll through Tai O (meaning Big Harbour), a village with tiny stalls on each side of narrow alleys, selling everything from coolie hats, to dried meats hung out in front of the stores, ducks, chickens, souvenirs, to burial paraphernalia.

The burial packets consisted of colorful tissue paper in which is placed things to represent the earthly good of the deceased, such as clothing, watches, shoes, etc., which is burned when a person dies. This is supposed to go up in smoke to join him in the afterlife.

Many of the little stalls had small shrines built in front of them dedicated to the memory of family ancestors.

We passed a charming "old fashioned" barber shop where an elderly very friendly Chinese barber was trying to cut a young boy's hair, while his playmates frolicked around the chair. (We wondered why they weren't in school, since this was the middle of the week.)

The ancient stilt fishing village was located on what appeared to be a small bayou and something from another time and place.

An ancient ferry operated by a pull rope was used to get from one side to the other.

As I was photographing a very old Chinese lady operating her skiff nearby, she started screaming at me and I quickly left the area before she reached shore.

We passed by a beautiful white sand beach that was picture perfect, and as lovely as any you could find in Hawaii.

We stopped to wade in the water and use the necesary (in China you never ask for a bathroom or lounge - it is the necessary).

Some of the members of our group were horrified when they found that the stalls in the necessary contained only a hole in the floor with no paper.

I thought this is much better than Russia where the holes are in dirt floors and this is concrete.

I learned long ago to always carry a small pack of Kleenex in my pocket as a necessity.

One experienced traveler in our group came up with a toilet paper roll in which she had removed the cardboard so it would pack flat.

We next journeyed up high on Ngong Ping (Lofty Plateau), with an elevation of 750 meters to the Polin (Precious Lotus) monastery.

The monastery is a vast complex with buddha statues depicting the past, present and future. It also has Southeat Asia's tallest outdoor bronze and gold buddha built on a plateau facing the monastery.

We were astonished that even though all of the food (which was served Dim-Sum style) tasted like seafood, beef, in addition to the vegetables, the Tofu was flavored to reflect this. I really enjoyed the seaweed soup which I ate at several of our meals there.

The taste was somewhat like the "Pot-Liquor" my mother used to serve when she cooked turnip greens (the broth from the cooking, which was flavored with the ham hock she cooked with it)

We were told that the various monasteries on the island were distinctive in that the women were in green roofed buildings, and the mens buildings were red roofed.

They were all clean shaven and in long robes, so the sex could not be distinguished by looks.

We ate our Thanksgiving dinner at the "Red Pepper Inn", a quaint Chinese restaurant within walking distance of our hotel, that had been recommended by some of my Baton Rouge friends.

We ordered a dish of fried rice and another of chicken chow mein and ground beef with green peas and fried red poppers.

We were served the last two dishes over the fried rice and loved it. We were also served seaweed soup as an entree.

The food was very spicy (Tai style), not unlike our Cajun food, which we tried eating with chopsticks, but ended up using our forks.

Missions history

(Abbeville Meridional, Feb. 12, 1916)
CATHOLIC MISSIONS IN CAMERON

Two years ago, Father P. Buissink answered the call of Father A. Drossarts to devote himself to the missions of Louisiana. He was then 42 years of age and had been a priest seventeen years. Physically a man of sturdy build and inexhaustible strength, he had by his untiring religious, literary and social work in Holland and Belgium won the highest and widest recognition for his zeal, as was evidenced in numerous most eulogistic articles in Dutch and Belgian newspapers, and especially in the DeTyd; a leading publication of the Dutch Catholics.

At the end of 1914 he was appointed pastor of the missions of Cameron Parish and it is generally acknowledged that he is the right man in the right place. The Catholic population of the different sections of Cameron Parish is divided as follows: Creole, 3980; Grand Lake, 484; Cow Island, 228; Hackberry, (white) 204; Little Chenier, 162; Point of Grand Lake, 167; Creole, (colored) 149; Leeburg, 127; Grand Chenniere, 122; Cheniere Perdue, 36; Hackberry, (colored) 36.

Most of the people left Johnson Bayou after the storm. Soon after his appointment, Father Buissink recognized that it was impossible for the numerous population of the different sections to make a trip of from ten to twenty-five miles and often more, over bad roads to attend Mass in the existing churches, so he organized the religious services in the following manner.

The first Sunday of the month, Mass at 9 o'clock at Creole and at 11:30 at the colored settlement at the Gulf. The second Sunday, mass at 8 o'clock at Cow Island and at 11 o'clock at Grand Chenniere. The third Sunday, Mass at 9 o'clock at Creole and at 12:30 at Leesburg.

The fourth Sunday, Mass at 7 o'clock at the colored church at Hackberry and at 9 o'clock at the white church at Hackberry, or Mass at 7 o'clock at Point of Big Lake and 9 o'clock at Big Lake. Monday and Tuesday after the first Sunday, Mass at Little Chenier and Cheniere Perdue. The stations are too numerous and the distances too great to read Mass everywhere at an early hour or on a Sunday, so every two months only there is Mass at Hackberry and Big Lake on Sunday, the other month it is on a week day. However, if Mass is celebrated at a late hour the next day there is Mass at an early hour to give the opportunity of approaching the Sacraments. Finally, Johnson Bayou is visited four times a year and Cow Island, two times a year. Because of this organization, the number of communions increased to a wonderful proportion. The number of communions in 1908 were 614; in 1909, 625; in 1910, 858; in 1911, 1005; in 1912, 1126; in 1913, 1050; during the last four months of 1914, 415. In 1915 it increased to 2429, of which 767 were at Creole, 483 at Hackberry (white), 333 at Big Lake, 287 at Cow Island, 109 at Creole (colored), 98 at Grand Chenier, 86 at Leesburg, 98 at Point of Big Lake, 39 at Cheniere Perdue and 35 at Hackberry (colored).

Baptism was given to seven adults and one hundred children, a total of 107. Of these 96 were white and 11 colored and were divided among the different missions as follows: Creole (white), 26; Grand Cheniere, 13; Hackberry (white) and Cow Island, each 11, Big Lake, 10; Point of Big Lake, 9; Creole (Colored) and Leesburg, each 8; Little Cheniere, 6; Cheniere Perdue and Hackberry (colored) each 2.

Nine marriages were performed, 4 at Creole, 2 at Big Lake, 2 at Leesburg and 1 at Hackberry (white). Fifteen blessings of marriages were given, 4 at Cow Island; 4 at Creole (colored); 3 at Big Lake and 1 at Little Chenier, Hackberry, Point of Big Lake, and Creole (white).

Twenty years ago Cameron parish had no Catholic priest and very often the marriage ceremony was performed by the justice of the peace and in many instances (this) was regarded as sufficient. By his forceful sermons on the Holy state of matrimony, its due proclamation by the bans, the reception of the Sacraments and the Nuptial Mass, a noticeable change in the thought and the practice of the people has been brought about.

There is yet another duty to be considered and enforced, it is the case of the sick and the dead. In 1915 twelve Catholics died, four of whom received the last Sacraments. Only two eccelesiastical burials and only two blessings of graves took place. The care of the sick and the dead, therefore is neglected by the people, perhaps because it is impossible to reach the priest on account of the many trips he is compelled to make, sometimes on account of the great distances, in some cases on account of the sudden character of the death. But no doubt the sickness calls and the ecclesiastical burials will become more frequent, thanks to the forceful and touching appeals of Father Buissink in behalf of this first duty of a Christian home.

A matter which Father Buissink takes especially to heart and to which he has devoted all his zeal is the teaching of prayers and the catechism and of singing to the children. To teach the prayers is an almost impossible task without the help of the parents, or without the help of devoted women whom Father Buissink finds and encourages in their noble work.

The lessons of catechism are distributed everywhere and made as attractive as possible by distributing Cards of Attendance and Cards of Application for which prizes will be given, according to the number of cards obtained, after all the lessons of the catechisms are learned. With his strong and beautiful voice, Father Buissink teaches French hymns to the French speaking children and nothing is more interesting than to see him play the organ while the children sing, or hear the children sing during Mass.

Attend, for instance, the children's Mass at Creole on Saturday and hear them sing so touchingly the beautiful French hymns. J'ai donne mon petit couer; O Jesus doux et humble de coeur; Bonne Marie, Jo to confie; Je suis Chretien, voila ma Glorie; Bergers, ecouter L'angeligne musique; J'irai la voir un jour; O vous qui sur terre, and innumerable others for the repertoire of Father Buissink is inexhaustible.

Alcohol, drug use survey given here

A percentage of students in grades 7-12 in Cameron Parish use drugs and alcohol at nights and weekends, but few of them report ever taking drugs or alcohol during school hours.

"The results of our survey indicates that we have a community drug problem in Cameron Parish, not just a school drug problem," said Uland Guidry, Supervisor of Student Services.

More than 700 students were surveyed in grades seven through twelve to determine the extent and nature of drug use by adolescents in this community. Nationally, PRIDE, Inc., the national drug prevention organization that developed the questionnaire used in this survey, found that students report drug use primarily in four locations: at home, in the home of a friend, at "other" places in the community, and in a car. Very little use is reported at school.

Although few drugs are consumed during school hours, the survey detected both drug and alcohol use outside of school, according to Mr. Guidry.

75.2 percent of the senior high students, grades 9-12 drank beer in the past year; 64.8 percent reported liquor use; 70.9 percent drank wine coolers.

In junior high grades 7-8, 50.7 percent drank beer; 28.7 percent drank liquor; and 44.4 percent drank wine coolers.

COCAINE AND MARIJUANA

Local students reported less use of cocaine than marijuana, but drug prevention specialists like Dr. Thomas J. Gleaton, Jr., president of PRIDE, Inc., cautions that any use of cocaine is disturbing, particularly at young ages.

Marijuana use during the past year was reported by 7.1 percent of the students in senior high, and 2.2 percent in junior high. Cocaine was reported by 1.8 percent of the senior high students, and 1.1 percent of the junior high students.

WHEN AND WHERE

The most popular places for beer use among senior high students were: a friend's home, 29.3 percent; in a car, 26.1 pecent; at home, 25.4 percent; and "other" places, 44.9 percent. The most popular times for beer use were: weekends, 67.3 percent; week nights, 13.8 percent; afterschool, 8.2 percent; and before school; 2.5 percent.

The most popular times for marijuana use were: weekends, 5.4 percent; week nights, 1.6 percent; after school, 1.4 percent; and before school, .9 percent.

THE PRIDE QUESTIONNAIRE

The PRIDE Questionnaire has undergone eight years of development and provides reliable and accurate information for monitoring adolescent drug use. PRIDE is America's oldest and largest private voluntary organization devoted to adolescent drug abuse prevention. It is based in Atlanta, Ga. (404-577-4500).

Rice program is announced

The 1992 rice program, administered by ASCS, calls for a "zero" percent reduction. Kirk L. Smith, County Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for Calasieu-Cameron Parish, said farmers participating in the 1992 rice program will qualify for program benefits.

The differential between whole kernel milled rice price support rates is established at $1.00 per hundredweight, unchanged from the 1991 crop level. Mr. Smith said the whole kernel milled rice price support rates are $10.74 per hundredweight for long grain and $9.74 for medium and short grain rice. The broken kernel rate for all rice classes is $5.37 per hundredweight.

Arthritis And Your Feet

Arthritis, a disabling and occasionally crippling disease, afflicts almost 40 million Americans. In general terms, the disease involves the inflammation and swelling of the cartilage and lining of the joints, often accompanied by an increase in the fluid in the joints.

Limited motion in a joint can be a symptom of arthritis.

If the feet seem more susceptible to arthritis than other parts of the body, it's because each foot has 33 joints which can be affected, and there's no way to avoid the weight the feet must bear.

Symptoms

Because arthritis can affect the feet's structure and function, it's important to see a doctor of podiatric medicine if any of the following symptoms occur in the feet:

- Swelling in one or more joints
- Recurring pain or tenderness in any joint
- Redness or heat in a joint
- Limitation of motion in a joint
- Early morning stiffness
- Skin changes, including rashes and growths

Stories of Pres. Lincoln

The month of February always brings to mind stories of one of our greatest presidents, Abraham Lincoln. Tales of him seem to have a built-in magnet that attracts the attention of old and young alike.

Lincoln was especially blessed in his two mothers, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, his biological one who died when he was nine, and Sarah Bush Johnson Lincoln, the widow who became his step-mother.

To this day one is uncertain which he had in mind when he said, "All that I am I owe to my angel mother." Modern scholars believe that he referred to Sarah. Perhaps the two had subconsciously become blended into one in his thinking.

Both women were of superior character; both, efficient housekeepers; both loved their children; and both responded to the brilliant mind of lanky little Abe.

Nancy had taught her little son to read before the age of five. For the most part his textbook was the family Bible.

Later it was Sarah who took Abe's part and insisted that his father, Tom, let him attend school when it was available. Tom had not objected to Abe's going to the "blab" school when he was small. The school was so called because scholars learned their letters by repeating them aloud over and over, Chinese style. But Tom considered it foolish for a big boy to waste time in school while a wilderness waited to be conquered.

Not that Tom was so efficient and work-brittle himself.

"Sarah," Tom said, "was plumb crazy to encourage such ideas."

Nevertheless, she made it possible for Abe to learn as folks said "by littles."

The boy needed a lot of encouragement, and Sarah never failed him. She would allow him to read in front of the fireplace till he fell asleep. Then she would wrap a quilt about him.

Sarah was probably the only person to whom Abe poured out his heart. He knew that she would understand him. He loved to tell yarns and he would try them out first on Sarah. If she laughed in the right places and approved he felt safe in telling them to others.

After Tom's death in 1851, Abe made sure that his stepmother did not want for a thing.

When she heard that Abe was going to Charleston, Illinois, for his fourth debate with Stephen A. Douglas, she, unknown to Abe, went also. That day on the crowded street she watched the parade that honored him. He spied her as the carriage in which he rode came abreast of her. He got out, crossed over, and kissed her. To the onlookers he presented "My Mother."

In 1861, before he went to Washington for his first presidential inauguration, he traveled across the state to tell her goodbye. He promised to come back before long. Somehow, Sarah sensed that this would not be.

Four years later friends came to tell Sarah that the president had been assassinated. She grieved for "her boy". She could not think of him as a man, as the head of state of a growing country.

"Abe was a good boy," Sarah said. "He never gave me a cross word or look. His mind and mine -- what little I have -- seemed to run together."

Then she added, "He loved me truly, I think."

Letter says thanks to Cameron Parish

Dear Editor:

I would like to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the fine folks of Cameron Parish, and the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival.

I am writing on behalf of the Maryland Delegation of the National Outdoor Show. We were welcomed into your community and made to feel right at home.

It is wonderful to see such community spirit and camaraderie. We thoroughly enjoyed the events, festivities and the fine cuisine during our stay in your community.

We met and made many new friends and wish to thank them all. Although I could not possibly begin to name everyone involved, we do want to extend our special appreciation to Debbie and Jerry Theriot. Debbie, we are truly indebted to you for your kindness and hospitality.

We wish to acknowledge the generosity of Conoc. We visited "The Linda" where Captain Mike Cheramie took us on a tour of his ship. Our thanks to the King dispatcher, Jim Frazier, Mike, Bubba and the crew. It was good to meet you. Our highest regards to Pilot Bill Davis who drilled us in safety measures, the role of the co-pilot, and the proper method of approach as he prepared us all for our first helicopter ride. We were thrilled to get a bird's eye view of your town.

Our recognition to Jerry Jones for allowing us to tour his alligator farm. What a learning experience for us! I never imagined I would ever hold an alligator.

Special thanks to all who opened their homes to us, Cookie Howard, Tom and Kathy Rowland and the fine folks at Creole Fire Station. To Barbara Wilkerson, Duck and Judy Guthrie, thank you for the invitations. We were so sorry time limitations prevented us from attending.

To Pete Picou, what can we say? You are one of a king and one of the best. Thank you for such an enjoyable time.

Our thanks and appreciation to Rep. Randy Roach, Sheriff Sono Savoie, Debbie Duhon, Carrol Hebert, 1991 Miss Cameron Parish Renee LaLande and Cameron State Bank for your gifts and kindness.

Congratulations to 1992 Miss Cameron Parish Brandi Soileau, 1992 Fur Queen Kelly Becnel, the new champions for skinning and trap setting, Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish, to King Fur Claude Eagleson and to Mrs. Geneva Griffith on your dedication.

We hope to see as many of you as possible Feb. 28, 29, 1992 at the 47th annual National Outdoor Show. On behalf of 1991 Miss Outdoors Alisha Foxwell, her mother Margaret Ann Tyler, National Outdoor Show chairpersons Kelly Oberender and myself, I am

Yours truly,
/s/ Dale Oberender

Lake Arthur leads in District play

By JOE MUELLER

The Lake Arthur Tigers have taken control of the boys side of the district race as they have a 7-0 record entering play this week. Their closest competitors are the Welsh Greyhounds and the St. Louis Saints, who both are 5-2.

On the girls side St. Louis and Iota are tied for first with 7-1 records and probably will have to have a playoff game to determine seeding into the state playoffs.

BOYS GAMES

Welsh 73, So. Cameron 49

Welsh broke open a close game outscoring the Tarpons 28-8 in the third quarter to win their fourth district game of the year.

The score at halftime was 29-28 South Cameron. Travis Pradia scored 23 points and Albert Doucet 11 for the 6-18 Tarpons.

St. Louis 72, So. Cameron 30

St. Louis jumped out to a 40-20 halftime lead and went on to hand the South Cameron Trapons their fifth district loss by a score of 72-30.

Top scorers for the Tarpons, who put only 10 points on the score board in the second half, were Randall Williams and James Daigle, each with 7 points.

GIRLS GAMES

Welsh 65, So. Cameron 35

Welsh took a 20-13 first quarter lead and never looked back as they defeated South Cameron 65-35.

St. Louis 68, So. Cameron 41

St. Louis scored 48 points in the first half to take a 21 point halftime lead on their way to their 7th district win, 68-41, over the Lady Tarpons.

DISTRICT 9-C STANDINGS

The girls race is very tight as both Johnson Bayou and Hackberry have one loss. It looks like they'll have to have a playoff game for seeding into the state playoffs.

BOYS GAMES

Grand Lake 69, Pecan Island 46

OYSTERING

In the last 60 days our oyster fishermen haven't had a chance to oyster much. With all the rain we've been having, the tide up above us in Kinder is too high and that means the oyster fishing stops until that tide gets right.

Many of our area oyster fishermen are having trouble with utility bills, as they really haven't made any money this year on oyster fishing.

It seems when it pours, it pours. Our state catfish farmers can't get a price for their catfish, so they're in a bind, and now with the Chinese crawfish coming to our state, it has put a pinch on our crawfish farmers. It costs approximately $3.75 per pound for our state crawfishermen to get their crawfish caught, peeled and bagged before market. The Chinese crawfish cost about $2.50 per pound, including shipping to the U.S. This takes the cake. First Japanese cars, now Chinese crawfish. It's a good thing we don't have to make sunshine, cause it would be hotter than hell, before we could get rid of it. I guess we'd have to buy ice from Iraq to cool down.

TRAPPERS

I talked to some of our trappers last week and some are doing a little better, but most are doing worse. I think the ones doing better are thanking the high water, because the nutria are on higher ground making it easier for them to catch.

The prices are still around $5.50 for tops, $3.00 medium and $1.50 for small.

I read where the federal government and some of the private organizations are looking to lease around 110,000 acres of land, mostly rice field land to let the ducks and geese rest and feed during the winter. This could be good, but it could stop lots of game short of our area marshes. We already don't have the ducks in our marshes as we should and this could make it less. There are already out of town hunters dropping their duck leases now, this could really make things bad.

FISHING

Many anglers fishing for bass, bream and crappie are doing good in private ponds, providing the weather is right. Some nice bass reported taken and released out of the 7 acre pond and the McDaniel's pond.

Last week before the rain, some of our local anglers took a trip offshore. They say the water was slick as glass. Their trip was well worth it. One boat fell into some nice drums while another boat fell into the trout.

Lots of sandtrout and speckle trout were taken. I think every angler on that fish held their limits of trout. Artificial bait was hot, with speck rigs being number one and grubs a close second.

I think last week the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission was suppose to talk about the spotted sea trout (speckle trout) management measures. We should be finding out some word on this soon.

Many are unhappy with the commercial quotas on speckle trout and many more are unhappy with the season for commercial quotas on red snapper. I understand some anglers who caught red snapper recently said they were full of shrimp. As you know there's lots of talk about shrimpers trawls that are destroying too many red snappers. This will get interesting.

In January we had two Mississippi men fishing Louisiana's waters. After being watched by Louisiana agents they were caught with 162 speckle trout. That's 112 trout over the limit for the two men.

The agents, after making the arrest, seized the men's rod and reels, their boat, motor and three ice chests.

Our area bass fishing is just around the corner. There's a point or two that some new anglers or older anglers need to keep in mind.

You hear your buddy say, "Boy I missed a big fish, or I can't seem to hook a bass good when I'm fishing a worm." First of all, let me say, bass fishing with a worm is fun, and it pays off when top water or spinner baits won't. You can fish the worm slow or fast, depends what it takes to get a strike.

One of the most important things when worm fishing, naturally is getting the bass to strike, but you got to know how to set the hook.

Always fish with your rod from horizon up to a 45 degree angler to straight up and down, tip above your head. Keep the slack out of your line. Always reel down extra line quickly. Hold your rod handle to your center chest. When you get a strike, haul back on your rod like you would be setting the hook on a whale. This has to be done quickly, because if the bass feels you move, he'll drop the worm. Something else, when fishing a worm, pay attention to what you're doing. Keep your eyes open looking ahead and keep your mind on getting a strike and set the hook hard. If you break your line too many times, you have bad line or not strong enough line.

FEEDING PERIODS

Man found guilty on three counts

Joseph Leslie Theriot, 57, P.O. Box 138, Cameron, was found guilty in the 38th Judicial District Court, Thursday in a jury trial of three counts of molestation of a juvenile, one count of indecent behavior with a juvenile and one count of attempted indecent behavior with a juvenile.

The case was heard before Judge H. Ward Fontenot and was prosecuted by Jennifer Jones Bercier and Cecil R. Sanner, assistant district attorneys. Mr. Theriot was remanded to the Sheriff's Office without bail, where he will remain until his sentencing April 2. He was represented by Ron Ware, from the Public Defender's Office.

The maximum mandatory penalty for the indecent behavior charge carries a sentence of "not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than 7 years, or both". The molestation charge carries a maximum sentence of "not more than $5,000, or imprisonment for not more than 10 years, or both" on each charge; and the attempted indecent behavior with a juvenile charge carries a maximum sentence of "not more than $2,500, or imprisonment for not more than 3½ years, or both."

Judge Fontenot explained, however, that under the mandatory sentencing guidelines adopted by Louisiana, the actual sentence which may be imposed is much less than the maximum given in the statutes.

It has been steadily overtaking the lower Cameron marshes and is causing a serious problem.

This seminar is being held to focus on ways to help combat the problem, Roach said.

Containment levee sought at H'berry

(American Press)

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, which is responsible for maintenance of the Calcasieu Ship Channel, met with politicians and Port of Lake Charles officials on Friday to develop a plan to dredge the channel.

A plan to construct a containment levee in one part of the project was also discussed.

Construction of the levee which will help stop bank erosion will cost about $600,000, state Rep. Randy Roach said.

Chris Aggarado of the Corps said the Corps would include the levee in the dredging project but would not be able to finance it.

U. S. Rep. Jimmy Hayes, D-Lafayette, said in a Friday press conference at the port that he will try to get federal funding for the project.

"The commitment that I made here today is... I can't guarantee anything, but based upon previous actions and previous Congresses, the odds are very favorable that we can succeed," he said.

Roach said U. S. Sen. J. Bennett Johnston said he will work on Senate approval.

The Corps has already met with the state Department of Natural Resources about the dredging project. The channel is dredged approximately every three years and the DNR reviews how the dredged material will be disposed of.

The channel has to be dredged when silt builds up and makes it narrow and more shallow. The 17-mile project will make the channel 400 feet wide and 40 feet deep again.

The Corps broke the project down into five sections. Four of the five sections were approved by the DNR. The final phase which is waiting approval begins at mile marker 11.4 to 15.5 near the Dugas landing, south of Hackberry.

Roach said in the Friday press conference that fishermen, shrimpers and recreational boaters who use the Dugas landing are having trouble entering the channel because of silt build-up. So the containment levee will help control silt buildup in the surrounding area as well.

The containment levee would be built by a bucket dredge. Clay would be stacked between the existing bank and the levee and silt which is dredged from the channel would be put in the levee.

Hayes said there are other ways of disposing of the silt, but the levee is a long term solution. However, Roach said, experts disagree about whether the levee will last two years or 20 years.

The Lake Charles Dock Board will have a special meeting Feb. 26, to discuss funding the project until federal money is available. The Port would fund the project so that the dredging would not be held up, Commissioner James Watt said.

How our tax dollars are spent

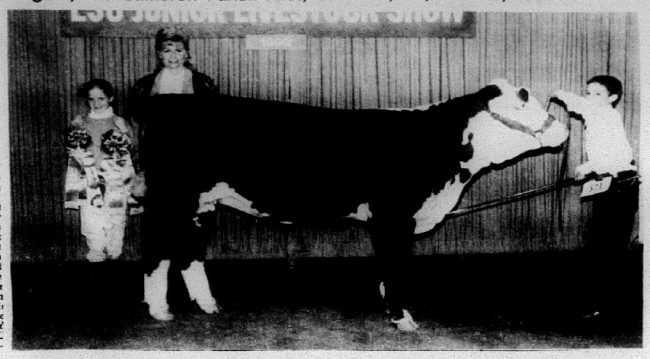
By REP. RANDY ROACH

Last week I received a telephone call from a reader. His question was simple - "If we spend $4.8 billion a year, why is it so hard to cut $350 million to balance the budget? That's less than 10% of the money that we will spend next year." The answer is that neither the Legislature nor the governor has the right to change the way we spend most of that money.

Our single largest expense is for education in grades K through 12. Just over 40% of our budget - $1.945 billion - will be spent on our children's education next year. The constitution requires that the legislature spend this amount. We cannot cut $1 without the approval of the Board of Elementary and Secondary education.

The federal courts have issued a series of orders which require that the state spend money to improve prison facilities and on medical care for adults and minors who are housed in state facilities. The state will be required to spend a total of $289 million in 1992-93 just to satisfy these requirements.

Over the past several years the state has borrowed money to pay for the construction of all kinds of buildings and other improvements. I call this the state's mortgage. Next year our mortgage payments will total $400 million. The constitution requires that we make these payments first - even before we spend any money on education.



As a result of another series of federal regulations the state will be rquired to spend $500 million on Medicaid programs and $84 million on welfare programs next year.

The constitution requires that $90 million be given back to local governments in the form of revenue sharing each year, and the state is contractually obligated to spend another $112 million in other areas.

The total of these expenses comes to $3.420 billion. That leaves about $1.4 billion for the Legislature and the governor to spend on all other state programs. (this is only 31% of the total estimated state tax revenues for 1992-93). Whatever we cut out of the budget will have to come from programs paid for with these monies.

This remaining money includes $630 million for our colleges and universities. Many people feel that higher education cannot withstand any further cuts in state funding. Tuition and room and board are already the highest in the south. Louisiana currently spends less on its colleges and universities, on a per person basis, than any other Southern state./

It will not be easy to cut $350 million out of $1.4 billion A budget cut in that amount equals an across-the-board cut of more than 25%. If we exclude higher education from the budget axe, the percentage to be cut rises to more than 40%. However, there are some alternatives. Next week I will review some of them and explain how we compare to other states in the way we spend our tax dollars.

'Cameron Beavers' big business

'CAMERON BEAVERS'

Southwest Louisiana is soon to have another new and very profitable industry, according to a statement made in Lake Charles Monday by John A. Caruthers, conservation agent of the Orange-Cameron Land Co. which owns large areas of marsh lands and conducts extensive operations in Cameron Parish during winter seasons.

This new industry is breeding and raising for commercial purposes, the Cameron beaver, commonly known as the "musk rat" which is now furnishing a very large part of the world's supply of fine fur.

"The so-called 'musk rat' is in fact not a rat at all," stated Mr. Caruthers. "It is not a reavenger as is the common rat after which it has been misnamed. It is a most selective vegetarian in its diet, washing carefully every root and herb which it eats. Its flesh is more palatable for food than that of a rabbit or a squirrel and it is only a matter of time until canning factories will be established for conserving and marketing the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of meat products our seamarsh lands can supply.

Two Pens This Year

"At the present time the Orange-Cameron Land Co. is planning to experiment with two pens of Cameron beavers this year. We have obtained permission of the state conservation department to catch about a hundred animals for breeding purposes. We will send to Wisconsin and perhaps to West Texas for males for improving the color of the native Louisiana varieties.

"It is not absolutely essential that a farmer who wishes to raise the Cameron beavers for their fur and for table meat shall have seamarsh land for the purpose. Two or three acres of any land that will hold water, as does ordinary rice land, will be sufficient. Some kind of sheet iron or concrete fence extending about eighteen inches below the surface of the ground to prevent burrowing and escaping of animals; a good well for supplying water; and a small plat of ground planted to turnips or rutabagas, will be the largest items of investment and expense necessary for growing thousands of pelts annually.

