IN ADDITION TO outlining the resources of the parish, the development board makes a number of recommendations for the improvement of the parish.

These include the following:

* That the Mermentau River be deepened to 12-15 feet into the Gulf.

* That the parish plan for dock and harbor terminal services.

* That extended research work be done on increasing the muskrat population and controling the nutria population.

* That research be carried out to find some way of controling the horse fly and mosquito, which plague the cattle industry.

* That the citrus industry and truck farming be promoted in the parish.

* That a local savings and loan association be established in Cameron Parish.

* That a bridge be constructed across the Lake Charles ship channel at Cameron.

Postal schedule studied by Lions

The Cameron Lions Club has invited a representative of the U. S. postal department to meet with the club at its noon luncheon next Wednesday to discuss the new mail schedule that went into effect recently.

The club had previously requested that a post office department to keep the Cameron schedule as before, since it was understood that the new schedule would mean a later mail delivery in Cameron.

James Derouen, manager of the Calcasieu Marine Bank here, and Tom Steed, local shrimp dealer, who had voiced opposition to the new schedule said they had been contacted by postal authorities and were now relatively satisfied with the new schedule.

They said that the mail was only about 30 minutes later than before.

However, Mr. Derouen suggested that Cameron could get its mail even earlier if the it out of Lake Charles were to come to Cameron first before going to Grand Chenier. He said that since the bulk of the mail came to Cameron, this would mean earlier mail service for more people.

Dr. Cecil Clark, president; Harold Cooling, Ray Champagne and J. Berton Daigle, vice-presidents; James Derouen, tail twister; Rodney Guilbeau, Lion tamer; and Ray Dimas, secretary-treasurer.

Nominated for two-year board of directors, three to be elected, were: Larry Dyson, Alvin Dyson, Joe Rutherford, Wakefield Erbelding, Hirick Hebert, Eraste Henry, Walter Stanley and Jerry Wise.

In reply to a letter written about the drainage problem in the town of Cameron, the police jury referred the club to the Drainage District No. 3 board composed of James S. Henry, president; J. A. Davis, Gabriel Richwd, Rupert M. Doxey and Valin J. Theriot.

Deepening of ship channel approved by US engineers

Of vital importance to Cameron parish was the announcement last week that the deepening of the Lake Charles ship channel from 35 to 40 feet has been recommended by the district engineer of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Bills have already been introduced in Congress to appropriate funds in this session to finance the project, estimated to cost $16,992,000.

The ship channel, which splits Cameron parish in two, does not serve the parish directly, but has in recent years given local leaders numberous headaches.

One of these has to do with the erosion of the channel's banks in the Hackberry area. When the original channel was built, Cameron parish agreed "to hold the federal government free of all damages" caused by the channel. In the last year or so, this has resulted in several damage suits being filed against the parish for erosion damage--one of which the parish has lost in court.

Another problem has been the silting up of Big Lake with the spoils dredged from the ship channel in order to maintain its depth, State Rep. Alvin Dyson is planning to introduce a bill in the May session of the state legislature to appropriate money to build a dike to keep these spoils out of the lake.

* *

ANNOUNCEMENT that engineers are recommending the channel deepening was made Saturday by Maj. Gen. W. A. Carter of Vicksburg, division engineer for the Mississippi Valley Region.

The recommendation will be considered by the board of engineers for the Rivers and Harbors Dist. in Washington on May 9.

A request for a 40-foot channel was made in 1955 and hearings were subsequently held. On April 7, 1959, the district engineer recommended continuance of the present 35-feet-deep by 250-feet wide channel from Cameron to the Port of Lake Charles and extension of the channel up the Calcasieu River to U.S. Highway 90 bridge just west of the city.

Denial of the 40-foot channel was based on the opinion that its deepening was not economically justified.

Since then, members of the Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal Dist. and area industries have repeated the request and a local delegation appeared before the engineers last July.

They asserted that the ortginal findings of the district engineer were based on 1955 volume of traffic and that traffic had greatly increased in the past five years.

Briefs stating that the channel is too shallow for supertankers to take on full loads were also entered by several industries of the area.

* *

THE PROJECT was resubmitted to the district engineer and the new study has been followed by the recommendation for a 40-foot channel from the Lake Charles Port to Cameron, some 34 miles, and an increase in the channel width from 250 to 400 feet, except for a three mile area in the Hackberry oil fields vicinity where a 230-foot width would be maintained.

The new report recommends federal maintenance of a 12-by-200-foot channel on the old Calcasieu River that passes by Cameron, which recommendation was also included in the original report.

In this recommendation for the deeper and wider channel, the district engineer recommended local cooperation in providing without cost to the federal government all lands, rights-of-way and spoil disposal areas necessary for construction of the project, to hold the federal government free of all damages to oyster beds, salt water intrusion and bank erosion and to accomplish without expense to the federal government such alterations that might be required on pipelines, oil wells, cables, wharves and other facilities that might have to be relocated to provide for deepening and widening the channel.

Better I should go out and eat a few worms! It happened again! Harvey Lee Spruill killed himself a big gobbler just after I gave up the battle and came home.

We hunted together the first four days of the seven day season in Madison and Tensas, and got nary a shot. Then he went back on the final day and did the dirty deed.

Not that it was unexpected, because I had predicted as much. But it did not have to be such a tremendous gobbler- just a shade under 22 pounds; and he didn't have to kill him in the EXACT location where we had hunted.

Wild Life Commission statistics reveal what most turkey hunters already knew, that this season wasn't as good as last year's. The state total thus far is 129 gobblers killed, broken down geographically as follows: Morehouse 7; Madison 15; Tensas 10; East Feliciana 35; St. Helena 32; and Livingston 17. A late spring reduced the gobbler activity, saving most of them for next year.

A Commission release has confirmed what was already common knowledge--that Urania Lumber Compnay has chosen not to renew the Commission lease on the Grant-Rapides game management area.

A squirrel reseach program had been carried out on the area for the past three years, but was still two years short of completion. While the loss of Grant-Rapides, where a fine deer herd has been established during the ten years of the lease, is regretable, it is another example of the short-sighted policies that have characterized many phases of our wildlife department's operation.

HIGHWAY PROGRESS REPORTED

Two more steps toward better highways in Cameron Parish were announced this week by State Rep. Alvin Dyson. One was the opening of bids on a road project at Klondike; the other, the securing the rights-of-way for the Big Lake road.

Hall-Holland of Montgomery was the low bidder on 6.5 miles of blacktopping in the Klondike area. To be surfaced with state and parish funds are roads running south and west from the old Klondike school.

Mr. Dyson also reports a successful meeting with Grand Lake property owners Wednesday at which some 40 rights-of-way were secured for the blacktopping of the Big Lake road.

The representative said it was hoped that the additional rights-of-way can be secured in time that the project can be put up for bids next month.

To be blacktopped is 7.5 miles of road running from the Sweetlake ferry, through Grand Lake up to Black Bayou, where it would connect with the present hardsurfaced Prien Lake road out of Lake Charles.

This road is to be surfaced with state and federal funds. Mr. Dyson said that officials had been working on this project since 1958.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON --A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help crack world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorics.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Fishing licenses to be sold in L. Char.

In an effort to better serve the fishing public, the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries will accept license applications at the Lake Charles offices.

In addition, licenses will be accepted by mail at the New Orleans and Baton Rouge Offices.

The Lake Charles Office will accept applications on Thursdays on these dates: April 9, April 16, April 23, April 30, May 7 and May 14.

The Lake Charles Office is at 1213 N. Lakeshore Drive and is open for license applications from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

All commercial and recreational gear licenses can be applied for at these times. Applications for motorboat registration will also be accepted for those needing vessel licenses. Payment should be made by money order, cashier's check, personal check or business check only.

With concurrence from the department's Enforcement Division, receipts will be issued in lieu of the actual licenses applied for and validated to expire 30 days from issuance, which should allow ample time for licenses to be received by mail.

The department strongly encourages the use of mail applications to secure all commercial and recreational licenses, including gear licenses and boat registrations and/or licenses. Applications received by mail are processed in less than two weeks and avoid necessity of temporary receipts, long lines and other inconveniences.

ALL AROUND THE PARISH

Several new homes are being built in Hackberry among them are Russell Vincent's, Bud Duhon's and Donald Broussard's.

Officially summer or not, the crowd on Holly Beach this weekend asserted the fact that each year the season opens a little earlier. People were picnicing, swimming, boating and shrimping on the beach. The canals were lined with crabbers.

Construction is underway for the pier at Peveto Beach. This is a much anticipated project. Inquiries are received from far and near as to when the pier will be erected.

The Welch-Meaux families of Oak Grove had a cattle working last week at the James Meaux home. Over for the event were Bootie Meaux, Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Mury Johnson and son Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Boy Stewart and baby, and James Cox.

Lowery--Spring has firmly established her abode in the northeastern part of Cameron Parish. Her presence has manifested itself in countless ways: cloverblossoms in tender green grass; blackberry and dewberry vines scrambling over levees and along fence rows, ecstatically blooming in wild abandon; peach trees in delicate pink finery nodding to pears and plums in ethereal white; an occasional orange or lemon or grapefruit tree permitting the soft April air to scatter its fragrance over the countryside; freshly plowed rice fields, smoothly leveled and neatly diked, some already flooded; kite-flying of March giving way to marble games, played by small boys with grabby brown fingers. (Bernice Stewart).

Grand Lake: An Easter egg hunt was held at the home of Miss Daisy Askew Sunday afternoon. About 15 enjoyed the hunt and refreshments. Wayne Kelly Devall won the prize egg.

HEARTBEAT

When should I have my first heart checkup?

By PETER M. ABEL, M.D.

I'm asked this fairly often in social situations, usually by men who have recently turned 40. They already suspect that the answer is "just about now" – and they're right.

For some, it should be even earlier. A man with a family history of early onset heart disease should start having an annual heart exam at about age 35. So should anyone with two or more of the other heart disease factors – smoking, obesity, high blood pressure, high cholesterol levels, diabetes or an exercise-poor lifestyle.

Obviously, anyone who has experienced any symptoms suggestive of heart disease should be checked immediately. Those symptoms include a pressing type of chest discomfort during physical exertion, heart palpitations, faintness or weakness.

Women are far less likely than men to develop heart disease prior to their mid-50's. But after menopause, their heart risk increases – especially if they have one or more of the previously noted coronary risk factors working against them.

With women, as with men, any symptoms of coronary disease should be checked out immediately. Otherwise, I would generally recommend that a woman have her first heart checkup no later than age 50 or at the onset of menopause.

What should that first checkup include? A complete medical history to begin with. Then a general physical examination, including heart rate, blood pressure; a blood test, including a cholesterol level check, and an electrocardiogram (EKG). If the EKG results suggest a possible problem, your doctor may also have you undergo a stress test to see how your heart behaves during exercise.

Assuming you have no troubling symptoms, you should repeat the physical and EKG annually.

Why bother with annual checkups if you have no symptoms? Well, think of heart disease as a rattlesnake: what makes it deadly is that sometimes it doesn't give you a fair warning that it's about to strike.

BASS TOURNAMENT

A front had been moving through our area for two days, and the Saturday night we had a good 50 to 60 miles per hour wind, with 2¼ inches of rain.

Sunday morning found most of the fishermen ready to go, but heavy cloudy skies with raining light patches was the start. During the mroning, it got a little worse and heavy rain around 11 a.m. lasted for about 30 minutes, with quite a bit of lightning and loud thunder. This made some take refuge, while others had to just fight it out.

Around 1 p.m. the sun broke through and a beautiful afternoon was in store.

Largest Stringer (5 bass): Loston McEvers, 12-15; Johny McDaniels, 8-12; Francis Basco, 8-10; Tom Hess, 8-8; Phillip Trosclair, 8-5; J. C. Boudreaux, 8-2; Gerald Richard, 7-8; Mike JOhnson, 7-6; Vince Theriot, 7-3; Rudy McEvers, 6-14; Bobby Pinch, 6-12; Ernest Richard, 6-8; Carl Broussard, 6-5; Pat Landry, 6-2 (4 fish); Ronald Vincent, 3-0 (2 fish).

Ray Theriot, Kevin Landry and Darren Thibodeaux fished, but didn't weigh in.

Largest Bass: Loston McEvers, 4-10; Johnny McDaniels, 3-10; Fredman Theriot, 3-7; Ricky Canik, 3-5; Jerry Caniik, 3-2; Francis Basco, 2-8; Mike Johnson, 2-7; Pat Landry, 2-7; Tom Hess, 2-2; Gerald Richard, 2-2; J. C. Boudreaux, 2-0; Phillip Trosclair, 1-13; Rudy McEvers, 1-13; Bobby Pinch, 1-13; Ernest Richard, 1-9; Vince Theriot, 1-8; Ronald Vincent, 1-7; Carl Broussard, 1-4.

Largest Team Stringer: Loston McEvers, Mike Johnson, 20-5; Fredman Theriot, Tom Hess, 18-2; Vince Theriot, Ricky Canik, 18-0; Gerald Richard, Phillip Trosclair, 15-13; Bobby Pinch, Jerry Canik, 15-8; Ernest Richard, Francis Basco, 15-2; Carl Broussard, J. C. Boudreaux, 14-7; Rudy McEvers, Darren Thibodeaux, 6-14; Pat Landry, Kevin Landry, 6-2; Ronald Vincent, Ray Theriot, 3-0.

This year the Lemesche Bass Club, working along with the Knights of Columbus Council 3014 of Creole, has formed a youth Lemesche Bass Club.

Scottie Trosclair is the president and they fish under the same rules as the regular club.

The had ten fishermen with 5 weighing in:

Largest Stringer: Scottie Trasclair, 7-10; Todd Conner, 7-8; Anthony Swire, 6-14; Shawn Bonsall, 2-12; Brandon Hess, 1-13.

Team Stringers: Scotie Trosclair, Todd Conner, 15-2; Brandon Hess, Anthony Swire, 6-11; James Bonsall, Shawn Bonsall, 2-12.

Brandon Hess was the King of the Choupiqaue with a 3 lb. 5 oz. Cajun trout.

I'm wondering if maybe this is a coincidence - Tom Hess, father, Brandon Hess, son, Cajun trout winners. All I can say Tom, you taught Brandon everything you know.

The next club and youth club tournament wil lbe held Sunday, April 12, with drawing of partners at the regular meeting.

FISHING BOAT STORY

A couple of Saturdays ago, when we had the heavy blow and bad weather, something happened to me. Now I think it was funny, but at the moment it wasn't.

I had my boat under my carport and got up at 4:30 a.m. Sunday morning and put the den light on and the outside porch light on. I looked out the door to see if it was raining and to let my fishing partner, Mike Johnson, know I was up and had coffee ready. I put myhead back in the door and turned to check the coffee, and realized something was missing. I went out to the carport again, and decided someone had stolen my boat, motor, trailer, tacke box, rods, reels and all my fishing gear. As I stood outside in the carport, still in my underwear, I noticed some object was up in my front yard.

As I approached I realized it was my complete boat rig, about 75 feet out the carport, blown out there by the strong winds that night. It sure could have passed for a great April fool's joke, but it was only March 29.

Snappering is reopened

The commercial fishery for red snapper in federal waters of the Gulf of Mexico will reopen under a 1,000-pound vessel trip limit from April 3 through May 14, 1992, announced Dr. Andrew J. Kemmerer, Director, Southeast Region, National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS).

Preliminary redsnapper landings indicated that the 1992 commercial quota was taken, and the fishery was closed at noon, Feb. 22, 1992. This emergency reopening of the red snapper fishery, requested by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, will alleviate economic and social disruption of the commercial red snapper industry resulting from the closure.

The Council and NMFS will request the Gulf states to adopt compatible regulations in state waters. Under the emergency action, vessels with valid federal reef fish permits may harvest and possess up to 1,000 pounds of legal-sized red snapper per trip; red snapper may not be transferred at sea.

Vessels with commercial catches of red snapper aboard must be docked prior to midnight May 14, 1992.

The Council will review a report of the Stock Assessment Panel on the potential impacts of the reopening and may request termination of the emergency rule before May 14. The commercial fishery is scheduled to reopen Jan. 1, 1993.

Cameron -- The Outdoors Parish

School Board ap[illegible] TVs for So. Cam[illegible]

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish School Board Monday approved the installation of Whittle Communications' Channel I Network at South Cameron high school at no cost to the board.

Under the program the school will receive 19 television sets to be used in classrooms and will receive a special current events each day by satellite to show to students.

Board Member Bill Morris said there had been some criticism of the program at the recent national school board convention because the program also has some commercials interspersed with the news and features.

However, board members decided that the benefits received by the students more than made up for this and voted to approve the program.

In another matter concerning new technology, Supervisor Adam Conner reported on a recent trip that he and several school board staff members made to Ulysses, Kansas as guests of the Telephone Co. to see a new fiber optic technology system.

He said the system allows instructors to teach students at as many as four different schools miles apart using fiber optic cable. He said the local telephone company is planning to build a fiber optic system in the parish and could make a similar system available to the school board.

The board approved the 1992-93 school calendar which had been introduced last month including a new Martin Luther King birthday holiday and a national election day holiday. Parish teachers had the opportunity to vote on the holiday schedule and 92 percent approved the board's proposals.

The board unanimously adopted a resolution opposing collective bargaining by teachers, an issue that is being pushed by some teachers groups.

It was announced that the board will hold a special meeting on April 29 to discuss its budget.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the school board to [illegible] with the state in opposing a suit to change the way state funds are distributed to school districts. Supt. Thomas McCall said if the suit was successful, it could mean Cameron parish losing some of its state funding.

The board authorized the advertising for bids on new computer programs to be used in teaching math and language arts in parish schools.

The board authorized Supt. McCall to attend a two day investment seminar in St. Louis in behalf of the Teacher Retirement System at no cost to the board. McCall is state chairman of the system's investment committee.

A new adult education program at several parish high schools was approved. This will permit certain students who are at r i s k of not graduating to obtain a G.E.D. certificate.

Open house

The Cal-Cam Chapter of the American Red Cross is celebrating its 75th anniversary by having an open house on Thursday, April 16 between 4 and 6:30 p.m. at the Red Cross Office at 528 Kirby St., Lake Charles.

Mineral sales set for May 13

The Cameron Pilot is printing elsewhere in this issue an advertisement for the State Land Office on one of the largest offshore mineral sales ever held in this area. Seventy one oil and gas leases are listed for the East and West Cameron Offshore Areas plus one onshore lease in Cameron parish.

The sale of the leases will be held on May 13 in Baton Rouge.

In the past most offshore lease sales for this area have only been about a dozen at one time.

If the sale is successful and drilling should be done on these tracts it is expected that it will give a big boost to the oil and gas service industry here.

Driver's action prevents accident

Some quick thinking on the part of a Hackberry high school bus drivers probably prevented a collision that could have resulted in injuries or death to the children on her bus.

Dorothy LaBove had brought her bus to a stop on Pete Seay Circle before pulling out on Hwy. 27 when a long livestock trailer came loose from the truck that was pulling it. Mrs. LaBove said she saw the trailer heading straight for her bus and was able to put her bus into reverse and get out of the way just in time. The trailer continued on into a ditch.

Mrs. LaBove said he had just recently attended a two-day in service for parish bus drivers at which a state trooper add urged drivers to always take a second look before pulling out into a busy highway. She said she had done just that and the second look caught the trailer coming toward the bus.

There were about ten children on the bus. None were injured.

Mrs. LaBove has been driving for the Cameron Parish school board for two years fulltime and three years parttime.

Taxes approved here

Cameron Parish voters Saturday approved three 10-year millage maintenance taxes.

The vote in waterworks District 1 was 74 for (99 percent) and 1 against a 3.65-mill property tax. The district is located in unincorporated Cameron.

The vote in Waterworks District No.11 was 112 for (97 percent) and 4 against (3 percent) a 5.35-mill property tax.

The vote in Fire Protection District No. 14 was 110 for (96 percent) and 5 against (4 percent) a 5.35-mill property tax.

The last two are both in the Grand Lake/Sweetlake area.

Dead whale lands twice in Cameron

A fifty foot whale that beached itself and died a week ago at Lake Pelto has washed ashore again at Rockefeller Refuge in Cameron Parish. Wildlife and Fisheries biologists identified the carcass last week.

The whale was towed offshore after its death, but currents in the Gulf of Mexico carried it westward and north.

"Actually, this series of events works to our advantage," said Johnnie Tarver, chief of the Habitat Conservation Division. "We had to remove the carcass from Isles Derneires, which robbed us of the chance to allow it to decompose naturally and then collect the skeleton. Now nature has beached it at Rockefeller Refuge, where we can still claim the skeletal remains."

Officers at the department's sprawling coastal refuge will maintain a watch on the carcass to prevent curious visitors from disturbing the remains.

Happy Easter

Civil War is shared through Read's diary

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A Maine resident was in Cameron recently tracing his family roots and was able to traverse approximately the same ground on which his great-grandfather was captured almost 128 years ago in the Civil War.

Francis A. Harding, Jr., of Newport, Maine brought a copy of his ancestor's Civil War diary that he kept during his captivity.

The Battle of Calcasieu Pass took place in the early morning of May 6, 1864 at the mouth of the Calcasieu River at Cameron and was said to be one of the turning points of the Civil War.

Two Union gunboats, the USS Wave, Lt. Benjamin Loring commanding and the USS Granite City, Lt. Charles W. Lamson, commanding received orders on April 15, 1863 to proceed to Calcasieu Pass to buy 250 head of cattle and 200 horses from jayhawkers who had stolen the livestock from area farms.

The Wave arrived on April 24, with the gold for the purchase bombarding an abandoned Confederate fort on the way, and anchoring two miles upstream. Its armament included four 24-pounders, a 32 pound rifle, and a 20-pound Parrott rifle.

The Granite City, with a main battery of six 24-pounders and one 12-pound rifle, arrived two days later and anchored about 300 yards from the Wave, around a bend in the river. A detachment of Union Second New Orleans infantry came with the gunboats.

The arrival of the gunboats got the immediate attention of the Confederates. Col. W. H. Griffin, at Fort Manhassett at Sabine Pass, Tex., received word of the landings and his first thought was that an invasion had begun.

He immediately wired General J. B. McGruder's Houston headquarters for instructions and was told "Attack the small force at Calcasieu Pass at once and disperse, defeat or capture the expedition."

Major Felix McReynolds, Commandant of Fort Manhassett, led its two companies, one from Griffin's battalion and one from Creuzbauer's Battery of Texas Artillery and other units from the fort and Niblett's Bluff and proceeded to Calcasieu Pass during the night to avoid detection, with about 300 men.

Although all were Texas units, many soldiers in the ranks were residents of Southwest Louisiana.

BATTLE BEGINS

Using the element of surprise in the early morning hours, the Confederates drove off the jayhawker pickets who were standing guard for the two gunboats.

The southern artillery then commenced a barrage while the sharpshooting infantrymen picked off the Union infantry and bluejackets as they attempted to man their guns.

As the early morning mists rose from the low-lying marshes in which the Confederates had stationed themselves, they aimed their four small cannons at the Union gunboats and fired.

Maj. Felix McReynolds and his infantrymen charged to take positions near the river bank. Their hail of bullets greeted the enemy soldiers as they rushed to their decks manning their weapons and returning the fire.

The first shells from the Union 24 and 32-pounder guns felled two Confederate gunners on one field piece. A third gun was quickly demolished, four men were wounded, two mortally, and the horses were dead at the fourth gun.

The infantry alone saved the day. They, on the open prairie unprotected unless they lay upon the salt grass, continued to load their muskets and fire upon the ships.

Capt. Joseph Brinkhouse of Creuzbauer's battery wrote in his memoirs "The names of Capt. Charles Wellhausen and Maj. Felix C. McReynolds and their men deserve to be written in letters of gold and placed high upon the monument of fame erected to the memory of Southern heros."

It was a short but apparently spirited fight, and after 2½ hours the two gunboats had been knocked out by the crossfire of the Confederate artillery and muskets.

22 MEN KILLED

Twenty-two Union and Confederate soldiers were killed. Many were buried in simple graves marked with white picket crosses on what is now called "Monkey Island."

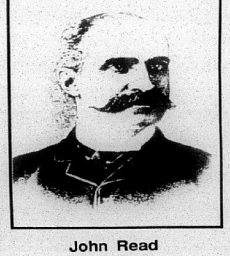
The bodies of other Confederates killed were sent to their homes for burial.

Lt. Loring reported 24 wounded on both ships, four of whom later died. Col. Griffin reported that five weighted-down bodies wearing bluejackets were found after floating up on the beach on May 11.

Their identities were never determined but it was speculated they were killed during battle and their bodies thrown overboard.

Following the battle 111 Union survivors, including John Read, were sent overland by foot and wagon to the prison stockade at Camp Grace, near Hempstead, Tex.

Evidently their route to Texas took them down the beach past what is now Holly, Constance, Martin, and other beaches and through Johnson Bayou to Sabine Pass, Tex.



This is due to the fact Read kept a daily diary of his adventures all during the war and mentioned that he spent the first night at the Griffith house, which at that time was located near the beach overlooking the Gulf, at approximately where a gas plant now stands.

The prisoners were imprisoned under the most primitive conditions at the prison stockade at Camp Grace, near Hempstead. In fact, the conditions were so bad that only 32 men were alive to come home 7½ months later.

Some prisoners were parolled during the period and others were imprisoned later and the exact number who died in prison will probably never be known.

32 SURVIVORS

The 32 who survived underwent greater suffering that in any other prison camp on either side during the war, even more than at Andersonville or Belle Island.

John Read

Some authorities have said that no where was there a greater unit percentage of loss in any other prison or battle of the war. Apparently the 32 survivors were simply given paroles and transportation to Union forces at Galveston because they were sick, wasted and near death.

According to some sources, the Confederate guards were scarcely little better off than the prisoners.

This act of mercy, the release of the Union prisoners by the Confederates, probably saved their lives.

DIARY

The wartime diary of John Read gave a vivid description of the hardships the prisoners endured and even the inflated prices they

He stated that his ancestor went on to become a prosperous businessman and a highly respected member of the Legislature and Senate of the state of Massachusetts.

He was also a Harvard graduate and played a great part, not only in his state but in National politics.

Fishing is good in area

FISHING GOOD

Fishing in our area is really good. Freshwater fishing has really been hot. White perch and bream are hitting good in the deep canals of the Big Burns. Bass are still bedding and spawning, but some good bass are showing up in the deep canals and deep trails.

Fishing offshore is also good. When the seas calm down, anglers going out have been doing good, especially on Spanish mackeral. One boat last week had their limits of Spanish mackeral, (three anglers). These were from three pounds up to 8 pounds. Real nice fish.

Talking about offshore, the National Marine Fisheries Service has reopened the Gulf of Mexico to commercial red snapper fishing, however, there is a 1,000 pound per day limit, and fishing will only be until May 14, and the season will close again.

SEVEN ACRE BASS CLUB

The Seven Acre Bass Club held a tournament for its members last week. It was a tough day of fishing with a northeast wind blowing and a high pressure hanging over us. All in all it turned out fair.

The results were like this: Largest stringer - Teddy Gordon, 5 bass, 16-0; Rudy McEvers, 5 bass, 7-0; Larry Guilbeaux, 3 bass, 4-7; Weldon Authement, 1 bass, 3-11; Loston McEvers, 2 bass, 2-0; and Curtis Thibodeaux, 1 bass, 1-2.

Largest Bass - Teddy Gordon, 6-11; Weldon Authement, 3-11; Rudy McEvers, 3-0; Larry Guilbeaux, 1-6; Curtis Thibodeaux, 1-2; Loston McEvers, 1-1.

Teddy Gordon also had a 4-12 along with his 6-11. Each angler could weigh in 5 bass, at least 12 inches long.

The Seven Acre Bass Club will have their next tournament Saturday, April 25. They will meet at Rudy's Fishermen's Stop at 5:30 a.m. and proceed to the Big Burns and weigh-in at Rudy's at 4 p.m.

BIG BASS TALK

All over the United States and here in our own state of Louisiana, we're seeing records broken in large bass being caught. This has really changed in the last four years. It looks like 1989 started a new trend and now we're seeing records not standing as long as they used to.

March, 1992 - Caney Lake, 14-6.
Feb., 1992 - Indian Lake, 14-66.
Feb., 1992 - Toledo Bend, 13-85.
Feb., 1992 - Indian Lake, 13-75.
March, 1990 - Lake D'Arbonne, 13-6
March, 1992 - Caney Lake, 13-26.
Dec., 1989 - False River, 13-1.
Aug, 1991 - Caney Lake, 13-02.
July, 1989 - False River, 12-15.
June, 1991 - Caney Lake, 12-87.
April, 1990 - Lindsey Pond, 12-8.

In California, Bob Crupi, who had caught and released a 22-01 bass, caught an 18-58 in Jan., 1992 in Lake Castair on a live crawfish. He again released the bass. He's determined to break the state of Georgia's world record bass of 22-4.

In our state of Lousiana, in less than two weeks, Louisiana lakes have produced record book bass.

The official state record was set March 8 out of Caney Lake with a 14 lb. 5-7/8 oz., beating a 13-6 caught a year ago on Lake D'Arbonne and then on March 20, we saw the 13-6 fall to third place, when a 13-85 bass was caught on Toledo Bend Reservoir.

The Louisiana Outdoor Writers Association, which certifies state records, only recognizes fish caught in public waters.

The Florida strained bass introduced to our waters a few years ago has really brought some big bass catches to our state.

Boater's & Fishermen's Pledge Program in La.

Louisiana, along with the four other Gulf Coast states, has launched the Louisiana Boater's and Fishermen's Pledge Program.

The program is part of the "Take Pride Gulf Wide" plan which will attempt to tackle the marine debris problem by soliciting voluntary cooperation from boaters and fishermen in the Gulf of Mexico and coastal waters.

Boaters who take the pledge promise to properly dispose of the trash generated aboard their vessels.

All fishermen and boaters who show their support by filling it out and sending it in will receive the following three things:

The following pledge should be filled out and mailed to the La. Department of Wildife and Fisheries, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70898-9000.

BOATER'S & FISHERMEN'S PLEDGE

I pledge

To transport to shore, for proper disposal, all trash generated aboard my boat, especially plastic, glass, metal, and paper;

To make every effort to prevent accidental loss of food and drink containers, fishing gear, and other debris from my boat;

To retrieve, for proper onshore disposal plastic refuse, cans and other man-made debris I find floating in navigable waters; and

To encourage fellow boaters and fishermen to Take Pride Gulf Wide and make my home state, Louisiana, clean and beautiful.

Bob Moss is speaker at Lions Club here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Bob Moss, administrator of the Louisiana Lions Club Crippled Children's Camp at Leesville, was the guest speaker at last week's meeting of the Cameron Lions Club.

He gave a slide presentation on the camp activities and stated that it is free for crippled children who are referred to the camp by Lions Clubs around the state.

Between 4,000 and 6,000 people come through the camp annually.

The Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy camp is also held there and children who suffer from cystic fibrosis, the blind and diabetic are served.

A new part has been added recently called "Camp Wilderness". It is a more rustic part of the camp and was built on newly acquired land by the Lions Clubs.

At the close of the meeting a collection was taken by club members to be used for the camp upkeep.

Resolution requires tolls

(From American Press)

A House Concurrent Resolution filed last week would suspend all laws which authorize or require the collection of tolls on ferries operated by the state.

Rep. Randy Roach, D-Lake Charles, says his HCR 50 seeks to suspend the tolls, at least until the method of collection is improved.

He said the purpose of the tolls is to defray the cost of the ferries, which, on the surface, sounds like a good idea.

"But the reasons we have ferries and other people don't is not because we're the only ones with waterways that need to be crossed," said Roach. "We have ferry tolls because the state hasn't built any bridges."

Roach says if the tolls are going to be collected, then the proper facilities, job classifications and pay scale must be in place.

Abshire benefit to be May 10

On March 1, the Larry Abshire Family of Grand Chenier lost everything they owned when their house burned.

The family does not have the resources to rebuild on their own. Therefore, the Cameron Parish community, under the leadership of Rev. Mark A. Broussard of St. Eugene's Catholic Church, is sponsoring a fund raiser on Mother's Day, Sunday, May 10, in the Grand Chenier Park, 11 a.m. until.

There will be live music, dancing, barbecue chicken, brisket, sausage, rice dressing and beans, fun and games.

Easter Sunrise Service set

The Cameron Parish Ministerial Association invites the public to the annual Easter Sunrise Service at Grand Chenier Park on Easter morning, Aprill 19, at 6:30 a.m.

Rev. Mark Broussard, pastor of St. Eugene Catholic Church in Grand Chenier, will speak. There will be congregational singing and special music.

Refreshments will be served following the service in the Grand Chenier United Methodist Church. The service will be conducted by various pastors of the Ministerial Association.

Zapata-Haynie updates Abbeville plant

A $6.73 million modernization project at Zapata Haynie Corporation's Abbeville fish meal and oil plant was formally dedicated in ceremonies Friday that included United States Senator John B. Breaux.

"The upgrade of our Abbeville facility is a winner three ways," Zapata Haynie President Davis Allen said. "It will reduce costs by operating much more efficiently, it will increase our capacity to produce special quality meals that sell at a premium, and it will enable the plant to conform to new, more stringent state water discharge regulations."

At the heart of the modernization project is the installation of new dryers and evaporators to replace inefficient and obsolete units. The dryers can process 130 tons of menhaden into fish meal every hour. Water from the process is routed to the evaporator where a significant percentage of suspended fish solids are recovered.

Located on the Vermilion River near Intracoastal City, Zapata Haynie's Abbeville Plant employs more than 200 people during the fishing season, which begins April 20, and produces approximately 28,000 tons of menhaden fish meal and 19,000 tons of edible fish oil every year. The plant is supplied with fish by eight Zapata Haynie fishing vessels which are based at the plant and supported by six spotter aircraft.

Zapata Haynie Corporation is the nation's leading producer of products from menhaden, fish popularly known as bunkers, mossbunkers or pogys. Menhaden fish meal is used as a high protein additive in livestock feed, particularly in the poultry industry as well as serving the baby pig, dairy cow and aquaculture markets.

Menhaden fish oil is shipped to Europe where it is used for human consumption in margarine, as a cooking oil and in other products.

A division of Houston-based Zapata Corporation, Zapata Haynie operates a total of five menhaden processing plants including Abbeville. The others are located at Cameron and DuLac, La.; Moss Point, Miss.; and Reedville, Va. Zapata Haynie is headquartered in Hammond, La.

History of the Easter egg

The Easter egg has had a long and intricate history. According to "How Did It Begin" By R. Brasch:

"The Easter egg now caters for the tastes of the young and not so young. Who would think of it as a sacred symbol with a message of deep spirituality and creativity? For that is its real and only purpose and meaning.

"The Easter egg is the emblem of renewed life after death and of resurrection. To all appearances an egg is lifeless matter. And yet out of it can come a new creature. Just as the chick is entombed, as it were, in the egg and brought to life in due course, so out of the grave will rise the dead to a new existence. This is why, from earliest times in all kinds of cultures, the egg assumed cosmic significance and has been a symbol of fertility and immortality."

Research shows that the use of the egg by Christians probably evolved from the many pre-Christian festivities and legends. Since Easter coincided with the pagan spring festivals, the egg was a carry-over for Christian celebrants.

The Hindu legend of the egg is one of the oldest. It was believed that the world created itself from a giant egg. One half of it formed the earth; the other, the sky. Greeks and Romans buried eggs, real or dummy, in their tombs. Today Jews present mourners returning from a funeral with a dish of eggs as a first meal.

From earliest times the egg symbolized the rebirth of nature. In the Northern Hemisphere the revival of nature and Easter coincide so Christians took their ancient sign and applied it to the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. Pope Paul V wrote a special blessing for the eggs used in England, Scotland and Ireland.

In the earliest days of the church eggs were not eaten during Lent; and so this special dish was happily partaken at Easter. In Ireland today the Lenten fast ends at sundown on Easter Sunday with a dish of eggs.

In Italy families take eggs to church at Easter to be blessed by their parish priest. At the Easter feast the next day the hard-cooked eggs are placed on a huge platter in the center of the table. As visitors come, each is given a blessed egg. To refuse this symbol of the Resurrection would be highly offensive.

In Ukraine villages the people use a process called batiking by which they paint exquisite designs to resemble stained glass windows on eggs. On Easter morning the eggs are blessed in a special ceremony before they are eaten.

The Germans are said to have been the first to bring the Easter egg tree to America. Another custom brought over by European immigrants was egg-rolling. In 1910, Dolly Madison originated the Easter Monday egg-rolling on the Capitol grounds. President Rutherford B. Hayes denied the use of the grounds during his administration, and it was moved to the White House lawn.

One legend tells that Simon of Cyrene, who carried Christ's cross, was an egg merchant. Upon his return from Calvary, he found the basket of eggs he had left by the roadside miraculously colored and decorated.

Many and varied are other tales of the Easter egg; yet all proclaim it as an emblem of life and death and resurreciton.

April is Child Search Month in Louisiana

Governor Edwin Edwards has proclaimed April as Child Search Month in Louisiana. This recognition acknowledges the program in each parish school system which attempt to locate and identify individuals from birth through 21 years of age who may require special education services.

The Louisiana Department of Education has established a standard procedure for the identification, screening and evaluation of exceptional children between the ages of birth and 21. Cameron Parish School Board's Child Search Program is part of this statewide effort to provide all children an appropriate education.

The Child Search Program attempts to identify students who may be mentally handicapped, hearing or visually imparied, learning disabled, speech or language impaired, emotionally disturbed, health impaired, or gifted and talented.

A student may be exceptional if he or she does not respond to sounds, appears clumsy, is overaggressive, withdrawn, shows lack of academic achievement, or over-achievement.

Following screening procedures being conducted, parental permission must be obtained, in order for a formal multidisciplinary evaluation to occur. Although only a parent or guardian may give formal written approval for an evaluation, any individual may refer a student.

Cameron Parish's Child Search Program is also concerned about handicapped students who have chosen to discontinue special education services or drop out of school. Special Education services continue to be available through 21 years of age. Should you know of someone who would like to re-enroll in this program, a referral to the Child Search Program would be appropriate.

To refer a child or to request additional information, contact Willyne Kester, Supervisor of Special Education or Rhonda Lewis, Child Search Coordinator at 775-7570 or write to P.O. Box W, Cameron, La. 70631.

Fishing info available here

Several forms and pamphlets of interest to fishermen are available at the Cameron County Agent's Office, according to Kevin Savoie, Assistant Area Agent, Fisheries and Wildlife for Cameron and Calcasieu Parishes.

The U. S. Department of Transportation and the U. S. Coast Guard have put out a pamphlet outlining the Federal Requirements for commercial fishing vessels.

The pamphlet gives overview and reasons for the regulations along with specific requirements and compliance dates.

These forms have an adhesive back which allows them to be permanently displayed near the radio or radio-telephone.

Hospital to be in heart study

South Cameron Memorial Hospital will be joining St. Patrick's Hospital of Lake Charles in the National Heart Attack Risk Study (NHARS). This is a five year study being conducted nationwide to determine the ability of people to choose heathier life styles based on knowing their risk factors combined with education.

St. Patrick's Hospital is this area's lead site and South Cameron Memorial Hospital is the local site for Cameron Parish. Anyone age 18 or older is eligible to be part of the study. You do not have to have a previous history of heart disease. Family members ages 18 or older are encouraged to sign up together.

People signing up for the study will be in the program for five years. Participants will be screened every six months. Screening involves blood cholesterol and glucose tests, bloo sure, weight, and a smoki tory. The participant is counseled based on the nu from the bloodwork, blood pressure, weight and smoking. The entire process takes about 20 or 30 minutes. A four hour fast is required to insure accurate results from the blood tests.

South Cameron Hospital will be screening participants May 7, 1992 at 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. You must make an appointment to participate in the study. The local contact person is Kelly Thomas, Brenda Boudreaux or Ellen Montie, at 542-4111. Anyone 18 or older is invited to be part of the study. The study is free and is being provided as a community service by St. Patrick's Hospital.

District track meets slated

By JOE MUELLER

The 1992 District 6 AA track meet will take place this afternoon, Thursday, April 23, at South Cameron High School in Creole. The field events will get underway at 3:30 p.m. with the running events to follow with a starting time of 5 p.m.

The district really does not have a defending district champion as most of the schools were in another district last year.

The schools in District 6 AA are Iota, Lake Arthur, Notre Dame, St. Louis, South Cameron and Welsh.

The favorite on the boys side will be Welsh. The Greyhounds have a lot of depth if not a lot of individual winners. The Tarpons should be in the running as they performed very well in recent weeks. They seem to be strongest in the field events with James Bonsall's jumping and Carey Sonnier in the weight events. The Tarpons also have scored well in the hurdles with Chris McCall.

The St. Louis Saints have a lot

Bayou Meet Set

The district track meet involving Hackberry, Johnson Bayou and Grand Lake will take place today, Thursday, April 23, at Johnson Bayou.

The field events will get underway at 3:30 with the running events scheduled to start at 5 p.m.

Hyatt and Reeves will also take part in the meet.

The winners of district meet will qualify for the regional meet next week.

Crab traps tagging is mandated

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission recently passed a regulation mandating that each crab trap be tagged with a self-locking, 1/2 inch stainless steel tag containing the commercial fisherman's license number (not the commercial gear license number), or the recreational crab trap gear license number.

The Crab Task Force is developing a list of vendors who have indicated that they will stock stainless steel tags, and a fact sheet which will possibly contain alternate sources of materials for the fishermen who wish to make their own tags.

When the list has been completed, a newsletter will be released announcing the vendor list from the local Extension Service Office.

This rule becomes effective July 1, 1992.

Outstanding students told

Lacassine Refuge expansion sought

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has drafted a proposal to expand Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge in southwestern Louisiana, Cameron Parish, by acquiring up to 16,000 acres of agricultural wetlands and freshwater marshes.

The additional wetland habitat would be protected for wintering waterfowl and would increase the size of the refuge to about 48,625 acres.

The proposed expansion area is adjacent to the refuge's current north boundary in Cameron and Jefferson Davis parishes.

Much of the land in the area is owned by the Lacassine Land company and consists of low-lying marginal farmlands subject to frequent flooding.

The Service has released a draft environmental assessment that considers the biological, environmental and socioeconomic consequences of expanding the refuge.

The assessment also evaluates three alternatives for protecting and managing the land in the proposed area and their potential impacts.

Copies of the environmental assessment are available for public review and comments until April 30.

Requests for copies should be mailed to U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 1240, 75 Spring Street S.W., Room 1240, Atlanta, Ga. 30303.

of tradition going for them as they have in recent years been a perennial power in track in District 5AA. Chad Elder also of the Saints has the best times in the distance events.

The relays should be highly contested with Welsh, St. Louis and South Cameron all running well right now. The top two finishers in each event will qualify for the regonal meet in Welsh a week from Friday, with the regional winners advancing to the state meet in Baton Rouge at L.S.U. on May 9.

On the girls side of the meet, the favorite is probably Lake Arthur with the top competition coming from Iota and South Cameron.

Tournament winners

Area fishing, dodging the thunder storms, has been really good. The winds have been somewhat strong, keeping lots of boats from offshore fishing, but fishing the bays, and bayous has been fair.

Reports of good white perch and bull bream have come out of the Big Burns. While fishing last week I caught 7 nice bull bream on an 8 inch worm while bass fishing. They ran 8¼ to 9¼ inches long and about an inch thick. Real nice fish. I saw a couple of other boats and they also had some nice white perch and bull bream.

The Lemesche Bass Club held their second tournament of the year. Results were good, but a hard, slow day of fishing.

WATER CONVERSION PLANT

Cameron Parish leaders went into high gear this week to try to get a two million dollar experimental plant to turn seawater into fresh water located here.

The U. S. Interior Department announced in Washington late last week that district engineer E. A. Callawallader will be in Grand Isle this coming Sunday and in Cameron on Monday to make a feasibility study of constructing the plant at either place.

Last year, Congress appropriated 10 million dollars for five conversion plans, one on each of the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts and two inland to convert brakish water.

Cameron's consideration as a possible site may be the results of an inquiry made some months ago by a local civic leader E. J. Dronet. At that time he had asked the Interior Department to consider Cameron.

This week government officials advised Dronet of the Cadwallader inspection and asked that someone locally accompany him during the day. Police Juror Conway LeBleu has volunteered to do so. Local civic organizations are contacting Louisiana representatives and senators in Washington seeking support for the Cameron site.

HACKBERRY FIRE TAX PASSES

The Hackberry two-mill fire district tax carried almost unanimously Tuesday. There were 61 votes with an assessment of $70,108 cast in favor of the proposition, and only one vote with an assessment of $4,800 cast against it.

Police Juror Bernard Duhon said there would be a waiting period of 60 days before the district could go ahead with its plans to build a fire station and buy a fire truck.

SPEED ZONES FOR SCHOOLS

Speed zones of 25 miles per hour have been created in front of the South Cameron and Grand Chenier schools, by the state highway department, it has been announced by Sheriff O. B. Carter.

SHRIMP BOATS COMING

Shrimp boats are a-coming . . . any day now. Shrimping in the inland waters opens May 1, and the prospects are mightly good this year, says Shrimp Dealer Bolo Trosclair. In fact, he said the preseason indications have never been better. The blessing of the fleet, which was resumed last year, will be held the third week in August.

CATTLE RUSTLERS

Sheriff O. B. Carter announced this week that he is offering a $500 reward to anyone who can furnish information which would lead to the arrest and conviction of cattle thieves or anyone destroying cattle by shooting, poisoning or other means.

In recent months, there has been a rash of cattle thefts and shooting of cattle, particularly in the Hackberry area. The skining of a newly butchered calf was recently found here.

ALL AROUND THE PARISH

Grand Chenier--The roadsides here are once more decorated with spring flowers. Several different colors of iris can be seen blooming but the blue iris are more plentiful. Motorists drive slower to view the beautiful sight, and many folks stop to gather bouquets or plants.

Sweetlake--Heavy rains this week have slowed the rice farmers down quite a bit. However, the Prechts and Heberts stayed busy moving cattle from one pasture to another and preparing seed rice. Carradine Cox and Billy Helms are among the very few farmers to have planted rice.

New wetland program told

Secretary of Agriculture, Edgar Madigan has announced that the Wetland Reserve program would be piloted in eight states during 1992 and up to 50,000 acres can be enrolled.

Louisiana has been selected as one of the pilot states, and under the program, USDA's Agriculture and Conservation Service will administer the funds to purchase easements from eligible landowners who agree to restore farmed and converted wetlands, with some adjacent lands dependent on wetlands.

Wetlands converted after December 23, 1985 will not be eligible.

The program's long term goal is to enroll 1 million acres by the end of 1995 through the purchase of long term easements.

Eligible landowners will be able to offer their land to be enrolled in the program during a designated sign-up period which will be announced later.

Who should get a pre-exercise physical?

By PETER M. ABEL, M.D.

"See your doctor before beginning any new exercise program." Words to that effect accompany just about every piece of exercise equipment or solicitation for health club membership you encounter. But is seeing your doctor really necessary?

If you're over 40, if you have a family history of early-onset heart disease, or any personal history of cardiovascular problems, the answer is a resounding "yes!" Even far younger adults, especially those who smoke, are considerably overweight, who suffer from diabetes or high blood pressure or have a high cholesterol level or who have not exercised significantly for a long time would be well advised to undergo such a pre-exercise physical.

All these conditions of age, behavior and health increase the risk of coronary artery disease – blockage of the arteries providing oxygen-carrying blood to the heart muscle itself. If you suddenly impose an increased load on the heart by exercise, you could unmask a hidden heart problem.

The basic pre-exercise physical should include a review of your medical history, a blood test and an EKG.

All of these tests can be performed in your doctor's office, and are not costly. If you are over 40, I strongly urge you to add a treadmill stress test to the examination. It lets your doctor examine how your heart performs under increased demand.

But even a good checkup shouldn't be taken as absolute assurance that you are not at some coronary risk. Begin your exercise program at a low level and increase the amount of exertion gradually. The athlete's dictum of "no pain, no gain" is utter nonsense – and doubly so for the unsupervised amateur. Avoid overexertion in our area's high heat and humidity. It's an invitation to heat exhaustion – or worse.

And be on the alert for signs of possible heart problems – chest pains, easy fatiguability, shortness of breath out of proportion to the amount of exertion, dizziness, lightheadedness or heart palpitations.

Junior 4-H leaders help

The last several months have been busy ones for Cameron Parish 4-Hers, leaders, and agents. With record books due and Achievement Day to take place, there was a lot of work to do. Lending a hand to help with some of these duties was the Cameron Parish Jr. Leadership Club.

Before record books were due, Jr. Leaders helped organize and assisted with record book workshops held across the parish. The Jr. Leaders demonstrated and gave advice to younger 4-Hers on the assembly of their record book materials.

Jr. Leaders also helped put on this year's Cameron Parish 4-H Achievement Day by assisting agent Barrett Courville with many duties. Some of these duties were: registration, arranging and tagging exhibits, opening ceremony, presentation of dress review and awards, and clean-up.

Peripheral Vascular Disease *(blockage of blood vessels in the legs) is very common in Southwest Louisiana, but it may not be as serious as it sounds. DO YOU REMEMBER?

Hackberry Beach from air in 1959

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Our school teacher took a vacation of a few days to attend the teachers convention at Baton Rouge returning Monday morning after quite a series of difficulties.

The weather is holding up and the farmers are compelled to quit almost all farming operations and the outlook for the rice farmer is quite a serious one. But on the salt water question, he has more to be anxious on account of the salt from the oil field than from the gulf.

Mr. Edmund Ritchie of Lake Arthur has been traversing this section doing general repair work to clocks, sewing machines, etc.

Mozart Broussard will take parties to the Grand Chenier at regular intervals starting from Morse.

It is reported that the Olive will soon be in commission again. We sincerely hope to see the report verified.

Our teacher reports a fine time at the convention at Baton Roue and in May a county convention will be held at Grand Chenier.

HACKERRY BEACH
(By Jerry Wise)

Probably the most beautiful beach in Cameron Parish is one that very few of the present-day generation has ever seen. It is Hackberry Beach located south at Oak grove. In the old days, this was a big resort area, complete with two hotels, and recreation facilities, and the beach was full of people during the summer.

The storms of 1915 and 1918 destroyed the hotels and camps, and Audrey carried away the last of the wreckage of one of the hotels. Few people set foot on Hackberry Beach nowadays, as the front marsh and the Mermentau River make it inaccessible except by boat or plane.

The sight of the beach from the air brought back fond memories to Joe Doxey, when Doug McFillen flew him and me over the area last week making an inspection of the Pecan Island road. "We had many a good time there when I was a boy," Mr. Joe said with nostalgia in his voice.

Hackberry Beach is owned by the Carter and Rutherford families, both of whom have been approached in recent years by would-be developers with plans for building a road into the beach, motels and recreation facilities. But so far none of these dreams have materialized. One of these days they will and Cameron parish's greatest potential -- its beaches -- will blossom.

Speaking of storms, Mrs. Walter Stanley of Holly Beach says that parish folks still talk about the storms of 1900, 1915 and 1918, and, of course, Audrey in 1957, but that the present generation knows very little about the 1886 hurricane.

This storm, which occurred in October, nearly obliterated Sabine Pass, and there was great loss of life and property on Johnson Bayou. Cut off from the rest of the world by the lack of roads, people sought shelter in the sturdiest homes and prayed for the best.

Following this terrible storm, as in Audrey, much outside relief was received, but many families left the area never to return.

