Library circulation 7th in Louisiana

The Cameron Parish Library stacks up favorably when compared with the other parish libraries in the state, according to Parish Librarian Janelle Greenhow.

The library ranked seventh among other parish libraries in 1993 in number of books checked out on a percapita basis of 8.97 items. The average state circulation rate is 4.42 items per capita.

Other facts about the Cameron Parish Library, according to Mrs. Greenhow, were the following:

"The library's circulation grew from 5,621 in September 1989 to 8,183 in September 1994.

"In 1993, 81,737 books were circulated including 40,115 books to adults and 32,390 to children. 9,046 periodicals were circulated.

In 1993 there were 40,628 books or items in the Cameron Parish Library collection or 4.46 items per person in the parish.

In 1993, 32,772 persons visited the library during the 2,524 hours that the Cameron Parish Library was open. This averages to 12 persons visiting the library during each hour of library operation.

"What all this means is that with a population of 9,115, Cameron Parish is a parish of readers," Mrs. Greenhow said. "It means that the library collection is responsive to the people's needs and interest."

Extension of oyster season is sought

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has on its agenda for its Thursday, Jan. 5 meeting a declaration which would extend the Calcasieu Lake oyster season and adjust the daily take limits.

Kevin A. Savoie, fisheries agent for Cameron parish, LSU Extension Service, said he understood a 30-day extension of the oyster season in the lake and increasing the daily sack limit to 15 is being considered.

At the present time the sack limit is 10 a day with March 31 being the end of the season.

The oyster season was scheduled to begin Nov. 1 in the lake but was called off when state health officials said they found high levels of lead in the oysters.

However, they later stated the tests had been in error and the season was finally allowed to open on Dec. 10.

Since that time Rep. Randy Roach and other area legislators have been urging the wildlife commission to give the oyster fishermen a 30 day extension and an increased sack limit to make up for their lost revenue.

Meeting set on restoration

At these meetings the strong linkage between coastal vegetaged wetlands and fisheries production will be explained.

Additionally, the concept of short-term sacrifices potentially associated with long-term (sustainable) fisheries production will be reviewed.

The first stop for these meetings will be in the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex Wed., Feb. 1, at 7 p.m.

New officers named by jury

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish Police Jury elected new officers Tuesday as the jury began a new year. They continued their tradition of rotating the offices of president and vice-president each year.

Russell Badon of Johnson Bayou was elected president, succeeding George Hicks of Hackberry.

Ray Conner of Creole was named vice-president. Conner, who is beginning his 20th year on the jury, has served as president and vice-president on several occasions during the past.

Tina Horn and Bonnie Conner were reappointed as parish administrator and secretary respectively for one year terms. Ms. Conner also continues as parish treasurer to which she had been appointed last year for a two-year term.

Mrs. Horn has worked for the jury for 13 years and Ms. Conner for 17 years.

TAX ELECTION SET

The jury also ratified the calling of an election in Waterworks District 7, the Creole area, to permit residents to vote on the renewal of a 5.7 mill property tax to maintain the water system. The district is one of several water districts in the parish.

The tax, if renewed, would cost property owners $5.70 for each $1000 of taxable property. However homestead exemption applies and those who own homes valued at over $75,000 would pay only on the extra value.

EXTRA HOUR OKED

The jurors voted to allow businesses selling alcoholic beverages to remain open one extra hour during the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife festival next week. This would permit them to stay open until 2 a.m. instead of 1 a.m. Thursday through Saturday, Jan. 12-14.

In addition, the jury approved a temporary liquor permit for the Festival to sell beer during the festival and a regular liquor permit for Adeline Styron at the Creole Food Mart.

BIDS ACCEPTED

A bid was accepted from Black Lake Marsh, Inc. of $5,795 to install this year's Christmas Tree Project, a program to help rebuild local marshes using old Christmas trees.

A low bid of $36,096 was accepted from River Country Resuce on fire fighting equipment for the Hackberry fire department.

Low bids of $5,055 from Ernest Trahan and $3,165 from Calcam Tractor were approved on the sale of two used backhoes.

APPOINTMENTS

A number of appointments were made by the jury. Bill Turnbull, whose term on the RC & D Board, had expired, was reappointed. The jury also accepted the resignation of Dinah Nunez Landry from the same board.

Board members whose terms had expired and who were reappointed were J. T. Primeaux, Housing Authority; A. J. Ewing, Recreation Dist. 5; Freddie Richard, Jr., Recreation Dist. 6.

Paul LaBove was appointed to Waterworks & Sewerage Dist. 1 to replace George LeBouef, who resigned. LeBouef, a jury member, said he was ex facto members of the board any way by virtue of being a juror.

DRILLING PERMITS

The jury received only one permit for drilling for oil and gas. It was from Goodrich Oil Co. P for two wells in the Sabine Wildlife Refuge.

Permits were also approved for Shell Western for refurbishing an existing drill site at Johnson Bayou; from Trident NGL for work on a pipeline at Hackberry; and for Columbia Gulf Transmission for emergency repair on a pipeline at Sweetlake.

Seismic permits were approved for Eagle Geophysical for the Little Chenier area and for Grant Geophysical for the Grand Chenier area.

Waterworks Dist. 10 was approved for a permit to install a 10 inch water main under Kelso Bayou and Gilbert Demary of Big Lake was approved for excavating a 300 by 400 foot pond.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Well, it is rain, rain, fog and cloudy weather all the time. The sunshiny days are like hen's teeth and farming operations are slow and intermittent.

We have had some cold but severe enough to damage the fruit. Cooked what little garden stuff we had on hand.

The smallpox keeps bobbing up at unexpected places. It is a very mild type and many of the subjects do not even have to go to bed while sick.

(Cameron Pilot, Jan. 5, 1962)

SURVEY SOUGHT ON WASHOUT

Three public bodies have been requested by the Cameron Police Jury to make a survey to determine whether dikes could solve the wave-wash problem between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou.

At the jury meeting Tuesday, Joe Doxey, secretary, stated that the state highway department is still in a quandary as to what to do about the several miles stretch of road washed out in that area by Hurricane Carla last year.

It was also pointed out that during some high tides, that the gulf actually comes over the temporary road, and some cars have been drowned out.

Mr. Doxey said he believed a series of dikes, running like fingers out into the gulf from the beach, would stop the erosion. This would also cause the sands to settle and the beach to rebuild.

DIKES IN PLANS FOR SHIP CHANNEL

A letter from the U. S. Corps of Engineers informed the Cameron Police Jury Tuesday that present plans for the enlargement of the Calcasieu Ship Channel include earthern dikes to prevent spoils from entering Calcasieu Lake.

But, after initial construction, the letter stated, no further back dikes will be built, and it will be up to local authorities to see no spoils are dumped into the lake in future clean-out dredging.

Cameron leaders put up a vigorous fight last year to get the dikes included in the channel plans. They stated that the lake's oyster industry, fishing and oil well serving work would have been seriously damaged by allowing more spoils to enter the lake.

BOTTLENECK

Despite the many improvements that have been made in Cameron Parish in recent years in the way of better roads, new bridges and causeway, one problem that still remains is the bottleneck at the Cameron ferry. On weekends, especially during the summer, the ferry is hard put to keep up with the traffic. A new side loading ferry will be tried out here some time in the future to see if traffic can be speeded up.

CAMERON FIRE DISTRICT REPORT

The Cameron Fire District had only nine fires reported during 1961, according to Fire Chief Ray Burleigh, who said this was a big reduction from previous years.

There were 19 fires reported in 1960 and 27 in 1959.

Mr. Burleigh credited the reduction in fires to local home owners becoming more safety minded and for the many home fire extinguishers that have been installed.

Of the 1961 fires, only one was a house fire and damage was slight. There were three car fires, one barn, and three grass fires.

NEW YEAR'S THOUGHTS

A we see a new year arrive, we've seen some good fishing, good hunting and yet, we've seen tragic things happen also.

Redfish and speckle trout fishing were perfect for anglers in 1994. In the Calcasieu Lake, Turner's Bay area, Commissory Point, Nine Mile Cut, the washout, the old jetties, and of course Lambert and Grant Bayou, great fishing.

The Cameron jetties saw good action, as well as the Johnson Bayou - Holly Beach area, especially the new rocks put up for breakers. The Grand Chenier jetties, Hog Bayou and the Mermentau River, up and around Little Pecan Bayou had a token of a year, as well as Rockefeller Refuge.

Offshore got off to a slow start last year, but things got better and nice fish and especially big red snappers were taken.

The freshwater fishing for 1994 was really great. We saw good bass as well as white perch and bream caught on Sabine and Lacassine National Refuges, as well as Rockefeller Refuge. The Miami's Permit Lands were good, both the Big Burns and what we call Amoco.

From all reports I got, Lacassine Refuge was the best, with the Miami Lands next. I think Rockefeller Refuge was the slowest this past year on bass.

Our commercial fishermen had a tough time in 1994, the TED caused our shrimpers some trouble as well as closing the oyster season the night before it opened. Now they're facing 1995 with a try on banning nets for the state of Louisiana at the next legislative session.

Alligator season was a great success this past year, carrying a good price with most hunters tagging out.

Duck hunting was what we call fair to good with some marshes doing poorer than others, so far goose hunting is slow. Rabbit hunting was as poor as poor can be as of now. Deer hunting was great.

Capping 1994 as a whole, I think Cameron Parish did well and let's hope we can have as good a year as last and maybe a little bit better for duck hunting in 1995.

The Lemesche Bass Club saw a tragic week, losing two bass club members. They were Gerald Richard, a past Outstanding Angler and Phillip Trosclair, the 1994 Outstanding Angler of the year, and both of these members received the Kirby Gaspard - Anthony "Pazzoo" Nunez Memorial Sportsmanship Award in the last few years.

I hope you enjoyed our column during 1994, and hope I can do a better job for 1995. If there's more you want, or other reports you want, please contact me at 542-4322 or 542-4586.

Red Cross chapter needs Cameron Parish volunteers

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Tommy Joyce, chairman of the Cameron-Calcasieu Chapter of the American Red Cross, and Ralph Wright, executive director, were the speakers at the weekly luncheon of the Cameron Lions Club last week.

Joyce said the chapter needs more people in the Cameron area to be involved in the chapter.

"We need at least four people, young adults, to serve on the board", he said.

Wright stated that the main thrust of the local chapter is to help out in disasters, such as hurricanes.

Other programs are swimming, aquatic school training at McNeese, training in disaster planning, mass care, and helping the government in damage assessment, working with schools and fire departments during fire prevention week, and aiding military families, etc.

He also said that a special needs shelter will be set up in a Moss Bluff school if the need arises from a disaster.

A discussion was held on the raffle on the bass boat, trailer and motor. Club members are selling the $20 tickets, which are limited to 400.

The catfish and certain other fishes are believed to have many taste buds in the skin that covers

ystering extended

The 1994-95 Calcasieu Lake oyster season will be extended to April 30, 1995. The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission based its decision on the late opening of the season because of a precautionary move by the Department of Health and Hospitals. DHH did not open the Calcasieu season until December.

In the same motion, the Commission allowed the daily take for oysters in Calcasieu Lake to be 15 one-and-a-half bushel sacks per day per boat for the remainder of the season. This measure will be effective Jan. 6, 1995.

Department of Wildlife and Fisheries marine fisheries biologists reported to the Commission that the Calcasieu Lake public oyster grounds have been surveyed and samples indicate there is a significant oyster resource to support the harvest.

The oyster season was scheduled to close March 1, 1995, with a 10 one-and-a-half bushel sacks per day limit.

Oysters may be taken by tonging only in Calcasieu Lake.

PARISH BLACK NEWS

By WANITA HARRISON

Mrs. Lillie Harrison, Mrs. LaTrelle January and Mrs. Rosa LeBlanc visited Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ray January and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby January in Port Arthur, Tex., Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Smith and Evan of Sugarland, Tex., were weekend guests of Mrs. Mary Cockrell.

To The Cameron Parish Voters....

The Only Recourse You Have To Protect Your Children and Grandchildren From Excess Expenses and Taxes Is To VOTE NO!

One year ago, 82% of you who voted rejected a massive tax plan put forth by the Cameron Police Jury. At that time, you requested that no NEW taxes be placed on the ballot until after the 1995 fall Police Jury elections. You also asked for ward meetings to explain why new taxes are necessary. Due to their failure to do so, you should vote AGAINST the 40% increase in garbage taxes to be voted on Saturday, Jan. 21, 1995.

A sincere effort to control cost of all Parish operations should be put into place by a strong MANAGERIAL type person to operate Parish business with the jurors overseeing but not limiting the manager to giving the best service at lowest cost to the taxpayer. We certainly do not question the ability of Mrs. Horn, if she is the person to operate, she should be given the reins to do so. We need to back off from the jurors running the parish on a daily basis.

We submit these figures to demonstrate a case in point. After calling for a garbage tax increase, your jurors voted to increase their travel perdiem from 25¢ to 29¢ per mile...

Car $15,000 Cost - 150,000 Mile Life	.10
Gasoline - 15 MilesTo Gallon @ 1.20	.08
Tires - 3 New Sets - $900^{00}	.006
Interest to Purchase - $10,000 Loan - 3 yrs	.01
Oil Filters & Other Small Items	.005
Insurance is not a factor	.00
TOTAL COST PER MILE - (Approximate)	.20

Any amount above cost is not justified. You should question your juror on the above figures. The only recourse you have to protect your children and grandchildren from excess expenses and taxes is to vote NO!

GO VOTE NO

AND ASK SOMEONE ELSE TO DO SO!

Let's face it, words are words and they're pretty boring. Except in our state, Louisiana. In Opelousas you can fais-do-do to zydeco. Or paddle your pirogue on Bayou LaFourche. There's proof that it snowed here Jan. 3

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

It is hard to believe that it has already snowed in Cameron this year.

If you don't believe it you can go to the Cameron Branch of Cameron State Bank and Connie Gordon will show you the proof.

At 1:30 a.m. Tues., Jan. 3, she woke up when she heard sleet hitting the north windows on her house.

She said she knew no one would believe her when she said she saw snow mixed in with the sleet so she grabbed her camera and took a picture of the snow landing on her car.

Of course it melted as soon as it hit the ground, but she has the proof that it really happened with the picture on her desk.

VOTE NO ON SAT., JAN. 21!!

I have been contacted by several people and local business owners about the so called "Garbage Tax Renewal" and what it will mean to them and the Parish. A lot of voters have been misled into believing that this is a renewal, when it is really a tax increase.

The original consolidated garbage tax began collection ten years ago with 5 mills. That was the only year it was 5 mills. It has been rolled up at every chance. This generated an average of $600,000.00 per year or more than $6 MILLION DOLLARS in taxes over 10 years! The tax coming up is not a renewal but an increase up to 8.12 mills. This increase could easily be rolled up over the ten year period to over 11.0 mills. To be fair with the public there should be two tax issues. One for a 5.0 mill renewal which we need and another for the 3.12 mill increase which we should have a choice on.

Instead, we get the same threat as before with the Road Tax--vote yes or no garbage pickup. We are tired of being threatened every time we are faced with a tax issue. We need facts and explanations. Rumor has it that the tax will be used to purchase containers for all the parish residents. These cans are designed for streets and roads with flat surfaces and shoulder areas. That may be a problem with the condition of our streets and people living on highways. Who will replace these expensive cans if they are lost or stolen? Will the trash be picked up if you don't have a container?

Local businesses usually support good, well meaning taxes; schools, fire, water, roads and even garbage. The oil companies, boat companies and landowners also support good honest taxation. But these are the people hit hardest (they pay a fee for garbage pickup, plus taxes). The parish cannot continue to raise taxes on everything every time they feel like it. They should be promoting industry and development, not discouraging it. More taxes mean less jobs for our young adults and higher prices for groceries and services.

With Cameron Parish having the highest tax rate per person in the state, what will happen when they take away Homestead Exemption? All of us will be paying these high taxes and some will lose their homes and land.

VOTE NO! Send the message to the Jury and the government officials that the parish needs to operate within a budget. VOTE NO! So the tax renewal and increase can be run separately. Lets find a way to help our Jurors and Parish succeed wit the future.

I have found that most people want to express their concerns but can't because they feel it could affect their job or family. I feel we should always stand up for our beliefs, our rights and the rights of others. That is the reason I wrote and paid for this article. Thank you,

SCOTT HENRY

Ramblers got big reception

Dear Editor:

We want to thank you for the front page story of our band, the Hackberry Ramblers, being scheduled to perform on the Music City Tonight — Crook and Chase Show televised over TNN in Nashville, Tenn., last Thursday night.

We were well received and made welcome at the Music City Tonight Theater; the show was sold out with a large number of people unable to gain admittance. We had our own dressing room with the name Hackberry Ramblers on the door, and they fed us with Tennesee Jambalya and all the trimmings. Lorraine Crook and Charlie Chase were very nice and accommodating.

We appreciate very much the fact that the story appeared on the front page of your paper. We had numerous calls from people who saw the show because of your front page story.

CAMPAIGN '95 -- THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

"Initiative & Referendum"

(Difficult or not?)

By: M.J. "MIKE" FOSTER

One of my friends at the Capitol recently laughed and said to me, "Foster, no one in this state will ever understand this initiative and referendum stuff you've been talking about!"

I disagree! We already have referendum in Louisiana. Whenever the legislature or a constitutional convention writes a constitutional change, it has to be voted up or down by the electorate in a referendum. Local parish liquor use is voted up or down by referendum. One of the biggest fights in last year's regular session was about whether to allow local referendum on video poker. I was for this; however, it failed! Initiative adds one very important difference to our law; it allows you, the voters, to collect signatures by petition and put things of your choosing on the next available ballot to be voted on by the people.

If Louisiana had initiative, then you, along with other voters, could initiate changes to correct those things you feel are unjust or unfair in our law. This would give you the power to bypass special interests and an unresponsive legislature. Imagine a state where you could reapportion the legislature or change the future of gambling in Louisiana. Does that interest you?

Note that no state's voters have ever given up this right once they have wrested it from their legislators. This type of law is not strange or unusual, nor is it rare. Initiative and referendum have been around for more than 100 years and exists in most states. Does it really surprise you that the special interests have blocked it in Louisiana? This type of democracy often finds the people years ahead of the legislature in their thinking.

In the last few years many states have passed term limits by initiative. To the best of my knowledge, no legislature has done this yet. I have introduced initiative & referendum twice in the Louisiana Senate. To no one's surprise, it was impossible to get the two-thirds vote necessary to send this constitutional change to the people.

Elect me your governor and I promise to do all in my power to get you this right, even if it takes a constitutional convention to get it done. We are witnessing a take-charge attitude amongst the voters. Don't let this momentum die! Join with me in a crusade to give more power to the people! Let's make this state one we can be proud of -- together we can do it!

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: Do you support the crusade to let the people of Louisiana change laws by initiative & referendum?

Call or write and let me know your opinion. We'll report the results.

DUCK HUNTING ENDS

Well, as we watched our duck hunting for the 1994-95 season close, we got what we wanted. Cold north winds, which seem to have brought a few more ducks down and made ducks move, a little rain to lift our water in some of the marshes. We didn't really order the sleet that fell and the cold freezing rain, but we were satisfied anyhow.

It was said that 4.4 million ducks were here in Louisiana and I can agree, with 2.2 milion in Southeast Louisiana, I can agree, but that 1.9 million in Southwest Louisiana, I cannot agree. We just didn't have that many ducks down and this count was made the last week of December before we got the cold fronts. It was said by biologists that many birds (ducks) had not begun their trip south and I can agree with that. It takes lots of cold freezing weather up north to move the ducks down south and our closure of duck hunting Jan. 9, is too late, as we'll see ducks now that the season is closed.

This cold weather could help us with our geese and speckle-belly hunting. The Gueydan, Kaplan and Lake Arthur areas have a huge population of geese. A few snows are showing up in the Sweet Lake area but could get better.

The East Zone for duck will close Jan. 16. Our geese season is open statewide until Feb. 14, however, speckle-belly is only open until Feb. 1. From Feb. 2-14, it will be only blue and snow geese hunting.

Our deer season has also come to a close and we really had a successful season. Deer hunters did well for either sex days as well as nice bucks reported killed.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS

We had a local hunting accident in Grand Chenier last week which was a close call. It seems an out-of-town hunter had his own gun go off and a couple of shots grazed his skull, making a hairline cut to the head.

A hunter killed in Bunkie was a sad story. A Ville Platte man jumped out of the brush to scare his brother on the way back from a hunting trip and his brother's shotgun went off and struck him in the thigh. It was a double 00 buckshot. The accident happened deep in the woods and by the time help arrived the brother had bled to death.

In Claiborn Parish two hunters were found dead in their hunting vehicle and it was carbon monoxide poisoning. It seems they went to sleep with the heater on and the engine running and died before it ran out of gas. They were wearing hunting clothes and were in their sleeping bags.

The animal rights activists are still on the move to stop hunting in any way they can. Some go through the woods banging pots and pans to scare animals away from the hunters. In some states it is illegal to disturb or to interfer with anyone legally hunting.

Our fishing reports are few, as the cold winds and rains have put fishing on hold. Offshore fishing is a no-no as seas are rough.

Before the cold weather, anglers were catching a few bass and white perch along the roadside canals, some real nice. No reports on redfish or speckle trout.

QUESTIONNAIRE

Cameron Parish wetlands owners to be studies with questionnaires being sent out. It takes about 15 minutes to fill out. I helped my mom and dad fill theirs and it's quite interesting and it gives you a chance to show how you feel.

Commercial fishermen are also filling out question - comments on a size limit on catfish and also the income they received from catfish sales.

The reason some areas need to sell catfish 11 inches or smaller is to try and compete with the catfish farmers.

Catfish farmers have an advantage over regular commercial fishermen it is said, because farmers are able to provide a reliable product of consistent quality. If they can sell catfish smaller than 11 inches they would provide something the catfish farmers don't; smaller fish.

Did you know in the 1931-32 trapping season, 123,000 skunks were taken here in Louisiana. In the 1970-71 season, there were only 6 skunks taken. Today, there is no record of any as no one traps them anymore.

A wildlife biologist has seen evidence that the population of skunks here in Louisiana has increased during the past two years and he has seen more skunks in our state now than in the last 22 years he has been in the department.

It is good to always remember skunks can transmit rabies to your pets, so take precautions with your pets.

Many of us will start cleaning out the outboard and boat and getting it ready, for the February sunshine days, especially in the middle of the day when fishing fever begins.

Arbor day is set

Shovels will turn the dirt, little hands and big hands will lift the root ball or the bareroot seedling and place it in the ground, and a young tree will begin life on its new home site.

Hundreds of such scenes will occur soon as part of Louisiana's celebration of Arbor Day which falls on Fri., Jan. 20, this year.

Although officially designated by the state legislature in 1922 as a one-day event, it has been expanded unofficially to Arbor Week in order to give participants more flexibility in planning tree-planting activities, according to Agriculture & Forestry Commissioner Bob Odom.

"Our department is cooperating in a project with Louisiana the Beautiful and local Cooperative Extension Service offices and 4-H Clubs to distribute Arbor Day trees to more than 900 schools in 40 parishes this year, including Calcasieu, Beauregard and Cameron", he said.

Participating schools each will receive a two-year-old oak and a program manual suggesting ways to conduct an Arbor Day tree-planting ceremony.

Preparations for the blacktopping of the highway between the Superior Canal bridge and the Cameron-Vermilion parish line is now underway. This will be another link in the Hug-the-Coast Road.

FATAL ACCIDENTS IN PARISH

Cameron Parish had a total of sixteen accidental deaths during 1961 the Calcasieu Area Safety Council said this week.

These deaths included eight traffic, two home, four work and two public deaths.

JOHNSON BAYOU ROAD TO BE RELOCATED

A route for the relocation of the 3¼ mile-section of the Johnson Bayou road washed out by Hurricane Carla has been announced by the state highway department, Rep. Alvin Tyson said this week.

The new road will be from 250 to 300 feet north of the old road between the high ridge and the marsh. The ridge will be preserved to provide a place for cattle to bed down at night. Cattle crossings between the ride and marsh will be provided.

The 3¼ -mile section of road was completely washed away by the hurricane a few months ago. Since then a temporary shell road has been in use, but it is often under water.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Creole -- A little snow fell at Chenier Perdue and parts of Grand Chenier at about 5 a.m. Saturday, according to Mrs. Vian Theriot of Chenier Perdue.

The Robert Manuels moved during the holidays from Creole to Oak Grove. We hated to see them go as they were nice neighbors. They are closer to school and it is more convenient for Coach Manuel.

Grand Chenier -- The children were excited early Saturday morning when snow flurries began falling. It is infrequent that we get enough snow here for snow balls and snowmen. But the snow didn't last long -- much to the thanks of the older folks who know the mess it makes.

Trappers are still very busy with nutria. Many are coming out with large catches. Muskrats are very few here and mink and otter are almost something of the past on the Chenier.

Black News -- Rev. R. B. House, Mrs. Irene Bartie, Mrs. Helen LeBlanc, Kennie Savoie and L. L. and H. C. Bartie attended the Youth Church of the Greater St. Mary Baptist Church of Lake Charles on Sunday.

Sweet Lake -- After seeing the children at our Community Christmas party, with their little faces all aglow with joyful anticipation for their treat of fruit, candy and gum and a visit from good old Santa, we feel impelled to extend the community's appreciation and a big Thank You to Mrs. Lena Cline and daughters of St. Louis for their treat to the children. Two hundred bags were filled and given to the children.

Well we had about 6 inches of rain so the river and lake have come up considerably.

I wonder how many people have ever seen a tea plant. Mr. Diehl has one on his place that is in bloom at present and it is very pretty. A dozen plants will give all the tea that an ordinary family can use.

CAMERON CROPS

Special agent Bradford Knapp's annual report of the crop records at the demonstration farms during 1913, shows that those in Calcasieu and Cameron parishes made good averages. On cotton, Agent Thomas Bonsall of Cameron, with 15 farms and a total acreage of 49 acres, made the second highest acreage in the state--1,318.8 pounds of seed cotton to the acre. His corn average was also above the state average, 29.3 bushels to the acre.

PAYING TAXES PROMPTLY

People in Cameron Parish are evidently a little more prompt in paying their taxes than they are in Vermilion. Sheriff Crain, of Cameron, in this December having turned in $1,720.07 against Sheriff Aug. Morton of Vermilion, $1,454.06, and Sheriff Martin, of St. Martin, $1,500.40.

(Cameron Pilot, Dec. 15, 1961)

BURLEIGH RENAMED FIRE CHIEF

Ray Burleigh was re-elected fire chief of the Cameron volunteer fire department at the annual election at the fire station in Cameron Monday night. Burleigh has been chief since 1956, and the local department is considered one of the top ten volunteer fire departments in Louisiana.

Other officers re-elected were William Saltzman, assistant chief; Ray Theriot, captain; Claude J. Hebert, lieutenant; and Earl Mouton, secretary-treasurer.

Serving on the Board of Directors for the coming year will be E. W. Swindell, Conway LeBleu, Roland Trosclair, E. J. Dronet, Burleigh and Saltzman.

Preliminary plans for a new fire station to be built on Marshall Street in Cameron were shown to the members and they approved plans for a two-story structure so as to have more protection of some equipment from possible high water in the future.

The 22 members present at the meeting were served gumbo after the meeting.

PORTER TOP MARKSMAN

Specialist Five Charles H. Porter, son of Mrs. Mamie Tupper of Cameron, was recently recognized as a top Army marksman by qualifying for the expert marksmanship badge during range firing with the Army's new M-14 rifle in Germany.

RED CROSS FIRST AID CARDS

Thirteen members of the Health Class at Grand Lake High School recently completed a course in First Aid taught by Mrs. Edna Helms and received Red Cross certificates.

MORALES MAKES ALL-STATE

Ruben Morales, South Cameron High School grid standout, was named to the 1961 Class B All-State football team last week. A 170-pound guard he is a senior this year.

Two other South Cameron players made honorable mention. They are Bobby LaLande, end, and Alvin Mudd, back.

EMPTY STALL

Perhaps the Christmas season has something to do with it, but the Cameron jail was completely empty this week--the first time this has happened in over two years.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Absie Duhon, Nolton Richard and George Hebert took their first plane ride last week with Cutler Breaux in Carlyss.

Johnson Bayou -- John Sells and son James spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sells. John helped his brother Pete move his cattle from Cameron to the Bayou for feeding. James enjoyed a hunting trip while he was here.

Oak Grove -- Mrs. Warren Miller gave a birthday party recently honoring two of her children, Donna Rae and Karen Kay. Cake, candy and cold drinks were served to Shelia Boudreaux, Sharon Theriot, Charlene, Rosalie and Susie LaBove, Evelyn LeBlanc, Judy Aucoin, Judy Miller and Timmy Pottroff.

Hackberry -- The Hackberry Volunteer Fire Department No. 1 held its monthly business meeting at the Fire Station Nov. 22. LeRoy Barbier was accepted as a new member and Douglas Grey and Frank Williams applied for membership. At the next meeting offices will be elected. A gumbo supper was served afterwards.

Black News -- Coastal Lodge No. 231 met Sunday for the election and installation of officers for 1962. Elected were Lester Bartie, worhsipful master; Desira Bishop, senior warden; Alex Bishop, junior warden; J. C. VanDyke, treasurer; Lee J. Harrison, secretary.

Cameron folklore

Story after story has been told of buried treasure within the confines of our parish -- of gold and jewels cached in the inlets along the shoreline of the Gulf by Jean and Pierre Lafitte and their pirate crews.

Equally exciting and menacing are the tales of Jayhawkers during the Civil War and early days of Reconstruction. Pathetic are those of soldiers who did not return whole or who were to die soon, of families whose men did not come home at all.

Then there are accounts of colorful, romantic gypsy bands, of devout religious revivals, of baptisms in the Mermentau or Calcasieu Rivers for the robust of body as well as of spirit or of immersions in big, clear marshside cow wells for the timid of heart.

There are tales of crip autumn days and moonlit nights filled with the fragrance of boiling syrup at the mills. Tales of verdant orange groves, of fields white with cotton, of wild plum thickets, of peaches and pears and figs for the picking. Of woods spilling with berries and persimmons, of grapes and nuts, each in season.

Stories roar again with the fury of summer hurricanes or shiver with blizzards that froze the marshes "clear to the Gulf." The great snowfall of 1895 is banked somewhere in the Cameron time that was.

Boucheries and quilting bees, corn-gathering and "taffy-pulls," funerals and weddings are all waiting somewhere back in the past for us to rediscover.

Again we may trudge the miles to the little one-room schools or travel by horse or boat with the kindly, weary doctors, those religious zealots of the Hippocratic oath.

We may sail from the nearer past by gasoline or diesel launch afar to the river and gulf schooners on which the majority of our ancestors came to Cameron.

The hardships and triumphs of trappers, alligator hunters, fishermen, and oystermen have their place in our folklore as well as do those of our early elected officials and of the young men and women who left their water-encircled homeland to earn an education outside their little world.

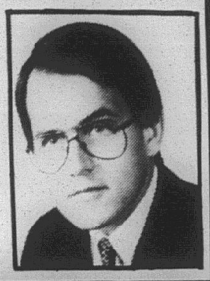
Oysters contribute to parish income

Although still an important source of income to Cameron Parish, the oyster industry has suffered a severe decline in the parish during the past five years.

According to statistics on oyster production for the years 1989 to 1993, as furnished by the LSU Extenson Service, the gross value declined 63 percent, the number of sacks fell 33 percent and the number of producers dropped 48 percent during the five year period.

In 1989 there were 289 producers who harvested 41,500 sacks valued at $830,000. Five years later in 1993 the number of fishermen had declined to 150; the number of sacks fell to 27,752 and the value dropped to $305,272.



Figures on the 1994 season have not been determined but are expected to be even less since the start of the 1994 season was delayed from Nov. 1 to Dec. 10, by an erroneous report of lead contamination in the oysters.

The 1994-95 season has now been extended 30 days and the sack limit increased from 10 to 15 a day which should improve figures on production for 1995.

January 1962 was cold

BRR. . IT'S COLD IN CAMERON PARISH

Cameron Parish experienced several days of sub-freezing weather this week, causing all kinds of inconvenience for the area. Some sleet fell Tuesday, but there were no reports of wrecks caused by slippery roads.

Schools were turned out Wednesday because of the cold. Some homes were without water or butane gas because of frozen pipes.

The Fur Festival, scheduled for this weekend, was postponed a week because of the bad weather.

The Cameron ferry had difficulty in operating because of the low state of the river pushed back by north winds. Small craft warnings were in effect along the coast, and several boats were reported to be having difficulty in the Gulf.

The marshes were frozen over, and parish cattle, already suffering from the lack of grass which was killed in Hurricane Carla, were feeling the effects of the long freeze.

Joe L. Herring, wildlife sec., parade marshal

Joe L. Herring

Joe L. Herring, secretary of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, has been named grand marshal of the Saturday, Jan. 14, parade of the 29th Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival. The parade is scheduled for 1 p.m. down Cameron's Main Street.

Herring's work with the Department began in 1955. During his career he has garnered such recognition as the Louisiana Wildlife Federation/ Governor's Award: Conservationist of the Year (1969), Professional Wildlife Conservationist of the Year (1970), and Conservation Educator of the Year (1972).

He has served as secretary-treasurer, executive secretary-treasurer and vice president of the Southeastern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies. His other professional associations include: National Wildlife Federation, Wildlife Society, American Fisheries Society, and International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies.

His leadership during the calendar year of 1994 brought the Department to new heights 110,000 cubic yards of oyster cultch was planted to restore public oyster seed grounds damaged by Hurricane Andrew in a $2.5 million project.

Department scientists prepared a comprehensive statement on the state's Marsh Management Policy for the White House. They assumed a greater role in the restoration of Louisiana's coastal wetlands. They managed alligator, fur bearer, amphibian and reptile resources, and related industriesa valued at approximately $30-40 million.

The inland fisheries hatchery capability was improved enormously with the renovation and expansion of one hatchery and the groundbreaking of a brand new one.

Also in 1994, due to an increase in the continental waterfowl populations, Louisiana and the rest of the country were granted a longer duck season.

Dances set at festival

A street dance with a live French band will be held following the parade Saturday at about 2 p.m.

A teen dance for 12 to 18 year olds, sponsored by the 4-H Junior Leaders Club, will be held in the Multi-Purpose building behind the courthouse beginning at 9 p.m. Saturday. Admission will be $3 a person.

An adult dance will be held at 9:30 p.m., Saturday at the Cameron K. C. Hall. Admission will be $6 a person. Gumbo will be sold.

Louisiana's Seafood Delight...

OYSTERS

Some facts about oysters given

Over the years, some misconceptions, folk tales and myths about oysters have developed. Here are some of the most common:

1. Many believe that oysters can be eaten only in months containing the letter "r" in their names, but oysters can be eaten any time of the year. Like most seafoods, oysters are highly perishable and, in the days when refrigeration and transportation were poor or nonexistent, they spoiled quickly in the hot summer months, which, of course, have no "r". With modern refrigeration and food processing techniques, oysters can be kept fresh in these months.

Although oysters are edible year round, their appearance and consistency vary with the season. For example, with the onset of cool weather, oysters begin storing energy in the form of glycogen, a carbohydrate.

As the glycogen content increases, the oyster takes on a creamy or tan color and is referred to as a "fat" oyster. Most oysters remain this color throughout fall and winter and into spring. As the oyster uses the glycogen, its tissues become clear and watery. This usually occurs in the summer continuing through September.

Oysters spawn in the summer. When they are carrying a large amount of spawn material, they appear white and are referred to as "milky" oysters. Most people prefer the plump, "fat" oysters of fall, winter and spring for eating raw.

2. There is no truth to the belief that oysters turn "stone" hard when eaten with alcoholic beverages. Like any high-protein seafood, oysters are digested easily regardless of the beverage served with them.

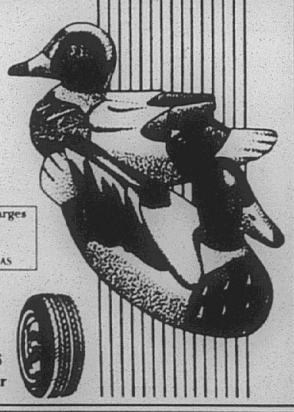
3. Some people believe that oysters are spoiled if they have a red, green, or other color in the meat or oyster liquid. Oysters are usually creamy tan, but because of diet or certain environmental conditions, other colors may occur seasonally.

For example, the green color associated with some oysters is caused by microscopic plants they have eaten. There is nothing wrong with these oysters. In some parts of the world, green oysters are preferred.

Sometimes, usually in fall or early winter, oysters appear red, a condition that may be especially obvious in shucked oysters. This coloration reflects the diet of the oyster. Certain red microscopic organisms can be easily filtered out as food by oysters and, because the pigment dissolves in water, it is often seen in the liquid.

Unfortunately some people mistake this for blood. This harmless red discoloration may disappear when the liquid is warmed for a few minutes.

A pink discoloration accompanied by a sour odor, however, is caused by a certain spoilage yeast. Don't eat these oysters. Other discolorations such as brown, black or mottled effects sometimes occur, but these are harmless and usually reflect environmental conditions.



4. A common misconception is that oysters are an aphrodisiac. There is no scientific basis to support this belief, but who says that scientists have all the facts?

Oysters are tonged here

Most oysters in Louisiana are harvested with a dredge, a metal basket equipped with a row of spikelike teeth. As the dredge is dragged over an oyster bed by boat, its teeth dig in, uprooting oysters from the bed and forcing the loose oysters into the basket. Usually a mechanical winch hoists the heavy load of oysters on board.

One of the oldest methods of harvesting oysters — and one that is still used in certain parts of the state including Calcasieu Lake in Cameron Parish — is called tonging. Tongs work like a pair of post hole diggers. The handles are made of long wooden, light metal or fiberglass poles.

Rakes on the end of the poles gather and hold the oysters until they are brought on board. Although the tonging method is most commonly used in shallow water, oysters are removed from water up to 25 feet deep with tongs.

Sometimes several oysters are cemented together in clusters and these are usually broken up into "singles". The oysters are then put into large burlap sacks, each containing 1½ bushels, for shipment to processors.

Because oysters are often eaten raw, oyster fishermen put a special tag supplied by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries on each sack of oysters. This tag lists the area from which the oysters were harvested, the date of harvest and the harvester.

Tagging assures customers that the oysters were taken legally from waters approved by the State Health Department.

Although most consumers buy oysters shucked, some buy live oysters in sacks. When purchasing them live, be sure the sack has the appropriate tags from the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. These tags are easily identified by the title, "Louisiana Oysters."

Oysters should be live before shucking, and their shells should be closed tightly. If a gaping oyster is discovered, gently tap the shell. If the oyster is alive, the shell will close quickly. If it remains gaped, the oyster is dead. Discard it.

When holding live oysters for an extended period, store them in a refrigerator or on ice in a portable cooler. Do not put ice on top of the oysters, because the water from the melting ice will cause oysters to open as they attempt to "suck in" the dripping water.

Put the oysters on a bed of ice and open the plug so the water can drain. A better way, however, is to place a sealed, frozen container in the cooler with the oysters. This could be a one-gallon plastic milk carton previously filled with water and frozen or a frozen gel pack (available from most sporting goods or hardware stores). Water will not drop on the oysters and they will remain cool.

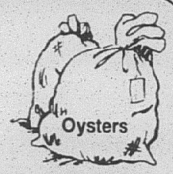
Removing the meat from the oyster shells is probably the most difficult part of oyster processing. It is time-consuming and takes strength and skill. Unlike many other shellfish, such as crabs and crawfish, normally oysters are not cooked or blanched before their meat is removed from the shell.

Many people discard the oyster liquor and wash the oyster meat thoroughly with fresh water after shucking, but this is not necessary. In fact, the liquor is useful in cooking and flavoring.

To reduce the chance of contaminating the oyster liquor with mud while shucking, wash the oyster shells quickly with a hose beforehand to remove the external mud. Do not soak the live oysters in water. Soaking will encourage them to open their shells to suck water.

Washed, shucked oyster meat may be kept two weeks or longer after shucking if it is refrigerated and iced properly. Shucked, unwashed oysters packed in their own juice and iced properly will keep one to one and a half weeks.

Place the shucked oysters in glass jars, seal them with lids and pack them well with ice in a large container. Store the iced oysters in the refrigerator. Drain water and add ice as necessary.



LOUISIANA OYSTER PIE

1 pint Louisiana oysters
6 slices bacon • 2 cups sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup chopped onions
1/2 cup chopped green onions • 1/4 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt • 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper • 1/4 cup chopped parsley
2 tablespoons lemon juice • 1 tablespoon butter • Biscuit dough

Drain oysters and dry. Cook bacon in frying pan until crisp. Remove bacon, drain and crumble. Reserve 3 tablespoons bacon fat. Add mushrooms, onions, and green onions to reserved bacon fat. Cover and simmer 5 minutes or until tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Stir in oysters, bacon, parsley, and lemon juice. Grease a 9-inch pie plate with butter. Turn oyster mixture into pie plate. Top with biscuit dough. Make several slits in topping to allow steam to escape. Bake in very hot oven, 400° for 20 to 25 minutes or until biscuit topping is lightly browned. Serves 6

WELCOME

39th Annual Louisiana Fur & Wildlife FESTIVAL

Hospitality and friendship are the by-words in Cameron year-round, but it is especially true during our gala winter festival each year, when we celebrate the abundance of the waters and marshlands around us.

The emphasis is on wildlife-with duck calling contests, field trials for retrievers, nutria and muskrat skinning contests, shooting competitions and arts and crafts displays centering around the fish, fowl and furbearers that are so much a part of our culture and economy. But there are also plenty of other things that mark the festive spirit of Southwest Louisiana-parades and beauty queens, abundant good food and lots of fun.

