Incidentals upset bride's budget

By Bernice Stewart Denny

Evidences of a recession, rumblings of a depression invade our economic world week after week. Those of us who experienced the financial crash of 1929 and the Great Depression of the 30's tell ourselves that these cannot happen again. And then we question.

The value of a monetary unit is relative. It depends upon the individual, the place, and the time. It seems in our inflationary present that the value of our "good old American dollar" shrinks with every washing of exchange.

Since we have little control over place and time, our only resource in handling our income lies within ourselves. And then, no matter how carefully we budget, it is difficult to balance dollars that go out with dollars that come in.

I clearly recall my first month's budget that I worked out as a bride during the latter days of the Great Depression. Rent, grocery and insurance allotments were maintained as were church contributions and automobile expenses.

Little had been designated for clothing. With a brand new trousseau, who needed new clothes! A small amount had been designated for savings and entertainment.

But the demon in the budget hid under the heading of Incidentals. Instead of remaining a meek, slim $2.50, Mr. Incidentals puffed himself up and out to a $25 figure and wrecked the budget.

Previously I had naively believed that incidentals included only such items as an occasional postage stamp. As you have probably guessed, incidentals swallowed up the amounts assigned to entertainment, savings and clothing that month.

Mr. Incidentals also taught the young bride a never to be forgotten lesson in small finance. And that lesson is that no matter how carefully you plan, the unexpected is likely to happen at any moment and is sure to happen in the long run. Accident or illness springs forth without warning.

Although one can never be fully prepared for emergencies, one should consistently add to a savings account, buy wisely, carry insurance consistent with his salary, and refrain from excessive purchasing on credit. Incidentally, we wonder if our federal government will ever balance its budget.

As businesses close down, as individuals go bankrupt, we need to remind ourselves that money has a moral as well as a legal stamp.

Thomas Starr King, an American who died during the last year of the Civil War, said, "It (our money) is coined over again in an inward mint. The use we put to it, the spirit in which we spend it, give it a character which is plainly perceptible to the eye of God."

ENGAGED--Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams of Cameron announce the engagement of their daughter, Jocelyn, to Philip Moseley III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Mosley of Port Arthur, Texas. The couple will exchange nuptial vows at 11 a.m., June 5, at Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Cameron.

BISHOP JUDE SPEYRER of the Lake Charles Diocese and Father Ed Brunnert are shown saying mass at the dedication of the Spiritual Renewal Center of Our Lady of Assumption Catholic Church at Johnson Bayou. Altar boys are Barry Badon, Scott Sandifer and Bobby Constance.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

William SEALE immigrated to the colony of Virginia in 1656 and through his descendants this line spread to the Carolinas, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

In England a coat of arms was granted in 1599 to Thomas Seale by Queen Elizabeth I.

SEALE FAMILY

The Seale Family of Old Virginia has an author whose mother was born in Hackley, Washington Parish, La. and a grandmother born in Poplarville, Pearl River County, Miss.

Deborah A. Sprouse, 2403 Amos Mill Road, White Hall, Maryland 21161 writes that some of her other La. and Miss. families were: Burge, Mitchell, Stockstill, Kennedy, Ellis, Wilkinson, Williams, Parker, Collins, Goff, Nelson and Wheat.

Softcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 93 pages, indexed, some illustrations, $10.00, this Seale book is available from Mrs. Sprouse at her address.

Including personal information as well as statistics, its main focus is on early Seale families who lived in Va. during the 1700s and then, primarily during the last years of that century, migrated to more southern states.

Program for gifted is expanding

The Governor's Program for Gifted Children at McNeese State University has expanded its Fine Arts Division to include children who are gifted in the visual arts, according to Dr. George Middleton, director of the program.

Three summers ago, the program was expanded to include a musically gifted section. This and the new curriculum will be a part of the Governor's Program which has been in operation on the McNeese campus for the past 23 years.

The academic section of the program extends from the sixth through the 11th grade, offering a broad spectrum of courses in science, mathematics, computer science, composition and the humanities. High school students are able to take some courses for college credit.

The Governor's Program set for June 7-July 23, offers courses for seven weeks. Applicants for places in the academic sections must attain a minimum IQ of 136 either on the Stanford-Binet or the WISC-R Test. Invitations are extended to those qualifying applicants who attain the highest scores.

The aim of the new art curriculum is to develop talent and skills in children who are gifted in visual arts beyond opportunities offered in the regular school program. Classes in music and art are taught by distinguished faculty members including professors from McNeese as well as visiting artists.

During the summer, musically gifted students will participate in performing ensembles, receive private instructions on their major instruments, attend classes in music theory and history. Students are placed in classes according to their level of achievement. There will also be opportunities for solo performances in recitals and with an orchestra.

Required auditions for the visual arts and musically gifted sections of the Governor's Program will be held in April. Additional information or applications may be obtained by writing the Office of Governor's Program for Gifted Children, McNeese State University, Lake Charles, La. 70609 or telephoning the university during office hours: 8 a.m. - 12 p.m. The office is located on the first floor of King Hall.

NITROGEN FERTILIZER

Nitrogen fertilizer will be used extensively from now on through the summer months for crops, pastures, vegetables, etc. and winter pasture this fall and winter.

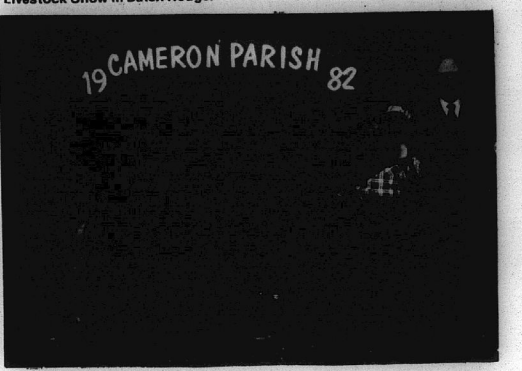
What happens to Nitrogen when applied to the soil? There is general agreement in long-term field experiments that 25 to 50 percent of all fertilizer nitrogen applied to the soil is not recovered by plants. Even under the last conditions and by applying the full knowledge gained through research date, losses ranging from 20 to 30 percent are considered unavailable.

Part of the fertilizer nitrogen may be lost through leaching and surface runoff; some may remain in the soil in forms positionally and chemically inavailable to the plant in reasonable lengths of time; and part is lost to the atmosphere. Amounts lost vary depending on soil and climatic conditions, kinds of fertilizer and cropping management practices.

Surface application of area on bare or grass covered soils can result in loss of nitrogen by valatilization. The loss of area is greater when the temperature is above 80 degrees and if the soil pH is neutral to alkaline. Most of these losses can be avoided by incorporating nitrogen with the soil.

WEED CONTROL

During the winter months annual broadleaf weeds such as wild buttercup, Carolina geranium, henbit and chickweed and annual grasses such as little barley grow in bermuda grass and badia grass pastures and hay fields. These weeds can occur in thick enough stands to reduce spring growth of the forage grass. In pastures, grazing animals may avoid badly infested areas thus using only a portion of the pasture acreage. In hay fields the presence of these weeds, can lower the quality of the first summer hay harvest.



Most of these weeds can be controlled with one of the several forms of 2, 4-D providing the air temperature has been at least 65 degrees for a few days as was discussing with Scott Henry. The formulation used, that is, the amine esters, Banvel (weedmaster) and amount per acre depends on the kind and size of weeds to be controlled.

MENSUROL & PROPONIL

As many of the rice farmers already know Mesural, a bird repellant for rice, was approved for use in 1982 on 330,000 acres in Louisiana. The amount approved by the EPA would, if all were applied, treat half of the states acreage.

A note of caution should be observed on the use of Menural in relationship to weed control if the Mesural is applied to rice seed, crop injury may result from direct application of Propanil or from Propanil drift onto adjacent areas.

Propanil (most commonly sold as STAM M4) is still the primary grass control herbicide used for rice in Louisiana. If a farmer plans to use Mesural as a rice seed treatment he should consider the use of alternative grass control herbicide (Ordram, Modown or Ronstar). As with many new products the exact degree of crop damage that would be encountered with a Mesural-Propanil interaction on a particular rice field is not known. Therefore, it is best that the farmer not use Propanil (STAMM4) on Mesurol treated rice.

Cameron. . . . . Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

The Lemesche Bass Club will hold their club tournament Sunday with quite a few anglers not putting their name in and they will have to fish by themselves. Partners drawn were: Arnold Jones Jr. and Barry Richard; Kenneth Nunez Jr. and Keno Nunez; Ricky Canik and Rufus McEvers; Anthony Nunez and Leslie Griffith; Carl Broussard and Loston McEvers; Eddie Conner and Gerald Richard; Phillip Trosclair being odd man.

Lacassine Refuge: A few bass are being taken, but not enough to brag about, however bream are beginning to bed up and that's good fishing, when bass slack off. Quite a few people fishing out of Gary's Landing in Lowery did real good on white perch with some in the 2 lb. range and also some nice catfish.

The Fontenot families from the Sulphur area hold a catfish fry each Good Friday and this year was no exception. All the fried catfish, gravy and you name it to eat with music and all the trimmings. Everyone brings something and this year there must have been about 200 attending.

Big Burns: The burns is still producing fish, but it's tough fishing and with all the fronts moving in you have a hard time trying to figue out the weather.

Amoco (Grand Chenier). There's still bass being caught in the big canals, but the bass are running small, but a few nice catfish were taken out in the last two weeks. Neil Smith has caught the nicest catfish I've seen this year. Last week he had one close to 40 lbs.

Fishing times: Sat. A.M. - 6:30 to 10 (good). P.M. - 6 to 10:30 (fair). Sun. A.M. - 7 to 11 (good). P.M. - 6:30 to 11:30 (fair).

The world's greatest migrators are birds called the Arctic terns. They travel each year to the Antarctic. The round trip totals about 25,000 miles.

Arkansas turkeys very elusive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ray Burleigh, Cameron sports man, here tells of a recent turkey hunt that he made in Arkansas.)

I traveled to the southwest Arkansas mountains where I met up with my guide, Leo, to do a little turkey hunting. The hunt lasted three long days before bagging a bird.

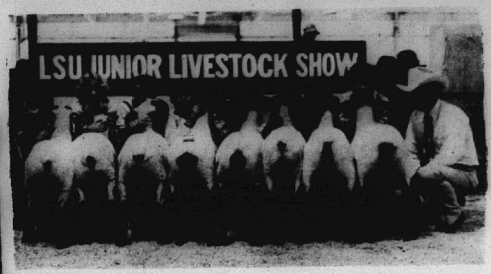
The first day Leo and I went into the brush of the mountain to locate a gobbler. The winds were 40 m.p.h. and 29 degrees, which is a little cold for hunting, Leo told me. And of course, that day Mr. Gobble didn't want to come to our call.

The second day we went back to the same area and Leo called the turkey once more. We waited for over four hours before the turkey decided it was safe to come out.

We watched in silence and without movement as he came 150 yards from us, but wouldn't come any closer. That afternoon, we went back to the site and stayed another four or five hours, but never spotted one sign of the turkey because the wind was to high.

The third day we both left at daylight and went back to the area and tried calling the gobbler once again. I went approximately 150 feet down the mountain and built a blind of bushes and twigs, then sat and waited.

Around 8:30 that morning Mr. Gobbler came out about 60 yards from me and made a circle around me, as though he knew I was there and he wanted to watch me for a while. He never came close enough to shoot, so I had to sit and wait and hope he would come out again, but in shooting range this time.



Then, as I was sitting and waiting I heard foot steps behind me, but couldn't turn to see what was there. I remember what my guide had told me, to sit very still and not even blink an eye or I'd never get a shot at a gobbler. So I figured if it was a gobbler I'd lose my chance at him if I moved. (But I hoped it wasn't a bear behind me.)

It was 11 a.m. when the turkey came up the hill, within 20 steps from me and I shot him in the neck.

It takes more patience to kill a turkey than anything I have ever hunted in my life.

RAY BURLEIGH of Cameron holds a turkey that he killed in Arkansas recently.

CAMERON PARISH 4-H and FFA members won first place in both the Parish Lamb Group at the recent LSU Junior Livestock Show in Baton Rouge, according to Gary Wicke, associate county agent.

MY VIEW . . .

Shrimp meeting important

By JESSE KNOWLES
CHAIRMAN LOUISIANA WILDLIFE AND FISHERIES COMMISSION

I want to call the attention of shrimpers and person in the shrimp industry to two important meetings that are scheduled to be held in New Orleans April 26 and 27. One is the annual briefing of the industry on prospects for the upcoming brown shrimp season. The other is the actual setting of the season.

Both meetings will be held at the Sheraton Inn-Airport, 2150 Veterans Memorial Blvd., Kenner, La. That's at Williams Blvd. and the I-10 Hwy. It's a different place from previous years but in the same immediate area.

The department's seafood division biologists have been and will continue to monitor the shrimp crop, presenting the latest biological information to the commission and to those attending the briefing.

I think it is important for this area to be represented by shrimp fishermen and members of the industry from southwest Louisiana. The briefing will provide the latest possible information on brown shrimp populations, projected growth rates and estimated size of the shrimp at the time of the season's opening.

The season itself will be set the following day by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, after full consideration of the recommendations of the biologists and input from shrimpers and industry representatives.

You may recall that last year, based upon recommendations of the biologists, we were able to have a special two-day season in Zone 3, particularly to harvest white shrimp in Calcasieu Lake.

That two-day season resulted in about 100,000 pounds of big white shrimp being harvested. They ran 15/20 and 21/25 to the count and were valued at a quarter million dollars.

Many sport shrimpers participated in the special season and took about 30,000 pounds of shrimp.

There's nothing definite about another such season, but I stress what happened last year to indicate the importance of the two meetings in New Orleans. They are both scheduled for 10 a.m. on April 26 and 27.

One thing I like about the annual public briefing is that the meeting isn't limited just to listening to what the biologists have to say about the sampling they've done, and those other biological factors such as salinities and temperatures that affect shrimp growth.

The meetings give anyone attending the opportunity to say when he'd like to see the season open, after he's heard all of the scientific information. It's a real democratic gathering and anyone can sound off about the shrimp season and what he believes should be the best opening date.

A lot can take place at the shrimp meetings. You may recall that last year, after carefully considering all of the biological information, the commission voted to open the entire coast to shrimping at the same time.

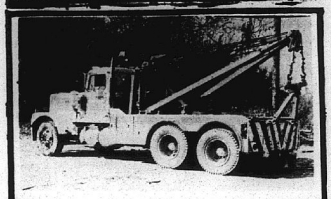
For a number of years, we had used the zone concept, usually opening the middle zone (Zone 2) first, and opening the east and west zones a little later (Zones 1 and 3).

We're not married to the zone concept of management, and we are not divorced from it either. Last year, the data made it seem proper to have a statewide opening. We'll have to see what is forthcoming from the biologists, and listen to what is offered to the commission in the form of testimony.

I assure shrimpers and all segments of the overall shrimp industry that what takes place at these two meetings is of vital interest to them, and sincerely urge them to be represented.

3 churches plan V.B.S.

A new program has been prepared for Vacation Bible School to be held July 12-21 at the Grand Chenier Baptist Church. The school is a joint effort of the Grand Chenier Baptist Church, the Grand Chenier Methodist Church and the Oak Grove Baptist Church.



Come Follow Jesus is the theme for the school, to be held each weekday from 9-12 a.m.

Classes will be offered for ages 4 through 6th grade. All children in the community are invited to attend.

Kneeling rule is reversed

To kneel or not to kneel--that was the question on which the Cameron parish school board members found themselves reversing their previous action at the board meeting Monday.

At its December meeting, Mrs. Paula Wagner, school board staff member, advised the board that the State Department of Education attorney had advised that using kneeling as a punishment should come under the board's policy for corporal punishment, the same as spanking.

At its March meeting, the board reluctantly amended its corporal punishment policy to include kneeling, making it necessary to fill out a report and take other steps before a teacher could require a student to kneel for punishment.

At that meeting board member John DeBarge, a former Hackberry principal, said he thought it was ridiculous to have to go through all that "to put a kid on his knees."

At the April meeting Monday DeBarge told the board that he had "stewed over" the kneeling matter during the past month and that he felt the board should go back to its previous position on kneeling in which no restrictions were placed on its use by teachers.

DeBarge said because of the red tape involved in using kneeling under the new policy most teachers would stop using it altogether and would either send the kids to the office, spank or suspend them.

Either way, the kids are going to suffer," he stated.

DeBarge said he had talked to the same Dept. of Education attorney who had given the previous opinion on kneeling and the attorney had said kneeling did not need to be included in the corporal punishment policy.

Mrs. Wagner defended keeping kneeling under the corporal punishment policy because she felt that teachers were too apt to use kneeling as a punishment for everything without being "creative and seeking alternative" means of punishment.

She reported on a survey made of school principals in which most said the new policy had not affected punishment in schools but said that two schools indicated that there was too much paperwork involved in the new policy and would not use kneeling much anymore.

The board asked District Attorney Jerry Jones for an opinion on the legality of using kneeling. He asked the board to go ahead and formulate its own policy and then submit it to him for his opinion.

"I don't want to get into the position of policy making," he said.

Upon a motion by DeBarge, the board then voted unanimously to remove kneeling from its corporal punishment policy thereby making it possible for teachers to resume using the method as a punishment without any additional red tape.

Sr. citizens to be feted

The First Baptist Church of Cameron will sponsor a Senior Citizen fellowship with meal and entertainment on Sunday, April 25, beginning at 5 p.m.

All 60 year old plus residents are invited to attend

Board's budget in fine shape

Other political bodies may be feeling the pinch of the recession but the Cameron parish school board got some good news Monday: It needed to revise its 1981-82 budget to show additional revenues which will result in a $1,097,184 surplus for the year.

Supt. Thomas McCall told the board that the board will receive on school owned sections $400,000 more in petroleum rents, leases and royalties than had been previously budgeted.

The new budget shows a total of $3,835,255 coming from this source - a whopping 44 percent of the board's total revenues for the year. By comparison, only $1,224,367 or 14 percent of the school revenues will come from local taxes.

Revenues from state sources will amount to 2,752,743 while $112,508 is expected from federal sources. The total revenues for the year will be $8,638,387.

The board projects total expenditures of $7,541,203 for the fiscal year leaving a surplus for 1981-82 of $1,097,184.

While many school boards throughout the state sold their 16th sections years ago Cameron parish has held on to their sections, a policy that has proven very beneficial because of the oil and gas boom in the parish.

A variety of other business was taken up by the board including the awarding of a contract to the Bodark Book company for $6,297 for books for parish school libraries. The board will receive a state allocation of $5800 toward the cost.

The Medalist - Stanberry Company was awarded a $7,643.75 contract for new band uniforms for South Cameron high school.

The board agreed to purchase two word processors for South Cameron high and one for Hackberry high at a total cost of $18,000 to set up pilot programs in training students in their use. The processors would be installed at other high schools later.

The board approved a 30-year lease on eight acres of land from the Grey estate for use by Johnson Bayou high school.

Board member Daniel Billiot was authorized to get the property cleared and fenced with the aid of community volunteers and the police jury.

Jackie Holmes, Grand Lake teacher, was given a leave without pay for personal reasons.

The board agreed to make a demand on the Burton Oil Company that it show the board plans for oil and gas exploration on school board lands at Johnson Bayou or else release the property.

A representative of Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America seeking a permit to install a 36-inch pipeline across two school sections was advised to get permits from other property owners along the 54 mile route and then come back to the board which would then ask for the highest rate given any other property owner.

The board approved Supervisor Adam Conner's attendance at the National Migrant Conference in Puerto Rico as one of 15 persons attending from Louisiana. The state will pay Conner's expenses and he will tell the conference of Cameron parish's migrant education program, one of the largest in the country.

Conner reported that the program may be affected by federal budget cuts this coming year.

The board approved paying a portion of the expenses of student Stacy Broussard to the national FFA convention in Washington and also authorized the superintendent to use his discretion in helping pay the expenses of other Cameron parish students to national metings if they are national officers.

Ron Vining, representing the Cameron Teachers Association, thanked the board for helping Cameron parish teachers to be among the highest paid in the state. However, he asked the board to look into help for teachers, particularly those in a one-income family, such as with hospitalization insurance.

He announced that the teacher association was organizing a parish credit union that would also be open to other parish employees. He said a meeting on the matter will be held on May 6.

School calendar

The 1982-83 school calendar was adopted by the Cameron parish school board Monday. It will be similar to the calendar for this year including a week's break at Easter.

Supt. Sonny Hackett said the teachers had indicated their liking for the calendar, especially for the week off for Easter.

The calendar is as follows:

Thursday and Friday, September 2 and 3 - Schools closed for a teachers in-service program.

Cameron State Bank one of top in U.S.

Cameron State Bank, Cameron, is one of the nation's top banks in terms of financial performance based on an analysis conducted by Bank Administration Institute.

The 1,200 top banks were cited from among those 14,000 U. S. banks with assets under $150 million. "We felt that the performance profiles of these banks could be indicative of unique management practices worth examining and analyzing," said Joseph Ciaburri, president, Bank of New Haven, New Haven, CT., and chairman of BAI's High Performance Bank Assembly.

"These banks have profit levels that mark them as outstanding; they've managed to maintain a significant edge in an increasingly competitive market, and we think it's worth finding out why," said Mr. Ciaburri.

The Institute's researchers used their 1980 Index of Bank Performance (based on information required by the FDIC) as a statistical base, weighing three factors: return on assets, return on equity and deposit growth. Using these criteria, the top 10 percent of banks in each state were selected.

As a result of the study, plans are underway for an exclusive High Performance Bank Assembly, June 1-4 in Denver, with enrollment limited to the chief executive officer of cited banks.

Contract not to be renewed

Following a 10 minute closed session, the Cameron parish school board Monday came back into open session and voted unanimously not to renew the contract of Frank Brocato as principal of South Cameron high school.

The board is expected to advertise for a replacement for Brocate in June when his present contract expires.

Brocato was hired by the school board in 1980 to replace J. C. Reina, long time South Cameron principal, who retired.

At the end of the 1980 1981 school year, the board considered not renewing Brocato's contract. A number of parents of South Cameron students came to a board meeting and asked that Brocato be continued as principal and so many parents indicated their desire to address the board that a special night meeting was scheduled.

At that meeting, attended by more than 100 persons, a number of persons spoke in support of the principal. The school board, following two closed sessions, voted then to renew Brocato's contract for another year on a probationary basis.

No explanation was given Monday by board members for their action on Brocato's contract.

Brocato had not been principal long enough to come under the state tenure law so no hearing is necessary for discontinuation of the contract.

Channels are dredged in this area

Two southern Louisiana navigation channels have been restored to Congressionally authorized dimensions in maintenance dredging work just terminated by private contractors for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

In the first project, the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway between the Vermilion and Mermentau Rivers was dredged to a depth of 15 feet below mean low Gulf. Mike Hooks, Inc., began work on the project early last October under a $2.6 million contract. The company finished the 36.7-mile-long stretch of the GIWW over two weeks ahead of schedule. The Vermilion-Mermentau stretch is part of the New Orleans to Sabine River section of the GIWW, which handled 55-million tons of commerce in 1980.

Williams-Mcwilliams Co., Inc., did maintenance dredging on Freshwater Bayou from the lock out into the Gulf for a distance of four miles. Work on that $944,460 job began in late January and was completed shortly before mid-April, two weeks ahead of schedule.

AGATE students help brighten up schol

The elementary wing at Cameron Elementary School has had a face lift, thanks to the students in AGATE's art program at that school. These students have painted giant murals on the walls between the classrooms, adding fun and color to the hall.

AGATE is the name of the parish's gifted and talented program, and the students involved in the painting have demonstrated much skill, talent and ability.

In deciding what to paint, each child chose a subject meaningful to himself. The result is a bright variety of artwork. An underwater scene, a rocket on its way to the moon, a self portrait and a scene from the ballet are some of the subjects depicted.

Three children chose to paint the house they live in, but the individuality of each shows through, so that the paintings are original and unique despite their common subject matter.

An imaginary contraption adds a bit of fantasy to the collection that includes eight murals in all.

Nora Dyson, Eldrich Frazier, Reggie Godette, Pennie LaCombe, Hope Nash, Kevin Olivier, Katheryn Plasencio, Jeremy Porche and Michael Styron are the art students. Jeanne Daigle is their teacher, and Wayne Batts is principal of the school.

Caterpillars to be out in trees soon

Trees not only produce a profusion of leaves and blossoms this time of year, they also seem to hatch a variety of crawly caterpillar critters.

Anyone with trees around the house is familiar with them, for they seem to come in hoards from nowhere. There are three in particular that make their appearance each spring--the buck moth caterpillar, forest tent caterpillar and fall webworm.

The first is probably the most prominent and well known because of its "defense mechanism," a dark-colored coat of spines than can cause painful welts where they touch the skin.

The forest tent caterpillar is a long fuzzy crawler with light colored key hole shaped spots down his back. the fall webworm is a small light colored hairy caterpillar normally found in dense webs formed on tree branches. These two are harmless to humans.

The fall webworm will be around until fall, as its name implies, but the other two will be gone, for the most part, by early summer.

All three feed on leaves, causing defoliation on several tree species, especially certain oaks. However, the defoliation is normally of a minor nature on large trees and is quickly repaired by refoliation in most cases.

Smaller trees can sometimes be completely defoliated and suffer growth setbacks, but mortality rarely, if ever, occurs. Otherwise, aside from being a springtime picnic pest, these critters are something that both people and trees can usually tolerate.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

When you want to know what an area was like and who its people were at any given time, look for a Biographical and Historical volume first published during that period.

Since such works were popular in the late 1800s, now a century ago, there's a good chance you may find one. The wealth of information in these books, much of it gathered from living citizens who knew their grandparents, is often beyond compare with any other source you may find on your family for this time frame in their history.