North as Far as Kinder

"The Cameron beaver years ago was found as far north of Lake Charles as Kinder. While its color is not as dark nor rich in lustre as the Wisconsin specimen, or even its cousin in West Texas, its fur has more lasting qualities and is much sought in the market by manufacturers. The Cameron beaver has a better grade of fur than is found further east and along the lower Mississippi River and commands a better price in the market.

"Because of the wearing quality of the fur of the Cameron beaver, a cattleman of West Texas is trying to secure two hundred animals from Southwest Louisiana. He is willing to pay $2 a head for them for breeding purposes. The traps used for catching such beavers desired for propagation, are of a different make to those used in trapping for fur pelts and in which the animal is killed when the trap is sprung.

"Heretofore trappes have thrown away the flesh of the Cameron beaver and marketed only the pelt. In Washington the animal is called a "marsh rabbit" and sold in the markets at 25 cents a pound. Had the million beavers killed in Southwest Louisiana last season been marketed at the same price, at least $250,000 additional revenue would have been brought into this section of the country. There have been no definite plans made for conserving this great waste of meat by the state of which I am aware, but I believe that the time is not far distant when something will be done about it.

"Raising the Cameron beaver for a domestic meat supply on farms and marketing its pelts to fur manufacturers, in my opinion, is soon to become a big industry in Southwest Louisiana. All I ask of any person to convince him or her of the palatableness of the meat of this little beaver, is to lay aside prejudice formed because of the name which has been wrongly given to it, and to let any good cook prepare a dish for an honest trial.

THIS WEEK
(By Jerry Wise)

The first color of spring--the bright green of clover--makes a beautiful sight along Cameron highways these days... certainly a welcome relief from dull browns and grays of winter.

Representatives of Cameron's Civil Defense organization will attend the state CD convention in New Orleans, April 24-25. Cameron's CD is right up there among the best in the state, we're proud to say.

Plans are plugging along for this summer's Little League program. Cameron Marine Service, Micheletti Bros., Cameron Insurance Agency and the Lions Club will sponsor teams and furnish uniforms.

Politics keep popping up here abouts... rumors are that Claude Eagleson is planning to throw his hat in the sheriff's race and Conway LeBleu will run for representative... just rumors, no actual announcements as yet.

"Star" Car

ALL AROUND THE PARISH

Refreshments of cookies, cup cakes and Cokes were served to the Grand Lake Boy Scouts Monday night. Hostesses were Mrs. Ivan Fontenot, Mrs. George Greathouse and Mrs. Polus Doucet.

A birthday party for Wilmer Smith, principal of the Grand Chenier elementary school was given by the fifth and sixth grade pupils. A birthday cake was made by Virginia Hooper, Phyllis Owen and Barbara Swire. The two classes together bought Mr. Smith a nice gift.

FISHING

We still have lots of water in the marshes, in fact it's raining while I write this article. There's still plenty of fresh water, however, believe it or not, they're catching red fish anyhow.

The Mermentau River in Grand Chenier really has a mixture of fishing - flounder, speckle trout, red fish and drum from the jetties going up the river and at Catfish Locks you'll do good catching catfish and yes, bass and white perch.

Anglers are counting the days to March 1, to get started bass fishing. Along the highway, bass are being caught, some pretty good size. Remember, you folks that like to crawfish, you can crawfish on Lacassine Refuge also, Unit A near the Lacassine Pool by the entrance road. You may take crawfish only by dropnets (crawfish nets) or handlines. Anything else is prohibited. No boats are permitted in Unit A, and no swimming anywhere on the refuge. There is a 100 pound limit per vehicle per day. No commercial crawfishing or any other commercial fishing is allowed.

Anglers should not forget the bass limit has changed to a 10 bass limit per day, except in certain trophy lakes in Louisiana.

NEWS IN BRIEF

* I see where the red snapper fishermen are a little uneasy again. With the fishing limits and quotas, which is nearly reached, there is a glut of red snappers on the market and the prices have been going down.

* The big Lake Sam Rayburn's 8th annual McDonald's big bass tournament will be held this year on April 25 and 26. There's $135,575 guaranteed cash and prizes to be given this year. Boats, motors, trailers, pontoon boat, trolling motors, electronic fishing equipment as well as cash money will be awarded. Largest bass, first place, will be $5,000; 2nd, $2,500; 3rd, $1,000; 4th, $800; 5th, $600 and 6th - 20th, $100 and 21st-50th, $75.

Each hour's largest bass will be $1,000, $700, $600, $500, $400, $300, $200, $100, 1st through 8th for a total of $3,800 each hour.

The first contestant to weigh in an even weight of 3.0, 4.0, 5.0 and 6.0 pounds with qualifying bass, will win a fully rigged bass boat. There will also be other drawings.

I'm letting you know ahead of time to plan your date, because we have quite a few of our local anglers who fish this each year.

* Four Louisiana residents were caught with too many red fish. Officers seized an 18 foot boat and motor, fishing gear and licenses because of 104 red fish aboard. This is really tough as red fish is now a game fish with 5 the possession limit per person.

Charges were taking gamefish illegally, possession of over the limit, and possession with intent to sell. One was also charged with commercial fishing without a license, leaving gill net unattended; also for letting someone else use a commercial license, unlicensed person operating a commercial vessel and unlicensed person using commercial gear.

This could really be rough with all the charges, but they sure enough broke the law.

* Animal rights activists asked the government in a town not too far from Madrid, Spain to stop a religious ceremony. Villagers in the town open the religious festival by dropping a goat from the top of the church, about 45 feet, to a crowd below holding an open tarp. The goat walks away safely.

Police went to stop this tradition and were attacked by the 1300 residents and along with journalists had to let the act happen. The goat walked away, way luckier than the police.

* A fisherman told his friend, after a fishing trip, "Yes, the fish was too small to bother with, so I got a couple of guys to help me throw it back into the lake."

* The Lemesche Bass Club held their yearly banquet this past Sunday. I'll have results this coming week.

PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the Regular Meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3, held Tuesday, April 16, 1991 at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Edwin Quinn, W. F. Henry, Jr., E. J. Dronet, and George Kelley.

Member Absent: Earl Guthrie

Others Present: B. J. Watts, Pete Picou, Steve Klett, Preston Hebert, Ron Marcantel of S.C.S., and James LeBoeuf.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to dispense with reading of the minutes, and to approve the minutes of the March 19, 1991, regular meeting.

Ron Marcantel of the Soil Conservation Service presented the Annual Inspection Report of Drainage and Flood Control Structures. A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to authorize President Quinn to sign the inspection report.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Statement for the month of March, 1991.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Cameron Pilot, $46.00; 2. Clayton Trahan, $50.00; 3. Cameron Parish Police Jury, $46.00.

An invitation was issued to all Board Members to attend a meeting at 10 a.m. on April 24, at Drew Hall on the McNeese Campus for discussing and discussing the design for automation of the gates on the Cameron-Creole Water Control Structures.

J. B. Watts reported that the pump at the Mobil docks needs repair, and the pump behind the Courthouse needs a muffler. It was agreed that Steve Klett get an estimate for repair of the Mobil pump be requested from Lake Charles Diesel, and that J. B. Watts be authorized to purchase a muffler for the pump behind the Courthouse.

Steve Klett of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service reported on the Cameron-Creole Watershed Advisory Committee meeting which was held this morning. He reported that no recommendations were made for changes in the State shrimping regulations. The members feel that it is not the job of the committee to get involved in matters. It was agreed, however, that Sabine Refuge will extend tighter regulations within the refuge, and that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will step up law enforcement within the refuge during shrimping seasons. They also discussed setting up a sub-committee establishing and funding a Maintenance Fund to handle large repairs that might come up in the Cameron-Creole Watershed. Steve reported that the next Advisory Committee meeting will be held May 20, at 9 a.m. and will consist of a field tirp to tour the Cameron-Creole Watershed.

Mr. Klett stated that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service is reponsible for maintenance of the planned automation of the Water Control Structures. However, it is the opinion of the Advisory Committee that the two Drainage Boards (Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage Districts 3 and 4) are responsible for repair of the structures, excluding the automation features being planned. He further reported that the Committee recommended that Gravity Drainage Districts No. 3 and 4 repair the vandalized ate at the Grand Bayou Structure as soon as possible.

It was noted that Mr. Herb Bell of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service had offered at the March 5 meeting of this board to provide the manpower to repair and replace the Grand Bayou gate. Mr. Klett stated that there is a new Refuge manager on duty now, but he will check into this possiblity with him and report back to the Drainage Board.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

MUSING. . . By Bernice Denny

Was it a miracle?

One of the greatest blessings to mankind has been and continues to be that of dedicated doctors. Southwest Louisiana has had its share.

My late husband, Clinton Denny, often told me the following story. I shall relate it in the first person just as he told it to me:

When I was a small lad of six, my parents lived for out in the country. My dad was the superintendent of a plantation near Thornwell. Our home was five miles from that village's little one-room school, fifteen from the nearest doctor. My medical check-ups had been from seldom to none. My playmates were nearly all little black children, whose fathers worked on the farm. My life was happy.

One morning my joy of living vanished. I waked with a terrible pain in my abdomen -- a pain that would not go away. The nearest telephone was five miles away in Thornwell. To it my father hastened in his horse-drawn buggy. He called Dr. Jim Martin in Welsh. The doctor promised to drive out in his T-model Ford.

Upon his arrival, he examined me and pronounced my ache due to an attack of appendicitis. He had my parents bundle me up and drive back with him to a rooming house in Welsh, where ice was available.

All night Dr. Martin sat by my beside packing ice against the horrible swelling of my little body. At midnight the appendix burst. The pain was reduced while the fever increased.

The next morning Dr. Martin and my parents had me on the earliest train bound for Lake Charles. The doctor had phoned St. Patrick's Sanitarium, and Dr. Watkins was there to operate on me in a desperate effort to save my life.

There were no miracle drugs in long-distant 1915. It was the skill of that wonderful surgeon and the care and dedication of our family doctor who saved my life. The three scars from incisions in my abodomen I wear proudly today. They were life-savers.

It was during the healing stage of my ordeal that the very worst took place. With all the big incisions in so small a body "proud flesh" setsin. In my weakened condition fever shot high, and I lapsed into a semi-coma. Still, I was conscious of my mother's tears and of my father's prayers.

I was aware of Dr. Watkins examining me; then of him telling my father in low tones, "His chances are very slim, Denny, very slim indeed. He's in God's hands now."

My next character -- the most important in my entire life -- was Sister Pious, a nun at the hospital, a saint of an Irish soul if ever there was one. She came in to see me, probably to bid me goodbye on what they all thought would be my last night on earth.

I surprised everyone by reaching out to Sister Pious and begging, "Sister, I know they think that I'm going to die. I'm too young to die. I want to live. When you have vespers, will you ask Mother Superior to have all the nuns ask God to let me live? Please."

The good Irish soul shed a river of tears and fled the room, saying "Mother of God, Holy Mother Mary, that I Will, I Will!"

Mother and Dad set themselves for a long night's vigil. My fever did not abate.

You may scoff at my story or you may believe it. The God above has his hand on you.

Cholesterol Discovery Passes Mom's Test

WASHINGTON -- The mother of a research scientist recently lowered her cholesterol more than 20% without changing her eating habits.

After a visit to her doctor, a Florida woman learned that her cholesterol level was an elevated 308 and she was encouraged to change her eating habits. When she returned 10 weeks later, the doctor was astounded that her cholesterol level had dropped to 243. Asked if she achieved the amazing results just by dieting she replied, "No I didn't diet at all, in fact I ate the things I shouldn't eat like bacon, sausage and ice cream. The only thing I did different was take some tablets my son gave me."

The woman's son is Dr. William Morris, director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization that seeks nutritional solutions to health problems. Dr. Morris admits that the tablets called Vancol 5000 were designed as a dietary supplement to be used with a low fat diet plan. "She just wanted to put the tablets to the test," says Dr. Morris. "Of course I was pleased with the results she achieved, but now were working on reducing some of the fat in her diet to lower her cholesterol even further."

Vancol 5000 is a chewable food tablet that contains extracts from foods known to lower cholesterol. According to the exclusive distributor for Vancol 5000, inquiries about the new discovery are being received from all over the country and has peaked the interest of doctors used to prescribing expensive cholesterol lowering drugs. A 30 day supply of the Vancol 5000 Chloesterol Lowering Plan is only $29.98.

Louisiana's own Aaron Neville

"If we don't start recycling, we're risking the future of the state we love."

Nationally acclaimed singer Aaron Neville was born and raised in New Orleans. He loves Louisiana and still calls it home.

But there's something about Louisiana that's bothering Aaron Neville and other residents of the state: we're running out of places to dump our trash.

The number of landfills in Louisiana has dropped from almost 800 to just 40 in only seven years. By the year 2000, that figure is expected to be 11.

There's only one solution: recycling.

Almost everything can be recycled — glass, plastic, aluminum, paper — and the time to start is now. As Aaron Neville says, "If we don't start recycling — all of us — we're risking the future of the state we love."

(Photo by Bill Turnbull)

Beautiful plant is also very deadly

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Fouchette or "smooth beggertick" plant can be a very deceiving plant when seen in the marsh. In its flowering stage it is a beautiful plant, with a large stamen, not unlike a daisy. However, it can be very deadly to humans and animals.

The flowers first appear in late November and produce a forked seed, with each flower producing approximately 150 seeds. As the flower matures and temperatures begin to decrease the seeds begin to harden. Each seed has two prongs, each of which have tiny barbs. Once the seed and barbs have hardened, generally by mid-December, they can easily penetrate clothing and skin or a nutria's pelt.

Beginning in late November, the seeds become attached to the skin or anything that brushes past it. Nutria are very sensitive to anything attached to or penetrating their skin. Shortly after penetration, the prongs of the seed

Funds sought for Veterans Wall

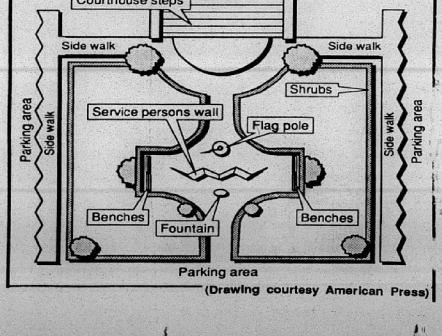
By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Veterans Honor Wall Fund committee is asking for contributions to erect the Veterans Wall of Honor in front of the Cameron Courthouse.

It is to be erected in front of the monument that has all of the names of the men from Cameron Parish who died in all of the wars.

The Veterans wall will be recognizing the men and women of Cameron Parish who presently serve or have ever served in the armed forces.



This will be built not as a memorial but as a celebration of Cameron Parish's contribution to the cause of freedom, a spokesman said.

The 35 foot marble wall will be the parish's way of saying Thank You and paying tribute to all these men and women.

All citizens can become a part of this tribute by sending a contribution to the Cameron Parish Veterans' Honor Wall Fund, Department CT, Box 421, Cameron, La. 70631.

Donations of $40 or more will entitle donors to receive the official Certificate of Recognition for Honor Wall Partners. Certified contributions may be made in honor of a service person whose name will appear on the wall or in memory of a loved one. Checks should be made payble to CPVHWF.

Only the first 2,000 donors who contribute $40 or more will receive the numbered certificates.

Renovation could change face of historic building

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has been considering plans for the renovation of the historic old Cameron courthouse and some people are concerned abut any changes that may be made to the facade or front of the building.

At a recent meeting, Belton Bonsall of Grand Chenier, urged the jury not to make any changes to the front of the courthouse during the renovations. He said the courthouse, constructed in 1937 by the WPA, was an historic building and deserved to be placed on the National Register of Historic Buildings.

Bonsall told the jurors the story of how Cameron Parish, a sparsely populated area in 1937, got such an impressive courthouse. He said that Franklin D. Roosevelt had run for vice-president in 1920 on the Democratic ticket with Al Smith of New York.

After Smith and Roosevelt were defeated, Roosevelt came to Cameron parish on a hunting trip to rest up from the campaign as a guest of Senator Allen Ellender. They stayed at the hunting camp of Jim Bonsall, Belton's father, at Grand Chenier.

Years later, when federal funds were being appropriated for the WPA (Works Progress Administration) to build courthouses, a small building was planned for Cameron parish. Roosevelt, who was now president, intervened and told the WPA to build an impressive courthouse for Cameron Parish since it was the home of his "good friend, Jim Bonsall."

With the onset of the Great Depression, courthouse construction, as well as other building came to an abrupt halt. In order to prime the national economic pump, the federal government, through the WPA, sponsored the construction of a number of courthouses throughout the state.

Courthouses were constructed in Cameron, Caddo, Orleans, Ouachita, Natchitoches, East Carroll, Caldwell, Concordia, Madison, Pointe Coupee, St. Bernard, Iberia and St. Landry.

With the exception of the Jackson and Madison courthouses, all were in the Art Deco style, which was a mixture of the Greek Revival and Modern styles.

The Cameron Courthouse was designed by the Herman J. Duncan Company of Alexandria and was constructed by A. Farnel Blair of Lake Charles.

The courthouse housed troops in World War II and was the refuge for hundreds of persons who survived Hurricane Audrey on June 27, 1957, by making their way to the courthouse to escape the ravages of the storm.

The courthouse was not damaged and a command post was later set up in the sheriff's office by the Civil Defense who took over the cleanup efforts throughout the lower part of the parish.

FIRST COURTHOUSE

The Parish of Cameron was created March 16, 1870 when Governor Henry Clay Warmouth reigned over Louisiana. Cameron was created from the Southern portion of Calcasieu Parish and the west portion of Vermilion Parish, with the Mermentau River serving as the Eastern Boundary of the parish of Cameron. The Sabine River is the western

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Environmental Quality is proposing to issue a final Louisiana Water Discharge Permit System (LWDPS) permit to Beem Oil & Gas Company. This permit, if issued, will establish effluent limitations and monitoring requirements for the discharge of certain wastewater streams associated with the company's oil and gas exploration, development and production operations in the Deep Bayou Field, Cameron Parish, Louisiana. Receiving waters in the Deep Bayou Field include Deep Bayou, Johnson's Bayou, Sabine Lake, and associated canals and manmade waterbodies. The limitations and conditions of this permit are consistent with the permitting policy of the Office of Water Resources, which is designed to maintain full support of designated uses of the waters of the state.

The final permit, if issued, will require termination of the existing produced water discharge at the Deep Bayou Field, VIA: Cameron Meadows #4 production facility within six months after the permit effective date or by a date determined by submission of an acceptable plan for termination of the discharge. Termination of the discharge will be required because it is located within an area of restricted receiving water circulation.

The application and proposed limitations may be examined at the Office of Water Resources, 3rd Floor, Department of Environmental Quality, 7290 Bluebonnet Road, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Persons wishing to provide data, views or comments, or request a public hearing related to the issuance of the permit are invited to submit their comments and requests, in writing, within thirty (30) days of the date of this notice using reference No. WP 3034 to:

Hosp. dist. seeks loan

(CAPITAL NEWS)

The Lower Cameron Hospital Service District received State Bond commission authorization last week to seek a $1.5 million loan for expansion and capital improvements.

The loan, which would be in the form of excess revenue certificates of indebtedness, must be repaid within 10 years and would carry a maximum interest rate of 9 percent, according to the authorization granted by the commission.

According to the summary prepared for the commission by its analyst Steve Dicharry, the hospital district has no outstanding excess revenue loans and the maximum debt service on these certificates would be $116,865.

The analysis shows the hospital district had $3.7 million in revenues during the year which ended June 30, 1991. Since its expenses totaled only $3.1 million, it had $576,092 in excess revenues that year to add to its opening fund balance of $1.1 million.

The budget for the year ending June 30 estimates $5.2 million in both revenues and only $3.3 million in expenses, which would bring the fund balance to $3.5 million if the district's budget projections are accurate, according to the analysis.

Martin Marietta to bid on contract

The name of a another national space technology firm may well become almost as familiar as those of Boeing and Grumman in this area in the next year or so if the Martin Marietta Corp. has its way.

At a meeting of West Calcasieu and Cameron parish civic and business leaders held Friday at the Sulphur Holiday Day, Martin Marietta officials announced that they intend to bid in June on a five-year contract to manage the U. S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve, (SPR), including one of the nation's largest underground storage facilities of its emergency petroleum supply at the West Hackberry site in Cameron parish.

R. A. Tassin of New Orleans, who is the manager of the new Martin Marietta Strategic Petroleum Reserve division, said that the Boeing Company, which presently has the SPR contract, does not intend to seek to renew that contract and that Martin Marietta, along with about a half dozen other firms, will be bidding on the contract. He said he believes Martin Marietta will have the edge in the bidding since it has operated the Michoud facility at New Orleans since 1963 in developing and manufacturing the external propellant tanks for the Space Shuttle. Some 3,200 Martin Marietta employees work at the Michoud Assembly Facility.

Tassin traced the history of the SPR progam since its creation by Congress in 1975 as insurance against the nation being hit again with an embargo on foreign oil.

Of the five sites established in giant hollowed-out salt domes along the Gulf coast two were created in Southwest Louisiana--the West Hackberry site and the Sulphur Mines site at Sulphur. The latter site was deactivated several years ago.

The first part of the emergency petroleum facilities was carried out last year during Desert Storm when 19 million barrels of oil was drawn down.

Tassin said the West Hackberry site has a 219 million barrel capacity, covers 565 acres and has 155 employees.

The official said that if Martin Marietta is successful in getting the SPR contract, only a few key officials will be brought in at the Hackberry site by the company with most of the Boeing employees now on the job being retained.

Tassin said that Martin Marietta would be "a very good neighbor" in Cameron parish and West Calcasieu should it get the SPR contract. He cited the company's very active participation in community affairs in New Orleans in such things as fund drives and the support of public projects.

In addition to the SPR presentation, the Martin Marietta officials also presented a program on the Technology Transfer Program in cooperation with the National Space Agency.

Gordon L. Dyer, Technology Transfer Officer, also of New Orleans, told the group that his department has been given the charge of making federally developed technology, such as that developed by Martin Marietta, available to private businesses at little or no cost.

He gave illustrations on how high tech insulation foam developed for the Space Shuttle has been made available to small businesses that used the know-how and material in manufacturing school lunchboxes that keep food hot for hours and food carts for hospitals and prisons that keep food both hot and cold, also for hours.

Dyer said that similar public developed technology is available to firms in the Calcasieu-Cameron area. In some cases, the techology, if already developed, is available free of charge. In other cases, the firms pay only a small percentage of the profits they make, with these funds going back into the transfer program.

Rice program sign-up held

The 1992 rice program, administered by ASCS, calls for a zero percent acreage reduction according to Kirk L. Smith, County Executive Director for the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee for Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes.

Farmers participating in the 1992 rice progam will qualify for program benefits, Mr. Smith said.

The 1992 crop established "target" price for rice will be $10.71 per hundredweight. As part of the program, price support loans will be available to rice farmers participating in the program and complying with requirements. The price support national average loan rate for 1992 rice will be $6.50 per hundredweight, Mr Smith said.

Cam. Bancshares to meet March 18

FOUCHETTE

cause a sore to develop, which results in a hole in the pelt.

The area of the pelt between the front legs and the stomach region are the most commonly affected. The sores are usually severe enough to make the pelt worthless.

This has created a threat to the fur industry in Cameron Parish, as well as all of the coastal parishes which depend on trapping as a great part of their economy.

Vegetative inventories in 1968 found that fouchette occurred only in fresh marsh areas and was not very widespread.

Large die-offs of palle fine or canouche due to excessive flooding in Southeast Louisiana in 1973 resulted in massive increases of fouchette, and it is now a common plant throughout the fresh marsh areas of southeast Louisiana.

In Cameron and Vermilion parishes fouchette was present, but only in small amounts in 1978. Areas such as The Stump, the Big Burn and Sabine NWR Pool were the first places to have fouchette. In these areas it was occupying sites previously vegetated with alligator weed.

In 1978 aerial surveys indicted that 16,000 acres were infested with the weed.

Since then it has continued to spread and has become a common plant in much of the fresh marsh areas of Cameron and Vermilion Parishes.

The problem has become so great Rep. Randy Roach is calling a public meeting, or seminar, on Thursday night, Feb. 27, at the Creole Fire Station to discuss the emergency situation.

It was pointed out that the plant can be killed with the herbicide 2,4-D Amine, however, application would be extremely costly and the area sprayed may be reinfested with seeds from untreated areas.

Everyone is urged to attend the meeting to discuss the situation, especially trappers and hunters.

It will be held from 6 to 8 p.m., according to Rep. Roach.

Heart Fund goal doubled

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Heart Association more than doubled its goal in the fund drive, Mrs. Jennifer Bercier, president, reported to the board of directors at a "Heart Smart" meal Tuesday.

The dinner was held in the Cameron Firemen's Community Room and Mrs. Lou Duhon cooked the "Heart Smart" meal following directions from the American Heart Association Eating Plan book.

Mrs. Bercier introduced the other board members: Tom Place, vice president; John "Pete" Duhon, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Donna LaBove, 3rd vice president; and Mrs. Geneva Griffith, memorial gift chairman.

Mrs. Joycelyn Moseley kept track of the memorial gifts on a chart and Mrs. Bercier called out the donations.

The $1,000 goal for the year was surpassed early and the thermometer on the chart had to gush out the top when Mrs. Bercier reported that the donations had reached over $2,000, including the memorial gifts given throughout the year.

Mrs. Bercier commended the members of the community who made the parish go over the top in donations.

When the parish was formed a wooden building was purchased for use as the Courthouse. The wooden courthouse and a tiny wooden one room jail occupied the site on the courthouse square where the present courthouse stands.

It is part of an 80 acre tract that was patented from the state by Edward R. Simms on Sept. 18, 1856, who sold it to Mary A. Mudd that same year.

Ms. Mudd sold the tract to Phineas E. Smith, assessor of the newly formed parish, on April 16, 1871. He was also a surveyor and remained the Assessor of Cameron Parish for over 21 years.

On Feb. 26, 1874, the old wooden two-story courthouse burned and all the records were lost. There were rumors at the time that a local citizen had been charged with stealing a pig and burned down the courthouse so all of the records of his arrest would be destroyed.

Other rumors said that someone had it burned to destroy some land records relating to ownerships.

The Clerk of Court then sent out the word that the original titles and records were needed from the citizens so new records could be constructed, and Charlie Hebert, who owns a local abstract company, said it was amazing that most of the records were brought in.

LAND DONATION

On September 4, 1875, Smith donated a two acre tract where the present courthouse site, to the Cameron Parish Police Jury (Charles C. Burch was Jury President at the time) to be used for the erection of a courthouse and jail, with the stipulation that if this site is ever abandoned by the Police Jury, the land would revert back to him or his heirs.

This donation was given as a renewal of the one made by him when he bought the land and the original records were destroyed by fire.

The courthouse now stands on the north portion of the two acres originally donated by Smith, with a street circling the square, which is named P. E. Smith Circle.

The front of the courthouse has not changed since it was built, even though some additions have been made to the side and back to install an elevator and to close in a portion of the bottom for use of the Sheriff's department.

The courtroom and jail occupy the third floor of the building.

HISTORIC MONUMENT

On May 31, 1981, an historical monument was erected in front of the courthouse and a dedication ceremony was held naming it "The Battle of Calcasieu Pass and War Memorial."

It contains the names of the war dead from all of the wars up to that time from Cameron Parish in the battle of Calcasieu Pass, World Wars I and II, the Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

All of the war dead are from Cameron Parish, with the exception of the 8 Union soldiers from the Calcasieu pass battle who died during the battle and were buried on what is now "Monkey Island".

The burial site of these soldiers cannot be determined, and the wooden crosses on the graves have long ago disappeared in the marsh over which hurricanes have passed.

This is why the memorial was placed in front of the most famous building in the parish. This is also why so many people feel very strongly about not altering the face of the very historical old building.

NEWS IN BRIEF

*Saturday, Feb. 29, will end rabbit hunting season and I guess that just about wraps up hunting for our area until this fall.

*Four more persons are charged with illegal activity. Up to six counts of hunting deer off public roads, five counts of hunting deer during illegal hours, three counts of selling deer meat, one count of trespassing were some of the State of Louisiana charges. Federal charges were hunting ducks in closed season and taking a great blue heron (no season). Other state charges of killing mink illegally, hunting rabbits during illegal hours and criminal damage to property. Bonds on these men were set from $1,000 to $10,000.

*The outlook for bass fishing this coming weekend when the refuges open really looks good. Many anglers are fishing private ponds, private marshes, and road side ditches and doing good.

I got in some road side fishing this past week and did really good catching plenty of bass 10 to 12 inches in length, even one 3¼ and one 2 pounds. I only kept 7 of these bass, and the fresh fried bass surely tasted good.

There was some good red fishing in the Mermentau River in Grand Chenier this past week also. Lots of small reds 14 inches or so, but still some keepers of 16 inches caught.

Catfishing has been slow, especially at this time of the year, however we have a lot of water to cope with if we're lucky enough not to get too much more rain and the water can go down, catfishing will get good.

