Cruise ship may operate here

By JERRY WISE

Cameron may secure a new industry in the near future--a cruise ship operation--it was announced this week by the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce President Paul Cereil.

Three of the owners of Holiday Cruises of Pearland, Tex., were in Cameron Tuesday working on arrangements to get the new enterprise into operation. They were Gary Carr, Bob Ellis and Robert Ellis.

The three, who also were introduced at the Cameron police jury meeting, announced the following developments:

* The firm is negotiating to purchase a 246-foot cruise vessel, "La Cruise" which up to recently was operating out of Fouchon in Lafourche parish.

* The men talked to owners of docking facilities along the ship channel and in the old river at Cameron and are considering two possible dock sites.

* When in operation, the cruise ship would employ 85 persons, of whom 25 to 35 would initially be from the Cameron area.

* If all negotiations are successful the cruise ship could be in operation within 30 to 90 days.

The operation would be as follows: The ship, which could accommodate 200 or more passengers, would leave the Cameron dock at 6:30 p.m. daily for a six hour cruise returning at 12:30. Day cruises probably would be held on Saturdays and Sundays.

The ship would provide a full service entertainment package including a dining room and a live band. After passing the 3-mile mark into international waters, a gambling area would be opened. Gambling is legal in international waters.

Bob Ellis, chairman of the board of Holiday Cruises, said also planned is a long-range cruise to a foreign port about once a month, which would be a three or four day cruise.

Asked why Cameron was chosen rather than Port Arthur or Galveston, Ellis said that the Gulf is much shallower off the Cameron coast than the Texas coast and this would make the swells less.

He said he expects that passengers for the cruise would come from the Lake Charles, Lafayette, Beaumont and Port Arthur area. He said that buses might be run from those areas, but also many people would drive to Cameron and this would create much additional business for local motels, restaurants and service stations.

Ellis said that the company that would operate the cruise shop is a closely held corporation with the principal owners engaged primarily in the real estate business in Texas.

He said that while out-of-the-parish people who have training in operating games will be hired at first, a training school would be set up to train local people interested in the work.

He said the firm would much rather hire trained local people than outsiders since the local people can be counted on staying in the jobs while outsiders might work awhile and move on.

He said that the ship would buy as much of its supplies locally as possible.

Mr. Cereil said the Chamber of Commerce has received a very favorable response to the proposed enterprise from most Cameron parish people, especially due to the economic down turn in the parish.

However, he emphasized that the cruise ship is not a reality yet and depended on a number of negotiations still underway.

Permits nee for building

Planning to build or remodel a home or business in Cameron parish? You will need a development permit from the Cameron Parish Police Jury before you begin or you run the risk of not being able to secure electricity or flood insurance.

The jury at its claims meeting last Thursday evening adopted a new development permit procedure that is being required of the parish by the Fedeal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), which administers the fedeal flood insurance program.

The jury has had for a number of years an ordinance requiring residents to build according to floor heights regulations mandated by FEMA but has never had means of enforcing the ordinance. The new procedure ties the providing of electrical service to issuance of a permit and in the future it will be impossible to get service without getting the permit.

1. An applicant needs a development permit if he wishes to construct a new development, move a mobile home, move a house to a new location, alter a structure and any excavation work.

2. A sketch of the proposed development and a legal description of the property on which it is to be located will be required at this time.

3. An elevation shot done by a professional engineer of the average grade of the property is required in A and Z zones (zones that are low and susceptible to flooding).

4. A second elevation shot is required when the foundation part of the construction is completed or in 180 days from the date of permit approval. The temproary electrical power will be disconnected at the end of this period.

5. A temporary permit will be issued when the development application requirements are met and approved.

6. A final permit will be issued when the second elevation shot is done and the construction meets with requirements.

Nunez said he was working with the Jeff Davis Electric Co-op and Gulf States Utilities to secure their cooperation in the procedure.

Jury President Kenneth Ducote asked if there was some way that only one elevation shot could be required as he said this was a sizable expense especially for young people building a home. Nunez said the procedure had been required by FEMA. He said that local engineers usually made a package price for both shots.

Juror Brent Nunez said he wanted to make sure the public was informed about the new procedure so they would not put up a building and then find they could not get electricity because they did not get a permit.

Juror George LeBouef suggested that jurors inform builders to come to the jury office and meet with Tina Horn, who is in charge of the permits, to get the full information on what is required.

Juror Ray Conner said he had a problem in his district as parts of it were in different zones and had different building requirements. He suggested that builders check with Mrs. Horn and the jury's elevation maps to make sure what zone they were in.

Juror LeBouef said Congressman Jimmy Hayes had told some of the jurors that he planned to investigate how FEMA regulations were applied in other coastal areas. He questioned how condominimums could be built at ground level at such places as Florida.

Although jurors indicated their reluctance to have to adopt the new procedure they proceeded to do so.

James C. Watts

Watts named to board

Cameron parish's new representative on the Lake Charles Harbor & Terminal District's board (dock board) was named Thursday night at the Cameron parish police jury's monthly claims meeting. He is James C. Watts, 45, a Lake Charles CPA and assistant professor of accounting at McNeese University.

He replaces Terry Hebert on the board.

Watts was one of three applicants for the position. The other two were Enos Derbonne, Lake Charles insurance man and former South Cameron High School coach and teacher, and Gordon Tugwell, Lake Charles insurance man. The vote was unanimous for Watts.

Watts could be considered a "home town boy" since he lived in the parish from 1949 to 1974 except for two years when he lived in Lake Charles. He attended Cameron Elementary School and graduated from South Cameron High School in 1961. He received BS and MS accounting degrees from LSU.

He has held his assitant professorship at McNeese from 1968 to present and has had an accounting and tax practice in Cameron parish since 1971. He also does auditing work for the Cameron Parish Sewerage District, Cameron Council on Aging and the Cameron Parish School Activity Funds.

Watts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Watts Sr. of Cameron.

Trahan heads police jury

By JERRY WISE

Ernest C. (Carroll) Trahan was elected president of the Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday, succeeding Kenneth Ducote. Brent Nunez was elected vice-president, with both terms for one year.

The jury is continuing a tradition that began some years ago of rotating the two positions among all of the members of the jury.

Garner Nunez was re-elected as parish administrator and treasurer and Hayes Picou, Jr. renamed as secretary, both for two year terms.

Members of the new Klondike fire district board were appointed by the jury.

The jury approved changing the February meeting from Tuesday, Feb. 7, to Monday, Feb. 6, because of the Mardi Gras holiday on the 7th.

CONNER NAMED

Dinah Vaughn, director of the Cameron Parish Council on Aging, announced that Police Juror Ray Conner of Creole had been elected to the Silver Hair Legislature, a mock legislative group that will meet to discuss legislation of interest to the elderly. He will represent Cameron, Acadia and Vermilion parishes.

FERRY & BRIDGE

Myrna Conner, legislative assistant to Rep. Randy Roach, reorted that Roach was working with Congressman Jimmy Hayes to see if the old Coast Guard property on Monkey Island can be given to the jury for use as a community port.

Juror Kenneth Ducote asked about a report that tolls might be placed on the Cameron ship channel and Monkey Island ferries. "That would be adding insult to injury to the people of Cameron", he stated.

Mrs. Conner said that Rep. Roach was also investigating the possibility of getting a fix span bridge to Monkey Island.

Chamber meet

The Cameron Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday, Jan. 12, at 11 a.m. at Pat's restaurant for the board meeting and for the general meeting at noon.

Senator gives report on 1988 Legislature

By SENATOR JACK DOLAND

In the first special session of the 1988 legislature Louisiana announced to the world that we intend to change our method of doing business. We made many tough decisions and dedicated one cent of the sales tax to paying off an accumulated debt of nearly one billion dollars. During the regular session, in spite of the drastic drop in oil prices, teachers were given a pay raise and an evaluation process was put in place.

New campaign finance laws were enacted that will keep Louisiana elections from going to the highest bidder. Reforms in workmen's compensation and tort laws brought our state into the southern average in these matters. Gambling as a method of raising funds did not get out of committee.

There were many of us in this legislature that really believed in putting Louisiana first. We were there because the public was tired of "politics as usual" and wanted a change. The new governor and his leaders were practical, but determined to do things right. There were many different views as to the best procedure to improve education, the environment, business incentives, and state government.

We did not always agree but if you could convince the legislature it was best for this state and not some special interest you had a chance. I really enjoyed working in a reform atmosphere and being a part of the change. We made tremendous progress and there is a good feeling about Louisiana among the people in other states as well as our own. There are many other things to do but 1988 was a good year for Louisiana government.

In the next session and the years to follow I feel we will accomplish many more of our objectives. The first and biggest accomplishment left undone was fiscal reform. We have to come to grips with the fact that "Big Oil" is not coming back.

In 1981 the severance tax was 45% of our budget and it is now down to 15%. We have one billion less dollars to run state government than we had in 1981. Even with the massive tax increase voted in during 1984 the state added too many employees and services so we are still underfunded. Governor Roemer, Dennis Stine, and the administration leaders are trying hard to cut back expenditures and still provide good roads, education, and other services.

Cutbacks are necessary and must be done. After that, we need to look hard at our tax base so we can be a progressive state instead of dead last in education, roads, and environment. Local governments must be allowed to furnish local services and not depend on state funds entirely. We get what we pay for and the local taxes made the services more accountable.

Fiscal reform and a change in our tax structure will have to come. I believe in the next few years the public will accept these changes that need to take place.

There are several other areas that we will address next year. The desegregation and restructuring of higher education will be a key one. We need one single governing board with authority and use advisory boards for each institution. The colleges belong to the people and are important in each area. Each one needs to be accountable to the public and serve its area prudently and economically.

The problem of one man, one vote for our judges needs to be solved. The federal government has decreed that our present system reduces minority chances for election. We have a choice of single member districts with strong political overtones or merit selection (Who judges the merit and who makes the selection?).

Should we have minority judges in proportion to the population or should it be in proportion to the number of quality lawyers available? Our judicial system should not be overly invovled in politics, therefore, all of us will be searching for the right answer.

In summary, Louisiana has made much progress in 1988. More is in store for 1989. I am proud of our accomplishments and look forward to solving the many problems facing us during the next three years. Your letter of support and suggestions are appreciated. This is your state and I plan to represent your interests and the interests of Louisiana as well as I possibly can.

SELECTIVE SERVICE AT 8 YEAR MARK

Joseph Frank, a resident and city employee of Lafayette, celebrates his birthday Jan. 6. By turning 26, Frank unknowingly established a milestone for an agency of the U.S. Government and earns himself a minor place in history.

Eight years ago, Frank was the first 18-year-old man to sign up and be processed by the Selective Service System under the continous draft registration program. From today on, however, if Congress and the president order a return to military conscription under present law, Frank is too old to be drafted. He becomes the first man since Vietnam to pass through the full, eight-year-long period of draft eligibility without being drafted.

Names and addresses of men ages 18 through 25 are kept on file by Selective Service for use in a national emergency. If Congress reinstates the draft, men most likely to be called into military service would be those who turn 20 during that calendar year. Selective Service would first conduct a birthdate lottery to determine the order of call within that age group and then, depending upon the manpower requirements of the crisis, those men whose birthdays draw low lottery numbers would be more likely to be called.

There has not been a draft since 1973 when the U.S. switched to an all-volunteer military force. In 1975, the Selective Service System was placed in "deep standby" status and the requirement for men to register was suspended. But it wasn't long before several studies and commission reports noted that a draft would be needed again if the country ever became involved in a major conflict. They predicted it would take too long to get men registered, classified, inducted, and trained. In 1980, after the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, President Carter revitalized the Selective Service System and reinstated the registration requirement for men.

On Jan. 5, 1981, registration of 18-year-old men began again and has continued. Today, using computer technology, the System can begin issuing thousands of induction orders via Western Union "Mailgrams" in three days or less, once Congress and the president give the go-ahead.

With few exceptions, federal law requires every man to register with Selective Service within 30 days of his 18th birthday. (Men have a 60-day window in which to comply with the law: from 30 days before to 30 days after turning 18).

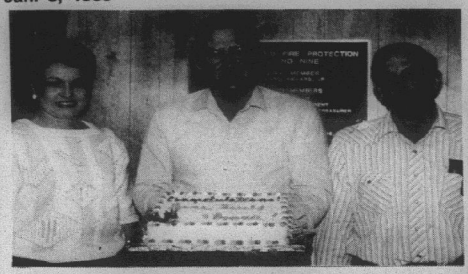
The process is simple. Men furnish their names, addresses, and telephone and Social Security numbers by completing and signing a short form at any post office.

Children's Museum has exhibit

Lightguides, chips and magnetic bubbles--the nuts and bolts of modern communications--are to be the subject of a surprising exhibition on display at the Children's Museum, 809 Kirby Street, Lake Charles.

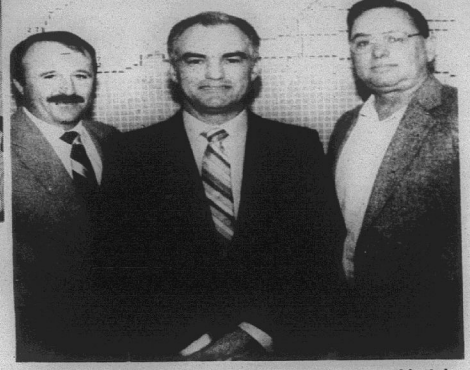
The materials and processes that fashion modern electronics produce a microscopic landscape rich in patterns and colors largely hidden to the naked eye. It is a world in which thousands of components and circuit paths describe an elaborate mosaic on a silicon chip no larger than a thumbnail; optical fiber preforms reflect their complex inner structure in bands of polarized light; substances magnified many times their original size appear to assume new identities; metals and plastics reveal the effects of stress and corrosion.

A collection of 50 photographs offer a rare view of elements too small to be seen. Captured on film by photographers and scientists using electron miroscopy, thermography and other special techniques, these are images of dazzling beauty.



Also featured will be an Animation Computer constructed by sculptor, Stephen Madden. "Art Tool #5" is a 6 x 8 foot screen of lights presenting animations. A homemade computer controls the lights which can present 2000 frames of pictures that can be viewed in less than ten minutes.

MicroScapes and "Art Tool #5" will be at the Children's Museum through Feb. 5. Museum hours are 2-5 p.m. from Tuesday to Sunday. Special tours can be booked during morning hours. Admission is $1.00 per child. Adults free if accompanied by a child.



Making its first apperance in Lousiana, MicroScapes is sponsored by AT&T Technologies. The nationwide tour is managed by the Association of Science Technology Centers.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Pensions to veterans of the Army of the Confederacy were paid — many years after the end of the Civil War — by the respective states. Therefore it is in parish (county) courthouses and State Archives (not in a national repository) that the genealogically valuable applications may be found.

The same is true for widow's (of veterans) pension applications which may contain even more family information.

CONFEDERATE PENSIONS

Confederate Records: Jackson, Miss. as compiled by Jean Strickland and Patricia N. Edwards is the latest in their southeast Miss. series of source records for counties that lost records by fire.

Pension Applications in this book are the ones found in Jackson Co. Courthouse at Pascagoula and in many cases are different from those found in the State Archives. When two or three applications were found for the same person they were consolidated into one for this book.

Each application has some forty questions for the veteran's name, age, occupation and financial situation, with whom living, any other relations (names rarely listed), plus signature, witnesses and members of the Board of Inquiry.

In the beginning is an enumeration, alphabetical by name and divided into five districts, that lists 158 veterans and 38 widows making pension applications to Jackson Co. in 1906. The list from 1913 names 65 veterans and 31 widows.

There is a Muster Roll for the Twiggs Rifles, for H.B. Griffin's Company, a Confederate Prisoner of War Deaths List from Ship Island (taken over by the Union and re-named Fort Massachusetts), the diary of L.J. Frederic, etc.

This source book is stiffcover, 8½ x 11 in., 178 pages, surname indexed, $31.50 incl. mailing, available from: Ben Stickland, P.O. Box 5147, Moss Point, MS 39563.

ARCHER ASSOCIATION

ARCHER and its variants is a very old surname in American history, appearing in the rosters of passengers to the Jamestown settlement and to the lost colony of Roanoke.

The Archer Association established in 1982 and incorporated in Virginia in 1983 has as its primary aim the providing of a permanent organization to promote and publish the research of members and the preserving of Archer records, particularly in the U.S. and Canada.

Membership at $18.00 yearly, Jan-Dec, includes four issues of The Archer Quarterly and unlimited queries therein, plus The Archer Assn. Newsletter, published irregularly and mailed with the Quarterly.

The Archer Quarterly is a 50-page off-set, softbound compilation of source materials about Archers from pre-Colonial times to the present, plus articles on how to acquire archival records by mail, how to use them, etc.

Also, to help its members with research and writing, the Association through a computerized database management program will provide access to its files of over 10,000 names of Archers and collateral lines.

To join or for further information on consultant advice for Archer-related research and on Archer record searching (for a fee) in Washington, D.C. write: The Archer Assn., P.O. Box 6233, McLean, VA 22106.

Most of our ancestors were land owners.

Finding records of their possession of real estate can provide — and authenticate — important information for the researcher: where an ancestor was, during what year(s), and how much land he owned, often on a navigable body of water.

The names of ajoining land owners were given in boundary line identifications, this being significant to genealogists as it was with these neighboring families that marriages were often made.

After the American Revolution one of the big jobs facing each state was the establishing of land ownership according to laws of the new U.S. In many areas unique problems arose, concerning both land previously occupied and land being rapidly settled as pioneer families accelerated the expansion west and south.

LAND ENTRIES 1778-1789

Rowan County, North Carolina Vacant Land Entries 1778-1789 by Richard A. Enochs is an outstanding achievement in making early land records available to the researcher.

This first class publication begins with a valuable and comprehensive Foreword giving the historical, legal, geographical, etc. background for this land area within its time period as well as information on spelling and the many name variants.

More than three thousand land entries are abstracted herein from the claimant's written statement of where the land was situated, the nearest watercourse, landmarks, natural boundaries and any common lines of adjoining owners. Each begins with the claimant's full name and number of acres.

Beginning with the earliest records from when the newly formed state opened its land office in 1778, these Rowan County claims often represented people who may have been living in their present location for as long as 15 years without — because of an extraordinary land grant situation — a clear legal title. Thus they had been "lost" for years, appearing neither on land, tax or jury duty records.

Four maps show watercourses, landmarks and boundaries of the time. The index lists both full personal names and geographic names.

Hardcover, 8½ x 11 in., 280 pages, this excellent research volume is available at $32.00 incl. mailing from its compiler: Richard A. Enochs, 8221 Forsythia Ct., Indianapolis, IN 46219.

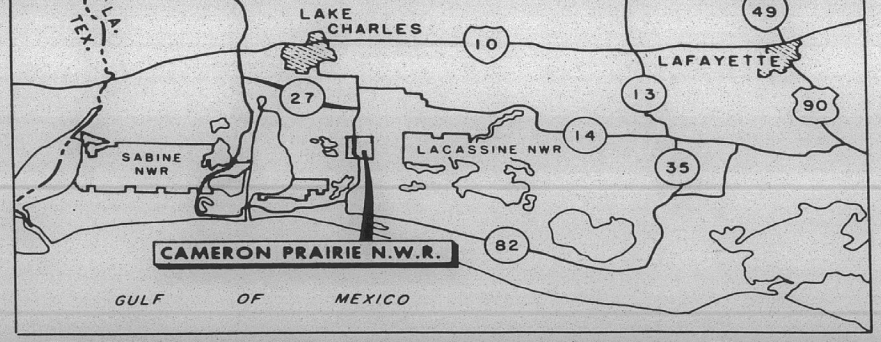
Expertly reproduced on high grade paper, many of the photos in Majesty of the River Road feature interior details of the palatial homes: ornate stairways and foyers, elaborate parlors, sitting rooms and dining rooms; and spectacular bedrooms with period furnishings that reflect the opulent lifestyle of the antebellum period.

Photos show exquisite armoires, mirrors, chandeliers, four poster and canopied beds and mantles, as well as beautiful exterior galleries with their one or two story columns, iron laceworn, entrance stairways or other special features.



Included are shots of a garden, gazebo, chapel, slave cabin, cannon, cistern, plantation bell, family cemetery, enormous oaks, a kitchen, a ballroom, a music hall and other memories of the Southern Planter lifestyle.

Thirty-five homes and other structures are depicted with one to several photos, the majority approximately 6 x 4 inches, some full page size.

The accompanying text gives history of the building, origin of its name, construction and design features and owners from original to present. There is a map showing location of each of the structures.

Is it fair . . .?

By Loston McEvers

LOUISIANA WILDLIFE EMPLOYEES VIOLATIONS

Speaking about state and federal game violations, I couldn't help but recall the story about the assistant wildlife secretary who has been making those cuts on Rockefeller along with out Secretary Virginia VanSickle.

It seems that this gentleman was charged with a migratory bird law violation in 1964 when he was a college student. He was charged with attempting to take ducks after shooting hours at a wildlife management area.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

I always thought the policy of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheres was to check out potential employees. I know when I applied for a job some 25 years ago with Rockefeller Refuge, they checked me out. I was hired as an Equipment Operator IV. Later I left Wildlife to attend school and did not return.

Now, something that interested me was a couple of wildlife and fishies personnel who had to resign after being caught with a federal violation on ducks.

An equipment operator working for the Lousiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, from Elton, was cited for over the limit, taking migratory game birds with the aid of a motorized vehicle and fined $250. He resigned in lieu of termination because of this federal wildlife violation.

A maintenance repairman from Kaplan, an employee of Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries, was cited for over the limit and taking migratory game birds with the aid of a motorized vehicle and fined $250.

As you can see, these two working men with low paying jobs had to resign or be terminated. How can you make something come out right in our wildlife department by making two working men with low salaries, "taking orders", from their supervisor, resign, but you hire a man with a migratory game federal violation with a big salary, "giving orders" laying off or firing personnel.

I thought we were to have a new Louisiana with our new Governor, but this doesn't sound like the new Louisiana we were supposed to have.

I realize every person who has done wrong and pays his dues is supposed to be forgiven, and it doesn't make him or her a bad person, but if you made two small people go home, if it's good for the goose, then it should be good for the gander.

New wildlife refuge for Cameron Parish

Two sale closures held Thursday will result in the establishment of a new national wildlife refuge some 15 miles southeast of Lake Charles in Cameron parish.

The 9,600-acre Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge, the country's 447th such preserve, is bisected by La. 27 and bounded on the south by the Intracoastal Waterway.

Thursday's acquisition of property, by the Department of the Interior's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, involved the sale of some 8,181 acres by Hebert-Helms and Co. at a price of $4,090,650.

An additional 1,440 acres was purchased from the Trahan Land Company Inc. for $1 million.

In announcing the refuge acquisition, James W. Pulliam Jr., southeast regional director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said, "This is a most important step for the service in the southeast in meeting our goals under the North American Waterfowl Management Plan."

Cameron Prairie will be the first new refuge established under the Gulf Coast Joint Venture of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan. Joint ventures are cooperative efforts between federal and state agencies, conservation organizations and private citizens to implement the provisions of the plan.

The new refuge is a key component of the Chenier Plains Project Initiative of the Gulf Coast Joint Venture and is considered one of the Southeast Region's highest priority acquisition projects.

Plans to acquire Cameron Prairie were originally announced at the 50th anniversary ceremony for the Lacassine and Sabine National Wildlife Refuges by Fish and Wildlife Service Director Frank Dunkle on Dec. 13, 1987. Acquisition of the refuge was approved Sept. 23, 1988, by the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission.

Funds to acquire refuges came from the sale of Duck Stamps, which are required of all waterfowl hunters 16 years of age or older.

Experts say the addition of the area's high-quality waterfowl habitat to the refuge system will greatly enhance the service's ability to provide wintering habitat for mallards and pintails and other waterfowl species.

Also, it is hoped that the additional habitat will stimulate some dispersal of the large concentrations of waterfowl found in the nearby Lacassine Pool of the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge and thus help reduce the risk of waterfowl disease associated with large concentrations of birds.

Wading birds, as well as waterfowl, will benefit from the establishment of the new game preserve. Species known to occur on the tract include herons, egrets, bitterns, ibises, and roseate spoonbills.

Shorebirds and waterbirds such as the common moorhen, purple gallinule, black-necked stilt, killdeer, king rail, cormorant and anhinga also use the area in great numbers.

In addition, the endangered peregrine falcon and the wood stork are known to use the area.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will not take full possession of the property until a commercial hunting lease expires on Feb. 28, 1989.

The original Library of Congress, consisting of 3,000 volumes, was incinerated by the British in the War of 1812.

'Handicap license tags' under close scrutiny

Applicants for the well known "handicap license tag" will come under closer scrutiny beginning Jan. 1, when a new law passed in this summer's legislative session goes into effect. The law's provisions will provide greater access for users of the automobile identification but will make qualifying for the privilege more difficult.

According to Department of Public Safety and Corrections Deputy secretary, Marlin Flores, there are now more than 55,000 handicap license plates on cars, trucks and buses in Louisiana. This number is expected to be reduced by 20 to 30 percent as a result of the revised eligibility requirements.

"There is no doubt that the handicap parking privilege has been abused in the past. Because the legitimacy of that privilege is based on the display of a handicap license tag, we must insure that the legitimacy of the systemis not jeopardized by the abuses of a small minority," said Flores.

It is also hoped that the revisions to the law will alleviate a number of problems for handicapped individuals, most notably the problem of limited parking space.

In the past, handicap plates were issued to family members of an impaired person if they showed responsibility for the transportation of this person. Such a policy meant that an unlimited number of plates could be issued based on the demonstrated need of one person. However, under the new law, only two license plates will be issued per handicapped person and any vehicles so licensed must be registered to the mobility impaired individual.

The new law will likely permit more effective enforcement by police officers as well. "Officers have always been somewhat reluctant to question persons driving vehicles licensed for handicap use when they are parked in the specially designated areas. The new registration requirements will provide a better means of enforcement," said Flores.

The revised law also requires the Office of Motor Vehicles to issue a handcap parking card for those individuals who do not own a car and depend on other motorists for transportation. Those cards will be available Jan. 16. The law requires that the card be displayed by placing it on the front dashboard of the driver's side of the vehicle with the international handicapped symbol clearly visible.

DUCK HUNTING BAD

When the second half of the duck season started on Dec. 26, hunters did fair the first day and a number of sportsmen got their limits. By the second day it began to slow up. Some sortsmen stated ducks had left their leases and went elsewhere.

A party of four hunters bagged six ducks, a party of four sportsmen bagged 4 ducks, while a party of four sportsmen out of two blinds baggd two ducks, and another party of six hunters in three blinds, two ducks. Then the next day another party of six hunters in three blinds on a different lease bagged only one duck.

The ducks were so scarce some out of parish sportsmen brought in their hunting equipment Saturday, and Monday stated they would not be back for the last weekend as there were no ducks around.

Musing

By Bernice Denny

Our hearts have been saddened by the tragedy of the colossal earthquake in Armenia with its enormous loss of lives and property.

We are told by scientists that about a million earthquakes occur annually. Most are so small that they can be detected only by precision instruments. The Richter scale, devised in 1935 by Charles F. Richter, an American seismologist, measures the total energy released during an earthquake. Each point of increase on the scale indicates that the force of the earthquake is ten times greater than the number below. The largest earthquakes recorded on the scale measured 8.9. Earthquakes over 8 cause almost total destruction; those over 5, minor damage.

In 1201, an earthquake in Syria, Egypt, resulted in a million deaths. Another in 1556 brought 830,000 fatalities to Shensi, China. In 1976, 655,000 deaths were caused by an earthquake in the Tientsin-Tangshan regions of China. In 1737, Calcutta, India, suffered the loss of 300,000 people in an earthquake. Antioch, Syria, in 526 B. C., estimated the death total at 250,000 while Tokyo, Japan, tabulated 200,000 dead in the earthquake of 1703.

North America has not fared so badly. The worst earthquake in the United Stated occurred in San Francisco, California, in 1906. Nearly 700 people died.

My mother often told me how her father was given a newspaper by the captain of a boat landing at Grand Chenier on its bi-weekly trip from Lake Arthur. Mother, a high school student, and her classmates had been assigned to give news talks the next day. Hers, of course, centered on the San Francisco earthquake. No one else, including her teacher, had yet heard of the tragedy.

It is difficult for us in this age of instant communication to comprehend the days without television, radio, and daily newspapers in Cameron Parish.

Today we not only heard of the plight of the Armenians but we saw also the wreckage and the anguish of the people by means of television.

May the Creator of all comfort and sustain them.

The two 1,350 foot towers of the World Trade Center in New York City occupy only two acres, but can accommodate 130,000 people.

CARD OF THANKS

THANK YOU:

To all of our wonderful friends who have stood by us during the year of 1988.

We want to take this time to say to each one of you, thank you for all you have done.

For the support and encouragement you have given us through your prayers, your presence, the cards, flowers, phone calls and most of all the love you have given to our family during a time of crisis.

We could look back with much regret and say, "Woe Is Me", but instead we will look back and say, "Through it all we are overcomers." We can all be an overcomer in any situation because of the love and strength that God gives to each of us when we need it most.

To lose a father, to lose a leg, to lose fingers is only a temporary loss. We've lost yet gained.

As we enter into a New Year our prayer is that we all will enter in with joy, peace and love for one another.

Again, thank you for sharing your love with us.

Pan Am crash brings back recent memories

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The confirmation this week that the crash of Pan Am Flight 103 in Scotland was caused by a bomb brought back some recent memories.

Last summer when I left for a European trip with a group from South Cameron High School our departure was marred by our worry about a similar incident. An Iranian airliner had been mistakenly shot down by the U. S. military, and Iran had promised that there would be a retaliation. This was just two weeks before our trip started and we were all apprehensive.

When our flight touched down at Heathrow Airport in London the security was very tight, with uniformed personnel all over the airport and cruising around the check-in area in motorized carts. Our four through the various countries took place on buses and our worries subsided.

However, when we started our departure two weeks later at the Munich, Germany airport, the security was even tighter than in England.

Each person was personally interviewed by a security guard and each piece of luggage, carry-on parcels and even our purses were tagged with a clearance tag.

The nice looking young blond German who interviewed me asked many questions, such as: "Have you been in complete charge of your luggage on this trip?" "Are you carrying any luggage or packages for anyone else?" "Has your luggage been locked at all times?" "What kinds of purchases did you make, and from whom on this trip?"

My grandson, who accompanied me on the trip, was questoned separately and the guard who interviewed him verified his answers with me.

CAMERON ITEMS

The high water situation in Cameron was becoming very serious at the time it stopped raining. All the stock had to be moved in the sea marsh where they could find more dry land, and a little to eat. It came within about one foot of being as high as the 1913 high water.

Mrs. Henry Agen, daughter of Arthur Leboeuf is at her father's home very ill with typhoid fever.

Mrs. J. P. Leboeuf has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Oscar Savoie.

Mrs. Gladys Savoie is spending the weekend with her aunt, Mrs. Elie Svoie.

Mrs. John Broussard has come to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Savoie.

Belonie Blanchard has come to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. G. H. Leboeuf.

Most of the trappers have quit the marsh on account of high water. Some have gone back to trap on the muskrat nest, which they say is very good, as the rats are all on top of the nests.

Most of the people who have been registered have paid their pool taxes and ready for the coming election. The list of candidates is: Assessor, Dellino Leboeuf, Glen Steward, John Richard; Sheriff, John Miller, D. R. Crain, F. B. Kennedy; Police juror, Leonce Nunez, Elie Savoie; Constable, Peet Marshall, John Constance; Clerk of Court, Ed Sweeney.

The marriage of Numa Richard, son of Eulice Richard and Edita Boudreaux, daughter of Desirie Boudreaux of Creole, will take place Jan. 7, 1924.

Lake Charles American Press, Dec. 22, 1916)
HACKBERRY WILL RAISE COTTON

All indications point to a large acreage of cotton for the coming year on account of the high prices for cotton this year. But we must not lose sight of the fact that we cannot eat cotton and must use our best efforts to raise a surplus grain crop. Fortunately this year is the first in years that corn has been shipped from Hackberry to other points. If 1917 gives us a good crop year, our farmers will be more prosperous than in years and it will make no material difference to them whether or not the Hackberry oil field is developed.

Your writer has the opinion that eventually the country stores will be strictly on a cash basis in view of the fact that there is so much of the cuntry's cash going to Chicago and New York mail order houses. The country stores will organize in time. There will be no more 30 days. Those conditions would cause more money to remain at home as it has been known that some people will buy the necessities of life from home merchants charged, and as they cannot get credit from the mail order houses they send off the little cash they may have to Chicago and New York. The mail order house gets the cash. The home store gets the charged accounts.

Eugene Guidry from Grand Lake, came over Monday. Mr. Gudry is preparing to build a house on Hackberry and live amongst us.

Mr. and Mrs. Rotet Guillott returned from Sulphur yesterday via the steamer Rex.

Mr. Guillott from Jennings is spending a few days visiting relatives.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Cool weather and several showers have visited us this weekand and our gardens are smiling.

Mr. Pomeroy's turnip patch has specimens that weigh 3½ pounds, which is quite good for Louisiana.

Tresimond Jones visited Lakeside Saturday and Sunday.

Trapping is at the zero mark in this section. Water too low and animals about trapped out.

Mr. Hamblin and his brother-in-law were prospecting around Lakeside last Sunday.

Charles Pomeroy had the misfortune to break his arm while transacting business at the farm near Welsh.

Arthur Miller's mother is quite sick and he went out to Cuero, Tex., to see her.

The orange crop is reported to be larger than can be cared for in the Chenier section.

A visit to the oracle of Delphi

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is another in a series of articles on a recent trip to Greece made by the publisher and his wife along with an alumni group from Northeast University of Monroe.)

By JERRY WISE

On Wednesday, Nov. 23, after having visited Ancient Corinth and the ruins of Mycenae, we made a stop at Nauplion, a beautiful little seaside resort town with an old fort on the mountain above it. In the bay there was an island on which stood a building that used to be a prison and later was used as the home for executioners (they were not welcome anywhere else.) I think it is now a hotel.

We concluded the day by visiting the world famous theatre of Epidaurus, which is in remarkable shape considering it was built four centuries before Christ. It seats 15,000 people and is still used in the summer to put on ancient Greek plays.

Our guide asked us to climb to the top of the amphitheatre and then demonstrated how extraordinary the acoustics were by dropping a coin which could be clearly heard.

On Thursday morning, Nov. 24, we paid a visit to the Dafni Monastery on the outskirts of Athens where we viewed a very old church with a wealth of stained glass windows. The monastery is no longer in use, but it is open for visits by tourists.

In the afternoon we drove south from Athens to visit the famous and very beautiful Temple of Poseidon on Cape Sounion, which was destroyed by the Persians in 480 B.C. but which was rebuilt by Pericles. The white of the 12 remaining Doric columns contrast against the deep blue of the sea and sky. I took pictures of goats feeding on the side of the cliff oblivious to the rocks and sea hundreds of feet below.

On Friday we traveled north to visit another of the "must" sites in Greece--Delphi, the home of one of the most famous of the ancient oracles. Ancient Greek leaders and businessmen made a practice of visiting the high priestess here and seeking her advice before starting a war or a new business venture--sort of an early day Ann Landers.

The priestess always gave a vague prediction, much like the astrology column of today's newspaper, so you could interpret her answer any way you pleased. Of course, you were supposed to leave some gold or silver in appreciation so the temple became a very wealthy one.

There were some very interesting ruins at Delphi, including the Sacred Way, the paved path to the Temple of Apollo, a theatre and an ancient stadium which could almost pass for a modern day football stadium. It seated 15,000 spectators in 15 rows and the seats are in such good repair that you could put on a modern day sporting event there.

On our way back, we stopped in the little town of Arachova that had streets so narrow that several times the bus had to stop so parked cars could be moved to let us pass. Here our lady tourists had a field day in a local shop that featured beautiful leather coats and other clothing for about half the price asked in Athens.

The next morning we had at leisure so Joy and I proceeded to explore some more of Athens. We visited a very large department store--nine stories of just about everything you could want. While not as fancy as some of our department stores, still it was very well stocked and gave some indication of how well off the Greeks are as compared to some other sections of Europe.

It was in this store that Joy and I had our "big adventure"--we got stuck in an elevator along with seven Greek citizens for about 15 minutes. Being slightly claustrophobic this was no picnic, but was made bearable by the fact that one of the young ladies in the elevator spoke English and assured us that help was on the way.

A more enjoyable part of the day was a trip to the top of Lykavitos Hill, one of the highest points in Athens. To get there you have to take the tram or funicular, a clog-type railcar that takes you almost straight up. From the top is a wonderful view of Athens, still looking like a sight from out of a Star Wars movie. There was also a restaurant on top where you could enjoy lunch while looking at the vast city.

Soc. Security information free to all

People in Southwest Louisiana have been receiving direct solicitations asking that they pay $7 to join an organization that says it will provide many services related to Social Security, Bill Dixon, Social Security district manager in Lake Charles said recently.

First, Dixon said, there is no need to pay any firm money to obtain any of the services provided by Social Security.

In return for the $7 payment, this firm offers to provide a statement of a person's earnings covered by Social Security, a plastic Social Security card, and a guide to Social Security.

Any Person can obtain a statement of Social Security covered earnings without paying anybody. All a person has to do is call any Social Security office and ask for a request for statement of earnings form. After completing the form and mailing it, the person will receive a statement in a few weeks. This firm can do no more.

In addition, there is no need for a plastic Social Security card, Dixon said. It is of no use for Social Security purposes. the Social Security number card issued by the Social Security Administration is the only official card and should be used whenever a Social Security card is needed.

People can obtain many publications about Social Security free at any Social Security office. Just call any office and ask, Dixon said.

Free information about Social Security and free Social Security cards can be obtained by calling the Lake charles Social Security office at 478-0220.

A Strength and Conditioning Seminar for coaches is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 7, from 9 a.m .to 5 p.m. in the Baker Auditorium of McNeese State University. The seminar is sponsored by McNeese State University, Knee & Sports Medicine Center, and Rehab Services of Lake Charles. A nominal registration fee is charged, and advance registration is recommended.

Arbor Day deadline

Deadline for schools, organizations, and civic clubs planning Arbor Day observances to order tree seedlings and an Arbor Day booklet from the La. Office of Forestry is Jan. 13.

Teachers in area schools need to place their orders at one time, rather than ordering individually.

Arbor Day is Jan. 20, but the Office of Forestry encourages the idea of Arbor Week in order to give groups more flexibility in planning observances.

The trees offered are one year-old bare-root seedlings, and supplies are limited. Species include loblolly pine, live oak, and baldcypress.

A booklet containing Arbor Day program suggestions, songs, poems, and information on tree selection and planting is available in single copies to groups through the Office of Forestry.

Requests for seedlings and literature may be made by mail to the La. Office of Forestry, P.O. Box 337, DeRidder, La. 706534, or by calling 318-463-7801.

Seedlings and literature can be picked up from Jan. 11 to 20, at the Office of Forestry office located next door to DOTD on Airport Road in DeRidder.

Miller has contestant

Ten minutes of videotape could lead Pete Stokes, Garrison, Tex., to the 1989 World Livestock Auctioneer Championship.

Stokes' video entry in the 26th annual Championship is sponsored by the Miller Livestock Co., DeQuincy, a member of Livestock Marketing Association.

LMA, headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., is the national trade association for livestock marketing businesses.

The finals of the 1989 contest will be conducted June 23, at the Blue Grass Stockyards, Lexington, Ky. Stokes entered the South Central Regional Competition, the first step to the Lexington finals, by submitting a 10-minute, unedited videotape of his working an actual sale.

Following the judging, regional winners and 30 semi-finalists will be named to compete in next June's contest, an actual livestock sale.

Three champions will be named following the Lexington contest, the world, reserve and runner-up champions.

Registrars are checking voters

Registrars of voters throughout the state are conducting a canvass of voters as required by state law, announced Commissioner of Elections Jerry Fowler.

Fowler said the election code requires the parish registrars in January to annually canvas the names of the registrants in one-fourth of the precincts in the parishes. In conducting the canvass, the registrars mail to each registrant in the precincts to be canvassed a card on which is plainly typed or printed the registrant's name and address, and ward and precinct number. The card instructs the postmaster to deliver only as addressed or return to the sender.

When the registrant receives the card, the registrant can throw it away. There is nothing he must do to retain his voter registration. However, if the postmaster cannot deliver the card as addressed and returns the card to the registrar without a corrected address within the parish, the registrar must then send a citation notice to those registrants whose cards have been returned.

The citation notice requires the voter to appear in the registrar's office within 21 days to show why his name should not be removed from the voter rolls. In addition, the registrar is required to publish the names of all registrants to whom the citations have been sent together with a notice requiring them to appear in the registrar's office within 21 days after the date of publication and prove the correctness of his registration. If the registrant fails to appear in the registrar's office, the registrar is required by law to remove his name immediately, said Fowler.

Fowler said voters rarely remember to notify the registrar if they have moved or if the post office has changed their address.

"It's just a good idea for all voters to make sure the registrar has accurate information," said Fowler. "We want everyone to be registered to vote, but we also want to insure that people are voting in the ward and precinct where they actually reside," Fowler said.

Computer class set at G. L.

The Grand Lake High School business department will teach a night class on how to use computers to process information. Word Star software will be used to teach word processing and Multiplan software to teach spreadsheet applications.

Classes will meet every Tuesday starting Jan. 17, and continue for 40 hours of instruction. The classes are tentatively set to start at 3:30 p.m. and last until 6:30 p.m.

To register or obtain additional information, a person should call Grand Lake High School during school hours.

Posters to be judged

Cameron parish students have entered many posters in the annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival's poster contest. Winners will be announced at the Thursday, Jan. 12, program of the festival.

The contest is sponsored by Court Mary Olive Catholic Daughters and features the cattle industry this year.

Poster winners will ride on a float that the Court will have in the festival's parade on Saturday, Jan. 14.

First, second and third place trophies will be awarded. Winning posters will be displayed at the Cameron Elementary auditorium.

Exxon makes reef donation

Officials of Exxon Co. have turned over a check for $250,000 to the Louisiana Artificial Reef Program conducted by the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The cash contribution follows Exxon's recent donation of two Gulf of Mexico oil rigs to LARP. The rigs were towed from Texas waters and toppled 120 miles south of Cameron to become an artificial reef and provide fish habitat that will serve Louisiana's recreational and commercial fishermen.

Virginia VanSickle, Department Secretary, explained that oil producers donating obsolete rigs to LARP, rather than towing them ashore and dismantling them, realize considerable savings which they share with LARP.

Motor accidents very costly

The economic cost of motor vehicle accidents was approximately $80 billion last year! And it's the consumer whopays when the number and cost of auto accidents rise, according to Eddie Conner, of Cameron Insurance Agency, a spokesperson for the Insurance Information Institute, before the Cameron Lions Club.

Mr. Conner told the Lions Club that an incease in the number and cost of auto accidents, rising numbers of lawsuits and an increase in auto theft result in rising auto insurance premiums. Mr. Conner noted that these trends result in more insurance company payouts on auto claims. "When the amount of payouts increases, premiums also must rise," he said.

He stated there are several ways to help keep auto premiums under control: Stiffer penalties for drunk driving, auto theft and insurance fraud; improved driver training for younger drivers; increased competition in the auto parts market; the use of seat belts and installation of air bags; maintaining the 55 m.p.h. speed limit; supporting laws to improve the safety of commercial trucks and encouraging legal system reforms to help cut costs.

"Consumers are not helpless against the rising costs of auto accident and theft," Mr. Conner said. Consumers can join drunk-driving coalitions, speak out in their communities, drive responsibly and use the courts wisely, he added.

Betterment of parish schools work is told

By JERRY WISE

Chairmen of two teacher committees that are working to improve Cameron parish schools made reports to the Cameron Parish School Board Monday.

Marie DeLord of Grand Lake said the parish testing committee was working to establish a procedure on comprehensive testing in the parish and investigating the changing of the parish grading scale.

She noted that local schools now give a B grade for a 94 score while neighboring parishes give a B for a 93 score. This small difference sometimes means that Cameron parish students lose out to students in other parishes for scholarships.

Mrs. DeLord said the committee also hopes to find means of strengthening students in taking ACT and state mandated tests.

(Supt. Thomas McCall noted that there is a statewide effort now to come up with a uniform grading system in all of the school systems so there will be no unfairness in the awarding of scholarships.)

Anna Boudreaux, Cameron Elementary teacher, reported on her committee that is working to improve the school climate. She said that teachers were being encouraged to do positive things to make schools more appealing to students.

Mrs. Betty Seay, Hackberry board member, said she has served on one of these committees and praised the teachers for their efforts to improve parish schools.

TRACK BIDS

No Fault Industries of Baton Rouge was awarded a $72,480 contract to resurface the South Cameron High School track and to rework the Johnson Bayou track. The firm was the high bidder, but the low bidder did not have a license to work in the state and the second lowest bidder failed to furnish samples of the track required with the bids.

A bid of $400 from Judy Harrington for an old school bus at Johnson Bayou was accepted. Bids on two other old buses were not received and rebidding was authorized.

The board approved the calling of a special meeting for 10 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 24, to receive bids on a chiller at Grand Lake High School. It was agreed to include an alternate bid on a new air handler to provide additional cooling for the auditorium.

ROYALTY DISPUTE

District Attorney Jerry Jones reported on an ongoing dispute the board has had for several years over oil royalties on water bottoms claimed by both the board and the state. He said because the amount of money is only a few thousand dollars, it would not be worthwhile to go to court.

Jones said he had offered on behalf of the board to settle with the state with each party taking half of the disputed sum, but the state was holding out for a 90%-10% split in its favor.

The board decided to let the matter ride. "At least we are getting some interest on the money in escrow", Board President Arnold Jones stated.

OFFICERS NAMED

Arnold Jones and Preston Richard were re-elected to new two year terms as board president and vice-president respectively by a unanimous vote.

MEETING DATES

Regular meeting dates for 1989 were set for the second Monday of each month, the same schedule that had been in effect for a number of years.

Board Member Rickey Guidry said he had been contacted by several voters inquiring about holding the meetings in the evenings as this would be more convenient for some people who work during the day.

Several other members said night meetings had been tried in the past with no better attendance than the day meetings. Also it was pointed out that when meetings are held in the day, school board office personnel are available to answer questions.

TELEPHONE CONTRACT

The board last month approved signing a contract with a telephone company for the lease-purchase of a new telephone system for the entire school system which would save the board some money.

A representative of another telephone company told the board that they were disappointed that they had not been contacted for a proposal on the system.

The board Monday decided to nullify last month's proposal if it is legal to do so and to advertise for proposals on the board's telephone system needs.

Ship made USA Today

Cameron made the national news last week when it was announced that a cruise shop might operate out of the local port.

USA Today, a national daily newspaper, reported:

"Holiday Cruises Inc. officials hope to operate a 246-foot gaming, entertainment ship from here within 90 days. The 550-passenger ship will offer Gulf of Mexico cruises."

License office temp. closed

The Cameron Drivers License office will be temporarily closed starting Jan. 17, due to officer cross-training for future motor vehicle services in the Cameron office.

An announcement will be made when the office will re-open for business, according to Daleen Cheramie, local Drivers License officer.

Booths to be at the school

Pete Picou, president of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival announces that craft and food booths will be set up in front of the Cameron Elementary School gym during the festival.

He is asking that anyone wanting to set up a booth contact him at 775-5718.

Festival is a top 20 event

The Cameron Fur and Wildlife Festival, to be held Jan. 12-14, has been designated in the top 20 events for the quarter by the Southeast Tourist Association.

The festival will receive a plaque and be included in STA promotional materials.

KILLINGS AT JOHNSON BAYOU

Accompanied by Sheriff John Miller of Cameron Parish, District Attorney Robira paid a visit to Johnson Bayou yesterday to make an inspection of the scene of the killing of two men there on the night of New Year's Day.

Several persons were examined by Mr. Robira while there and many important facts regarding the killing were learned. There were others in the party which left Lake Charles yesterday morning in a speed boat but because of difficulties encountered, Mr. Robira and Mr. Miller were the only ones who finished the trip.

The first trouble came when the boat in which the officers were traveling broke down in the channel of the river opposite Moss Lake. It was beyond temporary repairs and the craft drifted about helpless until Martin Bonsall came to the rescue and towed it ashore.

From Moss Lake, cars were taken to the ferry landing at the Sabine River where they were met by the chief of police of Orange. Because of the low water in Sabine Lake, the speed boat which awaited the men in Orange could accommodate only three of the party and for that reason, the remainder of the men were forced to return home from there.

COLDEST DAY

This issue ran an article about a cold wave that came to Southwest Louisiana Jan. 7, 1886. When everyone went to bed, it was warm and summery. But during the night, an arctic cold wave blew in and dropped the temperature at Lake Charles to 6 degrees. No one had ever seen it so cold before. Jacob Ryan, then 80, stated that he had never experienced such cold weather. There was skating on Pithon Coulee which was a strange but enjoyable sight for everyone. But the cold wave also froze the orange groves in Southwest Louisiana so bad that they had to be cut down and used as fire wood. Some of the trees were 50 years old.

According to the Lake Charles Commercial, there was great suffering among cattle--"In Cameron they have been frozen to death by the hundreds. One large stock owner has reported that he lost 400 during the last few days."

Goodrich on honor list

Stuart Glen Goodrich of Hackberry has been named to the President's List for the fall semester at Northeast Louisiana University.

Cameron represented at Children's Home

Seventy-one youngsters moved into the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home in Monroe during 1988.

Olin L. Hall, director of family services, said the boys and girls and young people came from Eunice, Livingston, West Monroe, Shreveport, Marrero, Baton Rouge, Hebert, Princeton, Ferriday, Lafayette, Bastrop, Ponchatoula, Jena, Logansport, Monroe, Ruston, Cameron, Mansfield, Tallulah, Gonzales, Denham Springs, Olla, Roseland, Keithville, Delhi, Zachary, Sulphur, Spearsville, Alexandria, Kenner, Leesville, Grosse Tete and Plaquemine.

The youngsters came from 26 Louisiana parishes.

Admissions to the Home in 1986 totaled 43 while in 1987 the Home received 76.

During 1987 a total of 66 youngsters were released from the Home.

The Louisiana Baptist Children's Home is licensed to care for 120 children at a time, with up to 12 in each of the ten cottages on the 110-acre Monroe campus. Entering 1989, the Home was operating at near capacity, according to John R. Williams, executive director.

Anyone in Calcasieu, Cameron and Beauregard parishes may refer a child to the Baptist Home by calling the Children's Home at 318-343-2244 or by writing the Home at Post Office Box 4196, Monroe, La. 71211. In every case the Children's Home must work with the person or persons having custody of the child being considered for care.

DUCK SEASON OVER

This past Sunday, Jan. 8, officially ended the 1988-89 split duck season. The season was bad through both parts.

There was a big turnout last weekend of sportsmen for the last weekend. The last day was a very good hunting day weather-wise with a new norther moving in Sunday morning with misty, rainy weather, but it still didn't make hunting a bit better. The ducks were just not there.

One local sportsman who has been guiding for the hunting clubs for the past 40 years, stated this was one of the worst he had seen. While another sportsman from here, who has been hunting for the past 30 years, also stated that this has been one of the worst duck seasons he has ever known of.

The Colorful Art of Clementine Hunter

"Clementine Hunter: American Folk Artist" by James L. Wilson, publ. by Pelican Publishing Co., available in bookstores, 160 pages, $39.95 hc.

Reviewed by MARIE WISE

Her paintings burst with color, filled with the living of life to its fullest by figures from a time long ago.

Clementine Hunter gave a unique legacy to Louisiana when she began painting — not until her mid fifties — remembered events from life on a Louisiana plantation. No one taught her; she just did it.

At her death in early 1988, Clementine was 101 years old. Born in 1887 at the Hidden Hill Plantation on Cane River Lake near Cloutierville in Natchitoches Parish, she began with some discarded tubes of paint and a window shade.

By the 1940s, some notice of her work was taken; by the 1950s she had become a recognized artist and before her death, her paintings were in collections and had been in showings across the nation.

Was Clementine Hunter a Primitive Artist, a Folk Artist, A Naive Artist, a Memory Artist? She was all of that, and a master of color and form in her own unique style.

This lady painted what she knew well: the life of plantation blacks — their weddings, baptisms, funerals; harvesting sugar cane, picking cotton, pecan threshing, washday, gathering figs, feeding chickens, picking gourds, hog killing, Saturday night at the honky tonk, fishing on Cane River.

There are many other scenes including buildings from Melrose Plantation where Clementine lived almost all of her life and her extraordinary religious paintings: Mary and Jesus, the Black Jesus crucified, a sky of angels — all uniquely her interpretations.

There are paintings of flowers that fairly explode with color, some abstracts and some rare ones of individuals.

At last a book has been published that does justice to Clementine's special artistry. This one is magnificently printed with approximately 100 color plates of her paintings, some as large as 10½ x 8½ inches and each accompanied by commentary and credit to the present collector — owner.

There are many photos from Clementine's life, her biography in detail, a summary of critical commentaries, appendix of permanent exhibits, lists of shows and exhibits 1970s and 80s, and excerpts from the correspondence of Francois Mignon, writer and curator at Melrose who early recognized Clementine's talent, encouraged and promoted it.

Clementine Hunter was among the best known folk artists in America and she was a painter-historian who in her paintings recorded life on a Southern plantation during the first half of the 20th century.

This 1988 book is an outstanding record of her life and works — those colorful, compelling memories that she set down in her own, unique way.

Fate of A. J. West arena being studied

An ad hoc committee will recommend that the Calcasieu Parish School Board study the cost of either renovating or tearing down the West Memorial rodeo arena at Sulphur High School.

The arena, used for many years as site of the Louisiana High School Rodeo Association finals, was ordered closed by the board on April 19, 1988, for safety reasons.

Since that time, the Sulphur High School Rodeo Club has practiced and held its annual qualifying rodeo in an arena in Choupique.

Some estimates have already been prepared by Wayne Hill Bergeron, director of maintenance. He said it would cost approximately $21,000 to tear down the arena and remove all materials, $30,000 to dismantle and haul off all material to a designated lay-down yard, and $176,312 to repair the arena and restore and maintain it to meet acceptable practice and competitive-site standards.

However, during a meeting of the board's ad hoc rodeo committee on Friday, Jan. 6, Edward A. Hessifer, a member of the board of directors of the Rodeo Association and president of the Sulphur High School Rodeo Club, said some savings may be realized because there is no need to repair or maintain back pens or facilities on grounds outside the arena.

Glynn Broussard, School Board member from Sulphur, added that the former agriculture building adjacent to the arena is no longer in use and can be demolished or sold.

Broussard said no money is available from a recent public school improvement bond issue for rodeo expenses. He said an allocation of $40,000 for those purposes had been transferred to the asbestos-removal project after the arena had been closed.

John Land, principal of Sulphur High School, expressed concern over providing school staff to supervise the arena while in use for practice or events and to maintain the facility. Many of these duties had been performed by agriculture teachers, but vocational agriculture is no longer taught at the school.

Land said that if the arena were demolished, the school would use the property as a soccer field and for physical education classes and band practice.

On a motion by Paul Patin, board member from Vinton, the committee voted to recommend that the board request the staff make another study of the cost of preparing the arena as a practice and qualifying rodeo site and dismantling back pens not inside the arena; also, the kinds of prizes that may be awarded to high school students who participate in rodeos.

Return due from executor

A taxpayer's death does not necessarily mean that a federal income tax return is no longer required in his or her name, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

If a taxpayer died before filing a 1988 tax return, his or her spouse or personal representative must sign and file a return for the decedent, if a return is required. A personal representative can be an executor, administrator or anyone with legal responsibility to take care of the decedent's affairs. If a return is not required, but the taxpayer had tax withheld, a return should be filed to get a refund.

If the surviving spouse did not remarry before January 1, 1989, a joint return can be filed. Also, joint returns for 1988 and 1989 can be filed if the taxpayer died in 1989 before filing a 1988 return.

Free IRS Publication 559, "Tax Information for Survivors, Executors, and Administrators," can be obtained by using the order blank in the tax return package or by calling 1-800-424-3676.

"Belizaire the Cajun" Is both Book & Film

"Belizaire the Cajun" by Glen Pitre, edited by Dean Shapiro, publ. by Pelican Publishing Co., available in bookstores, 142 pp., $6.95 pb

Reviewed by MARIE WISE

"Belizaire the Cajun" was first written for the movie; then it was written for and published as a book, the first novel by Glen Pitre whose hometown is Cut Off, Louisiana on the banks of Bayou Lafourche.