Come join us for one of the most unique festivals in Louisiana, and experience first-hand the delights of one of America's most naturally abundant regions.

We'll make you feel right at home.

COME CELEBRATE WITH US!!

1995 Festival Cookbook full of recipes, photos

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The 1995 edition of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival Cookbook, which over the years has become a collector's item, has just been published.

It is made up of recipes submitted by local residents, or those with local connections, who share old family recipes handed down through the generations, or are favorites from their kitchens.

Norma Jo Pinch and Bobbie Primeaux, co-editors, have put together a nice variety of recipes, including soups, salads, party foods, and appetizers in the opening act.

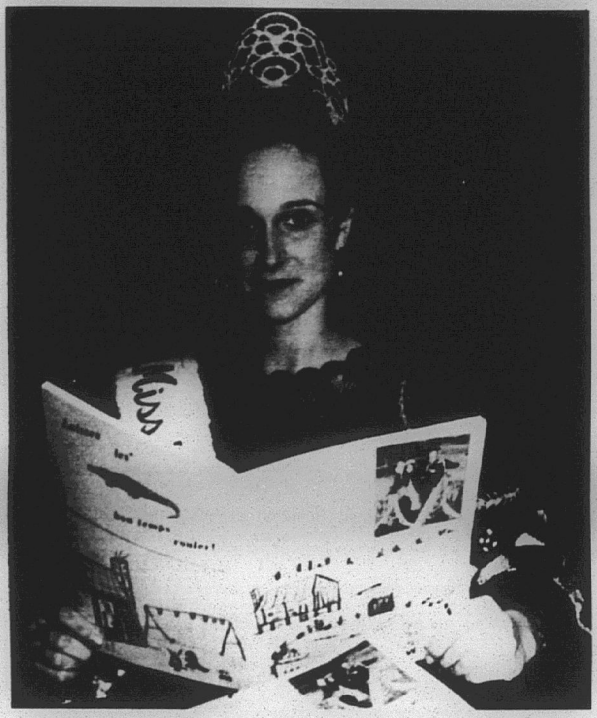
The main attraction section contains meats, poultry, pork, seafood and wildlife recipes. The co-starring section contains breads, vegetables, and casseroles. The end section recipes are of cookies and candies, cakes and pies and desserts.

The book also contains pictures from the 1994 festival, a history of the first experimental harvest of alligators in Cameron Parish. The 1994 festival saluted the alligator industry.

The 1995 festival will salute the oyster industry.

Each year the festival features a local industry and the float theme in the parades are geared to honor that industry, and the festival king will also be from the industry. His identity will be revealed at the Friday night program.

Pete Picou, the festival president, says, "This is our first year to honor the oyster industry. We feel that because of its economic contribution to our parish this industry should be added to our list of honorees.



"The oyster industry has contributed on the average of a quarter of a million dollars to the parish and an average of $20,000,000 to the state annually.

"Oystering has been a long-time tradition among many families in our parish and we are proud to honor this tradition."

The cookbook is available at all branches of the Cameron State Bank for $6 or can be ordered by sending $7.50 to Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival Cookbook, Norma Jo Pinch, P.O. Box 123, Grand Chenier, La. 70643.

A TALENT SHOW will be held as part of the Thursday night program of the Fur and Wildlife Festival. Here were some of the performers in one of the past festivals. (Photo by Geneva Griffith)

Welcome To Our Visitors !

On behalf of the citizens of Cameron Parish, I wish to extend to you a big welcome to the Annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival and to Cameron Parish.

We are proud of our Festival because it calls attention to the fact that Cameron parish is the leading fur producing area in the nation and has varied and concentrated populations of waterfowl, wildlife and fisheries to be found anywhere on the North American Continent.

Take time while in the parish to visit the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge at Grand Chenier and see waterfowl and the shrimp boats, take a ride down the beach road between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou and view the longest stretch of accessible beach in Louisiana and take a walk on the natural trail at the Sabine Refuge while visiting the visitors center and marvel at the thousands of ducks and geese that can be seen feeding in the marshes along the road..

But while you are here in our parish, we do urge you to drive safely. While our long stretches of roads may entice you to drive a little faster, we encourage you not to exceed the speed limit. The 55 mile limit IS enforced in Cameron Parish and all Cameron Parish Sheriff units are equipped with radar units. We have strict enforcement, not to harass motorists, but to save lives--and we have been successful in those attempts.

We hope you enjoy your visit to the Festival and to our parish ad that you return home safely. And be sure to come back to Cameron Parish again--you're always welcome!

Your Friend,

JAMES R. SAVOIE

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

FULL WEEKEND

This past weekend was sort of a, what do I do, go to the Fur Festival activities in Cameron or go to the two boat and bait shows in Lake Charles, one at the Civic Center and the other at Lake Area Marine?

Then, there are still decoys in the marsh, boats to take out of the water, or the boats and decoys are home scattered in the yard, needing cleaning and then storing. Let's not forget we need to clean and oil the shotguns, but we also need to clean and grease the reels, check the old fishing rods and put new line on the reels, so we can straighten up the tackle box.

The way many of us did it was get in the Fur Festival activities through Saturday, make the Civic Center and Lake Area show Sunday. The only hardship was to have a late breakfast or an early dinner as both shows didn't open until 11 a.m. and 12 noon, but closed at 5 to 6 p.m. Oh, we'll clean up the hunting equipment next weekend and the following weekend get the fishing thing done.

HUNTING REPORT

I didn't get any good hunting reports on geese or rabbits. I did get a report on a couple of hunters bagging 11 snipes. This season runs through Feb. 19. The daily bag limit on snipe is 8 birds per person.

FISHING REPORT

BIRD WATCHERS

Louisiana has many bird watchers and sometimes they're like hunters and fishermen. They park in a bad place, not meaning any harm, but the love of nature will make you do this.

Again this year in the Bayou Blue area, bald eagles are nesting near the town and it causes a big attraction. Last year there was a danger, so this year "No Parking" signs were put up on the highway so the up to 50 cars will not be able to park on the shoulder of the road to watch the nesting eagles. This nesting goes on for several months, from October through May. Fines for illegal parking run over $100.

OYSTER SEASON

The oyster season for Calcasieu Lake will be extended until April 30. It also allows the take of oysters to be fifteen 1¼ bushel sacks per day per boat through April 1. The supply of oysters is good in the lake according to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries survey.

This extension will give the oyster fishermen about 60 extra days as it was to close March 1. It also gives them five extra sacks per day, up from 10 to 15.

RED SNAPPER

The opening of commercial red snapper season was delayed from Jan. 1 to Feb. 24.

In an effort to conserve energy, the United States observed daylight saving time from January 6 to October 27 in 1974 and from February 23 to October 26 in 1975.

The Gator Wrestling Club attended the U.S. Junior Open in Oklahoma City, Okla. Jan. 13 and 14. Some of the Gators also attended the Barsoport, Tex., meet this weekend. Some competed in two divisions. They placed as follows:

PARISHWIDE GARBAGE TAX

REMEMBER TO VOTE ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 21st

The Proposition to be considered is 8.50 Mills to fund Garbage Collection and Disposal for Cameron Parish.

In 1985, a Five Mill Garbage Tax was approved. This Five Mill Tax has been rolled up to 5.97 Mills and collects approximately $600,000. Over the past ten years the Garbage Fund has been supplemented a total of $706,000. This money could have been used to blacktop approximately 9 miles of your Parish Roads.

Because of Landfill increases and cost of living increases from our contracted hauler, it will cost $21,000 more to operate in 1995.

Garbage has been a problem for all Communities to deal with and when you have one of the largest Parishes in the State with the least population, the cost to operate is higher.

We have had complaints from residents concerning animals getting into their garbage. The solution to that problem is one that the Municipalities are already using, 96-gallon carts. These carts, when bought in bulk, cost $50 each.

If the tax is approved, these carts will be provided. They will be numbered, stamped for Cameron Parish, and issued to every resident in the Parish at no charge.

Cameron Parish has 15% elderly population. The house to house pickup with carts is a must for these residents. Our Senior Citizens have requested this service, along with other Parish residents. At present, the Parish is paying 50% of the cost of the commercial dumpsters.

Realizing that the businesses in the Parish pay the majority of the taxes, the Parish will provide commercial dumpsters to the businesses with the Parish paying 75% of the cost.

The other complaint we hear is that the Parish Dumpsites are not open. At present the dumpsites are open 16 hours per week. With tax approval, beginning February 1st, we will open the Dumpsites 26 hours per week.

Without funding for garbage, we will be burning our garbage in the 55 gallon barrels in the back yard or throwing the trash in a hole. The only problem with that, is now, with the Wetland Laws, we would get in trouble for filling a Wetland and what do you do when the barrel rusts out.

Where do we haul it? This problem is your problem and our problem. It is a problem worldwide. This tax is a practical solution for the problem in Cameron Parish.

Board swears in new members

All three were elected in October. They are Glenda Abshire, District 2, Hackberry; Tony Johnson, District 5, Creole; and Clifton James Hebert, District 6, Cameron.

The board deadlocked when they came to the point on the agenda to elect a new president to replace long time president Preston Richard, who was not re-elected.

Incumbent board members Daniel Billiot and Bill Morris were both nominated and the vote was a 3-3 tie on a motion by Karen Nunez to elect Billiot with Nunez, Absire and Billiot voting yes and Morris, Johnson and Clifton voting no.

After another vote also ended 3 to 3, the board went into a hour long executive session. Afterwards, still deadlock, the board voted to appoint Nunez temporary chairman for Wednesday's meeting.

The election will be brought up again at the February meeting of the board which will be held at 2 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 8.

The board voted to change its regular meeting to 2 p.m. on Wednesday in the future.

Upcoming meeting dates will be on Feb. 8, March 8, April 5, May 3 and June 14.

These dates were set to accommodate board members Daniel Billiot and Tony Johnson, both of whom work in the Gulf, and who are not available on some days for the meetings.

Taxes will be voted on Saturday

Two tax propositions are on the ballot in Cameron parish this Saturday, Jan. 21.

One is for the renewal of a parishwide garbage collection tax of 8.5 mills for 10 years. The program is operated by the Cameron Parish Police Jury.

The tax is being increased from the 5 mills orginally voted in 1985 due to the increase in landfill fees and hauling and also to provide residents with 96-gallon carts to replace garbage cans. There is no garbage collection fee.

The other tax proposal is on a renewal of a 8.12 mill tax for 10 years to provide fire protection services in Fire Protection District 1, which is the town of Cameron and immediate area.

Motion to accept minutes of Dec. 26, 1994 meeting by Ivan Barentine, second by Carroll Trahan, passed.

Motion to review and pay bills by Rogerest Romero, second by Ivan Barentine, passed.

Election of officers resulted in the following: Magnus McGee nominated for President by Ivan Barentine, Carroll Trahan for Vice-President by Rogerest Romero, Ivan Barentine for Secretary-Treasurer by Leroy Trahan. All were elected unanimously.

G.D.D. #7 submitted a bid for a used Ford backhoe at the Cameron Police Jury on Tues., Jan. 3. The amount of bid was $5,005.00, ours was $6,005.50.

A letter from Jane Boslet of U.S. Corps of Engineers in Galveston was read to the Board. She enclosed Texas Parks and Wildlife, EPA and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service who had objections to G.D.D. #7 permit #20052. The Board is interested in setting up another meeting with those interested parties and George Bailey, John Stacy and Clay Midkiff.

George Bailey and President Magnus McGee reported on a helicopter flight over the entire Johnson Bayou area. They, along with John Stacy of La. DNR, Coastal Management Division, filmed with video cameras and telephoto lens still cameras, the flooded areas along Shallow Prong, Smith Ridge and Middle Ridge as well as La. Hwy. 82. The videos were shown to the Board.

Lloyd Badon and Kenneth Trahan reported that the two 12' x 12' metal doors were installed today by Overhead Glenn Door Co.

On a motion by Carroll Trahan, second by Rogerest Romero, passed, that the old security light be hooked back up and a new 175 watt security light be installed on the pole in the SW corner of Board property.

Duhon House Movers of Lake Charles will be doing the raising of the building to the height required by FEMA. His price quote was $3,000.00, so was Williamson House Movers of Mauriceville, Texas. Duhon was selected because he was from Louisiana and Williamson could not work the moving in their schedule for another five or six weeks. Price quotes on steel pilings will be secured.

On the request of Utley Trahan, Lloyd Badon will check on it and secure a right of way grant from the landowner.

The helicopter trip last week gave the Board a better look at the drainage problems on the east side of Road 545, of Charles Jinks and Elvin Donahoe.

President McGee is in contact with several pipeline companies concerning the drainage problems of Lloyd Godwin and others. As several pipelines cross this ditch, some of whom are very close to the surface, great care must be taken before any cleaning out of drainage ditches takes place.

1994 11099-MISC tax forms were passed out to board members and the employees.

On a motion by Rogerest Romero, second by Leroy Trahan, passed, the Board decided to purchase a gas engine arc welder (7,000 to 8,000 watts) Lincoln or equivalent. Kenneth Trahan and Exec. Secty. to secure at least three competitive price quotes.

Dear Editor

Dear Editor:

The Calcasieu Women's Shelter wishes to thank all the individuals and organizations in Cameron Parish who so generously donated food, gifts, and money to help make Christmas happy for the residents of the Shelter. Without these caring people, many children and mothers would have had a much sadder holiday.

The warm spirit of those who donated made a great impression on the resident; they were often overwhelmed by the proof that people do care. Many thanks from the staff, volunteers and residents.

Dr. King legacy is recalled at meet

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"Striving for a better America" was the theme of the annual Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. prayer breakfast held Monday morning at the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Cameron. It was hosted by the Christian Women of Cameron organization.

Anthony Bartie, keynote speaker, stated: "Dr. King dedicated his life making a better life for black people, and true democracy cannot be achieved until everyone is equal.

"Dr. King preached nonviolence as a way to achieve equality, not just for the black, but for all people. Let's not forget his dream to love someone," he said.

Bartie was introduced by Cecelia Bartie.

Ike Dugas served as master of ceremonies; Joseph Hebert read the scripture; Rebecca LaSalle, president of the Christian Women of Cameron, gave greetings; Sandra DeShields gave expressions of thanks; Irving Yerby gave "I Have A Dream" presentation; and Donna LaBove gave closing remarks.

Rev. Lannis Joseph, church pastor, gave the benediction and blessing of the food an everyone joined hands to sing, "We Shall Overcome", before eating breakfast in the reception room of the church.

arbage tax is voted down Sat.

Cameron Parish voters on Saturday voted down an increased property tax for parishwide garbage collection while those in the Cameron community approved a tax for fire protection.

•The vote against the 10-year, 8.5-mill garbage collection tax was 616-670 votes, or 52-48 percent.

•The vote for the 10-year, 8.12-mill tax for fire protection was 137-75, or 65-35 percent.

The Cameron Parish Police Jury wanted to increase its property tax for parishwide garbage collection and disposal. The vote would have raised the 5.97-mill tax to 8.5 mills for 10 years.

The millage would have collected about $850,000 per year, said parish administrator Tina Horn.

The Fire Protection District 1-2 and District 6-1 (Cameron community) will collect a renewal bringing in about $72,000 a year for fire protection.

Postal unit set for J. B. and H. B.

Effective Feb. 1, 1995, postal customers living in the Johnson Bayou - Holly Beach area of Cameron Parish will find it easier to do business with the United States Postal Service.

On this date, a new Contract Postal Unit will begin operating at the Bayou Convenience Store. According to Cameron Postmaster, Dorothy Theriot, customers will have access to all services except Post Office box delivery, at this new location", she stated.

"Residents who live in this area will be able to mail letters and packages, buy postage, and even purchase money orders. As an added convenience, the store will offer package pick-up service for customers who are not at home to accept signature or other accountable items. This means if a notice is left for the customer to pick up an article at the Post Office, it will be left at Bayou Convenience for retrieval. Customers no longer have to travel by ferry to Cameron to do business."

The area specifically served by the contract station is west of the Cameron Ferry to Sabine Pass, and north of the Gulf of Mexico to the area's oil and gas fields.

There will be an opening day ceremony held at the new facility Wed., Feb. 1, at 9 a.m. "The public is invited to attend", said Theriot. "Cameron Parish residents who will be served by the unit are especially encouraged to come out and visit the facility and the people who will be serving them."

Former resident gets prison term

(American Press)

A former Cameron resident has been sentenced to five years in prison for stealing $24,958 in bank funds while working at the loan department in a local bank.

Jocelyn M. Moseley, 40, pleaded guilty to a one count bill of information. It charged her with misapplication of bank funds by a bank employee. She was sentenced by U.S. District Judge James Trimble.

Mosely admitted she stole money from accounts of various customers while working at the Cameron branch of Calcasieu Marine National Bank from May 1992 through June 1993.

She was employed in a variety of jobs while working for the bank, but she worked primarily in the loan department. Mosely would take cash and other funds from an account of a bank customer.

She would then transfer money from another customer's account into accounts she stole money from. When she received complaints from customers, she would advise them a banking error had occurred and correct the account by transferring the discrepancy to other accounts.

In addition to the five-year prison term, Mosely was ordered to make restitution to the bank and perform at least 300 hours of community service work at a local shelter or food distribution center.

Fishermen are invited to meet

The first of nine education meetings to be held in coastal Louisiana concerning coastal restoration will be held Wed., Feb. 1, at 7 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex. In an effort to address commercial and recreational fishermen's concerns about the effects of coastal restoration, an educational program will be presented.

Many fishermen have experienced noticeable changes in traditional fisheries catch patterns due to drastic changes in salinities and/or species access caused by projects aimed at restoring coastal marsh vegetation. Everyone with concerns about coastal restoration and fisheries is urged to attend.

The program is being sponsored by the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service, Louisiana Department of Natural Resources, and Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

IMCAL program is in danger

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Walter Grandy, director of the Imperial Calcasieu Regional and Development Commission (IMCAL), delivered some alarming news to the IMCAL board at a meeting held at the Creole Recreation Center Monday.

There is a move underway to do away with the program which has done so much to benefit Southwest Louisiana, he said.

Grants totaling $170 million have been secured by local governments sinced IMCAL was organized in 1973 in Allen, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Cameron and Jefferson Davis parishes and many other current grants are on the drawing board.

The board directed Grandy to send resolutions to the congressional delegation opposing the elimination of the commission.

Under review for Cameron Parish are grants of $78,000 for business start-ups; $400,000 for road turn-arounds for scenic byways; and another $25,000 for an archaelogical study on the scenic byways.

Scenic brochures, signs, and a planning study were funded for the Creole Nature Trail. Assistance was provided by the Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau. Also, the Cameron Parish Housing Authority is researching the possiblity of HUD or FmHA funding public housing in Cameron.

Ed Kelley gave the list of officers nominated for 1995 and they were voted in unanimously: Jerry Arceneaux, chairman; Jimmy Vickers, vice-chairman; Ray Conner, secretary; and Mayor Fred A. Ashy, treasurer.

After the meeting a seafood supper was served to the commission by the hosts of the meeting, the Cameron Parish Police Jury.

West Cove reopened to oyster fishing

Rep. Randy Roach announced that the West Cove of Big Lake has been reopened to oyster fishing effective Jan. 29. This area of the lake was included in the area subject to the precautionary closure which was issued on Oct. 31, 1994.

"The action taken by the Office of Public Health further demonstrates that oysters in Calcasieu Lake are safe for public consumption. This action was taken after OPH further analyzed data from the additional testing which has been done in the area. This should put to rest any public concern over the quality of oysters in this area," Roach stated.

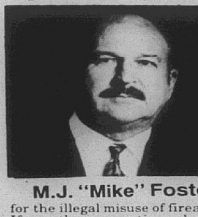
CAMPAIGN '95 -- THE GOVERNOR'S RACE



"The 2nd Amendment"

By: M.J. "MIKE" FOSTER

I have a friend, Cruz Sanchez, who is Cuban and never quits complaining about Fidel Castro. I asked Cruz, "Why didn't the people of Cuba revolt and do away with Castro and his friends if he's that bad?" I'll never forget his answer, "Senor, in Cuba, only the government has guns!" This simple direct statement shows the wisdom of our founding fathers when they gave us the 2nd Amendment. The 2nd Amendment states, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

I, for one, am offended by the recent attacks on the 2nd Amendment at the federal and state level. We have seen the misguided beginnings of the erosion of our rights at the federal level. These first attempts at diluting the 2nd Amendment are just the beginning of stripping us completely of our rights as honest citizens. This would lessen our ability to defend ourselves and, in a worst case scenario, take from us the ability to defend against a federal government run amok. Hopefully, the recent elections will stop and reverse this "feel good", misguided trend. The protection of this right is a duty of the people which can only be protected through the ballot box.

I understand the frustration of those who are outraged by gun violence; but, the solution is not in the disarming of honest citizens. Rather, the solution to gun misuse and violence is quick, tough and certain punishment for the illegal misuse of firearms. If ever there was a time when we needed the right for honest citizens to defend themselves, it is now!

The same liberal "Do Gooders" who espouse gun control are the same people who have been busy crippling our police with threats of suits and punishment for doing their job. Something is wrong when the police are not allowed to use necessary force to stop violent criminals leaving the scene of a crime. These same violent criminals are given the right to sue police and even the victims they prey upon.

In closing, I'll quote Benjamin Franklin, "They that can give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety." I feel very strongly on this subject and will debate anyone, anytime. Elect me governor, and rest assured, that any challenges to the 2nd Amendment at the state level will get a veto and never see the light of day!

I need your help! I need your encouragement! I need your prayers! I need your moral support! In addition, I need your financial support. With any contribution of $10 or more, I will send to you a "Defend the 2nd Amendment" bumper sticker.

My Dear People of Cameron Parish,

I am sorry for being a little late with my annual report. The auditor didn't get my report in until the last of November so I thought I would wait until after the first of the year to give you a run-down. As 1993 rolled in we were showing some economic growth and our tax base was holding its own. As 1994 came in we saw a lot of tax base erode from the ad valorem tax roll. As the year ended we were gaining on our surplus which was $792,361.00. But as we are getting the tax money in for the coming year we will be short $158,000.00 on our ad valorem tax. This is just the Sheriff's Department tax money. So it doesn't look good for a brighter tomorrow on our economic future and we still are having a lot of protest from the companies paying high taxes and we have about $1,500,000.00 in escrow so we don't know when we will have this settled. I won the case in the lower courts, but it's in the Court of Appeals now.

As for the Sheriff's Department we still have about the same amount of employees which is around 78. This is including school guards, office personnel, and road deputies. You can see our expenses are still climbing because everything we buy is still going up and we are unable to give the people the salary they need to keep up with the cost of living, especially if you have children in college.

But, we'd like to thank you for giving us the basic structure that we have. If we could have kept our economy moving, we'd be in a lot better shape. Let's hope and pray some industry will move in and our economy will start expanding.

As you can see below, I have a breakdown of all revenues and expenditures. Some of these are large figures and some you may not understand, but feel free to come in or call and I will do my utmost to explain everything to you. One thing I believe in is showing you what it costs to operate our department because these are public funds and I try to spend all of it back to serve and protect the people of Cameron Parish to the best of my ability, so help me God.

SINCERELY,

Sono Savoie

FUR FESTIVAL

The La. Fur and Wildlife Festival was a nice festival and the rain stopped in time. Saturday was a great day for the parade.

Congratulations are in order to Dave Savoie, a Creole dog trainer, who took my friend's dog, Punch, owned by Jimmy Trahan, a young Lab of 10 months old and took a first place in the dog trials.

FISHING REPORT

Fishing reports are still on the slim side, however, a few anglers did do well on bass fishing in private marshes. Catfish are being caught in our marshes and on Little Pecan Bayou. A few redfish are still being caught in Calcasieu Lake, Rockefeller Refuge and the Hog Bayou area. There have been some good reports of nice-size catfish being caught in the Grand Lake - White Lake area. Trot line is best, but some are caught on rod and reel on cut bait and shrimp.

SHRIMP BYCATCH

The Gulf of Mexico Fisheries Management Council is meeting in Houston, Tex. to recommend federal fisheries regulations. It seems one of the main topics is the bycatch from shrimp trawls has to be reduced.

Our shrimpers have already suffered as the TED has reduced bycatch by 50 percent, and when it comes to snappers over 1 to 2 pounds, it's close to 100 percent to exclude these fish.

It seems the fishing fleet of shrimpers has almost been cut in half by all the laws and rules and higher cost to operate. There were just under 6,000 shrimpers and now we're a little over 3,000, according to records.

If shrimpers have to have more bycatch than they have now, there surely won't be much shrimp caught and there will surely be a lot less shrimpers fighting this battle.

LEAD BAN

The American Sportsfishing Association is working to improve sport fishing at the local levels. They are now telling the EPA officials that the proposed ban on lead fishing sinkers is based on bad science and bad economics, and lacks the public support necessary to make it work.

Most Americans oppose the ban on lead sinkers, as do the vast majority of state fish and game agencies, whose support is vital for a ban to be effective. If you are interested in more information you can contact the La. Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries/Freshwater, Benny Fontenot, 504-765-2330 or LDWF/Saltwater, John Rousell, 504-765-2334.

It's sort of like we went from lead to steel for migratory game, but I just wonder with all the crippled ducks that die, that may be more ducks die from wounds, than die from lead poisoning. Now, there's another alternative to steel shots. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has granted approval for the use of bismuth-tin shot for the remainder of our 1994-95 waterfowl season, which is now only geese left for this year's season. We'll see what happens in our next season and if its available.

GROUND HOG DAY

Ground Hog Day is around the corner, Feb. 2. We'll know if winter is over or not, if you believe this.

BIG BASS

The year has just begun and one of our Louisiana lakes has posted a 13.04 pound large mouth bass. This was caught at Chicot Lake on Jan. 6, 1995. This is one of our state's Quality Lakes that you'll hear more about. Biologists say there's no reason why Chicot Lake can't be a large bass producer like Caney Lake. Caney Lake is just stocked with many more Florida bass than Chicot Lake.

This 13.04 bass is a record bass for Chicot Lake and it beat the old lake record by almost 2 pounds. It will rank Number 41 in the La. state record book, if certified by the La. Outdoor Writers Association, which maintains the official records. Biologists, while checking the lake, netted a 15 pounder which was released.

Chicot Lake is located in Evangeline Parish and all bass from 14 inches to 17 inches total length have to be released immediately.

FEEDING PERIODS

Beginning in our February 2 column, I'll start the feeding periods chart again for Friday thru Sunday of each weekend. I had quite a few calls to start it a month earlier, as many anglers are fishing earlier.

If this warm weather continues, we'll see some nice big fish caught early this year, as many fish are spawning already.

Hope you catch a big one.

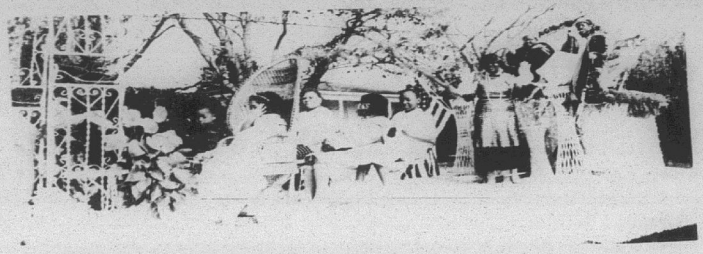
Spillway to be open on Sabine



The Sabine River Authority reminds the public that Toledo Bend Reservoir is not a flood control reservoir and advises persons having interests in the Sabine River basin below the reservoir that as of Thursday morning, Jan. 19, the elevation of Toledo Bend Reservoir was 171.97 MSL and rising with both generators at the powerhouse operating 24 hours per day seven days per week.

Forecast inflows into the reservoir indicate the spillway gates will have to be opened. Releases through the spillway gates are generally initiated when the reservoir elevation reaches 172.5 MSL with the first step being five gates open one foot each.

Interested persons should monitor available news sources for current river and reservoir levels and reservoir release amounts since the river could reach flood stage and evacuation of persons, animals, and property may become necessary.

Up-to-date reservoir elevations and releases may be obtained from the Sabine River Authority Office at the Toledo Bend Damsite on a 24 hour basis at (318) 286-5244.

Once spillway releases begin, your local Sheriff's office, as well as Authority offices, will be able to give the last reported river stages and river forecasts.

THIS WAS THE float that was entered both in the Fur Festival Parade and the Martin Luther King Parade by the Cameron Chapter of the NAACP.

CAMERON PARISH SCHOOL BOARD RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, House Bill 150 mandates, beginning the 1995-96 school year, any student suspended or expelled shall remain under the supervision of the school system; and
WHEREAS, it becomes the local system's responsibility to provide an alternative education program for suspended and expelled students; and
WHEREAS, this House Bill is not an incentive for a student to maintain good self discipline, but a mechanism for students to create school disruptions; and
WHEREAS, the school system would continue providing an educational setting without disruptive students being held accountable, at the expense of disciplined students; and
WHEREAS, this House Bill is a financial mandate because providing an alternative setting is much more costly than regular education and House Bill 150 was not accompanied with any additional funding; and
NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Cameron Parish School Board requests that the Louisiana School Boards' Association sponsor legislation urging the Governor and the entire legislature to suspend House Bill 150 until such time as the Legislature appropriates sufficient funds to carry out the mandate of House Bill 150 of 1994.
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Honorable Governor Edwin Edwards, the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, the area Legislative Delegation, and the Louisiana School Boards' Association.

THE NEW HACKBERRY Rural Health Clinic is now open on Hwy. 27 across from the Sheriff's substation. The clinic is a service of the West Calcasieu-Cameron Hospital of Sulphur and is open three days a week.

Roach seeks aid for Cameron Par.

Why does the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) impose such strict building requirements on Cameron parish in connection with flooding and not on Lake Charles, Baton Rouge, Houston or Florida who have had more recent flooding problems?

That is the question was was posed last week by Rep. Randy Roach in a letter to Congressman Jimmy Hayes, both of whom represent Cameron Parish.

In his letter Roach points out that Cameron parish has not had any serious flooding for nearly 40 years (since Hurricane Audrey in 1957) while many other areas have had worse flooding since then with none of the very restrictive FEMA regulations.

Rep. Roach's letter reads in part:

"I know that you are familiar with the FEMA regulations which affect Cameron Parish. You tried to help us mitigate the impact of those regulations several years ago. When those regulations went into effect, most everyone agreed that they would have an adverse impact on economic development in Cameron Parish. History has proved us to be correct.

"There has not been a major flooding situation in Cameron Parish in almost 40 years. Major urban areas like Lake Charles, Baton Rouge, Houston, Beaumont, etc., have had far more serious problems with flooding and far more damages as a result of flooding than Cameron has. Needless to say, it is totally unreasonable for FEMA to place those kinds of regulations on Cameron Parish. It is especially frustrating to consider the impact of these regulations when I visit other coastal parishes and other coastal counties in other states.

"Every summer I take a short vacation in Florda. My condo sits directly on the beach. You can walk out the front door onto the beach and into the Gulf in a matter of minutes. Why are those developments exempt from the restrictions and Cameron Parish has to build service stations and convenience stores at least nine feet above sea level?

"I was wondering if you thought it might be worth our time and effort to seek to legislatively exempt Cameron Parish from the effect of these regulations. If we cannot exempt the parish from the regulations is there someway to modify them as they apply to residences for the elderly and new business construction or expansion."

ULRICE E. HACKETT SR.

Mr. Hackett, former Par. Supt., dies

Funeral services for Ulrice E. Hackett Sr., 92, of Lake Charles were held Fri., Jan 27, in Hixson Funeral Home.

The Revs. Steven Spurlock and Henry Bodwon officiated; burial was in Highland Memory Gardens.

Mr. Hackett died Tuesday, Jan. 24, 1995, in a Lake Charles care center.

He began his teaching career at Lowery School in 1922 and served as an educator in Cameron Parish for 44 years, including 19 years as principal of Grand Lake High School and 16 years as Cameron Parish School Superintendent.

Mr. Hackett was active with the American Red Cross during Hurricane Audrey and was instrumental in the rebuilding of schools in lower Cameron Parish following the disaster.

He was a member of Masonic Lodge 165, a 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, a member of Ruth Chapter 16 OES, a charter member of Habibi Temple, and a member of the $100 Million Cripple Children's Shrine Hospital Club, Louisiana Retired Teachers Association and First United Methodist Church.

Survivors are one son, U.E. "Sonny" Hackett Jr. of Lake Charles; one brother, N.B. "Red" Hackett of Denham Springs; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Hackberry Rural Health Clinic now in operation

The Hackberry Rural Health Clinic was opened last month by the West Calcasieu Cameron Hospital of Sulphur and now is bringing quality medical services to residents of the Hackberry area.

Since the retirement of long time physician, Dr. J. B. Colligan, a few years ago, Hackberry has been without local medical services, with doctors and hospitals in Cameron, Sulphur and Lake Charles being their closest choices.

However, Ward 6 of Cameron parish, which includes Hackberry, has been a part of the West Calcasieu-Cameron Hospital Service District for over 40 years with the Sulphur hospital serving the district. Hackberry residents asked for closer hospital services from the hospital board and got it.

(The hospital district also opened a rural health clinic in Vinton, taking over an existing physician office there.)

The Hackberry Rural Health Clinic was constructed just across Hwy. 27 from the Cameron Parish Sheriff Sub-Station and was opened in December. It contains a large lobby, office space, four treatment rooms, laboratory and an office for the local dentist.

Peg Quinton, Registered Nurse/Nurse Practioner, heads up the staff providing mid-level practioner services in collaboration with two members of the hospital staff in Sulphur, Dr. J. W. Crookahank and Dr. Alan LeBato.

With her training, she is qualified to see patients with minor ailments such as earache, sore throats, colds etc. and consult as needed with the two doctors on treatment needed. She also is able to provide preventive health assistance to patients.

The clinic is now open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and this will be increased as needed. About five or six patients are being seen a day now but the number is growing.

In addition, Dr. Thomas Cates has relocated his Hackberry dental office to the new clinic and is there on Tuesdays and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Ms. Quinton said the rural health clinic should prove valuable to elderly residents who may have found it difficult in the past to go out of town to see a doctor.

Randy Davis, vice president of human resources for the Sulphur hospital, said the hospital's board member from Hackberry, Doug Gray, was largely responsible for convincing the board to provide the citizens of Hackberry with a facility of their own that would provide quality patient care.

An open house will be held at a later date at the clinic at which time all Hackberry citizens will be invited to inspect their new medical facility.

New branch planned

The Cameron State Bank plans to open its tenth branch--the third in Lake Charles--by July, it was announced this week by Roy M. Raftery, Jr., president.

The bank has applied for authority to establish a branch office at 135 West McNeese Street in the Gulfway Shopping Center. An existing building presently occupied by a branch of Premier Bank will be purchased for the site.

Cameron State Bank opened another Lake Charles branch last year at 2201 Oak Park Blvd. and has had one at 2901 Ryan in Lake Charles for a number of year. It also has a branch in Sulphur.

The bank also has six locations in Cameron parish, the main office in Cameron and branches in Creole, Grand Chenier, Grand Lake, Hackberry, and Johnson Bayou.

Tax being discussed

The Cameron Parish police jurors are expected to discuss the parishwide garbage collection tax at their finance meeting on Thursday and may take action on calling another election at their monthly meeting next Tuesday.

A 8.5 mill garbage tax was defeated 670 to 616 in the election held on Jan. 21. The election was on renewing the present 6-mill tax along with an addition of 2.5 mills which jury officials said was needed because of increased cost of the program.

Parish Administrator Tina Horn said the jurors had decided at a meeting last week to talk to the voters in their district to see what kind of tax they would support.

If another election is called it probably will be for April 19.

New doctor here

The South Cameron Memorial Hospital now has a new physician on its staff, Assistant Administrator Raymond Green announced this week.

Dr. David Jed Woodard, 45, began practicing at the Rural Health Clinic located in the hospital Tuesday and will be on duty full time during the week and on call for the emergency room on weekends.

Dr. Woodard is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and comes here from private practice in Utah.

Cancer meeting

The Cameron Parish Unit of the American Cancer Society will hold their board meeting Tues., Feb. 7, at 2 p.m. in the Cameron Parish Library.

Marina planned

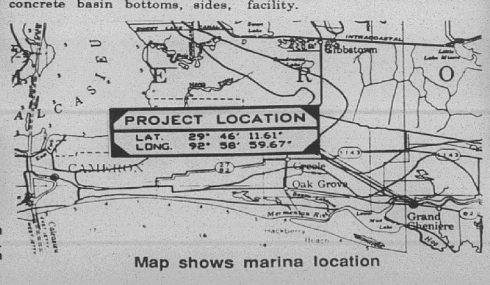
By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Grand Chenier businessman Malcom Lyle "Butch" Crain is beginning construction on a full service marina on the Mermentau River adjacent to Hwy. 82, two miles east of the Mermentau River bridge.

After two years, he has obtained permits to construct cement locks on the river about three miles from the Gulf by boat.

Crain said he has designed this project based on the desires of area Gulf fishermen and pleasure boaters who wish to own a custom designed mooring facility offering full service and limited maintenance.

The project will begin in March and be completed by Jan., 1996.



The basic specifications are all concrete basin bottoms, sides, walks, roofs and walls. The all concrete locks will allow draining of the basin for easy, economical cleaning. The roofs will allow construction of camps above many of the stalls.

There will be a restricted building code, and adequate parking. There will be a sewerage plant, city water, and utilities with full service to all stalls.

There will also be lift winches for smaller boats and a choice of 12 by 30; 16 by 34; 2 by 40; and 20 by 60 stalls.

People interested in designing their own stall may pre-purchase and assist architects in the design of this venture.

Crain may be contacted at 6850 Phelan Blvd., Beaumont, Tex. 77706 for further information about this all-weather mooring facility.

Chenier consolidated school open in 1917

Seventy-eight years ago the Grand Chenier Consolidated School was observing the first session of existence.

The four one-room schools on the Chenier -- the Grand Chenier, Lindstrom, Bonsall, and Miller Schools -- had been closed at the end of the 1916-17 session. During the summer of 1917 the new building had been erected at the site of the Lindstrom School, a mid-way point.

When the school opened late in the fall of 1917, F. B. Kennedy, a teacher in the one-room school in Cameron and afterwards the postmaster there, became its principal. About two months later, Mr. Kennedy was inducted into the Army, for the United States was in the throes of World War I.

Because of the difficulty in procuring a new principal and because of the almost impassable roads resulting from inclement weather, the school was closed for several weeks. It was reopened in late winter with Miss Laura McCall, a native and a former teacher of Cameron Parish, serving as principal.

In addition to the scheduled curriculum that spring the pupils were taught to invest in government savings stamps, to knit, to roll bandages, to quilt for overseas relief. They were challenged to observe meatless and white breadless days, to be courageous and patriotic. They were handed out atrociously illustrated placards denouncing the Kaiser and Huns to take home for display.

The youngsters lustily joined in as their teacher led in the singing of such songs as "America", "Battle Hymn of the Republic", "The Star Spangled Banner," "Pack Your Troubles," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp", "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground", "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "Just Before the Battle, Mother," "Smile", "Marseillaise Hymn", in both English and French, and the favorite of all "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again."

One of the Miller sisters taught the first and second grades that year. Mrs. Joseph W. Doxey, the former Dora O'Brien, was third and fourth grade teacher, Miss McCall, it seems, taught the others.

Ed Stine transferred the pupils from the east part of Grand Chenier; Evariste Nunez, those from west of the school. All children living within two miles of the school walked.

The vehicles used for transporting the children were horse-drawn transfers. The body of a transfer was fairly high from the ground. Within was a long seat on either side. Thus, the children sat facing one another with a common aisle for young feet that did not always remain or behave as the driver might have liked.

Behind each seat were small glass windows that opened out. A glass panel set in the rear wall was for viewing, not ventilation. Two slots beneath the front glass inset permitted the driver to pull through his reins. An entrance door was at the right side near the front.

AMONG THOSE in attendance at the Coastal Summit '95 held in Baton Rouge Jan. 19 and 20 were, from left: Wallace Connerly, with the Governor's Office of Coastal Activities, Baton Rouge; Rodney Guilbeaux, Jr., with the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage Dist. 7, Constance Beach; and Jack Wheeler of Lake Charles. Local, state and federal agencies, as well as private citizens, participated in the meeting.

Montie was state winner in 1962

(Cameron Pilot, Jan. 19, 1962)

MONTIE LPA WINNER

Miss Elora Montie, the Grand Chenier reporter for the Cameron Parish Pilot, has been named Louisiana's "Country Correspondent of the Year" for 1961 by the Louisiana Press Association.

This is the fourth time in five years that Pilot reporters have won this honor in competition with other correspondents throughout the state.

Mrs. Geneva Griffith won the award in 1957 for her coverage of Oak Grove news. Mrs. Walter Stanley was the 1958 winner for her Holly Beach news and Mrs. Bernice Stewart received the honor in 1959 for her coverage of the Lowery and Klondike communities.

Miss Montie is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Montie and the late Pierre Montie, and was born and raised in Grand Chenier. She has been one of the Pilot's most faithful correspondents. The only time she missed sending news into the paper was for a period following Hurricane Audrey when both she and her mother were recuperating from injuries received in the storm.

Their house was completely destroyed by the storm in June, 1957, and Miss Montie and her mother escaped with their lives by floating on a life preserver for some 15 or 20 miles to the banks of Grand Lake. Miss Montie had picked up the life preserver on the beach about a week before the storm. It had apparently fallen from a boat in the Gulf.

NATIONAL FEATURE

The Pilot's award winning correspondents were featured recently in a national publication, "Folks" magazine, published in Massachusetts and sent out to country correspondents throughout the nation.