RODEO PLANNED

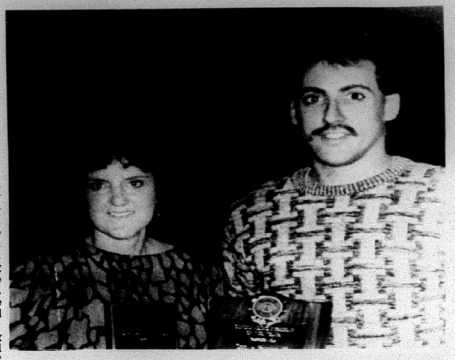
Rudy's Fisherman Stop in Creole is planning an open to public bass fishing rodeo on Saturday, March 21. It will be from 5:30 a.m. and weigh-in at 3 p.m. There will be three places in team stringers. Each boat with a team of two anglers will pay $20. Only five bass will be weighed in for each team.

There will also be a big bass pot. Entry will be $5 per angler with the two largest bass splitting the pot. You may get your entry blanks at Rudy's and pay your entry fees.

For the team stringers, 45% of entry money will go to the first place team, 35% to the second place team and 20% to the third place team.



All fishermen will be asked to park in the rear parking lot and not to block driveway or gas pumps.

Women, youth and adults are all welcome to enter. Only two persons per boat allowed and all permits, licenses, boat registrations are required; follow all laws of the state and permits used.

Entry fees and forms have to be in by 6 p.m. Friday, March 20. No entries will be given after that date.

There will also be a prize given by the store to the top team and largest bass weighed in.

Every angler should it be needed, can be subject to a polygraph test, to be paid by the person who challenges a rule.

Sportfishing to open on Cameron Prairie Refuge

According to Refuge Manager Paul Yakupzack, sportfishing will open in two areas of the Cameron Prairie Refuge on March 15.

One of the areas to be opened is the roadside canal located opposite from the entrance road to the refuge headquarters on the west side of Louisiana Highway 27. Access to this area consists of a refuge road that is six-tenths of a mile in length. The adjacent roadside canals and borrow pits are convenient for bank fishermen. This is a single lane road. Motorists should park in designated areas and not block through traffic. No motorized boats will be allowed in this area, and there is no boat launch.

Sportfishing will also be allowed on about 2 miles of the refuge outfall canal. Motorized boats will be allowed in the outfall canal. The canal outlet is located 1¼ miles north of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway (GIWW) on North Canal (the east refuge boundary). The east-west outfall canal can be accessed by boat only from the public boat launch located under the Gibbstown Bridge on Louisiana Highway 27.

Fishermen should go east on the Intracoastal Waterway from the bridge for about 3 miles, then proceed north on North Canal for approximately 1¼ miles to reach the fishing area. No other refuge waters will be opened at this time. It was planned that a 1,600 acre impoundment (Unit 8) would be opened to fishing.

However, after careful evaluation by a Fisheries Biologist, it was found that the sportfish populations in this impoundment would not allow adequate successful sportfishing opportunities. Work continues on the renovation and development of this 1,600-acre impoundment that will be stocked with sportfish for future fishing opportunities.

The areas described will be opened for sportfishing, subject to the following conditions:

1. Fishing and public access is permitted during daylight hours only from March 15 through October 15 in areas designated by refuge signs and/or brochures.

2. Access to refuge fishing areas is restricted to roads and canals designated by refuge signs and/or brochures.

3. Where motors are allowed, they are limited to no larger than 25 horsepower.

4. Trot lines must be attached with a length of cotton line that extends into the water.

5. Boats may not be left on the refuge overnight.

6. All applicable state and federal fishing, public use and litter laws will be strictly enforced at all times on the refuge.

No special permit is required. A refuge map and a set of refuge regulations may be obtained by writing Cameron Parish NWR, Rt. 1 Box 643, Bell City, La. 70630.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

We are surely having some beautiful weather. Our farmers are getting a chance to get ahead on their necessary work.

The lake has gone down considerably and the land is drying out fast.

A few little dances have been on the programme for the past two weeks.

Quite a few pork barrels have been filled in the past month and there are still pigs a plenty left for further operations.

The cattle are in poor shape and the past cold was too much for quite a few. The ticks are responsible for their poor condition and has weakened them so much that they are not able to stand any severe weather.

Quite a few cases of Lagrippe are here and around the country.

Most of the so called smallpox cases have recovered their usual good health.

Our school has revived with this pretty weather and we hope to make a higher average this month than during the previous months. The pupils are very enthusiastic over the spelling test to be given March 26. We hope to win one or two certificates.

PROMINENT FINANCIERS VISIT GRAND CHENIER

A large pleasure party composed of some of the prominent financiers of the country, accompanied by their families, and headed by Jos. Leiter, the noted wheat king, were in Lake Arthur Tuesday on their return from the hunting grounds near Grand Chenier. The party was accommodated in two boats, which had been chartered for the winter.

Mr. Leiter expressed himself as particularly pleased with Lake Arthur and its surroundings, and comtemplates a trip to this part of the country next fall.--Lake Arthur Herald.

(Joseph Leiter (Dec. 4, 1868-April 11, 1932) set out in 1897 to corner the American wheat market but his plan fell through in 1898 when a competitor dumped millions of busheis of wheat on the market. Leiter was almost forced into bankruptcy but was saved by his father. Ironically, shortly before Leiter's plan was disrupted, he was offered a sum for his wheat that would have turned a profit of around $4 million. He later was involved with railroads and with his father's coal company.)

Mrs. Larry Starr and baby of the Creole area left for Maryland on Tuesday where they will board a plane for France to join her husband who is serving with the armed forces there.

In the Lowery area, from dashes of sleet on both Friday and Saturday to rising temperatures on Sunday, followed by fog and rain early in the week, the area lacks not for variety unless variant weather itself has become commonplace. The winter has been hard on the cattle in this area. On Sunday some were moved from the Intracoastal vicinity to Streeter's ranch by Cleveland Broussard and his sons, Clifford, Ronald and Bernie. Other men helping were Lloyd Guidry, Hilliard Broussard and Joseph Primeaux.

Homemakers Club tells activities

Sharing the agenda of the February meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers Club were discussions on two upcoming projects followed by an educational program conducted by assistant home economist, Cynthia Richard, on "Living in the Family Environment". The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Eleanor West with Mrs. Ann Meaux serving as co-hostess.

Plans for Teacher Appreciation Week, March 15-22, were discussed. The club will honor the staffs of both South Cameron High and Elementary Schools Tuesday, March 17, by serving homemade cookies and coffee at each school. Members who will be serving at the affair are Estelle Theriot, Mayola and Teen Wicke, Meaux and West.

In discussing the annual Cancer Drive which the club conducts in the Creole area in April, members decided to hold the drive in March due to a program on cancer to be televised on KPLC on March 29 from 6 to 8 p.m. Final plans for the project will be made at the March meeting.

As presented by Richard, "Living in the Family Environment", can sometimes be bliss or sometimes a real predicament. To give your family a love that is ample, Richard said that these four most important things should be remembered as necessary: love, influence, faith and example. She explained how each of these works to bring about a good family environment. In concluding the program, Richard had members play a game by completing statements on each of the four things. Winners of the game were Meaux and Butsy Carter.

Following the meeting, members exchanged Valentines.

Roadsides may be mowed, not poisoned

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Police Juror George LeBouef reported to the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce this week that there is a good possibility that Cameron Parish's roadsides will be mowed in the future by the Highway Department, instead of using herbicides as in the past.

He said that Senator Cecil Picard told him that if the other parishes were getting their roadsides cut, Cameron will also.

For several years the Highway Department has been spraying the rights of way with herbicides and nothing is left but yellow and dead sprigs of grass along the roads and in the roadside ditches.

The local citizens have been very upset with the looks, even contending that weeds would look better than the dried sticks and even the lillies and cattails all dried up from the herbicides.

He also urged everyone to write their congressmen urging the appropriation of the money to have the Corps of Engineers build retaining levees along the Calcasieu River and canal where the erosion is causing Hackberry to be washed into the canal.

LeBouef also said that he and Parish Administrator Pete Picou had gone to New Orleans last week to meet with the Corps of Engineers regarding the cleaning out of The Loop in the Calcasieu River and that the Corps had agreed to dredge out to 16 feet if the Police Jury can get $400,000 from Congress for the cost and if there are no environmental problems.

Ed Kelley reported on his Washington trip with Mike Littman regarding the Sea Grant Program and the various projects in the parish that have benefitted from the program.

He said they were very well received by the congressional delegation and with the display they put on at a reception for the Congressmen.

Rodney Guilbeaux, Chamber President, urged members to attend an industrial inducement meeting sponsored by the Police Jury on Feb. 26, at 5 p.m. at the Police Jury Office.

He said that there will be a meeting each month like this at the Police Jury Office, after the Police Jury Claims Committee meeting.

The Claims Committee meets the Wednesday before the Police Jury meeting, which is held the first Monday of each month.

Musing

By Bernice Denny

There are times when we are as much a contradiction to ourselves as we are to others. We do not always view identical cases in the same light. Our thinking is often colored by our emotions. Yet, we seldom realize with what inconsistency we react to the same stimuli on different occasions. Note the story that follows.

Mrs. Frederick returned to her native country after having lived with her family in the United States for several years.

She was asked by a friend, "How does your daughter like America?"

"Vonderfull", Mrs. Friedrick beamed. "She married an American boy. He helps her wit' the house work. He vashes der dishes. He stays vit' der baby ven she vants to go out. Everything for her he does."

"How nice," her friend said. "And how is your son?"

"Ach! poor Ludvig, it is terrible vit' him," Mrs. Fredrick moaned. "He married an American girl. Poor boy, he has to help her vit' the house work and vash der dishes. He has to stay vit' der children ven she vants to go out. Everything for her he has to do. Poor Ludvig!"

And poor Mrs. Friedrick, whose thinking was so biased that she could not recognize that what was good for her daughter should also be good for her daughter-in-law.

Among the many contradictions in one's personality is the supersensitiveness with which one feels he is slighted by others and the callousness with which he thinks he is always right.

A wise man once said that the reason we are able to detect faults in others so easily is because we are familiar with those same offenses within ourselves. A miser regularly recognizes the stinginess of another, condemns him, but fails to become more generous himself. A gossiper denounces the spreader-of-tales, then hurries forth to spread all that was heard and more.

A man scorns the thief who stole his son's bike while he schemes to defraud his employer of another thousand.

Mankind is truly a bundle of marvelous -- and sometimes not so marvelous -- incongruities and inconsistencies. Even our great thinkers and writers were not in agreement concerning these qualities.

"Mutability of temper and inconsistency within ourselves is the greatest weakness of human nature," said Addison in denunciation.

A century or so later Mark Whitman boasted, "Do I contradict myself? Very well, then I congratulate myself. (I am large. I contain multitudes.)"

What are we to say except: May all your inconsistencies be harmless, and may your contradictions be for the better!

Hackberry may have response facility

The Marine Spill Response Corp. will launch the first of 16 offshore response vessels at ceremonies to be held Saturday, March 7 in Mobile, Ala.

The corporation was formed to meet one of the mandates included in the Oil Pollution act of 1990. Its primary job will be to respond to major oil spills along the coast.

MSRC will have one of its main offices in Lake Charles and may also have some facilities in Hackberry.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON --A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorics.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "'Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear.'" In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Sabine Refuge has program

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Sabine National Wildlife Refuge has begun a college level internship program.

It was developed to provide students with an opportunity to gain experience in several environmental related disciplines while actually working on a refuge.

Internship packets containing applications and brochures describing the program have been sent to colleges throughout the United States, according to Diane L. Borden, Wildlife Biologist at the refuge.

At the present time there is no housing on the refuge. Ms. Bordon said that the refuge would like to provide students with a list of low or no cost housing options in the nearby communities.

A housing register listing housing options has been set up at the register and anyone who would like to host a student or who has information regarding a housing opportunity is asked to call the refuge at 762-3826 and ask for Ms. Bordon.

Ms. Bordon said that community involvement will add to the students experience gained during their stay in Southwest Louisiana.

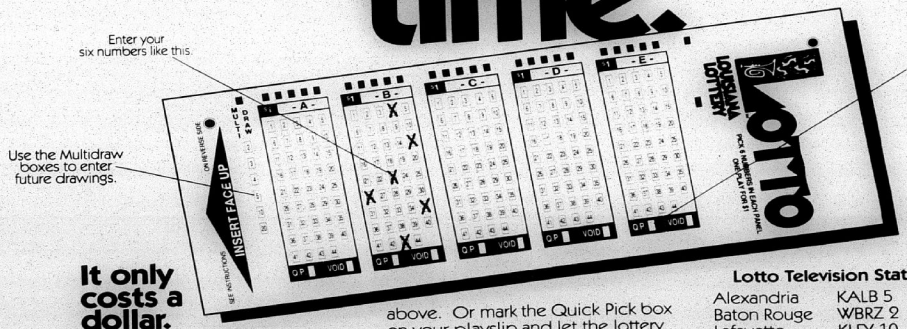
Conoco Gulf activities to be consolidated

Conoco has announced it will consolidate its Gulf of Mexico oil and gas activities into one operating division to be located in Lafayette. The consolidation is to be completed by June 1, 1992.

Currently, Conoco's offshore exploration and production operations in the Gulf are handled by separate divisions in Lafayette and New Orleans, and a unit at Conoco's headquarters in Houston.

"We have analyzed our asset portfolio, where our people are located and a variety of other factors concerning our business," Ted E. Davis, Conoco vice president for exploration and production North America, said. "This consolidation is one of the steps we have determined we need to take to increase our effectivness and strengthen our competitive position for the future."



Davis said the company's U.S. offshore exploration and production efforts will place significant emphasis on the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana coast where Conoco is already a major producer. Conoco's activities off the east, west and Alaskan coasts will be reduced significantly.

How to make millions in your spare time.

It only costs a dollar.
Match all six numbers and win a jackpot of $1 million or more. You can also match five of six numbers and win $1,500. Or match four of six and win $50 instant cash. Not bad for a dollar.

What if nobody wins?
Then everybody wins. Because if no one matches all six numbers correctly, the jackpot amount is carried over to the next week. And it keeps growing until some lucky person (like you) wins.

How to play.
Just mark six numbers between 1 and 44 on a playslip like the one above. Or mark the Quick Pick box on your playslip and let the lottery computer pick the six numbers for you. You can get up to five plays per playslip. After you've decided on your lucky numbers, pick up your ticket from the Lotto retailer. And don't forget to check your numbers to make sure they are correct.

Watch your clock and your TV.
Live drawings of the winning numbers are held every Saturday night at 9:59. You can watch the drawings on your local Lotto television station. But be sure to purchase your tickets for the Saturday night drawings before 9:50 p.m. that day.

Hearing set on red snapper quotas on 9th

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council will hold a public hearing on the 1993 commercial catch quota for red snapper at 6:30 p.m., Monday, March 9, at the Stouffer Riverview Plaza Hotel, Mobile, Alabama.

The purpose of the hearing is to get public comment on methods that could be used to extend the 1993 quota over a longer harvest period. The current 1992 quota is being rapidly harvested and such intensive effort in the first part of the season has created a market glut significantly unducing prices the fishermen receive for red snapper.

The Council is seeking suggestions for methods that would extend fishing over a longer period and result in better prices in the 1993 season.

Such methods might include allowing fishing only for two weeks each month, splitting the fishing season into several time periods during 1993 or imposing vessel trip limits, etc. Comments from the hearing will be used by the Gulf Council and the Reef Fish Management Committee to make adjustments for 1993.

The Council will set the 1993 commercial quota at its September 1992 meeting in New Orleans. The Council will not consider adjustments to the 1992 quota which has already been set for this year at 2.04 million pounds.

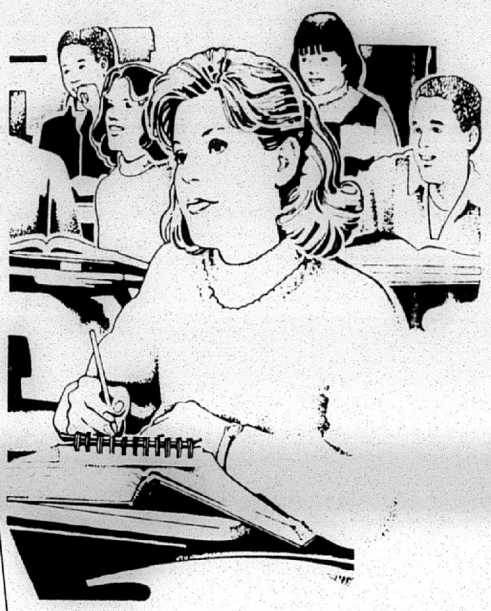
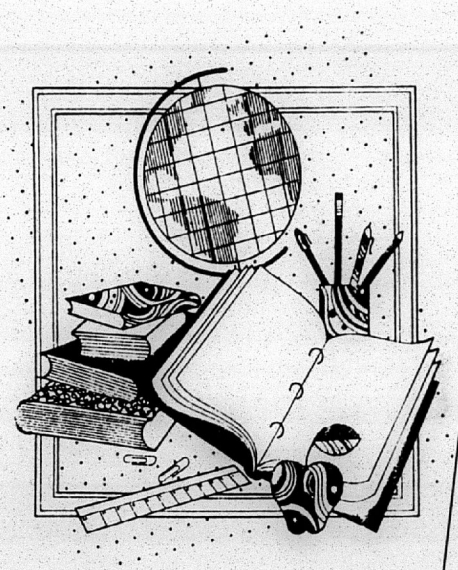
TO: All Cameron Parish Honor Students

Dear Honor Students,



Congratulations to all the students that made the mid-term Billy Navarre honor tabloid for 1992. I am sure everyone is aware that this is the first tabloid for the school year.



I have considered all the requests from the teachers, principals and the School Board and have decided to print only two honor tabloids, one at mid-term which will feature those students who made Banner or Honor Roll for the first three six weeks and one at the end of the school year which will feature students who made Banner or Honor Roll for the last three six weeks. I would like to thank the teachers, school secretaries and all those who took the time to organize the pictures and honor lists needed to make this tabloid a great success. You deserve recognition for all your hard work.

For some of you, this is the first time your picture will be featured. Best wishes go to you and to all the students that have raised their grade level and almost made the tabloid, a special congratulations is in order for you. I hope you enjoy the tabloid as much as I enjoy hearing from the teachers and parents that say how much it has helped. I would also like to thank all our customers who have supported Billy Navarre Chevrolet for the last ten years. You help us do all the things that we do. I really appreciate you. So good luck in the future and working and believe and you shall achieve.

Sincerely,

Billy Navarre

We are proud to join with Billy Navarre in the presentation of the scholastic achievements of so many of our young people. We believe that the people of Cameron parish should see that so many of you are good students.

We congratulate the students who made the first semester Banner and Honor Rolls. We are proud of you and what you mean to our parish...our state, for you are our future, you are tomorrow's leaders. We hope to see all of your pictures in the next semester's issue of this 1991-1992 school year. Good luck!

To all the students who didn't make the Banner and Honor Rolls, we urge you to "try a little harder." If you put out that extra effort, you can be happy with yourselves whether or not you achieve the Honor or Banner Roll. You will be making the most of your educational opportunities and enriching your lives.

Fun Facts

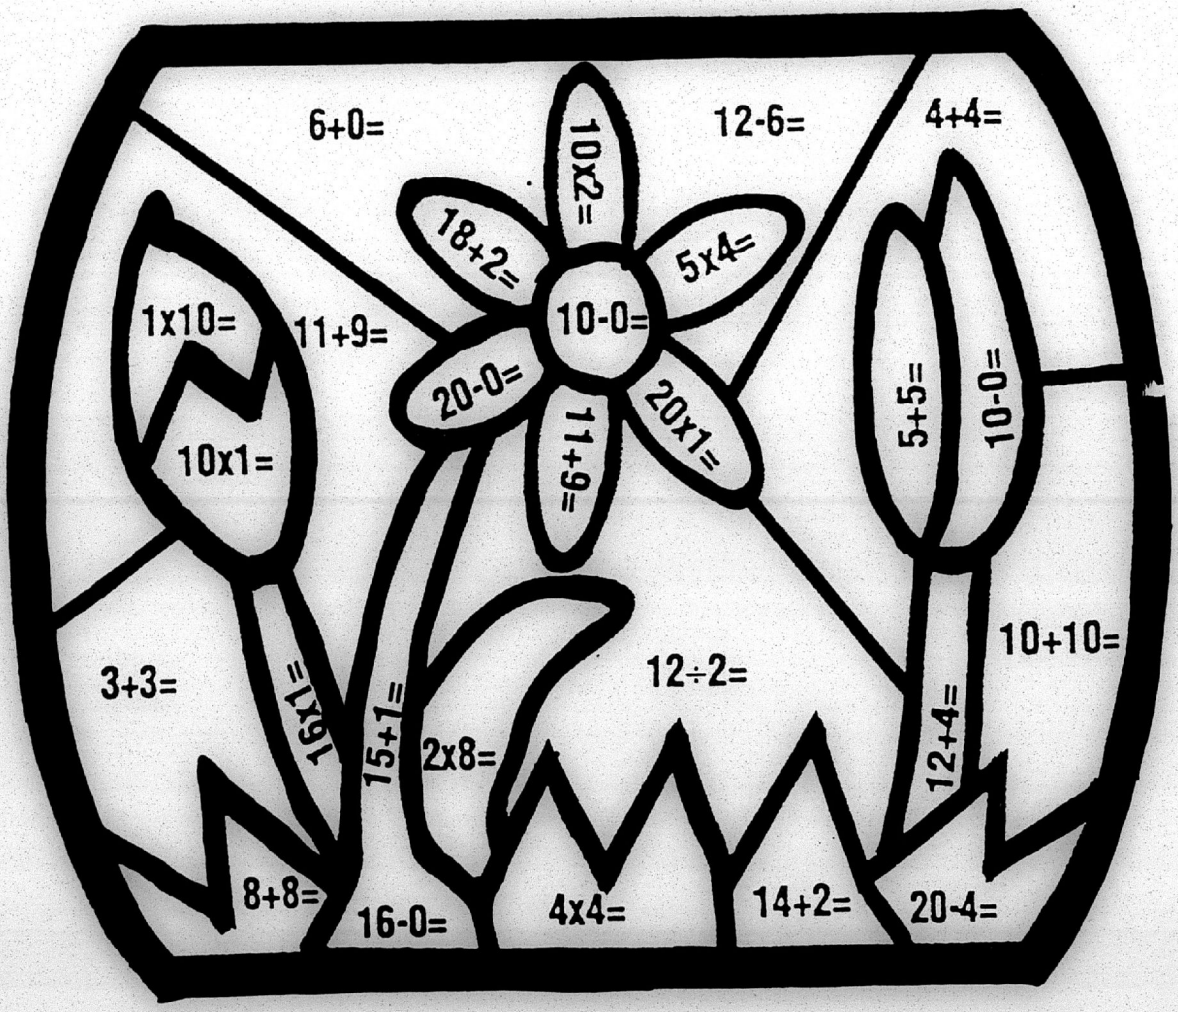
1. Painting is one of the oldest art forms. Some prehistoric cave paintings are more than 20,000 years old. The Egyptians, around 2000B.C., were among the first to use paints similar to the kinds being used today.

2. Basically, all paint is made by mixing a dry, powdered color (pigment) with a sticky substance (binder) which holds the powdered color together.



3. Dancing can be an art form. Ballet began in the Italian royal courts during the 1400's. Male dancers were used mainly to lift the female dancers, thereby showing how little the women weighed. It was not until the early 1900's that male dancers came to enjoy the same prestige as female dancers.

Billy Navarre

1310 E. College St. . 474-1999

Billy Navarre Chevrolet is now selling 5 times more cars and trucks than all the average other dealers in Southwest Louisiana. They are also one of the largest Chevrolet dealers in America.

In 1990, Billy Navarre was voted by all Calcasieu Parish Educators as "Friend of Education" for Calcasieu Parish and the State Educators voted Billy Navarre "Friend of Education" for the entire state of Louisiana.

In September, GMAC presented Billy Navarre Chevrolet of Lake Charles an award for having sent over $30 million in finance business to the GMAC-Lake Charles Branch; an all-time record for Southwest Louisiana by any single dealer in the history of GMAC in Lake Charles. This does not include the tremendous business sent in by the Sulphur store.

In 1990, Chevrolet Motor Division awarded Navarre with Chevy's #1 award for being one of the largest Chevy dealers in America. He finished in the top 30 in truck sales in America out of 5000 Chevy dealers. Plus, the leadership award for making Chevrolet the number one choice for cars and trucks in all the Southwest Louisiana.

Also in 1990, he was voted Citizen of the Year and Dealer of the Year by the Reader's Choice in Southwest Daily News for all of Southwest Louisiana.

"Putting 2 dealerships in the top 30 over 300 dealerships in the zone is really amazing. Being 9th in the nation is really fantastic when you consider we're going up against places in California, Florida, Texas, and other huge cities in the nation," Navarre said.

"Treating the customer right is the reason the dealership has reached the level of success it has in just nine short years." "It was our original goal when we opened in 1982 to build a new modern facility for Sulphur, but Chevrolet asked us to build a new facility in Lake Charles. This allowed for the 1st time in the history of Louisiana, one dealer to own two Chevrolet franchises in the same market. We agreed to build the Lake Charles facility first and the Sulphur facility in years to come.

"For 1990, we've added another franchise--Hyundai Motor American chose Billy Navarre Chevreolet because of their high volume, high customer satisfaction, facility, and location. Customers want to do business where they are appreciated," said Billy.

The numerous awards now lining the walls of both dealerships are testimony to the success that a combination of talent and dedication has brought. In 1982, the Sulphur store opened with 12 employees.

The dealership had been closed for 6 months. Every employee had left the company and they had to start over from scratch. There were 5 salespeople, 3 technicians, 2 people in parts, and 2 office personnel. There were only 15 new vehicles in inventory.

The odds were slim that Billy Navarre would even make the first year, much less become the #1 dealer in the market with two locations and now selling 5 times more than all the average other dealers in the market.

When the former Chevy dealership in Lake Charles closed, the Chevrolet Motor Division wanted Navarre to have the Lake Charles franchise because of his high volume sales and high customer satisfaction.

Navarre accepted the franchise. He could have opened up right away in the old location on Broad Street; however, he said, "although it would take longer, investing in the finest facility and most convenient location would offset that temporary invconvenience". And it has. "Our customers love our new facility," said Navarre.

Billy Navarre has expanded its payroll to meet the new needs and now has 150 employees with 2 locations, plus over 1000 new and used vehicles on display and available for their customers.

Everything about the new dealership was designed with customer convenience and customer satisfaction in mind. The Lake Charles facility is over 50,000 square feet of buildings on the property to provide virtually every kind of automotive sales and service possible.

"In Chevrolet service, we're number one in this area," Navarre said. "We have 34 service stalls in Lake Charles and 20 stalls in Sulphur so we can give immediate service."

The paint and body shop in both locations have the newest paint system available on the market today. Navarre said their "down draft paint booth with bake oven" will give the closest finish to factory possible. Due to our high volume sales, we carry more parts than many dealers giving even quicker service to our customers when their vehicles are down.

I was not born a wealthy person, or an automobile dealers son who was given a business to run. Everything I have was earned by selling and servicing my customers who helped me become successful. Because of my humble beginnings, I guess that's why I can say I appreciate my customers so much. I've been married to a wonderful lady who has been my wife for almost 19 years and has given me four wonderful sons, Ryan, Jareth, Barrett, and our one year old son, William Grant.

I thank all of our customers, employees, and friends for all their tremendous support in making Billy Navarre Chevrolet what it is today. I am very proud to be your #1 choice in automobile dealers on both sides of the river. I want to take this time to say 'Thank You' to all of our customers.

Parish may ... t 911 system

The Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday approved the organization of the Communications District Commission to explore the possibilities of establishing Enhanced 911 services for all of Cameron Parish.

Enhanced 911 is a communication system that provides one simple number to call in all emergency situations. It can be used to reach police, fire or ambulance assistance and allows the responding agency a much faster and more accurate response time.

With the proposed system, emergency calls can be dialed from any telephone in the parish and will offer more security, especially to the elderly, children, infirm and travelers.

With Enhanced 911 all emergency calls will be received at a public safety answering point. Once the call is connected, the caller's phone number, name of telephone listing, address and location will flash upon a computer screen. It will also give the nearest location for fire, police and ambulance assistance.

The new Communciations District Commision will consist of all six Police Jury members and the Parish Administrator.

An election is tentatively set by the jury for July 18 to approve a 52 cents per month service charge on all telephone bills to finance the 911 system.

Police Jury Briefs

Cable Service

The Cameron parish police jury again heard complaints about cable television service in the parish at their meeting Monday.

Billy Johnson, Cameron resident, told jurors that it took a month to get repairs to his system despite making numerous calls.

Juror George LeBouef said several other people in Cameron had reported similar instances to him.

A representative of TelaMedia, owner of the local cable system, promised to look into the complaints.

LeBouef said he did not think that the police jury should have to be taking the complaints for the company.

Port report

James Watts, Cameron parish's representative on the Lake Charles dock board, gave a report to the police jury on recent port activities at the jury's monthly meeting Monday.

He said that he was confident that state or federal funds would be made available for a containment levee to hold spoils in the Hackberry area when the ship channel is dredged.

He said that the port has been very busy and has more volume of any other ports in the area with the exception of Houston.

He said there was a number of longshoremen jobs available and that some 25-30 persons from the Hackberry area are now doing this type of work.

Hospital plans

South Cameron Memorial Hospital Administrator Joe Soileau told the Cameron parish police jury Monday that the State Bond Commission has approved the hospital issuing $750,000 in certificates of indebtedness.