Pitre studied film making on a scholarship to Harvard University; returned to Cut Off and founded Cote Blanche productions which started out making documentaries and educational films and two years ago shot the full length movie, "Belizaire the Cajun", all in Louisiana.

"Belizaire" was an official selection of the Cannes Film Festival in 1986 and since has been seen in movie houses in the U.S. and abroad, on cable TV and home videos.

Glen Pitre was this year honored by the Government of France as a recipient of the medal of the Order of Arts and Letters, its highest honor to a civilian. Pitre's recognition was for his contribution to perpetuation of the French language and culture through his films and novel.

"Belizaire" the movie was shot in 36 days in five south Louisiana locations: The Acadian Village near Lafayette, The Acadian House in Longfellow Evangeline State Park at St. Martinville, the Harris Broussard ranch, the road to Oak and Pine Alley Plantation, and the Cypress Island-Lake Martin Swamp.

"Belizaire" the novel, available in paperback and hardcover, is adapted from the movie. Set in the Cajun Country of Vermillion Parish during the 1850s it tells the story — handed down in Cajun lore — of Belizaire Breaux, a Cajun herbalist and traiteur (faith healer).

Finding himself cast into the role of leader and champion of his Cajun people against a vigilante group of cattle barons who terrorize the region, Belizaire has a chain of adventures and exploits climaxing in his triumph over the villain, outwitting the hangman's noose and finally, winning the fair Alida.

For the reader this is entertainment with, at last, a happy ending and a look into Cajun culture as it was more than a century ago. Both as a good story and as a mirror to Louisiana's unique past, "Belizaire" belongs in everybody's library.

Program is progressing

Dear Louisiana Cattlemen:

Through your cooperation and support, the brucellosis program has made very real progress and this progress must continue to assure the Louisiana cattle industry a viable market for its cattle. As of August 1, 1988, the number of known brucellosis infected herds had been reduced to less than 250.

In an effort to keep the brucellosis program moving in the right direction, the Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board adopted a regulation in 1987, which should limit the spread of brucellosis from unknown brucellosis infected herds to brucellosis free herds. Effective January 1, 1989, all breeding age female cattle must be official brucellosis vaccinates or be part of a herd which tested negative, in order to be sold for breeding purposes. If your cattle are not vaccinated or from a herd which tested negative in the last 12 months, all of your breeding age female cattle will be "S" branded and sold to slaughter or to a quarantine feedlot.

If you have non-brucellosis vaccinated animals in your herd, I would strongly recommend that you have your herd brucellosis tested every 12 months and maintain a copy of your herd test so that you will be able to sell all of your cattle for breeding purposes.

If you have any questions, please contact my office at (504) 342-4984 or a representative of the Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board in your area.

Thank you for supporting the brucellosis program.

Sincerely,
/s/ William B. Fairchild, D.V.M.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

During the few years preceding the American Revolution, immigration to the New World had reached "epidemic" proportions according to some British officials and steps were needed to control it.

There was danger, some said, that "entire areas of His Majesty's kingdom", particularly in Ireland and Scotland, might be "de-populated". In Scotland, at least, it was reported that even a sentence of transportation (deportation to the colonies) had "begun to lose every characteristic of punishment".

It was reported by the Lord Justice Clerk, appointed in 1773 to ascertain the nature, causes and remedies for this British exodus, that working class people were looking for a better place to live because repeated crop failures and the lack of employment had reduced many to acute want and they had heard that America was the golden land of opportunity.

From 1769 on, some 20,000 persons a year were immigrating to the Americas, the great majority from Scotland and Ireland. This continued even as evidence of the impending Revolution reached proportions that could not be ignored.

In 1773 the Earl of Suffolk wrote to the Lords of the Treasury that something must be done about so many British citizens — including entire families — becoming American colonists in situations where they might lose "the natural tie to their country".

The Treasury response was to institute a system whereby every port in England and Scotland was to record and report any person departing for overseas: name, age, occupation, residence, and reason for leaving the country.

Thus resulted the recording of every emigrant to the Americas from England and Scotland, 11 Dec. 1773 to 7 Apr. 1776, not long before the Declaration of Independence.

This list of several thousand recently has been published in a book.

FROM ENGLAND TO AMERICA

Emigrants from England to the American Colonies 1773-1776 by Peter Wilson Coldham arranges the names chronologically by ports of embarkation, listing each ship by name and its destination in the Americas. Thus for each immigrant is given his point of departure and arrival and (for almost all) the ship on which he sailed.

Reasons for immigration were variously listed as: to settle, to plant, to reside, to purchase or return, to join a husband or other relative, as an indentured servant, on business, for employment, turned off his farm, as a hired servant, as a redemptioner (giving the ship captain the right to sell his services in exchange for passage over), rent raised too high to pay, etc.

This volume is hardcover with book jacket, 6 x 9 in., 182 pages, full name index and index of ships, $25.00 incl. mailing, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

ALFORD ASSOCIATION

The Alford American Family Association was organized in 1987 "to find, record and preserve records of Alford ancestors and to record information on living Alfords".

Family memberships are open to all Alford families and families with an Alford descendant. There are annual dues and a registration fee.

Child Search program is in progress

Learning begins at birth and continues throughout life. Cameron Parish schools are reminding parents that a child's first steps to learning begin long before he/she enters a classroom.

Achieving such tasks as sitting, crawling, walking, talking, playing, listening, and understanding at appropriate times are early indicators of a child's readiness for school. A child's ability to hear and see is also of critical importance.

All children, regardless of handicapping condition, are entitled to a free and appropriate public education. Child Search, a program sponsored by the Louisiana Department of Education, is looking for children who may be mentally handicapped, hearing or visually impaired, learning disabled, speech or language impaired, emotionally disturbed, health impaired, or gifted and talented.

The Department of Education has established a standard procedure for the identification, screening and evaluation of exceptional children between the ages of birth and 21. Only a parent or guardian may give formal written approval for an evaluation; however, any concerned individual may refer a child. All information is confidential.

To refer a child or for additional information, please contact Willyne Kestel, Supervisor of Special Education for Cameron parish, at 775-7570 or write to P.O. Box W, Cameron, La. 70631.

Your guests are likely to warm to an All-American chili piled high with cheese, onions and red kidney beans.

Letters to Editor

Clothing and food sought

Dear Editor:

This year amidst all the Christmas glitter the people of Cameron did something different and wonderful. Something that really defines what Christmas is all about. Many people and businesses chose to reach out to people that are not as fortunate as they are. They reached out to people who would only get to watch others enjoy Christmas while they were hoping that they would have something to eat and something warm to wear.

As a part of the Christmas celebration in Cameron this year people gave of themselves, and of their food.

Due to the spirit of giving this Christmas, many needs were met by families in Cameron Parish. Many families were supplied with food and children were given toys. There is no way we can thank everyone who contributed by name and even if we could we would not because we do not want to rob anyone of the reward that is waiting for them in heaven.

There are many needs to be met in this area. In January Concerned Christians of Cameron, a group of Christians from all the different churches in Cameron will be setting up a food and clothing collection box on the Cameron Motel parking lot.

This box will be similar to the Salvation Army boxes you've seen in other towns. When this box is erected please stop by and put non-perishable food and/or clothing in it. If you should have any items that are too large to go in the box please just call one of the telephone numbers on the box and we will arrange for someone to pick up the item at your convenience.

We have a lot of volunteers but we need more. People that can help wash and mend the clothes we receive for example. If you can do anything you are needed. Concerned Christians is not a club, it is a group of people who care about other people and who believe in Jesus Christ.

The next meeting will be Jan. 16, at the Cameron Recreation Center at 7 p.m. Plese be there and give of yourself for your neighbors.

/s/ Margie Vincent

Turnips are given

Grand Lake Junior 4-H members made their annual trek to Leon Duhon's turnip patch to gather seven sacks of turnips. The turnips were taken to Abraham's Tent where they made many different meals for the poor and homeless people in Lake Charles. The Grand Lake 4-H Club would like to thank Mr. Leon Duhon for providing it the opportunity to be of service to underprivileged people of our area.

DUCK AND COOT SEASON ENDS

Our duck and coot hunting season has ended as of last Sunday. The second split did have water to get to the blinds, but the birds were scattered and not as plentiful, so it made hunting tough. Some hunters didn't fire a shot on some of the days of the second split.

We still have goose season left and it will end Feb. 14.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission will hold the first of their public hearings on the 1989-90 hunting season and regulations on Thursday, Feb. 16, in Bossier City, at 7 p.m., Bossier City Sheraton off I-20.

This is to get the input from the public, sportsmen and others. The second meeting will be set for 7 p.m. Thursday, March 2, in Baton Rouge at the Wildlife and Fisheries headquarters at 2000 Quail Drive. The last meeting will be held at 7 p.m., Thursday, March 16, in New Iberia at the Holiday Inn at 2801 Center St., Hwy. 14. All comments will be recorded for careful consideration before the 1989-90 hunting season is ratified.

POACHERS SENT TO PRISON

Prison terms and a tongue-lashing were handed down in Federal Court to four St. James Parish men who slaughtered 667 grosbecs. The grosbecs are a protected species.

The four, all residents of Vacherie, pleaded guilty. Two men were sentenced to 4 months in prison and two men, two months in prison. Each was also fined $500 and ordered to perform 312 hours of community service.

The judge passing the sentence told the defendants how senseless and wasteful this slaughter was. These protected we know as grosbecs are also known as yellow-crowned night herons.

One of the men, in a separate case involving the illegal sale of alligator parts, was sentenced by a U.S. Magistrate to serve an additional two months in prison, giving him a 6 months sentence.

Next week we'll look into the 447th National Wildlife Refuge purchase right after Christmas in our Sweetlake area.

Also, we'll look in our own Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries money, where it went, how and why. "Is Wildlife Broke?"

GUNS RECALLED

Browning is recalling the trigger assemblies from all Browning A-500 shotguns. This is a new semi-automatic shotgun which Browning introduced in 1987.

During extensive shooting tests, there were parts breakage in the trigger assembly on the A-500. This failure could cause an unsafe condition if it were to occur.

Browning will replace all trigger assemblies on A-500 shotguns. All A-500 shotguns which contain the new replacement trigger assembly can be identified by the letter "H" stamped on the bottom front of the trigger guard plate. If you do not have this letter "H" stamped on the bottom forward part of the trigger guard plate, your trigger assembly must be recalled.

"Do not load your A-500 until a new trigger assembly is installed." You may call 1-800-322-4626 which is the A-500 recall department.

COMMERCIAL FISHERMEN REMINDED TO BUY LICENSE FOR MISCELLANEOUS GEAR

Commercial fishermen were reminded by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries that a new law requires them to buy one or more licenses for so-called miscellaneous fishing gear.

The 1988 Legislature specified a $25 license fee for miscellaneous gear used by commercial fishermen in addition to such conventional categories as nets, trawls, and traps already requiring licenses.

Miscellaneous gear employed by commercial fishermen for special purposes generally falls into four classifications; Containers such as pipes, buckets or cans; set lines such as trot lines, long lines and bush lines; minnow traps; and eel pots.

Under the new law, which went into effect Jan. 1, each of the four types of miscellaneous gear needs a separate license. However, a single license covers any legal number of gear items within each of the four classifications.

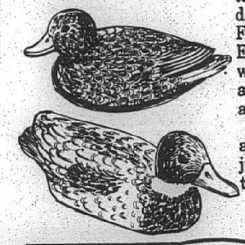
History of the La. Fur & Wildlife Fest.

The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife festival, was founded in 1957 to honor the fur and wildlife industry of the state, in which Cameron parish leads the state and probably the nation.

In Cameron parish the industry is served by 306 parish trappers who each year sell close to 200,000 pelts bringing in over $600,000. The festival features skills in duck calling, nutria and muskrat skinning, oyster shucking, retreiver dog trials, trap shooting, archery, and various other events.

The woman and man winning the muskrat skinning contest will represent the parish and state at the world fur skinning contests held in Cambridge, Maryland.

Accompaning the group will be the winner of the Miss Cameron Parish contest, and they will be carrying invitations to the group at the National Outdoor Show to be special guests at the local festival next year.



Tom Mudd, "King Fur" of the 1988 festival will relinquish his title at the Friday night program to the new king, who has already been chosen by secret ballott, and whose identity will be revealed that night.

Miss Karen Engerton, representing Terrebonne Parish, who is the reigning "Louisiana Fur Queen" will crown the new queen on Saturday night in the closing ceremony.

The new queen will be presented with a fur coat and a trip to the Mardi Gras ball in Washington D.C., representing the local festival.

Miss Katheryn Wilkerson, the reigning "Miss Cameron Parish" will crown her successor at the Friday night program.

The skinning contests and many of the other events will be held in the indoor gym of the Cameron elementary school, which will be the center of most of the activities, in and around the school.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries has recently undergone a reduction in work force of approximately 15 percent, the first time the agency has ever had to lay off a substantial number of employees.

The layoffs were dictated by the accumulation of unpaid bills from prior years and a 15 percent shortfall in anticipated revenues for the current fiscal year. The personnel reductions were distributed among all divisions within the agency: Seafood - 21%; Game - 18%; Fur and Refuge - 17%; Enforcement - 14%, with the Information and Education Division and other sections and programs receiving smaller cuts.

Much has been said and written about the untimeliness of the layoffs, particularly within the Enforcement Division because of the emphasis on reducing waterfowl violations. But the sad fact of the matter is that, at least for the time being, the LDWF cannot afford to have as many people on the payroll, at least, perhaps, not as many as sportsmen might like.

Some have cried against cutting certain divisions of the department but have failed to make a responsible recommendation for distributing the layoffs among the rest of the agency's divisions and programs. Understandably, no one person, no one division, wants to bear the brunt of the layoffs, nor should they. Therefore all must share in it.

The Louisiana Wildlife Federation has been uncharacteristically silent as these budget revelations and personnel cuts have come down. Perhaps the reason is that nothing much good can be said about the situation and criticism just adds to the difficulty of a problem to which there seems to be no immediate remedy.

Nothing is fair about what has happened. The only remotely positive descriptive term that can be used is "reasonable" - the layoffs were distributed reasonably to retain a "whole" resource management agency that can continue, if it has the will and leadership, to deliver the vital services required by the state's paying resource users. That includes efficient, effective and professional law enforcement and wildlife and fisheries research and management, along with a strong program of habitat conservation and acquisition, and a renewed emphasis on informing and educating the public about the proper utilization of the renewable natural resources of our great state.

In spite of all the negative consequences of this unprecedented action, there is a lesson in it. LDWF has to do a better job in managing its finances and programs. The current administration seems determined to learn that lesson well, and operate accordingly. Louisiana's citizens deserve no less.

LDWF Secretary, Virginia Van Sickle has promised a leaner, more efficient agency in terms of performance and service to the public. Though the layoffs have taken their toll, the department still retains a staff of top notch professionals that can meet the challenge. They deserve our full support.

Yours in conservation,
/a/George Ann Bernard

Birders like area

Bird-watchers from the U. S. and Canada find the Cameron Parish marshes a wonderland, the Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau was told.

Capt. Sammie Faulk, operator of Cameron Wildlife Inc., said he has staged several tours for birders, and they are enthusiastic about the wildlife they see. One group had six bird hobbyists from different parts of the United States and one from Quebec.

Two groups of 12 have scheduled trips for May and June, the nesting season on Rabbit Island in West Cove of Calcasieu Lake, Faulk said.

Faulk said his company also arranges duck hunting trips and speckled trout and redfish expeditions, as well as sightseeing tours.

Annual Festival cookbook has favorite recipes from parish

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Once a year, since 1956, Cameron Parish citizens have to celebrate the bounties of the marshland that provides livelihood and recreation for local citizens and visitors.

Cameron Parish is blessed with marshes that abound with wildlife, including nutria, muskrat, alligators, ducks and geese.

The ridges, or cheniers, provide ample grazing for the vast cattle herds and the rivers and coastal waters are filled with shrimp, crab, oysters, and many game and food fish.

The port of Cameron holds the distinction of being the number one fishing port in the nation, thanks to the menhaden (pogy) companies that fish the coastline for the tiny fish.

Cameron also is the base for the many oil and gas companies with rigs in the Gulf of Mexico.

The northern part of the parish is a large rice growing area.

The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival was organized 33 years ago to honor this bountiful harvest and to bring attention to the local fur industry.

A different parish industry is honored each year, and this year it is the cattle industry. Local cattlemen own some 50,000 head of cattle, commercial and registered breeds, valued at around $10,000,000.

Perhaps one of the oldest industries in Cameron Parish, the cattle business has helped to sustain the economy. Cattle workings also provide a reason for families and neighbors to get together and enjoy the results of some of Louisiana's greatest cooks.

There are also unique recipes in every category of cooking, including all of the dishes prepared at the many social events held during the festival.

Gourmet cooks looking for a dish that is different and many with the Cajun flair that has become so popular worldwide needs this book for their collection.

It may be ordered by sending $6.50 to Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival Cookbook, Shirley Bonsall, Rt. 1, Box 56E, Grand Chenier, La.70643.

The following are some of the recipes found in this year's annual cookbook:

4 skinned and boned chicken breasts
1 cup sliced mushrooms
¼ cup diced onion
¼ cup diced celery
2 garlic cloves, minced

¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 Tablespoons white wine, optional

Heat oil in a 9 inch or 10 inch skillet. Add chicken; cook over medium heat, turning occasionally, until chicken begins to brown. Remove chicken and set aside. Add mushrooms, onion, celery, and garlic to skillet; cook, stirring frequently, for 10 minutes. Add tomato sauce, bay leaf, oregano, salt, and pepper; stir to combine. Add chicken; cover and simmer about 20 minutes, turning chicken occasionally. Add wine if desired; cook 10 minutes longer, turning chicken once or twice. Remove chicken from skillet and place on serving platter. Top each chicken breast with ¼ of the sauce in skillet. Garnish with parsley sprigs.

Open range brought first settlers

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Modern Cameron Parish may be best known for seafood, oil and gas, fur and wildlife — but it was the lure of free, open range and lush marsh grass that brought the first settlers to Cameron Parish.

The early pioneers were cattlemen, and they sought grazing land. When they found it, they built homes and brought their cattle to wild, remote areas, far from even the slightest sign of civilization.

Daniel Johnson established a pattern that was to be followed by other cattlemen when he first came to Cameron from Sabine Pass, Texas, in 1789.

JOHNSON BAYOU

The Johnsons built a large, two-story home on a high ridge of land north of Deep Bayou in 1790, and established a cattle ranch.

Today, two other bayous in the area carry their names — Madame Johnson Bayou, named after Mrs. Johnson, and Johnson Bayou, named for Daniel Johnson.

Johnson Bayou was then part of the Rio Hondo, a no-man's land between the Sabine and Calcasieu rivers. But until 1930, land grants in the Rio Hondo could be obtained from Mexico.

Another early cattleman in Cameron was Henry Griffith, who was born in Washington County, Pa., in 1797. Griffith arrived in Louisiana in 1819 and settled on Johnson Bayou, having first laid claim to all of Johnson Bayou from the Calcasieu River to Sabine Lake to start a cattle industry.

In 1824 Henry Griffith married Amelia Barrow, the daughter of Ruben Barrow and Jane Johnson and a granddaughter of the Daniel Johnsons.

The Griffiths built a large, two-story house facing the Gulf of Mexico. Visitors came to stay for weeks at a time, and were entertained by gambling, bull fights, horse racing and bronco busting. Barrels of whiskey with cups all around the barrel were always handy, along with good food.

In 1825, Griffith went to Texas and chose a site for a second home on the southwest side of the Trinity River above Anahuac, known as Old River Cove. Griffith applied for a Spanish Land Grant, and received it in 1830.

Afterward, the family lived six months each year on the ranch near Anahuac, and spent the other six months of the year at the ranch on Johnson Bayou. There was a purpose in this: In order to maintain a land grant, a person had to live on the property for at least six months out of the year.

Griffith would drive his cattle from Cameron, cross the Sabine River at Blue Buck Point to Sabine Pass, then follow the beach to his Texas property, before taking the cattle to market.

Later, Griffith secured a grant of a full league of land in Wharton County, Texas, where he grazed his cattle herds.

One of Griffith's sons, Joshua, was a boat pilot. He was captured by the Union Army and forced to pilot a gunboat across the Sabine Bar. But Joshua escaped, made his way back to Cameron and hid in the marsh, fed and protected by family members until the Yankee troops were repulsed by the Confederates.

Henry Griffith died on his 4,036 acre ranch in Texas just as the Civil War came to an end. He was buried next to his wife in Old River Cove.

LaBOVE FAMILY

In 1803, about the time James Monroe and Robert Livingston were transacting the purchase of the Louisiana Territory from France, the Demosthene LaBove family arrived in the Oak Grove community in Cameron Parish.

The LaBoves cleared land and raised cotton and livestock. The bayou leading from the Mermentau River to Oak Grove is still named LaBove Bayou.

It was 1840 before the far eastern end of Oak Grove — near the bluff of the Mermentau River — was settled, by Mrs. Martha Yokum Rutherford.

Martha Rutherford had come from Rutherford County, Tennessee, with her family, including her husband, two brothers and her children.

Her husband died during the long trip. The rest of the family pressed on, and fulfilled their dream of settling in a new land to raise cotton, cattle and oranges.

Captain James Monroe Welch, who ran a river schooner delivering goods along the coast, docked at the Mermentau River bluff one day to deliver supplies from Galveston, Texas, and caught the eye of young Martha Rutherford, daughter of Martha Yokum Rutherford.

That chance meeting blossomed into romance, and ended in marriage.

Capt. Welch and his bride started a cattle ranch at the Bluff, just west of where the Mermentau River bridge to Grand Chenier stands today.

Welch later served during the Civil War in Griffin's Battalion at Sabine Pass. He also ran ships for the Confederacy to Campeche, Mexico, to purchase arms.

After the war, Welch served in the Louisiana legislature in addition to ranching. He was highly educated and spoke five languages.

CATTLE DRIVES

Cattlemen in the area moved their cattle to the Cheniere Aux Tigre area for winter grazing. These huge cattle drives took place in the late fall, and the herds would be driven to Hackberry Beach, where they would swim across the river and inlets they had to cross. The cowboys who accompanied them on the week's drive would sleep out on the beach at night and eat food they had brought in their knapsacks.

On several occasions, cowboys were caught on the beach by high tides and hurricanes and barely escaped drowning.

Meanwhile, the eastern part of Cameron Parish, even though it was a vast, uninhabited land, began to attract settlers who moved there to establish farms and ranches.

settle in eastern Cameron were named McCall, Sweeney and McDonald. All of them reached Grand Chenier around 1832 after poling flatboats down the Mermentau River.

Milledge McCall had married Sarah Martin of Hinds County, Miss., and some of their first children were born in Hinds County. They later lived in St. Martinville, then traveled down the Mermentau River to homestead the Grand Chenier land.

These early settlers in Grand Chenier braved mosquito swarms and tropical hurricanes to build their cypress-pegged homes and start new lives on the frontier.

Isolation was a way of life, and cane grinders, syrup-cooking pans, corn mills and spinning and weaving equipment were essential tools in their struggle to live off the land.

Milledge McCall's father, Jessie McCall, had owned most of Avery Island. He was a strong believer in education, and stipulated in his will that each of his children be provided with ample money for an education.

Milledge McCall decided to study medicine, and became the first doctor in the Grand Chenier area.

While early settlers — and later families named Doland, Wetherall and Sweeney — were establishing homesites in the southern part of the parish, the French were exploring the ridges to the north.

Jean Vileor Theriot had moved into the Lake Arthur area from St. Martinville and later established a claim at Palm-A-Royal, southwest of Lake Arthur.

However, that claim didn't fulfill Theriot's dream of establishing a true vacherie (ranch). Seeking more grazing land for his cattle, Theriot wandered down the Mermentau River crossing many small streams and bayous, until he came upon the place he had dreamed of.

CHENIER PERDU

Theriot named it Chenier Perdu — meaning "Lost Oak" — and hurried home, eager to disclose his discovery.

Theriot, his wife, the former Clonise Richard, and his son moved to Chenier Perdu in 1847, traveling by boat through Grand Lake, the Mermentau River and Cattail Bayou. Landing on the northern side of Chenier Perdu, Theriot built his home where the remainder of his family was born.

After Theriot's family was settled, friends and relatives drove his cattle from Lake Arthur to Grand Lake, where the animals swam the narrow western bayou and then followed the west banks of the Mermentau River to Chenier Perdu.

That cattle drive established a trail that was used for many years afterward by cattlemen moving their herds from Chenier Perdu to the cattle markets in Lake Arthur and Mermentau.

Jean Vileor Theriot's first cattle herd was small, but it was the beginning of a cattle business that flourished over the years on this remote chenier.

Theriot — who was called "Nonc V'eon" by friends — soon had company in his wild, new land. He was joined by James Dyson and Armegene Conner. Then two of Theriot's brothers — Dolzie and Adolph — decided they had outgrown the Lake Arthur settlement and headed for the lush green lands at Chenier Perdu.

These early settlers were soon joined by an Italian stowaway, Bartholomie Baccigalopi, who had jumped overboard from his ship, made his way to Jean Vileor Theriot's home, and was welcomed to the wild domain of Chenier Perdu.

These rugged settlers tamed enough of the vast marshes to build a small, self-sustaining community, seemingly in the midst of nowhere. They grew cotton, sugarcane and vegetables, and soon built a thriving cattle business.

A lasting reminder of the great cattle era on Chenier Perdu is a narrow canal that winds its way from the eastern end of the ridge to the Mermentau River. What started as a faint trail in the marsh was eventually hollowed out and deepened into a canal by the hooves of great herds of cattle driven annually over the trail to the edge of the Mermentau River, then along the west banks, northward to the cattle markets.

In 1849, Ursin Primeaux of Breaux Bridge heard of the new paradise at Chenier Perdu, and traveled by boat down the Mermentau River to see this land for himself.

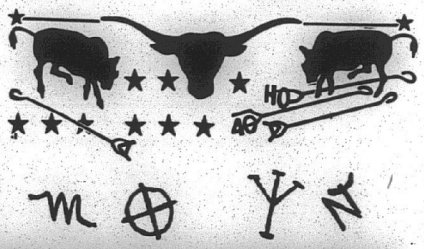
Primeaux passed by the Chenier Perdue settlement and ventured about 10 miles further to a high shell knoll, which he claimed and settled.

Primeaux then barged lumber from Lake Arthur and built a settlement that included a cotton gin, sugarcane mill, a grist mill and weaving mill.

Although Ursin Primeaux was the first early settler to choose the area for something other than cattle, he was still linked to that industry because he used oxen to provide most of the power for his mills.

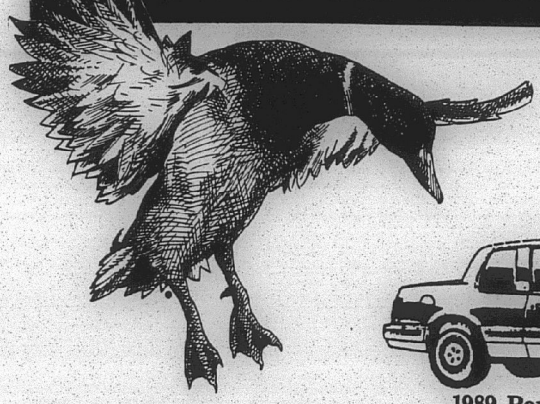
Ursin Primeaux's settlement attracted many followers, and families named Broussard, Boudoin, Michon, Benoit, Trahan and Clement moved in.

In 1855, another pioneer, Sosthene Richard, and his wife moved into what is now the Creole area. He was soon joined by others from the eastern part of the area.



In the early Cameron Parish settlements, branding was a major event, the forerunner of modern-day rodeos.

Cowboys, often joined by their families, would gather for several days to round up cattle, brand and earmark them.



Along with the hard work came barbecues and barrels of fun and — on the last night — a community "soiree".

Today, some of the descendants of these pioneers still manage cattle descended from those early herds.

And although oil and gas, wildlife, seafood and fur have become new anchors for the economy of the parish, the cattle industry still flourishes across the cheniers and lush grassland of Cameron Parish.

DO YOU REMEMBER??

"First Marsh Buggy"

Alligator start of good industry

(EDITOR'S NOTE-- This story on the early development of the marsh buggies in Cameron parish was originally published in the Beaumont Enterprise in 1972).

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

You might say that the lowly alligator was the start of the most successful industry that Grand Chenier has ever had.

It was back in 1931 that John Paul and A. H. "Sono" Crain built their first deep marsh buggy to be used for hunting and trapping alligators in the deep, boggy, floating turf marshes. They were residing on "Little Pecan", a lovely little island located in the eastern end of Cameron Parish near "Little Chenier".

Alligator hunting in those days was a very profitable business, according to John Paul, seven-foot alligators were bringing a top price of $3.50 a hide. This was the top price for any length alligator.

The first summer the Crain brothers trapped using the marsh buggies they averaged $50 to $60 a day and worked 5 days a week. This was "big money".

Then in 1934 the oil companies moved into the coastal areas with their shooting crews exploring for oil and they needed a way to "criss-cross" the vast marsh areas. The Crains furnished the marsh buggies, which was the answer and a fleet of 40 resulted, servicing an area that covered Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida as well as Louisiana.

Crain Brothers have now expanded from the marsh buggy business to servicing the vast oil industry that services Cameron parish as well as the entire Gulf Coast.

John Paul's interest in wildlife of all kinds, in addition to the alligator, has spanned many years. When he was 12 years old he started a mink raising project with a pair of minks. His hobby lasted only as long as he could manage to catch a daily supply of food for the animals, which do not eat anything but fresh meat and fish. Food was plentiful in the rivers and water areas and vast marshes, but it was time consuming to hunt it. Crain said he had to abandon the idea of keeping the animals in captivity and had to return them to the marsh.

John Paul served for five and one-half years from 1960-1965 on the board of directors of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission under the administration of Gov. Jimmie Davis. It was because of his interest in the preservation of wildlife that he was chosen for this important post.

Cruise ship on hold

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Standing committee assignments were made at a meeting of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce Thursday at Pat's Restaurant.

Paul Coreil, Chamber president, appointed the following committee chairmen: Eddie Joe Conner, New Business and Industry; John Debarge, Agriculture and Wildlife and Fisheries; Ed Kelley, Tourism and Recreation; Jimmy Brown, Small Business; Rodney Guilbeaux, Coastal Erosion; Dinah Vaughn, Membership; Coral Perry, Education; Yvonne Mhire, Women in Business; Glenn Alexander, Congressional Legislation; Richard Sturlese, Transportation.

The Chamber elected to have their meetings in different locations around the parish and the next one will be held on Feb. 23, at the Cameron Motel.

An update was given on the proposed cruise ship operation by Eddie Joe Conner.

Mr. Conner stated, "The prospective owners of the ship met with Chamber members and the Cameron District Attorney on Tuesday to make sure that state and parish laws are complied with.

"The owners pointed out that there is a Louisiana statute the home port of a gambling ship has to have a one half million population.

"The attorneys for the proposed cruise ship owners are researching the law which would allow them to home port in Cameron.

"At this time, the ship which was running out of Fouchon, La., is under Panimanian registry," he said.

Coreil reported that the Chamber is looking into obtaining the 156 acre tract of land on Monkey Island that formerly housed the Coast Guard.

He said that the federal government is willing to turn it over to a local agency and that the location would make a very good area for a port area and marina.

He also said that a fixed span, low level bridge is being considered from Cameron to Monkey Island to take the place of the ferry presently operating there.

Garbage is topic of police jury

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish Police Jury held a special meeting Monday evening to discuss several options that it has to make regarding changes in the parishwide garbage collection system that is in the red.

Parish voters approved a 5-mill garbage tax in 1985 to fund the parishwide program. Since then the parish has operated its own garbage trucks taking the rfuse to several central collection sites around the parish from where Waste Management, Inc. has trucked the materials to a landfill near Sulphur.

Parish Treasurer Garner Nunez told the jury that the parish went in the red by about $75,000 las tyear on the garbage pickup and will be that much or more this year if some action is not taken. He presented the jurors with four alternates for this year:

No. 1 would be to keep the central collection sites open but eliminate house to house pickup, which would cost the parish about $456,280.

No. 2 would be to let Waste Management take over the house to house collection and haul the garbage directly to Sulphur thereby eliminating the central sites and the parish's garbage trucks. This would cost $504,000 which would also include pickup at the small business places.

No. 3 would be to let a private contractor pick up at homes once a week and dispose of garbage at Sulphur with businesses having to make their own arrangements. This would cost $384,000.

No. 4 would be to keep the present operation which would cost $631,000.

Should the parish eliminate its part of the garbage collection, a

Oyster fees proposed

The Department of Health and Hospitals' (DHH) Office of Public Health (OPH) will hold a public hearing on proposed Oyster Water Monitoring Program fees at 10 a.m. Monday, Jan. 23, in the State Library Auditorium in Baton Rouge.

Joseph Kimbrell, OPH Deputy Assistant Secretary, said the fee is being imposed due to the fiscal crisis of the state.

A twenty-five cent tag fee per container of oysters is to be collected by OPH, and an additional ten cent per tag per container will be collected for the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to assist in enforcement of the tagging requirement, Kimbrell said.

Each tag will be referred to as the Louisiana Oyster Water Health Tag.

Minimum tag purchse requirement will be box lot only (500 per box) with the beginning and ending tag serial numbers recorded on the outside panel of each box, Kimbrell said. The serial numbers which are non-transferable will be recorded in the name of the harvester or certified shellfish shipper.

Tags must be attached to each container of shellfish immediately upon arrival at the dock by the harvester or the certified shellfish shipper, Kimbrell said.

Untagged containers will be subject to seizure and destruction and/or citation by the Enforcement Division of DWF and/or OPH, Kimbrell said.

each tag is for one-time application. Use of the tag more than once may result in seizue and destruction and/or citation by DWF. Unauthroized use of the tag may result in seizue and destruction by OPH and/or citation by DWF, Kimbrell said.

Inquiries regarding the fee should be addressed to Joseph Kimbrell, OPH Deputy Assistant Secretary, P.O. Box 60630, New Orleans, La. 70160.

ly. They had qualified earlier in the day in preliminaries held in the Cameron Elementary School gym.

Wade Miller was declared the National winner by skinning five rats in one minute 15.81 seconds; coming in a close second with one minute 18.34 seconds was Yancy Welch; and Benny Welch took third place.

Paul Coreil presented the winning trophy to Miller and explained that trappers from all over the United States have been invited to participate in the national contest and the winner will represent the festival at the World Fur Skinning contest at the National Outdoor Show in Cambridge, Maryland.

James Doxey was the winner of the trap setting contest, also held on stage; Ben Welch, Jr., placed second; and Yancy Welch, third. The contests were coordinated by John Driscoll and Coreil.

Shelly Johnson, representing the Southwest Louisiana Tourist Bureau presented Picou with a plaque naming the Fur Festival one of the top 20 events in the Southeast United States, the second time for the festival to win the distinction.

Rev. Rod Kennedy served as Master of Ceremonies and Lisa Roberts, the 1987 Fur Queen and Louisiana Queen of Queens, was the Queen's Pageant narrator.

Program and pageant coordinators were Roberta Pinch, Vickie Savoie, and Annie Bergeron.

Yvonne Kline was the visiting queens director, assisted by Bobbie Primeaux, Alice LaBove, and Margaret Conner.

Phillip Bell and David were the escorts and Nelvia and Guy Murphy served as the chaperones where the queens were housed at Rockefeller Refuge.

Brenda Johnson was the pianist and Roni Trosclair and Kevin Driscoll were the backstage assistants.

Roland Primeaux and Telesmar "Blanc" Bonsall were the doormen.

Entertainment, in addition to the talent of each queen, was furnished by a skit put on by the "Church Lady" and Vickie Savoie, and Annie Bergeron.

Earlier the queens and special festival guests were entertained at a queen's brunch in the home of William "Duck" Guthrie in Cameron and hosted by the Cameron Branch of the American Business Association; and a buffet in the home of Mrs. Joyce Sturlese in Creole, hosted by the Creole Extension Homemakers Club.

number of parish garbage collection jobs would be eliminated.

It was noted that the parish is presently operating seven garbage trucks ranging in age from a 1978 truck to a 1985 truck and that new trucks cost $80,000 or more.

The jury decided to study the matter further and to invite a representative of an incinerator firm to meet with them at the next meeting.

JAIL KITCHEN

The jury was advised that the State Fire Marshal's office has given the parish a March 1, deadline to install a stove hood and a fire protection system in the jail's kitchen at the courthouse.

This would cost $6200. The jury voted to enclose the garage in the courthouse basement and convert it into a kitchen to take care of the problem.

Parish students get Good Citizens award

Mrs. Lenora W. Shoemake, Good Citizens Chairman of Calcasieu Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, recently announced two winners of the Good Citizen contest sponsored annually among seniors in Calcasieu and Cameron parish high schools.

Faculty and senior class members of each school selected one Good Citizen who exemplified leadership, dependability, service, and patriotism in school, home, and community. Honorees are competing by written examination on American history and government for DAR district, state, and national awards, including a $1000 college scholarship.

1988-89 Good Citizens include Cecilia Walther of Hackberry High School and Kirk J. Fruge of Grand Lake High School.

Miss Walther is president of her school's 4-H Club. She has been named parish High Point Senior Girl, parish Outstanding Senior Girl, and 4-H Camp Counselor. Her participation in several 4-H state records and Short Course contests qualified her to attend National 4-H Club Congress in December of 1988.

She has served Future Business Leaders of America as treasurer, vice-president, president, member of Current Events Team, and first runner-up as Miss FBL. Her Girl Scout involvement earned her Silver and Leadership awards and Camp Counselor position. She placed second and first respectively at state and regional science fairs, won first in Chemistry and District Literary Rally, edited her school yearbook for two years, and attended the Freedom Foundation Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, Youth Conference.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walther, she is a lector for youth masses and a substitute CCD teacher in the local Catholic church.

Kirk Fruge has been a three year varsity letterman in basketball and competed at District Literary Rally three years, placing second in Algebra I. He has been a member of Future Farmers of America for one year, receiving its scholastic award, and of Beta Club for four years. He has been class representative to the Future Business Leaders of America for four years and in district competition rated Superior in Business Calculations.

He participated in the Optimist Club Junior Olympics as a member of Post 217.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fruge of Bell City and is a member of that community's local Catholic church.

The first record of the use of spices dates from the age of the pyramids of Egypt—approximately 4,600 years ago—when onions and garlic were fed to 100,000 laborers.

S. Cameron to host dist. FBLA meeting

South Cameron High School will host the annual Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) Conference at McNeese State University, Thursday, Feb. 2. Approximately 1100 students and advisors from the parishes of Allen, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Cameron, Jefferson Davis, and Vernon will attend.

Belinda Hardie, District IV Vice President from South Cameron High School, will preside over the general sessions. Students will compete in 22 contests during the day. Students receiving Superior will qualify for competition at the state conference in Baton Rouge in April-May.

Guest speaker will be State Representative Randy Roach.

Registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. in the main auditorium with tests at various locations on the McNeese Campus.

TRUTH! IS LA. WILDLIFE & FISHERIES "BROKE"?

The sportsmen in Louisiana are beginning to become a little angry. Sportsmen voted to increase license fees to generate more money that was necessary to keep up the department, as mineral leases and royalties began to decline.

It seems a secret was kept from the people about the financial condition of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. Is the department broke?

We all know it just didn't start in the Roemer Administration, as money was being spent way before that unwisely.

I always said before we vote on the amendment to leave wildlife and fisheries monies out of the general fund that they would really trim the money to almost nothing before the fiscal year of July 1, when it becomes law and into effect.

There are around $2 million in unpaid bills that were there before the new governor took office. What a surprise!

Some of the things just coming out now are as follows:

Rockefeller State Wildlife Refuge is to pay 100% of the cost of the new wildlife and fisheries building in Baton Rouge. I was always told the deal when Rockefeller was donated that all monies were to be used at Rockefeller and for wildlife habitats and controls. Will this put the deal in danger, such as losing Rockefeller? Maybe returning monies back to Rockefeller?

Marsh Island funds were being used also by the previous administration to the tune of $2.5 million. The people or trustees of the foundation who made the donation, let the state keep the refuge, but demanded repayment of $250,000 per year for 10 years.

The department's insurance premium has increased by one half-million dollars. Why?

The last administration owed Ducks Unlimited $300,000 from hunting licenses sold and by law must be paid annually. Why didn't Ducks Unlimited tell its sportsmen of this instead of keeping it a secret?

What about the $650,000 that was withheld the department had commited to send the Natural Conservency to buy wetland in the Pearl River Basin?

Remember when they withheld the employees of wildlife and fisheries checks for one week, until July 1, to balance the budget because of cash flow, well when the new fiscal year began July 1, 1988, the department was already $750,000 short, because the had to catch up on the payrolls they were behind on.

What we see happening not only to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, but to the entire state, is mineral leases and royalties down, people leaving the state which makes fishing and hunting license sales down as well as other revenues. We saw the layoffs in the department, even if they were unfair and unwise.

We see employees removed from the Grand Terre Marine Research Lab, Pass A Lonte Area, plus a few more. What will happen to these places, their buildings. Will the poachers and thieves take over and outlaw and kill whatever moves and steal board by board on some of these nice buildings. They say they will patrol, there's not enough in the enforcement division now to do their job and get enough rest and spend time with their families. The enforcement division was cut down by 17 percent, how can Virginia VanSickle say the enforcement division will patrol these areas, Pass a Lonte alone is 66,000 acres.

If you send too many to patrol these closed areas, the rest of the states will go to hell with poachers.

I hope they're not trying to raise licenses again, as we've already been taken to the cleaners.

Oh well, if things stay or continue going the way they have here in Louisiana, all of us when we get to the right age, will be able to tell some tall stories to our grandchildren by the camp fire, and with nothing left, two things will happen. We'll have plenty of time by the camp fire, as hunting and fishing will be a has been, and our grandchildren will call us liars, because they will never know how good it used to be in this Louisiana Paradise.

THINGS YOU MIGHT WANT TO KNOW

*Exxon Co. gave $250,000 to the Louisiana Artificial Reef Program, conducted by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. Let's hope it's used for its purpose.

*Mississippi Wildlife Conservation Department has put the alligator on its hit list. With so many gators in the state, they have become a nuisance, wandering in people's back yard, in their swimming pools, highways to say a few.

Mississippi, unlike Louisiana and Florida, doesn't have the habitats we have to raise an over population of alligators.

I'm sure they will start to hire professional trappers to trap these alligators that's creating the problem.

They propose a $25 tag for each alligator a hunter kills. They also plan to have their harvest starting sometime in March.

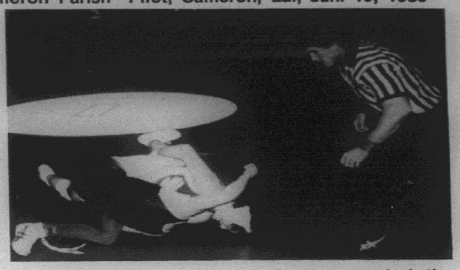
*A few redfish being caught, but slow fishing.

*A number of friends of mine have done good on geese this past week. The foggy weather has really helped, as the geese fly lower and do not see the hunter as well.

*There will be a meeting held by the Marine Finfish Panel of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries at 10 a.m. Monday, Jan. 30, at the Wildlife and Fisheries Building on Quail Drive in Baton Rouge.

This meeting is to set plans to manage Louisiana's Gulf of Mexico finfish resources.

This meeting is open to the public. All recreational and commercial fishermen are urged to make their representation on this panel aware of their views on marine finfish matters.



Members on the panel are as follows: Sen. Hank Louriella, Senate Natural Resources Committee; Rep. Clyde Kimball, House Natural Resources Committee; Jimmy Jenkins, Wildlife and Fisheries; Charles Goodson, La. Restaurant Assoc.; Al Bankston, Moumus Cloverie Jr., and Henry Bernard Jr., Recreational Fishing Interest; Henry Truelove, Peter Gerica, and Daniel Edgar, Commercial Fishing Interest.

The co-chairmen for the panel is John Roussel of Wildlife and Fisheries and Dr. Churck Wilson of L.S.U. Coastal Fisheries Institute.

Wrestling meet held at South Cameron

The South Cameron Tarpons were host to Basile, Johnson Bayou, Fairview, St. Thomas Moore and Capital of Baton Rouge in a dual team wrestling meet Saturday, Jan. 8.

The purpose of the meet was to provide practice and informal competition for the local teams. Team scores were not kept, as only Capital High had a full squad. As any two school teams met, other teams filled in the matches in the 13 weight classes.

A change in weight classification for 1989 has been instituted. The change does not alter the total number of weights but does add a greater number of weights in the middle light weights as opposed to both extremes. Most, or the greatest number, of intereted wrestlers seem to congregate in the 120 to 150 range. The new weights are 103, 112, 119, 125, 130, 135, 140, 145, 152, 160, 171, 189 and heavyweight.

Wrestling coach Edgar Fullwood and his Golden Lions drove from Baton Rouge to help provide competition for the local teams.

South Cameron grad brings team visiting

By ROBERT MANUEL

Edgar Fullwood, a graduate of South Cameron High School, recently made a visit back home, bringing with him a talented squad of wrestlers who provided the local teams with the competition that will help each wrestler be better prepared for the State Division 11 wrestling championship Feb. 3-4.

The Capital Golden Lions, a division 1 team, is right in the middle of a hotbed of AAAA wrestling teams in Baton Rouge. Upon receiving an invitation from South Cameron head coach Parry LaLande, Fullwood brought a bus load of wrestlers, cheerleaders and well wishers.

The Capital Golden Lions, sporting but one loss in several dual meets, spiced the tournament with a high level of skill development, strength and conditioning. Coach Fullwood is looking for his best team showing of several years in the state meet scheduled for Feb. 10-11, a week after the Division II meet.

Edgar Fullwood, a 6'1", 230 lb. defensive tackle and wrestler at South Cameron his senior year, went on to Southern University, where he starred as a defensive tackle. He was moved to offensive tackle his seniour year and was All-Conference at that position.

Fullwood had been the head wrestling coach, assistant in football and track, for the past 13 years.

Tarps beat Delcambre

The South Cameron Tarpon boys defeated Delcambre 58-48 Tuesday night at home with Joseph Duhon getting 19 points, Walter Jones and Ronald January 12 each, and Chad Mudd 11.

The Tarpons are now 12-9 overall and 2-1 in district.

Grand Lake Jr. 4-H Club has meeting

The Grand Lake Jr. 4-H Club was called to order by Missy Young. Sarah Lavergne and Sharra Payne led the pledges.

The winners of the cookie bake contest were: 1st, Carrie Poole; 2nd, Jessica LeBleu; and 3rd, Mark Richard.

Mrs. Cronan discussed the Cameron Clover and gave a demonstration on laundry.

Lenten regulations

The Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, has issued regulations for the observation of the season of Lent by the faithful of the diocese.

The Lenten season gets underway on Wednesday, Feb. 8, one of the earliest beginnings of the 40-day season in recent years.

In addition to the general penitential character of the season, the faithful of the diocese will observe certain rules of fasting and abstinence during the Lenten season, on special days and for special occasions.

Following are the regulations issued by the Bishop:

The current discipline of penance for the United States, in addition to the general character of the Lenten season, is as follows:

A. Ash Wednesday and Good Friday are days of abstinence from meat and also days of fast, that is, limited to a single full meal.

B. The other Fridays of the season of Lent are days of abstinence from meat.

C. The Fridays of the year outside Lent remain days of penance, but each individual may substitute for the traditional abstinence from meat some other practice of voluntary self-denial or personal penance. This may be physical mortification, temperance; acts of religion, charity, or Christian witness.

The determination of these days of obligatory penance should not be understood as limiting the occasions for Christian penance. The tradition of vigils, periods of special need, supplication, and above all, the season of Lent as a whole should be maintained and respected.

The obligation to abstain from meat binds Catholics 14 years of age and older. The obligation to fast, limiting oneself to one full meal and two lighter meals in the course of a day, binds Catholics from the ages of 18 to 59.

K.C. hold hour of prayer in J.B.

On Jan. 4, the F. J. Pavell Knights of Columbus of Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach conducted an hour of prayer with Father Christian LaFrois officiating at Assumption Catholic Church in Johnson Bayou.

The hour of prayer was in compliance with a program initiated by the Order of the Knights of Columbus worldwide. This year's program is held in honor of Our Lady of Pochaiv in association with the Ukrainian Catholic Church which is celebrating 1000 years of being Catholic. The Ukraine is an area in the Soviet Union.

The holy hour of prayer was offered especially for the intentions of the people of the community as well as for our youth, public morality, an end to abortions, the family and vocations.

The original icon, or holy picture, of Our Lady of Pochaiv was given in 1559 to a wealthy landowner, Lady Hoyska, in gratitude for her help to the Church in Constantinople. She gave it to the care of the monks of the monastary of Pochaiv in the Ukraine. Pilgrimages began and miracles followed.

In the over 400 years that the icon has been honored more than 500 miracles have been recorded. One of the first of these was the cure of Lady Hoyska's brother, Philip, who had been born blind and received his sight through prayer of Our Lady of Pochaiv.

The Catholic Church of the Ukraine has undergone many tragedies and persecution, especially under the later Czars and under the Communists. What church is left operates as an underground Church where much suffering, exile, and martyrdom has taken place.

"In making Our Lady of Pochaiv our Pilgrim Madonna in this fraternal year 1988-89 we wish to express our admiration for and solidarity with our fellow Catholics of the Ukrainian Rite wherever they are," a K.C. spokesman said.

ALLIGATOR TRAPPERS SUCCESSFUL

This year's alligator trapping season looks to be the most successful ever!

There were approximately 24,000 gators caught by trappers and with prices going around $50 per foot, it is estimated that $7 million will be received by the trappers for the 1988 season.

The alligator farms sold an additional 20,000 for an additional $6 million.

This huge boost to the state's economy is an oustanding example of excellent wildlife management and research, with lots of that work performed at Rockefeller Refuge in Grand Chenier by Ted Joanen. You also got to give the enforcement division an A+ for keeping the poachers in line.

Our nutria have been scarce and tops are only $4. Muskrats and coons prices are also down, so I think the way things are going we'll see a great decline in number of pelts plus in dollar amounts.

FISHERIES ENFORCEMENT

One thing I'll have to give credit to is the changes made in the enforcement division of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission. It's been a long time coming.

When Virginia VanSickle was appointed Secretary and Lt. Col. Vidrine moved up and appointed Chief of the Enforcement Division, things began to shape up. Kell McInnis, an attorney and former assistant attorney general, was appointed as deputy secretary, he put his first priority to the supervision of the Enforcement Division.

It was made clear by McInnis to the employees that fixing tickets or political pressure to allow violators to get out of prosecution was a no-no.

Cooperation with federal agents has taken place. As a matter of record our Legislature has repeatedly refused to pass a law authorizing federal enforcement personnel to enforce state wildlife laws, such as rabbit, quirrel, deer and more.

A sign of change in the department was when federal authorities asked Lt. Col. Vidrine for state agents to assist them in enforcing dove hunting regulations.

Vidrine's reply was, "How many do you want, we're working together now, not against each other."

With both agents working together, results of 275 citations on opening day of dove season, one citation went to a state judge.

Federal and state agents do work side by side on migratory bird laws enforcement. With the stopping of the ticket fixing, the best thing to do is not break federal and state wildlife laws.

FISHING AND HUNTING TALK ON THE STREET

*A young wife says she saw lots of her husband the first few days of the honeymoon, but now only when he's sleeping or resting from a hunting or fishing trip. What it is, is that hunting and fishing is an addiction, just as drugs and alcohol, but the withdrawal is worse. Try the 30 day addiction center, and if that doesn't work, keep him home long enough to have children. This may not solve his addiction, but the children will keep you company and you won't be lonesome.

*The best lure for bass is the lure they're hitting that day.

*One lady says her husband loves to fish but he only fishes the beaches. He always seems to angle where there are a lot of lady swimmers. He's not after the skimpy bikinis, he's just got his wife's welfare at heart. He wants her to go to the beaches and get a nice suntan, soaking up Vitamin D from the sun rays. Her health is his concern.

*If your husband is planning a canoe trip this summer in bad white water, and you cannot swim, how is your relationship with your husband. Check out a crime book at the library. If he's not experienced in canoeing, take out a huge insurance policy on him, stay home yourself and send one of his buddies in your place.

*The best way to dress, cut up and wrap a deer you have killed, is send it to the nearest butcher, pay him and put the wrapped deer meat in your freezer.

*If you, your wife and kids decide to take a vaction and go camping outdoors, and you can't decide to buy two medium size tents or one large one, then the best tent is a Holiday Inn, Best Western or Ramada Inn. You'll never be more than a few feet from the outdoors, just open the door and walk out.

AREA NEWS

Water, water, water, that's what we've got. Our marshes are filled and that's hurting the trappers. They needed some water, but we've gotten a little more than we wanted.

All this water will again keep our oyster fishermen at home as the tide up in Kinder has been high since last week.

As I mentioned earlier, the catch of nutria is down not only in number, but in price, with tops going only for $4, medium nutria, $1.75. Raccoons, for a good one is $3. This is really tough on our trappers, with the expense on their boats, repairs, plus some that have to give a percentage.

Congratulations are in order to J. B. Meaux, who was King of the Fur and Wildlife Festival held in Cameron Jan. 13 and 14. The cattle industry should be proud to have gotten such a great cattleman as J. B. to be chosen to represent them. Mr. Meaux is also a fur trapper and does a great job with that trade also.

Ship owners seek action

Attorneys for Cajun Festival Cruise Line, a subsidiary of Holiday Cruises, Inc., filed a declaratory action today in the district court of Cameron Parish. The legal action seeks a declaratory judgment giving a legal opinion for a Panamanian Registered ship to enter Louisiana ports with gaming equipment onboard, so long as the equipment is locked and out of sight while the ship is in Louisiana waters.

Spokesman for the cruise line, Gary Carr, stated, "We are trying to have a fun ship for all ages. Moonlight dancing, celebrity entertainment, magic acts, discotheque, Cajun jazz, top 40 or big band sounds. We will be serving the best food and drinks available on the Louisiana coast.

"You will be welcomed aboard by our friendly crew and staff who will make sure your cruise will be an enjoyable experience from beginning to end. Our ship features three hot tubs, dressing rooms and lockers for those who want to relax with plenty of deck chairs so you can enjoy the beautiful Louisiana coast and water at night. We also have a full casino. The price of your ticket will entitle you to all entertainment and the all-you-can-eat buffet on the ship."

Carr continued, "We believe the cruise ship will bring 200 to 400 people into the Cameron area per day. The ship will directly employ approximately 85 people, many of whom will be local residents of Cameron. The total economic impact to the area is estimated to exceed $16 million per year. Management believes this impact will be felt by all businesses in the Cameron area, plus Lake Charles, Vidor, Orange, Port Arthur and Beaumont. It is our hope to attract business from Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas."

Jury to consider flood insurance

The Cameron Parish Police Jury will hold its monthly meeting at 10 a.m., Monday, Feb. 6, instead of on Tuesday, which is Mardi Gras, a state holiday.

Among the items on the agenda Monday will be a report from Dr. Joe Suhayda, LSU professor, who has been the jury's consultant on the flood insurance program for about five years.

Dr. Suhayda is expected to report on his efforts to get the federal flood insurance guidelines made more acceptable to the parish.

The jury also will hear a proposal from Crochet Engineers of Baton Rouge on the constructing of an incincerator to dispose of parish solid waste.

Jobless rate up

The unemployment rate in Cameron Parish edged up in December, increasing from 10.2 to 10.8 percent from the previous month, according to the La. Dept. of Labor.

The department's monthly report showed 500 persons in the parish out of work out of a labor force of 4,550, an increase of 25 jobless persons from the previous month.

The Cameron Parish rate was the 7th lowest in the state among other parishes. The state rate for December was 10 percent, up from 9.7 percent in November. The national rate for December was 5 percent, down from 5.2 percent in November.

Applications

The Cameron Community Action Agency will take utility assistance applications by appointment only. Those interested can call 775-5145 to set up an appointment between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday thru wednesday.

Proof of three months income, 6 months computer printout from the utility company and proof of Food Stamps is required.

Rally is set

The Cameron Council on Aging is hosting a "Rally On The Issues" Monday, Feb. 13, at 1:30 p.m. Ray Conner, Silver Haired Legislature Representative will conduct this meeting to discuss elderly needs in Cameron Parish. He represents Cameron Parish in Baton Rouge.

The board of directors of the Council on Aging, public officials, elderly persons and the general public are encouraged to attend.