WELL ON FIRE AT KLONDIKE
(By Bernice Stewart)

Flames fed by gas under a 14,000 pound bottom hole pressure continue to roar from the Texas Company's A. W. Zwan well about two miles east of the Klondike School as this account goes to press.

The well was intentionally set afire about 6 p.m Thursday after farm families living near had been alerted or evacuated. Gas had been seeping from the well since the weekend before when trouble at the 13,500 foot level showed up and the casing caved, leaking as from the bottom of the hole.

Drillers reported they first heard rumblings at 13,000 feet and halted operations. When the rumblings stopped, they resumed operations. At the 13,500 foot level the gas started building. Drillers tried to seal the hole with mud, then cement, but pressure was too great.

Later the gas entered water sands at higher levels and started bubbling out of water wells at higher levels.

After several unsuccessful days of attempting to cap the well, the operators were ordered by the state to set fire to the escaping gas.

A team of Myron Kinley fire fighters of Houston, who had been trying to cap the gas, now made five unsuccessful attempts to fire the well with rockets.

Finally, one of the Houston trouble-shooters made a ball of oil-soaked rags and tied them to a four-foot length of wire. Standing upwind from the well and lighting the ball, he swung it around his head like a slingshot and threw it into the well.

The drilling of three or four directional holes to bleed off the escaping gas and to snuff out the fire is in progress.

In the meantime Klondike's wild gasser licks avidly at the still country air with a fiery tongue by day the heat of which has destroyed vegetation within a half-mile radius. As the darkness falls the ramping beast of the day becomes the beauty of the night, transforming the countryside for miles around into a fantastic sort of glowing fairyland.

POGY PLANTS TO OPEN

It's pogy time again!

Cameron's Menhaden fleet began drifting in boat by boat this week, and by Monday the pogy plants are expected to be in operation. Several of the boats were out late this week trying their luck, but the catches were sparse.

Ed Swindell, manager of the Louisiana Menhaden Co., said three of their boats have arrived so far -- The Aggie & Miller, Capt. John and Vasco de Gamma -- and that the Beatrice, Frenchman, Sea Raider and Jack T. Styron will arrive in a few days.

Louisiana's two planes have been out the last few days looking for fish, but few have been spotted so far. Pilots are Bob Schwark, and Jack Frost.

There has been one change in the plant's office staff this year: Mrs. Hubert Smith has replaced Albert Richard as bookkeeper.

Another new development at the plant this year will be the moving of all the fish scraps to the company's new warehouse at Holmwood where they will be ground into meal and shipped out by rail. The Lake Charles office has been moved to Holmwood, and H. L. Dickins is in charge there.

In the past, the scraps have been ground in Cameron. the new setup will facilitate the storing and shipping of the meal, Mr. Swindell stated. A special truck has been ordered by the company to be used in moving the scraps to Holmwood.

This year there will be approximately 45 persons employed in the Cameron plant and eight at Holmwood.

TWISTER AT GRAND LAKE
(By Mrs. C. J. Farque)

A small twister or wind storm passed through Grand Lake last Friday afternoon about 4:30 p.m. causing some damage between the Sweetlake ferry and Hebert's Service Station.

Mac Pearson's summer home was hardest hit, with small sheds being smashed, trees broken, a garage door damaged and three skiffs broken loose. Other houses in the area suffered slight damage.

One resident reports that he saw the twister pick up a boat and sail it through the air.

NEW ENGLAND PLANTERS, 1620-43

Search for the Passengers of the Mary & John, 1630, Volume 16 is a supplement to Volume 14, West Country Planters, 1620-1643 from this series representing intense research for the English ancestries and descendants of passengers of the ship, "Mary & John", which sailed to New England in 1630.

Volume 14 expanded the research to include also planters who had come from the West Country of England (counties of Dorset, Somerset and Devon in addition to Cornwall) during the initial migration period of 1620-1643. Volume 14 contains the names of over 500 families and more than 1,000 people, with brief ancestries as found and references to location of more detailed info.

The newest Volume 16 adds some 200 more families and 500 more names in an alphabetical listing giving varying amounts of info for each. Following are chapters on inter-relations between the planters in England, their geographical origins by county, planters who came after 1643, etc.

This Volume 16 by Burton W. Spear and others is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., spiralbound, $18.75 incl. mailing from: The Mary & John Clearing House, 5602-305th St., Toledo, Ohio 43611. Info on previous volumes in this series, other publications, and overseas tours available also.

EVOLUTION OF VA. COUNTIES

Virginia Counties: Those Resulting from Virginia Legislation by Morgan P. Robinson, traces the evolution of Virginia's counties, critical to genealogical research, beginning with 1607 evidence.

Virginia at present has some 100 counties; at least 172 existed at one time or another in Virginia history. Some became extinct; some merged with other counties; some changed their names; others went into territory forming Kentucky and West Virginia. Dates of these changes are essential in finding records.

The information in this book, originally published in 1916 as a Bulletin of the Virginia State Library and long out of print, is divided into alphabetical, chronological, and geographical sections with a wealth of maps showing settlements and migration routes; charts giving county name, date of formation, land formed from and references to the relevant statues; a "genealogical" chart section for the counties; a chapter on the origin of county names; an extensive bibliography; etc.

Hardcover, 6 x 9 in., 283 pages, indexed, $27.50 incl. mailing from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

ALBRECHT, ETC. FAMILIES

The Albrechts, Wehmans, and Unterzubers from Germany to America and Their Ancestors and Descendants (1667-1989) by Margaret Louise Kirkland is an excellent book on these families tracing from Johann Friedrich Albrecht born 1766 in Germany, married Christiana Sophie Louise Eckardt, had 11 children.

Daughter, Caroline, married Carl Ludwig Wehman and in 1845 they emigrated to Ohio, then W. Virginia. In 1850 two other daughters followed: Johanna who mar. Ernest Schmidt and Caroline who mar. Augustus Unterzuber.

Much narrative accompanies the data, plus letters, remembrances, personalized information and many photos following the families westward to Ohio and beyond. Well done and unusually interesting, this book is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 312 pages, $25.00 incl. mailing from the author, 200 W. 36th St. #17, Shadyside, Ohio 43947.

Eighteen more lines of French-Canadian ancestors — many of whom may have connections to Louisiana's Acadian families — are featured in the newly issued Volume 14 of Thomas J. Laforest's Our French-Canadian Ancestors series.

Chapters on each of these 18 early immigrants, most from the 1600's and many including also backgrounds from France, are presented in very interesting narrative that gives the man's wife and children, whom they married, numbers of their children, where and how the people lived, occupations, land transactions, Baptisms giving sponsors, variant spellings for names, etc. with a great many source references.

FRENCH-CANADIAN ANCESTORS

Featured in this volume are: Jean Barrette, Guillaume Boily, Claude Bourget, Jean Boutet dit Leboeuf, Nicolas-Martin dit Brouard, Louis Cooulombe, Pierre Dancause, Robert Dufour, Rene Emond, Mathurin Gauthier dit Landreville, Jean Gobiel, Louis Guimond, Guillaume Labelle, Louis Lamoureux, Jean Piet dit Trempe, Pierre Robitaille, Rene Simoneau dit Sanschagrin, and Guillaume Thibault.

Beginning with a chapter on "Life of New France 1663-1760, Folklore" and a Table of Names, this volume has many sketches, some coats of arms, an extensive bibliography, and Q thru R names in the continuing "French-Canadian-American Family Name Variations" feature.

Following the format of earlier volumes, No. 14 is softcover, 6 x 9 in., 286 pages, indexed, available from: LISI Press, P.O. Box 1063, Palm Harbor, FL 34682.

SCOTTISH ANCESTRY

Tracing Your Scottish Ancestry by Kathleen B. Cory is currently the best available guide to researching Scottish ancestry, especially at Edinburgh's two principal repositories: the General Register Office at New Register House holding births, marriages and deaths before and after 1855 and 1841-1891 census returns; and the Scottish Record Office having wills, testaments, deeds and church records.

Adding chapters on Other Sources, Names, Heraldry, Clans and Tartans, Searching for Present Day Relations, Questions, and Answers and notes, and Illustrations of forms, charts, etc., this up-to-date and easy to follow guide offers also valuable appendices of Terms, etc. found in Scottish records; a list of important Addresses; another of Parishes, Counties and Commissariots; a Book List of recommended reading; and a collection of Sample Forms.

Concluding with Part II: A Step-by-Step Guide to Show You the Easiest Way to Work Out Your Own Fmily Tree, this practical, common-sense book is just the kind of companion-guide needed for Scottish research.

Softcover, 6 x 9 in., 195 pages, indexed, it is available at $19.45 incl. mailing from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

Environment

What can one person do to keep the world we all live in a little cleaner and safer? Quite a bit, say the experts at the Foodservice & Packaging Institute. They suggest you keep these ten ideas in mind:

1. Recycle everything—aluminum, steel, glass, plastic, newspapers, office paper, cardboard.
2. Don't leave lights and appliances on when not in use.
3. Keep your thermostat at moderate temperatures all year long.
4. Don't use the dishwasher's dry cycle. Let the dishes air dry.
5. Don't wash dishes under running water; only use a dishwasher when it's full.
6. Try to buy recycled products as much as possible.
7. Don't dispose of used motor oil—one quart can contaminate thousands of gallons of water. Recycle it instead at a garage or recycling center.
8. Carpool, walk, ride a bike or use public transportation whenever possible.
9. Use recyclable or compostable foodservice disposables instead of permanentware that must be washed. Disposables cut noise pollution, too.
10. Compost yard, food and paper wastes.

The Grand Chenier folks who are in hospitals in Lake Charles are Lionel Theriot, John Paul Crain and Bud Broussard. They are all doing better.

Mr.and Mrs. Lionel Theriot purchased a blue-gray 1992 Mercury Marquis.

SPRING HERE

Spring time is really here at the Chenier. Many signs of spring are noticed. The warm weather with temperatures in the 80's the first part of this week, also the many varieties of flowers in full bloom in a number of yards. The many types of trees have taken on their new crop of leaves.

The nearing of Easter which is a spring celebration, can also be noticed with the outdoor decorations and also inside. Easter decorations are up and down the Chenier.

The fast growing grass is also keeping folks busy mowing and cleaning their yards.

The cattlemen have begun with their different spring round-ups and moving their cattle to summer ranges.

Mrs. Mabel Miller retired from lunch room service at South Cameron Elementary School Feb. 28. A school get-together was held. She received a gift certificate and the secretary gave her a pillow blanket. Refreshments were served to all.

Cross of New World brought to J. Bayou

The F. J. Pavell Knights of Columbus Council 8323 sponsored a prayer service with the Cross of the New World, also called the Quincentenary Cross on April 11. This Cross is a symbol of the 500th anniversary of the arrival of Christianity in the Americas. It is a replica of the Cross planted in Santa Domingo on the spot where this hemisphere's first cathedral was built. After being planted upon the soil of San Salvador, the first island on which Christopher Columbus and his crew first set foot, the Cross of the New World was carried to the shores of every island and the mainland by Spanish explorers and the missionaries who soon accompanied them.

This particular Cross is going to all church parishes in the Diocese of Lake Charles. It was presented by Pope John Paul II to the bishops for prayer service to celebrate 500 years of evangelization.

On April 11 Rev. Roland Vaughn led the prayer service with the Johnson Bayou - Holly Beach CYO youth group at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Johnson Bayou.

Students may apply to attend Young Scholars

High school students entering the 10th, 11th or 12th grade have until May 1 to apply to attend a Young Scholars program being held at McNeese State University this summer.

According to co-directors, Dr. Jay Uppot, associate professor of civil engineering, and Mary Richardson, coordinator of Research Services, the program is funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation and will focus on coastal erosion and preservation.

Two sessions, offered entirely free of charge, will be held from June 8-26 and from July 13-31. Twenty students will be selected for each session from Gulf Coast states and will live on the university campus.

The selected students will explore coastal erosion first-hand at Holly Beach on the Gulf Coast and will follow up with laboratory and classroom work. They will construct model beach protection devices and test them in a wave tank at McNeese State's College of Engineering and Technology facilities.

The young scholars will take classes in coastal engineering, geometry, surveying, technical writing, career exploration, research methodology, coastal geology, trigonometry, computer graphics, and ethics of engineering.

Student selection will be based on a letter of recommendation from a science or math teacher, an essay, a report card and a list of honors and extracurricular activities.

Brochures containing the application and more information are available by contacting MSU's Office of Research Services and Sponsored Programs at 475-5121.

April is Child Search Awareness Month

Governor Edwards declared April as "Child Search Awareness Month" in Louisiana, reminding Louisianans that all children, even those with the most severe disabilities, are entitled to a free, appropriate public education.

Child Search is a continuing effort of the state's Department of Education and public school systems to locate and identify children with disabilities. Federal and state legislation require educators to find and evaluate children birth through twenty-one who are in need of services in order to benefit from an education.

Child Search is looking for children who may be mentally disabled, hearing or visually impaired, severe language disordered, autistic,emotionally disturbed, health-impaired, multi-disabled, or otherwise disabled. The program also seeks gifted and talented children who are provided special programs under Louisiana law.

A standard process for screening and evaluation of children who may be disabled has been developed by the Louisiana Department of Education. Only a parent or guardian may give formal written permission for a child to be evaluated. However, any concerned individual may refer a child to Child Search. All information provided will be held in strictest confidence, and no services or interventions may begin without parent/guardian permission.

To make a referral or for more information, call the Child Search Coordinator in Calcasieu Parish at 491-1657 or 491-1652.

Old State Capitol being renovated

The Old State Capitol in Baton Rouge is closed and about to undergo the most ambitious renovation in the building's 142-year history, according to Secretary of State W. Fox McKeithen.

When the building reopens in 1993 it will be the Center for Political and Governmental History. The public is being asked to help find memorabilia - photographs, furnishings, virtually anything from the Old State Capitol during the period it served as the statehouse.

The public is not being asked for donations as yet. However, should anyone wish to donate an item to the Old State Capitol, he is welcome to do so. At the present, it is desired to find, document and photography or copy items.

"If you know someone who served or worked in this magnificent building, please help us get in touch with them," McKeithen said. "Since its construction the building survived war, fire and neglect. Please help us restore this building to its original grandeur."

Anyone with an item from the Old State Capitol is asked to call 504-922-0430.

Get up & do something!

Few things are impossible in themselves. An endeavor may be begun before its time, but more often its failure is due to the human element involved.

Negative thoughts prove great breaks to action. One person may never begin an important project because he lacks self-confidence or because he fears failure. Another may lack vision or tenacity of purpose. Often the non-starter is indulging in sheer laziness. And all are apt to wind up making excuses as to why the venture is impossible.

In contrast are those brave souls who accomplish the incredible. How do they differ from the first group? Wherein does their strength lie?

First of all they set a goal, attainable in so far as their knowledge and ability warrant; and they dedicate their efforts toward reaching it. They have faith in themselves as well as in their objective. Their propensity to hope sustains them in times of setback and gives them courage to carry on. They possess fortitude and practice perseverance. They think positively. they analyze each step as they advance toward their goal.

Subconsciously, perhaps, they are living the old slogan of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia: "When you wake up, get up. And when you get up, do something!" In reality that which they do is in the line of advancement.

Columbus was not the first man with the dream of a seafaring adventure. He became obsessed with the idea of reaching the Orient by sailing west. Unlike his contemporaries he dreamed, he planned, he worked to obtain ships and crews for the venture. His knowledge of the sea and his empathy for the sailors contributed to his success, but his steadfastness of purpose was the clinching factor.

The beginning of 1927 found famous pilots on both sides of the Atlantic preparing to attempt a non-stop flight over the ocean. Charles A. Lindbergh, a 24-year-old airmail pilot and captain in the Air Corps Reserve, was among them. The year before he had worked out plans for the flight When St. Louis business men raised his savings of $2,000 to $25,000, he hastened to execute his plan. From the drawing board to Paris, Lindbergh's flight cost $23,500. He had confidence in the feasibility of his mission, in the Spirit of St. Louis, and in himself.

Columbus crossed the Atlantic and discovered a new world. Centuries later Lindbergh flew from that land, high over the same ocean and bound the new and the old by intangible cords of air transportation.

Both men had a vision. Both were prepared. Both were willing to take uncalculated risks, to perish in the attempt if need be. And, yet, each man seemed to have so much faith in himself and in his quest that he was able to move toward its confirmation with perfect dignity and integrity.

They proved that faith ignores impossibilities and that courage will ultimately possess the dream that hope visualized in the beginning.

Survey results to be given parents

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The results of the Pride Substance Abuse Survey of South Cameron high school students will be presented by Uland Guidry, Cameron Parish Supervisor of Student Services, at a meeting sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association of South Cameron High school. Principal Wayne Batts will also discuss disciplinary procedures and results for the past school year.

Carla Richard, P.T.A. board member, invites all parents to attend the meeting to be held at the South Cameron High School Cafeteria at 7 p.m., Thursday, May 7.

Mr. Guidry explained that, "The Pride Substance Abuse Survey is a survey of all the students in Cameron Parish. Every student privately answers the survey. At this meeting we will discuss the results of the survey of the South Cameron High School students 8th through 12th grades."

Mr. Guidry also pointed out that the survey has four parts. It asked the students how frequently he or she used alcohol or drugs, the time and location of use, availability and about the intoxicating effect.

P.T.A. President Richard Sturlese said three board members and three officers for the next school year will also be elected.

Jury ...oses expansion of La... ...sine Refuge here

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has written a letter to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service opposing the proposed expansion of the Lacassine Wildlife Refuge in Cameron Parish.

Parish Administrator Pete Picou said the jury opposed the expansion as it would result in a loss to the parish's tax base.

The Wildlife Service recently announced plans to acquire up to 16,000 acres of agriculture wetlands and freshwater marshes to increase the size of the refuge to about 48,625 acres--almost doubling the size of the present refuge.

Much of the land in the area is owned by the Lacassine Land company and consists of low-lying marginal farmlands subject to frequent flooding.

In recent years, the police jury has opposed any expansion of federal land ownership in Cameron parish since a large part of the parish is already federally owned consisting of three large wildlife refuges. A fourth wildlife refuge is owned by the state.

The Service has released a draft environmental assessment that considers the biological, environmental and socioeconomic consequences of expanding the refuge.

The assessment also evaluates three alternatives for protecting and managing the land in the proposed area and their potential impacts.

Copies of the environmental assessment are available for public review and comments until April 30.

Requests for copies should be mailed to U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 1240, 75 Spring Street S.W., Room 1240, Atlanta, Ga. 30303.

Two sentenced for deer kill

Two Acadia Parish men pleaded no contest to several conservation charges in 38th Judicial District Court Thursday involving the killing of a doe deer on the highway at Grand Chenier last month.

Michael Shane Henry, 18, and Hollis Burt Trahan, 19, both entered guilty pleas to taking deer in closed season and taking deer during illegal hours. Each man was fined $2,500 with court costs to be paid over a one-year period.

Also, each received 90 days in the parish jail, suspended, with both men being placed on unsupervised probation for a period of three years, on the condition they do not commit any further wildlife and fisheries violations during the three year period.

They also lost all hunting privileges for a period of three years.

They also had to forfeit the 12 gauge shotgun used to kill the deer.

Glenn W. Alexander, Cameron Parish District Attorney, prosecuted the case before Judge H. Ward Fontenot, and the defense lawyer was John Derrick Miller of Crowley.

Drawing set

Refuge Managers from the Cameron Prairie, Lacassine and Sabine National Wildlife Refuge's have received a total of 199 applications for the upcoming public drawing for alligator trapping.

The drawing will be held Thursday, April 30, at the Cameron Parish Police Jury building in Cameron at 10 a.m. Applicants are encouraged to attend, but are not required to be present to be selected.

E-911 system is explained

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The Cameron Parish Police Jury tentatively plans to call an election on July 18 on a 52 cents a month service charge on all residential telephone bills to finance a 911 emergency system for the parish. The following is the first in a series of articles on the E-911 system.)

The Enhanced Universal Emergency Number Service, commonly known as E-911, is an important and beneficial service that is currently under consideration for Cameron Parish. The speed and versatility of the E-911 emergency service will contribute to improving fire and crime protection and may also reduce human suffering and life threatening situations.

In the mid sixties, the idea of establishing a universal three digit number of emergency situations was promoted by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. In 1968 the first 911 service was introduced, and since then the three digit 911 code for summoning help in emergencies has had increasing widespread acceptance.

When an emergency situation arises, it is much easier to remember 911 than several seven-digit numbers for police, fire and othr emergency response agencies. Surveys reveal that 75% of the people do not know emergency numbers but that 75% do know the 911 number. Using the three digits, 911, reduces the possiblity of dialing errors and takes less time. The use of 911 as an emergency number is particularly beneficial for children, older people, travelers, visitors and handicapped persons.

Residents of existing E-911 communities have the most modern efficient service for emergency communications and assistance available today. Currently 18 Louisiana parishes have the E-911 system in operation and 31 others are in the process of implementing the service. An election is tentatively set for July 18 to approve an approximate 52 cent per month service charge on all residential telephone bills to finance the 911 emergency system for Cameron Parish.

New medical complex to be open Saturday

The grand opening of the South Cameron Medical Complex will be held Saturday, May 2, with an open house from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Located in the complex is the South Cameron Physical Therapy Unit, the South Cameron Home Health Center, the South Cameron Fitness Center, and offices of State Rep. Randy Roach, Senator Cecil Picard and the National Marine Fisheries.

Refreshments will be served and the public is invited, according to Joe Soileau, South Cameron Memorial Hospital Administator.

Although the South Cameron Hospital is operated by the Lower Cameron Hospital Service District, which takes in the southern part of the parish, Administrator Joe Soileau said he wanted to emphasize that the new medical complex is open to all residents of the parish, including those in Holly Beach, Johnson Bayou, Hackberry, Grand Lake, Sweetlake and Klondike.

Local fishermen are reminded that commercial and recreational gear licenses may be obtained at the Lake Charles office of the La. Dept. of Wildlife & Fisheries on Thursdays, April 30, May 7 and 14 from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

In addition, license applications will be accepted by mail at the New Orleans and Baton Rouge offices.

Beachcombing is new way of life for H. B. couple

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Is there a healing effect in a stroll along a Cameron Parish beach?

Does surf crashing against the shore softly lull you to sleep?

Does the excitement of finding a special shell or distinctly shaped piece of driftwood excite you?

Do you lose yourself in the wonder of the treasures you will find as each wave comes in and deposits its flotsam on the shore?

Ron Robicheaux says he experiences these every day because he lives just a few yards from the water's edge at Holly Beach.

Ron and his wife are newcomers to the area, having purchased a beachfront home and plan to live out their lives here in peaceful bliss.

Ron grew up in Franklin, graduating from High School in 1957. He excelled in music and art, designing Mardi Gras parade floats and sets for local stage productions. During his senior year he was awarded a scholarship to the Minneapolis Institute of Art. Instead, he decided to attend Southwestern Louisiana University in 1958 and began a five year study of agricultural design.

In 1988 a car accident left him paralyzed with little hope of recovery. Holly Beach then became a refuge for the Robicheauxs. Walking the beach was a necessary daily exercise on the road to recovery.

Of course, he could not resist the urge to pick up shells along the shore, and that's where the real story begins.

SHELL CREATIONS

Ron has established a reputation for being completely dedicated and original in his work of designing beautiful birds, fish, and flowers and incorporating them into conversation pieces of sculpture.

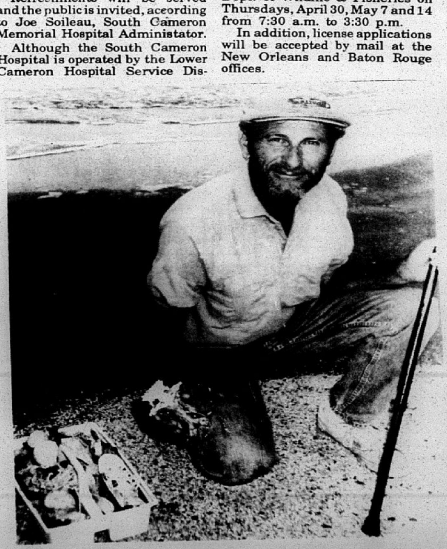
Each piece of art is different and tells its own little story. In fact, he has designed so many different birds he could be called "the bird man of Holly Beach."

Ron says, "Once you understand what a certain piece of shell, bone or wood can do for a certain creation the excitement in finding that piece continues to build. If you want to practice this unique art, you must first move to the beach. Every morning at sunrise you take a basket or tray and walk the beach searching for just the right pieces to go in a sculpture."

Using these tiny pieces of Louisiana to make a three dimensional "Beachside Creation" is rewarding, not only to the artist but to the viewer as well.

In addition to brown and white pelicans, wood ducks, mallards, royal terns, red-headed woodpeckers, pin shell flowers and fish, he has created his own "Boo-Be" and "Do-Wa" birds (a carry over from the music of the 50s.

Fitting his beach finds all together to form his interesting sculptures, actually began as a diversion then grew into a business as people admired his work and wanted to take home a memory of the lovely beach.



But his life still lacked purpose it seemed.

"CRUCIFIX FISH"

Then one day last spring, he came upon a "crucifix fish."

It is actually the skeleton of a

They aren't uncommon, but when he picked this one up there was something special about it, even though it was larger than usual.

Then he noticed that the figure on the cross has been pierced through the side by a small sharp object which was imbedded in the bone.

Scientists told Ron that the sharp object was a sea urchin spine, which is not nearly hard enough to penetrate solid bone, much less to stick all the way through that figure on the cross.

Some special circumstances must have softened a spot on the skull, and that particular spine must have been unusually stiff.

Maybe the sea urchin tapped a baby crucifix fish (catfish) which then grew bone around the spine, then died.

It suddenly dawned on Ron that this was a very special day indeed, for it was "Good Friday", the very day that Christ's side was pierced by a roman spear as he hung on the cross at Golgotha.

Ron says his physical and mental and spiritual healing began that day on Holly Beach, on Good Friday.

Ron knew that he needed some sign that his life was worth something more than just limping up and down the beach on his cane, feeling sorry for himself.

He sells sculptures now, and skulls in boxes, though there's one large crucifix fish skull on his mantle that he will never sell -- it is especially for him to keep in remembrance of the price that was paid for him.

FREE WORKSHOP

Ron now wants to share his creative genius with local organizations by giving free workshops to the elderly, handicapped, and clubs to explain the exciting concept of shell art.

Ron knows from experience that the program works.

The workshops will be conducted in the new facility which is now under construction at his beach cabin, with the help of many friends and neighbors who have come to his aid.

The workshops will consist of beach walks, shell collecting and the creations of shell art.

Ron explains that he plans to start the workshops in the fall when the most shells start coming in with the rough weather.

However, he wants to meet with interested groups so he can set up his agenda to conduct these free workshops to share his talent with the people.

Anyone interested in more information is asked to contact him at the following address: Ron and Chris Robicheaux, c/o Workshop, HC 69, Box 1A, Cameron, La. 70631.

His cabin is located at the end, or on the beach, of the first blacktopped road headed south from Highway 82, when coming from Cameror or Hackberry, at Holly Beach.

His facility is expected to be completed in time for the annual "Cajun Riviera Festival" to be held this summer at Holly Beach.

MONTIE REUNION

The Montie families held their sixth annual reunion in the Creole Community Center Sunday, April 26. There was a very good turnout with families coming from Louisiana and Texas.

These were descendants from the three brothers who came to America in the 1700s from France and Italy. The family name then was Montet. Many families now have a variety of spellings.

A covered dish dinner was enjoyed by all.

The oldest person attending was Mrs. Leonie Richard, 94, of Creole. The oldest married couple was Mr. and Mrs. John Voris Savoie of Creole, 64 years.

The youngest married couple was Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Bonsall, of Vinton, 10 months.

The youngest girl was Kirstie Kenner, of Nacogdoches, Tex., 3½ months. The youngest boy was John Baptist Saucier, 4 months, of Lake Charles. Coming the farthest was Susie Kenner of Nacogdoches, Tex.

IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Viola Brune entered a Houston, Tex. hospital Sunday.

AT THE recent Area Seafood Cookery Contest, Toni Kay Nunez, a member of the Grand Chenier Jr. 4-H Club, represented Grand Chenier. She prepared a catfish dish. She placed first.

Peripheral Vascular Disease...

It may not be as serious as it sounds; and surgery may not be necessary.

Peripheral Vascular Disease (blockage of blood vessels in the legs) is very common in Southwest Louisiana, but it may not be as serious as it sounds. Appropriate diagnosis may be as simple as obtaining a peripheral vascular study "echo" with vascular ultrasound. This diagnosis can be established as an outpatient through the Peripheral Vascular Lab, a branch of the "Outpatient Cardiology Services" at St. Patrick Hospital.

The best treatment:

★ Proper diet
★ Regular exercise program established by an exercise physiologist
★ Smoking cessation
★ Physician referral for medical management of elevated cholesterols if needed

For those few people who do need more involved care, the resources of the "Regional Heart Center" are available.

Remember, early diagnosis and treatment are important and can be done with convenience as an outpatient.

Young Scholar program told

High school students entering the 10th, 11th or 12th grade have until May 1 to apply to attend a Young Scholars program being held at McNeese State University this summer.

According to co-directors, Dr. Jay Uppot, associate professor of civil engineering, and Mary Richardson, coordinator of Research Services, the program is funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation and will focus on coastal erosion and preservation.

Two sessions, offered entirely free of charge, will be held from June 8-26 and from July 13-31. Twenty students will be selected for each session from Gulf Coast states and will live on the university campus.

The selected students will explore coastal erosion first-hand at Holly Beach on the Gulf Coast and will follow up with laboratory and classroom work. They will construct model beach protection devices and test them in a wave tank at McNeese State's College of Engineering and Technology facilities.

The young scholars will take classes in coastal engineering, geometry, surveying, technical writing, career exploration, research methodology, coastal geology, trigonometry, computer graphics, and ethics of engineering.

Student selection will be based on a letter of recommendation from a science or math teacher, an essay, a report card and a list of honors and extracurricular activities.

Brochures containing the application and more information are available by contacting MSU's Office of Research Services and Sponsored Programs at 475-5121.

Motorcyclists tour parish to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy Assoc.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Muscular Dystrophy Association benefitted from the second M.D.A. Benefit Poker Run last Saturday with forty in attendance.

The cyclists started the run at the World of Wheels, Inc. in Lake Charles Saturday morning and proceeded on a 102 mile trip through Cameron Parish and along the scenic Creole Nature Trail.

Under a Cameron Parish Sheriff's Deputy escort, they traveled over the Intracoastal Canal Bridge, with stops at Chesson's Grocery in Sweetlake, Cameron Parish's courthouse, and the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge Visitors Center.

At the final destination, the Sulphur Police shooting range, a meal was served and awards presented.

The wining poker hands were won by N. Fasske of Lake Charles and Jeffra DeViney of DeQuincy, both receiving plaques.

A 50/50 drawing was won by Tony Fain of Ragley, and a number of door prizes were also given away.

Pam Courtright, M.D.A. Program Coordinator from Lafayette and several Muscular Dystrophy patients from the local area were honored guests.

Harley-Davidson has been a national corporate sponsor for M.D.A. for 11 years.

The Lake Charles Harley Owners Group is open to any owner of a Harley-Davidson motorcycle who has joined the National H.O.G., although all motorcyclists are invited to join in their local ride events.

Local meetings are held in Lake Charles at the Lake Charles Harley Shop on Broad Street the first and third Saturday of each month.

Some folk tales

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In my collection of Southwest Louisiana Folk Tales, strange lights are important phenomenae. The following are examples.)

THE CORNCOBB LIGHT

Once, a man and his two sons went hunting at Corncob. On the top of a coteau (a French name for a small hill), they saw a ring drawn as small boys make in playing marbles.

"What causes that bright light to shine on that ring?", asked the older boy. "It looks strange".

"There's no light there," said the father and younger boy in unison".

"But, I see it," said the boy defensively. Look closely and you'll see it".

They stared intensely, but only the older brother saw it. As they watched, he saw the light rise, float over the canal, and rest on another coteau.

Days later, the older brother and several companions returned to the hill, dug into it and found Indian bones and relics.

THE WARNING STREAK

Suddenly, a streak of fire hurled through the darkness. The grandmother's hands flew to her throat. She tried to still their trembling by clasping them tightly in her lap.

Only too well did she understand the significance of the streaking light. From earliest childhood, she had been taught that it meant death or serious illness.

She hastened to her telephone and called her children, warning them to be prepared for whatever lay in store for them.

The next day, the grandmother herself became violently ill. She was rushed to the Palms Hospital in Abbeville, where it was found necessary that she undergo emergency surgery.

When she had regained consciousness, she looked up into the faces of her children, who had gathered about her bed.

"I told you something terrible would happen," she said. "I didn't know if it would happen to me or to one of you, but to be on the safe side, I laid out my best night gown in case it was me and my church dress, in case it was one of you."

Spec season ends Thursday

The commercial season for spotted seatrout (speckled trout) will close Thursday,, April 30, at midnight.

The season was set by rules promulgated by the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission at their February, 1992 meeting. These rules set a 1 million pound annual quota for the commercial harvest of spotted seatrout, as well as a closed season which would begin May 1 of each year if the quota has not been reached by that time.

For the fishing year 1991-92, the quota is not projected to be reached, so the season will close at midnight on April 30.

The commecial season for spotted seatrout is scheduled to reopen on Sept. 15, 1992 for the 1992-93 fishing year. These rules include the quote and season discussed above, and a closed season on the commercial harvest of spotted seatrout from sunset Friday through sunset Sunday of each week from May 1 through Sept. 14 of each year.

Reds & specs in

REDS AND SPECS

Redfish and speckle trout ae showing up in area waters. The Cameron ship channel north is seeing some activity on these two species. In the Grand Chenier jetties, fairly well up the Mermentau River, good catches of redfish and specs were caught this weekend. Around the Big Constance Area of Rockefeller Refuge, there were some nice redfish caught. Red Booth at Booth's Grocery in Grand Chenier, reports good catches of reds coming out of Rockefeller and the Joseph Harbor area. He also reports some good bass, white perch and goggle eye fishing on the east end of Grand Chenier.

The Big Burn is still active, however I find bass fishing is still a little tough. there are days you'd swear there are no fish at all and then go back to the same area and do very well. I do think spawning season has a lot to do with this. Goggle eye and white perch are real plentiful in the Big Burn area. Also reports of a few catfish being taken around the old Mobil Plant and Lake Miserie area.

A HINT

After you've dressed or filleted out a mess of fish, you have a hard time getting rid of the fish smell on your hands, even after washing two or three times. You can get rid of this odor that clings to your hands after fish cleaning by using baking soda. Sprinkle the baking soda on your wet hands, rub it thoroughly and then rinse it off. It works better than soap.

BOAT LAWS

All of us who fish, even though we have small boats have to obey certain boating laws. You should get the "Louisiana Boater's Guide", printed by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries. It describes all about what you have to have on your boat. I'll try and point out a few laws that have affected some in our area in the past few weeks.

First of all, let's talk about drinking and operating your motorboat. If you're stopped and determined to be operating your boat under the influence of alcohol, the agent can have you tested. If you're legally drunk you will lose your driver's license, fined, etc., just as your would if you're caught driving your vehicle. With all the boating accidents on the rise, a person should not operate a motorboat under the influence of alcohol.

Second, if your boat is under 16 feet, you need a life jacket for each person aboard. Be sure to not overload your boat. If you have a false bottom, even plywood on the floor of your boat, where air cannot pass, you need a fire extinguisher. Also, do not overpower your boat with a motor to large fo ryour hull.

All vessels 16 feet or over must carry a whistle or horn aboard. Over 26 feet a bell. You may also get a citation for reckless oepration of your boat.

Naviation lights are a must, recreational boats must display their required naviation lights at all times between sunset and sunrise, or during daylight periods of reduced visibility. Do not forget it could be daylight, but you have to have your running lights on until official sunrise. The same holds true when sunset arrives, it may be daylight, but if it's official sunset, you must have your running lights on. During bad weather, rain, real cloudy weather, again you need your running lights on.

Law enforcement boats engaged in enforcement activities may display a flashing blue light. When you see such lights, slacken your speed, yield right of way or, if need be, stop.

These are some of the things we run across each time we go fishing. I hope this will help you out. Go by Rockefeller and get the Boaters Guide booklet.

HOW LONG WILL IT BE?

How long will it be before many of our hunting and fishing rights will be taken away from us?

Hunting, fishing and trapping are at stake even in our refuges by the year 2003. With a plan for the future, and a current restructuring plan for the nation's wildlife refuges, sportsmen face the possibility of being denied recreational use of refuges if certain proposals are put together into certain plans, which will be adopted in February 1993. Public hearings and meetings are scheduled nationwide beginning this summer. 8,600 responses received by the Wildlife Service, showed 6,800 supported hunting, fishing and trapping on national wildlife refuges. Those opposed were 723.

There is a final phase of hearings that all sporstmen need to participate in or we could be in for quite a surprise.

You can get information on this matter by writing Refuges, 2003 Planning Team, U. S. Dept. of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service, Mail Stop - 670 ARISQ, 1849 C St. N.W., Washington, D. C. 20240.

To get on the mailing list include a signed written request.

If fishing, hunting or trapping on refuges should ever stop we here in Cameron Parish would really feel the brunt of it. There are many acres of lands we use on Sabine, Lacassine and Cameron Prairie Refuges to enjoy ourselves. Also Lacassine is planning on adding on by another 16,000 acres or so if the Fish and Wildlife Service plans continue and are approved.

Grand opening held for hospital medical complex

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The grand opening of the South Cameron Medical Complex, located on La. 82, on the Front Ridge, or Trosclair Road, was held Saturday morning.

Cutting the ribbon to open the complex were Dr. Richard Sanders and Brandi Soileau, Miss Cameron Parish, assisted by Senator Cecil Picard, Rep. Randy Roach, and Joe Soileau, hospital administrator.

An open house was held with tours of the facility, which includes rooms for physical therapy, home health, a fitness center with a sauna and other equipment, and offices of State Rep. Roach and Senator Cecil Picard and the National Marine Fisheries.

Also on display was equipment used by the ambulance and EMS units for emergency use.

Applications were also taken for the five year National Heart Attack Risk Study, provided by St. Patrick's Hospital in Lake Charles, which is being held at the Complex.

A noon meal was served by members of the South Cameron Senior 4-H Club.

A short program was held, with Soileau serving as Master of Ceremonies.

He recognized the Center's Maintenance staff that had worked so hard refurbishing the center to get it ready for the occupancy of the Medical Complex. the renovation was funded by a federal grant, and the work done by the South Cameron Hospital employees.

The building was originally built in 1959, after Hurricane Audrey had destroyed a school on the site.

At that time it ws called "Audrey Memorial School", and was later abandoned when no longer needed, as the pupils were integrated into South Cameron Elementary and High School.

Next, the school was used as the Cameron Vo-Tech School, and was closed due to the fact there were no more state funds to run it. It is owned by the school board and had not been used since then.

E-911 election is called here

The Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday officially created the Cameron Parish Communications District to operate an Emergency 911 telephone system in the parish.

The jury also approved a resolution calling for an election in the district on July 18 to give citizens the opportunity to vote for or against such a system.

If approved all of the streets and roads in the parish would be named and every home and business would be assigned a house number. A comm unication sytsem would be set up in cooperation with the Cameron Telephone Company which would permit anyone to place a call for police, firemen, ambulance, etc. by calling 911 anywhere in the parish.

A small monthly fee would be added to telephone bills to fund the system if approved by voters.

Juror Brent Nunez asked that public meetings be held in each parish community to explain the program.

In connection with the proposed emergency sytem, it was announced that a study is now being made on extending public ambulance service to all sections of the parish.

Lower Cameron residents presently have free ambulance service through the South Cameron Ambulance District and the South Cameron Memorial Hospital. It has been proposed that a second district be created to take in the western and northern parts of the parish and provide similar ambulance service.

Special section

The Cameron Pilot will publish a special graduation section on Thursday, May 21 as a salute to all parish high school graduates.

Anyone wishing to reserve space for a congratulatory ad may call 1-800-256-7323. The deadline for reserving ad space is Friday, May 15.

One marsh permit OKed, one delayed

Two permits being sought by the Miami Corp. for marsh projects in the Gibbstown area north of Creole were considered by the Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday with one being approved and the other being tabled until a public hearing can be held.

Both permits had been brought up at last month's jury meeting but were tabled for further study by the jurors and the drainage districts involved.

One permit was approved by the jury Monday to permit installation of a rock weir in a slip off of the Intracostaal Waterway that would allow for decreased water flow for flood control, sediment introduction for marsh nutrition and freshwater fisheries access.

Grand Lake Juror Brent Nunez voted against the permit because he said he wanted to give the residents in his area more time to learn more about the project and also because his drainage board opposed it.

The other Miami permit pertained to introducing fresh water into the marsh west of Gibbstown from the Intracostal Canal.

C. J. Kiffe of Cameron spoke in opposition to the project stating that because of recent heavy rains in the marshes were full of fresh water now. Also he was opposed to pumping out of the Intracostal Canal until tests were made to determine how much pesticides and herbicides were in the canal coming out of the rice fields to the north.

He said he was speaking for the shrimp and fishing industry who were against the proposal because of the potential harm to the marine life in the marshes.

"I am not against restoring the marshes," Kiffe stated, "but not for the killing of four or five industries."

Kiffe said the drainage board for the area was opposed to the project.

Billy Delany, a representative of the Miami Corp., said there was no evidence that there were excessive pesticides and herbicides in the Intracostal and said that in any case the water was coming into the marsh from the canal at other locations.

The jury then voted to delay action on the permit until a public hearing could be held on the matter.

FLOODING PROBLEM

IN A RELATED MATTER, Amos Vincent asked the jury for aid with a flood problem in the Little Chenier-East Creole area. He said that water level in the marsh there was much higher than usual which he said was due to the flood gates being closed on the Miami Corp. property. He had petition from the property owners in the area.

Jurors told him they would assist him in setting up a meeting with the drainage board to discuss the matter.

Earlier in the jury meeting, Mr. Delaney from Miami had reported on the very heavy rainfall in the at the end of April which totaled 13 inches.

Juror Ray Conner said that during the past 30 or 40 years the only time he had seen the water higher in the Creole area was during Hurricanes Audrey and Carla.

G. Lake boy is featured

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Blake Hebert, 7, was a contestant in the National Poster Child contest sponsored by the Council for Better Hearing and Speech Month.

Blake was among 60 entries from across the United States in the national contest. Clarence Edward Bustamonte of Santa Fe, New Mexico was the winner.

The Council annually promotes the contest as part of the activities leading up to the nationwide public awareness campaign during May, which is designated as "National Speech and Hearing Month."

Blake is the son of Patrick and Gale Hebert of Grand Lake. He was selected as the poster child by the Quota Club of Lake Charles to represent the Southwest Louisiana Region in the state and national contests.

Black, who is profoundly hearing-impaired, is in the first grade at College Oaks Elementary School and is an honor roll student.

His hearing impairment has not kept him from being an active young boy who enjoys fishing, riding his bike, playing T-ball on the Grand Lake team and playing U-T soccer in Lake Charles. He is a member of the Grand Lake Cub Scouts.

Chenier home oldest on coast

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Cameron Parish's existing oldest home is the Doxey home at Grand Chenier and after 150 years it now has a marker in front proclaiming it as "The Doxey Place, Established 1842", erected by the present owner, John Paul Crain.

In keeping with the times when the house was built, Crain had the sign made from iron in the shape of an ox-yolk, which was sandblasted down, met-coated and painted with layers of paint to look like wood, so it will last for centuries.

Crain purchased the home from Joe Doxey, who had bought the home from his father's estate when the older Doxey died.

It was listed in the book "Historic Plantation Homes of the South" which stated it to be the oldest home still standing on the Gulf Coast of Southwest Louisiana and Southeast Texas.

It was built in 1842 and was the first home built on Grand Chenier of dressed lumber. It is situated on the highest point of land on Grand Chenier some 11 feet above sea level, and set on brick piers more than three feet high. Even the waters of Hurricane Audrey in June, 1957, failed to wash into the Doxey home.

A bit of history handed down through generations of the Doxey family relates that when William Doxey and Milledge McCall came to the island they found only one human here.

SHIPWRECKED SAILOR

He was a shipwrecked sailor named Bill Beazley, who had saved himself by clinging to a mahogany table from the wrecked schooner. Beazley had been spending each night in oak trees to keep away from wild bears in the area, it is related.

The table which served as a life raft for Beazley stood in the kitchen of the Doxey house and served four generations for 108 years. No one knows its whereabouts today.

The Doxey house was also occupied by a cigar factory, in addition to living quarters 20 years before the Civil War.

It was enlarged and remodeled in 1890, again in 1917 and once more in 1948 by the present owner, Crain. He has carefully preserved the historic house and restored it to its original look.

He moved the kitchen from the back of the house to the east side, adding a breezeway and garage also to that side.

When it was renovated in 1890, a team of carpenters from Abbeville did the work, using cypress throughout.

In 1917, the second floor was expanded with four bedrooms and a hall, the staircase from the ground floor entrance hall was revised, and two additional gables were added, making four gables facing south toward the Gulf of Mexico.

The last of the Doxey descendants to occupy the house was the Andrew Doxey family.

GRANDMA DOXEY

Mrs. Doxey was known as "Grandma Doxey", a very civic minded person, and was famed for never letting a visitor leave without some gift, usually food that she had canned or preserved herself.

She was a Durr, whose father was a Colonel in the Civil War and owned a tannery in Mississippi and was quite prosperous.

When General Sherman passed through using the "Scorch and Search" policy, he burned the tannery down.

Black News

Mrs. Bessie Bartie of DeRidder visited Mrs. Lovenia Bartie and Mrs. Mary Cockrell last week.

Mrs. Cockrell and Mrs. Bartie visited Mr. and Mrs. Michael Smith and Evan, and Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Harrison in Sugarland, Tex., Saturday.

Col. Durr was so devastated over the act he divided up his hundreds of acres of land among his slaves, giving them each 40 acre tracts, and left with his family for Louisiana.

Crain said Grandma Doxey was always so kind to the younger generation, holding dances for them in her living room with music furnished by a band consisting of a fiddle and a guitar.

The old house was also a shelter for generations of Grand Chenier and Cameron residents seeking refuge on higher ground during storms which came in from the Gulf. People also came from Oak Grove and other parts of the island to stay in the two story house until the storm had passed.

Thanks to careful and loving preservation and restoration, the house is as sturdy today as when it was built.

Crain said he is just sorry that he had not designated the history of the old house for everyone to see before the last of the Andrew family died.

You think you're young and sporty, but as of today, everyone knows you're. . .

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOSHUA PAUL PESHOFF
Nov. 2, 1984 To May 4, 1989

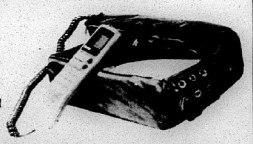
As time passes by and days go on it's been 3 years since you've been gone. You were everyone's pride and joy. You were a very precious little boy, you loved pretty flowers, sunshine and playing in the rain; and all the typical things little boys would do, like playing in the mud in your new shoes.



But no matter how much trouble you would be in, there was always on your face that sweet little grin. We have all these sweet memories, they are what helps us get through all these long days and nights without you! We love you and miss you so very much and pray for you each day and night. And we wish you were here for us to hold you tight. We will meet you again someday soon!

God Bless You, Joshua Paul

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON --A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug-free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Parish folks can sign world's largest card

Cameron Parish residents can add their name to Olympic history and send their best wishes to the U. S. Olympic Team by signing a piece of the world's largest postcard during U. S. Olympic Spirit Week, May 11-17. During the week, 28,000 post offices across the country will bring their communities together in an effort to raise funds and rally national support for U. S. Olympic hopefuls.

The focal point of U. S. Olympic Spirit Week is a piece of a giant postcard featuring a good luck message to the athletes. For a $1 contribution, customers can support America's Olympic team by signing pieces of the giant postcard. They also will receive two personal postcards pre-addressed to Olympic athletes: one to save as a souvenir and the other to send with personal greetings to U. S. Olympians competing at the Barcelona Games.

Cameron Parish Post Office's pieces of the postcard will be on display and available for signing daily during normal business hours until Saturday, May 16.

In July, when Olympic Spirit is high and the athletes are preparing to leave for Barcelona, the Cameron Parish pieces of the card, along with the 28,000 other pieces, will be assembled for the "America's Salute to Team USA" celebration in Washington, D. C. The fully-assembled card, larger than three football fields and bearing hundreds of thousands of signatures, will convey the best wishes of American's to their team as it prepares to leave for the Summer Games.

What really constitutes "high tech" medicine?

By CRAIG WALKER, M.D.

When a news story appeared recently about the Food and Drug Administration's approval of the excimer laser for removing plaque from heart and other arteries, a patient asked me if we had one yet. He was surprised when I said we didn't have one, nor did we plan to purchase one.

"How can you claim to be the high-tech heart center without it?" he asked.

The answer to that question, quite simply, is that the laser – any laser – is not the state of the art in heart care. The advantages it possessed just two or three years ago are now outweighed by its shortcomings, and newer, simpler, more effective and much less expensive technologies have now taken its place as the leading-edge technologies in clearing arteries blocked by cholesterol plaque.

Yet the laser continues to make headlines and hospitals are rushing out in droves to pay $250,000 for a device that is less safe, less effective and enormously more costly to the patient than these more mundane-sounding alternatives.

To give them the benefit of the doubt, perhaps those buying the laser simply don't know that it isn't the best available option today. CIS has been instrumental in the development of all of the new technologies now making their way into the mainstream of cardiology, while most hospitals buying the laser have no clinical research experience whatever.

Less charitably, some may be buying the laser as a marketing device, assuming that patients will be drawn to them by its "high tech" mystique.

There is a widespread public perception that the most advanced technology is the most sophisticated-sounding technology. And lasers sound more sophisticated than super-slippery guidewires and catheters and devices that use tiny blades or burrs to remove plaque. But they aren't.

High technology, in medicine or any other field, is the technology that produces the best result. The sophistication of the devices or materials it employs in achieving that result is quite irrelevant.

Family tells appreciation

Dear Mr. Wise

I'd like to express our appreciation to you. Your newspaper has been instrumental in many ways for our family.

First, both of our children have been reporters for 4-H, they depended upon your paper for club publicity.

Also, ads in your paper have been very productive. Because of your publishing, we have bought land for our homesite, sold various items, had a successful garage sale, and finally sold our home and land.

Your paper reaches many individuals and is a vital instrument for Cameron Parish. Even though we are moving from Cameron Parish, we will continue to subscribe to the Cameron Pilot so as to remain in touch with Cameron Parish.

Sincerely,
/s/ Arlene P. Coreil

COMPLEX

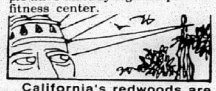
share an office in the building, along with their Legislative Assistant Myrna Conner. Roach praised Soileau in what he has done to raise the quality of health care he had brought to the South Cameron hospital, and this extension to the hospital.

Picard also had high praise for what has been done with the complex and stated, "I came out the winner in the legislature's reapportionment plan by inheriting this area to serve."



He said that one of his principal aims is to push tourism in his area, that has been so devastated by the decline in the oil industry.

"We must get those tourists off Interstate 10 directed to our area, to pass along the coast and go on to Pecan Island and to Abbeville. They need to see and sample some of our Cajun culture," he said.

Dr. Sanders, who is one of the local doctors working with the local hospital, praised the work of the hospital serving the community.

He said, "I came here 11 years ago and have seen what has been done here and the dedication that Joe Soileau has had to our hospital and now this complex".