He said the hospital has talked to three prospective buyers of the certificates and hopes to have them sold soon.

The funds will be used to add a 24-bed nursing facility to the hospital, a 12-bed geriatric/psychiatric unit and an elderly care facility.

The hospital board had orginally sought $1.5 in bonds but agreed to half of this amount at the request of the police jury.

Bridge committee

At the request of Hackberry juror George Hicks, the Cameron parish police jury Monday agreed to appoint the jury as a whole as a committee to try to get a bridge built across the ship channel.

Hicks said the parish had been divided in two by the channel for too many years.

Juror Ray Conner said he hoped the parish would get more support for the effort than in the past. He noted that the pilot association and ship yards had opposed the bridge before.

Appointments

Several appointments were made by the Cameron parish police jury at its monthly meeting Monday.

Ivan Barrentine was named to replace Edward Hebert who resigned from the Gravity Drainage Dist. 7 board.

J. P. Boudoin and Swinford Baccigalopi, whose terms on Gravity Drainage Dist. 4 board had expired, were reappointed.

Russell Savoie was named to the Recreation District 7 board to replace Bill Morris, who resigned.

Road repairs

The jury approved repairs to a number of parish roads, including two miles of a new type of three-layer surface that is hoped to be a better surface.

The work includes the Chalkley road that will be repaired with funds provided by three oil companies whose heavy equipment was responsible for the road damage.

Assessor is honored

The CLA requires successful completion of an education program which is made up of over 120 hours of intense courses dealing with the appraisal process. In addition, a designee must have a minimum of two years experience either in the assessor's office or in other recognized property appraisal or assessment fields.

Assessor Conner has been associated with the Cameron Parish Assessor's office for over 15 years and will be starting his third term as Assessor in the coming year.

Savoie named Fisheries agent

Kevin Savoie has been named as the new LSU Extension Service fisheries and wildlife agent for Cameron and Calcasieu Parish, it was announced at the Cameron Parish police jury meeting Monday.

Savoie succeeds Paul Coreil, who had held that position for a number of years and who was recently promoted to a statewide position in Baton Rouge.

The new agent, who assumed his duties Monday, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Savoie of Creole and graduated from South Cameron high school.

He received a B.S. degree in wildlife management and a master's degree in biology from McNeese State University. He worked for a private company in Lake Charles and for the past year has worked for the Department of Environmental Quality.

Savoie is married and he and his wife have a 2-year-old son.

The new agent was introduced to the jury by Jimmy Dardeau, district agent with the Extension Service from Crowley. Dardeau himself worked for the Extension Service in Cameron parish from 1964 to 1966 as parish 4-H agent.

Plant endagering trapping here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Cameron Parish trappers and cattlemen gathered at the Creole Fire station this week for a public meeting called by Rep. Randy Roach to address the problem of the fourchette plant that has invaded the fresh marshes of lower Cameron Parish.

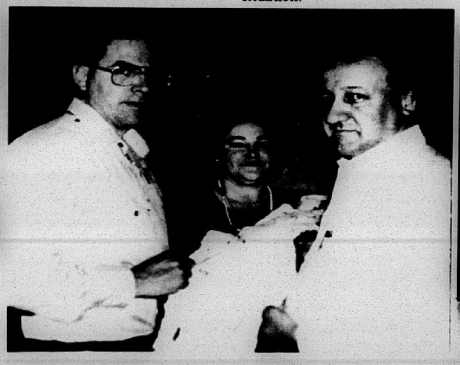
The fourchette is a beautiful yellow flowering plant that turns into a deadly menace when the flower fades and the seedpod dries. The seed pods contain about 150 seeds, each containing a double forked end that falls to the ground and sprouts to form other plants.

That is where it gets its name, for fourchette means fork in French, and the seed resembles a two tine fork when it dries.

The hard seed with its deadly spikes forms lesions on the nutria as the spikes stick in the skin, which forms holes in the pelts and renders them useless. This has greatly cut into the fur industry in the lower part of the parish.

Two speakers presented slide presentations explaining the range of the fourchette plant, the historical movement of it from the eastern part of the state down into this area.

Noel Kindler, a fourchette specialist with Wildlife and Fisheries, said that the seeds from the plant, which was virtually unkown in this part of the country until the last few years, is carried by high water and by nutria and other animals to which the burr attaches.



He explained that it can be killed by 2-4-F Amine that is also used to spray water hyacinths, however it is very expensive and other plants will also be killed in the process.

Greg Linscombe, who is one of the foremost experts on trapping in the nation with Wildlife and Fisheries, expressed his concern over the future of the trapping in the area if some way is not found to eradicate the fourchette.

Rep. Roach said he plans to put through a resolution in the Louisiana legislature to address the problem, and says he plans to meet with the congressional delegation to see what federal funds might be available.

Extension Service will also be called on for input into the situation, as well as ideas from local hunting interests.

He said that future meetings will be called to address the situation.

SHOWN AT a recent meeting in Creole were Noel Kindler, an expert on the fourchette plant, associated with the Wildlife and Fisheries; Myrna Conner, assistant to Rep. Randy Roach; and Greg Lindscombe, Fur Specialist with La. Wildlife and Fisheries. They are examining a nutria fur pelt that has been damaged from spurs from a fourchette plant, which is devastating the nutria industry along the Gulf Coast. (Photo by Geneva Griffith)

Economic plans told at meeting

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Police Jury called together a group of civic leaders, businessmen, and heads of local organizations last Wednesday night to discuss economic development projects for the parish.

Pete Picou, parish administrator, explained that with the state of the economy and the declining oil business, it is now necessary to look to other projects to prop up the parish's economy.

He outlined fifteen proposed projects the Police Jury is working on to promote Cameron Parish and asked for input on each one.

(1) the lower part of the Calcasieu River, at Calcasieu Pass will be dredged deeper and wider in order to accommodate larger boats. He pointed out that this has been caused by a design defect and that Congressman Hayes has had $200,000 appropriated for the project.

(2) A long range plan is being developed for prevention of further erosion of the Calcasieu Ship Channel. Rep. Randy Roach has formed a Task Force to work with the Corps of Engineers to present the plan for shoring up the whole river up to Lake Charles.

(3) Plans are in the works for locating a National Fish Hatchery in the town of Cameron.

Picou pointed out that historically Cameron has been one of the leading fishing ports in the nation, having dropped from first place to third place. He said that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service is very responsive to the plan and will meet with the jury and the congressional delegation in Washington soon to ask for the money to develop the project.

(4) Picou said that there are also plans to use a remote setting to produce seed oysters to help the oyster industry.

(5) Also in relation to the depressed industry, a plan is being looked into for the container relaying of oysters, by taking oysters from a polluted area and transporting them to an area in the Gulf and cleansing them, for oysters will cleanse themselves under certain conditions in as little as one day.

(6) The Police Jury is to check on low cost housing, which may be needed, especially if some of the industries they are working on decide to move into the parish.

(7) The Police Jury organized a tourist commission this year and figures that tourism could be Cameron's livelihood in the next 10 to 15 years.

Ed Kelley, Chairman of the Commission gave a report on the progress the commission is making including projects at the refuges, work on the 26 miles of accessible beaches, concentrating on various groups such as birding, bicycle groups and scuba divers that plan to come to the area.

(8) The jury is also actively working on getting a bridge built over the Calcasieu River and to Monkey Island.

(9) It is also working on setting up an E-911 system (Emergency Telephone) to be set up at the hospital.

New business opens here

Cameron has a new business that has just moved into the Calcasieu River waterfront.

Grasso Marine Services Centers, Inc. of Houston, Tex., announced this week the expansion of its fuel and lubricant distribution and terminal services capabilities through the acquisition of a large deepwater terminal in Cameron, formerly known as Cameron Offshore, on the Martha and J. A. Davis property, near the Cameron ferry.

The facility has 11 modern warehouses and offices, 27 acres of land, and 2,000 feet of frontage, with 500 feet of lighted bulkhead where water depths range to 35 feet.

The terminal will be operated in the multi-service concept developed by Grasso at its other Gulf Coast locations.

It also has operations on Sabine Pass, Galveston, Freeport, Port O'Conner and Harbor Island, Tex.

JUROR RAY CONNER of Creole was surprised Monday at the Cameron Parish Police Jury meeting when the jury staff presented him with a cake in observance of beginning his 17th year on the jury.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE NEWS
By STEVEN R. EMMONS
Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge

(Note: This article on Lacassine Refuge was prepared as part of a monthly series on the three national wildlife refuges located in southwest Louisiana. This article deals with current refuge activities.)

March is a much awaited time for many fishermen in southwest Louisiana who eagerly await the opening of the area's national wildlife refuges. As in previous years, Lacassine Refuge will open on March 1 and remain open through October 15.

Fishermen should make note that this early opening is only on Lacassine Refuge: Cameron Prairie and Sabine Refuges will not open until March 15. You should obtain copies of the current fishing regulations from each refuge you are interested in fishing.

This year will be the second year that Lacassine will be open for crawfishing. Crawfishing is limited to Unit A located north of Lacassine Pool and east of the road as you enter the refuge.

March 1 is also the date when the refuge began accepting applications for the 1992-94 alligator trapping permits. Applications must be returned by April 15 to qualify for the public drawing scheduled for 10 a.m. on April 30 at the Cameron Parish Police Jury building.

With spring arriving fewer waterfowl are being seen near Lacassine as they begin their northward migration. However, there are still a few large flocks of snow and white-fronted geese with Canada geese mixed in. This has been a good year for Ross' geese and usually one or two birds can be found in the larger flocks of snow geese. In addition, a brant has been seen in the vicinity.

Nesting wood ducks have returned to the display pond near the refuge office. They can be easily observed early in the morning and in the evenings. Great blue herons have begun nesting in some of the cypress trees in Lacassine Pool. Within the next month we should begin seeing more fulvous and black-bellied whistling ducks, nesting wading birds such as roseate spoonbills, ibis and egrets, migrating shorebirds and migrating land birds on the refuge.

Anyone interested in additional information on any of the refuge programs or activities should write to: Refuge Manager, Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, HCR 63, Box 186, Lake Arthur, La. 70549.

Twenty-six Project WILD teachers from around the state now have firsthand knowledge about Louisiana's marshlands to share with their pupils.

The teachers attended an advanced workshop staged recently by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries at the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge on the Gulf Coast at Grand Chenier.

According to coordinator Wayne Huston, some 3,200 teachers now are particiapting in Project WILD (Wildlife in Learning Design), a supplementary wildlife education program for youngsters in grades kindergarten through 12.

The group of teachers attending the workshop spent a weekend at Rockefeller Refuge adding to their knowledge of marshes, alligators and furbearing animals.

Ted Joanen, LDWF senior biologist at Rockefeller, filled the teachers in on the history and mission of the refuge and some of the research projects conducted there. These include research on alligators, marsh management, fisheries, the brown pelican and waterfowl.

LDWF fisheries biologist Guthrie Perry outlined the value of marshes, which serve not only as habitat for wildlife but sources of oil and gas as well. Wildlife biologist Greg Linscombe talked about muskrat and nutria, the role of trapping and the objectives of the Fur and Alligator Advisory Council. Biologist Larry McNease traced the vegetation changes that have occurred in marshlands in recent times.

Other speakers included consulting biologists Dave Richard and Allan Ensminger, both former LDWF employees, and Benny Welch, a trapper and school principal.

The teachers toured the refuge's wetlands and enjoyed an airboat ride to wind up the meeting.

All the people conducting the workshop donated their time and efforts.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

This past weekend marked the early or first start of our bass, crappie and bream spring fishing. Anglers hit Lacassine Refuge, Cameron Prairie Refuge and Rockefeller Refuge on the east end of the parish and Sabine Refuge on the west end of the parish.

Fishing these areas was fairly good with beautiful weather. Fish are ready to spawn as they are full of eggs. Some bass taken out of Rockefeller and Lacassine were ready to bust.

It will be another week before the Big Burns and Miami Corporation lands open. March 14 is "D" Day. Remember, get your permits, as you will be checked. Call your local retail grocery stores for your permits.

I have had many reports of saltwater fishing but they're still catching redfish in the Mermentau River in Grand Chenier and the Cameron Ship Channel. There were reports of some nice reds caught on Rockefeller Refuge.

The registration slips are at Rudy's Fish 'N Stop for the upcoming Bass Fishing Rodeo on March 21. Don't wait until the last minute. Registration closes at 6 p.m. March 20.

NEWS BRIEFS

* Most states use a value placed on fish by the American Fisheries Society. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has taken that value and multiplied it by the inflation rate, plus either recreational or commercial value plus lost recreational value plus investigative costs.

I know many of us use Texas waters to fish and I think we need to be extra careful when fishing their waters, or it could become expensive.

I would like to give you an example: Under the AFS formula, a 14 inch largemouth bass is valued at $5.55, but by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department system, the value is $55.83. A 15 inch speckled trout for AFS is worth $6.06 and by the department it's $27.42. This continues for other species so you could end up on a very expensive trip if you're not careful.

* We are less than three months into the year and already the 2.04 million pounds of red snapper quota for commercial fishermen has been reached and the season closed in all federal waters of the Gulf of Mexico and will not reopen until Jan. 1, 1993.

* All five of our southern states have a study by researchers to find out about the accidental kill of billions of red snapper, flounder, marckeral, trout, reds and other fish that are supposed to be trapped by shrimp nets in the Gulf of Mexico and also the Southeast Coast.

It is estimated that 10 billion fish are thrown overboard by shrimpers, many dead.

The states include Louisiana, Texas, Georgia, North Carolina and Florida. This will be a three year study on shrimp by-catches on the fish population and how to reduce it.

I guess we'll see fish excluders on our shrimpers nets as we have seen the Turtle Excluder Device on their nets.

Shrimping is a big $3 billion business for our Southern States, and it could get hurt.

Congress has authorized $1.3 million this year for a study to be conducted. By 1994 there will be new regulations on shrimpers because of this by-catch. This could really create a problem for our shrimpers.

NEWS ON ANIMAL RIGHTS ACTIVISTS

* An Arizona ballot proposed to ban trapping on public lands is now an all-out effort to ban hunting, fishing and trapping throughout the entire state. This could mean an end to a variety of sporting activities in that state. This will be known as Proposition 200 on the November 1992 ballot.

* A female rancher in Idaho has been charged under that state's new hunter harassment law. She has been charged by two hunters, hunting on management land near her ranch. The two hunters, a game warden and a forest ranger, were harrassed by her, went on to make their hunt and returned to find their tires slashed.

* Back in December last year the CBS 60 Minutes showed viewers only one side of the argument on fur and kills of animals. Mostly on the against side and sportsmen are urging 60 Minutes to air the other side of the story.

* In New Jersey seven animal rights protestors who chained themselves together were arrested, protecting a six day hunt on the exploding deer population. There has been a ban in that state for 20 years, banning hunting of deer. Now there are so many deer they're eating gardens, shrubs and damaging other vegetation plus many car wrecks.

Where and when will all this stop, if ever.

WILDLIFE AGENTS

* Twenty-five new enforcement agents have graduated and taken their places in the field duty here in Louisiana. In our area Herbert Hinton of Lake Charles was one of the 25.

* Taking of oysters from unapproved areas, taking of oysters during illegal hours and taking of oysters in polluted areas have had agents on the alert. Using night scopes they made two separate arrests. Thirty-eight sacks of oysters were seized and returned to the water in one case and six sacks in another case were seized and returned to the water.

Words to live by

The other day I was thinking of the maxims that my mother quoted daily to us children as good advice to live by. Then yesterday I was reminded by a magazine article of a column, "Words to Live By," edited by William I. Nichols that once appeared in "This Week Magazine," which ceased publication in 1970.

I thought that it would be interesting to learn if people today have their own special words to live by. I first broached the question to a young grandmother.

She said, "I don't know. There are so many." She thought a while; then added, "If I selected one word above all others it would be compassion. To me that word embodies tenderness and generosity. Compassion causes one to go the second mile to relieve the suffering of others whether they be people or animals. The Bible is filled with examples of God's great compassion for mankind."

One man when asked quoted Benjamin Franklin's "Honesty is the best policy," then continued, "That is my own motto, too. There is so much dishonesty all around us today. In many cases no longer is a man's verbal word as good as his notorized and witnessed signature on a contract. There is dishonesty in politics, in business, in family relationships. And in every instance it results in disgrace or punishment or severe unhappiness. Yes, honesty guarantees clean living free of regrets. Those are the words I live by."

I asked a classroom teacher what words she chose to live by. She replied at once, "I try to find some form of beauty in every individual with whom I come in contact and in every situation in which I find myself. I scan the faces of my little pupils each day, and I find some form of beauty in each child, It goes deeper than outward appearances. It may be a smile or the light in a pair of eyes or a little one's determination to learn all he can. It may be an act of kindness shown by one to another or one's willingness to help me at recess.

"And I find beauty in the sunshine slanting in across our room, even in the rain playing tic-tac-toe on our windows. And I'll tell you a little secret. I rejoice in the music of the dismissal bell at the end of the day."

Next I posed the question to a high school junior. He thought a few minutes; then said, "I guess I consider self-control as my guide word. I try to practice it out on the football field. If I have flubbed out there and receive jibes in the locker room, I really rely on it. Sometimes when my peers urge or even dare me to do something wrong, such as indulging in alcohol or other drugs, I tell myself that this is my life and it's too valuable to waste. It isn't always easy to control one's self, but I know it's the decent thing to do."

My little great-grandson, not yet four, wanted to contribute to whatever I was doing.

"What words do you wish to live by?", I asked him.

"Tell me bedtime stories, but don't put me to bed," he replied.

I wonder what his answer will be in twenty or thirty years.

PREVENTION
YOUR CHILD'S LIFE!

THINGS YOU CAN DO TO PREVENT ACCIDENTAL CHILDHOOD POISONINGS

1. LOCK up dangerous household products or place them out of reach and sight.
2. REQUEST "safety-lock" tops on all prescription drugs.
3. DON'T depend on close supervision to prevent poisonings. Many investigations of poisons by children are done when parents are within reach of their children.
4. Don't store poisonous or flammable substances (ammonia, drain cleaners, kerosene, gasoline, etc.) in food or beverage containers.
5. DO read and heed labels and precautionary statements on containers.
6. DO NOT keep anything you can eat on the same shelf as things you can't eat. It is easy to grab the wrong product when they are side by side.
7. AVOID calling any medicine "candy" and DO NOT buy over the counter medicine that is animal shaped or looks like candy.
8. NEVER give one child's medicine to another child unless your physician has instructed you do so.
9. RECOGNIZE that children are curious and learn to climb at an early age. Also their chances of being poisoned are much greater if they are hungry or thirsty.
10. DISCARD dangerous poisons you don't frequently use, including all old medications.

TEDs enforcement began March 1

Active enforcement of a law requiring turtle excluder devices on shrimping nets began last Sunday, the Coast Guard said.

The regulation is enforced annually from March 1 through Nov. 30 to coincide with the migration of sea turtles off the coasts of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

The Coast Guard said it found an 89 percent compliance rate on vessels boarded during 1991, an increase from the 70 percent rate in 1990.

Shrimpers face penalties for not having the devices or disabling the devices, designed to keep turtles from drowning in fishing nets.

Mardi Gras still best party in the world

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

As has been our custom for years, our family again spent Mardi Gras in New Orleans, joining other friends from Baton Rouge attending the "Greatest party in the World", Mardi Gras.

We headquartered in the Hilton again this year with the Endymion group from Baton Rouge and learned after we got there that the three main celebrities in the Endymion and Bacchus parades were also staying there -- Kenny Rogers, Parick Duffy, who served as marshals of the Saturday night Endymion parade, and Gerald McRaney, star of T.V.'s "Major Dad", who served as King Bacchus XXIV in the Sunday night parade.

The security at this year's Mardi Gras was tremendously beefed up due to the controvesy stirred up by a new city ordinance requiring krewes to eliminate barriers to membership such as race and sex.

Several krewes decided not to enter the parades this year in protest of the order which is due to take effect next year.

Councilwoman Dorothy Taylor, who introduced the ordinance, has become the target of critics who think her action has tarnished the city's most unique tradition.

This is in addition to the tremendous amount of money the celebration brings into the local economy, estimated to have a billion dollar effect on the economy.

There was a sign hanging from a French Quarter balcony which read, "Thanks for killing Carnival Dorothy Mae Taylor."

The beautiful weather brought out record crowds to watch the parades, and surprisingly there were no deaths attributed to the Carnival, even though two different people in two separate incidents fell under the wheels of Mardi Gras floats in the Bacchus parade, and one of the float riders hit an over-anxious parade watcher with a hammer when he tried to climb on a float. The rider was taken off the float, arrested and charged with aggravated battery.

I counted 20 teenagers in our group at the Endymion parade, who were having a great time jumping and begging float riders to "Throw me something, Mister."

We met interesting people from all over the United States and several foreign countries who were very anxious to learn the interesting history of the Mardi Gras and the carnival season, which has been going on in New Orleans since the early 1800's.

Everyone has gone home now and settled back into the "real world" and will have to wait for another season to forget all their worries and attend another great party in the "The Big Easy."

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

More on the budget

By Rep. Randy Roach

In my last two legislative columns I gave you an overview of the state budget process and how we spend our state tax dollars. I also pointed out that it is difficult to cut the state budget without making significant cutbacks in the money spent on university programs, administrative agencies and various social and medical programs.

Last week the Governor submitted his proposed budget for next year to the legislature. It is balanced. He made good on his campaign promise - no new taxes. But the way that it is balanced proves that our financial problems are not political - they are very real.

The much talked about $1 billion deficit does not appear in the proposed budget. The Governor believes that the legislature will be able to avoid this recurring problem if it approves his recommended sources of revenue:

1. Renewing sales taxes on food and utilities ($350 million).

2. Suspending the educational tax credit for tuition paid to private schools ($15 million). (Note: We have been relying on these sources of revenue every year since 1986.)

3. Spending $50 million from 1991 lottery proceeds.

4. Spending $140 million from projected 1992 lottery proceeds. (The constitution says that the legislature cannot legally spend this money until it is collected. There is a serious legal question as to whether or not this money can actually be spent on next year's budget.)

5. Borrowing $170 million from the Recovery District. (This is legal, but it is a "one-shot" source of money that must be repaid.)

6. Reducing the annual installment payment due to fund our state retirement systems by $41 million. This is also a "one-shot" source of revenue that must also be made up in the next few years.

7. Imposing a $1.67 million "fee" on health care providers who participate in the medicaid program. This fee will be passed on through an increase in the medicaid fee schedule which will be paid for with the help of a federal match of 75% of the additional cost.

8. Spending $44 million from the state's share of money from video poker. Video poker is a video-game which pays money just like the Las Vegas slot machines. The legislature legalized this video game last year. It is expected to become operational in lounges and truck stops across the state beginning in July 1992.

The Governor did what he had to do - he presented a budget that was balanced. The only problem is that it requires us to spend approximately $260 million in "one-shot" revenue to help pay for ongoing operating expenses. If we go along with this proposal, that amount will increase dramatically next year when we start to pay some of it back.

Just a few months ago candidates for governor were promising to "cut the fat" and balance the budget if elected. They made it sound easy. It is not. Raymond Laborde, the governor's commissioner of administration, explained the problem of balancing the budget this way: "When you talk about $260 million, what do you do? I don't think there's any way to cut that out of the budget...

I know we haven't solved the problems. I know that. I'll be the first one out front to say that. But then I don't know what else to have done."

It is time to put the governor's race behind us. We are running out of time. Governor Edwards and former Governor Roemer apparently agree on at least one issue, we need to change the way that we pay for state and local government. The major obstacle to finding a satisfactory solution is that we rank 41st in the country in average income per person.

In my next legislative report, I will explain the governor's proposal to call a special constitutional convention for next January to consider changes in our system of state and local taxes.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well our public school opened today with Miss Myrtle Doxey of Grand Chenier for the teacher. Eleven scholars appeared and about 20 more will follow in a few days.

We have had some good rains and the lake is considerably higher than it was a few weeks ago.

Jules Broussard deserves credit for the way he has taken hold of the school and if all the patrons will follow the example of their new director we will have a good school and we certainly need it.

Mr. J. Benoit is still carrying the mail in place of Capt. George. The Mabel is still out of commission and Mr. Benoit makes quite a good substitute with his gasoline launch.

LAURELS FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT (By Geneva Griffith)

We would like to hand out laurels this week to the Cameron volunteer fire department. We witnessed their work at the trailer fire we had on Oak Grove last week, and had it not been for their prompt action, other trailers probably would have been consumed. The fire truck and at least a dozen cars came to the scene to help when the alarm was sounded, even though this was outside of the fire district.

ALL AROUND THE PARISH

A culvert will soon be installed under main street in Cameron to remove excess water from a downtown service station, Hadley Fontenot told the Lions club Monday.

"Family Night" was observed at the Oak Grove Baptist Church Wednesday night when a covered dish supper was served for the church membership, followed by a business meeting. This is to be a regular monthly observance Rev. W. J. Potoriff announced.

Sam Little, who was seriously injured in a car wreck in Lake Charles New Year's Day, was released from Memorial Hospital the past week. He is in a wheelchair and improving rapidly.

From Big Lake, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Farque and children, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Duhon and children, visited relatives in Port Arthur Sunday. They also saw the new causeway for the first time. Stephen Allen Farque accompanied them.

Infant seat loan program at hospital

Many children in the Cameron Parish area will be much safer because of a new project started by South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

The infant seat loaner program is a project intended to increase the number of children in our area who are properly buckled up in infant car safety seats while riding in motor vehicles. The hospital will loan seats to residents in its service area and explain to parents the importance of properly using infant care safety seats.

"Car crashes are the leading cause of death to young children", said Richard Dunno of South Cameron Memorial Hospital. "But dynamically tested, properly used car safety seats can reduce or prevent many of these tragedies. The first step is to convince parents of the need to use a car safety seat. The next step is to make seats available to them. That is what our program will do."

Mr. Dunno pointed out that in 1987 there were 4,304 automobile accidents in Louisiana that involved children ages four and under. Seventy percent of the children killed would have survived if they had been properly buckled in a safety seat. Fifty percent of these injured would probably have escaped unharmed.

The program is in effect and infant seats are available for loan. There will be a $5 refundable deposit. For more information, parents should call 542-4111 for Richard Dunno, ext. 271 or Brenda Boudreaux, ext. 200.

Registration

Registration for children entering Hackberry High School Kindergarten next fall will be held Thursday, March 19, at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Rogers is honored

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Mrs. Roberta Rogers was the recipient of a surprise tribute at the Sunday morning service of the Wakefield Memorial Methodist Church.

The United Methodist Women of the church put on a Ladies Day Program to a full house of friends of Mrs. Rogers who had come to honor her.

Ruby Kelley gave the welcome and Mary Beth Henry and her grandmother, Carie Montgomery, provided the music, with Mrs. Henry leading the singing and Mrs. Montgomery at the piano.

Mrs. Marguerite Carter gave the program on the blind hymn writer Fanny Crosby. She also led the children's choir in two songs.

Janie Turnbull announced that in addition to honoring Mrs. Crosby, born in the early 1800's and an integral part of the Methodist history, the women this year are honoring a church woman of more recent history who is an integral part of the local church history.

Mrs. Turnbull listed all of Mrs. Rogers' contributions to her church, family and community, including her work with the choir, Sunday school, Bible school, and United Methodist Women in her church; with Cooperative Extension Service, Home Demonstration, the Fur Festival, Cowbelles, Welfare Board, the American Cancer Society, the Gulfside Garden Club, PTA, Gray Ladies Auxiliary, the Daughters of the American Revolution, historical society, her support of the South Cameron Tarpons, the Optimists, the Chamber of Commerce, Salvation Army, her tireless efforts for the victims of Hurricane Audrey and Hurricane Betsy.

Testimonials and tributes were paid to her by the following who decribed her participation in various organization projects, and were introduced by Mrs. Virgie LeBleu:

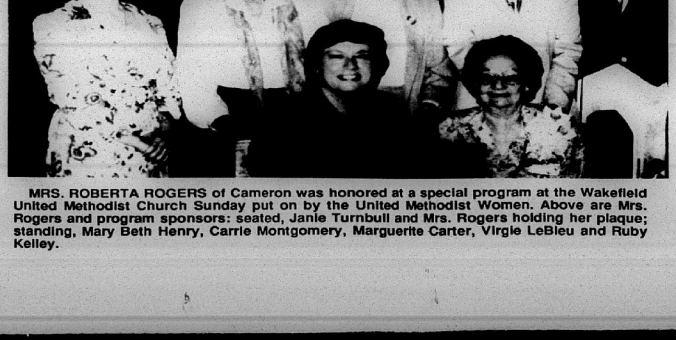
Ed Kelley, Chairman of the Board of Wakefield Methodist Church, who outlined all of the things she has done for the church.

Glenda McPherson, who spoke for Mrs. Emma Nunez, who was ill, on her work in the Thelma Hackett OES #255.

Mrs. Ada Nunez, who along with Mrs. McPherson, represented the Grand Chenier Methodist Church, who presented her with a bouquet of flowers.

Mrs. Wardella Fontenot, who reminisced about her many years of work in the local Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Geneva Griffith, who told about her work in the Fur Festival when she was one of the founding members.



Bernice Denny, a cousin who recalled Mrs. Rogers childhood on Grand Chenier.