For further information contact the Council on Aging at 775-5668. The rally will be held at the Cameron Senior Center.

Sturlese is recognized

In an unprecedented move, the outgoing president of the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association, Hardin Lewis, chose to give a once-per-year-award to two deserving individuals in the association. This award is usually given to the one individual who has represented the LCA and the beef industry above and beyond the call of duty throughout the years.

This year, there are two -- Noah Guedry of Opelousas and Richard Sturlese of Grand Chenier. Both Guedry and Sturlese are past presidents of the state cattlemen's association. The awards were presented during the annual convention, Jan. 14, in Alexandria.

Richard Sturlese was Chairman of the LCA Beef Month Tour in 1985 and has held many offices in the association on both the local and state level. He is currently the secretary of Cameron Parish Cattlemen's Association. He has been a district vice president and held the offices of first and second vice president before his term as president in 1986.

Sturlese is a board member of the American Brahman Breeders Association, the Louisiana Brahman Association, the Mid-Winter Fair Association and the McNeese Classic Livestock Show Association as well as a member of the National Cattlemen's Association.

In 1987, Sturlese was selected to be Louisiana's representative on the newly formed National Cattlemen's Beef Promotion Board, formed after the dollar check-off had begun. He has been instrumental in helping formulate plans for the promotion of beef on the national level.

Bid accepted

The Cameron Parish School Board, meeting in special session Jan. 24, accepted the low bid of A. K. Newlin for a new chiller and air handler for the air conditioning system at Grand Lake High School for a total of $74,074.

The board also accepted the boiler installation at Hackberry High School.

Coastal erosion major concern, Chamber told

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Four state officials assured the Cameron Chamber of Commerce that the coastal erosion problem is a main concern of Gov. Buddy Roemer and holds top priority in funding.

The newly formed Cameron Chamber of Commerce held their first annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in the Cameron K.C. Hall last Friday night.

State Representative Randy Roach and Senator Jack Doland both spoke and pledged their support for the Coastal Restoration Pgram.

David Chambers, who is the Director of the Coastal Restoration Division of the Louisiana Department of Natural Resources, gave a slide presentation on the Louisiana land change rates, pointing out that 40 square miles of land a year is being lost to coastal erosion.

He also stated that 80% of the nation's coastal loss is in Louisiana, and if not stabilized, the nation's wetlands will be lost forever.

He stated that some of the causes of the saltwater intrusion and erosion has been caused by deep navigation channels dug into the coastal marshes, inviting saltwater intrusion into the wetlands; and the vegetation "eat-outs" from muskrat over-population.

Some of the plans to control it are sediment diversions into coastal wetlands and vegetation plantings to build up the land.

Beach stabilization plans on La. 82, between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou are to install breakwaters to extend west to Constance Beach and east to Holly Beach, along Highway 82.

Planned marsh restoration projects are dam closures, rip-rap installations, weirs in openings, coastal vegetation plantings and sediment fencing using Christmas trees.

A comprehensive wetlands study is being worked on at this time by the U. S. Corps of Engineers, he said.

"Without action to save our coast, Louisiana is going to lose valuable coastline and wetlands, which also serve as fish hatcheries and it is time for the state and nation to take action to preserve this valuable land which is slowly slipping into the Gulf", he said.

SOILEAU SPEAKER

David M. Soileau, who was the main speaker, is the Technical Coordinator for Coastal Activities Office of the Governor, said, "The state has not been idle, Gov. Roemer has established a coastal restoration technical committee composed of experts involved in natural resources.

"They are charged with developing a plan of things to be done to speed up restoration of the coast."

He stated that this is the first time in Louisiana that a report has been put together containing the things that can be done to restore the coastline.

He pointed out that there are a number of projects that can be done immediately, and in the meantime we need to appeal for federal funds to help. However, he said, we have to show what we are doing to help ourselves.

The following recommendations are being made immediately, such as in the case of a wetland permit, the committee is recommending that legislation be passed to prohibit non-wetlands related projects in wetlands.

Also, when water dependent projects are allowed, it is required that those projects be fully mitigated and the permit holder be obligated to return the wetland back to the original state when the project is no longer in force.

He discussed the Mermentau-Calcasieu basin project and Rockefeller Refuge where intensive management of wetland is in place, such as the Creole Watershed.

He also discussed plans for the White Lake - Grand Lake and Calcasieu - Sabine basin projects.

COREIL'S TALK

Paul Coreil, the Chamber president, discussed what the Chamber has accomplished this past year and of future plans the Chamber is already working on and said that the Chamber should serve as ambassador to the community.

Some of the things the committees are working on now are tourism; membership; the feasibility of placing a cruise ship in Cameron; putting together a resource directory; establishing a red carpet committee; developing a marina for fishing boats; tourism reception; summer fishing festival in Cameron; Alligator Festival at Grand Chenier; brochures on the parish; Coastal Erosion; a low-level bridge to Monkey Island; help to small businesses; and a long term project of a bridge over the Calcasieu River.

The banquet was opened with the posting of the colors and pledge of allegiance to the flag, led by Eagle Scouts of Boy Scout Troop 210 of Cameron.

Rodney Guilbeaux, Jr., served as master of ceremonies and introduced public officials and special guests.

Visitor finds Cameron changed after 47 years

Cameron Courthouse

Army men clean main street for a dance

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

There is no truth to the old saying that you can never go back, says Nelson Maffett, who came back to Cameron last week and found one landmark that has changed very little since he spent two months here 47 years ago.

Pvt. Nelson Maffett was stationed in Drew Field, Florida in the Signal Corps during World War II and came to Cameron with his unit on maneuvers to practice with the then new radar. The radar was set up in a field east of the town of Cameron and the men practiced with it, preparing to go overseas.

They stayed over two months from June 10 to August 16, 1942, and the Cameron courthouse was their home during that time. The 50 men set up cots in the courthouse hallways each night and used the showers in the jail.

"That was the first and last time I was ever in jail" he said with a chuckle.

"In those days it was nothing to see cows and horses roaming freely in the streets" Maffet reminisced.

He said that the town was getting ready to have a community street dance and his unit volunteered to clean up the main street (now La. 82) because of the droppings from the roaming animals.

None of the buildings on main street are there today, that he once knew.

Sam LeBouef's cafe is now the property of Koch Oil Company, with a modern office building on the grounds.

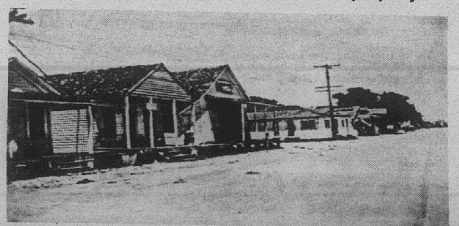
Herbert Theriot's barber shop (where you used to get 25¢ haircut), and the telephone company building have long been gone and in their place today is the Cameron Sheriff's Office Annex Building.

The old Cale Jones mercantile store, (and later the Monk Singletary store) is now the law office of Ken Badon.

He remembered that there were only two blocks of paved road in Cameron, and that was on the main street, which is now La. 82, and right in the middle of town.

He also remembered that when he left Lake Cahrles coming south there was a dirt road all the way south and he had to cross the Intracoastal canal by ferry.

The ferry was replaced by the high level fixed span bridge only in recent years.



Maffett marveled at how the courthouse has changed so little since he was stationed in Cameron.

He said when his unit left Cameron and went back to Florida, they were shipped out to Trinidad and to the war overseas.

"Life has been good to me" he says "And I am just glad that I have lived long enough to enjoy it and to travel around and visit all the places I have been since my retirement.

Crain Bros. honored for its scholarship

Charles and Coral Perry are shown above accepting a plaque from Allen Wainwright. The Cameron Parish Junior Livestock Show and sale Committee awarded this plaque to Crain Bros. Inc. for their support of the parish livestock program through a $2000 per year ($8000 - four year) scholarship awarded to a Cameron Parish high school senior each year.

Candidates for the scholarship must compete through both a written report and an oral presentation held in April of each year. Scholarship applicants must also participate in a 4-H or FFA livestock project during their senior year and at least one other bonafide 4-H or FFA activity in prior years.

In 1988, Allen Wainwright was the winner of the Crain Bros. Inc. Scholarship of $2000 per year. This scholarship covers four years if an adequate grade point average and full time status is maintained.

The plaque read, "In appreciation for your support in the past and continued support of Cameron Parish youth education in the future." Name plates were also placed at the bottom of the plaque for each year's scholarship award winner and the first name placed was Allen's as the 1988 recipient.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

Act 550 of the 1970 session of the legislature gave the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries full authority to regulate the alligators in Louisiana. It is classified as a non-game quadruped, along with furbearing animals. This makes the alligator a commercial wildlife species, therefore a closely regulated commercial harvest of surplus alligators has been taking place for a number of years.

To be able to hunt gators during an alligator season, the system requires a hunter to have a quota of how many tags he can have, license and report forms. The shipment of skin, parts and meat is rigidly controlled.

Alligator farmers are issued tags to kill and skin their alligators and have to follow the same rules as apply to wild alligator hunters.

Rockefeller Refuge has played a very important role in research and raising alligators and hatching eggs.

The Rockefeller private assistance program cost $29,871 and generates $33,971 in revenue from the $2 tag.

The private farming program expenses are $63,240 and will generate $75,025 in revenue from the $2 tag fee.

The statewide alligator management program costs $146,180, but brings in revenue of $86,898. The Department of Lands Harvest Program costs $19,477 and brings in revenue of $217,576; the supplemental alligator farming program costs $30,534 and brings in $49,865; the private assistance farming program costs $29,871 and brings in $33,971; private ranching costs $63,240 and brings in $75,025 and the alligator research costs $126,522.

If you add up what the programs cost it amounts to $415,824 but the revenues amount to $463,335. This is done on individual $2 tags. This program is paying for itself.

The news now is to go up on tags to Mr. Hunter in May from $20 to $25. Also to put a $5 to $10 severance tax on each hide to the dealers in alligator hides. If this takes place, who do you think will end up paying? Yes, the alligator hunters. I understand this is coming from Bob Misso, assistant director of Wildlife and Fisheries. Just think of a private alligator farmer trying to ship 1000 hides! If it's $5 severance tax he'll have to pay $5000 to get his hides shipped and sold. If its $10, he'll have to pay $10,000 to get his hides shipped and sold. Are they trying to put these people out of business?

I think our Secretary, Virginia VanSickle, needs to get an industry task force (wild alligator hunters and private alligator farm people) and let them sit down and say how much they should pay or where this money should come from.

Let's look at it this way, the alligator program is paying for itself, is the duck program paying for itself; is the nutria and muskrat program paying for itself. Well, if they tax the alligator program, you know darn well the duck and fur programs are next, and I don't think that's right.

We all know the declining oil and gas industry has had a bad impact on Louisiana, especially on our businesses, we had to tighten up, so I say let the state tighten up also and stop trying to bring in unfair monies just to stay up with the greedy.

Next week, we'll show you the decline in nutria pelts, muskrat pelts and also the decline in money per pelt.

FISH STORIES

*Two anglers, one with a new $225 rod and reel went fishing. One partner lost his partner's new $225 rod and reel. After diving and dragging for tne new outfit in about 30 feet of water, his partner gave him $225 for the new rod and reel he had lost.

Months later another pair of anglers were out fishing and yes, one hooked the $225 rod and reel. Taking his catch home, he cleaned it real good and saw LA DR LIC with some number on it. Thinking it was some sort of foreign phrase, he tried to trace his find to a nearby air base, failed to locate the owner.

After a few more months, it was figured out to be a Louisiana Drivers License number (2214775) and the rightful owner was given back his $225 rod and reel, and yes he gave his partner the $225 rod and reel he had bought him after losing his and now both anglers are out there fishing with $225 rods and reels.

*One angler fishing off a pier hooked a rather large fish and an electrical storm came up and all the anglers cleared the pier except old Tom, but a clap of lightning hit his rod tip and cut him for a flip, stunned, but got up and reeled his sea bass in, a 30 pounder. He was fishing with a steel leader and his fish was cooked from the lightning bolt. Three of his buddies say this story is really true, but after cleaning the fish that was already cooked, the only difference in their stories was one said the fish was overdone, one said it was almost raw and the other said it was just right.

*An open season in the state of Vermont let anglers shoot outlaw fish. Instead of calling themselves anglers, they called themselves banglers. Shooting of firearms was not the real danger here for these banglers, but lots of the banglers climbed trees to shoot these outlaw fish and most would fall out of the tree and that was the real danger.

THINGS HAPPENING

*Former football star quarterback Bert Jones, now retired from preofessional football, was appointed to a six year term on the Louisiana Wildlife Fisheries Commission.

*Biologists in North Carolina have discovered pen raised turkeys illegally released into the wild, and fear is maybe these birds will spread disease to the wild turkey population in their state.

They think maybe farmers turned the turkeys loose in belief it would help in the population and more birds to hunt.

Turkeys which are raised are given medication almost daily to resist disease, which would be fatal to wild birds. The tame turkey can be a carrier and spread disease to the wild turkey. Tame or pen raised turkeys cannot survive in the wild and their offspring, if mixed with wild turkeys, are not capable of surviving in the wild either.

*Law enforcement officers are more hazardous in the woods than on city streets, especially wildlife enforcement agents. Four out of five people in the woods are carrying firearms, compared to maybe 1 in 5 in the streets.

During the 1988 year, 128 assaults were made on conservation officers. 28 resulted in injury. One officer in Kentucky and one officer in Florida died from these injuries.

In our past duck season alone, on opening weekend, over 1400 hunters were checked, over 200 citations issued. Thirty-two hunters were charged with over limit. This is not as bad as it used to be.

*Remember back in 1986-87 when Louisiana began training wildlife agents involving accidents in boating. Well, it sort of paid off as in early 1987 there was a real bad boat crash, head-on, on Lake Bistinou. The new DWF patrol investigated this accident and a young man from Shreveport was charged with three counts of negligent homicide. This young man is now serving three years in prison and has a $3000 fine to pay.

Killed in the crash were Aaron Mathew Chandler, 11, of Princeton; James Warren Mayfield, 34, of Princeton; and James W. Taylor, 24, of Houghton. Injured in the accident in the same boat was Albert J. Dupuey, 25, of Houghton.

CROWNED 1988-89 Little Miss and Mr. Silver Spur were Brandi Hebert and Chance Hagan. They will participate in the rodeo parade at 4 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 2, in Lake Charles.

New wetland erosion change is announced

A recent change in the Conservation Reserve Program allows certain wetlands and areas having evidence of scour erosion caused by out-of-bank flow of water to be eligible for the program beginning with the eighth sign-up period.

Willie F. Cooper, State Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Louisiana, said that the change is designed to preserve certain wetlands and prevent scour erosion on cropland adjacent to streams. The Conservation Reserve Program also takes highly erodible land out of crop production for ten years. The land is established to a tree or vegetative cover, Cooper said. The CRP is administered by ASCS.

The next sign-up period for the CRP is Feb. 6, through Feb. 24.

Cooper explained that wetlands and other flood-prone cropland will be eligible for the Conservation Reserve Program only if it has been cropped in two of the five crop years from 1981 through 1985. Wetlands consist of soils that can support hydrophytic vegetation.

Land placed in the program must be planted to trees or other approved vegetative cover.

Anyone with questions about the CRP and in particular the recent change should immediately contact their local ASCS or SCS office, Cooper said.

2500 land deal made in 1913

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, Jan. 24, 1913)
SALE OF CAMERON LAND

A deal involving 2,500 acres of Cameron Parish's best land has been closed, through the purchase of same by the Dever Realty Co., recently formed here. The land was purchased by J. W. Rosteet and Amar Vincent, the price being $30,000.

The land is located in the "bottoms", east of Sweetlake, and is well drained except for a small portion which will be easily reclaimed. The object will be to turn the land, which is raw prairie, into a model farm and ranch, and development of same will begin immediately.

Of the total area, 1,680 acres, belonged to Mr. Vincent. The price paid Mr. Rosteet was $10,000; the price to Mr. Vincent was $20,000.

(Lake Charles American Press, Jan. 23, 1914)
MADE LICENSE PROHIBITIVE

The Cameron Parish Police Jury followed its regular custom this year of fixing the saloon license at $2,000 which is equivalent to saying that there will be no liquor sold in the lower parish. If someone should start a saloon there it is probable that the license immediately would be raised.

It may also be noted that at Leesburg recently was held the first murder trial in the lower parish in years.

(Lake Charles American Press, Jan. 23, 1920)
SECOND PRIMARY, CAMERON PARISH

Cameron Parish is due to have a second primary between D. R. Crain and J. D. Demorest for the office of sheriff. E. D. Sweeney had no opposition for clerk of court to succeed himself, nor did J. B. Erbelding for re-election as state representative. Deleno LeBoeuf was elected assessor by 11 majority. Aladin Vincent had a majority of 20 over J. O. Stewart for state senator.

The vote of the entire parish as obtained from passengers coming up on the Rex Thursday, was as follows: Stubbs, 254; Parker, 214; Vincent, 244; Stewart, 224; Sheriff, Crain, 221; Demorest, 138; Richard, 109; assessor, Stine, 209; LeDoux, 219.

(Abbeville Meridional, Jan. 21, 1911)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Our freeze of last week was quite a surprise for the New Year. The thermometer got down to 20 degrees and ice an inch thick and over was in evidence, but the orange trees seem to have escaped any serious injury. The tips may die off and shorten next year's crop, but only the more exposed trees show curled leaves.

With all the marsh lands being drained and cultivated, the prospects are for a short mosquito crop the coming season.

The principal financier of the Lowery plant died in New York City and it is doubtful if the plant will be operated next season.

Capt. Haliburton took a few days rest to recuperate from a sudden spell of sickness. He has again resumed his route.

Mr. Diehl's lemon trees fared quite badly during the freeze.

THE MERMENTAU DAM

Washington, D. C. Jan. 12--Senator Foster and Representative Pugo Wednesday appeared before the senate committee on commerce, asking an appropriation of $75,000 for the construction of a lock and dam in the Mermentau, near Grand Lake, so that it may be used in controlling the flow of water through the Intercoastal Canal. Senator Foster some time ago introduced an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill for the dam.

It is necessary for the senate to insert the item, if it is to go in at all, for the reason that the house committee is making up its bill, decided to include no new projects.

Do you remember?

Sweeney family history

The John William Sweeney, Sr., family settled in Grand Chenier at the close of 1841.

In the 1600's the first Sweeneys and McCalls had emigrated from Ireland to what is now the United States. The families continued their friendship through generations that followed. The John Sweeneys were neighbors of Dr. Milledge William McCall's family in Mississippi. After the McCalls had settled in Grand Chenier, they sent back glowing accounts of the pristine beauty and fertility of the island. The Sweeneys, in turn, were enticed to migrate to this wonderland.

Mr. Sweeney was born in Baltimore County, Maryland, in 1810. His wife, Sarah Jane Hickock, daughter of John and Hannah Murray Hickock, was born in Virginia, May 14, 1814. She was related to the Randolph family, several of whom were prominent in the governmental affairs of Virginia.

A tailor by trade, Mr. Sweeney moved his equipment to the Chenier. Years later with the help of a granddaughter, Susan McCall, he tailored the wedding suit for Cameron's illustrious Judge Edmond Miller.

Mr. Sweeney built a temporary cabin in which to move his family. His wife, a true pioneer in spirit but unaccustomed to such primitive living, pawned two beautiful silk dresses (each containing yards and yards of material) and her gold watch and chain in order to help finance the move.

At that time their fourth child, Harriet Ann, born June 14, 1841, was at first six months old. She never learned to crawl. Her mother kept her tied in her high chair because of the cabin's dirt floor.

Mr. Sweeney proved his bravery later when his hand and arm were mangled in the machinery of a cotton gin. He ordered his faithful friend, Dr. McCall, to amputate it in order to save his life.

Without antibiotics of today or pain killers, with only the sterilization of boiling water, an ordinary saw and sewing needle, waxed thread, and with only whiskey, a bit of morphine and laudanum, the surgery proved successful.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney are listed below:

(1) Mary Elizabeth, born Aug. 14, 1833; died Mar. 5, 1916; married first to Isaac Bonsall; next to Edmond Wade Vaughan.

(2) Henry Sidney, b. Feb. 29, 1836; d. Mar. 13, 1915; m. Elizabeth Tanner.

(3)Syrenah Jane, b. Aug. 18, 1839; d. in infancy.

(4) Harriet Ann, b. June 14, 1841; d. early 1888; m. first to William Harrison McCall; secondly, to Robert Wetherill.

(5) Sarah Ellen, b. Aug. 3, 1844; d. Jan. 28, 1889; m. Jules Bouquet.

(6) John William Jr., b. 1846 or '47; d. Mar. 18, 1936; m. Sarah Ann Amstrong.

(7) James Hill, b. Sept. 25, 1849; d. Oct. 7, 1891; m. Ellen Smith.

(8) George Columbus Carter, b. Oct. 6, 1851; d. Nov. 6, 1922; m. Aurelia Miller.

(10) Andrew Sweeney, B. Aug. 18, 1856; d. some 20 years later in shipwreck of The Two Sisters bound from Grand Chenier to Galveston, Tex., loaded with cotton and oranges; never married.

(11) Frank Newton, b. May 5, 1858; d. Dec. 9, 1936; m. first to Mary (Polly) Stine; next to Nancy Jane Kent; thirdly to a Miss St. Cyr.

John W. Sweeney, Sr., died Aug. 17, 1886; his wife, June 30, 1893. Both were interred in the McCall Cemetery at Grand Chenier.

Of all their children, their eighth, George C. Carter Sweeney, lived longest on the Chenier. In his young years he had such a propensity toward medical arts that he purchased and studied medical journals and texts. Then he took a state examination and passed with such a high score that he was granted a license to practice medicine. He no longer pursued his profession in his latter years, but his keen mind was still able to diagnose illnesses and offer good advice.

Carter Sweeney and his wife have grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren still living in Cameron Parish.

Soil testing is available

A full automated, computerized soil testing procedure is on line in the LSU Agricultural Center's soil testing laboratory to help farmers and home gardeners prepare for spring planting.

Dr. Olen Curtis of the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service works in the laboratory and says, "A grower needs to know for sure the status of the soil's fertility, especially the nutritional deficiencies."

Curtis says the person to help growers prepare their soil samples and get them to the laboratory for analysis is Gary Wicke, Cameron Parish County Agent's Office.

Sign-up is set

All farmers of Calcasieu-Cameron parish will be able to make requests to participate in the mini-long term agreement phase of the Agricultural Conservation Program in February.

Cameron, Johnson Bayou teams win tournament

By ROBERT MANUEL

There were no losers, spirit wise, in the annual Cameron Parish Elementary basketball tournament. The young participants gave it their best efforts and the coaches spent most of their energy encouraging and consoling rather than scolding.

The Cameron Elementary girls and the Johnson Bayou Rebels each took separate division titles. The Lady Rebels and the Grand Lake Hornets claimed runner-up trophies while the Lady Hornets and the South Cameron Elementary boys received third place trophies.

Selected to the boys All-Tournament team were Bradley Jinks and Blandon Badon of Johnson Bayou, Kyle Howard Jr. of Grand Lake, Derrick Blackwell of Cameron Elementary and Shawn Trahan of South Cameron Elementary.

On the girls All-Tournament team were Michelle Fountain and Ta'Sha Glaude of Cameron Elementary, Jenny Trahan of Johnson Bayou and Erica Young of Grand Lake.

The Lady Hornets burned the nets for 22 field goals and 15 of 28 free throws for an easy 59-34 victory. Reeves double teaming of Grand Lake's Rhonda Verzwyvelt opened doors around the outside perimeter. Point guard Kay Lynn Breaux resondedwith 16 points, followd by Amy Jo LeBoeuf 11, Rachel Manuel 10 and Jodi Montgomery 4. Verzwyvelt managed to remain a threat with 9 points. Angie Stickell led the reserve scoring with 4 points.

The Reeves Raiders and the Grand Lake Hornets, both intent on being the district leader, traded baskets for two quarters, with the Raiders holding a 25-23 edge at halftime. The Hornets combined strong defensive effort with good floor shooting to outscore the Raiders 14-4 in the third quarter. The Raiders came back with a 24 point barrage in the fourth quarter but the Hornets almost matched it with 23 points to win 60-53.

Dell Mansco led the scoring with 13 of his 15 points coming in the second half. Derrick Robideaux's outside shooting kept the Hornet attack in good perspective, while point guard Richard Faulk canned 4 of 5 free throws to keep the Raiders at bay in the closing minutes of play. The Hornets had good team scoring support from Roy Pesson with 9, Chad Primeaux 7, and Larry Broussard 5. Faulk added 10 points to the total, 6 of which came in the last quarter.

In a non-district game Friday at Pecan Island, the Lady Hornets swarmed over the Lady Broncos 60-36. Kay Lynn Breaux topped all scorers with a season high of 27 points. Her five 3-pointers were a high also for the senior point guard. Post man Rhonda Verzwyvelt canned 18 to boost the landslide victory.

The Hornet boys team entered the fourth quarter with a 7 point lead but a Bronco pressing defense turned the momentum around to give the homecoming crowd a 53-47 come from behind victory. Pecan Island's Mark Broussard led all scorers with 19 points. Dell Mansco led the Hornet scoring with 12 points, followed by Chad Primeaux with 9 and Derrick Robideaux and Larry Broussard, 8 each.

In Hackberry, the Lady Mustangs are leading their district with a 3-0 record. The Mustangs moved into the win column at 1-2.

The Johnson Bayou boys and girls are still fighting for an outside chance to make the playoffs. Both squads are competitive but lack depth in experience to have strong ambitions for playoff considerations.

South Cameron squads have a tough district and a string of victories is hard to come by. The Lady Tarpons were going strong with a 4-0 district record. Two close losses have dropped them into a second place tie with Vermilion Catholic. The Tarpon boys team is finding the competition extra tough. Even with a fair share of talent on board, a victory is hard to come by in a district that has extra talent and experience in the top leaders.

completed their league schedule and tournament games with a perfect slate. The Lady Barracudas nipped the smaller but aggressive Lady Rebels 20-19.

In the same spirit of competition in boys championship game, the Rebels out scored a game but outmatched the Hornet team. The outstanding play of Bradley Jinks and Blandon Blake overshadowed a good effort from the Hornets.

South Cameron athletes will hold a Lift-A-Thon on Monday, February 13 at 5 p.m. in the new gym.

Each athlete has signed up sponsors who pledge a certain amount that the boy can lift at one time, by pounds. The contributions will go to the athletic fund of South Cameron High School and will be used to purchase weight equipment, uniforms and all other necessary equipment for athletics.

The gate receipts from the football games have not been adequate to cover the expenses of necessary equipment to keep the program operating on a first class level, so this event will help fill the gap.

Everyone is invited to come out to the Lift-A-Thon.

Manager named for new refuge

Paul M. Yakupzack has been named Refuge Manager of the newly established Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge, Louisiana. The refuge is located near Gibbstown and is about 15 miles southeast of Lake Charles in Cameron Parish on either side of State Highway 27. The intracoastal waterway forms the south boundary of the Refuge.

The announcement was made by the Southeast Regional Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, James W. Pulliam, Jr.

Yakupzack's career with the Service began in 1977 at Natchitoches National Fish Hatchery, as a Fishery Biologist. From 1978 through 1983 he worked as a Biologist in the Fish and Wildlife Enhancement Field Office in Lafayette. He has been Assistant Refuge Manager at Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, Lake Arthur, for five years.

In 1973, Yakupzack received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Wildlife Management from the University of Southwestern Louisiana, in Lafayette and he received a Master of Science Degree from Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

Yakupzack who received the Service's Exemplary Act Award, for his life saving rescue of a fellow employee, is also the recipient of the Service's Special Achievement Award.

When Yakupzack was told of his selection as Refuge Manager of the new refuge, he said, "It will be a privilege to manage Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge because it is the first refuge to be established by the implementation of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan's Gulf Coast Joint Venture in Louisiana. Most importantly it is a rare opportunity and a singular honor to be able to plan, develop, and manage a refuge from its beginning."

Joint Ventures are cooperative effotts between federal and state agencies, conservation organizations, and private citizens to implement the provisions of the Plan to restore waterfowl population in key wetlands of the country.

The new refuge is a key component of the Chenier Plains Project Initiative of the Gulf Coast Joint Venture and is considered one of the Southeat Region's highest priority acquisition projects.

Yakupzack and his wife, Amelia, who is a teacher at Welsh-Roanoke Junior High School in Roanoke, and their two children Bart, 10, and Amy, 6, plan to live in the vicinity of Lake Charles.

Flood insurance still a problem

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish Police Jury heard an update on their efforts to soften the effects of the federal flood insurance program on Cameron parish residents but what they heard wasn't encouraging.

Dr. Joe Shuayda of Louisiana State Univerity, who has been doing consulting work for the jury on the problem for about five years, despite the numerous studies and reports that he and Parish Engineer Lonnie Harper have prepared for the government over the years, they do not seem to be able to ever get anything finally resolved.

He said that FEMA (the Federal Emergency Managment Agency) that oversees the flood program will ask for certain data, and when that is furnished ask for more, and continues to string the parish out.

Dr. Shuayda said that the parish's study has definitely shown that some of the informaton that FEMA has based construction requirements on in the parish are in error but he has been unable to get the Agency to change this data.

These errors include elevation of ridges which the FEMA maps fail to show, but which actually do provide protection from the hurricane driven waters.

He noted that Plaquemines parish has had the same problems as Cameron, but in addition to getting [illegible] prepared is building levees and other structures to relieve some of the storm threats.

Dr. Shuayda said Cameron parish had three options on the flood insurance program:

One would be to continue to try to cooperate with FEMA and supply them with the continuing amount of information they request.

Two, would be to continue the studies and like Plaquemines try to get state and federal funds to begin some flood projects.

And three would be to go to court and try to get an order to force FEMA to make new studies of the parish and correct their present flood maps. He said that Brunswick, Georgia has already followed this course and got some relief.

Juror George LeBouef questioned the benefits of the flood insurance program and said he thought the entire program should be abandoned. He said that an alternative would be to require any insurance company that does business in Louisiana to write flood insurance for the coastal areas.

But Juror Kenneth Ducote pointed out that if the parish does not participate in flood insurance and there should be another hurricane, the federal government has already said it would provide no federal assitance to home and business owners.

Juror Ray Conner said it appeared to him that the flood insurance program was not evenly enforced along the entire coast of the United States pointing out that in some areas of Florida they did not seem to have the same elevation requirements tha Cameron parish has.

Dr. Shuayda agreed with him and said that the difference could easily be seen in some areas where building requirements were different on either side of a line between two counties.

It was announced that a representative of FEMA from the Denton, Tex., office will be in Cameron on Wednesday, Feb. 15, to meet with the jury and that a public meeting would be held that night to give everyone a chance to ask questions about the program.

It was also announced that representatives of the jury will meet with the Louisiana congressional delegation in Washington in a few weeks to discuss the problem.

Incinerator proposal is made here

The Cameron Parish Police Jury, which is looking into various options on how to reduce the cost of the parish's garbage collection system, heard a proposal from a Baton Rouge manufacturer on the installation of an incinerator in the parish.

Ronnie Crochet of Crochet Equipment Co. told the jury that he could install a unit to take care of the parish's ten tons of solid waste a day at a cost of between $350,000 and $400,000.

He said he has installed such units in many cities in the United States and Canada including one in Lake Charles. The incinerators reduce the waste by 95 percent with the ash being left over going into a landfill.

The units can be equipped with a scrubber that eliminates all gases that are created by the burning.

He said the cost of operation per month would be relatively small with only one person required to run the unit.

He also said the jury could purchase the system on a 5-year lease-buy plan.

To install an incinerator, the state would require the parish to do some recycling, but this would not be a big job, Crochet stated.

The presentation was for information purposes only and the jury took no action.

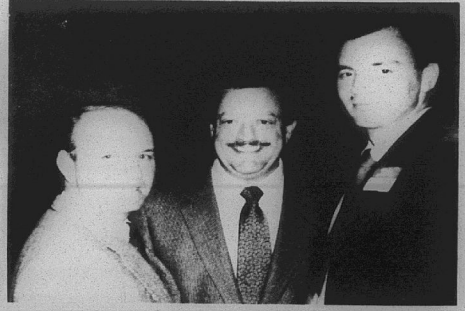
Ex-residents return after fifty years

By WANITA HARRISON

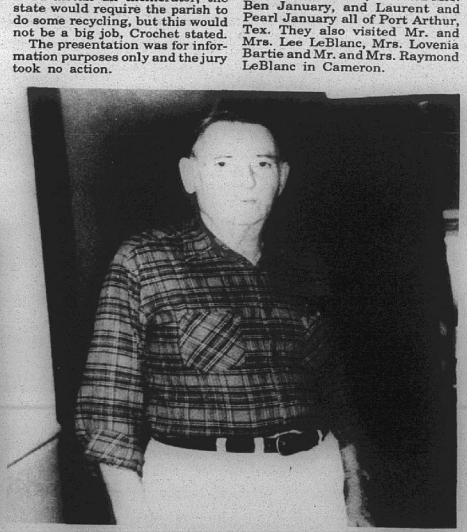
Mrs. Matilda Hatchett and Mrs. Mamie L. Sherman both of Portland, Ore., visited Mr. and Mrs. Clem January and Mrs. Lillie Harrison for a week. They are former residents of Grand Chenier, and returned after approximately 50 years to see a big change.

"Grand Chenier is lovely," remarked Mrs. Hatchett. "Is there land for sale?" Both remembered the ferry in which vehicles were transported across the Mermentau River where Larry's Seafood and Marina is presently located.



Matilda and Mamie are daughters of the late Henry and Matilda Williams January, and nieces of Clem January. Their grandfather, John January was one of the first settlers in Grand Chenier. The family lived in what was then called the "district" near the St. James Church of God in Christ, on land now owned by A.N.R. Company. Dr. L. O. Miller was attending physician for the births of Matilda and Mamie.

Henry and Josephine moved to Port Arthur, Tex., while the children were preschoolers. The girls enrolled at Lincoln Elementary, and graduated from Lincoln High.



During their stay in the area, Matilda and Mamie, accompanied by Mrs. Lillie Harrison visited Johnny January in Beaumont, Tex.; Agnes Stagg, Julia Richards, Mrs. Emma Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Ben January, and Laurent and Pearl January all of Port Arthur, Tex. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Lee LeBlanc, Mrs. Lovenia Bartie and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond LeBlanc in Cameron.

RAY CONNER, Cameron Parish Police Juror from Creole, and State Representative Randy Roach inspect the Creole Levee Road, the section of Highway La. 27 between Creole and Oak Grove on which overlay construction is to be started immediately. Roach said that a 2½ mile stretch of highway north of Creole will be overlayed in March. (Photo by Geneva Griffith)

New Orleans Mardi Gras not dampened by the chill

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Mardi Gras madness again gripped New Orleans Feb. 3-7, as parade after parade moved through the French Quarter and everyone "let the good times roll."

Our family has been going to New Orleans every year to spend the day watching the parades and collecting all the trinkets.

This year we decided to stay and see some of the night parades and chose the Inter-Continental Hotel on St. Charles Ave, which has built covered reviewing stands for their guests.

From this vantage point 12 parades could be viewed: Hermes, Iris, Tucks, Endymion, Thoth, Venus, Mid-City, Bacchus, Proteus, Zulu, Rex, and Comus.

The Bacchus parade, a beautiful parade on Sunday night, featured 25 floats and had as its king, Billy Crystal, the comedian. I was lucky enough to catch one of his specially struck doubloons, as well as one of the rare black doubloons thrown only by the parade lieutenants.

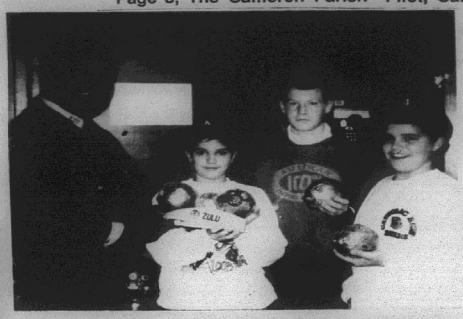
The 70-year-old Zulu parade marched on the last day, on Tuesday morning, and is one of the liveliest of all the parades.

It is an all-black parade organized seventy years ago by a small group of men in a small wooden shack. They organized the Zulu Krew and brought Mardi Gras to the city's blacks.

When Zulu first started they paraded through the poor sections of town and wanted the blacks to be a part of the Mardi Gras.

Over the years, Zulu became a more integral part of Mardi Gras because of their age-old practice of starting their march off the first thing on Fat Tuesday morning, the first parade immediately preceeding Rex down St. Charles.



Many of the black people in New Orleans were against the Zulus parading and even took out ads in the paper againstit in 1961 saying "Zulus do not represent the Negros."

However, today the membership in the Zulu Social Aid and Pleasure Club, which sponsors the event, is 400 and there are more waiting to get in.

The tradition of throwing beautifully decorated coconuts from the Zulu parade floats had to be discontinued when several people were hurt after being hit by them.

However, the coconuts are still made and the collector items, which have the date on which they were made painted on them, are passed out to a few lucky revelers, along with doubloons and other items.

Our group was lucky enough this year to receive some of the rare coconuts and we will cherish them along with all of the beautiful memories that go along with the 133-year-old Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS Policeman Albert Jones gives decorated Zulu coconuts to Bret Bonnecaze, Jared Griffith and Jay Giblin at Mardi Gras in New Orleans. The coconuts were made by the Zulu parade participants and passed out each year to VIPS.

LOUISIANA FUR BEARING ANIMALS

For as long as records have been maintained, Louisiana has led the nation in production of wild fur pelts. During the early 1900's there were over 20,000 trappers and 1000 fur buyers and dealers in Louisiana.

Muskrats were heavily populated and around 1945 there were over 9 million muskrat pelts worth $12 million sold. That was more than all the United States sells today.

In 1937 the nutria rat was introduced in Louisiana and ended up in our marshes. They multiplied quickly and by 1962 they out numbered the muskrat in numbers harvested, trappers here averaged over 1.3 million nutria each year which represents over 64% of the total catch and 60% of total value of the industry.

During the last ten years, Louisiana has averaged producing nearly 1.6 million pelts annually. Louisiana produces 12 different species of fur bearers. They consist of the following numbers of pelts sold and prices. These are average prices for ten years: Nutria 980,691, brought $4,425,860; muskrat 329,915, $1,186,960; raccoon, 199,011, $1,918,900. These three are our main fur bearing in Louisiana. There were 37,306 mink bringing in $399,174. Opossum, 32,281 for $58,751; otter, 5,098, $146,107; skunk, 201, $365.62; red fox, 1,108, $35,311; gray fox, 3,089, $90,384; bobcat, 2,728, $147,257; beaver, 1,336, $13,386 and coyote, 1,639, $22,569. Total pelts 1,595,402 brought in $8,440,049; also nutria meat, 472,455 pounds brought in $22,898; raccoon meat, 804,573 pounds brought in $345,966 and opossum meat, 37,266 pounds brought in $9,316 for $378,181. Total monies for pelt and meat was $8,818,230. This is rounded off in nearest dollar.

This all sounds good but the total number of nutria in 1976-77 was 1,900,000 and now in 1987-88 down to a little over 600,000, average nutria prices were $7.75 in 1976-77 and in 1987-88 down to around $2.50. That's a bad blow to our trappers. In all, the fur bearers in 1976-77, $24 million of pelts were sold compared to $4 million in 1937-38.

As you can see the number of pelts is down, along with the price per pelt.

Remember when the nutria was declared an outlaw, and many were shot and left, because of damage to levees and rice field drainage. Then a market in Germany was open and trappers started making money.

Now money and pelts are both down.

Another thing hurting not only the fur industry, but the alligator is the people who are trying to stop all trapping. If they stopped the alligator and fur, what's next, the hunting and fishing?

Something else, this changes the market. Europe used to be a big market place, but not the U. S. and Japan where the nutria is unknown to designers.

Remember when the alligator license went to $25, fur bearing trapping license went from $2 to $25. Now that the alligator trapper has to pay $2 per tag per gator, will they try and put a tag per pelt on fur bearing animals.

The animal rights activities, organizations opposed to trapping and consumption of wildlife, have been around since the early 1900's and getting stronger. Most people, especially our sportsmen and commercial people, think these organizations only want to stop trapping, but it's more than that. They want to stop fur bearing trapping, alligator hunting, fishing, deer, squirrel, rabbit hunting, duck, coots and geese hunting and even the livestock, yes cows, sheep, goats, pigs, chickens, etc., and what about our shrimp and oysters - they have a nervous sytem also.

Some of these organizations are violent, some are not. Some even sprayed McDonalds restaurants with McDeath.

Look at what Bob Barker did on the Miss America Contest. They had to end up using imitation fur coats. Bumper stickers reading "Meat is Dead". This goes on to our ranchers.

I could go on and on, but just think about it, how much trouble is our fur bearing industry, our alligator industry in? Will this roll over to our fish, or other game and then our cows and chickens?

Grand Lake teams are champions

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Grand Lake boys and girls each wrapped up their respective District 8-C championships with double victories over the Hyatt Bulldogs. With 5-0 district records and one district game left to play, the district championship is decided regardless of the outcome of Monday's remaining district game with Reeves. The Reeves Raiders are currently 3-2, Johnson Bayou is 2-3 and Hyatt is 0-5.

The Hornets held a 17-2 first quarter lead and went on to rout the Hyatt Bulldogs 68-22. The scoring parade was led by Dell Manesco and Larry Broussard with 14 points each.

The Lady Hornets got into a free scoring duel with the Lady Bulldogs and Grand Lake topped the offensive fireworks with a 65-55 win. Kay Lynn Breaux and Rhonda Verzwyvelt bombed the nets for 29 and 24 points respectively.

The Hackberry girls can clinch at least a tie for the district title. The 5-0 Lady Mustangs play the 4-1 Singer girls at Singer Friday in a final matchup.

The 1-4 Hackberry Mustangs lost to the 4-1 Lacassine Cardinals 48-46. Singer leads the 10-B district with a 5-0 record followed by Lacassine, Starks and Hackberry.

The South Cameron boys evened their district record at 4-4 with a 62-59 victory over the 5-3 Hanson Tigers. The close victory was led by the double digit scoring of Chad Mudd with 16, Walter Jones, 12, and 10 points each by Ronald January and Roselle Smith.

The 5-4 Lady Tarpons slipped a notch in a close 40-37 loss to Hanson. They still have a shot at a playoff spot, provided they can win their district games with Delcambre Friday, Feb. 10, and Tuesday, Feb. 14, with North Vermilion.

The Johnson Bayou Rebels, led by Scott Sandifer and Donald Morris, are making a strong bid for a second place tie with Reeves. The Rebels defeated the Reeves Raiders 63-46 to open up a possible tie for second place. The Raiders at 3-2 must defeat Grand Lake Monday to head off the surging 2-3 Rebels.

Check measles immunization

The Office of Public Health warned Lousiana residents to check their immunization records to be sure they have been immunized for measles.

Dr. Louis Trachtman, Acting State Health Officer, said there has been an outbreak of 600 cases of red measles in Houston, with four deaths associated with the outbreak.

Trachtman said residents are being warned to check their immunizations because of the highly communicable nature of the measles and Houston's proximity to Louisiana. He said people traveling to Houston on a regular basis should particularly be aware of the outbreak.

Red measles is a viral disease with such symptoms as fever and a red blotchy rash which appears on the third to seventh day. The rash usually begins on the face, becomes generalized and lasts four to seven days.

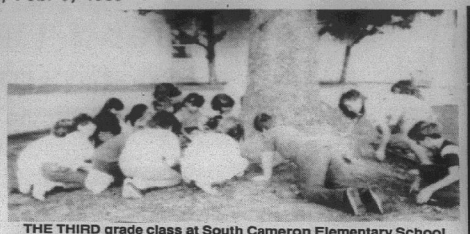
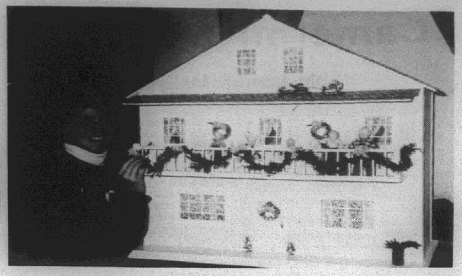
RIDICULOUS BUT TRUE!

In the Middle Ages it was widely believed that bathing the whole body more than once a month—and in some areas more than once a year—was very unhealthy and might even be fatal. So, always seeking a risk-free society, people just didn't bathe.



Today people still try for a risk-free world. Two years ago in California the people adopted a law—Proposition 65—requiring warning labels on anything or any place that might expose people to any detectable amount of any carcinogen or toxin.



THIRD GRADE students at South Cameron Elementary School observed Grandparents Day recently with a luncheon. A short program aimed at showing grandparents the important roles they have in the children's lives was presented.

THE THIRD grade class at South Cameron Elementary School observed Arbor Day recently. After studying the origin and tradition of the holiday, they began a long term project of beautification of the school grounds.

JANAY GIBLIN stands by her doll house decorated for the holidays and her miniature family greets all visitors from the balcony which is decorated with greenery, as Santa and his reindeer glide across the balcony roof.

ASK OCHSNER

Q. After exercise, I experience coughing and shortness of breath, and generally, just feel lousy. My doctor says it is probably asthma brought on by exercising. I've never heard of this. Is this true?

A. Yes it is true. In fact, for those with sports or exercise-induced asthma, exercising can make you feel worse, says Dr. John Erffmeyer, an allergy specialist at the Ochsner Clinic of Baton Rouge. "However, for those people who suffer from this condition, there is a way to deal with it and still get the exercise that is an important part of their daily routine," he adds.

The symptoms of exercise-induced asthma are no different from asthma symptoms in general. Specifically, they include complaints of chest tightness, coughing, wheezing and shortness of breath. This is due to the increased rate of ventilation, which causes the respiratory tract to lose water. This water loss results in the cooling of the large airways and dehydration of the mucus membrane lining the airways. The probability of sports-induced asthma is enhanced during cold, dry weather.

This condition is usually treated and controlled by using a bronchodilator inhalant. Also, the following is recommended for individuals who suffer with this type of asthma:

1. The anti-asthma medication should be used prior to a 10 to 15 minute period of stretching and warm-up activities.

2. After the warm-up is completed, start the workout at a slow pace for 10 to 15 minutes aiming for a pulse rate below 140 beats per minute. Should wheezing or shortness of breath develop, temporarily stop the exercise and use the bronchodilator inhalant.

3. When symptoms have stopped, resume your warm-up activities.

In 1984, sixty-seven athletes from the United States who participated in the Olympic summer games had asthma or sports-induced asthma; 41 won medals. This fact could encourage weekend athletes who suffer from this condition to continue with exercise.

Dr. Erffmeyer adds that use of medications to help prevent symptoms will not improve performance, but it will allow the individual to participate on a level equal to those who do not have exercise-induced asthma.

Volunteers save refuge $11,876 past year

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

CALDWELL FAMILY

David Caldwell, 1705-1781 and His Descendants in the U.S.A. by William W. Caldwell is a splendid genealogy of which descendants would be proud.

David and his family were Presbyterian Scots who migrated from Northern Ireland to America in the company of several other families including Pickens, Calhoun, Baskin, Allen, Moseley, Carlisle and McKinley. Caldwells served in the French and Indian War and the American Revolution.

A number of old wills are given in full in this genealogy, letters from individuals, obituaries, memoirs, autobiographies, etc. The author adds much personal information to the records so that most of the book is narrative.

A big, handsome volume, hardcover, 8¼ x 11 in., almost 500 pages, superior reproduction on heavy weight paper, it has many photographs and other illustrations, an easy to follow numbering system for descendants with names given in caps, an appendix of family connections to Harris, Mosely and McKinley, Thompson and Allen, French and Parker, Basye, Smoot, Meeks and Gascoigne allied lines.

It is available at $40.00 incl. mailing from: The David Caldwell History, 1303 Brentwood Road, Pine Bluff, Ark. 71601.

Doll house dream is finally realized

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

When I was a little girl growing up in Port Arthur, Tex., my roll model was a tiny princess in England who was around my age. She was Princess Elizabeth Hohenzolleran, who was later to become the Queen of England and still reigns today. We shared many common interests and each had a little sister, hers was named Margaret, and mine was Geraldine.

I read everything I could get my hands on concerning her activities, and fantisized that I was also a princess. The little princess led a very sheltered life in the palace, and even though she had no idea at the time that she would someday, through a twist of fate, ascend to the throne, she received the finest education and was prepared to rule because she was in the line of succession to the throne.

When Elizabeth was around 10 years old she was given a beautiful three story doll house, completely furnished with the finest of miniatures by the people of England.

That immediately became the prized possession that I wanted. I read a detailed report on what each room in Elizabeth's doll house contained and vowed that someday I would have one very much like it.

It was during the depression and my family told me that it was just imposible at the time to buy me the doll house that I wanted.

As I got older the idea of posessing a doll house faded, but I never got over the desire to have one.

I don't remember my daughter ever asking for one, even though I remember she loved to play with one that belonged to her good friends the Jones sisters.

As soon as my granddaughter was born I started making plans to buy her a doll house, but her mother nixed the plan until she was old enough to want it herself. She finally requested one when she was 11 years old and got it last Christmas.

It became a family affair with three generations working on it and was finally completed this Christmas, with all of the furnishings in it, the curtains and drapes made, and the little porcelain family, complete with parents and twins (a boy and girl, just like Janay and her twin brother Jay), and a baby.

Janay, her mother, Cherie, and I went shopping for ready-made doll houses all over Baton Rouge and finally settled for a pre-fab model when we realized that completed models were overpriced.

Janay's paternal grandfather volunteered the painting of the parts, and slipping the parts together. We all helped to glue on 1500 shingles, including Janay's cousin, Jared; and Janay and I wallpapered the rooms.

Shopping for the furniture became the next order of business, with antique furnishings being decided on. The beds are covered with hand crochet coverlets and the master bed is covered with a "Yo Yo" spread that matches the one on Janay's bed.

Two bedside tables are made from wooden thread spools, over which crochet lined skirts are used for the covering.

A tiny grey cat laps milk from a spatterware cup on the kitchen floor beide a case of miniature Coke bottles, and several books designed and made by Janay, lay on the bedside table in the master bedroom.

The mirrors over the dressers and in the bathroom and over the fireplace mantle were made from discarded vanity mirrors, and the delarobia wreath over the little girl's bed is formed out of tiny grape vine limbs from the woods at our house.

Janay made the throw rugs from a kit she received from Christmas and I crocheted a rag rug for the kitchen. One of our hardest things to do when we were furnishing the doll house was to think small.

This Christmas the doll house had a decorated Christmas tree with loads of brightly decorated packages at its base, garlands of greenery on the staircases and on the balcony outside.

A tiny Santa Claus rides in a sleigh behind his reindeer, which was a donation from Janay's Uncle Leslie, which was a decoration on a Christmas cake.

The red lid from a perfume bottle is now an urn on the front porch that is filled with Christmas greenery to match the door pieces on the three outside doors.

Even though the peach colored three story doll house sits in Janay's room, we all feel like we are a part of it and enjoy helping her redecorate it for each season of the year.

HACKBERRY OIL EXPLORATION

The well of the Yont-Lee Oil Co. located in Black Lake in the Hackberry section is being bailed, and "showing some oil with a little gas pressure," according to reports current in local oil circles this evening.

On account of the location of this well being a long distance from a highway, or other method of communication, it is next to impossible to keep in close touch with the developments under way at this well, but due to the fact that a number of the oil scouts are reported to be "camping" on this well, some of the local operators expressed the opinion this evening that the well must be making a better showing than the last one, as the screen is said to have been set in the hole yesterday evening, which would have given plenty of time for the well to show "salt water" in case the formation being tested was of the salt water variety.

Hackberry, Big Woods and the "Two Acre" oil tests are reported as being delayed for several days, and local oil circles are said to be marking time pending results from these tests.

"Dynamite squads" are reported as very active in several directions from this city (Lake Charles), and the "shots" are being heard and felt at intervals during the day throughout this section.

Last Saturday the mercury was up to 72 and Sunday morning it dropped to 25 for a change.

Mr. Bennet had some repairing done to his property at this place.

MUSING . . .

Everyone has own victory

By Bernice Denny

The pictures and accounts of the various contests as recorded in The Cameron Pilot recently set me thinking. The winner in any contest is recognized and applauded. The first three or four runners-up also are rewarded or given honorable mention. Such is as it should be. The inherent ability of each plus his fixity of purpose, efforts, and hours of practice have culminated in victory. We honor and respect him. We would not diminish his glory one iota.

However, we must keep in mind that a contestant can succeed and still not win. I do not believe that any hard working, deserving competitor should be called a loser. He simply did not reach the top.

Perhaps he had less talent with which to start; perhaps he functions by a different biological clock. It is possible that he may have accomplished even greater acceleration within his own performance than did the winner himself.

On my lawn are two trees that were planted the same year -- seedlings of about the same age and height, a pine and a chinese tallow. Year by year each strives to grow. Each sends roots to extract sustenance from the soil. Each receives the same proportion of sunshine and rain. Each is buffeted by the same storms and droughts and frosts. Each tree succeeds within its capacity, but the pine consistently tops the tallow.

Measured by speed of growth and present size the pine is the winner. And, yet, can one say that the tallow does not deserve respect and commendation also? Is it not fulfilling its potential every bit as much as is the pine?

Four-year-old Jimmy was telling his mother about a footrace he and his little friends had run.

"Did you get there first?" the mother asked.

"Not in going," Jimmy replied, "but when we turned to come back, I beat everybody. You see, Mommy, I was closer to where we started at first than anyone else. Then I just sat down and thought."

We are not sure on what Jimmy's thoughts focused, but there is a gem of wisdom in what he did. If a person is left behind too often, he would do well to reassess his abilities and to participate along lines to which he is better adapted.

A soaring eagle and a stalwart mule could never compete on equal terms. Each, however, is quite efficient within his own sphere.

And for each contestant in whatever category, his real victory is measured by his own inward growth and the manner in which he accepts the results.

Over 200 seeking cruise ship jobs

Cajun Festival Cruise Line, which plans to operate a cruise ship out of Cameron, received 213 applications for jobs last week at its new office on main street in Cameron.

The firm is still taking applications at its office across from the Calcasieu Marine National Bank next to Evelyn's Flower Basket. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Some of the applicants will be called back for additional interviews next week.

Some 85 jobs are to be filled and include the following:

Office manager, administration assistant, ticket agent, receptionist, secretaries, chefs, cooks, bartenders, hostesses, waitresses and waiters, bus persons, dishwashers, general mainenance, parking lot attendants, security personnel and marine personnel.

The owners, who are from Pearland, Tex., plan to operate the ship out of Cameron providing dining and dancing, as well as a full casino after the ship reaches international waters.

Attorneys for the firm recently filed a declaratory action in district court here to get a legal opinion on the operation of the ship. If this is favorable operation can begin in a few weeks it is believed.

The firm has arranged for docking facilities on the Calcasieu river with Henry "T-Boy" McCall for its ship which is expected to be brought there in the near future from Fourchon which is near Grand Isle.

WETLANDS INCLUDED

The Conservation Reserve Program is expanded to include certain wetlands. A recent change in the CRP allows certain wetlands and areas having evidence of scour erosion caused by out-of-bank flow of water, to be eligible for the program beginning with the eighth sign-up period.

Sign-up for the CRP will begin Feb. 6, and continue through Feb. 24, stated Kirk Moore, County Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for Calcasieu and Cameron parishes.

The addition of the eligibility of certain wetlands will greatly increase the acreage available for the Conservation Reserve Program in Lousiana. Mr. Moore explained that landowners bid during the sign-up period to place eligible land in the program. For the previous seven sign-up periods, the maximum bid accepted in Louisiana has been $45 per acre.

Wetlands and other flood prone cropland will be eligible for the CRP only if it has been cropped in two of the five crop years 1981 through 1985.

Class slated

Cameron Parish Special Olympics Committee will sponsor a class for certification to coach Special Olympics at South Cameron High School. Classes will be held at night. The date will be announced at a later date.

For more information contact Bobbie Primeaux or Darryl East.

Two given sentences

Two Virginia men were sentenced in district court here last week as the result of a high speed chase in a stolen vehicle.

Todd D. Estep, 18, and Anthony Craig Jenkins, 17, both of Manassas, Va., pleaded guilty to charges against them and were each sentenced to three years in the Department of Corrections, sentence suspended, three years supervised probation, for a guilty plea to unauthorized use of a movable.

Jenkins was also sentenced to time served on the misdemeanors of reckles operation, failure to stop at stop sign, and flight from an officer.