SOUTHWEST LOUISIANA

Southwest Louisiana Biographical and Historical as edited by William Henry Perrin was first published in 1891. Its reprint by: Claitor's Publishing Division, P.O. Box 239, Baton Rouge, La. 70821 makes it available again to genealogists and historians.

Hardcover, over 800 pages, 7 x 9 1/2 in., indexed, it begins with an introduction on Southwest Louisiana including an outline on the volume's Kentucky-born compiler.

The parishes of St. Landry, St. Martin, Iberia, Calcasieu, Cameron, Lafayette, St. Mary, Acadia and Vermillion each have a chapter giving description, topography, resources, agriculture and industry, businesses, roads and railroads, churches and schools, pioneer families, doctors and lawyers, history and development of cities and towns (some no longer existing).

Following sections give the Acadian story of Evangeline, the Louisiana Constitution of 1879, the story of the Acadians, Jean LaFitte "pirate and patriot" and a detailed account of the Battle of New Orleans.

Almost half of this book is devoted to Biographical Sketches, by parishes, of 1890 citizens. Giving birthplace, parents, wives and children, occupation, political and military history, etc. each sketch is at least a mini-genealogy in itself.

For anyone interested in Southwest Louisiana's history and families, the reprinting of this volume is good news.

by MARIE WISE

One third of the geographic area of our state is represented in the records of its people from 1756 through 1896 in the 27-volume set compiled under direction of Rev. Donald J. Hebert now of Eunice. More is yet to come.

The publishing of this tremendous amount of material began with Volume 1 in 1974 which contains 1756-1810 records, continued through Volume 27 in 1981 having 1896 records, and is planned to complete with records through 1900.

The amount of information contained in this reference set is no less than astonishing: marriages, deaths (burials) and births (baptisms) gathered from all available church registers - Catholic plus many other denominations - plus all courthouse records having this kind of data and, also, records from various other sources.

Volumes 1 through 4 are already in their second printing.

SOUTHWEST LA. RECORDS, 1756-

Southwest Louisiana Records, Volumes 1-27 needs to be seen in order to be fully appreciated. A first class production, each volume is hard cover, cloth bound in blue with printing and outline Louisiana map in gold color. Inside covers show Louisiana parish maps from the time period represented by that volume.

All records are alphabetical, surnames in capitals, excellent sub-heading with spelling variations given: Fall can be Pfall, Caruthers may be Credeur or Karauter, Lacy was sometimes Ayglesson or Lassy, Albert the same as Alverti, Ryan could be Rayon, and hundreds of others. These spelling variations are an education in themselves and offer many possibilities to further research for those who have reached "dead-ends" with their family lines.

All entries give dates and reference to the original record; parents and place of territorial and state Louisiana governors, An Introduction to Black Genealogy, records from the Academy of the Sacred Heart at Grand Coteau, marriages from the Opelousas . Courthouse, cemetery inscriptions, military pension applications, 1800's lists of pastors and members from First United Methodist Church of Franklin, maps with landowner names, cattle brands and owners names reproduced from original records and also indexed, etc.

Each volume has a section of additional records and corrections referring to previous volumes, making the set actually a continuing reference.

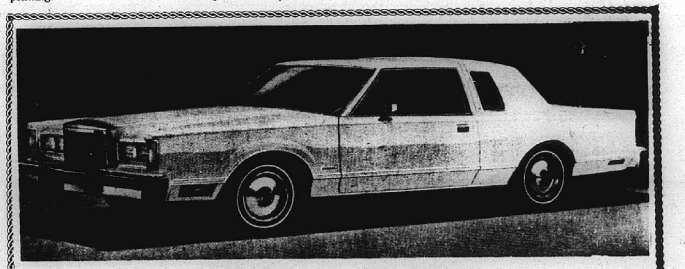
Available from: Claitor Publishing Division, P.O. Box 3333, Baton Rouge, La. 70821 at $25.00 per volume or $675.00 for Volumes 1 thru 27, this set belongs in the library of every Louisiana genealogist and historian.

With records from the thirteen civil parishes of Acadia, Allen, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Cameron, Evangeline, Iberia, Jefferson Davis, Lafayette, St. Landry, St. Martin, St. Mary and Vermillion, Rev. Donald J. Hebert's Southwest Louisiana records is a reference work of outstanding value.

Be careful in handling pesticides

Some pesticide chemicals used in agriculture are highly toxic and, if not used carefully, pose health hazards to man and animals, according to Dr. Steven S. Nicholson, veterinary toxicologist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

"Each year brings new farmers and workers and it is necessary that educational efforts in university extension services, state pesticide control agencies, and manufacturers and distributors of chemicals be maintained," he says.



Although newer pesticides pose fewer residue problems and when used properly are no threat to adjacent communities, some can be hazardous to persons handling them and to animals exposed to them.

Recent cases of accidental animal poisonings point out potential dangers. In two situations cattle drank from puddles of run-off from equipment cleanup areas. Even though the insecticide carbofuran was diluted several hundredfold, a number of animals quickly developed signs of cholinesterase inhibition including difficult breathing, muscle tremors, diarrhea and slobbering.

In another case, yearling cattle licked soil where the highly toxic carbonate insecticide aldicarb had been spilled. Signs of poisoning developed in minutes. Fortunately the veterinarian called to the scene recognized the condition, had enough of the antidote, and acted quickly to save most of them.

Cattle seem to have a way of finding these hazards, Nicholson says. "They are also sensitive to organic arsenical herbicides like MSMA and to the insecticide thiodan. Skin absorption of thiodan can occur following direct exposure to aerial application on pecan orchards."

Actually the safety record in agriculture is good, but continuous awareness is necessary even for the home gardener, Nicholson says.

Free Cucuzzi seeds offered

Ted L. Nelson, of Bunkie, came by the Cameron Pilot office recently. In the course of his visit he left some Cucuzzi seed, an Italian squash, that he's promoting.

Seed are free for the asking. Just send a self addressed stamped envelope to him at P.O. Box 334, Bunkie, La. 71322. He says the plants will vine on the ground, fence or in trees, and fruit will grow up to four feet long when matured, but should be harvested when about 18 inches long and tender.

They can be made into cake, pie, bread, marmalade, pickled or prepared as you do egg plant or squash, and Ted says, they are very good fried, baked, stuffed or smothered. If you respond to the offer, he would like to hear from you concerning what success you might have with, as he put it, "this fabulous vegetable."

Nine of our states got their names from the rivers that flow through them — Minnesota, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Mississippi, Nebraska, Ohio, Oregon and Wisconsin.

New Booklet, Birding in Southeast Louisiana, Free from Tourism Office

While saxophones strain on Bourbon Street, another kind of orchestra tunes up in the wetlands not far from New Orleans. Here, birds of many colors gather for yet a different jam session — chirping, trilling and warbling their many dialects which have evolved since the beginning of time.

Until very recently only the most enthusiastic lovers of birds would journey out to hear and see them. Nowadays more and more people are discovering that birding is a fascinating way to spend the day outdoors, especially when bird stalking is as uncomplicated as it is in Louisiana. Migrating birds are naturally attracted to the state's wetlands and they are quite easy to locate when following the directions outlined in the new brochure, "Birding Tour of Southeast Louisiana," available free from the Louisiana State Office of Tourism.

"Response to our first brochure about birding in southwest Louisiana was overwhelming," Cornelia Carrier, the state's assistant secretary for Tourism, said. "So there seemed to be sufficient demand to warrant a second brochure."

Louisiana is one of the United States' great birding areas. More than 400 species have been identified in the state and it is possible to spot more than 150 species in a single day.

Geography is the single most important factor. The bayou state is in the middle of two great migratory flyaways. It also attracts birds because of an unusual and not entirely understood phenomenon whereby some western species move eastward along the Gulf Coast in the winter.

Vast wetlands, a large number of water bodies, tidal beaches and a wide variety of forest types all contribute to Louisiana's attractiveness to migrating and resident species.

This second brochure focuses on birding in the southeast Louisiana coastal parishes of Terrebonne Lafourche and Jefferson, south of Baton Rouge and New Orleans. Tours are carefully detailed. Places listed are those which provide the greatest variety of habitats — from sandy barrier islands to saline brackish and freshwater marshes agricultural fields, deciduous forests and cypress swamps.

Four charts are provided to help with field identification of species which appear very similar and for part of the year occupy the same habitats. Readers can use the charts to more readily distinguish differences between species such as Mottled and Black Ducks or Snowy and Piping Plovers.

To obtain a free copy of either the southwest or southeast Louisiana birding brochure, write: the Louisiana Office of Tourism, Dept 31B, P.O. Box 44291, Baton Rouge, La. 70804. And if you need state highway map, just ask. They're free too!

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION
OFFICE OF MINERAL RESOURCES ON BEHALF OF THE
STATE MINERAL BOARD FOR THE
BATON ROUGE,
LOUISIANA 70821

By virtue and in conformity with the provisions of Chapter 2, Title 30 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950, as amended, sealed bids will be received in the Office of Mineral Resources, State Land and Natural Resources Building, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, (P.O. Drawer 2827, Baton Rouge, LA 70821) on or before the 12th day of May, 1982 at 9:00 a.m., for a lease to explore, drill or mine for and produce oil, gas and any other liquid or gaseous hydrocarbon minerals, sulphur and potash in and on the lands and water bottoms described in Tract No. 18828 through Tract No. 18891, inclusive, at which time and date the bids will be opened publicly in the State Land and Natural Resources Building, Capitol Complex, Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The description of said tracts are more particularly set out below.

TRACT 18843 — Cameron Parish, Louisiana — All of the lands now or formerly constituting the beds and bottoms of Grand Lake, and all other water bodies of every nature and description and all islands and other lands formed by accretion to any of the bottoms of Grand Lake, owned by and not under mineral lease from the State of Louisiana on February 16, 1982, situated in Cameron Parish, Louisiana, within the following described boundaries: All that portion of Grand Lake within the 9,000 Foot RB SU A, Grand Lake Field, as created by the Louisiana Department of Conservation Order No. 214-A-I, recorded in File No. 153845 of the records of Cameron Parish, Louisiana, estimated to contain approximately 150.068 acres, as shown outlined in red on a plat on file in the Office of the Secretary, Department of Natural Resources. All bearings are based on the Louisiana Lambert Plane Coordinate System (South Zone).

All bids are to offer a cash bonus for a lease having a primary term which shall not exceed three years and granted without any warranty or recourse against lessor whatsoever, either expressed or implied, not even for return by lessor of any payments received under the lease or being otherwise responsible to lessee. The minimum royalties required by RS 30:127, as amended, are one-eighth (1/8th) of all oil produced and saved; one-eighth (1/8th) of all gas produced and saved; one-eighth (1/8th) of the value per long ton of sulphur produced and saved, which shall yield not less than two dollars per long ton; one-eighth (1/8th) of the value per ton for all potash produced and saved, which shall yield not less than ten cents per ton; and one-eighth (1/8th) of all other liquid or gaseous hydrocarbon minerals produced and saved. A bid of a royalty less than the aforesaid statutory minimums will be increased to said statutory minimums by the Board. All bidders are notified that the Board does not obligate itself to accept a bid which offers the aforesaid statutory minimums, but reserves the right to accept a bid which offers in excess of the statutory minimums, and is considered most advantageous to the State of Louisiana.

The provisions of this notice or advertisement and the relevant statutes establish the material considerations necessary for the formulation of proper bids, and this notice or advertisement shall not be deemed to be modified, enlarged or diminished by resolutions or policy expressions of the Board not incorporated herein expressly or by reference.

All leases awarded shall be executed upon terms and conditions provided in the current State lease form with all applicable riders appended thereto, including but not limited to provisions as follows: Should lessee fail to begin the actual drilling (spudding in) of a well on the lease premises within one year from the date of the lease, the lease shall terminate as to both parties to the lease, unless on or before such anniversary date, lessee shall pay a delay rental (which shall in no event be less than one-half the bonus offered), which shall cover the privilege of deferring drilling operations for a period of one year. Upon like payments annually, drilling operations may be further deferred for successive periods of one year each during the primary term of three years. The lease shall provide for the drilling of a well within where necessary to protect the leased premises against drainage in accordance with the provisions against the assignment or sublease of the lease unless approved by the State Mineral Board. The lessee shall have the right to enter into pooling or unitization agreements with respect to development of the leased premises only with the approval of the State Mineral Board.

Each bid must be accompanied by the fact that, in addition to the aforesaid bid bonus agreed to be paid, the State Mineral Board also includes as part of the consideration for the lease permitting lessee to reduce royalties provided in the lease to lessor on production at all and gas by one-half (1/2) of the royalties otherwise payable, minimum of one-eighth (1/8th), in the event of and pending the payment of effective adjudication or other settlement of a bona fide dispute between lessor involving lessor's ownership or title, all of which terms and conditions are more fully set out below.

Each bid must be submitted on a form to be furnished upon request from the Office of Mineral Resources on behalf of the State Mineral Board in the Office of the State Mineral Board, Department of Natural Resources, and available for public inspection at said office and at the office of the same.

Same tracts available for leasing may be situated in the Louisiana Coastal Zone as defined in Act No. 361 of 1978 (LSA-R.S. 49:213). Such tracts may be subject to the guidelines and regulations promulgated by the Coastal Management Section of the Department of Natural Resources.

Certified check, cashier's check or bank money order payable to the OFFICE OF MINERAL RESOURCES on behalf of the State for the cash bonus, shall accompany and be submitted with each bid and no bid thus submitted may be thereafter withdrawn or cancelled and the certified check, cashier's check or bank money order accompanying the bid of the successful bidder shall be immediately negotiated by the OFFICE OF MINERAL RESOURCES and the proceeds thereof deposited in the manner required by law. The successful bidder to whom the lease is awarded on the date of the lease sale shall return the lease duly and legally executed, within TWENTY (20) DAYS after bidder's receipt of same, under penalty of forfeiture of the lease and the bonus tendered and accepted and negotiated in the event of failure to do so.

NOTE: In the case of all State Agency Lands, only duly executed certified checks, cashier's checks or bank money orders for the cash bonus shall be made payable to each respective State Agency, provided that if a sixteenth section, or part thereof, located in a township which is situated in more than one parish, is offered, certified check, cashier's check or bank money order for the full amount of the cash bonus shall be made payable to the STATE TREASURER. Any Amendment, Assignment or Agreement entered into after the State Mineral Board has awarded such lease must be approved by the Governor and Attorney Gen.

Bids may be for the whole or any particularly described portion of the land advertised, but conformity with the policy of the Board as expressed in a resolution adopted on 12, 1965, all bidders are hereby notified that bids for portions of tracts should be described by metes and bounds and accompanied by a transparent plat outlining thereon the portion for which the tract of the plat should be 1 inch = 4,000 feet.

The State Mineral Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to grant a lease on any portion of the tract advertised and to withdraw the remainder of the tract.

STINGING CATERPILLARS

Spring is here and so are the larvae of the buck moth.

These small, black worms are starting to forage on oak trees in the parish. They may be noted in clusters on the tips of branches near an empty egg mass.

Materials that can be used to reduce the stinging and burning include toothpaste, baking soda and tobacco juice. Liquid bleach is one of the better aids. These materials help break down the amino acids and relieve the stinging or burning.

Control of the worms is easiest when they are small. Simply cut the branches with the worm clusters and destroy them. In large trees where sprays are required, use sevin or orthene to control them.

VEGETABLES

Vegetables that may be planted in May are: okra, southern peas, pumpkins, peanuts, watermelons, cantaloupes, collards and transplant sweet potatoes and eggplants.

RICE OUTLOOK

U. S. rice exports in 1982 are now forecast to reach 3 million tons, up 100,000 tons from the last USDA estimate. Continued sales to Egypt and higher than previously expected exports to Latin America underlie the new export forecast. However, the USDA report also indicated the 1981-82 world rice production forecast has been raised 1.5 million tons, to 4 million tons above last year's record harvest. As a result, rice prices are not expected to increase above present levels.

BEEF CATTLE OUTLOOK

Improving fed cattle prices and profits for feed lot owners, stronger grass demand, slowly improving confidence in and attitudes about the future, and tighter feeder cattle supplies should result in much stronger prices through May.

Most of the cattle on wheat patures in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas will have moved by the middle of April. This means that cattle in the Southeast will be the prime market for mid-western and high plains feed lot buyers.

Counting Our Blessings

There's now some encouraging news for cities and towns near rivers and marshes that have been breeding grounds for mosquitoes. A selective biological insecticide has been developed that kills the mosquito larvae and does not harm people or the environment.

In a test in Georgia, the insecticide was applied to a river breeding ground for wild salt marsh mosquitoes. The pre-count of mosquito larvae found an average of 200 larvae per water dipper, a heavy infestation. After the site was sprayed, officials were delighted with the results.

Vo-Tech students visit facilities

By BRENDA BOUDREAUX

The Cameron Vo-Tech Nurses Assistant students experienced a new adventure recently when they visited the Hope Center Day Care facility for the retarded and the Oak Park Care Center with Mrs. Carol Hopper, R.N., Nursing Instructor for the Vo-Tech School.

At the Hope Center for the retarded, where ages range from infant to 99 years of age, they visited the babies, saw the greenhouse and the workshop area and watched the outdoor activities.

Later they toured the Oak Park Care Center facility, where they were welcomed by the administrator and the nursing director. Each student fed a patient and saw many different conditions. One patient on the feeding list had to wait until 7 p.m. because she was taken out to eat with the class at the Black Angus Restaurant, Diane Thibodeaux was assigned to feed her because the patient's name was Diane.

Students attending were Enola Reed, Cindy Bertrand, Diane Thibodeaux, Rose Theriot, Merillia LeDano, Alice Dassinger, Janet Miller, Candy Smith, Patricia Taylor, Irene Stephenson, Beatrice Thrift and Dorothy Hughes. The nurses assistant course is being held at the South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

Hospital facilities are are unveiled here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Dedication of the new facilities at the South Cameron Memorial Hospital were held at 2 p.m. in the new solarium, followed by an open house until 4 p.m.

Braxton Blake, a member of the hospital board, introduced guests and Msgr. M. J. Bernard, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic church delivered the invocation.

In addition to the new solarium, computers for the business office and pharmacy were installed, laboratory, x-ray, EKG, housekeeping, dietary, physiotherapy, respiratory, morgue, ambulance and radio equipment were installed.

Dr. Richard Sanders explained that the solarium is a needed addition to the hospital and will be used for education classes connected with the hospital.

Phil Pittman, Coastal Zone Management Administrator from Baton Rouge, stated the government was glad to have had a part in the expansion of the hospital complex.

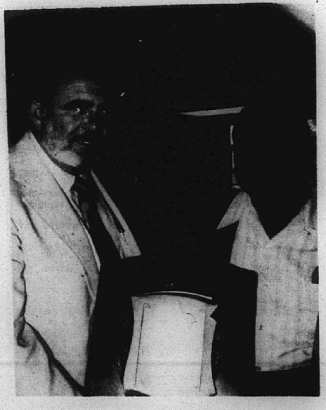
Senator Cliff Newman stated that Cameron is very important to the economy of the state, with Louisiana reaping over one million dollars a month alone from Rockefeller Refuge.

He also pointed out that the local hospital services the vast oil industry headquartered here and how important the new facilities are to the area.

Blake announced that the hospital is hoping to get the surgical unit opened by June with a surgeon in attendance. It has been years since surgery was performed in the hospital.

Blake also announced that the hospital now has the services of the $1,200,000 mobile Computerized Tomographic Scanner (CAT Scan) which is stationed at St. Patrick's hospital.

The mobile unit serves 10 hospitals in a five parish area and will be at the local hospital on scheduled days.



Calcasieu Marine National Bank donated $10,000 to the local hospital to install the software to supply the computer with electric power.

It was parked under the hospital's front ramp for tours during the open house.

Blake presented a plaque to A. H. "Sono" Crain which will be placed in the solarium showing that the furnishings were furnished by Crain Bros. in memory of Adalaide Theriot Crain, Eugenia Sweeney Crain, and Shirley Crain.

A picture for the solarium was also donated by Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Authement. The flowers were presented by Mamie Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Montie, Carolyn Bargeman, JoAnn Nunez and Funk Florist.

Members of the choir of the Grand Chenier and Cameron Methodist church sang a song, accompanied by Mrs. Emma Nunez.

A Senate committee will take up a resolution which would give the state's commercial shrimpers another 15 days to buy a shrimping license for this year.

Last year, the Legislature passed a law requiring shrimping licenses to be bought in January.

This was to keep out-of-shrimpers from waiting until a few days before start of the Louisiana shrimp season to see if the state's shrimp crop is good before buying a license.

The resolution, HCR 4, would require the Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries to sell licenses from April 29 until May 14.

Many Louisiana shrimpers either didn't know about the new law or forgot to get their licenses in time.

Rehearsals to begin

Rehearsals are beginning for the upcoming Dinner Theatre production by the Chenier Showcase Theatre. This year's show, like last years, will be directed by Mrs. Martha Fontenot.

The program will again be a musical and the theme will be a Mississippi Riverboat. Plans are for two performances this year since last year's Rogers and Hammerstein show was so successful.

Volunteers are needed in the areas of singing, cooking, costumes, hostessing, set construction and publicity.

The Chenier Showcase Theatre needs the support of the entire community if it is to continue.

Anyone interested in taking part is asked to call Mrs. Martha Fontenot in Grand Lake at 598-3205; Mrs. Cyndi Sellers in Cameron at 775-7586, or Mrs. Ching Conner in Creole at 542-4462.

Mrs. Fontenot announced that the first rehearsal will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Cameron elementary school. Theme of the musical will be "Romance of the River" and will feature old time songs associated with southern rivers.

Cameron. . . . . Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

This weeks odd story, Big F (front) plenty of wind, rain, cold, hard fishing, but quite a few anglers braved all this and did rather well.

CREOLE CANAL

South of Gibbstown bridge to Oak Grove Road, anglers are doing all types of fishing and crabbing. Those crabbing are doing better than those fishing, but a few bass reported around Sunshine bridge area and around the locks at Oak Grove. A few redfish, flounders, croakers and gaft top are being taken.

LACASSINE REFUGE

Gary's Landing, Lowery: Inside the impoundment there's quite a few bream being taken along with a few small bass. Activity is rather slow. The most popular bait there is the Doucet's 2" and 4" cheater worms, red or white and red. Leaving out of Gary's Landing, fishing outside the impoundment, there are some bass being taken, but mostly white perch and shriners are the word.

BIG BURNS

The Burns is still producing bass, but you have to find them and then stay and fish hard meaning to keep throwing maybe 50 times in the same spot and make the bass hit. Last weekend some real nice bass were taken out of the Burns on gold spoons with medium frog green pork chunk, indigo 9¼ worms and Mr. Twister frogs with Texas style hook rig with 1/8 slip sinker. Also some nice catfish are being taken, fishing on cut baits and shrimp. This also holds true for the Amoco part of Miomia Coop.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB NEWS

As of last tournament, Phillip Trosclair has #1 with the 10 fish stringer of 28 lbs. 10 oz; number 1 in points with 39 points on three tournaments. Gerald Richard as of last week has the largest bass, 6 lbs. 6 oz. followed by Loston McEvers with 6 lbs and Phillip Trosclair with 5 lbs. 14 oz.

The fourth tournament will be Sunday, May 2, and it's a select your partner tourney. Also, Monday, May 3 at 7:30 will be our regular meeting so try and make it as our dance is Friday night, May 7.

TRAP SHOOT

The K.C. Council 3014 held a trap shoot Sunday in Creole. There was quite a bit of good competitive shooting. Winners were as follows: (25 shots)

FACTS & FIGURES

According to the National Cancer Institute, cancer will strike one in three Americans before they reach 74. Major inroads have been made in the fight against cancer in recent years; however, for those whom medicine can't help, a new form of an old kind of care is available.

Medical and health care practitioners believe that terminally ill patients such as cancer victims can often be treated at home. Hospice programs provide medical care to such people in the relative comfort of their own homes, at much less than the cost of hospital care, according to studies done by such civic minded organizations as Warner-Lambert Company. The emotional cost is often reduced at the same time.

Meaux is winner of award

Jamie G. Meaux of Cameron is among the 66 winners of scholarships worth $4,000 from the Education Fund for children of Phillips Petroleum Company Employees.

The local winner may use the scholarship to attend the accredited college or university of his choice.

Jamie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Meaux and is a senior at South Cameron High School. He was captain of the South Cameron High wrestling team during the 1981-82 season.

As in past years, Phillips this year has awarded 66 scholarships and named 30 alternates, in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Company's Scholarship Fund. Winners were selected by a committee of educators and businessmen who have no connection with Phillips.

Each winner will receive a $1,000 award renewable yearly based on scholastic achievement, for a four-year total scholarship of $4,000.

Licensing is reopened

House Concurrent Resolution No. 4 was passed by the Louisiana Legislature and signed by Governor Dave Treen late Wednesday evening lifting the moratorium on the sale of shrimping vessel licenses in Louisiana. This moratorium will be lifted for two weeks only between April 29 and May 13, 1982.

This action suspends that portion of R. S. 6:500 (A) (5), (passed by the Louisiana Legislature during their 1981 regular session limiting the sale of shrimping vessel license to a period between January 1 and February 1 every year) dealing with the purchase of shrimping vessel license during a restricted time frame according to Jesse Guidry, Secretary of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

"The Legislature felt that since this was the first year this law was in effect there was a strong possibility all of the owners of shrimping vessels used in Louisiana waters were not aware that this new licensing procedure was in effect and they were unable to obtain their current vessel shrimping license during the prescribed time frame," Guidry added.