Soileau said that over 200 people have already signed up for the fitness center.

HACKBERRY BEACH

(By Jerry Wise)

"I enjoyed your article last week about Hackberry Beach, the big resort area of years ago," writes Miss Elora Montie, our Grand Chenier correspondent. She continues:

"I am proud to say that one of the hotels there belonged to my grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Portie of Grand Chenier. My mother, Mrs. Ruth Montie, and family, worked there entertaining the folks who came from all points. J. W. Doxey was a regular customer at the hotel.

The steamer, 'The Olive', from Mermentau, a boat owned by the late Fredrick Portie, and a boat owned by Adam Nunez of Lake Arthur, would carry crowds of folks to and from the beach where they enjoyed swimming, fishing and seining. All enjoyed the big fish dinners at the hotels."

"There was also a dance hall on the beach where folks enjoyed dancing by accordian, violin and guitar music."

RAT CAMPAIGN

Public health officials expressed concern this week over the slow down of the rat extermination campaign in Cameron Parish. The hordes of rats still present here are a potential danger of typhus.

A rat poisoning program was begun by the Cameron Health Unit and the Cameron Police Jury two months ago after health officials became alarmed about the tremendous increase of the rodents here.

Since that time more than 3,000 pounds of rat poison has been distributed to home owners and business people free of charge to be put out on their premises.

Sanitarian Edison Mhire said that thousands of the rats have been killed, but that the job is far from completed.

SCHOOL MILLAGE REDUCED

Here is some good news for Cameron Parish taxpayers; tax millages in all the parish's school districts have been reduced for 1959, according to Supt. U. E. Hackett.

SKEET SHOOT CHAMPION

Don Wagner walked off with first place Sunday afternoon at the Optimist Club Skeet Shoot which netted him a shrimp net donated by J. C. Billings. Don shot 24 out of 25.

In a shootoff between Frankie Henry and Freddie Richard, Frankie came in second shooting 23 out of 25 and winning 5 pounds of shrimp from Cheramie's Fish House. Freddie came in for third place to win a short order from the Cameron Cafe.

SCHOOL FIRE DRILL

The Cameron Volunteer Fire Department, under the direction of Fire Chief Ray Burleigh, conducted a fire drill at the Cameron Elementary School this week. All the trucks and equipment of the Department were used in the drill that simulated a fire at the school.

School board joins suit

The Cameron Parish school board has joined seven other south Louisiana school boards in suing the state over the proposed Minimum Foundation Program.

The program contains the formula used to distribute state education funds.

Two lawsuits recently filed against the state contend the school boards would be "adversly affected" by the proposed legislation.

The school boards charge that the current level of state funding of K-12 education is inadequate and should be addressed immediately.

They also want a "hold harmless in perpetuity" provision added to any formula modification by the legislature.

The superintendents involved have said they unanimously agree the proposed MFP formula not be funded at what they see as the expense of their respective school districts.

Other parish school boards included in the action include Calcasieu, East Baton Rouge, Iberville, Jefferson, Plaquemine, St. Charles and West Baton Rouge.

Camp condemned

Acting under a recently passed parish ordinance, the Cameron Parish Police jury voted Monday to condem the remains of a burned camp at Holly Beach and arrange for its removal.

The jurors were told that the camp, which burned several years ago, is a hazard since debris from it is blowing on to other camps.

The camp owner, who lives outside the parish, has 30 days in which to remove the camp or the jury will do the job itself and add the cost to the owner's taxes.

SS aid offered

The Social Security Administration needs some help and Police Juror Ray Conner told the Cameron police jury to use their influence to offer aid.

Conner said he recently had to go to the Social Security office in Lake Charles and said he found them overwhelmed with work. He said he was told they used to have 40 persons but now have only 20 persons doing the job.

The jury agreed to write the congressional delegation urging more personnel for the area Social Security office.

RESOLUTION
OPPOSITION TO MANDATORY COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

WHEREAS, local school boards are elected by the people of Louisiana in sixty-six public school systems and are charged constitutionally and statutorially with the supervision and effective operation of the public schools, and

WHEREAS, the public schools belong to and are part of the fabric of society and in the individual parishes/cities and by the citizens of Louisiana as a whole, and

WHEREAS, local school boards make decisions in the proper operation of the public school system after consultation and input from the citizenry and are answerable to the voters at the polls, and

WHEREAS, teachers and school administrators are citizens and have the same opportunity to vote, consult, and take input as does any other citizen, and

WHEREAS, for one group of citizens to band together as a union or as any other pressure group in the private sector and unduly influence action by the local school boards through group pressure, threats, work stoppages, intimidation, strikes, etc., clearly gives them an unfair advantage over other citizens and is counter to the principle of good representative government, and

WHEREAS, teacher unions bargaining with a school board whose members are at least partially dependent on union membership support to be elected have a tremendously unfair advantage over private sector unions who have no say or influence on the membership of the board with whom they bargain, and

WHEREAS, compulsory collective bargaining which can be done in private and can make a binding determination with terms often arranged by an arbitrator who is in no way accountable to the citizens who own the schools and pay the bills is unfair and should never be required, now

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Cameron Parish School Board strongly opposes mandatory collective bargaining in the public sector and believes it to be detrimental to the orderly and efficient operation of the public schools, and urges the Governor and the Louisiana Legislature to refuse to pass legislation that requires it, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be sent to Governor Edwin Edward, members of the Legislature, members of the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, the State Superintendent of Public Education, Superintendent of the parish and city school systems, and local and State news media.

WHEREAS, the following resolution was offered by Mr. Dan Billiot, seconded by Mrs. Betty Seay:

WHEREAS, the Cameron Parish School Board has the potential of suffering a reduction in state funding under the proposed 1992-93 Minimum Foundation Program; and

WHEREAS, two lawsuits have been filed in the 19th Judicial District Court, one bearing docket number 379-560, entitled "Miriam S. Charlet, et al versus Legislature of the State of Louisiana, et al", and the other bearing docket number 379-562, entitled "The Minimum Foundation Commission, et al versus The State of Louisiana, et al", both of which address numerous aspects of educational funding from the State of Louisiana; and

WHEREAS, most, if not all, of the parish school boards involved in these lawsuits have fiscal interests that are different from the interests of the School Board in regard to the terms of the Minimum Foundation Program; however, this Board is financially similarly situated with twelve (12) other school boards with respect to state funding under the proposed 1992-93 MFP; and

WHEREAS, in order to protect the interests of the citizens of this parish (city), it is important for this Board to actively participate by intervening into these lawsuits in order to insure and secure adequate state funding for the public schools within this jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, joining forces with the other financially similarly situated school boards would substantially reduce the Board's costs and expenses in this litigation; and

WHEREAS, the firm of Grant & Barrow, A Professional Law Corporation, has extensive legal experience in this area of school law and is willing to represent this parish and other parishes which are financially similarly situated under the new Minimum Foundation Program.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the firm of Grant & Barrow be retained to file an intervention in the above referenced lawsuits on behalf of and to fully represent the Cameron Parish School Board in all aspects of these lawsuits or any other lawsuits which may be filed in the premises; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Cameron Parish School Board agrees to pay to the law firm the hourly rate for special counsel approved by the Attorney General of the State of Louisiana (schedule attached) plus out-of-pocket expenses. The fees and costs charged shall be prorated among the school boards based upon the number of students in this school system divided by the total number of students in all the school systems represented by the firm. Further, this agreement shall be subject to the approval of the Attorney General of the State of Louisiana.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the President of the Board is instructed and authorized to execute any and all documents pursuant to this resolution.

E-911 explained

In July the Cameron Parish Police Jury and the newly formed Communications District Commission will ask the voters to approve a proposal for an Emergency 911 Communications System for all of Cameron Parish.

The proposed implementatin of the emergency communications system will play a vital role in linking citizens with police, fire or emergency medical services when time is of the essence. During an emergency, 911 calls are handled by call takers trained in effective listening skills who are able to take control of emergency situations and elicit necessary information quickly.

Some emergency calls may be more serious than others; some involve more than one victim or offender; and other calls require more than one public safety responder to the scene. With the 911 system a faster and more accurate response time is readily available.

What is 911?

Emergency 911 is a telephone number reserved to call when emergencies threaten - when you need police, fire or emergency medical assistance.

How will 911 work for me?

When you need help quickly due to an emergency, simply pick up the phone and diall 911. Your call will be answered by a trained telecommunicator. You will be asked the nature of your emergency so the call can be properly handled.

What if I dial 911 and then can't talk?

The computer screen in front of the 911 telecommunicator answering your call will show both the phone number and the address from where you called. Help can be sent even if you're unable to talk.

Will 911 really be faster than dialing the operator or calling the emergency service provider myself?

Yes! You won't need to decide who to call, look up the 7 digit phone number and then dial that number. Besides, when you dial the operator, you may be assisted by one who is hundreds of miles away.

When seconds count . . . when they may a difference in an emergency, a fire, a car accident, or a robbery about to occur. When seconds literally make the difference between life and death, Emergency 911 is the fastest way to summon help.

FISHING NEWS

On Saturday morning, April 25, many anglers had long faces, all wanting to go out bass fishing or into the inland saltwater bayous as well as offshore. Well, we awoke to lightning, thunder and rain very early that mrning. By 8:30 a.m. the bad weather stopped, the winds shifted to the northwest and there went the anglers, heading in different directions to their favorite fishing spot.

Anglers couldn't fish offshore as the seas were rough, Many saltwater anglers chose to fish the jetties or bayous coming out of the jetties and the river. In Grand Chenier, redfishing ended up being good. In fact, Fred Conner and his brother, Randall, ended up at the Grand Chenier jetties and landed a 27 pound redfish measuring 41 inches long. This fish gave way to a big mullet. Randall was using a regular 5500c and 20 pound test line. He fought hard and after a half hour, won.

Fishing for freshwater turned out real good also after that weekend and then the 6 to 8 inch rainfall we got Wednesday. Good catches of white perch and goggleye have been taken out of the Big Burn.

Bass fishing has been getting better in the Big Burn. I saw a string of five bass this week of 22 pounds 8 ounces. Largest two bass were 5 pounds each.

Lacassine Refuge has also produced another bass over 8 pounds last week. This seems like the year for the big bass in Lacassine.

SEVEN ACRE TOURNEY

The Seven Acre Bass Club held their tournament in the Big Burn last week. T-Man Racca took first place stringer, Loston McEvers second, Dwayne Guilbeaux third, Mike Kelsy fourth, Larry Guilbeaux fifth, Mike LeJune sixth and Weldon Authement seventh.

NEWS AROUND

* The oyster season in our parish has closed as of April 30. Our fishermen who make a living oystering really had a rough year. There were many days they couldn't fish, as it was shut down because of heavy rains to the north, then the prices were really low. In the last month they really had a hard time trying to sell their oysters, as nobody wanted to buy them.

* The shrimpers had bad news again last week. The feds want them to pull the T.E.D. all year around, in fact even in inland waters. This is another hardship on the shrimpers, but I believe this is here to stay.

* Sam Rayburn Lake in Texas was the spot on April 25 and 26. The Big Bass Bonanza of the year. A young intern, studying to become a doctor won it all. Catching a 10.29 large bass and had the top weight for the tournament. He went home with a new $17,000 bass rig plus cash and prizes for a total of $47,000. This was the first bass tournament he had ever entered.

Several of our local anglers entered this tournament.

FEEDING PERIODS

Friday, May 8, best, 4:57 a.m. and 5:27 p.m.; good, 11:12 a.m. and 11:42 p.m.

Saturday, May 9, best, 6:02 a.m. and 6:32 p.m.; good, 11:59 a.m.

Work continues on Prairie Nat. Refuge

By PAUL M. YAKUPZACK
Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge

The Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge opened for sportfishing on March 15. This is the second year that a bankfishing area has been opened on the refuge. A dozen individuals tried their luck fishing on opening day. Catches were small, but most fishermen landed a few keeper largemouths, crappie (sac-au-lait) and warmmouth (goggle-eye). Several bowfin (choupic) and gars were also landed.

The spring migration of birds is progressing at the refuge. Purple gallinules, green-backed herons, least bitterns, and other local nesters have begun to arrive. Several hundred fulvous-whistling ducks, blue-winged teal, shovelers, green-winged teal, gadwall and wigeon are present on the refuge. Mottled ducks are very common and most are already paired.

Frequent 3-bird flights are observed. These 3-bird flights usually involve a mated female and 2 males. One of the males is her mate. The other male is defending his territory while his hen is nesting or incubating her eggs. These flights are often acrobatic and sometimes involve more than three mottled ducks.

Mottled ducks have had excellent production for the past three years. Unseasonably high spring and early summer rainfall has improved conditions for mottled duck survival according to Wildlife Biologist Charles Stutzenbaker of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

We have started the rehabilitation of Unit 8 (1600 acres) north and east levee. These levees are adjacent to the outfall canal and the north canal. Our dragline operator is Charles LeBoeuf from Creole. He is about one third of the way on our first lift on this 20,000 foot project. We will proceed with the rehabilitation until we reach the Gulf-Intracoastal Waterway (GIWW).

Then we will begin the second lift retracing backwards to the beginning of the levee near the refuge headquarters. We expect this important maintenance to go on for several months. Our goal is to completely rehabilitate the entire levee system on Unit 8. This will allow higher water levels to be maintained for fish and wildlife uses. Without this work, the water gradually leaks from the unit.

Preliminary work on the proposed wildlife drive has begun. The wildlife drive will use the existing entrance road and will loop westward to the area of the present entrance gate for a total distance of 3 miles. We plan to grade and level this old levee system and to crown it for fast drainage. We are working with a co-operator to finalize plans for hard surfacing this road with limestone. We are hopeful that this road will be completed by the beginning of the fall migration in October 1992.

Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge is open to the public for wildlife observation along the entrance road from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on week days. Limited public fishing is allowed according to refuge regulations which may be obtained by contacting the refuge at (318) 598-2216 or by writing Cameron Prairie National Widlife Refuge, Route 1 Box 643, Bell City, La. 70630.

Nutria meet set in N.O.

A one day symposium exploring the impact of nutria on Gulf coast wetlands is scheduled June 2, at the Clarion Hotel, New Orleans, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Co-sponsored by Louisiana Sea Grant and Louisiana State University, it is part of the meeting of the Society of Wetland Scientists, May 31-June 6.

Those wishing to attend only this symposium may register at 8 a.m. at the Clarion Hotel in New Orleans for a $50 fee.

The symposium will provide a comprehensive summary of data available on the nutria population and its effects on wetlands.

According to Dr. James Grace and Dr. Charles Sasser of LSU, co-organizers, the symposium is open to the public, including landowners' associations, environmental groups, and consultants concerned about the develoment and conservation of wetlands.

Nutrias are featured

Historically, Louisiana is renowned for its abundnce of fur habitat, furbearers and fur trade. Today, Louisiana fur is marketed on the largest scale. From April 29 through May 2, the Louisiana Fur and Alligator Advisory Council will promote nutria products at the second largest fur trade show in the world. The North American Fur Fashion Exposition is held annually in Montreal, Canada. Thousands of fur manufacturers, pelt dealers and retailers from around the globe will attend.

The council was created by the 1986 Louisiana Legislature and is housed in the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. Its objectives are: to educate the public concerning the role of trapping and alligator hunting in wildlife conservation and to develop and enhance international markets for Louisiana fur and alligator products.

The high point of the Montreal event is the fashion show on April 29 and this year the council has worked with several prominent Candaian designers including Gilles Allard Haute Fourrure. The artist is launching an exciting new collection at this exposition and will feature the nutria.

He attributes the current popularity of the nutria in the fashion world to its adaptability to the latest trend. This year the market is focused on ready to wear coats for the active modern lifestyle, rather than full length furs for evening wear. The more casual wear features fur as removable liners and trim. Allard describes nutria as lightweight, durable, warm, extremely afordable and versatile -- perfect for the job.

LDWF biologist Greg Linscombe, program manager for the council and Michael Consiglio, fur marketing consultant, created a label for the fur -- Genuine Louisiana Bayou Nutria. Manufacturers are using it in a wide range of combinations with fox, mink, and leather. It is the ideal lining for anoraks, swingcoats and garments of every cut and length. Allard adds longhair pelts for collars, cuffs, and detachable hoods and uses it as accent on hats.

Recycling clothes is club feature

Highlighting the April meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers Club was a demonstration given by assistant home economist, Cynthia Richard, on "Recycling Old Clothes." The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Mayola Wicke with Mrs. Teen Wicke serving as hostess.

Using a portable sewing machine, Richard demonstrted how to make an attractive jacket by combining a pair of old jeans with a sweat shirt. She then displayed a finished "upside down" jacket which utilized a pair of worn blue jeans placed upside down.

Richard announced that in June she plans to conduct workshops on the clothes recycling and, in fact, she said that she would be available to conduct such workshops on request by individual clubs.

President Baccigalopi reported on the open house which she had attended at the Cameron Parish Library on April 10, during National Library Week. She said that the library featured an exhibition of Bill Turnbull's photos which were still on display.

Baccigalopi showed the four adult tee shirts which she had painted (two with a Thanksgiving motif and two with an Easter motif) for the club to give as sale items to the State Extension Homemakers Convention in Shreveport April 21-23.

Attending the club meeting as guests were Mrs. Hazel Savoie and Mrs. Glenda McEvers.

Crab traps must be marked after July 1

A recently instituted identification system for crab traps becomes effective on July 1, 1992. It was approved at the February, 1992 meeting of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Several years ago the state legislature passed a law which directed the commission to promulgate and adopt rules to establish a marking system for crab traps. The state's Crab Task Force, housed in the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, recommended the tagging system to the commission.

According to Crab Task Force Facilitator Vince Guillory, each crab trap must be marked with a one and one-half inch, stainless steel, self-locking tag. It must be attached to the center of the trap ceiling. Fishermen will provide the tags and stencil or stamp their license numbers on the tags as follows: a commecial fisherman's license number or the recreational crabbers gear license number.

Guillory explains that various tag designs would meet the stipulations. The task force has compiled a list of companies that make the tags and of vendors who will sell the tags. He adds that the purchased tags may or may not have the license numbers stamped on them; if not, the fisherman must etch or stamp his license number on the tag.

In addition, fishermen may make their own tags. The Crab Task Force has composed a fact sheet describing: the tag, the attachment site, possible sources of stainless steel, and the methodology to construct and attach the tags.

The vendor list and the fact sheet are available at Department of Wildlife and fisheries offices, form Louisiana State University Cooperative Extension Fisheries Agents inthe coastal parishes and from dealers purchasing crabs from fishermen.

Deadline is Friday

National Marine Fisheries Service recently announced several changes to the reef fishery management program for the Gulf of Mexico. The management changes involve the implementation of Amendment 4, which was proposed by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. The changes were published in the Federal Register April 8, 1992, and will become effective May 8, 1992.

The ruling of main concern to area fishermen is the establishment of a three year moratorium on new commercial permits starting May 8, 1992, while the Council develops a long-term limited access program.

Anyone wishing to acquire a reef fishing permit must apply before May 8, 1992. Applications are available at the Cameron Extension Service Office. For more information contact Kevin Savoie at 318-775-5516.

Park sought

Police Juror George LeBouef of Cameron suggested to the Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday that they look into the possibility of getting a state park created at the end of the jetty road on the ship channel.

LeBouef said he had noticed a number of out-of-state cars parked at the end of the road where the jury has a boat launch and he said a park would be a big aid to bringing tourist here.

The jury agreed to write the legislative delegation asking them to look into the matter.

Cable problems

Cameron Juror George LeBouef told the police jury Monday that residents of his area were continuing to have service problems with the local cable TV company and he asked that the jury be provided with an opinion from the district attorney or attorney general as to what their authority was in such matters.

Parish Administrator Pete Picou said there was a bill in the legislature that would permit the Public Service Commission to regulate cable TV companies.

Juror Brent Nunez of Grand Lake said the cable TV company in his area was doing a good job and that he had received no complaints on it.

Ambulance expansion is sought

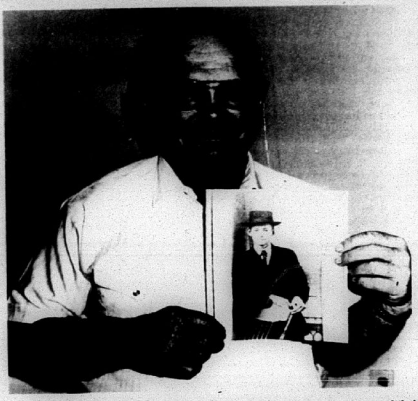
Parishwide ambulance service for all of Cameron parish was discussed at a conference held on May 5 at the Cameron Parish police jury meeting among Jurors Brent Nunez, Russell Badon and George Hicks and Joseph Soileau, South Cameron Memorial Hospital Administrator.



Mr. Soileau said that the board of the Lower Cameron Hospital District had given him permission to discuss plans to expand ambulance service to all parts of the parish. At the present time only the Cameron, Creole and Grand Cheniere areas, which are in the present district, are served.

The group discussed the possibility of calling a tax millage election in the areas of the parish presently not served so that ambulance service could be extended to those areas.

Mr. Soileau said that the Lower Cameron district presently collects four mills to subsidize the ambulance service offered by the hospital. He said a budget would be prepared as to the cost of serving the other areas and that the parish assessor would be asked to estimate the millage rate that would be needed to provide the new service.

The jurors and Mr. Soileau agreed to gather the needed information on the proposed new service and to hold public meetings in each area to discuss the service to be offered.

It was tentatively suggested that new ambulance districts be created in the western portion of the parish service Johnson Bayou, Holly Beach and Hackberry and in the northeast area to serve the Grand Lake-Sweetlake-Klondike-Lowery areas.

Sheriff completes picture gallery

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

Sheriff James R. (Sono) Savoie has completed a project he started when he was elected Cameron Parish Sheriff in 1980.

He wanted to secure pictures of past sheriffs to hang on the wall of the Sheriff's office but he soon realized that it was almost impossible to obtain any photos furthur back than 1900, so he decided that he would start with J. A. Wakefield, who was elected April 17, 1900.

It took him a long time, but this past week he finally got the last photo, John Miller, who was elected April 22, 1924 and served three terms, until 1936.

Sheriff Savoie was first elected and took office as the present sheriff on July 1, 1980 and is serving on his third term.

He said he is proud of his record, and that there is only one unsolved murder case still on his books, the death of Ray Boy Stevens, but his department is still working on it.

He said it took three years to solve the Julia Doxey murder, the one for which Joan Benoit is now serving a prison sentence, but his department's tireless work, and the aid of District Attorney Glenn Alexander, finally broke the case.

He said that there were also four bodies dumped in the parish, one from Mississippi and three from Texas, and all the deaths have been solved during his tenure.

He is also proud of the law enforcement tax that was passed during his first term in office which allowed him to maintain a force of 71 employees, including 32 deputies, 4 investigators and jailers.

He also said he was proud of establishing a sub-station in Hackberry so the people across the river can be better served in the wester part of the parish.

Drug Awareness programs have been started during his reign in office, in all of the schools, and is an ongoing project with him.

He said that he had to have special legislation passed so he could spend more money on the summer baseball youth program to better serve the young people of the parish, from $25,000 to $50,000.

1st Sheriff in 1870

What tales the former sheriffs could tell, from the very first Sheriff James B. Kelley, who was elected September 14, 1870, to the present.

During the administration of Sheriff Charles Eagleson (father of a later Sheriff Claude Eagleson) a troublesome area was located in Johnson's Bayou. Just across the Sabine River, was the oil-boom town of Orange and to the west, the cow-town of Port Arthur, Texas.

Fugitives from these Texas towns would cross the Louisiana border into the marshlands of Cameron Parish and it was the duty of Sheriff Eagleson and his one part-time deputy, Sidney Debarge, to track them down and return them to the law in Texas.

School board seeks big cuts in budget

Faced with an anticipated $900,000 deficit this fiscal year, Cameron Parish School Board members struggled mightly on budget reductions but were able to come up with only a portion of the short fall Monday.

Supt. Thomas McCall said that about $800,000 of the shortage is due to the drop in oil and gas leases and income on school board sections. A drop in the parish ad valorem taxes and in state pupil equalization funds makes up the rest.

Board members were able to agree on the following reductions in the budget:

*Normal attrition losses -- $117,765. (Board Member Bill Morris pointed out that this really wasn't a budget cut and was just a savings due to normal attrition.)

*Eliminate South Cameron High band program -- $35,411. (There was no objection to this item as it was noted that less than 10 students are in the band now.)

*Reduce requisition cost and per pupil allocation in various subject areas--$20,000.

*Reduce teacher allocation for consumable supplies--$8,500.

*Ditto supplies--$5,000.

Two other proposed cuts were postponed for consideration until the next board meeting after three board members said they wanted to study them further. These were:

*Reduce extended employment for counselors to two weeks -- $9,055.

*Reduce extended employment for counselors to two weeks -- $9,056.

The budget that was approved by board amounted to less than 30 percent of the budget deficit.

The board also passed another budget cuting measaure that was not on its original list--eliminating the job of assistant principal at Johnson Bayou high school and reducing the position to a half day job at Cameron elementary.

Bill Morris offered the motion to make this change after the board was advised that state guidelines permitted the reductions due to the number of students involved.

Board Members Dan Billiot and Betty Seay voted against this but the other members approved it.

The board agreed to wait until the June meeting to act on another proposed cut--reducing the board's contribution to employees' hospitalization insurance, which could save $46,500.

The board also approved rescinding a recent decision to pay the parents' cost for the summer drivers education program. The board has not yet started paying this.

AMONG THE OTHER business conducted by the school board were the following items:

*Computer 1 of Lafayette was awarded a $264,087 contract for the furnishing of computers and software for Cameron parish schools including business coursework and instructional software.

*The board approved setting up summer school classes for students who failed one or more classes this year.

*The board agreed to continue a self-insured workman compensation insurance program for the coming year. The program saved the board $86,760 this year.

*The board approved the renewal of a contract with a Grand Lake alligator grower, Jerry G. Jones, to collect 1000 alligator eggs a year from school board lands for the next five years at $3 per egg.

It was noted that another parish grower had not paid for his eggs this past year and his contract will be offered someone else.

Several parents from Cameron elementary school asked the board to have two sections of the fourth grade class next year if possible. There was concern that a drop in the number of students might reduce this to one large class. The superintendent said this decision will be made when school starts this fall.

Board's graduation policy to remain

Despite a passionate plea by several members of the South Cameron High School 1992 graduating class, the Cameron Parish School Board Monday declined to rescind a policy adopted by the board two months ago pertaining to graduation ceremonies.

That policy was to not permit any senior who did not pass his or her senior exit exam and other required tests to "walk" with their fellow students at the graduation exercises.

Two seniors at South Cameron high school failed to pass their exit exam this year and under the policy will not be allowed to take part in the graduation ceremony.

Fellow seniors asked the board Monday to permit these students to be in the graduation even though they would only receive a blank sheet of paper instead of a diploma. They noted that these students had already purchased their invitations and graduation photos.

The students argued that since the board had only adopted its policy two months ago the students were not given enough notice. They asked that the policy be suspended for this year only.

Supt. Thomas McCall said he understood the students concern but that the present graduates had been told when they were in the 10th grade that they could not graduate if they did not pass the exit exam that had been mandated by the legislature. He said that this information had been sent home to the parents and it had been published in the newspaper.

McCall said that the policy officially adopted by the board two months ago had only formalized what had been the policy for the last few years.

Board Member Bill Norris noted that he had brought the matter up at last month's meeting at the request of some parents and the board then had agreed to not change its policy.

Dan Dupont asked what kind of signal the board would be sending the other students who passed the test if it permitted students who were not graduating to receive the same recognition as the ones who were.

The South Cameron students read a petition signed by all of the graduating class noting that the class was "very close" and urging that the two students be allowed to march with their classmates.

A parent asked the board if the two students retook the exit test and passed it at a later date could they march with the 1993 class. Supt. McCall said that would be possible.

Upon a motion offered by Mr. Dupont the board voted unanimously to keep the same graduation policy.

Consolidation considered

The Cameron Parish school board members, faced with nearly $1 million deficit this year, Monday agreed to look at one possible budget cutting alternative that is sure to be controversial--school consolidation.

Near the end of a long discussion on possible cuts, Board Member Karen Nunez said that if the board really wanted to make some big cuts they should consider consolidation of the Grand Chenier and South Cameron elementary schools which are located about 15 miles or less apart.

Bill Morris said he wasn't too interested in consolidation due to travel time involved for young children but Nunez said that her children were riding a bus for longer distances in the Grand Lake area where the Grand Lake and Sweetlake schools were consolidated some years ago.

The board agreed to ask Supt. Thomas McCall to come up with figures for them at the next meeting as to what the savings would be if the two schools were consolidated.

Grand Lake sets graduation Mon.

MRS. BERNICE DENNY, Cameron Parish columnist, right, and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Fox, are shown walking in six inches of snow in Sioux City, Iowa during a recent trip to the midwest.

MUSING . . . By Bernice Denny

Bernice enjoys a trip to Midwest

My son-in-law, daughter, and I have recently returned from a more than 2,800 mile trip that carried us through ten states. Our first destination was Sioux City, Iowa, where we spent a week with my granddaughter, her husband, and two little ones.

From there we drove to Columbia, Tennessee, to spend a weekend with friends. Our first night of the trip was spent in Joplin, Missouri.

On our way to Columbia we spent a night in Marion, Illinois. As we drove through St. Louis, I was reminded that it was the birthplace of my Grandfather Hollister.

Sioux City is a city of hills and overpasses. It lies on the east side of the Missouri River below the mouth of the Big Sioux River. I think of it as being one of triplets, for North Sioux City lies in South Dakota and South Sioux City in Nebraska. My grandson-in-law works for Iowa Beef Production with his office in Nebraska.

The town in Iowa was laid out in 1854 and named for the Sioux Indians who lived in the region. It founder was John K. Cook, a surveyor for the federal government.

During the week before our arrival the temperature had risen to 70 degrees. Two days after we got there a severe winter snowstorm moved in. Snow fell for 24 hours. Six inches of it. We had taken only light wraps.

My granddaughter's home is at the top of a hill. We stood at the windows and watched the whirly white stuff fill the air; swirl in the strong wind; then settle in heaps along fences and buildings. The temperature dropped to 24 degrees with a wind chill factor of -4 degrees.

When the snow ceased, my granddaughter bundled her mother and me into boots and jackets, hoods and scarfs and led us out for a tramp in the snow. She helped little Jeremy build a snowman. My son-in-law had the experience of shoveling six inches of snow to clear a path.

Late one evening we watched from the living room windows as four deer emerged from a clump of trees and gracefully circled around the yard and leaped down the hill.

Towering above the city is the Floyd Monument, the first registered national historic monument in the United States. The shaft marks the burial place of Sergeant Charles Floyd, the only fatality of the Lewis and Clark Expedition and the first United States Soldier to die west of the Mississippi River in the area of the Louisiana Purchase. His grave was long a marker for navigation and today remains one of the few landmarks of that great expedition.

One afternoon we visited the Segeant Floyd Welcome Center -- an all inclusive museum/gift shop/ information center. The Sergeant Floyd was in reality a river boat that was launched as a tow and workboat in 1932 by the Kansas City Corps of Engineers. It was named the Sergeant Floyd in honor of Sgt. Charles Floyd whom we mentioned earlier.

In the museum located on the upper deck was an old, old canoe hollowed out of a black walnut tree. As I looked at it I wished that trappers and hunters in Cameron might see it. I knew that they, too, would marvel at the difficulty of hewing into that hard wood.

My daughter bought among other souvenirs the state rock of Iowa, the geode, to bring back to her sons. I bought a book of Iowa ghost stories. Perhaps I shall share some with you in a later column.

One last thought: The coffee in Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois was as strong and good as ours in Cameron Parish.

Importance of 911 told

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The Cameron Parish Police Jury tentatively plans to call an election on July 18 on a 52 cents a month service charge on all residential telephone bills to finance a 911 emergency system for the parish. The following is the third in a series of articles on the E-911 system.)

In emergency situations, people are often confused, in shock, panicky and under stress. It becomes difficult to remember or quickly look up police, fire and ambulance phone numbers. It can also become difficult to effectively communicate the emergency or where it's occurring.

When seconds count, the Emergency 911 number can mean the difference between life and death. The computerized forwarding of your call to the proper emergency agency, plus the display of your address and phone number on the computer's screen, enables help to be dispatched to the scene within a few seconds. The time saved in getting help can save your life or the life of a loved one.

The proposed Emergency 911 system is the fastest way to summon help in any crisis, and will be on the ballot for voter consideration for all of Cameron Parish.

The cost of establishing and operating the Emergency Telephone System will be financed by a 911 emergency service fee placed on all phone lines. This fund will be collected prior to implementation for the procuring, installing and testing equipment; creating a data base file of street names and addresses, training 911 telecommunicators and developing a public education program.

Mowers thanked for sparing roadside flowers

Dear Editor:

I and others who appreciate the natural beauty of Cameron Parish personally want to thank the Cameron Parish road mowing crew for mowing around the patches of wild flowers on the Front Ridge road.

They also spared a beautiful patch of blackeyed susans grown by the Turnbull family at the Swinging Gate corner.

The wild flowers are one of the glories of Cameron Parish. I appreciate the efforts of the police jury and everyone else in saving them so that everyone can enjoy them.

GRAND LAKE TOURNAMENT SUCCESSFUL

The Grand Lake Scholarship Association held a bass tournament last week, which brought in around 50 anglers. It was a real good tournament and I think every angler was well pleased with the way things were handled.

Money was given to the first five team stringers of 5 bass, minimum length of 12 inches, and also money for the largest bass of the tournament. The 6th thru 10th place teams received prizes and merchandise.

The big bass honors went to Richie Koonce, with a 4.63 pound largemouth, caught in Lacassine Refuge.

Team stringers went like this:
1. Lester Richard and Scootie Trosclair, 16.25, caught in the Big Burn.
2. Mike Barnett and Richie Koonce, 15.82, Lacassine Refuge.
3. Carl Broussard and Chris McCall, 15.81, Big Burn.
4. Tom Hess and Gerald Richard, 14.27, Big Burn.
5. Darren Richard and Quenton LeBoeuf, 13.45, Lacassine Refuge.
6. Phillip Trosclair and Barry Richard, 11.97, Big Burn.
7. Kevin Savoie and Rick Toney, 9.60.
8. Larry Wallace and Lance Wallace, 9.43.
9. Loston McEvers and Travis Broussard, 9.42, Big Burn.
10. Larry Landry and Jeff Gaspard, 9.27.

The tournament also consisted of a youth division with a five fish stringer of bream and white perch. Trophies and merchandise were given for the top three stringers:
1. Jessica Lonthier, 2.55 lbs.; 2. Randall Faulk, 1.91 lbs. 3. Brandon Hess, 1.52 lbs.

The folks in the Grand Lake area thank all who took part, both fishermen and helpers and those who set up this great outdoor event.

NEWS AROUND

Lacassine Refuge again produced another large bass. A 9.99 pounder was caught, measuring 25 inches in length. This is the second largest to come out to the refuge this year. A 10.4 pounder was also caught.

Ricky and Jerry Canik, two Lemesche Bass Club anglers, placed second in the Hook, Line and Sinker tournament last month with a 12.29 stringer.

Talk is now in our state legislature about a bill to abolish the La. Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, meaning stripping the commission of all duties relating to fish both salt and freshwater, and give all the authority to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

I really don't know how this would turn out. We all know there's politics involved in the commission, and we all know we have some very good personnel in our wildlife department.

As I see it, our commission is suppose to represent the people in their areas and find out what's best for our areas. In many cases, this does not happen. The commission does what it wants to. On the other hand, we know the wildlife department can do the job without the help of the commission but just how far up above them will the politics go. As I see it, take away the commission and the governor will be the killer shark and then you know what we'll have. Timw ill tell - I'm beginning to wonder if maybe the redfish and speckle trout game fish statutes don't have something to do with all of this.

Sabine Refuge has really been producing some nice bass. Oh, maybe not the 8 to 9 pounders, but lots of 3 to 5 pounders.

There were several of us from the Creole area who went and averaged right at 3 pounds per bass. It's a long ways to travel, not only b road, but about 45 minutes by boat.

The way I see it, if you add it all up, it's very well worth the travel.

As I was telling you a couple of weeks ago, there are eight options as to what to do with teh National Refuges.

At the present time, we enjoy hunting and fishing and other recreational activities from our U. S. Refuges. Two of the alternative plans call for the refuge system becoming an "inviolate sanctuary" for wildlife and all hunting, trapping, fish for sports, recreational, commercial, subsistence, or management purposes would be prohibited. All refuge uses and management activities would be greatly curtailed. The act would establish a National Wildlife Refuge Service, completely separae from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, to manage the new refuge system.

No attemps would be made to manage the refuge system biological diversity.

If this Alternative A plan or even any change in the system or the other alternative plans happen, we as citizens living as we do among these national refuges, could sure be hurt and not be able to use resources in our back yards. Something else, the Refuges are getting more and more lands and again this takes this out of the system. Also, I'm wondering how many refuge personnel will lose their jobs.

I've got the plan from Washington D. C. if any one would like to come by my office and look at it.

School board will intervene in suit

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following statement was provided by Cameron Parish School Supt. Thomas McCall on behalf of the parish school systems involved.)

There has been considerable discussion about funding for education in the State of Louisiana for some time. During the last few weeks, two lawsuits have been filed against the State of Louisiana which deal with state funding of public education.

These suits address the issues of "adequacy" and "equity". Besides the suits, much attention has been focused in the Legislature on proposed changes in the vehicle for the distribution of state educational funds, the Minimum Foundation Program funding formula.

The Superintendentends of the parishes who would be adversely affected by the proposed Minimum Foundation formula modification are united in their positions regarding the issues of adequacy and equity of state funding.

Regarding adequacy, the Superintendents strongly contend that the current level of state funding of K-12 education is inadequate and needs to be addressed immediately.

Regarding equity, the Superintendents unanimously agree that should the proposed Minimum Foundation Program funding formula modification be adopted by the Legislature, the "hold harmless in perpetuity" provision be part and parcel of that modification. In essence, the Superintendents strongly urge that the proposed Minimum Foundation Program formula not be funded at the expense of their respective school districts.

To protect their interests, the School Boards listed below have retained counsel to intervene in the two lawsuits which have been filed against the State of Louisiana.

The marshes of Johnson's Bayou were full of trappers and trappers camps. These men came from all over the country and were a breed all their own.

He was known by everyone by his constant, tuneless whistle. Immediately upon mounting a horse, he bagan to whistle-thus he was identifiable even in the dark.

SHERIFF CRAIN

"Cameron has a rare sheriff" was the headline of an article dated July 10, 1919, in the Lake Charles American Press stated that during his two terms of office, Sheriff D.R. (Dunk) Crain, who served the terms from 1912 to 1924 never carried a gun and was the keeper of a jailhouse whose cells had never been occupied, except by cobwebs and corn, during years of its existance.

The hanging of Ned Harvey in 1925 was the last public execution to take place in Cameron.

MARK RICHARD

Mark Richard was Sheriff during the time Huey P. Long was governor of the State of Louisiana. All sorts of gambling, dice tables, blackjack tables and slot machines were freely exhibited and operated in every business place, even grocery and drug stores.

In his last term of office, World War II was in progress.

A curfew was imposed whereby persons had to be off the streets by 11 p.m. Curtains had to be drawn on the south side of homes facing the water because of the possible enemy submarines lurking in the Gulf. The Coast Guard maintained a station in Cameron with about 120 men.

During this time a deputy sheriff was patrolling the street and spotted a man on horseback. He called to the man to halt and state his name and business. The story goes that the local fellow stuttered, and of couse as excited as he must have been at being seen, could not immediately answer. He was shot and killed.

SHERIFF CARTER

The wooden hull boats fishing in the Gulf of Mexico carried a captain and a crew of as many as 28. These men came from all over the country and many were fugitives from justice. Stabbings, drownings, and gun battles were not unusual.

For this reason during the month of the fishing season, the town of Cameron had a curfew for the pogymen, and they were not allowed on the streets of Cameron after 9 p.m.

These are but a few of the tales from the tenure of the local sheriffs but they have all been good and stalwart men.

SHERIFF LIST

James B. Kelley, 9/14/1870; John W. Sweeney, 11/7/71; Norbert LeBouff, 2/1.5/73; C. M. Thayor (Apptd.), 4/21/73; A. R. Carpenter, 11/2/74; C. Peveto, 11/7/76; Anthony Jones (Apptd.) 6/16/77.

Cameron teachers are the best paid

—CAPITAL NEWS—

The average salary for Louisiana's public school teachers is higher than it is in nine other states this year, but the range of salaries among the 66 different school systems puts pay in some areas far below others.

Cameron Parish salaries, for instance, top the ranks for teachers with bachelor's degrees and maximum experience and are in the top five in several other categories. They fall to seventh for beginning teachers with doctorates.

The Louisiana Association of Educators released its rankings of average salaries paid in each of the school systems in the state in conjunction with its national group's rankings for each of the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The parish rankings can be somewhat misleading, according to the report, because 19 school systems in the state pay salary supplements based on additional revenues, usually sales tax receipts. Those supplements are not included in the salaries when the comparison is compiled by the LAE-NEA research staff, largely because they vary depending upon what tax receipts are for the year.

The rankings show that beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees in Cameron Parish earn $20,650 a year, the fifth highest pay in the category. Their counterparts in St. Charles Parish lead the state at $22,695, and those in Bogalusa and in St. Helena, Grant, Union and Red River parishes trail all others at $14,631 plus a tax supplement.

The maximum a Cameron Parish teach with a bachelor's degree can earn is $35,782, the top pay in the group. The lowest salaries go to those in the same five districts ($22,846).

A novice with a master's degree plus 30 hours is earning $21,438 in Cameron Parish, which is fourth on that list. St. Charles again tops the ranking with $22,990, and the same five districts are at the bottom with $14,984 plus a supplement.

A teacher with the same education but 25 years experience is being paid $36,574 in Cameron Parish to rank second. St. Charles' teachers lead with $37,364 this year, while those in the bottom five districts are being paid $24,979. the report does not show any supplement at that pay level.

The minimum salary for a Cameron Parish teacher with a doctorate degree is $22,495, its lowest ranking on the report. The salary for 25 years experience is $38,195, putting the parish in second place again.

In St. Charles Parish, a first-year teacher with a doctorate is receiving $24,617 and one with 25 years in the classroom is being paid $38,713 to lead both rankings. Their peers in the bottom five parishes will get $16,223 plus the supplement for novice teachers and a flat $26,020 with maximum experience.

The base state salary for public school teachers ranges from $14,631 for a first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree to $26,020 for a teacher with a doctorate and 25 years experience. Most local systems supplement the state base in varying degrees.

The national ranking shows the average teacher salary in Louisiana is $26,240. That is well below Connecticut's average of $43,808 (the highest in the nation) but better than South Dakota's average of $22,376 (the lowest of the 51).

West Virginia, New Mexico, Utah, Idaho, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Arkansas, North Dakota and South Dakota are the only states paying teachers less than Louisiana does. The average salary in Texas is $27,658 this year, ary in Mississippi it's $24,366; and in Arkansas it's $23,611, the NEA statistics show.

Glaucoma unit to be here Wed.

The test will be given free of charge from 9 a.m. till 2 p.m. in the unit which will be parked at Wakefield United Methodist Church.

Staffing the unit will be local Lions volunteers headed by Ed Kelly and Dr. Don Ellender, of the Louisiana State Association of Optometrist.

Hosp. setting up system for rural dialysis patients

The South Cameron Hospital will be one of the ten hospitals in a five-parish consortium that is setting up a rural health transportatin system to provide transportation for patients who need regular dialysis treatment.

Joe Soileau, administrator for the South Cameron Memorial Hospital at Creole, said the consortium, which his hospital is instrumental in forming, will apply for a $900,000 federal grant for a three year period to purchase four vans and equipment and pay the salaries of four drivers.

He said that St. Patrick's Hospital in Lake Charles, which has a dialysis department, has agreed to put on a second shift of hospital personnel to take care of the additional patients that would be brought to the hospital.

Soileau estimated that there were 25 to 35 patients in the five parish area who need kidney dialysis treatments on a regular basis.

If the program is approved, one van will serve the DeQuincy-Starks-Beauregard parish area, one the Cameron and South Lake Charles area, one Allen and Jeff Davis parishes and one the Lake Charles-Sulphur-Vinton area.

Soileau said this was a new federal grant.

In conjunction with the dialysis service, a cardiac monitoring system would also be set up in all of the hospitals and tied in with St. Patrick's hospital in order to give quicker and better treatment for heart attack patients.

Do You Remember?

KLONDIKE KINKS

The annual pest of our farmers, chicken mites, have taken possession of the school.

The tenants are calling for water for the rice. There are also some worms getting in their work on the younger rice.

The big pump started up Sunday. The big blow of the 24th of April was quite serious for a few moments.

The feed crop is running short at Hotel G. owing to the absence of Mr. F. C. Harrison.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER
(By Jerry Wise)

People make a mistake when they attempt to compare daily and weekly newspapers; they lie in two different provinces. The dailies can have the earthshaking events, the murders, revolutions, and threats of wars, but the weeklies are content to cover simpler and homier things, the day-to-day happenings in the lives of just common folks.

As way of illustration, we plucked the following items out of the columns of our correspondents this week. The dailies would consider these trivial, but to you and I such things are the true reflection of life around us, constantly beginning, changing and starting all over again.

From Bernice Stewart over Lowery and Klondike way comes this report:

"We would know that the good old summertime was just around the corner even if we hadn't seen the landscape covered in pale pink blankets of golden hearted buttercups, for Ronald and Bernie, young sons of the Cleveland Broussards, have been swimming in the rice canals at Streeter's Ranch."

And Elora Montie, our ace reporter on Grand Chenier, writes:

"The Grand Chenier highway is in color again. A few weeks back it was the iris which set off the road scenery, now the oleanders are in glorious bloom. Many folks have planted these beautiful plans in front of their homes, following the lead of Mrs. Lee Nunez, who was one of the first to plant them here."

CAMERON PORT AUTHORITY PROPOSED

Creation of a port authority for Cameron was proposed at the Wednesday luncheon of the Cameron Lions Club, and a resolution was adopted creating a committee to confer with Rep. Alvin Dyson on the possible introduction of a bill in the state legislature for that purpose.

The motion was offered by Sheriff O. B. Carter, who said the move would halt encroachment by the Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal district upon water areas in Cameron Parish.

He said that at the last session of the legislature, a Calcasieu representative had introduced a resolution which would have extended the Lake Charles Harbor District all the way to the Gulf, giving the district control over the land three-quarters of a mile on each side of the ship channel. He said the bill was introduced without the knowledge of Cameron leaders, but that it had been killed after Cameron officials found out about it and protested.

The sheriff said a port authority or dock board, for Cameron would also be in a position to develop port facilities for Cameron should the opportunity ever arise for such in the future. He pointed out that such towns of Delcambre, Krotz Springs and Monroe have dock boards, even though they do not have any dock facilities.

The club also discussed the possibility of getting a Cameron Parish pilot association created, to pilot ships from the Gulf to the Cameron-Calcasieu Parish line. At the present time, the Lake Charles Pilot Association pilot ships all the way into Lake Charles.

TRACK STARS

Two Cameron Parish athletes won state-wide recognition this weekend. South Cameron High's Kenneth Dupont set a new state Class B record in the pole vault, and Grand Lake's Connie Mac Guidry won first place in the state shot put competition.

Dupont's record of 12 feet, 2¼ inches for the pole vault was set at the annual Class B track meet held in Lake Charles. He broke the 11 foot, 6 inch record set in 1958.

Connie Guidry put the shot 43 feet, 9 inches to win first place in the state class C track meet in Natchitoches. Team mate Bob Gilmore placed second in the discus throw.

In other athletic events last week, the Hackberry boys placed first in the district softball playoff, and Grand Lake placed second. The South Cameron girls placed second in softball.

RECREATION CENTER

Work has begun on the Cameron recreation center. A 60 by 120 slab is being poured and in a few days the metal framework will be going up. The building will cost approximately $150,000 to be paid off over a five-year period by the sponsoring organizations--the Lions, VFW, Fur and Wildlife Festival and the Optimists. The building will be completed sometime in June.

(Abbeville Meridional, May 8, 1909)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

May day came in with an overcoat this year sure. It was cold enough to make a fire feel very comfortable.

The carpenters have finished their work putting up a new shed at the pumping plant and partitioning the store room making it more suitable for dwelling purposes.

All Monroe families and several of Lakeside had a fishing party at Honchos old place; Sunday they caught 19 gaspargoo and had a big dinner.

The water in the lake is getting quite low again. It is very likely some of the big pumps have started. The rice here is about ready for water.

CAMERON INSPECTED FOR CONVERSION PLANT

An official inspection of Cameron as one of the proposed sites for a two million dollar experimental plant to turn sea water into fresh water was made by a representative of the U.S. Interior Department Friday.

Engineer E. E. Caldwallader seemed impressed with the facilities available in Cameron, but told local leaders not to et their hopes up as there are 30 other communities on the Gulf Coast competing for the plant.

He inspected two proposed sites for the plant on the beach east of Cameron. One was several acres owned by Buster Rogers near the town dump and the other was the old Broussard Hotel property. Mr. Caldwallader said either one would be adequate for the purpose.

He explained to the Cameron group that he had intentionally skipped Cameron two weeks ago when he had been due to make an inspection here. He said a civic leader at Grand Isle had given him the impression that all there was to Cameron was "a couple of stores." He said he later was advised by Washington to come back and make the inspection here, and that he was pleasantly surprisedto see such a big town.

Mr. Caldwallader said that no decision as to the plant site hd been made and that "Cameron defitely was in the running". A site is expected to be selected this month. He said that a number of plants would be built, and that Cameron would be considered each time a new plant was proposed.

Meeting with Caldwallader were Police Jurors Eraste Hebert, Conway LeBleu, Bernard Duhon and Archie Berwick, Rep. Alvin Dyson, Joe Doxey, E. J. Dronet and Leslie Richard.

RAT TALES

The Police Jury got to discussing the rat poisoning program Monday and promptly got into a tall tale telling contest. "Tumpy" Hebert said the Cameron rats weren't so bad, that he had been walking down Ryan Street in Lake Charles one night, looked into a vacant store window and saw a swarm of rats "dancing around on their hind legs."

Joe Doxey said he could top that. A local housewife had informed him that she had caught a couple of rats hauling eggs into her attic one night -- one was pulling and the other was boosting.

WOODMAN OF THE YEAR

Jimmy Derouen has been named "Woodman of the Year" for 1958 by Woodman of the world Camp 706. Shown above presenting a plaque to Mr. Derouen and a gift to Mrs. Derouen are Edison Mhire, local WOW commander, and Gerald Guidry, secretary.

Peripheral Vascular Disease...

It may not be as serious as it sounds; and surgery may not be necessary.

Peripheral Vascular Disease (blockage of blood vessels in the legs) is very common in Southwest Louisiana, but it may not be as serious as it sounds. Appropriate diagnosis may be as simple as obtaining a peripheral vascular study "echo" with vascular ultrasound. This diagnosis can be established as an outpatient through the Peripheral Vascular Lab, a branch of the "Outpatient Cardiology Services" at St. Patrick Hospital.

The best treatment:

★ Proper diet
★ Regular exercise program established by an exercise physiologist
★ Smoking cessation
★ Physician referral for medical management of elevated cholesterols if needed

For those few people who do need more involved care, the resources of the "Regional Heart Center" are available.