The men and another companion, who has not come up for arraignment yet, were arrested Jan. 11, by Cameron Parish deputies after they led Calcasieu Parish deputies and state police on a high speed chase in a stolen vehicle from Virginia, which they later crashed in Hackberry.

The vehicle was abandoned in Hackberry, where they obtained another vehicle, in which they were finally apprehended.

Bank meeting

The annual stockholders meeting of the Cameron State Bank will be held at the bank's main office on March 15, at 3 p.m., according to Robert W. Fruge, bank president.

Chamber meet

The monthly meeting of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday, Feb. 23, at 11:30 a.m. at the Cameron Motel.

Three teams are district champions

By ROBERT MANUEL

Cameron Parish basketball teams ended district play with three district titles and three teams in third place in their respective districts.

Grand Lake boys and girls and the Hackberry Lady Mustangs won their respective district titles without a loss.

In third place were the Johnson Bayou boys and girls and the South Cameron girls. All three qualified for wildcard consideration, but as of this time, the Lady Tarpons were the only team to receive a wildcard slot.

State playoffs begin Thursday for the girls division and sometime next week for the boys.

Bi-district games set for Thursday, Feb. 16, are:

Grand Lake Lady Hornets vs Grand Isle at 7 p.m. at St. Louis High School.

Assessor notice

Bobby Conner, Assessor, announces that on Tuesday, Feb. 21, Mona Kelley, Deputy Assessor, will be at the Grand Chenier Waterworks building to aid people with questions concerning assessments and sign up new homestead exemptions.

Persons living within this area, please make note of this date.

The Cameron Parish School Board Monday approved the calling of a special election on April 29, in School District 4 on a $1 million bond issue for a large addition to Grand Lake High School.

The bonds will be issued for a ten year period. Board Member Rickey Guidry said the difference in the annual payments between a 15 year payout is not too much greater and a sizable amount of interest will be saved.

A new wing will be constructed north from the old band room and will include nine new classrooms, an updated science lab and expanded library facilities.

Guidry said the Grand Lake area is one of the fastest growing areas of the parish and the school now has an enrollment of 400 students which makes it the largest in the parish, considering that both the elementary and high schools are combined.

He said the last addition to the school was about eight years ago when the new gym was built and before that there had been no other additions since the school was built.

The school has had to use six temporary buildings in recent years due to the increased enrollment.

Oyster area is enlarged

Rep. Randy Roach has announced that he and others have been successful in getting the Louisiana Dept. of Health to approve the relocation of the south boundary of the open oyster grounds on the east side of Calcasieu Lake.

The moving of the line will add an additional area for oystering in Cameron parish, Rep. Roach said.

Maps will be available prior to the opening of this are which will be on the opening date of the 1989 oyster season--March 1.

SUPT. EVALUATION

As required by the Louisiana Accountability Act 605, the school board went into executive session at the end of the meeting to evaluate the performance of Supt. Thomas McCall. All teachers and supervisory personnel receive similar evaluations by their superiors.

Mr. McCall's work was judged to be satisfactory, and the board is expected to renew his contract for another four years at the March meeting.

COMPLAINT HEARD

Earlier in the meeting the board went into executive session to hear a complaint from a parent of a South Cameron high school student concerning disciplinary action. No action was taken by the board in this matter.

ALLIGATOR HARVEST

Guidry also reported that the board realized $2434.18 as its share of the alligator harvest on four school sections this past year. He said the board had 29 tags and got 197.35 feet of hide for an average of $49 a foot. He said next year the board will have even more sections in the harvest.

NEW BUSES

The board authorized the advertisement for bids for a new activity bus at South Cameron and a regular route bus at Grand Lake with the buses expected to cost about $36,000 each.

FAX MACHINES

The board agreed to accept the offer of Library Southwest to place Fax machines in each of the high school libraries at no cost. The funds will come from the federal government. The machines will enable the libraries to secure reference materials from the State Library for students.

ASBESTOS REMOVAL

The board reviewed a list of repairs and improvements that are scheduled to be made at all of the schools during the summer. It was agreed to remove some asbestos covered pipes at Hackberry high school.

Contract disputed

The Cameron Parish School Board this week found itself involved in a legal dispute with a telephone company over a proposed new telephone system.

At its December meeting the board approved a contract with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (AT&T) for the lease-purchase of a new telephone system for the entire school system for a six year period, which would save the board $226 a month over its present telephone costs.

The Cameron Telephone Company protested the awarding of the contract without calling for bids and at the December meeting the school board decided to nullify the contract.

(Under state law, professional services do not require an advertisement for bids if they come under certain requirements.)

At the February meeting Monday, AT&T representative Robert Katulka told the board, "We feel good about the recommendation that we gave you for the school system. Our attorney supports that the contract, as signed, is valid."

"We are fearful that we are perceived as the bad guys," Katulka continued. "That is not the case...We'd just like to know what the status might be in reference to legal action. Could we get the board to reconsider and move ahead on the contract or should we leave it with the attorneys?"

Supt. Thomas McCall said the board had decided to place the purchase or lease of a new telephone systemon hold because of possible new specifications for a telephone systemhookup with the state department of education in the future.

He said that the entire matter has been referred to the board's legal advisor, the parish district attorney.

Julie Thomas, second grade student at South Cameron Elementary School has received notice that her painting of a duck placed first in the state for grades K-4 in the Gifted and Talented program.

MUSING. . .

Little bldg out in back

By Bernice Denny

Mother called the little house a toilet. Grandmother said that in her youth it was known as a privy. Some of my small classmates referred to it as an outhouse or backhouse. By whatever term it was known the word was never used in mixed company. Ladies mentioned it among themselves and to children in lowered voices. It was as though they feared the gulf brezes might pick up the word and toss it far and wide.

In spite of the hush-hush such a little building was found at every homesite. In the villages it was not far behind each dwelling. On farms it might be situated at a considerable distance from the living quarters.

The toilet -- I shall refer to it by the term I first learned -- was a small structure, high for its width and depth. It was built with a seat across the inside back wall. In this seat were usually two round holes. Some toilets, I was told, had a single hole. Others had a third smaller hole designed for use by children. The toilets on our school ground had three or four holes. In some hinged lids were added to be lowered over the holes.

The toilet sat flat on the ground with a raised floor in some. Beneath the seat an excavation of several feet had been dug. Periodically lime or wood ashes were poured down through the holes to disinfect the waste below.

Each toilet had a door that fastened on the outside with a large wooden button and on the inaide with a similar button or hook.

Into each toilet went out-of-season Sears, Roebeuck and Montgomery Ward catalogs. A few of the more prosperous families used bathroom tissue. Tissue paper, they called it.

On farms, especially, the toilet was moved to a new location every few years. The old excavation was then filled to ground level with dirt from the fields.

Some toilets had fancy designs cut high in the door. It might be a crescent moon or stars. The cut-outs admitted light and ventilation. Some merely had small circles sawed out high in the sides under the roof. These were often screened to keep out mosquitoes and dirt daubers. The openings had to be small to prevent rain and cold wind from blowing in.

I, for one, am thankful that our bathrooms of today with their modern commodes have eliminated the need for toilets of earlier days. Along with their demise I am glad, too, that we have lost our false modesty about not calling things by their proper names.

Bell City 4-H

This has been a busy year for the Bell City Junior 4-H Club. Some of the members manned the Gator Ade post for a bike-a-thon that went through the Holmwood area. They were Damus Broussard, Fanny Foreman, Crystal and Scott Thibodeaux, Mandy Trahan, Trish Primeaux, Stacy Daughenbaugh, Jennifer Tupper and Rocky Veilleux.

Many of the members donated food for the annual community food drive, and the members also collected food for Abraham's Tent. Damus Broussard helped stack groceries for three hours at Abraham's Tent.

The club decorated a float for the homecoming parade. The theme was "Down on the Bayou"; the float won the most spirited float in the parade.

Many of the members took part in the 4-H Dairy and Beef Poster Contest.

Fanny Foreman and Trish Primeaux have been attending 4-H Junior Leadership meetings once a month.

Sentences given here

A Cameron Parish Petit Jury was called into session in 38th Judicial District Court Monday but had to try no cases because guilty pleas were entered or cases were postponed.

Judge H. Ward Fontenot handed down the following sentences to the guilty pleas:

Roger Dale Obier, 33, Marshall St., Cameron, one year in jail, sentence suspended, and placed on two years supervised probation and pay $10 a week to probation officer; plus pay a fine of $1,000 for felony theft of assorted tools, welding gear, and marine accessories from Zapata Company.

Minutes are corrected

The following paragraph was printed incorrectly in the Jan. 3, 1989 proceedings of the Cameron Parish Police Jury published in the Feb. 9 issue of the Cameron Pilot. It is corrected as follows:

"The floor was opened for nominations for the two year term appointment of Administrator-Treasurer. Mr. Garner Nunez was nominated by Mr. Ducote, seconded by Mr. Dounine Conner and carried, that Mr. Nunez is hereby elected Administrator-Treasurer by acclamation."

Grand Chenier News

By ELORA MONTIE

After all the cold and bad weather of the past weeks, the weather cleared up beautifully this past Wednesday, Feb. 8, and remained nice and warming up each day of the week. By this past Monday the weather warmed up to 76 degrees. Everything is back to normal and folks were back in their yards cleaning up and mowing while others were again making preparations for planting Irish potatoes.

Cattlemen were kept busy caring for and feeding their livestock. The cattle will now be on the mend due to the large crops of clover and many patches of grass.

The flu is still around, some folks are still coming down with it. Those who have had it say it is very bad this year, and takes from two to three weeks to get over it.

This month has always been known to be a bad month for flu due to the cold and damp weather.

Public hearings set on fish management

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council will hold public hearings to allow the public to comment and suggest changes to a draft amendment to the Reef Fish Fishery Management Plan for the Gulf of Mexico which proposes size limits, commercial quotas, and recreational bag limits as well as a commercial permit for the sale of reef fish and prohibitions on the use of longlines and fish traps. Written comments on the draft amendment will be accepted until April 21.

Hearings in Louisiana will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held as follows:

April 3--McNeese State University, Student Union Building, Lake Charles.

April 4--Nichols State University, Powell Auditorium, Thibodaux.

The major provisions of the amendment that the Council is proposing for adoption as federal regulations are as follows:

— A 45 percent reduction in the 1979-1986 average red snapper catch effected by a 2.9 million pound commercial quota and a five fish per angler recreational bag limit.

— A 20 percent reduction in the 1979-1986 average grouper catch effected by a 9.3 million pound commercial quota and a five fish per angler recreational bag limit. The commercial quota is to be subdivided into 1.7 million for black and gag; 6.2 for red; and 1.4 for other grouper except jewfish.

— Minimum size limits of 12 inches total length for red, yellowtail, mutton, and gray, and eight inches for lane and vermilion snappers. In addition, a recreational daily bag limit of 10 snappers per angler, of which no more than five may be red snapper, is proposed.

— Minimum size limits of 20 inches total length for red, yellowfin, Nassau, black, and gag groupers and 50 inches for jewfish.

— A minimum size limit of eight inches total length for black sea bass.

— A minimum size limit of 28 inches fork length for greater amberjack. In addition, a 829,000 pound commercial quota and three fish recreational bag limit is proposed.

— The above bag limits would apply also to fish taken by trawl, entangling nets, or longlines (fished within prohibited areas).

— Fish traps fishing for reef fish would be prohibited in federal waters and bottom longlines and buoy rigs for reef fish would be prohibited within 50 fathoms west of Cape San Blas and within 20 fathoms east of Cape San Blas.

— To qualify for a commercial permit, an individual must have had 50 percent or more of his income derived from commercial fishing which may include charter (for-hire) income.

Probation is revoked

Judge H. Ward Fontenot revoked the probation in 38th Judicial District Court Thursday of Kirby G. Mallett, 20, of Lake Arthur.

Mallett was brought up on a probation violation and pleaded guilty to violation of a condition imposed upon him in a sentence he received in the local court on March 3, 1988.

At that time he pleaded guilty to burglary and theft and contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile, by entering the Cajun Riviera Cabins office in Holly Beach and stealing contents valued at $456.60; damaging the property by breaking a window pane; and having a juvenile with him at the time.

He was sentenced to one year in the parish jail, suspended, and ordered to pay a $760 fine for the felonies; and six months in jail, suspended, for the misdemeanors.

One of the conditions of the suspension of his sentencing was that he refrain from criminal conduct.

He violated this condition by pleading guilty to simple burglary, 2 counts, and receiving a sentence of three years in the Louisiana Department of Corrections in Jefferson Davis Parish.

Judge Fontenot revoked his probation and he was ordered to serve the original sentence, to coincide with time in Jeff Davis Parish.

Rice important crop in parish and state

By MRS. TOM TAYLOR

The story of the small, life unfolded, golden grain of rice, from the time its dropped into fertile soil until it reaches our table in edible form presents a most interesting and fascinating story.

It is a known fact that rice is the most important food crop in the world. The very staff of existence to many people in many lands. It is the number one agriculture crop in Southwest Louisiana, and the very fact that the rice industry is creating a lot of interest far and wide was clearly demonstrated by the successful results of the recent "Rice Marketing Tour".

Going back to my childhood days I can recall how the oldsters, of that time thought great progress had been made in the rice industry and rightly so considering how rice was grown in my grandmother's childhood days.

It was planted, she said, in rows like corn, this was known as highland rice, and depended on the rainfall for its fruiteon, therefore, it was also called Providence rice, and in the process of harvesting, every phase of it, was done by hand from cutting off the heads with a sickle to separate the grain from the chaff by flaying to remove the hull from the grain.

The latter, my grandmother said, was often her task, this was done by placing a small amount of rough rice, about 1 gal., in a mortar and using a pestle for pounding the grains until the hulls were removed, then it was fanned, this too was done by hand.

Considering these primitive methods we can readily understand why the sulky plow (bottom plow) and the gang plow (2 bottom plow) drawn by horses or mules was quite an improvement over the old way and too by this time about (1916) they had the binders to cut rice and threshing machine to separate the grain from the chaff and best of all they had the irrigation system which provided an ample amount of water for growing rice.

The rice industry of Southwest Louisiana, its development and success, is due largely to the Chalkley family.

It was back in 1882 the firm of Chalkley and Sons, an English Investment Co. purchased a million acres of land located in the parishes of Calcasieu, Cameron, Vermilion and what is now Jeff Davis Parish, bought with a possibility of raising rice in mind. The Company in America then became known as the North American Land and Timber Co.

H.G. Chalkley Sr. son of the founder and a graduate mechanical engineer came to Lake Charles in 1893. Twleve years later he became manager of the North American Timber Co. Being very industrious and interested in cultivating the prairie land, successfully prevailed upon the company to conduct an experiment in raising rice on high well-drained land, irrigated by lifting water from the bayou or lake to field level, a system now known as "artificial" irrigation.

The experiment was a success. So successful in fact, that the irrigation system conceived and placed in use at that time is still serving today with a few added refinements. The rice industry heretofore struggling in an arrested infancy, suddenly found itself, and with the tremendous influx of farmers even from as far away as the state of Iowa to Southwest Louisiana, it rapidly gained impetus.

Quantities of rice land were sold at this time.

MODERN FARMING

Now to take a look at modfarming. It would seem as if with all our modern machinery, almost a push button affair, we have reached the peak of progress, but have we? Even though much of the rice farming is done by plane, from rice planting, to minding the destructive birds, inventive minds will find ways and means for a continued progress. And now for a brief report on the recent Rice Marketing Tour which completes the rice story. The 1st stopbeing the Sweetlake Land and Oil Co. Canal System. Here I would like to mention the fact that The North American Land and Timber Co. mentioned earlier, was bought out by American stock holders in 1923 and established as an American Company known now as the Sweet Lake Land & Oil Co. with H. G. Chalkley Jr. President.

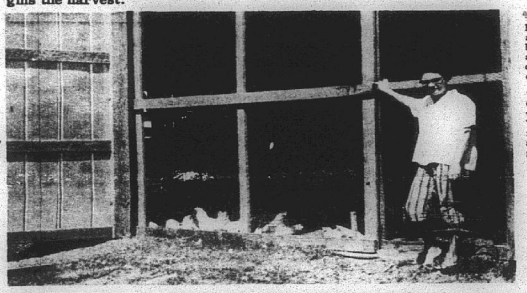
This canal system with its 2 diesel engines according to Miller Alexander, Canal Superintendent can take care of 5,000 acres of rice, pumping 80,000 gallons of water per minute.

A visit to the Vincent Leonards farm, demonstrated the use of combines in harvesting. Speakers were Dr. Rouse Caffey, Supt. of Rice Experiment Station, Crowley; and John E. Jackson, Parish Agent. The group was also treated to a demonstration of rice dusting or spraying by plane courtesy of Billie Rose President of La. Flyers, Inc.

The 3rd stop was at W. J. Gayle and Sons Dryer, On hand to explain procedure on this particular phase of processing were; Joseph L. Gayle, Mgr. and D.A. DeLaHoussaye, (Seed Rice) Crowley. This particular dryer can dry about 10,000 barrels of rice per day. Most of the rice is dried in commercial dryers such as this one, however some is dried on the farm. Farmers in our area having their own driers are the Hebert and Prechts and Walter Helms.

A point of great interest was the Louisiana State Rice Mill. Helping in guiding tourists were Austin Lee, Manager, and David H. Hunter, rice buyer. After the milling process rice goes into storage for bagging and packaging.

The 5 air conditioned bus loads of tourists arrived at the Port of Lake Charles in a down pour. Disappointment was sensed, a few expressed it, however, as it turned out, busses were able to park inside one of those large sheds built for storing rice.



The rain stopped in time for us to see the loading of rice aboard the ship "Jessie Lykes", bound for Indonesia.

We learned from H. S. Thielen, president of the H. S. Thielan Inc. many interesting facts concerning the Port of Lake Charles. This

Mr. LeBeouff, a retired farmer, was born and reared in the Grand Lake community. He had been living in Sweetlake community for the past 35 years.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday at St. Margarets Catholic church with Rev. L.P. Hebert officiating. Burial was in the Big Lake cemetery.

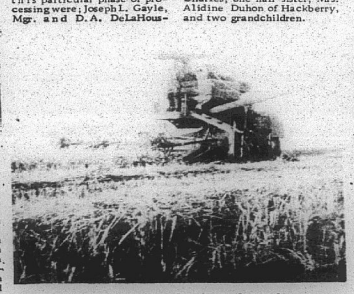
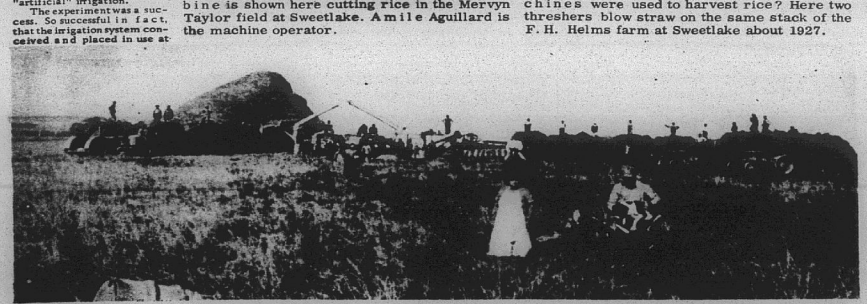
Groups pledge help in Fur Festival

Cooperation has been pledged by sixteen local civic and fraternal organizations in staging the Seventh Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, Hadley Fontenot, president, has reported.



The Festival which is set January 11 and 12 will be held Friday night and Saturday night. Friday's program will be in the Cameron elementary school and Saturday's program in the South Cameron high school.

Some phase of the Festival program will be taken over by each of the organizations.



Thousands generally turn out for the two day activities in Cameron, Fontenot said. Unique contests such as muskrat skinning, oyster shucking, boat racing, fur judging and trap shooting draw participants from all parts of Southwest Louisiana and Southeast Texas.

A festival queen is selected. She is given a fur coat, a trip to the Mardi Gras ball in Washington, D. C., and represents the parish at many of the state festivals during the year.

MUSTANGS RETURN

After a long and disappointing loosing skien the Hackberry Mustangs climbed on the win wagon last Friday with a thrilling 13 to 8 victory over the favored Vinton Lions.

It was long in coming but the victory was sweet as the Mustangs fought back from behind twice to notch the hard fought victory. Sparked by the passing and running of Ernie Parker the Mustangs were not to be denied their night of triumph.

With the passing yardage almost equal, 36 to 35 in the Mustangs favor it was the potent and consistent Mustang ground attack that cemented the victory. With Hackberry trailing 0 to 6 the Mustang's Parker hit Gerald Landry with a scoring strike. After Parkers extra point run had given the "Wild Hosses" a slim lead the Lions tackled Bobby Breaud in the End Zone to again take the lead. Climaxing a 65 yard drive Parker sprinted into the end zone to put the Mustangs ahead to stay.

The first Mustang victory in their 28th attempt could be a sign the draught is over for the South State Boys.

TARPONS TUMBLE YELLOW JACKETS

Leaving the door open for more to come the South Cameron Tarpons smashed out a 21 to 7 victory over the Iowa Yellow Jackets at Creole Friday night.

The rapier like thrust of Lester Richard and the Bull like charges of big "Bolo" Trosclair proved to much for the Iowa bunch as Richard scored on runs of 12 and 15 yards and big "Bolo" moved the ball almost the entire length of the field in three plays to sack the game away. Piling up a whopping 417 yard via the ground route the Tarpons completely dominated most of the play. Only a 12 yard sprint by All District Choice Joe LeFleur kept the Jackets hopes alive.

The Tarpons march to their first District Championship is still underway and gaining momentum.

FARMING PICTURE

Crops good in spite of all

In spite of mosquitoes and a long drought, followed by a tornado and heavy rains, Cameron parish farm crops appeared to be in fair or good shape this week as the second annual Cameron Parish Pilot Farming Edition went to press.

What could have been a record yield for the past rice crop received a setback from the long dry period during maturing stages of the crop and from the severe flooding some weeks ago which came at the same time the tornado hit Cameron.

Recess called in hurricane suit Tuesday

Another recess was called in the "Hurricane Audrey" suit trial in U.S. District Court in Lake Charles Tuesday after two witnesses were quized on hurricane warnings by a Government attorney.

What trial was scheduled to resume Thursday, October 4, with the questioning of unnamed expert witnesses by the Government.

Negligence of the Weather Bureau in failing to provide adequate warning is claimed by Whitney Bartie in the amount of $360,000 at the death of his wife and five children during the hurricane.

A movie, "Hurricane Watch", shown over a Lake Charles television station, was shown in the courtroom Tuesday and concerns the method in which hurricanes are tracked, the warnings given and precautions to take.

H. Alva Brumfield, attorney for Bartie, entered a "minor objection" to the movie as "self-serving propaganda" of the Weather Bureau.

Edward M. Vernon, a Washington, D.C., weather official, testified as to the making of the movie and the distribution of a pamphlet concerning hurricanes.

Hurricane Audrey hit Cameron on June 27, 1957.

Among exhibits offered by the Government were pages from the Lake Charles American Press which contained news coverage of the hurricane, including the Weather Bureau advisories printed in full. Income tax returns of Bartie showing listings of two dependent children were also noted.

The Bartie suit is considered a test case, there being another suit on file covering the same allegations against the Weather Bureau asking $3,755,000 in damages.

Hay is harvested at Grand Chenier

By-ELORA MONTIE

An old fashioned hay harvest took place at the Jeff Nunez farm in Grand Chenier Saturday. The cool dry weather, very appropriate for fall hay baling, was appreciated by the many who took part in the harvesting of 1,201 bales of hay at Jeff Nunez's farm Saturday.

This past week there were also many bales of hay saved from the Joe Canik and Dennis Bonsall farms.

Several farmers saved their hay during the hot summer months, which was difficult due to extremely hot temperatures and dry weather.

Delta Drilling Company began Oct. 1, stacking their rig on the Canik farm here at the Chenier.

The hour of winter schedule masses for St. Eugene Parish will begin Sunday, Oct. 7. Immaculate Conception 7 a.m. and Saint Eugene 8:30 a.m. and Sacred Heart Chapel in Pecan Island 10:30 a.m. Father Joseph Decoteau will say masses for the three churches.

Mrs. Olivia Miller of Sulphur, formally of Grand Chenier, has been very ill since last week after suffering a stroke.

$2500 donated for Cameron tornado relief

The Miami Corporation of Chicago has donated $2,500 for relief in Cameron in connection with the recent tornado, according to J.B. Jones, Jr., member of the Board of Directors of the Calcasieu-Cameron Chapter of American Red Cross.

The check was made payable to the American Red Cross, Calcasieu-Cameron Chapter.

The Miami Corporation owns land in Cameron parish and made a sizable donation after hurricane Audrey in 1957.

County agent Hadley Fontenot said it appeared that the per acre yield this year will be about 17 barrels, slightly less than that of last years. The parish growers will not receive as much money for their rice this year because of poorer quality caused by the drought which brought on cracking of the grains.

The rains, which knocked down much of the rice, caused losses of 4 to 5 barrels per acre on about 1200 acres of rice, the agent estimated.

However, the harvesting weather in the last few weeks has been excellent.

CATTLE

Cameron parish's other big farm money crop -- cattle had its problems this year also. Two big outbreaks of mosquitoes -- the worst in many years -- hit the parish causing the loss of hundreds of calves and grown animals plus the loss of weight on the other animals.

Many farmers moved their cattle to pastures outside the parish, while others sold parts of their herds. Efforts to get federal aid in spraying the insects failed after it was found that the cost would be too great.

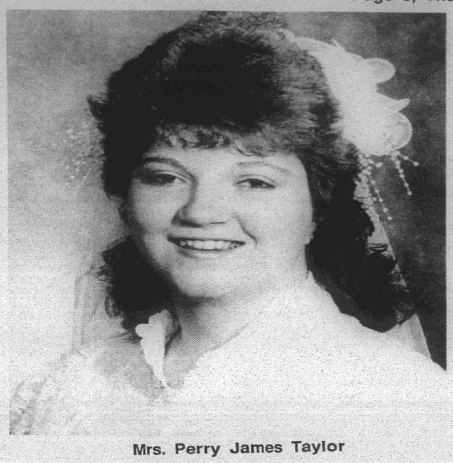
But with the last outbreak of mosquitoes about over and marsh ranges in very good condition, the cattle are expected to go into the winter in fair condition, Mr. Fontenot stated.

Another bright note for the cattlemen -- the parish hay crop, which had been feared lost because of the drought, did come in following the big rains and cattlemen were able to get some hay into their barns after all.

CORN CROP

Although the acreage is relatively small, the parish corn crop may well be the best ever produced on a per acreage yield basis, according to the agent.

ACP funds available



The Cameron Parish ASCS Committee has announced that a portion of 1963 ACP funds will be used to carry out fall practices, as soon as the funds are made available.

The committee is requesting that all farmers who are planning to carry out fall practices should come by the Cameron ASCS Office in the Courthouse building and sign up as soon as possible.

Approvals and Purchase orders will be issued as soon as 1963 funds are received and requests are approved by the county committee.

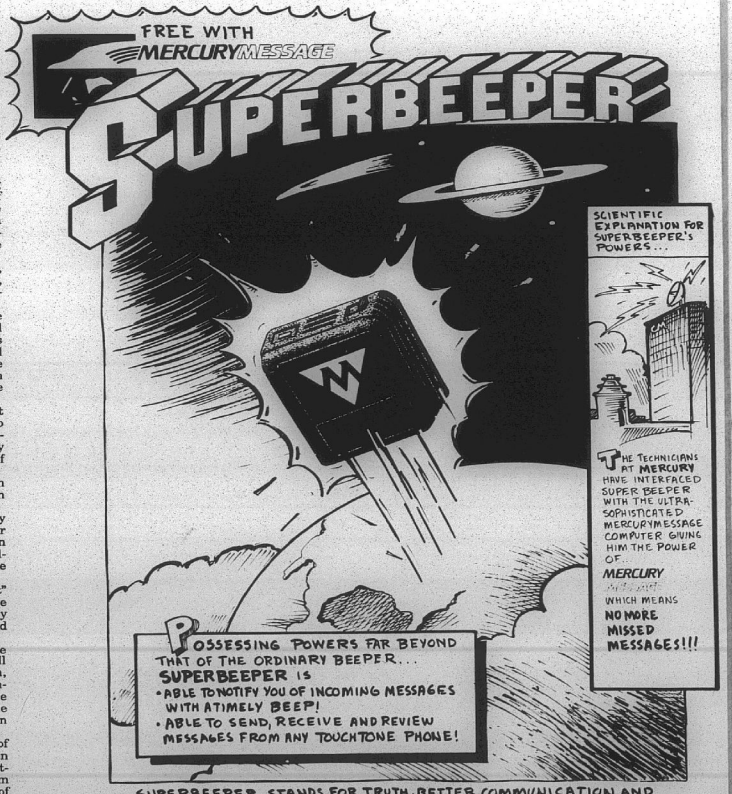
Fur industry is threatened

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Animal rights activists are having an adverse effect on the fur market, according to Greg Linscombe, a biologist for the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries and program manager for the Louisiana Fur and Alligator Advisory Council.
Lindscombe, who was at the recent Fur and Wildlife Festival in Cameron, explained that West Germany was at one time the greatest consumer of furs in the world but the activists are now drying up the Northern European market with their propaganda about "endangered species" and their acts of violence against people wearing fur garments.
A case in point is a recent demonstration in New York where women wearing expensive fur coats were attacked by extremeists and their fur coats sprayed with paint.
Linscombe says that the public must be educated that fur bearing animals and alligators are not endangered species, and that the trapping of these animals is necessary to balance the ecology of the marsh.
"If we could not trap in the marshlands, a large portion of coastal Louisiana would be affected," he said.
"The total loss of marsh vegetation would be phenomenal," he said, "and this would mean not merely the loss of the fur industry of the state, but also a loss to our seafood industry and a loss of habitat essential to migratory waterfowl and to hundreds of other species of birds and mammals dependent on these wetlands."
Furs from the wild are taken in accord with strict government regulations to assure that wildlife populations are healthy and in balance with their environment, Linscombe said.
No species used in the fur trade today are endangered by over exploitation.
In most parts of North America, wildlife managers control wild fur production by setting trapping season, with dates, duration and harvesting quotas set depending on local conditions.
Many animal populations must be controlled by trapping or hunting in order to protect human activities in developed areas. Bears destroy bee hives, coyotes kill livestock, raccoons raid corn fields, hungry deer and elk ravage winter stored hay, beavers flood farmland and roadways, foxes, mink and weasels have a taste for domestic poultry, and muskrats and nutrias can undermine farm and pasture levees and cattle walkways.
New trapping systems are researched and analyzed in an ongoing effort to identify and improve humane and effective trapping methods.
The experienced trapper knows precisely how to prepare his "sets" to take only the animals he wants. Traditionally such skills have been passed down from father to son and daughter and today's trapper is a professional.
The argument that trapping deprives fur bearing animals of the fundamental right to die peacefully in their beds creates a false impression. In truth, animals in the wild rarely, if ever, die of old age.
A cruel death awaits them all, by freezing, starving, disease, accident, predators, or combinations of things.
Richard M. Parsons, a delegate to the convention on International Trade in Endangered Species says, "Thanks to professional wildlife management, there are more species of wildlife thriving in the U. S. today than there were 100 years ago."
When many people think about conserving wildlife they usually do not consider harvest and utilization. However, harvest of many species helps insure the future of the species in many ways.
Coastal Louisiana provides an excellent example of conservation through utilization.
Muskrat and nutria are very prolific rodents and can, under certain conditions, increase in number to a point where the available habitat cannot support the population.
These animals literally "eatout" an area of the marsh, stripping the area of vegetation, leaving only large open areas of mud and dead vegetation.
Once these animals have damaged the vegetation they will begin to suffer from starvation, disease and fighting. Their number decline dramatically. If the conditions are unfavorable the area may remain open and even become open water.
This occurred on many areas of the coast during the 1940's when millions of muskrats caused "eatouts". The solution to this problem is maintaining the numbers of muskrat and nutria at a level that can be supported by available marsh vegetation.
This is done through trapping seasons and regulations, and through these efforts marsh damage is avoided and wetland habitat is conserved for all of the other species of fish and wildlife dependent on the marsh for food and cover.

COUNCIL FORMED
The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission organized a Fur and Alligator Advisory Council in 1986 to oversee the industry.
The nine people on the council represent the fur and alligator industry all over the state and serve without any compensation. They oversee public education and marketing and safeguard the spending of the money raised to run the state industry.
The money comes from the raising of the fees on the hunter's license, from $2 to $25, with $20 on each license going into the fund.
Two people from Cameron Parish serve on this board, nominated by the Louisiana Trappers Association; Darryl Dupont, who is vice president of the Trappers Association and land manager of Miami Corporation; and Benny Welch, an alligator farm operator.
There were approximately 8,000 trappers and 1500 alligator hunters in Louisiana when the trappers and hunters association was formed, but there are less now because of the depressed prices in the fur industry.
Realizing what a financial impact the sale of the hides and pelts can have on the economy of the state and locally, the Advisory Council is stressing public education, especially to counteract what the animal rights activists are saying.
Also, in the past, the most sought after furs locally, and those bringing the highest price were the mink pelts. The Council has started an organized effort to stress how durable and luxurious the local nutria and muskrat furs are.
The pelts are now dyed in different colors and even printed to look like other furs.
The nutria, when clipped down to the soft fur underneath, shearing all of the guard hairs away, feels exactly like the more expensive beaver.



FUR FESTIVAL
The Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, which holds their annual event in January, presented their Louisiana Fur Queen this year with a beautiful clipped nutria coat which could not be told from a soft beaver fur.
Linscombe pointed out that the fur and alligator business is a real potential to Louisiana and brings in over 9 million dollars each year in income for the fur trappers and another 10 million for the alligator trappers.
This is down from the 1970's when as much as 26 million was earned from fur sales, when the European market was up.
"We are hoping that by educating the public we can bring this market back up," Linscombe said.
He is taking a traveling display all over the world telling the story by means of visible display, a video machine that runs a movie on the industry, and passing out literature.
He had the display up at a local bank all during the recent Fur and Wildlife Festival in Cameron.

Chamber is represented at meeting

Ed Kelley and Clifton Cabell, representing the Cameron Chamber of Commerce tourist committee, met with representatives of area Chamber of Commerces and organizations from 11 Texas counties and several Southwest Louisiana parishes in Beaumont last week. The meeting was sponsored by KBMT-TV.
The meeting was held to establish a liaison between organizations sponsoring events and festivals.
KBMT representative Sunny Lee assembled all events on a calendar for 1989 and furnished all present with a copy.
Programs for closer cooperation between Chambers of Commerce and other organizations were discussed.

COMMISSION MEETS TODAY

The regular meeting of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission will be held Thursday, Feb. 16, at 2 p.m. at the Sheraton Inn in Bossier City. Tomorrow the meeting will continue at the same location at 10 a.m.

There will also be a public hearing on the hunting season for 1989-90 at 7 p.m. Feb. 16, at the same location.

Things on the agenda are: Law enforcement, review the budget, the waterfowl hunting season report, the deer task force report, the finfish task force status reort and the proposed new license - carrier and license stamp.

The statewide largemouth bass task force will meet Tuesday, Feb. 21, at the Baton Rouge headquarters at the La. Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries on Quail Drive. It will start at 6:30 p.m.

The task force is working to strengthen communications between sportsmen and the department and to develop management solutions to problems involving largemouth bass.

Ijust can't help but make a comment. If the Louisiana Commission doesn't put a size limit to at least 10 inches in length and drop the limit from 15 bass to at least 7, we'll never have a good large bass population in Louisiana, no matter if they stock Florida bass or not. We also need more enforcement on our bass limits. There are entirely too many small bass being kept and too much over the limits being taken home.

Look at Texas, where you have a number of good lakes, that produce real nice large bass. Their limit is 5 bass; 14 inches in length. They're not the only state either, Florida is the same, but look at the bass you catch in size when fishing their waters.

A public hearing on hunting seasons for 1989-90 will take place March 2, in Baton Rouge. This is like the lead-off meeting, being held today in Bossier City. This will allow sportsmen and others interested to discuss season dates, bag limits and other regulations. It will be at 7 p.m. on Quail drive. The Commissioners will have their regular meeting March 2, beginning at 2 p.m .and resume at 10 a.m. March 3, at the same location.

A third hearing will take place at the Holiday Inn in New Iberia Thursday, March 16, at 7 p.m.

LOCAL FISHING

Despite the cold weather, many anglers are wetting a hook these days. I saw some nice fresh water drum and redfish this past week. These were taken in inland waters on bait shrimp (frozen).

Also in the Lacassine Bayou and Lake Misere areas some real nice bass have been coming on. I've seen some nice limits with 2 and 3 pound bass. I also got a chance to hold a 6 pounder.

The bass, I think were ready to spawn, with all the warm spring-type weather we had been having. This cold spell will delay the spawning but the egg sacks are really full and ready.

I would hope to have a good bass year and with an early spawn, especially before the Big Burns and Lacassine and Sabine Refuges open in March, this could really mean a good season for 1990.

NEW REFUGE MANAGER

I would like to congratulate Paul Yakupzack as the new manager of the newly established Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge. Located by Gibbstown bridge, this will really benefit Cameron Parish, not only for hunting but for fishing. This will enable sportsmen to have an extra amount of lands to use, when it opens to the public, as this was all private lands before.

I think with all the experience Yakupzack has had, along with being assistant manager of Lacassine Refuge, he will do great, especially starting from scratch, he will help develop and manage this new refuge from the beginning.

HUNTING

If you're planning on getting more hunting in before you oil up the old gun and bring out the rod and reel, you don't have much time left, plus not too much left to hunt.

Our goose season closed the 14th of February; quail closes Feb. 28; rabbit closes Feb. 28; woodcock closes Feb. 12; and snipe closes Feb. 26.

As most of you know we don't have very many quail in our area anymore; and not many woodcock either.

We do have a few rabbits left and with this cold spell, rabbit hunting is at its best.

As for the geese, the season has really been fairly good this year. I think I've seen more speckle-belly geese then in previous years.

COST SAVINGS

The state will end stocking game fish fingerlings of private ponds as of July 1, 1989. Last year bass and blue gills and other game fish, were stocked by the state in 595 private ponds.

After July 1, land owners will still be able to restock their ponds by buying game fish fingerlings from private dealers.

The LDWF will continue to stock the state's public lakes, concentrating in the future on Florida bass. By devoting the stocking program to just public lakes, it will enable the department to share in federal matching funds.

LACASSINE REFUGE TO OPEN

The Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge will reopen to fishing and other general use on March 1.

The refuge has obtained a road that the public will be able to use to visit the refuge this year.

The road, according to Refuge Manager Bobby Brown, was to be open with other facilities by March 1, opening date, however, bad weather has forced the completion date to be moved back to March 30. In addition to the road, the refuge is working to complete a double boat launch ramp and a 50 car parking area.

Other roads on the refuge are being shelled to accommodate sightseers and other visitors.

This new road area and launch are located south of Hayes near the community of Illinois Plant. Directional signs will be erected on Highway 14 as soon as the facilities are ready.

Maps and copies of regulations for the refuge by visiting the refuge office can be obtained, or writing, Lacassine Refuge, Rt. 1 Box 186, Lake Arthur, La. 70546.

HACKBERRY OIL PROSPECTS

Hackberry Island is still attracting attention among men interested in the oil industry. It is a well-known fact among oil men that indications there are more flattering in most any other place in this section and although many wells have been driven and much prospecting having been done, oil in paying quantities has never yet been encountered. The indications, however, for an extensive oil field are so good that the place continues to hold a warm spot in the hearts of men familiar with oil fields and it would be no surprise if good producing wells were brought in there at most any time.

Several parties have either leased or purchased property there and many wells continue to be driven, so great is the confidence of oil men in that field.

J. E. Bergstedt of Sulphur, an extensive dealer in all kinds of lands in this section, concluded a deal today whereby Capt. Tom McCain, John Steele, E. R. Henry, H. H. Rock and H. Ellis became the owners of seven acres of land adjoining a tract where wells are being driven, for which they paid $125 per acre. Mr. Bergstedt thinks this land is one of the best oil prospects on the island. He predicts a bright future for Hackberry Island.

BOREALIS REX TO RE-ENTER SERVICE

Within three weeks, or 30 days at the latest, the Borealis Rex will again be in service between this city and Cameron which will be welcome news to the people generally and of Cameron Parish in particular.

When the boat went down in the river at the entrance of Prien Lake during the storm of August 6, last, it was thought lost forever. The 40 passengers were gotten off safely, together with much of the baggage before the boat disappeared from sight. A diver was secured from Galveston who examined the wreck and reported that the hull was intact, as well as the boiler and other machinery. Then the owners of the boat decided to ressurect her from the watery grave, which they did.

The boat, that is what was left of it, the smokestack, together with the woodwork above the hull, being washed away, was towed to the Clooney shipyard and the hull repaired. Then the hull was brought to the wharf at the foot of Pujo street where the boat is being rebuilt.

The engine and boiler has received necessary repairs, as well as the other machinery, boat carpenters have been at work for months, having met with many delays on account of weather, etc., and they have now nearly completed their work, now being engaged in hanging the doors and putting in the transom glass. A crew of painters are busy, following the carpenters and have the first coat of paint already spread.

The rebuilt Rex will be handsomer and more commodiuous than ever, there being many new features added under direction of Captain Tom McCain, and there will be no finer boat of its size in service anywhere than the Rex when it re-embarks on its first trip after its enventful experience. Capt. McCain is a happy man.

It will be a gala day in Cameron when the Rex whistle is heard on the first trip of the famous boat. Many Cameron people refuse to ride on the gasoline launch which has been doing service in place of the Rex, according to Capt. McCain, and he anticipates a great reception when he makes the first landing there after the long delay.

Many hundred head of beef cattle are awaiting shipment out of Cameron on the Rex, the owners refusing the trust the stock to barges, preferring to wait for the Rex.

The two smokestacks are expected to arrive within a couple of weeks and can be quickly placed in position. The large water wheel which was rescued, occupies a perch near the boar and can be installed in about half a day.

Cutoff of Federal funds threatened

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Cameron parish residents received some grim news last Wednesday night at a public meeting held at the courthouse with the Police Jury and Wayne Fairley, a representative of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) from the Denton, Tex., office.

Fairley informed the packed courtroom of local people that if the parish does not come into compliance with the FEMA minimum guidelines the parish will not be able to get any federal programs of any kind, including money for highways, federal grants for students, or construction of utilities, etc.

He stated, "I am here to conduct a survey of the parish to see if the Police Jury is in compliance with the government regulations and to enforce the program."

Glenn Alexander, Cameron Parish Assistant District Attorney, moderator, stated: "This is probably the first annual insurance meeting for Cameron Parish."

He pointed out that the Police Jury has been bombarded with questions on the flood program and this meeting with the FEMA people was to try to get some answers.

Alexander introduced Dr. Joe Shuayda of Louisiana State University, who has been doing consulting work for the jury for five years, in an effort to get the building level elevation for Cameron parish lowered.

Dr. Shuayda outlined the parish's efforts to deal with the program and stated that the contractor who made the rate maps did not have all the technical information when the maps were produced.

Book's perfume comes to life

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

First there was the best-selling novel, "Perfume of Paradise", a story about a magical perfume created by a Voodoo priestess in 1803 New Orleans and said to have the power to enslave men.

The perfume was the brainchild of Louisiana author Patricia Maxwell, better known by her penname of Jennifer Blake, one described in her book as a blend of roses, gardenias, jasmine, frangipani and sandlewood, plus a special mystery ingredient.

Lillie Gallagher, a fan from Baton Rouge, read the book and also read in Blake's newsletter about the women all over the United States who wished they could buy the perfume. She suggested that Patricia contact her cousin, Loretta Conner at Bourbon French Parfums in New Orleans.

Loretta, a former Cameron Parish resident and teacher at South Cameron High School, is on sabbatical leave working at the New Orleans perfume shop.

Bourbon French Parfums is one of a string of shops on the lower floor of the famous old Pontalba Apartments on St. Ann Street on Jackson Square.

The company specialized in perfumes with a Southern touch, including one called Voodoo Love, similar to the infamous love potions concocted in the 19th century by New Orleans Voodoo Queen, Marie Laveau.

They also custom blend perfumes for individuals, and have created frangrances for a number of well-known women, among them Pat Nixon. Loretta is one of two perfumers who actually make the perfumes, colognes, and powders on the premises.

When contacted, she agreed to create and package a perfume based on the decription in "Perfume of Paradise."

Recently, the first one hundred special edition bottles of the perfume were delivered in a meeting held at Lea's restaurant in Lecompte, traditionally half-way point between north and south

400 apply for jobs

Over 400 applications for employment have been received by the Cajun Festival Cruise Line which plans to operate a cruise ship out of Cameron.

The company has an office across from the Calcasieu Marine Bank in Cameron and is open from 9 to 5, Monday through Friday, for job applications. About 85 jobs are to be filled.

No date has been set yet on the firm's declaratory action filed in district court here seeking a legal opinion on the operation of the ship. If this opinion is favorable, the ship is expected to go into operation in the near future.

The company plans to offer evening cruises out into the Gulf featuring entertainment, dining and dancing. Also after it reaches international waters, a casino will be opened.

Ferry tolls delay asked

A plan to impose tolls for motorists and pedestrians on Louisiana ferries should be delayed until July 1, state transportation officials said last week.

J. L. Wax, a deputy secretary for the state Department of Transportation and Development, told a legislative committee that he will make the recommendation to Gov. Buddy Roemer.

The ferry tolls, tentatively scheduled to go into effect around March 20, would be 50 cents for pedestrians and $1 per trip for cars and trucks, Wax said.

According to Wax, tolls on all state ferries would generate about $2.4 million. But present plans call for the number of ferries to be cut from 14 to eight after July 1, he said.

There are two state operated ferries in Cameron parish.

Applications to be taken

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will accept applications for trapping permits on the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge March 1-31. Interested persons may obtain an application form by writing the refuge at Route 1, Box 186, Lake Arthur, La. 70549.

Applications must be returned to the refuge during March. Procedures for selecting trapprs, qualification standards and other pertinent information will be provided to interested persons with the application form.

The J.P. Boudoin Sr. Knights of Columbus Council 3014 of Creole, will hold their annual Knight of the Year and Daughter of the Year banquet Sunday, March 5, at 6:30 p.m. at the K.C. Home in Creole.

Grand Knight Loston McEvers is asking all members to contact Telsmar "Blanc" Bonsall and let him know if you and your wife will attend, or send form with check to Mr. Bonsall at P.O. Box 75, Creole, La. 70632, or call 542-4582.

A social hour will begin at 5 p.m. before the banquet.

Fishermen get tax exemption

As of Jan. 1, 1989, the federal fuel tax exemption for commercial fishermen went back into effect.

Vessel owners who paid the 15.1 cents per gallon tax on diesel (or 9.1 cents on gasoline) may get a refund using IRS form 4136 and submitting it with their 1988 income tax returns.

Marine fuel docks should have discontinued charging the 15.1 cents per gallon on diesel fuel gas as of this date.

For more information, contact the Cameron Extension Service office.

AN EDITORIAL

Action is needed

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

We in Cameron Parish are facing a grave situation, the possible closing off of all federal funds.

This was brought out in a public meeting held last week with representatives of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) in the courthouse.

FEMA is the enforcement arm of the Federal government and they plan to carry out flood control policies in Cameron parish. They told the Police Jury so in no uncertain terms.

The parish is now on probation and if the Police Jury does not enforce the policies set forth in the FEMA regulations all federal funds would be in jeopary.

It does not seem fair because FEMA has been very slow to update their flood plane maps when the Police Jury has presented them with verified information showing that the maps are wrong.

Dr. Joe Suhayda of L.S.U., an expert on the subject, who has been working as a consultant for the Police Jury for five years, has presented information to FEMA showing that their information was wrong and very little has been done to recitfy it.

Also, many communities and cities in the same situation as Cameron parish do not have the strict rules that we have been presented with and have been told we must abide by.

As I see it, the only course we have is to appeal to our congressional delegation in Washington. Our local politicians have all pledged their support, but they are not the ones who make the Federal laws.

We must organize and seek the help of our representatives in the Federal government and show them that we are requesting and needing their help in getting this unfair situation rectified.

It can be done. I worked for the Federal government for 19 years, in the Department of Agriculture, and saw how they could reach up in the air and pull out something if they needed it.

Our local clubs and organizations need to band together and contact the ones that can help us with this grave situation and we must do it quickly.

We have been warned that in the case of another grave disaster, such as Hurricane Audrey in 1957, we will get no disaster help if we do not comply with the FEMA regulations.

I am personally concerned because my family's people have been here since the 1850s and I would like to know that future generations of my family can continue to live here in peace and harmony.

Statement on ship made by Sheriff Savoie

Elsewhere in this issue of the Pilot is a statement from Sheriff James R. (Sono) Savoie concerning his office's position on the gambling ship that has been proposed to operate out of Cameron.

In his statement, Sheriff Savoie points out that under the present law gambling ships can only operate out of parishes of 500,000 or more. He noted that a ruling on this law is scheduled to be made in district court here in the near future.

"When they clarify this matter and they have the full consent of the law that Cameron can be their homeport, then they will get the full protection of the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department", Sheriff Savoie stated.

Tax guide here

The 1989 IRS Tax Guide for commercial fishermen (to be used with the 1988 returns) is now available in the office of the County Agent in the basement of the Cameron Courthouse.

This 47 page publication contains important information and changes to consider in preparing the 1988 tax returns.

Anyone desiring a free copy of the publication may contact the local county agent's office.

The public is invited to attend, according to Debbie B. Theriot, Clerk of Court.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Older Americans are more than twice as likely as the general population to be trapped in long-term poverty. One of every three persistently poor individuals is 65 or older.
- Contrary to what some politicians would have us believe, most older Americans are not well-to-do. According to the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, 62 percent of all seniors receiving Social Security rely on it for at least 50 percent of their income. Most of those rely on it for much more.
- Social Security is all that stands between nearly a third of the elderly and poverty.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CAMERON PARISH. . .

I would like to clarify some of the questions concerning the gambling ship that's supposed to be coming to Cameron. In January, Jerry Jones, myself, Eddie Joe Conner and Paul Coreil met with four persons that were planning on buying the gambling ship. They were wanting our point of view on having the ship's homeport in Cameron.

Through the discussion, Mr. Jones read the Louisiana law on gambling devices and told the people at that time that it was against the law to bring the ship to Cameron. So I am quoting you the act he read to these people.

GENERAL MORALITY

I. GAMBLING

§ 90. Gambling

A. Gambling is the intentional conducting, or directly assisting in the conducting, as a business, of any game, contest, lottery, or contrivance whereby a person risks the loss of anything of value in order to realize a profit.

Whoever commits the crime of gambling shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned for not more than six months, or both.

B. The conducting, or directly assisting in the conducting, as a business, of any game, contest, lottery, or contrivance on board a commercial cruise ship used for the international carriage of passengers whereby a person risks the loss of anything of value in order to realize a profit is not gambling and shall not be suppressed by any law enforcement officer of the state of Louisiana or any of its political subdivisions. This Subsection shall apply only to commercial cruise ships for the carriage of passengers which are sailing from a port outside the continental limits of the United States to a port in any parish of this state having a population of more than five hundred thousand or any such ship which is sailing from a port in such a parish to a port outside the continental limits of the United States, provided that the ship is not docked or anchored but is navigating enroute between such ports. Amended by Acts 1968, No. 647, § 1, eff. July 20, 1968, at 1:30 P.M.; Acts 1979, No. 633, § 1.

R.S. 15:21 Repealed

CHAPTER 1. CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE ANCILLARIES

CODE TITLE II. DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND ATTORNEY GENERAL

§ 21. Repealed by Acts 1983, No. 609, § 1

CODE TITLE III. THE CORONER AND OTHER OFFICERS

Section
21.1. Antique slot machines.

Law Review Commentaries

Judicial review of the legislative enactment process: Louisiana's "journal entry" rule. 41 La.L.Rev. 1187 (1981).

§ 21. Confiscation and destruction of gambling devices

A. (1) All law enforcement officers of municipal police forces, sheriffs' departments and the division of state police are hereby authorized and empowered and it is made mandatory and compulsory on their part to confiscate and immediately destroy all gambling devices or machines used for gambling that come to their attention.

(2) Any gaming device or equipment in possession of a licensed manufacturer, seller, distributor, transporter, or repairman in this state shall not be subject to confiscation and destruction unless such device or equipment is being used for unlawful gambling activities. If such confiscated device or equipment is considered an antique under Louisiana law, the device may be sold and such proceeds shall go to the office of state police fund as provided in R.S. 47:7001.

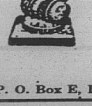
Amended by Acts 1967, No. 443, § 2

As he quoted, in his opinion, it was unlawful to have any gambling equipment in the State of Louisiana around a population of less than 500,000 people, or they would have to have a ruling from a Judge saying it was alright or change the statute of law through the Legislature.

I don't recall the exact date, but sometime in the first part of February, two men came back to visit me and wanted to know if they could bring the ship to Cameron and I told them that nothing had changed since the last time we met and until they could have a ruling from a Judge or change the law in the Legislature, it was against the law to have the ship in Cameron. Yet, I find that that there are rumors spreading through Cameron that I'm against the ship docking in Cameron. In my opinion, they want me to turn my head and say it's O.K.

As Chief Tax Collector, no one knows any better than I that our economy is very dim, but I don't think you elected me as Sheriff to know that something is not lawful to do and yet approve of it.

So when they clarify this matter and they have the full consent of the law that Cameron can be their homeport and they can go in and out, then they will get the full protection of the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department as a law abiding business. We'll help out in any way that my department can accommodate the people in and out of Cameron.



So many people are wondering what's my opinion on gambling. I never have been a gambler and never intend to be a gambler. But my personal opinion doesn't have a damn thing to do with what IS the law and what IS NOT the law.

the parish is higher than the present maps show, according to topography information furnished by Lonnie Harper, the parish engineer," he said. "We have some very important information we have furnished to FEMA and some things have been changed, but there is a lot more needed."

Any new construction in the parish must be elevated to a certain height, according to the flood plane on the map in the section in which the structure is to be located (for instance, in some areas of Johnson Bayou, the lower part of the first floor still must be 23 feet above sea level.)

State Rep. Randy Roach said, "I don't want to see any regulations imposed on Cameron Parish that are not necessary. I plan to meet with Congressman Hayes regarding the regulations we have to abide by."

"Evidentally the federal government is taking a hard line on this matter and the consequences of failure to comply with the program are monumental, such as no disaster relief to be available if the parish is not in compliance."

Fairley pointed out that it is the duty of the Police Jury to establish and enforce the compliance with the program with everyone in the parish in order to remain in the flood insurance program.

NOT IN COMPLIANCE

He said that when the local police jury first entered the program the compliance was very loose and that last year the program did not meet the minimum requirements.

"We are not picking on Cameron parish. It is strictly voluntary and the Police Jury must decide whether they want to remain in the program."

When Ray Conner, a police jury member asked, "Why can't we sign a form saying we do not want flood insurance?"

Fairley replied, "Because you have to do it. If you live in a flood plane area you have to do it or the Police Jury cannot participate in the flood insurance program — it is mandated by Congress."

Fairley said some of the ramifications of what happens if the Police Jury removes itself or is suspended from the program are: (1) Flood insurance will not be available to anyone in the parish, (2) No home loans could be made because mortgage and loan companies are required to have flood insurance on their loans, (3) If the parish doesn't participate, no federal funds will be available to the parish, (4) Disaster funds will be denied to the parish in the event of any disaster, (5) No federal money will be available for schools or children for college scholarships, or for help or the building of utilities, roads and other programs.

"Cameron Parish will face probation and suspension if it is not in minimum compliance in six months and FEMA will be back to check and whether you like the program or not you must comply," Fairley said.

There were many questions of concern from the floor, including what kind of a building must a service station put in that cannot be elevated?

The answer was that it had to install flood gates, which is not allowed in residential construction.

"Why have premiums on flood insurance steadily gone up since its inception, and no major disaster since 1957?"

It was pointed out that there are 1,374 flood insurance policies in the parish and the government has collected approximately $13 million since the program began in the 1960s.

Many people said they didn't even have flood insurance because it was too high.

One woman pointed out that an engineering mistake had been made on her new residential home and that she was having to pay $1100 a year on a $65,000 home because her first floor still was 9 inches below the minimum requirement on her elevated home.

Fairley said that during the period of 1980-87 $1.2 million on 299 claims has been paid out in the program.

Questions were asked about variances, such as old and infirm people not being able to negotiate building up on pilings and Fairley said, "Variances are very difficult to explain and can be given on property on rare and unique circumstances."