"Everyone must apply promptly in order that their application can be processed in time for the upcoming season. Any applications received postmarked after the May 13 deadline will be returned unopened," Secretary Guidry reiterated.

Applicants should apply in person or by mail to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, 400 Royal Street, New Orleans, La. 70130.

South Cameron Nurses

Nurse Day to be observed May 6

May 6 has been designated as National professional Nurse day and the nurses at South Cameron Memorial Hospital will be recognized.

Governor David Treen has designated May as Professional Nurse Month in Louisiana.

The National Nurses Day was affirmed by a joint resolution of the U. S. Congress.

"Our health care system would collapse without the 1.2 million registered nurses now working, and too often the care given by nurses is taken for granted," Barbara Nichols, American Nurses Association president said in announcing the resolution.

Some of the nurses at South Cameron Memorial hospital are pictured above. Fron are Lari Elliott and Carol Hopper. In the back are Ulla Sinnemaki and Marie Buchanan.

Charters may be lost by firms

59 corporations in Cameron Parish will be revoked as of 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 12, 1982, unless annual reports and filing fees for the past three consecutive years are received in the office of the Secretary of State by that date.

Secretary of State Jim Brown said today that this is the first time in the history of Louisiana that this law has been carried out. "And we have made every effort to notify people of this law," he said.

"I do not want to work any undue hardship on any corporation, but Act 824 of 1980 clearly specifies that it is my responsibility to carry out the rules set forth by the Legislature. We requested that the law be clarified for two reasons: To allow corporations to be dissolved automatically without their having the expense of an attorney to do it for them and to make our state government more efficient by clearing our offices of literally volumes and volumes of outdated records," Brown explained.

Of the approximately 68,000 corporations that had not complied with the law, Brown reiterated that 41,604 corporations were notified by certified letters dated November 28, 1981, that they had failed to comply with the law and that their corporation charters would be revoked if they did not comply.

"It is important," Brown noted, "for corporation officials to remember that if their corporation charter is revoked, they lose their standing in court. They lose the corporation name, they do not have corporate status and cannot do business with the state or with any public body in the state.

"If the corporation needs more information," Brown said, "I certainly hope they will call my toll-free number (1-800-272-8363) or call my office at 504-925-4693, 4679 or 4704."

The Secretary of State added that if necessary annual reports and delinquent $5 filing fees are received in his office before 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 12, 1982, they will be reinstated. "After that date, they will have to file as a new corporation," he concluded.

Shrimpers to meet

An important meeting for commercial shrimpers will be held Monday, May 10 at 7 p.m. in the Police Jury Annex, according to Paul Coreil, to discuss problems with the Dept. of Natural Resources underwater obstruction buoying program.

Fisherman are asked to come give recommendations on what needs to be done to correct the problems with the location of the buoys and other ideas.

The Department of Natural Resources officials and the buoying project contractor will attend.

Older Americans Month set for May

Growing older isn't like it used to be. Due to advances in medicine and nutrition Louisianians in ever increasing numbers are living longer and more fruitful lives. In recognition of our senior citizen's past and future contributions to our State, Governor Treen has proclaimed May as Older Americans Month. This article, first of a four part series, will highlight the 60 plus age group in our State.

The State's elderly population has grown by leaps and bounds in the past decade. Since 1970 the number of people in the 60 plus age bracket grew from 447,272 to over a half million, 567,011 persons, an increase of almost 27 percent. During the same time period Louisiana's general population grew at a 15.4 percent rate. The trend in future years is toward an ever larger proportion of elderly in our society.

Elderly services, opportunities for volunteerism and self improvement are becoming increasingly important and available to this steadily growing portion of our population. As greater numbers of us grow older, the implications are enormous for the economy, entertainment, medical services, social services, housing, education and just about every other segment of our lives. It may not be long before Levi ads start featuring lively senior citizens in loose fitting comfortable attire instead of the current tight fitting blue jeans that cling to youthful figures.

Senior citizens are a vast resource in our society with talents and capabilities nurtured by years of experience. The wisdom and skills possessed by them are often sorely needed to solve difficulties encountered in the family and work place environments. Although larger numbers of senior citizens are opting for retirement rather than remaining in the workforce, they are eager to get involved in areas that they never had the time to enjoy or share during their working years. The elderly are seeking means of self-expression and a means to contribute to the well being of others in an unprecedented way.

There are thousands of people living in each of Louisiana's 64 parishes whose lives are enhanced by programs and activities directed for the benefit of our elderly citizens. The Louisiana Legislature makes annual appropriations to the Governor's Office of Elderly Affairs and other State Agencies to fund programs that enable our Senior Citizens to lead productive, dignified lives and to remain self supporting as long as possible. Within each parish there is a local Parish Council on Aging which serves as the focal point for the elderly. Louisiana is the only State in the nation to have a Council on Aging, chartered by the State, and directed by voluntary citizens in each Parish. This unique partnership between State government and local volunteer in each parish has placed Louisiana far ahead of other States in dealing with the particular needs and provides an important outlet for Senior Citizens contributions.

Through the local Parish Council on Aging directly, or in partnership with other local agencies, charitable groups and churches, a vast array of opportunities are available to the elderly. Socialization and recreation, homemaker, transportation, legal, home delivered meals and congregate setting meals are only a few of the services available to all Louisiana's elderly citizens and are generally obtainable in one form or another in each parish.

Each year in May Older Americans Month celebrations abound across the State, and this year is no exception. If you would like to know what services and opportunities are available year round, your local Council on Aging Office would be happy to hear from you. Just give them a call.

PAW pets are wonderful

April is PAW Month

Did you know that merely petting a dog or a cat can lower your blood pressure? That pets play an important role in the development of positive personality traits in children? Or that in most U.S. families, the most popular family member is the one with four legs?

Scientists across the country are finding that dogs and cats are becoming increasingly important members of society—for all of the above reasons and plenty more.

If you would like further information about how you can participate in Pets Are Wonderful Month, contact your local shelter, animal hospital or library.

THEN and NOW

Through the ages, women have done some interesting things pursuing that special knack of styling their hair creatively — and attractively.

THEN: By 3000 B.C., women in Egypt had already developed many hairdressing skills. They knew how to curl their hair and hold it in place with hairpins, and they even made long, black wigs from sheep's wool or human hair. The Greeks were also skilled hairstylists. In the 500s B.C., Greek men and women wore their hair gathered in knots at the top of their heads.

NOW: Today, fashionable hairstyles range from layered looks to perms. Hair experts say that having a good looking hairstyle depends on knowing your hair — understanding its characteristics and working with them, not against them. Now, a Styling Guide from Goody®, the leading manufacturer of hair accessories, makes it easy to find a look that's right for your hair, your personality and your lifestyle. It refers to four different lengths from very short to long — and shows two looks for each— a curly, and a soft, full look.

ATCHAFALAYA BASIN

Cedric Hebert and J-Boy Dinger had a nice fishing trip in the basin last week catching over 100 bull breams, some going one pound each. They fished some of the waters where Cedric has a camp and they had a ball.

BIG BURNS

This is still the hot spot in our area. Doing real well this past week were David George and Terrance Savoie. Fishing two days, they got 11 fish with a 4½ pound the largest bass and the next day catching 10 fish with David sacking up a 5 lb. 2 oz. bass.

Tony Johnson and Randy Boudoin had one nice day catching 11 bass with one going 5 lbs. Tony Johnson and Omer Neil Smith got their limit of 30 fish. Tony had one bass going 6 lbs. 2 oz. He also had 10 of his fish going 26 lbs. 12 oz. Together their 30 bass went 42 lbs. 12 oz.

Ronnie Picou picked up 10 nice bass going 15 lbs with his largest going 5 lbs. 2 oz. Ronnie was fishing the 9¼ Indigo Marsh King worm.

David George and Terrance Savoie returned Thursday and picked up 27 bass with the largest goint 3½ lbs. These were caught on Chartreuse spinner baits and 9¼ Indigo worms.

Francis Basco and myself tried our hand Saturday morning fishing until 12:30 and picked up 11 bass, keeping only 7. With this weather change again, they had lock jaw and most of my old fishing waters were muddy.

We talked to Carroll (Sugar Boy) Miller and his partner. They were doing about like us; also Charlie Pertifore, Fats Dupont and his wife Faybe were like us also.

Charlie did pick up one about 3½ pounds and Faybe one about 2 lbs. and they were kidding Fats about him not have a rattler in his worm, beside having him cramped up in the middle of the boat.

LAKE GUERRA, MEXICO

Leroy (Joseph) Richard took a trip with friends from Lake Charles and had a ball in Mexico, bringing home 9 gallons of filet bass. They brought 14 ft. aluminum boats and with the high winds, had to fish close to shore, but he said they picked up 30 to 60 bass apiece each day. They cut their trip to 3 days fishing because of the bad weather.

THE WAY I SEE IT...

The Shrimping Season

By Jesse Knowles, Chairman
La. Wildlife & Fisheries Commission

As all shrimp fishermen know by now, the seasons for trawling for brown shrimp in inside waters have been set by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Zone 2, that area of the coast west of South Pass of the Mississippi River to the western shore of Vermilion Bay and Southwest Pass, will open at 12:01 a.m. Monday, May 17.

Zone 3, here in southwest Louisiana, that area west of Vermilion Bay to the Texas state line, and Zone 1, in southeast Louisiana, that area from the Mississippi River eastward to the Mississippi state line will open at 12:01 a.m. Monday, May 24.

What many commercial and sport fishermen do not know is that the commission has a sometimes difficult task of taking the biological data provided by the wildlife department's marine biologists and tempering that information with the wishes of the shrimp industry and the people of Louisiana.

This year, setting of the seasons for shrimp trawling in inside waters provided an excellent example of what I am talking about.

It has been, and continues to be, a most unusual spring. There have been spells of unseasonably warm weather, conducive to the growth of post-larval shrimp in estuarine waters.

These warm spells have been punctuated with cold snaps that serve to retard shrimp growth. Shrimp simply don't start to grow until water temperatures reach 68 degrees. When water temperatures get into the 70's shrimp really grow faster.

Water salinities also enter the picture. Heavy spring rains dilute the water in the vast estuarine system where the young shrimp are growing up. Too much fresh water will actually kill a lot of young shrimp. Hopefully, there is continued recruitment of post-larval shrimp from the gulf to replace those that might be lost because of excessive fresh water.

On the weekend of April 24-25, when members of the commission were gathering in New Orleans to participate in the annual briefing of the industry and the state's shrimpers, there were torrential rains along the central coast. In some areas around New Orleans there was 13 inches of rain. In other areas, there was as much as five inches.

Data presented to the commission by Dr. Ted Ford, assistant secretary of the wildlife dept. in charge of coastal and marine resources indicated that only 42 percent of the shrimp in Zone 2 would be of marketable size by May 10.

It was projected those same shrimp would be 61 percent marketable by May 17, and that within a week, on May 24, some 81 percent would be marketable size.

Growth rate in the middle zone, Zone 2, was slightly ahead of projected shrimp growth in Southwest Louisiana and in southeast coastal waters.

The official recommendation by the biologists was to open Zone 2, the middle zone, on Monday, May 10, and the eastern and western zones on May 24.

After careful review of all of the date, and input from shrimpers and representatives of five shrimp and shrimp industry associations, the commission voted to alter the biologists recommendations and postpone the opening from the suggested May 10 to May 17.

It was done in order to obtain the projected 61 percent of good size shrimp rather than rush in a week earlier when only 42 percent were projected to be of marketable size.

Making these decisions isn't always easy, but what was done should benefit both commercial and sport trawlers.

In all, prospects for the seasons are not bad. It won't be another record-shattering season like the one last year, but it should be a satisfactory season for all concerned.

Licensing is reopened

Paul Coreil, fisheries and wildlife extension agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, has written commercial shrimpers the following letter:

Dear Shrimpers:

On April 28, the Louisiana Legislature passed a resolution which will allow all commercial shrimpers who missed the Jan. restricted shrimp licensing period to apply or renew old licenses during a 14-day grace period which started April 29, 1982 and will extend to May 13, 1982.

Anyone who missed the application period in January and would like to apply for a commercial shrimp trawl-vessel license must send in their application during this 14-day period to the La. Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries, 400 Royal Street, New Orleans, La. 70130. Applications can be obtained from any District LDWF office. I recommend all applications be sent by registered mail so that a receipt of acceptance by LDWF can be obtained.

Lighthouse named to register

First structure in the parish so designated

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Area historians and history buffs were delighted with the announcement by the National Register of Historic Places that the Sabine Pass Lighthouse has been officially entered into the National register. It became the first property in Cameron parish to be placed on the register.

It was cited by the national Register because of its architectural and engineering significance, being only one of three such buildings designed from the same plans, the difference in the design in each adapted to the area in which it was placed.

The brick octagonal design of this lighthouse has flared wings at the base to support it in the flat marsh area and gives the appearance from a distance of a missle.

The lighthouse is located in the extreme Southwestern edge of Cameron parish, across from Sabine Pass, Texas, on Lighthouse Bayou, leading out from the Sabine river, which separates Louisiana from Texas.

Rising abruptly from the flat marshland which surrounds it, the lighthouse stands proudly today in an amazingly good state of preservation. It has weathered a civil war, hurricanes and the ravages of time and fires. The station contains 45.56 acres of land and up until just a few years ago, 6 buildings which were destroyed by a marsh fire. There are two approaches to the lighthouse, both by boat. One is the approach on the north through a channel cut that leads to a landing on the west side of what used to be the headquarters building. The other approach is on the south side, from the Sabine ship channel side.

Landing can be made on a natural shell bank and a walk through the marsh, where there was at one time a board walk leading from the complex to the channel over the high marsh grass.

The boat pavilion at the end of this one-time wharf, where it meets the channel is almost completely gone, with only a skeleton remains left. However, the cresote pilings which supported the board walk are in surprisingly good shape.

The lovely old galleried 10 room antibellum headquarters, or lighthouse keepers house, at one time formed a backdrop for the old 1856 lighthouse, was also in surprisingly good shape in 1973 and for some time after that when this writer visited the site to take a series of pictures.

The 12-foot high ceilings in the very large rooms were very reminiscent of those built over a century ago, and was heated with 5 brick chimneys down the middle of the building.

Water was furnished to the complex by huge wooden cisterns that were still in very good condition in 1973.

The lighthouse itself is approached through a tall narrow door on the west side, leading off from the main walk.

A spiral, iron grating staircase leads straight up 95 steps to the top of the 84 foot high structure. Some steps are missing and others are not firm after 123 years of use and disuse.

There are three windows in the stairwell, with cases that set in the full width of the wall, strangely giving one the feeling of being in an ancient castle. At the top, the captain's walk of iron grillwork is still solid.

Surrounded by rusting hardware, the gearbox which once turned the beacon still moves with smooth determination.

President Martin Van Buren established the Port Sabine Military Reservation in 1838. In 1857 the light first went into operation and stayed on the job until Civil War activities shut it down.

Congress appropriated $7,500 for construction of the lighthouse on March 3, 1849. Of this amount, only $116.80 was spent, presumably for surveys.

An additional appropriation of $30,000 was made in 1853 for a "First class lighthouse at the mouth of theSabine River". These funds were spent between 1854 and 1857 for construction.

The three-inch thick lens of the powerful lighthouse light was made in Belgium and assembled in Paris.

It was made of cut glass with a lamp mounted in its center and stood about eight feet tall and was held together by brass strips.

The light, magnified 50 to 100 times, would flash every three minutes, watched over by the keeper or his assistant throughout the night.

The engine that turned the lens resembled the mechanism of an old Grandfather clock. It was run by weights that dropped through a pole in the middle of the lighthouse, and the pole extended as deep under the ground as the lighthouse is tall. Each day the lighthouse keeper would pull of the weights.

At sunrise, the lens would be covered to protect it from the ill effects of the sun's rays. The 380,000 candlepower light could be seen for many miles, some seamen reporting to have seen it 25 miles away.

The light was first fueled by kerosene and oil vapor lamps. Later, when electric bulbs were used, should the light go out for any reason, a signal sounded to warn the lighthouse keeper.

The late Judge T. J. Russell of Beaumont, Texas, wrote a paper on the fate of the lens:

"When Sabine Pass was blockaded during the Civil War and the Confederate government took over the lighthouse, the glass reflector was sent to Sabine Pass. The task was carried out by a Mr. Granger who kept the lens until the war was over.

"Legend has it that Granger buried the lens to prevent it's capture by Union forces."

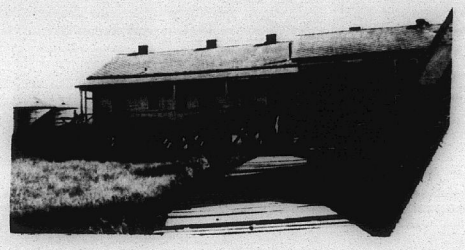
STORMS

Many storms and hurricanes have swirled about the old structure. One of the worse was on October 12, 1886, when a hurricane sent its storm tide 20 miles inland, killing 150 people at Sabine Pass, practically destroying the town, and 85 people at Johnson Bayou.

It was after the devastating storm that many families left Johnson Bayou, never to return again.

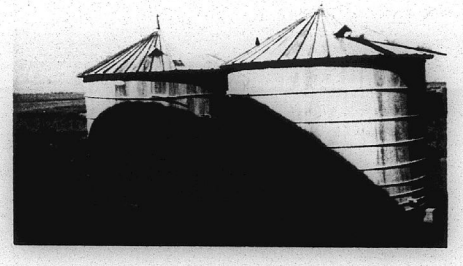
About 1900, Congress appropriated $80,000 for an additional light and fog signal at the end of the Sabine Pass jetty. This action heralded the demise of the older light as the sole guardian of the entrance to Sabine Pass.

In early 1952, the Coast Guard said the light would be extinguished and that the lighthouse would be torn down, and the lens disappeared about that time.



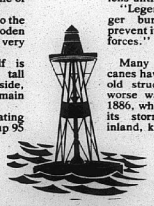
Nothing was done about the lighthouse until it was awarded to Lamar State College of Technology in Beaumont, Texas on May 24, 1971 by the U. S. Government.

Lamar had plans to use the facility for field research in appropriate environments by its scientists in oceanographics, biological and engineering projects, including pollution control, radio communications, weather monitoring, core drilling and marine biology research. Lamar's plans were later changed and the location was changed to Pleasure Island, just inside the Texas State line.

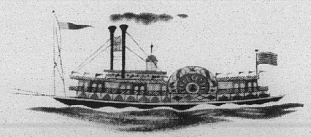


In November, 1973, General Services Administration declared the property surplus and nothing else was ever done to the property.

After a story I did on the complex in November 1973, complete with pictures, vandals managed to remove the beautiful copper dome on the extreme top of the lighthouse and have never been apprehended.



There is renewed hope now that funds can be provided and plans made to preserve what is left of this beautiful old structure that is such a valuable historical monument and has fought so hard to stay alive and tell it's story to future generations.



The photographs on this page were taken several years ago by Geneva Griffith while on a visit to the Sabine Lighthouse and show the condition of the lighthouse and buildings at that time. Shown in the pictures are Johnson Bayou high school principal Howard Romero and his wife.

Remembering Mama

By Bernice Stewart Denny

[Columnist's note: The following is dedicated not only to the memory of my mother but also to that of mothers like her whose influence has helped to make Cameron what it is today. My own mother, Effie Stine Hollister, a native of Grand Chenier and daughter of pioneer families there, lived in Grand Chenier until hurricane Audrey destroyed her home.]

They say you can't go home again. They must mean to a physical environment. It has been a quarter century since my childhood home on Grand Chenier was swept away by hurricane Audrey; yet I make frequent trips in memory to that beloved spot.

As another Mother's Day approaches, my thoughts instinctively turn homeward. I see Mamma hurrying down the steps and across the front lawn to meet us. Her soft brown eyes are filled with joy. Her arms enfold us.

She has been baking all morning -- raisin pies for Brother, chocolate for my little daughter.

That picture vanishes and others appear. I see Mamma, sleeves rolled above her elbows, spanking bread dough into big fat loaves and shaping smaller amounts into plump rolls. There is an art in making bread, you know. I am not sure that Mamma ever viewed it in that respect, but she took great pride in the baked product. She often said that bread-making was good therapy. One could work out his vexations in the process.

I liked to watch her roll pie crust and fit it into the pans. Her rolling pin was a long, fairly large, round brown glass bottle.

As Mamma kneaded bread or rolled crust, she invariably sang snatches from old hymns. Rarely did she sing all the verses of any one song. Among her favorites was the following:

"Am I a soldier of the cross, A follower of the Lamb, Must I be carried to the skies On flowery beds of ease, While others fought to win the prize And sailed through bloody seas?"

Then she would sing the choruses of "Bringing in the Sheaves" and "We're Marching to Zion."

She sang happily as she washed dishes. As she first began to scrub clothes on the washboard she sang, too. As she tired, the words died away and she hummed now and then.

I see Mamma repotting geraniums and ferns under the trees at the end of the long front porch. She collected varieties of geraniums as beachcombers gather shells. The luxurious ferns in ten-gallon containers were the hardest to repot. With them help was needed.

Mamma did all her work with perfection and pride. She took as much pains in ironing an everyday apron as a "Sunday" garment or in sewing muslin pillowcases as in designing a silk dress.

I like the picture that comes of Mamma at the end of the day when her chores were either completed or set aside. She would relax in her big rocking chair and read.

"I must crown my day with an hour or so of reading," she would say. "It is as necessary to me as eating. It helps me to unwind and prepare me for sleeping."

What sweet souvenirs are the memories we keep of our mothers!

Cattlemen are urged to vaccinate calves to prevent losses in the new calf crop, especially since improving beef cattle prices have brightened the economic outlook.

Diseases like leptospirosis, blackleg and malignant edema can strike suddenly, often killing the best calves in the pasture. Brucellosis vaccination of heifers is essential.

Last fall, outbreaks of blackleg killed hundreds of calves in northwest and southwest Louisiana. Blackleg should be considered a potential threat in any group of young cattle. Vaccination at 3 to 6 months of age with the inexpensive combination vaccine protects against blackleg and malignant edema losses.

Leptospirosis is spread in urine from infected animals like cattle, skunks and swine. Young cattle are those that don't die may be stunted due to chronic kidney damage. Animal weakness and death are typical signs of an outbreak of acute leptospirosis. Annual vaccination of cows and calves is recommended.

Local veterinarians should be consulted about other diseases which may be a particular problem in certain areas and require vaccination.

FLEAS IN THE LAWN

Although we think of fleas as a pest of pets, out pets may be the beginning of a flea infestation that can become a human problem.

With recent rains, our lawns may have become an ideal nursery for the development of flea populations. Most people think of these populations developing on their animals or indoors, but under the right conditions, fleas multiply quite efficiently in the yard.

Although adult fleas are the only stage most people see, fleas go through four distinct stages of development: egg, larva, pupa, and adult. The eggs are deposited in dust or dirt or laid while the female is on the host.

The larva has chewing mouth parts and feed on a variety of dry organic matter, such as the excreta of the adult fleas. Larva can live especially on the lint scraped from the crack of a wooden floor. The larval stage may last from one to five weeks, depending on the food supply.

The adult may emerge in five days or five weeks or may pass the winter in the pupal stage. The adult stage feeds on blood which it sucks from the host.

This pest may built up to a large population in the yard. To control an infestation in the yard, one of the following materials may be sprayed: Dursban, Diazinon or Sevin.

Many people feel dipping their animals will control fleas. This would be the case if all stages of the flea were on the dog. However, the larva are not on the animal and are either in the house or yard. So without treating all three locations at the same time, reinfestation is usually rapid. Dipping solutions are usually short-lived so the animals are susceptible to reinfestation 3 to 5 days after treatment.

Use Boygon, Diazinon, Malthion, or Pyrethrins to control fleas indoors. Applications should be made according to label directions for best results.

What to do in case a tornado strikes

Since 1976 a total of 124 tornadoes have struck Louisiana leaving eight people dead and numerous injured. Nationally, almost 5,000 tornadoes have occurred since 1976. Property damage from tornadoes amounted to more than $500 million in 1980 alone.

Some tips on what to do before a tornado approaches include:

Plan on where you will go and what you will do in case of a tornado warning. Make sure everyone in your home known the plan.

Keep a battery-operated radio, a flashlight, fresh batteries and other emergency supplies on hand.

Make an inventory of your household furnishings and possessions, and take pictures of each room of your home. Keep both your inventory and photographs in a secure place away from the premises, such as a safe deposit box.

During a tornado take cover immediately. Don't try to flee from the storm, which has wind speeds of up to 200 miles per hour.

If you are in a car or a mobile home, leave and find shelter elsewhere, even if it's just in a ditch or a depression in the ground. If you are inside a building, move to an inside room, away from windows. A basement is usually safest, or a closet or bathroom can be used.

After a tornado...

Be alert for potential hazards, such as downed power lines, shattered glass, splintered wood or other protruding objects.

If your property is damaged, make temporary repairs to prevent further loss from rain, wind or looting. Keep your receipts for repairs made; your costs may be reimbursed by your insurance policy.

Contact your insurance representative as soon as possible to report any damage. If you are unable to live in your home, you can usually get a cash advance against your claim to set up a temporary residence elsewhere.

Shade tree care topic of new free booklet

A new publication on shade tree care outlines the dramatic differences a few easy steps can make in tree growth and health, especially in establishment years.

Prepared and published by the Louisiana Office of Forestry, "Additional Tips for Successful Shade Trees" is No. 6 in the agency's Urban Forestry Notes series. Louisiana residents may obtain a free copy of the leaflet by writing the Office of Forestry, P.O. Box 1628, Baton Rouge, La. 70821.

Tips include those on trunk protection, watering and mulching techniques, soil aeration and insect and disease control.