Remember, early diagnosis and treatment are important and can be done with convenience as an outpatient.

By JOE MUELLER

The South Cameron Tarpon football team, which had a successful season in 1991 advancing to the state quarter finals with only five seniors, is in the midst of spring football workouts.

JULY 26 COMMENTS DEADLINE

TEDs regulations comments sought

(From Plaquemines Watchman)

The National Marine Fisheries Service has released their proposed TEDs regulations. The new regulations require the use of turtle excluder devices in all waters, inside and outside, year round.

Skimmer, wing nets and beam trawls are exempted from TED requirements as are trawlers who pull in their nets by hand. When special conditions arise, such as large amounts of seaweed, TEDs regulations may be suspended. But they would require trawls that are rigged for fishing to use TEDs at all times, as well as rock shrimp trawlers.

Part of the regulations call for notifying fishermen that Marine Fisheries may seize shrimp taken in violation of TEDs. They would also make it illegal to sell TEDs that don't meet regulations.

Under their provisions, some areas could be closed to shrimping if large numbers of dead turtles are found washed up along the shores.

Marine Fisheries has also recommended shrimp-loss studies for new TEDs and have specified general standards for hard TEDs.

Residents may make comments on the proposed regulations until July 26. Comments should be directed to Nancy Foster, Office of Protected Resources, 1335 East-West Highway, Silver Spring, Maryland, 20910.

After the 90-day public comment period, the reglations should go into effect.

Meetings of the commission are open to the public.

Shrimping begins soon

The brown shrimp season in Zone 2 of the state's inshore waters will open at 6 a.m. May 18, according to the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Zone 2 lies in the central coastal area from which South Pass of the Mississippi River to the western shore of Vermilion Bay and Southwest Pass at Marsh Island.

Opening of the brown shrimp season in Zone 1 is set for 6 a.m. June 1, 1992, and in Zone 3 for 6 a.m. June 1, 1992. Zone 1 is located from the Mississippi state line to South Pass of the Mississippi River. Zone 3 stretches from the western shore of Vermilion Bay and Southwest Pass at Marsh Island to the Texas state line.

The brown shrimp season opening dates were set by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission after a public hearing in New Orleans attended by representatives of the shrimping industry and conducted by department biologists.

The biologists reported on the basis of scientific studies that by the opening dates, all three zones should be producing shrimp at least 50 percent of which would reach the size of 100 per pound.

IN EFFECT SINCE JAN.

Jury tells used tire regulations

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has announced these new regulations pertaining to used tires.

Due to the new Department of Environmental Quality regulations that went into effect Jan. 20, all used tires are now manifested. All tire dealers are required to be licensed and must keep a manifest on used tires and how the tires are disposed of.

Anyone hauling over five tires must have a transportation permit and a manifest on where the tires came from.

Cameron parish residents will now be required to sign a form that tells how many tires they are disposing of. However, no one will be able to haul over five tires to the sites without a proper manifest.

All tire dealers are urged to get properly licensed with the Louisiana Department of Environmental Quality.

The Cameron solid waste collection site located on Trosclair Road and the Hackberry site located on Maggie Hebert Road will be permitted with the Department of Environmental Quality to stockpile tires. Tires may be stockpiled at these sites for up to one year at a time.

The outlying collection sites will still collect tires from residents. The Collection Site Managers will be required to obtain all manifests from tire dealers and have residents sign a form when bringing tires from their home.

What's the best exercise for the average person?

By PETER M. ABEL, M.D.

Walking: that's my almost universal recommendation to my patients. Not jogging. Just walking at a brisk but comfortable pace for 20 to 30 minutes, three times a week.

Not a very exciting or trendy answer, I suppose. But it's an answer born of long experience with the realities of exercise physiology, cardiology and human nature.

An orthopedist I know refers to himself as "an athletic trainer for the middle-aged." He spends much of his average day treating injured knees, damaged ankles and tennis elbows among people who, for the most part, are trying to exercise beyond their capabilities.

Let's be realistic: for most of us, exercise just isn't that much fun over the long haul. An enthusiasm for a certain sport may keep us active for a time. But such enthusiasms tend to be short-lived or produce injuries that sideline us, and we drift away from them.

Unfortunately, the health benefits derived from exercise diminish rather rapidly if you quit. You have to stick with it.

Hence walking. It doesn't require expensive equipment or a great deal of time and self-discipline to go for a 20 minute walk three times a week. But the benefits to your cardiovascular system are very significant – and cumulative. There's some evidence that it's even a better way to lose weight than jogging, since you burn more fat than carbohydrates with less strenuous exercise.

Don't fall prey to the assumption that if a little walking is good, a lot is better. If you undertake to walk four or five miles a day, you'll quickly grow tired of the demands it makes on you and quit.

Stick with a brisk walk around the neighborhood – ten to fifteen minutes out and then retrace your steps. And one more important piece of advice: see your doctor for a checkup before undertaking any new exercise program.

More ghost tales

Having collected over a hundred superstitious tales of Cameron and surrounding parishes, I was interested in those of a similar nature that I discovered in and around Sioux City, Iowa. While most of those from our area deal with strange lights that fly through the air and foretell doom, buried treasure guarded by headless creatures, alligators that slither into houses and disappear, or caches of money that appear and disappear at will, those of Sioux City and the Great Lakes region tell of ghosts coming back to perform rather pleasant, harmless little tasks.

One is the story of the ghost of an Indian woman who appeared at night to cultivate a little vegetable garden for an elderly couple. She could be glimpsed on moonlit nights hoeing and tending. After showers the next morning the imprint of her moccasins was seen in the soft soil. Obviously it was the same patch that the squaw had planted centuries earlier.

Another is about Elmer and Susan and their apple orchard. Each spring they painted their initials on a Jonathan apple. In the fall they would peel the paint off, leaving green initials on a bright red apple. Elmer died. Susan, to keep up the custom, painted her and Elmer's intials on another. That fall she peeled off the paint and discover in Elmer's unusual script, "I love you, Susan".

Then there is the tale of an old fellow who died while sitting in his parlor smoking a cigar. His estate was settled. The Olsons bought the house and lvied in it for 20 years. None of the family smoked. Yet each year on the anniversary of the former owner's death cigar smoke could be seen rising from the old man's favorite chair in the parlor and smoke could be smelled circulating in adjacent rooms. Finally a child prone to asthma was born and lived in that house. The Olson's posted a no-smoking sign on the front door. Evidently the ghost was a kindly character who loved children. No more anniversaries were marked by cigar smoke.

Such are the ghost stories that I gathered while in Sioux City. Surely before ghosthood they were kindly, gentle individuals.

ROBERT AND Helen Manuel of Big Lake announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Rachel Anne, to Brennan Andre Abadie, son of Harold and Ann Abadie of Lake Charles. The wedding is set for Saturday, June 6, at 2 p.m. in St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church in Big Lake.

MR. AND Mrs. Pat (Glenda) Seay of Hackberry announce the engagement of their daughter, Tracy Lee, to Richard Alan Carriere, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie (Grace) Carriere of Sulphur. The couple will exchange wedding vows at 2 p.m., June 20, 1992, in St. Peter Catholic Church in Hackberry.

I would not hesitate to say that the United States is the finest society on a grand scale that the world has thus far produced.

Reunion set at G. Chenier Park

Litter is a big problem

Dear Editor:

I would like to address a current and lingering problem in Cameron Parish. As everyone knows the economic situation in Cameron Parish is in steady decline. According to all surveys conducted, tourism is one of the ways to improve our economy.

One of the problems confronting those interested in tourism is the litter situation. Our dithes and roadsides are literally covered with litter.

The business of litter should concern us all; that is public, local government and state government.

When we address this litter problem, we find that sometimes one group will blame the other group for no success. Each month letters are sent to public officials concerning this matter. With their efforts limited by budget cuts their efforts are limited. The only way to alleviate the litter problem is to stop blaming the other person and go to work.

1. The most important is to educate the public not to throw their litter on the highway.

2. Have the public through voluntary service to take part in cleaning the highways through organization effort with assitance from state and local government.

3. The public must aid the Sheriff and District Attorney in the enforcement of litter laws. The difficult problem of enforcement cannot be accomplished by them alone. They need backing from the public.

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee stands ready to assist any one or organization in clean-up efforts and will listen to any plans or assitance devoid of criticism of public officials.

With the help of oil companies and people from all parts of the state including school children our beaches have a cleaner look than they had in 1986. The same can be accomplished on our highways.

The answer is stop complaining and go to work.

If you need bags or help in planning a road cleaning project, the members of Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee are ready to assist you in your planning.

Also feel free to call me at the Chamber of Commerce, phone 318-775-5222 or write the Chamber at P.O. Box 590, Cameron, La. 70631, or call 775-5493.

We hope to write more about litter control in future articles.

Sincerely,
/s/ Edwin A. Kelley,
Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce Touris
Committee

911 would summon all type of aid

(Fourth in a Series)

Efforts are underway to establish a 911 emergency notification system for all of Cameron Parish. If such a system is approved by voters in the July election, residents would call this one number for any type of emerency, including fire, police and ambulance service.

What will happen when I dial 911?

1. The computer system recognizes your call as a real emergency because you dialed the appropriate 911.

2. A telecommunicator answers your call, and within seconds after the call is answered, the number and location from which the call was made appears on the telecommunicator's screen.

3. The phone number and location information will be locked into the screen, so even i fyou have to hang up or cannot speak, emergency assistance can be sent.

4. The 911 telecommunicator has single-button and speed dial transfer capabilities for contacting a wide range of numbers for emergency service providers; the 911 emergency telecommunicator can remain on the line if necessary, or hang up once the appropriate emergency service provider answers.

A single emergency number such as 911 allows callers to summon the appropriate assistance even if they are unaware of their location or service boundaries. 911 is easy to remember; even small children have been able to use the number in emergencies, but the main advantage is still the reduced amount of time it takes to report an emergency situation.

When an emergency situation arises it will be very comforting to know that by dialing 911 you can receive police, fire or ambulance services to meet the needs of any type emergency.

Hurricane season begins on June 1

June 1 marks the official start of the hurricane season which lasts through the end of November. Louisiana, with over 400 miles of coastline, is extremely vulnerable to the destructive winds and storm surge associated with hurricanes. In addition, the inland areas of north and central Louisiana are not spared from the destructive forces of tropical storms and hurricanes.

Rainfall totals of 10 to 20 inches associated with a land falling tropical storm or hurricane can cause flash flooding, and tornadoes often develop when hurricanes move inland. With this in mind, the State of Louisiana in cooperation with the National Weather Service has declared the week of May 18-24, 1992 as Hurricane Preparedness Week in Louisiana.

During Hurricane Preparedness Week, the Louisiana Office of Emergency Preparedness, parish emergency management agencies, and the National Weather Service will be involved in a Hurricane Exercise. Participants will test emergency action plans in the event a hurricane makes landfall in the state.

The 1991 hurricane season was quiet along much of the coastal areas of the United States, including the Gulf Coast, with a below average number of tropical storms and hurricanes in 1991. With the lack of significant hurricane threats to Louisiana in recent years, many people can become complacent about the threat posed by hurricanes.

During the early portion of the Hurricane Season, Louisiana residents, especially those in vulnerable coastal locations, should review actions they would take if a hurricane threatened the Louisiana coast this year. Many people never take time to think about preparedness plans, even though they live in a vulnerable area. This lack of planning could lead to a large loss of lives if a major hurricane struck Louisiana.

When developing or reviewing your preparedness plans ask yourself these questions: Do I need to evacuate for hurricanes and how early do I need to leave? Where will I go when I evacuate? How will I get there? What will I take? If I stay, do I have provisions of food and water to last several days or several weeks without normal service?

Council sets meetings for caregivers

The Cameron Council on Aging is sponsoring a Caregiver Group Meeting once a month at the Cameron Senior Center. Persons caring for the elderly or disabled in Cameron Parish are invited to attend.

The purpose of these group meetings is to provide support to those persons who so freely give themselves to the care of others. Each meeting will be a luncheon sponsored by the Council on Aging.

Participants will be supplied with information concerning assistance programs and will also be encouraged to share ideas, problems and joys with one another.

At the April meeting the group was informed that legislation has been introduced to create a "Frail Elderly Program" within the Governor's Office of Elderly Affairs.

SPRING TRAINING ENDS

Tarps are in scrimmage Tues.

By JOE MUELLER

The South Cameron football team concluded their 1992 spring drills on Tuesday, May 19, as the South Beauregard Golden Knights came to Creole for a scrimmage.

Each team had approximately 50 players on their squads.

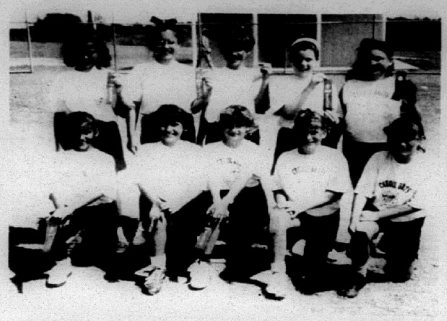
This number is up for the Golden Knights who will have a new coach this year.

The scrimmage opened with the 8th grade and freshmen playing to a tie as each team scored twice.

The junior varsity teams then played and the Golden Knights from Beauregard Parish outscored the Cameron Parish team, two touchdowns to one.

In the varsity contest the Tarpons held the Golden Knights scoreless as they played very aggressively and recovered a couple of fumbles.

On offense the Tarpons put the ball in the end zone four times. Travis Pradia, Jody Lavergne and Rusty Welch all scored on runs inside the 20 yard line. The Tarpons other touchdown came on a 30 yard pass from Chris McCall to Todd Conner.



Both teams will resume practice in early August for the 1992 fall season.

Coach LaLande reported that all the players got to see considerable action in the scrimmage and he said he was pleased with the effort and some questions were answered about the team and others still need to be answered.

The Tarpons open the season in the Iowa Jamobree then their first game of the year will be against DeQuincy at home.

The Tarpons last year finished in a five way tie for first in District 6AA and entered the state playoffs as Number 2 from the District. They won two playoff games beatig Block 14-6 and DeQuincy 17-13, before losing to Haynesville in the quarterfinals.

AREA FISHING

Area fishing is holding on. The fronts and hot days have slowed bass fishing downa little, but it's not bad at all. White perch and bream fishing on the deep canals of the Big Burn has been good.

A few local anglers made a trip to Toledo Bend in the last couple of weeks. White perch on shiners has really been good.

Bass fishing has been good, using spinner baits in 8 to 10 feet of water and of course the worm fishing.

The May speck fishing around the Calcasieu Lake area is picking up. A couple of us made a trip last week, using beetle grubs and top water lures and really had a blast on the specks. We also used a rattle trap and did good in the shallows.

This is the time of the year you can follow the beach from Cameron to Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou and land some real fine specks.

The Mermentau River in Grand Chenier is still producing redfish and a few specks, but don't forget to fish the jetties. It could make your day. We should also see some specks along the beach at Rockefeller in fact, don't forget from the Grand Chenier jetties all along the Rutherford Beach area, should produce some nice specks this month.

Going back to bass fishing, now that it's getting hot, and with all the vegetation growing so fast, Sabine Refuge, Lacassine Refuge as well as the Big Burn will slow down. You will have to find the deep holes and surely don't forget the deep canals.

The Calcasieu River is starting to run a few nice bass for those of you who fish it. I had a chance last week to go with my brother-in-law, but decided not to. I should have gone - he had five real nice bass in the 3½ pound class and caught quite a few smaller bass that he released. I usually make a trip on the Calcasieu 3 to 4 times a year and I guess I just passed up a good one.

SHRIMP SEASON TO OPEN

It's been a long haul but the brown shrimp season is set to open for inland waters in our area, Monday, June 1. We are in Zone III which is water from Vermilion Bay to the Texas line.

These brownies usually run small, 100 to the count or more and it is hard to come up with some nice shrimp at this time. This will help our commercial shrimpers however, because these shrimp are used for canning or drying.

TOURNAMENTS

The Lemesche Bass Club will hold their third tournament of the year this Sunday, May 24. It's a pick your own partner. Members only. Weigh-in at 6 p.m. at the W.O.W. Hall.

The 7 Acre Bass Club will hold their club tournament on Saturday, May 23, at the pond from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m.

FEEDING PERIODS

Friday, May 22 - best, 4:27 a.m. and 4:47 p.m.; good, 10:37 a.m. and 10:52 p.m.

Saturday, May 23 - best, 5:17 a.m. and 5:37 p.m.; good, 11:27 a.m. and 11:52 p.m.

Boudreaux graduates

Carroll Boudreaux of Cameron was one of the graduating seniors honored by the American Marketing Association during an awards ceremony held May 6 at McNeese State University.

The ceremony was hosted by the Student Inter-Organizational Council, which is composed of representatives from student organizations in the College of Business.

DISTRICT'S HISTORY TOLD

Recreation tax on ballot for July 18

(First in a Series)

On July 18, residents of Cameron Parish Recreation District 6 will be asked to vote on renewing a 5 mill maintenance tax in the Cameron Recreation District #6.

In 1981, a group of concerned parents approached the Cameron Parish Police Jury to request the creation of a recreation district for Cameron. In response, the Police Jury called a public meeting to allow all residents to voice their opinions.

The group that met placed baseball and swimming facilities high on the list of needs for the area. Following the meeting, the Jury instructed the firm of Hackett and Bailey to draw up a preliminary set of plans for a recreation complex for District 6.

When the plans were completed, they were presented to all local civic and fraternal organizations. The Jury then requested a bond issue to construct and maintain Recreation District 6.

Questions regarding this issue may be directed to members of the Board of Directors: President, Tim Dupont; members, Jimmy LaSalle, Robin Roberts, Nell Colligan, Mike Johnson, Mary Willis, and Freddie Richard, or Secretary to the Board, Barbara Lou LeBlanc.

Core is given recognition

More than 1200 Louisiana students tested for the Creative Scholars Program this year. Students who score at or above the 90th national percentile qualify for recognition as creative scholars and are invited to participate in a two week summer program held at Natchitoches.

Two hundred Louisiana students have been selected for the program based on their test scores. Karalee LaBove is one of those students. Karalee was classified as a "Torrance Creative Scholar." This means her average score was at the 98th or 99th national percentile.

Brandon Core is honored

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Brandon Core, who attends Hackberry High School, has been named an All American Scholar, nominated by Mrs. Sherry Ross and James Ray for Mathematics.

He was also nominated as a Who's Who Among American High School Students by Lorene Tanner, school counselor.

To receive these awards a student must earn a 3.3 grade point average or above. Brandon holds a 3.7.

He is the son of Frank and Letha Core of Hackberry and the grandson of Mrs. Ella Core of Hammond.

Richard is graduated

Glenn Richard, a member of the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Dept., was one of 36 area officers who graduated from the Calcasieu Regional Law Enforcement Training Academy last Friday. He was also class president.

On Dean's List

Patricia Marie Henke of Cameron Parish was among 3,759 Southwestern University students named to the spring Dean's List. The honor is given to students who have a scholastic average between 3 and 4.

Domingue rites held

The Rev. Rogelio Ouibnyen officiated; burial waas in New Hackberry Cemetery.

Mr. Domingue died Thursday, May 14, in Hackberry.

A native of Hackberry, he had worked for W. R. Grace for 39 years. He was a Third Degree Knight of Columbus and a member of St. Peter Catholic Church. He was an avid fisherman.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Helda Bonsall Domingue; two sons, Bryant Domingue of Creole and Deral Domingue of Quantico, Va.; two daughters, Cheryl Linville of Houston and Karen Harrell of Sulphur; one brother, Wallace Louviere of Orange, Tex.; one sister, Hasel Vincent of Carlyss, and 10 grandchildren.

Honorary pallbearers were W. R. Grace employees.

Fraud ...tence is give... ...ere

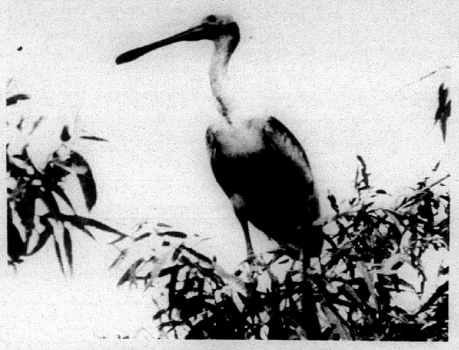
By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Todd Ballard Hines, 29, La Charles, was sentenced to four years in the Department of Corrections in 38th Judicial District Court last week by Judge H. Ward Fontenot.

This time to be served is concurrent with charges in Calcasieu Parish.

He is also to serve six months in the Cameron Parish Jail on a theft charge of $70 from the pastor of the Big Lake Gospel Tabernacle Church. His charge of unauthorized entry of a building was amended from burglary of the Big Lake Gospel Tabernacle.



Hines was arrested on charges of burglary, a count of theft, theft by fraud (by fraudently telling another church pastor that his wife was stranded in a car, thus receiving money from him), and ...inal damage to property ...ing the front door of a ...ince on Dec. 28, 1991.

Also, on Dec. 25, 1991 he was arrested for another count of theft by fraud (by telling another person that his wife was broken down in a car and securing money from him.)

Then on Jan. 2, 1992 he was again arrested for two counts of theft by fraud by misleading two Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou store owners by telling them the same story and receiving money from them.

Hines was also ordered to make restitution to victims, to receive an equal share, if any is made.

Hines was represented by Ron Ware, Public Defender's Office, and was prosecuted by Glenn Alexander, Cameron Parish District Attorney and Cecil Sanner, Assistant District Attorney.

House votes boat user fee repeal

Congressman Jimmy Hayes has joined a majority of his colleagues in the House of Representatives in voting to repeal the Coast Guard recreational boat "user fee."

Hayes has opposed the user fee since it was first enacted three years ago, and is an original co-sponsor of the legislation that led to the vote to strike the fee.

Hayes said, "Many boat owners in southwestern Louisiana have never even seen a Coast Guard vessel. The boat user fee has been a perfect example of what is wrong with government -- people are paying an extra tax for a service they literally never see."

The user fees have been widely unpopular among the boating community, which has led to only 611,167 out of the 4.1 million boat owners in our country paying for their user decal. Out of the $130 million that the government expected to collect, only $22.3 million has been paid. Fees range from $25 for a 15 foot up to $100 for boats larger than 39 feet, with fines for non-compliance reaching up to $5,000.

"This fee amounts to another tax on the middle class, who has already been grossly overburdened by our government," sayd Hayes. He cited as evidence that 52 percent of all boat owners earn less than $35,000 per year, and 74 percent of all boaters earn less than $50,000 yearly.

Shrimping begins soon

Opening of the brown shrimp season in Zone 1 is set for 6 a.m. June 1, 1992, and in Zone 3 for 6 a.m. June 1, 1992. Zone 1 is located from the Mississippi state line to South Pass of the Mississippi River. Zone 3 stretches from the western shore of Vermilion Bay and Southwest Pass at Marsh Island to the Texas state line.

Education partners program explained

Hackberry put in a bid to have the 1993 Citizenship Award banquet on Jan. 18, 1993 with John DeBarge and Jimmy Brown as co-chairmen.

Rodney Guilbeaux, Chamber president, reported that Cameron State Bank had repaired the Chamber sign that was almost completely destroyed during the recent high winds.

Ed Kelley gave a report from the tourist committee and stated that the new Cameron Parish brochure should be out this week for distribution.

Guilbeaux presented Geneva Griffith with a Chamber plaque and said the chamber had voted to make her an honorary member.

Gloria Mayard explained the Conoco "Partners In Education" project, which is a program in which a partnership is formalized between a business and a public school for the purpose of enriching the educational process by direct involvement.

She called on the Chamber to get involved in sharing the members' resources, time, talent and other expertise in the schools.

She pointed out that the schools benefit from the increased support and professional assistance from the participants.

Oil drillers, birds co-exist on refuge

A recently completed study has concluded that oil and gas drilling operations in the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge had no adverse effect on the nesting activities of birds in a nearby rookery.

According to lead researcher Chris Simon, the two-year study, funded by Shell Western E & P, Inc., included spending 45 days observing the birds' responses to vehicular traffic and drilling operations. "We concluded that nesting success in the rookery did not differ between the preliminary year (no drilling activities) and the drilling year," said Simon.

The rookery contained six bird species active in more than 70 nests. The species of primary interest was the Roseate Spoonbill, a colorful bird popular among bird watchers and photographers. Shell Western funded the second year of the study in conjunction with a gas drilling project completed at the Refuge last year. The study was performed by Simon and Doug Miller, researchers at McNeese State University.

Shell Western's funding of the study was one of several special tasks the company agreed to perform in its permit with the Refuge. According to company spokesperson Hal Edwards, Shell Western agreed to put shell and limestone on the well access board road to reduce disruptive noise caused by traffic. In addition, Shell Western eliminated all traffic between sunset and sunrise during the egg-laying and incubation period to give the birds a rest period.

"We also built a shell parking lot near the entrance to the well access road to give crawfishermen a safe place to park their cars and trucks while fishing, and we reparied a levee. Neither of these activities was in our permit, but we did them because they helped us and the Refuge," noted Edwards.

The Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, located south of Jennings in Cameron Parish, was established in 1937 as a protected habitat for wintering waterfowl. The nearly 33,000 acres are used for recreation, including fishing, hunting and bird watching. The Refuge's primary purpose, however, is protection of a freshwater marsh habitat for migratory wildlife. The Shell Western drilling project took place during the spring and summer of 1991.

Rare seabirds are sighted in the Gulf

Gary Lester, biologist with the Habitat Conservation Division of the La. Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, observed the Brown Booby and the Masked Booby birds recently in the Gulf of Mexico.

The birds were sighted on the spring Pelagic Bird Survey conducted in the Gulf in March.

The unusual sightings have been recorded with the Museum of Natural Science at Louisiana State University. The two species of boobies are pantropical, which means that they range across all of the tropics of the world.

Boobies have streamlined, spindle-shaped bodies and are generally white. They have straight, sharp bills and all dive for fish from spectacular heights over water, then chase their prey underwater.

The Brown Booby is a dark chocolate brown on its upper body and the Masked Booby is also called the Blue-Faced Booby because of its grey tinted face pattern.

They are both very rare seabirds.

Council meeting

Dinah B. Nunez, Executive Director, has announced that the Cameron Council on Aging and the Cameron Community Action Agency boards of directors will meet on Tues., June 9, at 10:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.

The meetings will be held at the Cameron Senior Center.

The general public is invited to attend the meetings.

Group formed

A parent support group for parents of children with Attenton Deficit Deficienty is being formed.

For more information, call Becky at 775-5415 or 775-5442.

Summer school set at S. C.

Classes to be offered are English I & II, General Science, Biology, Algebra I, Geometry, American History and World Geography.

Tuition will be $100 for one subject or $150 for two. The classes are open to any student in the parish.

She placed first in the girls cutting horse event, first in barrel racing, second in breakaway roping, and third in pole bending.

Jinks named for program

Mendy Jinks of Johnson Bayou High School has been selected to attend the Rogers State College Environmental Science and Math Center's summer program. Mendy is one of 50 students from a five state area selected to attend this progam in Claremore, Okla.

Mendy will attend classes in Environmental Chemistry, Environmental Biology, Environmental Math and Career Development.

She will also participate in extensive field work and research at the 120 acre Rogers State College Conservation Education Reserve.

Her final week of the six week program will be spent on a Gulf Coast Field Study Trip which will begin in San Antonio and continue through Corpus Christi and South Padre Island. Two days will be spent on the Gulf Coast visiting local sites and studying on an ocean going vessel.

Hurricane Task Force holds meeting here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Southwest Louisiana Hurricane Task Force met in Cameron Parish recently to discuss the Regional Evacuation Plan for the upcoming hurricane season.

Mike Patin, chairman of the Task Force, from St. Martin Parish, conducted the meeting.

Representatives were present from the twelve parishes along the Gulf Coast - Acadia, Assumption, Calcasieu, Cameron, Iberia, Iberville, Jefferson Davis, Lafayette, St. Martin, St. Mary, Terrebonne and Vermilion.

Present were Civil Defense personnel, jurors and employees of the Weather Bureau.

William J. Croft, Assistant Director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness from Baton Rouge, was also on hand.

Is our time coming . . ?

Last year we heard of Proposition 200, to be in the November General Election in the state of Arizona. Well, at the time it sounded stupid, funny - they can't do that. Well, as the month of November draws near we see some worried hunters, fishermen and outdoors people in that state. We also see many other states watching closely as to what can happen to Arizona could surely happen to any other state in the United States.

Last fall we heard about a group of Animal Rights people called Earth First. It appears they dressed like hunters and shot cattle and sheep during the hunting season. Some say it was just a made up story, some say it isn't. What is not a story and is true is the election to be held in Arizona this November, that we better keep up with to know what goes on, in case this should ever happen to our state.

Wildlife experts agree that Proposition 200, if passed, will effetively bring to an end all hunting, fishing and trapping in that state.

People have organized to defeat this thing on the November election ballot.

The Arizona Game and Fish Commission was the first to start the ball rolling, stating that this would give Arizona a state animal rights policy unknown in the nation.

What the Proposition 200 is saying if passed, is the people of Arizona are to make public lands safe and humane for all creatures and to manage our wildlife and protect our property by humane and non-lethal methods.

It is believed enforcement of the policy to manage wildlife only by non-lethal methods would prohibit all recreational fishing, hunting and trapping that the state of Arizona now enjoys.

It is also said by the Commissioners that even the use of mouse, gopher and rat traps on public lands, which would include public schools and hospitals, would be prohibited. Top national wildlife lawyers agree that this is what will happen if this proposition is voted on. They say voters who vote yes are saying it's evil to hunt, fish and trap.

You know what I see at stake is nothing less than their rights, your rights, my rights, our children's and grandchildren's rights to hunt, fish and trap in the state of Arizona taken away.

Who would have ever thought something like this would ever happen, especially in this great U.S.A. This is serious, people, as our state, "the Sportsman's Paradise" could be on the list. Could this happen to us? You know darn well if they conquer one state, they won't stop until they conquer 49 more states.

Can you stop again and think - here it is, residents of one of the United States of America will vote in November whether to ban hunting, fishing and trapping. It's that simple but very, very serious.

We've also got to think of what this anti-hunting etc., would do to the economy of Arizona. Think of the farmers and ranchers. No more killing of birds or animals such as coyote or wolves or trapping them. They'll eat up a rancher, and disease will surely be spread. What about human contact with infected animals, such as rabies. It would also end wildlife conservation, which would really endanger all of the wild animals and birds and fish as well.

The state's farming and ranching brings in $1.5 billion and they lose over $20 million a year to predators of livestock and crops. This would increase their loss.

I think this ban would be a financial disaster to the farmers and ranchers of that state. This would also drive up prices of consumer goods when checked out at the grocery store.

There's also $2 billion for the state in licenses, supplies, etc. for hunting, fishing and trapping that would be lost - even the wildlife conservation would end.

There are many out of state animal rights organizations pushing for this and of course they won't be affected because only those who live in Arizona or travel there to hunt, fish or trap will be affected.

This is bad for wildlife and bad for the people.

LA. FISHING WEEK

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has set June 1 thru June 7 as Louisiana Fishing Week.

Red snapper workshops set

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council will conduct a series of ten workshops to receive public input in identifying problems in the commercial red snapper fishery, and to discuss the concept of direct effort management, i.e., limited access.

In Louisiana, workshops will be held at the following locations:

Belle Chasse, Thurs., June 4, from 7:00 - 11:00 p.m. in the Belle Chasse Auditorium of the Plaquemines Parish Government Building on 106 Avenue G.

Larose, Fri., June 5, from 12 noon - 4:00 p.m., at Larose Regional Park at 2001 East 5th Street.

Cameron, Thurs., June 11, from 12:00 noon - 4:00 p.m. in the Police Jury Annex at Courthouse Square.

The red snapper stock is considered to be in an overfished state, and the current fishery management plan is designed to rebuild stocks to a level that can support continuing harvest at maximum sustainable yield by the year 2007.

Since 1990, the fishery has been operating under a quota. In 1991 the commercial fishery filled its allocation in August and commercial harvest was closed until Jan. 1, 1992. In 1992, the commercial sector filled its allocation of 2.04 million pounds in just 53 days. The recreational fishery will also most likely exceed its 1992 allocation of 1.96 million pounds.

The workshops will give the public an opportunity to express their opinions regarding problems and potential solutions for the fishery.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council is one of eight regional Fishery Management Councils which were established by the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976. The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council prepares fishery management plans which are designed to manage fish resources in the 200-mile limit in the Gulf of Mexico.

We here in La. have about 800,000 anglers who bring in over $1 billion to our economy, plus all the licenses and taxes. There monies also help our state biologists to keep up and see how to improve or better our fishing in this state.

Something that I found quite interesting was that all the projects to stop coastal erosion in our state have been paying off. Remember like the Christmas tree project that has been going on for a couple of years. We see many such projects such as the one between Holly Beach and Constance Beach.

According to the Corps of Engineers, erosion on the coastal plain has gone down from 40 square miles a year to 20 square miles a year. Some say it is only 5 percent reduction, but no matter, we are seeing an effort to keep from losing so much land to the Gulf waters.

Some of the projects in our parish to help conbat erosion are: Cameron-Creole Watershed Protection, Sabine Refuge Protection, West Hackberry Plantings and Cameron Prairie Refuge Protection which should be funded for the 1992-93 fiscal year.

S. Cameron club at Achiev. Day

Over 150 4-Hers from across the parish participated in this year's Cameron Parish 4-H Achievement Day, held in Grand Lake on April 4. The South Cameron High School Jr. 4-H club was represented by nine members at the event.

Participating were Shannon Suratt, Michael Sellers, Sarah Henry, Mark Miller, Danielle Shay, Jennifer Savoie, Scott Canik, Jennifer Harper, and Kristi Jo Dupuie.

The group took home more than 20 individual ribbons and also placed third with their club yell.

Reporter, Kristi Jo Dupuie

Hackberry 4-H

President, Courtney Devall; vice-presidents, Will Aucoin and Jeromy Nolan; treasurer, Elise Billedeaux; secretary, Angela Seay; reporters, Timmy Seay and Jolene Simon; parliamentarians, Ben Carpenter and Tracie Vincent; recreation leaders, Daniele Delcambre, Cheri Gray and Ashley Seay.

Only You Can Prevent Skin Cancer. . .
HOW CAN YOU PREVENT SKIN CANCER?
Even though overexposure to the sun is the leading cause, it isn't necessary to give up the outdoors in order to reduce your chances of developing skin cancer. Just use good sense and simple measures whenever you work or play in the sun — repeated sunburns are particularly risky.
Use Sunscreens to help prevent skin cancer as well as premature aging of your skin. You'll want a Sun Protective Factor (SPF) rating of 15 or higher. Women can get a little added protection by using tinted opaque cosmetic foundation along with a sunscreen. Apply sunscreen at least an hour before going into the sun and again after swimming or perspiring a lot. Don't use indoor sunlamps, tanning parlors or tanning pills.
Know The Ways Of The Rays for your best protection. You can get burned on a cloudy day. And the rays can reach down into three feet of water. Try to stay out of the direct sun at midday, as the sun's rays are strongest between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. And beware of high altitudes — there's less atmosphere to filter out the ultraviolet rays. Skiers should remember that snow reflects the sun's rays, too.
Whatever your skin type, do a monthly self-exam of your skin to note any moles, blemishes or birthmarks. Check them once a month and if you notice any changes in size, shape or color or if a sore does not heal, see your physician without delay.

Lakeside--parish's ghost town

Once upon a time (as all good stories once began) Lakeside seemed destined to become a prosperous fair-sized town.

In the early 1890's, a century ago, Dr. I. E. Hall came from Letts, Iowa, to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras festivities. From there he traveled to Mermentau on the new railway line, the Southern Pacific. At Mermentau he boarded the Steamboat Olive and traveled down into Cameron Parish looking for land to buy. He found 3,000 acres of land in what is now known as Lakeside.

Dr. Hall purchased the property, moved his family in and made a trip to Florida to buy orange trees. Later, the carload of trees was planted. The grove was about to produce when the unprecedented freeze of 1895 killed them.

Undaunted, the good doctor brought in another carload of trees from Florida. They, too, were destroyed by a killing freeze the very next year.

His next venture was in cattle raising. Sickness spread like wildfire through the herd. Relying on his medical knowledge and skill, Dr. Hall dissected one of the cows in order to identify the illness. It proved to be charbon (anthrax). He contracted the disease himself and nearly died. Dr. Remage of Jennings was called to Lakeside to treat him.

Dr. Hall was a graduate of Rush Medical College in Chicago.

After he had settled at Lakeside, he induced twenty families from the North to move there also. He organized and became president of the Lakeside Irrigation Company. On its 6,500 acres, the company built irrigation canals and installed a pumping system, the first in the area.

Dr. Hall had a small hospital on his property and he managed to get a telephone line put up between Lakeside and Mermentau. It is said that on many occasions the line was cut by individuals who resented his prosperity.

Lakeside soon boasted a two-story hotel, a one-room school and a couple of stores.

The post office at Shell Beach, which served Lakeside, was managed by Duchamps, formerly of New Orleans. Jules deLaunay carried the mail there from Lake Charles.

Bridle paths were laid out at Lakeside. A country club in the planning stage failed to materialize.

Dr. Hall must have felt disappointment when his ventures failed. In 1902, he moved to Jennings where he practiced medicine. He died in 1939.

Boat bay to be closed at Sabine Refuge

Sabine National Wildlife Refuge Manager Will Nidecker announced that the boat bay of the Grand Bayou structure will be closed beginning Tuesday, May 26, to meet the needs of the drawdown management phase of the Cameron-Creole Management Plan.

The decision was reached after discussing management options with Miami Corporation and the president of the Cameron Gravity Drainage District. A combination of very low rainfall and strong incoming tides during the drawdown caused the decision to be made.

A schedule has been developed to meet management goals without total loss of public access for fishing and shrimping. The boat ba at Grand Bayou will be closed on weekdays and open on weekends. All the flap gates at Grand Bayou will be kept open.

During the periods of May 30 to June 3 and June 11 to June 16, one deep gate at Lambert Bayou will be open continously. The other three gates at Lambert Bayou will be open only on outgoing tides.

These two time periods are during the strongest tidal events of the month when the brown shrimp are most likely to move out of the marshes.

Monitoring of shrimp, tides, plants, and salinities will be conducted as frequently as possible to be sure that the management is effective. Changes in the program will be made as conditions dictate.

On June 16, the program will be re-evaluated to determine what managament actions will be taken for the next 30 days. The drawdown phase will end on July 15.

911 system will be voted on by citizens

(Fifth in a Series)

In April of this year the Cameron Parish Police Jury created a special Communications district to explore the possibilities of establishing an Emergency 911 system. Parish emergency operations director Hayes Picou has stated that a parish wide integrated 911 system could supplement the other emergency planning system already in use.

The key to making a fully Enhanced 911 system work properly is a well developed and accurate Data Base. The system operates as follows: a caller needing emergency assistance dials 911, the call is routed to a telephone company central office which recognizes the telephone number of the caller and determines from which emergency service zone the call is coming.

Based on the data in the computer the emergency service zone is matched to the appropriate Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP), where it is answered. At the same time, the phone number that the call is coming from appears on the telecommunicator's computer screen along with the name and address.

This means that before an emergency can even be fully reported, the name and address of a person in need of assistance is available and help will be on the way in a matter of seconds.

The cost of the proposed system will be financed through a monthly fee on residential telephone bills. The 911 system could take 15 months to 2 years to implement and must first garner voter approval.

When an emergency situation arises it is very comforting to know that by dialing 911 you can receive police, fire, or ambulance services to meet the needs of any emergency.

NOTICE

Re: Public Notification for Community Water Supply Acute MCL Violation.

The Cameron Parish Waterworks District No. 2 Water Supply is operating in violation of the maximum contaminant level of coliform bacteria as set forth in the State and Federal Drinking Water Regulations. Action is being taken to eliminate the contamination.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that the presence of coliform could be a health concern. Coliforms are generally not harmful themselves, but their presence in drinking water can be associated with sewage or animal wastes. The presence of these bacteria in drinking water is generally a result of aproblem with water treatment or th epipes which distribute the water, and indicates that the water may be contaminated with organisms that can cause diseases. Disease symptoms may include diarrhea, cramps, nausea, possible jaundice, and associated headaches and fatigue. These symptoms, however, are not just associated with disease-causing organisms in drinking water, but also may be caused by a number of factors other than drinking water. EPA has set an enforceable drinking water standard for coliforms to reduce the risk of these adverse health effects. Under the standard, all drinking water samples must be free of these bacteria. A water system that meets this standard is associated with little or none of this risk and should be considered safe.

The Cameron Parish Waterworks District No. 2 submits water samples monthly, taken by the Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals. For the month of April, two (2) water samples were not in compliance with Standards. The Cameron Parish Waterworks District No. 2 completely flushed out the distribution system, increased the level of chlorination and submitted new samples to the Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals.

As of May 14, 1992 the Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals has determined that the Cameron Parish Waterworks District No. 2 has corrected the problem and is now in compliance with Standards.

The Old Farmer's Almanac has been the harvester's guidebook for 200 years now, yet its advice has often been taken with a grain of salt by the average homeowner. The Almanac's weather forecasts, however, have been surprisingly accurate over the years, and are well worth heeding.

June 1 is start of hurricane season

June 1 marks the official start of the hurricane season which lasts through the end of November. Louisiana, with over 400 miles of coastline, is extremely vulnerable to the destructive winds and storm surge associated with hurricanes. In addition, the inland areas of north and central Louisiana are not spared from the destructive forces of tropical storms and hurricanes. Rainfall totals of 10 to 20 inches associated with a land falling tropical storm or hurricane can cause flash flooding, and tornadoes often develop when hurricanes move inland. With this in mind, the State of Louisiana in cooperation with the National Weather Service had declared the week of May 18 - 24, as Hurricane Preparedness Week in Louisiana.

During the week the Louisiana Office of Emergency Preparedness, parish emergency management agencies, and the National Weather Service were involved in a Hurricane Exercise. Participants tested emergency action plans in the event a hurricane makes landfall in the state. In addition, Dr. Robert Sheets, Director of the National Hurricane Center, held a briefing for media and emergency management officials in Lake Charles and New Orleans.

The 1991 hurricane season was quiet along much of the coastal areas of the United States, including the Gulf Coast, with a below average number of tropical storms and hurricanes in 1991. With the lack of significant hurricane threats to Louisiana in recent years, many people can become complacent about the threat posed by hurricanes.

During the early portion of the Hurricane Season, Louisiana residents, especially those in vulnerable coastal locations, should review actions they would take if a hurricane threatened the Louisiana coast this year. Many people never take time to think about preparedness plans, even though they live in a vulnerable area. This lack of planning could lead to a large loss of lives if a major hurricane struck Louisiana. Some locations may take only a few hours to evacuate while major metropolitan areas may take several days to evacuate. A private transportation consultant estimated that it may take over three days to effectively evacuate the Greater New Orleans Area.

When developing or reviewing your preparedness plans ask yourself these questions: Do I need to evacuate for hurricanes and how early do I need to leave? Where will I go when I evacuate? How will I get there? What will I take? If I stay, do I have provisions of food and water to last several days or several weeks without normal service?

Remember, it only takes one hurricane striking land to cause billions in property damage and the loss of many lives. Review your actions plans and be prepared.

A hurricane is a cyclone (low pressure system) in the tropics with maximum wind speed greater than 74 miles per hour. The winds rotate in a counter clockwise direction around the center of the storm, called the "eye", where the winds are nearly calm. The wind in an intense hurricane may exceed 150 mph with gusts above 200 mph just outside of the storm's center. Hurricane force winds may extend out 100 miles from the center with gale force winds (39 mph or higher) extending outward 250 miles. Bands of very intense thunderstorms spiral outward from the eye of the hurricane for several hundred miles producing torrential rains, and spawn tornadoes when they move over land.

The very low pressure and the strong winds circulating around the hurricane over the open ocean cause the greatest danger associated with hurricanes, the storm surge. Nine out of ten hurricane related fatalities are caused by this dome of water which accompanies the hurricane as it strikes land. The extensive shallow coastal waters of the Gulf of Mexico offshore Louisiana actually contribute to a higher storm surge than the same hurricane would produce in a location which has deeper coastal water. The numerous bayous and tidal lakes further increases the vulnerability of Louisiana to storm surge flooding.

Louisiana has had its share of storm surge related fatalities. In 1957, the 10 to 12 foot storm surge associated with Hurricane Audrey killed approximatley 550 persons in southwest Louisiana. The storm surge associated with Betsy in 1965 caused flooding in portions of the Greater New Orleans Area which claimed over 75 lives. Even a slow moving weak hurricane such as Juan in 1985 can cause extensive flooding of low lying areas.

Hurricane force winds, in some cases gusting to nearly 200 mph, can cause widespread and significant damage to many buildings and to mobile homes. The strong winds can create a deadly barrage of flying debris from roofing materials, metal siding, and outdoor furniture.

Rainfall totals of ten inches or more are not uncommon when a tropical storm or hurricane moves ashore. These heavy rains can complicate drainage problems in areas experiencing storm surge flooding. If rainfall amounts of this magnitude occur over north or central Louisiana, destructive flash flooding and river flooding occurs. In 1989, Tropical Storm Allison produced 15 to 25 inches of rain over central and northwest Louisiana causing widespread flooding resulting in three deaths and 250 million dollars in property damage. In June of 1986, rainfall from the remnants of Hurricane Bonnie caused extensive flash flooding in northwest Louisiana. Over 380 homes and 20 businesses suffered damage in Shreveport.

A weakening tropical storm or hurricane over land occasionally produces destructive tornadoes. A thunderstorm in a rain band spiraling outward from Hurricane Hilda produced a violent tornado which touched down in Lafourche Parish killing 22 persons and injuring 164. In 1989, thunderstorms from the remnants of Tropical Storm Allison produced a tornado which damaged several houses in the Monroe area.

NEW CHURCH AT HOLLY BEACH
(By the Rev. Theodore Brandley, M.S. Pastor, Church of St. Peter Apostle)

Whoever crosses the Calcasieu River at Cameron and travels westward toward the Sabine, passes through one of those little known and little heard of spots in the United States. For miles, the traveler will follow a scanty, treeless ridge with only marsh land to the north and the sea to the south. In the winter the sky overhead is gray and the land all around usually gray, forlorn and bereft of even nature's most ordinary attractions.

In the summer a semi-tropical sun plays mercilessly down on the vast green countryside and on the glistening sands of the shore along the Gulf of Mexico. To the inexperienced traveler this is a dreary sight indeed, and he is bound to feel as if he were really coming to the end of the world.

About seven miles west of the Calcasieu River, along this unattractive trail, is a village known as Holly Beach--in reality now only two years old. The first Holly Beach was completely destroyed and carried away on June 27, 1957 by the memorable hurricane known as Audrey.

Whenever you go through a dusty little coastal village, and see children at play in swirling sand, and then return the next day to the same spot and find nothing but heaps of soggy sand, a few pieces of smashed furniture amid a maze of twisted wires and posts, something terrible has happened.

And that is the story of Holly Beach in June 1957. On the afternoon of the 26th, it stood on a ridge along the Gulf of Mexico, some 250 little houses and all that goes with a beach resort. In the early hours of the following day, the deadly storm came up out of the sea and, like a mighty monster, picked up the entire village, carried it across seven miles of marsh, and dumped it in a twisted mass of wreckage in the wilderness.

After the end of World War II, Holly Beach began to take shape and assume some importance as a community. At this time a "Quonset 20" was purchased and erected on the fringes of the village to serve as a Catholic church house. It was devoid of even an approach to the beautiful. It was hot in the summertime, cold in the winter. The north wind howled a fierce tune through its cracks and crevices, and the rain pattered on the roof to the sound of a host of snare drums. Indeed, this unadorned structure of corrugated metal was often passed as a warehouse or just another hastily constructed cabin.

On the dreadful morning of June 27, 1957, this grotesque little church shared the fate of the rest of the community; it was ripped from its foundations, flattened and thrown into the ditch across the road. There it remains to this day, sinking slowly below the muddy water. The altar, tabernacle, sacred vessels and vestments were never found. All that remained was a little walnut processional cross meekly leaning against the concrete foundation. This simple little cross, still bearing the marks of the storm, is now a symbolic link between the Holly Beach that was and the one that now exists.

Those who knew the old structure, and with difficulty brought themselves to call it a church, remember the heat and the mosquitoes, recall the crude pews and the unfinished floor, will gladly admit that the new church is a thousand times better.

GROUND BROKEN FOR COMMUNITY CENTER
(By Geneva Griffith)

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the $15,000 Cameron Youth Center were held Saturday morning in Bonsall Park.

The metallic structure will measure 60 by 120 feet, and the estimated date of completion has been set at July 4, according to building committee chairman Dr. Cecil Clark.

Turning the first shovels of earth were O. B. Carter, Cameron Parish Sheriff; Conway LeBleu, president of the Cameron Optimist Club, and Dr. Clark.

The center is being constructed through the efforts of the Optimist Club, VFW, Lions Club and the Fur and Wildlife Festival committee.

The idea for the center was conceived on Feb. 28, of the current year. Letters were sent out asking for contributions, and to date, $7,049 has been received.

Members of the building committee, in addition to Dr. Clark, are Linton Landry, Hayes Picou, LeBleu, Frankie Henry, Charles Rogers, Diel LaLande and Donald Pellegrin.

Serving as members of the Bishop's committee were Mrs. Absie Duhon, Mrs. Wasey Granger, Mrs. Junius Granger, John B. Demarets, John W. Farque and Woodrow Boudreaux.

ELEVATOR GETS DOOR STUCK
(By Elora Montie)

The only elevator in Cameron Parish, the one in Dr. M. O. Miller's fabulous new home on Grand Chenier, got stuck last week.

Moise Sturlese and several friends were looking the house over and had taken the elevtor to the second floor. To their surprise the door refused to open. After 15 frantic minutes of trying every conceivable means of opening the door, they finally broke it down.

(Cameron Pilot, May 22, 1959) CAMERON COTTON FARMERS
(By Jerry Wise)

Did you ever hear the story about the fellow who heard that the government was paying farmers not to raise pigs, so he wrote his Congressmen to find out how he could go into the business of not raising pigs. Said he wanted to start out small, perhaps not raise 100 pigs the first year; then expand and not raise 500 pigs the second year. The third year, he wrote, he might not raise 100 acres of corn to feed 750 pigs he didn't raise that year.

The above anecdote came to mind this week when we got a news release from the ASC office stating that some 35 of the 54 cotton farmers in Cameron parish have failed to return their cotton cards to him. All of which strikes us as funny, as here are 54 farmers engaged in the business of not raising cotton in Cameron parish (although, unlike the pig farmers, they aren't getting government aid.) For there hasn't been any cotton planted in Cameron in a number of years, and it isn't likey that there ever will be anymore planted here.

Years ago, cotton was a big crop in Cameron, and almost every old timer got in plenty of licks on cotton chopping, hoeing and picking. But mechanization and the huge cotton farms combined to put the small cotton farmer out of business. Nowadays a small cotton farmer would starve to death.

But although cotton in Cameron has long since passed into history, the government keeps on counting cotton farmers here, giving them yearly quotas, making them fill out forms to the effect that they didn't plant any cotton, etc. It's government bureaucracy at its funniest, we think.

TRACKING STORMS
(By E. J. Dronet)

Joe Worrell, Chief of the Weather Bureau at Lake Charles, addressed a meeting of parish and community Civil Defense personnel of Cameron Parish at the courthouse Wednesday night of last week.