Excerpts from stories written by the three previous LPA winners, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Griffith, were included, as was a portion of the story written by Mrs. Lee J. Harrison, the Pilot's black correspondent, which won a LPA award in 1957 for the "Best Human Interest Story."

KERSHAW WINS CONTEST

Wayne Kershaw, a student at South Cameron High School, has won the wildlife essay contest sponsored by the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival with an essay on "The Future of Louisiana's Wildlife."

Second place honors went to Cecil Sanner of Hackberry and third place to Ludwika Waldron, also of Hackberry.

Other entries were received from Dennis Erbelding, John D. Stromer, Kenneth W. Drost, Veronica Portie, Renee Becnel and Ernestine Colligan, all of Hackberry High, and Leslie Griffith of South Cameron.

FUR FASHION SHOW

The fur fashion show sponsored by the Louisiana Fur and Widlife Festival will be one of the highlights of Saturday night's events. There will be a variety of mink, nutria and muskrat stoles.

SABINE LAKE FREEZES OVER

For the first time that even the oldest residents can remember, Sabine Lake froze. Residents were able to walk along the edge and pick up fish in the frozen water. The area was hard hit by the freezing weather of last week.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Holly Beach -- We began to thaw out last Friday after the big three-day freeze. The thawing process went well into Saturday before water supplies were flowing normal again. Replacing broken pipes continued into this week.

Hackberry -- The loss of cattle during last week's freeze will not be too great, according to cattlemen. Joe Sanner reports that a small portion of the Sanner and Vincent winter range has been checked and only a small number of animals found frozen.

Oak Grove -- The young folks in our area were very disappointed that the cold spell last week did not present them with snow. However, the thick ice did provide many of them some good skating, which they enjoyed very much. The canal near Miller's Grocery was frozen solid clear across, and because the wind blew so hard and caused waves, every one of them was frozen and visible on the surface of the ice.

Creole -- Many homes had broken pipes and damaged pumps from the big freeze last week. Several families were without butane because of a lack of pressure or because it froze. We (Roland Primeaux) were one of the lucky families who had water and gas all during the severe cold.

New oyster regulation is enforced

Rep. Randy Roach announced that he has been contacted by several oyster fishermen concerning tickets that were issued last week because of their failure to cover the oysters on their boats. Rep. Roach checked into the situation and discovered that this regulation was adopted by the Office of Public Health in May, 1990 and is enforced by the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Rep. Roach contacted Wildlife officials in Baton Rouge and told them that many fishermen were not aware of this regulation. He also suggested that some advance notice should have been given to oyster fishermen before the department began enforcing this regulation.

Rep. Roach has contacted the Office of Public Health and requested that they allow Glenn W. Alexander, District Attorney in Cameron Parish, to treat the tickets issued last week as warning tickets with the understanding that when the season reopens all fishermen will be expected to comply with this regulation.

It is important that all fishermen understand that this regulation will be enforced for the remainder of the season.

The drum is the oldest musical instrument.

It is as absurd to pretend that one cannot love the same woman always, as to pretend that a good artist needs several violins to execute a piece of music.

PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the Regular Meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 held on Tuesday, November 15, 1994, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Edwin Quinn, E. J. Dronet, George Kelley, and Scott Henry.

Member Absent: Earl Guthrie.

Others Attending: James LeBoeuf, Amos Vincent, Billy Delany and J. Berton Daigle.

Billy Delany presented the Water Management Report on behalf of Steve Klett, who was unable to attend today's meeting. Considerable discussion ensued relative to the fact that water levels are being maintained too high in the Cameron-Creole Watershed.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried that the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 be allowed to have flapgates on wiers in the Cameron-Creole Watershed open at all times until the water levels reach the .8 level, as determined to be the most advantageous goal to prevent marshes from further deterioration (or at such time that the salinities breech the isohaline lines), then flapgates shall be closed. It was noted that at the present water levels marshes on the southern end are beginning to rot and deteriorate.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried that the minutes of the October 18, 1994, regular meeting be approved.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried to approve the following bill for payment:

1. Oil Patch Welders, $5,000.00.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the month of October, 1994.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried to authorize E. J. Dronet to sign the application for renewal of the Public Employees Bond insurance, which is due for renewal on December 15, 1994.

President Quinn read a letter from USDA Soil Conservation Service stating that in their opinion the reason for the vertical cracking in the pilasters of the Grand Bayou Water Control Structure No. 1 is the absence of horizontal (temperature) reinforcing rods in the vertical face of the pilasters from the foundation to the first level of wing walls. The SCS engineers further concluded that the vertical cracks are in no way affecting the structural performance and capacity of the structure. They stated additionally that there is no reason to believe that the vertical cracking would adversely affect the current structural performance of the structures, but they do strongly recommend that the cracks be repaired as soon as possible. they acknowledge the uncertainty of the exact cause of the cracks, and recommend that the cracks be thoroughly cleaned and pressure injected with a polyurethane resin to prevent deterioration and corrosion of the reinforcing steel in the pilasters. Once this has been accomplished, SCS will have their engineering staff monitor the repairs for the next 12 to 18 months on a quarterly basis. If during the monitoring period the cracks recur, it may be necessary to implement more extensive and quite expensive type of repair, but they do not feel that such extensive repairs are justified at this time.

A motion was made by Scott Henry, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to pass a resolution as follows, and ask the Cameron Gravity Drainage District 4 to pass a similar resolution:

WHEREAS, Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 and 4 are the agencies resonsible for maintenance of the Cameron-Creole Watershed,

BE IT RESOLVED, that Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage Districts No. 3 and 4 do hereby object to any installation of automation to the Grand Bayou Water Control Structures in the Cameron-Creole Watershed until such time as the cracks that exist in this structure have been satisfactorily repaired, and until it has been established to the satisfaction of Soil Conservation Service Engineers and to the satisfaction of the two Drainage Districts that these repairs are holding adequately to support said modifications.

It was agreed that a letter expressing the fact that the Districts intend to approve installation of automation until repairs have been proven be sent to USF&W in Atlanta.

Scott Henry reported that Russell Badon of the Gravity Drainage District #7 will rest three currently inoperative culverts with flapgates and seals on Henry property at a cost of $390 per day, including an operator for the equipment. A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to request the Johnson Bayou Gravity Drainage District No. 7 to reset these culverts on Henry property if no special permitting is required. It was agreed that Myles Hebert will check on the permit requirements.

Mr. J. Berton Daigle was recognized, and he stated that the ditch adjacent to his property is too stopped up to move water off his property, and that perhaps this Board should consider cutting grass out on both sides of the wier. Scott Henry stated that the Parish grade-all can and will clean this ditch, but it was agreed that Myles Hebert will look to see if a permit will be required for such ditch maintenance.

A motion was made by Scott Henry, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to seek a permit to remove vegetation from an existing ditch adjacent to the J. Berton Daigle property, if such permit is necessary, and then to request the Cameron Parish Police Jury to clean that ditch. Permission of the property owner has already been obtained.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the Regular Meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 held on Tuesday, October 18, 1994, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Scott Henry, Earl Guthrie, George Kelley.

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the September 22, 1994, regular meeting.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried that the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 approve payment of one-half of the invoice from A & L Bolt Service for the purchase of 240 stainless steel bolts for replacement on gundlon on water control structures, subject to approval by Gravity Drainage District No. 4 to split the cost of the bolts on this invoice, with the understanding that in the future this Board will have to approve purchases before they are made. It was agreed that Scott Henry will go out and view the new bolts already installed on the structures.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. A & L Bolt Service of Lake Charles, Inc., $65.70

2. H & S Construction Company, Inc., 6,688.09

3. Lonnie G. Harper & Associates, 401.28

4. Coastal Culver & Supply, Inc., 3,897.23

5. Cameron Parish Pilot, 53.00

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by George Kelley and unanimously carried to authorize Scott Henry to sign the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Use Permit on behalf of Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3.

Steve Klett reported relative to automation of structures, that DNR was supposed to have final drawing specs finished and sent out to us this week. He is still waiting for a letter from Soil Conservation Service on how severe the cracks are in the structures.

Mr. George Kelley pointed out that Steve Klett's last two Water Management Reports contained wording that implied that fresh water intake structures had been closed as a result of the restriction of the local Gravity Drainage Boards.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried that the last two Water Management Reports be amended and that in the future the wording be amended to state that local Gravity Drainage Boards enforce the requirements of the Cameron-Creole Watershed permit from the Corps of Engineers, which restrict the opening of these gates during high water periods.

This was agreed to by Steve Klett, and he then presented the Water Management Report for the last month.

Mr. Klett's Water Management Report was accepted, and Board members expressed their appreciation to Mr. Klett for the good reports and the useful information presented each month.

Steve Klett then reported with regard to the Plug Project, that U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service is considering possible removal of the Mangrove plug from this project. This should be decided by the end of this week. Relative to maintenance of staff gauges, Mr. Klett again stated that alligator weed around the High Island gauge makes it impossible to read. Routine cleaning and maintenance needs to be done. James LeBoeuf was asked if he could take care of this, and he was agreed that Myle Hebert and James LeBoeuf will look into cleaning the staff gauges.

Clay Midkiff of the Soil Conservation Service reported that the last inspection of cracks in the structures was made about a month ago with the Regional Engineer out of Fort Worth. There have been a total of four or five inspections with different SCS engineers, and there have been differing opinions from these engineers. No final report has been received from their utmost concrete expert, but reportedly he feels it is more cosmetic than structural. They are, therefore, probably looking toward a cosmetic repair and then will cut a pathway for spending of Breaux Bill funding. Final and formal correspondence along with recommendations will hopefully be forthcoming by our next meeting. Mr. Midkiff also stated that they might recommend bullet-proof plexiglass over solar panels used in the automation of structures, to prevent vandals from shooting them. Scott Henry stated that we have insisted that there be a mechanical over-ride on all automation facilities, so we can open the gates manually if need be. It was agreed that Tina Horn will make copies of final specs for each Board member, and a final set of blueprints of all structures will be kept in Myles Hebert's office at the Police Jury Annex.

Mr. Midkiff then stated that housekeeping in all Watershed Projects is being done right now, and Supplemental Watershed Agreements are being drawn up on incomplete projects. There are two channels in Gravity Drainage District No. 4 which are encompassed by Agreement of Gravity Drainage District No. 3 have been completed. Mr. Midkiff asked for a signature to release all incomplete projects, and this report is due back in Washington by the end of October.

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to authorize Scott Henry to sign the Supplemental Watershed Agreement No. 3 to delete outstanding incomplete work within the watershed. Mr. Midkiff stated that a copy of this agreement will be sent back for our files after all signatures are in place.

Tina Hirn stated that the hearing for Coastal Wetlands Planning Act was held last week, and that Scott Henry had attended the meeting on behalf of this Board. She stated that Cameron Parish was applauded for our participation in the hearing relative to Breaux Bill projects.

Scott Henry stated that they are experiencing some stagnation at the three culverts on Henry property, and these culverts with flapgates and seals are inoperative. They may have to bring out and re-set. He also suggested that we may have to hire a track buggy from the Johnson Bayou Gravity Drainage District to do this type of work. Tina Horn stated that this would call for an interagency agreement with Gravity Drainage District #7. It was agreed that Tina Horn, Cameron Parish Police Jury Administrator, will check on details of this type of arrangement. She suggested that Lloyd Badon, the operator of the equipment, could come look at the problem, and if they can do the work, we can perhaps get Glenn Alexander, legal counsel, to draw up an Inter-Agency Agreement. Another problem was discussed, and it was agreed that this Board will write a letter to formally request the Parish to assist us by using parish equipment to clean the drainage lateral leading to and from the 72" culvert near the staff gauge located in Section 25, Township 14 South, Range 9 West. Approximately 40 feet of this drainage ditch is grown up with vegetation, and flow is restricted. Property owner's permission will be sought.

Some discussion ensued relative to the clean-out of the School Board lateral. It was agreed by concensus that this be tabled on excavation and clean-out of the School Board drainage lateral in Cameron until additional bids can be received. It was agreed that Lloyd Bdon of the Gravity Drainage District No. 7 be asked to also look at this project to determine if they could perform the necessary work.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Members Absent: Earl Guthrie and Edwin Quinn.

A motion was amde by George Kelley, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried that the minutes of the November 15, 1994, regular meeting be approved as written.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the month of November, 1994.

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by Scott Henry, and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Cameron Parish Pilot, $66.00
2. Coastal Culvert & Supply, Inc., 1,399.44
3. Coastal Culvert & Supply, Inc., 2,524.26
4. Police Jury, 1,709.00
5. Savoie Lumber, 218.34
6. Lonnie G. Harper & Associates, 1,351.86
7. H & S Construction Company, Inc. 22,531.02

Scott Henry asked Lonnie Harper if a permit is necessary to repair 3 culverts on the old Trosclair Road levee where spoil has washed out over them and they've popped up and need to be reset. Mr. Harper agreed that he will check to see if there is a national permit that we can operate under for this repair. He stated that we may also be able to operate on an emergency basis.

Mr. Roby Bourgeois, representing the Sells family, spoke relative to a drainage problem with a ditch from Highway 82 North to the Gardner Subdivision, tying into W-1 West. He reported that this ditch is plugged up. It was agreed that we will have Myles Hebert look at this and determine what needs to be done. Lonnie Harper stated that the last time we cleaned this ditch was approximately 10 to 15 years ago.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried that Lonnie Harper evaluate the situation and apply for a permit to clean the Sells drainage latral in fractional Section 58, Township 14 South, Range 9 West and fractional Section 27, Township 13 South, Range 9 West if he determines that a clean-out is necessary.

Mr. Ray Conner was recognized and stated that the Police Jury had a good discussion on automation of the Cameron-Creole Watershed control structures. Mr. Conner suggested that agreement be made to set water levels within the watershed, and then whatever other problems that need to be solved be addressed so that automation may proceed. Paul Yakupzack suggested that this Board send a representative to attend the January 5, meeting to be held in Abbeville to go over final plans for the automation.

Paul Yakupzack suggested that we send out a letter to Donald Gohmert with copies to Clay Midkiff of Soil Conservation Service, and ask him to help get the ball rolling on Breaux Bill Funding for repair of the cracks in the Grand Bayou Structure. He also suggested that we ask what we need to do to get these repair so we can prepare for automation, and also to extend existing riprap to the mouth of the bayou on the Lake side and to the junction of the borrow canal on the marsh side.

Paul Yakupzack then presented the Water Management Report for the previous month and reported that salinities and water levels are normal and all gates are closed at this time and will be closed until there is a need to open them. Water levels are just below the agreed-to level. He also reported that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service feels that there would be some adverse effect by putting the Mangrove Plug in.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

SEASON ENDS

Last week as I rode around the marshes picking up my decoys it was hard to look at all the ducks and coots and think it's over until next year. I saw more ducks than I saw during the season.

We call Louisiana "Sportsman Paradise" but the Ducks Unlimited magazine for January/February had an article that read, "Argentina - A Duck Hunter's Paradise."

There are 13 species of ducks and Buenos Aires Province is the place. The season dates are from April through mid-August. Think of us bagging 3 ducks a day for 5 days and that's 15 ducks. Well, over there a 5 day aggregate duck limit is 150 ducks per person. Can you just imagine a hunt like that.

MONEY STAYS

Attempts by special interest groups to raid the Federal Aid in Sports Fish and Wildlife Restoration programs have failed. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service recommended in make no change in the programs, which currently provide over $400 million annually. This is a victory for sportsmen nationwide. There are bureaucrats who can't stand the fact that the programs work.

The real money talking about comes from excise taxes paid on hunting and fishing equipment and supplies.

This money helps fund hunters education, boat ramps construction and maintenance, wildlife management and restoration and other statewide projects.

It's a user-pay program that works, so why fix something that's not broken. It has been working for more than 50 years and the sportsmen and states are satisfied, so why change it.

WILL THE NETS STAY?

With the recently banned use of gill nets in Florida and with Texas already banned, it seems that it's coming closer for Louisiana to find out what will happen in the March session of the Legislature. The GCCA has been pushing this for a number of years, and now we have a couple elected officials in Baton Rouge also pushing for this. In 1994 out of state permits went way up and now they're expecting a run with 5,000 or so Florida netters to hit Louisiana waters. The session in Baton Rouge will surely be interesting.

GUN SALES

Speaking of bans, certain guns and rifles are still being sold legally, I suppose. Flea markets in some states sell all sorts of guns alongside other items. There's no check on backgrounds of buyers and no federal forms. It's just like here in Louisiana, if I have a gun for sale and you want to buy it, we make a deal and that's it. It becomes your gun.

In many states if someone sells a gun and doesn't check the person out and he is not suppose to own a gun, the seller could get five years in jail. It's the seller, not the buyer who gets the rap. There are only 19 states that have laws against secondary handgun sales. Example: Flea markets or between friends. Louisiana is not one of them, neither are our neighbors, Texas, Mississippi or Arkansas.

BUSTED

Remember the song "I'm Busted"? A couple of Lafouche parish fishermen were arrested for illegal possession of redfish and possession of a gill net, which is commercial gear and they were cited for taking sports fish using commercial gear and also with no licenses.

These two men were caught with 403 pounds of redfish numbering 64 reds, 52 blackdrum weighing 204 pounds, 6 sheepheads weighing 17 pounds plus 800 feet of gill net. The black drum and sheepheads are commercial. All of this was seized along with the boat. I'm sure the fines will be high and there will be some jail time.

The Cameron Parish police jurors Tuesday found themselves in the middle of a controversy over commercial gill-netting and in the end passed a resolution asking the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission to mediate between commercial and recreational fishermen.

The matter came up when Johnson Bayou Juror Russell Badon offered a resolution supporting the local gill netting industry. He noted a bill is being introduced in the legislature to outlaw gill-netting in Louisiana.

Fishing guide Jeff Poe Nunez spoke in favor of the gillnet ban stating that the gill-netters are over fishing Big Lake. He said he counted more than 76,000 feet of gillnets in the lake recently.

He said there were only 460 gillnet licenses issued two years ago with 1015 being issued last year and said that the increase was due to gillnetters moving their operations here from Florida where gillnetting was outlawed.

However, Badon said a gillnet ban would put parish people out of work and there should be some other way found to solve the problem.

After a long discussion, the jurors decided to substitute in place of Badon's resolution the resolution asking the Wildlife and Fisheries to try to help the commercial and recreational fishermen reach some type of agreement.

In other business:

*The polling place for Dist. 1, Precinct 1 was changed to the Johnson Bayou Community Center, its original location, from the Johnson Bayou high school.

*Juror George LeBouef told the juror that two illegal dumps have grown up in the Broussard Beach area and that littering in the parish was a big problem. Jurors agreed to ask Sheriff James Savoie for stricter enforcement of the littering laws.

*Charles O. Trahan of Cameron and Theodore Trahan of Johnson Bayou were granted variances from the parish elevation requirements for medical reasons.

*At Juror Douaine Conner's request, the jury asked the state highway department to clear the alligator grass from ditches between Creole and King's Bayou.

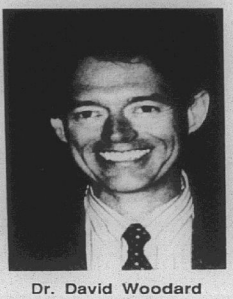
There are plenty of gators around

There's a heck of lot alligators in Cameron parish, Cameron Parish police jurors learned Tuesday from Will Nidecker, manager of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge.

Nidecker, who was at the monthly jury meeting to announce a new alligator permit program, told the jurors it was estimated there were between 32,000 and 45,000 alligators on the Sabine Refuge alone, not counting the three other refuges in the parish.



He said that the 10 trappers on the Sabine refuge took over 1000 alligators a year for the past three years, amounting to 23,200 feet of hides which sold for $557,450.

This averaged out about 102 alligators per hunter with the hides bringing an average of $31.58 per foot.

He said alligator hunts have been good for the parish, since all of the hunters have been local.

He noted that a new plant to skin the alligators and process the meat has been open in Hackberry by local people.

Nidecker said the alligator population seems to be holding steady with the average weight increasing of alligators taken.

Dr. David Woodard

Clinic will be open soon in Cameron

A new addition to the South Cameron Memorial Hospital, a rural health clinic, is now in full operation, according to Asst. Hospital Administrator Raymond Green.

The clinic is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and is staffed by the hospital's new physician, Dr. David Jed Woodard, a registered nurse and three other employees.

Rural health center are being established throughout the country in rural medically underserved areas. A similar clinic has been opened by the West Calcasieu-Cameron hospital in Hackberry.

Green said the the clinic of the late Dr. Cecil Clark of Cameron is being remodeled and Dr. Woodard will be his office there in the near future. He will continue to be on the hospital staff and take his turn in working at the hospital's emergency room on the weekends.

Gator permits will be awarded in April

The refuge managers from Cameron Prairie, Lacassine, and Sabine National Wildlife Refuges announced that the assignment of trapping permits will be determined through a public drawing at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Building on April 24, 1995, at 10 a.m. The permits will cover the alligator trapping programs on the refuges from 1995 to 1997.

The refuges are located in Cameron Parish. Cameron Prairie NWR headquarters is located east of La. Hwy. 27 just north of the Gibbstown Bridge. Lacassine NWR headquarters is located on La. Hwy. 3056 11 miles southwest of Lake Arthur, and Sabine NWR is located on La. Hwy. 27 7 miles south of Hackberry.

The drawing will be a lottery, which will give each applicant an equal chance to be selected. Applicants will have to submit only one application. The form will allow the trappers the opportunity to select one, two, or three refuges in priority order, for the drawing.

The number of trapping permits available are Cameron Prairie NWR 3, Lacassine NWR 6, and Sabine NWR 10. Each trapper's share will be 70% for all alligators taken. All trapping will be conducted according to state law and refuge special regulations.

Anyone 18 years of age or older, who is interested in receiving a permit and can demonstrate that they have prior marsh trapping experience, should write or call to any of the following refuges.

Cameron Prairie NWR, Rt. 1 Box 643, Bell City, La. 70630 - 318-598-2126; Lacassine NWR, HCR 63 Box 186, Lake Arthur, La. 70549 - 318-774-5923; Sabine NWR, Hwy. 27, 3000 Main St., Hackberry, La. 70645 - 318-762-3816.

Each interested trapper will be sent a questionnaire which must be returned by April 17, in order to qualify for the drawing.

26,500 gators harvested

Approximately 26,500 of Louisiana's largest reptiles were harvested during the 1994 alligator season, according to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries's most up-to-date figures.

"It was a good season," LDWF biologist Larry McNease said. "The prices were good and the sizes of alligators were comparable to previous harvets."

The average size of alligators harvested during the recent season is estimated to be slightly above the long-term average of about 7 feet. Prices averaged about $35 per foot.

The 30-day season began Sept. 3, 1994, with 27,665 alligator tags issued to 1,781 commercial hunters. Only about 4 percent of the tags were unfilled by the end of the season, McNease said.

This success rate of about 96 percent is fairly indicative of Louisiana's annual harvest. "Generally, it runs from 95 to 97 percent of the tags being filled," McNease said.

Such a consistent harvest is made possible by aggressive management of the species as a renewable resource, keeping the alligator populations healthy but controlled. McNease estimates that more than 700,000 alligators inhabited Louisiana's wetlands during 1994.

Grants sought

The Cameron Parish Library, in cooperation with the Cameron Council on Aging, is applying for a number of federal grants, Janelle Greenhow, parish librarian, told the Cameron Police Jury Tuesday.

These include grants for puppet shows to be given to the Cameron and Hackberry Head Start programs, one for a senior citizen story telling program and another for the promotion of the Hackberry Ramblers, one of the oldest continuous Cajun bands in the state.

Mrs. Greenhow also said the library is now connected by computer to McNeese State University through the Louisiana Online University System sponsored by LSU which is furnishing the library with a computer and other equipment on loan for a year.

Ideas sought about trail

Shelley Johnson, executive director of the Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau, has organized an idea exchange with Federal Highway Administration and Scenic Byways Officials in Washington, D. C. for Fri., Feb. 11.

The purpose of the exchange is to seek opinions and ideas for enhancing the Creole Nature Trail as a Scenic Byway. In 1994, Louisiana received $1,146,000, the third highest amount of the 28 states to receive Scenic Byway grants. The Creole Nature Tail Scenic Byway received three of the five grants allocated for Louisiana totalling $108,000. The Federal allocations are for byway signage, brochures, and a corridor management plan. These grants offer significant potential for increased tourism, job creating and economic development.

Harper to get Eagle Badge

Leonard P. Harper of Boy Scout Troop 202 of Grand Chenier will be among 46 Scouts to inducted as an Eagle Scout, scouting's highest honor, at the annual Eagle Banquet of the Calcasieu Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The banquet will be held at 7 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 9 in our Lady Queen of Heaven KC Hall in Lake Charles.

Gill net bill will be offered in '95

Sen. Larry Bankston of Port Hudson, and Rep. Warren Triche, of Thibodaux, announced they will introduce The Marine Resources Conservation Act of 1995, a bill to ban gill nets and other entanglement nets in Louisiana's salt waters.

If the ban is enacted, Louisiana will be the latest in a succession of states to ban gill nets. Last November, Florida citizens voted 72 to 28 percent in favor of a constitutional amendment to ban gill nets in Florida waters. Texas banned gill nets in 1988 and California, Georgia, South Carolina, Indiana, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania also banned gill or entanglement nets in their waters.

"The reason so many states are banning gill and entanglement nets is simple: these devices are indiscriminate killers of every kind of finfish that becomes entangled in their web. Most all fish that get caught in gill and entanglement nets die or are mutilated. Regardless of what type of fish a gill net is after, the net traps and kills trout and redfish — anything with fins or gills — that gets caught in its snare," Bankston said.

Triche said the gill net ban is necessary in order to avoid a potential collapse of certain types of fish along Louisiana's Gulf Coast.

"Once a certain fishery collapses, it is already too late. It could take decades or a generation to bring back that particular species," said Triche. "My district includes both recreational and commercial fishermen. Now that Florida has banned gill nets, there is a great fear that many of the 5,000 commercial gill netters in that state will move to Louisiana. This bill will preserve our valuable marine resources for the people of Louisiana."

The Lousiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries reports a 49 4 percent increase in the number of non-resident gill net licenses issued in calendar year 1994 over 1993.

Dr. Richard Condrey, an associate professor at Louisiana State University and a leading authority on marine life populations, has studied speckled trout extensively. Dr. Condrey believes that if nothing is done to reduce the number of young speckled trout caught in Louisiana that trouble lies ahead — trouble for the resource and the fishery, both commercial and recreational.

Estimates from the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries are that only about 15 percent of the reproductive potential of Louisiana's speckled trout population is being allowed to occur. The remaining 85 percent is being lost mainly because too many young fish are being caught.

As an alternative to gill netting, the Bankston/Triche bill allows commercial fishermen for the first time the option to switch types of gear and use conventional rods and reels for their catches. Louisiana has about 600 full-time, resident commercial gill netters who represent a small fraction of the state's 16,000 commercial fishermen. The harvest value of legally caught and edible finfish in Louisiana is less than $10 million.

Bankston and Triche said that while both commercial and recreational fishing are important to Louisiana's economy, the vast and widespread economic impact of recreational fishermen is often ignored. There are some 300,000 salt water recreational fishermen in the state and their overall economic impact in Louisiana exceeds $1.25 billion annually.

Crop insurance needed

Any producer who anticipates applying for a farm loan from USDA must obtain at least catastrophic crop insurance coverage on all crops of economic significance. This coverage must be obtained before the sales closing date for the producer's particular crops.

The requirement applies to both direct and guaranteed farm ownership, operating, or emergency loans administered by the former Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) offices, now using the working name Rural Economic and Community Development (RECD).

This change is required by the Federal Crop Insurance Reform and Department of Agriculture Reorganization Act of 1994. The Act also authorized the reorganization of USDA, which combined the programs of the former ASCS and FCIC with the farm loan programs of FmHA, under the newly created Consolidated Farm Services Agency (CFSA).

The only closing date in this area is Feb. 28, 1995 for all crops. This date is crucial because once it passes and the loan applicant has crops without CAT coverage, they will likely have to wait until the following crop year to be eligible for loan assistance.

Rural Health Clinic told

A Rural Health medical clinic for the Grand Lake-Sweetlake area is in the planning stages by the South Cameron Memorial Hospital, Juror Brent Nunez told the Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday.

A similar clinic was recently opened by the West Calcasieu-Cameron Hospital in Hackberry and the South Cameron hospital is planning to open one soon in Cameron.

NEW COURTHOUSE

With two big new oil fields being rapidly developed, and the discovery of others likely in the near future; with a modern highway connecting Cameron Parish with the outside world amply financed and under construction; with the opening of summer and winter pleasure resorts on the sandy beaches of the Gulf of Mexico contemplated within another year; with telephone means of rapid communication throughout the parish being projected; and with substantial growth in population and agricultural wealth, Cameron is now planning for a new courthouse on the side of the old two-story frame structure which has become too small and inadequate to meet the needsof the public affairs of the parish.

This situation in Cameron and demand for larger and better courthouse facilities in the parish was brought out in discussions at the regular monthly meeting of the parish police jury in the town of Cameron Monday afternoon. Members of the jury expressed themselves as favorable to such public improvements, but decided that an expression from the property owners and taxpayers of the parish should be obtained before action of any kind is taken.

BEACH HIT BY ANOTHER FIRE

(By Mrs. Walter Stanley)

The second fire within three months struck Holly Bech Sunday and left a seven-unit, rental cabin charred to a total loss. The cabins were owned by Wilson Simon of Hackberry.

Mrs. Paul Romero, living a block across from the cabin, noticed a billow of smoke on the roof shortly after 9 a.m. She first tried to call the Hackberry fire department but found a busy line. She then dialed for the Cameron unit with success. Mrs. Irvin Thibodeaux later called back to Hackberry and was able to reach them.

Both volunteer departments answered the alarm and brought the fire under control.

HACKBERRY HIGH SCHOOL TO GET ADDITION

Bids on the construction of a major addition to Hackberry High School will be received by the Cameron Parish School Board on March 20, according to Supt. U. E. Hackett. Estimated cost of the project will be around $300,000.

The construction will be done without any additional cost to the taxpayers of the school district.

The new facilities, to be built adjoining the present building on the west, will include a new cafeteria and kitchen, two additional classrooms, a new science laboratory, band roomand a complete shop with draftroom, woodworking shop and small engine shop.

A field house for the athletic teams will be added to the rear of the present gym, along with coaches offices. A dirt track will be built and other repairs will be made to the existing building.

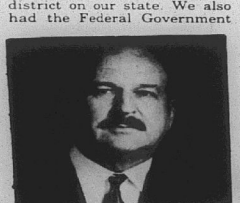
CAMPAIGN '95 -- THE GOVERNOR'S RACE



"The 10th Amendment"

By: M.J. "MIKE" FOSTER

There is a move in our country to make the federal government cease and desist its illegal and unwanted intervention in the rights of the states. The 10th Amendment very simply states "The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

There has been a movement starting in western states to stop the federal government from forcing unfunded mandates down their throats. Governor Walter Hickel of Alaska has filed a twenty-nine million dollar lawsuit charging the United States government with locking up one hundred million acres of Alaska's land in violation of the compact in which Alaska became a state. In Montana, Sheriff Jay Printz refused to enforce unfunded Brady Gun Law mandates. U.S. District Judge Charles C. Lovell ruled in favor of Printz citing the 10th Amendment. The citizens of California just recently revolted by passing Proposition 187, through initiative and referendum, which says California tax payers do not have to bear the welfare costs of illegal immigrants.

Closer to home, we have had the Federal Government force a convoluted congressional district on our state. We also had the Federal Government come in and threaten to cut off a large part of our state budget unless we allowed public funding of abortion. With even more disregard for our state, the Federal Government recently struck down part of our voter registration law that was put there to prevent voter fraud. After waiting for a few weeks to see if anyone would act -- no one did! Enough is enough! I have filed suit to prevent the complete Motor Voter Bill from going into effect unless it contains the fraud-preventing section struck down by the U.S. Justice Dept.

M.J. "Mike" Foster

Elect me your Governor and I promise to band together with other Governors to prevent this arrogant instrusive use of federal power.

I need your help! I need your encouragement! I need your prayers! I need your moral support! In addition, I need your financial support. With any contribution of $10 or more, I will send to you a "STOP THE FEDS-Support the 10th" bumper sticker.

Southwest England is filled with history

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

William Shakespeare once wrote "The world is a book and he who stays home reads only one page", and the writer T. S. Elliot once said, "There is no better way to understand a country than to immerse yourself in it."

I agree with these two famous men, and have for years pledged to treat myself to at least one trip abroad each year and learn more about the customs of people in other countries, taste their foods, and enjoy the beautiful scenery in other parts of the world.

So, when I heard from the tour leaders from our many trips abroad, Drs. Jerry Holmes and Jim Caldwell from Northeast University of Monroe, that the NLU Thanksgiving trip would be to England, I gladly signed up.

***

—Samuel Johnson

I had honed up a little on my English history, especially the legend of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table, since we were to try to trace his steps. According to the usual form of the story, Arthur ruled over the Britons in the sixth century. With his wife, the beautiful Guinevere, in Wales he gathered his knights about a circular marble table, the celebrted round table, at Caerleon-on-Usk (Camelot?).

As soon as we landed at Gatwick Airport in London, cleared customs and retrieved our luggage we boarded our tour bus and drove to Winchester and a visit to the famous gothic Winchester Cathedral which contains one of the four copies of the Magna Charta in existence.

The document which is often called "The cornerstone of English liberty", when the English Barons, under the leadership of Archbishop Stephen Langtron, forced the wicked King John to affix his royal seal in 1215, and brought an end to his tyrannical rule. Winchester Cathedral has been serving worshipers for over 900 years. Nearby we observed a pub named "Louisiana", which was closed, since it was Sunday.

After a cold and rainy drive through the country side, we arrived at Stonehenge, Europe's most famous prehistoric monument which is the remains of a prehistoric temple that was in use about 3,500 years ago.

Its origin is even older, believed to have been started in 3,000 B.C. The Druids once may have used it as a place of worship and a site for determining time.

The next mroning we walked to the Salisbury Cathedral, near our hotel, and marveled at its size and beautiful leaded glass windows that were found in all of the ancient cathedrals.

The first cathedral was built in Old Sarum, two miles from the present one, in 1075 when William the Conqueror created the Diocese. The present cathedral was begun in 1220 and consecrated in 1258. It also houses one of the four Magna Chartas.

A tour through the town of Salisbury was a blend of the narrow streets and centuries old buildings with the modern.

We traveled through the country side to the vast estate of Alexander Thynn, the 7th Marquess of Bath, whose magnificent country home, "Longleith", was the first in England to be open to the public for tourists.

Alexander stated that his father, in 1946, was the first man to perceive how a stately home could be run as a business enterprise, demonstrated that a house of this magnitude and splendour could largely pay its own way from tourism revenue.

He was at first criticized by the other large landholders, who have since followed his leadership by opening their homes through necessity to cover the huge upkeep costs and high taxes.

Sheep can be seen grazing everywhere on the acreage so it can be classed as agricultural land at a much lower tax rate.

The original builder was Sir John Thynn, with the present owner being the 14th generation from the builder. The "E" was added to the name in 1547 to hide Saxon stock in a Norman court.

We drove across the moors to spend the night at the Buckerell Lodge, formerly an 18th century squire's mansion, after a full course English dinner in the stately dining room.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

I was asked last week by a friend of mine who has been a commercial fisherman, trapper and alligator hunter why now that the oyster fishermen have gotten more days to take oysters and more sacks per day, are agents telling them he has to have a tarpoleon over his sacked oysters? I told him I would find out and I did.

This is not a Department of Wildlife and Fisheries law, it's a law from the Department of Health and Hospitals (DHH). The sanitary code for shellfish (oysters) (Chapter 1X) states that:

No person shall engage in the business of oystering unless the construction and cleanliness of shellfish boats are proper. All boats utilized for the harvesting or transporting of shellfish shall be provided with a false deck or bottom, to prevent the contamination of shellfish with bilge water. For the purpose of this regulation bilge pump water may be defined as any water that collects in the lower inner part of a boat's hull. Decks, holds or bins used for storage of shellfish shall be washed daily with either potable water, or water drawn from an approved gorwing area. Now, unless otherwise exempted in writing by DHH, a suspended awning (a tarp or cover) shall be provided on harvest boats to protect shellfish from direct exposure to sun, birds and other adverse conditions. Small children in diapers, dogs, cats or other forms of wildlife shall not be permitted on board harvesting vessels while shellfish are being fished or transported.

It also goes on to say that within three hours after docking, oysters need to be kept at 45 degrees F by refrigeration and not any higher temperature while being transported by truck more than 50 miles away or within one hour of docking area and ice cannot be used. There's way more, but I think this gives the general idea.

FISHING NEWS TALK

The 1995 La. Fish Regulations pamphlet is out. Get one and read it. It's important. Remember, fishermen sometimes mistake possession limit of fish, lengths, creel (bag) limits and slot limits. Be sure to find out the area you are fishing and to find out the length, daily limit and slot limits.

Transporting of fish is only for yourself, you cannot transport your partner's fish or tag it as you do ducks or other birds. If you do, you're over the limit.

Next week we'll talk about frogs and turtles as that's around the corner.

FISHING REPORT

A few fish being taken along Little Pecan Bayou, catfish, bass and redfish and drums. Also, bass in farm onds and the roadside canals. If this weather starts to clear up and it gets warmer, there'll be some good fishing days this month.

Here are a few thoughts to begin a new fishing season: 1. Fish moreoften. 2. Take a kid or senior citizen fishing. 3. Be more courteous to others onthe water and show appreciation towards others who are being kind to you. 4. Learn a new skillby becoming familiar with a new line or fishing technique. 5. Last but not lest, maybe a first aid kit could get you out of a bind, but don't forget the aspirin, Tylenol or Advil for a hot sun headache or a sunburn or even for a minor injury.

HUNTING NEWS

This will probably be the last hunting report until the fall of the year.

The only hunting left in our area is quail, which ends Feb. 28, and we don't see many down here anymore. Rabbit ends Feb. 28, also and although we do have a few rabbits, they're hard to come by. Blue and snow geese season will end Feb. 14, and again not many in most areas.

It seems that hunting on national wildlife refuges will continue, at least for now.

An overwhelming majority of public uses on national wildlife refuges, including hunting, are compatible with refuge purposes, the U. S. Department of the Interior announced.

Some refuges are under review regarding the no hunting program. Currently huting is allowed on 272 refuges, fishing on 254. There are 30 refuges being reviewed and some activities may be discontinued or modified.

TRAPPING NEWS

Prices for our trappers started strong, around $6, then dropped a dollar to $5 and now not many are buying any nutria at all. Many trappers have snapped traps to see what takes place. I hopt this will not stop our trapping season for the year.

Open house is Saturday

All interested persons are invited to attend a Commercial Fishing Vessel Safety Open House at the Grasso Docks on Pogy Plant road near the ferry landing in Cameron from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sat., Feb. 11.

The program will be hosted by the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office Port Arthur, Tex., Louisiana Sea Grant Extension Service and Coast Guard Station Sabine. Other participants will include the National Marine Fisheries Service, Federal Communications Commission, Louisiana Fish and Wildlife Service and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

At 3 p.m., a Coast Guard HH-65 Dolphin helicopter from Coast Guard Air Station Houston, Tex., will performa simulated water rescue. The helicopter will remain at the open house and be available for tours. There will also be demonstrations of the proper use of marine flares and displays by marine hardware vendors of lifejackets, liferafts, portable pumps and Emergency Position Indicating Radio Beacons.

U. S. Coast Guard Commercial Fishing Vessel Safety Examiners will be available to discuss and conduct dockside courtesy fishing vessel examinations for any owner or master wishing to have their boat examined. The dockside examinations are strictly voluntary and no penalties will be assessed for discrepancies found by an examiner.

A vessel found to be in compliance will be issued a decla to display in a prominent place in the pilot house. The decal does not exempt a vessel from a Coast Guard boarding, but is considered in the Coast Guard's decision on whether to board. In the event that a boat with a decal is boarded, the boarding safety examination aspect of the boarding may be abbreviated at the discretion of the Boarding Officer.

The Commercial Fishing Vessel Safety Regulations, which went into effect in 1991, apply to all commercial fishing vessels operating on the navigable waters of the United States including both federally documented and state registered boats.

The Heart Doctors
Craig M. Walker, M.D., Clinical Research
When he founded Cardiovascular Institute of the South in 1983, Dr. Walker had a vision of a medical institution which would provide the highest quality treatment for heart and circulatory system disease, and contribute to the future of cardiovascular diagnosis and therapy through clinical research.
Today, that vision has been realized. CIS has become a treatment and clinical research center of international renown. It has participated in the development of virtually every major new method of non-surgical heart treatment developed over the past decade, including a number of firsts in stenting - the highly promising technique of placing permanent implants to hold open previously blocked arteries.
"Clinical research is so demanding and time consuming that it's rarely pursued outside big academic medical centers," Dr. Walker concedes. "But it's the only way you can be sure you're really at the leading edge of your specialty. By the time most cardiologists are performing their first case using a new procedure, we will have performed hundreds."

Horses must be tested annually

Under new regulations adopted by the Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board all horses in Louisiana must be tested annually for Equine Infectious Anemia, also known as swamp fever, according to Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom.

The annual test is aimed at eliminating the disease from the state's horse population, estimated at some 210,000.

"This is one of those livestock diseases that has been around for years, each year taking a toll on the Louisiana horse industry," Odom said. "For years we have had a regulation requiring the testing of all horses taken to gathering points, such as horse shows and race tracks.

"That still left a large in our control program, where horses left on the farm came in contact with those being moved from one location to another. This is an effort to close that gap and finally get control of this disease", Odom said.

Odom pointed out that EIA should not be confused with Equine Encephalomyelitis, known as sleeping sickness, for which there is a vaccine. There is no vaccine for EIA.