"Proper fertilization, pruning, protection during construction, and site and species selection are primary factors in a healthy urban forest. But there are additional practices than can vastly improve the appearance, health and longevity of our shade trees," says the publication.

"Trunk damage from lawn equipment can lead to decay, thus to structural problems and even death, according to the authors. They say that mulch, stakes, tree wrap or, in some cases, use of "a highly specialized systemic herbicide" to control unwanted vegetation around the trees will help protect trunks.

Adequate moisture is essential for fast initial growth of young trees. It may mean the difference between life and death and "certainly will make the difference between minimum and maximum growth."

Mulching, the authors say, is an important but largely neglected practice in the establishment and maintenance of shade trees. The publication outlines materials and techniques to use in mulching trees.

Because soil compaction in a tree's root zone can be a serious problem, corrective measures are recommended, with techniques and tools described. However, gardeners are cautioned against methods which would cause harm to the root system, much of which lies surprisingly near the surface.

"The most effective methods of insect and disease control are those that also improve the overall health of the tree, such as fertilization, proper pruning, soil aeration, watering and mulching," because a vigorous tree can better resist insects and disease than one that has to struggle for moisture and nutrients. In cases warranting use of a pesticide, it is best to obtain advice from knowledgeable professionals to help ensure that "the cure is not worse than the malady," the publication concludes.

Embryos are transplanted in sheep

It's lambing time in Louisiana this spring and a generation of lambs adopted by using frozen embryo transplant technology are being born by surrogate ewes.

The unique birth March 10 of two crossbred lambs by a Barbados host ewe marks perhaps the first use in the United States of the frozen embryo technique in lambs.

Meanwhile, the natural mothers have gone on to other chores at the LSU Agricultural Experiment Station where David Sims watched over the development of the project.

A third lamb was born to another ewe this week.

Sims and his fellow workers carried out the research at LSU in Baton Rouge. The project is designed to explore oppoftunities for using embryo transplant technology to improve the reproductive efficiency of commercial breeding flocks in the United States.

The technique may also be important to countries where modern animal breeding facilities are not available. Embryos from superior breeds of sheep can be shipped in a frozen state to other areas of the world for transplanting in host ewes of an inferior or undesirable breed. The offspring, of course, carry the traits of their natural parents.

A native of DeRidder and a second year graduate student in the Department of Animal Science, Sims is studying sheep reproduction under the direction of Dr. Paul E. Humes and Dr. Robert A. Godke, professors at the LSU College of Agriculture faculty and researchers in the Experiment Station.

Embryos which produced the first two successful births, frozen in liquid nitrogen for 15 days after being taken from their natural mothers, were surgically transplanted to a host ewe. "To our knowledge," Sims said, "these two offspring are the first two frozen embryo lambs born in the United States."

Although lambs from frozen embryos have been reported in Europe, technology for freezing sheep embryos had not been developed earlier in the United States. The research team at LSU has been at work to remedy this situation. During March and April, Sims noted, other ewes pregnant with transplanted embryos will give birth to foster lambs.

As many as three thawed embryos were placed surgically in the uterus of each host ewe for the remainder of the period necessary for successful live birth.

The ability to collect and freeze sheep embryos from genetically superior ewes and transplant them to nondescript recipient ewes at preferred times, Sims explained, offers the producer many new options in planning and developing a sheep breeding program.

Bathroom for the elderly, handicapped

With thoughtful planning, a bathroom can accommodate the elderly and handicapped by rearranging or remodeling to include safe, convenient fixtures and furnishings.

Carolyn Daigle, home furnishings specialist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service, says altering a bathroom can range from easy-to-make changes to more complicated ones. Remodeling may be necessary in some cases, depending on the person's degree of mobility or type of handicap.

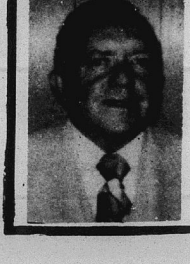
Simple additions include attaching grab bars securely to the wall near the tub, shower, sink and toilet. If buying new fixtures, remember that some tubs and toilets include grab bars as part of the unit. Also, check grab bars for a nonskid feature, adds the specialist.

Supply a sturdy, slip-resistant seat in the bathtub or shower. Tub and shower flooring should have a non-slip surface. If not built-in, apply rough textured adhesive strips. Wall-to-wall, well fitted bathroom carpeting provides a surface for more secure footing.

Good lighting is essential, stresses Mrs. Daigle. A soft night light eliminates searching for a light switch. Store medications separately from other items and label each in large, clear letters or some other form for easy identification.

Lever-type faucet handles may be easier to manipulate than knobs. Other desirable features may be thermostatically controlled fittings on the outside of the tub or shower.

Don't overlook accessories that make bathing and grooming easier and more comfortable, Daigle says. A sponge with a pocket to hold soap can be readily grasped and also helps to keep soap in hand. A backbrush, hose-spray attachment and a well-lit magnifying mirror attached to the wall near the washbasin are other aids to consider.



If the person has to take care of cleaning the room alone, provide long-handled brushes and sponges, as well as a convenient spot for storing cleaning products and clots.

Bathroom space is an important factor for persons in wheelchairs or dependent on walkers. If designing a new bathroom, make the shower stall floor flush with the floor outside and with a slight slope toward the drain. A toilet measuring 18 inches from the floor is more convenient than a conventional 15-inch model.

Consider also setting the washbasin 36 inches high, rather than 31 inches. Extra counter space should be available on either side of the basin for grooming essentials and medications. It's a good idea to install a telephone in the bathroom and also a call signal button, so help can be summoned in an emergency.

For more information on home remodeling, Daigle says to contact a home economist with your local office of the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Water conservation important--Ezernack

"We talk a lot these days about soil and water conservation, but when it comes to the actual conservation of water, too often it is shoved to the back burner." So said F. J. Ezernack, District Conservationist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Gulf Coast Soil and Water Conservation District. The way Ezernack sees it, water conservation in today's world is becoming one of the top resource concerns.

"Right here in Cameron Parish we have experienced water shortages during some seasons," Ezernack said. "I think people are more aware of water use and quality than ever before."

Well, with all that concern over water, what can and is being done about it? It's true that here in Louisiana we have been lulled into complacency by having an abundance of water, but now folks are asking, "Do we really have enough, and what can I do to make sure that we do?"

People who use water to irrigate crops, lawns and other plants waste much of it. One big factor in water conservation is to know about the character of water and its relationship to soil and plants. When plants are being watered, the water should be applied according to the soil's capacity to hold it and the plant's ability to use it. Many times applying the right amount means asking for advice, and many conservation agencies can give tips on water use.

Around the home hundreds of gallons of unused water go down the drain each day. It's a matter of turning off faucets or cutting out unnecessary use for baths, flush toilets and the washing machine.

A lot of people on the land conserve water by building dams along ravines and by putting weirs in bayous. Rainfall water that would usually drain off downslope is held this way for use by people, animals and plants. It's a fact that more than 80 percent of the water that falls on the land goes off to the sea unused.

Another good idea for conserving water is to coax more of it into the soil. Well-managed plants with good root systems provide little channels that let water run into the soil. Also, if the soil is rich in organic material, it will hold the water longer, and cover on the land causes more water to soak into the soil and be there for future use.

Well, you could go on and on about the fascinating story of water conservation. But one thing is sure, we need to learn a lot more about water conservation. And according to Ezernack, we need to put into practice what we alreadv know.

A stop by the Gulf Coast Soil and Water Conservation District office may be worth your while, if you like water and want to conserve it.

Fishing is an inexpensive family activity that can be exciting fun for everyone. In fact, a family of four can get rigged out for about $60, point out the experts at Du Pont Company, who make "Stren" fishing line, America's best-selling brand. Fishing is also an ideal way for the entire family to get away and learn to appreciate the value of conservation.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

According to family tradition the DORTCH family came to America from Holland and were in Virginia by at least 1721. John DORCH (as the name was often spelled) was in North Carolina by 1742.

Three brothers: William, John and Nathan Dortch were in South Carolina during the American Revolution and aided the American cause. By about 1790 Dortch families began moving south and west into the Bayou Sara area of Louisiana's West Feliciana, at that time under Spanish rule as West Florida.

DORTCH FAMILY

The Dortch Family Reference Book by James M. Perrin, 200 Rumsie Blvd., Hammond, La. 70401 is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 248 pages, indexed, available from him at $12.00.

The first chapter of 100 pages on the Dortch Family of Louisiana begins with the above information and traces the lines up to 1980 births including many parishes and states with hundreds of names, dates, etc. Personal information, professions, military service, family stories and traditions add to the data on individuals.

Sketches on other Dortch lines from Va., N. Car., Ky., Ga., related families of Jelks, Arick and Bethany; census, marriage and other Dortch records completes this reference work on the family.

PREWITT-PRUITT RECORDS

Prewitt-Pruitt Records of South Carolina by Richard A. Prewitt, 801 S. 5th, Grimes, Iowa 50111 is softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 130 pages plus index, available from him at $10.00.

Since South Carolina called its geographical divisions Districts instead of Counties until 1868, all Districts formed before 1868 are referred to as Districts in this Pruitt reference book and maps show how Districts evolved in the late 1700s.

Most early settlements in the western "up country" of colonial South Carolina were made between 1745 and 1760 as thousands of settlers came down the Catawba Path from Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Among these were Pruitts, the name also spelled Prewitt, Previt, Prout, Prevet, Pruett, etc. Some of the first to settle in South Carolina were children of Thomas Pruitt, Sr., son of Henry Prewitt and Rebecca Dobbs of Virginia. Thomas married Mary Chastain Ducray c1720, their descendants moving into other southern states and beyond.

Background material on the development of South Carolina begins this book of Prewitt family records, followed by much information on the Huguenots who settled in Grand Pre, Nova Scotia, before being deported to Louisiana. Many of the Grand Pre settled in St. James Ph., La. Descendant, Norbert, mar. Eryhemie BLANC and their son, Alphonse Auguste LeBlanc, b. 1840, had a son, Clerfait LeBlanc.

KNIGHT

Rebecca A. Sonnier, Box 88, Gueydan, La. 70542 wants info. on John Randolph KNIGHT who mar. Amanda RICHARD, 1888, at Church Point, La.

PATIN

Sallie Patin, 111845 Newsom Dr., Baton Rouge, La. is preparing material now for a history on the PATIN family. Asks all members of this family to contact her to be included in the book. Believes all descended from Antoine PATIN, born 1696, Grenoble, France.

WALDROP

Jeanne K. Doom, Lincoln Memorial Univ., Harrogate, TN 37752 seeks info. on William "Billy" Fletcher WALDROP, b. 1852, Sabine Ph., La.; mar. Roxanna MEYERS who d. 1872, moved to Texas c1870, possibly son of James L. and Martha Waldrop.

PA. RESEARCH

Armchair researchers needing help in the southwestern section of Pennsylvania (a frontierland of the 1700s) may want more info. on the several quarterly publications of: Southwest Penn. Genealogical Services, P.O. Box 253, Laughlintown, PA 15655.

Priced at $9.00 per year for four issues, each 24 pages, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., softcover, these research aids include data from early land surveys, wills, estate inventories, school records, cemetery inscriptions, deeds, diary excerpts, bible records, letters, ledgers, census records, tax lists, military records, baptisms, births, marriages, deaths, etc.

Conemaugh County, St. Clair's Bedford and A Standing Stone, each a separate quarterly on the history and genealogy of Cambria, Bedford and Huntingdon Counties respectively, are three of many publications by SW PA Genealogical Services. Other quarterlies are La Fayette and Somerset Past on Fayette and Somerset Counties, same price and format.

Gun classes are offered women

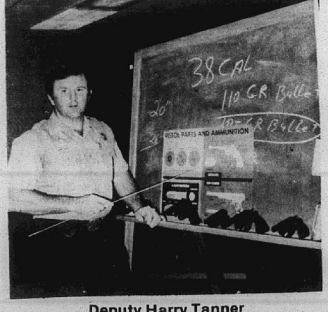
By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A seminar sponsored by the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department on the correct procedure of the handling and use of guns by women was held in Hackberry on April 28. The class was conducted before an audience of 20 women by Harry Tanner, Deputy with the Sheriff's Department.

Deputy Tanner has been with the Sheriff's Department for four years. He is certified by the State of Louisiana and the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a Police Firearms Instructor, and is also certified as a Police Self-defense Instructor.

Deputy Tanner has been shooting in competition for over 10 years and has won numerous awards. In 1981 he was ranked third in the nation in police shooting competition in his class, and is classed by the National Rifle Association in police competition as an expert.

This schooling was requested by the women of the parish because of the increase in violence in recent months. Many of them have jobs that require field work and hours spent on the roads of the parish during night time hours. They felt that carrying a weapon for protection was more harmful than useful unless they have some knowledge of the safe and proper handling of it.



This was the first class and will be followed by others before practice on the firing range. Upon completion, they will be capable of protecting themselves if the need should arise. However, all persons must have attended the classroom sessions before being qualified for participation on the firing range.

Similar classes will be held in other communities of the parish. All interested persons should contact any of the following persons for more information.

Hackberry: Isabel Gray - Phone 762-4739 of Betty Seay - Phone 762-4231.

Cameron: Debbie Shirley - Phone 775-5317.

Grand Lake: Lena Guidry - Phone 598-2066.

Myers honored by the Pope

Clifford P. Myers of Creole, a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Parish, is one of three Southwest Louisiana laymen who Pope John Paul II has authorized to be invested as Knights in the Pontifical Order of St. Sylvester, it was announced by the Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles.

The other two laymen are: Luderin L. Darbone of Sulphur, Our Lady of Prompt Succor Parish, and Michael T. Unkel, of Kinder, St. Philip Neri Parish.

The investiture ceremony will take place during the annual honors convocation of the diocese on Sunday, June 6, in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Lake Charles. Bishop Speyrer will be the investing prelate.

The Pontifical Order of Pope St. Sylvester was instituted in 1841 by Pope Gregory XVI in memory of Pope Sylvester I (314-335). It was revised as an Order of Merit to be conferred as a reward for both civil and military services to the Church, and is now conferred throughout the world. It is one of five Pontifical Orders of Knighthood instituted and conferred directly by the Pope.

The badge of the Order is a white enamelled Maltese Cross in gold, with short pencils of rays between the arms of the cross. The front of the badge bears a portrait of Pope Sylvester I on a blue background, with the legend

Clifford Myers

"Sanctus Silvestri P. M." (Saint Sylvester, Pontifex Maximux). The reverse of the medallion bears the official papal coat of arms.

The Order has three classes, the second class being divided into two degrees: Knight Grand Cross, Knight Commander with Star, Knight Commander and Knight. The star of the Order, worn by the higher classes, is an eight-pointed, faceted silver star with the badge of the Order in the center.

The riband of the Order is black with red border stripes and a red center stripe. A special uniform is included for wear on ceremonial occasions.

Batts named as principal

Wayne Batts, preincipal of Cameron elementary school, will become the new principal of South Cameron high school July 1 as the results of action taken by the Cameron parish school board at its monthly meeting Monday.

A native of Haynesville, Batts was raised in Lake Charles and graduated from LaGrange high school. He received a B.A. degree in joornalism from Louisiana Tech and a B.S. degree in health and education from McNeese.

He also holds a master's degree in administration and supervision from McNeese and has completed 30 hours above the Master's degree there.

Batts was assistant coach at South Cameron for four years, head coach and athletic director for three years and assistant principal for one year. He has been the Cameron elementary principal for the past year.

He is married to the former Mona Miller of Creole and they have two children, Paul 4, and Julie 2. He and his family live in Creole.

Batts also worked for the American Press on sports and general reporting while in college.

Batts' appointment Monday came after a short executive session of the school board after which Supt. Thomas McCall recommended that he be appointed and Board Member Dan Dupont moved for the appointment.

Wayne Batts

All of the board members, with the exception of Preston Richard, voted for Batts' appointment. Richard said he did not object to Batts but he did object to the board not advertising for applications for the position as it has done on most similar positions in the past.

Following the appointment the board did advertise for applicants for the Cameron elementary principalship which Batts will be vacating.

South Cameron graduation set

South Cameron High School graduation exercises will be Thursday, May 20.

Fire prot. & water vote set

Residents of the Grand Lake-Sweetlake area will vote this Saturday, May 15 on four propositions, which if passed, will provide for fire protection and waterworks facilities in the two communities.

For Fire Protection District No. 14 they will vote on one proposition to issue $663,000 bonds to run 20 years to provide funds for fire stations, fire equipment, etc. at an interest rate not to exceed 17 percent.

On proposition 2 for the fire districts, voters will vote on a 5-mill maintenance tax to run for 10 years for the upkeep of fire protection facilities and paying the cost of obtaining water for fire fighting.

In Waterworks District No. 11 on Proposition No. 1, voters will vote on a $663,000 bond issue to run 20 years at the same percentage maximum to construct and maintain a waterworks system in the district.

On proposition No. 2 in the district, voters will vote on a 5-mill tax for a 10 year period for maintenance of the waterworks facilities.

It was pointed out that for the fire protection and waterworks system to be approved for the district all four propositions would have to pass. They urged voters, if they want the facilities, to vote yes on all four propositions.

J. B. girls: state champs

By MIKKI PRESCOTT

The Johnson Bayou High School girls track team captured first in the Louisiana High School Athletic Association Class C competition last week in Monroe. This climaxed a perfect record for the girls this year of winning every track meet they participated in.

The team was comprised of ten girls with 21 entries in the events. This is the first year the competition was divided by Class rather than having all the classes compete together. There are 67 teams in Class C.

Coach Danny M. Trahan made this first time event of State championship even better as he is a hometown boy. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Udley Trahan, Coach Trahan graduated from Johnson Bayou High School in 1966. He began coaching the girls and teaching at Johnson Bayou after graduating from McNeese State University in 1970. Coach Trahan majored in health and physical education and minored in social studies. He is married to the former Nell Loignon and they have three children: Pat 15; Sonja 9 and Scott 6.

Incidently, Pat is a member of the boys team and ran in the mile relay at Monroe.

Patty Jinks was the outstanding Class C girl with three individual firsts and one team first. For her outstanding performance, an immediate track scholarship was offered to Patty by Northeast University in Monroe. Patty is the daughter of Mrs. Jean Jinks and Jimmy Jinks.

The Lady Rebels had a total of 84 points to cop the state title. A true team effort as 22 of those points came from 4th to 6th place winners.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: More information on the Johson Bayou girls state championship and photographs will be published next week. Because of a delay in the mail we received all of this too late to run in its entirety this week.)

Historical meeting set

Mrs. Pattie Swafford, president, and Mrs. Kenneth Brown, board member, of the Sulphur Brimstone Museum will be speakers at the meeting of the newly reorganized Cameron parish Historical Society at 7 p.m. Monday night.

The meeting will be held at the old Isaac Bonsall home just east of the Cameron courthouse, which formerly housed the Council on Aging.

Everyone who is interested in preserving the history of Cameron parish is invited to attend. Officers will be elected.

A CAR RAN into the back of the Cameron school board office Sunday doing extensive damage to the building, a computer terminal, electric typewriter, desks, etc. The driver had apparently driven into the parking lot to turn around and then lost control of her car. Workmen are shown above making repairs to the building.

Catholic Daughters report activities

The Mary Olive Catholic Daughters Court met May 4 with Regent Dahlen leading the prayer and pledge.

Mrs. Myrna Conner reported on open house for the hospital and the chair donated by CDA.

Senior breakfast was reported by Louvertta Vincent. Eighty-one special invitations were delivered at school. It was held after 8:30 mass. Guest speaker was Robert Boudreaux. He spoke on Right to Life."

Helpers with the breakfast were Myrna Conner, Wayne Montie, Larmae Miller, Brenda Boudreaux, Leitha Mae Savoie, Delores Boudreaux, Linda Dahlen and Bernice Bertrand.

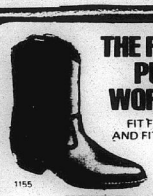
Mrs. Doland reported on the parish Beef Cook-off to be held May 8 in South Cameron High School cafeteria. The winner will represent the parish in the state Beef Cook-off June 8 at McNeese.

Mrs. Hilda Crain reported on the Cameron Parish Cattlemen Queen contest to be held on Sunday, June 6, at noon during the annual Cameron Parish Cattlemen Association family barbecue at Grand Chenier state park.



Mrs. Crain said that entries must be filed with her by Saturday, June 5. Cash awards will be presented to the top three winners, as well as trophies.

THE WAY I SEE IT...

Hunting seasons

By Jesse Knowles, Chairman
La. Wildlife & Fisheries Commission

At its regular monthly meeting in Kenner, on April 27, the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission set hunting seasons and regulations which it intends to adopt during final rule-making procedures at its regular monthly public meeting June 29 in New Orleans.

Those seasons, naturally, are for resident game and game birds. The fixing of seasons for migratory birds such as doves, rails, gallinules, woodcock, snipe and waterfowl can't be set until later in the year when the federal government has established regulations, bag limits, and date frameworks from which the commission can select season dates.

Establishment of the proposed hunting seasons and regulations for the 1982-1983 hunting period followed a two-month series of public hearings and numerous consultations with staff biologists of the wildlife department.

An estimated 1,000 people appeared before the commission at public hearings conducted in Baton Rouge, Ruston and Lake Charles. Members of the commission listened to approximately nine hours of continuous testimony from hunters, police jury members, legislators, conservation organizations and hunting clubs.

All of the testimony was tape-recorded, and the tapes were reviewed again by members of the commission prior to decision making on the regulations and seasons.

All of the recommendations made at the public hearings were given careful consideration and compared with available biological data.

It can be assumed that the federal regulations for doves, rails, gallinules, woodcock and snipe will track those of previous years. They've actually changed little in the past few years, with the single exception of day-long shooting for doves.

I feel confident that hunting will begin the first weekend in September with dove shooting in the northern zone. This will blend quickly into the September nine-day teal season.

Hunters can expect these openers to be followed by the proposed seasons for rabbits and squirrels. They're set to open October 2, with the squirrel season running through January 10 and the rabbit season going until sundown February 28. Bag limits for both species will be eight daily and 16 in possession after opening day.

The season for quail was set to open November 25 and last through February 28, with a daily bag limit of 10 and a possession limit of 20.

The archery season for deer would open October 1 and extend through January 20. For the most part, gun hunting for deer would begin on November 6, with some areas opening a little later.

It is significant to note that the intensive deer management program would begin with the opening of the gun seasons on November 6, and run concurrent with all gun seasons that have been established.

I feel confident that when it comes to duck hunting, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will stick to the same point system and bag limit that we've had for the past four years. It was part of a standardized regulations experiment.

Two years of drought in the nesting grounds failed to bring about any great change in the number of birds returning to nest, so I strongly feel the feds will continue the fifth year of unchanged regulations. This was agreed upon when the experiment began.

The end result will be to show that gunning pressure as allowed under the regulations we've had for the past four years has no significant influence on the total number of ducks over a fixed period of years.

While conditions in the nesting grounds are not as good as was hoped for after the bitter winter, things are better and we may see a greater fall flight than last year.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Having a Christian deputy who was dedicated to keep the peace, to prevent traffic accidents and available when on duty, and 80 percent of the time when he was off, meant a great deal to us.

Ernest Koppe was not only a good deputy, he was easy to work with, and above all he was a friend to the community of Johnson Bayou. I think the majority of the community will agree with me when I say that we regret that he resigned. It was our loss. We wish the very best for him and his family.

Good management and care of horses requires that they be vaccinated for which vaccines are available. There are vaccines to protect the horse against specific diseases when given at the appropriate times.

For the vaccine to be fully effective, it must be administered at regular intervals, the time between vaccinations varying for the different vaccines. The diseases against which we commonly vaccinate horses are: tetanus, the encephalitides (sleeping sickness), equine rhinopneumonitis (rhino) and influenza (flu).

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

Weather has been beautiful, and many people enjoying the outdoors, especially anglers trying their luck with different types of fishing.

GARYS LANDING
LACASSINE REFUGE
LOWERY

Water outside the impoundment has been murky making white perch fishing kind of tough, but inside the impoundment there are some bass being taken along with a few bream, but the bream are not bedding up yet, but if the weather holds, this should be a good week for spawning.

CREOLE CANAL

Plenty of fishing activity going on but mostly crabbing and quite a few dozen being taken. Crabbing has also been good in the Grand Chenier area. Rudy McEvers, Terry Rutherford, Becky Benson and Debbie Benson caught 8 dozen in no time at all Saturday.

OFFSHORE FISHING

With the nice weather the gulf has not been as rough and many anglers are picking up 5 to 8 lbs. red snappers around the offshore platforms both in the east and west Cameron blocks. There is also reports of small king mackeral being trolling. Closer in shore along the cuts and small platforms, some nice catches of red fish, drum and speckled trout have been reported.

BIG BURNS

Water is high in the burns which really scattered the bass and most areas are with dirty water, but where you find clear enough water, you'll catch bass. Johnson spoons with green pork chunk is still producing a limit of bass with the long indigo March king next in line. On the Superior Canal, nice catches of bream, white perch and yearling bass are being reported, using flyrod with popping bugs and cheater worms.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB

Many thanks from the Lemesche Bass Club, and the Grand Chenier American Legion for the great success we had Friday for our annual dance and gumbo supper.

Good fishing times:
Saturday A.M. 5 to 10, best. P.M. 11:30 to 2:30, fair.
Sunday, A.M. 6 to 11, best. P.M. 12:30 to 3:00 fair.
Until next week, have some nice times fishing.

Certification important to area farmers

Shortly farmers across the state will begin reporting and certifying acreages planted to various crops. As explained by Kirk D. Moore, County Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee for Calcasieu-Cameron parish, certification is the procedure by which farmers report their acreage planted to cotton, rice, feed grain, peanuts and wheat. This method, several years ago, replaced the procedure where field reporters visited each farm. The certification method is less costly to the government, Moore said.