He pointed out that most of the 277 communities in the state that are under the program do not have it.

Existing trailer parks and already constructed homes are "Grandfathered" in and the only way a trailer can move in is to move into an already existing spot in a trailer park.

The police jury is to meet with the Lousiana congressional delegation in Washington in a few weeks to discuss the problems.

PERFUME

Louisiana.

Called Paradise, the perfume is a faithful rendition of a fictional scent, with the addition of one or two extra floral notes and special ingredients.

"When we first started this," Patricia says, "I wasn't sure it could be done. I had this fragrance in mind while I was writing the book and, though it was based on all my favorite scents, it really didn't seem possible that Loretta could bring something to life that was only a fantasy.

"To tell the truth, I was prepared to be disappointed, but I wasn't. Loretta did a wonderful, almost miraculous job."

The pure perfume, in limited edition, hand-blown glass bottles, is currently for sale at the French Quarter shop where it will also be available eventually in various forms, from perfume to cologne and sachets.

Lea's Restaurant, however, may never be the same.

The waitresses and the owner were so enthralled by this meeting of the author and perfumer that they bought six bottles of perfume and seven copies of "Perfume of Paradise."

In the process, a perfume bottle tag snagged on a bracelet and was dropped on the floor.

PLAYOFFS

With quarterfinal games coming up Thursday, the teams will be vying to see who will make it to the Sweet Sixteen in Alexandria.

The Lady Hornets squeaked through first quarter action with a slim 16-14 lead over the Ogden Lady Trojans. A switch in defense, a box and one, according to Coach Melancon, was the difference in the eventual outcome of the game. The 4-man zone plus a man to man coverage on Ogden's star player, point guard Jan McKinnley, brought Ogden's offense to a trickle. Grand Lake outscored Ogden 24-6 in the second and 24-6 in the third quarter to take a commanding third quarter lead of 64-26.

Rachel Manuel's mobility in fronting Jan McKinnley's drive attempts resulted in double teaming opportunities that wrecked the Ogden offense. With 4 minutes remaining to play, Melancon emptied the bench.

Jan McKinnley bagged 17 of 18 free throws to lead all scorers with 32 points. Grand Lake's team scoring had Rhonda Verzwyvelt with 28, Kay Lynn Breaux 19, Rachel Manuel 11, Jodi Montgomery 7, Amy Jo LeBoeuf 4, Missy Reon, Angie Stickle and Michelle Primeaux, 2 each.

The Hackberry Lady Mustangs had a big first halflead of 25-7 over the Holden Lady Rockets. The big lead was enough to remain well ahead at the final buzzer.

The team scoring effort was led by young Tiffany Seay with 17, Monise Seay 11, Marcie Duhon 9, Tiffany Kyle 5, DeDe Abshire 4 and Rachel Ducote 2.

Two children baptized at Sacred Heart

Two children were baptized on Sunday, Feb. 5 at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Msgr. M. J. Bernard officiated.

User fees coming?

USER FEES ON WMA LANDS

Bob Misso has come up with another bright idea, putting u-er fees on Wildlife Management A. as Lands. I must admit it could work, but I see lots of curves, which mean the plan could go his way or the political way.

The proposal user fee is similar to the one now used in Texas. Misso wants to discuss this with the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

The fee proposed is $35 annually for consumption outdoors use which would include hunting, fishing, crabbing, shrimping, trapping, firewood cutting (where permitted), but not only limited to these, which means more can be added.

Non-consumptive users would have a $10 fee which would include birdwatching, sightseeing, camping, field trails, fruit gathering (berry picking - expensive pies!), and of course not only limited to these.

The fees would be paid by all individuals 16 years and older except those persons acting as agents of the state or private landowners, persons using the area for commercial purposes for which the department is paid a separate fee (alligator hunters, timber contractors, mineral exploration activities) and persons or groups receiving a letter of permit from the Department Secretary, shall be exempt.

The first controversy is $35 is too high per person. Maybe Texas is charging $35 but everything in Texas is big.

Another issue, if these wildlife management areas now being used for free have dog hunting, under the new, land will not be able to have dog hunting. What about if you're camping and paying $10 non-consumptive users fee and you hunt elsewhere and bring your game back to your camping site, do you have to have a $35 consumptive user fee.

Now, for the revenues from this fee, it shall be divided as follows: Thirty percent of the gross revenue to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries for promotion and administration of the user fee program, to mark and sign the boundaries of new wildlife management areas and refuges and to provide additional regularly scheduled enforcement patrols on new wildlife management areas and refuges. The remaining 70 percent will be divided equal on a per acre basis among all wildlife management areas and refuge owners, including the department.

The department's portion of this 70 percent shall be divided equally with one half being placed in the Natural Heritage Tract Fund and the remaining half being used to supplement those funds currently expended to manage wildlife management areas and refuges.

The purpose of this is to try and get a minimum of 500,000 new lease acres into the WMA system. All companies owning these and the old WMA lands will be able to sign a lease for at least five years.

The department will be the final authority as to which tracts will be entered into the program.

Companies will be encouraged to donate their share of revenue to the department. If the funds are donated back to the department, these donated funds will be used on the donor property to implement mutually agreeable wildlife enhancement projects.

The collection end will be users fee stamps will be sold at normal department outlets.

So now my friends, as you can see, we have a license and stamp for every purpose these days and now you'll add another one to your collection.

I guess the only way we can be able to hunt and fish in the next few years (because of the cost of licenses and stamps) is to charge the state and federal government for the ducks and other game that stop and feed on our private property. You know a picture estimating the number and how much we'll charge the state and federal government for a duck or deer or other animals. We'll just call this a pouf fee - Property Owners Users Fee.

LACASSINE REFUGE NEWS

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will accept applications for trapping permits on the Lacasine National Wildlife Refuge from March 1, through March 31. Interested persons may obtain an application form by writing the refuge at Rte. 1 Box 186, Lake Arthur, La. 70549. All applications must be returned to the refuge during the month of March.

TURKEYS DESTROYED

A few weeks ago I wrote about not mixing tame turkeys with wild turkeys because of disease.

Well, in Benton a turkey raiser had wildlife officials and the courts win a battle and 48 pen raised turkeys were sent to the gas chamber because they were a disease hazard to their wild cousins.

Wildlife officials claimed pen raised turkeys fail to survive in the wild and may spread disease that could wipe out a whole flock of wild birds.

AREA NEWS

If you're in the mood for big fish (bass) and white perch and you don't mind a few hours of travel, head west my man. Sam Rayburn and Toledo Bend have really been producing some nice large bass. Also, Toledo Bend's white perch fishing is really good, with some white perch, right at 4 pounds caught last week. On our end up east, the Atchfalaya River Basin is producing some bass and white perch. In the Henderson area bass are up in the trees where they had a high water situation this year. These bass are wanting to spawn and it's almost impossible to get your boat through these trees, however, this will help the spawn and produce some fine fishing next year with a new crop of bass.

On the Calcasieu River area of Lake Charles, there's talk that results of the last test for pollution may result in asking that all fishing and swimming stop. Already the Bayou D'inde area is closed to fishing and swimming.

Until next week, get your fishing gear ready and relieve your fishing fever a degree or two, cause March 1 is around the corner.

Tolls put back on Mississippi River ferries

After 10 years of free rides, motorists must pay tolls to cross the Mississippi River on the ferry from Lutcher to Vacherie.

The $1 fee for most vehicles will be collected by the St. James Parish Council, which said it needed the money to make up for state budget cuts.

Most other ferries in the state are run by the state Department of Transportation and Development.

They are toll-free for the moment, but state Commissioner of Administration Dennis Stine said tolls cold be imposed on state ferries as soon as March 20.

(Cameron Parish has two state ferries in operation--both at Cameron, one on the ship channel and the other running to Monkey Island.)

It costs about $600,000 a year to run the Lutcher-Vacherie ferry, Parish Finance Director Dale Hymel Jr. said.

When tolls were lifted in 1979, the state agreed to contribute $450,000 a year to help finance the operation. The rest came from the parish general fund.

The state subsidy is down to $150,000 this fiscal year, and "come July 1, we won't be receiving any more state funds," Hymel said.

Hang Fund has moved office

Paul Coreil, Area Fisheries and Wildlife Agent, announces that the Fisherman's Contingency Fund (Federal Hang Fund) has moved its offices.

Fishermen who suffer gear and vessel damage and need to make a claim should use the following telephone number and address: Fisherman's Contingency Fund, 1335 East-West Highway, Silver Spring, Md. 20910, Phone (301) 427-2396.

Indian cooking . . .

By Bernice Denny

I have been reading an interesting book, "Indians of the Southeast: Then and Now," by Jesse Burt and Robert B. Ferguson.

The chapter on Indian menus was especially enlightening to me. It dispelled some of my preconceived ideas about Indian cookery. I had supposed that many of their foods were eaten raw or were cooked a short period of time.

Not so, said LaPage da Pratz, an early historian writing of the Indians of French Louisiana. I quote:

"They never eat raw flesh as so many persons have falsely imagined.

"In France we have entire kingdoms which do not give their meats as much time to cook as the native of Louisiana allow."

He then goes on to praise the delicate portions of bison, the special enjoyment of the Indians.

It was recorded around 1775 by two writers that by European standards Indian foods were overcooked. They also noted the great variety of foods eaten by the Creeks and Cherokees.

The alligator, gaining rapidly the reputation as a food delicacy today was long ago prized by the Indians of Louisiana, especially those of the gulf coast.

The Bayogoulas had made the alligator their tribal emblem. Its meat was a favorite source of protein for them.

Father Du Ru, a Jesuit priest in 1700 described in his journal how the Indians in Louisiana caught alligators. The Acolapissas and the Washas, he wrote, lived just north of the present city of New Orleans. The hunters would swim out to meet an alligator. With them they carried a sharpened piece of hardwood. They would lodge it forcefully into the alligator's gaping jaws to protect themselves from its sharp teeth while they wrestled it to shore.

The Attakapas living in lake, bayou, or lagoon areas of Louisiana consumed great quantities of fish.

A great variety of herbs, roots, fruits, berries, nuts, and vegetables were eaten. The creeks were said to cook corn in at least forty-two different ways. Deer, bear, smaller game, fowls, and turtles were eaten.

Foods were seasoned with salt, sassafras, and wild cinnamon. Indians, however, drew the line at the white man's pepper and mustard. They insisted that only mad men used either.

Oyster area is enlarged

Rep. Randy Roach has announced that he and others have been successful in getting the Louisiana Dept. of Health to approve the relocation of the south boundary of the open oyster grounds on the east side of Calcasieu Lake.

The moving of the line will add an additional area for oystering in Cameron parish, Rep. Roach said.

Maps will be available prior to the opening of this are which will be on the opening date of the 1989 oyster season--March 1.

Ants can be frozen for long periods without harm. Many spend the winter inside logs and stumps, coated with ice crystals.

Mr. Mayo looks for tents here

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, Feb. 28, 1919)
CAMERON TRIP FULL OF THRILLS

Seaman A. Mayo has just returned from a trip to Cameron where he went in search of certain tents owned by the U. S. government and loaned by the Red Cross to persons sustaining losses of homes in the August storm. These tents belonging to the government had been called for months ago, but assembling them ready for shipment proved a lengthy and tedious task, as Seaman can tell anyone who wishes to inquire.

Mayo went to Grand Chenier, Oak Grove and Creole and his journey was full of vicissitudes. Having a sense of humor he found ample opportunity to practice this faculty. Cameron Parish has had an unusual rainfall; the marshes are so sodden and water soaked and covered that even a snipe would bog down in many places. At the time Seaman was there the north wind was blowing at a pretty good rate and it blew the water out of the canal to such an extent that it was below normal and in some places boating was not what it ought to have been and walking was out of the question.

Seaman did not say how many tents he retrieved on this hunt, but he did say that boating on the whole was fairly good.

(Lake Charles American Press, Feb. 24, 1923)
CAMERON NEWS

Grand Chenier, Feb. 20--The farmers in this section have been taking advantage of the splendid weather conditions and are getting their land in excellent condition for cotton planting. If the present weather continues for ten days practically all of the land will be prepared. The corn crop will be all planted within the next eight days, some having been planted. Irish potatoes have been planted for ten days, and about ready to mark the rows: Quite a few melons will be planted this week.

There is an abundance of the little red-breast robins here, and they seem to want to stay a while. The robin has not made a visit here for two years. Some farmers predict severe cold ahead on account of the long stay of the red-breast.

From an opinion handed out by District Attorney Hawkins, recently, the Cameron people who have registered will have to reregister. He advises that Cameron Parish is not allowed a deputy and up until this date Judge Bruckert has been assisting in the office. An election has been called in the fourth ward to determine whether or not a hog law should be enforced in that section and if the voters from that section registered under a deputy, the election will probably be called off. The clerk of the Cameron Police Jury is now investigating this question, and if necessary will inform the voters of the fourth ward of the fact.

Hermann VonEchrenck, president of the Audubon Society of Missouri and of the Missouri Forestry Association, headquartered at St. Louis, will be down about the 24th of the month to spend a while for the purpose of studying and taking photographs of the bird life. He will be accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. O'Reilly.

The large launch Winona will leave here this week for Morgan City, where she will load and also load a barge with lumber for this place.

Moise Sturlese is recovering from a severe attack of malaria.

Dr. Alvin Sweeney, stationed in New York and with Uncle Sam, is spending about two weeks here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Sweeney. Major Sweeney has not visited here for seven years, and everybody was very glad to see him.

(Abbeville Meridional, Feb. 26, 1910)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well, we have a new school teacher from Shreveport. She arrived Saturday and started school Feb. 21.

Mr. Miller put a large patch of cane in the past week. Will put in Irish potatoes this week.

Some folks say fish are commencing to bite.

Friday morning and night previous was the coldest here this season so far. The thermometer got down to 26 here and probably 3 or 4 degrees lower on the prairie.

Mr. Bean, the P. O. inspector was around checking up accounts and we are O. K.

Tender garden truck was destroyed by the freeze of Thursday night.

Warming will devastate coastal area

The EPA warns that global warming will have a devastating impact on coastal swamps and marshes due to unprecedented rises in sea levels.

Sea levels, which have been rising six inches per century, are predicted to rise as much as five to fifteen inches by the year 2025, and two to seven feet by 2100.

If the greenhouse effect causes the oceans to warm and expand and glacial ice to melt at expected rates, an increase of five to seven feet would mean a loss of 30 to 80 percent of the nation's wetlands, according to an EPA report.

The loss of Gulf Coast wetlands would mean a tremendous loss of fisheries productivity since an estimated 80-90% of all commercially and recreationally important marine species of fish and shellfish depend on these vegetated marshes during some phase of their lives for habitat, food and shelter.

These tidally influenced lands also serve as a natural means of pollution control for our bays and estuaries, and as protection against floods and salt water intrusion into surface and groundwater sources.

Because of these invaluable and irreplacable benefits, scientists are urging that global measures be taken as soon as possible to combat the causes of the greenhouse effect and to ensure protection of our coastal nursery areas as well as our vulnerable coastal communities, before it is too late.

Sabine Refuge to open on March 1 for fishing

On March 1, the interior canals, bayous, ponds and impoundments of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge will open for public fishing, crabbing, crayfishing and shrimp cast netting and will remain open until Oct. 15. Legal hours for the public to be on the refuge for any purpose are from one hour before sunrise until one hour after sunset, Refuge Manager John Walther advised.

Fishing prospects for the refuge are good for all three impoundments, Walther noted. However, water levels within the impoundments have never returned to operational levels since the drought of last year. Heavy winter rains normal for the area have been lighter on the refuge than in many adjacent areas which has not helped pool water levels.

Bass fishing in both Pool 3 and Pool 1a should continue to improve. Catfish in Pool 1a are still waiting for some area fisherman to discover a sure-fire way to catch them. Crappie and bream fishing will be good in all three impoundments this year, Walther continued.

Pool 1a will also have several miles of new trails cut through it for better fishing access, if planned use of a trail "cookie cutter" are fulfilled during February.

Walther continued, several major changes in refuge fishing regulations should be noted by area fishermen. Crabs and crayfish can be taken with ring nets of up to 18 inches diameter or on hand lines. The size of the ring nets changed from 30" last year to 18" this year.

In the East Cove unit of the refuge no fishing will be permitted within 250 feet of either side of or from the Lambert and Grand Bayou water control structures.

With the completion of the Cameron-Creole Small Watershed Project along the east shore of Calcasieu Lake, the only access into the refuge and the watershed project will be through the boat passage bay at the Grand Bayou structure. All other lakeshore access into these marshes has been closed off by the completion of the watershed project.

The initial management phase for the watershed will also effect the use of refuge lands by fishermen. From Feb. 15, or final acceptance date for all construction work on this project by the Cameron Gravity Drainage District and the Soil Conservation Service, the boat passage bay on Grand Bayou will be closed to public use to permit draw-down water management on the project area.

Fishermen will be excluded from this marsh until July 15, when the boat passage bay will be opened and will remain open until Feb. 15, 1990. During this boat passage closure period, Feb. 15, through July 14, the refuge is closing the entire East Cove unit to all public use. Anyone found on refuge property during this time period will be cited for trespassing.

From July 15 on, the refuge will again be open to usage by area fishermen, Walther explained.

No crab pots or traps, or commercial fishing gear are permitted on the refuge except that persons using Hog Island Gulley, Headquarters, or West Cove canals may only transport shrimp trawls, butterfly nets, or other nets from the boat ramps to Calcasieu Lake and return with their catch.

Copies of the new fishing regulations for Sabine National Wildlife Refuge are available for all fishermen at refuge headquarters or by telephoning the refuge at 762-3816 or writing the refuge office: Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, Hwy. 27 South 3000 Main Street, Hackberry, La. 70645.

New oyster fee asked

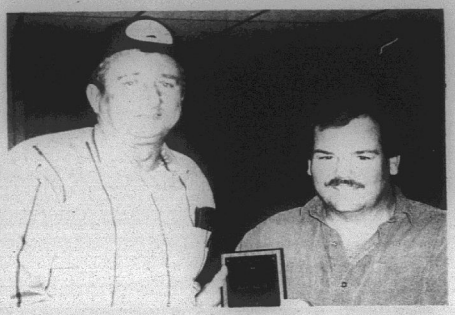
The Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals has proposed a new 35¢ oyster tag to cover the costs of the Oyster Water Monitoring Program.

This new "Health Tag" would be required in addition to the LDWF 4¢ tag currently required on each sack or container of oysters.

Of the total 35¢, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries will receive 10¢ and the Health Department will receive 25¢.

The LDWF allocation will be used to pay for the enforcement of this tagging requirement.

A minimum tag purchase requirement will be a box lot of 500 tags with the beginning tag serial number and ending tag serial number recorded on the outside panel of each box.



Upon purchase, the serial numbers will be recorded in the name of the harvester or certified shellfish shipper for whom the purchse is intended. The tag will be non-transferable and must be purchased through the Office of Public Health.

These Health Tags will have to be attached to each container or sack immediately upon arrival at the dock by the harvester or the certified shellfish shipper.

Each tag will be for one time application.

Anyone wishing to comment on this proposed Health Tag should write to Mr. Joseph D. Kimbrell, Deputy Assistant Secretary-Programs, P.O. Box 60630, New Orleans, Louisiana 70160.

Mee g set on fishing Thursday

By JERRY WISE

About 100 gillnet fishermen in Cameron parish have been seriously affected by the avisory issued by state agencies last week against the sale and consumption of speckled trout and white trout taken anywhere in the Calcasieu River estuary, including Calcasieu (Big) Lake.

Paul Coreil, wildlife and fisheries agent with the LSU Extension Service, said it was hoped some more definite answers on the advisory will be given at a public meeting to be held at 7 p.m., Thursday, March 2, in the Chaulkley Room of Burton Coliseum in Lake Charles.

The meeting has been called by Rep. Randy Roach and state health, environmental and wildlife and fisheries officials will be on hand to discuss the pollution problems in the Calcasieu water system. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Coreil noted that the advisory issued by the state health department and environmental agency was not a ban on the taking of the fish, but as a practical matter the advisory has dried up the market for the fish.

"What we have to make absolutely clear to the public is that this advisory was on speckled and white trout only and does not apply to shrimp, oysters and crabs taken from the lake and river," Coreil stated.

He also said that what needed to be done now was to find out the source of the pollution and to put a stop to it.

Coreil said that the fishermen affected by the advisory worked primarily out of Hackberry and Holly Beach with some out of Cameron.

Advisory is given here on trout

An advisory against the sale and consumption of speckled trout and white trout taken from anywhere in the entire Calcasieu River Estuary system from the saltwater barrier to the Gulf of Mexico was issued jointly last week by the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and the Department of Health and Hospitals (DHH).

Louis Trachtman, M.D., M.P.H., acting state health officer, said data collected over the past year indicate that the two species of fish named contain levels of hexachlorobenzene and hexochlorobutadiene that pose a potential health risk to the public.

The expanded advisory also remind Calcasieu Parish residents of previous advisories against obtaining and consuming fish, shellfish or other seafood organisms and swimming, wading and water sports in Bayou d'Inde.

In a January, 1987, advisory, DEQ and DHH warned against eating fish, shellfish or other seafood organisms taken from Bayou d'Inde, Prien Lake and that portion of the Calcasieu River bounded by Buoy Number 112 on the upstream and Buoy Number 106 on the downstream ends. Roughly, from just above the I-210 bridge to just north of Moss Lake.

Sampling of water, marine life and sediments from the entire Calcasieu system is continuing and further advisories will be issued whenever assessments indicate potential health risks, they said.

Mr. Theriot rites held

J. O. Theriot, who founded Cameron Parish's first funeral home over 50 years ago, died Thursday in a Lake Charles Nursing Home at the age of 89.

Funeral services for Mr. Theriot were held Thursday from Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church in Lake Charles. Rev. Joe McGrath officiated and burial was in Prien Memorial Park.

A native of Youngsville and a former resident of Erath, Mr. Theriot opened Theriot Funeral Home in Creole in 1933 and operated it until 1954 when his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Donnell, took over the operation.

He moved back to Erath and about 10 years ago to Lake Charles. He was a past grand knight of J. P. Boudoin Knights of Columbus Council of Creole, a member of Msgr. Hubert Cramers Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus. He was also a charter member of the Erath Lions Club.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Joe (Doris) O'Donnell of Lake Charles and Mrs. Floyd (Beverly) Coleman of Liberty, Tex.; one sister, Mrs. Vernis (Helen) Boudreaux of Erath, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

New business

A new business started up this week in Sweetlake, the first of its kind in this area.

Rick Travis of Lake Charles has started a crawfish processing plant called "King Cajun Crawfish."

It is located 1/4 mile south of Hackett's Corner, on the first road to the east, at the site of the old Perkins Alligator farm.

Travis plans to pay what the Eunice crawfish market price is for the crawfish he buys from crawfish farmers, then will sell crawfish bait (frozen fish) and will wholesale and retail live (sacked) and peeled crawfish meat.

He is now looking for peelers because his crawfish are hand peeled.

Travis can be reached at 478-4112 in Lake Charles, after 6 p.m.

Hornet teams in state playoffs

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Grand Lake boys, a wild card team a year ago, moved up several notches in 1989. The Hornets claimed the 8-C district championship with a 6-0 record.

Not expected to be a power house in the state playoff, the improved Hornets, coached by Mike Thomas, surprised their bi-district opponent Bell City, with a come from behind final seconds victory of 54-53. The Bruins had swamped the Hornets in a previous early season game.

Grand Lake, 16-16, will play the Pecan Island-Runnels winner Friday night in the third round of the playoffs at a site to be determined.

In the Grand Lake-Bell City game the Bruins held a 45-39 lead tangs, the end was an unbelievable shock. The 33-4 record will not be easily outdone by future Lady Mustang teams.

License office now full time

Cameron's Office of Motor Vehicles (drivers license office) which has been on a part time basis for several weeks while the manager was taking additional training is now back on a full time schedule, according to Daleen Cheramie, manager.

The office, located in the basement of the courthouse, is open from 8 to noon and 1 to 4 Monday through Friday.

Services of the office are scheduled to be expanded in the near future to provide services to parish motorists.

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Grand Lake Lady Hornets, champions of district 8C, entered the state basketball playoffs in top form, storming over bi-district, regional and quarterfinal opponents to earn a passport to the "Sweet Sixteen" State Tournament.

Participation in the Sweet Sixteen is a first in the school's history as well as for Cameron parish girls basketball.

The 25-9 Lady Hornets will play the Saline Lady Bobcats at 6 p.m. Thursday in the Rapides Coliseum, Alexandria, site for all Sweet Sixteen games.

The Hackberry Lady Mustangs lost their bid to the Sweet Sixteen at game's end in the quarterfinals. Leading by 1 with 2 seconds remaining, Florien drew a disputed foul call on a desperation play. The youngster who made both ends of the one and one, deserves some credit, under the circumstances. For the Lady Mustangs the end of three quarters of play.

With less than a minute left, Grand Lake's long range bomber, Derrick Robideaux, squared off on target for a 3 pointer, seconds later Larry Broussard rebounded for two and a foul shot by Robideaux put the Hornets ahead 54-53 for the victory.

Festival queen USA runnerup

The 1984 Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival queen made national television Tuesday night when she was selected as the third runnerup in the Miss USA Contest held in Mobile, Alabama.

Elizabeth Primm, who represented the Festival throughout 1984, also won the most photogenic award at the Miss USA Pageant. A resident of Houma, she was representing Louisiana in the event.

Miss Primm was a special guest at this year's Fur Festival in Cameron and crowned the 1989 queen.

DeBarge gets appointment

John DeBarge, Hackberry businessman, has been named as Cameron Parish's representative on the Sabine River Authority board of directors. The board makes policies concerning the Toledo Bend dam and the flow of water down the Sabine.

Mr. DeBarge is owner of a convenience store in Hackberry and is a former member of the Cameron Parish School Board and a former Hackberry High School principal.

FEMA campaign planned

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce will join forces with the Cameron Lions Club and other organizations in a letter writing campaign to Congressmen and the Federal Emergency Management Agency in regard to the FEMA regulations for Cameron Parish.

A forum is also planned to which the congressional delegation will be invited so they can hear the views of local residents and businessmen on the restrictions placed on building in the parish.

It was pointed out at a meeting with FEMA officials that the lower base flood elevation for Cameron Parish needs some changes, but FEMA has been very reluctant to do anything about it.

This was brought out at the monthly meeting of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce held last week at the Cameron Motel restaurant.

The Chamber also decided to hold special meetings in the outlying communities to invite local participation. The meetings are open to the public and the Chamber is hoping to gain many new members.

The Hackberry meeting will be held Tuesday, April 4, at 7 p.m. at the Community Center and the Grand Lake meeting will be held Thursday, April 13, at 7 p.m. in the Our Lady of the Lake Community Center.

Coreil announced that one of the local members, John DeBarge, has been appointed by Senator Jack Doland to the Sabine River Authority.

A report was given by Mrs. Yvonne Mhire on the Louisiana Fairs and Festivals state meeting a group attended last weekend in Baton Rouge and pointed out what a good money-making event festivals are to the communities.

It was thought that more publicity should be given to all the festivals the parish has such as the Summer Fishing Festival, the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, the Alligator Festival, and the July 4th Fishing Rodeo.

Dinah Vaughan, the Chamber secretary, announced that over 100 letters have been received by the Chamber from people wanting to locate in or visit Cameron Parish.

Coreil said that a Resource Directory on the parish is now being prepared to hand out. It will contain all the busineses and the services they perform.

Mark Dunham, sponsored by the local Chamber, is to attend the March 7, Police Jury meeting in regard to the establishing an Enterprise Zone, which will have the advantage of a ten year exemption on property tax.

Rodney Guilbeaux gave a report on a site visit by Rep. Randy Roach, Dave Chambers and Dave Soileau, who surveyed the damage to the coast due to erosion and a visit to Rockefeller Refuge.

A letter was also read from Rep. Roach concerning the Grand Isle Project, where the mayor of the town is trying to get sponsors for jetty rocks to try to help protect the coast down there from erosion.

The next Chamber of Commerce meeting will be March 16, at Pat's Restaurant in Cameron

Mrs. Broussard has 99th birthday

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Most of the Laurent Broussard family gathered at the family home Saturday to celebrate the 99th birthday of Mrs. Aledia Theriot Broussard. The beautiful white-haired lady still holds court to her family in the home where she resides by herself.

She still observes a very old custom of being served coffee in bed each morning by her son, Loomis, who with his wife, lives next door.

Her husband passed away in 1964 and she has lived alone in her home, doing all of her own work and cooking up until a few years ago. She gets around with the aid of a walker and gets her exercise daily walking around her home.

She is never at a loss for company because of 102 offspring from her and her late husband, Laurent Broussard.

Aledia was born to Sandville and Amelia Miller Theriot in East Creole and met her future husband at a very early age. With a twinkle in her eye she stated in French (translated by a grandchild) that she was married at 14 to a very old man, "He was 20 years old," she said.

Her family had first come to Chenier Perdue in the late 1840s when her granfather, Jean Vileor Theriot, came down the Mermentau River from Lake Arthur searching for grazing lands for his vast cattle herd. He found it on a ridge by the river and named it "Chenier Perdue", meaning "Lost Oak."

The house was build on his "vacherie" (ranch) still stands today, having weathered hurricanes, storms and pestulances since 1847.

Mrs. Broussard recalls the many hardships in the early days in Creole. In order to get from her house out onto the main road it was often only negotiable by pirogue, or on horseback because of the low marshes in between the high ridges the homes were built on.

In order to take out and bring in supplies a "thraneau" had to be used. (A wooden sled drug behind a horse.)

Mrs. Broussard's husband was a farmer, hunter, and trapper and took pride in the fact that he always worked for himself and never held a public job.

They had five children, Loomis, and Harry Broussard, Eunice Richard, Annie Broussard, and Amanda Hebert. (Harry and Amanda are deceased.)

During her marriage the Broussards lost three homes, two to fires and one in a hurricane.

In 1957 during Hurricane Audrey, her son and family sought refuge in the homeplace and when the flood waters rose higher and higher in the house, Loomis beat a hole in the ceiling to lift his father, Laurent, up into the attic, to which the rest of the family followed.

Laurent was completely paralyzed from a stroke.

The family survived in the attic of the home which was broken up when it landed back in the marsh, north of the house.

In addition to the 5 children, there were 10 grandchildren, 38 great-grandchildren and 49 great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Broussard seems content to sit in her own home and reflect on the many wonderful memories she has lived through in Creole for 99 years and to be surrounded by so many family members who she has lived to see make responsible members of Cameron Parish.

Cotton pests are bad

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, March 5, 1928)
COTTON PEST IN CAMERON PARISH

The pink boll worm, which is the most destructive pest of the cotton plant, has made its appearance at Johnson Bayou, Cameron Parish, according to W. E. Anderson, acting state entomologist. The point of location is not as alarming as it might be, as Johnson Bayou is somewhat isolated from the important cotton-growing sections of the state, he says. It may be, however, that the pink boll worm will be found in other portions of Louisiana as shipments of cotton seed have been made into the state from Orange County, Texz., where a new point of infestawtion has recently been located.

Mr. Anderson says that the damage done by the boll worm is two to three times greater than the weevil, and that unlike the weevil, the pink boll worm thrives and breeds as well in dry weathr as in wet.

Lenten services set

Lenten penance services will be conducted in five different locations in the Diocese of Lake Charles during March, as a climax of the penitential season of Lent, and as a preparation for Easter, it has been announced by Bishop Jude Speyrer.

Each service will begin at 7 p.m., and will consist of an opening prayer, a selection of hymns, prayers and spiritual readings, and a homily, Bishop Speyrer said.

The services include: Sacred Heart Church, Creole, Thursday, March 16.

After the homily at each penance service there will be time for preparation for an examination of conscience, and for private confession for those attending. There will be a number of priests attending each service to facilitate the hearing of confessions.

The five services have been scheduled in different parts of the diocese in order to afford an opportunity for all Catholics to attend a service at a convenient location.

State festivals

By Loston McEvers

LOUISIANA A FESTIVAL STATE

One of Louisiana's greatest heritages is either a fair or festival. This is living history down in our bayou state.

The fairs and festivals promote Louisiana products, services, communities, natural resources and the people. They provide a place for education, involvement, entertainment and the display of products, whether agricultural, scientific or human resources.

It takes all types of people, hard work, from all communities, whether large or small to promote a fair or festival.

In a pamphlet I recently read, there were 132 fairs or festivals listed with the Louisiana Association of Fairs and Festivals. I did notice there were quite a few not listed, such as the Grand Chenier Alligator Festival and a few more.

It is encouraging to attend these events in your area to learn more about our heritage, making it a family and friendly outing and you will in return meet some wonderful people.

Come pass a good time. Lassaiz les bon ton roulle!!

WHAT'S IN STORE FOR FISHING

As most of you know, as of now, the bad news of all the toxic contamination of the Bayou d'Inde and Calcasieu River system has moved further south towards Big Lake, Calcasieu Lake, the Cameron Ship Channel to the Gulf of Mexico.

People are asked not to eat speckle trout or white trout, but what's going to happen to our oyster beds, our shrimp and crabs and all the other fish?

We have lots of people who make their living crabbing, oystering, shrimping, commercial speckle trout fishing, plus our guides who take people out fishing. Now you also have a lot of sports fishermen who oyster, crab, shrimp and fish for home consumption. This can be a great impact on Southwest Louisiana's economy. If this area should be closed to all fishing, think of the many people who will suffer including the whole state, because other states won't want to buy our Louisiana seafood products.

Something needs to be done and done fast. If need be, block Bayou d'Inde off to save the rest of the system.

We do need an explanation from D.E.Q. on what's happening and what can be done to stop this sort of situation and they need to work closely with our local people as well as the big wheels of Baton Rouge.

We all know right now our parish is being held together by our commercial and sport fishing. Without these two, with the economy as bad as it is, I'm afraid our businesses will suffer, maybe even close and our local people will have to start moving out. It's bad enough on our building code and we get this.

We need to call our State Representative and State Senator; they're good people and as well our representatives and senators in Washington. Let them know we care and are concerned and something needs to be done now, not when it's too late.

I just hope they don't take the same attitude as our coast line erosion, just talk and not do anything about it.

With all the changes our buddy, Bob Misso, has been doing, now is the time for him to come forward and throw his weight around and be heard and seen, something that would help our fishermen, instead of hurt them.

*Right now at this writing, oyster fishing in our area is being closed because the tides are too high. Alexandria and Leesville had lots of rain and it's coming down.

It seems as if our oyster fishermen may get an extension, because all the days they couldn't fish. In addition the South Bank may also open March 1, providing the tides are correct.

*Remember Sabine and Lacassine National Refuges are now open to fishing. Please abide by the state laws and the refuge regulations and have a good fishing year.

Grand Lake girls beat Marepas

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Grand Lake Lady Hornets combined a ball hawking defense and an explosive offense to swamp the Maurepas Lady Wolves 66-36 in quarterfinal play. The victory sends the Lady Hornets to the "Sweet Sixteen" State Tournament, a first in the school's history of girls basketball.

Although the final outcome of the game was never in doubt, Maurepas stayed in contention for three quarters with excellent free throw shooting. Grand Lake outscored Maurpas in every quarter going 9-6, 20-13,13-10 and a fourth quarter barrage of 24-7.

Rhonda Verzwyvelt, Grand Lake's 5-9 jumping jack had the hot hands and just couldn't be stopped. Her teammates obliged her spirit with key passes to mount a devastating inside and fast break game. The returning All State performer is blessed with almost equal talent from her teammates.

Verzwyvelt led all scorers with 31 points. Point guard Kay Lynn Breaux pitched in 12, Amy Jo 10, Rachel Manuel 5, Missy Reon and Melissa Doucet, 4 each.

The 25-9 Lady Hornets face the 28-11 Saline Bobcats in a semi-final game at 6 p.m. in the Rapides Coliseum Thursday, Feb. 28. The Saline Lady Bobcats are led by high scoring Tonja Martin. The Lady Hornets match up well with several gunners of their own.

The winner will meet the Fairview-Ward III winner at 6 p.m. Saturday, March 4.

Source of chemicals in lake being sought

(From Southwest Daily News)

The Department of Environmental Quality, the Department of Health and Hospitals and the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries are continuing to study data in the wake of the joint issuance of an advisory for the entire Calcasieu River Estuary system, a Health Department spokesman said Tuesday.

The tri-agency panel is studying pollution data from the system but DHH spokesman Gwen Bach-Stewart said that at this point there is no way of knowing whether the advisory would be extended to include other fish or shellfish. "We will continue to monitor the situation, and if we feel it necessary to expand the advisory, then we will," she added.

Stewart said the recent advisory against the taking and consuming of speckled and white trout taken from anywhere in the Calcasieu River Estuary system from the saltwater barrier to the Gulf of Mexico was issued because of the possible long-term effects of eating those species containing hexachlorobenzene and hexachlorobutadiene.

"You wouldn't feel the effects immediately," she said, adding that the levels of both chemicals found in the edible portion of speckled and white trout are "barely over health screening values."

In the wake of the joint issuance of the seafood advisory, the siana Wildlife Federation pas resolution calling for indu responsible for the polluti bear the cost for cleaning

Federation member Mike co said it would not be too dif to find the source of the con nation because the chemical unusual and not likely to from more than two or three rent chemical processes.

The dumping has been goi for decades, Tritico cha adding that even though i tries may have invested milli dollars to install equipme reduce the pollution, the imp continuing.

CAMERON PARISH
RECREATION DISTRICT #5
Regular Meeting,
December 1988

The meeting was called to order by Chairperson Shirley Chesson. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. Betty LaBove gave the following report from the Recreation District.

There are 112 stockings made for Santa Claus this year. She stated the air conditioner was in need of repair, and the one heater is not working. Santa will be at the Recreation District on December 16, and will arrive by fire truck. Judge Fontenot donated the Christmas tree outside of the Recreation District. Betty stated that the Recreation District is being used by Public Groups since the Multi-Purpose Building was closed. The toilet in the boys bathroom in the Recreation District is broken, and the toilet in the girls bathroom in the Fitness Center is broken. Betty stated that ant poison was put out around the Rec. Betty stated that the teenage dance would be held December 23. Betty stated that parts would have to be ordered to fix the stove.

The meeting was turned over to Glen Alexander. Mr. Alexander stated he received a reply from Van Walter and Rogers and they denied responsibility. A copy of said letter is attached to minutes. On a motion by Joey Babineaux and seconded by Alex Beard, Jr., the board moved to seek legal action to collect the Larco bill from Van Walter and Rogers.

The meeting was turned over to Brent Nunez. Mr. Nunez discussed the audit results with the District Attorney. Mr. Nunez stated that the District Attorney felt the results were out of line and unacceptable and action needed to be taken to develop inventory controls. The District Attorney recommended setting up policy and procedures for handling cash and inventory. Betty stated she needed a place to store excess chips in. The board will look at redoing the closet by the coke machines into a storage closet.

Sandi gave the following report: She will run a special at the Fitness Center in January. She asked about a mat floor; the board did not approve. She stated that she will move the lighted sign from the Multi-Purpose Building to the Recreation District/Fitness Center. Also, Sandi stated Clean Craft asked her for the Board's business and offered to strip and buff the floors for free if we used their products. No action was taken by the Board.

Police Jury member Brent Nunez reminded Betty LaBove that the Police Jury workers needed to be worked on a regular schedule.

The financial report was approved as presented along with the 1989 budget. A copy is on file at the Recreation District for review by the Public. The Board reviewed a schedule of fixed assets and deleted assets no longer in use.

On motion by Pete Young and seconded by Pat Hebert, the Board approved for Betty to contact a carpenter to make a storage closet out of the closet next to the coke machine.

Shirley Chesson stated that she would contact Coca Cola about problems with the coke machine.

Pat Hebert stated that the water leaks by the Storage Shed could be fixed for about $20.00 in material cost. The leak at the pool will require more work because sections of concrete will need to cut out and replaced.

Pete suggested that inventory be reconciled monthly by the workers and audited quarterly.

The Director was also asked to price the cost of a stall in the boys bathroom.

On a motion by Pat Hebert and seconded by Joey Babineaux the meeting was adjourned.

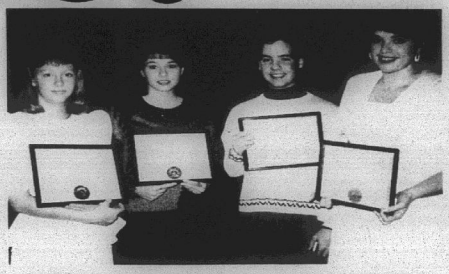
Delegation to go to Wash.

A delegation from the Cameron Parish Police Jury will meet with the area's Washington delegation in Washington Monday morning to discuss means of obtaining relief for the parish in connection with the federal flood insurance program.

Meeting with Senators John Breaux and Bennett Johnston and Congressman Jimmy Hayes in Hayes' office will be Police Jurors Kenneth Ducote and George LeBouef, Parish Engineer Lonnie Harper, and Dr. Joe Suyhada, the LSU specialist who has been working with the parish about five years on the insurance problem.



The parish was recently advised by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the agency that administers the flood insurance program, that the parish is not in compliance with the flood insurance act and is in danger of losing all future federal funds.

Parish Administrator Garner Nunez said that the police jury has been working with FEMA for five years and has furnished them with ample data that some of the elevation figures that are used in setting building levels are in error. He said that if relief cannot be secured through the aid of the congressional delegation, the parish's only alternative may be to file suit against FEMA to force it to accept the correct elevation data.

Assessor to be at J.B. on March 13

Bobby Conner, Cameron Parish Assessor, announces that Monday, March 13, Mona Kelley, Deputy Assessor, will be at the Johnson Bayou Waterworks building to aid people with questions concerning assessments and sign up new homestead exemptions.

Persons living within Ward 5, please make note of this date.

Rusty Welch is inter. winner

The Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday proclaimed Thursday, Mar. 9, as "Rusty Welch Day" in honor of the 15-year-old Oak Grove youth who won international honors at the National Outdoor Show in Cambridge, Maryland last week.

Rusty, who won the national Junior Muskrat Skinning title at the recent Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival in Cameron, represented the Festival and the state in the international competition in Cambridge.

Although Rusty finished second in the muskrat skinning event in Maryland, he won both the Junior Nutria and Raccoon skinning contests there.

His sister, Alice Welch, who won the women's champion muskrat skinning last year at Cambridge, finished second this year due to a 40 second penalty.

Wade Miller, who won the men's muskrat skinning title in Cameron this year, was unable to compete in Maryland due to a conflict with his work.

Benny Welch, Rusty's and Alice's father, won the men's champion nutria skinning title last year in Maryland, and was scheduled to compete again this year but did not due to a shortage of nutria.

Due to a storm this year on the east coast there was a shortage of nutria for the skinners and although the Welch family had taken some from Louisiana there were not enough to allow both Rusty and Benny to compete, so Benny let Rusty take the honors.

Rites held

Funeral services for Thurman "Plow Point" Lotis Alexander, 62, of Cameron, were held Tuesday, Mar. 7, at Wakefield Methodist Church.

Mr. Alexander died Sunday, Mar. 5, at his residence.

He was a native of Marshall, Tex., a veteran of World War II, a member of Wakefield Methodist Church, a self-employed painter and had worked 25 years in the oilfields. He was owner and operator of Bo's Kitchen.

Survivors are his wife, Tommie Alexander of Cameron; two daughters, Mrs. Bubby (Donnie) Koch of Pecan Island and Mrs. Cheryl Venable of Cameron; two sons, Timothy and Paul Alexander, both of Cameron; two brothers, Roy Alexander of Houma and Melvin Alexander of Marshall, Tex.; five sisters, Mrs. Inez Nunez of Sugartown, Mrs. Dorothy Clark and Mrs. Carol Kelley, both of Marshall, Tex., Mrs. Faye York of Tatum, Tex., and Mrs. Ruby Kelley of Cameron; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Let chips fall is set

The Cameron Parish chapter of the American Cancer Society will hold their second annual "Let the Chips Fall Where They May" event on June 11, at 3 p.m. at the Cameron Recreation Center.

The donation tickets will be on sale for $25 each at each branch of the Cameron State Bank for each of the 200 squares.

The event will feature a giant checkerboard marked off in 200 squares on the recreation field.

When the signal is given a cow will be turned loose on the field to wander over the board and the square on which it deposits the first chip will be the winner, and the lucky holder of that ticket will be awarded $1,000.

All proceeds from the event will be donated to the American Cancer Society.

The event cleared $3500 last year which went toward the local chapter's part of the Cancer fund drive.

Plants sale

Vegetable plants are now on sale in the South Cameron High School Vo Ag Department. Tomato, bell pepper, and eggplant are on sale for 20¢. You may purchase these plants any time during school hours in the Vo Ag Dept.

8 tax elections set in April

The Cameron Parish Police Jury called eight tax elections for April 29, at the monthly meeting Tuesday. Three are for newly created recreation districts and five are renewal of taxes in already existing districts.

Members of the new recreation districts boards of directors also were named by the jury. They are as follows:

Elections on the renewal of taxes in the following districts also were called: Sewerage District 1, Waterworks District 2, Gravity Drainage District 3, Gravity Drainage District 4 and East Cameron Port, Harbor and Terminal District, and Hackberry Fire Protection District.

In addition to members of the three new boards, three members of present boards whose terms have expired were reappointed. They are: Charles Precht, Jr., Gravity Drainage District 8; Winston Theriot, Gravity Drainage District 4; and Lynn McCall, Lower Cameron Hospital Service District.

Two board members who had resigned were replaced with new members. Billy Griffith replaces Dan Billiot on Gravity Drainage District 7 and Nell Colligan replaces Wade Carroll on Recreation District 6.

The jury voted to abolish an old recreation district, No. 4, in the Grand Chenier area, which has not functioned in years and which is being replaced by a new district.

Fire Protection District 4 of the Klondike area was authorized to borrow $1000 to purchase equipment to be repaid when its tax money starts coming in December.

Oystering is extended

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, at its monthly meeting in Baton Rouge March 3, voted to extend the oyster season in Calcasieu Lake for an additional two weeks.

The season had been set for closure on March 29, but will now remain open until one-half hour after official sunset on Sunday, April 30.

State law provides that the commission may vary opening and closing dates based on biological and technical information.

Youths honored

The Cameron Masonic Lodge recently honored four young people for their community involvement by presenting them with Honesty and Integrity awards.

They were guests of honor, along with their parents, at a supper held Tuesday night at the local Masonic Lodge where they were presented with certificates and medals.

Those honored were: Thomasena Goodrich, Hackberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Goodrich; Betsy Lee Koppie, Johnson Bayou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Trahan; Daniel Ned Harper, Grand Chenier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Glenn Harper; and Melissa Doucet, Grand Lake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Doucet.

The awards were presented by Lloyd Dietz, from DeRidder, who explained that the awards were presented to each one on the recommendation of their school teachers and people in the community after a thorough investigation into their activities, and pointed out what an honor it was to receive it.

Dietz explained the principals of Masonry and the many civic and humanitarian programs the organization sponsors, one being the burn hospitals where children are treated free of charge.

Donny Nunez served as master of ceremonies and passed out 25 year pins to Clayton Nunez, Charlie Duddleston, and Clayton Nunez.

Resolution passed

The Cameron Lions Club has passed a resolution to form a committee to seek Congressional action to modify restrictions that Federal Emergency Management Agency has placed on flood insaurance in Cameron Parish. Ed Kelley was appointed chairman.

Paul Coreil, president of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce, has also appointed Kelley to chair a committee regarding the same matter.

Citizens will be asked to join in writing letters to Congressmen and signing petitions.

All clubs, organizations and other groups will be asked for assistance in getting the public informed.

Kelley, Coreil and Dr. Raymond Leidig will be available to make presentations at club or organizational meetings.

The goal of the Lions and the Chamber will be to get the congressional delegation informed on the impact that the FEMA program has on the development of Cameron Parish.

Program set

The Cameron Council on Aging will honor two parish senior citizens who are still working Thursday, Mar. 16, at the Cameron RecPlex. The public is invited to attend.

The celebration will begin at 10 a.m. with refreshments served following the program.

Mrs. Brenda Boudreaux, Regent, introduced C.D.A. officers and guests. Robert Conner introduced the guest speaker, Paul Coreil.

Coreil spoke on the newly organized Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce that was recently formed and of the many issues facing the parish at this time that the Chamber is working on.

These grave issues include (1) the decline of the oil and gas industry, (2) the decline of the fishing industry and the major impact on the industry, with 75% of the seafood being imported at lower prices, (3) the pollution problem in the Calcasieu river, (4) Federal and state grants being cut off, and no money coming in for services, (5) Federal flood insurance regulations crippling the building in the parish - businesses ready to come into the parish cannot come because of the regulations, (6) Coastal Erosion, Coreil said, "We are losing land, homes and valuable marshes due to the problem", (7) the decline in the fur industry (renewable resources need to be addressed), (8) the Chamber is trying to bring the communities together to solve the area's needs.

"The Chamber is a civic clearing house, a promotion area, an independent group of concerned citizens working together to help Cameron Parish address its many problems," Coreil said.

The Chamber now contains 60 businesses and individual members since it was organized three months ago, and has already received over 300 inquiries for information.

Coreil said the Chamber hopes to expand on public relations for the parish and to work with the tourist bureau on promoting the parish for tourism.

The Chamber is also working with the Houston group who are planning on bringing a gambling ship to harbor in Cameron if the legal barriers can be overcome.

They are also working with Congressman Jimmy Hayes to get the 165 acres of land on Monkey Island, on which the Coast Guard station is located, deeded to the parish to serve as an industrial park.

The Chamber is working closely with the Cameron Lions Club and the parish Police Jury to set up a forum with the congressional delegation to work on the FEMA regulations regarding the flood plain map on which the flood insurance regulations are based.

Business implmentation and expansion is another phase the Chamber is addressing, and the addressing of special enterprise zones for the parish, as well as the Highway 171 project.

A career orientation program for graduating seniors and a red carpet committee are some plans for the Chamber.

The Chamber dues are from $50 to $300 for businesses (according to the number of employees involved) and $25 for individuals.

Coreil called on everyone to join the Chamber and closed with the statement, "We need the support of everyone to make the Chamber a success and want to work for the good of the parish."

Weatherization aid is offered in the parish

The Cameron Community Action Agency Weatherization Program is designed to aid low income people in the parish by weatherizing their homes, lowering utility bills.

Eligibility is determined by income. Homes are then done on a priority basis. Priority is determined by age, income, handicap, type of fuel used and condition of home.

All interested persons are asked to contact the Action Agency at 775-5145 from 7:30-4:30, Monday-Friday. Applications will be taken and after a short waiting time you will be notified as to qualification. Funds are limited and only a few homes can be serviced.

LaLande gets food from home

Gabe LaLande, of Cameron, who is stationed in Brandon, England in the U. S. Air Force received a pleasant surprise this week when some real hometown cooking arrived through the mail.

His mother, Mrs. Donna LaBove, and his grandmother, Mrs. Bonnie Miller, had cooked up all kinds of goodies, including some gumbo, frozen in gallon cartons, packed in dry ice and shipped through the mail.

It took three days for it to arrive in England and was in perfect condition.

Gabe called home and said he and his buddies really enjoyed the feast.

SHOWN AT the February meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers club are Bud and Ada Broussard of Grand Chenier holding the material that they used in giving a slide presentation which covered the trip that the pair made to several western states last summer.

Trip is described

Featured at the February meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers Club held in the home of Mrs. Eleanor Rutherford was a slide presentation given by Bud and Ada Broussard of Grand Chenier on the trip they had taken to several western states last summer.

The presentation focused mainly on the canyons of Dechelly, Bryce and Zion which the Broussards toured in Arizona and Utah. These canyons, or natural parks, feature such spectacular scenery as unique rock formations, colorful wild flowers, unusual species of trees, and Navajo Indian ruins dating back to prehistoric times.

Members finalized plans for the March Cancer Crusade which the club conducts annually in the Creole area. Volunteering to solicit the two area schools were Mrs. Earline Baccigalopi and Mrs. Estelle Theriot while Mrs.Mayola Wicke and Mrs. Ira Wicke volunteered to call on the businesses.

Mrs. Theriot reported on the council meeting which she and Mrs. Baccigalopi attended Feb. 14, at the Extension office in Cameron. She said that plans for the celebration of the council's 50th anniversary were discussed. The celebration will take place in the fall. It was announced at the meeting that the State Homemakers convention will be held April 25, in Ruston.

Members and guests exchanged Valentines at the social following the meeting.

Assisting Mrs. West with hostess duties was Mrs. Ann Meaux.

Attending as guests were Mrs. Annie Meaux and Mrs. Laura Richard.

Drug policy told

Local fishing interests and boat owners should be aware of the "Zero Tolerance Policy" on illegal drugs, which is receiving quite a bit of publicity.

The following facts are some of the things the boat owner needs to know:

If the U. S. Coast Guard in the course of their normal duties, board a vessel and find any amount of illegal drugs on a boat (even one marijuana seed) it will result in action. It doesn't matter whether the drug is brought on board by a crew member or guest or even if it was left by someone who is not on the boat at the time.

If drugs are found, the Coast Guard will either escort the vessel in or send it in.

When Customs receives the vessel, they will determine whether to

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Environmental Quality has issued a temporary Louisiana Water Discharge Permit System (LWDPS) permit and is proposing to issue a final LWDPS permit to Amoco Production Company to discharge drill cuttings and adhering native mud drilling fluids, treated wastewater from dewatering operations of drilling site reserve pits/rig levees, shale barges, and inactive or abandoned oilfield pipeline pigging wastes, and treated sanitary wastes, domestic wastes, storm water runoff (deck drainage), and other associated uncontaminated discharges such as cooling water, ballast water, etc. from workover and drilling barges, and production facilities in oilfield located in the Big Lake field, Cameron Parish, Louisiana. The limitations and conditions of this permit are consistent with the permitting policy of the Office of Water Resources, which is to achieve and maintain full support of designated uses of the waters of the state.

During the preparation of this permit, it has been determined that these discharges will have no adverse impact on the existing uses of the receiving waterbodies. As with any discharge, however, some change in existing water quality may occur.

All designated uses of the receiving waters are being fully supported. The receiving waters are not suspected to threaten by organic enrichment from crop production, petroleum activities and naturally occurring organic matter.

The application and proposed limitations may be examined at the Office of Water Resources, 9th Floor, State Land and Natural Resources Building, 625 North Fourth Street, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Persons wishing to provide data, views or comments, or request a public hearing relative to the issuance of the permit are invited to submit their comments and requests, in writing to the undersigned, thirty (30) days of the date of this notice using reference No. WP 2526 to:

Lady Hornets lose in state finals by 2 pts.

By ROBERT MANUEL

As the Grand Lake Lady Hornets and Saline players walked out on the court in the semi-finals of the Class C Sweet Sixteen state tournament in Alexandria last week, it looked like a match-up of a light-weight champion vs a heavy-weight champion. It was not a boxing match but Saline's confidence was good for a 31-10 halftime lead that held up for a 43-41 victory.

The Saline Lady Bobcats gained ground when the Lady Hornets Kay Lynn Breaux and Amy LeBoeuf fouled out, Breaux in the third quarter and LeBoeuf in the fourth. Missy Reon, the sixth man on the team, kept a great second half effort alive that fell just short at the buzzer.

The Lady Hornets' slow start of 6-14 in the first quarter was offset by a change in defensive strategy in the second quarter. The change put the Lady Hornets back into their game. Saline still managed to outscore Grand Lake 17-13.

Grand Lake had effectively screened off Tonja Martin's inside game. The 6 foot post man had other options, passing back out to guards Teresa Ellis and Monica Gray for short 10 foot jumpers that ripped the net with consistency.

The Saline shots from the floor and the foul line were completely reversed in the second half.

Saline was held to two points in the third quarter and 10 in the fourth. In the meantime, Grand Lake bagged 22 points in their second half surge, just two points short of tying the score.

With but two points short at the 2:57 mark, Grand Lake saw several opportunities slip away in their frantic rush to go ahead. The Lady Bobcats moved ahead seconds later to a 41-35 lead, only to see that lead drop to 41-39 on a lay-up by Rhonda Verzwyvelt and two free throws by Missy Reon. Missed foul shots by Saline and missed opportunities by Grand Lake kept the score 43-41 until the final buzzer.

Rhonda Verzwyvelt picked up a defensive rebound in the closing seconds of the game, dribbled the length of the court, shot a side jumper under heavy cover and with super effort, charged back in for a rebound of the missed shot. The put-back-up shot rolled slowly off and out of the rim, ending an overtime threat by the courageous Lady Hornets.