EIA is a virus which gets in the blood stream and destroys the red blood cells, causing anemia and can be fatal. If a horse survives the virus it then becomes a carrier. The horse fly most often transmits the disease from one horse to another. It does not infect people.

The EIA blood test is done by private veterinarians. When tested the animal is permanently identified with a brand, tattoo or electronic implant. Blood samples are submitted to the 12 licensed laboratories with results furnished to the testing veterinarians and the department.

A horse that tests positive for EIA must be put down or sent to a slaughter facility.

Application forms for birth certificates may be obtained at the Parish Health Unit. Applications for social security cards may be obtained from any U. S. Post Office.

Mrs. Nell Colligan, R.N., Cameron Parish School Nurse, will attend the roundups to talk with parents about immunizations now required by law before a child begins school. Please bring your child's immunization record for review by Mrs. Colligan at the time of the roundup.

In the Klondike-Lowery area parents should watch for registration news of the school in which they plan to enter their children next fall since they will not be entering a Cameron Parish School.

It is not necessary that the child you are registering be brought to school on the day of registration.

Jobs filled

Among personnel matters taken up by the Cameron Parish School Board last week were the following:

Larry Jinks was appointed as a janitor at Johnson Bayou high school and Carolyn Benoit was named a sweeper at South Cameron Elementary School.

New postal services offered at J. Bayou

Customers in the Johnson Bayou - Holly Beach area of Cameron Parish can now obtain postal services without crossing the ferry into Cameron. Effective Feb. 1, a Contract Postal Unit began operating from the Bayou Convenience Store on Gulf Beach Hwy (Hwy. 82). Officials announced the opening with a ribbon-cutting ceremony held at the store.

Several parish officials were on hand for the ceremony, as local and area postal officials announced the added convenience for their customers. According to Cameron Postmaster, Dorothy Theriot, "Customers in this area of the parish were faced with a time consuming trip in order to acquire the postal services the rest of us take for granted. In the past, some Cameron Parish postal customers waited up to 45 minutes to catch a ferry ride into Cameron where they went to retrieve packages and purchase postal products and services. The new unit will make it easier and more convenient for them to do business with the Postal Service."

Many local residents attended the ribbon-cutting. Police Juror Russell Badon joined Theriot, Coral Lee Perry, co-owner of Bayou Convenience Store, and Faye Vincent, Hackberry Postmaster, to do the honors of cutting the ceremonial ribbon. Afterwards, refreshments were served.

The Contract Unit will offer full postal services with the exception of post office box delivery. Area customers will be able to pick up packages from this location. When a customer in the Johnson Bayou - Holly Beach area is not home to accept an article requiring signature, or a package too large for their mail box, a notice will be left notifying them to pick it up at Bayou Convenience Store.

Bayou Convenience Store co-owner, Lonnie Harper said, "We look forward to our new partnership with the United States Postal Service. As a business owner in Cameron Parish, the new Contract Postal Unit is as much a convenience for us as it is for other postal customers in this area. We're committed to providing the best service for all customers."

The new location will be open Mon.-Sat., 9 a.m.-1 p.m. For more information, contact the Cameron Parish Post Office at 775-5973 or Bayou Convenience Store at 569-2128.

Food to be given out on Feb. 25

The Cameron Community Action Agency will distribute Food Source food on Sat., Feb. 25, from 10 to 11 a.m. at the First Baptist Church of Cameron. The truck is scheduled to deliver at 8 a.m. Anyone wishing to help unload, please be there at that time.

If anyone is unable to pick up their groceries, plese make arrangements to have them picked up as the agency cannot deliver, store or give credit.

Someone will be available to collect for March distribution. Cash or food stamps only, no checks.

Please bring a box for the food. Call 775-5668 for more information.

Bill is planned

At the request of the Cameron Parish police jury, Rep. Randy Roach will introduce a bill in the spring session of the Legislature to authorize fire protection districts in the parish to provide emergency medical services and emergency medical transportation.

Parish Administrator Tina Horn said that while the parish has ambulance service in all parts of the parish now there are some occasions where local fire personnel can be on the scene of an accident or emergency sooner than an ambulance.

She said that the proposed legislation would permit fire personnel, many of whom are emergency medical technicians, to provide emergency services until an ambulance or a doctor arrives.

She said that the parish's fire departments, which are in all of the parish's communities, also have special equipment to provide lifesaving procedures.

Horn noted that such emergency services by fire personnel already is legal in Caddo parish.

Committee named

Bill Morris, new president of the Cameron parish school board, named a committee to study the projected budget deficit of the school system when the board met last week.

He initially named Glenda Abshire, Tony Johnson and Clifton James Hebert, all new members of the board, to the committee.

Karen Nunez said the committee should have an old member, and Abshire gave up her seat. Morris then named Nunez to the committee.

—CAPITAL NEWS—

Many rural customers of South Central Bell, including the Sweet Lake exchange, soon should be paying less for their telephone service as the result of a Public Service Commission order to lower rates on three kinds of service.

The PSC last week ordered an $11.1 million reduction which will affect not only zone charges paid by rural customers but connection charges which new customers pay and long-distance charges for line access. The reductions resulted from a periodic PSC review of South Central Bell's earnings under an incentive regulation plan which calls for SCB's customers to get back half of the earnings above a certain level.

About 180,000 customers will be affected by the $3 million reduction for rural customers in remote areas. The extra zone charges they pay to offset the cost of providing remote service will go from as much as $3 to no more than $1 a month.

Line connection charges will be reduced from $50 to $43, which will save about 450,000 customers a year about $2.9 million.

Long-distance companies such as AT&T, U.S. Sprint and MCI will pay lower access charges to use Bell lines. Calls within the state will be charged at the lower level which the companies now pay on interstate calls. The long-distance carriers are required to pass that $5.2 million reduction on to their customers.

Some commission members expressed concern about ordering rate reductions now and possibly needing to increase them later, creating a seesaw efect, but PSC consultant Larry Simon suggested that, while rate instability should be avoided, it "takes a back seat to lower rates."

SHOWN WITH one of the flashing beacons that have been erected at all of the schools in Cameron parish are School Board Member Daniel Billiot and Police Juror Russell Badon. In addition to the school board and police jury, the Cameron Telephone Co. and Jeff Davis Electric Co. participated in the project.

Summer school is cancelled

For the first time in about 15 years, the Cameron Parish School Board will not offer a summer school this year.

At their February meeting, board members unanimousy voted against providing summer school this year for high school students who need to repeat courses.

Supt. Sonny McCall said there were 18 students enrolled last summer at South Cameron high school and that the $30,000 cost of the school is a burden to the school system, which is facing a budget deficit this year.

Board Member Bill Morris said that eliminating the school may motivate students to study harder so that they do not need to make up classes.

The board has charged $100 for one class and $50 for a second class at the summer school in the past but this has not been enough to offset the cost of the school.

McCall said that Cameron parish students needing to make up subjects this summer may be able to attend summer schools in Lake Charles or Sulphur conducted by the Calcasieu parish school board.

Morris elected

After deadlocking over the election of a new president at last month's meeting, the Cameron Parish School Board last week by a 4-2 vote elected Bill Morris as president. He defeated Daniel Billiot for the position.

New members Glenda Abshire, Tony Johnson and Clifton Hebert supported Morris, who voted for himself.

Returning member Karen Nunez was the only one who voted for Billiot besides himself. Board members elected Billiot vice president with no opposition.

Last month, the School Board deadlocked 3-3 between the two candidates. Last week every board member voted the same as in January, except for Abshire.

"They both have done a fine job but we need to move forward," said Abshire, who represents the Hackberry area.

The new president has served on the board for four years and worked for the school system for 28 years.

He told the board, "I will be working diligently for us all to be working together for the betterment of the schools, students and teachers."

Jury's funds down

It could be just a fluke--but if it represents a real trend the Cameron Parish Police Jury may be heading for some more financial difficulties.

For 1994 the jury received $1,038,986 from the state in Road Royalty funds and the jury has budgeted $1,100,000 as anticipated revenues from this fund for 1995.

However, the jury's first payment from the fund for 1995, which the jury will receive later for January, is only $34,887--about 40 percent of the $90,000 expected for the month.

Both Parish Administrator Tina Horn and Parish Treasurer Bonnie Conner said the jury will be waiting future payments to see if January was just a fluke or if it represents a genuine drop in Road Royalty money.

Road Royalty is the parish's portion of mineral income that the state receives on state owned land in the parish. In past years this has amounted to a sizable amount due to extensive oil and gas production in the parish.

COLD WEATHER

Well, it seems the old groundhog made a fool of himself, and he is sort of embarrassed, because it seems we've had the coldest weather of the winter all across the good old U.S.A.

Reports have it that the southern deer herd is at an all time high. When the twelve southern states are ranked, Mississippi was the top state with Georgia second. The other ten states in order were Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Texas, Tennessee and Kentucky.

LESS DUCKS

It is said that we shouldn't have gotten extra days for duck season, as the 71 million duck fall flight should have been 100 million before any changes were made.

Predators were blamed for many losses in young duck hatcheries and also from eating of the eggs. They have hired trappers to trap a 10,000 acre section of land, and then leave the other 10,000 acres alone. The untrapped land had a 14 percent nest success while the trappers land had a 71 percent nest success.

The federal and state governments will admit the problem with predators, but are reluctant to go full force. Most public and private agencies fear control trapping could provoke protest from animal rights groups or even the non-hunting public.

I can believe this, as look at our marshes being eaten out by the nutria and muskrat, because of lack of prices which result from the animal rights groups protesting.

TURKEY SEASON

I had a call and was reminded that, yes, there still was more hunting in our state. Turkey season has four areas and hear are the dates: Area A 30 days - Mar. 25-Apr. 23; Area B 37 days, Mar. 18-Apr. 23; Area D 16 days, Apr. 8-23; Area E 9 days, Mar. 25-Apr. 2.

Cameron Parish doesn't have a turkey season but Calcasieu and Beauregard in Area A do. Check the 1994-95 hunting regulation pamphlet for areas, dates and boundaries.

FROG & TURTLE REGULATIONS

All residents and non-residents engaged in collecting reptiles and/or amphibians for non-commercial purposes, like for food, bait, etc., must have in possession a fishing license or a collector's license.

Frogs may be taken with the aid of a light and the use of frog catchers, or by gig or spear, but you may not have in your possession, to include vehicle or boat, any shotgun, rifle or other firearm, while taking frogs during the night time. Also, you can catch frogs year around except for two months; no frogging during April and May. No bull frogs less than 5 inches in length and lagoon or grunters less than 3 inches long. Measure from the tip of the muzzle to the end of the body between the hind legs.

There are no size limits for recreational on aligator snapping turtle, but only four per day for recreational use.

LOCAL REPORTS

If this cold weather lets up, we'll strt to see our migratory birds returning north, and wild turkeys will start to gobble on warm days, and we'll see our summer mallards start to nest here in our marshes. Spring is around the corner and we'll see fish nesting and spawning and small birds around the blooming trees.

Again this week, fishing is still a little on the slow side, but we have had reports of catfish being caught and a few white perch in private ponds.

The information I got from our refuges in that Rockefeller in Grand Chenier will open March 1 at sunrise. Lacassine, Cameron Prairie and Sabine Refuges will open on Wed., March 15. The Miami Corporation Permit Fishing Lands will open Sat., March 18, and run through Aug. 27. The permits won't be out until around the first of March. We'll have more on these as we get new rules and regulations.

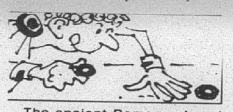
Red drum resolution is passed



The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission passed a resolution at its February meeting recommending to the Legislature that red drum retain its official status as a recreational fish.

The resolution stated there is a lack of sufficient biological and technical data to support the resumption of commercial harvest of redfish, including, but not limited to, offshore capture data. It also stated that there is no existing plan to cover harvesting or monitoring the commercial harvest. And, finally, its recommended that no change in current regulations or harvest should be made prior to review by Gulf Council Stock Assessment Panel.

The Commission is required by law to present a recommendation to the Louisiana Legislature whether to maintain the species exclusively as ar ecreational fish or to extend harvest to commercial activity. The Commission bases its recommendation on LDWF's annual Red Drum Report and public input.

In the late 1980's, the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council determined tht redfish stocks were being reduced. In response, commercial harvesting was eliminating and recreational fishing was reduced from 50 fish per day in combination with spotted seatrout to five redfish per day -- with a minimum and maximum size on reds of 16 and 27 inches.

The Commission's recommendation will be forwarded to the Legislature, which will decide whether to maintain or change the status of this important species.

After the expiration of said thirty (30) days, no one shall have any right of action to contest the validity of the Bonds or the provisions of this Resolution, and the Bonds shall be conclusively presumed to be legal and no court shall have authority to inquire into such matters.

SECTION 25. Savings Clause. In case any one or more of the provisions of this Resolution or of the Bonds issued hereunder shall for any reason be held to be illegal or invalid, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect any other provision of this Resolution or of the Bonds, but the Resolution and the Bonds shall be construed and enforced as if such illegal or invalid provisions had not been contained therein. Any constitutional or statutory provision enacted after the date or dates of the Resolution and Bonds validates or makes legal any provision of the Resolution or the Bonds which would not otherwise be valid or legal, shall be deemed to apply to the Resolution and to the Bonds.

SECTION 26. Bank Qualification. The Bonds are designated as "qualified tax-exempt obligations" within the meaning of section 265(b)(3) of the code. In making this designation the Police Jury finds and determines that:

(a) the Bonds are not "private activity bonds" within the meaning of the Code, and

(b) the reasonably anticipated amount of qualified tax-exempt obligations which will be issued by the Issuer and all subordinate entities in calendar year 1996 does not exceed $10,000,000.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Enviornmental Quality is proposing to reissue a Louisiana Water Discharge Permit System permit to Amerada Hess Corporation. This permit, if issued, will establish effluent limitations and monitoring requirements for the discharge of certain wastewater streams associated with the company's existing oil and gas exploration, development and production operations in the Grand Lake Field, Cameron Parish. Five week course will be held at G. Chenier

A five-week course, "Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years", will be offered at the Grand Chenier Elementary School for parents of students in grades K-7 from Cameron Parish schools begining Thurs., March 2. The program is sponsored by the Cameron Parish School Board Drug Free Schools Program.

The program teaches parents to identify the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and to practice skills which will "promote family bonding and reduce those risks."

Surveys conducted for the National Institute of Drug Abuse show that most teenagers today will use alcohol or marijuana before leaving high school. Nearly one in twenty high school seniors uses alcohol on a daily basis. In 1992, fourteen percent of the high school seniors in Louisiana had used marijuana in the past year.

"Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" from Developmental Research & Programs of Seattle, is based on research which has identified the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and the protective factors which can help teenagers develop into healthy adults. The program was developed by Drs. J. David Hawkins and Richard F. Catalano of the University of Washington.

In a review of research conducted over the past 30 years, Catalano and Hawkins have identified eleven factors that increase the risk of young people developing problems with alcohol or other drugs. Some of these risk factors include:

-- Family management problems
-- Early antisocial behavior
-- Academic failure
-- A low degree of commitment to school
-- A low degree of social bonding

"Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" teaches parents to reduce some of these risk factors which may often be present during the late elementary and middle school grades. The risk factors addressed in this program are positive parental attitudes toward drug use, family management problems, low degree of social bonding, friends who use drugs and early first use of drugs.

Parents will learn to increase their children's opportunities for involvement in the family, to teach key skills needed in adolescence and to provide rewards for positive behavior as well as appropriate consequences for undesired behavior.

The workshops will be held at the Grand Chenier Elementary School each Thursday from 6-8 p.m. on March 2, March 9, March 16, March 23 and March 30.

There will be no cost to parents, however, there are a limited of number of spaces available. A family workbook will also be provided free of charge.

For addtional information and to reserve your space, call Carol Wainwright at 538-2578 or Uland Guidry, 775-7393.

Taking Heart Disease Prevention To HEART

The Key is to affect the habits of young children regarding smoking, nutrition, and exercise. Smoking, excessive weight, and a general lack of fitness all contribute to heart disease.

As a parent, we can encourage healthy habits for our children.

#1 Set a Good Example
There's a good chance if a parent smokes, their children will also.

Be a good role model don't smoke, eat healthy and exercise

Educate Your Children #2
Explain how smoking,lack of exercise and poor eating habits affect their body

#3 Encourage Involvement

Exercise As a Family #4
Biking, hiking, walking, swimming, whatever is good for ALL of you

#5 Healthy Diet
Try to keep all your family on a healthy diet -- low in fat and sugar

Commercial fishermen not to blame--reader

Dear Editor:

In last week's article on the gill net ban, I was shocked to read Sen. Larry Bankston and Rep. Warren Triche are calling their bill "the Marine Resources Conservation Act of 95". If passed, the Bill should be called the "Extinction of Commercial Fishermen in Louisiana."

Little does the public know, but when it comes to conservation, the only conservation being carried out is that of the commecial fishermen. Since 1988 they are allowed to catch a quota of one million pounds of speckled trout per year, while the sport fishermen are taking nearly 10 million pounds per year. Since 1988 the commercial fishermen have taken no pounds of redfish while the sports fishermen are taking over 10 million pounds annually.

It also stated last week that Dr. Richard Condrey from LSU says something needs to be done about the disappearing of the young speckled trout.

Most readers don't realize that a trout will spawn twice before it reaches 14 inches (which is the size limit for commercial fishermen). Sport fishermen are allowed 25 fish per day with a 12 inch size limit. Where are the small fish going?

If the Texas based Gulf Coast Conservation Association, which is pushing to ban gill nets, wants to conserve our natural resources, why don't you hear them wanting to lower creel limits which are taking over 90% of speckled trout and redfish from Louisiana waters.

According to the senators and representatives I've talked to, the problem is not that there aren't enough fish for both the commercial and sports fishermen but the problem is between sport fishing and commercial fishing. Also that the largest problem is because of Calcasieu Lake.

We as commercial fishermen urge everyone who ever wants to eat fresh Louisiana fish to please contact your representatives as well as Governor Edwrds as soon as possible to stop once and for all this Bill called the "Extinction of Louisiana Commercial Fishermen".

/s/ Keith Courville

Sale of new net licenses is suspended

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission at its Feb. 9, meeting passed a notice of intent to suspend the sale of 1995 gear licenses for saltwater gill nets, trammel nets, and fish seines, except to those who bought them last year.

The proposed rule would prohibit the issuance of new licenses for these gear types for the 1995 commercial license year. The Department will issue renewal licenses to those individuals, persons, firms or corporations holding valid licenses for the 1994 license year for the above enumerated gear. Additionally, any 1995licenses already issued for these gear will be honored.

The Commission stressed that the action was not taken in an attempt to bar non-resident fishermen from Louisiana's saltwater fisheries.

Public comment will be heard at two upcoming Commission meetings set for April 6, in Baton Rouge and May 4, in Thibodaux. Interested persons may also send written comments to the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70898.

New beacons

Flashing beacons were recently installed in front of all schools in Cameron Parish as a reminder to motorists to slow down.

Through efforts of Cameron Telephone Company, Jefferson Davis Electric Company, Cameron Parish School Board and the Cameron Parish Police Jury, these beacons were erected.

New equipment

The new Johnson Bayou elementary play system, constructed Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 4 and 5, was the culmination of a two year project.

The money was raised by students from grades kindergarten through sixth by spelling bees, jump-a-thons, and donations. Men and women volunteers from the community donated their time and effort for two days making this vision a reality.

The new play system consists of slides, cargo nets, climbing ropes, fireman's poles, and benches for the children to sit on and relax.

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is the second in a series of articles that Mrs. Griffith is writing on a recent tour of Southwest England.)

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

On Tuesday morning we started our trek through the Duchy of Cornwall, with lovely green fields of rye grase and field crops divided by age-old hedgerows that make the landscape look like an old fashioned patchwork quilt.

As our bus passed through the tiny villages on narrow roads, sometimes it seemed we were going to take off the corner of houses, they were so close to the road.

Cornwall is almost totally owned by Prince Charles and it has been passed down to each Prince of Wales since 1337.

Since the Duchy furnishes his income he is not on the civil list and paid by the government like the other members of the royal family are paid. The Prince's annual income is approximately $6.5 million.

We visited the village of Looe, with its beautiful waterfront and summer cottages built from the water all the way up to the mountain top.

We did some shopping at Penzance, the inspiration for the musical comedy "The Pirates of Penzance", where I chose knives from a little knife shop for my boys.

It was dark when we reached Lands End, the most southwesterly end of England, on the Atlantic Ocean. We were, however, able to take a few pictures of the rough surf crashing on to some nearby rocks and a plaque reading, "Where is the Longlost Land of Lyonesse?"

According to legend a whole city was swallowed up by the ocean and it is believed to be nearby. "Some say that when the wind is in the west you can hear the bells from some 140 churches which were lost tolling sadly under the sea." Many think this is the Lost City of Atlantis.

ST. MICHAEL'S MOUNT

At Marazion we had to wait for low tide so we could walk on the ancient kelp-covered slick cobblestone causeway leading from the harbor up to St. Michael's Mount, a castle sitting on top of a tiny mountain rising suddenly out of the sea.

The castle has served as a monastery, fortress and home. King Edward the Confessor granted the Mount to the Benedictine Abbey of Mount St. Michael in 1066, and through the years it has undergone many changes.

The trek up the mountain path, used by medieval pilgrims climbing up to the monastery, can be very dangerous. On rainy days it is especially trecherous, but is worth the trip, especially if you are lucky enough to find a king, strong man to catch you when you happen to slip coming down on the wet grass, as I did.

We stayed overnight at Hotel Bristol situated on a cliff overlooking the sea in Newquay.

Early the next morning we started out to reach the small seaside village of Tintagel for a visit to the ruins of a castle believed to be King Arthur's Camelot.

Since my near-miss accident from falling off St. Michael's Mount the day before, I opted to just stay in the village and view it from below.

Since my near-miss accident from falling off St. Michael's Mount the day before, I opted to just stay in the village and view it from below.

It was here that I observed a very ancient thatched roof house that had a sagging roof but was still being occupied. Here I purchased by first Celtic cross.

From here we journeyed to the famous city of Bath, where we stayed two nights at the Bath Hotel which was near the city center.

Bath's origins go back long before the Romans arrived in 43 AD, when ancient Celts inhabited the area and it was first known at Aqua Sulis.

The Romans harnessed the water flowing from four natural springs at a constant temperature of 120 degrees F in the city's first baths. Renovations to the Baths have been made and excavations are still in progress.

The fashion for drinking spa water arose from new medical ideas in the later 17th century when Europe's elite flocked to the city to "Take the Waters", and build fine homes thus making Bath a social mecca.

The Pump Room of the Baths was opened in 1795 to provide a place to drink the waters which contain 43 minerals, with the mineral content 2.13 grams per litre.

It has always been fashionable to have high tea in the Pump Room and to enjoy a glass of mineral water.

The Pump Room has changed little since it was built, hung with many paintings from the period, prevailing classical taste from the Georgian and Victorian periods.

I found my second Celtic cross in pewter in the musem at the Baths,which was said to be a copy of the ancient Celtic crosses worn during the Roman period.

ers will notice a few inaccuracies in the story (such as the reference to the parish being accessible only by boat up until the causeway was open), the article as a whole gives a colorful description of the parish-- its fishing industry, French foods, the chenieres, and the fine hunting and fishing.

NEW GYMNASIUM

The construction of a combination gymnasium and auditorium for the Audrey Memorial School ws approved by the Cameron Police Jury at its meeting last week. The black school presently makes use of its lunchroom as an auditorium at the present time. The school was completely demolished in 1957 by Hurricane Audrey and was rebuilt about a year later.

CAMERON PARISH FEATURED IN MAGAZINE

Cameron Parish is receiving more national recognition this month -- this time as a tourist attraction rather than as a disaster scene. Ford Times, a nationwide magazine published by Ford Motor Co. carries a four page article on the parish in its March issue.

Written by J. C. (Chuck) Tillman, formerly associated with newspapers in Lake Charles and Sulphur, the article is entitled "Open Road to Cajun Country" and tells how the Sabine Lake causeway has made the parish more accessible to tourists.

The story is expected to give the causeway an economic "shot-in-the-arm" since the debt on the causeway is being retired with tolls from vehicles. Additional travel on the causeway will also help in the long range campaign to get the coastal road made a part of the federal highway system.

As a partof its 50th anniversary celebration, the assembly is dedicating each monthly meeting to a living Past Faithful Navigator. An outline of the assembly's activities under his leadership is presented, and he receives a Past Faithful Navigator miniature jewel.

Mr. Babineaux is well known in Cameron Parish as he has been servicing sewing machines for Cameron Parish customers for many years and is a frequent visitor to the parish.

MUSING . . . By Bernice Denny

Residents in 1870

Let us imagine that this is 1870, the year that Cameron became a parish, having been created from portions of Calcasieu and Vermilion. Having access to the census records of 1870, we have tabulated the names of people recorded in the new parish that year who were born in foreign countries.

Census records, like all others, are not infallible. On occasion a neighbor or a census taker himself may have supplied the data when the individual or family was not available at the time.

The records reveal that many pioneers sojourned in Mississippi or Texas for a time; then moved into Cameron.

France: Eugene Collin, a merchant; Jon Mairget and Charles Visen, both seamen; A. Gillett and Catherine Bertrand.

Ireland: Thomas Doland, Catherine Garner, Bridget Murphy, J. B. Quinn, Thomas Delaney and James Bonan, both seamen.

Switzerland: John Baumgartner.

Denmark: James Christian and Louis Duncan, both seamen; Ferdinand and Louise Pavil.

Prussia: Fred Erbelding and Charles Block.

Jamaica: John Bell.

It would be interesting to know how many descendants of the above still live in Cameron Parish. We are really one people with a diversity of backgrounds.

Cameron 2nd in tornadoes

In the 40 years between 1950 and 1990 a total of 32 tornadoes touched down in Cameron Parish resulting in three deaths, according to the National Weather Service.

Cameron ranked second in the state in the number of tornadoes, with only Calcasieu having more -- 54.

Bossier, with 14, Caddo, 9; Sabine, 7, and claiborne and Jackson, 5 each, led in the number of tornado deaths during the 40 year period.

The greatest frequency of tornadoes occur in the spring - March, April, and May.

Most tornadoes occur in the afternoon between 2 and 6 p.m. In south Louisiana, a secondary maximum occurs in the morning hours near sunrise. Tornadoes that strike at night tend to cause more fatalities than those that strike during the day.

Between 1962 and 1991, the state of Louisiana ranked 8th among the 50 states in the number of tornadoes reported annually, and ranked 17th in the number of tornado deaths per area.

The week of Feb. 20 has been proclaimed as "Severe Weather Awareness Week" in Louisiana and the Cameron Parish Police Jury is urging everyone to become aware of tornado and severe weather preparedness and safety measures.

Rep. Randy Roach

Rep. Roach will not be in '95 race

Rep. Randy Roach, who has served as Cameron Parish's state representative for two terms or nearly eight years, announced Tuesday he will not be a candidate for re-election this fall.

Roach, 44-year-old Lake Charles attorney, said he is considering running for Congress or for a judgeship. He will begin his last legislative session March 27 and leave office at the end of December.

He was elected to the post in 1988 after Conway LeBleu of Cameron retired after serving in the legislature for 25 years.

Roach said in a news conference Tuesday he has been encouraged to run in 1996 for the 7th Congressional District seat (presently held by Jimmy Hayes) or for district judge. (Judge Bill McLeod reportedly will retire in 1996.)

"In my entire professional life I have not enjoyed anything more than being a state representative for District 36 for the past eight years," Roach stated.

Roach said he and his wife had decided that he could no longer divide up his time as a father, husband, attorney and legislator. "If I have a future in politics it will have to be in a position where I can devote my energy fulltime without the distraction of the responsibilities of running a private law practice," he stated.

French writer gathers materials here for book

With Cameron Parish already scheduled to be featured in a new book to be released next month (see story on this page on Peter Jenkins' new book), the parish could also find itself included in a book being researched by a French writer, movie producer and photographer.

Gilbert Roussel and his wife Monique of Grabels, France were in Cameron parish recently to gather information and photographs for a book that Roussel is planning on Louisiana and how its history relates to France.

Roussel is a movie producer and director with Nakipa Productions in France and also is the author of a number of books on India, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Ceylon. He also wrote a book, TRESORS CATHARES, about the history of southern France around the year 1210 A.D.

He and his wife are traveling throughout Louisiana gathering information for the new book. Their travel to Cameron parish was arranged by Bertie Bland of the Southwest Convention and Visitors Center.

Bill Turnbull, Cameron nature photographer and a representative of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and Cameron Tourist Commission, was their guide. He showed them the outdoors scenes of the parish following the Creole Nature Trail.

Since the Roussels could not speak English and Turnbull could not speak French, Mel H. (Big Mott) Mott of Sulphur served as their interpreter.

Project set on erosion

Land Reclaimers, Inc. has applied for permits to construct a demonstration project in the Gulf near Holly Beach to prevent beach erosion.

The $250,000 project was planned by the Southern University Dept. of Engineering and financed by a grant from the Coastal Restoration Fund.

The project, to be located 2 1/2 miles east of Holly Beach, will consist of a wall about 250 feet out into the Gulf and about 1000 feet parallel to the shoreline, to facilitate dampening and sediment deposit in a 5.7 acre area adjacent to the shoreline.

The following Ash Wednesday services, Mar. 1, will be observed at lower Cameron Parish Catholic churches:

Sacred Heart: Masses at 7 a.m. and 5:50 p.m., and blessed ashes will be imposed. Masses will be at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; and at 7 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. Lenton services will be at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday with stations of the cross at 5:15 p.m.

Emergency funds told

Cameron Parish has been chosen to receive $3,244 to supplement emergency utility assistance programs in the area under the Emergency Food and Shelter program.

A local board made up of representatives from the Police Jury, Catholic Daughters, American Red Cross, homeless, Knights of Columbus, senior citizens and United Way, will determine how the funds are to be distributed in this area.

Funds will be used for emergency situations where a household would be in jeopardy of having their utilities shut off because of arrears. Clients must have proof of disconnect notice, proof of income, names and social security numbers for all household members, and reason the emergency has arisen.

Appointments will be made at the Cameron Community Action Agency located in the Cameron Senior Center by calling 775-5145 and talking to Beverly Salter.

H'berry clinic open house set

A ribbon cutting ceremony and open house will be held at the Hackberry Rural Health Clinic in Hackberry on Tuesday, Feb. 28 from 2 to 4 p.m.

The public is invited to attend and to tour the new facilities which were opened in December.

Lent schedule

OUT NEXT MONTH

New book will feature Cameron

By JERRY WISE

Do you remember Peter Jenkins?

He was the noted travel writer who came through Cameron parish during the summer of 1992 aboard a small cabine cruiser, traveling the full length of the Gulf Coast from the tip of Florida to Rio Grand on the Mexican border. His object: to write a travel book on the Gulf Coast.

A call from Jenkins from his home in Tennessee Monday revealed that the book will be published next month. It is entitled ALONG THE EDGE OF AMERICA, and a good portion of its 300 pages is devoted to Cameron parish, including a number of color photographs.

"I think the people of Cameron Parish will like what I have to say about the parish," Jenkins told us. "Cameron parish is one of my favorite areas and the people there really impressed me."

Jenkins said the book will tell about the parish's festival, the Marshland Festival in Hackberry and the Cajun Riveria Festival at Holly Beach, and about the attractions of the marshes and Gulf.

Stories told to him Sheriff Sono Savoie, Clerk of Court Debbie Theriot and Berton Daigle also are in the book, including some accounts of Hurricane Audrey in 1957.

In addition to the original edition to be published by Rutledge Hill Press of Nashville, Tenn., the book will be condensed in the June edition of Readers Digest's Best Non-Fixton books.

Dick Estelle, the "Radio Reader" on National Public Radio, will read the book on national radio beginning May 11. (The program can be heard on the Beaumont station, 91.3 and 90.9 on the FM dial.)

Jenkins said the book will contain 16 pages of color photographs, including one of the colorful pink spoonbills in Cameron parish.

Peter Jenkins

He will also publish a second book based on his travels along the coast. This will be a picture book entitled THE UNTAIMED COAST which will come out this fall.

Jenkins said he will begin a nationwide tour in April promoting his books which will include 45 cities. He said he will visit New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Houston and may be able to include a stop in this area.

The Cameron Tourist Commission and the Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau are looking into the possibility of hosting a reception/book signing event either in Lake Charles or possibly at the new Cameron Prairie Wildlife Center at Gibbstown.

Jenkins is the author of six or seven travel books. One of the first, WALK ACROSS AMERICA, told about his walk, along with his wife, across the United States. This book, published about 20 years ago, included a chapter on alligator hunting in the Sweetlake area of Cameron parish.

Duck, goose season delay is possible

(American Press)

The proposed moratorium on federal regulations being pushed by congressional Republicans could leave duck hunters stranded this hunting season, Interior Department officials say.

Officials said Friday that the proposed moratorium and a broader overhaul of how the government issues regulations could prevent or delay the 1995 hunting season for migratory birds such as ducks and geese.

Under the law, the Fish and Wildlife Service each year must issue regulations setting the time of the hunting season and specific bag limits for migratory birds before the hunting season begins in October.

The moratorium bill allows an exemption for routine administrative regulations and some House Republicans have argued that would apply to duck hunting.

Interior officials, however, maintain that the hunting rules likely would not qualify under the exemption as the bill is written.

Phil Million, a spokesman for the Fish and Wildlife Service, said a moratorium and possibly other restrictions — such as requirements for complex cost-benefit reviews — could prevent the agency from issuing the required regulations in time for the hunting season.

Taking Heart Disease Prevention To HEART

The Key is to affect the habits of young children regarding smoking, nutrition, and exercise. Smoking, excessive weight, and a general lack of fitness all contribute to heart disease.
As a parent, we can encourage healthy habits for our children.

#1 Set a Good Example

#3 Encourage Involvement

#4 Exercise As a Family
Biking, hiking, walking, swimming, whatever is good for ALL of you

#5 Healthy Diet

If you like cathedrals-- England has its share

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Our next excursion was to the village of Wells where we visited the massive cathedral, just off the town square. When we emerged we noted that there was a flea market in the square with townspeople selling all sorts of wares.

I purchased two antique Blue Willow plates for my daughter's collection. One in our group was lucky enough to find an entire set of an antique tea service. Needless to say we carefully hand carried these pieces all the way home.

Our next stop was at the Glastonbury Abbey ruins where the graves of King Arthur and Queen Guinevere are reported to be located. Two graves were discovered in the abbey graveyard in 1191. A lead cross was found with the bones inscribed "Here lies interred in the Isle of Avalon the renowned King Arthur."

Glastonbury has been a religious center since pre-Christian times and its atmosphere has encouraged many mysteries and legends. For many centuries Christian pilgrims have made their way to Glastonbury and still come to what has long been claimed as the oldest shrine in England.

Tradition says that among the many visitors to this Holy Place was Jesus, who is said to have come with St. Joseph of Arimathea.

On the grounds is a thorn tree which is said to be descended from the walking staff that St. Joseph stuck into the ground when he brought some followers here. It sprouted and cuttings from it have grown in Glastonbury ever since. It flowers at Christmas to remind us of the birth of Jesus and also flowers again in April and May.

The abby was closed in 1539, when monastic life came to an end all over England. All that remains intact today of the buildings is the Abbot's kitchen where the special food for the Abbot and his guests was prepared.

ON TO LONDON

After a sightseeing bus tour of London and a visit to Westminster Abbey we were deposited at our hotel and an afternoon of leisure and shopping.

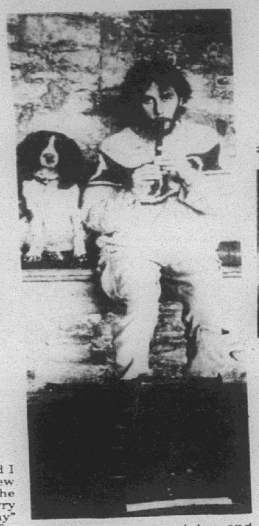
That night we all attended a stage lay, either "The Phantom of the Opera" or "Sunset Boulevard", both Andrew Lloyd Weber plays.

I chose Phanton which was playing at the Drury Lane Royal Theatre. The theatre itself was full of history, having opened its doors in 1663. It is the world's oldest theatre.

On our last Saturday in London I chose to first visit Hearod's, the largest department store in the world, with its beautiful animated window displays.

Two of our group chose to go on the round-trip excursion across the English Channel through the "Chunnel" (the underground train tunnel). They reported a very luxurious trip which cost $350.

We also visited Covent Gardens, which has an outdoor flea market, stores, china shops, craft displays, eateries, and just about anything you could wish for, including chamber music while you eat at the outdoor cafes.



My roommate on the trip and I tried to think of all the new phrases we had picked up on the trip including, "take away" (carry out), "to let" (for rent), "give way" (to yield), "laid-bys" (turn outs for sight seeing) and many more.

So, we finally leave the land of black pudding and fried bread for breakfast, fish and chips, scones and clotted cream, high tea, pubs, and many other memories in the land of our ancestors; and feel like we have solved some of the mystery surrounding the life and times of King Arthur.

* * *

—Oscar Wilde

REDFISH RESOLUTION

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission passed a resolution at its February meeting, recommending to the Legislature that red drum (redfish) retain its official status as a recreational fish.

Due to the fact that lack of sufficient biological and technical data to support commercial harvest of redfish. No plans to cover harvesting or monitoring the commercial harvest exist and no change in current regulations on harvdest should be made until a review is done by the Gulf Council Stock Assessment Panel.

This recommendation will be presented to the State Legislture who meets in March and they will decide. This could go either way, but I'm sure the Legislature will go with the federal study and I don't belee it will be complete until sometime in 1996.

GILL NET BAN

The Mississippi Senate approved a ban on gill nets within one mile of the Mississippi Gulf shoreline. It now goest to the house. We will see the same matter go before our Legislature in March and this will be a fight.

The way I understand the ban of entanglement nets in inshore saltwater in Louisiana, but the same fish that are being taken in these entanglement nets can still be caught commercially on hook and line. It is not out to stop shrimping, menhaden, crabbing or crawfishing.

I've talked to a couple of commercial netters and they agree a net should be watched or used as a strike net, so you can let the recretional fish go before they are killed. I really think our own Calcasieu-Big Lake is the worst area of the state where all the controversy is taking place. I really hope that this thing could be solved.

FISHING REPORTS

Some boats went Gulf fishing last week when the weather leveled off and did really good on red snapper, catching their limits of 8 to 12 pound red snapper and mopped up on white trout. Further offshore they claim waters were calm.

The large redfish are still in the Hog Bayou area marshes, schooling and running large 22 to 34 inches in length. Live mullet is the best bet.

The Big Lake area has been rough and fishing tough according to Captain Sammy Faulk, but it's not to say you can't catch fish, as Sammy says.

The weather and water conditions have been rough on anglers fishing fresh water. The Calcasieu and Sabine Rivers both have reported being muddy. Toledo Bend has some good bass action between fronts but they tell me while perch fishing is picking up.

J. B. Lady Rebels win 2nd playoff

With the win the Lady Rebels will play Thur., Feb. 23, against either Reeves or Bethany Christian in a quarter final game.

The Rebels had four players in double digit scoring as Raedella Badon and Selina McGee each had 11 points and Melissa Trahan and Jeannie Garber each hit for 10 points.

Johnson Bayou took a 22-13 halftime lead in the contest and both teams scored 27 points in the second half.

Jimmy Trahan and I fished the Little Pecan Bayou a week ago, yes it was windy and water wasn't perfect, but we kept throwing spinner baits and we caught around 30 bass, releasing all but nine for a fry. Also, don't hesitate throwing a crank bait or a rattletrap as this is the time of the year not only for bass, but they work well on redfish and speckle trout.

TALK AROUND

I had an argument a while back with a good friend of mine. I remember years ago we would go with our parents and grandparents and seine along the Gulf and we'd catch what the old folks called rockfish.

Yes, it was good eating and we would have a bunch of families get together on the Johnson Bayou ridge in the large oak trees and have a fish fry, fish gravy, fish patties with a big pot of rice and fresh Irish potatoes to fry.

Well, I told him rockfish was really striped bass and he said no way, but according to area fish biologists its the same fish. I won and it's a fishing trip together, but his boat, his truck, his cold drinks and his dinner. Yes, an all-expense paid trip.

Say, if you catch a big fish and think you have a record catch, get it weighed and measured on official scales and call a biologist to verify your measurements.

Area 7, Coastal and Saltwater species, from Freshwater Bayou to Sabine Pass is biologists Dudley Carver or Jerry Ferguson in Lake Charles, 318-491-2573.

Fish must be caught in Louisiana waters and weighed on a scale inspected by the Department of Agriculture and then a complete application and photo of the entire fish from nose to tail and a check for $10, made out to the La. Outdoor Writers Association and mail to Ed Vice, 507 Beverly Drive, Lafayette, La. 70530, or call Ed at 318-233-0456.

Bobby Conner

Reappointed to committee

Cameron Parish Assessor Robert E. "Bobby" Conner, was recently reappointed to the Louisiana Assessors Association's Oil and Gas and Watercraft committees; he has been serving on the two committees for the past 10 years.

From a total assessed value of approximately $102 million taxable dollars for 1994 in Cameron Parish, $46 million is derived from oil and gas related assessments. Conner feels the importance of being involved with these committees, as the impact on Cameron Parish's tax base is so great.

The committee members work with tax representatives from various oil and gas companies as well as with the Louisiana Tax Commission to establish guidelines in the assessment process.

Softball team to be in tourn.

The Lady Tarpons will play at 11:30 a.m. against LaGrange; at 1 p.m. they will play Oakdale and at 4 p.m. they are scheduled to play Vinton. The Lady Tarpons will play on field 3.