As soon as farmers finish planting these crops, they can start reporting and certifying the acreage to the Calcasieu-Cameron parish ASCS office.

Acreage certification is very important Moore said in order to be eligible for program benefits. Farmers participating in the farm programs and planting corn, grain sorghum, rice, cotton, peanuts and wheat and who want to be eligible for price support loans and deficiency payments, if applicable, must report acreages planted.

After acreages have been certified, ASCS personnel make spot checks of farms selected at random. Crops reported and measurements are compared with certification made by the farmer, Moore said.

July 1, 1982 is the final date for reporting acreages planted to all the crops listed except wheat, Moore said. april 15 was the final date for reporting wheat acreage planted.

Guillory is sentenced in court here

Tony L. Guillory, 22, Gen. Del., Cameron, pleaded guilty in Judge H. Ward Fontenot's 36th Judicial District Court Thursday to charges of simple battery on Jesse Glenn Racca and possession of marijuana, which was amended from possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

He was sentenced to six months in jail on each count to run concurrent with each other and to the one year in the Dept. of Corrections that Judge Fontenot sentenced him to for the revocation of his probation.

He was sentenced to one year in the DOC on March 6, 1980 for burglary and theft, the sentence suspended and he was placed on two years supervised probation.

The new charges came before the end of the two year period so his probation was revoked.

The burglary and theft charges stemmed from an incident on Dec. 29, 1979 at Fogleman Grocery store in Sweetlake where $685.20 in merchandise was taken.

District Attorney Jerry G. Jones prosecuted.

Gueydan man sentenced in court here

Angelas J. Savoie, 45, Rt. 1, Gueydan, was sentenced to two years in the Dept. of Corrections with credit for time served for simple criminal damage to property and six months in jail, concurrent with other charge for D.W.I., the third offense charge amended to first offense, Monday in 38th Judicial District court. Charges of driving under revocation, exceeding safe speed, and failure to obey an officer's signal were dismissed.

Savoie was charged with hitting a patrol car belonging to the Cameron Parish Sheriff's office and doing $3,350 worth of damage to it on Jan. 29.

Savoie had originally pled not guilty and a trial set for the petit jury, however, he changed his plea to guilty on the trial date.

Second gun class is held here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Much interest is being shown by Cameron parish women in the series of classes organized by the Cameron parish Sheriff's Department to teach women gun safety.

The second meeting was held this week in the Police Jury Annex, the first having been held recently in Hackberry.

Harry Tanner, Cameron Parish Sheriff's deputy, is conducting the classes.

Sheriff James R. Savoie opened the class and explained to the women that he is working on plans to secure a local firing range for practice. It was pointed out that no one will be able to use it except people who are enrolled in the gun safety classes.

He also said that no permit was needed for anyone to carry a gun, that it is only against the law to conceal a weapon on one's person.

Tanner went over some important points in gun handling, having several different models so the participants could get the feel of them. He also demonstrated how a gun is put together and how it works and explained that the actual firing training would take place at later meetings.

He explained about justifiable homicide, and legal rights in case of a shooting.

"You have a right to protect yourself", he pointed out.

He also said that a gun, should be kept close at hand at night in the home for protection.

He stressed the importance of remembering the following four rules of gun safety:

(1) Every weapon is loaded until you cause it to be unloaded.

(2) Never point your gun at anyone uless you are going to shoot them.

(3) Never place your finger on the trigger until ready to shoot.

(4) Do not cock weapon until you are ready to fire it.

Hackberry high contract given

Bids totaling $101,214.61 were accepted by the Cameron parish school board at its May meeting on improvements to Hackberry high school's vocational-technical facility. Low bidders were as follows:

Welding equipment and accessories, Lincoln Big Three, Inc., $20,631.68. Various pipe and accessories, Norvel - Wilder, $19,487.74. Power saws and accessories, Norvel-Wilder, $19,991.89. Various tools and accessories, Curries, Inc., $41,103.30.

At the suggestion of its oil and gas advisor, Adam Sturlese, the board adopted a new mineral lease form prepared by the State Mineral Board which provides that firms bidding on mineral leases on school lands may offer one half bonus and one half rental for the first year. This is a tax savings to the oil companies who may thereby be able to offer better leases to the board.

The board authorized the board's engineer and architect to prepare plans to improve the drainage on land leased by the board for additional playground at the Cameron elementary school. It was estimated that the work will cost about $14,600.

The board gave permission for the Oak Grove Baptist Church children's choir to sign at an assembly at South Cameron elementary school.

A request from Woodrow Boudreaux for a one year extension for employment as a bus driver beyond retirement age was turned down.

The board authorized for advertisement to fill the position of Supervisor of Transportation, Maintenance and Fixed Assets. Some of these duties were formerly handled by Orrie Canik who retired recently.

Advertisement for an assessment teacher to fill a position due to a resignation was authorized.

Linda Fae Carroll was named as a lunchroom worker at Hackberry high school.

The board increased from $35 to $40 the per teacher allowance for consumable supplies for the 1982-83 session.

Advertisement for school furniture, two new school buses, and shades were approved.

Monday, May 31, was declared a school holiday.

The board adopted a resolution congratulating the Johnson Bayou high school girls team for winning the State Class C track meet.

Rev. Bradley to have anniversary

The Rev. Theodore Brandley, MS, will celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the Roman Catholic priesthood in Sulphur on Friday, May 21, it has been announced.

Father Brandley, now living in retirement in Sulphur, has been assigned to a number of church parishes in the Diocese of Lake Charles during the 50 years of his priesthood.

The celebration will begin with a Mass celebrated in Our Lady of Prompt Succor Church in Sulphur, beginning at 10:30 a.m. This Mass and celebration is designed primarily for his fellow members of the clergy.

Parishioners are invited to a Mass to be celebrated at 11 a.m. on Sunday, May 23, which will be followed by a public reception in Father Brandley's honor in Our Lady's school hall.

Father Brandley, a native of Walpole, Mass., was educated in Boston College and the LaSalette Seminary in Hartford, Conn. He was ordained a priest on May 21, 1932, and was assigned to missionary work in Brazil. After World War II, he had assignments in Connecticut and Iowa before coming to Sulphur in 1950. His first years were spent at St. Peter Claver and Hackberry Missions. He was named first pastor of St. Peter Church in Hackberry when that became a canonical parish. In 1960 he was assigned to Lorcauville.

He returned to Southwest Louisiana in 1963, serving in Creole, Carlyss and Sulphur. From 1974 to 1977 he served two rural parishes in Texas, retiring in 1977 because of failing health.

Assessments

Cattlemen to get sales commission

Jim Miller of Miller Livestock Sale barn in DeQuincy has announced that he will donate 1 percent of the gross receipts of all cattle sold at his DeQuincy sale barn on June 5 to the Cameron Parish Cattlemen's Association.

Mr. Miller explained that he has been doing this on an annual basis in appreciation for the patronage shown him by the Cameron Parish Cattlemen.

Floyd Baccigalopi, president of the Cameron Parish Cattlemen's Association, explained that the donation received from Mr. Miller during the past two years has helped the association tremendously and will "enable us to improve the cattle industry in our parish and to especially assist the 4-H and FFA programs. We are presently reviewing several ideas to assist these junior Livestock groups during the next year."

Mr. Baccigalopi urges all Cameron Cattlemen to consider this date in selling your animals. "The more animals that go through the sale that day will mean a larger donation to our association. In 1980 we received $2612.35 and in 1981 we received $1322.89. Unfortunately in 1981 it was raining on that day and we didn't have a good volume of cattle sold. Hopefully this year will be a good one and everyone will help out by sending a few head."

Mr. Miller also explained this could be a good time to sell price wise. "When I know that we are going to have a good volume of cattle like we can expect on this particular sale day, I can call quite a few buyers who ordinarily won't come for a small sale day. On this day we should have a few extra buyers and hopefully, some good prices."

Guidry named as new bank manager

Action taken by the Board of Directors of the Calcasieu Marine National Bank at a recent regular meeting resulted in the promotion of bank officers, according to William B. Lawton, chairman of the board.

He is a graduate of Grand Lake High School and Louisiana State University where he obtained a degree in Agricultural Economics. Guidry has completed the A.I.B. courses of Principles of Banking and Analyzing Financial Statements.

Since joining the Calcasieu Marine, Guidry has held the positions of loan officer and assistant branch manager of the Cameron Branch. He is a member of the Cameron Lions Club and the Creole Knights of Columbus.

Vice president James Fontenot has been named to the main office. Fontenot joined the Calcasieu Marine in April, 1975. He is a graduate of LaGrange Senior High and has a marketing degree from McNeese State University. Fontenot also has a commercial banking degree from the Graduate School of Banking at S.M.U. He has completed the A.I.B. courses of Principles of Banking and Installment Credit. He also attended the Commercial Lending School at the University of Oklahoma.

Fontenot has held the positions of loan officer and manager of the Moss Bluff, DeQuincy and Cameron branches. He was a member of the Cameron Lions Club, DeQuincy Rotary Club and the Moss Bluff Civic Club.

She urged members to make contacts for membership and said that she would announce the membership chairman from each community at the next meeting.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Roberta Rogers and Emma Nunez. A tour of the Bonsall home was made so members could see what they will be getting from the Cameron parish Police Jury after needed repairs are made.

Dinner Theatre set for June

The Chenier Showcase Theatre will present another Dinner Theatre this summer, under the direction of Mrs. Martha Fontenot.

Because of the interest in last year's production, there will be two performances this year, Friday and Saturday nights, June 4 and 5.

Curtain time each night will be at 8 p.m. and the dinner will be served at 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Creole.

The title of this year's show is "Romance of the River" and will feature musical selections which were popular along the Mississippi River before the turn of the century.

The "pop" songs of that day, such as those written by Stephen Foster, are blended with folk and gospel music to give a flavor of America's musical taste for that period. A few numbers written especially for the stage have been included for effect.

Some of the featured soloists will be Elizabeth Richard, Jimmy Colligan, Larry Dyson, Robert Peterson, Beth Tanner and Martha Fontenot.

A delicious "Old South" dinner starting with chicken and dumplings and ending with apple pie will be served.

Nelvia Murphy is in charge of the meal preparation.

LETTERS

From Brocato

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a letter to the parents of Cameron parish from Frank Brocato, principal of South Cameron high school for the past two years.)

As the hour of departure in my career as an educator draws near, my family and I extend a big thank you to all of you.

I was told that there was a need to improve communications with parents when I came here...This we did with progress reports, disciplinary referrals, monthly newsletters, student/parent handbook and parent advisory committees.

I observed for myself that our school was run down. With the students and parents help we painted the stadium, added a new scoreboard, renovated the administrative offices, painted all the lockers, sponsored cleanup campaigns, and passed a bond election to secure a real future for our school.

To secure discipline we added an inschool adjustment center, a substance abuse program and piloted a course in self development for 8th graders.

Our school already had pride when I came but getting in the playoffs, and receiving state ranking in football, winning the parish meets in basketball and track didn't hurt our image. We produced victories in literary rally, speech, FHA, FFA, 4H, rodeo, music, and other things as well. As if that was not enough, also to instill pride, we added the Junior ring ceremony, awards assemblies and secured the future for band by bringing a program to the upper elementary level.

In addition to pride, cleanup and communications, I hope someone remembers that we adopted ability-grouping to assist slow students, brought our lunchroom program from red ink to black and added athletic p.e. to better support a one gym situation. The improvement in girl's athletic programs.

All this we achieved and more. It was my sincerest wish to return to further improve upon these programs. Failing this opportunity, I am thankful to the citizenry, teachers and other that made our programs successful.

Frank, Di, "J", Kallyn, Cottie, Bonnie Jean and Brande'

To Brocato

An open letter to Mr. Brocato:

Dear Mr. Brocato:

I think that we are losing a very good and respectable person in you. Just because you have been treated disrespectfully does not mean that you are not to be respected. I think that you have been treated unjustly also.

There are many parents who have great respect for you because we see you for what you are in the eyes of God - not according to the warped minds of some of the beholders.

In the minds of certain people you are guilty of many things, but don't forget that it is what you are in the eyes of the Almighty that counts.

"Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

Respectfully,
Mrs. Lydia S. Primeaux

Message to graduate

By Bernice Stewart Denny

[Columnist's note: The following is an open letter to my grandson, Jeffrey Duncan Fox, who graduates Friday, May 31 from Iowa High School. Jeff attended Slidell High the first two years. He is the son of Charles and Sue Fox of Iowa. His maternal grandparents are Mrs. Bernice Denny, also of Iowa, and the late A. P. Stewart. both natives of Grand Chenier.]

My Dear Grandson:

You have reached a milestone in life. From the shelter of home and family you are about to step out into a world on your own.

Perhaps the greatest wish I can make for you is that your life be genuinely happy. Not the happiness that knows no trial or heartache or disappointment for that would be unrealistic. I speak of happiness that comes from a deep sense of security, a great simplicity, a compatibility with man and nature, and a spontaneous joy in little things.

A sense of security involves, first of all, knowledge of and confidence in one's own self. Know your weaknesses as well as your strengths. Overcome the first as best you can, but do not dwell upon them. Develop the latter in so far as you are capable.

The foundation of all security is love. Love and respect yourself as an individual of God's creative process. Express loving concern for others and accept theirs in return.

Live life simply and normally. Your first eighteen years have thus been spent. I cannot believe that you could ever become pompous or selfish.

In this age of computerized anonymity when things take precedence over persons, when items bought today become obsolete tomorrow, people tend to become suspicious, intolerant, calculating. Material possessions, prestige, comfort become their all-important goal. They fail to realize that one's happiness lies not in possessing more but in extracting the beauty of uncalculated moments of everyday living.

Jeff, you have a talent for making friends. Never lose it. Evaluate the worth of those you choose; then accept them as they are.

Your love for all animals, both tame and wild, seems a fitting requisite for the career in wildlife management that you now anticipate.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

Theres no use complaining about fronts and high winds, because we are just as used to fishing under these conditions as when it's calm, so I guess when the winds drop and the weather condition becomes right, we'll complain it's too calm.

Concentrate on the joy of little things. Be enthusiastic about them. A rainbow after a summer shower, The chirping of a bird. A hamburger shared with a friend. A smile given and received. A handshake. An open door.

And now, my dear, my third born grandson, congratulations. May true happiness be your. My love and my prayers shall be with you all the days of my life.

Your loving,
Mimi

BIG BURNS

There's not too much clear water in the Burns from the center going all the way to Grand Lake, but if you find clear water, you'll catch fish, but it's a slow process. David and Ray George picked up seven bass last week with the largest going 2½ lbs. Ray was trying out the new 5500 c and graphite rod he and his daughter won on a chance from the Lemesche Bass Club. Kenneth Nunez Jr. also picked up seven nice bass during the week.

GARYS LANDING
LOWERY

Water is about the same condition, high and dirty, but some nice catfish are being taken in the river, along with some gaspergou. I picked up 8 catfish, the largest going 4½ lbs, using live crawfish. A friend of mine from Sulphur had 9 catfish Saturday and 11 Sunday the largest going 4 lbs. using cut baits.Another friend from Ville Platte had 13 gaspergou and 4 catfish Saturday and one catfish Sunday going 9 lbs. He was using shrimp fishing on the bottom while I was fishing about 3 foot from the surface.

LACASSINE REFUGE

There's some white perch being caught on shiners, but the bream and bass action is slow.

CREOLE CANAL
SOUTH OF GIBBSTOWN

Lots of people fishing the canal from Gibbstown to Oak Grove, but 3/4 are fishing for crabs and doing rather well. The rest is pot luck with the water as hight as it is, there's reports of bass, white perch, catfish, drums and croakers being taken.

OFFSHORE FISHING
LARRY'S DOCK

Believe this if you want to, but last weekend, there was lots of boats that braved the rough seas and did real good on red snappers with some tipping the scales at 12 lbs. Also some king mackerals were caught. The boats that fished the cuts along the beach caught a few reds, specs and some drums that went 28 lbs.

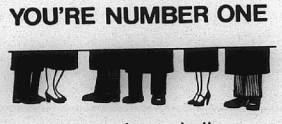
LEMESCHE BASS
CLUB NEWS

Gerald Richard, president of the club, reminds all members it's our family tournament this weekend, Sunday, May 23, so let's all try and take part. Remember we all weight 10 fish each, but the wife, girl friend, child can weigh any length fish, but the club member has to go by the 10 inch rule. See you Sunday.

FISHING TIMES

I kind of hate to put these times in as we either had a front move in or high winds, but let's hope this is a beautiful weekend to bring out our family and have a good fishing trip!

Saturday: Best fishing, 10:50 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fair from 5:15 to 8:15 p.m.



Sunday: Best fishing, 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. Fair from 6:15 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Freezing summer squash

Summer squash is harvested when immature, tender and completely edible says Dr. Ruth Patrick, nutrition specialist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Summer squash is a dieter's delight and a good source of vitamins and minerals, while low in calories. A half cup of cooked, diced squash is only about 15 calories. According to Dr. Patrick, yellow and green squash are better sources of Vitamin A value than white varieties.

Soft-shell squash should be fresh in appearance, firm and fairly heavy for its size. It should have glossy, tender skin with no blemishes and small immature seeds.

You have a choice of yellow, white or green summer squash. Types include yellow crookneck, yellow straightneck, scallop or patty-pan, and zucchini.

Yellow crookneck has a curved neck, a light yellow color and smooth skin when immature. The color becomes deeper and the skin is less tender and warted as it matures.

Yellow straightneck is a summer squash which is slender, round tipped with a straight or slightly curved neck. The skin is a pale lemon color, delicate and smooth when immature.

Scallop or Patty-pan is disc-schaped with scalloped edges. The flesh is pale green tinged with white, tender and juicy. The squash is best when it's small (3 to 4 inches in diameter) and the skin is pale before turning ivory white.

Zucchini has a dark green skin and greenish white flesh. It's long, straight and slender and best when about 8 to 10 inches in length. The flavor is mild and delicate.

To freeze summer squash, Dr. Patrick recommends using tender, young squash with small seeds. Wash thoroughly in cold water and trim off blossom and stem ends. Cut into slices about 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick.

Blanch in boiling water to stop the enzyme action. To blanch, place about a pound of prepared squash in a wire basket, metal colander or cheesecloth bag. Immerse in a large pan of rapidly boiling water. After water returns to boiling, blanch for 3 minutes.

Remove from boiling water, drain and chill quickly in ice water or cold running water until comletely cool. Drain and package in air-tight, moisture vapor-proof freezing bags or containers.

Freeze at zero degrees F or below. Dr. Patrick stresses not to try freezing more than an amount than can be completely frozen in 24 hours. She recommends about 3 pounds per cubic foot of freezer space.

We're mighty proud of all of you, grads. Best of luck to one and all.

Bonsall to observe 300th anniversary

Members of the Bonsall family in Louisiana will be interested in the 300th anniversary observance of the arrival of Richard and Mary Bonsall in the United States, according to Edison Mhire of Grand Chenier and Lake Charles, who is a member of the Bonsall Tricentennial Committee.

The celebration will be held June 25 and 26, 1983 in Pennsylvania.

Our forefather and progenitor of the Bonsall name into America came in 1683 and settled in the Darby/Lansdowne area, said Mhire. The records indicate he arrived with his wife and six daughters after an eight-nine week sea voyage aboard the noble vessel Welcome. (This ship had brought William Penn to Philadelphia on the previous trip in October, 1682.) Richard and Mary had four more children, Jacob, Benjamin, Enoch and Elingr, and most of the descendants can trace back to one of the sons.

Family members wishing more information on the Bonsall celebration may contact Mr. Mhire at 436-2490, Lake Charles or any of the following who have been named to the Louisiana-texas planning committee: Joe Bonsall, Vinton; Walter Bonsall, Sulphur; Andrew Roux, Beaumont; Mrs. Enes Baccigalopi, Creole; Evans or Peggy Mhire, Grand Chenier or Mrs. Helen Bonsall Gallier, Nederland.

At the Cameron elementary school additions and alterations are planned. Constructions of additions, phase II, are planned at Johnson Bayou high school and a new running track is planned for South Cameron high school.

Action on the bids will be taken at the board's June 14 meeting.

DON CRIPPIN, representing the ARCO Oil and Gas Corp., is shown presenting the Cameron Parish police jury with a $160,000 check to be used to set up a trust fund with which to finance marsh restoration following drilling explorations on Miami Corp. lands.

$160,000 given to police jury

Representatives of ARCO Oil and Gas Corporation presented the Cameron Parish Police Jury with a check in the amount of $160,000 and a satellite photograph of the Miami Corporation lands, at its May meeting.

The money would set up a trust fund with which to finance marsh restoration projects following drilling explorations in the Miami Corporation lands.

In another presentation, Charlie Hackett, who represented the Habibi Shrine Temple, gave the members an award for the people of Cameron Parish who gave the largest amount of money to the Shrine Circus this past year.

The jury accepted the East Fork Road.

Juror Braxton Blake asked the jury to send a letter to State Representative Conway LeBleu thanking him for securing the $465,000 for the project.

The jury also voted to give the Civil Air Patrol $3,000 to aid in its operation for the year.

Clifford Cabel's appointment on the Hackberry Recreation District Board was renewed while Burton Daigle was appointed to take J. B. Blake's seat on the Louisiana Coastal Commission and Mrs. Carlton Delaney was named to replace Jesse Trahan on the Johnson Bayou Recreational District. Both Blake and Trahan resigned their positions earlier.

Soil Conservation officials visit

National and state officials of the Soil Conservation Service were in Cameron Wednesday, May 12 for a first hand inspection of the Cameron-Creole Watershed that is now under construction.

Joe Haas, Deputy SCS Administrator in Washington and Harry Rucker, the newly appointed SCS State Conservationist from Alexandria, were taken on an air inspection of the watershed levee on the east side of Calcasieu Lake by members of the Gulf Coast Soil Conservation District.

$2,300,000 in federal funds have already been appropriated for the project which has been over a decade in the planning.

The officials were in town to meet with the Cameron parish Police Jury, members of the Gravity Drainage Districts No. 3 and 4, and with the Gulf Coast Soil Conservation District composed of the parishes in Southwest Louisiana.

They were honored with a luncheon at Pat's restaurant during the noon hour.

During the luncheon Rucker made the announcement that an additional $1,250,000 has been appropriated by the federal government for the project which will be sufficient to complete the first phase of the watershed, the completion of the levee from Cameron to Grand Lake.

Residents of Cameron Parish. . .

IN YOUR OPINION:

Is the present system of house-to-house collection of solid waste (garbage) serving your needs adequately? If not, what changes would you like?

Would it be more helpful to have containers at various sites in the community for the placement of trash and garbage?

Are there any other services you would like to have offered with respect to collection of solid waste?

We are performing a Solid Waste Management Study for the Cameron Parish Police Jury in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources and would be happy to have your opinion.

Any comments or suggestions will be received at the office of Lonnie G. Harper & Associates, Inc., P. O. Box 229, Grand Chenier, Louisiana 70643. (318) 538-2574.

Old Isaac Bonsall home in Cameron

Old Bonsall home to be preserved in Cameron

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Because of the interest of a group of local people in preserving the history of Cameron Parish a sturdy old landmark will be saved for posterity instead of being torn down as was previously planned.

The century old "Dr. Isaac Bonsall home" was built in the 1880s by Caleb B. "Cale" Jones for his first family. Jones had a general mercantile store located where the law firm of Badon, Bagett and McCall have offices on Cameron's main street.

After Jones' first wife died he married Mary E. "Dice" Welch from the Oak Grove Community and built a new two-story mansion further to the west of his first home as a gift to her.

He sold his homeplace to Dr. Isaac Bonsall and his wife, Amanda Kelley in 1900 and they moved there from their farm about three miles east of Cameron.

The large and spacious house had a wide center hall that ran the length of the house to a long dining room. A range, used for both cooking and heating was in the center of the kitchen.

There were two rooms on either side of the hall, one of which was used as a study where Dr. Bonsall kept all the paraphernalia needed by a doctor to practice medicine.

The study was filled with doctor books and medical journals which arrived monthly because Dr. Bonsall studied medicine from these books while raising a large family in a community that had no doctor.

Although he had no formal medical training, Dr. Bonsall was called on to doctor the sick in the area and never refused to go when someone came for him. No fee was charged, but he was usually repaid later with a turkey, a ham, or a sack of corn.

In 1920 he served as the coroner for Cameron parish.

Shortly after moving to town, the Bonsall's used the house as a resort hotel, a rooming and boarding house.

Mrs. Violet Bonsall Murphy, one of Dr. Bonsall's children, recalls that there were eight bedrooms in the house. Families from Lake Charles and other places came here to enjoy the Gulf breeze and good food, and for fishing and hunting.

Judge Alfred M. Barbe, Judge Edmund Miller and attorney Absie Mitchell of Lake Charles stayed here many times when they came down on the steamboat Rex for court.

Many school teachers also boarded there through the years.

Mrs. Murphy recalls having gone to school through the twelfth grade in the Cameron school which was located on the courthouse square, along with a wooden courthouse and a jailhouse.

The galleries which ran across the front and back of both the upper and lower floors of the home were used by the occupants to sit on and enjoy the Gulf breeze.

After Dr. Bonsall's death in 1922, his widow remained on in the home until her death in 1933. The heirs sold the property to their sister Annie Bonsall Doland Granger. She remodeled the house, tearing off the back portion, the upper floor and the galleries and making it into a five room house by using the same lumber in the old home.

At her death, Mrs. Granger willed the property to her brother Dewey Bonsall who lived in Port Arthur, Texas. He and his family used it as a summer home.