He informed the group that new facilities are being installed at Lake Charles, one of which is a new radar scope for spotting hurricanes up to 300 miles out. The old radar scopes had a capacity of approximately 200 miles.

Mr. Worrell also stated that the local Coast Guard Station at Cameron has been designated as a signal display site for small craft, gale, whole gale, and hurricane warnings. During the day flags are flown and at night there are lighted signals to indicate the type of warnings, if any.

In case of severe hurricanes off the Cameron coast, Worrell said that they will also be able to secure the services of a hurricane hunter plane to help plot its movement and determine the severity of the winds.

Take A Safety Break

From Drowsy Driving

About 31 percent of the nearly 50,000 people killed on United States roadways each year die as a result of drowsiness and falling asleep at the wheel, a traffic fatality cause second only to drunk driving.

One hotel chain has launched an aggressive new marketing campaign targeting fatigued drivers. "Research indicates that the peak period for fatigue-related accidents is between midnight and seven a.m.," says Joe McInerney, president of Travelodge International, a division of Forte Hotels, Inc. "We want to encourage fatigued drivers to stop for the night, before they become a danger to themselves and others."

The chain's safety campaign includes billboards and print advertisements that pose the safety issue in a creative way. It hopes the message will get through to the thousands of drivers who, whether on vacation or business, push themselves too hard.

One print ad shows a dreamy illustration of a headrest on a car seat and warns in safety orange type, "Caution: use of this device as a pillow can result in serious injury." Another, for the AAA Tour book, illustrates a blurry stretch of asphalt and the eyechart headline reads, "Your vision is blurred; your judgment is impaired and the only thing you've had to drink is coffee." The copy goes on to explain the dangers of driving tired.

Sleep-induced crashes are often the most destructive kind because a sleeping driver makes no attempt to avert collision and the result is often devastation, experts say. Signs of driver fatigue include:

- Difficulties in focusing; increase in blinking or even closing the eyes for a second.
- Drifting to either side of the road.
- Taking longer than normal to react to a dangerous driving situation.
- Failing to scan the roadway and mirrors—fixing the eyes on one side of the road or straight ahead.
- Not remembering the previous few miles of the trip.

REMEMBER? By Keith Hambrick

Parish 100 years ago is described

(From William Henry Perrin, Southwest Louisiana Biographical and Historical. New Orleans, 1891, pp. 173-174).

CAMERON IN THE EARLY 1890's

Vivian McCall's article in the Lake Charles American gives this description of Cameron Parish:

With a threefold object of health, business, and a tour for the purpose of describing the productions, scenery and attractiveness of our parish, a father and his daughter left home, on horseback, last week. We traveled a distance of about forty-five miles along the sea coast, bordering the ridges under cultivation, as far to the east as Cow Island, stopping at Mr. P. V. Miller's for the first night, where we found, as at all other places, a hearty welcome and generous hospitality.

Mr. Miller is engaged in both stock raising and agriculture. He and his family own about a thousand head of fine stock, more or less graded, and the farm includes orange groves, peach orchards, and a number of large pecan trees. Crops of cotton, corn and cane remarkably good. This gentleman is one of our oldest settlers and influential citizens. Cow Island, extending about twelve miles, and the ridge, averaging one-half mile wide, are closely settled.

The next of our stopping places was at the Widow Valcent Miller's, whose farm is in a remarkably good state of cultivation, considering that it has been managed and worked by the lady, assisted only by her two daughters.

After this, a place some distance farther on, owned by Mr. Thos. Bonsal, where we admired sugar cane growing, with at least eight joints, and looking both vigorous and promising. This is a new enterprise.

Leaving Cow Island and homeward tending, we paid a visit to our old friend, Mr. Geo. Mayne, where we found an orange grove containing about two hundred and fifty trees, of which a number measure eighteen inches in circumference and about twenty-five feet high. A majority of the trees were bearing, some as many as seventy-five oranges.

Another grove farther on, at Dr. Carter Sweeney's, looked equally as fine and vigorous, as we rode along. The next place was owned by Mr. J. D. McCall, our respected uncle, and who also is president of our police jury. On his land are about five hundred fine trees; on one, at least three hundred of the desirable fruit.

Adjoining, Mr. Thos. Dolan, of like flourishing property. Next Mr. John Wetherill, whose sloping garden in front, home, orchard and grove beyond, tempted us to remain.

Passing onward, the places of Messrs. Jones and Stafford, also with fine orange groves. Next, the beautiful residence of Messrs. Doxey and son, where, as stated last year, there has been closest and skilled cultivation of the fruit trees, and scrutiny of the diseases which infest orange trees and have puzzled horticulturists for a long period. Mr. Andrew Doxey thinks

WARNS JURORS:

...st. Convention could ...t parish $ millions

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish Police Jurors heard a dire warning at their monthly meeting Monday: the state Constitutional Convention presently being considered from the Legislature could take away from the parish millions of dollars in severance taxes and road royalty funds.

Jennings B. Jones, Jr., local attorney and former assistant district attorney, said that the Convention delegates could very easily strip from the new state constitution provisions that have brought in millions of dollars in revenues to the parish over the past 50 years.

These are severance taxes on oil and gas produced in the parish and offshore and also one-tenth of royalties on state owned lands in the parish. Although these funds have decreased in recent years due to the oil and gas crunch, at one time they brought Cameron parish as much as $5 million a year.

Jones said that the mineral funds for the coastal parishes were secured in 1940 when the Constitution was rewritten and he gave Rep. John Meaux of Cameron Parish credit for seeing that this was done.

In 1974 when the Constitution was rewritten again under the leadership of Gov. Edwin Edwards, Cameron Parish Rep. Conway LeBleu was responsible, almost single handed, in saving the severance and royalty provisions, Jones stated.

Jones said that the parish might not be as fortunate this time. He that the non-coastal parishes of the state, all having financial problems, might tell their convention delegates to take these revenues from the coastal parishes and use them statewide.

The attorney said if this should happen, it would be a disaster for Cameron parish which has depended on these revenues for half a century.

Jones said that Cameron could become like a north Louisiana parish in which he recently tried a case. He said the parish was so poor that the courtroom was not air conditioned and that the attorneys sat in cowhide bottom chairs.

"You are on the verge of bankruptcy if this happens," Jones told the jurors. "People don't realise what the taxes they will have to pay. I came here to express alarm. It really scares me."

Jones said he had talked to Rep. Randy Roach, who represents Cameron Parish, who said he would try to make sure that the convention call would not include the severance taxes and royalty funds. But he said the jury needed to do some other things also.

First, he said, the jury should contact all of the coastal parish police juries and ask them to ask their representatives and senators to sponsor an amendment to protect these funds.

And second, Jones urged, the jury to call a meeting within ten days of all the coastal parishes to formulate an united effort on the matter.

Jones offered his services at no cost to the jury to represent Cameron parish at such a meeting. He also said he thought there was a loophole that the coastal parishes could use to defeat any raid on these revenues.

On a motion by Juror Brent Nunez the jury voted to follow Jones' recommendations.

Peter Jenkins

Noted author to visit here this month

Peter Jenkins, nationally known travel writer, will be in Cameron Parish some time this month during a year-long cruise along the coast in a small boat.

Jenkins gained national recognition some years ago when he and his wife walked from coast to coast and then wrote two books about their experiences. At that time he visited in the Sweetlake area of Cameron parish and included a few pages about the area then.

On Wednesday, the Cameron Pilot received a call from Jenkins, who said he was in Plaquemines parish and heading toward Cameron. He said he expects to be here probably in the second or third week of June.

Jenkins says he plans to include a section in his upcoming book on Cameron parish. He also said he is working on a book with Southern Living Magazine that will feature photos taken along the Gulf coast.

Members Absent: None.

Others Present: J. B. Watts, Billy Delany, James LeBoeuf, Pete Picou, Steve Klett, and Myles Hebert.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the March 17, 1992, regular meeting as amended.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried to approve the financial Report for the month of March, 1992.

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by W. F. Henry, Jr., and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Cameron Parish Pilot, $28.00; 2. Clayton Trahan, 50.00; 3. Lo-Lift Pump Company, 205.44; 4. Harlow Lawn Mower Service, 27.99.

Mr. Pete Picou reported a problem with drainage on the Jetty Road near Redman Supply. A motion was made by E. J. Dronet,. seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried to approve purchase of a culvert at a cost of $1,703.00, with the understanding that the parish will install it and furnish necessary limestone. It was agreed that Mr. Picou will order the culvert.

A price quote was received from Larfay Ancelet for the levee repair work as discussed at the January, 1992, regular meeting. His estimate was $6,800. it was reported that Engineer Lonnie Harper recommends getting a new maintenance permit for the entire spoil embankment from Coastal Zone Management. Myles Hebert and Tina Horn will assist the Drainage Board in expediting this permit process.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by W. F. Henry, and unanimously carried that the meeting time for the Gravity Drainage District No. 3 Board of Commissioners be changed from 2:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. on the third Tuesday of each month. This change will be advertised as a public notice in the Cameron Parish Pilot.

Billy Delany reported that freshwater structures in the Cameron-Creole Watershed have been maintained closed during flood conditions. He asked for the Board to reconsider their objection to the permit request by Miami Corporation for two more freshwater introductions into the system. He stated that the purpose is to move sediment and fresh water into the system when water levels are not at flood conditions. President Quinn stated that after we can guarantee that water levels will be maintained at certain levels, we might reconsider our objection.

Steve Klett reported that they have gotten water levels down as low as 3, but this is the lowest level we've been able to reach in the current draw-down effort. He stated that there are three basic options:

1) Leave the flapgates and boat bay open. This will give a very slow drawdown, and there will be a point at which the drawdown will cease (at about 1.0). (Option in effect for the last 3 weeks.)

2) Open the boat bay only on weekends. This will allow us to bring the water levels down a little faster. (This option would require 48 staff hours per month.)

3) Employ flapgates and boat bay on weekends and with weather fronts as well as on strong lunar tides to open and close them at proper times to maximize the drawdown. (This option would require 160 staff hours per month.)

It was agreed by consensus that the Gravity Drainage District No. 3 Board recommend option #2 above.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

he has discovered a preventative against the ravages of the scale insect, and is sanguine of success in orange culture.

This grove contains about fifteen hundred trees, some eight inches in diameter--probably the largest on our route. Close below is Mr. Andeal Miller, who has, perhaps, five hundred trees of excellent promise and variety.

Some three miles further on again, delightfully situated on the bank of the Mermentau River, is the now named village of "Riverside", as suggested, at request of the inhabitants and complimentary, by your correspondent. At this point are three stores and several residences, post-office and shipping post. We were informed by the respective merchants that there were at least two hundred thousand dollars worth of business transacted there during the year, including shipments of cotton, oranges, hides, melons, poultry, eggs, etc.

About a mile further on is the ferry across the Mermentau, where we were taken across by Mr. Willie Stafford, son of our esteemed aunt, Mrs. E. A. Stafford, who has been in charge of this, the principal and only ferry on the lower river, for some years.

Remained all night, and with pleasant recuperation and rest, besides finding our aged grandmother, now eighty odd years of age, hale, hearty and as vivacious as probably she was at eighteen. On again next morning, two miles, and reached the home of Capt. James Welsh, where there was a hearty welcome. An extensive stock owner, a flourishing farm, orange grove, and erecting a new residence.

Rutherford Jones and others were passed in succession, the first of whom has availed himself of many of the largest improvements in agricultural machinery, and is cultivating his land with the skill of advanced knowledge.

Mr. Jones, also, one of the most energetic and ingenious of stock raisers and farmers, whose genial hospitality many friends are pleased to remember and where we frequently visit in his family. A few miles farther, and reached home much improved in health and good nature.

Your readers will perceive that all this section is prolific in cotton, corn, oranges, peaches, grapes, vegetables of every description, and last, though not least, in gigantic melons, perhaps the largest, earliest and best that can be produced in our Southern country.

It is safe to surmise that at this point, above Leesburg, there could be delviered, as raised within a radius of eight miles, say, six hundred thousand melons annually, and ready for shipment from the last of May on to the end of July. If they want early melons in Kansas, or as far north as St. Louis, let there be transportation and they will be grown.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

If you're a saltwater fishermen, now is the time to dip the hook. From the Holly Beach area, Cameron Jetties up to Prien Lake, the Mermentau River, Joseph Harbor to Vermilion, redfish are biting.

There are plenty of 16 inch or better redfish now inland, and good catches are reported.

This past week anglers are catching nice reds in the Mermentau River. There were lots of boats with limits. I had three keepers, one going 12 pounds. There are also speckle trout coming in.

If you're planning on a trip, redfish rigs, white or yellow, are good. Also, red tail white grubs are good and of course fresh shrimp or fresh mullets.

On the freshwater scene, good catches of bass are being caught. Mocassin worms, 8 inch along with red shad and the little bend indigo worms. Don't forget to throw the Cajun Buzz bait, white in color and the Zara Spook puppy, bullfrog color. I you're in the deep canals, use the silver rattletrap.

TOURNAMENTS

There were a couple of tournaments last week.

Below are the winners of the Seven Acre Club tournament:

Largest Stringer: Dwayne Guilbeaux, 10-9; Weldon Authement, 8-12; Teddy Gordon, 8-2; Larry Guilbeaux, 6-13; Daniel Davidson, 3-6; Mike LeJune, 1-4.

These had to be five fish at least 12 inches long.

Largest Bass: Weldon Authement, 5-3; Dwayne Guilbeaux, 4-3; Teddy Gordon, 2-8.

The Lemesche Bass Club also held a club tournament, a pick your partner, that went like this: (5 fish stringer plus 10 fish team stringer).

The largest choupique was caught by Ricky Canik, going 6-12.

Largest Stringers: Ricky Canik, 10-10; Bobby Pinch, 9-2; Gerald Richard, 8-14; Dennis Hess, 8-12; Carl Broussard, 8-6; Jerry Canik, 8-3; James Vincent, 7-4; Johnny McDaniels, 7-2; Darren Thibodeaux, 7-0; Ernest Richard, 7-0; Vince Theriot, 6-13; Mike Johnson, 6-10; Ricky Basco, 5-10; Manson Vincent, 5-10; Fredman Theriot, 5-9; Phillip Trosclair, 5-8; A. B. Richard, 1-0; Ray Theriot, 1-0.

Team Stringer: Jerry Canik and Ricky Canik, 18-13; Gerald Richard and Tom Hess, 17-0; Carl Broussard and Vince Theriot, 15-3; Johnny McDaniels and Darren Thibodeaux, 14-2; James Vincent and Manson Vincent, 13-1; Ernest Richard and A. B. Richard, 11-1; Francis Basco and Pat Landry, 7-8; Ray Theriot and Fredman Theriot, 6-13.

I missed both of these tournaments as I was in New Orleans at a K. C. convention. However, I saw some nice bass and stringers of white perch.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A Lake Charles angler caught a 12 lb. 2 oz. bass on Toledo Bend around the middle of May. This is the third largest ever pulled out of the big bend. I'm sure Dick Gandy won't forget that trip.

There was also a Lafayette angler who caught a 242 tarpon out of Marsh Island. He had caught a 233 pounder two days earlier breaking the world class record. This is something to break a record and two days later break your own record. Ged Fleming is a happy angler.

Congratulations to Gerald Richard and Tom Hess of Grand Chenier, two Lemesche Bass Club members who took first place in the Hook, Line and Sinker Tournament a couple of weeks ago. We also had three other local teams that placed in the money.

Remember, the week of June 1-7, is National Fishing Week.

Results were: (5 bass).

Largest Stringer: Chris McCall, 10-5; Todd Conner, 9-0; Brandon Hess, 8-1; James Bonsall, 7-12; Scootie Trosclair, 6-7; Brian Richard, 4-14; Lance Bonsall, 4-8; Shawn Bonsall (4), 4-0.

Largest Bass: Chris McCall, 3-6; Shawn Bonsall, 2-10; Todd Conner, 2-6; Brandon Hess, 2-4; James Bonsall, 1-11; Scootie Trosclair, 1-10; Brian Richard, 1-7; Lance Bonsall, 1-5.

Lakeside once had hotel, hospital and newspaper

Lakeside in Cameron Parish was platted into town sites long before Lake Arthur. It once had a post office, a hotel, a newspaper, a small hospital, and several stores. The idea of Lakeside had begun in the state of Iowa.

From that state came several settlers including Dr. E. I. Hall and N. L. Miller, Miller opened a hotel and began a newspaper. Dr. Hall served the medical needs and maintained his clinic. He also took care of the mail.

The riches expected from orange groves at Lakeside faded away after the freezes of 1895 and '96. Soon thereafter Dr. Hall and Mr. Miller moved to Jennings.

From "The Lake Arthur Herald" of 1890, published by P. M. Kokanour, we find a fairly large advertisement on the front page, which reads: "Lake Side (note the two words in the name instead of the one used today.) Place on the south side of Lake Arthur, newly laid out in large lots of one, two, and four acres, especially for orange groves. Hundreds of trees bearing in immediate vicinity. Two miles of lake front. Also some of the best fruit, farming and grazing lands of Louisiana for sale at reasonable prices and on easy terms. Come and see Lake Side Place and get an orange grove or a farm. Call on or address Hall, Clarke, Estie, Shell Beach, Vermillion Parish, La." (note the two l's in Vermillion.)

Another front page ad reads: "New Store. New Goods. I have opened by store at Lake Side Place and am prepared to serve you to anything kept in a general store, such as dry goods and groceries, canned fruits, fresh fruits, notions, coffees, teas, spices, confectionery, cigars and tobacco. P. K. Miller, Lake Side, La."

In the column of personals we find: "E. DeChamps, Jr., of Lake Side and Samuel Wolf of New Orleans went to grand Chenier yesterday."

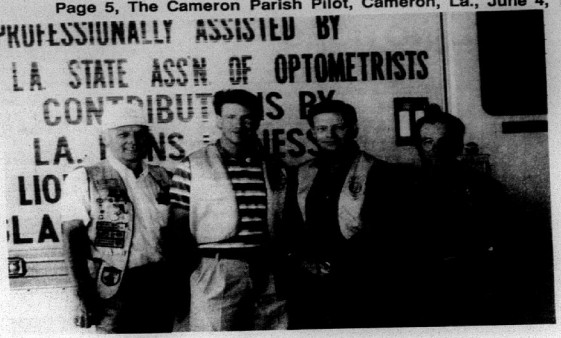
"A nine from the Lake Arthur Baseball Association, under lead of Capt. Marquart, will meet the Lake Side Club, Frank Blackburn, Captain, on the home grounds at three o'clock Saturday afternoon."

"Capt. Dyer is at Lake Charles for a second load of lumber for Lake Side."



"Capt. Henry Vaughan sailed into this harbor Thursday with his sloop "Agnes" on salt business." (For many years Capt. Vaughan lived on Grand Chenier.)

As the orange crops at Lakeside failed, the land was turned over to other agricultural pursuits, principally rice. Among the early farmers were those by the names of Fatherie, Kiplinger, McKnob and McCain, names that have disappeared during past decades.

At one time a Ms. Nunnemaker served as postmaster at Lakeside and published a newspaper. Jules and Gustave Laurents carried mail by boat from Mermentau to Lakeside.

A one-room school was maintained for years at Lakeside. Incomplete records show the following teachers there: 1912-13, Bertha Stine; 1913-14, Mattie Broadway; 1915-16, Lily Nunez; 1929-30, Margaret James replaced Inez Spell; sometime later, Sophie Doland.

In the fall of 1936, the Lakeside School was closed and the pupils were bussed to the Klondike Elementary School of which Archie Stine Hollister was principal.

Volunteers for glaucoma screening unit

56 persons tested in Cameron

For some, it was reassurance, for a few, it was an early warning of possible glaucoma and a referral to an eye doctor.

For 56 people, it was a trip to the Louisiana Lions Mobile Glaucoma Screening Unit for a free test May 20, in the unit, parked at the Wakefield Methodist Church in Cameron.

"We are sure many people are relieved to find they don't have glaucoma and we feel grateful that if any of the people referred on for further checkups do have glaucoma, that they will be able to be helped because the disease was caught in time", said Tom Place, president of the Lions Club.

Assistance for the project is provided by the Louisiana State Association of Optometrist. Local optometrist volunteering their time to give the tests were Drs. Don and Scott Ellender.

One person was found to have elevated eye pressure and was referred to eye doctors for further testing.

More on Emergency 911 system

(Sixth in a Series)

One of the most important responsibilities of local government is to provide adequate protection for the lives and property of its citizens. Therefore, most municipalities devote considerable resources to establishing an Emergency 911 system. With this in mind, the Cameron Parish Police Jury has decided to call an election for voter approval on establishing their own 911 system.

The universal emergency number concept was first initiated in England in 1937 using the digits 999. Other European countries adopted the concept, using their own combination of numbers. The idea of a single universal emergency number was first promoted in the United States by fire and law enforcement officials in the 1950's and 1960's.

A major boost came when the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice recommended in 1967 that a single number be established for reporting police emergencies. In 1968, AT&T designated 911 as the universal emergency number. This has opened the door for widespread use of 911 throughout the United States.

During the past 20 years a number of states have enacted 911 legislation. The state laws range from local option funding authorization to legislation requiring the use of 911 by local governments as the universal emergency number.

To fund an E-911 system a small fee is added to each telephone subscriber's monthly local service bill. The funds are collected by the telephone company and are paid to the districts in order to cover expenses incurred in establishing, operating and maintaining the 911 system.

With voter approval the E-911 system will be available to all residents of Cameron Parish. The time saved with 911 and getting help may save your life or the life of a loved one. Emergency 911 is the fastest way to summon help in any crisis.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Acadian records from 1667-1710 for residents of the Port Royal area in Nova Scotia have recently been translated and published, and are available to researchers.

Based on records now found in France, the files of Jean Chrisostome Loppinot, Royal Notary of all Acadia for this period, contain transactions of genealogical importance, particularly marriage contracts that customarily included parents and other family members.

ACADIAN RECORDS

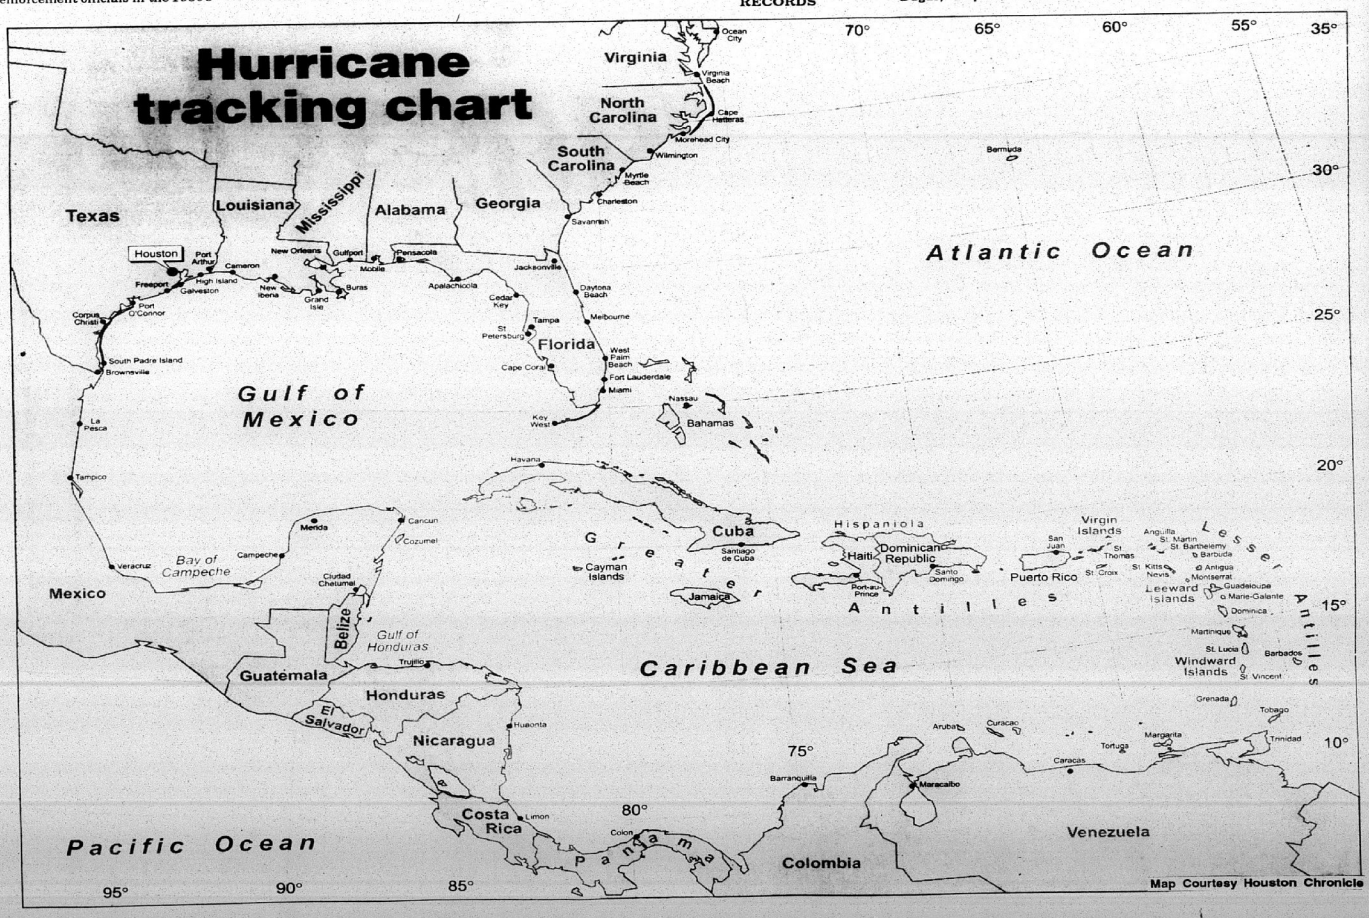
The Loppinot Papers as produced by Winston De Ville, a Fellow of the American Society of Genealogists, is sub-titled "Genealogical Abstracts of the Earliest Notarial Records for the Province of Acadia" and totals 44 instruments including also land transactions and civil matters.



This softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 24 page publication has an index of over 100 surnames with many among the best-known of Louisiana Acadian families: Bertrand, Breaux, Broussard, Comeaux, Daigle, David, Dubois, Dugas, Dupuis, Gaudet, Guilbeau, Hebert, Landry, Martin, Melancon, Pitre, Prejean, Richard, Savoy, Theriot, Thibodeaux, etc.

NOVA SCOTIA IMMIGRANTS

Nova Scotia Immigrants to 1867 by Leonard H. Smith, Jr. and Norma H. Smith is a genealogy tool of great value particularly for researchers of New England families for which members, in thousands of instances, have found Nova Scotia listed on census records as their parents' birthplace. Unfortunately, Novia Scotia immigration records, that would be most informative, are widely scattered.

Hardcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 560 pages, alphabetical, $40.50 incl. mailing, it is available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

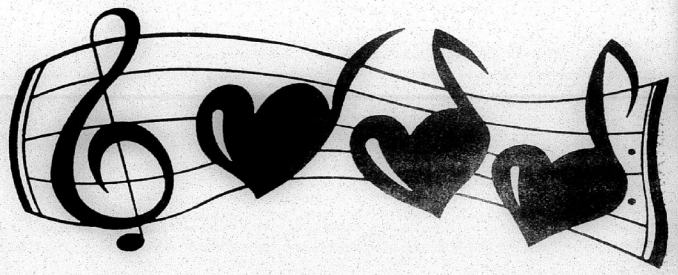
WASHINGTON --A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.



Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Friend from Russia now is missing

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

I had a sad and puzzling thing happen to me this week. I got a note from the post office telling me that I had a returned package and a charge of $17.10. Puzzled as to what it could be I called the post office and was told it was a returned package from Russia marked "unknown" on it.

This explained why I had not heard from my young Russian friend Igor Thumper with whom I have corresponded since I was there three years ago. I wondered why I had not heard from him at Christmas, because we had been exchanging Christmas cards.

Then last Christmas I put together a food package to send to him because I figured he might need it, since the upheaval in the government, and due to the fact he told me when I was there that the people were hungry.

I am now puzzled over where he is, why there was no forwarding address, and also is it possible that he is no longer alive.

I had asked him in the letter I sent with the package if he needed help and to tell me if there was anything he needed for me to send him.

I had the package sent to the dead letter box because I knew the food would be spoiled by now, but wonder if I will ever hear from him again.

Blocked leg arteries linked to heart risk

By RICHARD P. ABBEN, M.D.

Some troubling new statistics appeared in the New England Journal of Medicine recently about the heart disease risks of patients with peripheral vascular disease – blocked leg arteries.

A ten-year study at the University of California reported a high death rate from cardiovascular disease among patients with even mild peripheral arterial blockage. For patients with severe leg artery problems, the ten-year mortality rate was as much as 15 times that of people with no leg artery disease.

That there should be such a link is no surprise. Blocked heart arteries (which cause heart attacks) and blocked leg arteries are essentially the same – buildups of cholesterol plaque that reduce artery's blood-carrying capacity.

What makes this report significant is that it confirms earlier studies suggesting that peripheral artery disease is predictive of heart disease – that detectable problems in leg arteries may show up before there are any signs or symptoms of accompanying plaque formation in heart arteries.

It would be premature to suggest that a routine screening for blocked leg arteries should be a part of every standard heart checkup. But it's obviously very important to diagnose leg artery problems at the earliest possible stage and to treat those suffering from the condition as members of a high risk group for heart disease.

What are the symptoms to look for? Generally, it begins with cramping pain in the muscles of your calves, thighs or hips during exercise. The pain goes away quickly when you stop exercising. But as the disease progresses, the pain begins earlier during exertion, and becomes more severe.

When the tissues become chronically starved for blood, you may experience foot pains while at rest that are worse when you elevate the foot. In its advanced stages, leg ulcers and even gangrene may occur.

If you have any of these symptoms, see a cardiovascular specialist. The tests to check for signs of leg artery blockages are simple, painless and important.

School consolidation ...s debated by board

By JERRY WISE

For the second straight month the Cameron Parish school board members Monday wrestled with options on reducing this year's budget which is expected to have a $900,000 shortfall.

Last month the board was able to approve cuts amounting to about 30 percent of the needed reductions. At that time it was agreed to wait until the June meeting to act on a proposal to reduce the board's contributions to the employees' hospitalization insurance premiums by $46,500.

It was noted that the board has been contributing $64 a month for each employee's insurance, a practice begun a few years ago when insurance increases caused many employees to drop out of the parish group plan thereby endangering the entire plan.

It was also noted that the insurance rates will be going up again in July $15.47 a month.

Board members considered a suggestion that the board reduce its contribution back to the $50 original contribution that it began a few years ago with employees having to make up the difference. This would save about $50,000 a year.

Board Member Bill Morris made a motion to do this, but failed to get a second and the motion died.

Board Member Dan Dupont then made a motion which passed that a survey be made of teachers and employees to try to determine how many would stay in the parish's group plan if the board's contribution is reduced to $50 a month.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

The board then dived off into the controversial money saving suggestion made last month by Grand Lake Board Member Karen Nunez on consolidating the Grand Chenier elementary school with the South Cameron elementary school.

Supt. Thomas McCall, as requested by the board last month, presented some suggestions that $170,000 might be saved annually by such consolidation.

Board Member Bill Morris said he was totally opposed to a move to close "one of the oldest schools in the parish and one that has a distinquished academic record." Morris also declared "there's fat in every school district" and said he was "willing to give if everybody else was willing to give."

It was also noted that the South Cameron elementry school ground contains only four acres with almost no property available for expansion should extra portable classrooms be needed to take care of the proposed consolidation.

Board Member Dan Dupont then came up with an alternate proposal to consolidation of the two elementary schools. He said Cameron parish in 1961 had been one of the seven parishes in the state that had agreed to a voluntary integration plan and at the time had adopted school boundaries for the entire parish.

Dupont said that these boundaries were now out of date and that some children who were attending Cameron elementary school, which is crowded, really should be going to South Cameron elementary school. He suggested that the U. S. Dept. of Justice be asked to approve a new districting plan that would more equalize the number of children going to the Cameron, South Cameron and Grand Chenier elementary schools.

He said he believed this would lessen the number of students at Cameron elementary and increase those at South Cameron elementary and Grand Chenier elementary and do away with any need to close Grand Chenier.

The board agreed to look into this suggestion and took no further action on the matter.

Karen Nunez also questioned Supt. McCall as to whether all of the bookkeepers and secretaries were needed full time in the central office and also asked that the board be presented with figures showing the comparison of Cameron parish teacher salaries with those in neighboring parishes.

Supt. McCall said that the greatly increased work caused by state and federal reports justified the number of persons on the central staff. He also said that Cameron parish teachers are the best paid in the state and said that the outstanding scores of parish students on state test shows this.

Parish students are top scorers

Cameron Parish students again this year scored among the highest in the state on tests mandated by the State Dept. of Education, the Cameron parish school board was told Monday.

Asst. Supt. Robert Ortego said that Cameron parish 3rd, 5th and 7th graders scored no less than 98 percent attaintment on Language Arts, Mathematics and Written Composition tests, ranging from 5 to 10 points above the state averages.

Parish 5th graders scored 100 percent on mathematics and third graders had 99 percent in language arts and mathematics and 7th graders had 99 percent in mathematics and written composition.

On the 1991 graduation exit exam Cameron Parish seniors scored much higher than the state average, Ortego said.

Cameron parish has consistently been among the top parishes in the state since the statewide testing was begun. The reasons for this probably has been due to the fact that the parish has highest teacher pay scale in the state and thus can attract top teachers. Also parish classes are generally smaller than in other parishes.

New company told

Cameron Communications Corporation announced the formation of a new company -- Cameron Long Distance, which will begin marketing long distance services in Southwest Louisiana with the equal access cut over in Cameron Parish and Carlyss. Before equal access subscribers had to dial access codes to get to any other long distance carrier other than AT&T.

"We've had plenty of experience in the long distance business, providing service throughout the state of Louisiana" says Larona Weber, Customer Service Coordinator, Cameron Long Distance.

"We currently have one of the best long distance switching networks and telecommunications personnel with years of expertise. We couldn't stand by and see our Southwest Louisiana dollars and jobs go to out of state long distance providers."

Hackberry Ramblers to be honored

The Hackberry Ramblers, the oldest Cajun band known to be still performing, will be among the Cajun music groups who will be featured on June 27 and 28 at Vermilionville at Lafayette during the Festival des Vieu Temps.

The Ramblers, who got their start nearly 60 years ago in Hackberry, will be featured at the Vermilionville on Sunday, June 28. It will not be their first appearance at the Lafayette village--they were featured there during Cameron Parish Day a year or so ago.

The Ramblers performance will include the appearance of founding member 79-year-old Lucien Darbonne. The Hackberry Ramblers were formed in March of 1933 - in the depths of the Great Depression - and represents a turning point in the evolution of Cajun music, according to scholars and musicologists who have studied the sound.

Dr. Barry Ancelet of the Center for Louisiana Studies at the University of Southwestern Louisiana attributes the shift to a number of new influences - the Depression itself, the introduction of radios and recorded music that gave Cajun musicians an earfull of new sounds, and the electrical amplification of instruments.

The Ramblers incorporated Texas swing and Bluegrass sounds of the likes of Bob Wills and Bill Monroe into traditional Cajun music, writes Ancelet in his book, "Cajun Music, Its Origins and Developments." Darbonne and the Hackberry Ramblers were the first to use electrical amplification, adds Ancelet, and actually ran their sound systems off a Model T Ford idling outside the dancehalls in those days. Ancelet notes that the band also performed country music in English as the Riverside Ramblers.

MUSING . . . By Bernice Denny

When children make believe . . .

Children indulge in make-believe games. Little girls swish around in discarded long skirts and discarded jewelry while balancing themselves in high heel shoes. Boys turn generals or pirates, Indians or supermen at will. All play at being doctor or nurse, mommy or daddy, sky-diver -- you name it. Their roles are unlimited.

Adults smile upon their fascinating pretenses and murmur, "How sweet. How natural. Fantasy seems so real to them."

But there comes a day when Timmy bursts into the kitchen and announces importantly that a big yellow lion was sitting smack dab in Mommy's rose bed and he made the lion go away.

Or Cindy reports that Ann, who always wears a new dress to the park, slapped her (Cindy) yesterday when she tried to climb into a swing.

Mother is visibly upset. She knows that no earthly lion had parked amid her roses. And she had accompanied Cindy to the park yesterday and knows that Ann did not slap her. Are her children ecoming liars? Where is she failing in her teaching of truthfulness?

Whoa, Mother! Think a moment. Did you not scold Timmy yesterday for running his tricycle onto your rose bed and shattering a prized blossom? Has not Timothy in fancy redeemed his careless behavior by forcing away what his storybook calls the "king of beasts"? Yesterday Timothy was the culprit; today, the hero.

And don't you remember how Cindy, against her will, changed her best dress to an old playsuit before going to the park, and how she stared when Ann appeared in a new pink frock?

In the state of distrubed feelings experienced by each child it has become almost impossible for either to differentiate between reality and fantasy. In a fashion they are carrying out the same pretense mentioned in the first paragraph.

Now is the moment for parents to help their Timmy's and Cindy's distinguish between fact and fancy. Draw them out with questions. Be patient. Young as they are they can be taught to understand the difference between actuality and their wanting something so badly that it seems real.

Psychologists seem to agree that the inability to distinguish clearly between reality and fantasy exists until a child is at least 7 or 8 years of age. Even then the problem, fed by a self-supposed need, may remain longer.

Fantasy carried to extreme as one grows toward maturity may result in dangerous hallucinations. Consider the schizophrenic, for example.

Fantasy has positive values as well as negative ones. It is the very stuff from which creativity comes, the essential component that enables a mind to creat inner resources -- probably the most important factor in any life.

Fantasy, properly handled rids one of feelings of shame or guilt. Timmy redeemed himself -- in his own eyes, at least, by protecting Mommy's roses from the imaginary lion. Cindy rid herself of feelings of jealousy by Ann's being able to wear a new dress to the park when she could not by undergoing imaginary punishment from Ann's slapping hand.

By Mommy's wise handling of both situations her children were helped to cope with reality. As Timmy and Cindy grow up, we hope that their gift of imagination will aid them in surviving other periods of stress.

After all a healthy mind needs a fine balance between fantasy and realtiy. Each must be proportioned to the other.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well we had our shower today. About a half inch and it was indeed much appreciated. We can now expect the same proposition for forty days.

The lake is rapidly receding under the pressure of the many pumps located on the banks of the lake and river Mermentau.

Quite a number of the Lowery boys spent Sunday afternoon at Lakeside visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nunemaker and other friends.

We have a new mail carrier, Mr. Arthur Shaffer. He has taken the place of Capt. Day since the extension of the route. The fare has been reduced to 50 cents the round trip and a return trip will be made every Thursday leaving Lakeside at 11 a.m. for Lake Arthur and leaving Lake Arthur at 4 p.m.

THREE BOND ISSUES DEFEATED

An extensive water, sewage and fire protection improvement program for the town of Cameron went down in defeat Tuesday, as resident property owners voted decisively against the three proposed bond issues.

The issues, if they had passed, would have provided for the construction of water wells, and mains, fire plugs, and a sewerage collection system and treatment plant.

Cooperation sought in bycatch issue

Just as the heated debate over TED's begins to cool down, another controversial topic is in our near future; the bycatch issue. Bycatch is all organisms other than shrimp which are caught in a trawl, butterfly, skimmer net or other shrimping gear. In fish trawling operations, bycatch is all non-target species.

Bycatch can either be a burden to fishermen or it may be a financial bonus. Small fish or commercially unimportant species cost fishermen valuable time and money. However, incidental catches of marketable species such as crabs and flounder may add to a fisherman's income.

In 1990, the U.S. Congress called on the commercial shrimp industry to take a lead role in addressing finfish bycatch in the Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic regions. In this request they asked all concerned parties to take a cooperative, rather than a confrontational approach to solving bycatch issues.

Kevin Savoie, Fisheries Agent with Cameron Extension Service, attended an International Conference on bycatch in the shrimp industry on May 24-27, in Lake Buena Vista, Fla. Speakers from around the world gave presentations on methods of shrimp harvest, gear modifications, and specific bycatch problems.

In an effort to avoid the controversy of the TED's issue, the Federal Government has opted to request input from all concerned parties. A cooperative steering committee made up of representatives from commercial fishing associations, recreational fishermen, conservation groups, Sea Grant, National Marine Fisheries Service, the Gulf and South Atlantic Fishery Management Councils, the Atlantic and Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commissions, and state fishery management agencies has been formed.

The steering commitee has come up with a research program which will collect information on which species are caught by the shrimpers, where, when, and in what quantities. Research will also be conducted on different management options, gear development, sociological and economic impacts of bycatch management, and education/education on bycatch for both fishermen and the public.

"Anywhere you cast, you got a strike," Harold Cooling reports. They were fishing with Peewee Gauthier.

Jury backs grass planting

The Cameron Parish Police Jury adopted a resolution at its June meeting approving a Soil Conservation Service program to plant oyster grass in the Little Pecan area east of the Mermentau River to improve the marsh damaged by salt water intrusion.

Ron Marcantel of the SCS said the project, expected to cost $50,000, would be be covered by federal funds.

Police Juror George LeBouef said that if anyone wished to see how oyster grass could improve marshes hurt by salt water they could take a look at the area near the Lake Charles Diesel office where the grass has done a good job.

More artificial reefs added to state program

The state of Louisiana's artificial reef program has added three more oil and gas platforms to existing artificial reef sites.

The first two were submerged at Pelican Reef, located south of Cameron Parish (block map designation: West Cameron 595). Kerr McGee was able to lift the two platforms from their location and transport them over 30 miles to the reef site.

The third structure, donated by Shell Offshore Inc., was towed 5 miles to Hurricane Reef. Hurricane Reef is the latest reef to be constructed as part of the state's program. The site is located approximately 35 miles southeast of Grand Isle (block map designation: West Delta 134).

Two other platforms also occupy the site. The first was a platform destroyed by Hurricane Betsy in 1965 during installation. The other structure was its replacement which was in service for more than 26 years until it was decommissioned by Kirby Oil and Gas and donated to the state. This platform was toppled in place in January of this year.

By donating the platforms to the program, participating companies are able to save a substantial amount of money over the otherwise expensive requirement to tow defunct platforms onshore.

BOATING ARRESTS

In one parish alone, in two different areas, there were ten arrests made. Some were charged with a second offense DWI. Ages ranged from 23 to 45.

The big talk around our state, as most of you may have already heard, is talk in the State Capitol from commercial fishermen to put redfish back in the commercial status and get this, bass, white perch and bream. All I can say is if they don't want to destroy some of the best sport fishing left in our state, they better leave the bass, white perch and bream out.

I can't seem to understand how people could be so stupid as to try and put the game fish as commercial fish. Lots of us have spent many dollars and time trying to restore and protect these species for us, our wives, children and grandchildren. If this does happen, this state has really gone to the dogs.

I heard one fisherman say, "Oh, not bass, but the rest is okay". Now how many bass would still be destroyed from netting white perch and bream. Also, bream and white perch are part of the bass diet.

We sure need to raise hell about this and tell the people in Baton Rouge, "gas, grass or bass". Nobody rides for free. There's no law that says a bass fisherman can't become a representative or senator of this state. We need to let Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries and their Commission also know how we feel.

BIG SIX CLASSIC

Many of our local bass anglers have been fishing the Hook, Line and Sinker Bass Tournament trail. They have six tournaments for the year and the top six teams will qualify for the Big 6 Class.

Tournaments already held were March 21, April 4, April 25, May 16 and May 30. The next one is June 13, and this will be the last to qualify.

June 27, thirty-five years since Hurricane Audrey, will be the classic.

The way I understand it, on the night of June 26, after registration is complete, four areas will be put in the hat for a drawing and the area that is pulled, will be where the classic will be fished.

Here in the Cameron Parish area anglers who qualified are: Ricky Canik and Jerry Canik, from a first place win; Derick Thibodeaux and Chad Arceneaux with a fourth place win; Tony Johnson with a sixth place win; Tom Hess and Gerald Richard with a first place win; Ricky Canik and Carl Broussard with a third place win; Travis Broussard and Loston McEvers with a first place win; Johnny LeDoux and Joe LeDoux with a second place win and Lynn Thibodeaux and Richard Duhon with a second place.

If the same person has won twice witha different partner, the other partner can fish by himself.

The areas that are suppose to be put in the hat are Big Burns, Lacassine Refuge, Sabine Refuge and the Calcasieu River. No one will know until the night before.

There should be 36 teams fishing for this classic. A boat, motor and trailer could become a hot item for the number one team.

These tournaments have produced some good money winnings for the top three places in each tournament, plus two places for the big bass, 4th through 6th were prizes.

Local fishing is still good. If you're fishing saltwater, reds, drums and specks are running. Bass and white perch are hitting good also.

Last week the Mermentau River in Grand Chenier produced 13 drum from 30 to 50 pounds and these were caught in the same areas during a four day period.

The Seven Acres Bass Club will hold their club tournament June 21 at the Seven Acre Pond from 6 a.m. to 12 noon and then have a fish fry for their families.

The Lemesche Bass Club will hold their club tournament on June 14, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The final Hook, Line and Sinker Top Six Tournament will be held Saturday, June 13. This is the last tournament to qualify for the Classic to be held Sat., June 27. Registration will be at Hook, Line and Sinker Bait Shop on the Gulf Highway (Common Street). You must be registered by 6 p.m. Friday, June 12.

FEEDING PERIODS

Fri., June 12 - Best, 9:32 a.m. and 9:57 p.m.; good, 3:22 a.m. and 3:42 p.m.

Only You Can Prevent Skin Cancer. . .

HOW CAN YOU PREVENT SKIN CANCER?

Even though overexposure to the sun is the leading cause, it isn't necessary to give up the outdoors in order to reduce your chances of developing skin cancer. Just use good sense and simple measures whenever you work or play in the sun — repeated sunburns are particularly risky.

Use Sunscreens to help prevent skin cancer as well as premature aging of your skin. You'll want a Sun Protective Factor (SPF) rating of 15 or higher. Women can get a little added protection by using tinted opaque cosmetic foundation along with a sunscreen. Apply sunscreen at least an hour before going into the sun and again after swimming or perspiring a lot. Don't use indoor sunlamps, tanning parlors or tanning pills.

Know The Ways Of The Rays for your best protection. You can get burned on a cloudy day. And the rays can reach down into three feet of water. Try to stay out of the direct sun at midday, as the sun's rays are strongest between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. And beware of high altitudes — there's less atmosphere to filter out the ultraviolet rays. Skiers should remember that snow reflects the sun's rays, too.

Whatever your skin type, do a monthly self-exam of your skin to note any moles, blemishes or birthmarks. Check them once a month and if you notice any changes in size, shape or color or if a sore does not heal, see your physician without delay.

Local youth has poem published

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A local youth has had one of his poems published in the Arena, a collegiate literary magazine published under the auspices of Dr. Joseph Cash, head of the Department of Languages of McNeese State University, and Sigma Tau Delta in Lake Charles.

The Arena is a literary representation of student thought.

Jonathan Fontenot, son of Judge and Mrs. H. Ward Fontenot, is an undergraduate student studying pre-law at the university and has written a poem entitled "Marsh Fever".

Marsh Fever
(By Jonathan Fontenot)

I must go down to the marsh again,
Where the wolves and gators hide,
And All I ask is a small skiff and my dog by my side.
And the murky waters flowing,
And an icy sky and a goose's cry,
And a frosty wind blowing.
I must go down to the marsh again,
To the spicy Cajun ways,
To the gar's way and the deer's way,
Where the fog is a humid haze.
And all I ask is the fellowship
Of a merry hunting crew,
And a warm camp and a long nap
When the cold hunt is through.

CONSTITUTION CONVENTION

Amendment will protect parish

Cameron parish officials probably have been successful in heading off a threat to the parish's share of state income from state mineral leases and production.

Local Attorney J. B. Jones had warned the Cameron police jurors at their June meeting that the proposed state constitution convention could take away from the parish the sizable amount of income that it gets on severance taxes and road royalty funds.

However, Parish Administrator Pete Picou said the jury has been informed that an amendment was passed to take the road royalty fund out of the constitution convention call and thus protects it.

However, he said an amendment offered by Rep. Randy Roach to similarly protect the severance taxes that the parish receives was voted down. He said it was understood that some of the parishes were reconsidering the severance taxes in view of trying to get them increased, which would benefit Cameron parish.

State association to have convention

The Louisiana Trappers and Alligators Hunters Association will hold their state convention Saturday, June 27, at 9 a.m. in the Cameron Recreation building, behind the Cameron Courthouse.

Some of the guest speakers will be Rich Faler, a nationally known writer with the Fur, Fish and Game magazine; Ted Joanen, expert on alligtors, will speak on the alligator industry; and Greg Linscomb, who will speak on the fur industry.

There will be skinning, trap setting and trap shooting contests.

There will also be a number of commercial exhibitors.

There will also be alligator exhibits and others from the Louisiana Fur Council.

Trappers and hunters from all over the state are expected to attend.

New program

The Cameron Parish School Board at its June meeting authorized Supt. Thomas McCall to pursue the organization of a Child Abuse Prevention Awareness Program for grades K-7 in conjunction with the Cameron Community Action Agency.

Supervisor Uland Guidry said the program would be funded through a grant from the Louisiana Children's Trust Fund.

Little to be in Rodeo

Thad Little of Hackberry has qualified to represent the Western Texas College men's team at the College National Finals Rodeo (CNFR) at Bozeman, Mont., June 15-21.

Little tied for third place in the Southwest Region in saddle bronc riding. He will also compete in steer wrestling.

Benji Fontenot of Reeves won third place in the Men's All-Around with 455 points. He will compete in bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding at Bozeman.

Western Texas College is known nationwide for its competitive rodeo program, and this year is no different. This is the 11th year its men's rodeo team has earned the right to compete in the CNFR.

Solina graduates

Mrs. Puddy Solina of Cameron is among the 70 graduates of the 1992 Louisiana Community Economics Development Institute.

The institute is a program of the Louisiana Department of Economic Development, Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service and Louisiana Industrial Development Executives Association.

The institute's two days of intensive instruction and panel discussions focused on key issues such as strategic planning, identifying and developing leaders, community assets, business retention/expansion, essentials of a successful program and community marketing.

Solina was sponsored by the Louisiana Sea Grant Program. All materials are available at the Cooperative Extension Office in Cameron or by calling 775-5516.

Super bingo set Saturday

State H S rodeo set next week

Over 200 contestants from all over Louisiana will compete in events such as the queen's contest, cutting contest, rodeo performances and horsemanship for the queens.

Competing from Cameron Parish will be: Shawn Mays, Hackberry, steer wrestling, bull riding, bareback bronc, and saddle bronc.

David Devall, Hackberry, team roping.

Audrey Day to be observed

All Cameron Parish Administrative offices will be closed Friday, June 26, in observance of Hurricane Audrey Day.

35 years ago, on June 27, 1957, 527 people lost their lives when Hurricane Audrey slammed into the Cameron coast with from 10 to 15 foot tides sweeping everything away in its wake.

Cancer Society sets meeting

The membership meeting of the Cameron Parish Unit of the American Cancer Society will be held Friday, June 19, at noon at Lena's restaurant.

Reports will be heard from standing committees and the "Let The Chips Fall project.

Election of officers, board members and delegates will be held.

Author arrive this week

Peter Jenkins, noted travel writer, is expected to arrive in Cameron Thursday or Friday along with his two young sons on a trip in a small boat along the coast.