Rachel Manuel, usually not a heavy-weight in scoring, led the Hornets spirit in the first half with driving lay-ups to help ignite the Hornet effort.

Grand Lake scored all their points from lay-ups or offensive rebounds. Kay Lynn Breaux, an excellent outside shooter, never could find the range, nor could any of the other good outside shooters on the starting five.

Rhonda Verzwyvelt led the Hornet scoring with 14, followed by Rachel Manuel 10, Kay Lynn Breaux 6, Jodi Montgomery 5, Missy Reon and Amy Jo LeBoeuf 4 each. Saline's Teresa Ellis led all scorers with 17.

Saline was defeated 54-37 in Class C finals.

East Beauregard defeated Haynesville 48-44 in Class A finals. St. Louis defeated McCall 58-45 in the Class AA finals. Jennings defeated Jena 53-42 in the AAA finals. B. T. Washington defeated Natchitoches-Central 70-48 in the AAAA finals. B. T. had defeated LaGrange in the semi-finals.

Grand Lake boys are eliminated

By ROBERT MANUEL

It's especially rewarding to have both boys and girls in the state playoffs, but it's a double disappointment to lose the way the Grand Lake boys and girls lost each game at the buzzer — the girls by 2 in the state semi-finals and the boys by 1 in the state quarter-finals, one step away from the Top 24 in Baton Rouge.

Grand Lake boys moved into a quarter-final matchup with Runnels of Baton Rouge Friday, following their outstanding victory over Georgetown in Dry Prong. The long drive didn't seem to hinder the Hornets efforts, as they hammered out a come-from-behind victory.

Larry Broussard led the Hornet attack with 24 points. Dell Manesco followed with 11, Derrick Robideaux 9, Eric Morgan 8, Chad Primeaux 6, Richard Faulk 5, Kirk Fruge 1.

Runnels, Grand Lake's quarter-final opponent, had moved into Friday's quarter-finals, following their regional victory over Pecan Island.

Runnels used an extremely conservative offense, geared primarily to get the ball to 6'7" Sam Coates. The Hornets, with both an inside and outside attack and seemingly in control, could never really put the game away. The score stayed close, largely on Coates excellent shots from the top of the key, and the Hornets inability to hit their shots consistently.

The opportunity was there but the Hornets could muster but a 34-33 lead with 4 seconds remaining. A missed 3 point shot with 4 seconds showing and a put back rebound by Coates, gave Runnels a 35-34 victory. With time left for a possible shot, Grand Lake's try for a field goal missed its target.

Both Grand Lake teams took their losses showing class, in spite of their disappointment.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Refuges to open

By Loston McEvers

REFUGES OPEN FOR FISHING

The two Cameron Parish National Wildlife Refuges, Lacassine and Sabine, opened March 1, for fishing.

Opening day in both areas saw good fishing. I talked to a few anglers who fished Sabine Refuge and they had some nice bass.

Lacassine Refuge also produced some nice bass and white perch.

With the fronts on opening week coming through, fishing was still good and that's a good start for 1989.

SPECKLE TROUT

The spring time is a great time to fish speckle trout, in fact some of the bigger specs will be taken in March.

The outlook for fishing the specs is not so bright however, after the warning not to eat speckle trout and white trout from the Gulf of Mexico to Lake Charles. Sport fishermen can have fun catching and releasing but our commercial fishermen are the ones who will get hurt out of all this.

What lots of our folks on the southern end of Cameron don't realize is, yes we do have a few speckle trout commercial fishermen here, but in the Hackberry and Holly Beach areas there are lots of fishermen who make their living commercial fishing these two species and they will get hurt.

We have about 100 gillnet commercial fishermen in Cameron Parish and if each one just averages $10,000 per year, that's one million dollars lost to them. Now, the fish market like in Hackberry, let's say, they make 30 percent selling these wholesale or retail that's another $300,000 lost, so you see if you take away $1,300,000 or better out of the Cameron, Holly Beach, Hackberry area, our local merchants will have to also suffer. This is a serious matter and something needs to be done to clean up the mess.

$100,000 GRANT

The Louisiana Nature Conservancy, a state office of the world's largest private land conservation organization, announced a receipt of a $100,000 challenge grant from Freeport-McMoRan which will kick off the $1,000,000 LNC campaign to protect "Wild Louisiana." The contribution will be used to acquire significant natural areas throughout Louisiana.

The LNC office, which was established less than two years ago, has already protected over 56,000 acres of Louisiana's finest wildlife habitat, including endangered species habitat, unique habitat, and important wetland areas.

In addition to saving wetlands, the Louisiana Nature Conservancy is eyeing the cheniers in southwest Louisiana, the Tunica Hills region, remnant prairies, longleaf pine savannahs, and other environmentally sensitive areas identified by a team of scientists at the Natural Heritage Program.

In our area, a cooperative project with federal and state agencies is Little Pecan Island.

BOAT SAFETY TIPS

* If you have a kill switch, use it.
* Always wear a life jacket, especially when traveling.
* Require your passengers to wear a life jacket.
* Wear goggles, especially in trails.
* Keep your boat front seat down so you can see.
* Never allow passengers to stand or sit in front deck or swivel chairs on deck.
* Go slow in unsure waters and respect other boats. Slow down.
* Watch your drinking while operating a boat.

Comm. gear licensed

Local fishermen are reminded that under a new law, passed during the 1988 Louisiana legislative session, all forms of commercial gear must be licensed as "miscellaneous fishing gear".

This includes trotlines, longlines, bushlines, minnow traps, eel pots, cans, drums, or anything that currently has a specified commercial gear license.

Up until now, many types of gear used primarily to catch finfish have been exempted from the gear license requirement.

The miscellaneous gear license will be $25 and must be purchased along with a personal commercial fisherman's vessel license if a boat is used with this gear below the saltwater line.

Muzzleloader deer hunt to be held this year

Louisiana hunters who enjoy the use of muzzleloaders, also known as black powder or primitive firearms, can look forward to special muzzleloader-only deer hunting season in the fall of 1989.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, meeting in Baton Rouge Mar. 3, approved the establishment of a special muzzleloader season and a new $10.50 Muzzleloader License which, like the current Archery License, will be required in addition to a Basic Louisiana Hunting License and a Big Game License.

Although muzzleloaders can legally be used for deer hunting at the present time, the "muzzleloader only" seasons are currently restricted to two day periods on specific Wildlife Management Areas.

The new statewide "muzzleloader only" season is expected to be five to seven days in length.

Parish youths are winners

Eric Rutherford of Grand Chenier won for his late senior bull calf and Kevin Rutherford of Grand Chenier won with his late senior heifer calf.

Information on fuel taxes

Commercial fishermen in the Cameron area will be interested in the following information on the excise tax on gasoline, gasohol and diesel fuel that was effective in 1988:

One of the chief requirements is that you pay the fuel tax when you purchase the fuel. According to Karl J. Schram, of Gus W. Schram, Jr., LTD., CPAs, you may be entitled to one or more tax credits for fuel used in a commercial fishing vessel.

Boundaries are established

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has set the geographical extent of the annual closure of federal waters to shrimp trawling off Texas to be 9 to 200 nautical miles for 1989.

The federal closure will correspond to the period that Texas closes its waters to shrimp trawling as determined by ecological conditions and the size of shrimp leaving the estuaries.

The reason for the closure is to allow brown shrimp to reach a larger and more valuable size prior to harvest.

From 1986 through 1988, the cooperative seasonal closure with Texas extended only 15 nautical miles from the coastline but was ineffective in increasing shrimp production because of poaching by shrimp fishermen.

DO YOU REMEMBER? By Keith Hambrick

Cameron in 1925

(Lake Charles American Press, Mar. 6, 1925)

(This issue published short descriptions of several places in Southwest Louisiana including the following)

CAMERON

The town of Cameron, the capital of Cameron parish and the proposed and published terminal of the Lone Star Route highway from Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico, is situated on the east bank of the Calcasieu river about 27 miles south of Lake Charles and is approximately three miles north of the Gulf coast shore line.

To the post office authorities, the little town is known as "Cameron", but in all legal proceedings it is designated as "Leesburg". The people of the community have one road to the east as far as Creole and Grand Chenier, and the Calcasieu river to the north for travel and traffic purposes, but these are all. There is not a highway in the village with any outside connection, nor is there a railroad, telegraph or telephone in the parish.

Gulf tidal waves, produced by heavy winds and storms, with no way of escape for the inhabitants, either by railroad or highway, have many times in the past inflicted damage in both property and life and at one time many years ago, nearly the whole of the village was swept away.

Cameron is remarkably situated for becoming a prosperous summer resort for bathing and boat riding and in winter a resort for fishing, hunting and taking vacation rests. It could become this with a highway to Lake Charles connecting it up here with the east, north and west, and with a little publicity given to the advantages it offers.

The country tributary to Cameron is principally low and the chief occupation of the people is trapping for fur bearing animals in the great sea marshes which abound along the coast. Animal money crops from this industry run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Rice, corn and cotton are profitably grown in Cameron parish. Livestock does well, particularly cattle and poultry, but there are no markets for the latter. The same is true of truck crops which can be grown in great abundance throughout the entire winter.

The summers are extraordinarily cool on account of a continual Gulf breeze coming over the land from the large body of water lying near. These zephyrs rise about 9 a.m. and 7 p.m., subsiding in the early morning and the late afternoon for periods of from two to three hours.

Bell City 4-H

The Bell City Sr. 4-H Club decorated a float for the 50th anniversary of the Southwest District Livestock and Rodeo Parade. All 4-H members were invited to ride the float. The club won second prize, which was a $200 cash prize.

In parish poster contest the club was well represented. Sandy Harrington won a purple ribbon with her beef poster. Aaron Natali won a purple with his dairy poster and second with his beef poster. Glyn Foreman and Theresa Zaunbrecher each won a purple with their dairy posters.

Betty asked that the Board consider opening until midnight on Friday and Saturday nights. The board did not take any action, choosing to leave the hours as they currently are.

Betty stated that she uses 30 lbs. of chlorine in the pool every two weeks and it is holding up good.

Betty also stated that she needs 12 folding chairs and will discuss with Brent Nunez to see if the Recreation District can get these from the Multi Purpose Building.

Betty also stated that there is a water leak in the pump house and by the diving board. Pat will look into it.

Betty stated that the Cub Scouts will hold meetings in the building.

Board members were reminded that the board meetings would be held at 6 p.m. on the second Thursday from now on.

The bookeeper was asked to perform an audit of the Coke and chip funds before the next meeting. The meeting was adjourned on a motion by Alex Beard, Jr. and seconded by Joey Babineaux.

Pennance service to be held at Creole Thurs.

A Lenten pennace service will be conducted in Sacred Heart Church in Creole on Thursday, Mar. 16, as a climax of the penitential season of Lent and as a preparation for Easter, it has been announced.

The Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, will preside, and the service will consist of an opening prayer, a selection of hymns, prayers and spiritual readings, and a homily. The service will begin at 7 p.m.

After the homily there will be time for preparation for an examination of conscience and for private confession for those attending. There will be a number of priests present to facilitate the hearing of confessions.

The service is one of five scheduled in different parts of the Diocese of Lake Charles in order to afford an opportunity for all Catholics to attend a service at a convenient location, according to Rev. Mr. George Stearns, chancellor for the diocese.

Parishioners not only of the host parish, but also of all surrounding parishes are being urged to attend one of these services, Deacon Stearns said.

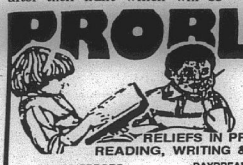
Measles are reported at universities



Two cases of measles have been reported among college age students in Louisiana and the Office of Public Health is urging college students to check their immunization records.

One case of measles has been reported in a 20-year-old student on the Louisiana State University campus in Baton Rouge and a second in a 17-year-old student on the Louisiana Tech campus in Ruston. Iddings said the measles case at LSU is connected to the outbreak of measles in Houston which has risen to more than 1500 cases.

Iddings urged students to check their immunization records, and if they have not been immunized to go to their personal physician or to the Parish Health Unit nearest them for the shot.

Hearing set on cruise ship

A trial date of March 22, has been set for a legal action that seeks to have Judge Ward Fontenot of 38th District Court rule on whether a cruise ship that features gambling can use Cameron as a home port.

Seeking the declatory judgment is Cajun Festival Cruise Lines of Pearland, Tex., which wants to base a Panamanian-registered ship in Cameron.

Gaming equipment on board would be hidden and locked while the ship is in port, but gambling would be featured when the ship reaches international waters during regular cruises.

Local interests, including the Cameron Parish Police Jury, support the idea of having the ship based in Cameron, saying it would create about 200 new jobs for local residents.

Current laws are vague concerning the request, a spokesman for Cajun Festival Cruise Lines said. One law, for exmaple, says such ships can be based only in ports in cities having 500,000 or more in population. Cameron, a parish without a municipality, has a total population of less than 10,000.

Cajun Festival Cruise Lines officials said they took the matter to court in an effort to force a legal decision on whether the ship can be berthed in Cameron.

There was no indication how long the trial will last, and Fontenot did not say how soon he might issue a decision after the trial is completed.

Work told

the Louisiana Department of Transportation and Development advises that La. 27 in Cameron Parish will be restricted to one 10 foot traffic lane approximately 3 miles north of Creole. Restrictions will occur between 7 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Monday thru Thursday, commencing Mar. 14. All traffic may be stopped for periods up to one hour.

Loads in excess of 10 foot wide and motorists who do not wish to be delayed should take the alternate route through Hackberry.

Reason for this restriction is to strengthen bridges between Creole and Gibbstown. Repairs should be complete by Mar. 23.

Mrs. Sturlese is 93

Mrs. Dorris Sturlese's 93rd birthday was celebrated by her family at the American Legion Home in Grand Chenier Sunday, Mar. 12, from 2 to 4 p.m. The Post was named in honor of Mrs. Sturlese's son, Gooch Sturlese, who lost his life in the Battle of the Bulge in World War II.

Mrs. Sturlese is a Gold Star Mother, a member of St. Eugene Altar Society, American Legion Auxiliary, Doxey VFW Auxiliary, and Catholic Daughters Mary Olive Court. She received an honorary medal from Bishop Speyrer on her 90th birthday.

Attending, in addition to her immediate family, were her brother, Loveless Theriot of Nederland, Tex., and many nieces and nephews from Louisiana and Texas.

Mrs. Sturlese has 14 grandchildren, 29 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

MRS. DORIS STURLESE is pictured at her 93rd birthday party with her three daughters, Mrs. Yvonne Richard, Mrs. Elougia Richard, Mrs. Lorrine Baccigalopi and her son, Enos Sturlese. Mrs. John Richard, her daughter's mother-in-law, is seated next to Mrs. Sturlese.

All Cameron parish schools, with the exception of Grand Chenier elementary, are in compliance with a state mandate that elementary teachers be given a 30 minute planning period daily, Supervisor Judy Jones told the Cameron Parish School Board Monday.

She said there were not enough teachers at Grand Chenier to be able to arrange the schedule to permit the planning periods, but that Chenier teachers did have some extra time about every three weeks when physical education periods were rotated.

Supt. Sonny McCall said that the legislature could not force the school boards to provide the extra time since the legislature has not provided funds for this so far.

In another matter, the board approved hiring of a local woman to work five hous a week with several students at Cameron elementary who speak no English. Miss Jones said that the students were Spanish speaking and it was hoped that with the tutoring they will be able to keep up with their classes.

Two named All-Around

Two members of the South Cameron Rodeo team were named All Around Cowboy and Cowgirl at the Washington Parish High School rodeo held recently in Franklinton.

The pair came back with silver trophy buckles for their placings in various categories.

Chad Mudd placed first in both steer wrestling and cutting and third in team roping.

Adrienne Picou placed first in poles and second in barrels.

The South Cameron rodeo team also brought home the first place team trophy from the rodeo.

Scholarship announced

The Cameron Telephone Company and the W. T. Henning family beginning this fall will present an annual $1000 scholarship to a Cameron parish high school graduate to pursue a two-year electronics degree at McNeese State University.

The announcement of the award was made at the monthly meeting of the Cameron Parish School Board by Raymond Henagan, company vice-president.

Henagan said the telephone company needs new people with electronics training, as do other firms in this area, and that is the reason for the new scholarship.

Principals of South Cameron, Johnson Bayou and Hackberry high schools will nominate students for the scholarship with the final selection to be made by the McNeese Scholarship Committee.

Grand Lake High School is not included in the program since the Cameron Telephone Co. does not serve the Grand Lake area.

Conner serves as silver hair legislator

Police Juror Ray Conner traveled to Baton Rouge recently to represent Cameron, Acadia and Vermilion parishes in the Louisiana Silver Haired Legislature. Rep. Conner held a public hearing before leaving Cameron Parish to find out the needs and desires of the people.

On his first trip to meet with the Silver Haired Legislature he was successful in drafting two of the ten bills that were accepted. During the session both of his bills were passed.

The two bills pertained to:

1. Reduction in the number of senior citizens mandated to eat at the rural nutrition sites.

2. Increase in funding used to distribute needy family commodities.

These bills along with eight others will be submitted to the Legislature for consideration.

BUSES

The board approved advertisement for two new buses, one to be used as a regular school bus and the other to be used as an activity bus by three different schools.

The board also approved the emergency purchase of a new refrigerator for the Grand Lake lunchroom to replace one that is in bad condition.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

Darylle Istre, parish Special Olympics director, thanked the board for their cooperation in the program and reported that 21 parish students will participate Friday in the district olympics in Lake Charles. The events will begin at 9 a.m. at LaGrange High School.

DRUG FREE PROGRAM

The board approved sending 50 students and 10 sponsors to the drug free rally in Baton Rouge on April 27. Students from all over the state will meet at the Centriplex and then walk to the Capitol where they will present Drug Free pettions to the Governor. The board also agreed to provide lunches for the group.

MCCALL CONTRACTED

The board approved signing a new four year contract with Thomas "Sonny" McCall for a new four year term beginning July 1. McCall has been superintendent for a number of years.

The superintendent was also authorized to begin signing contracts with teachers for the 1989-90 term.

TRACKS COMPLETED

Engineer George Bailey reported that the resurfacing of the South Cameron High School track with new latex material and the refurbishing of the Johnson Bayou tracks have been completed in time for track season to start.

"South Cameron has one of the most beautiful tracks in the state," Bailey commented.

MUSEUM MATTER

Supt. McCall said he had received a request from Gay Dyson Reeves asking the board to consider taking over the operation of the Leesburg Museum since the police jury did not have the funds to continue its support. He asked the board to postpone action until he can get a legal opinion on whether school funds could be used for such a purpose.

RETIREMENT MATTER

McCall also reported on a state meeting that he and Arnold Jones attended concerning a legislative act requiring the state to make up the deficit in state pension funds over a period of years. He said it was possible that school boards might be responsible for 30 percent of the deficits in the teachers retirement fund, which could mean a cost of $148,000 a year to Cameron parish.

Directory

The Cameron Chamber of Commerce is currently assembling a Resource Directory of the Business/Service of Cameron Parish. The directory will enable the Chamber to present a business/service listing to potential investors of the parish.

Paul Coreil, president of the chamber, is requesting that anyone who provides a product or service to complete a form found elsewhere in this issue of the Pilot and mail it to the Cameron Parish Library.

Hospital gets treatment unit

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A new Chemical Dependency Unit will be located at South Cameron Memorial Hospital beginning April 1, according to Joe Soileau, adminsitrator.

The announcement was made at the weekly meeting of the Cameron Lions Club last week.

Soileau introduced James C. Demoruelle, director of the Savoy Chemical Dependency Unit in Mamou, who will be director of the local unit, and Carl Kenney, Certified Substance Abuse Counselor, who will be stationed at the local hospital.

Demoruelle said that the 7-bed unit at South Cameron will be a joint venture with Savoie Medical Center in Mamou, and it will be staffed with certified people.

The Savoie hospital is certified to do counselor training, and everyone working with the unit will either be certified or trained in the Mamou hospital to be certified.

In addition to the local center there will be an ongoing treatment (24 hour) system where patients can receive counseling after the treatment program is completed.

Plans for the local center are to help develop programs and give assistance in the schools and in getting the community to be aware that recovery is possible.

The 28 day program includes therapy, activities and education, with the treatment to cost $6,500, which can be partially covered by insurance and Medicare and Medicaid.

Demoruelle said that he plans a marketing program from Crowley to Lake Charles and into Texas, in association with the local unit.

A 24-hour hotline has been established at Savoy hospital in Mamou and anyone wishing information on counseling may call 468-0111, Demoruelle said.

An announcement was made that the monthly Lions club board meeting will be held Mar. 21, at 6 p.m. at the home of Rickey Guidry in Sweetlake.

Jury hot about Roemer's move

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has taken Governor Buddy Roemer to task for proposed legislation, that was defeated, that would have eliminated the $500,000 Cameronparish road fund from the Rockefeller Refuge revenues.

In a letter to Gov. Roemer, Jury President Carol Trahan said in part:

"During the recent special session of the state legislature, the Cameron Parish Police Jury was surprised to see that an amendment concerning the elimination of the $500,000 Cameron Parish road fund from Rockefeller Refuge revenues was introduced.

"It was reported that one of your appointees was responsible for getting this amendment on the senate floor and we can only assume this was done with your blessing. Both our State Representative, Randy Roach, and our State Senator, Jack Doland, tell us that they were not aware of this proposal. Senator Doland was successful, thank God, in blocking this amendment before it got off the ground.

"During these hard economic times, our parish has had to make drastic cuts in our overall budget and services to our citizens. Actions taken by your administration to eliminate one of Cameron Parish's vital sources of revenue leaves us with great disappointment. We feel the Police Jury should have been made aware of this plan so that we could have made you aware of the seriousness of this action."

Egg hunt set

The Cameron Recreation Center will hold its third annual Easter egg hunt Saturday, Mar. 18, with all children in the district invited.

Parents are asked to bring a dozen boiled, dyed eggs per child and have them at the Center by 8 a.m. Mar. 18.

Chamber meet

The March meeting of the Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce will be held Thrusday, March 16, at 11:30 a.m. at Pat's Restaurant.

Fishing suit filed

The law firms of Jones, Jones and Alexander and Baggett, McCall and Burgess, which last week filed a lawsuit against Citgo, Oxy Oil and PPG on behalf of over 200 people of this area this week issued a clarification on the suit.

The suit alleges that each of the plaintiffs have sustained damages of more than $20,000 for the companies' alleged polluting of the Cameron Parish "aquatic ecosystem."

The law provides that a suit cannot allege the specific dollar amount claimed but can only ask for such damages as are reasonable in the premises.

The only exception is in instances where a minimum dollar amount may be alleged in order to establish jurisdiction on the right to a jury trial.

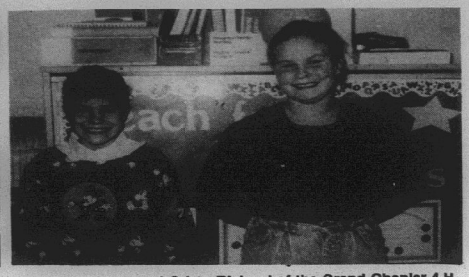
The $20,000 amount in the suit is required for the suit to be allowed to come to trial by a jury.

The plaintiffs are asking for recovery of the total amount of their loss of income and other economic damages which is expected to be far in excess of the minimum $20,000 jury trial requirement.

The plaintiffs are also asking for exemplary or punitive damages which are allowed when the plaintiffs injuries are caused by the defendants reckless disregard for public safety in the handling of hazardous or toxic substances.

There were over 200 plaintiffs who filed the original suit, and a growing number of additional fishermen will be joining the suit in the near future, according to their attorney, Glenn W. Alexander, of the law firm of Jones, Jones and Alexander in Cameron.

The suit filed in 38th Judicial District Court in Cameron comes a week after the Department of Environmental Quality issued an advisory against taking speckled and white trout from the Calcasieu River system.



The advisory covers the river starting at the Salt Water Barrier near Lake Charles and extends to the Gulf of Mexico through Calcasieu Lake.

THE HACKBERRY Jr. 4-H Club placed fourth with their float in the Southwest District La. Fat Stock Show and Rodeo's parade. The club had decorated the float as a 50 dollar bill in honor of the Show and Rodeo's 50th anniversary. Pictured on the float are Barrette Richard, Josh Poole, Cody Fenetz, Ben Carpenter, Jody Bradley, Robert Bradley, Elizabeth Lowery, Brad Hinton, Joel Colligan, Jerromy Lowery and Jansie Poole.

JODI MCCALL and Crista Richard of the Grand Chenier 4-H club exhibited lambs at the parish and district livestock shows.

MUSING...

You don't have to stay in rut

By Bernice Denny

"You won't skid if you stay in a rut," was a humorous saying of Elbert Hubbard, an American author, editor, and printer at the turn of this century.

Sometimes staying in a rut has its advantages. We realized that fact once when a road in front of my property was under construction. One grandson drove his truck over the almost impassable route. The other boy, at the wheel of my car, carefully followed in the ruts made by the truck. And our half-mile drive was successfully concluded.

Some people remain in ruts because they lack imagination or initiative or because they harbor fears. In primitive days, it seems, man went around in a kind of mental fog. He hunted and fished as had his father before him. Improvement in skills, even the most rudimentary, came slowly. His fear of evil spirits kept him from deviating far from the established pattern of life shaped by his forebears.

Staying in a rut may be safe and uncomplicated. It can also become surpassingly dull.

The woman who gets up in the morning and follows a routine of cooking, dishwashing, housecleaning, and nothing else week after week is in danger of stagnating. The individual who goes to work and performs the same perfunctory job with no leisure activities from day to day, year after year is likely to vegetate. Each is burying herself or himself alive. About the only difference between a rut and a grave is the dimension of the two.

Once there were three brothers, Dick, Ned, and Rob. Dick and Ned were brilliant in school. Rob was less than average in his studies. Having reached adulthood, the three went into similar types of business, each a heritage from their father.

Dick refused to share his vast knowledge with others. He figuratively dug a rut for himself. Ned, too, through lack of energy and non-interest in others, fortified himself within a narrow rut. Their businesses gradually declined.

Rob, with a fraction of their brain power, used every whit of his to show interest in his clients, to better the conditions for his employees, and to improvise new techniques. By being alert to new ideas and attentive to the needs of others, by having the courage to become involved in affairs outside himself, Rob steered out of a rut and onto a highway of prosperity.

Jetties experiment seems to be working

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

An experimental project along Hwy. La. 82, between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou seems to be working.

The strip of highway runs adjacent to the beach and connects the communities fo Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou and continues west to the Texas line at the Sabine River and the bridge on to Pleasure Island at Port Arthur, Tex.

It has been constantly damaged from high tides and wave washes during hurricanes, and is the foremost barrier against the Gulf.

Several years ago an experiment was started to see the results of jettying several hundred yards out into the Gulf to see how the land would build up behind the jetties.

Two different jetties or barriers are in use. One is a line of wooden pilings surrounded by rubber tires and another is a barge load of stones laid in a line with the beach.

The sand seems to be building up twice as fast behind the stone barrier as the wooden one. Sand bars can readily be seen from the highway as it builds up behind the jetties.

The Coastal Concern Association will have a special meeting of the board of directors Thursday, Mar. 23, at 7 p.m. in the Police Jury Annex to discuss the following issues: (1) Future monthly meetings; (2) Offshore shrimp season, and (3) Mandatory use of TEDs as of May 1, 1989.

All board members and officers are urged to attend.

IN FEBRUARY the Grand Chenier 4-H Club had a Record Book Workshop. Members attending were Jodi McCall, Benjamin Richard, Patience Cogar, Crista Richard, Keri Ballard, Adam Corell, Bobby Mhire, Heather Sturlese, Michelle Trosclair and Ashley Corell.

Adopt an Elderly program planned

By DINAH B. VAUGHN,
Director

The Cameron Council on Aging was forced to reduce our elderly feeding program by 50%. Over eighty senior citizens were dropped from the program due to a loss in funding.

We are seeking the help of individuals and organizations who might be able to "Adopt an Elderly" person, to assure that the person receives the services they so desperately need.

By "Adopting an Elderly" person, you or your group ororganization will supply the funds to serve a meal to the senior citizen on a daily basis. You will know the person's name and information concerning their condition. We are hoping to form a relationship between the "adoptor" and the "adoptee". The program can be both rewarding and enjoyable.

Cost of Adopting an Elderly: Meals: Monthly - $3.35 per day X 21 serving days equals $70.35 per month, or $844.22 yearly, or $211.05 quarterly.

Transportation, homemaker, telephone assurance and other services may be adopted and the task performed by the adoptor. However services may be purchased: Transportation, $3.50 in town and $5 out of town. Escort Services, $2.50 in town and $3.75 out of town.

Homemakers, $5.50 per hour. Telephone Assurance, $3.35 per hour.

For further information concerning this program please call me at 775-5668.

About half as much hot water is used in the average shower as in the average bath.

Revival set in Vinton

The Smyrna Church of God in Christ in Vinton will hold its annual spring revival beginning Sunday, Mar. 19, through Friday, Mar.24, according to Eld. Otha Green, Sr., pastor.

Evangelist Jean Nell Maxie of Shreveport will be the evangelist. She serves as District Supervisor of the Hollywood District and as a teacher in the USAC Training Institute.

Music for the week will be provided by the youth choir directed by Glenn Lloyd, musician.

Mosquitoes club topic

The topic at the Grand Chenier March 4-H meeting was mosquitos. Don Menard of the Mosquito Control showed a film on many different types of mosquitos.

Gary Wicke talked about Achievement Day and 4-H camp. He gave cards which read, "Thank You For Buckling Up." He talked about sending thank-you notes for those who bought animals at the parish sale.

Nicole Sturlese reported on the clothing workshop. Those attending from Grand Chenier were Ashley Coreil and Nicole Sturlese.

Ashley Coreil reported on the State Sew With Cotton. She modeled her dress she placed first with at Contest Day.

CAMERON

The police jury met Thursday with H. A. Miller, president, Alfred Richard, Benson Vincent, Eraste Theriot, Leonce Nunez, J. Welch and J. W. Doxey, clerk, present.

The board placed an order for an electric light system for the court house and jail, with instructions to install it at an early date.

Two dipping vats were ordered made at Mallette, in the extreme southeast corner of the parish. Two ticky herds remain there and on account of the swampy surroundings the cattle cannot be driven to any other vats for dipping. Two hundred and fifty gallons of dip were ordered on instructions from the federal inspector and dipping will begin at an early date. Cameron expects to get rid of the ticks in a few months, only a few small herds being infested.

Farming has been delayed in this section on account of cold and rainy weather.

Eugene Miller of Grand Chenier, member of the Cameron Parish Board of Equalization, was in town Tuesday to take the oath of office. Mr. Miller served last year. James A. Wakefield and W. R. McCall were re-elected on the Board of Equalization and have taken the oath of office.

Alfred Richard of Grand Chenier has just received a quantity of Sea Island cotton seed.

TRIBUTE GIVEN TO CAMERON NEGRO

Down in Cameron Parish lives an old Negro, 93 years old, known as Baptiste Hebert. He was raised by Louis Hebert, the great-grandfather of Dr. Louis Hebert of Lake Charles.

Dr. Hebert's father, Desire Hebert, has distinct memories of his little colored playmate, Baptiste, who was about five years older than he. Baptiste's mother was a slave who belonged to his grandfather. As Baptiste grew older he became adept as a cowboy for the 7,000 acre Hebert plantation on the Mermentau River, near Lake Arthur, which was devoted to cattle. There were also large herds which ran on the open range, so Baptiste found a great deal of practice for his art. Mr. Hebert remembers, when he was a large enough boy, riding with Baptiste, and he can recount numerous instances of the man's skill in lassoing some unruly creatures.

"He always called me 'Little Master' " says Mr. Hebert. "He spoke both English and French. After the Civil War he stayed with my father, who had been his owner. He had no wish to leave. In fact, none of the slaves wanted to leave. They would have been glad to stay, if we had had any work for them to do. As it was, they had to leave, one by one, to find work. Baptiste was a good, faithful, honest old Negro, always trusty. Money couldn't have bought him," is the recommendation his 'Little Master', himself now 88 years old, gives Baptiste.

The old Negro lives now near the town of Cameron where he moved some time after leaving his master's home. He enjoys the distinction of being one of the oldest Negroes in this part of the state and one of the few former slaves who are still living.

Camp Fire events told

Camp Fire Boys and Girls are celebrating the 79th birthday of the Camp Fire youth program Mar. 12-29.

This week Cameron Elementary Blue Birds and Sparks have made posters, worn their uniforms to school, released helium balloons with Camp Fire messages, and had a birthday party for Camp Fire.

On Mar. 19, Camp Fire Sunday will be observed in many churches with the members wearing their uniforms to church and taking part in services.

Camp Fire was begun in 1910 and the first group was established in Southwest Louisiana in 1914. The Camp Fire program has changed through the years, for example it now includes boys as well as girls, but it has always kept the high ideals exemplified by the Camp Fire Law: Worship God, Give Service, Pursue Knowledge, Be Trustworthy, Hold on to Health, Take "Pride in your Work, Be Happy.

ASK OCHSNER

Q. I've been trying to cut down on consumption of caffeine, but have been experiencing headaches in the process. Is this normal?

A. Unfortunately, that headache you are experiencing is to be expected when trying to cut down on caffeine consumption, says Dr. Andrew H. Mebane, a staff physician in the department of psychiatry at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans.

It is estimated that about 72 million Americans consume more than their fair share of caffeine a day. About 36 million of them suffer from "chronic caffeinism", an addiction that carries the potential of producing a myriad of psychological and medical conditions.

Sources of caffeine in today's society can be found everywhere. Not only is it found in beverages--coffee, tea and soft drinks--but it is also in many prescription medications, such as analgesics and cold preparations, as well as over-the-counter stimulants, appetite suppressants, and, of course, chocolate. Sometimes people unknowingly switch from one to the other, thinking they have eliminated the influence of caffeine.

There is little doubt that some people become addicted to the stimulant effect of coffee and experience withdrawal symptoms when trying to cut down. Headaches are the most typical of symptoms, but chances are you may also feel fatigued and become irritable and grouchy, says Dr. Mebane.

Obviously the secret to offsetting the effects of caffeine in the body is to stop consuming it. If you can't stop altogether, reduce your intake of caffeine. Keep your daily caffeine dose below 350 milligrams (three cups of coffee, five cups of tea, or a six-pack of most sodas). Also, check the caffeine content of over-the-counter drugs.

Event is set

The Cameron Parish chapter of the American Cancer Society will hold their second annual "Let the Chips Fall Where They May" event on June 11, at 3 p.m. at the Cameron Recreation Center.

The donation tickets will be on sale for $25 each at each branch of the Cameron State Bank for each of the 200 squares.

All proceeds from the event will be donated to the American Cancer Society.

The event cleared $3500 last year which went toward the local chapter's part of the Cancer fund drive.

Alligator Task Force established in state

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission passed a resolution at its Mar. 3, regular meeting to establish the Alligator Task Force.

Among the new body's assigned tasks are: evaluation of the costs of the alligator farming program and recommendation of funding sources for the alligator industry, identification of ways to implement the alligator program in the most cost efficient and effective manner and development of a strategy and action plan to secure a Louisiana based tanning industry.

This task force of alligator farmers, trappers, landowners and businessmen will present a preliminary report to the Commission at its monthly meeting in June.

The first meeting of the task force is scheduled for Mar. 9, at 10 a.m. in Baton Rouge at LDWF headquarters.

If caffeine at bedtime is not a problem, you may be addicted. Mebane warns that caffeine abuse, or "caffeinism", reduces the body's anxiety-relieving systems, blocks opiate receptors that manage pain and can neutralize medicines such as anti-depressants and tranquilizers. People who are in this chronic category should not quit cold turkey. Gradually reduce the number of cups of coffee or sodas you consume daily. Although you may experience some form of withdrawal symptoms, within a month's time, those effects should disappear, he concludes.

Big Burns to open

By Loston McEvers

BIG BURNS TO OPEN

The Miami Corporation's Big Burns areas in the north Creole area to the Intracoastal Canal to the north and Highway 27/82 west and the Mermentau River to the east will be open Saturday, Mar. 18. Also the Amoco marsh in East Grand Chenier area will open the same day.

The areas of Little Pecan Island Properties, Boudreaux Lake and Willow Lake area remain closed.

Some of the rules are as follows:

*No fire arms.

*No overnight camping.

*No littering.

*Abide by all Louisiana game and fish laws.

*You have to have a $15 permit and you may have only one guest per boat with you.

*Show fishing license and permit on demand.

*Infractions and bad sports practice will revoke permit.

*Holder of permit and guest agree to hold Miami Corporation harmless and free from any and all responsibility, damage, injuries, etc.

*Closure will be Aug. 27.

*Some other rules a angler should obey is to respect the other fishermen, by slowing down and not running your boat where they are fishing.

The Big Burns is a very fine place to fish and we should try and preserve this great freshwater fishing area.

Get your permits!

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB NEWS

The Lemesche Bass Club will hold their first club tournament Sunday, Mar. 19.

Partners fishing will be as follows:

Phillip Trosclair and Gerald Richard; J. C. Boudreaux and Darrell Boudoin; Ray Theriot and Pete Duhon; Anthony Nunez and Darren Thibodeaux; Carl Broussard and Ricky Canik; Francis Basco and Rudy McEvers; A. B. Richard and Dr. Sanders; Ernest Richard and Mike King; Tommy Broussard and Tom Hess; and Joe Soileau and Fredman Theriot.

Remember club members, you must have a 10 inch bass to weigh it in and not over 5 bass per stringer. You and your partner have to have your bass on two separate stringers, with your largest bass on top of the stringer. This is to make it easier on the weigh master.

The tournament dates for the year are:

March 19, pick partner; April 9, draw partner; April 30, draw partner; May 21, husband and wife, family day; June 11, draw partner; July 16, pick partner; July 23, pick partner; Aug. 13, draw partner.

You may not pick the same partner over two times.

STATE NEWS

*The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission voted to extend the oyster season in Calcasieu Lake for an additional two weeks. Instead of the Mar. 29, closure it will now remain open until one-half hour after official sunset on Sunday, April 30.

THE RAT STILL AFTER THE CAT

It seems our Assistant Deputy of Wildlife and Fisheires is still to be watched, kind of like the rats have to watch the cat at all times, as not to be caught.

Bob Misso tried real hard to move money out of Cameron Parish and send to North Louisiana Refuges.

A house bill on the Senate floor was tried to be amended and strip some 400 to 500 thousand dollars away from our Cameron Parish Police Jury.

This was brought up by Sen. William McPherson Jr., D-Alexandria, and would have taken royalty funds from Rockefeller Refuge in our own Cameron Parish and put these funds in statewide Department of Wildlife Refuges.

It went on to say that this was against the "deed of donation" from the Rockefellers.

If it would not have been for Senator Jack Doland, as he found out at the last minute, this could have happened real easy.

He just about did what he wanted to but our Senate didn't like the kind of last minute dirty trick and this amendment was defeated by a 26-10 vote.

I'll tell you one thing, this Bob Misso has really got something in his head for Rockefeller Refuge and now it seems he's turning against the whole parish.

I think our Governor should know some of the things that's going on that Mr. Misso is pulling and if the Governor should already know this, then he needs to stop and examine himself, and get down here and talk with the people about the situation. He needs help now in passing his tax package, well we need help getting this Mr. Misso out of Wildlife and Fisheries business before he ruins the whole department throughout the whole state.

I will have more coming, just hold on until I can get the correct information and just maybe I can contact the Governor and have a little chat.

THESE WERE the persons who completed the Special Olympics certification class held recently at South Cameron High School.

Grand Chenier

By Elora Montie

After all the cold and record breaking temperatures weekend before last, this past weekend had changed back over to a beautiful weekend. Folks really took advantage of the beautiful, warm weather and 70 degree temperature.

Many folks who have camps here spent the weekend at their camps fishing and crabbing but not doing too good at either, due to all the cold weather the previous weekends.

Folks here were seen in yards this past week transplanting trees, flowers, and doing spring gardening.

Several cattlemen were working cattle.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Thousands of Englishmen who had emigrated to America between 1610 and 1857 died leaving estates in England. Proving their wills and granting administrations in England came under jurisdiction of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury (PCC).

These records are of extraordinary value to the family historian because they substantiate American connections to English emigrant ancestors.

A comprehensive collection of abstracts of these records is available in a recently published book.

AMERICAN WILLS IN ENGLAND

American Wills and Administrations in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 1610-1857 as compiled by Peter Wilson Coldham contains some 6,000 names of individuals making wills with an additional 5,000 names in the index.

Alphabetical by name of the deceased, these abstracts offer marital status at time of death, where died, former residence, date of probate or administration, names of executors and — most important to genealogists — names and relationships of family members.

This valuable reference volume is hardcover, 5½ x 8½ in., 416 pages; name, place and ship indexes; $32.50 incl. mailing, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

SOUTHWEST LA SEMINAR APR. 1

The Southwest Louisiana Genealogical Society and the Calcasieu Parish Library are co-sponsoring their 2nd Genealogical Seminar on Sat., Apr. 1st, 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Lake Charles Hilton Inn, 505 N. Lakeshore Dr., Lake Charles.

Speakers and their topics will be Albert Robichaux of New Orleans on "Research in New Orleans"; Jacqueline O. Vidrine of Ville Platte on "Protestants in Catholic Records: The Lower Miss. Valley and West Florida under France and Spain"; Dr. Maureen Arceneaux of Lafayette on "Using Courthouse Records in Genealogical Research" and Glenn Conrad of Lafayette on "Land Grants and Claims in the Attakapas District, 1765-1816".

Registration fee of $13.50 received in March includes a buffet lunch, coffee breaks, door prizes, etc. Registration at the door will be $15.00 and may not have lunch available. Several book vendors will have booths throughout the day.

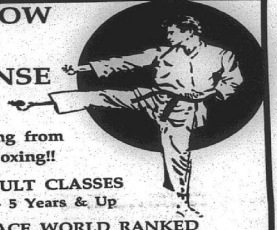
MARRIAGES 1789-1840

Washington County, Ohio, Marriages: 1789-1840 compiled by Bernice Graham and Elizabeth S. Cottle alphabetically by grooms lists more than 3,600 marriages taken from original record books for this fifty year period.

The earliest volume, dated 1789-1803 and called the Northwest Territory Book, contains records made when Washington County covered a large section of the Northwest Territory — the vast area north and west of the Ohio River that was later made into five states.



Marriage Book I begins with statehood in 1803 and continues to 1840 with a few 1841 entries. Each listing includes groom's name, bride's name, places of residence, marriage date, officiating ministers and page references to original record books.

Reprinted in 1989, this reference volume is hardcover, 5½ x 8½ in., 117 pages, full name index for brides, $21.00 incl. mailing, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Environmental Quality has issued a temporary Louisiana Water Discharge Permit System (LWDPS) permit and is proposing to issue a final LWDPS permit to Zilkha Energy Company to discharge drill cuttings and adhering native mud drilling fluids, treated wastewater from dewatering operations of drilling site reserve pits/ring levees, shale barges, and inactive or abandoned oilfield production pits, excess cement, treated sanitary wastes, domestic wastes, storm water runoff (deck drainage), and other associated uncontaminated discharges such as cooling water, ballast water, etc. from workover and drilling barges, and production facilities to oilfield canals, in Little Pecan Lake Field, Cameron Parish, Louisiana. The limitations and conditions of this permit are consistent with the permitting policy of the Office of Water Resources, which is to achieve and maintain full support of designated uses of the waters of the state.

During the preparation of this permit, it has been determined that these discharges will have no adverse impact on the existing uses of the receiving waterbodies. As with any discharge, however, some change in existing water quality may occur.

The designated uses of the receiving waters are being partially supported. The partial support of designated uses is suspected to be due to organic enrichment from crop production, petroleum activities and natural sources.

The application and proposed limitations may be examined at the Office of Water Resources Building, Capitol Complex, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Upon like payments annually, drilling operations may be further deferred for successive periods of one year each during the primary term of five years. In the event that the check is submitted with the bid, and the bid is unsuccessful, the check will be returned along with the unsuccessful bid and check or cash payment. Wild turkey program set

Following a successful first year, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is encouraging the participation of turkey hunters in a special research project. Last year turkey hunters provided important data on wild turkeys by stopping at one of the 200 check stations around the state where their birds were weighed, aged, measured and otherwise examined. Hunter response was so good that 1,525 wild turkeys were examined -- about twice as many as had been anticipated.

Participating hunters are eligible for a drawing for one of three shotguns donated by sportsmen's clubs and to be given away at the end of turkey season in May.

Turkey check stations in this area are:

Brown's, Longville; Frank Cole's Store, Ragley; and Country Store, DeQuincy.

Doland urges passage constitutional amend.

By SENATOR JACK DOLAND

For the past several weeks the legislature debated the issue of tax reform and fiscal stability. I voted "yes" on the issue because I believe Louisiana needs the help. Without this package we are going to continue to be last in education, highways, enforcement, services, and economic development. If you support the fiscal package we could turn the state around. We get a dependble tax base with constitutional improvements and restrictions.

It means jobs for the unemployed and better schools for the children. This package will give us in Southwest Louisiana two four-lane highways; one to Shreveport and the other through Alexandria to Monroe or Ruston. It connects us with good roads across the state. It frees other money for the parish and local roads.

Our airports and the Port of Lake Charles will benefit if this package is approved. Coastal erosion projects for Cameron Parish will receive funds. Businesses will be more inclined to locate in this area or expand their present facilities.

Some of us will pay more but not an exorbitant amount. Actually the sales tax will be reduced 1¢ on food, drugs and utilities. If you are unemployed or make less than $25,000 per year you will actually pay less. Those who make more will pay a little more.

An example would be a family making $40,000 per year will pay $82 more in income tax. Even if you make $100,000 per year it only costs you $487. These figures are after your federal taxes are deducted. If you pass the program, within a year or two Louisiana will get out of the economic crisis and dependency on oil and gas.

Our people will be able to find jobs and expansion of businesses will happen. We'll add state troopers back to their proper numbers and enforce our drug and environmental laws better. We'll pay teachers more and keep our colleges operating at a decent level. Supplemental pay for police and firemen could be reinstated.

If on the other hand this fiscal package fails we have a serious problem. The following situations will become reality in our area due to a $650 million cut out of about 1.9 billion dollars:

1) Our state will remainin an economic recession for several years.

2) Teachers will not get any more raises for a long time.

3) Our roads and bridges will deteriorate and there will be few funds for improvement.

4) McNeese will be cut more severly than ever. Programs will be eliminated and the best and transferrable faculty will leave.

5) Moss Regional Hospital will close and the indigent patients will have to get help from private hospitals. This will cause all rates to go up and could bankrupt some hospitals.

6) Burton Coliseum wil have no funds since all Rockefeller Refuge money could be taken away.

7) All state services, police, drivers license bureaus, and enforcement agencies will be cut back or eliminated.

Two-thirds of the legislators listened to the debate in both houses. I sat on committees who heard many statistical facts, pro and con, and voted for the fiscal package. It is not perfect but it is much better than what we have now.

Please study the issues as we did and see if you don't agree that we must do this. I believe you will vote as we did. It will cost some of us a little more money but it will also give Louisiana an oportunity to improve our image. Louisiana is worth it.

La Cruise--waiting on court decision before coming here.

Cruise ship ruled out

BULLETIN

Judge Ward Fontenot Wednesday afternoon ruled that a cruise ship with gambling apparatus aboard could not legally dock at Cameron under present day laws. It was not known if his ruling would be appealed.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Cameron will have its first cruise running out of the local port if a favorable opinion is issued in Cameron's 38th Judicial District Court, said Gary Carr, executive vice president of Holiday Cruises, owners of LaCruise, a 240-foot mini cruise boat.

A hearing was held in Judge H. Ward Fontenot's court Wednesday, Mar. 22, on the interpretation of Louisiana law concerning the operation of a gambling ship out of the local port.

Eddie Joe Conner introduced Carr who was the guest speaker at the weekly noon meeting of the Cameron Lions Club, and explained that the newly organized Cameron Chamber of Commerce has been working with the owners of the ship to help them come into the area.

Conner said the economy would receive a tremendous boost if the ship is allowed to locate here.

Carr said that the ship will be at the Cameron dock within two days, after a favorable ruling is reached by Judge Fontenot, then will start the cruises in seven days.

Carr said the ship is now located in Fouchon, from where it operated previously.

He explained that the former owner was forced to sell the boat as a probationary deal when he got in trouble with the Federal authorities over the ownership of illegal slot machines on land.

The present owners are from Texas and made the purchase of the boat last December, and decided on Cameron as the location of the new enterprise because of its central location to Texas and to Lafayette, Baton Rouge and southwest Louisiana.

Another reason is the water off the Cameron coast is shallow enough to not cause swells that can cause sea sickness among the passengers. The water is from 25 to 30 feet deep for 30 miles out from shore, according to the nautical maps, he said.

The boat is to be docked right in the middle of the town of Cameron at the T-Boy McCall dock and will feature six cruises for five days a week.

It is equipped to carry 550 people and is expected to be a great tourist attraction for the area.

It is expected that there will be a 16 million dollar impact to the area the first year alone.

Carr said that package tours will be set up to include not only the local hotels and motels, but those in Lake Charles also. Buses will run from Lake Charles and from Texas.

Each cruise will cost $49 per person, which includes an all-you-can-eat buffet presided over by Chef Houston Thomas (the former Black Angus chef).

Live entertainment will be featured on each cruise, with plans to bring in name entertainers. Percy Sledge is booked for sometime in July or August.

There will be a magician on board, a Cajun dance teacher, three hot tubs, oyster and shrimp bars, and a gambling casino which will hold around 200 people.

The age limit is 21 because the federal law says that no one under 21 will be allowed in a casino. He said that possibly trips will be scheduled later for teenagers only with the casino locked.

He pointed out that the ship will be very strict on drugs and there will be a drug sniffing dog on board. Anyone caught with drugs will be forbidden to come back and will be turned over the sheriff.

Everyone boarding will also have to pass through a metal detector and no guns allowed on board.

In other business Paul Berkey was initiated into the club by his sponsor Baron Thomas and Dr. Raymond Leidig, Lions president.

Dr. Leidig also announced that applications for the Lions Club Crippled Children's Camp are available from the club.

Reassessment may be ordered for parish

BATON ROUGE (CN) -- Property assesments in Cameron Parish rated poorly in the recent study conducted by the Louisiana Tax Commission on assessment practices for 1988. The parish is one of 13 which could ultimatley have to revise its tax rolls.

The commission used residential sales and/or appraisals of houses valued at $75,000 or more to judge the accuracy of assessments being done by tax assessors in each parish. Homes valued below that amount are exempt from taxation, so were not included in the study.

Cameron Parish Assessor Bobby Conner pointed out that the Louisiana Tax Commission's comments on the Cameron parish assessment pertained to residential property only and not to commercial and industrial propety.

He said that the Commission may force him to assess Cameron parish homes at a higher figure which may cause homeowners to pay higher taxes. However, it is to be noted that many taxes are homestead exempt and owners would only pay taxes on the amount for over $75,000.

State law allows assessors a 10 percent margin of accuracy on assessments. In the study, the middle figure (median) of property checked and the rest of the property sampled was compared to local assessors' figures.

The commission allowed variances of up to 10 percent above or below the legal requirement and rated assessments on a scale of #1 to 20, with 10 being the median. Anything below 9 or above 11 was considered out of line and the tax rolls in those parishes will receive a closer look.

Cameron Parish, with a 6.5 percent rating, fell well below the acceptable range for accuracy of assesments.

According to Zervigon, that 6.5 rating indicates that property valued at $100,000 is being assessed at $65,000 in the parish--which is far below the 10 percent margin of error.

According to the study, 13 of 63 parish tax assessors undervalued residential property with greater frequency than the law allows.

The study also showed wide variances of assessments in some parishes, indicating that some assessors are averaging property values, said Mary Zervigon, commission chairman.

The "degree of uniformity" of assessments was rated on a separate scale from accuracy. A rating of 10 or below is considered excellent, 11 to 20 is good and above 20 is poor.

Assessments in Cameron parish were ranked poor for uniformity, receiving a 23.1 percent rating in the study.

The tax rolls of assessors in Cameron and St. Helena parishes failed to meet the uniformity requirement because the frequency of high and low assessments exceeded 20 percent.

Since local taxing bodies such as school boards and police juries rely heavily on property taxes, impro-

Chamber endorses reform package

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce voted to go on record endorsing the Louisiana Fiscal Reform Package at their monthly meeting held Thursday at Pat's restaurant. They also plan to have public meetings to explain it to the public, according to Paul Coreil, Chamber president.

The Chamber is in the process of seeking information to put into a resource directory to be printed in the near future.

It is seeking to get information on all parish businesses and their services to be passed out as a tourist and business information vehicle. Anyone owning a business is invited to have their listing in the brochure by contacting Ed Kelley or the Cameron Library.

Kelley also reported on the status of the flood insurance petition on which signatures are being collected, with a goal of 4,000 signatures to be presented to FEMA when completed.

The Coastal Erosion problem was discussed and the Chamber is to send a letter to the state supporting the 50/50 match program with the Corps of Engineers called the Sea-Par program.

The following meetings have been set up in parish communities in order to secure members for the Chamber:

April 13 - Catholic Community Center, Grand Lake, at 7 p.m.

April 4 - Multipurpose building, Hackberry, 7 p.m.

A meeting will be held on April 6, to discuss the Fiscal Reform issue in the Police Jury Annex at 7 p.m. with the legislative delegation expected to attend.

The April Chamber meeting will be held April 20, at 11:30 a.m. in the Cameron Motel restaurant in Cameron.

Egg hunt to be Sunday

The Cameron Youth Council will sponsor an Easter Egg hunt from noon to 2 p.m. Saturday, Mar. 25, at the Cameron Recreation Center.

Chabreck is honored for marsh book

Dr. Robert H. Chabreck, formerly head biologist at the Rockefeller Refuge at Grand Chenier, and now a wildlife professor at LSU, has been honored for his book describing the coastal marshes in different sections of the United States.

The award was made at the recent annual meeting of the Louisiana Wildlife Biologists Association for the book, "Coastal Marshes - Ecology and Wildlife Management."

The publication by the University of Minnesota Press was released in December and is part of a wildlife habitat series aimed at the general public.

Chabreck said he wrote the book to help focus public attention on the major problems facing wildlife of the coastal regions and some possible solutions.

The LSU scientist has done extensive studies on coastal marshes and their inhabitants. He is also an authority on alligators and has conducted research on their life history and management. His other research has included waterfowl, fur animals, and deer in the marsh.

Coastal marshes are disappearing at a rapid rate and world scientists have repeatedly sounded an alarm on the demise and called for better protective measures.

Revival set

Rev. Raymond Kerwin will be the guest speaker at a weekend revival to be held Friday and Saturday nights, Mar. 24 and 25, at the Cameron Tabernacle Church, according to Rev. Morse Pruitt, pastor.

Everyone is invited to attend.

GATOR BOARD

As most of you know the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has formed a new Alligator Task Force.

I would like to congratulate the four Cameron parish appointees: John Paul Crain, Jerry Jones, Darrell Dupont and Walter Wainwright. I think this is a very good choice of people who are involved or have been involved with the alligator industry for many years. They have all managed or own large tracts of land and raise alligators. These men can make our alligator industry a go for the state of Louisiana.

FISH ADVISORY STILL HOT ISSUE

On February 24, DEQ and DHH issued a joint advisory against the sale and consumption of speckle trout and white trout taken from anywhere in the entire Calcasieu River System.

High levels of hexachlorobenazene and hexachlorobutadine were found in these two species of fish and that it poses a potential health risk to the public.

Many ideas and information were exchanged recently at a meeting held by the top officials of DEQ and DHH.

Warning signs will have to be put up and two primary spots were chosen. Boat ramps and all bait and tackle shops. After three different wordings, I think the sign we'll see is "warning". It is advised that speckle trout and white trout in this water body are contaminated with chemicals. They are not to be sold or eaten.

This has really turned to a hardship on our local commecial fishermen, now it'll turn on the local bait and tackle shops. It'll also have an impact on all area merchants as in the sales of gas, oil, ice, etc., then to the boat and marine engine dealers.

The area is really frustrated about all of this as there is a lot of false information hitting the streets. These signs will not help either, as all fish are not affected, but how will the general public and tourism take this.

If this is just an advisory, why put up these signs and confuse people. It'll look as though the whole Calcasieu River system is not fishable whereas we are only looking at speckle trout and white trout. The sign in the tackle and bait shops will send a message, don't buy baits here, cause you can't fish with them anyway. This is putting our commercial fishermen out of business and if you confuse our recreational and tourist fishermen you'll put the bait and tackle stands out of business also.