The home was sold to the Cameron parish Police Jury which utilized it for the Senior Citizen Council on Aging program.

Recently the police jury purchased a new prefab building to move to the back of the old home to house the Council on Aging program in.

That was when they decided that there was no more need for the old home and that it would be razed.

When it was discussed at a Police Jury meeting some of those attending, including Mrs. Ching Conner of Creole, decided that something should be done to save the old landmark.

Plans were made to reactivate the defunct Cameron Parish Historical Society with plans to turn the home into a parish museum. This plan has the full support of the Police Jury who wants to turn over the old home to the society.

The Police Jury said they have been informed by the state that if a museum is established in the parish it will donate the artifacts from the El Constante, the 17th century Spanish ship retrieved last year from the Gulf, off Grand Chenier.

Many of the things associated with the original old home are gone, such as the vast orange grove to the west of the house, but the centuries old oak trees remain to surround it.

The newly formed historical society plan to hold their May meeting in the old home so prospective members will have a chance to see it and soak up some of the charm of the historical site.

THE CATHOLIC Daughters of Creole joined other Courts of the Diocese of Lake Charles in hosting a Lenten Meal for the Members of the Newman Club of McNeese State University. Members who cooked and served to about 52 students were: Loverta Vincent, Bernice Bertrand, Mayola Wicke, Linda Dahlen and Myrna Conner. (Photo by Brenda Boudreaux)

ASHLEY CORIEL is shown drawing the winning name for the Mother's Day plant given away at Cameron State Bank in Grand Chenier on May 7, donated by employees Wanda Granitz and Peggy Mhire. The winner was Darlene Johnson of Grand Chenier. Ashley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coriel.

SOYBEAN PLANTING DATE

The soybean planting date is based on day length. Each of our southern soybeans is triggered to begin flowering at a certain length of darkness. When days are long, naturally nights are short. It is this period after the longest day (June 21) when soybean varieties begin to bloom. For this reason the same variety even if planted a month apart seldom will differ in maturity more than a few days.

Early maturing varieties such as Forrest, if planted to early may respond to night length on the front side of June 21. When this happens they rarely reach over 14 to 16 inches in height and, of course, yields are severly affected. Once a soybean variety blooms it shifts into the reproductive phase and almost all further vegetative growth ceases.

It is this same principal which limits growth on late planted beans. A variety planted in late June or July does not have many days of vegetative growth before blooming begins. For this reason, the later maturing beans generally fair better when planted late.

Research throughout Louisiana has shown that May is the best time to plant maturity groups V through VIII. However some varieties have more specific planting dates than others. The following general guidelines should be followed: April 21 to May 10, plant groups VII and VIII; May 10 to June 5, plant groups V, VI, VII, or VIII; June 6 to June 30 plant groups VII or VIII. After July 1 it is very risky to plant any variety but later maturing over would be better than early ones.

RICE OUTLOOK

Record US and foreign rice production and the resulting slow down in world trade continue to pressure rice prices. The U. S. Average price for rough rice dropped $2.46 per CWT the last five months of 1981, from $11.80 last August to $9.34 in December. The U. S. average price, making allotment holders eligible for a deficiency payment of 28 cents per cut. Total payments are now being estimated at $22 million.

This Louisiana heron will be easier to find, easier to observe when using new brochure, "Birding Tour of Southeast Louisiana," available free from Louisiana Office of Tourism.

Snuff dipping can be health hazard

"Physicians should be aware that snuff dipping and tobacco chewing are increasing among the youth of the Southern states...In an intense ad campaign that is currently under way, the tobacco industry is using well-known sports personalities to hawk the use of smokeless products."

Words of warning published in the prestigious New England Journal of Medicine, quoting Dr. Arden Christen of the School of Aerospace Medicine of Brooks Air Force Base in San Antonio, whose survey of some Texas elementary, high school and college athletes revealed widespread use of smokeless tobacco products. One-third of those surveyed chewed or dipped, or both.

According to Barbara Schilde, health and safety specialist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service studies by Dr. Christen and others reveal that a dipper's or chewer's mouth may show signs of "leukoplakia," which are wrinkled, thickened, white leathery areas of oral tissue associated with pre-cancerous conditions. Schilde notes that about six percent of persons with leukoplakia develop oral cancer.

Not only does tobacco cause tissue irritation, but chewers and dippers tend to have greater tooth wear than non-users, facts confirmed by Dr. Christen's research. The gums tend to recede in areas where tobacco is held between the lower lip and gum.

Bare tooth roots exposed by receded gums become more susceptible to decay and are more sensitive to heat, cold, certain foods and chemicals. Also, tobacco that has been sweetened may increase tooth decay.

Miss Schilde says tobacco juices also contain chemicals which may delay wound healing, especially tooth extractions or oral surgery.

Tobacco products decrease the user's ability to taste and smell bitter, salty and sweet foods. Dippers and chewers use more salt on their food and additional sugar may also be required. Excessive salt contributes to abnormal blood pressure and kidney disease, the specialist adds.

Tobacco juices, as well as smoke, also contain a harmful substance called nicotine, which may be habit-forming. Nicotine is readily absorbed through the lining of the mouth and has a direct effect on the body's nervous system.

This habit-forming substance first causes its users to become stimulated and excited, but they may later feel depressed or experience a "let down." To keep this "lifted" sensation, Miss Schilde says a person with a nicotine habit needs a "booster" every 20 to 30 minutes.

Nicotine can also affect the heart and other parts of the circulatory system. As nicotine enters the bloodstream, the arteries constrict and become smaller, the blood platelets clot and the heartbeat rate increases. Consequently, blood pressure may rise and this may increase the risk of strokes and heart attacks, concludes the Extension home economist.

Cattlemen to vote on bangs program

Brucellosis (Bangs) in cattle should be a major concern to all, according to Dr. William B. Fairchild, State Veterinarian with the La. State Dept. of Agriculture.

Due to losses in production it has been estimated that Brucellosis cost the cattlemen of Louisiana over four million dollars annually. In addition to the production losses, more restrictions are laced on breeding cattle moving out of Louisiana than breeding cattle moving out of states that have a lower incidence of Brucellosis. The restrictions are predicted to get worse in the future, which will increase the financial burden that Brucellosis is creating for the Louisiana cattlemen.

Therefore, the Beauregard Cattlemen's Association and the Beauregard Farm Bureau have petitioned the Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board to conduct a referendum on the subject of mandatory area-wide testing and vaccination of adult cattle for Brucellosis in Beauregard Parish.

At the present time, there has been over 75,000 cows tested and vaccinated for Brucellosis in more than 800 herds in Louisiana. After experiencing very good results with the adult vaccination program, the Cameron parish cattlemen, the Jefferson Davis parish cattlemen, the Vermilion parish cattlemen, and the Lafourche parish cattlemen, conducted referendums and overwhelmingly chose to make the Brucellosis vaccination and testing a mandatory program in their parishes.

Ballots will be sent out to as many cattlemen as soon as possible in Beauregard Parish. If you do not receive a ballot, and you own cattle in Beauregard Parish, you are urged to come to the County Agent's office during the week of Monday, May 24 through Friday, May 28 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. to cast your vote on this referendum.

The ballots will be counted Tuesday, June 1, 1982, at 7 p.m. at the Police Jury Room in DeRidder.

How to care for azalea disorders

Azaleas may now be showing symptoms of several ills that can be easily corrected. Caring for them during summer heat will reward you with massive displays of blooms next spring, says Dr. Tom Pope, LSU Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist.

Cold damage from this past winter's freezes is showing up now, he reports. Some azalea plants are beginning to wilt and die. Examination of the stems within 3 to 4 inches of the ground shows bark splitting and peeling. January freezes caused death of the growth layer, resulting in this killing damage. Pope says to prune out dead branches and some new growth may come from limbs near the ground.

A common disorder of azaleas this time of year is chlorosis, he adds. It is characterized by a yellowing of the leaf area between the veins, while the veins remain dark green. This is caused by a lack of available iron.

Chlorosis in azaleas can be corrected by the addition of aluminum sulfate to the soil.

Apply at the rate of 1/4 to 1/2 pound per square yard of soil surface. Be careful not to exceed that rate in any one application, as severe burning and injury may result. Applications should not be made more often than at six-week intervals and should be stopped when the plants are void of chlorotic yellowing.

A second temporary method of correcting chlorosis is by foliar application of chelated iron, Pope notes. He says to spray the leaves with a solution of chelated iron as directed by the manufacturer.

Proper watering is important in the culture of azaleas in the summer. Watch for signs of wilting during hot, dry weather. A thorough soaking of the soil in the root zone about once a week is all that is necessary, but it must be done thoroughly. Azaleas have shallow feeder roots which dry quickly in dry soils. A loamy-type soil which allows good water penetration and water-holding ability will require less frequent waterings. A mulch of pine needles or compost will prevent the loss of moisture from evaporation and will help keep the soil cool and moist over the plant's root area, requiring less frequent waterings.

For more plant care information, Pope suggests contacting your local county agent at the parish office of the LSU Cooperative Extension Service. The advice and publications are free.

Fishermen to meet June 2

The Louisiana Department of Natural Resources will hold a public hearing for commercial fishermen who have made claims to the Fisherman's Gear Compensation Fund Wednesday, June 2 at 11 a.m., in Room 109 and 110 in the Cameron Parish Courthouse in Cameron.

The hearing is being held to establish validity of claims and make recommendations for payment on notarized claims previously filed with the Department.

The Fishermen's Gear Compensation Fund is administered by the Dept. of Natural Resources to assist commercial fishermen with repairs to gear damaged or lost by unavoidable obstructions in state waters. Operating since August, 1980, the Fund is supported by assessments against holders of state leases and pipeline rights-of-way within Louisiana's Coastal Zones.

The Fund is available only for Louisiana citizens recognized as commercial fishermen. Claims are paid only for damages occuring in the Louisiana Coastal Zone with a maximum of $5,000 paid per claim.

Participants in the hearing may be asked to provide information on exact location of the damaging incident; offer proof that there was no negligence, that they demonstrated an effort to locate a financially responsible party if applicable, that they are commercial fishermen with at least fifty percent of income derived from fishing and show either repair bills, repair estimates or replacement bills for the damaged gear.

Rev. Milton Peter Miller has been assigned for pastoral work and internship at St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Parish in Big Lake.

Rev. Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Miller of Bradey, Tex. He was educated in the public school of Brady, and earned a bachelor of science degree in animal husbandry from Oklahoma State University in 1957. No summer story hour

Because of the construction and renovation currently under way at the Cameron Parish Library, there will be no summer story hour. The staff of the library regret that there is no space available to show the films and tell the stories.

Story hour will resume next summer in a much larger and more comfortable room. Meanwhile, small children and their parents are asked to check out books and records for their summer enjoyment.

Elections are set

Special elections to fill vacancies in the office of Ward 2 justice of the peace and in the office of Ward 5 constable will be held Saturday, Sept. 11 as the result of proclamations issued by Gov. Dave Treen.

Ward 2 J. P. post was vacated on May 1, 1981 when Edward Richard resigned and the Ward 5 constable office was vacated on Dec. 15, 1980 when Daniel Billiot resigned.

Qualifying for the two offices will begin Tuesday, July 6 and end at 5 p.m. on Friday, July 9.

Reading club to be held

The Cameron Parish library will sponsor the annual Summer Reading Club again this year. All students in grades 2-12 are invited to participate by signing up and checking out books from either the headquarters in Cameron or the Bookmobile.

Everyone joining the club will receive a certificate and those reading at least 15 books will receive a prize.

The club begins operation June 1 and concludes the first week in September.

Meeting set

Final plans for the annual family barbecue, the Cameron Cattlemen Queen contest, and the Beef for Father's Day promotion will be discussed at the June meeting of the Cameron parish Cowbelles, according to Mrs. Mae Ann Hebert, president.

The meeting will be held on Tuesday night, June 2, at 7 p.m. in the KC hall in Creole.

New district is created

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron parish police jury abolished the Cameron-Creole Recreation District No. 3, at their meeting May 18 in the Polic Jury Annex.

They then created a new district, Cameron Recreation District No. 6.

It is bounded on the North by the southern boundary of the Grand Lake-Sweetlake Recreation District; on the west it follows the Calcasieu river from the lake down to the Gulf of Mexico which serves as the southern boundary, then on the eastern boundary of Savoie road straight north.

The police jury also promulgated the election results of Fire Protection District No. 6 which was read by Brent Nunez, Policy Jury-man from that area who commented, "I am very proud to announce these results for something we have fought so hard and long for."

All of the propositions on the ballot carried by very large margins.

The Police Jury voted to get Lonnie G. Harper to make a survey of Seacoast property adjacent to the Cameron post office for a lease.

The Federal Government had been in contact with Seacoast to lease the property for more parking space for the Cameron post office.

The company refused to lease it to the government, but agreed to give a 5 year lease to the Police Jury. Parking has been a very bad problem around the post office for a long time.

Harper was also asked by the Police Jury to do mitigation work in the Gravity Drainage District No. 4 (Creole-Oak Grove area) with the $160,000 the Jury received from Atlantic Richfield last month.

ARCO has been doing some geophysical work on Miami Corporation land north of Creole, and before the state would give the company a permit the company was required to give the Police Jury the mitigation money for the drainage work.

Hackberry has 50th anniver.

HACKBERRY HIGH SCHOOL'S first graduating class received their diplomas 50 years ago this month. The following article from the American Press of May 21, 1932 tells the story:

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES FOR the first class to be graduated from the Hackberry high School were held Friday night.

The program included a salutatory address by Leora J. Vincent, the class will by Joseph A. Sanner, the valedictory address by Albert J. Hantz and an address by Roy A. Ducote, principal of the school and one by Thomas W. McCall, superintendent of schools in Cameron Parish.

Diplomas were presented to four graduates, Leora Julia Vincent, Joseph A. Sanner, Albert A. Hantz and Lester B. Granger.

This is the first year that the Hackberry school has had a high school graduating class, the eleventh grade having been added just last yéar.

The school has made a remarkable growth. In 1924 it had but 35 pupils, three teachers and taught nine grades. There was no transportation system of buses.

At present there is an enrollment of 190 pupils, with six teachers, the eleven grades being taught.

Four buses are used in taking the pupils to and from school so that a wide territory is now served by this school.

It is a standard, state-accredited high school, giving all college entrance requirements.

Four of the six teachers are college graduates with degrees, while the other two are normal graduates.

Roy A. Ducote is principal, the other members of the faculty Miss Ruby Sells, Miss Rosemary Quinn, Miss Eunice Dominge, Miss Thelma Rutherford, and A.S. Hollister.

Texas waters closed Tuesday

The National Marine Fisheries Service has announced that the fishery conservation zone off the coast of Texas will be closed to trawling from 30 minutes after sunset on May 25 to 30 minutes after sunset on July 14. The purpose of the closure is to pretect brown shrimp during their major period of emigration from the bays to the Gulf of Mexico and allow them to reach a larger, more valuable size.

The State of Texas will close its Territorial Sea to trawling during the same period. It is estimated that last years' closure resulted in increased landings of 12 million pounds of shrimp and an increase in value of 23 million dollars.

A closing time of 30 minutes after sunset was selected at the request of the shrimp industry. Historically the closing time has been set at midnight.

Enforcement of the closure will be facilitated by the use of the Coast Guard's high performance, air - cushion-assisted patrol craft, capable of speeds considerably in excess of 30 knots, and other patrol units. Air surveillance will be accomplished with long-range Hercules C-130 aircraft equipped with high intensity "Carolina Moon" night illumination devices.

Federal civil penalties up to $25,000 may be assessed against violators.

Fishing vessel owners and masters whould be on the alert for signals from the Coast Guard or other authorized enforcement vessels or aircraft, and must stop when directed and comply with enforcement instructions.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

In behalf of the South Cameron Athletic Dept. we would like to express our sincere gratitude to all those who made the athletic bazaar a hugh success.

The funds derived from this benefit will enable us to start the approaching season in good financial condition.

We thank all those who made donations, who worked throughout the weekend, and those who supported our worthy cause.

As our athletic program continues to grow in scope, it becomes more and more expensive for equipment, supplies, and appropriate uniforms, therefore, it becomes necessary to supplement our resources; and without your continued support, it is very difficult to provide the youth of our community with recreational activities and facilities.

The South Cameron High School coaching staff again wishes to thank all of you and to reassure you of our continued efforts in a well-rounded athletic program.

The South Cameron High School Coaches

The bestman was Cyrus Mosley. Groomsmen were Dwayne Williams, Randell Williams, Ricky Walker and Terry Mosley. Ushers were Roderick Williams and Roderick Jones.

Beautiful weather this week brought real great fish in all areas.

Big Burns: Fish are slow and hard to get, but nice stringers came out of the marsh this weekend. (See the Lemesche Bass Club results). Carroll (Sugar Boy) Miller caught a few bass, but went for bream as he took his daughter and her friend out Saturday.

Off Shore: Red snapper is the word with some reported in the 15 lb. range coming out of oil city.

The farmer and the cattleman's best friend.

It's not that old hound that romps through the fields with him every day. It's not even Joe Willy, the guy he spent hours hunting with as a kid.
It's his tractor.
Our farmers and cattlemen work hard to raise thriving abundant crops and cattle every year, but their tractors work even harder. From sunrise to sunset, the two of them prepare for and take care of their land, their crops, and their animals. And when a fence needs mending or there's a problem at the other end of the farm, the tractor provides transportation the farmer knows he can depend on.
At Cameron State Bank, we realize how important the farm and cattle industries are to our area, and what a vital part they play in our economy.
That's why we want you to know that when it's time to buy another tractor or new farm implements, you can count on us for a Farm Equipment Loan.
By serving our farmers and our cattlemen, we feel we're serving our community even better. It's another reason we're close to Cameron Parish people.

New LEEVAC refueling facilities at Cameron

Firm opens new facilities

LEEVAC Petroleum is hosting an open house, Friday, June 4, at its Cameron Marine Terminal, the newest of LEEVAC's dockside refueling facilities.

An afternoon of festivities is planned at dockside, from 1 until 8 p.m. Included in the day's events will be an informal buffet starting at 1 p.m., welcoming ceremonies by LEEVAC Petroleum President Blaine Oubre and other special guests at 3 p.m., and The Teardrops will provide dance music and entertainment from 4 to 8 p.m. Guests will be given a guided tour of the port and its facilities.

Marking the location on the day of the event, colorful hellum balloons trailing the LEEVAC banner will fly overhead. Also on hand will be LEEVAC's 10 projector multi-image slide presentation and exhibit booth that were unveiled in January at the annual Work Boat Show in New Orleans.

The new LEEVAC Petroleum facility at Cameron provides major brands of fuel and lubricants for the Cameron-lake Charles area. The facility has over 900 feet of steel pipe mooring for dockside fueling, and also provides shore-to-vessel service of fuel and water. Though primarily a dockside service, LEEVAC Petroleum supplies truck transportation to land based rigs, plant sites, and commercial or business locations.

Within the last year LEEVAC Petroleum has installed a desalinization system in order to provide fresh water for Cameron's supply vessels, drilling rigs, offshore towing vessels, and fishing vessels.

Formerly Mar-Vac Gulf, LEEVAC Petroleum was acquired by Lee Vaccari, founder of LEEVAC Corporation, in September 1960, from Gulf Oil Corporation. Major improvements were made in 1977 when Mar-Vac Gulf added barging equipment to its transportation fleet. Two years later, Mar-Vac Gulf changed its name to Mar-Vac Marine Services to better identify the type of service the company provided.

A major move in December 1981 brought all companies owned and operated by Lee-Vac, Ltd. under one corporate identity. Corporate President & Chief Executive Officer Jerry Bostic, of Morgan City, announced name changes for the parent company and its divisions. Lee-Vac, Ltd. became LEEVAC Corporation and Mar-Vac Marine Services became LEEVAC Petroleum.

Today LEEVAC Petroleum serves the Gulf Coast region with Louisiana dockside terminals in Morgan City, Amelia, and since October 1981, in Cameron.

Construction of LEEVAC Petroleum's Cameron Marine Terminal was completed in October, 1981. The facility now provides major brands of fuel and lubricants plus complete dockside fueling points, with shore-to-vessel lube and water, for the Cameron-Lake Charles area.

The facility features a 15,000 bbl. storage tank, a 40 x 60 ft. warehouse, and is capable of fueling several vessels simultaneously. The facility also has sotrage for diesel, lube oil, and potable water.

In addition to the warehouse and storage tank, the site includes a 30 x 40 ft. two-story office building. The lower level of the office building includes two operational offices, a dispatcher's office, and first class sleeping quarters for the personnel working nights and weekends. The building also includes a modern kitchen that is equipped with all up-to-date appliances.

Jury elects new officers

The Cameron parish police jury elected a new president and a new vice-president Tuesday continuing a policy adopted two years ago of electing a new president each year. In previous years presidents usually served for several years.

Lester Richard, Jr. of Grand Chenier, who was vice-president this past year, was elected as the new president to succeed Kenneth Ducote of Hackberry, who has held the post for the past year.

Brent Nunez of Sweetlake was elected as the new vice-president.

Garner Nunez was renamed for two years as parish treasurer and administrative assistant, a post he has held for a number of years.

Hayes Picou, Jr., who was named secretary of the jury some months ago, also was given a new two-year term of office.

All of the elections were by a unanimous vote.

The jury approved a temporary liquor permit for the Cameron Cattlemen Association permitting it to sell alcoholic beverages at its spring family barbecue on Sunday, June 6.

Residential building permits were approved for Joseph Savoy of Cameron and Stanley Primeaux of Creole and a mobile home permit was approved for George LeBouef of Cameron.

A permit for an office building was approved for Magcobar Dresser Industries in Grand Chenier.

The terms of three board members which had expired, were renewed by the jury. They were Nick Garber and David Griffith, Water Works District No. 10, and Alton Trahan, Gravity Drainage District No. 7.

An ordinance setting millages for all of the taxing districts in the parish was adopted. Treasurer Garner Nunez said all of the millages were being reduced due to the increase in assessments parishwide.

Recreation District No. 3 was abolished by the board and new Recreation District No. 6 to serve the Creole area was created. Named to the board of directors of the new district were Diel LaLande, Ladd Wainwright, Ruben Morales, Michael Styron, Jimmy Lee LaSalle and Mrs. Barbara LaBove. A seventh member will be named later.

Motorola, Inc. was awarded a $20,000 contract for a new monitor system to serve the fire departments in the parish.

Lonnie Harper, a parish engineer, reported that the boat launch on the ship channel at Cameron is nearly completed and the public is making use of it. However, he noted there was a hazard to small boats being launched when a large vessel is passing in the ship channel.

The jury agreed to write to the Coast Guard asking for a speed limit for vessels in the area and also to post a warning notice to persons using the launch.

Harper also reported that some of the ARCO mitigation funds recently received by the jury may be spent in the Oak Grove area capping levees to prevent salt water intrusion.

The board authorized advertising for bids on a dump truck, road work in Ward 6 and for the official journal.

Permit asked for pipeline

Cities Service Co., NGL Division, has applied for a Coastal Use Permit to install a 5.5 mile 6-inch pipeline to transport liquid petroleum gas from the Warren plant at Johnson Bayou across the Sabine wildlife refuge to connect to the Cities Service Hackberry storage facility.

The pipeline will parallel an existing 3-inch pipeline for the entire distance and will be buried four to five feet deep.

Fishing, wildlife bills summarized

A fisheries and wildlife newsletter listing all of the bills pertaining to shrimping, crabbing, oysters, fishing and wetlands resources introduced in this year's legislature has been issued by Paul Coreil, assistant area fisheries and wildlife agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes.

Coreil said many of the bills will affect fishermen, hunters, trappers and sportsmen in the two parishes and he urged all persons in these industries to review the bills and make their preferences known to their representatives and senators.

A copy of the newsletter summarizing each of the bills may be secured by contacting Coreil in the basement of the Cameron courthouse.

He also noted that the House of Representatives has a toll free line which can be used for obtaining information related to committee schedules and legislative action. It is 1-800-272-8186.

The plant is currently processing 700 million cubic feet of gas per day and has an operating staff of 23 employees.

Herman Doescher, Jr., plant manager, said the company is planning a dinner next month for employees and their wives to celebrate the safety record.

Boat fees told

Of vital interest to area boat owners is the User Fee annual charge now under consideration by the United States Coast Guard to charge boat owners.

The Coast Guard, it appears, will suffer large budget cuts in the recent federal budget cutting activity and this proposed User Fee to be paid by U. S. boat owners would replace the money cut from the budget.

Under the proposed plan the Coast Guard would collect a fee from each boat or vessel owner ranging from $4 to $40,000 annually.

The fee will be utilized in providing services such as channel lighting, search and rescue operations, Loran C navigational system, documentation inspection and other services which up to now have been provided at no charge to boat owners.

Below is an outline of the proposed User Fee annual charges under consideration by the U. S. Coast Guard:

COMMERCIAL VESSELS

All vessels under 100 gross tons, $1,350.

Vessels 100-199 tons, $1,800.

Vessels 200-299 tons, $2,000.

Vessels 300-1599 tons, $20,000.

Vessels over 1600 tons, $40,000.

RECREATIONAL BOATS

COASTAL WATERS

Boats less than 16 ft. long, $50.

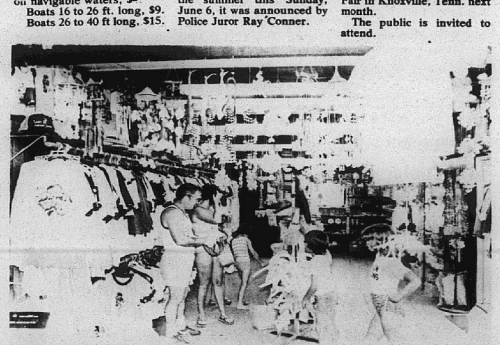
Boats 16 to 26 ft. long, $110.