Jenkins called the Cameron Pilot Wednesday from Morgan City and said he was headed toward Cameron via the Intracoastal Canal.

The author expects to dock his boat in Cameron while he returns to his home in Tennessee for a short time. He later plans to return to Cameron to stay for a week or two while gathering material for his book.

The Cameron Tourist Commission plans to work with Jenkins to make sure that he gets to see the many attractions that would be of interest to tourists.

Jenkins has written about six books, most of them about his travels through the United States. The Cameron Parish Library has a display of his books.

Hearing set on wetlands

The task force for the Coastal Wetlands, Planning, Protection and Restoration Act is conducting five public meetings this month to solicit public comments.

The purpose of the meetings is to obtain public opinion on the state and federal task force's conceptual plans for sustaining, enhancing or restoring wetlands in coastal Louisiana. The public will also have a chance to comment on candidate projects for the 1992 Priority Project List.

The task force turns to the Mermentau and Calcasieu-Sabine basins on June 25, meeting at the Calcasieu Parish Court House, 100 Ryan St., in Lake Charles. The point of contact is Paul Rainwater, (318)437-3500.

Jury rescinds bond policy

A policy requiring oil companies to post bonds to insure the repairs of roads damaged by heavy oilfield equipment was rescinded by the police jury at its June meeting.

The jury had adopted the policy after a number of parish roads had been torn up by such equipment in the Grand Lake area while wells were being drilled.

The jury has reached a settlement with the oil companies involved and it was decided that due to the depressed state of the oil and gas business it would be to the parish's interest to do away with the bonds.

A jury spokesman said in the future the jury will work with oil companies to help them route their equipment over state roads as much as possible so as to keep down damage to parish roads.

IN LAKE CHARLES

TEDs hearing set July 23

At the urging of Congressman Jimmy Hayes, a puiblic hearing will be held in Lake Charles to look into planned federal regulations that would require shrimpers to use turtle excluder devices (TEDs) year-round in all areas.

The hearing will be held Tuesday, July 23 at 7 p.m. at the Burton Memorial Coliseum, and will be conducted by the National Marine Fisheries Service. Originally, only one public hearing was scheduled for Louisiana, in Thibodaux on June 24.

"If these proposed regulations are adopted, it will have a serious impact on many lives in Southwestern Louisiana. It is only fair that those who have a stake in the outcome play a part in making the decisions that affect them. Too many of the federal rules that govern our lives are written by bureaucrats who never see the outside of their office, much less the Gulf Coast of Louisiana," Hayes said.

Under the new guidelines, shrimpers would not be allowed to limit their tow times to under 90 minutes rather than using TEDs. Seasonal exemptions would also be eliminated under the proposed rules.

Meetings set on tourism

Mrs. Margaret Moore, Specialist, LSU Extenson Service, will present a hospitality seminar for local businesswomen to ascertain if local businessmen would like to have their "front line" employees trained the proper way to greet tourists.

Meetings will be held at the Creole fire station at 6 p.m. on Monday, June 22, and in Holly Beach at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, June 23. Dinner will be served. There will be no charge. The seminar is two hours long.

The seminars will be cosponsored by the Cameron Parish Police Jury and Tourist Commission.

For more information, contact Gary Wicke, Cameron Parish Extension Service at 775-5516

Msgr. Bernard to be honored on anniversary

Msgr. M. J. Bernard will be honored at a covered dish supper following the 5 p.m. mass, Saturday, June 20 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church hall in Creole. It will be in observance of the 40th anniversary of his ordination and his 20 years at Creole.

For more information call Nelvia Murphy, 542-4305 or Alice LaBove, 542-4475.

Civil Defense to meet Thurs.

The Cameron Parish Civil Defense Agency will hold a parish-wide meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, June 18 at the Cameron Fire Station, according to CD Director Pete Picou.

Picou said this was the annual hurricane planning meeting and all parish CD volunteers are urged to attend. Anyone wishing to become a volunteer is invited also.

The parish CD agency has played a very important role in helping evacuate the parish when hurricanes have threatened.

Bids asked on instruments

Supt. Thomas McCall said that since the school no longer has a band program and since he has been advised that band instruments deteriorate quickly he advised that the instruments be sold.

Grand Lake Board Member Karen Nunez urged that the instruments be held awhile to see if the band program could be reinstated. The board decided to get bids on the instruments and then make a decision on the matter.

Masons honor youths

Four Cameron Parish High School Juniors were honored recently by the Cameron Masonic Lodge #439 and presented with "Honesty and Integrity" award.

Roy Smith, representing the Grand Lodge, from the Live Oak Masonic Lodge in Lake Arthur, gave a talk on the meaning of Masonry and the significance of the awards.

Honorees were: Allison Rebecca Poole, Grand Lake High School; Adrienne Hantz, Hackberry High School; Rachel Lynn Touchet, Johnson Bayou High School; and Patrick Jody Lavergne, South Cameron High School.

School principals, faculty and representatives of the students councils assisted in the selection of the honorees.

Fisheries meeting set

A panel of representatives of Louisiana and Mississippi recreational and commercial fishing group, conservation organizations, academia, and state and federal resource agencies will gather at the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, at Hackberry, Wednesday, June 24, to review and discuss marine fishery habitat issues.

The Louisiana/Mississippi group is part of a three-unit Habitat Protection Advisory Panel (AP) to the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council. The principal role of the advisory panel is to assist the Council in attempting to maintain optimum conditions within the habitat and ecosystems supporting the marine resources of the Gulf of Mexico. Advisory Panels serve as a first alert system to call to the Council's attention proposed projects being developed and other activities which may adversely impact the Gulf marine fisheries and their supporting ecosystems.

At this meeting, the AP will review and discuss the Cameron-Creole project fisheries study, Caernarvon freshwater diversion structure operations, status of the Bonnet Carre' and Davis Pond fresh water diversion projects, the Coastal Wetlands Planning Protection and Restoration Act activities, and the Corps of Engineers and National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Memorandum of Agreement for habitat restoration.

The AP will convene at 9 a.m. The meeting is open to the public.

A tribute to Dad

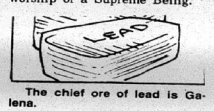
This writer would like to pay tribute to all fine, outstanding fathers wherever they are and whatever their status in life.

No day in our calendar is more appropriately designated than is the third Sunday in June, dedicated solely to fathers.

A father's role in life is seldom easy. Too often he is the neglected member and the most self-sacrificing one in the family. Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Washington, must have sensed these facts back in 1910 when she started Father's Day.

To many children, Father is a shadowy figure who leaves for the workday world before they are awake, and returns tired and demanding quiet at the end of the day. To other youngsters, Father is the man who works away from home for days or weeks at a time, turning his time off into a period of re-acquaintance and re-adjustment. To the child whose father serves in a civic or military capacity abroad, he becomes a fictional personage whose final homecoming necessitates change in family living -- often drastic change.



This writer sees an encouraging trend in American family life today in spite of all the lurid, ugly factual accounts to the contrary, and she does not believe that it is merely because she is an optimist. She sees a strengthening of the father's position in the home, a new facet on his part in the father-mother sponsoring relationship and a re-emphasis of the father status within the family.

Father -- the word itself is a title of honor given a man for establishing anything important in human affairs. What can be of greater importance than the establishing of a home in which children are well ordered, well instructed, and well groomed? And who can exact order and discipline as well as a conscientious, loving father!

Family ties should grow stronger as the years drift by. The home is a refuge from world pressures. It is the first church and school experienced by young lives, the place where love and loyalty, understanding and the appreciation of values are acquired.

Every man desires to give more to his children than he himself ever possessed. The wise father understands that in giving he must use discretion. There is nothing wrong in a man helping his child acquire a better education or a surer financial position so long as he has first taught him to live bravely and to meet defeat courageously; has taught him that real happiness lies not in things but in growth of mind and heart; has helped him develop ethical values and deep respect for other human beings, the land on which he lives and the Creator of both.

Such teaching calls for many virtues on your part, Father; and for your possession of them we salute you. You are one of the greatest heroes on earth. You are making our world a better place. You are building humanity with faith in the goodness of life and in worship of a Supreme Being.

The chief ore of lead is Galena.

REMEMBER

By Keith Hambrick

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Last Tuesday a violent thunder storm passed through this section. A stroke of lightning struck one of the large oaks in the grove, and killed the head of cattle and a hog of Amar Broussard. Several other places in the neighborhood were similarly visited.

The pumps are sure pulling the water out of the lake and it is a chance if we don't soon have salt water to contend with.

(Cameron Pilot, June 19, 1959)

CAMERON OUT OF RUNNING FOR NEW PLANT

Cameron is out of the running for the site for the government's first sea water conversion demonstration plant. It was announced in Washington this week that the number of Gulf Coast communities being considered for the site has been reduced from 31 to 7. Cameron is not one of the finalists.

K.C. OFFICERS

J. Berton Daigle was elected Grand Knight of Cameron Council 3014, Knights of Columbus last Thursday night. Daigle will succeed E. J. Dronet.

Other officers elected were: Deputy Grand Knight, Ray Dimas; recorder, Delmus Hebert, treasurer, Dalton Richard; warden, Joe A. Bonsall, advocate, Curley J. Vincent; three-year trustee, E. J. Dronet; two-year trustee, Severin Miller; one-year trustee, Whitney J. Broussard, Sr.; inside guard, Gordon Nunez; and outside guard, Kenneth Montie.

The council approved the erection of a radio antenna for Civil Defense at the K of C Home which will be used for a radio transmitter and receiver that will be placed in the home during an emergency. The radio equipment was originally placed at the O'Donnell Funeral Home were CD personnel stood by during emergencies. The council home is presently being used by Civil Defense in Creole for meetings and drills.

KLONDIKE SCHOOL CLOSES

(By Bernice Stewart)

Today, June 19, marks the close of the Klondike Elementary School for the session of 1958-59. It also marks the cessation of Cameron schools in the northeastern part of the parish. Henceforth pupils in the communities of Klondike, Lakeside and Lowery will attend the Lake Arthur High School, Jefferson Davis Parish, except those now attending Gueydan High School, Vermilion Parish, who wish to provide their own transportation there until they will have been graduated.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

A clean up campaign for the town of Cameron and surrounding area will be conducted all of next week. The police jury and local civic organization have urged all citizens to clean up vacant lots, their yards, home and places of business.

Cameron Parish Librarian

Interest is running high in the Cameron Parish Library summer reading program. On June 10 and 17, Mrs. Betty McCall read stories about elephants and monkey shines. Mrs. Janie Turnbull and Mrs. Rhonda Duhon taught the children silly songs.

Next week the reading program will be about "Hats". Everyone should come wearing a silly or funny hat on June 24, at 10 a.m. at the library.

Four of the library's "We're Lost" posters were returned by Justin Gordon (Cameron) at Cameron State Bank, Jessica Dyson (Grand Chenier) at the Kajon Store, Micah Silver (Hackberry) at Brown's Food Center, Kathy Mallett (Cameron) at Delauney's Healthmart, and each received a reward.

Thank you for the safe return of the library's "We're Lost" posters. Be sure to look for one of these posters hiding in your community. Return it to the library or the bookmobile for a great reward.

Remember to read books for fun and entertainment. Read five books -- and you get to dip into the prize box at the library and on the bookmobile.

911 services to help rural communities

Implementation of 911 services can mean many things to the rural communities of Cameron Parish.

Modern communications methods will be available for the first time parish wide. Perhaps the most important benefit will come in an area that we are not expecting, 911 service will mean a closer cooperation between responding agencies.

By concentrating all calls for emergency services into the 911 public safety answering point a standard set of procedures for handling all calls will be developed. This requires a very close cooperation between all responding agencies within the area served by that PSAP.

Boundary lines showing service area must be decided and backup providers must be determined.

The PSAP will answer calls for every type of help, sheriff, fire or ambulance service. The 911 call takers will have to understand the difference in information required to respond properly to these types of calls in addition to police emergency situations.

Training for these call takers must include information from persons in the fire service, emergency medical services and from police. This will promote more cooperation between the various arms of emergency services.

Cameron Crime Stoppers offers $1,000 reward

Here's the best way to stop smoking

By PETER ABEL, M.D.

The news on smoking keeps getting worse. Recent studies say it is directly responsible for the deaths of more than half of all smokers. There's even a study which says a heavy smoker's dog has a significantly higher risk of lung or nasal cancer because of its exposure to tobacco smoke.

So I spend a lot of time telling people to stop smoking. And they spend a lot of time asking me how.

I said it was simple. I didn't say it was easy. However, it is definitely worth the effort, because nothing comes close to its rate of success.

Those who quit cold turkey have a 60 percent chance of succeeding, according to the latest statistics. Nothing else exceeds 20 percent.

Which is not to say that patches and gum and hypnotherapy and counseling don't have a value. They do. We use them in our own stop-smoking programs.

The statistics for simply quitting aren't quite as rosy as they appear at first encounter. Smokers who try the cold turkey approach and never manage to stop at all aren't included in the statistics relating to its success. Of those who do succeed for a time, 40 percent return to smoking. So that 60 percent figure really represents a particularly strong-willed minority of all smokers.

The other techniques provide alternative avenues of hope for those who have tried to stop cold and failed. If, like Mark Twain, you've given up smoking hundreds of times, you need to explore those alternative approaches with your physician. The health risk statistics relating to smoking are simply too appalling to ignore.

If a patient came to me who was obese, never exercised, drank to excess, ate a high fat and high cholesterol diet and smoked, but was willing to give up only one of his life-threatening vices, I would insist that he stop smoking. That is how bad cigarettes are for you!

In August of 1982, voters of District 6 passed the original Cameron Recreation District issue which consisted of the following two taxes:

Recreation District 6 bond issue is explained

The second tax levied in 1982 was a maintenance tax, renewable every 10 years. These funds are used to pay for utilities, insurance on the facility, and fees for auditing required by law. This is the tax that voters are being asked to vote on July 18.

In the beginning, the maintenance tax generated $114,000 annually. It presently generates $76,000. The difference in the original amount of revenues and the current amount collected presented a challenge that the present Board of Directors has met by cutting back on personnel and by generating funds of its own with recreational events.

Next week: Reducing the Cost of Operations.

FISHING BILLS

I'm sure our area sports fishermen have been keeping up with some of the fishing bills being brought before the legislature this session.

One bill, #449 which would have taken the 12 inch length size limit on speckle trout away and let anglers catch any length size was killed and dead for the session.

The Gulf Coast Conservation Association and the La. Wildlife and Fisheries had biological data stating a 15 percent kill three years ago for the hard freeze, which meant 4 percent less spawned and hurting the speckle trout population. Also the commercial pressure put on the trout, has brought reduced population.

It seems now that spawning is trying to pick up. We'll see more small fish in our speckle trout species than we'll see large ones.

In another bill, #411, giving commercial status on red fish, bass and white perch in farm ponds, like catfish, was also defeated. That is good news. What would have happened is two things. One, these farm ponds would have had people taking bass and perch out of Toledo Bend and other lakes throughout our state and getting them in these ponds, especially large fish and of course they would have ended up being sold. Also, second, many smuggled fish from the wild would have entered the fish markets. This again would have been hard to stop.

WATERWAY TRASH

One of the most talked about things in our country and abroad is all the trash in our waterways. Tons and tons of trash are washing up on our beaches, East Coast, West Coast, the Gulf of Mexico, all over. Cans, bottles, plastic containers, light bulbs, rope, piling and woods, tires, needles, syringes, diapers, fishing lines, six pack ringers, paper cups, oil cans and drums, even cigarette butts. Where is it coming from? From you and I, oil rigs, ships, commercial and sports fishermen, from rivers inland and then out to sea.

Take a good look around and see if you like what you see. If you do, don't go near the water, if you don't like it. Let's all try and carry our trash to shore and stop throwing it overboard.

AREA FISHING

Freshwater fishing in our area is holding its own. Bass fishing is good as well as white perch and bream. Lots of the waters are muddy because of all of the rain lately. I find lots of the bass are moving to the deep canals. There have been some nice bass caught in the deep canals and the deeper ponds. With all this hot weather they'll move more and move into the deeper water. Right now there is plenty of water with all the thunderstorms in our area, and water coming down from above.

Saltwater fishing is holding its own, however lots of muddy water inland makes it a little harder fishing. Also, dodging the thunderstorms is a must, 'cause if you get caught in one, you could be in trouble.

ANOTHER RECORD BASS

Back in 1989, a state record bass was posted and it had been 17 years breaking that old record. Now in just four years, Larry LeJeune's 12.87 pound bass may be out or eliminated from the La. state record top ten bass. Just two months ago we saw the last record broken with a 14.60 pound bass caught at Caney Lake.

A young angler fishing University Lake, near the LSU campus in Baton Rouge, seems to have the new state record bass, a 15.38 pounder, measuring 26 inches long and 22 inch girth. A big one you say, well, I guess. They seem to be Florida bass taken on a Tequilla Sunrise worm. What a fish.

Biologists know of at least six bass taken out of University Lake and the City Park Lake of over 9 pounds.

They still believe one 16 pounds or larger will come out of False River.

TALK AROUND

It seems the Senate approved a bill that would require commercial fishermen to immediately return to the water any redfish accidentally caught without injury to the fish. Commercial fishing of redfish is illegal.

The Senate Natural Resources Committee unanimously approved the measure by Rep. Randy Roach. It now goes to the full Senate.

The committee also passed a bill that would allow wildlife officials to issue a license that's good for all types of hunting and fishing. Prices would be the same as buying one at a time. Again, it has to be approved by the full Senate.

We in Louisiana and Texas ae expected to be among a dozen states to try and reinstate a nine day teal season.

The population of blue-winged teal is good and back to normal and if this year's hatch was good, I think we could see our September teal season return. It's been stopped since 1987. This would really be a great day for hunters. I know I really miss the early 9 day teal season. The blue winged teals are really just passing through and going further south and we really don't see many blue wing teals in our regular duck season.

Bernard honored on anniversary

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Msgr. M. J. Bernard, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Parish, Creole, was honored Saturday after the 5 p.m. Mass in the Life center of Sacred Heart Church.

Sacred Heart Parish is composed of Sacred Heart Church and St. Rose of Lima Church.

Preaching for the Mass was Deacon W. E. Wagner, Jr., of the Diocese of Lake Charles in celebration of Msgr. Bernard's 40th anniversary of his ordination as a priest and his 20 years of service to the Creole parish.

A covered dish supper served after the Mass was followed by a program with testimonials from parishioners.

Joe Soileau was master of ceremonies.

It was noted that the first wedding Msgr. Bernard performed after coming to the parish was that of Brenda Bonsall and Jeffrey Boudreaux, who were present; and the first babies baptized by him were Jill Boudreaux and Lane Bonsall, who were also on hand.

Adam Hebert had Msgr. Bernard join him in a prayer for priests.

Elton Bonsall, Sr., a member of the parish council outlined the improvements that have been made to the church complex in the last 20 years under the leadership of Msgr. Bernard.

E. J. Gaspard then announced that the Parish Council had voted to name the Life Center after Msgr. Bernard and had sent a letter to Bishop Jude Spreyer to that effect.

Deacon Wagner read a letter from Bishop Spreyer congratulating Msgr. Bernard on his 40th anniversary and extending his personal concurrence with the church council on naming the Life Center after Msgr. Bernard.

At that time "Batman and Robin" came running in and announced that a Creole mystery had just been solved. It seems that a rare, almost extinct bird had been run over on the road and upon checking the license plate against the Sheriff's office computer, it had been matched with the name of Murphy J. Bernard.

Batman then called on two Cameron Parish uniformed deputies who happened to be in attendance to "arrest" Msgr. Bernard, which they promptly did, handcuffing him in the process.

After Msgr. Bernard's plea of innocence, saying the bird had flown into his car while passing through the marsh, the deputies thought better of the arrest, then discovered they had lost the key and would have to take Msgr. Bernard to Grand Chenier to get Deputy Darryl East to unlock the handcuffs.

Lazime Kershaw saved the day when he jumped up and said he had found a key that he didn't know what it belonged to, and after a few anxious moments and struggling between him and Msgr. Bernard, managed to unlock the cuffs.

Co-chairmen of the event were Nelvia Murphy and Alice LaBove, with the help of the Catholic Daughters of the church.

Writer will spend 2 wks. in parish

Travel author Peter Jenkins of Tennessee pulled into Cameron last Thursday aboard a small boat along with his two sons on a lengthy trip along the Gulf Coast. He plans to write a book about his experiences at a later date.

He also renewed his friendship with Charlie Hebert with whom he had become acquainted about 15 years ago when Jenkins and his wife walked across America and wrote a book about their experiences. At that time they visited in the Sweetlake area.

Jenkins made arrangements to store his boat here a week while he returned to Tennessee with his wife who had come down by car to get him and the boys.

Kelley said that Jenkins plans to return to Cameron in about a week and will spend two weeks here exploring the unique natural attractions of the Parish.

Turnbull plans to take Jenkins to some of the scenic areas in the eastern side of the parish and Langford Peavy, Tourist Commission chairman, will assist him in his exploration of the western part of the parish.

Pecan Island project has been completed

Secretary Jack McClanahan of the Louisiana Department of Natural Resources, Senator Cecil Picard, Senator Oswald Decuir, Rep. Sam Theriot and Rep. Theodore M. Haik have announced the completion and subsequent operation of the Pecan Island Freshwater Introduction Project in Vermilion Parish.

The project is located one mile west of Pecan Island High School and runs from the approximate vicinity of the Rockefeller Refuge Camp to Freshwater Bayou. Contractor for the project, with an estimated cost of $487,000 was Port Aggregates of Jennings.

The objective of the project is to introduce freshwater from White Lake into the marshes south of La. Highway 82. Over 38,000 acres of marshlands in this area have been devastated by saltwater intrusion from the Gulf of Mexico. Two structures, each consisting of 48-inch pipes equipped with gates, will divert freshwater sediments and nutrients through existing oil and gas access canals, thereby reducing salinities and increasing biological diversity.

Aerial photography of the project area will be flown in the fall of 1992 followed by interpretation to delineate vegetative zones. Monitoring is essential to optimize project operation and to maximize beneficial returns to the state on its investment.

The Office of Coastal Restoration and Management within the Department of Natural Resources strives to slow the erosion process of valuable wetlands in the Louisiana coastal zone. The completion of the Pecan Island Freshwater Introduction Project is a significant step taken to reduce coastal erosion in the southwestern part of the state.

State convention set in Cameron Saturday

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Promotion of the alligator industry in Louisiana will be discussed here when the Louisiana Trappers and Alligator Hunters Association hold their state convention Saturday, June 27, at 9 a.m. at the Cameron Recreation Building.

The American alligator promotions in Japan are part of a cooperative effort of Louisiana and Florida on behalf of the trappers, farmers and landowners of these states.

Together they produce half the classic skin production in the world and believe that Japan is the most important international market for products.

In an effort to expand both friendship and opportunities, the American alligator industry has worked closely with the All Japan Association of Reptile Skins and Leather Industries to organize these promotions.

Through the display of a rare white alligator in Japan public awareness of the American Alligator is increased and an opportunity is provided to tell the unique alligator story.

Almost 200 farmers, 2,000 trappers and 4 million acres of wetlands are involved in the management of the American Alligator.

Legend says when a white alligator is found it will bring good luck and prosperity to anyone who looks upon it.

In honor of the white alligator's first international trip to Japan, he has been nicknamed Lucky. Lucky is a very rare leucistic American alligator, which means it is an albino with pigmented eyes.

Lucky's eyes are blue, and he was discovered in 1987 and is now 5 years old and almost 6 feet in length.

It was during the annual collection of alligator eggs for Louisiana farms that a whole pod of white alligators was found.

Because of the alligator ranching program the alligators were discovered and saved. There has never been an adult white alligator seen in the wild because they are easily spotted by predators when young.

"LUCKY," AN UNUSUAL white alligator was recently put on display in Japan to advertise the Louisiana alligator industry. Alligator hunters from around the state will meet in Cameron Saturday.

CONVENTION EVENTS

Some of the guest speakers will be Rich Faler, a nationally known writer with the Fur, Fish and Game magazine; Ted Joanen, expert on alligtors, will speak on the alligator industry; and Greg Linscomb, who will speak on the fur industry.

There will be skinning, trap setting and trap shooting contests.

There will also be a number of commercial exhibitors.

There will also be alligator exhibits and others from the Louisiana Fur Council.

Trappers and hunters from all over the state are expected to attend.

Butterflies to be counted here

The Baton Rouge Audubon Society will participate in the Xerces Society's Fourth of July Butterfly Count at two sites in the state.

One site is the Global Wildlife Center at Folsom on Saturday, July 11 and the second is at the society's migratory bird sanctuary near Peveto Beach in Cameron parish on Saturday, July 18.

The Xerces Society was named after the Xerces Blue, the first butterfly species in the United States to become extinct (in 1943 in the San Francisco region.)

During the butterfly count, all butterflies found within a 15 miles radius of the site will be counted with the information forwarded to the Xerces Society.

Anyone interested in participating in the count may contact Dr. Gary N. Ross at 504-927-8179 in Baton Rouge.

"On July 9, everyone will be receiving a ballot through the mail which will mandate that each customer choose a long distance company, and if the person does not choose one, one will be chosen for him", she said.

This is mandated by the Federal Government and must be done.

She said the local company offers each 1+ dialing; a convenient bill containing local and long distance calls; and rates guaranteed no higher than the company's long distance rates, and savings on every call no matter where or when you call.

At the close of her talk she conducted a drawing for a $100 savings bond as a door prize, which was won by Bill Morris.

Father Mark Broussard delivered the invocation and the benediction.

Fishermen's problems

HE'S CHEWED OUT

A couple of weeks ago, I wrote an article on the status of some freshwater fish and commercial status that upset some of the commercial fishermen and they told me so. Well, I appreciate honesty and their rights to give me a good chewing out.

I have been standing along side our commercial fishermen all the time. Sometimes there's a point that has to be made. Sure, I hate to see our people making a living from reds and speckle trout get cut. These same people help us make our living.

Something the commercial people need to know, I do not belong to the GCCA (Gulf Coast Conservation Assocation), so I'm not backing them up. I'm a sports fisherman yes, but I don't believe in what happened to the commercial people, but I can't control that. That comes from Baton Rouge and the federal government.

Always remember, the GCCA is very powerful in Baton Rouge. Many of us as sports fishermen don't bother our commercial people. What got me was the trying to get bass, white perch into the commercial status. I understood the commercial people were really trying to get the sports fishermen upset and didn't want these as commercial fish, but it could have happened if the vote would have gone the other way.

I guess the way I stand is I'm not a commercial fisherman, but some of my friends and fishing club buddies are commercial fishermen, as is my brother-inlaw. I care and respect the commercial fishermen. I'm not sure that makes me a sports fisherman but one thing for sure is I know I'm a bass fisherman and that's what upset me when trying to make bass a commercial fish.

Remember, this column I write is for both the commercial fishermen and sports fishermen in our parish and if ever you need something to be put in this article, I'll surely put it in or in the form of an editorial for you.

I hope the commercial people get a break, as we're losing everything else in our parish. We surely can't afford to lose our commercial people.

CLASSIC THIS WEEKEND

The Hook, Line and Sinker classic will be this Saturday, June 27. Every team has to sign in a register before 6 p.m. at Hook, Line and Sinker on Friday, June 26.

The place to fish will be determined that night after registration. The four names: Lacassine and Sabine Refuges, Big Burn and Calcasieu River will be put in a hat and one will be drawn.

There are eight teams from Cameron Parish that have qualified. There will be 36 teams altogether competing. I will cover the results in next week's issue.

New members welcomed to Cameron Chamber

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Two new members were welcomed into the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce last week at their monthly meeting at the Chamber office.

Rodney Guilbeaux, Chamber president, reported that the G & G at Holly Beach, owned by Gene and Georgia Constance and Cameron Long Distance Service, located at Carlyss, were the newest members of the Chamber.

Larona Weber, Service Coordinator for Cameron Long Distance, a new long distance service offered locally, was the guest speaker. She explained the advantages with signing up for the local service when a ballot is sent out in the near future to pick which long distance service each subscriber wants to use.

Ed Kelley gave a report from the Cameron Parish Tourist commission and reported that new brochures for Cameron Parish will be out in the near future.

Billie Gordy, secretary of the Chamber, displayed the new aquarium that "Birds, Pets and Things" has donated to the Chamber to put in the office.

Madeline Solina reported that the new Cameron Parish Resource Directory is almost complete. It contains a listing of all businesses in the parish under various categories, a map of Cameron, events, and administrative and government offices, among other things.

The Chamber voted to assist with the Cajun Riviera Festival by preparing the grounds for the annual event to be held Aug. 7-9, at Holly Beach, which will be on a fee basis to help with raising money for the Chamber.

The meal was furnished by Cameron State Bank, and a door prize of a savings bond donated by Cameron Long Distance was won by Geneva Griffith.

The next meeting will be held July 15.

Students visit beach

Twenty four high school students from Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi and Florida, who are in the Young Scholars Project at McNeese this summer, visited Constance beach on Monday, June 8 to see efforts being made to stop beach erosion.

They were accompanied by four instructors under the direction of Dr. Jay Uppot of the McNeese School of Engineering.

Following an inspection of the beach erosion structures that have been constructed along the beach, they saw a slide presentation given by Rodney Guilbeaux, owner of a local business, on the erosion project. (The group is pictured above with Mr. Guilbeaux.)

Jayhawkers stories

The Jayhawkers in Southwest Louisiana during and immediately after the Civil War were looked upon with scorn and contempt by the Confederate soldiers and with fear and loathing by the women and children who remained at home while their men were engaged in military combat with the Federals.

For a long time the word "Jayhawkers" was an insult. It still is in Louisiana when it refers to the looters, arsonists, and murderers who preyed on the helpless during the 1860's.

In them is "The Memoirs of Jethro Broussard" of PecanIsland. The old gentelman was better known as "Uncle Jack."

Archie had asked him about the Jayhawkers. Mr. Broussard replied, "They were the fellows who deserted the Confederate Army. They'd hide out. If they got a chance they'd come in and take food away from the helpless folks left at home. They'd come out where they knew there was no cavalry around. They'd hide in the marshes. Then they'd scout around and rob the widows; take all the food they had for their little children; take meat, milk, bread . . "

Uncle Jack paused, shook his head, then continued, "Some of the Jayhawkers were men who ran away and hid before conscription (draft system) caught up with them."

It is claimed that a certain old house in Lowery served as the hideout of the Jayhawkers who operated in that area.

On Bayou Nezpique near Jennings, my grandmother's uncle, Milledge Bird McCall, about 24 then, was killed at one o'clock on March 19, 1864, in a skirmish with Jayhawkers.

When I was a child, my grandmother used to show me a scrap of fine white muslin besprigged with tiny pink rosebuds. It was left over from a little dress her mother had made for her. Her Uncle Milledge had captured the material from a cache of goods left behind by Jayhawkers in flight.

I recall listening spellbound to my grandmother's old aunt, Elizabeth Sweeney Bonsall Vaughan. Aunt Lizzie, as she was called, told of the days when Jayhawkers preyed upon the helpless. She lived near the center of the Grand Chenier ridge all alone except for her small children.

During the day they cultivated the garden and truck patch. The one horse left to her pulled the plow and their cart, their only means of transportation.

Late each afternoon Aunt lizzie would have her sons take the horse deep into the woods back of their farm and tether him to a tree.

Before sundown she would rip open a moss mattress and insert her musket and ammunition into its center and then re-sew the ticking. It was imperative that she keep her firearm from being stolen, for it was the means of their wild game supply. Meat was hard to obtain and still harder to keep from the marauding hands of Jayhawkers.

At night, Aunt Lizzie said, she would tuck a couple of sleeping children into the bed that harbored her musket.

More than a century has passed since that chaotic era; yet, history continues recording the deeds of both the noble and the depraved.

Teal season is recommended

For the first time since 1987, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has allowed an option to set a September Teal Season for states in both the Mississippi and Central Flyways. Guidelines set by the Service provide for a nine-day season within the month of September, with a daily bag limit of four birds and a possession limit of eight birds.

The season will include Blue-winged, Green-winged and Cinnamon Teal, with shooting hours from sunrise until sunset.

Hugh "Butch" Bateman, administrator of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Game Division, attended the Migratory Bird Hunting Regulations meeting recently held in Washington, D. C. Bateman reported that conditions on the waterfowl breeding grounds in the northern states and Canada have improved significantly and, for the second year in a row, Blue-winged Teal populations have increased markedly. The current year's Breeding Paris Survey reports an increase in Blue-winged Teal numbers from 3.8 million in 1991 to a current 4.4 million.

The improvements are due primarily to a lessening of drought conditions, with an accompanying improvement in brood habitat which helps to insure good brood survival rates.

Bateman states that the Game Division will submit recommendations for a nine-day September Teal Season to the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission at the regular meeting July 7.

He added, "The September Teal Season has traditionally been an extremely popular event with Louisiana waterfowl hunters. Teal tend to migrate southward earlier than other waterfowl and are in South and Central America by the time the regular waterfowl season begins. Most waterfowl biologists agree that the short September season has little or no real impact on continental teal populations."

Refuge gets new manager

Vicki C. Grafe, manager of the Cross Creeks National Wildlife Refuge in Dover, Tenn., has been named manage rof Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge near Lake Arthur. ## Jobless rate again second Cameron parish regained its position as the parish with the second lowest unemployment in the state during May when the jobless rate here dropped from 7.2 in April to 6 percent.

This was lower than the state jobless rate of 7.1 for May (down from 8 percent) and also lower than the national rate of 7.5 percent (which was up from 7.2.)

For several years Cameron parish has usually ranked as second lowest in the state, always behind Lincoln parish (which was again first in May with 3.1 percent.)

However, in the last few months some other parishes other than Lincoln had moved ahead of Cameron. This trend apparently has been halted.

According to the La. Dept. of Employment, there were only 275 persons in the parish unemployed in May out of a workforce of 4,450.

One dies, 10 hurt in wreck Sun.

A Sulphur woman died in a head-on collision on Louisiana 27 Sunday that injured 10 other people in Cameron Parish.

Betsy Ennis, 31, died at the scene of the crash that occurred on Louisiana 27 between Hackberry and Holly Beach about 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department investigator Steve Cheramie said.

Gladys Franks, 33, of Lake Charles, and Stephen Franks, 34, of Lake Charles remained in guarded condition at West Calcasieu-Cameron Hospital Monday, officials said.

A 1984 GMC pickup truck was traveling north on Louisiana 27, when it crossed into the southbound lane and struck a 1985 Nissan truck head-on, Cheramie said. Stephen Franks was driving the Nissan, he said.

Ennis was riding in the back of the Nissan truck with Gladys Franks and four other passengers, all from Louisiana. Another passenger was riding in the pickup cab, Cheramie.

Personnel at local hospitals treated the five other motorists and released them Sunday, Cheramie said.

Hospital personnel treated the driver of the GMC pickup truck, Thomas C. Swaggart of Sulphur, and two passengers in the truck and released them Sunday afternoon, he said.

Cholesterol Discovery Passes Mom's Test

WASHINGTON -- The mother of a research scientist recently lowered her cholesterol more than 20% without changing her eating habits.

After a visit to her doctor, a Florida woman learned that her cholesterol level was an elevated 308 and she was encouraged to change her eating habits. When she returned 10 weeks later, the doctor was astounded that her cholesterol level had dropped to 243. Asked if she achieved the amazing results just by dieting she replied, "No I didn't diet at all, in fact I ate the things I shouldn't eat like bacon, sausage and ice cream. The only thing I did different was take some tablets my son gave me."

The woman's son is Dr. William Morris, director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization that seeks nutritional solutions to health problems. Dr. Morris admits that the tablets called Vancol 5000 were designed as a dietary supplement to be used with a low fat diet plan. "She just wanted to put the tablets to the test," says Dr. Morris. "Of course I was pleased with the results she achieved, but now were working on reducing some of the fat in her diet to lower her cholesterol even further."

Vancol 5000 is a chewable food tablet that contains extracts from foods known to lower cholesterol. According to the exclusive distributor for Vancol 5000, inquiries about the new discovery are being received from all over the country and has peaked the interest of doctors used to prescribing expensive cholesterol lowering drugs. A 30 day supply of the Vancol 5000 Chloesterol Lowering Plan is only $29.98.

Meaux reunion held

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Over 60 family members of the Bud Meaux family held their annual family reunion in Cameron and Lake Charles this past weekend.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Mary Davis Henry of Cameron and Mrs. Wilma Davis Bride of Lake Charles.

The oldest family member attending was Mrs. Roberta "Tom" Smith French from Liberty, Tex., and the youngest were Katlyn Reina, from Oak Grove, and Cara Olivier, Cameron.

Jean Baptiste "Bud" Meaux was born Dec. 4, 1837 in Indian Bayou, Vermilion Parish, and was the son of Arvillian Meaux and Marie Caroline Faulk. He came to Cameron Parish in the 1880s and married Martha Leila "Patsy" Welch in Feb. 1885. She was the daughter of James Monroe Welch and Martha Rutherford.

Johnny married Esther Nunez; Boody married Ann McCall; and Jimmy married Annie Nunez; Beatrice died at a very young age; Willie Mae married Emmitt Smith; Dice married John Henderson, and Tad married Austin Davis.

Bud was a farmer and cattleman and established his ranch on Oak Grove. He died at his home on March 14, 1924 and is buried in the Rutherford Cemetery.

Willie Mae, Boody and Dice raised their families in Southeast Texas; Tad raised her two daughters in Cameron; and Johnny and Jimmy raised their families on Oak Grove.

There are still three generations of the Meaux family living in the Cameron Parish area and a number of descendants in Texas and other states.

God, Harlem U.S.A., The Father Divine Story, Ruth Bilbo by Mary Cockrell.

Redfish Book, Earl Domingue by Micah Silver.

Low-flying insects are said to be a sign of impending bad weather.

HEARTBEAT

What does heart-related chest pain feel like?

By JOSEPH KOWALSKI, M.D.

If you suffer chest pain, particularly while exercising, you will almost certainly wonder whether it might be heart-related – and well you should. Heart muscle pain – angina – is likely to be the first warning of blocked coronary arteries – the cause of most heart attacks.

While there are no infallible guidelines about whether a chest pain is heart-related, it generally takes a particular form.

Heart discomfort is rarely a sharp, stabbing pain. The textbook description of angina is a feeling of heaviness, pressure, tightness or aching in the chest, usually accompanied by shortness of breath.

The pain generally goes away when you stop exerting yourself, and it frequently isn't particularly severe – which is, perhaps, unfortunate. Even a heart attack may not be unbearably painful at first, permitting its victim to delay seeking treatment for as much as four to six hours after its onset. By then, the heart may have suffered irreversible damage.

It is not unkown for patients to drive themselves to emergency rooms with what prove to be very serious and even fatal heart attacks!

Angina is a protest from the heart muscle that it isn't getting enough oxygen because of diminished blood supply. A heart attack is simply the most extreme state of oxygen deprivation, in which whole regions of heart muscle cells begin to die for lack of oxygen. If the blockage can be cleared quickly enough – within the first few hours of the onset of the attack – there is every likelihood that the permanent damage will be minimal.

That's why it is so vital to seek medical attention quickly if you feel the sort of pressing pain or heaviness described above. There is a 90 percent likelihood that pain of this type is angina. And even if it goes away, the artery blockages that caused it are still there – and will become progressively worse.

Ignoring this sort of pain because it is not unbearable or because it goes away is the worst thing you can do.

It is the only warning you are likely to get of a potentially lethal condition.

STOCK SICKNESS IN CAMERON

Dr. Quilty, a local veterinary surgeon, received a telephone message late this evening from Lowry plantation, south of Jennings, saying that eight head of stock fell dead there between 8 o'clock this morning and 5 o'clock this afternoon, and that many other animals showed signs of being affected. New cases of charbon were reported today at Manchester, Welsh, Grand Lake and one new case in the city limits of Lake Charles.

Dr. C. E. Mauldin is still in Cameron Parish, where the disease is said to be claiming hundreds of head of stock on the range. Cameron is the largest stock raising parish in the State.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

In last week's notes an error was reported. Mrs. Guidry's case of charbon did not result fatally. The doctor's efforts were successful and she is much improved. Her mother, however, who had been ailing for a long time and was quite aged, succumbed after a long illness.

Salt water is coming now all right and unless a heavy rain occurs, our pumping tenants will have to hitch onto their wells.

Quite a number of cattle are dying on the place probably some are cases of charbon. Across the river, quite a number of cases are reported from the plantations east of here.

CAMERON FISHING RODEO
(By Jerry Wise)

The Pilot joins with the citizens of Cameron in welcoming the hundreds of visitors from all over the state to the 18th annual Fishing Rodeo. This year's event promises to be the biggest and finest in history.

For one thing, the game fish are practically churning up the waters off the Cameron coast. Huge consistent catches of cobia, bluefish, bonitos, mackerel and other fighters have been reported in recent weeks by such party boat captains as Peewee and Gus Gauthier and Vaughan. Tarpon have been sighted, and Gus Gauthier succeeded in hooking one last week, although he lost it.

For another, the citizens of Cameron this year are going all out to make this a truly big rodeo. In past years, local folks did not take too much interest in it, more or less taking the view that it was a Lake Charles affair. But this year it's different.

Under the leadership of Dr. Cecil Clark, Hadley Fontenot, the Lions and Optimist Clubs, the Cameron Home Demonstration Council and other local groups, a full scale Fourth of July festival has been planned to provide entertainment and eats for the visitors and home folks alike. In fact, the festival may in the future equal Cameron's Fur and Wildlife Festival in size and importance.

Visitors here this weekend will be interested to know that the proceeds which Cameron organizations realize from the fishing rodeo will go to a very worthy cause--the construction of a youth recreation and community center. This project, instigated by the Cameron Optimists, has the backing of most of the civic organizations in town, and will include a large reception center, playground and eventually a supervised recreation program.

FIRST ANNUAL QUEEN CONTEST

A dozen or more pretty girls from Louisiana and Texas will compete for the title of Queen of the Southwest Louisiana Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo in Cameron Friday evening. The contest will begin at 8:30 p.m. on the courthouse steps.

Contestants who are scheduled to compete include Jackie Authement and Hattie Skidmore of Cameron and several out-of-parish girls.

VISITORS SLEEPING FACILITIES

Out-of-town fishermen and visitors to this year's deep sea fishing rodeo will find much better sleeping and bathing facilities available than in the past, according to J. Burton Daigle and Dr. Cecil Clark who have been working on these arrangements.

A limited number of rooms will be available in private homes and first choice on these will be given to women and married couples. There will be a charge of $5 per night for two people, plus $2 for extra roll-away beds.

Accommodations for some 100 men is being set up in the VFW. Cots will be rented there for $1.50 a night and portable showers are being set up there. A school bus will shuttle back and forth between town and the hall to provide transportation for those who do not have cars with them.

MUDDY WATER

Although the Gulf has been too muddy for good fishing this past week, the water is clearing fast and should be "perfect" for the fishing rodeo this weekend. That's the word from Jack Short, Lake Charles party boat booker.

And there's also some good news on the tarpons--more were sighted Monday five miles offshore. This is the fifth time this year that the big fish have been sighted or hooked.

NEW HOLLY BEACH PIER

Cameron Parish now has something new and novel to offer fishermen -- a 5,000 foot fishing pier which will have its grand opening this Saturday. The pier, built by a corporation of Lake Charles and DeQuincy men, is located about six miles west of Holly Beach.

The pier is 14 feet wide and is 12 feet above the water. It is equipped with rest rooms and lighted for night fishing. A concession stand has cold drinks, ice, bait, tackle, bread and lunchmeat for sale.

Bud E. Brown, who built and will manage the pier, says it will be open 24 hours a day, with fishing permits costing $1 a day. Mr. Brown has built six other similar piers in North Carolina during the past nine years.

Cost of the pier is approximately $38,000 and other stockholders include M. S. Brown and Bill Hennigan of DeQuincy, and Ed Carr of Lake Charles.

Nothing fishy about it—one of the flounder's eyes travels to the other side of its head as the fish develops. The winter flounder's eyes are on its right side, while the summer flounder's eyes are on its left.

Watts and Guillory were among the first of the state's public officials to sign up for the inaugural program designed to provide information on government to public officials and private citizens.

CAMERON OUTDOORS By Loston McEvers

Fishing very good throughout parish

There's so much fishing activity in our parish waters that it's hard to tell you where you can't catch saltwater fish.

Right now speckle trout and some redfish are plentiful along the beaches from Rockefeller Refuge all the way to the Texas line. The Grand Chenier jetties, Rutherford Beach, Cameron jetties, Holly Beach and the rocks by Constance Beach are good. There is also some good shrimp close to the beaches.

Offshore has really been good on calm days. Fred Conner and a party of three had a good trip last week. They caught 3 linge, but only kept one 52 pounder. They caught 8 king mackerel four to five foot long. They were released as the season doesn't open until July 4th weekend. They had two 7 pound triple tails and each a limit of Spanish mackerel, four to five pounds.

There were some other anglers who also had a good trip on Spanish mackerel.

If you're bass fishing, the story changes a little. It's so hot the bass are in heavy cover and there's plenty of that in our marshes. Dollar lillies have just about completely covered most of the ponds and the water lillies have just taken over. The deep canals, some completely plugged, and many trails are not passible because of the lillies. I think this is the worst I've seen them, especially in the Big Burn area.

Fishing Lacassine Refuge is beginning to get tough also. Dollar lillies and moss have taken lots of the ponds and floating turf is plugging many of the trails.

I got a chance to fisn the Calcasieu River a week ago and it's very tough. Water is not what you call good and most of the fish we caught were small. Fishing in the trees is very hot for lack of air.

SEVEN ACRE TOURNAMENT

The Seven Acre Bass Club held a half-day tournament in the pond on Father's Day. It was a very tough day, but the members, wives and friends, enjoyed it. A fish fry was held for all.

In the men's division, Dwayne Guilbeaux had the largest stringer and the largest bass of 3 pounds 6 ounces. Mike LeJune had second stringer and second largest bass. Third place went to T-Man Racca, both stringer and largest bass. Also fishing were Larry Guilbeaux and Weldon Authement.

In the women's division, Terrel Conner had the largest stringer and largest bass and second place in both categories went to Julia Racca. Also fishing were Virginia LeJune, Gladys Guilbeaux and Marie Authement.

TOURNAMENT

The American Legion of Grand Chenier will have a family fun day Saturday, July 4, at the Grand Chenier State Park. There will be a meal at noon to sell to the public, and a dance in the afternoon. They will also sponsor a bass tournament. Boat races are planned in the river.

Carroll (Sugar Boy) Miller of Grand Chenier is in charge. If you want to enter their one day event, call him at home at 538-2248. He will also be at the Grand Chenier Park between 4 and 7 a.m. for registration. Weigh-in will be at 5 p.m. at the Grand Chenier Park. You have to be there by or before that time to be eligible to weigh-in.

It will be a team stringer of 5 bass at least 10 inches long. A charge of $20 per team will be the cost. If you want to enter the large bass, it's $5 per angler.

Team and large bass payoff will be: 1st place, 50% of pot; 2nd, 20% of pot and 3rd, 10% of pot. If you want to enter for choupique, it's $2 entry and the largest choupique will get 50% of the pot.

DON'T TRESPASS, YOU SAY

Two trespassers in Arkansas had to use the posted No Hunting sign to cover up. A landowner caught the pair on his property, where they passed by his posted sign. Fed up, the land owner took the matter into his own hands. After confronting the hunters with a shotgun, around sundown, he ordered them to return to their pickup, forced them to strip, except socks and caps, took their truck keys, locked the vehicle and told them to start walking.

They did and over an hour later, knocked on a farm house door, with the posted sign hiding their privacy, asking for help. It was cold and windy and their bodies pink, so the lady let them come in, gave them each a bathrobe and she didn't look. she felt sorry for the hunters, who didn't get mad. The next morning the bathrobes were on the front porch. She never did learn their names and they never knew hers. A county deputy brought the men back to their truck. I'm sure they'll never trespass again.

911 extolled

(Ninth in a Series)

Without 911, callers must use a conventional seven-digit number to report an emergency. In most communities there are separate seven-digit numbers for police, fire, and emergency medical services. This multiplicity of numbers often results in several calls before the right emergency service is reached.

A single emergency number such as 911 allows callers to summon the appropriate public service agency even if they are unaware of their location or the service boundaries.

911 is easy to remember; even small children have been able to use the number in emergency situations. The main advantage is the reduced amount of time it takes to report an emergency.

"Enhanced" features provide other advantages such as allowing the emergency service operator to dispatch assistance when a caller provides incomplete or confused information or even when a caller is unable to speak.

In July of this year with voter approval, residents will have the security that the E-911 system will bring to all residents of Cameron Parish. With seconds count, Emergency number 911 is the fastest way to summon help.

New TED regulations subject of meetings

The National Marine Fisheries Service has drafted expanded Turtle Excluder Device (TED) regulations to improve sea turtle conservation and strengthen enforcement of the rules.

A series of public hearings has been scheduled in order to obtain public comment on the proposed amendments. The hearings are being held in coastal towns along the Gulf of Mexico during the week of June 22, and along the Atlantic Ocean during the week of July 6.

A public meeting will be held in Lake Charles on July 23, at Burton Coliseum from 7 to 11 p.m. the NMFS is also accepting all written statements mailed to their headquarters in Maryland by July 29, 1992. Only after the public comment period will the new regulations be finalized.

As entered in the Federal Register issued on April 30, 1992, under the Endangered Species Act it is unlawful to take sea turtles. The incidental taking of turtles during scientific research and fishing is exempted from the prohibitions in certain specified circumstances. Shrimp trawlers in the southeastern Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico are so exempted if they employ specified measures (sea turtle conservation measures) to reduce the mortality of sea turtles.

The current regulations were implemented May 1, 1989 and May 1, 1990, for offshore and inshore areas, respectively. These rules stipulate seasonal application. Chuck Oravetz of the NMFS St. Petersburg office explained that the amendments would expand these to all waters at all times of the year. He cited some of the key points of the proposed regulations.

(1) TEDs will be required in all inshore and offshore waters from North Carolina through Texas, throughout the year.

(2) The regulations provide the authority to relax TED requirements when TEDs cannot be used effectively, e.g., in heavy algae.

(3) The regulations authorize the closure, if necessary, of specific areas to shrimping or other fishing to protect sea turtles.

(4) The regulations establish specific standards to define what is and what is not a legal TED.

(5) Every net rigged for fishing will be required to have a TED.

Written public comments may be mailed to: Dr. Nancy Foster, Director of the Office of Protected Resources, National Marine Fisheries Service, 1335 East-West Highway, Silver Spring, MD 20910.

Recreation information

(Third in a series of articles on Cameron Recreation District 6 bond issue).

As revenues from taxes decreased, the Board of Directors of Recreation District 6 realized expenses would have to be slashed in order to keep the complex open. To accomplish this, the district's five full-time employees were either relieved of their duties or placed on part-time status in 1989. These five positions were: director, secretary, cook, janitor and yard maintenance.

The Board of Directors, who are paid $10 per month each, direct the operations of the facility in the absence of a Director. There are three part-time employees: a supervisor who oversees on-going activities, a cook and a maintenance man. To make best use of hired help, the complex is open when the most amount of activities can take place at the same time. Volunteers play a major role in operation of the Complex.

Among the volunteers who work at the Complex are the members of the Board of Directors along with concerned parents and other citizens who ae interested in the services of the facility. These volunteers can be seen preparing the ball fields before and during ball season, cooking hamburgers, washing dishes, scrubbing out the swimming pool, chaperoning youth dances--antying that needs to be one.