The big question is will DEQ use these signs to inform the public and will they ask the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries for closure of Calcasieu Lake. As it stands now, I don't believe the enforcement agent will arrest anyone for coming to the docks with speckle trout or white trout, but if the Commission favors to close Calcasieu Lake, the department enforcement division would have to enforce the law.

As of now I think there is insufficient data to have the lake closed.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK

This week, Mar. 19-25, is National Wildlife Week. This is sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and its state affiliate and the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

LACASSINE REFUGE - NEW ROAD

For many years, an effort by Fish and Wildlife Services, a road has been obtained that will give the general public much better access to the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge.

The road will be open to the public and a ribbon cutting ceremony will take place Mar. 25, a Saturday, at 1 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

There are a lot of fishermen, especially bass, white perch, bream, etc., that are really happy about this. This will save your boat by not having to cross rollers, less boat ride and a parking area.

U. S. Rep. Jimmy Hayes will host the ribbon cutting ceremony, as well as other state and federal officials who are supposed to attend.

The site for the event will be at a location on the refuge, south of the community of Illinois Plant, which is southeast of Hayes, off Hwy. 14. Directional signs will be posted. You are urged to attend and back up this new facility.

Lacassine Refuge has always been a big part of our lives in the east part of the parish, as well as Sabine Refuge on the western part of the parish..

ASSESSMENTS

per assessments could cause them to lose revenue. Inequities also result in some property owners paying more than their neighbors with property of the same value.

While the recently completed study of property assessments is a guide to assessors' work, Zervigon said, "It does not tell you all property is properly assessed."

Those assessors who failed to meet legal requirements for 1988 in the current study will be able to submit additional information on their assessment practices.

If they still fail to meet the requirements, they will have to redo their tax rolls for the 1989 tax year, Zervigon said. That would mean a delay in 1989 tax bills, which would cause parishes to go without expected tax revenue until the problem is corrected.

Some assessors questioned the appraisals which the commission made in the study.

Parishes where tax rolls may be rejected are: Allen, Beauregard, Caldwell, Cameron, East Feliciana, Lafayette, Livingston, Red River, St. Bernard, St. Charles, St. Helena, St. James and Washington.

License office is curtailed

The Cameron drivers license and motor vehicle office will be closed every day except Thursday for six weeks, according to Dayleen Cheramie, drivers license officer.

Fur trapping permits set for Sabine

Assignment of fur trapping permits for the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge will be determined through a public drawing at refuge headquarters May 1, John R. Walther, Refuge Manager announced. These permits will cover both the furbearers and alligator harvest programs on the refuge.

The drawing will give all interested and qualified individuals an equal opportunity for a permit to trap on the federal area this fall.

The refuge headquarters is located on Hwy. 27 approximately seven miles south of Hackberry. The permit will cover three consecutive trapping seasons.

Each trapper's share will be 70 percent of all species taken. Carcasses disposal will be the trapper's responsibility.

Walther said that anyone 18 years of age or older who is interested in receiving a permit and can demonstrate that they have had prior marsh trapping experience, specifically with nutria, should write: Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, Hwy. 27 South 3000 Main Street, Hackberry, La. 70645 or call 762-3816. Each applicant will be sent a questionnaire which must be returned by April 15 in order to qualify for the drawing.

Regulations on marking of gill nets told

The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries has proposed regulations outlining the procedure for marking all gill and trammel nets in the saltwater areas of the state.

The proposal requires that each gill/trammel net shall be marked with a waterproof tag attached to the corkline at each end of the net, no more than three feet from the edge of the webbing.

These waterproof tabs will have to be supplied by the commercial fisherman and have the fisherman's full name (no initials) and the commercial fisherman's license number printed in the English language.

Additionally, the proposal requires that each net be marked with buoys which are visible above the water surface.

These buoys must be supplied by the fishermen, have a minimum diameter of 6 inches, be attached to each end of the net, and be colored international orange.

Interested persons may submit written comments on the proposals by writing Mr. John Russell, Saltwater Finfish Section, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70898-9000.

Reclamation in 1925. . .

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, March 20, 1925)
CAMERON DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. 2

Emile C. Canning, who is secretary-treasurer of Cameron Parish Drainage District No. 2, is spending a couple of weeks in Cameron winding up the bonded indebtedness of the district and paying all local bills it may owe.

Mr. Canning lives in Bridgeport, Conn., and has business offices in New York. He is a director of the Mermentau Mineral & Land company which owns in round numbers 15,000 acres of "Sea Island cotton lands" in the Creole-Grand Chenier section of Cameron Parish. The company has approximately 12,000 acres in the reclamation district of which Mr. Canning is secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Canning stated Friday afternoon that twelve years ago his company conceived the idea of reclamation, but wishing to give quite a number of small native property owners on two sides of its holdings the benefits of its drainage project, it extended the proposed district so as to include them. An election was called and a tax was voted for the improvements proposed.

For the sum of $28,000, all incidental expenses in connection with voting the tax, supervision and engineering, etc., and the cost of dredging were paid, stated Mr. Canning. The actual cost of dredging which provided navigable canals and levees six feet high with a crown six feet wide, 22 miles in length and extending around the reclamation district, he said, was $24,000.

The canals are six feet deep and 32 feet wide. One of them running north from the Mermentau river at Grand Chenier and ending within three miles of Little Chenier ridge, was extended into that settlement by local people and now furnishes the only means for travel and traffic which they possess without going from 15 to 25 miles east to the Mermentau river and then traveling a like distance south to Grand Chenier.

Mr. Canning stated while here that his farmers in Cameron had been planting Sea Island cotton until 1923 when the demand for the long staple dropped to nearly nothing because automobile tire manufacturers had learned to make cord tires without using it. After the price went as low as 35 cents, said Mr. Canning, his farmers began planting short staple cotton. Last year they had 150 acres planted in this crop, but this year they will double that amount.

The entire east and south front of the Mermentau Mineral & Land Company's holdings face the Mermentau river. North of the river and across from Grand Chenier is the farm with seven houses, all modern in style and well screened. Alongside of each which face the Mermenatu, there are drainage ditches which empty into larger ones further to the north. These laterals in turn empty into a large canal a mile in length and from which a pumping station lifts water and drops it into another canal that empties into the Mermentau River.

When the levee was built around the Cameron Drainage District No. 2, the dredge boats picked up much sulphur along the eastern, northeastern and southeastern side of the company's lands and to determine the structure of the country, Mr. Canning had a geologist make a careful survey along the Mermentau, Little Chenier and some of the ridges running northwest and southeast.

This geologist made a number of locations which he deemed good and recommended drilling for oil. Following this advice, the Mermentau Mineral & Land company put down three tests spending more than $30,000 to make them, and in two had oil, but was never able to make wells out of them.

Black News

By WANITA HARRISON

Donald Ray Frank, Caprina, Keisha and Joshua of Beaumont, Tex., visited Mrs. Lillie Harrison and Mrs. Frances January, Saturday. Mrs. Emma Frank, who had been caring for Mrs. January, accompanied them to Port Arthur, Tex.

Mrs. Lorena Turner and Angel of Baton Rouge are visiting Mrs. Levenia Bartie and Mrs. Mary Cockrell.

The proposed Lake Charles-Cameron highway, said Mr. Canning, will pass within a few miles of the west end of his company's lands if it is built south from the old Aviation Field east of Lake Charles, to Creole and then to Cameron. He is very much interested in the constructin of the road and believes that if it goes via of Creole where there is a navigation canal to Grand Chenier and points east and west along the Gulf coast, much traffic will come to Lake Charles from off the canal at Creole.

HACKBERRY

From reliable sources it is learned that the Rycade Oil Corporation, jointly with Messrs. Hooks and Noble, will develop a lease block of approximately 2,000 acres in the vicinity of Hackberry, and that drilling operations will soon be started by these parties, with the first location to be on the property of Mrs. J. M. Vincent.

These operations, together with the big drilling campaign of the Yont-Lee Oil Company, which has been under way for several months just north of Hackberry Island, will result in renewed interest in the now famous "Hackberry Dome" section, according to some of the big operators who have been interested in Hackberry for years.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of Louisiana, two-thirds of the members elected to each house concurring, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state of Louisiana, for their approval or rejection in the manner provided by law, a proposal to amend Article VII of the Constitution of Louisiana, to read as follows:

ARTICLE VII.
REVENUE
PART I.
GENERAL PROVISIONS

§1. Power to Tax; Public Purpose

Section 1. Except as otherwise provided by this Article, the power of taxation shall be vested in the legislature, shall be subject to be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away, and shall be exercised for public purposes only.

§2. Power to Tax; Limitation

Section 2. The levy of a new tax, an increase in an existing tax, or a repeal of an existing tax exemption shall require the enactment of a law by two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature.

§3. Collection of Taxes

Section 3. The legislature shall prohibit the issuance of process to restrain the collection of any tax. It shall provide a complete and adequate remedy for the prompt recovery of an illegal tax paid by a taxpayer. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of this constitution, and provided there is first established parish centralized collection of sales and use taxes, the legislature shall, by general law implemented no later than January 1, 1991, provide for parish centralized collection of sales and use taxes levied by a political subdivision. There shall be parish centralized collection of sales and use taxes beginning January 1, 1991.

§4. Tax; Severance Tax; Political Subdivisions

Section 4. (A) Income Tax. Equal and uniform taxes may be levied on net income, and income taxes may be graduated according to the amount of such income. The legislature shall provide for the levy of such taxes, and may adopt provisions of federal law, including provisions of alternative minimum taxation, relative to income taxation by reference thereto for the purposes of the imposition or administration of any tax. However, a state income tax schedule of rates shall never exceed six percent. Federal income taxes paid shall be allowed as a deductible item. Corporate state income taxes for the same period for state individual and joint income tax.

(B) Severance Tax. Taxes may be levied on natural resources severed from the soil or water, to be paid proportionately by the owners thereof at the time of severance. Natural resources may be classified for the purpose of taxation. Such taxes may be predicated upon either the quantity or value of the products at the time and place of severance. No further or additional tax or license shall be levied or imposed upon oil, gas, or sulphur leases or rights. No additional tax shall be added to the assessment of land by reason of the presence of oil, gas, or sulphur therein or their production therefrom. However, sulphur in place shall be assessed for ad valorem taxation to the person, firm, or corporation having the right to mine or produce the same in the parish where located, at no more than twice the assessed value of the physical property subject to taxation, excluding the assessed value of sulphur above ground, as is used in sulphur operations in such parish. Likewise, the severance tax shall be the only tax on timber; however, standing timber shall be liable equally with the land upon which it stands for ad valorem taxes levied on the land.

(C) Political Subdivisions. (1) A political subdivision of the state shall not levy a severance tax, income tax, or tax on motor fuel.

(2) The governing authority of a local governmental subdivision may impose an occupational license tax which shall not exceed the tax authorized to be levied by law enacted by the favorable vote of two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature. Those who pay a municipal occupational license tax shall be exempt from a parish occupational license tax in the amount of the municipal tax.

(D) Severance Tax Allocation. One-third of the sulphur severance tax, but not exceed one hundred thousand dollars; one-third of the lignite severance tax, but not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars; one-fifth of the severance tax on all mineral resources, other than sulphur, lignite, or timber, but not to exceed five hundred thousand dollars; and three-fourths of the timber severance tax shall be remitted to the governing authority of the parish in which severance or production occurs.

(E) Royalties Allocation. One-tenth of the royalties from mineral leases on state-owned land, lake and river beds and other water bottoms belonging to the state or the title to which is in the public for mineral development shall be remitted to the governing authority of the parish in which severance or production occurs. A parish governing authority may fund these royalties into general obligation bonds of the parish in accordance with law. The provisions of this Paragraph shall not apply to properties comprising the Russell Sage Wildlife and Game Refuge.

§5. Motor Vehicle License Tax

Section 5. The legislature may impose an annual license tax on automobiles for private use and on other motor vehicles based upon horsepower, carrying capacity, value, weight, or such other basis as provided by law. After allocation of money to the Bond Security and Redemption Fund as provided in Article VII, Section 9(B) of this constitution, all monies received from the imposition of an annual license tax on automobiles for private use and on other motor vehicles shall be used exclusively and solely as provided by law for the construction, maintenance, and safety of the federal and state system of roads and for the payment for the parish and municipal road systems, for the operation of the office of state police, Department of Public Safety and Corrections or its successor, and for the payment of any obligation for bonds issued or indebtedness incurred in connection with any of the foregoing, which bonds may be issued as revenue bonds under Article VII, Section 6(C) of this constitution, subject to existing pledges only as to that portion of the tax collections attributable to the rates in effect at the time of such pledges, and for the payment of any obligations for bonds or other evidence of indebtedness outstanding on the effective date of this Section. A parish or municipality may impose a license fee on motor vehicles.

§6. State Debt; Full Faith and Credit Obligations

Section 6. (A) Authorization. Unless otherwise authorized by this constitution, the state shall have no power, directly or indirectly, or through any state board, agency, commission, or otherwise, to incur debt or issue bonds except by law enacted by two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature. The debt may be incurred or the bonds issued only if the funds are to be used to repel invasion; suppress insurrection; provide relief from natural catastrophes; refund outstanding indebtedness at the same or a lower effective interest rate; or make capital improvements, but only in accordance with a comprehensive capital budget which the legislature shall adopt.

(B) Capital Improvements. If the purpose is to make capital improvements, the nature and location and, if more than one project, the amount allocated to each and the order of priority shall be stated in the comprehensive capital budget which the legislature adopts.

(C) Full Faith and Credit. The full faith and credit of the state shall be pledged to the repayment of all bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued by the state directly or through any state board, agency, or commission pursuant to the provisions of Paragraphs (A) and (B) hereof. The full faith and credit of the state is not hereby pledged to the repayment of bonds of a levee district, political subdivision, or local public agency, in addition to any state board, agency, or commission authorized by law to issue bonds, in the manner so authorized and with the approval of the State Bond Commission or its successor, may issue bonds which are made payable from fees, rates, rentals, tolls, charges, grants, or other receipts or income derived by or in connection with an undertaking, facility, project, or any combination thereof, without a pledge of the full faith and credit of the state. Such revenue bonds may, but shall not be required to, be issued in accordance with the provisions of Paragraphs (A) and (B) hereof. If issued other than as provided in Paragraphs (A) and (B), such revenue bonds shall not carry the pledge of the full faith and credit of the state and the issuance of the bonds shall not constitute the incurring of state debt under this constitution. The rights granted to deep-water port commissions or deep-water boards, harbor, and terminal districts under this constitution shall not be impaired by this Section.

(D) Referendum. The legislature, by law enacted by two-thirds of the elected members of each house, may propose a statewide public referendum to authorize incurrence of debt for any purpose for which the legislature is not herein authorized to incur debt.

(E) Exception. Nothing in this Section shall apply to any levee district, political subdivision, or local public agency unless the full faith and credit of the state is pledged to the payment of the bonds of the levee district, political subdivision, or local public agency.

§7. State Debt; Interim Emergency Board

Section 7. (A) Composition. The Interim Emergency Board is created. It shall be composed of the governor, the president of the senate, state treasurer, presiding officer of each house of the legislature, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, or their designees.

Between sessions of the legislature, when the board by majority vote determines that an emergency exists, it may appropriate from the state general fund or borrow on the full faith and credit of the state an amount to meet the emergency. The appropriation or borrowing and the indebtedness incurred only for a purpose for which the legislature may appropriate funds and then only after the board obtains, as provided by law, the written consent of two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature. For the purposes of this Paragraph, an emergency is an event or occurrence not reasonably anticipated by the legislature.

(C) Limits. The aggregate indebtedness outstanding at any one time and the amount appropriated from the state general fund for the current fiscal year under the authority of this Section shall not exceed one-tenth of one percent of total state revenue receipts for the previous fiscal year.

(D) Allocation. An amount sufficient to pay indebtedness incurred during the preceding fiscal year under the authority of this Section is allocated, as a first priority, each year from the state general fund.

§8. State Bond Commission

Section 8. (A) Creation. The State Bond Commission is created. Its membership and authority shall be determined by law.

(B) Approval of Bonds. No bonds or other obligations shall be issued or sold by the state, directly or through any state board, agency, or commission, or by any political subdivision of the state, unless prior written approval of the bond commission is obtained.

(C) Contesting State Bonds. Bonds, notes, certificates, or other evidences of indebtedness of the state hereafter referred to as "bonds") shall not be invalid because of any irregularity or defect in the proceedings or in the issuance and sale thereof, but shall be incontestable in the hands of a bona fide purchaser or holder. The issuing agency, after authorizing the issuance of bonds by resolution, shall publish once in the official journal of the state, as provided by law, a notice of intention to issue the bonds. The notice shall include a description of the bonds and the security therefor. Within thirty days after the publication, any person in interest may contest the legality of the resolution, any provision of the bonds to be issued pursuant to it, the provisions securing the bonds, and the validity of all other provisions and proceedings relating to their authorization and issuance of the bonds. If no action or proceeding is instituted within the thirty days, no person may contest the validity of the bonds, the provisions of the resolution pursuant to which the bonds were issued, the provisions of the bonds, or the validity of any other provisions or proceedings relating to their authorization and issuance, and the bonds shall be presumed conclusively to be legal. Thereafter no court shall have authority to inquire into such matters.

§9. State Funds

Section 9.(A)(1) Deposit in state treasury. All money received by the state or by any state board, agency, or commission shall be deposited immediately upon receipt in the state treasury, except that received:

(a) as a result of grants or donations or other forms of assistance when the terms and conditions thereof or of agreements pertaining thereto require otherwise;

(b) by trade or professional boards or commissions;

(c) by the employment security administration fund or its successor;

(d) by retirement systems funds;

(e) by state agencies operating under authority of this constitution preponderantly from fees and charges for the shipment of goods in international maritime trade and commerce;

(f) by a state board, agency, or commission, but pledged by it in connection with the issuance of revenue bonds as provided in Paragraph (B) of this Article, or the tax secured bonds authorized by law defined as provided in Paragraph (C) of Section 10.5 of this Article, other than any surplus as may be defined in the law authorizing such revenue bonds or excess revenues as defined in Section 10.5 of this Article; and

(g) As fees or charges imposed or collected by a state college or university or its management board.

(2) Any board, agency, or commission that receives funds covered by the exceptions enumerated in A(1)(a) through (c), and (e) through (g), or any fund which board, agency, or commission receives any appropriation from the state general fund shall be subject to budgetary oversight as provided by the legislature as provided by law. Any board, agency, or commission that receives funds covered by the exceptions enumerated in A(1)(a) through (g) shall be subject only to budgetary oversight as provided by law.

(B) Bond Security and Redemption Fund. Subject to contractual obligations existing on the effective date of this constitution, all state money deposited in the state treasury shall be credited to a special fund designated as the Bond Security and Redemption Fund, except money received as the result of grants or donations or other forms of assistance when the terms and conditions thereof or of agreements pertaining thereto require otherwise. In each fiscal year an amount is allocated from the bond security and redemption fund sufficient to pay all obligations which are secured by the full faith and credit of the state and which become due and payable within the current fiscal year, including principal, interest, premiums, sinking or reserve funds, and other requirements. Thereafter, except as otherwise provided by law, money remaining in the fund shall be credited to the state general fund.

(C) Exception. Nothing in this Section shall apply to a levee district or political subdivision unless the full faith and credit of the state is pledged to the payment of the bonds of the levee district or political subdivision.

§10. Expenditure of State Funds

Section 10. (A) Appropriations. Except as otherwise provided by this constitution, money shall be drawn from the state treasury only pursuant to an appropriation made in accordance with law. Appropriations from the state general fund or dedicated funds shall not exceed the expenditure limit for the fiscal year.

(1) The Revenue Estimating Conference, hereinafter referred to as the conference, shall be composed of four members: the governor, the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House of Representatives, or their respective designees, and a faculty member with revenue forecasting expertise from a public or private university in the state to be selected by the other three conference members from a list of not less than three nor more than five nominees submitted by the Louisiana Higher Education Executive Advisory Committee, or its successor.

(2) The conference shall adopt and publish an official estimate of monies to be received by the state general fund and dedicated funds for the current and next fiscal year which are available for appropriation. The conference shall revise the official estimate at such time and in such manner as provided by law. The most recently adopted official estimate shall be the official estimate of the conference.

(3) Any action establishing an official estimate shall be taken only pursuant to a unanimous decision by all of the conference members. The legislature may alter the composition and membership of the conference or the vote required for the conference to adopt an estimate by law enacted by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the elected members of each house.

(C) Expenditure Limit. The legislature shall provide for the determination of an expenditure limit to be established during the first quarter of the calendar year for the next fiscal year. The expenditure limit for the 1991-1992 Fiscal Year shall be the actual appropriations from the state general fund and dedicated funds for that year. For subsequent fiscal years, the limit shall not exceed the expenditure limit for the current fiscal year plus an amount equal to that limit times a positive growth factor. The growth factor is the average annual percentage rate of change of personal income for Louisiana as defined and reported by the United States Department of Commerce for the three calendar years prior to the fiscal year for which the limit is calculated. The expenditure limit may be changed in any fiscal year by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the elected members of each house.

(D) Balanced Budget. Appropriations by the legislature from the state general fund and from dedicated funds, except funds allocated by Section 4, Paragraphs (D) and (E), for any fiscal year shall not exceed the official estimate in effect at the time the appropriations are made. The legislature shall establish a procedure to determine if appropriations will exceed the official estimate and provide a method for adjusting appropriations during the fiscal year in order to eliminate a projected deficit. However, no adjustments shall reduce the funds allocated under the provisions of Section 4, Paragraphs (D) and (E).

(E) Elimination of Year End Deficits. If a deficit exists in any fund in the state treasury at the end of a fiscal year, that deficit shall be eliminated no later than the end of the next fiscal year.

(F) Revenue Stabilization Fund. There is hereby established in the state treasury a Revenue Stabilization Fund. Money available for appropriation from the state general fund and dedicated funds in excess of the expenditure limit shall be appropriated to the Revenue Stabilization Fund, subject only to conditions limiting appropriations of funds dedicated in this constitution. Money in the Revenue Stabilization Fund shall be invested by the treasurer as provided by law and all net earnings shall be deposited in the fund. The money in the fund shall not be available for appropriation except under the following conditions:

(1) If the official estimate for the next fiscal year is less than revenues received by the state in the previous fiscal year, an amount equal to one-half of this difference shall be incorporated into the official estimate for the next fiscal year, not to exceed one-third of the fund.

(2) If a deficit for the current fiscal year is projected as a result of a decrease in the official estimate, an amount equal to one-third of the fund not to exceed the deficit may be appropriated by two-thirds of the members of the legislature the appropriation may be made after the written consent of two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature is obtained in a manner to be provided by law.

(3) In no event shall the amount included in the official estimate for the next fiscal year plus the amount appropriated in the current fiscal year exceed one-third of the fund balance at the beginning of the current fiscal year.

(G) Publication. The legislature shall cause to be published a regular statement of receipts and expenditures of all state money at intervals of not more than one year.

(H) Public Purpose. No appropriation shall be made except for a public purpose.

(b) Any increase in the amount charged for such fees, licenses, permits, royalties, and other revenue, or any new fee, license, permit, royalty, or other revenue, enacted by the legislature after December 23, 1988 shall be irrevocably dedicated and deposited in the Conservation Fund unless the legislature enacts a law specifically appropriating such revenue to another fund or purpose.

(C) All unexpended and unencumbered monies in the Conservation Fund at the end of the fiscal year shall remain in the fund. The monies in the fund shall be invested by the treasurer in the manner provided by law. All interest earned on monies invested by the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund. The treasurer shall prepare and submit to the department on a quarterly basis a printed report showing the amount of money contained in the fund from all sources.

After allocation of money to the Bond Security and Redemption Fund as provided in Article VII, Section 9(B) of this constitution, and notwithstanding Article XIV, Section 10 of this constitution, the treasurer shall deposit in and credit to the Permanent Trust Fund all money which is received after the first one hundred million dollars from the federal government under Section 1337(g) of Title 43 of the United States Code which is attributable to mineral production activity or leasing activity on the Outer Continental Shelf which has been held in escrow pending a settlement between the United States and the state of Louisiana; twenty-five percent of the recurring revenues received under Section 1337(g) of Title 43 of the United States Code which are attributable to mineral production activity or leasing activity on the Outer Continental Shelf; and twenty-five percent of the earnings on investment of monies in the Permanent Trust Fund. No appropriation shall be made from the Permanent Trust Fund. If any such money has been received prior to October 29, 1986, the treasurer shall transfer from the state general fund to the Permanent Trust Fund on October 29, 1986, an amount of money which shall make the Permanent Trust Fund balance equal to the amount of such money previously received, except for the first one hundred million dollars. After six hundred million dollars has been credited to the Permanent Trust Fund, the sum of fifty million dollars shall be credited to the Coastal Environment Protection Trust Fund, as established in R.S. 30:313, from those monies received from the federal government under Section 1337(g) of Title 43 of the United States Code which is attributable to mineral production activity or leasing activity on the Outer Continental Shelf and which has been held in escrow pending a settlement between the United States and the state of Louisiana; all funds in excess of seven hundred fifty million dollars shall be credited to the Permanent Trust Fund.

(3) All recurring revenues and interest earnings shall be credited to the respective funds as provided in Subparagraphs (1) and (2) above until the balance in the Permanent Trust Fund equals two billion dollars. After the Permanent Trust Fund reaches a balance of two billion dollars, all interest earnings on the Permanent Trust Fund shall be credited to the Support Fund and all recurring revenues shall be credited to the state general fund.

(B) Investment. The money credited to the Permanent Trust Fund pursuant to Paragraph (A) of this Section shall be permanently credited to the Permanent Trust Fund and shall be invested by the treasurer. The amounts in the Support Fund shall be available for appropriation and used by the legislature as provided in Paragraphs (C) and (D) of this Section.

For elementary, secondary and vocational-technical education and for higher education, this Paragraph shall mean that no appropriation for any fiscal year from the Support Fund shall be made for any purpose for which a general fund appropriation was made in the previous year unless the total appropriations for that fiscal year from the state general fund for such purpose exceed general fund appropriations for the previous year. This Paragraph shall in no way limit general fund appropriations in excess of the minimum amounts herein established.

(D) Disbursement; higher education, elementary and secondary education, and vocational-technical education. (1) The treasurer shall disburse not more than fifty percent of the monies in the Support Fund as that money is appropriated by the legislature and allocated by the Board of Regents for any or all of the following higher educational purposes to enhance economic development:

(C) Reports; Allocation. (1) The State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education and the Board of Regents shall annually submit to the legislature and the governor not less than sixty days prior to the beginning of each regular session of the legislature a proposed program and budget for the expenditure of monies in the Support Fund. The legislature may alter or repeal the portion of the membership of the board or the vote required for the board to grant a contract of exemption by law enacted by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the elected members of each house.

(2) This exemption may be renewed for additional five-year periods after approval by a review board consisting of the members of the board described in Paragraph (G)(1), a representative designated by the governing authority of the parish, or municipality if in a municipality, in which the new manufacturing or distribution establishment is located and a representative designated by the governing authority of the school board district in which the establishment is located. §22. No Impairment of Existing Taxes or Obligations

Section 22. This Part shall not be applied in a manner which will (a) invalidate taxes authorized and imposed prior to the effective date of this constitution or (b) impair the obligations, validity, or security of any bonds or other debt obligations authorized prior to the effective date of this constitution.

§23. Adjustment of Ad Valorem Tax Millages

Section 23. (A) REAPPRAISAL ADJUSTMENTS. Except as otherwise permitted in this Section, the total amount of ad valorem taxes collected by any taxing authority in the year in which the reappraisal and valuation provisions of Section 18, Paragraph (F) of this Article are implemented shall not be increased or decreased because of a reappraisal and valuation above or below the total amount of ad valorem taxes collected by that taxing authority in the year preceding implementation of the reappraisal and valuation. To accomplish this result, it shall be mandatory for each affected taxing authority in the year in which Section 18, Paragraph (F) of this Article is implemented, to adjust millages upwards or downwards without regard to millage limitations contained in this constitution, and the maximum authorized millages shall be increased or decreased, without further voter approval, in proportion to the amount of the adjustment upward or downward. Thereafter, following implementation of each subsequent reappraisal and valuation provided by Paragraph (F) of Section 18 of this Article, the millages as fixed in each such implementation shall remain in effect unless changed as permitted by Paragraph (B) of this Section.

(B) INCREASES PERMITTED. Nothing herein shall prohibit a taxing authority from collecting, in the year in which Section 18 of this Article is implemented or in any subsequent year, a larger dollar amount of ad valorem taxes by (1) levying additional or increased millages as provided by law or (2) placing additional property on the tax rolls. Increases in the millage rate in excess of the rates established as provided by Paragraph (A) above but not in excess of the prior year's maximum authorized millage rate may be levied by two-thirds vote of the total membership of the taxing authority without further voter approval but only after a public hearing held in accordance with the open meetings law.

(C) APPLICATION. This Section shall not apply to millages required to be levied for the payment of general obligation bonds.

§24. Tax Assessors

Section 24. (A) Election; Term. A tax assessor shall be elected by the electors of each parish, Orleans Parish excepted. His term of office shall be four years. His election, duties, and compensation shall be as provided by law.

(B) Orleans Parish. There shall be seven assessors in New Orleans, who shall compose the Board of Assessors for Orleans Parish. One shall be elected from each municipal district of New Orleans, and each shall be a resident of the district in which he is elected. The assessors shall be elected at the same time as the municipal officers of New Orleans, for terms of four years thereafter. Their duties and compensation shall be as provided by law.

(C) Vacancy. When a vacancy occurs in the office of tax assessor, the duties of the office, until filled by election as provided by law, shall be assumed by the chief deputy assessor, except in Orleans Parish where the Board of Assessors shall appoint an interim assessor.

§25. Tax Sales

Section 25. (A) Tax Sales. There shall be no forfeiture of property for nonpayment of taxes. However, at the expiration of the year in which the taxes are due, the collector, without suit, and after giving notice to the delinquent in the manner provided by law, shall advertise for sale the property on which the taxes are due. The advertisement shall be published in the official journal of the parish or municipality, or, if there is no official journal, as provided by law for sheriffs' sales, in the manner provided for judicial sales. On the day of sale, the collector shall sell the property to pay the taxes, interest, and costs. The sale shall be without appraisement. A tax deed by a tax collector shall be prima facie evidence that a valid sale was made.

(B) Redemption. The property sold shall be redeemable for three years after the date of recordation of the tax sale, by paying the price given, including costs, five percent penalty thereon, and interest at the rate of one percent per month until redemption.

(C) Annulment. No sale of property for taxes shall be set aside for any cause, except on proof of payment of the taxes prior to the date of the sale, unless the proceeding to annul is instituted within six months after service of notice of sale. A notice of sale shall not be served until the final day for redemption has ended. It must be served within five years after the date of the recordation of the tax deed for which notice is given. The fact that taxes were paid on a part of the property sold prior to the sale thereof, or that a part of the property was not subject to taxation, shall not be cause for annulling the sale or any part thereof on which the taxes for which it was sold were due and unpaid. No judgment annulling a tax sale shall have effect until the price and all taxes and costs are paid, but until ten percent per annum interest on the amount of the taxes paid from date of respective payments are paid to the purchaser; however, this shall not apply to sales annulled because the taxes were paid prior to the date of sale.

(D) Quieting Tax Title. The manner of notice and form of proceeding to quiet tax titles shall be provided by law.

(E)(1) Movables; Tax Sales. When taxes on movables are delinquent, the tax collector shall seize and sell sufficient movable property of the delinquent taxpayer to pay the tax, whether or not the property seized is the property which was assessed. Sale of the property shall be at public auction, without appraisement, after ten days advertisement, published within ten days after date of seizure. It shall be absolute and without redemption.

(2) If the tax collector can find no corporeal movables of the delinquent's for seize, he may levy on incorporeal rights, by notifying the debtor thereof, or he may proceed by summary rule in the courts to compel the delinquent to deliver for sale property in his possession or under his control.

(F) Postponement of Taxes. The legislature may postpone the payment of taxes, but only in cases of overflow, general conflagration, general crop destruction, or other public calamity, and may provide for the levying, assessing, and collecting of such postponed taxes. In such case, the legislature may authorize the borrowing of money by the state on its faith and credit, by bond loan or otherwise, and may levy taxes, or apply taxes already levied and not appropriated, to secure payment thereof, in order to create a fund from which loans may be made through the Interim Emergency Board to the governing authority of the parish where the calamity occurs. The money loaned shall be applied to and shall not exceed the deficiency in the revenue of the parish or a political subdivision therein or of which the parish is a part, caused by postponement of taxes. No loan shall be made to a parish governing authority without the approval of the Interim Emergency Board.

PART III.
REVENUE SHARING

§26. Revenue Sharing Fund

Section 26. (A) Creation of Fund. The Revenue Sharing Fund is created as a special fund in the state treasury.

(B) Annual Allocation. The sum of ninety million dollars is allocated annually from the state general fund to the revenue sharing fund. The legislature may appropriate additional sums to the fund.

(C) Distribution Formula. The revenue sharing fund shall be distributed annually as provided by law solely on the basis of population and number of homesteads in each parish in proportion to population and number of homesteads throughout the state. Unless otherwise provided by law, population statistics of the last federal decennial census shall be utilized for this purpose. After deductions in each parish for certain systems and commissions as authorized by law, the remaining funds, to the extent available, shall be distributed by first priority to the tax recipient bodies within the parish, as defined by law, to offset current losses because of homestead exemptions granted in this Article. Any balance remaining in a parish distribution shall be allocated to the municipalities and tax recipient bodies within each parish as provided by law.

(D) Distributing Officer. The funds distributed to each parish as provided by Paragraph (C) shall be distributed in Orleans Parish by the city treasurer of New Orleans and in all other parishes by the parish tax collector. The funds allocated to the Monroe City School Board or its successor shall be distributed to and by the city treasurer of Monroe.

(E) Bonded Debt. A political subdivision, as defined in Section 1(d) of this constitution, may incur debt by issuing negotiable bonds and may pledge for the payment of all or part of the principal and interest of such bonds the proceeds derived or to be derived from that portion of the funds received by it from the revenue sharing fund, to offset current losses caused by homestead exemptions granted by this Article, which otherwise provided by law, no monies allocated within a parish from the balance remaining in its distribution may be pledged to the payment of the principal or interest of any bonds. Bonds issued under this Paragraph shall be issued and sold as provided by law, and shall require approval of the State Bond Commission or its successor prior to issuance and sale.

MUSING...

Easter memories . . .

By Bernice Denny

Easter preparations... Easter memories... Easter customs.. above all the deep spiritual message of this greatest of Christian holidays, the resurrection of Jesus Christ, proclaims faith and hope to people everywhere.

Easter, like Christmas, is filled with anticipation and delight for children. The Easter bunny and egg-hunts provide excitement for toddlers on up through grade school and even beyond, especially for doting grandparents.

Like many of our customs of today, the coloring of eggs goes far beyond the dawn of Christianity. The ancient Egyptians and Persians exchanged dyed eggs as gifts when the spring season arrived. It was the Persian belief that the earth had hatched from a giant egg.

Christians who first used colored eggs lived in Mesoptamia. In Europe Christians began dyeing eggs red to symbolize the joy of the resurrection. The English scribbled messages and dates upon the eggs that they exchanged at Easter. To all the egg signified life. In the 1800's fanciful candy eggs, veritable works of art, became popular.

The story of the Easter bunny seems to have originated in Germany. A poor woman colored some eggs and hid them for her children. As they found the eggs a beautiful wild rabbit raced by. Happily the youngsters proclaimed to the village that a rabbit had brought their gifts.

I recall one Easter morning when I was a youngster on Grand Chenier. The day, cold and blustery, developed into one filled with rain. We children were griefstricken because Easter rabbits could not place eggs in the nests in the peach orchard. We had made them there the day before from Spanish moss and had decorated them with wild flowers.

Our mother saved the day by suggesting that we fashion new nests in an east bedroom that might be closed off from the hall. Grandfather removed a screen from a back window. (Easter bunnies and Santa Claus never entered our house through a door. Since we had no chimney and Santa was supposed to climb, a window was always opened for his convenience. Perhaps part of the magic of Easter bunnies was hopping up and over difficulties too.)

After a reasonable length of time, we were allowed to open the bedroom door and rush in. As clear as day I saw a big brown rabbit leaping over the window ledge and springing away through the rain. Awed and fascinated, I stood spellbound for one long moment before I turned in ecstacy to the treasures he had left behind.

Imagination? Do we behold that which we seek? Are we ableto make it ours?

May each of us this Easter season find the strength and joy, the peace, and hope that we so need! May our faith be as vitally real today as a big brown bunny leaping over a window sill was to a small girl in the yesteryear.

Beaumont hospital to aid So. Cameron Hospital

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A new venture was announced at last week's meeting of the Cameron Lions Club for South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

Joe Soileau, hospital administrator, introduced two people from the Beaumont, Tex. Baptist Hospital Cardiac and Coronary Care Unit who explained the procedure that will be used in cardiac cases in the local hospital.

Soileau stated that the local hospital is the first Louisiana hospital to get into the program, with the Beaumont hospital, which serves hospitals and offshore rigs all along the Texas coast, who are affiliates of Baptist.

He said that when a cardiac emergency patient comes into South Cameron hospital and Baptist hospital is notified, help can be flown to South Cameron hospital's helicopter pad in 28 minutes, with the needed equipment.

Donny Warner, the outreach coordinator of Baptist hospital explained that the purpose of the program is to provide cardiac care to outlying areas of Beaumont.

The unit flies in the equipment and personnel to the hospitals at no cost to the hospital, then when the patient is stabilized they can go to the hospital of their choice.

If their choice is Baptist in Beaumont they are flown there.

Warner explained that a new drug has been developed, called TPA that helps greatly in stabilizing a heart patient, when it is administered in the field, then the patient is rushed to a cardiac unit in a larger hospital with a cardiac care unit.

He said that often times surgery can begin immediately on the patient when he has gone through this procedure, instead of having to wait until he is stabilized.

A rehabilitation program is also provided by the hospital.

The air rescue unit is an affiliate of Petroleum Helicopters, under the direction of Baptist hospital.

Chris Belanger, also with the Beaumont cardiac care unit demonstrated how an untrasound machine is used to scan arteries, prestroke symptoms, heart muscles, etc, when patients experience chest pains, to possibly avert heart attacks and strokes.

It is a great help to doctors in making diagnosis on heart patients.

When needed the Beaumont hospital will fly the very expensive equipment in to the local hospital.

The local nurses will also be furnished related training in the Beaumont hospital.

At the conclusion of the program Eddie Joe Conner asked the Lions Club to send the Baptist hospital a resolution from the club commending them for bringing this service to Cameron, and the help they are giving to South Cameron hospital.

DONNY WARNER and Chris Belanger, of the Cardiac & Coronary Care Unit of Baptist Hospital in Beaumont, Tex. demonstrate an ultra-sound machine the Beaumont hospital will use in diagnostic treatment at South Cameron hospital.

Cruise ship to be discussed

Rep. Randy Roach has announced that a public meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Mar. 30, at the Creole K. C. Hall to discuss the proposed cruise ship for Cameron.

District Judge Ward Fontenot ruled last week that the cruise ship could not legally operate out of Cameron as long as it had gambling equipment on board even though gambling would not be permitted until after the ship reached international waters.

Rep. Roach has been urged by many parish residents to introduce a bill in the April session of the Legislature that would legalize the operation of the ship out of Cameron, similar to a bill that already permits such an operation out of New Orleans.

Thursday's meeting is to determine the sentiments of local citizens concerning such a proposal.

A delegation of Cameron citizens met with Rep. Roach in Sulphur last Thursday following Judge Fontenot's ruling on Wednesday and urged him to introduce a bill to legalize the ship's operation out of Cameron.

Roach said there is a possibility that he and Senator Jack Doland could introduce such legislaton but he said there were a number of ramifications that must be looked into first and these will be discussed at the Thursday night meeting.

Gary Carr, executive vice president of Holiday Cruises which proposes to operate the cruise ship here, would be at the Creole meeting and may indicate at that time his group's future action.

If they receive an indication that a bill may be passed by the legislature, they may hold up on any plans until the bill is considered.

However, Mr. Carr said this week he did not know how much longer they could hold off due to the mounting expenses of the operation with no revenues coming in.

He indicated that operating the vessel out of a Mississippi port is one option being considered. Mississippi law permits the operation of gambling ships.

Nunez is honored

Boyd Nunez, who is in charge of the Dept. of Highways ferry operations in Cameron, was named as the "State Employee of the Year" at a program held last Monday evening in Cameron.

Mr. Nunez has been employed by the state since 1967. He is married to the former Lou Etta Doxey and they have three children.

Gene Caldwell, assistant district maintenance engineer, was guest speaker. He was introduced by Capt. Philip Brown.

Debbie Theriot, Clerk of Court, and Louise Cole, highway department employee, presented the awards and Sheriff James Savoie presented Nunez keys to the city.

Many state employees, relatives and friends attended the ceremony that was held at the Council on Aging building.

Bike-a-thon slated

Bike-a-thon coordinator, Charlene Boudreaux, has asked Grand Chenier residents to join the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels For Life" Bike-a-thon slated for Saturday, April 8, at the Grand Chenier Recreation Center, 9 to 11 a.m.

This ride honors Brian, a leukemia patient at St. Jude. With every turn of the wheel, riders become 'spokes'-men for all the kids with cancer, like Brian. This ride is a vital part of the fight against childhood cancer at St. Jude.

Riders sign up sponsors who promise to make a donation based on each mile completed. All riders turning in money will receive a certificate. Those who raise $25 receive a certificate and a St. Jude T-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider receives a sports bag, a T-shirt and a certificate. Pick up sponsor forms at Grand Chenier Elementary and all area businesses.

Contact Charlene Boudreaux, coordinator, Grand Chenier Extension Homemakers Club, for details on riding or sponsoring a rider. Hot dogs, drinks and treats will be served by the Homemakers Club and the Grand Chenier K. C. Council.

Aid available to families

Some low income families in Cameron Parish may be eligible for weatherization of their homes. Weatherization consists of: attic insulation, sealing in the base of the house, weather stripping, caulking, replacement of windows, etc.

The Cameron Community Action Agency has received a federal grant to perform these services for the year April 1, 1989 to March 31, 1990.

To fill out an application or to obtain further information on the program call the Community Action Agency at 775-5145 from 7:30 to 4:30, Monday thru Friday. Ask for Gail or Frankie.

Doctors Day

South Cameron Memorial Hospital will salute the doctors on its staff on Thursday, Mar. 30, which is "Doctors Day".

To be honored are Dr. Cecil Clark of Cameron and Dr. Richard Sanders of Creole and also the pathologists, radiologists and emergency physicians who serve the hospital.

Meeting set on the TEDs

There will be a meeting of the Coastal Concern group at 7 p.m., Friday, April 7, at the Police Jury Annex building to plan for transportation to the Concerned Shrimpers of America meeting at the Thibodaux Civic Center on Saturday, April 8, from noon to 5 p.m.

Gov. Buddy Roemer will be a speaker at the Thibodaux meeting which has been called as a last attempt to halt the implementing of the turtle excluder devices (TEDs).

A Coastal Concern spokesman said this will be the last attempt to stop the TEDs. The public is invited and you do not have to be a member to attend.

Meeting set on children

An informal meeting for interested individuals is scheduled for April 4, in order to discuss children who experience hyperactive behavior and/or attention deficit disorder. The meeting will be held at the Cameron School Board office and will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Professionals and parents will be present to offer information, which may be beneficial to parents experiencing difficulty controlling their child's behavior. Persons who are concerned regarding their child's poor school performance may also benefit from the meeting.

For more information call 775-7570.

Fishing resolution

The Cameron Parish Police Jury has adopted a resolution urging Gov. Buddy Roemer to declare the commercial fishing industry in the Calcasieu River estuary a disaster area, allowing the state and federal government to provide disaster assistance to fishermen in the forms of grants, low interest loans and other assistance available.

Carol Trahan, jury president, noted in his letter to the governer that the Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals and the Department of Environmental Quality has recently announced an advisory that specifically recommends that no speckled trout or white trout that is harvested from the Calcasieu estuary be eaten or sold; and, that the advisory has caused seafood consumers from throughout the United States to question the quality of all seafood products from the Calcasieu estuary, virtually shutting down long established markets for these products.

He also noted that the recreational guide boat businesses have also been all but put out of business due to visitor resistance and hesitation due to the fear of catching contaminated fish.

Analysis

To aid area citizens to educate themselves on how the Governor's Fiscal Reform Package would effect state government and its services the Southwest Louisiana delegation has deposited in parish libraries a 14 page analysis of the package prepared by the Legislative Fiscal Office.

Anyone in Cameron Parish wishing to review this analysis may do so at the Cameron Parish Library.

Spring fishing reported good

By Loston McEvers

SPRING FISHING HOT

Area fishing is hot, take the Miami Corporation land and the Big Burns, white perch fishing is really good. Shiners are number one for white perch fishing the big canals close to the bank. Also using a white red dot 1/32 beetle without the spinner on a cork along the banks will produce some nice white perch and goggle eye.

Fishing for bass is best in the marsh area and you'll find them spawning or getting ready to spawn in about 2¼ feet of water or less. Some real nice bass have been taken. Worms are good, but the small white buzz bait is real hot along with top water torpedoes.

Reports on Sabine have also been good for bass with the lilly slicker doing a good job.

Lacassine Refuge has been rather slow, but still some good fish being taken.

The Mermentau River and ship channel in Grand Chenier have produced some real good size red fish in the past two weeks.

I saw 15 red fish Sunday, all about 20 to 24 inches long, all average. The three anglers kept them as their limit but released about thirty, with most of them legal size.

TROUT STILL IN NEWS

Three or four stores in the New Orleans area were marched upon this past week, protesting the sale of speckle trout or white trout. The reason they wanted to know if these fish come from the Calcasieu River System. The stores agreed to remove them from their counters, however they will check their supplies to see where the fish came from.

COASTAL EROSION

After all the years that Louisiana has been losing its coast line, now all of a sudden talk is it's got to be stopped.

Now it's said that our governor's fiscal reform package has a lot to do with stopping our coast erosion. We have 40% of the wetlands, which produces sea foods and etc. and we're losing 80% of the national wetlands and fiscal reform is suppose to be the answer. Well, I don't buy that one at all. If Louisiana doesn't wake up, we can roll up the pavement on our highways and bring to the coast and stop erosion, cause they won't be good for anything else anyway, for many people are leaving our state.

U. S. Senator John Breaux said the Louisiana soil erosion is a national problem and I agree with him. If the old U.S.A. can go and wipe out towns fighting a winless war, then go and rebuild them better than what they were before, surely they can put their monies to stop coastal erosion.

With all the monies the federal govenment gets from oil and gas royalties coming through Louisiana plus all the water drainage through the Mississippi River and other outlets to take care of our neighboring states all the way from Canada, I think they should be the one to put their money and do something now. I bet if it was washing out the good farm lands something would be done.

I know Louisiana needs to put up money also, but the Army Corps of Engineers is suppose to get this job of giving wetland protection, well if the Corps would have stopped all the oil field canals and other things that started our erision, they would have already done their job, but yeas ago who cared.

All things aside, we do as a group, stick together and help stop coastal erosion.

GAMEFISH VIOLATIONS

A citizen's tip helped bring about an arrest of five suspects. The arrest of three Texas men and two Louisiana men after staking out a fish market in Lake Providence, located in East Carroll Parish.

Confiscated was 1050 pounds of gamefish, mostly crappie (white perch), and 930 pounds of catfish and other commercial species. The fish were being transported to Texas for resale.

Charges of bringing gamefish, buying fish for resale without a dealer's license and over the limit possessions of gamefish were charges charges brought to the three Texas men, and charged with selling gamefish were the two Louisiana men. All five were charged with a federal violation of the Lacey Act.

All of this was done thanks to Operation Game Thief.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

You know, we have some agreement in with Texas about hunting or fishing in some waters, let's say Toledo Bend Reservoir, Sabine Lake and the Sabine River.

The law reads on fishing, a Louisiana resident may hunt and fish for sport "on the water" of Sabine River and Sabine Lake that forms a common boundary between Texas and Louisiana if he holds a valid Louisiana license and if the state of Louisiana allows a reciprocal privilege to Texas residents who hold Texas licenses.

What this says is, if you're in a boat, you're safe, but when you walk up on the bank and fish, you're breaking the law.

Until next week, good fishing and if you can, take a youngster fishing.

Rice program is described

The 1989 rice program offers producers price support loans and advance deficiency payments, according to Kirk Moore, County Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilizaton and Conservation Service for Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes.

"When producers sign up for the program, 30 percent of the projected deficiency payments will be available in cash," Mr. Moore said.

The 25 percent acreage reduction program offers rice producers a target price of $10.80 per hundredweight and a national average loan rate of $6.50 per hundredweight. The estimated total deficiency payment rate is $4.30 per hundredweight.

The 1989 rice program also offers a $10.81 per hundredweight price support rate for whole kernel milled rice and a $9.81 support level for medium and short grain milled rice. The broken kernel rate for all rice classes is $5.41 per hundredweight.

Mr. Moore explained that other provisions of the 1989 rice program include the 50/92 optional diversion program where producers devote up to 50% of their permitted rice acreage base to conserving uses and receive deficiency payments on 92 percent of the crop's permitted acreage.

Jobless rate is up here

(CAPITAL NEWS)

The number of employed Cameron Parish workers in February was up 200 from the same period in 1988, according to the latest unemployment figures, but the increased size of the labor force prevented that improvement from showing in the unemployment rate for the month.

The parish unemployment rate went from 13.3 percent a year ago to 13.4 percent in February. The rate listed the previous month was 12.9 percent.

The statistics released Monday by the state Department of Labor show the labor force in the parish has grown to 4,525. Of that figure, the employed workers number 3,925, while 600 others have no jobs.

The number of unemployed is the same as the previous month's, but the number with jobs has dropped 100 from the 4,025 of January. The work force was 4,625. In February 1988, the parish labor force of 4,300 was composed of 3,725 with jobs and 575 without.

Statewide, the unemployment level went from 11.9 percent in January to 11.7 percent. The February 1988 rate also was 11.9 percent.

The state figure was nearly double the national unemployment rate of 5.6 percent for February, down from 6 percent. In February 1988, the rate was 6.2 percent.

Again, East Carroll Parish had the worst jobless figure in the state with 31.7 percent unemployment, up from 30.4 percent. Caldwell joined Avoyelles, Assumption, Catahoula, Franklin, Madison, Pointe Coupee and West Carroll in also reporting rates of 20 percent or higher. Tensas' rate dropped to 17.8 percent to move out of those ranks.

Lincoln retained its distinction as the parish with the lowest rate, recording a decrease from 6.6 percent to 6.4 percent. Only Lincoln Parish and the Baton Rouge and New Orleans labor market areas had single-digit rates.

Grand Lake, H'berry described in 1925

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The following, researched by Keith Hambrick, was from an article in the Lake Charles American in 1925 which described some of the communities in Southwest Louisiana, including Grand Lake and Hackberry.)

GRAND LAKE

"Grand Lake" is a delightful summer resort on the north banks of the Calcasieu lake in the upper portion of Cameron parish. It is situated on the east side of the Calcasieu river and is reached from Lake Charles by means of a modern highway that forms a section of State Route No. 42 from Shreveport south to the town of Cameron.

Such a splendid location is Grand Lake for summer homes and bathing trips that the police jury a number of years ago built the Grand Lake road to the Cameron parish line and there private individuals took up the work and finished it on into the little summer village. A toll gate was placed at its north end and when the receipts had paid the cost of construction the road was given to the parish of Cameron.

The country to the east of Grand Lake is devoted to agriculture, the highlands being planted in cotton, corn and potatoes. Truck crops and vegetables do well, but there is no local organization to determine the kind, amount and times to plant and then afterwards to market such produce. With the Southwest Louisiana Advertising, Development and Marketing association in operation, a local truck growing organization could be of much service to the farmers near Grand Lake.

Much rice is grown in the territory east of Grand Lake but the economy is mainly supported from the thousands of visitors coming to it during the summer seasons for bathing and in winter for fishing.

HACKBERRY

So persistent is the belief that a great oil pool exists under or near Hackberry Island and so many have been the test holes put down in the vicinity during the past 25 years for the purpose of locating that pool, that merely to say "Hackberry Island" in Lake Charles, is to remind one of oil and undiscovered oil fields.

And yet prospecting for oil has never been the main activity in Hackberry, although residents and property owners elsewhere have received a total of several small fortunes in oil leases on lands in that vicinity.

Hackberry is one of the oldest agricultural communities in Southwest Louisiana, one of the early settlers there, John Y. Kelso, owned many slaves and cultivated a large plantation on the island before the Civil War. The principal crops are cotton, corn and potatoes. Vegetables and poultry do well, but there is no market to speak of for them.

Hackberry Island is on the west side of the Calcasieu lake a little southwest of the village of Grand Lake, one of Southwest Louisiana's most popular summer resorts. The people of the island, for the settlement is on an island, have a highway north to the Old Spanish Trail and the Southern Pacific railroad at Sulphur, but they are ambitious to have this road extend on south to the west bank of the Calcasieu river at Cameron, the parish seat of Cameron parish.

Health Dept. sets new fees

Effective April 1, the Department of Health and Hospitals will implement a standardized Sliding Fee Scale in determing charges for services/treatments through its facilities and programs.

The department will now use the federal poverty income guidelines as a basis for determing whether a person or family is financially eligible for assistance or service.

The new guidelines provide a uniform formula for billing nonindigent recipients for services based on the annually published federal income poverty level, family size, and family income.

The state of Kansas is named from the Kanze Indians who once lived there.

CARD OF THANKS

THE FAMILY of Mrs. Lucinda Mouton would like to express their heartfelt thanks to all their friends and relatives for their prayers, visits, flowers, telegrams, condolences, and food during the illness and death of our dearly loved one. A special thanks to Rev. Tolbert, Ebenezer, Greater St. Mary, and Mt. Calvary Baptist churches, and the numerous ministers attending the funeral. Your thoughtfulness and kindness is appreciated.

/s/ Susie LaSalle

THE OUTPOURING of love and caring shown by so very many--young and old alike--during the illness and at the death of my dear mother, Annie Paris, is something I can never forget. The love and concern of family and friends have been a source of strength and comfort in this time of sorrow.

I especially wish to thank Joe Soileau, administrator, the staff and employees of South Cameron Hospital, and Dr. Sanders, who all took such good care of her while she was with them. A heartfelt thanks to Msgr. M. J. Bernard of Sacred Heart Church, Betty Smith, organist, and members of the choir, to John and Mary Driscoll of Hixson Guardian Funeral Home. Also, for such expressions of sympathy as flowers, mass and memorial offerings, food, and to anyone and everyone who helped in any way. I thank you most sincerely and with all my heart. Friends have to be what the very best in life is all about.

Mrs. Harold "Butsy" Carter

REMEMBER?

Texas road was talked in 1930

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, March 28, 1930)
TEXAS-CAMERON ROAD

Governor Dan Moody of Texas has signed the bill to permit H. L. McKee to reclaim lands in Sabine Lake. This removed the last obstacle to the Sabine causeway project. Work will be started at once McKee said today.

For several years, McKee has been seeking permission to erect a causeway across Sabine Lake, connecting Port Arthur with the rich, isolated farming region of Cameron Parish, Louisiana. Permission of the war department has been granted and the necessary legislation has repeatedly been introduced in the Texas Legislature.

Dredges will be started at work building islands in the center of the lake. The islands will be connected up with the causeway, which will be extended on to the Louisiana side of the lake as soon as necessary legislation has been enacted in that state.

The original causeway bill was vetoed because of a toll provision which was eliminated from the new bill. Instead, McKee expects to develop a summer and winter resort project to repay expenses of the causeway.

CAMERON BOAT "DIXIE"

The "Dixie" with Captain Frank Welch in charge, arrived at the city wharf on its regular trip Friday afternoon with a large number of passengers aboard and among them were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Murphy of Cameron, who celebrated their Golden Wedding aniversary Wednesday afternoon at Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam LeBoef, were en route to Port Arthur where they plan on spending several days and then motor to other points in Texas before they return to their home in Cameron.

Among other passengers aboard the "Dixie" were Mr. and Mrs Roy Murphy and family of Port Arthur, George Hebert and Frank Gunn of Lake Charles, E. J. Weisner of Port Arthur, and Charley Trahan of Johnson's Bayou.