Margie Kelley, a friend and employee, who described Mrs. Rogers as a friend to everyone.

Mrs. Turnbull presented a plaque to Mrs. Rogers to remember the day by and Mrs. Ruby Kelley announced that a donation will be made by the Methodist Church to missions in honor of Mrs. Rogers.

MRS. ROBERTA ROGERS of Cameron was honored at a special program at the Wakefield United Methodist Church Sunday put on by the United Methodist Women. ## Rev. M. L. King's birthday is holiday

Rev. Martin Luther King's birthday will be observed as an official holiday in Cameron Parish schools on Monday, Jan. 18, 1993, as the result of action taken by the school board Monday.

The Cameron Parish Chapter of the NAACP had been campaigning for the holiday for several years. Two years ago the board and the chapter agreed to have special observances in each school on King's birthday in lieu of a holiday.

However, at the February meeting of the board a group of black citizens indicated they would prefer to have an official school holiday. Many of the black students have been missing school on King's birthday any way and getting an unexcused absence.

The King holiday was approved by the board unanimously, but the addition of another holiday to the school calendar did present the board with a problem. Unless another holiday is eliminated school will have to start a day earlier next year--on Wednesday, Aug. 19.

On a motion by Betty Seay, the board agreed to poll the teachers on starting school earlier or else eliminating the Mardi Gras holidays on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 22-23 or the Monday, April 12 after the spring break.

Aug. 17 & 18 (Monday and Tuesday)--Teacher in-service.
Aug. 19 (Wednesday)--Students begin classes.
Sept. 7--Labor Day.
Nov. 7 (Tuesday)--National election day.
Nov. 23-27--Thanksgiving holidays.
Dec. 21-Jan. 1--Christmas & New Year's holidays.
Jan. 18--Martin Luther King's birthday.
March 22-23--Mardi Gras.
April 3-12--Spring break.
May 31 (Monday)--End of school.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the school board took these actions:

* Received a report from its auditor that all of the board's financial records were in good shape.

* Heard a report from Supervisor Judith Jones that a parent advisory group had approved the addition of information on AIDS to the sex education portion of the 7th grade science class. The board also approved the addition.

* Adopted a policy on graduation requiring any student who participates in commencement exercises to have completed all of the necessary requirements for a diploma. This excludes students who have not passed the state exit exam.

* Approved out of state travel for staff members to attend an International Reading Conference in Orlando, Fla. to receive a national award.

* Heard a report from Supervisor Jones on plans to upgrade computer labs at most of the schools in the parish.

* Accepted a bid of $34,898 for a new computer system for the central office to replace the outdated system installed in 1981.

So. Cam. 4-H Club tells activities

By KRISTI DUPUIE, Reporter

Being involved in community activities has always been an important part of the 4-H program and the South Cameron High School Jr. 4-H Club really does their part.

In February several members of the club lent a hand to the American Business Women's Association during a Valentine party held at the South Cameron hospital for the swing bed patients. Jennifer Harper, Shannon Suratt and Kristi Dupuie served cake and delivered Valentines during the party.

Club members also served as ushers for the Friday night program during the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival. Those members were Jodi Richard, Danielle Shay, Kristi Dupuie, Jennifer Harper, Tredale Boudreaux and Jennifer Savoie. Chad Portie also helped during the Festival with the outdoor contest.

Perfect things teach hope.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

BIG BURNS TO OPEN

This spring weather, barring the rain and rough spring storms, has many anglers wetting their lines.

The area refuges, especially Lacassine, held some good fish the first two weekends of the month. Rockefeller Refuge was a real hot spot on both redfish and bass. Some really good bass have come out of Rockefeller this past week. Some of these fish were up to 5½ pounds, with quite a few 3 and 4 pounders caught.

This coming weekend, March 14, will see many hundreds of anglers tackling the Big Burns and Miami permit fishing areas. These permit marshes should really have some nice big bass this year, as we had a mild winter. Don't forget to buy your permit before entering these areas.

There are two changes you should note this year. Read the front and rear of your permit cards. Areas you cannot fish are Boudreaux Lake, Willow Lake and around water control structures.

Also there are a few people with motors that are 30 HP or better and carry a 25 HP decal.

Motor decals shall denote the correct horsepower of the motor. Remember, they can tell by checking your motor serial number the horsepower. If you get caught you will lose your permit.

Toledo Bend has been a hot spot for the last two weeks. There are quite a few local anglers who have made trips there and caught some beautiful bass up to 6½ pounds and also some nice white perch up to 1 - 2 pounds.

The Lemesche Bass club will hold their first regular club tournament March 25. Members will be able to pick their partners.

The Seven Acres Bass Club will hold their first club tournament April 4 on the pond. They will also have members pick their partners.

The Rudy's Fish 'N Stop Rodeo will be March 21, from 5:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. weigh-in. You can register at Rudy's until 6 p.m. March 20. Rules and regulations are there for you to check.

SOME INFORMATION

*Trapping season in our area is over with as of Feb. 29. Southeast La. has a 15 day extension.

*Participating in Project WILD (Wildlife in Learning Design) are some 3200 teachers.

A workshop at Rockefeller Refuge was held and many of these teachers attended for a weekend. This was to add to their knowledge about the marshes, alligators and fur bearing animals.

Ted Joanen, LDWF Senior Biologist at Rockefeller, along with LDWF Fisheries Biologist Guthrie Perry, Wildlife Biologist Guy Linscombe, and Larry McNease gave this group lectures and a first hand look at our marshes, alligators, fish, fur animals and other wildlife and marsh habitat.

Other speakers included consulting biologist David Richard and Allen Ensminger, both former LDWF employees and Benny Welch, a trapper and school principal. The teachers enjoyed the tours and the airboat ride.

*A licensed fisherman in La. has to know the limits and sizes of fish, both saltwater and freshwater, as well as possession limits to stay legal. The good old days of catch all you can, keep all of them, are gone.

Read the La. 1992 Fish Regulation Booklet or carry one with you while fishing our state waters.

Some facts on our most popular fish in the parish:

You can keep five redfish, 16 inches long, 25 speckle trout, 12 inches long per day, but that's also your possession limit.

The bass limit is 10 per day, 20 possession any size. Remember, trophy lakes are different.

*Many abundant oil offshore platforms are being toppled into the Gulf waters to form structures for artificial reefs. More than 680 platforms have been removed, up to 1990 count. There are an estimaed 2000 more platforms expected to have the same fate by the year 2000.

*The TED law is back into effect, March 1 through November 30. This is when the migration of sea turtles off the coasts of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama starts.

*Next week I have a fishing story of the world record largemouth bass.

HEARTBEAT

Want to know how you'll probably die?

By PETER M. ABEL, M.D.

Lump together all the ills and accidents to which we mortals are prey – cancer, car wrecks, AIDS, war, violent crime – and you account for only half the deaths in this country.

Heart disease accounts for the other half. So it's a good bet that heart disease may someday claim you – along with 500,000 other people in the U.S. that year. Living in South Louisiana increases that probability. We have one of the highest coronary disease rates in the industrialized world.

Grim statistics. But death and illness from heart disease is not a fate to which you must resign yourself. Enormous strides have been made in both prevention and treatment. The death rate from heart disease has declined every year since 1962. Today it's almost one-third lower than it was 30 years ago.

Still, heart disease remains a great frustration for those of us who specialize in its treatment because so much of it is preventable!

If you suffer from coronary artery disease – the principal cause of the 1.5 million heart attacks in this country annually – it is very likely that you are partly at fault.

While there are hereditary and medical factors which predispose you to the heart attack-triggering narrowing of coronary arteries, most of the damage is caused by things we control: ☐ Smoking ☐ Obesity ☐ High blood pressure ☐ Lack of physical activity ☐ Unfavorable blood fat levels ☐ Diabetes

Controlling conditions like diabetes and hypertension usually requires medical assistance. But it is up to you to obtain treatment for those conditions you can't control and to change those you can. And it is very much in your interest to succeed, even if you must seek medical assistance in things like smoking cessation and blood cholesterol control.

Risk profile analysis, like that provided free by our Prevention Center for Cardiovascular Disease in Morgan City, is a good place to start making the changes in the way you live that can make heart disease a less likely way to die.

Dr. Peter Abel is medical director of the Cardiovascular Institute of the South's Morgan City Clinic and head of the Prevention Center for Cardiovascular Disease. The Risk Profile Analysis he mentioned in his column is offered free of charge by the Prevention Center.

This column is sponsored in the public interest by the Cardiovascular Institute of the South. For further information or an appointment, call CIS Lake Charles at (318) 474-5092.

Black Catholic experience told

An overview of the Black Catholic experience in the United States was presented to the Serra Club of Lake Charles at its March meeting by the Rev. John N. LaBauve, SVD.

Father LaBauve, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish in Lake Charles, described the efforts of the Divine Word Missionaries and the Josephite Fathers to develop religious vocations among Black Catholics, and the obstacles they faced.

He pointed to Louisiana, Maryland and Eastern Kentucky as the primary Black Catholic areas of the U. S., with the Diocese of Lake Charles among the leaders. Of the diocese's 85,000 Catholics, 30 percent are Black. Most of the Black Bishops of today grew up in Louisiana, two of them in Lake Charles -- the Most Rev. Harold Perry, Auxiliary Bishop of New Orleans; and the Most Rev. Leonard Olivier, Auxiliary Bishop of Washington.

Father LaBauve paid tribute to the pioneer women who instilled the faith in generation after generation, especially Mrs. Mary Bishop of Cameron Parish, who recently passed away at the age of 102. She had been decorated by two Bishops for her services to the church in Cameron Parish.

Boats In Hong Kong Harbor

Hong Kong trip concludes

By Geneva Griffith

Our next morning started with a ferry trip through the harbor to Cheung Chau Island to the old Chinese fishing village of Aberdeen. Once a quiet fishing village, Aberdeen still houses a community of boat people.

We boarded sam-pans and rode through the aquatic settlement of boats on which the people lived, most with their animals and a fishing boat anchored along side them.

Brightly painted seafood restaurants on floating barges lined the shore, from which could be seen the modern high-rises in the distance.

I bought a coolie hat from the enterprising operator of our sampan who idled his boat before we reached shore and brought out his box of wares to sell.

We spent the afternoon shopping, visiting the opal mine, featuring Australian opals, and later, the night market on Temple Street, where I was finally able to secure by Gucci-copy watches. We had been asking for fakes and later learned that the word was copy, not fake.

We found our silk "happy coats", jade trees and darling little Chinese dolls, complete with British passports and their names printed on them with their pictures, at the China Products store. This store had prices, but were having a sale, with 10 percent off of everything.

I at long last also found the Rose Medallion China plates that I had been asking for everywhere to bring back to my daughter. Some 5.9 million visitors come to Hong Kong each year, and shopping is high on their list of things to do.

The territory's variety of goods has tempted visitors for decades and its reputation as a shopper's paradise is well deserved.

It is always advisable to deal with reputable establishments; members of the Hong Kong Association (HKTA) which can be recognized by the red junk logo displayed at the front of the store.

The next morning we joined one of our tour leaders for a trip over to Kawloon on the subway and a visit to a Buddhist temple.

It was not at all what I had expected, as the worshippers would kneel individually out on the patio in front of the temple and place all sorts of offerings in front of them, such as food, fruit baskets, etc., and would pray to the deities, then get up and walk away, leaving the food and offerings behind.

Some worshippers would shake Josh sticks in a round tubed box until one would fall out, then they would take it to a stall where fortune tellers would intrepret its meaning. The sticks were also burned and set in urns around the temple.

The temples are open from early morning to evening and people may go in when they like and make offerings or to pray; there are no set prayer or service times.

After more shopping near our hotel we joined the group for a departure for a night harbour cruise on a motorized junk where the modernized lights of the high-rises and buildings along the harbour could be admired.

We landed at Lei Yu Mun where we toured a seafood mall, featuring all varieties of fish and seafood for sale displayed in tanks along a mall-type building, from there we entered the Hoi Tin garden for a seafood dinner served on a revolving table in courses (the drinks were extra, including the water, which cost more than beer.)

It is interesting to note that there is always a 10% service added to the tab, and another percentage is expected for extra service.

On the last day of our stay in Hong Kong we awoke early for breakfast then walked two blocks from our hotel to Victoria Park where we walked through the beautiful park, with myriads of flowers, trees, and birds and watched hundreds of people practicing their morning workouts of T'aichi exercises.

T'aichi is an ancient Chinese discipline designed to enhance the body, mind and spirit. While technically a martial art, it contains no explosive punches or kicks and fosters no feeling of competition.

Inspired by the movements of the tiger, bear, monkey, deer and crain, T'aichi is based on the idea of yielding without surrendering, withstanding aggression without attacking. It is a peace-loving martial art that comprises over 100 poses and has passed down from one generation to another.

It is practiced by hundreds of people using the movements in unison in back of a teacher or leader, and is done with the body movements, also using sabers and fans.

"Doing T'aichi in the morning sets the tone for my whole day," stated a participant. "It helps me sleep better and keeps my energy level more constant." Seeing all these people doing the beautiful movements in unison was an awesome sight.

The older people would sit on the park benches to watch and some older men were seen exercising with tennis balls.

That afternoon we departed our hotel for the Kai Tak airport, on a peninsula jutting out from the Kawloon side, for Taipei, Taiwan.

The weight restrictions at the airport are very stringent, and I was pulled over to the side because mine exceeded the weight limit (that China and wooden duck decoys had done it.)

I began to worry about what I was going to have to get rid of to get on the plane, when the tour guide told me I was free to go on since our group was considered all together, and some of the luggage was underweight, it gave me the extra advantage.

Our Cathay-Pacific flight arrived at 6 p.m. on a dark and rainy night and there was a one hour ride to our hotel, The Grand, considered one of the finest hotels in the world, and the most breathtaking one I have ever stayed in.

The Grand sits atop a hill and can be seen from a great distance, standing majestically over the city of Taipei.

The next morning our guide took us on a tour of the city, with a stop at Martyr's Shrine where we witnessed the hourly procession of the changing of the guard, the National Palace Museum where the fabulous Chinese art treasures, dating back thousands of years, are exhibited, and the Chiang Kai-Shek Memorial Hall, dedicated to the late president, one of the world's greatest men in modern history.

Chiang Kai-Shek strongly resisted communism and violence, protected democracy and liberty, and led his Nationalist troops to the island from the mainland China in 1949, where Generalissimo Kai-Shek took full military and civil control until his death in 1975.

We joined friends that night to visit the Night Market in town. It was a teeming mass of people all through the narrow alley-ways filled with goods and food stalls, with food being cooked and served in the open air establishments.

I was looking at a Louis Vitan wallet and standing by ayoung Chinese girl who had a Louis Vitan purse in her hand when four Chinese poliemen came up by us and started questioning the shopkeeper and issued him a ticket for selling fake merchandise.

I didn't know what to do because I was holding a fake in my hand, so she motioned for me to put it behind my back and we both stood there until they left, then we paid for our purchases and left with them. She explained that the fine he received was about $65 American, so he had already made that back as soon as the police left.

She followed us to the gate and helped us hail a cab for the trip back to our hotel and waved goodbye to us as we left.

We left Taipei early the next morning for Hong Kong, where we had a slight layover before we started our long trip back to San Francisco, where we had to go through customs before boarding our flight to Dallas, where we left the others in our group to fly to Baton Rouge.

We had checked our luggage straight through in Taipei, and were pleasantly surprised when we found it had arrived in San Francisco, then again was there when we got to Baton Rouge.

We arrived tired and beaten from the long trip, but had beautiful memories to last a lifetime.

We had also learned a few words and phrases in Cantonese - Jo San (Good Morning); Or Sing (my name is); Mea Kwok (America) and Joy Gin (Goodbye).

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON --A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Now not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview posters revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug frec alternative for the treatment of obesity.

Wildlife refuges open to public Mar. 15

On march 15, the interior canals, bayous, ponds and impoundments of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge will open for public sport fishing, crabbing, and crayfishing and will remain open until Oct. 15. Legal hours for the public to be on the refuge are one hour before sunrise until one hour after sunset, Refuge Manager Will Nidecker advised.

Prospects for refuge fishing appear good for all three management units. The water levels are at operational levels. Nidecker continued, bass fishing in Unit 1A and Unit 3 should continue to be good and catfishing in Unit 1A will continue to challenge area fishermen. Crappie and bream fishing should be good in all three management units.

Motor size restrictions for the management units remains limited to no larger than 25 hp. Fishermen are also advised that motors cannot be operated in the open marsh. These areas are restricted to pushpoling only.

Water conditions in refuge canals provided excellent angling opportunities for catfish, bass, and other fresh water fish species during 1991. The conditions remain the same in 1992 and should provide good fishing this season. However, if strong spring southeasterly winds move higher salinity waters into the marshes and canals, fishing conditions will change to what it was several years ago.

Fishermen are cautioned to obtain a copy of the 1992 fishing regulations to aid them in their use of the refuge. In East Cove, on Cameron-Creole Watershed Project, the structures at Grand and Lambert Bayous are closed by federal regulations to public use and a zone of 250 feet around the structures is closed to boat anchorage and/or fishing. The other three structures at No-Name, Mangrove, and Peconi Bayous are closed to fishing and anchorage by order of the Cameron Parish Police Jury. For opening and closure information on these structures you can call 318-598-4235.

Castnetting regulations have changed significantly for 1992. Castnetting will not be permitted except during the Louisiana Inland Shrimp Seasons. The hours for castnetting have changed to one hour before sunrise to noon. Nidecker reminded all castnetters that in addition to these changes, the castnet size regulations are still in effect.

Refuge users are reminded that it is illegal to sell any fish, shrimp, crab or crayfish caught on the refuge because the refuge is open to sport usage only and the use of commercial licenses for sales does not make their catch legal.

Jug fishing will be allowed only in refuge canals and with a permit issued by the refuge office. Only one permit (or 10 jugs) will be allowed per boat. Fishermen wanting a permit should bring their license with them to obtain a permit. The refuge will begin issuing jug permits on March 13.

Refuge fishing regulations for 1991 are available at refuge headquarters or at the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries District V office. Copies will be mailed to those requesting them by calling 762-3816 or writing to Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, Hwy. 27 South 3000 Main St., Hackberry, La. 7064.5

Registration closes

The Registrar of Voters for Cameron Parish has announced that March 17, 1992 is the last date for registration for the April 11, 1992 proposition election.

MUSING — By Bernice Denny

St. Patrick remembered

The story is told that one year during the Lenten season St. Patrick went to the top of a lonely mountain in County Mayo in western Ireland to pray for the salvation of Irish pagans.

If the good saint were to return to the Emerald Isle today, he would again be grieved by the unchristian deeds that are being done under the guise of religion.

Surely his sorrowing concern for the hatred and distrust, the strife and bloodshed in the land that he christianized more than fifteen centures ago would lead him again to his mountain of prayer.

It is gratifying to note that in St. Patrick's conversion of Ireland no blood was shed, no martyrs made. So esteemed was he that the anniversary of his death, March 17, in what is believed to have been D.D. 460, became the only national holiday of Ireland.

For about four hundred years after Patrick's death Ireland experienced her Golden Age of peace and learning. Monasteries maintained schools and libraries. People from the continent of Europe came to Ireland to study. Its monks went out to all the countries roundabout to teach.

At the time of Patrick the people of Ireland were Celts. They had probably invaded Ireland some three hundred fifty to four hundred years before the birth of Christ. The Celts drove the original settlers (called Firbolgs by some writers) to the hills and western isles.

Legends that abound in Ireland say that the Firbolgs made their way under the mountains. And there, known as the Little People, they live to this day.

The Irish also believed that a banshee or fairy woman watched the fate and fortunes of great families. Her wail was an omen that death was about to claim a member.

The christian Irish out of respect for their ancestors preserved these pagan legends. As such, they are filled with fairies and leprechauns.

The pagan paradise of the Irish was known as Jir na nog, a land of everlasting youth. Into this never-never land even women were permitted.

The Celtic Irish were quite chivalrous toward women. An ancient law of theirs generously declared clemency for woman's jealousy. Were she attacked by the green viper she was not to be held responsible till four days after the jealous fit had struck her.

In the days since the passing of Patrick his people have experienced tragedy and persecution, pestilence and starvation. They have mourned by the rivers of Erin. They have also tasted victory and joy.

No true Irishman can be kept overlong in the depths of despair. Like a rubber ball he bounces twice as high in faith and hope.

Wouldn't it be a blessed event this Lenten season if the fighting Irish were to summon the Little People to drag all their so-called religious battles down deep under the Erin hills. And then in the name of the Christ whom St. Patrick loved and served turn to one another and call out "Cead mile failte!"

Mrs. Kram named Older Worker here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Mrs. Annie Kram was named "1992 Older Worker of the Year" at the annual awards ceremony held last week at the Creole Fire Station.

She was presented with a plaque by Mrs. Janie Turnbull who told of Mrs. Kram's various kindnesses shown to shut-ins and others she comes in contact with daily in her work with the Cameron Council on Aging.

Mrs. Brenda Conner and Bill Turnbull presented the other nominees and Portraits of Achievers, Mrs. Conner introducing the women, and Mr. Turnbull, the men, as follows: Ina Boudreaux, Adrienne "Tootsie" Dosher, John "Pete" Duhon, Geneva Griffith, Charles Hebert, Edwin Kelley, Ruby Kelley, Raymond LeBlanc, Dean Richard, Dudley Richard, Phalia Saltzman, and Anna Belle Smith.

Judge H. Ward Fontenot was the speaker of the event and presented Vignettes on the value of older people. He was introduced by Mrs. Turnbull who was the mistress of ceremonies.

Crime Stoppers

This month Cameron Crime Stoppers are offering up to $1,000 cash reward for information leading to the arrest and prosecution of the person responsible for the burglary and property damage of the M/V Christy, a 47-foot tug boat that was docked down Black lake Rd., in Hackberry.

On Feb. 22, 1992 at about 5 a.m. someone went aboard the M/V Christy and broke into the engine room and removed the radiator cap. The engines were then started and placed in reverse. The boat was untied and grounded nearby on the shoreline. The main fuel valve was also opened in hopes of creating a diesel spill.

The nearby field has numerous oilfield pumps and if the tug had gone in that direction, the consequences would have been devastating.

If you have any information regarding this sabotge, call Crime Stoppers at 775-7867. You do not have to give your name, a code number will be assigned.

Bethany and Bush letter

The picture, accompanied by a letter, was a response to the letter Bethany had written to the President.

Her motivation to write to the President was an outgrowth of a television message to the school children of the United States from President Bush.

NEW TELEPHONE BOOK

Flower gardens featured

A description of the painting reads as follows:

"Some forty miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico, south of Cameron, Louisiana lies an area called the 'Flower Gardens.' Where most of us only see the brown dingy waters of the Gulf, blue green water abounds in this underwater treasure. The Flower Garden's coral park hides the true secrets of the Gulf of Mexico. Exotic fish and coral life make the Gardens one of the most popular diving spots off the coast of Louisiana.

"Many people would never be able to partake of the hidden beauty of the Flower Gardens if not for the work of Brian Donlan. Donlan, a resident of Lake Charles, began diving in 1954 off the many offshore oil platforms south of New Orleans. In 1972 he began to paint the sea life around him on a full time basis."

Numbered prints suitable for framing, are available while the supply last for $8 (including postage) through the telephone office. Send check or money order to Cameron Telephone Co., "Flower Garden Print", Box 167, Sulphur, La. 70664-0167.

The 1992 telephone book again features a variety of information in addition to telephone numbers, including a list of 1992 fairs and festivals in this area, tourist information on both Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, information on area legislators, 1992 football schedules for area schools, a listing of all public offices in Cameron parish, information on the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, severe weather information, a hurricane tracking map, a map of evacuation routes, and information on all kinds of telephone services.

In addition to the Cameron Telephone Company's Cameron, Creole, Grand Chenier, Johnson Bayou, Hackberry and Carlyss exchanges, the book gives the phone listings for Sweetlake, DeQuincy, Iowa, Lake Charles, Sulphur and Vinton.

PHONE NUMBERS FOR THE PILOT

In addition, the Pilot has a 1-800 number which can be reached toll free from anywhere in Louisiana. This number is 1-800-256-7323.

Also, the newspaper may be contacted through Clipper Office Supply in Cameron, phone 775-5645.

Courtesies contagious

Courtesy is a form of outward behavior that springs from the heart. It is comparable to the warmth of the early sun, the gentleness of a summer breeze. It is as natural and unobtrusive as the opening of a rose, as tender and compassionate as a mother's tear.

Little courtesies are contagious and cost the giver nothing. They are like the lighting of another's candle from one's own. The flame of the first is not diminished; on the contrary, at the moment of ignition the result is a sparkling luster that neither could have achieved alone.

There is a difference between courtesy and mere politeness, polished though the latter may be. Courtesy is heart-directed. It is stimulated by a warm regard for the feelings and dignity of others. Mere politeness, though admirable, may be a veneer put on for the approval of another.

The story is told of a small girl and her thoughtless parents who were ruining the vacation of the hotel guests in a certain English resort. The child monopolized every occasion by playing the same two-finger ditty on the piano in the reception room.

One day a world famous musician and his bride came to the hotel. The other guests, eager to hear him, felt that the parents would keep their daughter quiet, but no! As soon as he had agreed to play, the youngster dashed to the piano and began her monotonous repetition.

The great pianist crossed the room, sat down beside her, smiled, and began to play. His trained hands produced rich harmonics that flooded the room. Yet, through it all could be heard the little girl's tapping on the few middle keys.

The music ceased; the applause sounded; and the courteous musician shared homage with the child whose parents had never taught her the first chord of politeness.

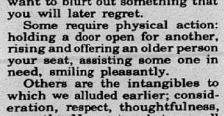
General Robert E. Lee possessed such courtesy. At Gettysburg he passed a wounded Federal soldier, who raised himself on his elbow and shouted derisively, "Long live the Union."



Lee stopped his horse, dismounted and walked toward the soldier. His eyes were filled with pity. He grasped the soldier's hand firmly and said, "My son, I hope you will soon be well."

Opportunities for performing little courtesies are around us every day. Some are verbal: "I thank you;" "If you please;" "I beg your pardon."

Others are non-verbal - like holding your tongue when you want to hurt out something that you will later regret.

Some require physical action: holding a door open for another, rising and offering an older person your seat, assisting some one in need, smiling pleasantly.

Others are the intangibles to which we alluded earlier; consideration, respect, thoughtfulness, empathy. No courtesy is too small to perform.

J. Frank Duryea won the first auto race in 1895 with an average speed of 7.5 mph.

RECORDS FALL

This week as I promised, we'll talk about record bass. I think we should start right here at home.

Lacassine Refuge not only had some nice bass landed during opening week but a refuge record was caught by Jeff Gaspard, tipping the scales at 10½ pounds, caught on a lizard.

Louisiana record was also broken a couple of weeks ago. A young angler, Brian Davis, 17, of West Monroe, landing the largest ever Louisiana bass. This fish was caught in public waters. (No records are eligible for private ponds.)

A 14 lb 5-7/8 ozs. bass was landed on a worm out of Caney Lake. The old record was 13 lbs. 6 ozs, caught only two years ago, on Lake D'Arbonne. The bass measured 25½ inches long, and the girth was 24 inches. This fish was full of eggs. The young angler doesn't want to kill the fish and has kept it alive but doesn't really know where it will end up. He'll take a fiberglass replica mount for the wall.

*Sixty years ago (June 2, 1932), a young farm boy fishing off the Ocomulgee River in Lake Montgomery caught a 22 lb. 4 oz. largemouth bass, 32¾ inches long, with a 28¾ inch girth. The fish was certified and little did he know that his record would still stand today. It's still the biggest, but is being challenged by many good lakes across the U.S.A. and I'm sure this record will be broken, probably in Southern California.

There were many different stories about Perry's catch. First, they said he caught it at the opening of the Georgia bass season on June 1, but Georgia didn't have a certain time bass season. It also said he had a full tackle box of tackle, and had fished every lure in it before he caught the world record bass. The fact is they were so poor he had taken money he should have kept for food and bought himself a cheap rod and reel and only one plug. He just couldn't afford but one plug at a time.

It is also stated there were three friends fishing together, fact is only he and a friend and they only had one rod and reel and one plug and fork turns rowing the boat while the other fished. At one time one of them had a strike on the one plug and lost it to a fish. They sat around the boat looking at each other for 15 to 20 minutes and suddenly a big jackfish came up rocking its head and spit out their plug and they retrieved it, tied it back on and started fishing again.

When the water started spashing after the largemouth hit his plug, he tried to reel in but it wouldn't budge. He thought he had lost a fish and was hung up but the hang-up started to move. He played the large bass out and boated it.

Accoring to records he was using a Heddon rod, Pfleuger reel and South Bend line, not near the high tech equipment of today. His rig cost him $1.33 and he was using 24 pound test line.

The many questions that go unanswered are: Did he have a net? How long did it take to land the big one? How long was it before he had it certified weighed? How much weight did hte big one lose before it was weighed? (I'm sure it would put on ice 60 years ago). Was it raining that day? The one thing we do know come June 2, 1992, this record will be 60 years old if it's not broken.

George Perry lived with his mother, two sisters and two brothers on a farm and caught fish, shot deer and squirrel to put food on the table. His father died a year before his big catch. By the way, his family, after a picture and weighing in of the big one, ate the large bass.