T. L. Herlong, pastor of St. Mary's of the Lake Church, is presented a laminated cow chip and a check for $1,000 from Billie Fruge at a meeting of the Parish Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Father Herlong was the winner in the "Let the Chips Fall" fund raising contest.

MUSING . . . By Bernice Denny

Thoughts on our national anthem

By BERNICE DENNY

For ages the love of country, like every other inspired feeling, has expressed itself in music. The tempo of the music, the meaning of a song go deep. How true is this of "The Star Spangled Banner," our national anthem. We would that every American might come to attention as its first strains are heard and might really meditate upon its words and all that they stand for.

Time carries us back to September 13, 1814. The place is Chesapeake Bay, facing Fort McHenry at Baltimore, Md. The person who holds our attention is Francis Scott Key, a well known Washington lawyer and an amateur verse writer. A dedicated friend he is, too, as we will see.

The War of 1812 is in full swing. The British have retreated from the city of Washington, taking with them Dr. William Beanes, Key's friend. The doctor is now imprisoned on Admiral Cochrane's flagship amid the British fleet in the bay.

Secretary of State James Monroe, under President James Garfield, has granted permission to Key and a John S. Skinner to intercede with the British for Dr. Beane's release.

Key and Skinner have boarded a prisoner exchange boat, The Minden, and have obtained British agreement to release him. Their vessel is now being held in custody at the rear of the British fleet until after the battle ends so that the Americans may not reveal plans of attack to the patriots on shore.

All through the night of the 13th, the bombardment continues. Francis Scott Key strains his eyes to see if the American flag is still waving over the fort.

The flag is 50 feet long and 30 feet wide. Each stripe is two feet in width and each star is two feet from point to point. It is the official flag of 1795 with 15 stripes and 15 stars -- one for each of the 13 original states and for Vermont and Kentucky.

Each red glare of a rocket assures Key that the Stars and Stripes are bravely waving. Then gradually bombs are silenced rockets cease to light the old fort.

Like an echo of the fierce den of the long night is the pounding of Key's heart. The aftermath of the rocket's red glare sears his brain with uncertainty as to the outcome of the battle.

Now, Sept. 14th is dawning. Key stares intensely through the mists. "Oh, say! Can you see by the dawn's early light what so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?"

The early morning breeze gains momentum. Sunlight brightens the landscape and caresses the Stars and Stripes with its golden warmth.

Key grows ecstatic. "'Tis the Star Spangled Banner; oh, long may it wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave! . . . In God is our trust!"

You know the rest. How Key wrote the first draft of the song on the back of an old letter and how he copied it after going ashore. How it was printed in handbills and circulated at once. How his brother-in-law, Judge Nicholson, suggested that it be adapted to an English air, "The Amacron in Heaven," to which Americans had marched in the 1700's. How the actor, Ferdinand Durang, sang it in a tavern in Holiday Street Theater in Baltimore a few days later and how it gained immediate popularity. How it was played three months later during the Battle of New Orleans and how, finally, in 1931 Congress confirmed an order signed by President Woodrow Wilson in 1916 declaring it the official anthem of the United States.

May that song resound and that banner wave forever "o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!" Like Key, may we place our trust in God, the only power in this universe that can preserve us as a nation.

Gulf is due more attention

Congressman Jimmy Hayes has joined colleagues from throughout the Gulf region in introducing a bill that would promote the environmental and economic interests unique to the states that border the Gulf of Mexico.

The bill, called the Gulf of Mexico Environmental and Economic Restoration and Protection Act, would establish a Gulf of Mexico Program Office within the Environmental Protection Agency. It would also create a Gulf Citizen's Advisory Committee, which will represent local interests, colleges and universities, and private industries. Additionally, grants would be provided to fund local projects and research.

The Gulf of Mexico produces approximately 40 percent of the U.S. commercial fish yield, provides critical habitat for 75 percent of migratory waterfowl in the U.S., accounts for 90 percent of the offshore gas and oil production in the country, and attracts $20 billion in tourism.

Birders tell appreciation

Dear Editor:

Enclosed you will find two news items from the Baton Rouge Audubon Society that you may wish to consider for publication in an upcoming edition of The Cameron Pilot.

Baton Rouge Audubon (managers of the Migratory Bird Sanctuary near Peveto Beach) has always appreciated the patience and cooperation afforded its members by the citizens of Cameron Parish. Unfortunately, we often have been negligent in expressing our appreciation, and in keeping the Cameron community appraised of our activities.

As a new member of the society's Sanctuary Committee, I wish to begin a new era in our association. We certainly wish to thank all of the Cameron residents who have hosted us during our field trips and research endeavours by permitting us to use their private lands.

We also wish to inform all residents that we will make available to them, via the Chamber of Commerce, Tourist Commission, and Parish Library, all publications that arise from our efforts.

I am convinced that Cameron Parish is the most "valuable" region within the state for nature-oriented recreation. I am also convinced that the parish can gain a tremendous economic boost by promoting "ecotourism" and not have to sacrifice any of its citizens rights to privacy. Working together we all can benefit.

Sincerely yours,
/s/ Gary N. Ross

Zone II is closed on 2nd

The 1992 spring inshore shrimp season in the portion of Louisiana's inshore waters known as Zone II (from South Pass of the Mississippi River west to the western shore of Vermilion Bay and Southwest Pass at Marsh Island) will close at midnight, Thursday, July 2.

Joe L. Herring, secretary of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, said the season was being closed to protect juvenile white shrimp which have begun showing up in department trawl samples as well as the commercial catches.

According to Assistant Secretary of Fisheries William Perret, "Peliminary statistics released by the National Marine Fisheries Services show more than six million pounds of shrimp were landed in Lousiiana during May this year."

Successor to Rex suggested

Dear Mr. Wise:

Now that gambling boats have been approved for the Calcasieu River, someone in authority in Cameron Parish such as the Police Jury should try to get a paddle wheeler that would ply between Lake Charles and Cameron (if this has not already been done) the way the Borealis Rex used to do. In fact the boat could be called the Borealis Rex II.

I am not that much of a gambler but I sure would like to go down the Calcasieu the way it was done in years past. A man named Henry Davis wrote the Letters column of the American Press a few years ago talking about how he went down on the Rex and watched dolphins jumping out of the channel.

For many years in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, Grand Lake, although in Cameron Parish, was called Calcasieu's Coney Island because people from all over the parish would go there for outings. There were pavilions, hotels, wharves, swimming places and everyone had a good time. It was something really special for them. Someone should try to interest developers to do this again. The town of Lake Arthur also had a grand resort hotel.

Richard Assoc. being formed

An association is being organized to develop a computer data base of all descendants of Michel Richard who originated from the providence of Saintonge, France in 1630, settled in Port Royal, Nova Scotia, Canada in 1654, married Madeline Blanchard in 1656 and started his family.

The association is also sponsoring the second International Richard reunion, to be held in Lafayette, in May, 1993.

Contract given

A $352,756 contract was recently awarded by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' New Orleans District to Mike Hooks Inc. of Lake Charles for maintenance dredging in the Calcasieu River and Devil's Elbow. The river and Devil's Elbow will be dredged to the authorized depth of 40 feet plus two feet of advanced maintenance.

Disposal of the dredge material will be in confined diked disposal areas located near the Devil's Elbow channel.

Dredging is expected to begin by the end of the month and is scheduled to be completed in mid-July.

MARSHLAND FESTIVAL

JULY 3 4, & 5

Hackberry, La.

Marsh Fever

(By Jonathan Fontenot)

I must go down to the marsh again,
Where the wolves and gators hide,
And all I ask is a small skiff and my dog by my side.
And the murky waters flowing,
And an icy sky and a goose's cry,
And a frosty wind blowing.
I must go down to the marsh again,
To the spicy Cajun ways,
To the gar's way and the deer's way,
Where the fog is a humid haze.
And all I ask is the fellowship
Of a merry hunting crew,
And a warm camp and a long nap
When the cold hunt is through.

welcome

A great big welcome to the third annual Marshland Festival, Hackberry and Cameron Parish! The festival is designed to showcase one of the biggest assets of Cameron Parish--its beautiful marshes and the wonderful wildlife that inhabit them--the alligators, waterfowl, furbearing animals, crabs, shrimp, etc.

Third annual Marshland Festival set for weekend

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The third annual Marshland Festival will be held in and around the Hackberry Recreation Center July 4 weekend, with festivities to be held Friday through Sunday of that weekend.

The festival will feature concerts Saturday and Sunday nights featuring Davis Daniel, Country Music Review and Eddy Raven, with a special guest appearance by Norman Wade.

The festival kicks off at 8:45 a.m. with the first annual Hackberry Booster Club Marshland Golf Tournament at Frasch Park in Sulphur.

The Saturday and Sunday events start at 10 a.m.

There will be exhibits in the Recreation Center of decoy carving by Boo Bonvillion, taxidermy by Steve German, artists Sherry Hodges and Bobbie Hebert, Faulk's Lures by John Faulk, fur and alligator display by Fats Dupont and Charlie Pettiefer, and Hobbies in Motion by Kurt Buckert.

The gate tickets are $5 for adults; $1 for children from 5-14, and children under 5 are admitted free.

David Hinton is chairman of the event; Todd Willis is in charge of publicity; Bobby Hewitt, golf tournament; Tammy Welch, pageant; Puddy Solina, crab cookoff; James Lowery and James Stahl, exhibits; and Kyle Swoope, crab trap.

Happy 4th of July

Crab Cookoff set Sat. morning

The 3rd annual Great American Crab Cookoff will be held at 10 a.m. Sat., July 4, at the Center Stage Tent, as part of the Marshland Festival being held at the Hackberry multi-purpose facility.

With Hackberry becoming known as the "crab capital" of Louisiana, crab cooks from around the state have been invited to come out and cook their favorite dishes.

Entry fee for the crab cookoff is $25 in advance or $30 late registration on Saturday. Cash prizes will be awarded for first through third place.

Anyone is eligible to enter. Contestants must furnish their own crabs (blue crabs only must be used in dish), cooking ingredients and utensils. Contestants must provide their own means of cooking and must provide serving dishes or bowls for the judging. No dishes may be pre-cooked.

No store-bought roux may be used and the roux must be assembled on the grounds.

Written recipes would be appreciated, but are not mandatory in the judging.

Butch Silver, a contestant in the first annual Great American Crab Cookoff in 1990 with his version of fried crab, along with a partner, went it alone at the 2nd annual cookoff last year and perfected his recipe so much he walked away with the first place award and a prize of $77.50 for his Barbecued Fried Crab dish.

Crab Recipe

This recipe won first place in the Marshland Festival's crab cookoff last year for Butch Silver of Hackberry. He had entered the recipe the previous year in partnership with Gerald Landry and took second place. In 1991 Silver came and won first place with the same recipe.

"Barbequed Fried Crabs"
Butch Silver, Hackberry

Clean Hackberry blue claw crabs and marinate overnight in Italian dressing seasoned with barbeque seasoning fry (he prefers Jack Miller brand), letting the marinade just cover crabs.

Heat cooking oil in deep fryer, or outdoor butane cooker, then remove crabs from marinade and dip each body (with feelers and claws attached) into a mixture of barbeque Shake and Bake, fish fry and Tony's seasoning. (2 pkgs.) Shake and Bake, 1 cup fish fry and seasoning to taste.

Fry in a 350 to 375° temperature oil and when the crab floats to the top it is done.

Eddie Raven to perform

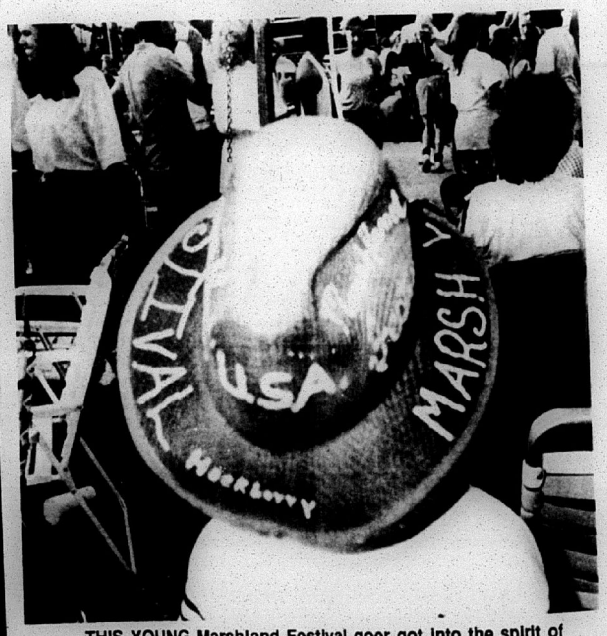
From Cajun Country to Nashville Country to island spice marks the 20-year-plus singing career of Lafayette native Eddy Raven who will be the featured entertainer on Sunday, July 5 at the Marshland Festival in Hackberry.

Raven and his band will appear on the festival's center stage beginning at 5 p.m.



Starting as a record store clerk and sometime songwriter, Raven has in recent years expanded his range to include all of the influences of his youth.

Without apologies to the Nashville establishment, Raven now uses steel drum-tinged Caribbean sounds, Latin rhythms and zydeco. That's not to say he has forsaken country hits such as "Thank God for Kids" and "Mexico." He's just broadening his horizons.

Some of his other top hits have been "Shine, Shine, Shine," "I'm Gonna Get You," "Joe Knows How to Live," "Til You Cry," and "In a Letter to You."

Raven, who currently livs in Gallatin, Tenn., has written numerous hits for other country artists, including "Country Green" by Don Gibson, "Good Morning Country Rain" by Jeannie C. Riley, "Back in the Country" by Roy Acuff, and "Thank God for Kids" by the Oak Ridge Boys.

SABINE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Visitors to the Marshland Festival in Hackberry this weekend will also want to pay a visit to the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, located a few miles south of Hackberry.

The Sabine Refuge, with 142,000 acres is the largest waterfowl refuge on the Gulf Coast. It was established in 1937 to preserve a large block of coastal marsh important to wintering snow geese and ducks. Waterfowl from both the Mississippi and Central Flyways winter on the refuge.

The refuge Visitor's Center - headquarters complex is located on Highway 27 approximately eleven miles south of Hackberry. The Visitors Center exhibits and diorama are open to the public from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays and from 12 noon to 4 p.m. on weekends and holidays.

Raccoon

The Marsh Trail is located four miles south of the headquarters on the west side of Highway 27 across the road canal. This one and one-half mile walking trail is all-weather, handicap accessible and is open to the public during daylight hours. It provides visitors the opportunity to enter a tranquil marsh setting and aids them in gaining a better insight into the ecology of the area.

Alligators can be seen throughout the year but normally are more active on windless, bright, warm days. From November through February, Snow and Blue geese are usually present each morning.

Wading and water birds and marsh furbearers are always present along the Marsh Trail for visitor viewing. Bank fishing along Highway 27 is permitted year round.

The American alligator is a wild animal who prefers gliding quietly up and down the waterways or sunning himself on the bank.

Marsh Trail Observation Tower

Do not feed, tease or try to prod an alligator into moving by throwing rocks or other things at him, because he is perfectly capable of defending himself.

Marsh Lilies may have real value!

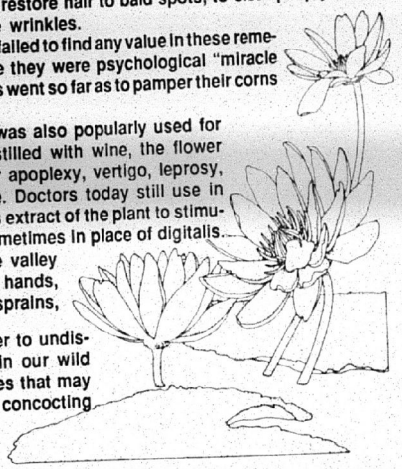
Over the centuries hundreds and hundreds of legends have developed in regard to flowers. Some of the stories seek to explain how a particular flower got its name; others tell of its symbolism or declare its magical properties.

Every time I drive along the Cameron roads that border marshes and see the beautiful white and yellow lilies floating on their green pads I am reminded of stories surrounding their lily relatives.



During the reign of Queen Elizabeth I of England the white lily was much used in medicine. A treatment for dropsy was compounded by mixing the juice of lily bulbs with barley flour and baking it into bread. Bulbs mashed together with honey were believed to knit sinews together, to heal burns without leaving scars, to restore hair to bald spots, to clear pimply complexions, and to remove wrinkles.

Although science later failed to find any value in these remedies, perhaps at the time they were psychological "miracle drugs." The early Romans went so far as to pamper their corns with lily bulb poultices.

The lily of the valley was also popularly used for medicinal purposes. Distilled with wine, the flower elixir was dispensed for apoplexy, vertigo, leprosy, palsy, and heart trouble. Doctors today still use in small doses a poisonous extract of the plant to stimulate the heart muscle sometimes in place of digitalis.

A lotion of lily of the valley was used externally for hands, bad complexion, gout, sprains, and eye inflammation.

For all we know hither to undiscovered uses may lie in our wild marsh lilies -- real values that may become instrumental in concocting new medicines.

Marshland Sauce Picante

By Rita Gremillion, Sulphur

The following recipe won third place for Rita Gremillion of Sulphur in last year's crab cookoff at the Marshland Festival in Hackberry. (In the 1990 Festival Mrs. Gremillion and her son, Gordon Gremillion, won first with their entry.)

3/4 cup cooking oil or olive oil
3/4 cup flour ( only plain flour)
1 1/2 quarts water
1 quart V-8 juice or tomato juice
1 can Rotel tomatoes
1 Tablespoon sugar
1/4 cup parsley, chopped
1/4 cup green onion tops, chopped
Salt to taste
1 Tablespoon oleo
2# white crab meat and 1# crab fingers
1# alligator meat (cut in small cubes)
1# peeled shrimp (season all with Tony's Creole seasonings and garlic powder and saute before adding vegetables.)
2 chopped onions
2 chopped bell peppers
1 celery heart with leaves, or 4 celery stems, chopped

Make roux with oil and flour. Boil onions, bell peppers and celery in 1/2 quart of water and 1 Tablespoon oleo, until all water has evaporated. Add cooked vegetables to roux with the other quart of water, sugar, V-8 or tomato juice and Rotel tomatoes. Cook on medium fire for about 1 hour. Add seasoned crab, meats, parsley, onion tops. Cover pot and simmer for about 25 to 30 minutes.

DO NOT STIR, only shake covered pot every 10 minutes. Take off fire and let set about 10 minutes before serving over rice. She uses popcorn rice which is the new form of gourmet rice grown in Choupique.

Daniel to be featured

One of the featured musical attraction of the Saturday program of the Marshland Festival in Hackberry will be Davis Daniel, country music singer, who will perform at 8 p.m. on the main stage.

Daniel was raised in the Chicago suburb of Arlington Heights but things changed when his father, who had worked 18 years for a Chicago corporation, uprooted his wife, eight children and dog to realize his lifelong dream of becoming a western cattle raiser and building a log cabin.

They finally ended up in Nebraska where Daniel learned to be a farm boy and discovered the music of John Denver and Willie Nelson.

After his father died when Daniel was 14, they sold the ranch and bought a home in a suburb of Denver.

When, at the age of 18, Daniel came home from his first Nelson concert saying he had decided to become a country singer, his mother found him a guitar for $5 at a garage sale and Daniel was on his way.

Borrowing the maiden name of his mother and the given name of his father, he dubbed himself David Daniel. (His real name is Robert Andrykowski. "I didn't figure it would fit on a record label," he said.)

He supportedd himself by pouring concerte and worked the Davis Daniel Band into the beginnings of a local reputation.

He ws 26 when, in November 1987, he and his wife left Denver for Nashville with a trailer, $1,000 in cash and an apartment tney nad rented by mail.

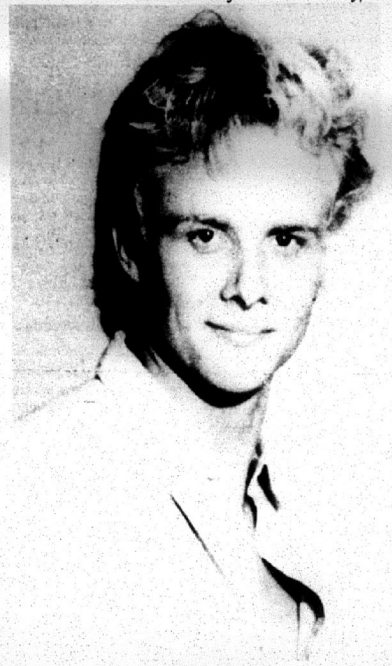
His first break, he says, came at an American Legion hall where he often performed.

"One day the guy who ran the show there said, 'Hey, there's a girl bringing a record label in for a showcase next week, and if you come in early, as soon as she walks off the stage I'll get you up there and maybe they'll hear you,' " Daniel remembers.

I got there early, and as soon as she was done I got up and sang "Houston Solution", the Ronnie Milsap song. The guy from the record label was at my table before I was."

The record company wanted him for a single deal. He sought advice and was referred to Ron Haffkine, who had produced big selling records for the group Dr. Hook.

Haffkine promised to take him into a recording studio and said that if they didn't have a major record contract in eight months, Daniel could have for free any recordings they made.



In one of the gutsier gambles ever made by a young Nashville hopeful, Daniel went with Haffkine's experience, turning down the record deal he already had.

Davis Daniel hits include: "Fighting Fire with Fire," "For Crying Out Loud," "Picture Me Holding Pictures Of You," "Borderline Insane," and "I Still Got A Crush On You."

Daniel also got some national attention when his "Fighting Fire with Fire" was listed among the top 14 Best of Song in Peoples Weekly.

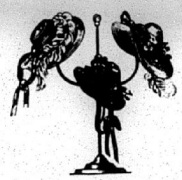
Roseate spoonbills no longer a rarity here

By KIERSTAN GORDON

(Courtesy American Press)

The roseate spoonbill, once nearly driven to extinction by ladies' fashion, is making a comeback in Southwest Louisiana.



The pink and white birds can be found in Cameron Parish and are frequently seen near the Sabine River and have even been spotted at Holly Beach, according to Will Nedecker of the Lacassine Wildlife Refuge.

In the late 1880s, plume hunters put heavy pressure on the spoonbill population as the birds' bright rose feathers became popular for hats and ladies' fans.

Plumes earned hunters as much as $32 per ounce, and the birds seemed headed for extinction. But the feathers went out of fashion around the turn of the century, and since that time the spoonbill population has continued to grow.

The most recent wildlife census in 1990 found 12 nesting colonies of roseate spoonbills, according to Bill Vermilion at the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries in Baton Rouge. The census counted 1,919 birds in Louisiana, according to Vermilion.

Plumes earned hunters as much as $32 per ounce..

"The roseate spoonbill is still considered to be imperiled in the state," Vermilion said. "If there's major development near the colonies, or a really cold winter, it could force them out. There isn't a large enough population in the state to absorb a catastrophe."

The spoonbill is a member of the Ibis family and has a wing span of about 52 inches. It is often confused with the flamingo because of its rose-colored feathers, but its flat, spoon-shaped bill provide a dramatically different look.

The bill is often more than 6 inches long, making it easy for these wading birds to snap up crustaceans, small fish, slugs and aquatic insects.

In late June, the spoonbills nest in willow trees and small bushes. They build nests of sticks and line them with dead leaves and bark. Little ones are hatched from dull white eggs which are streaked with brown.

Louisiana is home to the northern-most spoonbill colonies, which stay in Southwest parishes during the winter, according to Vermilion. Meanwhile, populations in Texas and Florida often migrate to Mexico and South America.

Crabmeat cornbread

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

Among the unique recipes entered last year in the Marshland Festival crab cookoff was "Crabmeat Cornbread, submitted by Leland (Butch Tunks, Jr. of Westlake, which he cooken in a "Cajun Microwave."

This is an original recipe and an original stove he made out of an old deep freeze that he lined with sheet metal. He made a sheetmetal tray on top on which he puts his coals for heat.

He fires up his coals in the tray and in 15 minutes his oven is hot enough to cook in.

The insulation keeps it at an even temperature, and he sits his cooking pan on raised pieces of metal so it doesn't touch the bottom of the oven.

"Crabmeat Cornbread"
Leland E. (Butch) Tunks, Jr. Westlake

1 cup cornmeal, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. soda, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 large chopped onion, 1 can cream corn, 1/2# grated cheese, 1/2 cup onion tops (chopped), jalapeno pepper chopped, 1# crabmeat, 1/2 clove chopped garlic.

Mix all ingredients well and bake in 11 X 14 baking pan for an hour in a cajun microwave.

Americans Need To Know!

Four Steps Toward A Healthier Life

Cardiovascular disease is the number one Killer in America, taking more than 760,000 lives each year and damaging the health of millions more. These numbers can be significantly reduced as Americans learn to identify and modify factors in their lifestyles which may contribute toward the development of cardiocvascular disease.

Lead An Active Lifestyle

Participating in aerobic exercise is a fun and effective way to minimize the odds of developing cardiovascular disease. Participating in 20 minutes of aerobic exercise, at least three times per week, can significantly reduce obesity and hypertension.

Learn The Principals of Healthful Nutrition

Following the guidelines of healthful nutrition and thereby making healthful food choices dramatically reduces the odds of becoming obese or developing high cholesterol.

Learn To Cope Positively With Stress

It is important to develop positive ways to deal with negative stress since it reduces hypertension and promotes self-esteem.

Learn To Identify And Modify High-Risk Habits

Recognizing the risks associated with habits such as smoking, drugs and alcohol, and making the effort to modify such habits are important steps in developing a healthy lifestyle.

36th Year--No. 6

SHOWN VISITING at the Marshland Festival in Hackberry last weekend were Peter Jenkins of Tennessee and Tabetha Vincent of Hackberry, the Festival queen. Jenkins, a noted travel author, has been in Cameron parish for the past two weeks working on two travel books.

Marshland Festival was a big success

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

In spite of the intermittent showers that plagued the area, and the heat index of 109, a record crowd showed up at the third annual Marshland Festival Saturday to enjoy plenty of good food, drinks, music and entertainment.

The festival grounds were set around the Hackberry Community Center and the exhibits were located inside the center, along with much of the entertainment.

The "Great American Crab Cookoff" which occupied the morning activities featured area cooks cooking crabs in various ways.

Mark Hebert and Chris Hebert captured the first place spot with their "Barbecued Crabs", which featured a "secret" sauce that they concocted to pour into the cavities of the crab bodies to cook on the grill. Both men are from Hackberry and worked as a team.

Eddie LeBleu and Linda Seay took the second place slot with their "Stuffed Pistolettes". They are also from Hackberry.

A distinguished panel of judges were on hand to give their expert opinions on the crab dishes. They were Shannan Suire, Cameron Extension Agent; J. H. Martin, president of Louisiana Fairs and Festival Association; Chef George Williams from Lake Charles, "The Flambe King"; Peter Jenkins, nationally known travel author from Tennessee, who is in Cameron writing his seventh travel book; and Tom Woodard, Lake Charles TV personality.

Food booths and other booths circled the grounds of the recreation center, manned by Hackberry civic, school and church groups.

In fact, the inspiration for the starting of the Marshland Festival was a community effort to have good family fun and also to give all organizations an opportunity to raise money.

Each one is allowed to set up a booth at no cost and is allowed to keep the money they make, and they in turn will not have to go around to all of the local businesses asking for money for their projects. It has worked out beautifully.

Inside the recreation center display booths were featured, with wood decoy carvers, taxidermy displays, antique implements used in farming, and trapping, or anything connected with the marshland.

The Hinton family had set up a very unusual booth of these antique relics that have been collected over the years, including an oxyoke converted into a sort of plow that was pulled behind a team of oxen in the 1800's to grade the dirt streets in the town of Cameron when it was still known as Leesburg.

An interesting fur and alligator display by "Fats" Dupont and Charlie Pettifer showed furs and alligator skins found in the marshlands and material on wildlife conservation.

Festival co-ordinator David Hintson says, "The Marshland Festival is for the kids and the 1992 Festival profits, which are generated from gate sales, benefit the Hackberry Athletic Association, FFA, Hackberry Auxiliary, Junior 4-H Club, the Academic committee, Hackberry school yearbook, the Rita Walthers Scholarship Fund; Boy and Girl Scout troops, cheerleaders and local church youth groups."

Tabetha Vincent, the 1992 Marshland Queen, reigned over the festival.

'Have a look at nutty man'--Earl Long

(Cameron Pilot, July 10, 1959)

Gov. Earl K. Long flew into Cameron Saturday afternoon at the height of the deep sea fishing rodeo and Fourth of July celebration to give local folks and visitors a close-up look at, as he put it: "a nutty man."

And although he looked very old and very tired, most of his audience would have had to agree: "Ole Earl looked just as sane as you and I." He spoke very briefly, and very little of the old fire and brimstone was evident in his talk.

"There's a lot of good left in this old man," he told the crowd. I'm 63, going on 64, and I want you to pray for me. I'm going to be your governor for the next four years."

For the greater part of the 50-minute political rally, Gov. Long sat in a state police car (driven by Cameron's own Cpl. C. E. Jones) and listened while other members of his ticket tore into his political opponents.

He put in a good word for Cameron officials. He said that he didn't usually get mixed up in local political campaigns, but that Cameron had two good men whom he thought ought to be re-elected because of their untiring efforts on behalf of their people following Hurricane Audrey. He was speaking of Sheriff O. B. Carter and Rep. Alvin Dyson.

arish given $203,089 by federal refuges

Managers of the three federal wildlife refuges in Cameron Parish Monday presented the police jury with a $203,089 check representing the annual revenue sharing payment to the parish. The jury will split the funds with the school board.

The three refuges, Sabine, Lacassine and Cameron Prairie, take up 200,000 acres or nearly a quarter of the parish. The parish receives no ad valorem taxes on federal lands, so a portion of the revenues generated on the land is given to the parish in lieu of taxes.

Refuge managers taking part in the ceremony were Paul Yakupzack, Cameron Prairie; Will Nidecker, Sabine; and Vicki Grafe, Lacassine. Mrs. Grafe has just assumed her new position.

Juror Douaine Conner asked Yakupzack about the summer youth employment program at his refuge. The manager said he was presently employing six high school youths which he secured with the aid of the Grand Lake high school counselor, but he agreed to share the jobs with South Cameron high students next year.

In new bldg.

The Cameron Parish Health Unit moved into its building last week and was open for service on Monday. The new location is directly behind the Cameron Parish Courthouse.

An open house will be at the facility in August.

State winners

Kristi Jo Dupuie, Cameron parish 4-H member, was named the alternate winner in the Club Reporter contest at the annual 4-H Short Course held last week at LSU.

Musical set

Ebenezer Baptist Church will present a musical Saturday, July 18, 7:30 p.m. Special guests will be Jeff Davis Voice of Brotherhood.

Anyone interested in participating can attend the next rehearsal which will be Sunday, July 12, 4 p.m., at the church.

Swearing in

Court procedure in 38th Judicial District Court in Cameron was suspended Wednesday of last week so Sheriff James R. "Sono" Savoie, Chief Deputy Theos Duhon and his 63 deputies could be sworn into office.

Judge H. Ward Fontenot also administered the oath of office to Debbie Theriot, clerk of court, her chief deputy Cynthia Ann King and her office staff.

The Rev. Wayman Culp gave the blessing and the Rev. Jack Tanner gave the benediction for the proceeding. Short talks were given by the Rev. Mark Broussard who praised the work of the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department.

Police Jury Briefs

Among the actions taken by the Cameron Parish Police Jury at its monthly meeting Monday were the following:

*Liquor permits were approved for Rex D. Franklin, operator of Ardy's Little Bar, and for John A. DeBarge, Sr., operator of DeBarge's Cajun Landing, both in Hackberry.

*The board agreed to advertise its intent to abandon a portion of a road right-of-way for Rosa Mhire in Grand Chenier.

*A bid of $74,672 was accepted from the H. J. Thibodeaux Construction Co. for the construction of the new Lowery fire station.

*Bids totaling $1350 were accepted from Fountain Auto Sales in Cameron on two used pickup trucks and two used gas heaters. A used grader and two water storage tanks received no bids and will be readvertised.

*The jury approved advertising for bids on fire equipment for District 14 and for sampling and plugging wells at the old parish dumps.

*The new Cameron Parish Health Unit was accepted as complete.

*The jury agreed to ask the highway department to put double stripes on the highways in front of the hospital and parish schools.

*At the request of Juror Douaine Conner Parish Road 107 in the Klondike area was renamed Speckle Belly Road.

*Cameron Hospital Ambulance Service District No. 2 was created by the Jury. It will take in all areas of the parish presently not in the South Cameron Ambulance District.

*At the request of Juror George Hicks the jury adopted an ordinance prohibiting the mooring of vessels to the Christmas tree erosion control structures. Hicks said the structures were not strong enough to moor boats.

*The jury was advised it will receive some funds from the Federal Oil Overcharge monies to be used in improving parish roads. Juror Douaine Conner said Tallon Landing road in his district would be one of the roads.

*The jury agreed to establish a parishwide drainage advisory committee to help coordinate drainage projects with the various drainage boards of the parish.

*Since the jury has been unable to get the Corps of Engineers to dredge the old channel of the Mermentau river south of Creole, the jury agreed to ask the East Cameron Port Commission to undertake the project.

*After failing to get the state highway department to cut the grass along the state highways in the parish instead of using herbicides, Juror George LeBouef said he had gotten the state to agree to pay $900 a mile for the jury to do the work for the road coming into Cameron. The jury approved the plan and said they hoped it could be extended to the entire parish.

Juror LeBouef asked that the parish administrator look into the feasibility of creating a parishwide fire ant abatement district and the cost involved.

The date of the September jury meeting was moved to Tuesday, Sept. 8 due to Labor Day being on Monday.

The jury adopted a resolution honoring Adrienne Picou, who was named the Louisiana High School All Around Cowgirl for the second straight year. She is the daughter of Parish Administrator Pete Picou.

*Juror Ray Conner asked that the state health department be asked to make a survey of the parish to see if cancer rates here are higher than for the rest of the state.

*Parish Engineer Lonnie Harper reported that one of the road projects in the Grand Lake area is about 30 percent complete but that the contractor on two other projects there has not yet started work.

Gas co. criticized

A representative of the Entex Corp. advised the Cameron parish police jury Monday that the company would not be able to provide natural gas service for the Garber Subdivision near Cameron because of small number of homes and the distance involved.

Jurors, however, were not satisfied with reasons given by Marty Meche and proceeded to be very critical of the gas company.

Juror Brent Nunez accused the company of "taking the cream and leaving out everyone else."

Juror Ray Conner recalled that the company had said some years ago it could not provide any more service in Cameron parish due to the lack of a gas supply. He said the jury had been able to persuade a pipeline company to put about 13 taps on its line when it came through the parish and gas was now available from that line.

Juror George LeBouef said an availability of natural gas might enable the parish to secure more industry.

On a motion by Nunez, the juror voted to contact the Public Service Commission to find out what the rules are concerning connecting new customers.

Fina will announce marsh plan

Fina Oil and Chemical Company will have an announcement ceremony for the Wetlands Restoration and Protection Plan for Mud Lake in Johnson Bayou at 10 a.m., Friday, July 10, at Fina's Mecam Ranch.

The Mud Lake area has suffered coastal wetland erosion with approximately 76 acres per year converging from vegetated marsh to open water, from 1953 to 1983.

As the landowner, Fina solicited assistance from the U. S. Soil and Conservation Service (SCS) in 1988 to develop and permit an Intensive Wetland Restoration and Protection Plan for 8,054 acres in the vicinity of Mud Lake.

Following the reviews of the plan the federal, state and local regulatory agencies, the permits were approved in March.

The plan is designed to manage the area as a brackish marsh which is important for nursery dependent organisms, migratory waterfowl, alligators and furbearers.

To achieve the objectives, the plan provides for the maintenance of hydrologic barriers, the installation of water control and wave stilling devices, the planting of vegetation and the introduction of fresh water.

When implemented, this area will serve as a model for the benefit of coastal westlands restoration and protection.

Shrimping ends Fri.

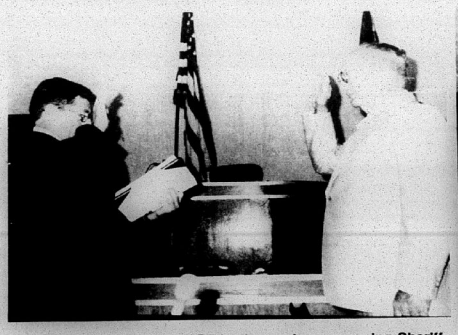
The 1992 spring inshore shrimp season in the portion of Louisiana's inshore waters known as Zone III from the western shore of Vermilion Bay west to the Louisiana/Texas state line will close at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, July 11.

A special extension for wingnet fishing will begin in Zone III at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, July 11, and extend through 12:01 a.m. Saturday, July 18. This special season is for wingnets only and fishing will be allowed only on outgoing tides.

Fishing during this special season is limited to the Calcasieu Ship Channel from Nine Mile Cut (Channel Marker 66) to the Gulf of Mexico and East Pass from its origin at the Calcasieu Ship Channel to the south end of Calcasieu Lake and also West Pass from its origin at the Calcasieu Ship Channel to the south end of West Cove.



Joe L. Herring, Secretary of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, said the season was being closed to protect juvenile white shrimp which have begun showing up in department trawl samples as well as in the commercial catches. The special wingnet season is being held to harvest brown shrimp moving to the offshore waters. Strict enforcement of the aforementioned rules will serve to protect the small white shrimp moving inshore.

Preliminary statistics released by the National Marine Fisheries Service shows more than 6 million pounds of shrimp were landed in Louisiana during May this year.

Fishing tourney results

FISHING NEWS

This weekend we've seen many tourists and fishermen in our parish as well as boaters and beachgoers. The Fourth of July always brings the outdoors o. Cameron Parish alive and many out of town folks enjoy the holiday weekend as well as our local folks.

On the fishing scene, our parish waters are really producing plenty of fish, both freshwater and saltwater species, however, this weather change has made it tough.

A friendly reminder - if you did not get a new fishing license yet, your old one expired the last day of June.

The results of the Hook, Line and Sinker Bass Classic were not in favor of our local anglers who had qualified and fished it. The drawing ended up that the fishing take place on Lacassine Refuge. It is well grown and spoonfishing is almost a must. There were only 14 teams weighing in. Twenty-nine teams fished. There were six places for team stringers and six places for largest bass and one for largest choupique.

Largest Stringers of 5 Bass: Mike Burnett and Mike Guinn, 15.51; Rick Bruno and David Pool, 15.43; Chuck Fontenot and Bill Domingue, 14.67; Jim Clark and Jimmy Clark, 14.04; Roland Pesson and Paul Young, 12.23.

Largest Choupique: Chuck Fontenot, 5.75.

We had six teams from Cameron Parish who fished but only Carl Broussard and Ricky Canik, with 7½ pounds and Loston McEvers and Travis Broussard, with 7 pounds weighed in.

First place was a $5,000 bass boat rigged out plus $1,000 cash. The rest was a percentage of the money taken in. Second place also had $250 extra if you were using a Suzuki Motor.

TALK AROUND

Everyone thinks Florida is the fishingest state in the South, but out of the 12 states along the Gulf Coast and Atlantic Coast and Southern states, Florida is last and Arkansas is first. Thirty-one and a half percent of the people in Arkansas fish, where only 7.2 percent fish in Florida. Our state of Louisiana ranked sixth with 13.2 percent of the population fishing.

Alaska was easily Number One with 61.6 percent fishing. However, they have a very small population in their state.

FISHING TRIPS

Right now with all the vegetation growing up and covering the pond, when the heat of the day is there, you'll have to either fish the deep canals or the heavy growth. To fish the heavy growth, a spoon and chuck is best, but you can also fish a worm. Anyway, they got to both be fished slow.

If you fish saltwater, speckle trout is good using plastic grubs or speck rigs. You can also fish redfish this way. Live shiners or mullets are good for redfish also. Don't forget top water baits when speckle trout are schooling.

There was a bass tournament last weekend sponsored by the Grand Chenier American Legion and I'll have the results next week.

REMEMBER

The Lemesche Bass Club will hold a club bass tournament July 12, and the Seven Acres Bass Club will hold their club tournament July 18.

FISHING PERIODS

Friday, July 10 - best, 8:22 a.m. and 8:52 p.m.; good, 2:17 a.m. and 2:32 p.m.

Saturday, July 11 - best, 9:12 a.m. and 9:37 p.m.; good, 3:07 a.m. and 3:22 p.m.

Sunday, July 12 - best, 10:02 a.m. and 10:22 p.m.; good, 3:52 a.m. and 4:12 p.m.

RECEIVING THE High Point Awards at Cameron Parish 4-H Achievement Day were: Jr. Boys Division, Lancey Silver, 1st and Jr. Girls Division, Daniele Delcambre, Cheri Gray and Heather Spicer, tied for 2nd place. Cody Fenetz (not pictured) received 3rd in Jr. Boys Division.

Ex-Burma resident tells experience

By SHERRY LaVERGNE

At the June monthly meeting of the Sweetlake Extension Homemakers Club, those present were reminded of the privileges that we enjoy as American citizens.

Guest speaker, Anna Tekepp, a native of Burma, was invited to speak to the group by Lena Guidry, the club's citizenship chairman. Mrs. Tekepp told how she and her family were forced to flee from their homeland to escape death from enemy forces. When only 10 years of age, Anna, her family, and other villagers began their long, hard journey through the rugged Himalayan Mountains. They fled with only what they could carry on their backs.

While in the mountains, they found aircraft that had crashed and used parts of these airplanes to form into primitive tools to use to plant, or just for survival.

After two hard years of hunger and hardships, and successfully crossing the Himalayas, Anna remained with a family of missionaries while the remainder of her family returned to Burma.

In 1972, at age 13, Anna entered the United States at New Orleans and lived with the missionaries. She met and married her husband in Baton Rouge, and now, Anna, her husband, and 5 children live in Lake Charles.

Billie Fruge, president, announced that the club had collected $428 for the Cameron Parish Cancer Drive.

The group was served refreshments by Cleo Duhon and Eddie Mae Faulk, hostesses. Other visitors, besides Mrs. Tekepp, were Olite Boullion, Peggy Eagleson, Velma Fruge, Rose Robichaux, and Mary Venable.

The next meeting will be held at Lena's Cajun Kitchen at 7 p.m. July 20, when the Homemakers will treat their husbands to a meal.

REMEMBER?

Intercoastal canal was funded in 1910

(Abbeville Meridional, July 9, 1910)

THE INTERCOASTAL CANAL

The President signed two bills Saturday that are of great interest to residents of Calcasieu. One was for a federal building at Jennings. The other was the rivers and harbors bill, which provides for an appropriation of $100,000 to complete that section of the Intercoastal Canal between Mermentau and Sabine rivers.

The first section of the Intercoastal Canal, which was let by contract to Capt. J. N. Andersen for construction, is estimated to be open for traffic about August 1st. Tentative arrangements have already been made by owners of motor boats on the Calcasieu and Mermentau and other streams to the eastward to have some type of celebration of the event.

Owners of water craft on the Calcasieu River already have connection with the Mermentau through the use of the private canals of the North American Land and Timber Co., extending eastward and to the south from Big Lake, five miles south of Spanish Point to Sweetlake, thence to Lake Miserie, where a natural channel affords access to the Mermentau and Bayou Lacassine.

These two canals--the Sweetlake and the Lacassine--were constructed by the company purely at their own expense for the purpose of hauling the products of their big plantations at Sweetlake and on the Lacassine to Lake Charles and transporting supplies back again. Manager Chalkley stated a few months ago that the saving of freight rates that the company effects by this means of itself justified the cost of construction and maintenance of this system of canals.

Plans have already been formed for the operation of a regular steamboat line between Lake Charles and Morgan City. When the canal is completed, connections can be made at the latter place with the line now in operation between Morgan City and New Orleans, thus giving Lake Charles direct connections with the Crescent City by water. It is very probable that within a few years heavy freight transportation between Lake Charles and New Orleans will be carried on almost wholly by water, and the rice, sugar, oil, sulphur and other products of Southwest Louisiana will pass through the intercoastal.

Lumber interests of Lake Charles, in the meantime, look to the completion of the canal to the west as a means of affording them safe and cheap transportation to ocean-going steamships at Port Arthur and Sabine Pass. For some time they have endeavored to transport lumber booked by foreign ports by tug and barges out of Calcasieu Pass, but the shipping by that route is very risky on account of the frequent storms on the gulf. A landlocked passage of government construction from the head of Big Lake to the Sabine River will immediately command a large traffic from the saw mills along the Calcasieu.

(Cameron Pilot, July 10, 1959)

BELGIAN SHIP BURNS OFF CAMERON COAST

A 442-foot Belgian motorship, the Anvers, was still burning just off of the coast of Cameron as the Pilot went to press this week. The ship, loaded with cotton, tallow and inflammable, caught fire Sunday morning about 10 miles south of Cameron, while headed for Lake Charles to take on a load of menhaden oil from Cameron.

Part of the crew and the captain's wife abandoned the ship in lifeboats and were towed into Cameron by fishing boats taking part in the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. Capt. Henri Sanglier and the rest of the crew were forced to leave the ship later when the fire engulfed the entire ship.

The Belgian crew was brought into the Coast Guard station at Cameron, where they were fed with Shrimp Creole left over from the bazaar at Cameron. They were later put up at Broussard's Motel and on Wednesday they were taken by bus into Lake Charles. Later this week, they returned to Belgium by commercial airliner.

Coast Guard vessels stood by the burning ship for two days, but when they were unable to put out the flames, the ship was towed to a new location outside the shipping lanes, several miles off of Holly Beach and left to burn. Presumably when the fires die down, salvage attempts will be made. In the meantime, the large cloud of smoke from the ship can be seen for miles.

The 9,800-ton ship had a crew of 36 members and the captain.

FISHING RODEO

Some 450 persons and 40 boats took part in the annual Southwest Louisiana Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo held over the Fourth of July weekend out of Cameron. The weather was beautiful, the catches were good, and the 1959 rodeo will go down in the records as one of the best.

TOURISTS IMPORTANT TO CAMERON

(By Jerry Wise)

More and more the citizens of Cameron Parish are coming to realize the importance of the sportsmen and tourists who come into the parish in ever increasing numbers each year. The money which these people put into circulation here is just as important as that brought in by fishing, oil and agriculture.

An important point concerning these visitors to our parish was brought out in a letter to the Cameron Parish Jury this week from Charles L. Doan, Welsh businessman. He wrote:

"Cameron and Grand Chenier are nice places to visit and crab and fish, but facilities for parking and resting in the open under shade are almost non-existent. Everyone, young and old, likes to go camping, and where else but Cameron Parish is ideally suitable for such in Southwest Louisiana?

"But what do we find? Not a single place under shade from the east end of Grand Chenier to Johnson's Bayou on the west is there a place to drive in and eat lunch or barbecue. Even the advertised roadside park near Grand Chenier cannot be found. Many places, especially in and around Grand Chenier, would make fine drive-in resting places, but those are all fenced in."

GRAND CHENIER BOY SCOUTS

Members of Boy Scout Troop 201 of Grand Chenier and Troop 202 of Creole attended summer camp at Camp Edgewood last week. Grand Chenier boys included Jimmie Miller, Dennis Husers, Lonnie and Mike Harper, Kenneth Nunez, Jr., Thomas Broussard and Dwight Mhire. From Creole there were Leslie Mudd, Bobby Bertrand, Charles Theriot, Johnnie O'Donnell, Mike Savoy, John Conner and Hillory Trahan.

TEDs hearing set July 23

At the urging of Congressman Jimmy Hayes, a puiblic hearing will be heldin Lake Charles to look into planned federal regulations that would require shrimpers to use turtle excluder devices (TEDs) year-round in all areas.

The hearing will be held Tuesday, July 23 at 7 p.m. at the Burton Memorial Coliseum, and will be conducted by the National Marine Fisheries Service. Originally, only one public hearing was scheduled for Louisiana, in Thibodaux on June 24.

"If these proposed regulations are adopted, it will have a serious impact on many lives in Southwestern Louisiana. It is only fair that those who have a stake in the outcome play a part in making the decisions that affect them. Too many of the federal rules that govern our lives are written by bureaucrats who never see the outside of their office, much less the Gulf Coast of Louisiana," Hayes said.

Under the new guidelines, shrimpers would not be allowed to limit their tow times to under 90 minutes rather than using TEDs. Seasonal exemptions would also be eliminated under the proposed rules.

Msgr. Bernard gets promotion by order

A priest and seven lay people from the Diocese of Lake Charles will be promoted in the ranks of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem when the Southeastern Lieutenancy of the Order holds its annual meeting in September.

The promotions were announced by the Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, himself a Knight Commander With Star in the Order, at a dinner in his honor, sponsored by the Knights and Ladies of the diocese.

Those to be promoted include: Rev. Msgr. Murphy J. Bernard, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish, Creole, being promoted from Knight to Knight Commander.

The Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem is one of the most ancient of the world's Orders of Chivalry, having its origins in Jerusalem during the ear of the Crusades. After the downfall of the Latin Kingdom in the Holy Land, the Knights returned to their homelands and devoted themselves to charity and philanthropy. Today the Order has Lieutenancies in most of the nations of Western Europe and the New World. The care of the Catholic Church in the Holy Land was entrusted to the Order by Pope Pius XII in 1949.

Membership in the Order today is reserved for Catholic men and women throughout the world who have accomplished meritorious work for the Church, led exemplary lives, and who have distinguished themselves for unselfish service in their communities.

Dredging may cause more mosquitoes here

At the request of Don Menard, director of the Cameron Parish Mosquito Abatement District, the Cameron Parish Police Jury Monday passed a resolution asking the U. S. Corps of Engineers to work with the parish in its abatement program when the Calcasieu ship channel is dredged out.

Menard said the Corp plans to spread the spoil from the dredging in a number of areas along the channel. When the spoil dries, it forms big cracks which hold water and provide ideal breeding grounds for mosquitos.

He noted that one spoil site will be on Monkey Island just across from the town of Cameron and another will be near the town of Hackberry, which will cause mosquito problems in those areas.

Menard said the Mosquito Abatement District was opposed to the dredging as planned but agreed that the dredging was a necessity.

The jury agreed to ask the Corps to dig ditches in the spoil areas so as to drain off as much of the water as possible in them.

(10th in a Series)

What: 911 is the Emergency Telephone Number you can use to reach police, fire and emergency medical services in most communities in the United States and Canada. This month voters in Cameron Parish will make a decision on the proposed emergency system for our area.

When: When life and property are in danger; when you see a fire; when a crime is being committed; when a rescue or emergency medical service is needed; when you need police, fire or ambulance, now; it is not appropriate to use 911 for routine business or non-emergency calls.

How: For emergency assistance dial the digits 911. Tell the Emergency Communications Officer who answers your call: the problem, where you are, other necessary information.

Cameron parish bird life is abundant

By MARIANNA TANNER
Gulf Coast Bird Club

With the first warm days of summer comes the urge to "go down to the seas again," as John Masefield wrote in his poem "Sea Fever." The sound of the wind and water and the crying of the sea gulls calls to us as it did to him.

We are fortunate in Southwest Louisiana to have beaches nearby to satisfy our yearning to "go down to the seas again." While there, we can indulge our senses with long strolls along the sand looking for shells and driftwood and other treasures that have washed up on the shore, storing up memories to bring back to our inland homes the sounds of the birds' cries and waves crashing or lapping on the shore.