Boats 27 to 40 ft. long, $200.

Boats 41 to 65 ft. long, $400.

Boats over 65 ft. long, $600.

RECREATIONAL BOATS



INLAND WATERS

All boats on non-navigable waters, $4.

Boats less than 16 ft. long on navigable waters, $4.

Boats 16 to 26 ft. long, $9.

Boats 26 to 40 ft long, $15.

Rivers, bayous were state's architects

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Someone wrote that the rivers and bayous were the great architects of Louisiana.

This is certainly true, for the waterways, which total almost as many miles as there are miles of highways, have in the past aided in shaping the face of the state, and in historic times have determined many of the patterns of the state's development.

To the Indians these rivers and bayous offered sites for villages and places to fish and were roads of easy travel.

To Spanish explorers they were hinderances to movement and hazards to be crossed.

To French pioneers they offered locations for settlement and were highways for trappers, Indian traders, and voyages of commerce.

To the British and Americans they were international boundaries and were barriers to be forded or ferried or bridged in the development of farmland and timberland and other natural resources.

Throughout the years, they were determining factors in international diplomacy and played major roles in the rise of economic empires.

And all of the men who traveled these streams developed a strong desire to possess and to live upon the lands through which they passed.

Here also, along the banks of the rivers and bayous of Louisiana, is found the stuff of which legends and tall tales and dreams of romances are fashioned and history is made.

Man has lived in Coastal Louisiana for at least two thousand years. One of the first things to attract Archaic man along rivers and to coastal Louisiana was shellfish, that could be easily taken and eaten.

His diet could be supplemented with a variety of roots, berries and seeds which were plentiful such as mulberry, blackberry, elderberry, strawberry and maw. Elderberry also served as a dye.

Vegetables included wild beans, wild pumpkin, spider flower, wild potatoes, bulbs of the pond lily and paddleweed. Sassafras was used for a drink, and Yaupon as an emetic.

Grains and nuts were plentiful and used as food, including seeds from the palmetto, water millet and nuts from oak, pecan and hickory trees.

Spanish moss, so plentiful in the area was used for clothing, bedding and as litter.

The shark was used among coastal Indians for its oil and teeth. All kinds of fish and shellfish were a steady diet.

The alligator was used for food, oil to protect the body from insects and for burning, since wood was sometimes scarce or wet.

Apparently most coastal Indians subsisted on fish and shellfish which were obtained by hand or with spears, and the more inland occupants of mounds along streams and higher ground had a more varied diet and depended more on hunting and gathering techniques for land animals and plants.

The cactus plant was also widely used by the Indians for its fruit and in many instances it is associated with Indian habitation sites.

The water chinquapin, or duck acorn, was also a favored food of the early inhabitants of Southwest Coastal Louisiana.

The Indians used nuts for flour to make their bread or broth and to mix with their hominy by pounding them into flour. They would first pound the nuts to pieces upon a stone hollowed out for the purpose, then pop them into boiling water, which, after passing through fine strainers preserves the most oily part of the liquid.

In addition to a favorable climate, an abundance of vegetable, animal and marine life, the Indians in Coastal Louisiana also had access to sufficient quantities of salt, by boiling sea water.

In spite of the fact that no Indians have inhabited coastal Southwest Louisiana since before the white man came, their existence there has left an indelible imprint on the land.

Legend has it that the last Indians to inhabit the area were all drowned in one of the mighty hurricanes that roared in from the Gulf in the late 1700s or early 1800s.

One lone Indian is said to have survived and made his way north to later tell the tale of his tribal members and a white family who had settled on Grand Chenier being swept away by the storm.

The Indian influence is noted in the fact that two of the rivers that flow through Cameron parish bear Indian names.

The Calcasieu is the first main river wholly within Louisiana after one enters the state from the west. Calcasieu is of Attakapas origin, from katosh (eagle) plus yok (to cry) and means Crying Eagle.

The Mermentau is the other river that runs through the parish and was named after an Indian chief. It is a corruption of the Indian name Nementou, the chief's name whose village was located on the river.

On April 16, 1784, Nementou was known to have executed, in favor of Antoine Blanc, a deed of sale to a tract of land on the Bayou Plaquemine Brule. A deed of sale, dated July 4, 1786, defines the boundaries of a tract of land by reference to the banks of the river Nementou.

Then, another deed of sale was executed in 1802 by three Indians, among whom was Celestin, a chief of the Atakapas Indians of Nementou. Through a clerical error Nementou became Mermentou and later to the modern spelling Mermentau.

The third river in Cameron parish, the Sabine on it's extreme western boundary with Texas was a vital trade route to the early Indians who used it to travel west to trade with other Indian tribes. This can be proven by some shells dug up in middens on Johnson Bayou that revealed trade with other Indian tribes for things that were not native to this area.

The 1984 Worlds Fair will be held in New Orleans and the motto will be The World of Rivers. This could very well also be the motto for Cameron parish if it did not already bear the title of The Sportsmans Paradise.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

The name DUFOUR is old and well known in Western Europe where eight different coats-of-arms originated in France, Germany, Austria and Switzerland.

In 1718 the "Dufour Party" left France for Louisiana with concession rights to land tracts near what would become Kenner and Baton Rouge, La., Natchez, Miss. and in Illinois. With Joseph Dufour of Canton, Bern, Switz. and his wife, Catherine Fournier of LaRochelle, France were their son, Joseph, Jr. and Gabriel Massiot, Mathurin Pinaud, Jean Favreau and Jean Boyer.

Several other Dufours arrived in Louisiana during the early 1700s.

DUFOUR FAMILY

Dufour, Les Creoles des Avoyelles is one of those wonderful family genealogies combining narrative with names and dates so that the reader doesn't want to miss a paragraph.

Jeraldine Dufour LaCour has produced an outstanding volume beginning with a history of colonial Louisiana and including a back-ground for "Creoles" - those born in Louisiana of French-Spanish ancestry - or those of German background and German-Creole marriages - and "Acadians" who began arriving in the mid 1700s after being forced from their homes in Nova Scotia. Both cultures spoke the French language and each preserved their differing French heritage.

Dufour is a Creole name. Jean Dufour dit Brindamour and Marie Phillipe DeCoux were the parents of Charles Dufour I who married Adrienne Deshotel. Their son, Charles II, was born in Pointe Coupee, 1779. Part Two of this Dufour book is devoted to his many descendents from the Avoyelles Prairies.

Vallery Dufour I, a third son, is progenitor for Part Three of the book and Marie Henriette Dufour, born 1737, a sister to Charles I and wife from 1776 to Pierre Goudeau, Physician of the Royal Hospital of the Post of Baton Rouge, is traced with her descendants in Part Four.

Hardcover, 7 x 10 in., indexed, 450 pages; photos, sketches and reproductions; many related names, $32.00, available from: Mrs. Jeraldine Dufour La Cour, 203 South Gayle Blvd., Bunkie, La. 71322, this Dufour book is the kind of genealogy that family members hope to find.

NEWSPAPER RECORDS

York, S. Carolina, Newspapers: Marriage and Death Notices, 1823-1865 offers Louisiana researchers another reference for their many Carolina connections.

Containing dated abstracts of marriages and death notices from all York (or Yorkville) newspapers that could be located, persons included were also from adjacent counties of S. and N. Car.

Of the eight newspapers extracted, the Yorkville Enquirer is especially important because it continued to publish through the Civil War when few did. Money was scarce during and after the war, and often tombstones were never erected for persons whose obituaries were published herein. The death notices of soldiers and of older persons may be of special interest.

Hardcover, 6 x 9 in., indexed, 129 pages, $20.00, available from: Reprint Co., P.O. Box 5401, Spartanburg, S. Car. 29304.

BAPTIST NEWSPAPERS

Marriage and Death Notices from Baptist Newspapers of S. Car., 1835-1865 contains dated extracts from the three Baptist newspapers published in S. Car. before and during the Civil War, two in Charleston and one in Columbia.

Marriage and death notices are not limited to Baptists and include both S. Car. people and those from elsewhere with S. Car. connections.

Of special interest are notices of people who had moved to other states, especially Ga., Ala., Miss., Tex. and Louisiana.

Hardcover, 6 x 9 in., indexed, 142 pages, $22.50, available from: Reprint Co., P.O. Box 5401, Spartanburg, S. Car. 29304.

THE WAY I SEE IT...

The shrimp season

By Jesse Knowles, Chairman
La. Wildlife & Fisheries Commission

While it is too early to fully assess the success of shrimpers following opening of Zone 3 in southwest Louisiana, as well as Zone 1 in southeast marshes of the state, it can be assumed that the catch will generally track that made in Zone 2.

It follows that the size of shrimp taken in those two zones will also be comparable to the ones taken in Zone 2 and that prices will be rather consistent with those paid early in the opening days in Zone 2.

In the briefing of the industry at the April 26 meeting of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission in Kenner, Dr. Ted Ford, assistant secretary of the wildlife department for coastal and marine resources, predicted that the season would not be as excellent as last year which was the all-time record year.

He indicated that it would be an average, or possibly good year, dependent upon additional recruitment of post-larval shrimp and other factors that are necessary for good shrimp production.

Early reports in Zone 2 indicated that boats were bringing in catches ranging from 100 to 1,000 pounds, with prices ranging from 50 cents a pound for the smallest shrimp, counting 100 or more to the pound; 60 cents for the 80-100 count shrimp; and 65 cents for the 70-80 count shrimp.

Predominant size range for most landings were shrimp going 80-100 per pound.

It was anticipated by shrimp dealers in the Venice, Buras, Empire, Port Sulphur, Lafitte and Grand Isle areas that prices should go higher after the first week when initial large supplies in that zone decline.

If the pattern for Zones 3 and 1 holds true, then there should be abundant supplies of shrimp throughout this week, with prices about like those in Zone 2 initially. After this week, it can be anticipated that prices will climb somewhat as supplies decrease.

During the industry-orientation meeting April 26, Dr. Ford had predicted that 99 percent caught in the Barataria area would be of marketable size by May 31, with 96 percent of marketable size throughout the remainder of the central zone by that date.

With the prediction that Zones 3 and 1 were running about a week behind Zone 2 as far as growth rate goes, it's logical to assume that by the end of the first week in June the same percentages will apply in southwest Louisiana waters, as well as in the far coastal waters of southeast Louisiana. Time will tell.

It is significant to note that during the public meeting to discuss the outlook for the present shrimp season, a spokesman for the American Association of Shrimp Canners and Processors had pressed for an early opening of the season (May 10 in Zone 2).

It was his contention that the industries represented by his association had only processed 1.1 million cases of shrimp last year when normal production was 2 million cases, because the shrimp were too large when the season opened last year.

These particular industries prefer the smaller shrimp and they have been economically hurt by imports of canned and processed shrimp of the size they prefer, with India being the main source of canned or processed shrimp of that size.

It would seem then that the size of the shrimp being taken in the first weeks of the season in all three zones will benefit those segments of the overall industry.

Major concern now is that additional recruitment of post-larval shrimp is vital to sustained catches during the next two months. I'll be monitoring that condition and be reporting on it again in the next few weeks.

La. seafood marketing is promoted

The State of Louisiana currently has an active Seafood Marketing and promotion Task Force.

One of the primary objectives of the unit is to develop new marketing opportunities for Louisiana's varied seafood commodities.

In a recent report from Dr. Ken Roberts, Marine Economist with the LSU Extension Service, on the activities of the Task Force, it was brought out that any seafood marketing firm that is interested in beginning or increasing export sales should contact the National Marine Service (NMFS) providing them with the name of the firm and the products it has to export.

This information will be added to a data system entitled "Computer Assisted System for Export of Seafood" (CASES).

When NMS receives requests for seafood from other countries or states, these inquiries will be matched with the data in the computer system, and if the firm can supply the buyer's needs the sales opportunity will be sent to the firm.

Anyone wishing more information may contact Kenneth T. Ellington, National Marine Fisheries Service F/UDI, Washington, D. C. 10135 or phone (202) 634-7451.

Green lawn requires good management

A lush green growing lawn doesn't just happen. It requires good management and tender loving care. Several ingredients must be put into your lawn care package to ensure good results, according to Dr. Olen D. Curtis, agronomy specialist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Plant a grass suited to the soil and climate. Proper care includes adequate water and fertilization, as well as wed, insect and disease control. "With these ingredients and good maintenance, your lawn should be the envy of the neighborhood," Curtis says.

Fertilization should be based on the needs of the grass type, the level of soil fertility and lawn management practices.

For best results, clippings should be removed from the lawn. However, more fertilizer is needed if clippings are removed, Curtis says.

In high native fertility soils, such as in the Mississippi and Red River flood plains, lime, phosphate and potassium may not be needed, except where clippings are removed. Applying a mixed fertilizer in the spring is normally sufficient.

Apply 6 to 10 pounds of a fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or amounts of another fertilizer mixture to provide an equal amount of nitrogen, phosphate and potassium per 1,000 square feet.

On solid of low native fertility, 12 to 15 pounds of a fertilizer, such as 8-8-8, per 1,000 square feet should be applied in spring.

An application of 1½ to 2 pounds of ammonium nitrate or other nitrogen fertilizer to supply 1/2 to 3/4 pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet will be needed every 8 to 10 weeks throughout the growing season.

Good care and adequate fertilizer will result in a lush green lawn Curtis concludes.

Contact the county agent in the parish office of the LSU Cooperative Extension Service for more information on proper lawn care.

No reading club

Because of the construction and renovation currently under way at the Cameron Parish Library, there will be no summer story hour. The staff of the library regret that there is no space available to show the films and tell the stories.

Story hour will resume next summer in a much larger and more comfortable room. Meanwhile, small children and their parents are asked to check out books and records for their summer enjoyment.

MUSING...

Going home again

By Bernice Stewart Denny

One Wednesday recently my husband and I drove to Grand Chenier and visited the site of my childhood home.

Even though hurricane Audrey cleared the land of all its buildings twenty-five years ago, it nor a dozen like it could ever sweep the memories of that beloved place from my mind.

I close my eyes and see the dwelling house and all the outbuildings with photographic clarity. Once again I feel the richness and the beauty of life as it was when I lived there.

It was the first time that Clint had ever been to the Chenier. Little had I realized the mistaken ideas he had formed of the place. I was therefore thrilled at his appreciation and admiration of it.

We had a delightful little visit with Jeff McCall, whose attractive mobile home is on my property. Then we drove on to his dad's where we enjoyed lunching with my cousins, Lynn, Jeff and Thomas.

If any one doubts that a man can prepare and serve a company meal, I challenge them to observe Lynn at work. To the dishes that he cooked he added some that Betty, his wife, had prepared the evening before. All showed petty recognize her culinary skill. We regretted not being able to visit with her that day, but she was away on her Bookmobile schedule. We discovered, too, that Thomas can brew a pretty good cup of old Grand Chenier coffee.

In the afternoon Lynn drove our car to the east end of the ridge and back to North Island. Then we returned and went around to Indian Point. The beautiful brick homes and well-kept lawns back there are as modern as those in any town. The hard surfaced roads there and all over the parish are a reflection of Cameron's prosperity.

I recalled the times when we used to crab from the dirt road that lay across the bayou to Mr. Thozime Miller's store. It was the road that led from the Grand Chenier ridge and through the lane that separated the John Wetherill and Thompson McCall properties back to Indian Point.

And I remembered the times that we drove down the back ridge to old Grandma Richard's and rowed across the Mermentau to visit our cousins, the Lloyd Vaughans, who lived on the north shore.

Grandma Richard's brick house (once the only brick one in the parish) is gone. In its place is a modern frame building.

I mused: How endless are the changes brought about by time.

Nature trail to be featured in mags

From American Press

The Creole Nature Trail will be featured in Louisiana Life and Southern Living magazines, Vicki T. Miller, marketing and advertising coordinator, told the Lake Charles/Calcasieu Parish Convention and Tourist Commission Thursday.

Louisiana Life had people here for two weeks, Miller said, for upcoming articles on the Nature Trail and the Historic District. "They were very enthusiastic about what we have to offer," she said. Southern Living is doing a story on the Nature Trail in the September issue, she said.

Persons riding on the Nature Trail should take the Sulphur exit off Interstate 10 to Louisiana 27 south. The trail runs through Hackberry to Holly Beach and the Gulf of Mexico.

Among the attractions on the trail are the Intracoastal Waterway, used primarily for barge transportation; Hackberry, the home of some of the oldest producing oil wells in the nation; the Sabine Wildlife Reserve; Oak Grove, where ancient live oaks line the highways along cheniers, and Lake Charles, with its Civic Center, historic homes, beach areas and the Imperial Calcasieu Museum.

The new brochure on the trail was distributed at the meeting by Miller.

Jim Innis and Diane Miller, representing "Radio Forth" of Edinburgh, Scotland, were here May 15-16. They toured the Nature Trail and interviewed local persons.

On May 24, 14 travel writers with the Travel Journalist Guild were here. They also toured the Nature Trail.

3-wheelers to compete here

A 3-wheeler meet will be held Sunday, June 6 at the Mud Hole Track, off Hwy. 27. When going from Lake Charles to Creole, turn left at the Little Chenier road south of Gibbstown bridge and the track is 2 miles on the left.

It will start at 11 a.m. and will feature four events including pulls, drags, flat track and moto cross.

Trophies will be awarded in first through third places in each event and a high point over-all.

The classes are 90-125, 125-185, 200, and 250.

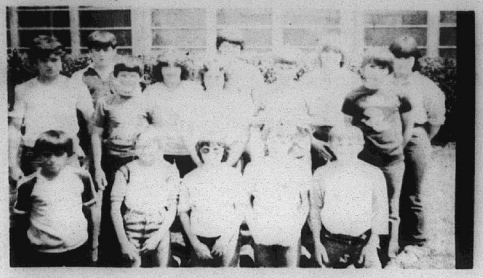
Be prepared when applying for S. Security

People who plan to apply for Social Security retirement, survivor, or disability benefits can help speed the process if they are well prepared at the time they apply, Donald Saulnier, Social Security district manager in Lake Charles, said recently.

The applications are designed to obtain information about the worker, spouse, children, work history, including military service, and railroad employment. Applications for disability benefits also obtain information about the person's disabling condition.



A person will need certain documents to support his or her claim. Only original documents or copies certified by the issuing agency can be used. Some or all of the following documents may be required in a particular case:

Birth certificate, proof of military service, W-2 forms or self-employment tax returns for the past 2 years, proof of marriage, proof of divorce, children's birth certificates and death certificate if applying for survivor benefits. People applying for disability benefits should also have information about the sources they were treated by for their medical condition.

A person should not delay applying for benefits because he or she does not have all the required documents. Employees at the local Social Security office will be able to suggest alternatives.

Where possible, a person should apply 2 or 3 months before he or she wants benefits to begin. This will allow plenty of time to process the claim so that checks will start on time.

Most applications can be filed by telephone. More information about Social Security applications and benefits can be obtained by calling the local office.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

This past week was a little hard on most anglers, with the water running out of the marshes and 90 degree temperatures makes it a little rough. Also fishing is not what you call up to par.

TOLEDO BEND

Fishing for bass on Toledo has really been good this past week with T-Man Racca and Daniel Davidson taking 10 bass going 21 lbs. 2 oz. Daniel had one bass top the scales at 7 lbs. T-Man told me some of his friends had 10 fish that went 42 lbs.

BIG BURNS

There's lots of murky water in the Burns, but lots of clear water also, but it's getting harder to catch a good limit ot bass. I cut across the east half of the Burns Saturday and I never saw one boat, that includes the big canals back of Lake Misere. Lots of the trails and cuts are completely stopped up with water lilies on both sides.

I talked to a couple of anglers who fished last week and managed to catch 15 bass but small ones.

Shane Broussard and Ching Conner caught 14 nice bass this week and Shane returned the following day and caught 7 more with the largest going 4½ lbs. They were using the crawfish color snag-a-sally with a crawfish pork chunk.

THIS 6 LB., 12 oz. bass was caught by Phillip Trosclair in the Amoco Field. [Photo by Loston McEvers]

GARY'S LANDING
LOWERY

Some of the anglers fishing out of Gary's this weekend had better luck than I did. The only fish I caught was one catfish. Two anglers out of Jennings had 14 bass Saturday, and 24 bass Sunday, with the largest going 3½ lbs. They were fishing the big canals on bottom using worms and a slip sinker. Purple and firetail were the hottest. Also two other fishermen had 48 nice white perch, these were tkan on shiners.

AMOCO
(Miami Corp.)

There are still a few fish being taken where you find clear water, but catfishing is real hot, with John Patrick Sturiese having around 40 nice catfish in a two day trip.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB

My son, Rudy, called me at my camp Saturday evening to tell me Phillip Trosclair had caught a nice 6 lb. 12 oz. bass. Phillip's luck is holding strong real early in the season. He has a 9 lb. 8 oz. taken in Florida for the number one spot in the out-of-the-parish bass, 6 lbs. 12 oz. for the in-the-parish bass number one spot; 10 fish stringer going 30 lbs for the number one spot, 79 points out of 80 points for the best four tournaments, with 80 points being a perfect score, and I think he's in the number one spot for the best team stringer.

CREOLE CANAL

Still the hot spot for pot luck, good crabbing, bass, bream, catfish and mixed salt water fish. All are still being taken, with large crowds fishing along side the roads.

FISHING TIMES

I think the best time is from daylight to about 9 o'clock and 6:30 in the evening until dark, and this will probably hold true the rest of the summer.

I would like to express our sorrow to the Glenn Miller family. He was a friend of mine and many others in our parish.

Sea turtles protected by federal laws

Many commercial fishermen are very aware of the restriction against purposely harming any of the several species of threatened or endangered sea turtles.

All turtles accidentally caught in shrimp trawls must be released unharmed back into the water or the fisherman may be faced with a several thousand dollar fine and/or jail sentence.

To assist the general public in proper identification of the various sea turtle species the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) has recently made available a 24 x 36 inch water resistant surface full color poster which depicts each of the eight sea turtle species in their natural habitats.

Single copies of the poster may be obtained free of charge from the NMFS Washington or regional offices or by contacting Charles A. Oravats, NMFS Southeast Region, 9450 Kogar Blvd., St. Petersburg, Florida, 33702.

Hunting regulations have been proposed

Preliminary hunting regulations for ducks and geese for the 1982-83 hunting season have been proposed by the Interior Department's U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

It seems that the point system, shooting hours, and number of hunting days will remain the same as last year.

To insure that the public has an ample opportunity to comment on the proposals, two public hearings will be held in Washington to review the status of the migratory game birds and consider proposed hunting regulations.

The first hearing will pertain to "early" season regulations (The early September teal season) and will be held June 23 in Washington, D.C.

The second hearing will pertain to regulations for seasons opening after October 1 (the regular duck and goose season) and will be held on August 3.

Local hunting interests are reminded to write their area congressman and ask him to attend and testify in their behalf.

If you need only a few drops of lemon juice, prick one end with a fork and squeeze the desired amount. Return the lemon to refrigerator and it will be almost as good as new.

Crawfish season is almost over

The 1981-82 crawfish farming season is slowly winding down with most commercial farm ponds beginning to slowly drain their ponds and newly constructed ponds finalizing seed stocking and also beginning a slow drainage process over a 2 to 3 week period.
Ponds should show good signs of burying crawfish in levees and out in the field and holes with and without mud chimneys will be observed.
Ponds should be kept drained during the summer months and a good stand of mature adults should be encouraged for food forage.
A top dressing of fertilizer may be beneficial in increasing natural grass growth during the summer.
When stocking after May 15 crawfish farmers are reminded to check the ratio of males to females, which should be 30/50, and make sure to get fresh unrefrigerated pond crawfish that are sexually mature.
To assure sexual maturity only stock larger sized crawfish which in most cases are already beyond the ready to burrow in preparation for egg laying.
More information on crawfish farming may be obtained by contacting the office of the Fisheries and Wildlife in the County Agent's office, in the Cameron Courthouse.

Hurricane awareness week in progress

During the week of May 31 - June 4, a period proclaimed by Governor Treen as Hurricane Awareness Week," Louisiana will be the focus of a unique drill, designed to test a tri-state area's capability of responding to hurricane emergencies this year.

Concurrent with observance of "Hurricane Awareness Week," a unique hurricane disaster exercise will be undertaken, with Louisiana as staging area, in coordination with the sister states of Texas and Mississippi.

Sponsored by the Louisiana Office of Emergency Preparedness (LaOEP) the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the National Westher Service, (NOAA), it will be structured about a simulated "Hurricane Louana," similar to a previous exercise "Hurricane Chuck," staged last year, for the first time.

As a basis of the paper exercise, the mock hurricane's scenario calls for a storm of forceful proportions--165 miles an hour winds and a storm surge of up to 22 feet, with rains in excess of 20 inches -- enough to inflict devastation in most of Louisiana and adjoining states, if it were a real hurricane.

The "Hurricane Lou-ana," exercise will involve coordination by LaOEP, FEMA, NOAA and local emergency management officials in the cities of New Orleans, Lake Charles, Lafayette, Baton Rouge, Alexandria, Shreveport and Monroe as well as the coastal and inland parishes within Louisiana's traditional hurricane-prone sections. Also participating in communication phases of the exercise will be emergency management and civil defense officials in the states of Texas and Mississippi.

The agenda calls for issuance by the New Orleans Weather Service, at Slidell, of practice advisory statements, warnings, and other informational releases at least every two hours, beginning June 2. Other weather service offices will issue similar advisories during the same period.