Red grouper size rules considered

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council will consider final rules regulating the red grouper size limit Mar. 13-16, at a New Orleans meeting.

The Council, at its January meeting, had proposed that the size limit for red grouper be reduced from 20 inches to 18 inches. National Marine Fisheries Service has held this proposed rule change in abeyance and requested the Council reconsider this issue, along with new data generated by NMFS on the effect of the proposed rule change on the recreational landings and harvest allocation.

Public testimony on this issue will be scheduled at the Council meeting in New Orleans on Wed., Mar. 15, beginning at 8:45 a.m. Persons may mail their comments to the Council office, and those letters received by Mar. 10, will be presented to the Council.

"Sportsman's Paradise"
CAMPAIGN '95 -- THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

By: M.J. "MIKE" FOSTER

Louisiana truly is a Sportsman's Paradise! When I have spare time, which has been scarce lately, I love to be outdoors in Louisiana. We have a state second to none in outdoor resources for the hunter, fisherman and outdoor enthusiast. This includes water sports and nature watching. We have a variety of game including deer, rabbit, squirrel, quail, and dove. Our state is at the end of one of the major duck and goose flyways in the world. Louisiana probably has the best mix of fresh and salt water fishing in the country. Not only does it provide a variety of recreational opportunities, but it also drives one of the major markets in sporting goods and services anywhere in the U.S.

My father introduced me to the outdoors and I have tried to do the same thing with my children. As I get older, I have come to enjoy bird watching as much as hunting. My grandsons have also been introduced to the outdoors by their father. When we get the time we try to make our trips a family outing. Experience has shown that young people who are introduced to the outdoors are a lot less likely to get into the drug culture and other types of trouble. Those of us in public office need to be true conservationists and do all we can to preserve the outdoors and our game for future generations.

A good example of an environmental crisis is the fact that Louisiana is fast becoming one of the few states left that allows the use of deadly entanglement nets in our salt water areas. Florida has just stopped the use of these nets in their state by initiative and referendum when the legislature would not. If something isn't done, five thousand boats from Florida will descend upon our coastal waters and sweep them clean. Entanglement nets will totally destroy salt water fishing if not eliminated. I have worked closely with commercial interests in my district; however, this problem is one that transcends other commercial and sporting interests.

In closing, you need to know what your gubernatorial candidate believes in and what his values are. I am taking this opportunity to tell you how strongly I feel about preserving this state as a Sportsman's Paradise for future generations.

I need your help! I need your encouragement! I need your prayers! I need your moral support! In addition, I need your financial support. With any contribution of $10 or more, I will send to you a "Sportsmen for Foster" bumper sticker.

THE CAM ON PILOT

CAMERON, LA. 70631

MAR. 1, 1995 - 39th Year No. 45

Race is on for Roach's rep. seat

Darrell Derouen of Lake Charles, a Calcasieu Parish police juror for 12 years, is the first person to announce his candidacy for House District 36 after Rep. Randy Roach announced last week that he will not run for re-election.

Derouen said he will make a formal announcement later.

District 36 includes all of Cameron parish and a portion of South Lake Charles and Southeast Calcasieu parish.

Rep. Roach, who is completing his second term, said he plans to seek another office next, possibly a Congressional seat or a judgeship. He said he did not feel it fair to the district to run for re-election as representative and then seek another office next year.

Permits are sought here

Permits are being sought by two Cameron parish public bodies to perform work in lower Cameron Parish.

The Cameron Parish Police Jury is seeking a permit to build a 660' extension of Parish Road 358 in Rutherford Beach subdivision to extend the road to the beach. The road will be 42 feet wide and will be located about 2 miles southwest of Oak Grove.

Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District #3 has applied for a permit for maintenance dredging of an existing canal in the West Creole area. A total of 1,556 cubic yards of materials will be removed from the canal.

Big cabbages grown here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"Happy Ridge" has long been famous for the giant vegetables grown in its many gardens by members of the LaBove family.

Lorena "Topee" Richard grew a whole row of 18 pound cabbages this season to stock her freezer and shares them with her friends and neighbors.

She says she cooks down the cabbages and puts them up in meal size packages for her freezer.

She attributes the giant sizes of her vegetables to the way she fertilizes them, using pogy meal, 888 and a lime mixture.

Her prize cabbages join the other crops of giant pumpkins and cucumbers that have been grown on the ridge, which is in the marsh between the Front and Creole ridges.

Hospital sets reception Sun.

The South Cameron Memorial Hospital invites the public to attend a reception welcoming new physicians and honoring the current physicians on Sunday, March 5 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at the Cameron Multipurpose Building.

Physicians on the hospital staff now include Dr. Richard Sanders, Dr. David Jed Woodard, Dr. Martha Edwards, Dr. Joesph Albergamo, Dr. Chris Schumacher and Dr. Aldes Rozas.

Visitors bureau receives approval for two grants

(American Press)

The Southwest Louisiana Convention and Visitors Bureau has received approval for two federal Scenic Byways grants totaling $420,000. The grants will be used to enhance the Creole Nature Trail, according to Shelley Johnson, executive director.

The grants, both 80 percent federal-20 percent local matches, will be used to create four pull-off parking areas on La. 27 between Sulphur and Holly Beach, and an audio driving tour tape and promotional video.

Johnson said the pull-off parking areas will be for tourists to safely view the wildlife and natural habitat. The grant is for $400,000.

She said the local match will be sought from the Cameron and Calcasieu Police Juries and the Visitors Bureau.

The Creole Nature Trail Promotional Campaign grant totals $20,000, including $16,000 from the federal government and $4,000 from the bureau.

Johnson said the audio tape will be geared for a driving tour of the Creole Nature Trail. The promotional video will beused to push the Creole Nature Trail nationally and internationally.

Two other grant applications were not approved. They were for an anti-litter campaign and for an archeological study of the Calcasieu Pass battlefield on Monkey Island.

Johnson said the bureau will be seeking other grant avenues for those projects. She said the bureau also learned there was some leftover 1995 Scenic Byways grant money. The bureau has applied for funding of four informational kiosks for the four pull-off parking areas, and for a low frequency radio system to give tourist information about the Creole Nature Trail.

The kiosk grant application totals $221,500 and the radio advisory system $27,000. Both would be 80 percent federal, 20 percent local matches.

She said the bureau will also be seeking grants for pull-off parking areas on the east side of La. 27.

The state Department of Culture, Recreation and Tourism, and the Department of Transportation and Develoment designated the Creole Nature Trail as a Scenic Byway in 1991 that made it eligible for the federal grant program.

Jobless rate increases

The unemployment rate in Cameron Parish in January was 9.5 percent, an increase from the 9 percent in December but a slight drop from the 9.8 percent a year ago.

The monthly report from the La. Dept. of Labor showed 350 persons out of work in the parish, the same number for the previous month. The reason for the increased percent was due to a drop in the total workforce.

In past years, Cameron's unemployment rate has been one of the lowest in the state. These days there are at least 12 parishes with lower unemployment.

The jobless rate for the state in January was 6.7 percent, a decrease from 7.9 in December. The national rate for January was 5.7 percent, an increase from 5.4 percent.

Lions Club honored for 50th anniv.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Rep. Randy Roach last week presented a Certificate of Commendation from the Governor to the Cameron Lions Club for 50 years of service to the community. Accepting for the club was Greg Wicke, president.

In explaining to the club why he has made the decision not to run for re-election the end of his term, Roach said he had enjoyed representing the parish and all of the friendships he has made here during his tenure. His term ends in January.

He reviewed some of the things coming up in the upcoming Legislature including the Medicaid problem with a $750 million shortfall.

Roach said he plans to file a local option package on gambling.

Wicke reminded the club of the fund-raising gumbo dinner the club is sponsoring at noon Fri. Mar. 3, at the Cameron Methodist Church for $4 a plate.

AT SPECIAL MEETING

New election to be considered Fri.

The Cameron Parish Police Jury will meet at 10 a.m., Friday, March 7, to discuss calling a property tax election on April 29, to support the parish garbage collection system.

On Jan. 21, Cameron voters turned down a 10-year, 8.5 mill garbage collection tax, which was a renewal of the existing tax plus an increase.

Parish Administrator Tina Horn said that Friday is the last day that the jurors can decided whether to call the election on April 29. She said if an election is not called or if one is called and the tax is defeate again there will be no funds to continue garbage service in the parish.

The present 5.97 mill tax which has been collected for garbage collection in the past expires this year.

Jurors had asked for an increase in the garbage tax because the old tax was not bringing in enough revenue. In addition, the increase would have provided for giving all parish residents large containers in which to put their garbage.

Jurors will have several options Friday. One will be to put the 8.5 mill tax on the ballot again. Another will be to cut back to the old 5.97 mill tax. A final option would be not to call another tax election at all.

Parish schools to get same funding

—CAPITAL NEWS—

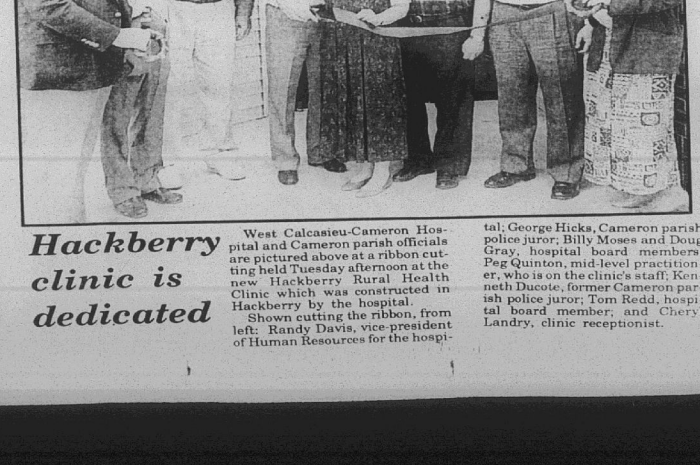
The public school system in Cameron Parish won't see any increase in state funding under a revised formula adopted by the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education last week, but 56 other districts would.

The parish's share of the statewide funding program would remain $4.9 million for the 1995-96 school year. Nine others also would see no change in their state allocation because they are deemed the "wealthier" districts, and the formula is geared toward equalizing per-pupil spending between the richer and poorer districts.

The formula increase would bring the amount allocated to the Minimum Foundation Program to $1.9 billion for the 1995-96 school year. It next will be considered by the Legislature during the session this spring.

Even if the Legislature adopts the larger MFP allotment, Livingston Parish Superintendent J. Rogers Pope said, the 30-district group suing the state over the public school funding plan will continue its lawsuit. The Minimum Foundation Commission and the American Civil Liberties Union have lawsuits pending which ask the court to declare state funding of public education inadequate and inequitable. The commission is a coalition of mostly rural school districts.

The Louisiana Superintendents Association had recommended a $93 million increase in school funding for next year, but BESE members lowered the amount because they feared lawmakers would reject the larger request.



The Legislature cannot alter the funding formula after it is submitted by BESE; lawmakers must either accept or reject it as presented. According to the state constitution, BESE can alter and resubmit a rejected formula if there is enough time remaining in the session, but usually the formula reverts to the latest version approved by the Legislator. Under the current formula, public school spending would increase by only about $46 million in 1995-96.

The St. Tammany school district is in line for the largest increase under the new formula, possibly gaining $5.3 million. Iberia and Livingston parishes each stand to gain more than $3 million, and the increase tops $2 million in Acadia, Caddo, Lafourche, Orleans, St. Landry, St. Martin, Tangipahoa, Terrebonne and Vernon parishes. State funding would increase by more than $1 million in Avoyelles, Bossier, Evangeline, Lafayette, Rapides, St. Mary, Vermilion and Washington parishes.

The "wealthier" districts which would see no increase under the revised formula include those in Calcasieu, Cameron, East Baton Rouge, Iberville, Jefferson, Plaquemines, St. Charles, St. James, West Baton Rouge and West Feliciana parishes.

"A Color Blind Louisiana"

CAMPAIGN '95 – THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

By: M.J. "MIKE" FOSTER

If there was ever a reason for racial quotas and minority set asides, that time has passed. There are plenty of laws on the books now to prevent discrimination, in everything from employment to the use of public facilities. We have laws that protect the rights of minorities, females and the handicapped. This is fine and well, but it makes no sense to give preferential treatment on top of all this. My guess is that most set aside programs currently in Louisiana are not even for the disadvantaged, but the majority using them are financially well-off people or groups using an unfair system to their advantage. When I first began talking about this, a friend of mine warned me that I might offend some influential local people. When I asked for names, I recognized individuals who are millionaires who had participated in these programs.

California will probably have an initiative next year to do away with all mandatory state-sponsored affirmative action. I have read that it will probably pass, polling well over 70% statewide, which includes a majority (for passage) within minority groups. Given a chance, people are usually fair-minded. That's one reason I like the ability of the electorate to have the right to put propositions on the ballot. Let's hope we can get that privilege in Louisiana next year.

M.J. "Mike" Foster

Should anyone see any racism in these ideas, I would simply quote from Dr. Martin Luther King's speech of August 28, 1963: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character".

Let's put real equal opportunity back on the books. It's time to put excellence back in hiring and employment

I need your help! I need your encouragement! I need your prayers! I need your moral support! In addition, I need your financial support.

Local man injured in barge mishap

(American Press)

Freddie Richard, an employee of Francis Drilling Fluids, was standing on a barge when the bulk tank split around 3 p.m. Wednesday, according to Detective Kim Nunez of the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Office.

Richard reportedly was hit in the chest with a pipe and fell off the barge into the water.

Old time games

Does anyone play jackstones (commonly called jacks) today? It was a favorite game among little girls when I was in grade school. Little groups would play on the porches, steps, or concrete slabs of the school building.

During the years following the Civil War jackstones were actually small stones or smooth pebbles. The game, which followed a set of rules, was played without a ball.

Each spring down through the decades, boys have turned to marbles and kites and girls to hopscotch and rope jumping. During the Victorian period it was considered too tomboyish for little girls to play ball and marbles at school. It was allowed although not actually sanctioned at home.

During the Civi War and Reconstruction period about the only balls available on the chenier were beanbags, or bags filled with beans, corn, usually popcorn. Occasionally, ladies stitched bags of several thicknesses of feather ticking and partially filled them with sand for the children to toss to one another.

In the 19th century, the latter-quarter of it, picnics seem to have been the favorite social gathering of everyone. On these occasions there were potato races along with sack, three-leg, and peanut spoon races. Boys played leap frog and staged wrestling bouts.

The young and the not-so-young undertook to prove their prowess at "turning down". Two persons would prop their right elbows on a flat surface, would interlock the fingers of their right hands and force the other's arm to lie flat.

Pitching horseshoes waked and waned in popularity. It crested in the '30's and seems to be a favorite, espcially among senior citizens today. Throwing the discus was another old time favorite. Racing and jumping were never discarded.

Mumblety Peg, or Mumble Peg as it was called during my childhood, was simple or complicated depending on what rules the players agreed to follow.

I suppose that down through the ages every little boy has made and practiced using a slingshot. Many a little David has gone stalking his imaginary Goliath. And each has manufactured a popgun. In fact, that feat marked a certain phase in his growing up.

So far as I have been able to learn, interest in baseball soared around 1910 or '12. Many a young man, I have been told, had dreams of becoming a second Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach, who at that time was the baseball idol of the nation.

Basketball became popular in the 1920's in Cameron schools. Football was to follow much later.

The only trouble with regimented games of today is that the few participate; the many are spectators.

Louisiana JTPA ranks 1st in job placement

The Lake Charles Job Training Office and its counterparts across the state have helped Louisiana rank first in its region in effectiveness and job placement.

Cheryl Heisser, director of the local office, said one of its major goals is to train economically disadvantaged youth and dislocated workers.

The local office met five of six standards and exceeded four of those it met. Calcasieu, Cameron and Jeff Davis parishes are served by the local office.

Additional incentive funds are awarded to service delivery areas (SDAs) that exceed the upper range of four of the six standards.

The local office receives these extra funds to provide additional services to its customers.

Programs in the local area are selected by a Private Industry Council (PIC), which is a board appointed by the Calcasieu Parish Police Jury.

Gayle Truly, secretary of the state Department of Labor, said federal officials have praised Louisiana's state and local programs which placed in the top 25 percent nationwide.

Louisiana was the leader in the region which also contains programs in Arkansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

"The performance was indicative of the expertise of both state and local JTPA staff and their commitment to provide quality service to their customers," Truly said.

Individuals who need additional training to enter the labor force are urged to contact the local Job Training Office by calling 437-3380.

They may also attend an information meeting held on Monday mornings at 8:30 a.m. on the sixth floor of the Magnolia Building (across from the Civic Center).

Safe boating is an around the year thing, so be careful wherever you are on the water. Louisiana has 2.2 million boaters who enjoy our waters and that number is increasing yearly. Our state ranks fifth in the nation in boating fatalities.

The most current data (1993) shows 36 deaths in our state's waterways and that's five times the national average. This is a serious concern as boats speed is much faster and more boats are on the way. Remember, 2.2 million using our waterways is more than half of our state's population.

FACTS

Sportsmen paid a total of $288 million in excise taxes in 1994, which comes from hunting and fishing ear, tackle and the sort.

The sportsman's prayer goes like this:

Let me shoot clean
Kill clean, and if
I can't kill clean
Please, Lord, let me
Miss clean.
I'm sure many of us miss clean.

Here's the fisherman's prayer.

Lord, suffer me to catch a fish
So large that even I
In talking of it afterwards
Shall have no need to lie.
I was surprised to know that to protect themselves against mosquitoes, many early Egyptian fishermen used their nets as bed canopies.

FEEDING PERIODS

Best - Fri., Mar. 3, 12:20 p.m.; Sat., Mar. 4, 12:45 a.m. and 1:05 p.m.; Sun., Mar. 5, 1:35 a.m. and 1:55 p.m.

Good - Fri., Mar. 3, 6:05 a.m. and 12:20 p.m.; Sat., Mar. 4, 6:55 a.m. and 7:20 p.m.; Sun., Mar. 5, 7:45 a.m. and 8:10 p.m.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB NEWS

President Ricky Canik of the Lemesche Bass Club, is asking all club members or those interested in joining, to be at a meeting, Mon., Mar. 6, at 7 p.m. to finalize the 1995 fishing for the club. Places to be fished, setting up the tournament, the changes for each tournament and who you'll be fishing with. Don't eat supper, Ricky will have a catfish gravy.

The new Maimi Corporation sport fishing permits for 1995 are in at local outlets who handle them. Next week, I'll go over the rules and regulations. I'll let you in on one thing, fishing will be from sunrise to sunset only.

AREA REPORTS

Area fishing reports have been good, as the weather is beginning to act like springtime, which we're due. Good catches of catfish are reported, as well as fair bass fishing in areas which are open.

S.C. girls open softball season

By JOE MUELLER

The South Cameron girls softball team opened play last week. The Lady Tarpons lost their opening game 19-18 to DeQuincy on the road, then lost three games last Saturday in the St. Louis Lady Saints softball tournament held at the O. D. Johnson complex in Lake Charles.

The Lady Tarpons will be at home Thurs., Mar. 2, to host DeQuincy.

In the Lady Saints tournament, the Lady Tarpons lost 4-2 to LaGrange, 2-0 to Oakdale and 5-2 to Vinton.

Duck season to go as planned

Duck season will go forward as planned this year thanks to an amendment written by Congressman Jimmy Hayes and passed by the House of Representatives last week. Congressman Richard Baker worked closely with Hayes in crafting the amendment, and Don Young of Alaska was also a co-sponsor.

The House passed legislation that would prevent government reglators from imposing new regulations on individuals and businesses until January 1996. An unintended consequence of this bill, which was fixed by Hayes' amendment, would have prevented the Fish and Wildlife Service form establishing hunting seasons for migrtory birds, including ducks. The Hayes amendment passed overwhelmingly, 383 to 34.

The Fish and Wildlife Service determines the numbers of various waterfowl populations and determines the length of seasons for each bird based on these numbers. The Migratory Bird Treaty Act prohibits hunting of such birds unless it is permitted each year by a regulatory action of the Department of Interior.

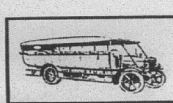
New phone books depicts Frasch home



The new Cameron Parish Telephone Company telephone book was recently issued and its front cover features a painting of the old Herman Frasch House.

Herman Frasch was a German engineer who perfected the Frasch process of mining sulphur which made possible the first mining of sulphur in the United States at the old Sulphur Mines near Sulphur years ago.

When the sulphur mines closed and the old Sulphur Mines community was dismantled over 40 years ago, the historic two-story home that had been the residence of Frasch was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Currie of Sulphur who moved the home to a site in Carlyss and completely restored it.

The old home was destroyed by fire about 15 years ago but its grandness has been captured by the painter, Sybil McNeill.

A limited edition of the numbered prints of the painting are available while the supply lasts. Send your request to Cameron Telephone Co., "The Frasch House," P.O. box 167, Sulphur, La. 70664.

CAMERON AGRICULTURE

Adam Daigle, prosperous highland farmer of Cameron Parish, is busy planting several different varieties of truck. Mr. Daigle has already put in several acres of June corn, Irish potatoes, cucumbers, melons, beans and squashes, the land having been worked and put in shape with a high grade fertilizer for an early crop the past week. In addition to this crop, Mr. Daigle contemplates planting a large crop of cotton.

Raymond Richard, of the Creole vicinity, operator of a store and garage, states that he was not yet certain as to the number of cattle that he has lost in the marshes from the severely cold weather, but he believes it is not large since the beginning of spring. Grass is now plentiful and no more losses are expected.

Captain D. Montie, one of the largest cattle owners of the parish, is very optimistic as to the future since the freeze is a thing to be forgotten. Mr. Montie states that while there are many stockowners in the parish who have lost as many as two-thirds of their cattle, with several good seasons, herds will be back to normal.

The home of Mr. Montie is truly a fine country home, many chickens, turkeys and plenty of shade are among the things which a visitor can find, plus the southern hospitality that Mr. and Mrs. Montie are so well known to always extend.

Gabriel Richard, of near Cameron, has been kept busy looking after his cattle in the lower marshes of Cameron Parish and reports that he is yet unable to give an exact amount of how many cattle he has lost. Mr. Richard owns several hundred acres of land in the parish and, in addition, he has just purchased a nice acreage in Vermilion Parish, northwest of Gueydan.

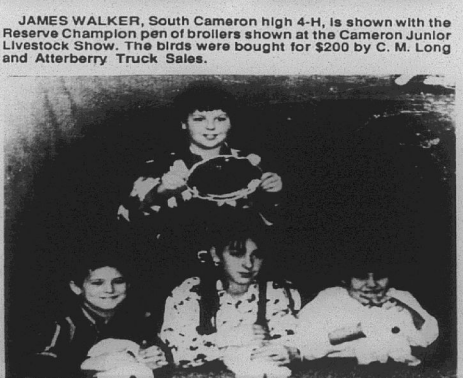
Voters are down in the parish

—CAPITAL NEWS—

Cameron Parish had nearly 175 fewer registered voters at the end of 1994 than it did a year earlier, according to the latest figures from the State Department of Elections and Registration.

The total number of voters registered in the parish dipped to 5,944 on Dec. 30, 1994, with the loss reflected in a decrease of voters in both major political parties. The number of Democrats dropped from 5,127 on Dec. 31, 1993, to 4,942 in the current report. The Republican Party also lost voters during the 12-month period, showing 490 voters registered at the end of 1994 compared to 477 a year earlier.

Those registered with neither major party, however, increased in number. The "other parties" category in the current report lists 525 voters, up from 500 at the close of 1993.



A comparison of the two end-of-year reports indicates a loss of both white and black voters during the years while the small number of "other" race voters in the parish crept down to six on Dec. 30, 1994. Registration for white voters went from 5,771 to 5,617 in the latest report, and black voters numbered 321 in the parish compared to 339 a year earlier.

The state also experienced a decline in voter registration, which dropped 93,407 to 2.15 million on Dec. 30, 1994. The number of white voters was down 71,785 to 1.53 million as black voter registration fell 21,553 to 600,061. Other race registrations dipped 69 to 20,226 in the current report.

The loss of voters was spread over all party affiliations at the statewide level. Democrats lost 69,098 registered voters during the year, leaving their ranks at 1.52 million. The Republican party loss of 16,352 voters brought its number to 416,450 at the end of 1994. Voters registered with neither major party declined from 220,129 at the beginning of 1994 to 212,172 when it ended.

New doctors are introduced here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Eight doctors who are serving South Cameron Memorial Hospital were honored with a reception at the Cameron Recreation Center Sunday afternoon.

Honored were Drs. David Jed Woodard, Martha Edwards, D. B. Johnson, Joseph Albergame, Richard Sanders, Chris Schumacher, Danny Escalona, and Joe Abraham.

Drs. Woodard and Edwards are to head the Rural Health Programs in Cameron and Sweet Lake, respectively.

Joe Soileau, hospital administrator, welcomed the guests and said he wanted the doctors to meet the members of the community they are to serve.

All of the doctors are new to the hospital except Dr. Sanders, who has been handling it along since the death of Dr. Cecil Clark.

Soileau said, "We want to be the best rural hospital in the United States, not just a first aid station. I wanted the community to meet our great technical staff and to show the community we are a first class operation."

Dr. Sanders said, "It is a privilege for me to be a part of this community which is so close and has a bond with one another."

Soileau introduced the hospital department heads and recognized the great work they are doing to make South Cameron a first class hospital.

Others present, Police Juror Ray Conner, Senator Cecil Picard, and Rep. Randy Roach each gave their congratulations to the hospital for the work it has done for the community.

Tutoring to be offered at Bargeman

A meeting will be held Tues., Mar. 14, at 5 p.m. at Bargeman Memorial Church of God In Christ forming the "Excel Tutorial and Counseling Program". Volunteer tutors, parents, grandparents, and anyone interested are urged to attend.

Registration is open to all children, elementary through high school, for after school tutoring and counseling. No fees are charged for this program.

The program is sponsored by Bargeman Memorial Church of God In Christ, Rev. Leo Tyler, pastor, and Macedonia Baptist Church, Rev. Willie Smith, Sr., pastor.

New clinics to open soon

The Grand Lake-Sweetlake Rural Health Clinic is expected to open in the near future, according to Police Juror Brent Nunez. It will be operated by the South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

Nunez said a building to house the clinic probably will be located behind the new ambulance building at Grand Lake.

Dr. Martha Edwards, who recently joined the hospital staff, will be in charge of the clinic.

The hospital also will open the Cameron Rural Health Clinic in the near future in Dr. Cecil Clark's old office in Cameron. This clinic will be staffed by Dr. David Jed Woodard, another new doctor on the hospital's staff.

SET FOR APRIL 29

New garbage election set

After having two special meetings and hours of discussion and arguments, the Cameron Parish police jurors finally voted Tuesday afternoon to call another garbage tax election in the parish.

The 5.97 mill garbage tax, which has been in force for the past ten years, is expiring this year. On Jan. 21 a proposition to increase this millage to 8.5 mills and renew it for 10 years was defeated 670 to 616.

Since then the jurors have been divided on whether to call for another election on the 8.5 mills or to ask for a renewal of the 5.97 mill tax. In the latter case, it was noted by the parish administrator and treasurer, the garbage collection fund would have a $180,000 deficit this year.

In the end, the jurors compromised by calling for a one mill increase to a 6.97 mill tax, which hopefully would make up for the deficit and continue to provide the present services.

On the motion to call the tax election for 6.97 mills, the vote was 4-2 in favor with Brent Nunez, Ray Conner, George Hicks and Russell Badon voting in favor and Douaine Conner and George LeBouef voting against it.

Earlier Ray Conner had proposed that the parish operate its own garbage collection system, rather than contracting it out as presently being done. He received no support for this plan.

George LeBouef proposed renewing the tax with no increase and eliminating the six dump sites around the parish to save money. He also received no support for his measure.

Nunez then suggested giving voters a choice between LeBouef's proposal and an 8.5 mill tax, and the jurors tied 3-3 on this proposal.

After a short recess, Nunez proposed the 6.97 mill tax and this was passed by the 4-2 vote.

AMONG THE other items taken up by the police jury Tuesday were the following:

* Parish Administrator Tina Horn reported that Emergency 911 numbers have been assigned to all of the communities in the parish except Grand Chenier, Klondike and Lowery, and these will go out shortly.

She said she could not give a date when the system would be in operation, but said every effort will be made to make sure everything is in good working order before the system goes on line.

* It was announced that Creole voters will vote on Saturday, April 1 on a renewal of a 10-year, 5.7 mill tax to maintain the water system in Waterworks Dist. 7.

* Ada Broussard was named to the Cameron Parish Library Board to replace J. C. Reina, who resigned.

* The jury approved advertisement for bids on new fire trucks for Holly Beach in Fire District 10 and for the Hackberry Fire District.

* Roads in several new subdivisions in the Grand Lake area were accepted for Alladin Granger, Paul Toerner and Mike Young.

* An unused road right of way in Holly Beach, which had been advertised for abandonment, was abandoned by the jury with the understanding that it would go back to the Henry estate which had orginally donated the right of way to the parish.

New fire district to handle own funds

Fire District 14, which serves the Grand Lake and Sweetlake area, will handle its own financial affairs in the future as the result of action taken by the Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday.

Juror Brent Nunez said the district's board members felt they would be able to take care of financial emergencies quicker if they handled their own money rather than if it had to come through the police jury.

Juror Ray Conner asked what would happen if the fire district, or some other parish district, over spent its budget, would the jury be liable.

District Attorney Glenn Alexander said the jury would be legally obligated to pay the debts of one of the districts, but if a district defaulted on its obligations it could affect the parish's bond rating.

The jury agreed to the district's request and it was noted that the district would have to hire someone to handle its books and finances.

Election set

A special election has been called in Ward 2 of Cameron parish to elect a new justice of the peace to replace Clyde Theriot, who resigned the position due to illness.

The district includes parts of Creole and Grand Chenier. The election will be on Saturday, Oct. 21, with a runoff date of Saturday, Nov. 18.

Older Worker

The 1995 Older Worker celebration will be held at the Creole Multi-Purpose Building in Creole Tues., mar. 14, at 6 p.m.

Nominees for Older Worker of the Year are William Turnbull, Nolan Savoie, Gussie Mhire, Jennings B. Jones, Jr., Ernest (Boone) Hebert, Leslie Hebert, and Father T. L. Herlong.

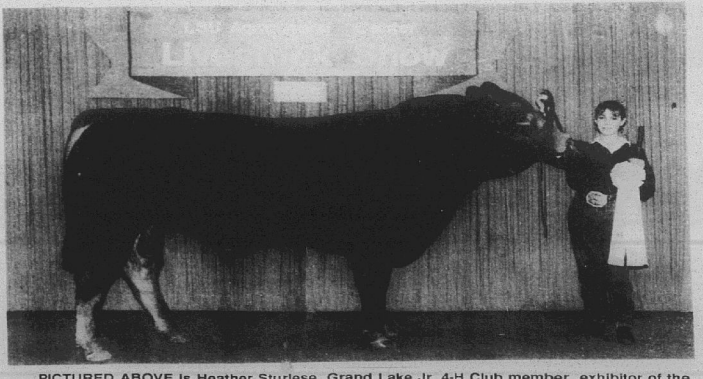
Parish to get hydrants



The Cameron Parish Police Jury Tuesday voted to participate in the statewide Dry Hydrant Project and will receive 35 of the hydrants to be placed around the parish.

Dominic Beggan, a representative of the Resource Conservation & Development Council, explained that his agency will provide the hydrants free of charge but the jury will have to install and maintain them.

Dry hyrants will be placed near ponds, streams or other sources of water to be used to fill fire department tanker trucks. This will provide a source of water in rural areas and reduce the distance that tanker trucks will have to haul water in the event of a fire.

ROCKEFELLER OPENS

Rockefeller Refuge opened March 1. A cold front that moved in Tuesday evening put the temperature at 41 degrees for Wednesday morning and a 15 to 25 mile wind didn't help matters.

The reports were really bad, especially on bass fishing, however redfish was fair. I've always found the refuge to be better in late March and April for the spring months.

REFUGES TO OPEN

We'll see the opening of our national refuges Wed., Mar. 15. Lacassine Refuge will surely see a flow of anglers from Lake Charles east to Jennings and Sabine Refuge will see them from the Texas border to the Lake Charles area. There will also be lots of Cameron Parish folks as we look at these openings, sort of like Mardi Gras or squirrel season out east. We take a day off, we're going fishing.

Cameron Prairie will have mostly roadside fishing, which is good for thsoe who don't have a boat.

BOATING EDUCATION

The Department of Wildlife and Fisheries offers free boaters education courses throughout the state to help keep accidents at a minumum. This course is for all ages to learn boating safety, about boat registration, life floatation devices and rules of the waterways.

Courses in our area will be at the LDWF office in Lake Charles on Lakeshore Drive from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mar. 4, 11, 18 and 25.

NEW BOATING LAW

A new law going into effect May 1 requiring all boats to carry one wearable personal flotation device for each person on board. A throw type flotation device won't be legal or count as a life jacket. You can have them on board, but you still need a life jacket for each person aboard. Also children must wear their life jackets.

Ifeveryone would wear their life jackets, especially while the motor is running, it would be safer. The theme for this year's National Safe Boating Week is "Life Jackets, They Won't Work If You Don't Wear Them."

It is also estimated that half of all boating fatalities involve alcohol. Tougher laws and tougher punishment is in the making, so let's have a safe trip while out boating.

BASS FISHING

Remember when bass fishing this time of the year, willowleaf blades work well, especially in grass beds, edges and pot holes in the middle. Remember, warmer weather during the spring will hold more active bass, even if it's only a degree or two warmer.

The northern end of a pond will have warmer water, as the sun shines and covers all of it, and it's also protected by the north winds. Select dark color lures for cloudy or overcast days and the brighter colors for brighter days.

FEEDING PERIODS

Best - Fri., Mar. 10, 6:05 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.; Sat., Mar. 11, 6:50 a.m. and 7:10 p.m.; Sun., Mar. 12, 7:35 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Good - Fri., Mar. 10, 12:20 p.m.; Sat., Mar. 11, 12:45 p.m.; Sun., Mar. 12,1:25 p.m.

Refuge opening March 15, best - 9:50 a.m., good - 4 p.m.

Sabine to open Mar. 15-Oct. 15

On Mar. 15, the interior canals, bayous, ponds and impoundments of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge will open for public sport fishing, crabbing, and shrimping. The refuge wil remain open until Oct. 15. Legal hours for the public to be on the refuge are sunrise until sunset, Refuge Manager Will Nidecker advised.

The channels in Unit 1A have been completed. They extend from the boat launch along both levess out to the open water. This will improve access to the open water and provides additional habitat for catfish and sunfish.

Prospects for refuge fishing appears good for all the impoundments. The water levels are at operational levels. Nidecker continued, bass fishing in Unit 3 should continue to be good and catfishing in Unit 1A will continue to challenge area fishermen. Crappie and sunfish fishing should be good in all the management units and throughout the canal system.

Two changes from last year involve marsh operations. The first change is in the maximum motor size allowed in the management. The maximum horsepower is limited to no larger than 40 hp. The second change is permitting the use of trolling motors in the marshes. Fishermen are advised that outboard motor use is still prohibited in refuge marshes.

Cast netting will not be permitted except during the Louisiana Inland Shrimp Seasons. The hours for castnetting are from noon to sunset. Nidecker reminded all castnetters that the castnet size regulations are still in effect. Nets are restricted to 5 foot hanging radius length with an allowable stretch to 72 inches.

Jug fishing will be allowed only in refuge canals. No jug fishing permits are required. Only 10 jugs will be allowed per boat. Fishermen will be required to put their fishing license number on each jug. They must tend the jugs and remove them at the end of each day.

Refuge fishing reglations for 1995 are available at the refuge headquarters, Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries District V office in Lake Charles, at the refuge roadside fishing areas, and at local merchants. Copies of the brochure can be requested by calling (318) 762-3816 or writing to Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, Hwy. 27 South 3000 Main St., Hackberry, La. 70645.

G. L. Sr. 4-H Club float is winner

Grand Lake Sr. 4-H Club entered a float in the rodeo parade that was held in conjunction with the Southwest District Fat Stock Show and Rodeo. Their entry was the winning entry and won them an award of $300 for their club treasury.

The theme of this year's parade was "1995's Vision of the West Through the Eyes of Louisiana's Youth". Grand Lake's float depicted the club's visions of an "Old West" version with a covered wagon, old western dress of bonnets and overalls.

The other half of the float showed the "Modern West", a cowboy rounding and spraying his herd on his 4-wheeler, a rancher at his computer evaluating his herd; and a young cowboy/rancher traveling to a business meeting with his cellular phone in hand.

Senior 4-Hers participating on the float were: Jordan Aguillard, Jennifer Boudreaux, Ginger Broussard, Amanda Duhon, Brooke Jouett, and Nick Stickell. They were joined by Jr. 4-Hers Jade Jouett, Holly Manuel, and Ryan Poole. Adults assisting were Ricky and Kaylynn Poole and Angela Jouett and Sherry LaVergne, local 4-H leaders.

MICHELLE TROSCLAIR, 1995 Calcasieu Cameron Fair Queen, tourned Arlington Cemetery as part of her Washington itinerary recently.

Michelle Trosclair, the reigning Calcasieu Cameron Fair Queen, was a guest of the Mystic Krewe of Louisianians for the Mardi Gras Ball in Washington, D. C. from Feb. 8-12. Trosclair, a senior at South Cameron High School, joined selected queens, princesses and dignitaries from throughout Louisiana at the Washington festivities.

The itinerary began the morning of Wed., Feb. 8, with a breakfast at the Governor's Mansion hosted by Governor and Mrs. Edwin Edwards. Following breakfast, the group boarded a Continental Airlines jet for the trip to Washington.

On Thurs., Feb. 9, Trosclair toured Capital Hill with her delegation and lunched with Congressman Jimmy Hayes. That evening the "Louisiana Alive" par-

Paul Batts

Batts attending Pres. Classroom

Paul Batts, a South Cameron High School senior and the son of Wayne and Mona Batts of Creole, is attending the 1995 Presidential Classroom this week, Mar. 4-11, in Washington, D. C.

While there, Batts is participating in caucus meetings, seminars, crossfire forums and Capitol Hill visits with other students from throughout the United States. The scheduled tours include the Smithsonian Museums, and Arlington National Cemetery as well as other historical sights.

Topics of the crossfire forums in which Batts will participate include "The Role of Lobbyists", "Term Limits", and "Foreign Aid to Other Countries". The Sheraton Washington Hotel is the headquarters for the week-long program.

JULIE ANN Trahan was announced as Student of the Year at Grand Chenier Elementary School. She is a fifth grade banner roll student, and the 11 year old daughter of Martini and Bitsy Trahan of Grand Chenier.

Jury seeks compromise

At its February meeting, the Cameron Parish Police Jury voted to contact the Governor and Wildlife and Fisheries Dept. to try to work out a compromise between commercial and recreational fishermen on the proposed ban of gill nets.

The following letter was written to Russel Badon, police jury president, by Joe Herring, secretary of the wildlife department.

Governor Edwards asked that I respond to your recent letter regarding the saltwater gill net fishery in the State of Louisiana. At its February Meeting, the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission passed a Notice of Intent that would restrict the sale of gear licenses for seines, trammel nets, and saltwater gill nets. Once this rule is in place, only persons who purchased those licenses for 1994 would be able to purchase one for 1995.

"Additionally, the Legislature will be addressing several bills in this session, either to control the number of persons who can acquire these licenses in the future, or to eliminate the gears entirely. It has been a grave disappointment to me that in Louisiana, with its fertile waters, abundant natural resources, and its reputation for friendly people, that such vicious rhetoric has been prevalent throughout the debate on this subject.

"I sincerely hope that some reasonable resolution can be found for this squabble over who can harvest it or how it is harvested, so that the public can join with us in addressing the more important issue of the health of the resources. The Department has an abundance of scientific information regarding our resources, and perhaps if the issue was not so shrouded in rhetoric and emotion, the true state of these resources would be more evident to the general public.

"Since the resolution of this issue will probably be through legislative action, I strongly urge that you express your concerns to your legislators, as you have to the Governor. Additionally, the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission will be receiving public testimony on its license moratorium at both the March and April Commission meetings. Please feel free to attend and express your views in these meetings as well."

Sincerely,
/s/ Joe L. Herring

Legislators to push for bills

(American Press)

A group of area legislators held a press conference Tuesday to unveil five bills they intend to push to restore the citizens' right to vote on gambling in local communities.

State Reps. Randy Roach, Vic Stelly, Tim Stine and Elcie Guillory detailed their "local option" bills. Other area legislators supporting the effort are Herman Hill of Dry Creek and Dwayne Cooley of DeRidder. Sen. Cecil Picard has announced he supports a similar effort in the Senate.

Roach said although there was a period before the Legislature legalized gambling in 1991 that citizens could have petitioned to vote on local option, the time restraints made it unrealistic.

Another effort was made to give Lake Charles local option when it was added to the riverboat gambling law in 1992, but that option was declared unconstitutional, Roach said.

"Without local option, the citizens of Louisiana are completely at the mercy of the gaming interests when it comes to the expansion and operation of the gaming industry and are vitually powerless to force gaming operators to make good on their promises to be good corporate citizens," Roach said.

ty was held at the Washington Hilton and catered by famous chefs of New Orleans.

Friday's tours included the White House, the Lincoln Memorial and Arlington Cemetery. The group also spent time at the Vietnam Memorial Wall. That evening, they were guests at a semi-formal Mardi Gras Ball with several bands and a variety of foods.