Perry had entered a fishing contest and was awarded $75 for the big bass catch. This was when a loaf of bread cost a nickel. He received his prize in merchandise — a Browning automatic shotgun, listing for $44.85, some shells, fishing equipment and outdoor clothes. He really didn't find out till later that his big catch was a world record.

Another story was there was a 24 pound largemouth caught April 11, 1926 in Tombigbee River, Alabama, by George Nicholls, but it was never published as a world record listing.

RED SNAPPER OFF LIMITS

Commercial fishermen were angry at a meeting in Mobile, Alabama. The Federal Advisory Committee closed indefinitely the red snapper commercial fishing.

This year's season lasted 53 days, Jan. 1 through Feb. 22, and the 2.04 million pound quota was reached. Prices have dropped with the flooded market. Some wanted to set another 2 million pound quota, but the feds said no.

There will be a May 11, meeting to see what will really happen. As it stands now, the season won't reopen until Jan. 1, 1993.

There were questions about commercial fishermen fishing without permits, but with all the loaded paperwork, many claimed if they hadn't fished without permits the season would have been over with before their permits were issued. Enforcement really didn't know who did or didn't have permits.

*An angler in Indiana really has a fish story that could have ended up in death.

The angler, with three friends and his 11 year old son, were fishing for catfish. He caught a five pound catfish, tossing it to his friend (horseplaying) and his friend tossed it back to him. The five inch catfish fin, which we as fishermen know is real dangerous, stuck through his shoulder blade and in his lung. He was taken to a hospital and will recover after an operation. He had a collapsed lung.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Lakeside has a very active siege of Lagrippe and we have all had a full share of it. We are still uncertain if we want to get over it or pass in our checks. The latter would sure be less trouble.

The Klondike people are extending the big canal to East Klondike.

We are certainly having some fine weather at present and our farmers are sure busy. Quite an acreage of cotton will be put in this year at Lakeside and also several hundred acres of rice which will be watered from the Alce Broussard plant.

Our school is certainly doing fine. Several new scholars have enrolled and the old ones are coming out regular and are learning fast. The Friday afternoon literary is quite an event and everything is done in proper style. The children go through their little plays and exercises with a surprising efficiency and interest.

The cattle are thin and quite a number have died. Ticks are the principal cause.

Mr. and Mrs. Numa Broussard are the proud parents of a fine little girl.

BUSINESS ACTIVITIES

You could feel it in the air this week--the pick up of business throughout the parish. Ray Champagne at the Cameron Service Garage commented that things improved almost overnight last week--one day the business was practically nonexistant and the next day his shop was snowed under.

Mrs. Walter Stanley, our able Holly Beach correspondent, noted the same change on the beach: "We have had exceptionally good business, breaking all previous records for this time of the year," she wrote.

Other indications that things are on the upswing were the announcement by Ray Champagne of his new auto and marine parts business; the new cocktail lounge and oyster bar being put in by Hardy Ogeron; the Henry's new Magnolia station; and the new Deville garage going up across from the school.

ALL DISTRICT HONORS

Two Grand Lake High School players and their coach won top positions on the 1959 All-District 11-C basketball team, which was picked up by Louisiana sports writers in conjunction with the district coaches.

Connie Mac Guidry was named to the all-district first team. He picked up 150 points for an 18.5 average in eight games. Robert Gilmore placed on the second team.

Coach Carroll Hatcher, who directed Grand Lake to a second-place finish in his freshman year of coaching, was cited for the Best Coaching Job in the district. A year ago, Grand Lake won only two of the 14 district games. This season, it won six of eight, losing only to Hathaway.

ALL AROUND THE PARISH

Grand Chenier -- Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller really went all the way out this past week while visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cecile Bares in Orange, Tex. They came home in a new 1959 Chevrolet Impala and also bought a new garden rotary plow as Mr. Miller likes to raise his own vegetables.

Many people may remember Bernadine Henderson who taught here years ago. She was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Daigle.

McCall Sunday. She used to be the piano player and also played the piano accordian. She now lives in DeQuincy.

April 14 has been set as the date on which Hackberry resident property tax payers will vote on a two-mill fire protection tax which would provide funds for the purchase of a fire truck and the building of a fire station. The tax will be for a ten-year period.

Oak Grove -- Members of the Oak Grove Baptist Church enjoyed a tureen supper last Wednesday night in the church parlor. Approximately 40 members and guests turned out for the event.

Mrs. W. J. Potoriff and sons left this morning for Tulsa, Oklahoma to visit relatives.

Black News -- Mrs. Helen E. Britton, head of the Louisiana State Library Negro Services Division, visited in Cameron Parish March 4-7.

During her stay here, she visited the Audrey Memorial School and gave a talk on "Reading for Fun and Information."

A tea was held on Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Raphael Bargeman in honor of Mrs. Britton. Those calling during the afternoon were Mrs. Sophie Savoie, Mrs. Salina Jones, Mrs. Stella Bartie, Mrs. Rosie Bishop, Mrs. Althea Bishop, Mrs. Cornelia Brussard, Mrs. Rosie Lute, Mrs. Vella Andrews, Mrs. Annetta Burt and Lester Bartie.

TRACK TEAM

Several outstanding track men from last year are out again--Ken Dupont, pole vault; Bennie Welch, low hurdles; John Watts, broad jump; and Gerald Bonsall, 100 and 220 yard dashes.

CIVIL DEFENSE POLICE

Sheriff O. B. Carter, director of Cameron Parish Civil Defense Police Services, met with personnel from each of hte communities in the parish Friday evening, March 7. The purpose of the meeting was to deputize all Civil Defense Police and issue instructions as to responsiblities and traffic direction.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Convention sought

By REP. RANDY ROACH

The last time Louisiana held a constitutional convention was in 1973. Governor Edwards had campaigned on the need to modernize the 1921 constitution, which at that time held the distinction of being the most lengthy state constitution in the country. Almost 20 years have passed, and Governor Edwards wants to call another constitutional convention.

In his inaugural address, Governor Edwards said we need to revise our system of state and local taxation. He said we should reduce our dependence on sales taxes and look to those taxes that are deductible on federal income tax returns. That means income taxes and property taxes. Both of these methods of taxation are controlled by the constitution.

This time the governor wants to call a constitutional convention to rewrite the section that deals with all matters involving the taxing authority of state and local governments -- including the homestead exemption and individual income tax rates. He believes these two issues are so politically controversial that he could never get two-thirds of the Legislauter to propose any changes which even indirectly affect either type of taxation. He is probably right.

Governor Edwards has purposely avoided any reference to the term "tax reform" when talking about the proposed constitutional convention. Governor Roemer's attempts to deal with the same issue cost him considerable political support among legislators and political leaders throughout the state.

When Roemer's tax reform proposal finally was passed by the Legislature, it did not include any reduction in the homestead exemption. However, it was still defeated by the voters.

While Governor Edwards should be able to convince a majority of the Legislature to approve his call for a constitutional convention, it will not be easy. There is already controversy over the process of selecting delegates.

Last time 105 delegates were elected from representative districts, and 25 were selected by the governor from various interest groups. Some senators object to electing delegates that way. They want the governor to create 50 to 60 "special" delegate districts. The districts will have to be approved by the Justice Department in Washington.

The election of delegates probably will take place during this fall's congressional elections. The convention probably will be held next January and will last for 30 days. Amendments approved by the delegates will have to be approved by the voters. And before any changes approved by the voters can take effect, they must be approved by the Legislature.

This means we are a long way from achieving true reform in the way we pay taxes at the state and local level. And regardless of the effect of any changes we eventually approve, it still will be difficult to pay for the level of state and local governmental service we have come to expect.

Louisiana now ranks 41st in the country in the level of individual income. We can no longer depend on revenue from oil and gas to make up the difference between what we can afford and what we want. We do not just need jobs, we need better paying jobs.

That means we must redouble our efforts not only to attract new industries but to find ways to help existing industries expand and improve their profitability. This does not depend on a constitutional convention. It depends on us.

Courage is a special kind of knowledge; the knowledge of how to fear what is to be feared and how not to fear what is not to be feared.

Voter canvass now in progress in La.

Commissioner of Elections Jerry Fowler has kicked off the annual canvass of Louisiana's registered voters with a statewide mailing to almost 800,000 voters who have changed residences since the canvass last spring.

Beginning last year, Fowler's office and the state's 64 registrars of voters were required by law to conduct such a canvass each year to verify that the address shown on voter registration records was actually the address at which the voter lived. Prior to this the offices were required to conduct a canvass in one-fourth of the precincts each year.

Fowler said that the total of 795,340 figure was reached by determining from the U.S. Postal Service records which voters had moved. These voters will be sent non-forwardable notices at the last known address. If the notice is returned, and no new address within the parish is provided, a second notice will be sent with instructions to forward to any known new address.

In addition, the names of all voters who are sent notices will be published in the official parish journal requesting the individuals to appear in person at their Parish registrar of voters office.

If there is no response to either of these attempts to contact the voter, he or she will be dropped from the rolls.

In the 1991 canvass, more than 100,000 registered voters were removed after all attempts to contact them were fruitless.

Applications being taken

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program applications are being taken by the Cameron Community Action Agency. Any resident of Cameron Parish who is low income is urged to call the office at 775-5145 to make an appointment to make an application. This assistance is available every six months to those households who qualify, while funding lasts.

In order to qualify the household must be at or below the income guidelines which govern the program. Applicants must furnish the names, date of birth, and Social Security numbers of each person in the home.

Also needed are proof of a full month's income such as payroll stub, Social Security check, food stamp print out, receipts of any kind of income, and we also need a computer print out from the utility company showing the past six months billings.

Appointments are taken by phone or in person; any questions will be answered by calling and asking for June at 775-5145.

PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the regular meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3, held Tuesday, January 21, 1992, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Edwin Quinn, E. J. Dronet, W. F. Henry, Jr., and George Kelley.

Members Absent: Earl Guthrie.

Others Present: Will Nidecker, Billy DeLaney, James LeBoeuf, and Dan Dupont.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the December 17, 1991, regular meeting.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by W. F. Henry, Jr., and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the month of December 1991.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Campbell Gas & Oil Company, Inc. of Louisiana, $488.00.
2. Cameron Parish Pilot, 38.00.
3. Cameron Fire Equipment, inc., 9.40.
4. Cameron Parish Police Jury, 1,800.00.

Mr. W. F. Henry, Jr. stated that he and Dan Dupont had inspected the area behind Charles McDaniels' property, and found that the protection levee is broken and a culvert is missing at another place, and water is building up in the area. It was agreed that bids will be taken on getting this repair work done.

Mr. Will Nidecker of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service explained that a cost evaluation was done on the proposed satellite monitoring system planned for the Cameron-Creole Watershed, and the Department of Natural Resources decided that the project as planned would drain their funds too much, so they have decided to limit the scope of the satellite monitoring to the Northeast Quadrant of the Cameron-Creole Watershed at the location of their own project for freshwater introduction.

Mr. Nidecker also said that a drawdown will be done on the marsh this spring as soon as possible. It was agreed that this year's drawdown is being initiated at this time. Mr. Nidecker will have Tina Horn of the Cameron-Creole Watershed Advisory Committee send out a letter to members of the Advisory Committee advising them of this. Billy DeLany reported on conditions in the marsh now, and agreed that because of heavy rains, the drawdown mode can begin immediately.

Mr. Dan Dupont suggested inviting Senator Cecil Picard to participate in order to assist with the people of Vermilion Parish.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Indian skeletons found

(New Iberia, The Lousiana Sugar Bow, March 10, 1881)
SKELETONS AT CALCASIEU LAKE

Capt. Thos. R. Reynolds, while excavating the shell banks at the head of Calcasieu Lake, unearthed half a dozen human skeletons, some seven feet below the surface. They were found in different positions, some lying on the back, and one in a sitting posture. One of the skulls has been prenounced an Indian's skull. It is impossible to conjecture how long they have been there. -- Lake Charles Echo.

(Abbeville Meridional, March 19, 1917)
BIG CARGO ON INTERCOASTAL

Port Arthur--The gasoline boat Iduma, Capt. A. Justilien, left at noon for Abbeville, La., via intercoastal canal, with one of the largest and most valuable cargoes that has moved from this port through the canal. Her cargo, probably totaling twenty-five or thirty tons, consisted principally of nursery stock of different kinds from the Griffing brothers nursery and represnts a value of more than $2,000.

The Iduma will transverse some 250 miles of waterway on her return trip, expecting to require 72 hours. This was the first trip she has made to Port Arthur. She brought no cargo here. Capt. Justilien expresses the intention of bringing a big crowd of his home of folk here some time this summer for a stay of several days. His boat will carry fifty or seventy-five passengers.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Quite a cool snap this week. The mercury dropped to 32 at Lakeside; probably lower at close-by points. The young garden stuff that was protected came through alright. Cannot tell what it did for the orange blossoms. They were in full flower.

On Wednesday Ike Nunemaker departed for his home in Nebraska after a three months' visit to the Southland. He may return in the fall and make his home here. He likes the country very much.

Many of our farmers are putting out big patches of cotton. I am afraid they will wish it was corn before the year ends.

(Cameron Pilot, March 20, 1959)
SEWERAGE LOAN APPROVED

A $764,000 loan to Cameron Parish to construct water works, fire prevention facilities and a sewerage system in the town of Cameron was approved Wednesday by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, D. C.

The Lions Club had sent telegrams to Senators Allen J. Ellender and Russel Long and Rep. T. A. Thompson last week asking them to try to get prompt action on the loan, since the program here must be set up before June 30 if homestead exemption is to apply on the proposed water and sewerage bonds.

Total cost of the Cameron project is estimated at $841,000, of which an application for a grant of $77,000 has been made to the U. S. Public Health Service under the water pollution control act.

COURTHOUSE YARD LANDSCAPED

The Cameron Parish courthouse yard was landscaped this week as a project of the Calcasieu Council of Federated Garden Clubs. A large number of trees, shrubs and flowers were planted.

Mrs. Roy Guthridge of Lake Charles was chairman of the project and the landscaping plans were drawn up by O. D. Hyatt of McNeese.

Police Juror Conway LeBleu, Mrs. Iva Free, Home Demonstration agent and Hadley Fontenot, county agent, also assisted with the project.

Mrs. Guthridge said some $180 worth of plants were put out including slash pines, boxwood, cherry laurel, oleanders, day lilies, roses, palms, yaupon, and black berried holly. The money was raised by the Calcasieu Council and by the Cameron Police Jury. Some 250 day lilies were donated by garden club members.

"OLD DOC"

Dr. S. O. Carter of Creole, who is affectionately known throughout the parish as "Old Doc" to distinguish him from "Young Dr. Carter," his nephew, will celebrate his 80th birthday Friday.

This past Tuesday -- St. Patrick's Day -- also massked the 66th anniversary of his coming to Cameron Parish. He originally came to the parish with the intention of staying six months, while a classamate of his took off from practice to get married.

However, the classmate decided not to return to Cameron, and Dr. Carter inherited the practice. He practiced medicine here for 62 years before retiring several years ago.

Dr. Carter's father, too, was a doctor, and served during the Civil War. Dr. Carter was raised in Tennessee and Louisiana, and received his doctor's degree from Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn.

Despite illnesses which hospitalized him several times last year, Dr. Carter is in good health, and welcomes visits from his friends.

BIG SUBSCRIBER

Probably the Pilot's "biggest" subscriber is the Cameron Meadows Land Co. of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, which has taken out subscriptions for the seven members of its board of directors. (The company owns some very valuable oil producing lands in the Johnson Bayou area.)

Secretary J. E. Arnold wrote this week: "It is with great pleasure that we are renewing our seven 1-year subscriptions to your very wonderful paper. All of the Directors look forward to receiving this paper each week and they feel it is very worthwhile in keeping them abreast with the news and activities in the Cameron area."

ALL ROUND THE PARISH

The voting machine building in back of the courthouse got its face lifted last week. All the dirt dobbers were cleaned off and the building was painted beige to blend in with the beautiful new Jones building next door.

The courthouse is a beautiful sight these days since the Lake Charles garden clubs have landscaped the grounds. In future years there should be plenty of shade under the pine trees for oldtimers to sit under and reminisce about the "good old days".

Juanita Breaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyons Breaux of Sweetlake, won the yam cooking contest held Monday at Grand Lake school. She prepared a dish called yam chiffon pudding. The contest was judged by the Sweetlake Home Demonstration Club.

New officers were elected by the VFW Ladies Auxiliary at their meeting last Thursday. They are Effie Lois Ratcliff, president; Dorothy Dyson, senior vice president; Hazel Dronet, junior vice president; Rita Vincent, treasurer; Velda Roux, chaplain; Betty Savoie, conductress; Audrey Daigle, guard; and Ruth Theriot, trustee.

The Hackberry FBLA spelling team won seventh place in the state in the state FBLA meeting in Baton Rouge last weekend. Members are Shirley Reasoner, Nolen Benoit and Annette Benoit. FBLA sponsor is Siron O. Beck.

The Optimist Club got a nice surprise this week when they were presented with a $1,000 donation from John W. Mecom to go for the proposed Cameron Parish Community Center.

Monday morning it hailed in the Big Pasture and Grand Lake areas. Reports from different people said that some of the hail was as large as a sugar pea. That afternoon Sweetlake got sleet and rain.

Coast Guard hearing set on user fees

The U. S. Coast Guard is encouraging all interested persons to participate in a scheduled public hearing concerning Congressionally mandated user fees. The public hearing will be held April 22, at the Doubletree Hotel, New Orleans.

the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1990 amended long-standing prohibitions against imposing user fees by requiring the U. S. Coast Guard to establish user fees for Coast Guard services related to the inspection and examination of U.S. and foreign vessels.

Similarly, the Coast Guard is mandated to establish fees for services related to merchant marine licenses, certificates of registry, and merchant mariners' documents. Inspection fees and licensing fees are the most significant portion of Coast Guard fees impacting persons owning and operating inspected vessels.

Further information about the user fee regulations may be obtained by contacting Chief, Plans and Analysis Branch (G-MP-1) Office of Marine Safety, Security, and Environmental Protection (202) 267-6923. Direct written inquiries to Commandant (G-MP-1), U. S. Coast Guard Headquarters, 2100 Second Street SW., Washington, DC 20593-0001.

Aid for family sought

Father Mark Broussard of St. Eugene Catholic Church, Grand Chenier, has asked that church organizations and everyone in the area become involved in helping to plan a benefit for the Larry Abshire family who lost everything in a house fire on March 1. ## Three tax renewal elections slated

—CAPITOL NEWS—

With State Bond Commission authorization in hand, three Cameron Prish governing bodies can officially place their separate tax proposals on the April 11 ballot.

Two waterworks districts and a fire protection district sought and received approval of ad valorem tax elections from the commission last week, the final step which must be taken before local items are placed on election ballots. They were among about 60 local political subdivisions which received authorization for April propositions.

All are renewals of current ad valorem taxes, and each would be levied for another 10 years beginning in 1992 if voters endorse the proposals.

The police jury is hoping voters in Fire Protection Distirct No. 14 will renew the 5.35-mill tax which is expected to bring in almost $44,000 annually. According to the summary prepared for the commission by its analyst Steve Dicharry, the millage provides the district's entire budget. It is earmarked for operating and maintaining fire protection facilities and paying the costs of obtaining water.

The proposal for Waterworks District No. 11 also is 5.35 mills, so Dicharry estimates the income would be the same as the fire protection district would collect. It also represents 100 percent of the district's budget for operations and maintenance.

Waterworks District No. 1's voters will be deciding on a smaller tax -- 3.65 mills. Dicharry said the $20,800 in projected annual income from the millage would be the district's only funding for operating and maintaining its water system.

All local governmental units must get authorization from the State Bond Commission to place issues on the ballot, and the fire district's request was approved unanimously at the commission's meeting last week.

ABSENTEE VOTE BEGINS MONDAY

Absentee voting on three tax propositions on the April 11 ballot will be held in the Registrar of Voters office in the basement of the Cameron courthouse March 30-April 4 from 8:15 to 4:15 Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

Propositions to be voted on are: *Waterworks District 11--renewal of a 5.35 mill maintenance tax for 10 years.

*Fire Protection District 14--renewal of a 5.35 mill maintenance tax for 10 years.

*Waterworks District 1--renewal of a 3.65 mill tax for maintenance for 10 years.

The Fire Protection District 14 and Waterworks District 11 are both in the Grand Lake-Sweetlake area and include Election District 3, Precincts 1 and 2.

FISHING MIXED

Our area saltwater and freshwater fishing has been good, yes, slow, yes, bad, yes, and unpredictable, yes.

The strong winds and bad weather have really made fishing tough and hard.

Saltwater fishing, especially offshore, has been a no no. High seas and winds have seen to that. However, with some of the nice weather now I'm sure we'll have some good reports soon. In the river a few reds and flounders were caught, but nothing to brag about. Speckle trout fishing even in Big Lake has slowed down.

Our area freshwater fishing areas are all open and some real nice bass are being taken. Lacassine Refuge is still producing some large bass, maybe not a lot of bass, but good ones. I didn't get any fishing reports from Sabine Refuge.

In the Big Burns fishing is real tough. Many boats on opening weekend did not catch their limits. There were good catches of bream, perch and white perch however. I don't know what the problem was, but my brother-in-law and I fished the Burns Sunday and we had only 7 bass, and a few white perch. The water is good, plenty of vegetation but we just didn't get the strikes.

On other Miami permitted land, fish were really good. Saturday Jimmy Trahan and I caught our limit of nice bass with nothing under 14 inches long. We had five over 3 pounds and dropped some bigger. The wind was tough but fishing was good.

The boats weren't really that plentiful. We ran across Ricky Canik and Vince Theriot and they had some nice bass, with some 4 pounds, as well as Scottie Trosclair and Todd Conner, who also had some nice ones.

Rockefeller Refuge is still good. Darren Richard and Quenton LeBoeuf fished it last week and had some nice bass. Rockefeller is also producing some nice freshwater blue catfish. Good 2 to 3 pound eating catfish.

Weldon Authement caught a 6¼ pound bass in the 7 acre pond, a beautiful fish. He released it back to the pond.

LOUISIANA SPORTSMEN SPY ON D.A.s

Louisiana district attorneys and judges who didn't have much respect for game and fish laws won't get much respect from voters, thanks to a new computer system now in operation at the State Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

According to the enforcement division, the program will allow the LDWF to follow citations issued by game wardens through the local judicial system. Each month the LDWF will be able to report on the status of citations, including final judgment and fines and any action, or lack of action, taken by district attorneys.

Jimmy Jenkins, chairman of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission said his panel plans to issue a monthly report and turn the spotlight of the media on those DAs and judges who aren't cooperating.

Bayou State sportsmen have complained for years of poor cooperation from DAs and judges in wildlife cases including lack of prosecution, changing of charges and wimpy, if any, penalties. The state court performances have not been near what the federal judges in the state prformances are. The federal court judges are the most feared by any game law violators in the nation.

It is said things are improving, and should go better. I do realize this is good, but just how far will some agents go just to write a person a citation. I think it should be up to the discretion of the DA on the charges they take if the charges are real, is harassment going on, even if the certain person is trying to feed his family in these hard times. I also think with the charges the D.A.s take to the judges, the judge should use his own opinion about the charges. There is a minimum penalty as well as a maximum and as for the fines, again does this person have any money? If he's trying to feed his family is it going to make another hardship on his family? Sometimes our D.A.s and judges get together and use community service for sentencing and fines and I think that's appropriate. This could be good, but could also be bad.

FEEDING PERIODS

Causeway damaged

(Abbeville Meridional, March 27, 1909)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Our people cannot get the "regulations" of the game commission straight in their minds and it surely would need a lawyer to explain them. One says you need a $1 license to do any fishing at all, another that you must pay $25 to put out a trot line. Every man has a different idea and every paper has a different version. Now which is right? Our poster sent by the commission says nothing about the $1 license for general fishing and the book sent with it does. Now what are we to go by. Does it require a license to catch a mess of fish for your breakfast?

Hard winds and a rather cold snap, but we just missed a freeze. Our orange trees and peaches are in full bloom and garden "Sass" is just booming.

SABINE CAUSEWAY DAMAGED

The Sabine Lake Causeway was seriously damaged Friday afternoon when a huge shell barge tore loose from its moorings and rammed into one of the heavy beams supporting one side on the Texas end.

Cameron Police Juror Conway LeBleu, who is a member of the jury's causeway committee, said traffic is being allowed to continue across the causeway, but will be directed to use the lane opposite the weakened area.

CHENIER CHICKEN BUSINESS
(By Elora Montie)

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCall of Grand Chenier, who were, before Hurricane Audrey, in the store business, now have a different line of work -- chickens.

In March, 1958, they bought 1,400 baby chicks in which there were 1250 pullets. After these chickens were culled, 1050 pullets and 110 roosters were left. Production from the pullets began in mid-January and now the McCalls are gathering 850 eggs a day.

Seeing that they can care for more chickens, they're now building two more cage houses which will care for 1250 chickens.

BAD WEATHER

On March 18, severe weather hit Grand Chenier around 3 a.m. It sounded like a freight train coming from the Gulf, breaking limbs, and uprooting trees. It tore a storm door from the home of Thomas Broussard, ripped off some siding on the home of Elora Montie, ripped off the back side of Jodie McCall's work shop and other damages along the ridge.

Again on Wednesday afternoon there was much high wind and a lot of rain.

Creole Homemakers plan upcoming events

When the Creole Extension Homemakers Club held its March meeting in the home of Mrs. Earline Baccigalopi, members finalized plans for several upcoming events, and then participated in a diabetes risk factor test conducted by Health, Food and Nutrition Chairman, Mrs. Wayne Montie.

Relative to the annual Cancer Crusade, final plans call for the club to put out contribution envelopes in both area schools on March 18. These will be picked up sometime the following week. Just as was done last year, the club will have the FFA boys of South Cameron High School conduct a street drive in Creole for contributions.

President Baccigalopi read a letter from Mrs. Dee Fuselier, area Director of the American Cancer Society, asking for volunteers to attend the Society's "People of Purpose" orientation program March 24, at 5:30 p.m. in the fifth floor deli of the Calcasieu Marine National Bank in Lake Charles. Volunteering to attend were Mrs. Estelle Theriot, Mrs. Baccigalopi and Mrs. Butsy Carter.

Baccigalopi announced that the State Extension Homemakers Convention will be held in Shreveport April 21-23. She said that each Cameron Parish club will be responsible for making and giving four handcrafted gifts, two with an Easter motif and two with a Thanksgiving motif.

Bacciaglopi volunteered to carry this out by painting four children's tee shirts with the two different motifs. These gifts will be sold at the convention's country counter with funds thus raised going to the 1993 National Extension Homemakers Convention fund.

In conjunction with March 24 being declared "Alert Day" for the American Diabetes Association, Montie passed out a diabetes risk factor test for members to fill out so as to determine the individual's risk level for diabetes. Each member's test was then evaulated.

ALL AROUND THE PARISH

Cameron -- The Cameron elementary school chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Don Wagner, won third place in their division at the Literary Rally at McNeese last Thursday. Principal J. C. Reina also accompanied the group of about 40 children.

The twisted mass of cedar trees lining the road from Pevoto to Constance Beach will no longer be a familiar sight. The north side has been stripped completely to make way for the new highway. The small strip on the south side, which caught most of Audrey's debris, will be removed also.

The people of Sweetlake are grateful for the shell which was placed on the roads and in their driveways. There has been so much rain this year and roads and driveways were in pretty bad condition.

Mrs. Nolton Richard, Sweetlake, has been driving Mrs. Russel J. Mouton's school bus for the last couple of days. Mrs. Richard says in making the route, she passed the coastal club area where she and Mr. Richard lived back in 1927. They farmed cotton and made about 16 to 17 bales a year. Those were the good and happy days she said.

Spring arrived last Saturday at Grand Chenier and many farmers are taking advantage of the beautiful weather. The patches of clover, pear trees and the young spring grass have been greeting the folks for sometime now. Folks are very busy planting and preparing their gardens.

Going Antiqueing

Yesterday my daughter, sister-in-law and I were in Jennings where I was having my car worked on.

First we had coffee in a quaint little bakery filled with the delicious aroma of a variety of sweets fresh from the oven.

Then we toured the antique and craft shops. The largest is the Jennings Antique Mall which features over 37 booths. We visited the W. H. Tupper General Merchandise Museum. It is the same as the general store that was operated between Jennings and Elton from 1910 to 1949. In it were dozens of items that I had not seen since Hurricane Audrey carried away the identical articles from Cameron. In connection with the museum there is the Old Magnolia Gift Shop, which features Louisiana-made products.

Then there were the little shops overflowing with crafts and oddities. The shops bore endearing names: Love Knot, Remember When, Victoria's.

Sue, my daughter, collects teapots. She gets almost as excited over one of unique design as does a grandmother upon the arrival of a brand-new grandchild. She found two to her liking and purchased them.

But the most interesting find of the day was a tussie-mussie and its filigreed metal holder.

Tussie-mussie was a term of which the three of us had never heard. We know now. A tussie-mussie is a small nosegay made of flowers and herbs, either fresh or dried. The term refers to the highly aromatic bouquet carried by both ladies and gentlemen until the 1700's whenever they went into the street. The carrier held the nosegay up to the nose in order to mask the foul street odors. It was also thought to protect one from dangerous germs.