As we stroll, we more than likely will approach flocks of seabirds resting near the water's edge, and, if we are at all curious, we wonder at the different kinds of birds that mingle together on the sands. A good bird book and a pair of binoculars would help in identifying the various bird species, but for a general overview of what birds you might be seeing in those flocks, let me try to guide you.

You'll see gulls, of course, and terns. They differ from each other in several ways. Gulls are long-winged, longer legged than terns, with bills stouter and slightly hooked and tails squared or rounded.

They seldom dive. Terns, on the other hand, are graceful water birds, more streamlined than gulls, with sharp pointed bills usually pointed toward the water and forked tails. They are mostly white with black caps and often hover and plunge head-first into the water for fish. They do not swim as do gulls.

The more common gulls will be the black-headed Laughing Gulls. During the Spring and Fall Migration other gulls seen are the smaller black-headed Franklin's Gull and the daintier Bonapart's Gull. The larger Ringbilled Gull is identified by its white head and black ring around its yellow bill. The largest gull of all is the Herring Gull. Other species of gulls appear from time to time, but these are the most common.

The most dramatic of the terns are the Caspian Terns, with their large red bills, and the Royal Terns, with their large orange bills. The smaller Forster's Terns and Black Terns and the even smaller Least Tern may also be seen.

If you should suddenly find yourself being attacked by several small terns, you will know that you have come upon the Least Tern's nesting area, and you should be very careful not to setp on any eggs, as they will be lying directly in shallow depressions in the sand.

A large, black and white, tern-like bird flying low with its large, red, knife-like bill plowing the water is the Black Skimmer. It's lower bill is fully a third longer than the upper.

The small birds scurrying about are probably the little sandpipers collectively called the "peeps". The ones that seem to be constantly running along are Sanderlings. If you see one with a black patch across its belly, you've spotted a Dunlin. The larger bird with the black face and black belly is, of course, a Black-bellied Plover.

Several species of plovers run along the beaches. The little ones with the black rings around their necks are Wilson's Snowy, Semipalmated, and Piping Plovers. The larger Kildeer with two black rings is well known, as is his call "kill-deeah" repeated many times as he flies away. A large bird that flies off showing a lot of white in its tail and wings, and calling loudly "pill-will-willet" over and over again is the Willet.

Flocks of Dowitchers probing the mud with their long bills in a sewing machine fashion are busily searching for food. The squat, robust, orange-legged shore-bird with the striking harlequin pattern about the face, busily turning over shells looking for food is aptly named Ruddy Turnstone.

Perched on the pilings out in the water are gulls and terns, but sometimes other birds are seen. Cormoronts are large blackish water birds that often stand erect on rocks and posts with neck in an "S" curve and possibly with wings outstretched to dry.

And don't forget to look for the Brown Pelican. Our state bird is making a comeback with the help of wildlife conservationists, and is being seen more frequently along our coast.

I've seen all the herons feeding on the mud flats off the Jetties and along Broussard's Beach — Great Blue Herons, tall and stately, Little Blue Herons, smaller Green Herons, and Tri-colored or Louisiana Herons.

The Great Egret or American Egret, also tall and stately, and the smaller Snowy Egret with its yellow "slippers" brighten the shore with their snowy white plumage.

And who can forget the Reddish Egret doing its "dance" to stir up prey for its dinner. Other birds join him for they know a good thing when they see it!

So much to see and wonder about on our visit to the sea. Our world is richer and more wondrous for the bird life that abounds there.

I hope that I've sparked your curiosity about our shore birds, and that your enjoyment of your trips to the sea will be enhanced in the years to come.

PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the Regular Meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3, held Tuesday, May 19, 1992, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Edwin Quinn, W. F. Henry, Jr., and E. J. Dronet.

Members Absent: Earl Guthrie and George Kelley.

Others Attending: J. B. Watts, Amos Vincent, Ray Conner, Ron Marcantel, Billy Delany, Ed Marcantel, Roger Vincent, Charlie Pettifer, C. J. Kiffe, Stan Giebs, Roland Broussard and Ralph Lipsak of the Department of Natural Resources in Crowley.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Edwin Quinn, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the April 21, 1992, regular meeting.

A motion was made by Edwin Quinn, seconded by W. F. Henry, Jr., and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the Month of April, 1992.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Edwin Quinn, and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Clayton Trahan, $50.
2. Cameron Pilot, $33.
3. Campbell Gas & Oil Company, Inc. of La., $640.40.
4. Coastal Culvert & Supply, Inc., $1,703.60.

Mr. Roland Broussard with the Department of Natural Resources spoke about what is being proposed for a project off the Intracoastal Canal West of the Gibbstown Bridge on Monsanto Strip for two new freshwater introductions into the Cameron-Creole Watershed. This Board has objected to this project, and Mr. Broussard stated that he is here to address any concerns and make whatever concessions he can to make the project acceptable. Mr. Ralph Lipsak explained that the intent of the project is not to increase water levels within the watershed, but rather to freshen up the system. He stated that perhaps some additional water level gauges would help in monitoring the current water control structures. He suggested establishing some benchmarks in the watershed so that we can know when to operate those structures. He stated that they would be more than happy to set up such benchmarks and to find out if there are some other things that this board would like to see incorporated into the project to make it acceptable.

President Quinn stated that water levels are being held too high now in the watershed. The U. S. Wildlife and Fisheries Service will have the manpower to properly effect the management plan. He stated that we need a guarantee that water levels will be maintained, and at the same time to object additional introductions into the watershed.

Mr. Lipsak stated that the Coastal Restoration Division of DNR will fund the proposed project, but they don't want to push the project if we have serious objections.

Mr. C. J. Kiffe expressed objection to any additional introduction of water into the Cameron-Creole Watershed. He stated that pollution is already being introduced into the watershed and is not flowing out.

Mr. Ray Conner stated that from what he has observed of this project over the years, there must be someone on the site 24 hours a day in order to take advantage of opportunities to make the management plan work through timely opening and closing of the structures when conditions call for it.

Mr. Ron Marcantel spoke in defense of freshwater introduction into the watershed. He stated that rainfall in the last two years has been twice what it normally is, and that is what is causing the high waters. He said that with the drawdowns called for in the management plan over the next two years we can revegetate the marsh. After that water levels between .2 above to 6" below marsh elevation are called for in the plan. Who is to say that there won't be a few years of drought so that we will need the freshwater introduction structures? Maybe it won't be needed this year or next, but they may certainly be needed in future years.

Mr. Lipsak said that if pollution is a major concern, he can make a few phone calls and get information on the pollution levels. Mr. Quinn reported that J. Berton Daigle has already planned to get people along the bank ridge to run benchmarks so we can run elevations and determine actual water levels. It was agreed that this project will be discussed further as additional information becomes available.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to authorize President Edwin Quinn to sign a Department of the Army permit application for maintenance of existing levee system in the Cameron-Creole Watershed to prevent salt water intrusion due to levee deterioration.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Hunters and Trappers have convention

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

Promotion of the Louisiana Fur and Alligator was the theme of each speaker at the annual state convention of the Louisiana Hunters and Trappers held in Cameron recently.

State Representative Randy Roach said, "We have got to educate the public about the fur and alligator industry, and everyone needs to know what our wetlands really mean."

He also said that he is proud that we have brought back the alligators from almost extinction to become a thriving industry.

He also said that his dream is to establish a center at Rockefeller Refuge to showcase what we have here. "We want to establish a nature trail and tell the world about our fur and alligator industry." He said that we need to preserve our marshes for future generations and to see that coastal Louisiana remains as it is.

Charlie Pettifer presented a plaque also to Myrna Conner, which was accepted by Roach. Mrs. Conner is his legislative assistant.

Ted Joanen, biologist at Rockefeller Refuge, gave a presentation on what the alligator industry has to look forward to this coming year in prices.

He has a chart which documented how prices had risen from $8 a foot for alligator hides in 1972 to 1990 which showed how it had risen to $60 a foot.

Africa, New Guinea, Singapore, Australia and others then entered the farm-raised market which lowered the prices down to $30 a foot last year.

He said it looks like it will remain like this for years because there are still large supplies of pelts which will hurt the prices.

"The council needs to advertise and sell the market of the fur and alligator skins and pelts.

"The 'Endangered Species' act has also hurt the industry and this problem also has to be addressed, and the public needs to realize that the skins come from well-managed farms and areas.

"Even though prices are now low, we feel that through promoting alligator and fur we will be able to move our products", he said.

Extension Service makes nutria video

A new educational video titled "Nutria Processing for Quality" has recently been completed by the LSU Agricultural Center's Cooperative Extension Service.

Although it is primarily for use by fur trappers, the video should also be ideal for educational use in schools and parish libraries, says Paul Coreil, Extension fisheries agent with the Ag Center.

He explains that production funding of the 17-minute video came from a grant provided by the Louisiana Fur and Alligator Advisory Council and the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

"With the industry in a state of transition, fur manufacturers are demanding excellent quality," Coreil says. "Problems noted by fur processors include matted fur, overdried pelts, excessive meat left on the pelts and careless knife cuts."

Coreil adds that the video illustrates the proper handling and processing of nutria from the running of traps in the marsh to the final presentation of the dried pelts for sale.

The video was filmed in the marshes of Cameron Parish with the cooperation of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Thibodeaux, a trapping family from Little Chenier. Miami Corporation, a large Cameron Parish land company, also provided valuable support and assistance in the project.

To obtain a free copy of the video, Coreil says to contact him at the Extension's state office in Baton Rouge, (504) 388-2145, or the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Fur and Alligator Advisory Council Office in New Iberia, (318) 373-0032.

Kevin Savoie, Fish and Wildlife agent for the Louisiana Extension Service, showed a video on the fur industry, and the care of the furs in the fur house, from the actual capture, skinning and drying process.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Thibodeaux, of the Chenier Perdue area, were the actors in the video, which was taken at their home, and were presented with a copy of the video by Greg Linscombe, from the La. Wildlife and Fisheries Service and the Louisiana Fur and Alligator Council.

At the business session "Fats" Dupont announced that the following were elected to the board of directors for the La. Fur and Alligator Council: Yancey Welch, Charlie Pettifer, and Dwight Savoie.

Excellence

The Bauer Financial Reports, Inc., Designation of Calcasieu Marine National Bank

At Calcasieu Marine National Bank, we have a simple belief: "Excellence" is our achievement when each and every customer rates us that way in every category of measurement.

So, "excellence" remains our target, not our condition.

Apparently, others around America continue to see our work toward that achievement, and continue to say so. Last year, two independent rating companies did so (with one designating Calcasieu Marine as "One of America's Top Ten Banks"), and those are now joined by Bauer Financial Reports, Inc., of Coral Gables, Florida.

In a national news media release in June, Bauer designated Calcasieu Marine as > "... one of the safest, most credit-worthy commercial banks in the United States ... (and) the third largest bank in the nation to receive this distinction of 'Creme de la Creme Bank.' "

The Bauer five-star rating, its highest, has been received by Calcasieu Marine for thirteen consecutive rating periods, and only 862 commercial banks in America, out of 11,927 banks reporting, earned this distinction from Bauer. Banks receiving the designation are exemplary in key categories of tangible capital related to tangible assets, risk-based capital, management of delinquencies, overall soundness, and profitability.

We at Calcasieu Marine are proud of these continuing designations because they come from totally independent rating companies. But, even with these designations and others like them, what we are truly working toward is the lone, simple target: "Excellence."

That designation may only be assigned by our customers ... and until it is, it remains Calcasieu Marine's only target.

Along the way, we believe, everything else — profits, ratings, evaluations by the government and all the rest — will take care of itself.

CM Calcasieu Marine National Bank

To: All Cameron Parish Honor Students

Dear Honor Students,

I would like to be the first to congratulate you on all your efforts. You have proved that hard work and dedication is the key to success, and that luck has very little to do with winning with school.

I would like to take the time to thank the teachers, school secretaries, and everyone who had a part in helping organize the pictures for the honor tabloid. I know it is a job, but our honor students deserve to be recognized for all their hard work.

For those students who worked hard but missed the honor tab for this year, you have found that trying was a learning experience. By improving your grades, you have raised your goals for higher grades and achievements next year. If you find this to be true, then this tabloid has been a success. Try again next year because it is an honor to be an honor student and make our recognition tabloids.

I hope and wish you all a safe and happy summer.

LAKE CHARLES 1310 COLLEGE 474-1999

Billy Navarre

1310 E. College St. 474-1999

Billy Navarre Chevrolet is now selling 5 times more cars and trucks than all the average other dealers in Southwest Louisiana. They are also one of the largest Chevrolet dealers in America.

In 1990, Billy Navarre was voted by all Calcasieu Parish Educators as "Friend of Education" for Calcasieu Parish and the State Educators voted Billy Navarre "Friend of Education" for the entire state of Louisiana.

In September, GMAC presented Billy Navarre Chevrolet of Lake Charles an award for having sent over $30 million in finance business to the GMAC-Lake Charles Branch; an all-time record for Southwest Louisiana by any single dealer in the history of GMAC in Lake Charles. This does not include the tremendous business sent in by the Sulphur store.

In 1990, Chevrolet Motor Division awarded Navarre with Chevy's #1 award for being one of the largest Chevy dealers in America. He finished in the top 30 in truck sales in America out of 5000 Chevy dealers. Plus, the leadership award for making Chevrolet the number one choice for cars and trucks in all the Southwest Louisiana.

Also in 1990, he was voted Citizen of the Year and Dealer of the Year by the Reader's Choice in Southwest Daily News for all of Southwest Louisiana.

"Putting 2 dealerships in the top 30 over 300 dealerships in the zone is really amazing. Being 9th in the na-tion is really fantastic when you consider we're going up against places in California, Florida, Texas, and other huge cities in the nation," Navarre said.

"Treating the customer right is the reason the dealership has reached the level of success it has in just nine short years." "It was our original goal when we opened in 1982 to build a new modern facility for Sulphur, but Chevrolet asked us to build a new facility in Lake Charles. This allowed for the 1st time in the history of Louisiana, one dealer to own two Chevrolet franchises in the same market. We agreed to build the Lake Charles facility first and the Sulphur facility in years to come.

"For 1990, we've added another franchise--Hyundai Motor American chose Billy Navarre Chevreolet because of their high volume, high customer satisfaction, facility, and location. Customers want to do business where they are appreciated," said Billy.

The numerous awards now lining the walls of both dealerships are testimony to the success that a combination of talent and dedication has brought. In 1982, the Sulphur store opened with 12 employees.

The dealership had been closed for 6 months. Every employee had left the company and they had to start over from scratch. There were 5 salespeople, 3 technicians, 2 people in parts, and 2 office personnel. There were only 15 new vehicles in inventory.

The odds were slim that Billy Navarre would even make the first year, much less become the #1 dealer in the market with two locations and now selling 5 times more than all the average other dealers in the market.

When the former Chevy dealership in Lake Charles closed, the Chevrolet Motor Division wanted Navarre to have the Lake Charles franchise because of his high volume sales and high customer satisfaction.

Navarre accepted the franchise. He could have opened up right away in the old location on Broad Street; however, he said, "although it would take longer, investing in the finest facility and most convenient location would offset that temporary invconvenience". And it has. "Our customers love our new facility," said Navarre.

Billy Navarre has expanded its payroll to meet the new needs and now has 150 employees with 2 locations, plus over 1000 new and used vehicles on display and available for their customers.

Everything about the new dealership was designed with customer convenience and customer satisfaction in mind. The Lake Charles facility is over 50,000 square feet of buildings on the property to provide virtually every kind of automotive sales and service possible.

"In Chevrolet service, we're number one in this area," Navarre said. "We have 34 service stalls in Lake Charles and 20 stalls in Sulphur so we can give immediate service."

The paint and body shop in both locations have the newest paint system available on the market today. Navarre said their "down draft paint booth with bake oven" will give the closest finish to factory possible. Due to our high volume sales, we carry more parts than many dealers giving even quicker service to our customers when their vehicles are down.

I was not born a wealthy person, or an automobile dealers son who was given a business to run. Everything I have was earned by selling and servicing my customers who helped me become successful. Because of my humble beginnings, I guess that's why I can say I appreciate my customers so much. I've been married to a wonderful lady who has been my wife for almost 19 years and has given me four wonderful sons, Ryan, Jareth, Barrett, and our one year old son, William Grant.

I thank all of our customers, employees, and friends for all their tremendous support in making Billy Navarre Chevrolet what it is today. I am very proud to be your #1 choice in automobile dealers on both sides of the river. I want to take this time to say Thank You to all of our customers.

Parish stu ts among state's hig t scorers

Cameron parish 4th, 6th and 9th grade students scored much higher than the state average on the California Achievement Tests this year, the Cameron Parish School Board was told at the July meeting.

In reading:, language and mathematics, Cameron 4th graders scored 62.4 as compared to the state average of 44, Asst. Supt. Robert Ortego told board members.

In grade 6, in these same subjects Cameron parish students had a score of 81.5 compared to 49.6 for the state, he said.

In the same subjects, Cameron parish 9th graders scored 61.9 as compared to the state average of 44.5.

Cameron parish students also scored higher than the state average in spelling, study skills, science and social studies.

The school board agreed and passed a resolution commending students and teachers who high achievements.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, school board voted to reject a bid of $7,000 for some old band instruments at Grand Lake high school. There is no longer a band program at the school or at any other Cameron parish school.

It was decided to hold on to some of the instruments in anticipation of a possible band program in the future.

*In a survey of teachers, the board was advised that 58 said they would drop the school board health insurance if rates they have to pay a higher share or the cost. The board is debating passing more of the insurance cost along to the teachers as a budget cutting measure.

*The board was advised that the special education classes at Cameron Elementary and South Cameron elementary may be combined into one class. There are two students at Cameron and nine at South Cameron.

*The board approved negotiating for the purchase of two lots for $12,000 adjacent to the school board office property.

Supervisor Judy Jones advised the board that plans are being made to provide additional aid to dyslexia students in parish schools.

Sulphur man is found guilty

A Cameron parish jury brought in a guilty verdict against Allen Roy Sittig, 20, 307 North Crocker St., Sulphur for aggravated battery. The charge was amended from second degree battery on Rick Albert Miller by stabbing him in the face with a knife.

The trial was held Tuesday in Judge H. Ward Fontenot's 38th Judicial District court.

Judge Fontenot set the sentencing date for Sittig for Sept. 10.

Dress code revised at South Cameron

On Wednesday, July 8, a committee of parents and South Cameron High teachers met to discuss revisions to the student dress code. Their proposals were presented to Principal Wayne Batts who approved the recommendations of the committee.

The list of clothing items which follows will not be permitted as school attire. Violations of the student dress code will be handled according to the disciplinary action steps which are also noted. This dress code will become effective on Aug. 19, 1992 and applies to both male and female students.

1. Skirts, shorts, skorts or split skirts which end more than 2-5/8 inches above the knee. (This measurement will be determined by placing a currency bill (i.e."dollar bill") horizontally across the top of the knee cap. A clothing item of acceptable length must, at minimum, reach the bill.)

2. Spandex (i.e. "biker shorts") or gym shorts of any length.

3. Sweatpants.

4. Any item of clothing suggestive of a controlled substance (i.e. alcohol, drugs, tobacco, etc.) or use of such a substance.

5. Any item of clothing which bears drawings or remarks deemed to be profane, obscene or, in any way, sexually suggestive.

6. Leggings, tights or any other close-fitting item unless the shirt, skirt, shorts or skort worn over it is of the acceptable length (minimum length of 2-5/8 inches above the knees).

7. Tank tops, muscle shirts, crop tops or any other sleeveless shirts or shirts which expose the midriff.

9. Any item of clothing which has been obviously cut, sliced or torn (including those which have been patched with contrasting material).

10. Any item of clothing or manner of dress which is indicative or suggestive of violence or gang-related behavior.

11. Any item of clothing or manner of dress that is disruptive to the educational process.

Violations of Code

Violations of the student dress code will be determined by any faculty member when a problem is noted. The following disciplinary action steps will be followed:

First Offense: Student must change into acceptable attire or remain isolated. All class time missed will be recorded as an unexcused absence.

Second Offense: Student must change into acceptable attire (or remain isolated and unexcused), remain at school on the day of the violation and will be suspended, out of school, the following day.

Third Offense: Student must change into acceptable attire (or remain isolated and unexcused), remain at school on the day of the violation and will be suspended, out of school, for the following three days.

Author plans book on area

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

Peter Jenkins, nationally known, best-seller author, was in Cameron parish for the last two weeks doing interviews and taking pictures for an upcoming book, or possibly two books he is writing about the area, and other places along the coast.

He is traveling by boat along the coast and will write about some of its adventures along the way.

This will be his seventh book, and the others are: "A Walk Across America", "A Walk West", "A Road: Unseen", "Across China", "The Tennessee Sampler", and "Close Friends."

Two issues to be voted on Saturday

There will be two tax elections in Cameron parish Saturday--one parishwide and the other in the Cameron area.

Parishwide voters will vote on levying a service charge on telephones in the parish with the proceeds being used to establish and maintain an 911 emergency telephone system.

When in operation, anyone wishing to call an emergency number, such as ambulance, police or fire, could dial 911 and have the emergency message immediately put through to the proper agency.

As part of the program, all homes and businesses will be assigned house numbers so that the exact location of an emergency can be pinpointed. This will prevent confusion and speed up emergency respones.

The anticipate cost of the service to telephone customers is between 52 and 63 cents a month which would be added to the telephone bills.

RECREATION TAX

The other tax on the ballot Saturday will be voted on only in Recreation District No. 6, the district which includes the town of Cameron and area. Voters will be asked to renew a 5 mill operation and maintenance tax for ten years to operate the Cameron recreation center, playgrounds, swimming pool and other facilties.

The recreation board of directors pointed out that this is not the sinking fund bond issue passed in 1982 and regardless of whether the maintenance tax passes or fails, the millage for the sinking fund will continue until 1995. After that time only the 5 mill maintenance tax would be needed to operate the facility.

Gator farming is becoming a big business

The wild population of the American alligator in Louisiana successfully supports the largest alligator farm hide industry in the country and provides quality skins for the world market.

Female alligators across the southwest marshes of Louisiana have been actively constructing their huge nests. Scientists are confident that the egg laying process is now well underway. Throughout the rest of the state, egg laying will peak later.

On June 1, Fur and Refuge Division biologists of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries alerted permitted alligator farmers to commence with their annual egg collection from the wild.

Every summer biologists conduct an aerial survey of the state's alligator nesting territory. They collect data such as the number of nests and the marsh types where nests are located. The type of marsh is an indication of the density of the alligator population: intermediate being the most heavily populated, then brackish. Scientific determinations are then made concerning the total population of wild alligators in the state.

Alligator nesting density and population is highest in the southwest. Considerable numbers occur in the southeast and to a lesser extent in the central and northern parts of the state.

The survey data on such factors as air temperature led scientists to conclude that the 1992 egg laying would peak in the southwest on June 20.

The department approved 250,000 for egg collection in 1992. Farmers acquire the permits from the department and negotiate with the landowners on the purchase of the eggs. Egg sales provide an economic incentive to the landowner to manage his property as a wetland. There are about 130 alligator farmers in Louisiana although they do not all actually collect. A number of farmers collect and sell to others.

Chamber meeting

(The July meeting of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday, July 16, at 11:30 a.m. at the Chamber office.

Alligator hunt begins Sept. 5

After tabulating the data for what was clearly another successful alligator harvest in 1991, the 1992 season for harvest of alligators in the wild has been officially set. The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission at its July meeting ratified the dates recommended by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Fur and Refuge Division biologists.

The commission established this year's alligator season as Sept. 5 through Oct. 4.

All data collected so far have led the biologists to conclude that nesting and egg laying was later in 1992 than usual. They are attributing the later nesting to a cool spring. A late harvest has been set accordingly.

Alligator harvest quotas will be set pending the analysis of the current survey data. Technicians have conducted the annual night counts across the state, in addition to the 1992 aerial coastal nesting counts, and are presently reviewing the data. Their conclusions will determine the number of alligator tags which the growing population of the American alligator in Louisiana will support. Tags will be made available to hunters in a timely fashion.

Last year, approximately 24,546 tags were issued to 1,996 Louisiana hunters for the 1991 season. On approximately four million acres of wild alligator habitat statewide, hunters harvested a total of 24,036 alligators.

The prices of hides averaged $32/foot, resulting in approximately $5,000,000 to hunters in sales. In addition, the harvest supported $3,000,000 in sales of alligator meat.

Of the seven states in the country which harvest alligators, the Louisiana population continues to support the largest wild harvest. Last year, the Florida harvest ranked second with 8,436 alligators taken from the wild, approximately 1/3 the size of Louisiana's harvest.

Peripheral Vascular Disease...
It may not be as serious as it sounds; and surgery may not be necessary.

Peripheral Vascular Disease (blockage of blood vessels in the legs) is very common in Southwest Louisiana, but it may not be as serious as it sounds. Appropriate diagnosis may be as simple as obtaining a peripheral vascular study "echo" with vascular ultrasound. This diagnosis can be established as an outpatient through the Peripheral Vascular Lab, a branch of the "Outpatient Cardiology Services" at St. Patrick Hospital.

The best treatment:

★ Proper diet
★ Regular exercise program established by an exercise physiologist
★ Smoking cessation
★ Physician referral for medical management of elevated cholesterols if needed

For those few people who do need more involved care, the resources of the "Regional Heart Center" are available.

Remember, early diagnosis and treatment are important and can be done with convenience as an outpatient.

Spoil disposal is discussed at meet

By Laura Sanders
Daily News staff writer

Possible economic and environmental ramifications of a long-term disposal plan for the Calcasieu River, as well as recommendations for changes in the proposal, were discussed at a public meeting Tuesday night.

Approximately 60 people attended the forum, which follows area residents' disapproval of a plan prepared by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, New Orleans District. The project suggests creating marshland from materials dredged from the Calcasieu River Ship Channel.

Local citizens questioned the program's effect on the fishing industry.

The goal of the project is to incorporate a long-term disposal plan with the beneficial use of dredged material, according to Chris Accardo, project manager. "My main goal is to maintain the channel ... I'd like to do it in a way to create marshland," he said. "We thought we were doing what the public wanted ... We don't want to hurt the fishing and oyster industry here."

The plan consists of five reach sections, but the proposal which received the most attention was the plan for the inland reach, from mile marker 5.0 to 22.0, including the areas around Hackberry, Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, Brown Lake, Dugas Landing and Turner's Bay.

The proposal calls for the construction of rock-armored dikes with shell cores along the east bank of the channel from miles 5.0 to 9.5. Three gaps, tentatively set to be 500 feet wide, would allow water movement.

"I just can't see the real benefit of such a small area of marsh," said one member of the audience. "This is going to impede the movement of fish, I feel."

Other citizens said they doubted that such marshland could support wildlife because it lacks access to fresh water. Some voiced concern that barriers would alter the salinity of the water.

However, the dikes would actually improve fishing conditions, according to Dudley Carver of Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries. Carver, who helped create the proposal, said that the gaps in the constructed barriers would increase the velocity of moving water, sweeping nearby reefs clean of barnacles and mussels. This process would make the area more likely to develop oyster beds and thus, more attractive to larger fish. "I'm in the resource enhancement business, not in the resource destruction business, he said.

Randy Roach, state representative of Cameron Parish, recommended dropping the dredged materials along the west bank of the channel, former disposal

McCardle will be in national rodeo

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

Casey McCardle, 17 year old senior at LaGrange High School, will represent Louisiana in the National Finals High School Rodeo in Shawnee, Oklahoma next week in calf roping. It is no surprise that Casey is a true cowboy, it's in his blood.

He is descended from the first settlers and generations of cattle people from the Grand Chenier, Oak Grove and Creole area, the McCall, Rutherford, Welch, Richard and Nunez families; and the Gaspard family of South Lake Charles.

Casey has been calf roping since he was 10 years old and was guided by his older brother Chad and his Gaspard cousins in the cattle pen in back of the home of his parents, Sue and Kenneth "Kay" McCardle.

Casey won his right to compete in the National Finals by placing first in the State High School Rodeo at Burton Coliseum in

He will be taking his trusty horse "Joe Cat" with him to the National Finals to help him compete.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON —A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated "I never had to sacrifice the foods I dearly crave!" "Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it." says a Niagara Falls, New York woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. "The results are great," she added.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

area, where much of the land has eroded. "It would give us maximum bank for the buck," he said.

Accardo said that while he recognized the problem, he did not feel that Roach's proposal was the way to solve it.

The second part of the controversial proposal includes creating a rock revetment with an earthen core at Dugas Landing between miles 11.4 and 15.5 along the west bank of the channel. A man who lives in the Joe's Cove area said that clay dikes built in the past have filled the bay, plugging the entrance into the channel.

Roach suggested lining the bayside of the barrier, as well as the channel side, with rock. Accardo said that he would try to receive funding for the recommendation.

Accardo said that he would reconsider the entire proposal in light of the comments made and a field trip scheduled with members of Wildlife and Fisheries. He stated that he has no personal authority nor funding for projects, but must receive approval from executives in Washington.

TO THE VOTERS OF RECREATION DISTRICT 6:

There is always a first time to get involved in something that you usually don't and this is on a tax that doesn't involve the Sheriff's Department. As I hear rumors about the maintenance tax for Recreation District No. 6, a lot of people are displeased with taxes. I am asking each voter to carefully think and consider what this Center means to our children. This is a nice facility and each year I think it is being used more by the children. This is the only place our children have to go and get together and enjoy each other's company. I think if this tax fails we would be doing our children an injustice, even though this tax is not a fair tax - it is only a burden on the businesses and landowners. The majority of the people don't pay any tax for this recreation center.

As you know, the "white elephant" wasn't my favorite project, but it wasn't my concern, it was the people of District 6. I personally think if we fail to renew the maintenance tax a second mistake would be made and by voting it down, two wrongs won't make it right.

I think we should lead and guide our children in a positive direction as we are concerned for their future. By having all the ballgames and other sports our children learn right from wrong and these activities serve to keep our children out of trouble. As you read the paper, throughout the United States, you come to the conclusion that we have the finest young people in the states.

If I was a voter in District 6, I would vote for the renewal of the tax, but I am not and I am only giving my opinion and thoughts on what this means to me. (I hope you don't hold this against me when my tax comes up for renewal.)

Cameron Outdoors

By LOSTON McEVERS

Speckle Trout and Redfish fishing has really been hot in our area, all along the coast from Texas to Vermilion. Good sizes are reported, especially Specs, running 3 to 5 pounds.

Flounder have been showing up on the mud flat below the Mermentaru River Bridge in Grand Chenier. Some of these flounder are running big, like 4 pounds.

The yearly Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo out of Lake Charles was really a great success this year, with over 300 sportsmen registering. Anglers fished from Venice to the Texas border and fishing out of Cameron and Grand Chenier brought in some good fish.

The Calcasieu Lake out of Hackberry and Big Lake also had some nice catches, especially Speckle Trout.

Local guide, Jeff Poe had the first place Spec, going 6-1 along with, Terry Shaughnessy, in second place with a 6 pounder. Another local guide, Guy Stansel, took third place with a 5-5 pound Speckle Trout.

Raymond Price of Lake Charles made a great catch at the Cameron Jetties, which was good for the first place Redfish of the Rodeo, weighing in at 35-5. Jeff Poe of Big Lake had a 10-5 Redfish.

Jimmy Henry, a descendant from Cameron Parish, won the Outstanding Angler in the fishing group. He took a first and second in Blackfin Tuna and landed a 138-0 pound Blue Marlin.

Some of the largest fish of the Rodeo were as follows: Amberjack, 46-6; Barracuda, 13-8; Blue Fin, 8-2; Bonita, 14-2; Cobia, 57-7; Shark, 39-9; Spade, 6-3; Spanish Mackerel, 4-4; King Mackerel, 42-4; Croaker, 1-4; Dolphin, 33-6; Flounder, 3-4; Gafftop, 6-9; Gar, 53-5; Jackfish, 27-4; Red Snapper, 13-7; Black Drum, 40-6; Sheephead, 4-7; Tripletail, 11-1; Tuna, 46-4 and Wahoo, 56-1.

The White Marlin went to Ricky Trahan. It was tagged, released and brought him the Outstanding Angler title in that division.

AMERICAN LEGION TOURNAMENT

The American Legion of Grand Chenier's fair had a good crowd and was a big success. There was barbecue, dancing and a great boat race in the river at the Grand Chenier State Park.

This year they sponsored a Bass Tournament and the results were as follows:

Largest Team Stinger, 5 Bass:

1. Gerald Richard and Tom Hess, 13-6; 2. Dwayne Nunez and Rodney Benoit, 13-0; 3. Phillip and Scootie Trosclair, 11-3; 4. Loston McEvers and Jimmy Trahan, 10-6; 5. D. L. and Michael Brasseaux, 7-8; 6. Pat Landry and Damon Portie, 7-0 and 7. Kevin and Terry Landry, 5-12.

Largest Bass:

1. Gerald Richard, 3-10; 2. Phillip Trosclair, 3-8; 3. Rodney Benoit, 3-2; 4. Dwayne Nunez, 2-12; 5. Jimmy Trahan, 2-10; 6. Loston McEvers, 2-6; 7. Michael Brasseaux, 2-2 and 8. Scootie Trosclair, 2-0.

There were four other teams entered, they caught fish but decided not to weigh in.

Scootie Trosclair had the largest Choupique at 8-2 and Anthony Brasseaux had second with a 3-14.

GOOD NEWS FOR OUR AREA

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission ratified the 1992-93 hunting season and bag limits last week. This is including the first Teal season since 1987.

Good count (4-4 million) breeding pairs of Teal were counted in our state this year.

The season is set for Saturday, September 19 through Sunday, September 27, a nine day season. The daily bag limit will be four with a possesion limit of 8.

The season will be open for Blue-winged, Green-winged and Cinnamon Teal only. Federal and state duck stamps will be required, along with a state hunting license.

This is really good news as it has been six years since we've had an early Teal season.

Dove season is set at three splits: Sept. 5-13; Oct. 10 - Nov. 8 and Dec. 12 - Jan. 11 with a 12 bird limit.

Don't forget Teal shooting hours will be at sunrise to sunset, and that also goes for rails and gallinules. This is for the September season only. Rails and Gallinules will have a September season from the 19th through the 27th. We'll let you know on the other seasons later.

A GOOD TIP

Fish depend on lots of senses like sense of smell and hearing as well as sight to locate their food.

When you handle your baits, whether you're tying one on or whatever, the scent of whatever you handled before is on your hands and then transferred to your bait.

The oil from human skin gives off a strong odor and fish will turn away from this smell. Other things we handle while fishing, that give off a bad odor are nicotine from smoking or chewing tobacco, gasoline or oil, reel lubricants, suntan lotion, insect repellents, perfumed soap, shaving lotion and many others.

Some of the things you can do to get these scents off your hands are: use a bar of unscented soap, use marsh vegetation and wash your hands, soda pop, fruit juice or even human urine. You can even do better than that, by using fishing scent applied to your lure -- spit -- yes, saliva is good, fish slime, natural bait juices and also milk. Try this and see the results.

HEARTBEAT

Leg cramps may warn of blocked arteries.

By WILLIAM R. CONDOS, JR., M.D.

If you suffer pain or cramps in your hips, thighs or calves while walking, it may be a symptom of blockages developing in your leg arteries – a potentially serious condition, if left untreated.

Peripheral vascular disease, to use the technical name, is essentially the same condition as coronary artery disease, which it often accompanies. In both conditions, cholesterol plaque deposits form in arteries, decreasing their blood-carrying capacity, causing pain during exertion in the muscles they serve because the muscles aren't getting enough oxygen. If the blocked arteries are in the heart, the pain is called angina – often the first warning of a potential heart attack. The same pain in the leg muscles is called claudication. It, too, can herald crippling and potentially life-threatening complications.

Peripheral vascular disease is the leading cause of amputations in this country. It generally strikes those over the age of 45, and is a frequent complication of diabetes. Smokers, people with high blood pressure or unfavorable blood cholesterol, a family history of artery disease, heart patients and those who are overweight are also at a higher than average risk.

As the condition worsens, other symptoms develop, including pain in the toes or feet while at rest – particularly if the legs are elevated; numbness and tingling in the toes, foot and leg; paleness of the foot or leg when elevated; a blue or red discoloration when the leg is hanging; absence of pulse in the foot; coldness in the foot and leg, or a sore on the foot that doesn't heal.

If you suffer these symptoms, see your doctor or a cardiovascular specialist skilled in addressing the condition. The tests for reduced leg circulation are simple and painless.

While peripheral vascular disease once could only be corrected surgically, there are now a number of highly effective nonsurgical procedures available.

Peripheral vascular disease is progressive. It will not go away without treatment. Take the symptoms for what they are – a warning – and seek competent medical assessment without delay!

Jardell announces for P. S. Commission

Edward G. Jardell of Vinton has announced his candidacy for Public Service Commissioner, District 4, by calling for reforms in the way the commission operates and promising to be a visible, full-time public servant.

The election is set for Oct. 3. Jardell, 55, is mounting his second campaign for the office. He ran in 1986 against the incumbent and was narrowly defeated.

Jardell attended McNeese State University and the Southwest Louisiana Institute and is a graduate of the NCO Academy at Fort Polk. He held the rank of sergeant in the U.S. Army. He presently owns and operates a group of self-service car washes in the Vinton/Sulphur area.

A farmer for 18 years, Jardell was honored as Outstanding Young Farmer of the Year by the Louisiana Jaycees. He is past president and vice-president of the Calcasieu Parish Farm Bureau and the recipient of numerous awards from the Soil Conservation Districts and the American Soil Conservation Society.

He served as vice-president of the Louisiana Soybean Promotion Board and is a member of the National Car Wash Association. He is well-known in southwest Louisiana for his leadership of the West Calcasieu Old Spanish Trail association, which promotes tourism.

Jardell is the father of two sons, Phillip and Jeff, and has two granddaughters.

Alzheimer's: What Caregivers Should Know

Alzheimer's disease, the progressive and degenerative brain disorder, transforms patients into ghosts of their former selves, leaving caregivers and loved ones trying their best to cope with patients as their personality, as well as mental and physical health, decline. While the patient is an obvious victim, the caregiver is often called the "second" victim of Alzheimer's disease.

The following caregiver tips are provided by Hoechst-Roussel Pharmaceuticals Inc. Hoechst-Roussel is one of several companies committed to the research, discovery and development of new compounds to treat Alzheimer's disease.

•Become informed about the disease. Knowing the symptoms and course of Alzheimer's disease as well as treatment options will help the caregiver feel more in control. Initiate discussions with the patient's physician to become educated.

•Periodically reassess the patient's living situation to make sure it's working. Can changes, minor or major, help facilitate care?

•Establish a financial plan. Help from lawyers and accountants will get the patient's finances in order and ease the economic burden on the caregiver.

•Be conscious of potential problems that can occur as a result of depression—a common response to the caregiver situation.

911 can save lives...

Anticipated costs are to range from 52 to 63 cents per month. The service charge will be added to all residential telephone bills and will be used for acquiring, providing, maintaining and operating a parishwide 9-1-1 system.

The speed and versatility of the E-911 service will contribute to improving fire and crime protection and may also reduce human suffering and life threatening situations. When an emergency situation arises,it is much easier to remember 911 than several seven-digit numbers for Police, Fire and other emergency response agencies.

Surveys reveal that 75% of the people do not know emergency numbers but that 75% do know the 911 number. Using the three digits, 911, reduces the possibility of dialing errors and takes less time. The use of 911 as an emergency number is particularly beneficial for children, older people, travelers, visitors and handicapped persons.

Today residents of existing E-911 communities have the most modern, efficient service for emergency communications and assistance available. Currently 18 other Louisiana parishes have an E-911 system in operation with 31 others in the process of implementing the emergency service.

Providing adequate protection for the lives and property of its citizens, a faster more reliable response time and one single number to dial for all emergencies are only a few of the benefits that the E-9-1-1 system will bring to Cameron Parish. The proposed emergency service will not only enhance the quality of life in our region, but further demonstrate the commitment of Cameron Parish to provide efficient Emergency services to all our residents and tourists who live and travel in our beautiful areas.

— ATTENTION VOTERS —

There is no such thing as a free tax. This was the misconception during the oil boom when we thought the oil companies could "handle it". Well, times have changed. The Recreation Tax Propositon #2 was decided upon by only two hundred and nine (209) voters during the "Hurricane Evacuation Election". 209 people chose to spend over 2 1/2 million ($2,500,000.00) dollars in construction and well over 1 million ($1,000,000.00) dollars in maintenance and the rest of us didn't care because it was a "free tax". Now the burden is on the merchants, small landowners and business people in our community and parish. The oil companies are leaving and so is their tax money. Every time you buy gas, oil, groceries or auto parts you are paying for the taxes. Our merchants have to pass the tax increase on to their customers to stay in business, the customers try to help by buying local but they know they can get it cheaper in Lake Charles.

Responsible taxing is supported by most merchants, landowners, oil companies and businesses. The cost of sewerage, recreation, school, water and fire protection in small rural communities is necessary and accepted when it is reasonable and affordable. But the high priced luxury dreams are pushing business out of Cameron Parish.

Let's think about the three new taxes and fees coming up. Whether you choose for or against -- YOU MUST GO VOTE!

1.) Recreation #6 Maintenance--The baseball fields are constantly in use during the season and probably keeping the recreation center going, but do we need $80,000.00 a year to play softball. Do we need to spend the $150,000.00 plus left over in construction money to build an elevated boardwalk to the beach (wash out is better)! Do we need a racketball and health spa? Wouldn't a 1 1/2 or 2 mill tax take care of the only business the Rec does during softball season!

2.) 911 is a miracle concept that has saved lives all over the country. The system works well in cities and populated areas. How are you going to explain in an emergency to a stranger and tell him you live on the school board road and that you live across from Dugas Landing. Every person in Cameron Parish will have to be assigned a new address. It would be nice to believe that it is only going to cost each customer 52 cents per month. YEAH, RIGHT!! Like the cable television deal we got. This 911 program will not be in service for 2 1/2 years after we start paying for it. 911 is a major engineering project and very costly. Why not show us the cost and the plans before we vote.

3.) Ambulance service is also a life saver, but in rural areas like Johnson Bayou, Klondike, Sweetlake and lower Cameron Parish it is very, very costly and slow. Sure the plan will make lots of money -- TAX MONEY -- but it won't be free ambulance service. Show the plan, it's cost and how it will serve communities like Hackberry who are already paying for ambulance service before we vote. How high will the tax go up as business goes down?!

If you think that any or all of the propositions are worthy and affordable go out and vote for them. But if you think that we can do without a couple of free taxes that we know little about, you had better go vote also. History shows that when the good people don't care to vote ---- TAXES PASS!!!!

HIGHWAY WORK IN CAMERON

Work is progressing very satisfactorily on the grade for Route 104 state highway from DeRidder to the town of Cameron in Cameron Parish, via DeQuincy, Sulphur and Hackberry, Floyd Hamilton, resident engineer of the Louisiana Highway Commission, stated at his home in Lake Charles Sunday afternoon.

This work is an average five-foot grade through the prairie and marshes below Hackberry on the west side of the Calcasieu Lake. About two months ago work was suspended because the stae was without funds for carrying it on and the local road district in Cameron, which had issued bonds for its pro-rata cost of construction, was having difficulty in realizing on the bonds because of some legal technicality.

Two weeks ago, the Yount-Lee Oil Company, through the efforts of W. T. Burton, District Attorney Robira and Benson Vincent, president of the Cameron Police Jury, in behalf of the road district, loaned money to the state and road district for paying approved estimates and a resumption of the work.

AN OUTING ON CAMERON BEACH

Messrs. G. C. VanNeste and Nye Patterson conducted a tour to Long Beach, Cameron Parish, Thursday, about 40 citizens of DeRidder comprising the party. The trip was made by automobile as far as Orange, Tex., and the remainder of the journey continued by boat as far as Johnson Bayou, thence by automobile to the beach.

Several hours were spent on the beach, where a delicious dinner was served picnic fashion. After dinner, nearly all those present enjoyed a dip into the briny Gulf of Mexico. In the late afternoon, the return trip back to Orange was made by boat, the party returning to DeRidder about 11 o'clock, after a delightful day.

WEATHER BUREAU SUED BY AUDREY SURVIVORS

Counsel for 195 survivors of victims of Hurricane Audrey this week filed a $9,679,000 damage suit in U. S. District Court.

The suit named the U. S. government, contending the Weather Bureau was "careless and negligent" in failing to give adequate and clear warning concerning the destructive 1957 storm.

Attorneys H. Alva Brumfield of Baton Rouge and J. B. Jones of Cameron said the suit was one of the largest of its kind ever filed.

About 550 persons died in Louisiana coastal areas during Hurricane Audrey.

The suit was filed under the Tort Claims Act of 1946 which allows the federal government to be sued without first giving permission as was formerly the case.

The complainants say they and their families relied upon the Weather Bureau advisories and warnings and remaining in their homes.

Contrary to Weather Bureau advisories, the suit claims, the hurricane struck in the early hours of the morning of June 27, 1957, and caused the comlainants' homes to be blown or washed away and their families to be killed.

Another suit entered by the same attorneys was filed in January in behalf of a Cameron Parish man, asking $360,000 for the loss of his wife and five children when the tidal wave hit.

The government asked dismissal of that suit May 8, on grounds of lack of jurisdiction, that all risks were obvious to the plaintiff and failure to state a claim upon which relief could be granted.

EVACUATION PLAN SET UP FOR PARISH
(By E. J. Dronet, CD Public Information Director)

An emergency evacuation warning procedure to be used in any future hurricane threats was adopted by the Cameron Parish Civil Defense at a meeting Monday night in the courthouse.

Wilmer Smith, assistant CD director, reported that a radio receiver and transmitter will be installed at Grand Lake soon, completing the CD communication system throughout the parish.

He also said a CD organization will be set up for Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou shortly.

Parish Director Joe Doxey commended Mr. Smith and the paish and said that the state CD may adopt the Cameron Parish CD plan for natural disasters as a state model.

Sheriff O. B. Carter, who is in charge of CD communication and police, said CD police will be on duty here for the Fourth of July celebration.

New artificial reefs told

The state's artificial reef program will topple an entire series of oil and gas platforms in the Gulf of Mexico this summer. Mobil Exploration Inc. will submerge the first rig during the week of June 29, at block map designation/West Cameron 616, approximately 120 miles south of Lake Charles.

As part of their obligation to the program, Mobil will also be contributing $300,000 into a trust fund dedicated solely to the management of Louisiana's artificial reefs.

The Louisiana Artificial Reef Program sponsored by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, will install another twelve platforms before September.

Oil and gas companies are required by law to remove their platforms one year after they cease production to an onshore location. There they have the option to sell them for scrap metal.

It is an extremely expensive operation. As production falls off and the rate of platform abandoment increases, the companies have been faced with unwanted losses. LARP allows them an alternative which is both economical and conservation oriented. For only a small percentage of the cost of scrapping the structures, oil and gas companies can install the rigs at locations on the gulf waterbottom which have been carefully selected to enhance marine fisheries habitat. Reef locations and water depths are determined so as not to conflict with the requirements of commercial fishing or navigation of ocean going vessels.

The submerged oil and gas platforms will provide a hard substructure which supports some of the most basic sources of nutrition to many sports fish. Snappers, groupers, triggerfish, amberjacks, cobias and mackerels will find food and cover at the structures.

Beloved dogs!

By Bernice Denny

Have you noticed that every dog has a personality, or should I say, "dogality", all its own? Charles and Sue, my son-in-law and daughter, have four dogs on the place. In some respects they are all similar, but in others they are distinctly different.

Benji, Sue's pet, a pedigreed huge black labrador, at thirteen years is the oldest. If a dog's comparative age is seven times that of a human being's, then Benji stands at the ripe old age of 91. He was two months old when Marvin, my oldest grandson, brought him home to Sue when they lived in Slidell. The puppy's owner was moving out of state and was taking the little fellow to the pound. When Sue, like Marvin, saw the tiny ball of black fluff and the trusting black eyes, she knew that he was hers.

Today, Benji's arthritis causes him to move with difficulty, except when he hears an undetermined sound and his adrenalin pours speed into his decrepit legs. Benji goes berserk when the weather is bad. Thunder and lightning cause him to crowd into the fireplace, climb behind the television set, or lumber into a bathtub if he is in the house. Sue has to give him muscle relaxers wrapped in cheese to calm him.

The next dog claimed by this household is Marvin's dog, Michael James (Mikey, for short). His dam was a beagle; his sire, unknown. Eight years ago last Christmas, his mother, Lady, gave birth to a litter of eleven. Mikey was the runt with a misshapen mouth - so bad that he couldn't nurse. Lady had wandered by the Fox home that freezing week. The family felt sorry for the poor stray, made her a bed in the washroom, fed her, and placed an electric heater in the room.

At first, Sue and Marvin tried to give Mikey a bottle. That failed. They took him to a veterinarian who put him on goat's milk. They set their alarm clock and every three hours warmed milk in the microwave, put it into a saucer and offered it to the tiny creature. At first he could only lap a teaspoonful or so at a time. He grew, but his legs still look like those of a terrier. He now weighs 50 pounds.

Mikey is bright, affectionate, docile, and alert to trouble. Several years ago when Marvin was attending classes at Louisiana State University, he allowed Mikey to sleep in his bedroom. One night the dog raced to the window barking furiously. Marvin waked, scolded his pet, and fell asleep. The next morning he discovered that some one had forced the lock of his tool chest that was bolted to the bed of his truck and had stolen several hundred dollars worth of tools. The truck was parked outside the bedroom windows. Ever since, Marvin has heeded Mikey's frantic barking.

The third dog to join the group is Huggie, my granddaughter Jenny's dog. This Llewellyn pointer had belonged to Jenny's aunt, who got her from a pound in Lake Charles. Later it was learned that Huggie was deaf and acted as though she had been severely mistreated and abandoned. The aunt loved and tended her, gave her a world of affection, which the dog as generously returned. When the aunt died, no one wanted a deaf dog. Jenny couldn't stand to see her aunt's pet discarded. She volunteered to keep her. Later, when Jenny and her family moved to Sioux City, Iowa, she left the dog with her parents. Huggie at twelve years of age frolics like a puppy. It is a joy to watch her on a windy day as she races and leaps across the yard.

Five-year-old Barney, a cross between an Australian shepherd and a Brittany spaniel, appeared here in Milton on the Fox doorstep one morning. For two weeks the family tried to locate his owner and then to give him away. He is now Charles' special pride and joy.

Barney's long white, cinnamon-spattered coat is beautiful. Easily aroused by any unfamiliar sound, he is an excellent watch-dog, boding woe to a trespasser. He gives precedence to the older dogs when it comes to eating and drinking but he leads the pack as general protector.

Lucky dogs! Beloved dogs! Sometimes they don't know they are not people!

On July 18, 1992 Cameron Parish Recreation District No. 6 will have a 5 mill Maintenance Renewal Tax (used for the maintenance and upkeep of the complex) will be on the ballot for renewal. Note, that this is not the sinking fund bond issue passed in 1982, which was levied at 30 mills. The sinking fund bond issue based on today's economy will be decreased in 1995 to 15 mills and will be levied for 1 year, then will be discontinued and will result in the bonds being paid off 7 years early.

Regardless of whether the tax renewal passes or fails, the sinking fund bond issue will continue to be collected until 1995, and will be paid off.

After that, only the 5 mill maintainance renewal tax will be collected to upkeep and operate the complex.

The large tax burden will be completely removed from the local business community in 1996.

PLEASE SUPPORT YOUR RECREATION MAINTENANCE TAX RENEWAL