The group's itinerary was open during the day on Sat., Feb. 11. Trosclair chose to tour the Smithsonian Museums and ice-skate nearby. That evening, the focal point of the trip took place with the forty-eighth annual Krewe of Louisianians Mardi Gras Ball. In addition to the numerous state and federal dignitaries, Vice President Al Gore was also in attendance.

Trosclair arrived home Sun., Feb. 12.

Four members of the Cameron Parish Jr. Leaders Club attended the recent State Livestock Show.

Toni Nunez, Cody Fenetz, Sarah Vaugh, and Kristi Dupuie worked in the Mini Farm, sponsored by the State Cooperative Extension Service. They taught children about the care and handling of baby animals, as well as entertained the children with the "Talking Tractor".

MUSING — By Bernice Denny

Terror in the garden

The vegetables that have been pictured recently in "The Pilot" have reminded me of those grown in the marsh gardens at Grand Chenier when I was a very small girl. These gardens were really the ones that bordered the road on its south side. The soil was very fertile. It was also enriched by the washings from the cattle stomps. The cattle gathered on the north hillside of the road. A high picket fence was built around the garden with a picket gate, which I remember vividly.

One morning my grandmother asked me to run to the garden and get a handful of green onion tops for her to use in preparing the noonday meal. All went well until I started through the gate to return with the onions. A yellow jacket buzzed out from its nest on the gate and stung me on the lip. I don't recall what I did with the onions. I do remember that when I reached the kitchen my lip was swollen inside out and I was crying loud enough to be heard all over the place. Soda packs, tobacco packs, and every old remedy that had been told were applied to my mouth. I doubt that anything really helped except the sympathy that was lavisly administered.

When I was older, Grandma had a big garden in a corner at the back of the field. It, too, was very fertile, Grandpa and the hired man worked it, but the ladies in the household usually gathered the vegetables.

One day Grandma gave me a big basket and sent me to the garden to gather ripe tomatoes. I filled the basket with ripe, juicy tomatoes and was turning to go back up the lane to the house when I saw a blue runner, a snake, coming toward me. I had been told that such snakes would run after a person, hence its name.

I was never very brave, and so I started running. I glanced back once and saw the snake coming in my direction. I literally flew on my ten-year-old legs and never paused to look back until I reached the yard gate. No snake! I decided that I was quite a runner. Only one tomato had jiggled out of the basket.

For one who grew up on a farm and who loved it with all my heart, I was not a typical farm girl. Or, are typical farm girls unafraid of yellow jackets and snakes?

The fellow that says, "I may be wrong, but—" does not believe there can be any such possibility.

Book Fair set at Grand Lake

The Cameron Elementary School will have its annual Book Fair Mon.-Fri., Mar. 13-18, in the school library. In addition to regular hours the library will be opened from 4-6 p.m. on Thurs., Mar. 16.

Prices start at 99 cents and the selection of books cover all ages and interests.

Education on oysters

Food and Drug Administratioan Commissioner David Kessler has assured Louisiana's congressional delegation that he would work with them and the gulf Coast oyster industry to figure out how best to educate the public about raw oysters.

Sen. John Breaux (D-La) invited other Louisiana and Gulf Coast congressional members, and the FDA and the National Marine and Fisheries officials to discuss an FDA proposal that could, if implemented, result in an August to October ban on the consumption of raw Gulf Coast oysters.

"The emphasis must be on consumer education and knowledge about eating raw oysters, specifically targeted to the people at risk," Sen. Breaux said. "Public safety is critical, but just as critical is treating the Gulf Coast oyster industry fairly because it's committed to ensuring the safety of its product."

Dr. Kessler discussed the FDA's internal efforts to improve its scientific knowledge through research about Vibrio vulnificus, the bacteria that may cause illness or death in certain at-risk individuals. At-risk are those with liver and blood disease or those who have other immune disorders.

Lacassine to open

Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge will be open for fishing and crawfishing from March 15 - October 15. Fishing hours are from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset.

Refuge fishing regulations are the same as last year. No special permit is required and advanced permission to enter the area is not required. Boats with motors larger than 25 horsepower are prohibited in Lacassine Pool. Boats on trailers may be launched in Lacassine Pool only from the cement ramp at the public boat launch.

A second boat launch and parking area is being constructed along Tidewater Road in Lacassine Pool to provide easier access to the east side of the Pool. However, this launch will not be completed before March 15, and will not be available for use until later in the summer.

The refuge continues to receive inquiries concerning whether or not the Tohatsu Mega 25 and similar outboard motors can be used in Lacassine Pool. The current position is that as long as the motor is rated at 25 HP and has not been tampered with, it can be used in the Pool. If safety problems arise from the operation of these motors in the Pool, they may be banned in the future or further restrictions may be implemented. Motors rated for more than 25 HP are prohibited in the Pool. Horsepower is not restricted outside the Pool.

Crawfishing is only permitted in Unit A near Lacassine Pool. People interested in crawfishing on the refuge should note that crawfish are not stocked in Unit A and the number of crawfish caught has been low in recent years.

Maps and current regulations for the refuge may be obtained by visiting the office on Highway 3056 or writing Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, HCR 63, Box 186, Lake Arthur, La. 70549 or call the refuge at 774-5923.

6.5% A.P.Y. I.R.A. Certificate of Deposit

Calcasieu Marine National Bank's newest C.D. is designed specifically for Individual Retirement Account (IRA) contributions for tax-year 1994, contributions which can be made until April 17, 1995.

The 6.35% interest rate paid on this special, 2½-Year C.D. earns 6.5% Annual Percentage Yield (APY) on your investment, a rate we have chosen to be our market's best 2½-Year C.D. rate, effective through April 17, 1995. To qualify for the rate, a minimum deposit of $1,000.00 is required.

Whether you are beginning your IRA contributions in 1994, or now choosing the best way to add to your IRA, consider the following features of this Calcasieu Marine National Bank IRA Certificate of Deposit.

Is An I.R.A. For You?

If the idea of an Individual Retirement Account is new to you, we urge you to give us a call for the details of who may contribute to an IRA, what the possible tax-savings are, and other important features of this extremely popular savings option. In general, IRAs are an excellent way to build retirement savings, with income taxes deferred until you retire. Anyone who earns income from working - and does not reach age 70½ this year - may qualify to contribute to an IRA, and depending on your income and marital status, your contribution could be $2,000 (individuals) or $2,250 (two IRAs for a married couple with one wage-earner). Many other details apply - and we will be happy to discuss those with you - such as possible penalties for early withdrawal of IRA contributions.

Tax Savings?

Contributions into an IRA may be completely tax-deductible, depending generally on (a) whether or not you (or your spouse) are already covered by a tax-qualified retirement plan at work, and (b) the total of your adjusted gross income. If you qualify for complete deductibility of your contributions, the tax savings from investments into IRAs can be significant. As examples, consider:

...If you are in the 28% income tax bracket and otherwise qualify to make deductible IRA contributions, a typical $2,000 investment into an IRA saves you $784 in federal income tax. If the $2,000 goes into your IRA, you keep that $784, and pay taxes on the income only when you begin drawing out the investment after your retirement, very possibly at a lower income tax rate.

...If you made a $2,000 IRA contribution into the Calcasieu Marine 6.5% (APY) IRA Certificate of Deposit account for twenty years, and the rate was 6.5% (APY) for that entire period, your $40,000 in total contributions would build to a pre-tax total of $82,725.33, more than doubling your investment for retirement. (This calculation assumes that the APY is stable at 6.5% for 20 years, and that interest earned remains on deposit until maturity.)

Can You Transfer Your Present I.R.A. to Calcasieu Marine's Higher Rate?

If you already have an IRA at another institution, and want to directly transfer it to Calcasieu Marine, we will handle the transfer for you completely. (If your transfer is not completed in this direct manner, income-tax withholding and/or penalties for early withdrawal may apply.)

For further information and assistance, please call any Calcasieu Marine National Bank branch listed below.

To: All Cameron School Honor Students

Dear Honor Students,

I would like to be the first to congratulate you on all your efforts. You have proved that hard work and dedication is the key to success, and that luck has very little to do with winning with school.

I would like to take the time to thank the teachers, school secretaries, and everyone who had a part in helping organize the pictures for the honor tabloid. I know it is a job, but our honor students deserve to be recognized for all their hard work.

For those students who worked hard but missed the honor tab, you have found that trying was a learning experience. By improving your grades, you have raised your goals for higher grades and achievements next year. If you find this to be true, then this tabloid has been a success. Try again next time because it is an honor to be an honor student and make our recognition tabloids.

Sincerely,
Billy Navarre

Cameron--the Great Outdoors Parish!

Msgr. Curtis Vidrine

Vidrine will observe 50th anniversary

Several celebrations have been scheduled at Our Lady of the Sea Church in Cameron to honor the 50th anniversary of the ordination of the Reverend Monsignor Curtis S. Vidrine.

On Thursday, March 16, the priests of the Diocese of Lake Charles have been invited to concelebrate at 11 a.m. Mass with Monsignor Vidrine in the Church. Parishioners are also invited to attend the celebration.

The main parish celebration is scheduled for Sunday, March 19, with the 10 a.m. Mass followed by an open house honoring Msgr. Vidrine. The open house will be held immediately following Mass in the parish center.

Monsignor Vidrine was ordained March 17, 1945 by the Most Reverend Jules Jeanmard, Bishop of Lafayette. He celebrated his first Mass the next day at St. John the Evangelist in Lafayette.

Born in Chatagnier, La., Monsignor Vidrine graduated from St. Joseph Seminary in Benedict, La. and Notre Dame Seminary in New Orelans, where he did his college/philosophy and theology studies.

His first assignment was as an assistant pastor at Immaculate Conception Parish in Lake Charles, serving there until 1952. In 1952 he was named Pastor of St. Hubert Parish in Lake Charles and remained there until 1960. From 1960 to 1974 he served as pastor of Sacred Heart Parish in New Iberia and Our Lady of the Sacred Heart Parish in Church Point.

In 1974 he returned to the western part of the then Diocese of Lafayette to become pastor of Our Lady of Seven Dolors Parish in Welsh. Since 1976 he has been pastor of Our Lady Star of the Sea Parish in Cameron.

He served as dean of the Church Point Deanery of the Diocese of Lafayette (1971 - 1974) and was regional vicar of the combined Church Point and Crowley deaneries (1973 - 1974).

Monsignor Vidrine also acted as moderator of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women of the Diocese of Lafayette from 1960 to 1973. He served as Prosynodal Judge of the Diocesan Marriage Tribunal from 1972 to 1975.

He has been a third Degree Knight of Columbus since 1940 and a member of the Fourth Degree since 1947.

THE PROBABILITIES of a hurricane hitting various areas along the Atlanta and Gulf coasts in 1995 are shown in the above chart. The greatest probability, 70 percent, is for Texas and West Florida, with Georgia and North Carolina coming in second with 60 percent. Louisiana and Alabama have a probability of about 50 percent.

State has 50% chance having '95 hurricane

For 1995, Houston-based Weather Research Center says ten named storms with six reaching hurricane intensity, are likely to occur this season. The 1995 Atlantic Hurricane Season Outlook was formally issued on March 15, 1995 at the Hurricanes & Industry '95 conference.

Meteorologists at the center also say that the section of the United States coast with the highest probability of experiencing a storm are the West Coast of Florida and Texas, with each sharing a 70 percent chance of a tropical storm or hurricane making landfall. Additionally, there is a chance of tropical activity as early as May and as late as December this year.

The Center's outlook is based on the Orbital Cyclone Strike Index. This index was developed in the mid-1980s by Dr. John Freeman and Jill F. Hasling to make a seasonal outlook of Atlantic Tropical Cyclone activity. The Index has performed very well in predicting which part of the United States coast has the highest probability and also the number of storms expected each season.

The index cannot be used to forecast when no activity is expected. Regardless, everyone that lives along the coast of the United States should prepare each year for the possibility of a hurricane.

THE RAINS CAME

Our outdoor activities have been cut short and fishing reports are just at a standstill. Rainy weather, a real cold front with chill factors in the teens, just about tell it all. Now, with a few days of dry weather and sunshine things should get better. Bass are in the marsh and they are ready to spawn.

The three refuges opened Wednesday with many anglers hitting Lacassine and Sabine refuges. We'll have reports next week. Miami's permit fishing opens this Sat., Mar. 18, and there are a few changes in rules this year.

NO CAMPING

There is to be no overnight camping or any nighttime activities on any of Miami's land. Fishing is from sunrise to sunset only. This permit is for rod and reel or cane pole fishing only. No other types of fishing, nets, trolls, traps or commercial activities. No firearms, only 25 HP motors with no more than 33.3 cubic inches maximum. Remember, be a good sport or you could lose your permit and remember, only one guest per permit.

WATER LEVEL

I'll say one thing, if what I'm hearing is true, that the Drainage Board member wants the water level in the Big Burn dropped to below 1 foot, it's over for fishing before it's started. The Burns needs 1.3 to 1.6 of water to be fishable and this is not harming anything.

I think this would present a fish kill plus harm the natural resources of the Big Burns and I really believe there's people including special interest groups and maybe even the feds, who could put pressure and possibly a lawsuit could occur. I surely hope this is not the case and the water level is kept where the Burns is fishable.

GILL NETS

Another hot item now is, will a ban on gill nets carry in Baton Rouge this month or next?

The redfish are on a rebound and speckle trout commercial fishing is closed because the quota was reached. Opening will again be in September, unless there's a net ban. Now, the game fish status on redfish is safe for another year.

Other questions or comments: Ban all gill nets from inland waters, because the out of state netters will be too great, or will we ban all out of state netters instead.

What will the gill net ban lead to? It discriminates against our fishermen who are trying to make a living.

Why not ban shrimp nets, crab traps and maybe even stop trapping and then to heck with what our forefathers did for a living.

Just think how long the welfare lines will be if the ban goes through. Wait until we hit the grocery stores with our food stamps. We'll buy everyting, well almost everything, but fish. Remember, there's a ban.

Will one sponsor of the gill net bill make a u-turn? Could be after meeting with over 100 supporters, he heard a protest from a couple hundred commercial fishermen and he poromised them he would seek some kind of compromise.

Wel, there it is and it's hard to tell what will take place. My personal opinion is there will be a compromise.

SPORT FISHERMEN TROUBLES

There's suppose to be more red snapper offshore than ever, but the National Marine Fisheries Service has still cut back. New for 1995, five red snappers 15 inches minimum length.

Now, will the Wildlife Restoration program be raided. It's safe for right now, but what about tomorrow or the next day. There have been various federal interests who have attempted to raid the fund.

This fund is set up and paid by excise taxes paid by hunters and fishermen and it goes back for land management and wildlife species and stocking programs. It's been 50 years in working order and it should be left alone.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LEE JOHN CONNER
June 3, 1921 - March 19, 1988

For 27 years you were in my life. I thought the agony of losing you was too much to bear. Now 7 years later, the agony has slowly turned into a sad, sweet, comforting feeling in my heart. A purer and holier sort of feeling than I have known before. Your wonderful attributes of love, faith, kindness, intelligence, laughter, and loving understanding are fondly remembered. I know you will live forevermore in God's eternal light and that I shall see you again someday.

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty." Psalms 91:1.

I Love You Daddy.
Annie.

Also remembering you this day. Your Wife, my Mother, Brothers and Sisters, Flora Mae, Bobby, David, Dale, Mary and Carol

Dear Editor

Dear Editor:

As an instructor at Sowela Regional Technical Institute in the Consumer Electronics program, wish to express my views about the future of the industry in this age of rapidly changing technology. I am concerned that persons interested in pursuing this field as a career are under the impression that there is no future because the new technology has made the technician obsolete. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Please know that yesterday's vacuum tube now translates into today's Interactive Smart Television, Fiber Optics, and Sophisticated Micro-Computer Chips.

Innovations such as VDT (Video Dial Tone) being delivered from the phone companies with Fiber Optics will be available to the public. These services will allow the consumers to interface with the Electronic Superhighway.

In the late 1980's and early 1990's we experienced how the PC computer invaded the consumer's home. These innovations currently allow the consumer to be "on line" with countless informational services.

VDT, DSS (Digital Satellite Service), Fiber Optics, PC Computers, Wireless Cable, Smart Interactive Television, High Definition Television are the new innovations that have revolutionized the Consumer Electronics Industry.

Last but not least, we cannot forget the innovations that now are classified as necessities such as regular television, VCR's, Hi-Fi Stereo Equipment, Microwave Ovens, Cam-Corders, PC Computers, Security Systems, and Closed Circuit Television Equipment. All of these components require qualified service providers.

The Consumer Electronics Industry is a smart choice for anyone interested in electronics as a career.

Sincerely,
/s/ John T. Gilmore, II

Refuge will open fishing on March 15

Sport fishing will open in two areas of Cameron Prairie National Wildlife Refuge on March 15.

One of the areas to be opened is the roadside canal located opposite from the entrance road to the refuge headquartes on the west side of Louisiana Highway 27. Access to this area consists of a refuge road called the Bankfishing Road, that is six-tenths of a mile in length. The adjacent roadside canal and borrow pits are convenient for bank fishermen. This is a single land road. Motorists should park in designated areas and not block through traffic. No motorized boats are allowed in this area, and there is no boat launch. Two graveled parking lots with parking spaces for the disabled have been recently constructed on the bankfishing road.

Sport fishing will also be allowed on about 2 miles of the refuge outfall canal. Motorized boats are allowed in the outfall canal. The canal outlet is located 1 1/2 miles north of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway (GIWW) on North Canal (the east refuge boundary). The east-west outfall canal can be accessed by boat only from the public boat launch located under the Gibbstown Bridge on Louisiana Highway 27.

Fishermen should go east on the Intracoastal Waterway form the bridge for about 3 miles, then proceed north on North Canal for approximately 1 1/2 miles to reach this fishing area. No other refuge waters will be opened at this time.

Areas described above will be opened for sport fishing, subject to the following condition:

1. Fishing and public access is permitted from sunrise to sunset from March 15 through October 15 in areas designated by refuge signs and/or brochures.

2. Access to refuge fishing areas is restricted to roads and canals designated by refuge signs and/or brochure.

3. Where motors are allowed, they are restricted to no larger than 25 horsepower.

4. Trot lines must be attached with a length of cotton line that extends into the water.

5. Boats may not be left on the refuge overnight.

6. All applicable state and federal fishing, public use and litter laws will be enforced on the refuge.

A permit is required. Permits are available at Chesson's Grocery Store and at the Refuge Visitor's Center on Louisiana Highway 27. They may also be obtained by writing Cameron Prairie NWR, RFt. 1 Box 643, Bell City, LA 70630.

Creole club will become independent

When the old Creole Family and Community Education Association held its first meeting of 1995 in the home of Wayne Bonin, the club met under its new name, Creole Homemakers Club, and as an independent and unaffiliated organization for the first time in its long history. Although independent, the club will continue in association with the two other homemakers clubs in the parish, these bing Grand Chenier and Sweeklake.

President Baccigalopi gave a report on the club's Christmas party which was held Dec. 13. Members voted to keep the present stae of club officers for 1995 and also discussed various demonstrations to be given at future meetings, but reserved finalizing plans for these until the March meeting.

Colorado gets its own Mardi Gras

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

For years, my family and I have spent the Mardi Gras holiday in New Orleans, and have thoroughly enjoyed it.

However, this year we decided to join our friends from Baton Rouge on a skiing trip to Breckenridge, Colo., where they have been celebrating Mardi Gras (Louisiana style) for several years.

We flew to Denver where we had rented a van to drive the 70 miles up to the little Victorian town of Breckenridge.

Along the way we witnessed some of the most beautiful scenery I have ever seen.

The further up into the Rocky Mountains the harder it snowed and we saw ice skaters on a frozen lake and sledding on it.

Our condos were located in the Beaver Run Resort which was located on one end of the village and featured a ski-in, ski-out lift right by the condo.

The remainder of the first day was taken up with purchasing lift tickets, renting equipment, buying groceries, and getting a feel for the resort which was composed of four buildings connected by covered catwalks which crossed over roads.

The second day was taken up by attending ski school, which is a must if you have never skied before, or in a long time, even for a refresher course. Even learning the correct way to board and unboard the ski lift is important.

The third day the real test came when everyone boarded the lifts to the top of the mountains to test their skills.

The next days were taken up with skiing from morning until the lifts closed at 4 p.m.

The ski runs were very well marked with green for beginners; green-blue and blue for intermediates; blue-black for more advanced; and black for advanced.

By the end of our trip most of the skiers had advanced to the blacks.

Two of our group caught different stages of the flue, and had to take to the bed. Another tore ligaments in her leg from a fall and had to wear a brace during the remainder of the trip.

I got altitude sickness and had a very hard time getting my breath. The symptoms are gasping for breath, bubbly to aching stomack pains, and a lethargic feeling. I realized that going from 1 foot altitude to 9,000 to 12,000 feet in dry humidity had to do something to one's system.

We kept the humidifier going the whole time we were there, which helped some.

I wore ski boots the whole time I was there, as did just about everyone, so they could get good traction on the ice and snow.

Mardi Gras day featured a parade in the village of two floats of Louisiana revelers in costumes, Mardi Gras parasols, beads, dabloons to throw, which ended up at Maggie's, a bar/lounge in the mall where Louisianians showed everyone how to have a good time. Beads were flying everywhere, one parade after another was organized and paraded around the tavern and dance floor. The proprietor announced that this was the greatest party Breckenridge had ever seen.

We packed up and started back to Denver the next day, ending up at the new Denver International Airport, which had opened up the day before after being held up from opening by a faulty baggage carrier that was chewing up luggage, etc. Stapleton Airport had closed after about 28 years in business.

We stopped for lunch on the way to Denver in a picturesque little gold mining town at the Buffalo Tavern. That was my first time to sample Buffalo meat, which by the way, is no longer on the endangered species list, and it was quite tasty.

The new airport's cost was 5 billion dollars and was fraught with fraud and overruns and lawsuits.

We were thankful when we heard that American Airlines, on which we were riding, had not started using the new baggage system yet, so we got home with all our luggage intact.

My thoughts were that skiing must be a labor of love, with so many Louisianians leaving the warm south to traverse up to the 9-12,000 foot Rocky Mountains, risking altitude sickness and flue.

However, picture perfect views of snow capped mountains, powder snow on the ski lifts, snow laden spruce, pine and aspen trees, help drive all the negative thoughts away.

We arrived home hours late, but didn't miss our connections because all planes in airports across the United States had been delayed due to deicing of wings due to the snow storms.

The youngsters are already planning their ski trips for next year — we'll see.

Blakes are presented conservation award

Braxton and Norma Jean Blake, of Cameron and Dry Creek, were honored by the Calcasieu Soil and Water Conservation District during its annual outstanding conservationist awards banquet.

They are this years recipients of the outstanding conservationist award, announced Frank Chapman, district conservationist with the Natural Resource Conservation Seervice. The Blakes own the Double B Cattle Co. and raise registered Texas Longhorns. Their ranch is located one mile south of Dry Creek. They also live in Cameron.

The Blakes were recognized for their efforts in cattle production, improved pasture maintenance and erosion control. With Dry Creek running through their property, they also protect the creek from degradation by use of streamside management zones and livestock exclusion, Chapman said. These management practices maintain water quality by reducing the amount of sediments and animal nutrients entering the creek.

The Blakes are also participating in the Louisiana Forest Stewardship Program, which encourages multiple use of their farm land. Management decisions in their forest stewardship plan will improve timber production, improve wildlife habitat, protect soil from erosion and maintain water quality in Dry Creek, Chapman said.

The Blakes have also restored their pre-Civil War homesite on their property to "showplace condition". Chapman said, "Mr. and Mrs. Blake are conservationists in every sense of the word, and are to be congratulated for their efforts in conserving our natural resources."

Eagle Scout tells of trip

Creole Boy Scout Troop 202 recently heard a report by Paul Batts on his recent trip to Washington, DC as a participant in the Presidential Classroom program. Paul, a senior at South Cameron High School and an Eagle Scout is a member of Troop 202. The report was very informative since the Troop members are presently working on the "Citizenship in the Nation" merit badge.

Paul gave a description of his visits to the Capitol Building, the White House, Arlington Cemetery and other points of interest. He described his meeting and shaking hands with President Clinton, meeting and talking about topics of interest with Senators Johnston and Breaux, and being with several hundred other teenagers from all over the nation. His group also observed Senator Dole, President of the Senate and Congressman Newt Gingrich, Speaker of the House, in a private discussion in a Capitol hallway.

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Batts of Creole.

By KEVIN SAVOIE,
Asst. Area Fisheries Agent

Controlling the number of fishermen in a particular fishery has been discussed by federal fishery managers for a number of years. And in fact, several fisheries are currently operating under a limited entry system. This concept is now being discussed as a possibility in some states' waters.

A limited entry plan usually starts with a decision about which fishermen will continue to receive licenses and which will not. This is often the highest hurdle to cross. A limited entry plan that doesn't exclude someone would not limit the number of fishermen. On the other hand, those that are excluded can be expected to oppose the plan.

Usually there is an attempt to include all the current fishermen who can demonstrate they are legitimate fishermen. This means that some agency, elected officials, group of fishermen, or all three have to decide what will determine who is a legitimate fisherman and who is not.

If this hurdle is cleared, the second step is to decide how future licenses will be handled. Several plans are possible. One is that the number of licenses is maintained at the starting level. In this case, when licenses are not renewed, they become available to new applicants who might have to qualify in some way for the license.

Another route is to set a goal for the allowable number of fishermen and not issue new licenses until the desired number of fishermen is reached. An alternative is to only issue one new license for every two (or three) licenses that are not renewed until the goal is met.

More complicated plans involve fishermen being able to buy and sell licenses among themselves or involve allocating quotas of fish to each fishermen which can be bought and sold.

West Calcasieu Cameron Hospital has provided this service for the last 19 months. This unique program utilizes specially trained horses as a treatment modality. The movement of the horse, and the setting that the horse and rider share, is conducive to complete stimulation of sensory motor components in the patient.

SEISMIC WORK PICKS UP

Hackberry seismic survey planned

Amoco Oil Co. has announced that it has commissioned a 3-D seismic land survey to be conducted over more than 50 square miles in the Hackberry area beginning this spring.

"The survey is designed to help Amoco further develop current oil and gas production, and identify new oil and gas reserves," according to Bill Stephens, public affairs advisor. "If successful, this program could extend the economic life of the field, as well as the related benefits to the community."

The survey area is bound by the Calcasieu/Cameron Parish line on the north, the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge on the south, Calcasieu Lake on the east and the western boundary of Amoco's property on the west.

Stephens said that the 3-D seismic survey is the very latest technology and gives an oil company a much clearer picture of what oil and gas reserves may be found in the area.

Uland Guidry, Cameron parish school board supervisor, said that the board has one or two school sections in the area to be surveyed and the work could possibly bring the board some new mineral leases and hopefully new production.

Guidry said that there is a lot of seismic activity in the parish at the present time. A survey of 100 square miles west of Cameron, one in the Creole area and one in the Holly Beach area are in progress or have been completed in recent months.

The school board, the police jury and parish land owners all hope that these surveys will increase drilling activity and future oil and gas production, all of which has been severely reduced in recent years.

Gill net bill has 45 co-sponsors

Last November, Florida citizens voted 72 to 28 percent in favor of a constitutional amendment to ban gill nets in Florida waters. Texas banned gill nets in 1988, and California, Georgia, South Carolina, Indiana, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania have also banned gill or entaglement nets in their waters.

Gill nets are made of one to three strands of nearly indestructible monofilament line. Each net can legally be up to 400 yards in length, and there is no limit on the number of nets a person can deploy.

As an alternative to gill netting, the bill allows commercial fishermen the option to switch types of gear and use conventional rods and reels for their catches. Louisiana has about 600 full-time, resident commercial gill netters; the harvest value of legally caught and edible finfish in Louisiana is less than $20 million.

New district has organizational meet

Police Juror Brent Nunez opened the meeting and asked for nominations of officers. Butch Hebert was elected chairman; Black Granger, vice-chairman and Patrick Hebert, secretary/treasurer.

The board has set its regular meeting date as the last Tuesday of each month at 6 p.m. at the Grand Lake-Sweet Lake Fireman Center.

A set of board bylaws were presented and worked on for final approval at its next regular meeting.

The board has also set several special meetings for the second Tuesday of the month for a couple of months. These board meetings are open to the public and if anyone wishes to attend and present the board with a problem, they are asked to call Patrick Hebert at 598-2734 and have their item placed on the agenda.

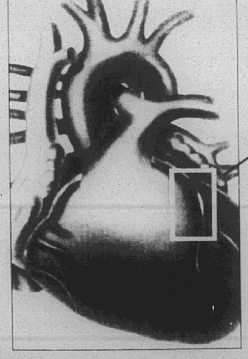
The Heart Doctors



Craig M. Walker, M.D., Clinical Research

When he founded Cardiovascular Institute of the South in 1983, Dr. Walker had a vision of a medical institution which would provide the highest quality treatment for heart and circulatory system disease, and contribute to the future of cardiovascular diagnosis and therapy through clinical research.

Today, that vision has been realized. CIS has become a treatment and clinical research center of international renown. It has participated in the development of virtually every major new method of non-surgical heart treatment developed over the past decade, including a number of firsts in stenting-- the highly promising technique of placing permanent implants to hold open previously blocked arteries.

"Clinical research is so demanding and time consuming that it's rarely pursued outside big academic medical centers," Dr. Walker concedes. "But it's the only way you can be sure you're really at the leading edge of your specialty. By the time most cardiologists are performing their first case using a new procedure, we will have performed hundreds."

AMOCO

3-D LAND SURVEY ANNOUNCED

Amoco's Southeast Business Unit has commissioned a 3-D seismic land survey to be conducted over more than 50 square miles in the Hackberry area. The survey is designed to help Amoco further develop current oil and gas production, and identify new oil and gas reserves. If successful, this program could extend the economic life of the field, as well as the related benefits to the community.

The survey area is bounded by the Calcasieu/Cameron Parish line on the north, the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge on the south, Calcasieu Lake on the east, and the western boundary of Amoco's property on the west.

Field survey operations are scheduled to begin in late Spring and last until early Fall. Work will be conducted in a professional manner by an experienced crew from Grant Geophysical based in New Iberia, Louisiana. The crew will make every effort to operate safely and with minimal disruption to the people and the environment of the Hackberry community.

Permit agents will soon begin contacting surface and mineral owners in the area to discuss how best to accomplish the survey objectives. Amoco and Grant look forward to completing this project in a way that is mutually beneficial to the companies and the Hackberry community.

REFUGES OPEN

Last Wedneday was "D" Day as our three National Refuges opened.

Harry O'Blanc, and I made a trip to Lacassine and we were about 100 in line and launched at 7:30 a.m. We did have a good day, boating 20 nice bass, uprooting 3 over 5 lbs., but released all with eggs, keeping only 7 bass.

We did get into an electrical storm and it was close enough to tickle our hands on our rods and make the hair stnd. We finally had to come in and it took just as long to load out the boat as to launch it. I talked to three different persons who had two 7 and one 8 pounder on Wednesday.

Reports on Sabine Refuge was a fairly good day also. A friend of mine from Sulphur caught a 7½ pound bass, weighed on his D-lier scale and released it. He told me he had caught 7 fairly good fish. He caught his fish on a spinner bait. I caught all my fish on a indigo/black red metal flake lizard, using a 1/16 slip sinker, red in color.

The roadside canal west of the Gibbstown Bridge produced some perch and bream for a couple of folks I stopped and talked to on my way back from Lacassine. They were using shiners. This is on Cameron Prairie Refuge.

MIAMI OPENS

The second "D" Day in the same week was the openipg Saturday of the Miami Corporation Permit Fishing and the famous Big Burns. As usual, plenty of boats and the Burns always produces nice bass and plenty of goggle-eye, perch, bream and nice white perch.

A couple of pointers I would like to again remind you - it's very important to know this, as to not get into trouble:

Sabine Refuge: Sunrise to sunset, 40 hp motors are allowed and you cannot use electric troll motors in the marsh area. No check in or out and no special permit needed.

Lacassine Refuge: One hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. 25 hp maximum which includes the Mega 25. No check inor out and no special permits needed.

Cameron Prairie Refuge: Sunrise to sunset, but you must have in your possession a current permit and you can pick one up at their headquarters on La. 82.

Rockefeller Refuge: Sunrise to sunset, no check in or out, you must have a fishing license or stamp to be on the refuge, and naturally, if you enter any water to fish, you must have a current fishing license and if you fish the south side ofLa. 82, you will also need a saltwater license.

At Lacassine Refuge, Quenton LeBoeuf and Darren Thibodeaux caught 20 beautiful bass, with one 7 pounder, a 6 and two over 5 pounds. Also catching over 5 pounders were Todd Conner and Scootie Trosclair. Scootie fished with my old buddy Boudreaux.

FISHING MOTIVES

Many men go fishing all their lives without knowing it is not fish they are after, but to enjoy the outdoors and Mother Nature, and to just plain relax and be away from it all.

Now, if you get serious, this is the month through April to catch a large bass, because this is spawning season.

Fishing now open on the Lacassine

Persons or groups wanting to have a fishing tournament on Lacassine Refuge should contact the refuge quickly if they are interested in particular dates. Refuge Manager Vicki Grafe says permits for specific dates are issued on a first come basis to those meeting the requirements for a tournament permit.

Basically, anyone wanting to hold a tournament entirely on the refuge, with no other waters involved, is required to obtain a Special Use Permit. Contact the refuge office at 318-774-5923 for information.

Opening day of the Lacassine Refuge fishing season was Mar. 15, and if you were a little late getting to the Pool, you were greeted by 154 boats waiting in line at the ramp to launch and over 30 fishermen lined up on the bank. Fishing was a little slow, as expected after getting over 4 inches of rain in the last two weeks.

The refuge has had several personnel changes in the last month. Wayne Styron arrived early this month to assume the Wildlife Biologist position. He transferred to Lacassine from the Southeast Louisiana Refuges Complex.

6.5% A.P.Y. I.R.A. Certificate of Deposit

Calcasieu Marine National Bank's newest C.D. is designed specifically for Individual Retirement Account (IRA) contributions for tax-year 1994, contributions which can be made until April 17, 1995.

The 6.35% interest rate paid on this special, 2½-Year C.D. earns 6.5% Annual Percentage Yield (APY) on your investment, a rate we have chosen to be our market's best 2½-Year C.D. rate, effective through April 17, 1995. To qualify for the rate, a minimum deposit of $1,000.00 is required.

Whether you are beginning your IRA contributions in 1994, or now choosing the best way to add to your IRA, consider the following features of this Calcasieu Marine National Bank IRA Certificate of Deposit.

Is An I.R.A. For You?

If the idea of an Individual Retirement Account is new to you, we urge you to give us a call for the details of who may contribute to an IRA, what the possible tax-savings are, and other important features of this extremely popular savings option. In general, IRAs are an excellent way to build retirement savings, with income taxes deferred until you retire. Anyone who earns income from working - and does not reach age 70½ this year - may qualify to contribute to an IRA, and depending on your income and marital status, your contribution could be $2,000 (individuals) or $2,250 (two IRAs for a married couple with one wage-earner). Many other details apply - and we will be happy to discuss those with you - such as possible penalities for early withdrawal of IRA contributions.

Tax Savings?

Contributions into an IRA may be completely tax-deductible, depending generally on (a) whether or not you (or your spouse) are already covered by a tax-qualified retirement plan at work, and (b) the total of your adjusted gross income. If you qualify for complete deductibility of your contributions, the tax savings from investments into IRAs can be significant. As examples, consider:

...If you are in the 28% income tax bracket and otherwise qualify to make deductible IRA contributions, a typical $2,000 investment into an IRA saves you $560 in federal income tax. If the $2,000 goes into your IRA, you keep that $560, and pay taxes on the income only when you begin drawing out the investment after your retirement, very possibly at a lower income tax rate.

...If you made a $2,000 IRA contribution into the Calcasieu Marine 6.5% (APY) IRA Certificate of Deposit account for twenty years, and the rate was 6.5% (APY) for that entire period, your $40,000 in total contributions would build to a pre-tax total of $82,725.33, more than doubling your investment for retirement. (This calculation assumes that the APY is stable at 6.5% for 20 years, and that interest earned remains on deposit until maturity.)

Can You Transfer Your Present I.R.A. to Calcasieu Marine's Higher Rate?

If you already have an IRA at another institution, and want to directly transfer it to Calcasieu Marine, we will handle the transfer for you completely. (If your transfer is not completed in this direct manner, income-tax withholding and/or penalties for early withdrawal may apply.)

For further information and assistance, please call any Calcasieu Marine National Bank branch listed below.

Maybe we won't please everyone...
...but that doesn't mean we can't try.

Msgr. Curtis Vidrine and visiting priests

Msgr. Vidring honored on 50th anniversary

Our Lady Star of the Sea Parish in Cameron was the recent scene of a celebration marking the 50th anniversary of the ordination of Msgr. Curtis Vidrine. Msgr. Vidrine was ordained March 17, 1945 and has been pastor of Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Cameron since 1976.

On March 16, approximately 40 priests, mostly from the diocese of Lake Charles, participated in a concelebrated Mass held at 11 a.m. Bishop Jude Speyrer, Bishop of the Diocese of Lake Charles, and Bishop Reece from the Virgin Islands, were among the participants.

The homily was presented by Msgr. Louis Melancon, and Msgr. H. A. Vincent served as coordinator of the Mass. Father J. W. Matt, who was a classmate of Msgr. Vidrine, was a special guest.

March 19, was designated as "Parishioners Day", and many members of the congregation gathered to express their appreciation to Msgr. Vidrine at a reception following the 10 a.m. Mass.

Parish to receive 35 dry hydrants

Louisiana's rural population and local government agencies have received good news about rural road maintenance and fire protection.

Jack McClanahan, Secretary of the Louisiana Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has announced the approval of $998,984 in oil overcharge funds for the implementation of a statewide dry hydrant project to be coordianted by Trailblazer, Inc., of Ruston. The project will demonstrate energy savings through improved rural fire protection and road maintenance with the installation of 2,000 dry hydrants throughout the state.

A dry hydrant is a non-pressurized pipe system permanently installed in existing lakes, ponds and streams. Properly installed, dry hydrants can solve the problem of hauling water over long distances by providing natural, unprocessed water for use.

Improved rural fire protection is achieved with the use of dry hydrants by providing water from existing sources (ponds, streams, lakes, creeks, or irrigation ditches). Fire department tanker trucks can tap these water supplies to fight rural fires, and reduce the amount of time and water a tanker would spend traveling back and forth from the site of the fire to the originating water source.

Water is also a key ingredient to maintaining gravel roads. Using water to compact new layers of dirt or gravel makes a smoother surface on which vehicles can travel and increases the mileage vehicles using the road can achieve. Having water available for extraction on-site resulted in a 50 percent reduction of driving time for road maintenance trucks in the pilot project.

Absentee vote

Ruby Kelley, Cameron Parish Registrar of Voters, announced that registration will close April 4, for the April 29 election for the Consolidated Garbage District No. 1.

Voters will vote on a tax of 6.97 mills for the purpose of providing and maintaining garbage collection and disposal services in the district, which includes the entire parish.

Cancer tests

The American Cancer Society will sponsor a free Cancer Screening Clinic Wed., April 5, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Calcasieu Parish Health Unit on Prien Lake Road, Lake Charles.

There will be free pap smears, skin cancer checks, and colorectal kits.

Grand Lake Knights join Msgr. Cramers

Four members of the newly-organized Grand Lake Council 11407 of the Knights of Columbus have been approved as candidates for membership in Msgr. Cramers Assembly of the Fourth Degree.

In addition three members of the Council 11407 who were Fourth Degree members of other assemblies, have transferred their memberships to Msgr. Cramers Assembly. They are the Rev. T. H. Herlong, formerly of Dallas Assembly 1754, and Earl J. Ogea and Alex Beard Jr., both formerly of Msgr. Peters Assembly of Jennings.

The four candidates and the three transfers were approved by vote of assembly members at the assembly's March meeting.

The candidates will advance to the Fourth Degree in ceremonies to be conducted by Arthur L. Campo of Baker, Master of the Fourth Degree for Louisiana, on Sat., April 29, in Sulphur.

Rodeo nears

The South Cameron FFA will sponsor the 11th Annual South Cameron High School Qualifying Rodeo Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8. This event, which draws approximately 1,200 people, will be held at the Cameron Parish Rodeo Arena in Cameron.

New technology could rejuvenate Hackberry oil field says Amoco

Amoco, the U. S. Department of Energy and Louisiana State University have announced the start-up of a new technology designed to breathe new life into an old Louisiana oil field.

The air injection project now operating in Southwest Louisiana in a portion of the West Hackberry Field (Cameron Parish) is the first of its kind in the world, according to Travis Gillham, engineer, Amoco Southeast (U.S.) Business Unit.

"We will test an innovative process in which air is injected into existing wells in a depleted reservoir," Gillham said. "If successful, this project could produce about 3 million barrels of oil over the next 15 years. And all of that oil--which would not be recovered without this project--comes from a portion of the field that currently does not produce a single drop.

"If successful, the technology being tested in this project would have the potential for widespread application throughout South Louisiana," Gillham also said. "That could mean more jobs and increased tax revenues for Louisiana."

Amoco applied for and will receive matching funds from the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) to conduct the project. Amoco and the DOE will each spend about $10 million during the first seven years of the 15-year project life.

"We're very happy to have achieved this milestone of getting air injection operations underway," said Gene Pauling, a project manager with the DOE Metairie Site Office in New Orleans. "Now that the project is up and running, we'll be anxious to see the results and whether this process will be economically viable in other Gulf Coast oil reservoirs."

The project also includes $350,000 worth of research grants to the petroleum engineering department of Louisiana State University.

"We will assess the technology and pass on the results to the industry for similar oil recovery operations," said LSU associate professor William J. Bernard. Bernard and Zaki Bassiouni, chairman of the petroleum engineering department, are leading LSU's work on the project.