Besides these passengers, the "Dixie" brought in a number of orders for freight for the stores of Cameron and Grand Chenier. The orders will be filled by local wholesalers.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

March 20--Wednesday was a gala day in the Cameron and Creole communities of this parish. The day was the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Murphy, pioneer citizens of Cameron, residing eight miles from this place.

To commemorate the occasion and to set an inspiring example for the younger generation, scenes and events of 50 years ago were re-enacted by the principals, but with new surroundings and in the presence of hundreds of spectators and friends who had gathered to do honor to the lives and influence of two of Cameron's most respected and beloved citizens.

The anniversary wedding ceremony was performed in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, with Rev. Father Merrienboer, C. J. officiating. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and every solemnity of the ordinance was observed with wonderful effects. The building was packed to capacity and many friends from all parts of the parish were not able to even gain admittance. When the bridal party neared the entrance, three hearty cheers were sent up by the large assembly.

Following the ceremony at the church, the hundreds of persons present were invited to the hospitality of a grand barbecue at the home of a daughter, Mrs. E. J. Hunt, near Cameron. In a few well Cameron's foremost citizens, welcomed visiting friends and told of the occasion which had brought so many people of Cameron and adjoining parishes, even from other states, together in the little country church in an uneventful and quiet time of the year. Father Merrienboer briefly reviewed the events of fifty years ago and told of the good in influences of a long and happy married life in the community and the entire parish.

The cermeony at the church was not begun until after the arrival of the steamer Rex on which were many relatives of the principals in the festivities of the day. At night the young people were given a dance at Lake's dance hall near Creole and with it ended a day that will long be remembered in Cameron Parish.

Mr. Murphy is 71 years of age. Mrs. Murphy is 70 years young. Both are natives of Cameron and Mr. Murphy is a prominent farmer and stock raiser in this section. Children of the happy couple, all of whom witnessed the golden wedding of their parents, were: Edmund and Arthur Murphy, Mrs. William Roux, Mrs. E. J. Hunt, Mrs. Geo. Nunez, and Mrs. Sam LeBoeuf, all of Cameron, and Mrs. J. T. Trahan and Mrs. E. T. Wisner, of Port Arthur.

BIDS FOR ROAD IN CAMERON

Bids will be received until February 2 by the Cameron Parish Police Jury for the construction of a road bed from Klondike in Cameron Parish to the Jefferson Davis Parish line, where it will join the road leading to Lake Arthur. The road will run a distance of about 10 miles. The cost will be approximately $15,000. Contracts for the hard surfacing of the road will be let at a later date. The expense of building the road will be paid from the $230,000 bond issue voted by Road District No. 2.

No bids were received by the Cameron Parish Jury at their recent meeting for the $60,000 Road District No. 5 bonds and the $27,000 Hackberry District bonds. This is the second time bids have been invited without result. Further action on the matter is undecided.

SAY IT WITH PICTURES IN CAMERON

Down in Cameron the settlements are too thin to justify stores with large stocks. One or two sizes of shirts or shoes or ready-mades is about all the limited shelves will accommodate. And there is no communication with Lake Charles for those who live any distance from Leesburg, so the mail order houses find a natural mint. Twice a year the mail bags on the Rex are heavily laden with bright colored catalogs and the balance of the year those same bags return stuck out with goods, sufficient they say, to enable these houses to credit overhead expense with Cameron account.

This has been going on for a long time--ever since the dropping off of the schooner trade with Galveston. Those old folks back on the ridges can't read, especially English, for half of them don't speak it, so they pick out their needs from the pretty catalogs. If in the picture the desired article resembles anything like the apparel you wear, then they pass on opinion that they can get the same identical goods for just half the money. That's what the picture says. The description in print means nothing to them. If it be a shirt they select, they see if the picture shows a collar, and from the picture they judge the color and if the goods be percale or chambray.

It so happened that during the recent distribution of boll weevel money in Cameron an enterprising merchant from Vinton fitted out some farming machinery and brought it down on the boat to demonstrate. He got one old settler pretty well interested. The merchant explained its strong points, what the implement was capable of doing, how it cut expenses of farming, etc., and after talking for 15 or 20 minutes without getting an expression of approval, the merchant hesitated just for a moment and looked wistfully at his prospective buyer.

The old fellow walked around the machinery three or four times, hands in his pockets, and finally spoke.

"You got a picture of this?" he asked.

The salesman reached down in his leather case and pulled out a catalog.

"Here's a book full of pictures," he said, as the pamphlet passed from his hands to the settler's.

"Well", said the old fellow, turning the pages, "I'll take this home and see if you been tellin' the truth."

UNION SULPHUR LEASES IN CAMERON

The Union Sulphur Co. has secured another big lease block in Southwest Louisiana, which takes in a tract of 18,300 acres of land in Cameron Parish.

This new lease block is on the land owned by the Cameron-Meadows Land Co., represented in Lake Charles by Chas. L. Allen, and is located in the southwestern section of Cameron Parish, being just north of the Johnson's Bayou settlement.

The Union Sulphur Co. has twelve months within which to "shoot" this lease block, and at the end of that period, if any of the land is selected for further development, a minimum of 5,000 acres must be taken, and a well drilled on the tract selected.

The territory covered by this lease is referred to locally as largely of the "deep sea marsh" character, with the exception of a prominent elevation near the north line of the tract, that extends for about three miles east and west, covering several hundred acres, that is known as "Junius Ridge."

This section of Cameron Parish is one of the best wild duck and goose hunting grounds on the coast, and covers an area of about three miles and north and south by nine miles east and west, and is about 20 miles southwest of Hackberry, being in Township 14 S. Ranges 13 and 14 west.

HACKBERRY

The Yount-Lee Oil Co. is reported to be setting a string of 6-inch casing in its well in Black Lake, just north of Hackberry, and some of the local oil men express the opinion that this company is preparing to test a "showing of oil" below the 3,000 foot depth, and if this does not result in an oil producer in this well, the hole will be drilled to a much greater depth.

(Abbeville Meridional, Jan. 15, 1910)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Lakeside is filling up with new people for the coming year. Mr. Adolph Miller and family have moved into the big house and his son-in-law Mr. Semar has moved into the store building. They expect to put in cane, corn, cotton and vegetable crops.

The continued rains are gradually filling the Lake and we are not far from having high water.

Well this is sure one hard winter and it has commenced; hope the coming months will not increase in severity. If so the wood supply will sure get scarce.

Mr. Arthur Miller will put in about 100 acres of rice on Monroe.

Monitor system available to elder citizens here

As par. of its responsibility to the homebound elderly, the Louisiana Council on Aging sponsors the PMS Personal Emergency Notification System in all 64 parishes of Louisiana.

The PMS companion is an emergency communications device that can be used by anyone who may need help in case of emergency. It consists of a small portable communications unit that sends a special signal through a system connected to your telephone.

Whenever you may need help at any time, you push the PMS Companion's portable button and your signal reaches the 24 hour monitoring service. Specially trained attendants at the central monitoring service call back pre-selected contact persons in the locality of the PMS user. The contact people are usually relatives, friends or neighbors who live close by and have agreed to be available on an emergency basis. The PMS companion Central Monitoring System provides a 24-hour service so that older persons can always be in contact.

Creole makes good donations

The diocesan collection, part of a national effort to fund retirement needs for elderly nuns and religious brothers, was collected in the 26 church parishes of the diocese.

The largest single amount was $3,000, which was contributed by Sacred Heart Parish of Creole.

Lake Arthur people report that an auto hack line has been established between that place and Jennings. It leaves Lake Arthur at 7:30 every morning and leaves Jennings at 9:30. It is a great convenience for people of this section. An effort is being made to start an auto line from Lake Arthur to Gueydan, thence to Morse, Midland and Estherwood.

This section is learning something about farming and several of our planters have considerable plowing done. They usually have waited till after new year to start. Lakeside will not put in any rice.

Quite warm weather just now. Will probably freeze tomorrow.

Mr. Willie, Sr., and family moved into the plantation last week. Mr. Semar also now occupies the old store building.

There are numerous complaints about the condition of the roads at the ferry at Shell Beach and Lake Arthur.

Mr. Miller expects to put in cotton, corn and cane.

The water in the Lake has been much improved by the rains and now is perfectly fresh.

Mr. Clarence and Mr. Bert Collins and families have moved to Lake Arthur.

Church sets annual day

Scholarship announced

Raymond Henagan, General Manager of Cameron Telephone Company, announced the initiation of the W. T. Henning/Cameron Telephone Company College Scholarship Fund. The annual scholarship is to be offered to a graduating senior from Cameron Parish who attends either South Cameron, Hackberry, Johnson Bayou, or Grand Lake High School.

The recipient of the two year scholarship, valued at $1,000 per year, is required to attend McNeese State University in the field of Electronic Technology. One student candidate is to be presented from each above mentioned school, by the principal, to the McNeese University Scholarship Committee for final selection. Each recommended student should have a 3.0 high school Grade Point Average.

Any interested person who meets the above mentioned criterion should get in touch with their high school principal for further information.

About a third of the world's pineapples come from Hawaii.

Floats made

The third grade of South Cameron Elementary made miniature Mardi Gras floats from shoe boxes.

They gathered ideas from reading and talking with family members about customs associated with the celebration. The floats ranged all the way from dazzlingly elaborate to charmingly simple. Two are shown above.

Registration to close 4th

Ruby Kelley, Cameron Parish Registrar of Voters, announced that registration for the April 29, 1989 election will close April 4.

Office hours are 8:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. in the Registrar's office in the basement of the Cameron courthouse.

MUSING . . .

Everyone fills some need . . .

By BERNICE DENNY

How often we have difficulty accepting life situations over which we have no control!

Luis Dejesus was a dwarf. After a childhood of despair and the laughing taunts of other youngsters, he finally reached the height of four feet two inches.

At the age of twelve he went to father Orafano, the priest in that section of New York's East Harlem, and poured out his anguish.

Father Orafano, his gentle eyes full of compassion, said, "Luis, there's not a person alive who doesn't wish he were bigger in some way--smarter, richer, handsomer. We can either make ourselves miserable over what we aren't or we can believe God made us what we are for a reason and even has plans for the things about us we wish were different."

In high school Luis became a marvelous asset on the tumbling team. Later he spent time at a camp for underprivileged children. There he performed tumbling acts for the enjoyment of other handicapped youngsters. He recalled his early desire to be part of a large circus, to be a clown.

Luis contacted Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus. He was accepted at clown school and earned his diploma.

Then there came the glorious day when he starred in a performance. Little Luis, playing the part of a small boy in a space-suit costume, "flew", as an astronaut, to the top of the arena where he perched on a crescent moon.

"Thank you God," Luis whispered, "for showing me your plan."

Nine parish elections are authorized

(CAPITAL NEWS)

State Bond Commission members agreed last week that local propositions on the ballot with the fiscal reform proposal April 29, might jeopardize passage of all the items. But they approved the local elections, including nine Cameron Parish millages and a bond authorization.

With little discussion, the commission approved local elections for governmental units in 38 parishes. Bond commission approval is the final step before local governments could place items on the ballot in April.

The April 1, elections spurred no discussion, but Sen. Hank Lauricella of Harahan questioned whether having nearly 100 local items on the ballot April 29, in 35 parishes might affect the fiscal reform referendum.

School District No. 4 of Cameron Parish is seeking voter approval on April 29, to sell $1 million in general obligation bonds. The 40-year bonds, at 12 percent interest, would be used to acquire and improve sites as well as erect and equip additional public school buildings and acquire the necessary equipment and furnishings for them.

Gravity Drainage Districts No. 3 and No. 4 each have millages proposed to maintain drainage works. No. 3 is seeking a 4.75 mill tax and No. 4 is asking for a 3.5 mill tax.

Waterworks District No. 2 has proposed a 5 mill tax to operate and maintain the water system.

The East Cameron Port, Harbor and Terminal District will propose a 1 mill tax to operate, maintain and make capital improvements.

The 4 mill tax proposed by Sewerage District No. 1 would operate and maintain the sewer system.

Hackberry Fire Protection District No. 1 has a 2 mill tax on the ballot to maintain and operate fire protection facilities and pay the cost of obtaining water for fire protection purposes.

Recreation Districts No. 7 and No. 8 each have a 1.5 mill tax proposed to maintain and operate their facilities, while Recreation District No. 9 is seeking a 1 mill tax for the same purpose.

Any of the taxes approved would be levied for 10 years beginning in 1989.

Lauricella said voters often are more inclined to vote no on everything when there is more than one item on the ballot dealing with taxes. He said the fiscal reform vote is so important to the state, he would hate to see it suffer backlash from local items, causing it to be rejected without due consideration.

Lafayette Rep. Ron Gomez, the lead author of the reform proposal, said he believes if the people can be made to understand the proposal, they will accept it regardless of what else appears on the ballot. "It's our job to make sure they understand it," he said. "We have to have faith in the voters."

Commissioner of Administration Dennis Stine said the April 29, date is a local election date, making it unfair to local governmental bodies to postpone their items. The next local election date is Oct. 7.

"We piggybacked on their date," he said. Being aware of the trend Lauricella cited, some local governmental units may decide they don't want to be on the ballot with the constitutional amendment since it could jeopardize their proposals, he said.

Bond commission staff members said some agencies had already indicated they would probably postpone their local propositions.

At race tracks, the favorite wins only about a quarter of the time.

Wetland bill is offered by Breaux

With Louisiana's valuable coastal wetlands disappearing at a rate of up to 50 square miles a year, Sen. John Breaux (D-La.) this week introduced legislation which would make the protection and restoration of these wetlands a national priority.

Breaux's Louisiana Wetlands Conservation and Restoration Act would allow the state of Louisiana to assume primary jurisdiction for wetlands restoration and protection projects. The bill would provide for coastal restoration, conservation and enhancement programs which would identify priority projects for coastal westlands restoration activities financed by federal revenues. The bill would allow Louisiana to develop a coastal wetlands regulatory program--with the goal of no net loss of wetlands as a result of development activities--in conjunction with the Environmental Protection Agency and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Restoration activities in the bill would be funded through a trust fund financed by five percent of the annual revenues received from the federal Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) development in the form of bonuses, rents and royalties. Last year, that figure would have amounted to approximately $145 million.

"It is entirely appropriate to use OCS revenues for this purpose as Louisiana alone contributes 64 percent of the total OCS revenues to the U. S. general treasury," Breaux said. "Under this plan, the state would get back some of the resources it contributes as a result of coastal development to restore its coast.

Preservation and restoration of Louisiana's coastal wetlands will have a significant impact throughout the nation. Studies indicate that the loss of coastal wetlands in Louisiana will result in loss of 30 percent of the total commercial fish and fur harvest in the United States by 2040 (Louisiana accounts for 46 percent of the nation's shrimp harvest) and loss of wintering habitat of nearly five million migratory bird.

THESE WERE SOME of the more than one hundred persons who crowded into the Creole K.C. Hall last Thursday night to hear a discussion of the cruise ship conducted by Rep. Randy Roach. Most of those attending favored the ship although a few spoke in opposition.

Cruis[illegible]hip bill may [illegible] introduced

By JERRY WISE

Rep. Randy Roach said this week that he and Senator Jack Doland probably will back legislation in the April session of the Legislature that would permit the calling of a referendum in Cameron parish on the operation of a cruise ship out of Cameron.

Rep. Roach said he had spoken to Rep. Francis Heitmeir of New Orleans about the possibility of attaching an amendment to Rep. Heitmeir's bill regulating cruise ships that would permit a referendum in coastal parishes of 20,000 population or less on cruise ship operations. This would limit the amendment to Cameron parish only.

Roach said that the New Orleans legislator probably will be agreeable to this amendment. Heitmeir is offering his bill primarily to permit a cruise ship leaving a New Orleans dock to open its gambling casino immediately rather than wait until it gets into international waters.

This provision might not be wanted in Cameron parish, Roach said, and would not have to include the parish. Since the Cameron dock is only three miles from international water, this provision would not be necessary here. Roach said that Heitmeir's bill provides a comprehensive plan for the regulation of cruise ships by the state police and said that this would be desired in Cameron also.

In the meantime, Holiday Cruises have taken their cruise ship "LaCruise" to Pensacola, Fla., and may begin negotiations to operate the ship out of Pensacola or some other Gulf port.

Gary Carr, who heads the Texas cruise line firm, said that Pensacola was chosen as this was the closest place the ship could be taken where the gaming apparatus on board would be legal and not subject to seizure.

The ship had been docked at Fouchon near Grand Isle, but after Cameron District Judge Ward Fontenot ruled here recently that gaming apparatus on the ship was subject to seizure by police, the ship was moved out of the state.

Carr told both the Cameron Pilot and Rep. Roach that his group very much wants to operate out of Cameron and if legislation is passed making it possible, the ship probably will be brought to Cameron.

However, he said he did not know whether his group could wait four or five months until the legislation was passed and a referendum was held. He said they probably would have to begin operation out of another Gulf port, probably Florida or Mississippi, but probably would come to Cameron when they was was cleared.

Ship's future discussed

By JERRY WISE

More than a hundred persons crowded into the Creole KC Hall Thursday night to hear a discussion of alternatives on the future of the cruise ship proposed for operating out of Cameron.

Rep. Randy Roach, Cameron Parish's State Representative, called the meeting after District Judge Ward Fontenot ruled that the ship could not operate out of Cameron as long as state law prohibited gambling devices such as slot machines which would be on board.

Rep. Roach told the crowd, which was primarily in favor of the ship, that he and Senator Jack Doland could attempt to get a bill passed in the Legislature which meets this month that would make it legal for the ship to dock in Cameron.

He said this could be done by amending a present state law that permits gambling ships to operate out of parishes with cities of 400,000 population or more--New Orleans in other words. This could be done to permit the ship to operate out of coastal parishes with populations of 15,000 or less--which would only apply to Cameron parish.

However, before the legislators drafted such a bill, Roach said he wanted to make sure they represented the majority of citizens of the parish. He suggested that this could be done by including in the bill that a referendum be held on the cruise ship.

Although most of the audience was strongly in favor of the cruise ships, a few individuals expressed their concerns that it might attract an undesirable element to the parish and increase crime here.

Gary Carr, the chief spokesman for the cruise ship firm, told the group that he and his associates very strongly wanted to bring the ship to Cameron but that he did not know how much longer they could wait until legislation could be passed to make it legal to do so.

However, he suggested that they might take the ship to an out-of-state port where such ships are legal and operate there until the matter was cleared up here. He said they would then come back to Cameron in that case.

Rep. Roach noted that Louisiana is in a minority when it comes to banning cruise ships with casinos on board. He said that Florida has numerous such ships and that Mississippi and Texas have a least one each.

Tex. cruise ship is doing well

(EDITOR'S NOTE--Although the cruise ship operation is stymied here for the time being, there is still hope that it may come to Cameron at a later date if the necessary legislation can be passed. The following article from the Houston Post tells about the operation of a similar cruise ship out Port Isabel, Tex.)

South Padre Island and Port Isabel, which lay claim to Texas' longest bridge and the only lighthouse in Texas open to the public, now boast another attraction: The only cruise line based in Texas.

The line began operation in mid-November with the inaugural voyage of LeMistral.

LeMistral, operated by Islander Cruises, Ltd., offers visitors day and evening trips with the amenities of a longer cruise but at a fraction of the cost. Since gambling highlights LeMistral's cruise, those who frequent Las Vegas now have another place to go.

Ed Sargent and his wife, Gladys, of Bedford were among the first to visit the ship. "This'll be a ball. We'll come every couple of months," said Sargent. "Depending on if we're winning," he laughed.

The 257-foot LeMistral, of Panamanian registry, left Greece in October for her new home in Port Isabel. On six-to-eight-hour cruises, the 550-passenger ship sails into international waters. Texas law requires vessels permitting gambling on board to call on a foreign port.

When LeMistral stops at El Mezquital, Mexico, located less than 50 nautical miles south of Port Isabel, Mexican officials board the ship to inspect seaworthiness. Passengers neither disembark at El Mezquital nor are they checked by Mexican officials.

While still in United States waters, passengers enjoy live entertainment and music in the Compass Bar. The Panorama Bar offers a quieter place to relax and listen to music. When the ship reaches international waters after about an hour's cruise, the Lone Star Casino opens.

Steve Grant, casino manager, said, "We're an extra amenity for the island and for the ship. The people enjoy the beaches and fishing during the day. We offer something fun and exciting for the evening."

Grant believes that passengers will be pleasantly surprised by the friendliness of the casino dealers. "We don't expect hard-core gamblers," he says. "We have a proficient, efficient, friendly staff who'll get to know our repeat customers and call them by name."

Blackjack, baccarat, craps, American roulete and slots are available in the casino. Seventy-five percent of the dealers have worked other cruise ships, says John Taylor, box manager who trained the casino crew. The remainder have worked land-based casinos.

"We're more relaxed than Vegas," Taylor said. "We want to promote a friendly atmosphere and we have the cruise experience to do that. There will be banter between dealers and players. No cameras are looking down our backs."

But there's more to the cruise and the ship than gambling. In addition to the music and lounge shows, you can relax in a deck chair watching the ocean slip by or stroll the deck.

A lavish all-you-can-eat buffet catered by Sheraton and served in elegant style in the Captain's Galley is included with each cruise. Four seatings by assignment eliminate long lines. Beverages are available in the lounges and casino.

Future plans, based on market demand, call for a second ship to be added. Extended over-night cruises to the Mexican ports of Tampico, Veracruz and Cancun are projected.

Rio Grande Valley and South Padre Island officials welcome the cruise line as another good reason for visitors to make the area their ultimate vacation destination.

Industrial group is formed here

The Cameron Parish Police Jury Industrial Inducement Committee was created by the police jury at its monthly meeting Tuesday.

Parish Administrator Garner Nunez said that the main purpose of the committee would be to follow up leads on possible new industries for the parish and to work with area and state industrial inducement groups to bring such industries to the parish.

Members named to the committee were all members of the jury and the parish administrator; Glenn Alexander, assistant district attorney; Mrs. Charles Perry, industry representative; Robert Fruge, banking representative; Jim Decordova, utility representative; Lonnie Harper, engineering representative; and Paul Coreil, representative of fishing industry as well as president of Chamber of Commerce.

The police jury voted to allocate $10,000 to the committee to be used in its work to try to secure new industry.

Nunez emphasized that the committee plans to work with all public officials, Chamber of Commerce and all other groups interested in promoting the industrial development of the parish.

Banquet to be held

The banquet, which will be the 25th in the series, is scheduled for the new Knights of Columbus Hall in Cameron, with a social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The Very Rev. Herbert May, Judicial Vicar for the Diocese of Lake Charles, will be the guest speaker for the occasion.

One of the major events of the evening will be the announcement of the council's Knight of the Year and the court's Daughter of the Year, according to Mrs. Labove.

GENEVA GRIFFITH, right, welcomes her cousin, Linda Ellerbee to the LPW Press Convention in New Orleans last weekend. Griffith is holding a copy of the prize winning book, "And So It Goes" written by Ellerbee.

Jetties to be off limits

One of Cameron parish's tourist and sportsman attractions--fishing off of the jetties--will be closed for good in a few days after the U. S. Corps of Engineers completes the fencing of land end of the east jetties and the posting of no trespassing signs.

Parish Administrator Garner Nunez said the police jury learned of the action just this week and passed a resolution at its meeting Tuesday asking that the action be halted.

The Corps is taking the action, Nunez said, in line with a new policy of closing areas that it controls that might pose bodily harm to the public. The jetties are uneven to walk on and sometimes slippery from spray from the water.

Nunez said that the east jetties, located along the end of the Calcasieu river out into the Gulf, have always attracted fishermen and said the closing will not only cut out this fishing for local fishermen but for the many out-of-parish fishermen who come here as well.

Nunez said the fencing will be done just south of the parish boat ramp on the river.

Rodeo set

1909 rice canal dug

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American, April 2, 1909)
CAMERON'S NEW RICE CANAL

Says the Orange Tribune: The rice irrigation and transportation canal from Black's Bayou to the Lyons-Labit rice farm has been completed and the big dredge which has been at work on the contract the past year, is now busy throwing embankments or protection levees around a section of the land of the above company.

The canal is a trifle over five miles in length and work on it was commenced a year ago last December, the scoop or bucket dredge arrangement being used. There have been times when the dredge has been compelled to cease operations for a time, on account of low tides, or mishaps to machinery, or other natural causes, but now the canal has been completed.

The canal has a width of twenty-four feet, with a six-foot depth the entire length, thus being not only large enough to be used for irrigation purposes but many large sized boats can easily navigate the canal, and which furnishes a means of transportation of freight between the farm and Orange, without having to haul it overland a distance of five or six miles.

About two thousand acres of land will be under cultivation on the Lyons-Labit farm this season, the supplies for the planters, all of which will go by boat and barge from Orange, and the rice to be marketed through this city.

MERMENTAU DAM GONE FOR GOOD

Advices received from Cameron this afternoon by mail boat leave no doubt of the complete destruction of the remnants of the famous Mermentau Dam at Grand Chenier by dynamite.

The news was brought to Cameron by the mail carrier from Grand Chenier. It appears that two attempts were made to remove the dam. Monday night, Mar. 22, a charge of dynamite was laced under the dam, but owing to a bad connection only a small section was destroyed.

Friday night, the dam was again dynamited and with complete success. The dam was literally blown into fragments. No doubt has been felt that this would be the ultimate fate of the improvement, especially since the war department last fall, after an exhaustive hearing on the subject, failed to take any decided stand either for its removal or maintenance.

Likewise any attempt to rebuild it would be folly. The way the residents of Cameron feel about the matter would make its destruction certain.

Classes visit the courthouse

In conjunction with studies in Law and Economics, members of the AGATE Gifted Classes at Cameron Elementary and Hackberry High Schools recently visited the Cameron Parish Courthouse and Cameron State Bank.

The class was introduced to the court by Assistant District Attorney Jennifer Bercier. After watching arraignments on various charges, the group talked to Judge Fontenot in his chambers and visited the jail cells. Mr. Primeaux, the bailiff, answered questions about the courtroom and jail.

After lunch at Pat's, the students were given a tour of Cameron State Bank by Mrs. Mary Didelot, the bank auditor. The bank president, Robert Fruge, talked to the group about various investments. They were served refreshments at the bank.

Attending from Cameron Elementary were Nikki Didelot, Bill Guthrie, Chris Hebert and Clair Hebert. Attending from Hackberry High School were Becky Ducote and Angelia LeGros. Mrs. Cindy Cormier, AGATE teacher, accompanied the students on the field trip.

MUSING . . .

Some old records

By Bernice Denny

My column this week is made up of bits and pieces of information taken from old records, including United States census records. Since so many persons are interested in genealogical research today, someone may find a clue to his ancestry.

It is this writer's belief that many census takers were unable to spell French names. As a result, they spelled them as best they could. Hence, some surnames were incorrectly spelled.

From the 1880 census we find the following in the third Ward in Cameron Parish. Included below are only those whose birthplace and the birthplace of father, then of mother are given.

Charles Theriot, 30 years of age, born in La.; father, La.; mother, France. Henry Michon, 61, (school teacher), born in France of parents born in France.

Thomas Delaney, 35, (sailor) born in La.; father, La.; mother, Ireland. Isaac Bonsall, 28, born in La.; father, Penn., mother, Va. Mary Meaux (wife of John Meaux), 31, born in La.; father, Ireland; mother, La.

Mary Pishoff, 34, (wife of Edward Pishoff), born in La.; father, Miss.; mother, La. Myrann Mudd, 68, mother born in La.; parents, Md. James Murphy, 28 (boarder in Mudd home) born in La.; parents, Ireland.

James Quinn, 38, (sailor) born in Ireland; parents, Ireland. Elijah Philips, 28, born in La.; parents, Miss.; George Guptile, 55, born in Maine, parents, Maine.

Milford Rogers, 40 (sailor), born in New York; parents, New York. His wife, Louisa, 37, born in England; parents, England. George Jones, 57, (carpenter), born in England; parents, England.

James Dodd, 25, (sailor), born in Ireland; parents, Ireland. Dennis Murphy, 20; born in La.; parents, Ireland.

Black families living in Ward 3 are not listed above. Those not born in Louisiana were mostly from Miss., Va., Ga., and the Carolinas. The remainder of the white families and their parents seem to have been native Louisianians. I was surprised at the number of Irish born residents.

And so it was in Ward 3 in June of 1880.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Environmental Quality has issued a temporary Louisiana Water Discharge Permit System (LWDPS) permit and is proposing to issue a final LWDPS permit to LLOG Exploration Company to discharge drill cuttings and adhering native mud drilling fluids, treated wastewater from dewatering operations of drilling site reserve pits/rig levees, shale barges, and inactive or abandoned oilfield production pits, excess cement, treated sanitary wastes, domestic wastes, storm water runoff (deck drainage), and other associted uncontaminated discharges such as cooling water, ballast water, etc. from workover and drilling barges, and production facilities to oilfield canals in Twin Island Field, Cameron Parish, Louisiana. The limitations and conditions of this permit are consistent with the permitting policy of the Office of Water Resources, which is to achieve and maintain full support of designated uses of the waters of the state.

During the preparation of this permit, it has been determined that these discharges will have no adverse impact on the existing uses of the receiving waterbodies. As with any discharge, however, some change in existing water quality may occur.

Although all designated uses of the receiving waters are being fully supported, they are considered threatened. The threat to the full support of designated uses is suspected to be due to organic enrichment from crop production, petroleum activities, and natural occurrences.

The application and proposed limitations may be examined at the Office of Water Resources, 9th Floor, State Land and Natural Resources Building, 625 North Fourth Street, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Persons wishing to provide data, views or comments, or request a public hearing relative to the issuance of the permit are invited to submit their comments and requests, in writing, within thirty (30) days of the date of this notice using reference No. WP 2505 to:

Department of Environmental Quality, Office of Water Resources, Post Office Box 44091, Capitol Station, Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70804-4091, ATTN: Douglas a. Hale. Telephone: (505) 342-8363.

All written comments submitted during the period of comment shall be retained by the office and considered in the formulation of a determiantion to issue a final permit.

Creole club sees two demonstrations

Highlighting the March meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers Club held in the home of Mrs. Earline Baccigalopi were two demonstrations, one by Mrs. Yvonne McNeese and Mrs. Elizabeth Richard of the Grand Chenier Homemakers Club, and the other by assistant home economist Nancy Cronan.

In their demonstration, McNeese and Richard taught the group how to decorate styrofoam eggs for Easter so that the finished product sparkled and glittered and had displayed on one side a small transfer picture of colorful flowers. The ladies who tried their hand at decorating the eggs were able to keep them for a small fee.

Cronan demosntrated how the very new, small "Serger" sewing machine works, and how the machine makes it easy to learn the technique of overlock sewing. According to Cronan, the little machine is one of the latest additions to the world of sewing.

President Baccigalopi announced that this year there will be a report of the Cancer Crusade parish-wide fund raiser called "Let The Chips Fall Where They May." Relative to this, club members agreed that the club would donate $25 to buy a square in the fund raiser which features a thousand dollar prize to the lucky winner.

Baccigalopi further announced that National Library Week is set for April 10-14 with several events planned during this time at the parish library in Cameron. Members volunteering to make cookies to be served at the library celebrations were Mrs. Wayne Montie, Mrs. Eleanor West, and Mrs. Baccigalopi.

Cronan announced that Ed Kelley of Cameron had volunteered to speak at the club's April meeting to give members important facts and information regarding the FEMA situation in the parish. (The FEMA issue concerns the future availability of flood insurance to residents of lower Cameron Parish.)

Assisting Mrs. Baccigalopi with hostess duties was Mrs. Winnie Mouton.

Snappers threatened

By Loston McEvers

RED SNAPPER THREATENED

Our minds were on redfish a couple of months ago, being threatened so a quota was put on commercial fishermen, then the quota was taken off, and a halt made to commercial fishing, really hurting our economy. A size length was put on sports fishermen along with a limit of five per day.

Then came long the TED to stop catching sea turtles, which the commercial shrimpers have been able to fight off so far, because of the percentage of shrimp being lost.

With this came the advisory on Calcasieu River System all the way to the Gulf on white trout and speckle trout, because of pollution. This really tore up our commercial fishermen, fish markets, cafes and our guide boat service.

Well it hasn't stopped, now its red snapper. They claim our red snapper population is in worse shape than our redfish. Should it be shut down? Should quotas and limits be set?

Talk is a 5 fish limit, and it's upsetting many people in both the commercial and sports fishing end.

There is a lot of political pressure for senators and congressmen to increase the recreational catch in the western Gulf.

What I understand is in the eastern Gulf (Florida area) the red snappers are few, but in our area of Louisiana and east Texas (western Gulf) we have all we can catch. However, I just don't believe the feds will divide and have an east Gulf and west Gulf. They also don't agree that we have more in the western Gulf than in the eastern Gulf.

I think the feds are going to give two choices, closure of the red snapper fishing altogether or a limit and quota with a size.

Some recreational fishermen say they'll sell their boats, while all they have to worry about was a 13 inch size when boating, however there were many more pounds of 10 and 11 inch fish being taken and kept.

Well, it's like this, no matter what happens, if there's a down population of red snappers, we do need to do something to protect them.

NEW LOUISIANA RECORD BROKEN

The old state record of 12 pounds 2 ounces on flounder was broken by over a pound.

Harold Sardo of Marrero landed a 13 pound 6 oz. flounder. He was using a 888 Zebco with 25 pound test line on a live cocahoe minnow. It was taken on Wisner Wildlife Management Area around Fourchon.

The old record was 20 years old.

LOCAL FISHING

The rain we got was well received, as the water in our marshes was low.

Nice catches of white perch are still being taken in the Big Burns. Bass fishing is also picking up. Redfish are still hitting in the Grand Chenier area.

THINGS YOU WANT TO KNOW

A group called the Louisiana Fishermen for Fair Laws out of Charenton, has been working for the commercial fisherman. It's a non-profit organizaton started back in November, 1985. However, it is dedicated to the proper and fair uses of our fishery resources for commercial and recreational fishing interests.

During the 1988 legislative session the LFFL was instrumental in:

1. Defeating the "No-Net Bill".
2. Stopping gamefish status for redfish in the House Natural Resources Committee and only missed defeating gamefish status for redfish before the entire House by only two votes.
3. Stopping gamefish status on speckle trout.
4. Helped establish a Marine Finfish Panel to study fishery problems.

The reason I'm writing this up is to make everyone aware of a rumor of the following to be introduced in the 1989 legislature. These bills will try to be defeated by this group.

1. Increased license fees.
2. Limited entry for commercial fishing (basically saltwater and shrimp).
3. A new tax on fish and seafood.
4. A $100 fee to get each home-made boat registered.
5. A "No-Net Bill".
6. Gamefish for speckle trout.
7. A quota on drum.

Remember, these bills will be introduced but will be tried to be defeated. You need to get more on these bills (something besides the title) and call your legislators and let them know how you feel.

FEEDING PERIODS

Friday, April 7, best, 2:23 p.m.
Saturday, April 8, best, 3:22 p.m.
Sunday, April 9, best, 4:23 p.m.

Friday and Saturday are good days to fish, but Sunday should be the best, provided waters and weather are correct. In fact, April 9, thru April 18, are all very good evenings to be out fishing.

Parish girls are becoming known

By ROBERT MANUEL

Recent years have seen girls athletic achievement on the rise in the Cameron parish schools. Quality programs, good facilities, and good coaching have been key factors.

First to break through and play college basketball was Lisa Smith of South Cameron, followed by the Blanchard girls of Hackberry, Tobie and Kelly. Kris Rutherford of South Cameron received a basketball scholarship to Nichols State in 1988, but declined the opportunity.

Cameron Parish girls basketball level of play was recently given another boost with the release of all-state teams in B and C class.

In B class, Hackberry's Monise Seay, who has already signed a four year athletic scholarship with South Alabama, was selected as the girls Most Valuable Player on the Class B All-State teams. Tiffany Kyle, a junior point guard for the Lady Mustangs, was selected on the All-State second team.

The following is a composite report of Monise Seay as a student and athletic participant, courtesy of her coach, Eddie Michalko.

Class C, 1983-84, 7th grade, 2nd team All-District; Class C, 1984-85, 8th grade, 1st team All-District; Class C, 1985-86, 9th grade, 1st team All-District MVP, All-State Honorable Mention; Class C, 1986-87, 10th grade, 1st team All-District MVP, 1st team All-State; Class B, 1987-88, 11th grade, 1st team All-District, 1st team All-State; Class B, 1988-89, 12th grade, 1st team All-District MVP, 1st team All-State MVP.

Five year letterman - played in 158 games, lost in 32.

Softball - 1st team All-District 1986-87, and 1987-88; lettered 4 years clubs and organizations: SADD, FBLA, FHA, Yearbook, Library-Sec., President-Student Council.

Homecoming Queen, Prettiest, Most Popular, Best Dressed, Class Favorite.

Career total points - 3207, 16.8 pga.

Career rebounds, 1951, 10.3 pga.

Kay Lynn Breaux of the Grand Lake Hornets, a second team All-State in basketball, elected to continue playing basketball, hopefully on the college level. Breaux has received an invitation for a tryout evaluation by Livingston State College in Livingston, Ala. She may still have the option of playing for the Meridian Junior College in Meridian, Miss.

Rhonda Verzwyvelt and Rachel Manuel, also of Grand Lake, have committed to McNeese State University. Verzwyvelt is a two-time All-State basketball player, while Rachel Manuel was an All-State track performer, twice All-State basketball player. Both will attend McNeese under academic scholarships.

Verzwyvelt will major in English Education while Manuel will major in Elementary Education with a minor in Math Education.

Vietnam Memorial in Lake Charles

An exact half-scale replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D. C., will be available for viewing in Lake Charles April 9-15.

The replica, commonly known as the Moving Wall, will be set up on Bord du Lac Park adjacent to the Lake Charles Civic Center. It may be seen 24 hours a day and there is no charge.

The visit is sponsored by Chapter 215, Vietnam Veterans of America and KPLC television.

"All during the wall's visit, people from throughout the area will be reading the names of each of the 58,156 servicemen and women who died in that conflict," said local chairman Floyd Manuel. "Part of the reason that this will be an emotional event is that area families with names on the wall will be reading those names out loud," Manuel added.

The Moving Wall is 250 feet long and six feet high at the apex. It is constructed of 1/100 inch thick aluminum over an aluminum frame and it is silk-screened black.

Hearing to be held Thrusday on shrimping

The Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Commission will hold a hearing Thursday on the opening of the offshore shrimp season, La. Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries announced.

The meeting will be held in the LDWF building on Quail Drive in Baton Rouge.

A hearing on the opening of shrimp season in the inland waters is scheduled for May 4, at the University of New Orleans in New Orleans.

The seafood industry plays a major role in the state's economy and the economy of Southwest Louisiana. The Calcasieu River Estuary is one of the major estuaries in the country, he added.

The commercial dockside revenue of seafood taken from Calcasieu Lake in 1987 was $5 million, Phil Bowman, with the LDWF Seafood Division said.

Bowman said the revenue figures do not include the value of recreational fishing and may include some of the value of offshore fishing.

The quota on the finfish catch should be reached soon, and Bowman said he anticipates closing the season on speckled trout fishing by the middle to end of April.

Statewide fishermen can catch 125 million pounds of speckled trout, he added.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Some miscellaneous records from a nearby Mississippi county where few records survive the past century have been collected into a recent volume.

Records like these may be where researchers find "lost" ancestors, who married whom, where they were born, lived, moved, died, etc.

COLLECTED RECORDS

Miscellaneous Records of Southwest Mississippi, Book 2, as compiled by Ben and Jean Strickland begins with a comprehensive introduction, then 1879-80 marriages, births and deaths and 1869-1909 coroner's records for Hancock County.

Following are 1890-1903 marriages for Pearl River, 1882-1903 marriages for Perry County, inscriptions from Jackson County and Stone County cemeteries, the 1855 diary of David Sumrall relating his journal from Clarke County to Jackson County, and an 1870 letter from the papers of Lt. Gov. J.P. Carter that includes much genealogy.

Softcover, 8½ x 11 in., 178 pages, index of more than 1700 different surnames, $19.50 incl. mailing, available from: Ben Strickland, P.O. Box 5147, Moss Point, MS 39563.

FAMILIES 1659-1759

Baltimore County Families, 1659-1759 by Robert W. Barnes is a volume of extraordinary scope and authority providing a great amount of genealogical data on the hundreds of families and thousands of persons who settled in this area when it included all or parts of four other counties.

The original settlers came from southern Maryland, Virginia and the Eastern Shore; from Pennsylvania by the mid 1700's, and directly from the British Isles representing a wide variety of backgrounds from indentured servants to gentry. Some families were of Scottish origin.

Parish registers, administration bonds and accounts, wills, and inventories, plus data from court records and deeds were used as sources for the extensive information given.

In addition, family histories have been constructed from a series of family groups starting with the earliest known progenitor, followed by his children, grandchildren and sometimes great-grandchildren, up until about 1759.

This thick book of 924 pages is hardcover, 5½ x 8½ in., includes full name index of almost 200 pages, available at $57.50 incl. mailing from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

School lunchrooms to get computers

By JERRY WISE

New federal guidelines on free and reduced fee lunches in schools nationwide will result in greatly increased record keeping for Cameron school lunchrooms and probably necessitate the installation of computers in each lunchroom.

Jerri Wainwright, school lunchroom supervisor, told the Cameron Parish School Board Monday that because the federal government had caught some school systems (not in Louisiana) padding the number of students receiving federal subsidized lunches, the new more involved reporting system would be required of all schools beginning this fall.

This will include assigning identification numbers to students who receive such lunches, making a check of these students who eat each day and also making a check of each student's tray to make sure he or she selected the proper number and kind of foods to qualify for the government funds.

Mrs. Wainwright said the board had the option of setting up a manual or a computer program to provide this information to the government. However, if the manuel system was used, then additional help would be needed in each lunchroom.

The board decided to advertise for individual personal computers for each school along with the software needed. The cost is expected to be about $2000 for each school.

It was noted that the equipment could be purchased immediately using bids already received by the State Department of Education, but Board President Arnold Jones insisted that the board call for bids on its own even though this will delay getting the equipment about a month.

FIRMS SELECTED

The architectural and engineering firms of Hackett & Bailey of Lake Charles and Terry Godet were awarded contracts by the school board to make studies and designs to implement energy conservation measures at five schools in the parish.

PERSONNEL MATTERS

The board voted to hire Cynthia Carpenter as the new lunchroom manager at Hackberry High School. Mrs. Betty Seay made the motion to hire Carpenter pointing out that she was a Cameron parish native and had a B. S. degree.

The board approved a sabbatical leave request from Susan Simmons, Cameron Elementary teacher, for the 1989-90 school year.

BAND TRIP APPROVED

A request from Gary Young, South Cameron high band director, for a spring band trip for the band out of state May 5-9, at no cost to the board, was approved. It was noted that the students will miss only two days of school.

The board approved the annual payment to Mrs. Elie Conner for lease of South Cameron High School playground property.

GATOR EGG REQUEST

A request was received from Jerry G. Jones, Jr., Sweetlake alligator grower, for 1000 additional alligator eggs from school board property was received. However, it was noted that the board had promised another parish grower some eggs if any additional became available and the board agreed to offer the eggs first to this grower.

CALENDAR ADOPTED

The board adopted the school calendar for the 1989-90 school term. It was noted that there were several changes involving the holidays which had been adopted after the teachers and school employees were polled.

Board President Arnold Jones questioned whether some school employees, particularly some in the school board office, were taking off more days a year than they were supposed to. He said he intended to start checking on this.

SPECIAL MEETING

The board agreed to calling a special meeting for 10 a.m., Tuesday, May 2, to promulgate the Grand Lake school bond election.

The board agreed to adopt a new policy regarding staff hiring as required by a new state law that requires criminal history checks of persons who work with children.

School funds are out for museum

The board of directors of the Leesburg Museum has lost another round in their efforts to find funds to reopen the museum. The Cameron Parish School Board was advised Monday that it would not be legal for the board to provide funds for the Museum's operation.

The Museum was opened several years ago in an old home near the courthouse which was purchased and refurbished by the police jury. Many items and photos of historical interest were placed in the building.

However, several months ago following severe financial problems brought on by the oil crunch and the defeat of a parishwide tax, the police jury withdrew its financial support and the museum was closed.

The Museum Board then asked the Cameron Parish Library Board if it would take the Museum over, but the Library Board declined because of financial restrictions of its own.

The School Board was then asked to help and Supt. Sonny McCall requested District Attorney Jerry Jones for a legal opinion as to whether public school funds could be used to support a private educational enterprise.

Reading from Jones' opinion, McCall said, "The law is clear in that your funds can only be used for specified school purposes. The use of funds to support the local museum would be prohibited by law."

Parish severance tax is off 50 percent in Jan.

(CAPITAL NEWS)

January severance tax collections overall were slightly more than half what was reported in 1988, and a sharp drop in Cameron Parish's portion contributed to that decline.

In the first month of this year, the parish accounted for $1.4 million of the $34 million received statewide. Reports from the state Department of Revenue and Taxation show $2.8 million was listed for the parish in January 1988, when the state as a whole totaled $65 million.

The major contributor to the January severance tax figure was oil, which was $937,003 of the parish total. Another $525,445 was paid in natural gas severance tax. Salt brine added $172 to the total, and sand contributed $105.

The parish collecting the tax on oil and natural gas received one-fifth of the total up to $500,000. Seventy-five percent of all revenue collected on timber products goes back to the parish.

Statewide, oil severance taxes in January totaled $22.9 million, up only about $100,000 from December 1988. Natural gas taxes increased slightly more, going from $9.4 million to $10.2 million in January. Timber products severance taxes also continued to improve as they went from $667,478 in December to $684,878. Smaller amounts were collected on sulphur, shell, gravel, sand, salt, salt brine and stone.

Overall collections were led again by Plaquemines Parish with $6.3 million. Vermilion recorded $2.5 million to remain in second place, followed by Lafourche with $2.2 milion. Terrebonne reported $2 million. The $1.6 million listed for Claiborne ranked it fifth.

St. Mary's collections totaled $1.5 million in January, while $1.4 million came from Iberia. Cameron ranked eighth with $1.4 million; Acadia recorded $1.2 million and East Baton Rouge had $1 million in receipts.

The oil category also was led by Plaquemines, where $5.6 million was reported.

Asbestos bids

The Cameron Parish School Board voted Monday to advertise for bids on the removal of the last of the asbestos that could pose any health threats in parish schools. It was estimated that the work might cost as much as $72,000.

A number of years ago when it was announced that asbestos could be a health threat, the board removed most of the asbestos insulation materials in parish schools and at the time was one of the few school systems in the state to do so.

In the past several years, all schools have been orderd by the government to remove asbestos or to set up a program to monitor its condition. In a mandated survey of all schools, the Cameron board found that there was still some asbestos remaining in the schools.

This included insulation of air condition piping at Hackberry High School and also some minor installations in several other schools. Although none of these posed a health threat at this time, the board decided to go ahead and remove all asbestos since it would have to set up a monitoring program otherwise.

The board also agreed to advertise for bids on the new pipe insulation at Hackberry high, this to be non-asbestos.

Community buildings to be reopened

Two Cameron parish recreation districts have taken over two community buildings from the Cameron Parish Police Jury.

The Cameron Recreation District has taken over the Cameron Multi-Purpose Building behind the courthouse and anyone wishing to use the building should contact Barbara LeBlanc at 775-5660.

The Johnson Bayou Recreation District has also agreed to take over the operation of the Johnson Bayou Community Center from the police jury.

Both facilities were closed several months ago following the failure of a parish tax. The jury had oeprated the community centures in most of the communities of the parish up until that time.

Since then voters in Hackberry have approved a local tax to operate their community center. However, the one at Grand Lake remains closed.

Legal Services to be at H'berry

Southwest Louisiana Legal Services will conduct intake of potential clients with civil legal matter for the parish of Cameron at the Hackberry Multipurpose Building Thursday, April 20, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

A community legal education workshop on "What Are Legal Services?" will also be provided. The public is invited.

Hearing set

The annual public hearing to discuss forecasts and proposals for the upcoming inshore shrimp trawling season will be conducted in New Orleans on Thursday, May 4, the Lousiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries announced.

Virginia VanSickle, LDWF secretary, said biologists will present briefings on the status of shrimp populations, projected growth rates and estimated shrimp size by opening day of the season.

VanSickle said all segments of the public and shrimping industry are encouraged to attend the hearing and voice comments for consideration by the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Task Force supported

Both the Cameron Parish Police Jury and School Board have agreed to support the Jeff Davis Task Force on Chemical Dependency in applying for a grant to be used for alcohol and drug abuse awareness and prevention in a five-parish area.

Last week at the police jury meeting, Msgr. Charles Dubois and Jeff Davis School Superintendent W. F. Whitford told about their efforts to seek a $3.2 million grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

The grant is earmarked for rural areas and would require a consortium of five parishes to be eligible for application. Cameron is the first parish that the Jeff Davis Task Force has approached and the local jury agreed to the proposal.

"Needless to say, we're excited about it," said Superintendent McCall. "There is a big push, as you all know, on education as a tool to combat drug and alcohol abuse. This coming year, this particular foundation will spend some $26.4 million on these types of grants nationwide."

Gusher at Hackberry

GUSHER AT HACKBERRY

The Calcasieu Oil Company, Union Sulphur Company and Magnolia Petroleum Corporation combination at Hackberry oil field in Cameron Parish, 18 miles southwest of Lake Charles, has extended production 700 feet north of old areas with its Watkins No. 17 test which came in during the early part of last night with a gas pressure of 1,050 pounds and an initial flow of 700 barrels of pipeline oil.

The location of this new producer in new territory at Hackberry is 2,088 feet east and 162 feet south of the northwest corner of section 24, in 12-10. Its depth is 2,710 feet.

No time was give and the crew at work on the well to take its drill stem from the hole. Immediately after washing the well, it came in and today is holding up its production. The oil is of 22.5 gravity and 90 temperature.

Over to the west and some distance to the south, the Sutton Oil Company, J. G. Sutton of Vinton, president and manager, is expected to drill cement plug and make a test of its Duhon No. 2 location tomorrow or Thursday. Reports from this test last week stated that some of as fine pay formation as has ever been found in Hackberry, was cored at around 3,300 feet.

Parish is hard hit

By Loston McEvers

CAN CAMERON PARISH SURVIVE?

Last week I told you of the economy of our parish dwindling as in the oil patch, redfish, shrimping, oystering, speckle trout, the TED and so forth. Well, sad news hit us again in 1989.

One of our great attractions to the eastern portion of the parish is the rock jetties out of the town of Cameron. This brings many tourists into our area, who spend money in many businesses, depending on the route they take coming into Cameron. Now we get the news fishing off the jetties will be closed for good, after all these years. The U. S. Corps of Engineers will fence off the land on the east jetties, posting no trespassing signs. What I see happening is the feds may want the whole parish and make a sanctuary out of it. If that's the case, they should come in now, buy us out and let us get the hell out of here, before we have to give everything we own away, whether it's from not being able to pay taxes on our property or the feds take it away from us.

ALLIGATOR TRAPPERS FUTURE

A meeting was held at Rockefeller Refuge last week and of course our buddy Bob Misso was doing his thing. This meeting was with the task force for alligator, in which Jerry Jones is chairman. Many things were discussed, but I guess the questions Mr. Jones asked was what most wanted to know.

Under the process we now have for budget, Mr. Jones asked, what do you think the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries would be willing to spend on the alligator program?

Mr. Misso's answer, he's looking forward to getting back 100 percent of the cost of what wildlife put into the commercial industry. What he plans is a tax to raise one half million dollars a year to fund statewide alligator production efforts.

What about the program that is state funded? However, it seems the state doesn't want to spend any money on the alligator program.

Misso says the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries doesn't have direct access to the General Fund monies from legislative appropriations. I guess he doesn't know how much of Rockefeller's money has gone in the General Fund for many years before. I guess he doesn't stop to realize how much money Rockefeller Refuge itself gives and also in resources that other agencies don't even dream of.

Our governor wants fiscal reform, and wants us to vote on his tax proposal to turn this state around, well he also needs to have his personal reform and leave the good programs alone and clean up the band ones, including the bad personnel he chose to put in certain spots, and the one in the Department of Wildlife is no exception.

Well, our Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has got to rule on some of this, and I hope they see what they're doing and not hurt another part of our economy for our parish and our state.

THINGS YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW

* A public hearing will be held in New Orleans Thursday, May 4, at 10 a.m. at the University Center on the New Orleans Campus on Lakeshore Drive at Elysian Fields Avenue.

This meeting will be to discuss the upcoming inshore shrimp trawling season. The next day at 10 a.m. the season will be set.

The public and anyone in the shrimping industry is urged to attend.

* Commecial speckle trout harvest or landing of speckle trout (spotted sea trout) in Louisiana has closed as of midnight, last Sunday, April 9, and will remain closed through midnight Aug. 31.

This prohibits the commercial harvest, purchase, barter, sale or trade of this species taken from Louisiana waters. However, dealers who process these fish which were legally taken before the closure can still sell them.

The commercial speckle trout quota was 1.25 million pounds.

Remember, commercial boats cannot have speckle trout aboard their boats during closure, whether caught in Louisiana or another state.

* We are all in for another surprise, one which I think we can live with. When we start to buy our next fishing license for July 1, 1989 (to include hunting licenses), you will not be getting a license anymore. You'll be getting a stamp, yes a stamp. You'll have a carrier for each stamp (license) you buy. The catch is there'll be no more combination licenses, you'll buy each stamp separate. One for resident basic freshwater fishing, one for saltwter fishing, basic hunting, plus duck stamp for Louisiana and duck stamp for federal and big game. All these will be separate and naturally will cost you more money.

AREA FISHING

Area fishing is still fairly good and I think it will get far better this month, especially on bass for our freshwater and redfish for our saltwater fishing.

Offshore fishing is also beginning to take shape.

Students make robots

The first grade students at the Grand Chenier Elementary school are participating in the "Smokefree Class of 2000" project, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Richard.

As a part of the program a robot contest was held in which they constructed robots. Also, a class robot was constructed, with simulated sensitive computerized lungs which detect air pollution.

The robots the students made were on display recently at the school's Family Night.

The American Lung Association, the American Cancer Society, and the American Heart Association began working together in the early 1960's to educate Americans about the serious health hazards of smoking.

The "Smoke-Free Class of 2000" project is one of these joint efforts.

This 12-year education and awareness campaign focuses on the children who entered the first grade in the fall of 1988 and graduate in the spring of the year 2000.

It is the aim of the program that as the children of the Smoke-Free class of 2000 become adults, they will parent the smoke-free generation of the 21st century.

Smoking is the single largest preventable cause of disease and death in America.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

Speckled trout from Big Lake are still being sold; and Lake Charles is still trying to run Cameron Parish through sport oriented merchants and clubs. The president of Gulf Coast Conservation Association, placed in the American Press, dated Mar. 26, 1989, his opinion that the public was not protected from commercial fishermen in Cameron Parish, using Big Lake (Cameron Parish), trout to kill or poison the businesses in the Lake Charles area. We know that the poison did not help us in Cameron parish that the plants of Lake Charles dumped upon you folks up there, publicity-wise; however, we did not reap the financial benefits over the years from those plants, (while they put their waste into your back-yards), all that much.

Now you folks want to play in Big Lake and the water is dirty in Lake Charles; so, like the president thinks the recreational angler (who wants to have fun in clean Big Lake), is more important to the area than the commercial fisherman.

Cameron parish people have had just about all they can take from this kind of publicity. Especially from folks who favor sportsmen who want to make Big Lake a Sportsman's Paradise. You folks are reaping what you sowed. And we will not always just stand by while Big Lake becomes your play ground. We know that the state is against us also and we don't really have any one up there speaking on our behalf. Can anyone understand how the water level in Kinder can pollute oysters in Cameron in just one day? There have to be some changes and we hope it's soon.

Dear Editor:

On Feb. 1, 1989, we lost our home to fire and some very special people came to our aid immediately and many have come to help us in the aftermath. We want to express our appreciation to these very special people by saying:

"Your support and generosity has turned a devastating situation into an opportunity for us to experience true humanity. Words are truly inadequate to describe the sense of gratitude and fulfillment that comes when friends and neighbors unite to help someone in need."

Special thanks to the Krewe of Cosmos, Citgo employees, faculty and staff of South Cameron High School, Phi Omega Sorority, the Law Office of Seofield, Bergstedt, Gerard, Mount & Veron, the Fire Departments of Sulphur, Carlyss and Vinton, and each and everyone of our friends and neighbors in the community who lent a helping hand.