The term, tussie-mussie, is believed to have been coined from tussis, which meant cough, and the word mercy. Thus, a tussie-mussie might prevent one from getting a cough if one ventured out.

As part of their traditional garb English judges still wear tussie-mussies. And today if one wishes to send a secret message to a loved one what better way than to prepare a fresh or dried tussie-mussie by one's choice. The slender, cone-shaped holder makes this rare gift complete.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Jacques ARNAUD emigrated from France to Louisiana in the early 1800s, met and married Marie Lalonde of Pecaniere, bought a tract of land and settled where Bayou Fuselier and Bayou Teche join at the border of St. Landry and St. Martin parishes.

First called "La Jonction", this location became known as Arnaudville and after the Civil War was incorporated as such.

Postal Pointers

Buying Stamps—A Lot Easier!

If you've ever had to cancel out some needed free time because you had to buy stamps, here's good news. The Postal Service has made stamp buying a lot easier.

It's called the Easy Stamp service. Here's how it works:

1. You can have your stamps delivered. Call your post office or ask your carrier for a postage-free Stamps by Mail order form. There's no service charge and you'll have your order within three business days.

2. For the maximum convenience, stamps can be as close as your telephone. To place an order, just call 1-800-STAMP-24, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. VISA, MasterCard or Discover cards are accepted and there's a small service charge. Your stamps will be delivered within five business days.

3. When shopping, seek the Postal Service's Easy Stamp logo at local retailers. In cooperation with the Postal Service, many businesses offer stamps at post office prices. Ask the cashier at the grocery or convenience store if the store's an Easy Stamp outlet.

4. If you're constantly on the go, try a postal stamp vending machine. They're located in many business and retail centers. You probably pass a Postal Service vending machine every day.

5. When your mailing needs go beyond stamp purchases, convenient U.S. postal centers are in stores and shopping centers. Many retailers, in cooperation with the Postal Service, offer most of the same services available at the post office. Many U.S. postal centers have evening and weekend hours for your convenience. Simply look for the familiar Easy Stamp logo.

HEARTBEAT

Don't take chances with an irregular heartbeat!

By RICHARD ABBEN, M.D.

Arrhythmia – irregular heartbeat – is experienced by millions of people in a variety of forms, some harmless, but others so dangerous that they claim 500,000 lives a year in this country.

Given its lethal potential and the effectiveness of available treatment it is unfortunate that the symptoms of arrhythmia aren't more dramatic. Heart palpitations, characterized by a "fluttery" or "quivering" feeling in the chest, shortness of breath, dizziness, lightheadedness and fainting are typical of both the benign and deadly forms of heartbeat irregularities. Only a proper medical examination will tell you which kind you have.

The mortality rate from the most malignant arrhythmias can reach 70% per year, but even the first line of treatment – medication – can cut the death rate to between 15 and 25 percent. Other forms of treatment include pacemakers, surgery, an implantable defibrillator that resets the heart's rhythm with a tiny electrical jolt, and a catheter procedure that breaks improper bioelectrical connections in the heart with radio frequency energy.

There are several general causes of arrhythmia – scarring of the heart from previous heart attacks or surgery, structural abnormalities, flaws in the bioelectrical system that drives the heartbeat and congenital heart disease. Some medications and metabolic disorders also can cause arrhythmia.

President Bush's thyroid-related arrhythmia last year called the public's attention – briefly – to the subject. But don't assume that his good fortune in discovering that it was benign necessarily applies to you.

If you suffer from the symptoms of arrhythmia, see a cardiologist without delay. You're lucky to get any warning at all.

IN CAMERON PARISH

Mosquitos to be out in force

By DON MENARD,
Director, Cameron
Mosquito Control

Warmer weather has finally arrived and with it those pesky mosquitoes. With all of the rain we've had this winter, mosquitoes are expected to be abundant earlier than usual. Mosquito Control inspectors are reporting that marshes, ditches, potholes and artificial containers are full of water and mosquito eggs and their larvae.

Since all mosquitoes must have water to be able to reproduce, we can all help hold them down to livable levels around our homes by eliminating standing water. Empty and flip over or remove all containers around your yard that can hold water. Buckets, old boats, used tires, barrels, flower pot saucers, cans and any other object that holds water will produce enough mosquitoes to infest a whole neighborhood. Drain or fill potholes and low spots in yards and pastures and you can even reduce numbers of salt-marsh mosquitoes in your area.

In the last two years the Asian tiger mosquito has firmly established itself throughout Cameron Parish. This small, dark mosquito with a white stripe on its back and bright dots on its legs is active only during the day. They love shaded yards with heavy vegetation and lots of water holding containers.

Since they are most abundant in cluttered yards where spray does not penetrate and are not active at night, mosquito control spraying is ineffective on them. The homeowner can virtually eliminate them from his yard by keeping all containers dry.

Now is also the time to vaccinate all horses to prevent equine encephalitis. This highly fatal disease is carried into the country each summer by migratory birds and is transmitted to horses by mosquitoes. Although Cameron Parish was spared last year, quite a few horses died in surrounding parishes.

The disease is easily prevented by vaccinating your horses, so contact your local veterinarian soon. The vaccine takes 14 to 21 days before it becomes effective.

Funeral services for Charles Alva Riggs, 69, of Hackberry were held Saturday, March 28, in Hixson Funeral Home in Sulphur with Dr. Eddie Simmon officiating. Graveside services were held Saturday in Hennigan Cemetery in Merryville.

He served four years as a member of the Cameron Parish Police Jury and was president of the Louisiana Police Jury Association's 7th District two years.

He was a member of the Imperial Calcasieu Regional Planning and Development Commission three years and the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission for six years.

Jobless rate is up in the parish

The unemployment rate in Cameron parish increased from 6.8 percent in Januray to 7.2 percent in February, according to the La. Dept. of Employment.

The report showed 300 persons in the parish out of work out of a work force of 4,175.

The increase gave Cameron parish the fifth place among parishes with the lowest jobless rate. In the past, the parish usually was in second place.

A number of firms in the parish have laid off workers in the past month or so due to the slowdown in on shore and off shore oil activities.

The parish now has a higher jobless rate than Louisiana, which had a 6.8 percent rate for February, down from 7.5 percent in January. The national unemployment rate for February was 7.3 percent, compared to 7.1 percent in January.

Missions in 1916

CATHOLIC MISSIONS IN CAMERON

(Note: This is a continuation of an article on Catholic missions published on Feb. 12, 1916 in the Meridional and on Feb. 13, 1992 in the Pilot. About one-half of the present article was a review of the first article and is not included here.)

In the year 1914, at the cost of countless tiring trips, Father Buissink prepared 20 children at Creole, 11 at Cow Island, 30 at Little Chenier, 19 at Leesburg and 5 at Grand Chenier and gave them First Communion.

In 1915, he gave First Communion to 28 at Big Lake, 29 at Hackberry (white), 25 at Creole (colored), 38 at Creole (white), 16 at Point of Big Lake, 2 at Hackberry (colored), 21 at Nord Island, or in all, 80 in 1914 and 162 in 1915.

During the first months of 1916, there were registered to receive First Communion 22 names at Creole (white), 28 at Creole (colored), 2 at Cheniere Perdu, 12 at Leesburg, 15 at Cow Island, 20 at Grand Cheniere, 20 at Big Lake, 8 at Hackberry (white), 21 at Little Cheniere. In all 148. This gives a total of 242 plus 148 equals 390 for confirmation and adding the 37 children that made their First Communion after the confirmation of 1914, the number is 417.

Amongst the people to whom Father Buissink gave First Communion or that he is preparing now, many married people, many adults, many old people can be found, especially among the inhabitants of Little Cheniere and Cow Island or the colored people of Creole.

In Hackberry (white) an old blind man, his wife and three sons of the ages of 23, 22 and 21 years, received together the First Communion after their marriage had been blessed, and this 28 years after the mother and father had been married before the judge.

In Cow Island the oldest man who received First Communion was 72 years of age and the oldest woman was 66 years old. Among the 30 that made their First Communion at Little Cheniere, six were married.

At Point of Big Lake, Buissink gave First Communion to four converts. Where else can you find such long and beautiful events? Notwithstanding this arduous work, there remain all over the missions, some old people who refuse to make their First Communion, or many children whose parents do not understand the wise and holy laws of the church about early and frequent communion as endorsed by the Eucharistic Pope Pius X.

This problem surely is the greatest problem in Cameron Parish, where the distances are so great, the roads so bad, the ignorance so cruel and the devoted workers so few. But the education of a people cannot be accomplished in a few months and the success already obtained in the past, is a sure pledge of more success in the future.

Father Buissink makes his trips to his distant and numerous missions with the regularity of the Southern Pacific, notwithstanding rain or storms, the awful condition of the roads and excruciating mosquito plagues. He is the possessor of good health and a good humor as well.

Buissink established the Holy Name Society, which numbers 174 members, 32 white and 18 colored at Creole, 6 at Nord Island, 3 at Grand Chenier, 21 at Cow Island, 16 at Leesburg, 25 at Big Lake, 6 at Point of Big Lake, 22 at Hackberry (white), 19 at Little Chenier, 6 at Chenier Perdu, 37 are adults and 137 are boys.

With the help of the Church Extension Society, a new chapel at Little Cheniere will soon be a blessed reality. A new chapel is said to have been donated by a generous benefactor to the Catholics of Point of Big Lake, and it is ardently hoped that a new chapel for the colored settlement at Creole may soon be forthcoming.

Father Buissink, notwithstanding the hard times everywhere, and especially in Cameron Parish where the high water of the last seven years, and more especially the terrible hurricane of August 16th, 1915, caused so much damage, made improvements all over his missions.

In 1915, at the church and the rectory of Creole alone, improvements were made at the cost of $287.93. Everyone who passes before the church and the rectory at Creole admires the beautiful, the useful, the numeorus and practical improvements that have been made in the short time of a year. Nor were the other missions forgotten.

We will mention only that in Grand Chenier, the painting outside and the windowphanie applied to the windows materially improve the appearance of the chapel. Little Cheniere received all that was needed for saying mass, a beautiful new chalice, a new missal stand, a bell cruets and plate, two suits and cassocks for altar-boys, altar linen and a way of the cross for the new chapel to be built. Creole (colored) received a beautiful new chalice, four sets of vestments and all the linen that was needed to read mass.

Point of Big Lake received the same. Hackberry (colored) a beautiful new chalice and Hackberry (white) a new green and purple vestment. Big Lake a new purple vestment and eight suits and cassocks for altar-boys. Cow Island, altar linen and a new chalice.

Many improvements remain to be made, especially in Hackberry (white) where outside painting and repairs are needed; in Hackberry (colored) where after the storm many repairs are needed and more especially in Leesburg where the chapel has suffered so much from the terrible hurricane of August 16th, 1915 and where until now only $36.75 has been collected for the heavy repairs. Besides there is need for a steeple and bell, painting inside and outside, a cistern and other facilities for the people.

We mentioned at the beginning of this article that Father Buissink, is in Cameron Parish, the right man in the right place. How tirelessly he worked to improve the material situations of the people who suffered so many times, such heavy times, such heavy losses by high water coming through the Mermentau River, obstructed by a damm, or through the Calcasieu, obstructed by sand and oyster banks. Father Buissink loves the people and the good people return his love. He gives himself without reserve and the results in fifteen months of time are magnificent.

One of his parishioners, a good man of experience, one day said of him, "I va ramener tout le pays." No doubt, if the people will listen and follow him, he will see his forceful and eloquent words and sermons, make the people tremble with eagerness for all that is good, that is holy and that is lasting beyond this mortal life.

(Cameron Pilot, April 3, 1959)
POPULATION DECLINES

Cameron Parish lost more than 10 percent of its population during the past eight years, according to figures just released by the Louisiana Dept. of Commerce and Industry.

The loss is attributed to two factors: the loss of more than 400 lives in Hurricane Audrey in 1957 and the movement of people from the rural areas to the cities.

However, 25 other parishes were in the same fix, and West Carroll, Bienville and Red River also lost 10 percent or more of their population.

Although Cameron Parish's per capita income was listed as "modest" the parish has the distinction of being the second lowest in the state in receipt of welfare payments, the rate being 3.7. Only Jefferson Parish was lower with a rate of 3.4 percent.

NEW PECAN ISLAND ROAD
(By Hadley Fontenot)

A high way across the deep marshes of lower Cameron and Vermilion Parishes to connect Big Pecan Island and Grand Chenier is now an accomplishment.

When plans were being made to construct this road 12 years ago, there were many skeptics who commented, "It is impossible to build a road in thse boggy marshes!" or "There isn't enough money in Cameron and Vermilion parishes to build such a road." (It's a distance of 16 miles from the end of Grand Chenier to Pecan Island).

As proof that these skeptics were wrong, a historic ride was made by five Cameron Parish residents on Good Friday. Rep. Alvin Dyson, Horace Mhire, Ward 1 Police Juror; and Charlie Theriot, Moise Sturlese and Prevate Miller of Grand Chenier rode in Severin Miller's Jeep all the way from Grand Chenier to Pecan Island over the new highway Dump.

The ride was made without a hitch reported Dyson. The dump is still rough in some spots, but otherwise it is a fine road bed all the way. The primary purpose of the outing was to get the progress report on the job.

This same trip was made by Joe Doxey and Alvin Dyson in 1946, (only it was by mud boat through the marshes) to meet with the Pecan Island residents to solicit their support for the road project.

Contractors on the road report that within 45 days all dirt work and dressing of the road will be completed and ready for shelling. Plans are being made to apply the shell coating soon thereafter. Not until then will the road be open to traffic. This will probably be in early fall.

In regard to another road project, construction of the 15 miles of road work from Holly Beach to the Johnson Bayou school preparatory to hardsurfacing is well under way. Even though the job was given under a 13-month contract it is believed that if good weather prevails the job may be completed before the end of the year.

The final stretch, a distance of about 12 miles, from the Johnson Bayou school to the Sabine Causeway has been issued a survey order by the State Highway Department. Final surveys and right-of-way deeds are expected to be completed in July and a contract let on the hardsurfacing during the same month.

It was the untiring efforts of the Cameron Lions Club, Police Jury members, Jefferson County Commissioners and civic minded people of the parishes of Cameron and Vermilion and Jefferson County, which, when all put together, is finally bringing about the reality of the long-dreamed of project.

Teacher tuition rules are told for McNeese

Teachers planning to enroll for the summer session at McNeese State University should be aware of several changes in teacher tuition exemption policies, according to Becky Sensat, MSU comptroller.

McNeese State does not have any funds remaining from its 1991-92 allocation for teacher tuition exemptions. For that reason, class meetings held before June 30 will not be eligible for tuition exemption.

Sensat says teachers should be prepared to pay full tuition at the time of registration. Refunds from the 1992-93 allocation will be issued in mid-July after funds are received from the state. The amount of each refund will be based on the percentage of total class meetings scheduled in July. Most teachers taking regular summer session classes will receive approximately 50 percent of the tution exemption.

All applications are subject to audit and final approval by officials from the Louisiana Department of Education. Sensat reminds teachers that the state will accept only the current form. All requested information should be complete and must include the signatures of the applicant and the school principal.

Teachers studying subjects in which there is a critical shortage of teachers must also get the signature of the superintendent or his designee. All applications must then be approved by the dean of the Burton College of Education at MSU.

Applications may be turned in to the McNeese Registrar's Office or the Cashier's Office. The deadline for completed applications to be returned is 3:30 p.m. on June 18.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Bible records are of tremendous value to genealogists because they contain the basic family information of names and dates for births, marriages and deaths, plus usually places where events occurred and many relationships.

Also, bible records often include the hard-to-find "moved from" information and sometimes family history background, biography, etc.

In addition, bibles were favorite safe-keeping places for family papers, military pension applications, newspaper clippings, even wills and deeds, etc.

Researchers can never know until they look, what bonuses may be found in a family Bible; and, if recorded there, such information probably was accurate.

BIBLE RECORDS

Mid-South Bible Records, Volume II, Bi-Centennial Edition, 1776-1976 compiled by the Fort Assumption Chapter DAR, Memphis, TN gives thousands of entries from more than 300 bibles, most giving name and location of the owner in 1973 — date when the records were compiled.

Many states in addition to Tennessee are represented: Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas, etc.; and there is considerable Mississippi information, some with Louisiana connections.

This thorough compilation adds personal genealogy, letters, etc. as available with the family data. Rich in information, the volume is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 457 pages, with a full name index of some 1,300 different surnames, available at $23.00 from: Ft. Assumption DAR #3026TN, Mrs. M.S. Douthitt, Treas., 32 S. Evergreen St., Memphis, TN 38104. (Volume I is no longer available.)

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS

Revolutionary War Period Bible, Family & Marriage Records Gleaned from Pension Applications, Volume 12 by Chan Edmondson continues this superior series with its newest volume that covers Fadden-Foster names for Revolutionary War soldiers. Compiled from pension applications, the abstracted data varies from the soldier's name, his home state, resident state of the person applying for a pension, soldier's name, his wife, marriage date and place, his date and place of death, widow's age and residence; to a great deal more including some or all of:

Children with dates and places of birth, sometimes death, spouses; the same for siblings, other relatives; soldier's birthplace and date; parents; grandchildren; church membership; names of neighbors, witnesses, guardians; widow's later marriages, relatives of hers; assorted other information; migration pattern often apparent.

Volume 12 of this important series with its wealth of research material contains some 700 pension applications and has an index of over 4,000 names. Softcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 170 pages, it is available at $15.00 from: Chan Edmundson, P.O. Box 141235, Dallas, TX 75214-1235 as are each of Volumes 2-11. Vol. 1 is available only with the 12-volume set.

MARRIAGE RECORDS, VA

Greenbrier County,(W.) Virginia Marriages, 1782-1900 as compiled by Larry G. Shuck is an outstanding three-volume set bringing together hard-to-find genealogical material for more than 11,000 marriages in this county from just following the American Revolution through the 19th century.

Up to 1865, these marriages are part of Virginia's records, after which they become West Virginia's.

Information for each varies from marriage licenses giving names of bride and groom and the date, to abstracted marriages providing name, date, single or widowed, county where born (with state if not Virginia), age, and — of special value — names of parents.

Vol. I, alphabetical by groom's name, includes also a frequency chart for the some 3,800 different surnames. Vol. II, alphabetical by bride's name, gives with each, the same info as Vol. I; and Vol. III is a complete index for all the names and includes a frequency chart for all dates.

This valuable research set is softcover, 5 1/4 x 8 in., total of 997 pages, $53.45 from: Iberian Publishing Co., 548 Cedar Creek Drive, Athens, GA 30605-3408. This company, established in 1982, now handles some 200 genealogical titles.

MARRIAGE RECORDS, GA

Baker County, Georgia, Marriage Records compiled by Max L.Tatum lists alphabetically, first by groom and then by bride, almost 2,000 marriages for the period approximately 1872-1915 in Baker County. Each listing has also its full date with book and page number where recorded.

Tatum has compiled separately, also marriage records from other Georgia counties including Calhoun, Colquitt, Dougherty, Lee, Mitchell, Terrell, Worth, Schley and Berrien, each listing between some two and five thousand marriages.

The Baker County compilation is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 66 pages, $14.00 incl. mailing from Tatum at P.O. Box 5322, Albany, GA 31706-5322.

Mrs. Arizona Wells

Wells dies in Franklin

By WANITA HARRISON

Mrs. Arizona Bartie Wells, 85, noted St. Mary's parish educator and a native of Cameron Parish, died March 14, in Franklin.

Survivors include a number of cousins, including Mrs. Lillian Harrison of Grand chenier, and many nieces, nephews and Godchildren.

Mrs. Wells was born Sept. 15, 1906 to Mose and Mary Bartie, pioneer settlers in Cameron. During her adolescent years, she lived in Lake Charles and became a member of Starlight Baptist Church.

She married Jacob M. Wells Dec. 14, 1937. Her ties to St. Mary Parish were cemented when they became residents there.

Mrs. Wells taught 12 years in schools outside St. Mary Parish but the full impact of her service to education was felt during the 33 years of employment in St. Mary.

She attended high school and college at Southern University in Baton Rouge, and earned a bachelor's degree. In 1955 Mrs. Wells was awarded a master's degree in administration and supervision from the Municipal University in Nebraska.

As a teacher and principal for 45 years, she observed many changes. Initially she taught students at the elementary level. From the early 1940's to 1967, she taught social studies at Franklin Negro High School, now Willow Street High. She was appointed principal of Willow Street Elementary School in 1967, where she remained until retirement in 1972.

A key element in the life of Mrs. Wells was her membership in Mt. Zion Baptist Church. She took great pride in improvement of all aspects of the church, including physical appearance. To influence positive change in the church, a group to make a difference, Progressive Women, was organized.

She was a charter member and vice president of the New Iberia branch of the National Association of University Women and the St. Mary branch was formalized in her residence in 1979. She served as president during the club's first two years of growth.

Immediately following retirement, Mrs. Wells worked with the Franklin Foundation Auxiliary known as "Pink Ladies". In a relatively short time, she earned a pin for one hundred hours of volunteer service. She was awarded a certificate of appreciation in recognition of her years of service to education, her church and community by Eta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

BASS TOURNAMENT

The first of three 1952 bass tournaments held last week at Cindy's Fish 'N Stop was a great success.

There were 28 teams fishing (56 anglers) and there were 43 anglers entering the Big Bass of the day.

The top large bass went to Bodie LaBove, with a 5 pound 13 oz. big one caught in the Big Burns. Second place went to Carlton Styron with a 3 lb. 8 oz. largemouth. Each angler received $107.50.

The top team stringer of five bass went to Carlton Styron and John Johnson, weighing in at 12 lbs. 14 ozs. They totaled $252 of prize money. Second place team stringer, 12 lbs. 4 ozs., went to Bodie LaBove and Terrell Boudoin taking home $196 for the day. Third place was Carl Broussard and Ricky Canik with a 12-4 stringer and $112. The reason for the same weight on second and third place stringer went back to the largest bass to determine second place.

Darren Thibodeaux and Ken Mudd came in just out of the money by one ounce with a 12-3 stringer. Tom Hess missed the money on the large bass by 2 ounces with a 3-6.

There were six bass over 3 pounds, plus the one over 5 lbs. There were no 4 pounders. Fish weighing in between 2 and 3 pounds totaled 9 and between 1-5 and 2 pounds, 6.

There were eighty fish weighed in for a total of 155 pounds or an average of 1.94 pounds per fish. This was really a good average on a cold, rainy windy March day.

There was only one team fishing Lacassine Refuge, with a 10-6 stringer, Darren Richard and Quenton LeBoeuf. Their biggest fish was 2-7. All the other teams fished Miami Corp permitted lands and the Big Burns.

NEWS IN BRIEF

*Louisiana will get more than $5.7 million from the U. S. Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service. This is for excise tax paid by hunters and fishermen on fuel, fishing equipment, etc. for 1991. The money is available to the state if they provide matching funds and win project approval from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

*Our neighboring state of Texas has a new bass record with an 18 lb. largemouth snapping the old record of 17.66 caught in 1986. Both of these record bass come out of Lake Fork, a 27,000 acres lake about 80 miles east of Dallas, Tex.

Sixteen of Texas' top 20 largemouth bass have come out of Lake Fork. This new record bass was 25.5 inches long and 24.5 inches in girth. It was caught by a rancher, using live minnows, fishing for crappie in 42 feet of water.

He says he realized fishermen have spent thousands of dollars trying to catch a bass like he did, but he only spent about $5 on ice and minnows.

BASS SOLD ILLEGALLY

Some or most of American oriental seafood markets or restaurants in most major cities are selling American number one game fish. Yes, largemouth bass are on display in tanks where you'll find lobsters, trout or other species. They are chosen by the customer and killed for the consumer. Do they have permission, yes. They are commercially raised bass and can be sold legally as food. People who raise these bass are called aquaculturists.

It is said states such as Delaware, Oklahoma, Missouri, Pennsylvania all sell bass in their oriental markets.

It also states that Boston's food bass are shipped in from as far away as Arkansas. In New York the demand runs as high as 40,000 pounds a month. In Illinois 1,000 to 2,000 pounds a week are sold.

These fish are farm raised, fed on pellets diet, and bring in more money per pound than catfish. (Catfish brings 50 cents a pound to fish farmers, while live bass can bring $3.50 or more per pound.)

Now, you say what's the problem? Well, what about the black market selling. When there's that much money involved, fish from the will will be sold somewhere along the line and that's trouble for our bass waters. It won't be long before they'll have a commercial catch on bass. How are the enforcement officers, working with small man power, keeping the wild bass off these markets?

It is said you can grow as many pounds of bass as you can catfish. Thousands of pounds per acre can be produced. Most come to the market around 12 inches long, 1 to 2 pounds each.

This so called law states that aquaculture is agriculture and aquaculture products are agriculture products, and for that reason you can buy an aquaculture license for $50 per year. Putting American's #1 game fish on a restaurant menus is not making the thousands of bass fishermen happy.

AREA FISHING

There were some more good fish

CAMERON OUTDOORS

that came out of Lacassine Refuge the past week. At the Hook, Line and Sinker tournament a 6¼ pounder was caught and a stringer of 5 bass a little over 16 pounds. Another big bass, a little over 7 pounds was taken out of the refuge, also the past week.

The Big Burn produced a 6-3/4 pounder last week and some fairly nice stringers.

Good catches of goggleye and white perch are also coming out of the Big Burns.

The Seven Acre bass club will hold their first club tournament April 4, from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will have the results on the Lemesche Bass Club Tournament held this past week.

Cameron Pilot

FOURTH YEAR--No. 22 CAMERON, LA., FEBRUARY 26, 1960 10¢ A COPY

ON HEART SUNDAY
FEB. 28
GIVE TO FIGHT HEART DISEASE

THE PILOT NOT only has a new look this week, it has a new columnist as well. He is a rather remarkable fellow named Howard Mitcham, who has written a book entitled "Fishing on the Gulf Coast." The column will have the same name and will carry much of the material featured in the book.

Mitcham, lives in true Bohemian style in the French Quarter of New Orleans, gives you the lowdown on all popular game and food fish to be found along our coastline. In fact, he not only tells you how to catch, but how to cook 'em as well.

One of the interesting features of the column and book are the very fine true-to-life etchings which he has made of Gulf Coast fish. They're real collectors items.

A native of Mississippi and a graduate of Louisiana State University, he was one of the school's outstanding art students. He has spent several years in New York City, where his paintings received loud praises from art critics.

He is now associated with his cousin, Ruth A. Mitcham, in a publishing firm known as the Hermit Crab Press, has turned out in addition to the fishing book, a unique illustrated guide book to New Orleans.

•

HOWARD MITCHAM has this to say concerning "Fishing on the Gulf Coast":

"I don't know much about fishing. Neither does anybody else I know, though some of them catch lots of fish. Ask a dozen experts a question and you'll get a dozen different answers. All the textbooks on the subject are full of warmed-over guesses. Do what the book says and the cussed fish will often do just the opposite. That's why fishing is so darn much fun. A smattering of ignorance gets a chance to pose as wisdom. An illiterate yokel can be a real keen fisherman, while a genius can be a dud.

"Hence it's a presumptive thing to launch a fishing book on the world. Everybody knows that the prescribed way to write a fishing book is to crib your stuff from the latest [illegible] have shown that Izaak Walton, himself, pinched a good bit of his stuff from an earlier writer.

• • •

BUDDY ELLEN DER of Hackberry isn't the only person in the parish who owns an Appaloosa horse. Our Cameron reporter, Mrs. Eldie Cheramie, reports that Robert Penny of Johnson Bayou is the owner of a seven-month-old colt named "Wild Eyes" of this unique breed of horse.

The colt was purchased from Dr. Bob Adams of Oklahoma City. Mr. Penny is the seventh and eight grade teacher at Johnson Bayou school.

•

RESUMPTION OF bookmobile service to Johnson Bayou will come just as soon as the road, now being blacktopped, is in good enough shape for the big bookmobile to travel over it, says Mrs. Mary Brand, librarian. In the meantime, she says she will be happy to send books out by mail to Johnson Bayou folks. Just drop her a card or call her up.

YOU CAN SEE ALL KINDS OF BOATS . . .

. . . tied up at Cameron docks these days. This vessel, the "Doris Oliver II" out of Panama City, Fla. is fishing for snappers along the Gulf Coast. Capt. Maurice Sythe said that this was the first time the boat had come into Cameron, but that it would make frequent visits here this summer. The boat is fishing for the Clark Seafood Co. of Pascagoula, Miss., and carries an eight-man crew.

BIG PIPELINE JOB PEPS UP BUSINESS

Work began this week on the 16-inch Socony-Mobil (Magnolia) pipeline between Johnson Bayou and Creole and promises to help Cameron business snap out of the winter doldrums.

The line, which will transport gas from Mobil's Cameron Meadows separation plant at Johnson Bayou to the Tennessee Gas Transmission line near Creole, is being built by Sharman, Allen, Gay & Taylor, Inc., of Houston, Texas. The job is expected to take about a month.

The pipeline firm will have about 125 men on the project, many of them to be hired locally. A large number of men lined up at the firm's headquarters in the old Schlumberger building building Monday when hiring began.

In addition, there are six or seven sub-contractors on the job.

In addition, there are six or seven sub-contractors on the job.

Originally scheduled to be a 12-inch line, the project was held up for several weeks when it was decided to change to 16-inch pipe.