The West Hackberry air injection project is one of 14 studies selected three years ago by the DOE to test advanced technologies that could increase the output of many domestic oil fields currently in danger of being abandoned.

DOE estimates that the 14 demonstration projects could add as many as 21 million barrels of crude oil to the nation's oil supply. If successful and applied nationwide, the technology tested in these projects could boost the estimate to 6.3 billion barrels.

Roach gives commendations

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Rep. Randy Roach hosted an open house last Tuesday morning at his Cameron Parish office to enable local citizens to visit and discuss issues with him and his assistant, Myrna Conner.

He presented Billy Doxey, King Fur, of the La. Fur and Wildlife Festival, with commendations from Gov. Edwards and the La. House of Representatives.

In the afternoon he visited South Cameron High School where he handed out the commendations to Kami Savoie, Tiny Tot Cal-Cam Queen and Little Miss Alligator Festival and Little Miss Cajun Riviera; Jordan Storm, Mr. Tiny Tot Cal-Cam King, and Courtney Conner and Kaleb Trahan, Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish.

Jobless rate down, but is still high

The unemployment rate in Cameron parish dropped from 9.5 percent in January to 8.0 percent in February, according to the La. Dept. of Labor.

The report showed 300 persons out of work in the parish in February as compared to 350 in January. The number of persons employed was given at 3325 for February as compared to 3375 for January.

The statewide jobless rate was 6.8 percent for February as compared to 6.7 percent for January.

Drainage answers promised citizens

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A large number of lower Cameron Parish residents attended a meeting on Tuesday of last week at the Creole multipurpose building to discuss drainage problems in the area.

Among the officials who spoke were Rep. Randy Roach, Senator Cecil Picard, Corps of Engineers officials Ron Ventola, Martin Myers and Jim St. Germain, U. S. Fish and Wildlife officials David Fruge, David Walther and Dean Bossert, Police Jurors Ray Conner and Douaine Conner and Gravity Drainage District engineer Lonnie Harper.

Roach said he had been asked to call these agencies together to try to solve the dainage problems in the Creole-Oak Grove-Grand Chenier areas.

Harper gave a short history of the Gravity District #4 which represents the area. The District obtained a permit in 1983 for several miles of laterals - an east Creole lateral, another at King's Bayou, Mud Lake restoration South of Oak Grove to the Mermentau River, and also a permit to establish a new lateral in East Creole to the river.

"We also have had major changes in the last ten years," he said. "Since then the Little Chenier and Oak Grove Canal, and the mouth of the Mermentau River have silted up and no longer exist, which is causing problems with the drainage."

It was pointed out that the fluctuations of tides in the open waterways helped to keep the laterals clean of debris that have clogged up the drainage.

Dean Bossert, Biological Technician with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, involved with the water management and control in this area said, "We recognize the problem in the Mermentau Basin is too much water and we are interested in your views."

Jim St. Germaine, with the Army Corps of Engineers involved with Environmental Restoration, said, "We intend to study the problem and intend to study the comments to try to figure out what must be done with this complex problem."

Harper pointed out the problem area on a map of the area and said that a permit is in hand to open up the Mermentau River mouth at a cost of between $200-300 thousand dollars for a project which will help, but not completely solve the problems.

Some local residents voiced concerns about repairing culverts that had rusted out because of the fear of being fined for doing anything to the levees by governmental agencies who have control over anything done in the wetlands.

Others commented on the establishing of water-control structures to help control the water levels, and gates to help control the water heights.

Ray Conner, Police Juror, stated that the Corps of Engineers and other concerned agencies should consider Cameron Parish when issuing permits north of the parish so that the parish would not get the overflow of water from the north.

The agencies agreed that under the "Nationwide Permit" there would be no problem of the local ranchers repairing a previously permitted culvert in a drainage lateral as long as nothing extra was done.

There were so many agencies that had to approve a project before a permit could be issued, it could be years before the project could be started, was a major complaint by many attending.

At the conclusion of the program, the agencies agreed that a tour of the area be made by representatives of the Corps of Engineers, Policy Jury, Gravity Drainage District, and Representatives, to personally view the problem area and coordinate the findings to help alleviate the problem of drainage in the Mermentau River Basin.

True bills returned by grand jurors

The Cameron Parish Grand Jury met last week to consider several matters.

Three matters were presented for examination and the Jury brought in 14 true bills and no no-true bills.

True bills were found on: Steven Thomas Taylor, 38, P.O. Box 1073, Cameron, for distribution of CDS (cocaine); Frank Henson Coleman, 32, P.O. Box 124, Creole, 4 counts of distribution of controlled dangerous substances; and Jerome Lewing, AKA Jerry Lewing, 49, 309 Cypress St., Elizabeth, 2 counts of theft of livestock, 1 count of theft, 1 count of simple burglary, 1 count of simple criminal damage to property and 3 counts of forgery.

Election Sat.

Voters in Waterworks District 7, the Creole area, will decide if they want to renew a 5.7-mill property tax to maintain the water system on Sat., April 1.

If passed, property owners will pay $5.70 for each $1,000 of the asessed value of their property if that property is not covered by homestead exemption. The tax will be collected for 10 years.

AMOCO

3-D LAND SURVEY ANNOUNCED

Amoco's Southeast Business Unit has commissioned a 3-D seismic land survey to be conducted over more than 50 square miles in the Hackberry area. The survey is designed to help Amoco further develop current oil and gas production, and identify new oil and gas reserves. If successful, this program could extend the economic life of the field, as well as the related benefits to the community.

The survey area is bounded by the Calcasieu/Cameron Parish line on the north, the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge on the south, Calcasieu Lake on the east, and the western boundary of Amoco's property on the west.

Field survey operations are scheduled to begin in late Spring and last until early Fall. Work will be conducted in a professional manner by an experienced crew from Grant Geophysical based in New Iberia, Louisiana. The crew will make every effort to operate safely and with minimal disruption to the people and the environment of the Hackberry community.

Permit agents will soon begin contacting surface and mineral owners in the area to discuss how best to accomplish the survey objectives. Amoco and Grant look forward to completing this project in a way that is mutually beneficial to the companies and the Hackberry community.

NOTICE

During the reporting period of February 14, 1995 to March 14, 1995 the Cameron Waterworks District No. 1 water supply violated the maximum contaminant level of coliform bacteria as set forth in the state and federal primary drinking water regulations. Action was taken to eliminate the contamination.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that the presence of total coliforms is a possible health concern. Total coliforms are common in the environment and are generally not harmful themselves. The presence of these bacteria in drinking water, however, generally is a result of a problem with water treatment or the pipes which distribute the water, and indicates that the water may be contaminated with organisms that can cause disease. Disease symptoms may include diarrhea, cramps, nausea, and possible jaundice, and any associated headaches and fatigue. These symptoms, however, are not just associated with disease-causing organisms in drinking water, but also may be caused by a number of factors other than drinking water. EPA has set an enforceable drinking water standard for total coliforms to reduce the risks of these adverse health effects. Drinking water which meets this standard is usually not associated with a health risk from disease-causing bacteria and should be considered safe.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED this 21st day of March, 1995.

/s/ Magnus McGee, President

/s/ Rodney J. Guilbeaux,
Executive Secretary

On a motion by Leroy Trahan, second by Rogerest Romero, passed, the Board will ask the Cameron Police Jury to order insurance for fire and windstorm and flood coverages in the amounts of: for office building, $28,000.00, and $15,000.00 for contents; for shed building, $32,000.00 and $10,000.00 for contents.

On a motion by Rogerest Romero, second by Leroy Trahan, passed, the Board authorized President McGee to enter into an inter-agency agreement with Gravity Drainage District #3 of Cameron Parish for the rental of #7 Lankelt Marsh Machine at the rate of $296.93 per day. This includes fuel and our operator. GDD #3 is responsible for the moving of the machine, all necessary permits, calling Dottie before digging, having someone in authority to be on job site instructing where to dig, etc., assume liability for any and all losses or damages. The Executive Secretary will get with CPPJ and Cameron D.A. to get this agreement written up, then the president of each Board can sign.

On a motion by Leroy Trahan, second by Rogerest Romero, passed, the Board will take care of regularly scheduled monthly meal costs for the Executive Secretary to attend the Barrier Shoreline Workshop in New Orleans on April 20 and 21.

George Bailey reported on GDD #7 permit canals and structures in the Cameron Meadows/Shallow Prong area. U.S. Corps of Engineers of Galveston, Tex., is assuring approval of permit in very near future. We are to start securing Right of Way grants from land owners in permit area.

Clay Midkiff of USDA SCS, Quin Kinler of DNR, David Richard of Gray Estate proposed that GDD #7 enter into a Memorandum of Agreement on the East Mud Lake Hydrologic Restoration Project with the above named agencies and FINA Oil Co. Interested land owners representing the Henry and Davis heirs, the Peveto and Constance families joined in the discussion. A field trip on site was set for Wed., April 5, with representatives of all groups plus any other landowners. Copies of the agreement will be shown to the Cameron D.A. for his opinion. The field trip will originate from the Holly Beach Fire Station.

David Richard requested assistance from GDD #7 with cleaning out of ditches, canals, bayous and possible re-installing one culvert, putting in culverts and possible plugs and/or structures in Light House Bayou and Amoco property in Johnson Bayou. The Board recommended that preliminary plans be drawn up and brought before the Board for study and discussion and possible action on the related requests. The Gray Estate would be the one to take care of necessary permits.

With reference to flooding in the area of Road 545, a helicopter trip was taken to try to determine causes of flooding, but no obvious solution was noticed. An inspection by someone on foot may be the answer. It will be checked out in the near future.

President McGee stated that Transco is in the process of changing ownership, thus they are still interested in cleaning out the area behind Johnn Goodwin for proper drainage.

There being no further business, motion to adjourn by Rogerst Romero, second by Ivan Barentine, passed.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 3, at 5 p.m. at the Johnson Bayou Fire Station.

FISHING NEWS

Lacassine Refuge is still the hot spot for big largemouth bass. In the recent tournament 15 bass over 7 lbs. were weighed in. The top bass weighed at 11-4.

Creole anglers Quentin LeBoeuf and Darren Thibodeaux took first place stringer with 26 lbs. on 5 bass. Two other Creole anglers, Travis Broussard and Richard Duhon, placed fifth with close to 18 lbs., weighing in 5 bass.

A note: Lacassine Refuge is taking fishing tournament permit applications for persons, groups or clubs who want to fish a tournament on the refuge. They are urged to contact the refuge quickly and set up particular dates.

Refuge Manager Vicki Grafe says permits will be issued on first come, first in line if requirements for a tournament permit are met. Using the refuge with no other waters involved requires a special use permit, and to use the shelter for weigh-in, or the ramp for sign-in, requires this permit.

Opening day, Wed., Mar. 15, had 154 boats launched and 30 fishermen went bank fishing.

For more information, call 318-774-5923.

FINE MOTOR

I had a chance to fish with a friend who runs a Tohatsu Mega 25 motor. Folks, this is a great performing motor, getting out of the hole, even in shallow water. I inquired and was told you can no longer buy these motors in the USA, but overseas they will still be able to buy them.

The few boats going offshore have reported good catches of red snapper.

The Big Burns was slow on opening day. A full moon, and high pressure did not help matters out. The Amoco grounds has high water which is muddy and real slow.

FISHING LICENSES

Facts on fishing trents: In 1993-94, recreational saltwater licenses sold in our state were 618,680. Commercial (saltwater gill net licenses) was up 1144 from 985 in 1993. Back in 1987 these commercial licenses sold were 3491. Quite a big difference.

Ferry service in 1928

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, March 9, 1928)

CAMERON OYSTER BEDS

Oysters are abundant and in fine condition this year in Cameron Parish, according to a report today in Lake Charles by J. A. Wakefield, planter and stockman of Cameron Parish, who with Sid W. Sweesy of Lake Arthur, former Clerk of Court of Cameron, was a business visitor in Lake Charles from the town of Cameron Wednesday morning.

Mr. Wakefield stated that the oyster beds in the lower Calcasieu River and Mermentau have not been disturbed by large quantities of fresh water from above and are doing fine.

Cattle in Cameron Parish are in good condition. Farmers have done some planting, but because of recent showerery weather and damp cold days, have not made the progress they expected to make during January when the majority of them prepared their ground for early crops.

IMPROVED FERRY IN SERVICE

The Louisiana Highway Commission has inaugurated modern ferry service for traffic on the Gulf Beach Highway, state route Number 104, where the highway crosses the Calcasieu Ship Channel going south to the town of Cameron, parish seat of Cameron Parish, and to the sand beaches of the Gulf of Mexico, the exclusive point between New Orleans and Galveston where the general public will soon have all the sand and playground it will need for ocean bathing and boat riding, summer and winter.

The new and improved service was completed shortly before noon Thursday by two representatives of the Highway commission with the assistance of W. T. Burton of Sulphur, from whom the commission recently purchased a big steel barge with a capacity of transporting 20 automobiles at a time across the channel.

The new equipment for the ferry service, in addition to the big barge, consists of a crude oil burning engine power plant attached to the barge. At first there was much difficulty in operation, particularly in making landings because of grease cables, but all difficulties were overcome and the more than 100 cars that were lined up in waiting were soon accommodated.

The ferry has long been operated by the Parish of Calcasieu as a "free" ferry and when the highway commission recently took over the maintenance of Route 104, the same kind of service was continued. Some weeks ago the old boat and power equipment were damaged by fire and steps were taken at once by the Highway Commission for putting in a big barge and giving modern service to the ever increasing traffic to and from the new Hackberry oil field.

MRS. HERMAN HAYES ON VIETNAM WORK

(By Earl D. Mercer)

Mrs. Herman P. Hayes, the former Dottie Primeaux of Cameron, who with her husband, Rev. Hayes, went to Saigon, Vietnam in 1959 as the first Southern Baptist Convention missionaries to that country, has written an article which appears in the April, 1962 issue of "Royal Service", a missions magazine.

Mrs. Hayes related how several other missionary couples have joined them since they began Baptist work in Vietnam and indicates that progress is being made in establishing Baptist work and winning converts.

Mrs. Hayes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Primeaux of Cameron.

FIRE STATION LOAN DENIED

A request from the Cameron Fire Protection District to borrow $40,000 with which to build a new Cameron fire station was turned down by the police jury at its Monday meeting.

Two jurors said they did not feel the jury was in a position to make the loan now. Perhaps it could do so at a later date, they said.

Fire Chief Ray Burleigh expressed disappointment at the loan refusal. He said that the firemen had understood that the loan would be made should the two-mill fire tax be renewed to provide funds for repaying the loan.

The jury agreed to call an election on the renewal of the tax for April 28. The tax, which has two years to run, would be renewed for ten years.

New pay plan for sheriffs is considered

BATON ROUGE - Louisiana sheriffs last week told the Joint Committee on the Judiciary that they will ask lawmakers to give them a fairer pay plan that provides more continuity.

Bucky Rives, executive director of the Louisiana Sheriff's Association, told the panel his group will propose a three-tier plan to replace the current 15 pay ranges. The plan, if adopted, also would give sizeable pay raises to many sheriffs whose last cost-of-living adjustment was in 1988, he said.

The population-based proposal was chosen over another which based salaries on sheriffs' seniority because that plan faced stiff legislative opposition.

The current structure gets complicated because it has nine "special cases" besides its basic six ranges for the sheriffs. The basic ranges are populaton-related, going from $45,000 annually for parishes with fewer than 35,000 residents to $84,000 annually in Orleans and Jefferson parishes. Sheriffs in nine parishes have received legislative approval for supplements over the years, creating the current 15 ranges.

As proposed, the three-tier plan would pay sheriffs in parishes with fewer than 100,000 residents up to $65,000 a year. In parishes with populations between 100,000 and 400,000, sheriffs' annual salaries would be $75,000. Salaries for sheriffs in the largest parishes would match court judges annual pay, currently $84,000.

If the plan is adopted, sheriffs in 30 parishes would be in line for an extra $20,000 a year, and another 18 parishes have populations which would account for raises of $15,000 a year for their sheriffs.

Sen. Larry Bankston of Port Hudson suggested that the new plan should be pushed this year because consitutional provisions would make 1977 the next opportunity for its consideration. The change could be made effective July 1, 1996, after the next sheriffs' election, he said, and the raises would be permissive.

Hayes bill to reform regulations

Congressman Jimmy Hayes has introduced H.R. 1330, "The Comprehensive Wetlands Conservation and Management Act of 1995," which will streamline and reform the cumbersome and ineffective federal wetlands regulation program.

In order to address community concerns being voiced across the nation, Hayes' bill will replace the current program with one that will continue to require permits for certain activities affecting wetlands and other waters of the United States, but will reflect greater recognition of differing wetlands functions, procedural rights of appeal, and property rights.

Hayes' bill would define wetlands into three categories, and would more strictly protect the most valuable wetlands while allowing flexibility for areas that do not function in any scientific or environmental role as a wetland, including farm land. The legislation would also allow property owners to challenge the decisions of federal regulators administratively without spending the hundreds of thousands of dollars now necessary to go to federal court.

And finally, the Hayes bill will provide compensation to landowners who are prevented from using their property by the federal government. Hayes said that if the land is valuable enough for the government to protect for the public good, the public, not individual landowners, must bear the cost of preservation.

"The system that is in place now has done nothing to protect the 35 square miles of Louisiana coastal wetlands that are eroded each year. It has, however, succeeded in violating the rights of homeowners in every state of the union," Hayes said.

One out of every two seniors is sleep-deprived.

History of Lent

We are in the midst of Lent, the fourth of the eight seasons of the Christian calendar. The Christian year extends from November 30 to November 29, as the secular year runs from January 1 to December 31.

Lent is the preparatory season before Easter. Purple, symbolic of penitance, is the customary color used for preparatory seasons, such as Lent and Advent, the period before Christmas, which is often called "little Lent".

The term "Lent" comes from the old English word "lencten," meaning springtime. It begins on Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday before the first Sunday in Lent, forty days before Easter, exclusive of Sundays. Lent ends on Easter Sunday.

In the second century Lent was the one day before Easter. It grew to three days, thus representing the three days that Christ lay in the tomb. Next, Lent was lengthened to commemorate the last week of Christ's life on earth. Then it was lengthened to two weeks. For many years Lent was considered a 36-day period. During the reign of Charlemagne, beginning about A.D. 800, Lent was extended to a 40-day period. This is believed to have been in commemoration of the 40 days that Jesus Christ fasted in the wilderness.

Thus we see that the Lenten season began and grew as a time of spiritual preparation for Easter in remembrance of the passion, death, and resurrection of Christ. It also symbolized the mourning of the church, the bride, for the departure of Jesus Christ, the bridegroom.

Today Lent is observed by self-denial, by positive acts, or by both. The test is whether one comes through Lent with a greater love and understanding of his fellowman, a more profound reverance for God, and a deeper sense of one's own responsibility to fulfill the highest calling within his own soul.

Wet weather is expected in '95

The Gulf Coast could receive an unusual amount of wet weather this spring, Pete Picou, Cameron Parish Civil Defense Director, has been advised by the La. Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Col. William J. Croft, assistant director, said that El Nino, an unusually warm curent in the Pacific ocean, occurs every two to seven years and when it appears the Gulf Cost usually receives an unusual amount of wet weather, particularly during the late winter and early spring.

He noted that the weather front that passed through the state on March 7 was a prime example of the influence on the state.

Col. Croft pointed out that when there were similar conditions in 1991, the state had a number of tornadoes, floods and hail storms.

The official advised Picou that the above average annual railfall trend is expected to continue this year and he urged that the parish Civil Defense be prepared.

A report from a Houston base hurricane study group earlier predicted that Louisiana has about a 50 percent chance of being hit by a hurricane this year.

Pavell Knights of Columbus #8323 and the Agnes Geuhn Pavell Catholic Daughters of America #2265 of Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach will hold their 11th annual banquet Sunday, April 9 at 6 p.m. at the Johnson Bayou Community Center, according to Robin Sandifer, Regent, and Magnus McGee, Grand Knight.

New program for elderly suggested

A suggestion made by a Cameron parish police juror at the jury's monthly meeting Tuesday could result in a new program to make life a little safer for elderly residents of the parish.

In connection with a report on the Governor's Conference on Aging which he and Juror Ray Conner attended, Juror Brent Nunez suggested that volunteers be recruited in the parish to call or visit elderly citizens living alone on a daily basis to make sure they were all right.

He said that an elderly person could suffer a stroke or heart attrack and not be able to call anyone for help.

Juror Conner said he knew of a lady who had fallen and broken a hip and was found after a relative became worried because she was not answering her phone.

Juror Russell Badon said the ambulance workers in the Johnson Bayou-Holly Beach area already were checking on the elderly on a regular basis.

Asked if she would plan such a program, Dinah Landry, director of the Council on Aging, said she had a few volunteers checking on the elderly now. She said she would seek more volunteers and try to set up a full scale progrm.

In a related matter, the jury paid recognition to those persons who were recently nominated for the Older Worker of the Year Award given by the Council on Aging. Bill Turnbull was the winner. Other nominees were Ernest Hebert, Jennings Jones, Gussie Mhire, Nolan Savoie, Leslie Hebert and Father T. L. Herlong.

ACTING ON A motion offered by Juror George LeBouef, the jury voted to pay for signs on new roads that the parish accepts from developers. A previous ordinance had required developers to pay for these signs.

An amendment offered by Juror Brent Nunez was accepted to repay two developers for signs they had already paid for. Signs cost about $320 per road.

Juror LeBouef asked the jury to contact the National Marine Fisheries and ask them to redesign a turtle excluder device (TED) for fishermen in Calcasieu Lake. He said the present TEDs are designed primarily for the Gulf and did not work too well in the lake because of the crab pots.

The jury approved the acceptance of bids for new fire trucks for the Johnson Bayou and Hackberry fire department if approved by the fire district boards.

The low bids ranged from $172,648 to $254,648. Juror LeBouef said he felt these prices were high, but it was pointed out that these were for aluminum bodies to better resist salt atmosphere.

The jury reappointed the following board members, whose terms had expired: George Hicks and Jewel Peavy, Beachfront Development Dist. 2; Rick Erickson and Michael Devall, Waterworks Dist. 2; Jimmy Colligan, Lower Cameron Ambulance and Hospital Dist. and D. Y. Doland, Jr., Gravity Drainage Dist. 5.

The resignation of Connie Thevis from Recreation Dist. 8 board was accepted.

A liquor permit for Ann Badon, Trails End Bar, Holly Beach, was approved.

Severance taxes are off $2.4 million

—CAPITAL NEWS—

When severance tax figures were released for the final month of 1994, natural resource production in Cameron Parish remained stable from November but it was not enough to bring the year's taxes to 1993 levels.

The December report from the Department of Revenue and Taxation indicated $1.5 million in severance tax receipts for work in the parish, ranking it sixth for the month overall. It was the seventh time in 1994 that collections were below $1.7 million mark, and they dipped below $1.4 million twice. Consequently, the 1994 severance tax total for natural resource production in the parish was $2.4 million lower than the $21.3 million recorded in 1993.

Most of the severance taxes collected in December were attributed to natural gas production, which accounted for $798,426 of the parish total. Oil was credited with $751,413.

The parish collecting the tax on oil and natural gas receives one-fifth of the total up to $500,000. Seventy-five percent of all revenue collected on timber products goes back to the parish.

The $34.05 million in severance taxes received statewide in December brought the total for the year to $365.1 million. That month's total was the highest for the year, while the lowest was the $26.3 million listed in April. Severance tax receipts in 1993 totaled $408.4 million.

Shots slated

Free immunization shots are to be given to infants at the Johnson Bayou Recreation Center on Thursday, April 6, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. by the Cameron Health Unit.

This is part of the Louisiana Infant Immunization Initiative of the Department of Health.

Parents are asked to bring the children's shot records.

Parish gets second Texaco Co. payment

State Treasurer Mary Landrieu this week sent Cameron Parish a check for $4954, the second of three payments to the parish in conection to the state's $250 million settlement with Texaco over the disputed oil royalties.

The terms of the settlement called for the state to receive $150 million last year, $50 million this year, and $50 million next year. The 11 parishes affected by the dispute will divide 10 percent of the cash portion of the settlement, or about $25 million of the total $250 million settlement.

"I am pleased I was able to help secure a larger portion of the Texaco settlement for Cameron Parish and all other parishes affected by the suite," Landrieu said. When the settlement was first announced, the Attorney General's Office and the Department of Natural Resources stated that local government's portion of the settlement should be considerably less than the $25 million, based on prorating the settlement into royalty and interest. Under the scenario originally endorsed by those two offices, local governments would have divided only about $11 million.

However, Treasurer Landrieu and the Louisiana Police Jury Association successfully petitioned the AG's Office and Dept. of Natural Resources to change their position and consider the entire settlement as royalties, instead of a mix of royalties and interest, which will allow local government to receive its full share as prescribed by the state Constitution.

Secret of success

Have you ever wondered why one individual succeeds while another of seemingly greater endowments fails? Why some unlikely team wins, while its apparently superior competitor goes down in defeat?

In such cases, as many a great coach has discovered, the victory was gained by means of a secret ingredient -- that intangible something called spirit.

The attribute of "spirit" works not only in games and contests but also in one's struggle with the vicissitudes of life. In reality, it is during periods of disaster and ill fortune that a truly noble and resolved spirit becomes more conspicuous. It is as though such a spirit grows lustier in its encounter with the wild winds of perversity and gains power as it combats the rough sea of life.

Helen Keller is a fitting example to note. Not only her own will to learn but also the indomitable spirit of her tutor and companion, Anne Sullivan, to teach resulted in the blind deaf-mute learning to read, interpret, and speak. The combined spirit of the two women made it possible for Helen to graduate from Radcliffe College with special honors in English at the age of 24 and to go on to a long life filled with accomplishments and dedicated service to others.

One of my own college classmates was a young woman born without arms or hands. Her figure was attractive; her features perfect. She possessed a brilliant mind, a charming personality, and a beautiful spirit.

She became an accomplished pianist. Dressed in a trim-fitting slack suit, she perched on an elevated stool before her specially designed instrument. Her slim white toes flashed back and forth across the keyboard. Her polished soprano was the result of voice lessons and diligent practice.

She learned to sketch and to paint. In graceful forms and delicate shading she captured the beauty of the outdoors on canvas.

My young classmate attained artistry in many fields. And, yet, her greatest accomplishment -- the one that made all the others possible -- was her glorious, helium-borne spirit that lifted every drawback and carried each up and away.

Every human being suffused with the right spirit is interested and concerned for the community in which he or she lives. It is the individual's spirit and the spirit that one is able to arouse in others that brings victory to individuals or to teams or to society.

Reduction of rice is told

The acreage reduction requirement for the 1995 crop of rice will be 5 percent, according to Kirk L. Smith, Acting County Executive Director for the Consolidated Farm Service Agency in Calcasieu-Cameron Parish.

A preliminary acreage reduction requirement of 5 percent was announced Dec. 1, 1994.

For the 1995 rice crop, the established target price will be $10.71 per hundredweight and the national average support rate will be $6.50 per hundredweight.

Signup for producers wishing to participate in the 1995 commodity production adjustment and price support programs began Jan. 30, 1995, and will continue through April 28, Mr. Smith said.

New doppler radar to begin service

Doppler weather radar, the leading component in the National Weather Service modernization program, was installed at the National Weather Service Offices in Slidell and Lake Charles during the past year. The Lake Charles radar is expected to be commissioned this spring.

These powerful, sensitive radars replace conventional radars located at Slidell, Lake Charles, and Longview, Tex., and complement other Doppler weather radars in Jackson, Miss.; Mobile, Ala.; and Houston, Tex. The older radars they replace have been in service in some locations since the early 1960s.

The new radar is capable of showing location, strength, and movement of thunderstorms with much greater resolution than the older radars. In addition, it can determine the wind flow within thunderstorms, which should increase the likelihood of issuing timely warnings for damaging winds, hail and tornadoes.

With its much greater resolution and built-in computer processor, the new radar's precipitation estimation should be greatly enhanced and allow for more accurate flash flood and flood warnings.

The deployment of the new Doppler weather radar is the first step of the National Weather Service modernization effort to issue more timely and accurate warnings and forecasts in order to save lives and reduce property damage.

Other aspects of the modernization program include hundreds of new automated surface observation systems, a new generation of weather satellites, and high speed computer workstations for field offices.

The tale of 'Ti Pierre

'Ti Pierre was crossing one of the many ridges that extend into the marshes around here. Suddenly he came upon a cluster of three hills -- two small and one large. Although 'Ti Pierre was thoroughly familiar with this section of marshland, he knew that never had he seen these particular hills.

"Mais, that's something," he said slowly to himself. "Me, I believe I better mark the place."

The next day 'Ti Pierre was up at dawn. He had scarcely slept the night before. Visions of buried treasure, which he felt lay beneath those strange hills, had kept running through his mind.

Fortified with a shovel and a strong grass sack, 'Ti Pierre set out to rob the mounds of their wealth. He had spent half of what he expected to find in imagination by the time he reached the spot. He had bought a fiddle and a blue serge suit, a canoe and that not-so-bad sorrel horse that old man Desire wanted thirty-five dollars for. He had bought a saddle and a pair of silver-mounted spurs.

And he was debating as whether to pole the canoe across the bayou to tell pretty Melissa about his good luck or to throw his new saddle on the sorrel and gallop over in his blue serge and silver-mounted spurs to let that uppity little Yvette see how fine he looked.

Just as he had made the great decision that he would do both in his own good time, he realized that he had reached his destination.

'Ti Pierre stopped abruptly and looked for three hills. They were not there. He rubbed his eyes and looked again. There were no hills. He knew that he stood exactly where he had yesterday when they lay right before him. He searched for his shoes. They were gone, too.

'Ti Pierre, bewildered and disappointed, shook his head, "Mais, what's the matter with me?", he chided himself. "'Ti Pierre, what makes you think you can see some shoes when you can't see something big like three hills?"

Book takes side of the comm. fishermen

By DAVID KRAPF
(National Fisherman)

The recent passage of the net ban in Florida should heighten interest in a new book that provides an interesting look into the powerful sport-fishing industry's efforts to curtail commercial fishing.

The book, written by Robert Fritchey, a commercial fisherman and National Fisherman correspondent, takes a decidedly pro-commercial stance. However, recreational anglers and others should not discount this book. It provides fascinating historical information on the Texas and Louisiana finfish allocation battles that has rarely been presented in the mainstream press.

The book centers on the plight of coastal fishermen and the recreational industry's push to ban the commercial harvest of redfish and speckled trout in the Gulf of Mexico. The first section on the recreational industry's success in having these two finfish declared gamefish in Texas in the early '80s, provides a good prologue to the chapters on the redfish fight in Louisiana.

Wetland Riders describes the war between the two competing interests. Throughout the book, commercial fishermen repeatedly describe their woes. Most say that they're fighting a losing battle against the political and financial might of the sport-fishing industry.

Fritchey constantly reminds us that recreational activists elicit support for their initiatives from the "non-angling public" by claiming that the "conservation" measures are warranted. The author begins the chapter "The 'Con' in Conservation", with a quote from an Oregon voter in 1928: "The catch word of 'conservation' is employed to give respectability to what really is a bold attempt to seize. . . a fishing preserve."

Later in the chapter, Fritchey writes: "Since the fish are a publicly owned resource, it helps immensely if the public perceives this expansion as the selfless achievement of 'conservationists' rather than as a self-serving tactic by a competing industry — an industry heavily weighted with coastal developers; oil companies; outboard engine, boat and tackle manufactures; and publishers of magazines and newspapers that depend upon these businesses for advertising revenues."

He concludes: "It's a cynical strategy, but it is proving so seductive that some well-intentioned citizens are not just staying out of the fight, they're earnestly assisting this consumption-oriented industry."

Statistics are offered throughout the book showing that sport fishermen land the majority of redfish and speckled trout. Despite this, the author says, "in a nationally coordinated effort, the recreational industry is making an aggressive, almost desperate, grab for that small share of fish that remains to both coastal finfishermen and consumers."

These short profiles provide interesting glimpses into the hardships faced by Louisiana's finfishermen. The author's description of his attempts to land redfish with Edville "Pagaie" Cheramie and the chapter on Octave Toups — the "best known tramailleur along Bayou Lafourche" — are particularly effective.

The first two parts of the book — the Texas gamefish and Louisiana redfish battles — provide useful information on the political ploys of the state legislatures and wildlife commissions.

The author leaves little doubt where he stands. He says the reluctance of anglers to acknowledge that they impact fishery populations represents "the single greatest threat to the long-term welfare of the redfish and speckled trout."

Recreational fishermen may not agree with Fritchey's position, but they would do well to read the book. It will certainly provoke thought—and maybe a little debate.

Guides list slated

Louisiana's abundant outdoor opportunities attract thousands of hunters and fishermen. There are numerous businesses catering to these sportsmen, but sportsmen often find it difficult to locate guides for particular species, such as whitetail deer, ducks, redfish, bass or squirrel.

Soon interested sportsmen will be able to make one call to receive a list of Louisiana guides. The list is being compiled by the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries' Information Section.

"The department does not license hunting or fishing guides at this time, but we have received enough requests to justify providing a list as a public service," Information Manager Maurice Cockerham said.

The data base will allow interested individuals to receive a listing of guides offering specific services. For example, someone wanting to hire a guide for a duck hunt will receive a listing of only those outfitters offering such hunts.

Guide services wishing to be included on the list should send their business name, address, telephone number and detailed information about services offered to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Attn: Andy Crawford, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, La. 70898-9000.

Tourists visit parish

Tourists and out-of-parish visitors made good use of the parish's outdoor attractions in 1994, according to figures gathered by the Visitors and Convention Center of Southwest Louisiana.

The Sabine National Wildlife Refuge had a total of 188,545 persons to visit its walking trail in 1994, an average of 15,712 a month. This was a slight decline from the number of visitors for the previous four years.

The number of visitors to the Sabine Refuge headquarters was 8,689 for 1994, a slight increase over 1993, but lower than the previous three years.

The Cameron Prairie Refuge near Sweetlake had 1,972 visitors in 1994 more than double for the previous three years. This was due to the opening of the new headquarters building.

PAY SAND MAY BE FOUND AT HACKBERRY

The elusive pay sand at Hackberry, for which an almost continuous drilling campaign has been underway to locate over a period of 25 years, is believed to have at last been picked up by the Yount-Lee Oil Co. in its Gulf Land Co. test at a depth of around 3500 feet.

Reports from Hackberry this morning are that the Yount-Lee Co. is setting a string of casing in the Gulf Land well, and expects to be ready for setting screen about the last of this week for a test of the formation around 3500 feet.

The company is credited with having spent close to a million dollars in the Hackberry area, and controls what is believed to be some of the most well located leases around that big dome.

Leasing has been active in that vicinity for the last six months and it is estimated that something over $100,000 has been invested by the major companies in lease acreage around the dome during this period.

OPTIMIST CLUB OFFICERS

Other new officers named were Ray Theriot, Dr. Cecil Clark and Roland Trosclair, vice-presidents; Diel LaLande, secretary-treasurer; and Carl Faulk, sergeant at arms.

Named to the board of directors for two years were James Derouen and Conway LeBleu, and for one year: Buster Rogers, Frankie Henry, Ray Champagne and Ashburn Roux.

MENHADEN FISHING BEGINS

Menhaden fishing will be resumed in Cameron this week, bringing with it the annual upswing in the number of jobs and the general economy of the community.

Gulf Menhaden Co. will start fishing as soon as the weather permits this week, and Louisiana Menhaden will get started next Monday.

Al Bierman, Gulf manager, said the plant will have its same fleet of nine boats as it did last year. The plant will employ some 125 men, while about 180 will be working on the boats.

Gulf will have two planes spotting for it - a twin engine Apache and a Piper Super Cub.

The Louisiana Menhaden Co. will be operating eight pogy boats -the same number that it had for most of last year. However, it did start out with ten boats at the first of last season.

Ed Swindell, plant manager, said Louisiana's operation will be about the same as last year's, except that most of the fish meal will be shipped out in bulk form rather than sacks. The meal is trucked from the local plant to the company's warehouse at Holmwood, from where it is shipped out by rail.

Louisiana will have some 35 men employed in the plant, while each boat will furnish work for 23 men, the entire operation thus giving employment to some 219 men.

JETTIES ROAD BEING BUILT

The new road from town to the east Cameron jetties is now under construction and should be opened to the public by the end of the year, according to Roland J. Trosclair, Ward 3 police juror.

A drag line is presently throwing up a dump from the Baroid Co. road to the jetties. This will be allowed to settle for a number of months and will then be shelled.

The new road, originally a project of the Cameron Lions Club, will open up the east jetties to fishermen and sportsmen and will provide access to the industrial sites along the river.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Holly Beach - Visitors to this area were treated to a view of an old fashioned cattle drive over the weekend as the Creole cattlemen passed through here on their way to summer pastures. The riproaring antics of horses and cattle never cease to thrill both young and old.

Berry picking is now enticing everyone to the briar patches. Women everywhere are hoping to freeze and make jelly of the luscious fruit.

Hackberry - A chapter of the National Beta Club was recently established at Hackberry High School, according to M.G. Richardson, principal. Mrs. Wakefield Erbelding, teacher of English, was appointed as faculty sponsor. Officers elected were Donald Drost, president; C. J. Lowery, vice-president; Ernestine Colligan, secretary; Aubrey Welch, treasurer; and Loretta Deval, reporter. Other members are Ludwika Waldron, Cecil Sanner, Kenneth Drost, Dennis Erbelding, John Stromer, Renee Becnel, Pamela Riggs, David Andrews, Johnny DesOrmeaux and Stephen Rountree.

Grand Chenier - Spring has brought out the blackberry pickers as well as the fishermen. Many housewives are doing spring house cleaning in spite of the almost daily high winds. Many spring flowers are in bloom. Mrs. John Paul Crain has a beautiful bed of Amaryllis in different colors besides other blooming flowers. Mrs. Joe LaBove also has attractive flower beds around her house.

Creole-Oak Grove - The girl's softball team at South Cameron High School won the Mt. Carmel Invitational Softball Tournament held Saturday at New Iberia. The team defeated Abbeville and Sulphur. Team members named to the All-Tournament team included: Catcher, Jackie Richard; pitcher, Connie Marlatt; and shortstop, Frances C. Miller.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Peter Greig, Sr. of Lafayette, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 16. The Greigs are widely known in Southwest Louisiana as Mr. Greig is associated with the office of the Louisiana Supervisor of Public Funds as a deputy supervisor.

(Cameron Pilot, June 16, 1961)
RECORDS ON MICROFILM

If the Cameron Parish Courthouse should burn down--as it did in 1874--or if it were ever demolished in a hurricane, the parish land ownership records would be safe.

That is the comforting word from J. Berton Daigle, clerk of court, who announced this week that all of the parish's conveyance records back to 1874 have been put on microfilm, which is now stored in a bank safety deposit vault in Alexandria.

Two years ago, the police jury authorized the purchase of a microfilming machine for the clerk's office, and since that time Daigle and his deputy clerk in court, Roland Primeaux, have been busy getting all of the important land records on film.

Last week, Daigle delivered 235 rolls of the microfilm to the Rapides Bank and Trust Co. in Alexandria, where the police jury has leased two large safety deposit boxes for its storage.

The rolls represent some 23,500 feet of film (about four miles) containing photographs of about 235,000 records. As new records are filed they too will be filmed and the rolls taken to Alexandria from time to time.

If the parish should lose all of its records as it did in the 1874 fire, it would result in chaos. Fortunately, back then the parish had been created only four years earlier and there were relatively few records on file, and at that time the practice was to keep original documents at home instead of in the clerk's office. For this reason, it was not too difficult to make a new set of records in 1874.

DROST FOURTH IN NATION

Donald Drost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Drost of Hackberry, won fourth place in the United States in the Mr. FBLA contest at the national Future Business Leaders of America convention in Washington, D. C. on Tuesday.

Donald, who was valedictorian of this spring's graduating class at Hackberry, won the district title on Feb. 11, and the State title on March 10.

The citizens and business people of Hackberry raised funds to send Donald and his FBLA advisor, Siron O. Beck, to the national FBLA convention. Donald, Mr. Beck and other FBLA delegates from Louisiana will visit New York City before returning home this weekend.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OFFICERS

Whitney Baccigalopi of Grand Chenier was named Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus Council No. 3014 at the monthly meeting last week. Also elected were Roland U. Primeaux, Deputy Grand Knight; T. P. Bonsall, chancellor; Joe A. O'Donnell, warden; Dalton Richard, treasurer; Joe G. Boudoin, recording secretary; Mark Richard, advocate; J. Berton Daigle, three-year trustee; Kenneth Montie, inside guard; and Gordon Nunez, outside guard.

Ernest Vincent was named Knight of the Month for his faithful service to the council.

MUSING . . .

By Bernice Denny

Spirit brings victory

Have you ever wondered why one individual succeeds while another of seemingly greater endowments fails? Why some unlikely team wins, while its apparently superior competitor goes down in defeat?

In such cases, as many a great coach has discovered, the victory was gained by means of a secret ingredient -- that intangible something called spirit.

The attribute of "spirit" works not only in games and contests but also in one's struggle with the vicissitudes of life. In reality, it is during periods of disaster and ill fortune that a truly noble and resolved spirit becomes more conspicuous. It is as though such a spirit grows lustier in its encounter with the wild winds of perversity and gains power as it combats the rough sea of life.

Helen Keller is a fitting example to note. Not only her own will to learn but also the indomitable spirit of her tutor and companion, Anne Sullivan, to teach resulted in the blind deaf-mute learning to read, interpret, and speak. The combined spirit of the two women made it possible for Helen to graduate from Radcliffe College with special honors in English at the age of 24 and to go on to a long life filled with accomplishments and dedicated service to others.

One of my own college classmates was a young women born without arms or hands. Her figure was attractive; her features perfect. She possessed a brilliant mind, a charming personality, and a beautiful spirit.

She became an accomplished pianist. Dressed in a trim-fitting slack suit, she perched on an elevated stool before her specially designed instrument. Her slim white toes flashed back and forth across the keyboard. Her polished soprano was the result of voice lessons and diligent practice.

She learned to sketch and to paint. In graceful forms and delicate shading she captured the beauty of the outdoors on canvas.

My young classmate attained artistry in many fields. And, yet, her greatest accomplishment -- the one that made all the others possible -- was her glorious, helium-borne spirit that lifted every drawback and carried each up and away.

Every human being suffused with the right spirit is interested and concerned for the community in which he or she lives. It is the individual's spirit and the spirit that brings victory to individuals or to teams or to society.

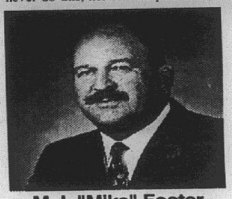
The Big "G"
CAMPAIGN '95 — THE GOVERNOR'S RACE



By: M.J. "MIKE" FOSTER

Gambling -- The biggest issue in this year's Legislative session and probably the biggest issue in this year's gubernatorial race! Last October, when I announced for Governor, I predicted this: I was the FIRST to recommend stopping gambling money from flowing into politicans' pockets and also am pushing for a strong local option law. I went one step further and checked to see if stopping the contributions of gambling money was constitutional. I found that this issue had been to the U.S. Supreme Court and was upheld as something that had an overriding public interest. It has been interesting to watch candidates and the press react to these stands over the past months. Specifically, the press polled both of these issues and found overwhelming public support.

During past gambling legislation, I voted in a manner that I felt was consistent with my district's views. The big flaw in all gambling legislation that passed was the lack of local option, allowing people in a community to vote before gambling could be put into a locality. I personally regret many of those votes, however, I was one of the leaders in the Senate for local option last year. We lost by two votes on this issue and I told my colleagues that I thought this was an idea whose time had come. I predict that it will pass this year and I hope that campaign contributions from gambling interests will be severely restricted.

Local option on gambling is just another "people power" issue, like initiative, that would allow the voters of this state to put issues of their own choosing on the ballot. I'll try initiative again in this legislative session and if I fail, I promise to do all in my power to enact it as your Governor.

To those of you who really want to rid the state totally of gambling, you should know that the Legislature will never do this, nor can the politicians running for governor who make this promise. The only way it can be done is through people power -- initiative and referendum.

M.J. "Mike" Foster

This whole issue is so big and so controversial that no legislature, or candidate for governor will be able to dictate its outcome. It should be decided by a vote of the people of Louisiana in a referendum on the issue.

Questions of the week: Are you in agreement that politicians should not accept gambling contributions? Do you agree that, before gambling comes into a community, there should be a vote on the issue (Local Option)? Do you agree with Mike Foster that our people should have the right to put any issue on the ballot (by initiative and referendum) and then force state Government to follow the wishes of the majority?

Let us know what you think. If you agree, talk to your legislators and let us know what they think.

6.5% A.P.Y. I.R.A. Certificate of Deposit

Calcasieu Marine National Bank's newest C.D. is designed specifically for Individual Retirement Account (IRA) contributions for tax-year 1994, contributions which can be made until April 17, 1995.

The 6.35% interest rate paid on this special, 2½-Year C.D. earns 6.5% Annual Percentage Yield (APY) on your investment, a rate we have chosen to be our market's best 2½-Year C.D. rate, effective through April 17, 1995. To qualify for the rate, a minimum deposit of $1,000.00 is required.

Whether you are beginning your IRA contributions in 1994, or now choosing the best way to add to your IRA, consider the following features of this Calcasieu Marine National Bank IRA Certificate of Deposit.

Is An I.R.A. For You?

If the idea of an Individual Retirement Account is new to you, we urge you to give us a call for the details of who may contribute to an IRA, what the possible tax-savings are, and other important features of this extremely popular savings option. In general, IRAs are an excellent way to build retirement savings, with income taxes deferred until you retire. Anyone who earns income from working - and does not reach age 70½ this year - may qualify to contribute to an IRA, and depending on your income and marital status, your contribution could be $2,000 (individuals) or $2,250 (two IRAs for a married couple with one wage-earner). Many other details apply - and we will be happy to discuss those with you - such as possible penalities for early withdrawal of IRA contributions.

Tax Savings?

Contributions into an IRA may be completely tax-deductible, depending generally on (a) whether or not you (or your spouse) are already covered by a tax-qualified retirement plan at work, and (b) the total of your adjusted gross income. If you qualify for complete deductibility of your contributions, the tax savings from investments into IRAs can be significant. As examples, consider:

...If you are in the 28% income tax bracket and otherwise qualify to make deductible IRA contributions, a typical $2,000 investment into an IRA saves you $560 in federal income tax. If the $2,000 goes into your IRA, you keep that $560, and pay taxes on the income only when you begin drawing out the investment after your retirement, very possibly at a lower income tax rate.

...If you made a $2,000 IRA contribution into the Calcasieu Marine 6.5% (APY) IRA Certificate of Deposit account for twenty years, and the rate was 6.5% (APY) for that entire period, your $40,000 in total contributions would build to a pre-tax total of $82,725.33, more than doubling your investment for retirement. (This calculation assumes that the APY is stable at 6.5% for 20 years, and that interest earned remains on deposit until maturity.)

Can You Transfer Your Present I.R.A. to Calcasieu Marine's Higher Rate?

If you already have an IRA at another institution, and want to directly transfer it to Calcasieu Marine, we will handle the transfer for you completely. (If your transfer is not completed in this direct manner, income-tax withholding and/or penalties for early withdrawal may apply.)

A motion was made by George Kelley, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried that the minutes of the December 20, 1994, regular meeting be approved as written.

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the month of December, 1994.

A motion was made Earl Guthrie, seconded by George Kelley, to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Lake Charles Diesel, Inc., $338.86.
2. H & S Construction Company, 6,863.66.
3. Lonnie G. Harper & Associates, 411.82.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried that the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 permission the Cameron Telephone Company to lower their telephone cable at box culvert site West of Highway 82/27 on the property of Rufus Marshall a minimum of 3 feet below the flow line of the ditch. It was agreed that they be told that they may call Lonnie Harper & Associates to view the site. Tina Horn agreed to call the Highway Department for permission to do this work. It was also agreed by Tina Horn that any future work on W-3 East clean-out project that the parish can do with their equipment, they will do with no charge to the Drainage Board.

Lonnie Harper brought to the attention of the Board that approximately six additional culverts will need to be replaced in the W-3 West Outfall.

J. Berton Daigle reported that a culvert is blocked at staff gauge #3 in the Cameron-Creole Watershed. He stated that the ditch is not backed up with canes that water is not flowing on the South side of the levee at all.

A motion was made by Earl Guthrie, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried that the Parish be requested to clean this culvert and ditch at staff gauge #3 in the Cameron-Creole Watershed, and that spoil be removed.

Toby Bourgois inquired about the Sells lateral. Lonnie Harper reported that his crew had checked it out and found that the bottom half of the lateral had -0.8 bottom elevation, which is fairly shallow, but is deeper on the North end. Just looking at it, Mr. Harper stated that it probably does need some clean out. He stated that we need to ask the Corps of Engineers for re-authorized permit to do this work in the future. Then Lonnie Harper will request the permit.

Mr. Harper reported that he is having talks with the Natural Resources Conservation Service relative to shooting elevations in the Cameron-Creole Watershed. He said that Clay Midkiff will come show him how the NRCS would take those elevations this Friday. They have a list of agencies who have requested that they be notified, and they will send out a letter to them.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by George Kelley, and unanimously carried to adopt the specifications suggested by Natural Resources Conservation Service for Lonnie Harper to observe in shooting elevations in the marsh of Cameron-Creole Watershed.

Amos Vincent asked if Gravity Drainage District No. 4 has any authority to control water levels in East Creole and Little Chenier. He complained that his land stays flooded most of the year. He was advised that Gravity Drainage District No. 4 should be contacted.

Steve Klett presented the monthly Water Management Report for the Cameron-Creole Watershed. Steve also stated that they plan to do some construction on automation of water control structures in May, 1995. This project is read for bidding.

Paul Yakupzack stated that U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service has agreed to hold water levels in the watershed at -8, and in order to adequately manipulate the structures to maintain these levels, the Service has prposed the automation.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Earl Guthrie, and unanimously carried to resubmit our letter to Donald Gohmert of NRCS to expedite repair of ditches in the Grand Bayou structure, and also to send a letter to Clay Midkiff requesting assistance in this regard from the NRCS. Gravity Drainage District No. 4 wil lalso be asked to sign this letter.

Steve Klett reported that some minor repairs have been made to the water control structures, and USFW will be working up a punch list of maintenance that needs to be done on the structures. Hopefully, we can get this paid for with Breaux Bill funding.

Scott Henry reported that he has inspected the work that was performed by James Ashfield at Peconi and Mangrove Structures where stainless steel bolts were replaced a couple of months ago, and the work looks good.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Environmental Quality is proposing to reissue a Louisiana Water Discharge Permit System permit to Jordan Oil Company, Inc. This permit, if issued, will establish effluent limitations and monitoring requirements for the discharge of certain wastewater streams associated with the company's proposed inland gas exploration, development and production operations in the Kings Bayou Field, Cameron Parish. Receiving waters in the Kings Bayou Field include Mermentau River, Bayou Labauve, Little Cheniere Canal, Lower Mud Lake, and associated natural and manmade waterbodies. Limitations and conditions of this permit are consistent with the permitting policy of the Office of Water Resources, which is to achieve and maintain full support of designated uses of the waters of the state.

During the preparation of this permit, it has been determined that these discharges will have no adverse impact on the existing uses of the receiving waters. As with any discharge, however, some change in existing water quality may occur.

The designated uses of the receiving waters include primary contact recreation, secondary contact recreation, propagation of fish and wildlife, and oyster propagation.

The application and proposed limitations may be examined at the Office of Water Resources, 3rd Floor, Department of Environmental Quality, 7290 Bluebonnet Road, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Persons wishing to provide date, views or comments, or request a public hearing relative to the issuance of the permit are invited to submit such comments and requests, in writing, within thirty (30) days of the date of this notice using reference No. LA-0128675 to:

Department of Environmental Quality, Office of Water Resources, Post Office Box 82215, Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70884-2215 ATTN: Christine Partney, Telephone: (504) 765-0543.

All written comments submitted during the period of comment shall be retained by the Office and considered in determining whether to issue, modify, or deny the proposed permit.

J. Dale Givens, Assistant Secretary
Office of Water Resources

CAMERON ORANGE CROP

The orange crop of Cameron Parish this season has been the best of many years. Boats are still bringing hundreds of barrels to Lake Charles for the market, while several schooner loads have been taken to Galveston within the past few weeks. The groves are said to be yielding more and more every year and plans are now being made to interest a large Northern syndicate in orange culture in Cameron Parish.

SALE OF CAMERON LAND

The Denver Realty Company today (Jan. 16) closed a deal with J. W. Rosteet and Amar Vincent for 2,500 acres of land in the Sweet Lake neighborhood, in Cameron Parish. The price was $30,000.

(Cameron Pilot, Jan. 26, 1962)

Miss Elora Montie, the paper's Grand Chenier reporter, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wise, the publishers, to New Orleans to receive a trophy for being the "country correspondent of the year" for the state.

NEW FERRY

The new side-loading ferry goes into operation on the ship channel at Cameron this week, but already some persons are expressing misgivings about it.

Highway officials report that because vehicles must make a turn when driving onto the ferry, no trucks longer than 38 feet can be accommodated. Presumably these will have to go around through Sulphur and Lake Charles.

And some individuals have stated that they do not think the new ferry is in very good shape. A number of such comments were expressed at the Lions Club meeting Wednesday.

State Rep. Alvin Dyson said this week that the sideloader was brought here for two reasons: (1) to permit the old ferry to be put into dry dock for repairs which has been two years since it was given an overhaul, and (2) to see if a sideloader would be practical for Cameron.

FISHERMEN SURVIVE BOAT EXPLOSION
(By Elora Montie)

Two fishermen spent some four or five hours in the icy waters of the Gulf Wednesday of last week after their shrimp boat exploded and sank about eight miles southeast of Grand Chenier.

The boat "Captain Jimmie" exploded at about noon. The two men aboard, Elwood Toups of Cutoff and Ted Dardar of Golden Meadow, managed to get to shore several hours later on a hatch from the boat.

Not knowing where they were, barefooted and soaked, they walked the beach and through the marsh all night and until noon Thursday when they reached the Circle Construction Co. quarter boat near Big Constance Bayou in the Rockefeller Refuge.

They were brought out in a motor boat by Pervis Leger to Grand Chenier and stayed at Murphy's Restaurant until Thursday afternoon.

The two fishermen said they wish to thank everyone in Grand Chenier for their wonderful hospitality during their short stay here.

LIONS ASK LOAN FOR PIER

The board of directors of the Cameron Lions Club this week sent letters to the Small Business Administration and to Louisiana congressmen and senators asking the SBA to reconsider an application for a disaster loan for the Holly Beach Fishing Pier.

The pier, built several years ago at Holly Beach by a private corporation, was completely destroyed by Hurricane Carla in 1961. An application by the corporation for an SBA disaster loan was recently denied.

The Lions letter pointed out that the pier had brought in much tourist trade to the Holly Beach area and would continue to do so if rebuilt. It also pointed out that the Hug-the-Coast road may become a federal highway, which would also bring much business to the pier.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Grand Chenier -- The skit "Gumbo'ke" given Saturday night at the Fur Festival by the Home Demosntration ladies from Grand Chenier was a great success. It was written and produced by Loretta Boyd, who reports they have been asked to perform again. Characters in the skit were: Chester, Shirley Crain; Matt Dillon, Mural Chabreck; Kitty, Nancy Nunez; Doc, Hilda Crain; Stableman, Opal Arrant; Prisoner, Eula Mae Richard; Outlaws, Ethel Martin, Claudia Dyson and Ruby Dupuis; announcer, Pat Doxey; Sherlock Holmes, Diane McCall.

Grand Lake-Sweet Lake -- "A battle with the elements" describes well Dupre Guidry's struggle to save his orange orchard consisting of about 700 trees. His weapons? Old tires which he had purchased for this purpose, a barometer and a constant vigil. Daytime, he hauled tires, at night, when the temperature dropped below 20 degrees, which was usually around midnight, he started the fires and kept them going until about eight o'clock in the morning. From Tuesday through Friday in the recent freezing weather, he labored, getting his first night sleep on Friday night. Only time will tell if he was successful in saving the trees.

Holly Beach -- Streets here again were partly under water after last week's storm. Since Carla, most everyone has built up their lots with sand which has put the streets on a lower level. Every time it rains, there are little or no outlets for drainage. Not once, but many times have residents asked the questions -- "What will become of the beach? Why can't something be done?" Nous se pas.

Oak Grove -- An item of much interest was the selection of a parish queen from our area. Miss Beverly Sue Rutherford, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Rutherford, was selected from a group of twelve girls to represent Cameron Parish on the closing night of the Fur Festival.

Our college students are enjoying a two-week holiday between semesters. They are Junior Rutherford, Francis Carol Miller and Benny and Sharon Welch.

BOAT RIDE TO GULF FOR FISH FRY

A scattered building or two on the marsh, and then, a little cluster of white houses among some green trees -- Leesburg at last. There was a wharf, with a dozen or more cars, and a crowd of people, smiling a friendly welcome.

In an incredibly short time everybody was in the big yard of the hotel, an attractive white building, with cool, screened porches. There, under the big shade trees in the yard, were long tables, with platters heaped high with fried fish and slices of barbecued beef, with a plentiful supply of bread.

After dinner, S. W. Sweeney of Cameron Parish, introduced Mayor Trotti of Lake Charles. Standing on the steps of the hotel, Mayor Trotti expressed the appreciation of the visitors for the gracious hospitality extended to them, and for the delicious feast which had been served.

Must Take Initiative

Mr. Krause remarked that he, as well as many other Lake Charles men, were neighbors of Leesburg, having summer homes on Grand Lake. He also said that, although 85 percent of the taxes of Cameron Parish were paid by non-residents who owned large tracts of land, all the initiative for the voting of the road and its location must come from the residents of Cameron. The location of the road must be settled by Cameron and the state highway department.

Other speakers were then introduced and spoke to the assemblage. Then it was time for a dip in the gulf. At the command "Everybody back to the boat," there was a general stir and commotion as the crowd filed out of the yard and back to the wharf.

As soon as the boat had started, there came another command, "Everybody get into your bathing suits, we'll soon be to the gulf."

Gulf Bathing

The bathers were all ready and waiting, so as not to lose a precious minute of the short stay, when, after a very short ride, someone called out, "There's the Gulf." And there it was, a long, gray line of water, reaching to the horizon. The shallow surf and the sandy beach were enjoyed to the fullest extent, while the expert divers on board exercised their skill in diving from the top of the boat. The water was at its best and in all too short a time, the Rex blew a whistle, calling the bathers back. They came, reluctantly, well loaded with the souvenirs they had found.

According to P. J. Martin, assistant manager of the Illinois Automobile Club, and of the National Motorists' Association, Cameron beach will make an ideal resort for either summer or winter, with climatic conditions similar to, and quite as pleasant as Miami, Florida. Whereas the Florida resorts can be patronized only by people who can afford to spend a great deal of money for pleasure, Cameron beach will make an ideal playground for "drivers of Ford cars", all people of moderate means.

(Cameron Pilot, Sept. 15, 1961)
HURRICANE CARLA

Holly Beach, the little resort town which was completely destroyed by Hurricane Audrey four years ago, was again hard hit by Hurricane Carla last weekend, but for the most part, Cameron Parish residents were thankful that damage was relatively small this time.

Following a week of evacuation, high tides and high water, the parish totaled up the following damages:

* Some 80 camps at Holly Beach and Pete Beach were completely destroyed by the raging tides; some 186 or more camps and homes were damaged in varying degrees. There were 105 major damages and 81 minor damages in the area.

* A five-mile section of the road west of Holly Beach was washed away, making it impossible to reach Johnson Bayou except from the west or by boat.

* Powerlines between Hackberry and Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou were down, with one five-mile section completely gone. The power ws expected to be restored by this weekend.

* Some 20 or 30 business places in Cameron, Creole and Grand Chenier suffered some water damages, as did a good many homes. There were 41 major damages, 204 minor damages and no buildings were destroyed.

* Most of the marsh cattle ranges were submerged and it is expected that many cattle will be short of feed this winter.

On the brighter side were these facts:

* Except for the damage at Holly Beach, and the water damage to some homes, a large portion of Cameron Parish homes were undamaged in any way. Most of those on the ridge between Cameron and Creole and at Grand Chenier were not affected.

* Thanks to an orderly evacuation by Civil Defense and sheriff's deputies, there were no deaths and no serious accidents in the parish.

* The rice crop in the northern part of the parish, which is near harvest, was not severely damaged, and most cattle were moved to higher ground and safety.

* Electricity, telephones and gas were working in almost all sections of the parish except in some instances in the Holly Beach - Johnson Bayou area. Also all roads were open and bridges and ferries operating, except between Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou.

SCHOOLS UNHARMED

Cameron Parish Schools came out of Hurricane Carla with virtually no damage, as contrasted to Hurricane Audrey four years ago when most of the schools were damaged or destroyed.

Supt. U. E. Hackett said that all of the schools in lower Cameron will reopen Monday. Grand Lake and Hackberry High Schools were expected to reopen the last part of this week.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Grand Chenier - Folks began leaving the Chenier Friday before the Civil Defense notified them to leave. The La. Wildlife and Fisheries personnel here moved all their equipment to higher grounds. Most home owners moved out equipment and all vehicles as well.

Holly Beach - Vicious Hurricane Carla began her campaign of fear here Thursday. By Friday, everyone was busy making plans for evacuation and by mid-afternoon it looked like a mammoth exodus.

Men herded and drove cattle out, farm equipment was trucked or driven out and carloads of people and clothing formed the moving line. Many trailer homes were also moved out.

Camcron - Cameron's main street was a sea of tidewater for several days due to Carla. Buildings such as the Cameron Cafe and Roger's Dry Goods had a foot or more of water in them. Many businesses trucked out their merchandise so things were not as bad as they could have been.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

The steamship William Kyle from Franklin made a trip to Mermentau for a load of fuel, after which she continued her trip to Orange, Tex.

The birds are very destructive to the early corn and other grain crops that have been planted. They pull up the newly sprouted shoot to get at the seed. They cleaned up an entire planting of sorghum for Mr. Albert Miller.

(Cameron Pilot, March 29, 1962)
LARGE OYSTER HARVEST

Approximately 80,000 acres of oysters were harvested from Calcasieu Lake during this year's oyster season which ends Sat., Mar. 31, according to Edison Mhire, sanitarian with the Cameron Health Unit.

Mr. Mhire said the harvest brought in about $250,000 to the Cameron area this year.

RED CROSS CHAIRMEN

Chairmen for the 1962 Red Cross fund drive in Cameron Parish were announced this week by Eloi Primeaux of Hayes, Calcasieu-Cameron drive chairman.

A. H. Crain of Grand Chenier is the Cameron Parish chairman. He will be assisted by these community chairmen:

D. Y. Doland, Grand Chenier; Dalton Richard, Creole; Leslie Richard, Cameron; Mrs. J. B. Erbelding, Johnson Bayou; J. A. Lowery, Hackberry; Mrs. Charles H. Precht, Sweet Lake; and Mrs. Ivan Fontenot, Grand Lake.

AROUND THE PARISH

Literary Rally winners of Grand Lake High School were Wyane Merrill, 2nd, plane geometry; Albert Gray, 2nd, French II; Wendell Greathouse, 1st, Industrial Arts II; David Robichaux, 1st, Industrial Arts I.

A group of Cameron residents assisted with a cleanup outing last Saturday at Camp We-Ta-Wentin, Camp Fire and Blue Bird camp north of Lake Charles. George Kelley, Rev. Taylor Wall and Bob Schwark sanded down a camp building in preparation for painting.

Boy Scout Troop 102, sponsored by the Cameron Lions Club, was recently reorganized with F. C. Faries as Scoutmaster. The boys attended Scout-O-Rama in Lake Charles last week. The three men assisting the troop are Pat Westbrook, Braxton Blake and Adam Kershaw.

Cameron - Mrs. John Landry was elected president at the VFW Auxiliary meeting held recently. Other officers are Anita Burleigh, Sr. Vice President; Alta Hebert, Jr. Vice President; Ruby Hebert, Treasurer; Alta Mae Miller, Secretary; Ethyl LaBove, Chaplain.

Grand Lake-Sweet Lake - A supper was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Granger recently celebrating Mr. Granger's 84th birthday. It was also a family reunion representing four generations.

Black News - The annual 4-H Club Achievement Day was held recently at Audrey Memorial School, according to Principal R. S. Guice. Winners in the Junior Club were Mary R. Andrews, baking; Herman Reed, taxidermy; and Larry January, floral arrangement. The Senior Club winners were Levine M. January, sewing; Alice Cockrell, sewing; Lillie Mae Moore, 2nd sewing; and Mary Ellen Godette and Beatrice Lute, cooking.

The Cow Island, St. Eugene Church, being built on the old site, is nearing completion. The work is being done by Dyson Lumber Co. St. Eugene Church is a mission church of Sacred Heart Parish of Creole.

Hackberry - Four members of the Hackberry Home Demonstration Club attended Craft Day in DeQuincy March 19th as guests of the Calcasieu Parish Home Demonstration Council. They are Mesdames Jim Gray, Floyd Little, Madie Pierce and Nata Hebert.

(Abbeville Meridional, Feb. 1, 1913)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Lakeside has an epidemic of LaGrippe and the majority of the people, big and little, are sick with it.

W. S. Streater has a gang of men cleaning the hyacinths from the canal. It has become completely filled with the pest, preventing any traffic to Monroe and Klondike by that route.

Ora Benoit and Miss Eva Benoit were married at the Shell Beach Catholic Church. They will make their home with the groom's father, Numa Benoit at Monroe for the present. The ball and reception took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Joe Benoit of Shell Beach.

There will be quite an acreage of sweet potatoes planted at this neck of the woods and it certainly is a good paying crop here. The prices in the fall ranging from 50 cents to $1 per bushel.

It would be a fine thing if we could pull some of that big appropriation to Lakeside to make a protection for our water front. In a few years, if something is not done, Lakeside will about all be in the Lake.

Mr. Diehl, father of Mrs. L. J. Nunemaker, of Lakeside, died at his home at that place on Sunday morning, Jan. 26, 1913, after an illness of two weeks, aged 74 years. His remains were buried Tuesday, at Lake Arthur.

(Cameron Pilot, Feb. 2, 1962)
SURPLUS FOOD PLAN

The controversial surplus food distribution program, which has been coming up at Cameron Police Jury meetings for the past six months or so, is due to be brought before the jury again next Monday -- this time with more chance for favorable action by the body.

Recently the Cameron Lions Club appointed Dr. Cecil Clark to try to find out why the program had never gotten off the ground, although it has been in operation for some time in many other parishes of the state.

Dr. Clark reported back to the club that the main holdback was the cost of distributing the food. The food, while given free by the federal government for distribution to the needy families, must be stored in a government certified warehouse, and an efficient distribution system must be set up.

Several jury meetings ago, the Cameron jury received an offer from the Calcasieu Police Jury to store and handle Cameron's surplus food for $500 a month. The jury threw up its hands -- the cost was prohibitive, they declared.

Dr. Clark now reports that he has gotten the Calcasieu jury to agree to store the food for Cameron for only $100 a month, with Cameron being responsible for picking up the food and distributing it.

CAMERON PARISH CENSUS

Cameron Parish had a total of 2,613 housing units in 1960 when the U. S. Census of housing was taken according to a report issued last week.

Of these homes, 1,863 were occupied; and 1,403 were occupied by owners and 460 by renters.

The median value of owner-occupied places was $6,500, with $65 a month being the median rent paid by renters.

LIBRARY REPORT
(By Mary Brand, Parish Librarian)

In her report to the Library Board, the librarian stated that 44,695 books had been checked out from the library in 1961 by 3,096 registered users. Of the 6,909 people in Cameron Parish, 45 percent are library users.

AG OFFICES CONSOLIDATED

Three agricultural offices which serve Cameron Parish farmers are presently being consolidated into one office space in the basement of the Cameron courthouse.

The space formerly occupied by the ASCS office and the Soil Conservation Service is being split up into three offices for these two agencies and the extension service as well.

The extension service offices of the county agent, associate county agent and home demonstration agent are being moved to give the sheriff's department space for an interrogation room.

ROUNDABOUT THE PARISH

Hackberry -- Several members of the Beta Club attended the national Beta convention in Baton Rouge last weekend. They were Ernestine Colligan, David Anderson, Johnny Desormeaux, Pam Riggs, Ludwika Waldron, Linda Pearce, Steve Rountree, and Cecil Sanner.

Creole -- The Tarpons now have a "Tarpon". The huge tarpon, that topped the Optimist Club's float which won first place in the Fur Festival parade, has been given to South Cameron High School. The tarpon will be covered with plaster and erected in front of the school along with a sign reading "Home of the Tarpons".

Black News -- John A. Parker, ranking teacher of the Audrey Memorial School, is the proud father of a bouncing baby boy, born in a Lake Charles hospital.

Grand Lake-Sweet Lake -- Those from Sweet Lake attending the Calcasieu Farm Bureau's annual meeting were the Raymond Fusiliers, Edmund Helms, Walter Helms, Hardy Stones, Lyon Breaux, Clyde LeDouxs, Eraste Hebert, Dulva Breaux, Will Beard, Nolton Richards and the Alcie Duhons.

(Abbeville Meridional, Feb. 20, 1909)
INTERCOASTAL CANAL

It is to be hoped the Intercoastal Canal project will receive the aid it deserves from the government as aside from the commercial advantages to this parish, it is the only hope of the Grand and Little Chenier farmers. Their farms have been rendered of no value on account of overflow due to the dam in the Mermentau. The canal will probably prove a drain for the surplus water and they will again be able to raise crops.

Many farmers have already sought other locations where they can make a living; others cannot get away and living is a very hard proposition to them. Formerly a person could pass for miles dry foot from one ridge to another. Across the marshes now these stretches are one bog of rushes and are the only pasturage for the cattle and if any become weakened from any cause, they bog and are unable to get out without help. If they get help, they are safe, if not found they die in the mud.

Some farmers have not been able to get a crop for 5 years. The Intercoastal Canal is looked forward to by those remaining as their only hope.

(Cameron Pilot, Feb. 22, 1962)
RURAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN

A Rural Area Development program will be set up in the near future as a result of action taken by the Cameron Parish Police Jury recently.

County Agent Hadley A. Fontenot explained the program to the jurors, who then agreed to submit the names of several persons from each of their wards who would be willing to serve on a committee to administer the program.

U. S. FISH CATCH

Twenty-one percent -- 1.1 billion pounds -- of the total U.S. near-record 1961 fish catch was taken from the coastal waters between Pascagoula, Miss., and Port Arthur, Tex. -- only 300 miles apart.

Cameron, which was the fifth ranking fishing port in the nation in 1960, is one of the ports in this area which contributed to this huge catch.

There was a record catch of menhaden but shrimp showed a decline this year. Local shrimpers had a poor summer, with the fishing only starting to pick up following Hurricane Carla.

20,000TH SOLDIER

PARISH BASKETBALL TOURNEY

The Cameron Parish Basketball Tournament was held last weekend at Johnson Bayou High School. Hackberry won the senior boys title and the South Cameron senior girls won the girls' title. In the junior boys division, South Cameron won and in junior girls, Johnson Bayou won.

Named to the all-tournament teams were:

Junior boys - Connie Marlatt, Jackie Richard, Jerri Champagne, Sylvia Demarest, Faulk, Loretta Duval and Ernestine Colligan.

ROUNDBOUT THE PARISH

Hackberry - Seventy-three persons were present at the Future Homemakers of America banquet held at Hackberry High Feb. 15. Mrs. Louis Daigle was the guest speaker. Garry Sellers was crowned sweetheart of the FHA girls and Lee Buford and Michael Kyle were named as beaus.

Cameron - Miss Brenda LaLande was elected president at the Happy Blue Birds regular weekly meeting. Other officers are: Jessye Roux, vice-president; Myra Cheramie, secretary; Arlene Cheramie, treasurer. (Arlene Tarter, Reporter).

A Johnson Bayou woman was attacked by three teenage boys of Houston last Sunday. They broke into her home and pulled a gun on her. She called the sheriff. The boys were picked up by deputies Tan Constance and Abraham Peshoff.

Grand Lake - Sweet Lake - Those from the area representing various organizations at the Reporters Clinic held in Cameron Friday were Mesdames Charles Precht Sr., Charles W. Hebert, Clement Demaret, William H. Johnson, Tom Taylor, and Brenda McCain, Yvonne Eagleson, Pat Precht, Carol Granger and Albert Gary.

Grand Chenier - A well-known farmer and trapper, Joe Kershaw, caught one of the largest nutrias believed ever caught on the Chenier this week. The great nutria measured 40 inches long and weighed 12¼ pounds.

The greatest pleasure in life is that of reading, while we are young.

FUNERALS

MRS. MOLENA T. GRIFFITH

Funeral services for Mrs. Molena T. Griffith, 87, of Johnson Bayou, were held Saturday, April 1, in United Pentecostal Church.

Burial was in Head of the Hollow Cemetery.

Let's face it: words are words and they're pretty boring. Except in our state, Louisiana. In Opelousas you can fais-do-do to zydeco. Or paddle your pirogue on Bayou LaFourche. And in New Orleans, celebrate every day with beignets. So, have a good time in Louisiana. And say things you've never seen before. To learn more about your state call 1-800-937-0094.

BIG BASS CAUGHT

Since opening day there have been some big bass caught on Lacassine Refuge. The big bass caught opening weekend was officially 11-11. Jaysen Dautriel caught the largest bass ever taken out of the refuge. It was a Florida bass and I'm sure this record will be broken as a 9 plus pounder also a dozen or so over 8 pounds have been caught this month. Other large bass caught were by Darren Thibodeaux 6-12, Richard Duhon 6-6, Rusty Benson 5-5 and Johnny LeDoux 7-8, to name a few.

There were reports of two bass over 5 lbs caught in the Big Burns, but also reports of nice white perch are being taken on tube jigs. The Big Burns has been sort of onthe slow side as well as Sabine Refuge, but Sabine is reporting nice catches of catfish.

Offshore fishing is still good, fishing for red snappers, but the high winds and weather have hampered boats from going out.

CORRECTION

It was Travis Broussard and Richard Duhon, not Richard Dahlen, catching nice Lacassine bass. Also, you can use a troll motor (electric) in the marsh area. Sorry about that!

WILL THE TIDE TURN

For twenty or so years, there has been a feud between the sports fishermen and commercial fishermen along the Gulf Coast and the Atlantic seaboard. How long will this last or will they change for the better or for the worst?

Texas has a gill net ban, Florida voters have approved a net ban by more than 70 percent of the boates and now Mississippi and Alabama are talking the same talk.

Louisiana will bring up a net ban probably this month and that could go either way or maybe a compromise. I really don't know what all this will lead to, but we'll surely see one or the other not satisfied either way it goes.

ACCORDING TO SCHOOL BOARD

Grand Chenier school will not be closed any time soon

There are no plans to close the Grand Chenier elementary school any time soon, but that could be a future possibility if enrollment should drop and if the Cameron Parish school board's revenues continue to fall.

That was the message that was given a sizable number of Grand Chenier parents and grandparents who turned out for the board's April meeting last week after hearing reports that the school might be closed.

Parents praised the excellent schooling their children have received at the school and urged the board to make every effort to keep the school open.

Board President Bill Morris said that due to the school small enrollment, about 100, teachers can give students more attention, but he said if the classes get much smaller, the board may not be able to afford it.

Superintendent Sonny McCall said that there has not been any direct proposals to close the school and the matter had not been on the board's agenda this month.

However, he said, a recently appointed long range planning committee has been studying various ways of cutting expenses in light of a $1.3 million deficit in the budget this year.

Among the many possibilites discussed was the closing of the Grand Chenier school but no recommendation was made on this by the committee.

A questionnaire sent out by tthe committee to parish teachers asking their suggestions on budget cutting elicited 65 replies, among which were suggestions that the Grand Chenier and Johnson Bayou schools be consolidated with other schools.

Supt. McCall said that assumption by Grand Chenier school patrons that the board was getting ready to take action on their school may have been caused by an item on April's agenda concerning school attendance zones.

He said this did not concern school closings, but was a discussion on setting a policy requiring parents to apply to transfer their child to a school out of their attendance zone.

At present there is no policy, and parents can take their children to any school in the parish they desire, McCall said. This has caused problems in the past when the board has hired an extra teacher at one school because of an increased enrollment in a class, only to have the parents later transfer their child leaving a teacher who could not be released even though she was no longer needed.

Board Member Karen Nunez said there should be a policy to keep this from happening and proposed that principals be allowed to decided whether students can tranfer to their schools.

Morris and board member Tony Johnson said they thought the board should decided on each case.

The matter will be decided at the next board meeting at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, May 3.

In a related matter the board authorized the superintendent to give notice to all parish teachers of a possible reduction in force for the next school year as required by state law.

Supt. McCall explained that this was being done in case reduced enrollment in the parish makes it necessary to hire fewer teachers next year. He noted that a reduction of several teachers had been forecast for this school year but had not been necessary due to several teachers taking sabbatical leaves.

In other matters, the board received notice of retirement of three long time teachers--Ann Nell Bertrand, Agnes Hebert and Juanita Harrison.

The board also approved a new state policy regarding giving of medications to students.

It also applied for a waiver from the state in implementing a state mandate to provide an alternate program for students who are expelled or suspended from school on the grounds that the board cannot afford the additional expense.

State lawm s take Easter k

—CAPITAL NEWS—

Lawmakers considered several law enforcement issues before taking an Easter break, with senators approving bills boosting sheriffs' pay and probation officers' numbers and representatives endorsing making criminals pay their own way.

The Senate voted 30-7 for a new plan which is supposed to provide a more orderly schedule for sheriffs' salaries. If the House goes along with Baton Rouge Sen. Larry Bankston's bill, three salary tiers will replace the current many-tiered system. The lowest salary ($65,000) would be paid in parishes with populations of 100,000 or less; the mid-range ($75,000) is for populations up to 400,000; and the parishes with larger populations would pay $85,000. The new structure could mean raises for about half the state's sheriffs, as much as $20,000 in some cases.

Senators also supported New Orleans Sen. John Hainkel's proposal to require the Department of Corrections to hire more probation officers. The bill would limit each officer to 50 cases by July 1, 1996, at an additional cost of $9.7 million but Hainkel says reducing crime is the public's first priority.

A 28-8 vote on a bill by Sen. Greg Barro of Shreveport, however, indicates that senators don't believe ticket quotas are a good means of reducing crime. Barro's bill, if it passes the House, will prohibit state police and other law enforcement agencies from setting ticket quotas as several have done.

The House, meanwhile, approved several bills by Rep. Raymond Lalonde of Carencro, who says criminals should share the cost of operating the criminal justice system. One bill, passed 98-0, allows a judge to levy incarceration costs against a convict's assets or future earnings, such as selling the rights to their stories. A 100-0 vote approved the bill allowing the state to use an inmate's savings as restitution for theft or drug test costs if the results are positive. A third bill makes it mandatory that courts assess a monthly fee n juveniles or parents placed on probation or parole. The cost is currently optional under the Children's Code, and the House voted 101-0 to convert it to a mandatory assessment.

Hoping to get a handle on school violence, senators approved two bills penalizing students for bringing certain troublesome items to school. Sen. Cecil Picard of Maurice successfully authored a bill allowing a one-year expulsion of students caught with guns on school campuses or buses.

A bill by Sen. James Davis Cain of Dry Creek prohibits possessin of beeper's or other electronic communications devices at school without parental permission. Violators of that bill also could be suspended if the House passes the legislation.

Ignoring suggestions that the proposal of an unconstitutional mandate on local government, the House voted 86-14 to give poll commissioners, commissioners-at-large and deputy parish custodians of voting machines a $25-per-day raise. Opponents unsuccesfully argued that New Orleans Rep. Emile "Peppi" Bruneau's bill violates the recently passed prohibition on unfunded state mandates to local government. The bill now goes to the Senate for debate.

Non-resident gill net law will be enforced

Rep. Randy Roach has been advised by the Attorney General's office that the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries will enforce the provisions of the law he got passed in 1990 banning the issuance of commercial gill net licenses to non-residents who live in states that prohibit the use of those nets.

Frederick C. Whitrock, Assistant Attorney General, advised Rep. Roach by letter that he had discussed the matter with Department officials and that they indicated that they would enforce the provisions of the law. The Department has already refused to issue commercial gill net licenses to Texas residents since Texas does not allow the use of those nets in its waters.

Recreational and commercial fishermen in Louisiana became concerned about the potential influx of Florida gill netters after the passage of the Florida ban on gill nets last November. The ban goes into effect July 1, 1995. Beginning on that date Louisiana will refuse to issue any new gill net licenses to Florida residents.

"I appreciate the position taken by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries", Roach said. "The law we passed in 1990 was intended to prevent adjacent Gulf Coast states from unreasonably interfering with our fisheries management program. The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has already implemented a moratorium on the issuance of any new commercial gill net licenses. I think that we can safely say that Louisiana waters will not become a haven for Florida fishermen any time in the near future. I do not mean to suggest that the legislature does not need to deal with the issue of gill netting. It was a problem before Florida banned the nets. However, we can now focus our attention on the merits of the issue and decide how best to manage our fishery resource for the future".

Refuge revenue sharing funds received by sheriff

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Terry Delaine, assistant manager of the Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, presented Sheriff James R. Savoie with a check for $209,936 representing the refuge revenue sharing payments for 1994.

The money will be divided up among all of the governmental units of the parish, Savoie said.

The money came from the United States Department of Interior Fish and Wildlife Service and is paid to the parish each year in lieu of taxes and fees.

The regional director stated that this year's check is 77.1 percent of the total entitlement, which is a slight decrease of about .07 percent from last year's payment.

"Congress, as authorized, did appropriate additional funds; however, the amount appropriated was not sufficient to provide for a full entitlement payment", Delaine stated.

In addition, the reason that payments to certain counties have significantly increased or decreased from last year's may be due to reappraisals or the acquisition of additional lands," he said.

Under the Refuge Revenue Sharing Act, counties receive annual revenue payments based on the number of fee-owned acres, their value, and the amount of funds available in the refuge fund plus any congressional appropriations.

This year's fund did not contain sufficient receipts to make full payment to continue as computed to provide for a full entitlement payment.

Creole Homemakers hold March meeting

In observance of Teacher Appreciation Week, Apr. 16-22, the club will honor the staff of South Cameron Elementary School on Wed., Apr. 19, by serving homemade cookies and coffee. Members who will be serving at the affair are Mayola Wicke, Estelle Theriot, and Glenda McEvers.

President Baccigalopi announced that in conjunction with National Library Week, an open house will be held at the parish library in Cameron Fri., Apr. 21. The event will feature a guest speaker and exhibits and refreshments will be served. On behalf of the club, Baccigalopi volunteered to make cookies for the open house.

Baccigalopi announced that the quarterly meeting of the Cameron Parish Homemakers Clubs will be held Mon., Apr. 10, at 6:30 p.m. in the Grand Chenier Fire Station. Grand Chenier is the hostess club but members of each club are asked to bring a covered dish.