Two crews began work this week on the line--both moving west. One group started on the west bank of the Calcasieu river and will push the line across the marsh to Holly Beach. At the same time, another crew started west from Holly Beach toward Johnson Bayou.

The "push" method will be used in laying the line across the marsh. That is, the pipe will be floated on steel oil drums, and pushed out ahead of the working crews.

•

SUBCONTRACTORS include Mike Hooks, Inc., Lake Charles, who is doing dredging for crossing of the Calcasieu river and ship channel; Crain Brothers of Grand Chenier, who are digging the ditch through the marsh; and WHC Construction Co. of Lafayette, which is digging the dry land ditch.

Other sub-contractors include R. L. Lipsey, Longview, Texas, road crossings; J. C. (Red) Willet, Monroe, stringing pipe; Southwest Construction Co., Lake Charles, laying board road; and Bill Barnett, New Orleans, barging in the pipe.

Key personnel for Sharman, Allen here are C. R. Lake, superintendent; R. N. Cain, assistant superintendent; Vic Torson, office manager and B. L. Hicks, purchasing agent.

Heart Sunday to be observed

Heart Sunday will climax the annual Heart Fund Drive in Cameron parish this Sunday, according to J. B. Jones, Jr., parish drive chairman. He said that the parish drive has been very successful to date.

Religious leaders of all faiths have called on the American people to observe Heart Sunday and to support the nationwide fight against heart and circulatory diseases.

Bolo Trosclair named Easter Seals chairman

Roland J. (Bolo) Trosclair has been named the Cameron parish chairman for the 1960 Easter Seals campaign, according to Larry W. Stephenson of Lake Charles, drive chairman for the Calcasieu-Cameron unit of the Louisiana Chapter of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The drive will be held from March 17 through April 17.

Parish has big sales tax rise for the decade

Sales tax collections in Cameron parish have increased 174.40 per cent in the past 10 years, according to a new study of Department of Revenue figures released by the State Department of Commerce and Industry.

Only six other parishes in the state surpassed Cameron in the amount of increase. They were: Plaquemines, 555.64 per cent; West Feliciana, 503.04; Jefferson, 363.68; St. Bernard, 342.96; St. Mary, 203.17; and Lafayette, 198.28.

It was pointed out that the sales tax collections is a good business barometer. The new study indicates that the industrialization and other business growth in Louisiana have caused the expansion of retail sales in the state at approximately the rate of the sales tax collection increase.

Drainage survey being made of town

The state department of public works is presently making a survey of the town of Cameron and will shortly make recommendations on what steps could be taken to provide adequate drainage for the town, Rep. Alvin Dyson reports.

Carroll Hatcher back at Grand Lake

Carroll Hatcher, basketball coach and commerce teacher, is back on the job at Grand Lake high school after six-months of active duty with the Army at Fort Benning, Ga.

Science fair is set for Friday

South Cameron high school will hold its first annual science fair between the hours of 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Friday in the school gymnasium and the general public is invited to come out and see the unusual displays.

Under the leadership of science teacher Sonny McCall, the biology, general science and elementary science students of the school have been working for weeks on various projects and demonstrations.

Outside judges will rate the exhibits and the winners will then go on to the area science fair at McNeese State College March 17-19.

•

HERE ARE just a few of the models and exhibits to be seen at the fair:

Model of a sulphur mine, Marvin Owen; electric motor and telegraph key, John Alan Duhon; water purification methods, Glenda Nunez; tumors and cancers, Ann Marcantin; comparison of digestion in plants and animals, J. A. Miller.

Primeaux and Crain head drive

Co-chairmen for the March campaign for members and funds were named this week by Lloyd D. McClatchey, chairman of the Calcasieu-Cameron Chapter, American Red Cross.

They are Eloi Primeaux of Bell City and A. H. "Sono" Crain, of Grand Chenier. Goal of the drive is $4,251, said McClatchey. The campaign will begin Tuesday, March 1, and will be carried on only in areas not reached by Calcasieu United Appeals.

Primeaux will head the Calcasieu phase and Crain the Cameron Parish solicitations.

March is traditionally observed as Red Cross Month, McClatchey pointed out. Money raised will be used for local services such as emergency assistance to servicemen and dependents and disabled veterans and their dependents, first aid, water safety, and home nursing.

Lions to push road to jetties

The Cameron Lions Club has appointed a committee to try to get a road built from the end of the Holo Trosclair road out to the jetties on the east side of the Calcasieu river. The road would open up the east side of the river for dock and recreation facilities.

Jimmy Derouen told the club that he had contacted the major property owners along the proposed road and that they had agreed to donate the right-of-way.

Roland J. Trosclair was named chairman of a committee to meet with the police jury on getting the road built.

Texan killed in car wreck near Holly Beach

John Burr Curtis, 47, of Fort Beliver, Texas, was killed instantly Thursday afternoon of last week when his car sideswiped a truck four miles west of Cameron near Holly Beach.

Curtis, who was employed as a cook for an offshore service firm, had just finished a job at Morgan City and was presumably on his way home.

He passed another car on a curve on Highway 27 and was in the wrong lane of traffic when his car hit an east-bound truck driven by Alvin Joseph Richard, 33, of Sulphur. The truck was owned by Southwest Construction Co. of Sulphur.

The truck driver was not injured.

Curtis' body was taken to O'Donnell Funeral Home in Creole and later taken to Galveston for burial.

Library tax is explained at Legion meeting

Members of Richard Bros. Post 176, American Legion, heard a discussion of the tax election to be voted on March 15 parish-wide to continue the operation of the Cameron parish library.

Speakers were Mrs. Conway Leffleu, a member of the library board, and Mrs. Mary Brand, parish librarian. The meeting was held Thursday in the KC home in Creole.

After the hurricane in 1957, the Louisiana Junior Chamber of Commerce raised the funds for the library building and the Louisiana state library furnished the books, employees and bookmobile for two years at no cost to the parish.

A two-mill tax will have to be approved to continue the library operation, and Mrs. Brand and Mrs. Leffleu urged the Legionnaires to support the tax. Property owners assessed for less than $2,000 will have their tax paid by the state homestead exemption.

Diel LaLande, parish service officer, explained the new veterans pension bill that becomes effective July 1. Veterans now drawing pensions should not convert to the new plan until they have inquired about the provisions of the new law, he stated. He offered his assistances to any veteran in this matter.

Support of library millage is urged

The Cameron parish library is more than a building; it is a memorial to victims of Hurricane Audrey, a speaker told the Cameron Lions Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Hebert of Sweetlake, a member of the library board, told the Lions that there had been a movement to build the library several years before the storm, but it had been dropped because of the large expense involved.

Following Audrey, the Louisiana Jaycees gave the $35,000 library building to the parish as a gift and as a memorial to the storm dead and the state library completely equipped and staffed the library for a two-year period.

She urged the Lions to give their full support to the library tax to be voted on March 15 so that the library may continue to operate.

Mrs. Mary Brand, librarian, reported that the library has a tentative budget of $25,000 a year set up for when the parish takes over the operation. [illegible] owners will not [illegible] to pay [illegible] if they are assessed for [illegible] as homestead exemption will cover them.

School Superintendent U. E. Hackett told the club that the library had rendered outstanding service to the schools of the prish, especially in view of the fact that the schools lost some 6,000 books in the hurricane.

THE CLUB VOTED to assist a TB patient in the eastern part of the parish in securing glasses, and glasses will also be fitted for a needy Cameron child.

It was announced that the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the club has a new scoutmaster--Chief Holstein of the Coast Guard station. His assistants are Martin G. Theriot and William Morris.

President E. J. Dronet again expressed the club's sincere appreciation to the people of Cameron for the outstanding contributions made to the recent crippled children's drive.

Dredging of ship channel is postponed

The maintenance dredging of that portion of the Lake Charles ship channel which goes through Cameron parish has been postponed until after the May session of the Louisiana legislature.

That was the word that State Rep. Alvin Dyson has received from Congressman T. A. Thompson.

The police jury last month asked the U. S. Corps of Engineers to postpone the dredging to give Mr. Dyson time to introduce a bill in the legislature to appropriate funds to build a retaining dike along the Calcasieu lakefront in the Hackberry area.

Silt from the ship channel dredging has been gradually filling up the lake and making navigation by fishing and oil boats difficult the jury has been told by Hackberry leaders.

Remains found of another of Audrey's dead

The remains of another of Hurricane Audrey's more than 400 victims was found in the marsh near Sweetlake Thursday afternoon of last week, John Duhon made the discovery.

Nothing but the bones were found. There was no clothing or jewelry and the teeth were perfect, making identification impossible, Dr. Stephen Carter of Creole, parish coroner, said he believed the remains to have been that of a young colored male, about 5 feet, 7 inches tall.

The remains, which are at O'Donnell's Funeral Home in Creole, probably will be buried along side of other unknown bodies in one of the local colored cemeteries.

The exact number of persons who perished in Hurricane Audrey has never been definitely established, but Sheriff O. B. Carter says he believes the number is around 411.

New auto repair shop to open here

A new business--the Coastal Auto Repair Shop--will be opened Monday in Cameron by Henry (Hank) Ratcliff and Arthur Coleman. It will be located in the rear of Ferry's Esso Service Station.

TO BE EXHIBITED AT LIVESTOCK SHOW . . .

GIVE A CALL

If you value and appreciate the services provided by your local library, pick up the phone and "Say Yes to Your Right to Know". Call 1-800-530-8888 between March 16 and April 11.

The "Call for America's Library Campaign" is sponsored by the American Library Association and Friends of Libraries USA to mobilize public support for libraries, librarians and one of our most precious freedoms -- the "Right to Know".

Callers will be asked a few brief questions to register their support and will receive a brochure on how to support their library.

BOOK DONATED

The Louisiana Fur and Alligator Advisory Council (Darrell Dupont and Charles Pettifer) donated the book "Wild Furbearer Management and Conservation in North America" to the Cameron Parish Library.

Topics discussed range from the archaeological evidence for the use of furbearers by aboriginal peoples to modern population management techniques, from a trapper's memories of early days on the trapline to a discussion of modern humane harvesting methods, and from the effects of toxic chemicals on furbearers to present-day management programs.

The book tells the furbearing animals found in our part of the country, especially Cameron Parish, with detailed accounts of their habits, proper traps to use, and colored illustrations of the animals in their habitat.

Grand Chenier assets are described here

Pelicans, ducks, geese and rosette spoonbills are just a few of the many types of abundant bird life in Grand Chenier. Grand Chenier has an abundance of water in the Mermentau River, Grand Lake, the Gulf of Mexico, Upper and Lower Mud Lakes, and the Rockefeller Refuge.

The Refuge consists of about 85,000 acres of which 30% is water. The Refuge was created in 1920 as a State Refuge. It is world renown for its alligator and water fowl research. It also serves as the primary water fowl refuge for the Mississippi Flyway. Fishing and cast netting are a couple other activities of the Refuge. The Refuge brings in about $2-10 million a year to the state in oil and gas revenues. The Refuge hires approximately 30 employees and spends about $1.8 milion a year to operate.

Grand Chenier is bordered on the south by the Gulf of Meixco, Pecan Island on the east, the east Creole community on the north, and Oak Grove to the west. Highway 82 (a coast line road) is an old main thoroughfare that can get you from New Orleans to Houston. Grand Chenier claims approximately 20 miles of Highway 82.

Grand Chenier serves as home to approximately 1,552 people as of 1990. Livelihoods for these people consist of the oil industry, cattle, fishing activities, trapping and hunting. One bank (Cameron State Bank) serves the local banking needs. Spiritual needs are met by the Methodist, Catholic, Baptist and God in Christ churches.

The Grand Chenier Elementary has grades kindergarten through the seventh grade. There are approximately 100 students in the school with a maximum of 15 students per class. High school (8th-12th grades) is accomplished at South Cameron High School in Oak Grove.

It takes two fire stations as well as two water districts to serve the Grand Chenier community. Other necessities are met by four grocery stores (Nunez's, Booth's, Kajon's, and Larry's) as well as one restaurant (Brasseaux's). Medical care is provided in Cameron.

Grand Chenier enjoys its share of recreation through all of the local water activities, a library bookmobile, organizations such as the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, and Home Demonstration clubs, and their own recreation district which has a swimming pool, tennis courts, meeting rooms, game room, and a softball field.

Presently, Grand Chenier is about 3.9 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. On June 27, 1957 Hurricane Audrey stuck a deadly blow. Grand Chenier almost didn't exist after the hurricane, but flourishes today.

Grand Chenier can boast a history of a great inventor. It was the Crain Brothers Co. that built the first marsh buggies which are used worldwide. Crain Brothers still exists and is the largest employer in this hometown community.

The only other dominant land features are the "cheniers". These cheniers ae ancient and stranded sea-beaches that now serve as the grounds for building in Grand Chenier. Cheniere in French literally means Oak Grove.

Thoughts on Spring

Our winter -- mild as it was -- was still a season of overcast skies and grays and browns. Now it has given way to spring and ultimate beauty. Everywhere we see great splashes of rose and pink azaleas, golden trumpets of daffodils, the snowy delicacy of bridal wreath, beds of bright-faced pansies. Wisteria vines sprawl and climb hiding their gray-green limbs in lavender lace.

Birdsong fills the air. The feathered babies make their first short sallies from tree to the green ground beneath. A new-born colt in the pasture beyond seeks to stabilize his long slender fold-up legs. Bunnies hop across lawns as though to promise children that they shall return ere long with Easter goodies.

All of the above remind us of eternal spring, of the ever recurring birth and growth that arrive in their appointed time. More and more scientists are gleaning God's wisdom and agreeing that nothing in the universe is ever lost forever, that only its form is changed and that which dies today is born anew tomorrow.

The deep spiritual lesson in the return of spring proclaims faith and hope to people everywhere. We, the people of earth, need to heed the message that is being boradcast all about us through the media of wind and rain, blue sky, flower and bird.

We admit that we live in a troubled world, in one that is torn by war and strife, that is made ragged by hunger and deprivation and suffering, that is blotted by crime, by man's inhumanity to man, by the distrust and animosity of one group for another.

And the questions that we ask are legion. Where might happiness and peace of mind be found in this age of automation when products resulting from the ingenuity of intellect and hand seem to be placed above the fruits of the heart and spirit? Have we chosen our leaders wisely and are they worthy of the confidence we have placed in them? Or are they leading us down tangled political paths to a rendezvous with destruction and national suicide?

Does all that we value lack permanence today? Are we changing the very mores of our existence for the mere sake of change? Have we forgotten the faith of our fathers and the dedication of our mothers who sought to build a civilization of lasting values within this land?

Perhaps it is time for us to cease our questioning and put aside our fears. Perhaps it is time for us to open our hearts and minds to the blessed message of love and peace and to seek avenues of understanding and trust on a one-to-one basis, to put more emphasis upon spiritual values and to practice in our day-to-day living the admonition of One who said, "Render unto Caesar those things that are Caesar's and unto God those things that are God's."

Lent service set at Creole

Lenten penance services will be conducted at five different locations in the Diocese of Lake Charles, during the first week of April, as a climax of the penitential season of Lent.

Each service will begin at 7 p.m. and will consist of an opening prayer, a selection of hymns and spiritual readings, plus a homily, according to the Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles.

The communal penance service for this area is set for Thursday, April 9, at Sacred Heart Church in Creole.

After the homily will be time for preparation for an examination of conscience, and for private confession for those attending.

Annual Day set at Ebenezer

Ebenezer Baptist Church will celeberate mens, womens and youth annual day Sunday, April 5.

The youth department will have a presentation at the 11 a.m. service and the adults presentation will be at the 2:30 p.m. service. Rev. Roland Mouton, Sr., will be the guest speaker.

Pastor Lanis Joseph and the Ebenezer Baptist Church family invite the public to attend.

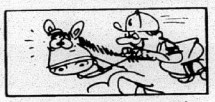
1st responders are praised for assistance

Dear Editor:

The Cameron Council on Aging would like to take this public means to give a pat on the back to the Cameron Parish First Responders. What a terific asset they are to our community!



Recently the Council has had two emergencies at the Senior Center. The first responders were called and in what seemed only seconds they were in the building.

They are well trained in their roles, and are to be commended for their dedication to the well-being of the population of Cameron Parish.

Also due a word of praise is the ambulance service offered by South Cameron Memorial Hospital. They were called to transport the emergencies. Upon a speedy arrival, their training was evident as they took vital signs, and reassured the patients that they would be fine. Their professionalism calmed everyone, and only after careful evaluation of the situation did they transport the seniors to the hospital.

Thanks ladies and gentlemen of Cameron Parish! You are great!

Sincerely,
/s/ Dinah B. Nunez,
Executive Director

Cameron -- The Outdoors Parish

Griffith gets top state press honor

Geneva Griffith, writer for the Cameron Pilot and Lake Charles American Press, was named Communicator of Achievement of the Year, at the annual Louisiana Press Women's Convention held last weekend in Alexandria.

Named the "Maggie Award", it was presented in memory of the late Margaret (Maggie) Dixon, who covered the Louisiana Legislature for years for the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate and was one of the founders of LPW.

Mrs. Griffith was presented with a monogrammed silver and gold bracelet by last year's winner, Hope Norman of Alexandria.

Griffith will present Louisiana at the National Press Women's Convention in Lansing, Michigan in June.

She also won three state awards on stories she wrote for the Cameron Pilot.

The first place award, which has gone to national competition, was of her personal recollection of the notorious Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow.

A second place was on a photo essay on the annual Cameron beach clean-up; and a third place was on a special series of stories on her trip to Spain.

Lacassine may be expanded

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has drafted a proposal to expand Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge in Cameron Parish by acquiring up to 16,000 acres of agricultural wetlands and freshwater marshes. The proposed expansion would protect additional wetland habitat for wintering waterfowl and would increase the size of the refuge to about 48,625 acres.

The proposed expansion area is adjacent to the refuge's current northern boundary in Cameron and Jefferson Davis parishes, Louisiana. Much of the land in the area is owned by the Lacassine Land Company and consists of low-lying, marginal farmlands subject to frequent flooding.

The Service has released a draft environmental assessment that considers the biological, environmental and socioeconomic consequences of expanding the refuge. The assessment also evaluates three alternatives for protecting and managing the land in the proposed area and their potential impacts.

Copies of the draft environmental assessment are available for public review and comment until April 30, 1992. Requests for copies and for further informaton on the proposal should be addressed to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 1240, 75 Spring Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

JURORS TOLD

'ican bees headed our way

By JERRY WISE

The Africanized Bees (sometime called the killer bees) are just across the Sabine in Texas and may reach Cameron parish in the coming year, the Cameron Parish police jurors were told at their monthly meeting Monday. However, the bees aren't as dangerous as we have been led to believe.

Assoc. County Agent Gary Wicke and Mosquito Control Director Don Menard told the jurors they had attended a workshop on the bees at Lamar University in Beaumont recently and had learned the following:

The bees probably will reach Cameron parish and Louisiana within the coming year and there is no stopping them.

While the Africanized bees are more aggressive than the domestic bees, they are not as dangerous as first believed and it would take more than a 1000 stings to kill an average person.

The greatest harm from the bees will be crossing with domestic bees and since the new bees do not produce much honey the honey production could be hurt.

There is no way for an average person to tell the difference from an Africanized bee and a regular bee. A bee must be sent off to LSU which has a computer program for distinquishing the bees.

Anyone seeing a swarm of bees they suspect to be the Africanized bees should call the county agent's office which will notify the proper authorities.

IN OTHER BUSINESS the police jury declared April 9 as "Rusty Welch Day" in honor of the Oak Grove youth who recently won the National Junior Muskrat and Nutria Skinning Championship in Maryland. It was the 12th time that Welch had won the contest.

The jury adopted a resolution honoring Mrs. Annie Kramm as the "Older Worker of the Year." Mrs. Kramm was present at the meeting as were several of the other nominees for the award.

The jury tabled for a month two requests for permits from the Miami Corp. to do work in the marsh in the Gibbstown area to introduce fresh water. Jurors were concerned that the work might cause flooding in other areas of the parish.

Liquor permits were approved for the following businesses: Circle A Foods, Edwin R. Augustine, Hackberry; Fisherman's Quick Stop, James K. Lee and Carl D. Lee, Grand Chenier; and Boone's Corner, Inc., Ernest Q. Hebert Sr. and Ernest Q. Hebert Jr., Grand Lake.

Carroll Trahan was appointed to the Gravity Drainage District 7 board to replace Russell Badon, who resigned. Joe McCall was named to Recreation District 9 and Darla Istre and Kathleen Thevis were named to Recreation District 8. Rick Erickson was named to Waterworks Dist 2 to replace Lynn Trahan, whose term had expired.

Juror Ray Conner brought up the need for cleaning out the Creole ditch so that water could drain into the Gulf.

Juror Russell Badon introduced an ordinance that would make it possible for the jury to condemn and tear down old delapidated buildings that are deemed to be a hazard to the public. The measure was passed.

Juror George LeBouef brought up the problem of smoke from burning pastures affecting nearby residents. It was agreed by jurors that the burning of pastures and the marsh is an old established practice in the parish and it was finally agreed that anyone doing such burning choose a time when the wind will not blow the smoke into homes.

R. E. Heidt Construction Co. was awarded a $365,000 contract to repair roads in the Sweetlake area that had been torn up by heavy oilfield traffic.

Juror Ray Conner asked that truck routes be designated in the parish to keep heavy trucks off of parish roads.

Cameron Navy lass is canine trainer

By JOE GAWLOWICZ

San Diego, Calif.--Teresa R. Mata, a Navy petty officer second class, and her canine partner, Cito, make up one of nearly twenty Navy military working dog (MWD) teams in the San Diego area.

"Cito and I get along great," said the 25-year-old daughter fo Martha Wilson of Cameron. "We work together in patrol and detector work."

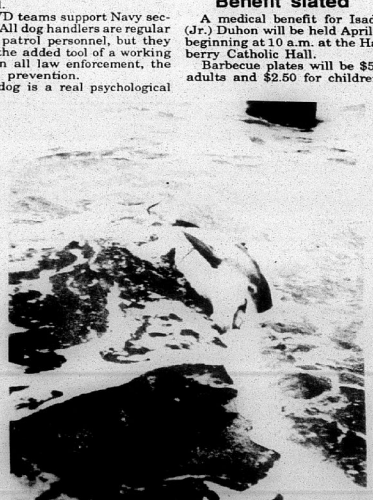
The individuals in each MWD team are truly partners, forming a strong relationship that often lasts years in the service. The handler counts on his or her dog for protection and high performance in law enforcement. The dog counts on the handler for his daily needs, including food, health care, training and maintenance of the dog's individual service record.

"I'm proud whenever we bust the bad guys, keeping drugs out of the service," says the 1985 graduate of Johnson's Bayou High School.

MWD teams support Navy security. All dog handlers are regular shore patrol personnel, but they have the added tool of a working dog. In all law enforcement, the key is prevention.

"A dog is a real psychological deterrent to crime," says Petty Oficer First Class Carol Johnson, the senior handler in charge of the kennel at Miramar Naval Air Station.

"They have large teeth and can run faster than you can. So, when a dog is present, a person's resistance to direction goes down. When people know the dogs are around, crime and contraband on our military installations goes down. People know the odds of getting caught increase."



Military working dogs, usually German Shepherds or Belgian Malinois, can be trained in a variety of disciplines such as bomb or drug detection, patrol, or suspect search and apprehension.

To keep their skills sharp, MWD teams work out on a confidence course of obstalces that simulate challenges a dog might face on the job like small spaces and pipes, windows and great heights.

Benefit slated

A medical benefit for Isadore (Jr.) Duhon will be held April 26, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Hackberry Catholic Hall.

Parent course to be offered at H'berry

A five-week course called "Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" will be offered at Hackberry High School beginning Thursday, April 23. The program is sponsored by the Cameron Parish School Board Drug Free Schools Program and the Parent-Teacher Association at Hackberry High School.

The program is for parents of children in grades 4-7 and teaches parents to identify the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and to practice skills which will "promote family bonding and reduce those risks."

Surveys conducted for the National Institute of Drug Abuse show that most teenagers today will use alcohol or marijuana before leaving high school. Nearly one in twenty high school seniors uses alcohol on a daily basis. In 1988, eighteen percent of high school seniors in the U.S. had used marijuana in the past month.

The program is based on research which has identified the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and the protective factors which can help teenagers develop into healthy adults.

"Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" teaches parents to reduce risk factors which may often be present during the late elementary and middle school grades. The risk factors addressed in this program are positive parental attitudes toward drug use, family management problems, low degree of social bonding, friends who use drugs and early first use of drugs.

Workshops will be held at Hackberry High School each Thursday from 6-8:30 p.m. on April 23, April 30, May 7, May 14 and May 21.

There will be no cost to parents attending the workshop, however, there are a limited number of spaces available. Free childcare will be available. For more information on childcare call Mrs. Pam LaFleur, Principal at Hackberry High School, 762-3305. A family workbook will also be provided.

For additional information on the workshop and to reserve your space, call any of the persons listed below:

A visit to Washington

Yesterday was a fun day. Figuratively, it was a walk through a bit of Louisiana history. I'll tell you why.

Blanche and Jeanie from Lake Arthur with Emily from Jennings met Sue and me in Lafayette. The five of us in one car drove to the historic little town of Washington, third oldest settlement in Louisiana, having been founded in 1720.

As we drove through the town, we were fascinated by the diversity of architecture reflecting the various cultures of early settlers. We were later told that back in the 1800's a popular book containing illustrations and blue prints for houses could be purchased. It was used by many early settlers in Washington; hence the various styles found in such a small town.

We visited the city museum; then a huge flea market, filled to overflowing with antiques and collectibles -- some very rare and expensive; others of moderate cost.

Our next stop was at an antebellum tour home, whose motto is "Share a Dream; Create a Memory." This fascinating home, De La Morandiere, swept us back to the days of the famous steamboats, to an era when cotton was king. It was built in 1830 of native Louisiana cypress with spacious entry halls and wide verandas that ran the full length of the house on both the lower and upper floors. The furnishings reflect that early period.

The secluded grounds, shaded by ancient trees, overlooks Bayou Courtableau and the historic Steamboat Warehouse Restaurant. The house itself was built by Etienne Robet De La Morandiere, a descendant of one of the first settlers of Poste des Opelousas. Many others over the years have owned it. It is now in the possession of Steve Johnson, a native of Oregon, and his petite wife, a native of California.

Of special interest to me was a bit of information given by Mr. Johnson. At one time -- 1892 to 1895 -- in an upstairs bedroom a lady, Bessie Callahan, journalist, had a printing press installed and published a newspaper, "The Washington Enterprise."

Having eaten lunch in an overcrowded restaurant, we drove to the Chretien Point Plantation near the town of Sunset. The manor house there is Louisiana's oldest original Greek Revival building. The walls were of hand-made red clay bricks painted white. It was set in a cotton plantation of 10,000 acres, and was built by Hippolyte Chretien in 1831. Two pieces of original furniture are in the house. All the rest is of that period.

Stories tell of the friendship that developed between Hippolyte and Jean and Pierre Lafitte, who used Chretien Point to conceal and move some of their smuggled cargo.

In 1812 Hippolyte and several of his neighbors fought in the Battle of New Orleans.

During the Civil War a battle called Buzzard Prairie was fought in the vicinity. Part of it was on the plantation itself under Gen. Nathaniel Banks of the Union Army and Gen. Alfred Mouton of the Confederate. The manor house itself was being shelled. Hippolyte III, grandson of the founder, bedridden, unable to walk, had his servants carry him out on the veranda. A Mason himself, he gave the distress signal of his order. It was honored by Gen. Banks, a Mason himself. The general ordered his men to withdraw and continue the battle in the opposite direction.

After the war things went from bad to worse. The property was finally lost to the mortgage holders.

At one time cattle, pigs, horses roamed through the lower story of the abandoned building. All other buildings on the plantation had been destroyed during the war.

Today the manor on the banks of Bayou Bourbeau has been restored by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Corney of Lafayette.

During Hollywood's filming of "Gone With the Wind" the beautiful stairway and entrance door were reproduced for Tara.

Standing on the upper veranda, we gazed into the western sky; we checked our watches, and realized that it was time to leave this period of magnificence and intrigue, of glamour and hardship and return to our homes and the fast-moving 1999's.

DAVIS CARRIES PARISH 11 - 1

In a surprisingly large turnout for a general election, Cameron parish voters Tuesday once again affirmed their liking for Jimmie H. Davis as governor by giving him almost a 11-1 margin over Republican candidate Francis Grevemberg.

The vote was 1164 for Davis and 109 for Grevemberg.

Some 1154 persons voted in the general election, or a little less than half of the 2538 who voted in the Democratic second primary in January.

The Democrats led in every race, with the Republicans and State's Righters bringing up very weak second and third places.

For attorney general: Gremillion 1133, Stracener 56.

For comptroller: Theriot 1130, Clark 57.

PAR official says La. not keeping pace

Although Louisiana is one of the wealthiest states in the nation in natural resources, its economy is not keeping pace with the rest of the nation.

That was the startling fact brought out by Edward J. Steimel, executive director of the Public Affairs Research Council, at the Cameron Lions Club ladies night banquet Monday at Fred's.

The speaker blamed the state govermnet for holding back the state's growth. He emphasized that he was not talking about the present administration or legislature--but the system as a whole which has developed over a period of many years.