The hurricane drill's activities will be conducted June 2, 3 and 4. Principal activities will begin on the 3rd, when a simulated hurricane warning will be issued.

Each day's simulated hurricane evenys will be compressed into an 8-hour working day. Simulated hurricane advisories will be issued on NOAA Weather Wire and Radio.

In addition to testing disaster reaction capabilities of state, parish and local governments, "Hurricane Lou-ana" exercise is designed to incorporate a number of emergency incidents such as chemical spills, fires and shipping incidents.

As scheduled, the exercise calls for mock Hurricane Lou-ana's center to make estimated landfall around 5 p.m. on June 3rd near East Cameron and Vermilion Parishes. Earlier that day, the LaOEP staff will coordinate with other state agencies, as well as parish and local disaster management officials in plans to deal with hurricane emergencies.

Hackberry man hurt at reserve site

A Hackberry man was admitted to West Calcasieu Cameron Hospital for treatment for burns received in an electrical accident at the Strategic Petroleum Reserve site last Wednesday in Hackberry.

Clarence Wayne Perrodin, 36, was burned about the face, neck and arms.

William C. Gibson, branch chief with the U.S. Department of Energy, said some test work was underway inside a middle voltage electrical switch gear (5,000 volts) when there was some type of malfunction.

There was a flash and a small fire when Perrodin, an electrician working on the gear, was burned, Gibson said.

Perrodin is employed by POSSI, operations and maintenance contractors at the West Hackberry facility.

Shrimp laws are outlined

Recently the LSU Sea Grant Legal Program, through the work of Paul Hribernick and Charles Nesport, released a brochure entitled 1982 Louisiana Shrimp Laws.

This publication outlines the license application procedures, size limits, net size and numbers, and other information which is of great interest to all commercial and recreational shrimp fishermen.

To obtain a free copy contact Paul Coreil, Assistant Area Agent (Fisheries and Wildlife) for Cameron and Calcasieu Parishes in the county agent's office in the Cameron Courthouse.

Crab pot cleaning plan is described

Paul Coreil, assistant area agent Fisheries and Wildlife for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, has come across a crab pot cleaning technique which is being used by a Louisiana crabber, Culturs Pearson.

Coreil says that since clean traps catch more crabs, most crabbers usually try to keep their traps as clean as possible.

To keep fouling organisms from his traps, Mr. Pearson uses a chlorine base oxidizing compound that is normally used to sanitize swimming pools.

He dissolves 100 pounds of this powder in water in the hold of his crab boat. As he checks his traps he removes the crabs and dips each trap into the solution for a minute or two. The traps are then re-baited and set back into the water.

One treatment every 2-3 months is enough to keep the traps clean.

Local crabbers may want to try this technique on a few traps to see how well it will work in commercial crab fishing operations, Coreil said.

Bill opposition is urged by Knowles

By JESSE KNOWLES
Chairman, La. Wildlife & Fisheries Commission

There is a bill in Congress that every hunter in southwest Louisiana should oppose. It's H.R. 6115 and was introduced April 20 by Congressman Martin Russo of Illinois. Opposition to the bill can be expressed simply by writing a letter to your Congressman, with copies to other members of the Louisiana Congressional delegation.

What Congressman Russo's bill proposes is that the 10 percent excise tax paid on handguns be diverted from the Pittman-Robertson Federal Aid to Wildlife Restoration Act and be used to establish a trust fund for the purpose of providing compensation to victims of crime.

The inference is that most crime is contingent on handguns, and the sale, use and availability of handguns. While it is true that handguns are often used in crimes, national statistics show that handguns are only one of a large array of weapons used in the commission of crimes.

What Congressman Russo's bill would do is actually gut a large part of the Pittman-Robertson funds that are apportioned each year to the individual states and territories for use in wildlife restoration projects and hunter/safety training.

To best understand the role played by the Pittman-Robertson program, let's take a quick look at Louisiana's share of those funds for fiscal 1982.

Out of the total $146.9 million dollars passed out by the Dept. of the Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service, Louisiana received $1,872,115 for wildlife restoration and $444,323 for hunter/safety training.

Basic ground rule for use of these federal funds is that they be matched 25 percent with state funds. The large federal apportionment makes possible many of the programs of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, including the expanding hunter/safety training program.

Where do the Pittman-Robertson funds come from? They are accumulated from an 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, a 10 percent excise tax on handguns, and an 11 percent tax on archery equipment.

The Pittman - Robertson program was established by a Congressional Act in July 1938, signed by President Franklin Roosevelt. The program has been running for 44 years and major wildlife restoration has resulted from the hundreds of millions of dollars returned to the states and territories from the tax.

And I want to remind readers that when efforts were made by Congress to remove the excise tax, the sportsmen of America were the first to protest. They want to see the program continued.

Now, after 44 years of federal aid to wildlife, along comes a proposal to divert a major part of those traditional wildlife funds from the Pittman-Robertson program to a trust fund that will compensate people who have been victims of crime.

I am not speaking out against any program to compensate victims of crime. Rather, I am saying that I do not believe the dollars that sportsmen are willing to pay for wildlife work should be directed away from the wildlife work that has been going on for upwards of a half-century.

The demands on the nation's wildlife resources will continue to increase in the years ahead, as populations continue to expand.

The distribution of wildlife restoration funds to the states is based on a formula that takes into account the number of hunting license holders and the land area of each state. The funds may be used for wildlife restoration to acquire, develop, and manage wildlife habitat, and for research in wildlife management.

Hunter education funds, distributed according to the relative population of each state, may be used by the state wildlife agencies for hunter education programs including construction, operation, and maintenance of public target ranges.

It is too good a program and has been in effect too long to be tampered with. I am going to propose that the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission actively oppose H.R. 6115, and ask that you do the same.

Take inventory-- before hurricane

Glass from a window lay scattered on the carpet. Rain spots have already begun to stain the couch. Outside, a tree lay fallen across the carport; and the roof is dotted with patches of missing shingles....

The Insurance Information Institute reminds Gulf Coast residents that June marks the start of the hurricane season and that preparation is a key factor in safely weathering a big storm.

Tips on what to do before, during and after a storm are contained in a pamphlet, "Hurricane Survival Checklist," free from the Institute.

Besides taking measures to protect your property, the checklist advises you to update your insurance and to make a complete inventory of your household possessions.

Your inventory should include a brief description of each item, the date it was purchased and its cost new. Keep receipts and cancelled checks for any items that you have. Take pictures of antiques and other hard-to-describe valuables.

Once you have an idea of the value of your personal possessions, you can more easily tell if your insurance is adequate. Usually, the amount of the insurance on your possessions will equal 50 per cent of the amount of insurance on your house.

The homeowners policy, however, limits to $500 or less the amount you can collect on jewelry, watches, stamp and coin collections and a few other items. Check with your insurance agent about purchasing additional coverage for these types of valuables.

You might also check into insuring your valuables for their replacement cost. This coverage would reimburse you for a loss to a possession without deducting an amount for depreciation.

The homeowners policy automatically provides for replacement cost coverage on your home, but you must carry an amount of insurance equal to 80 percent of your home's replacement cost to get full benefit of this provision. Your insurance agent can help you determine if your policy meets this 80 percent requirement.

Make sure that you keep your policy, your inventory and any receipts in a secure place that will not be damaged in a storm, such as a safe deposit box. If you decide to evacuate because of the approach of a hurricane, be sure that your insurance agent knows how to reach you and that you know how to reach your agent.

You can get your copy of the "Hurricane Survival Checklist", plus a free copy of "Taking Inventory," by writing the Insurance Information Institute; 1001 Howard Ave.; New Orleans, La., 70113.

Farmers can get aid on soil projects

Do you want to receive assistance to carry out a soil or water conservation practice on your farm? The Agricultural Conservation Program, administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, may be just the program for you.

Kirk D. Moore, County Executive Director for Calcasieu and Cameron parishes pointed out that the Agricultural Conservation Program is designed to conserve soil and water resources for now and future generations. The program provides cost-share assistance to farmers to perform needed soil and water conservation practices on farms that also provide off-farm benefits such as improving water quality.

Moore explained that the Agricultural Conservation Program is a partnership between the farmer and the government with the program providing between 50 and 75 percent of the out-of-pocket cost to the farmer for materials needed to perform the practice. The farmer bears 100 percent of the cost of other expenses such as labor, machinery, fuel, land preparation and other costs.

At this time we have very limited funds for the 1982 program, Moore said, but we should be able to approve some requests prior to the end of the year.

Any farmer in Calcasieu or Cameron parish interested in carrying out one of the approved conservation practices should immediately contact the Calcasieu-Cameron parish ASCS office for information and program details, Moore said.

Classes begin

Bank meeting

A meeting of the stockholders of Cameron State Bank will be held Wednesday, June 16, at 3 p.m. at the bank.

With the close of the 1981-82 school year, the South Cameron High School S.A.P.E. team (Substance Abuse Prevention in Education) completed a very successful first semester in operation.

The team's primary objective was one of awareness. Having completed training in early December, the team members Clarence Vidrine, Rick Merchant, Teresa Martinez, Donna Nash, Rosalie Perry, and Jim Marcantel returned to the school hoping to make students, parents, and faculty aware of its existence and its purpose. The purpose of the program is prevention of drug abuse through education of the dangers involved and to give support to those students who find the right decision difficult or impossible to make.

After several organizational meetings, the team informed the faculty of its operation. The teachers were asked to help by reporting observed behavior that could be resultant of drug usage.

The team then had an Awareness Day for the 1982 Junior Class. There were guest speakers, films, and small group discussions headed by team members. The response from the junior class was excellent. The attitudes shared, the questions asked and answered, and the knowledge gained by both the juniors and the team members showed how necessary and wanted a drug program was at South Cameron High.

Shortly after the Junior Day came Parents Night. This night was one of SCHS S.A.P.E. team's most successful efforts. Where teams from all over the region were reporting small or no attendance at their parents meetings, SCHS was proud to report an attendance of nearly 100 concerned parents.

Again, guest speakers, films, pamphlets and a display of drug paraphernalia were used to inform parents of the growing drug culture among our young people today. A second parents meeting in April resulted in the formation of Parent Support Groups from each of the three communities of South Cameron High.

The Grand Chenier group is now in the process of obtaining their charter and opening a drug - free recreational facility for their youth with the cooperation of several community agencies.

Another very successful effort of the team was the Wednesday Rap Sessions. These sessions were held every week during the lunch recess. Films and/or small group discussions were presented to an average of 75 students. This response was tremendous considering attendance was voluntary and on the student's own time.

As a result of these sessions much information was learned by the students attending and consequently a group of twelve juniors became interested and assisted team members in preparing a three-day awareness program for the eighth grade class. One day of this program was also shared by the seventh grade students from Cameron, Creole, and Grand Chenier.

South Cameron's S.A.P.E. team has been successful so far in its endeavors and with continued support from the School Board, parents, faculty and students they can continue to serve today's youth.

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

This weekend was great for any kind of outdoor activity, with the weather beautiful; a little hot, yes, but beautiful. I had a ball Sunday.

BIG BURNS

I couldn't make it Saturday as I had some chores to catch up, like cleaning my tackle box, boat, gas tanks, changing plugs on my outboard, but got my stuff ready for Sunday morning, real early.

The water even back of C.Y. is real good, clear, even around Fredman's Island, two pound spoon point and the big pond northeast of C.Y.

At 8:15 I had 32 fish (bass) caught and culled down to 15. I moved and went to the northeast pond and picked up four more between 8:30 and 9:30 and culled back to 15.

But between 9:30 and 10:30 lights were out, you could feel the difference in the heat, with the sun bearing down. I used a snag-a-sally, yellow, number 4 gold blade and caught a few, and they were actually coming out of the water after mosquito hawks. When they did, I just cast a crawfish color tiny torpedo and bang, they would hit. After about an hour of this, it was back to the worm. I was using a marsh king indigo with red flakes twister tail, using a slip sinker and fishing the heavy pads. You could see them coming through this thick stuff to get to the worms, and they would run right away and you just had to stop them because they had the worm.

These bass average 1-3/4 lbs. with the largest going 3 lbs. This was just like long time ago.

I think after these bass have spawned (no eggs, not even in one bass) they are real hungry and when they hit, you could set the hook any time. I saw about 10 boats. I talked to an angler and his little boy who were fishing a cut on the Crain Brothers trail using a Doucett beetle, white with red dot. They had 19 bass, and 9 breams. The water was gone down about 8 - 10 inches and pads are taking over.

LARRY'S SEAFOOD DOCKS

The Mermentau River is producing some fish, mixed, but enjoyable to go and catch. Shrimping is not real good in the river, what they have is small. Most shrimpers say it's too much fresh water.

Larry was telling me the offshore activity has really picked up with red snapper being the number one fish.

RUDY'S FISHERMENS STOP

Rudy reports shrimping offshore is pretty good with catches of 190 pounds being reported, and some of these good shrimp. Rudy also reports catches of real nice red snapper offshore.

One of his customers took nine boxes of cigar minnows Friday morning, and Sunday evening came in with over 1300 pounds of snappers. The biggest he had were 12 pounds, but the 4 to 6 lbs. were plentiful.

The Creole Canal is still hot on fishing, but they claim the crab are not as plentiful as they were, but still catching small bass and bream.

Well, with no other reports, remember if you are going to fish for bass, do it early in the morning and late in the evening.

What To Do If A Hurricane Threatens Cameron Parish

When a HURRICANE WATCH is issued for the Cameron area, the national Weather Bureau Office will immediately notify the Cameron Parish Civil Preparedness Office. The Chairmen will call an immediate meeting of their committees to review preparations for emergency procedures.

DEFINITIONS:

HURRICANE WATCH: An announcement issued by the Weather Bureau to the public and all other interests via press and radio and television broadcasts whenever a tropical storm or hurricane becomes a threat to a coastal area. The "Hurricane Watch" announcement is not a warning; it indicates that the hurricane is near enough that everyone in the area covered by the "Watch" should listen for subsequent advisories and be ready to take precautionary action in case hurricane warnings are issued.

HURRICANE WARNING: A warning indicating that hurricane winds of 74 miles per hour (64 knots) or higher or a combination of dangerously high water and very rough seas (with winds as low as 60 miles per hour) are expected in a specified coastal area. When a Hurricane Warning is announced hurricane conditions are considered imminent and may begin immediately or at least within 24 hours. It is of utmost importance that precautionary actions be instituted immediately when a Hurricane Warning is announced.

The public will be asked to take the following precautionary measures: THESE ARE PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES PRIOR TO EVACUATION

1. Check homes. Secure loose shingles or tiles. Repair window shutters and shaky chimneys.

2. Check yards. Trim or remove dead or dying trees. Anchor removable objects such as dog houses, chicken coops, lumber piles, etc.

3. Maintain supply of boards for boarding up picture and show windows.

4. Always keep at hand at least one flashlight in good condition.

5. Maintain in g o o d operating condition battery-powered radio receivers for reception of Emergency Weather Warnings and other information from KOLE, KPAC, KAOK, KLOU, KLCL, KIKS-FM, and KPLC-TV. Also to be broadcast and published are instructions on what should be done when a hurricane is expected to strike the area. These include the following:

1. Keep your radio or television on and listen for latest Weather Bureau warnings and advisories. If power fails, use your car radio or other battery-powered receivers. Keep radio tuned to one of the following: KOLE, KPAC, KAOK, KLOU, KLCL, KIKS-FM, or KPLC-TV, and observe the instructions. Keep monitors on at all times if not actually listening to broadcasts. Keep your neighbors informed.

2. Avoid being misled by rumors. Rely only on advices from responsible public officials.

3. Be alert for high water in areas where streams of rivers may flood after heavy rains.

4. Board up windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape. Use good lumber securely fastened. Makeshift boarding may do more damage than none at all. Have strong bracing for outside doors.

5. Buy extra food, especially things which can be eaten without cooking or with very little preparation. Electric power may be off and you may be without refrigeration. Place dry ice in deep freezers and refrigerators to keep food from spoiling.

6. If emergency cooking facilities are necessary, be sure they are in working order.

7. Store drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles, and cooking utensils. City water service may be interrupted during the hurricane and wells become polluted.

8. If in one of the evacuation areas, move furniture and other valuables to upper floors to minimize flood damage.

9. Check your battery-powered radio, emergency lights and flashlights. Be sure they are in working condition and keep them handy.

10. Make certain you have gasoline in your car. If electric power is off, filling stations may not be able to operate pumps for several days. (However, Cameron Shell Station and Creole Shell Station are able to operate on a generator.)

11. Make provisions for children and adults requiring special diets. If anyone in your home has to be removed by ambulance, phone the Emergency Operating Center, 775-5551.

12. If possible, arrange for the safe keeping of pets and other animals by friends living in quarters that will not have to be evacuated. No pets or animals of any kind will be allowed in evacuation shelters.

13. Be calm. Your ability to meet emergencies will inspire and help others.

14. When your civil Preparedness Committee advises evacuation, follow these instructions promptly:

a) Shut off main gas valve and pull main power switch before leaving home.

b) Head for the proper shelters or evacuation points indicated for your area.

c) Evacuated areas will be policed to prevent looting.

d) At shelter, follow instructions of Red Cross personnel in charge. Volunteer your assistance to do any tasks which are needed for the efficient operation of the shelter.

e) If the center or the "eye" of the hurricane passes directly over, there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to half an hour or more. STAY IN A SAFE PLACE. Make emergency repairs during the lull if necessary, but remember the wind will return suddenly from the opposite direction, frequently with even greater violence.

f) Remain at shelter until informed that you may leave. Re-entry into evacuated areas will be given by Civil Defense when it is safe to return.

g) Keep calm at all times. If instructions are observed promptly, there is little personal danger involved. The local hazards from hurricanes have been carefully evaluated, and the measures taken for your protection have been well planned.

Ruling given board

The Louisiana Attorney General's Office has ruled that the Cameron parish school board may legally pay its proportionate share of the cost of a computer purchased by the police jury on behalf of the Cameron sheriff's department.

The computer will be used by the sheriff to keep tax rolls, records of traffic tickets, criminal arrest records and payroll records.

What To Do If A Hurricane Threatens Cameron Parish

When a HURRICANE WATCH is issued for the Cameron area, the national Weather Bureau Office will immediately notify the Cameron Parish Civil Preparedness Office. The Chairmen will call an immediate meeting of their commitees to review preparations for emergency procedures.

DEFINITIONS:

HURRICANE WATCH: An announcement issued by the Weather Bureau to the public and all other interests via press and radio and television broadcasts whenever a tropical storm or hurricane becomes a threat to a coastal area. The "Hurricane Watch" announcement is not a warning; it indicates that the hurricane is near enough that everyone in the area covered by the "Watch" should listen for subsequent advisories and be ready to take precautionary action in case hurricane warnings are issued.

HURRICANE WARNING: A warning indicating that hurricane winds of 74 miles per hour (64 knots) or higher or a combination of dangerously high water and very rough seas (with winds as low as 60 miles per hour) are expected in a specified coastal area. When a Hurricane Warning is announced hurricane conditions are considered imminent and may begin immediately or at least within 24 hours. It is of utmost importance that precautionary actions be instituted immediately when a Hurricane Warning is announced.

The public will be asked to take the following precautionary measures: THESE ARE PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES PRIOR TO EVACUATION

1. Check homes. Secure loose shingles or tiles. Repair window shutters and shaky chimneys.

2. Check yards. Trim or remove dead or dying trees. Anchor removable objects such as dog houses, chicken coops, lumber piles, etc.

3. Maintain supply of boards for boarding up picture and show windows.

4. Always keep at hand at least one flashlight in good condition.

5. Maintain in good operating condition battery-powered radio receivers for reception of Emergency Weather Warnings and other information from KOLE, KPAC, KAOK, KLOU, KLCL, KIKS-FM, and KPLC-TV. Also to be broadcast and published are instructions on what should be done when a hurricane is expected to strike the area. These include the following:

1. Keep your radio or television on and listen for latest Weather Bureau warnings and advisories. If power fails, use your car radio or other battery-powered receivers. Keep radio tuned to one of the following: KOLE, KPAC, KAOK, KLOU, KLCL, KIKS-FM, or KPLC-TV, and observe the instructions. Keep monitors on at all times if not actually listening to broadcasts. Keep your neighbors informed.

2. Avoid being misled by rumors. Rely only on advices from responsible public officials.

3. Be alert for high water in areas where streams of rivers may flood after heavy rains.

4. Board up windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape. Use good lumber securely fastened. Makeshift boarding may do more damage than none at all. Have strong bracing for outside doors.

5. Buy extra food, especially things which can be eaten without cooking or with very little preparation. Electric power may be off and you may be without refrigeration. Place dry ice in deep freezers and refrigerators to keep food from spoiling.

6. If emergency cooking facilities are necessary, be sure they are in working order.

7. Store drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles, and cooking utensils. City water service may be interrupted during the hurricane and wells become polluted.

8. If in one of the evacuation areas, move furniture and other valuables to upper floors to minimize flood damage.

9. Check your battery-powered radio, emergency lights and flashlights. Be sure they are in working condition and keep them handy.

10. Make certain you have gasoline in your car. If electric power is off, filling stations may not be able to operate pumps for several days. (However, Cameron Shell Station and Creole Shell Station are able to operate on a generator.)

11. Make provisions for children and adults requiring special diets. If anyone in your home has to be removed by ambulance, phone the Emergency Operating Center, 775-5551.

12. If possible, arrange for the safe keeping of pets and other animals by friends living in quarters that will not have to be evacuated. No pets or animals of any kind will be allowed in evacuation shelters.

13. Be calm. Your ability to meet emergencies will inspire and help others.

14. When your civil Preparedness Committee advises evacuation, follow these instructions promptly:

a) Shut off main gas valve and pull main power switch before leaving home.

b) Head for the proper shelters or evacuation points indicated for your area.

c) Evacuated areas will be policed to prevent looting.

d) At shelter, follow instructions of Red Cross personnel in charge. Volunteer your assistance to do any tasks which are needed for the efficient operation of the shelter.

e) If the center or the "eye" of the hurricane passes directly over, there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to half an hour or more. STAY IN A SAFE PLACE. Make emergency repairs during the lull if necessary, but remember the wind will return suddenly from the opposite direction, frequently with even greater violence.

f) Remain at shelter until informed that you may leave. Re-entry into evacuated areas will be given by Civil Defense when it is safe to return.

g) Keep calm at all times. If instructions are observed promptly, there is little personal danger involved. The local hazards from hurricanes have been carefully evaluated, and the measures taken for your protection have been well planned.

Causes of breakups is discussed

Causes and cures of marriage breakups are discussed by Hudson Baggett in an article in the June edition of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home News of Monroe.

A lack of serious consideration of what is involved in marriage is seen by Baggett as one of the biggest causes of failure. Immaturity is another cause.

"Often impulsiveness which is an expression of immaturity drives people to the marriage altar," Baggett says. "Ironically, the same impulsiveness is apt to bring a breakup of the relationship."

Lack of common interest is viewed as one of the most prevalent trouble spots in family relationships. Failure to cope creatively with selfishness and/or anger puts many marriages on the rocks.

"A marriage can be shattered by the constant expressions of anger. Often silence and refusal to talk reflects deep feelings of anger. On the other hand, uncontrolled explosions of temper can wreck a marriage," Baggett says.

Cures of marriage trouble are many. Coming to marriage with good models makes a good start. If a child grows up in a home where father and mother reflect a relationship of love and it helps the child prepare for his or her own marriage.

Ability and willingness to grow in tolerance, patience and love is imperative. Capability of addressing aggravating problems openly and honestly on the part of a couple can have a creative effect on their relationship.

An unhealthy marriage relationship may be moved toward healthy if a couple can be honest with each other and differ without bitterness. Differences of opinion are natural and should not be considered abnormal. Yet some people cannot tolerate those who dare to differ with them.

Those who expect the sea of matrimony to have no ripples are expecting too much.

Baggett suggests that one of the greatest cures of marriage troubles is a meaningful commitment to God and His purpose on the part of both husband and wife.

A copy of Baggett's article will be mailed free to anyone who requests it by writing Louisiana Baptist Children's Home News at Box 4196, Monroe, La. 71203.

MUSING...

Those fiery pests!

By Bernice Stewart Denny

A growing menace in Cameron parish as well as in adjacent parishes is the obnoxious little fire ant.

First noted in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and first reported from Mobile, Alabama, in 1930, it has spread to become a serious pest in our southland.

Not only is its venomous sting dangerous to people, it is also damaging to lawns and to buds of shrubs and young fruit trees.

A friend of ours from Lake Arthur was, years ago, stung by one or more fire ants on his foot while at his camp in Big Lake. He fell into a coma and was rushed to a Lake Charles hospital. Fire ants were practically unknown here at the time. His buddies could not imagine what had caused his prolonged unconsciousness. The doctors at the hospital diagnosed the problem and administered an antidote. He soon recovered.

A young relative who lives in Houston, Texas, insists that the fire ants make mounds in her south yard in winter and move to her north yard in summer.

My daughter's mother-in-law decided to put the despicable little creatures to work in her behalf. She was using hickory nuts in her art work, breaking the shells in half, cleaning out the meat, and using the half-shells to represent owl faces.

She cracked the nuts in halves, placed them in a handled sieve, and set the sieve on top of a fire ant bed so that the ants would eat the meat. Later she checked to discover that the ants had mounded dirt over all her nuts. A few days later she retrieved her sieve and the partially cleaned hickory shells.

I phoned the county agent's office in Lake Charles for advice on the best way to eradicate the fire ant. He told me that a new bait-type poison, similar in action to Mirex, is now available at feed and seed stores. It is called Amdro. Clordane, no longer on the market, was pretty good, but it was a contact killer. Amdro, the bait - type is considered much more effective.

River show well received here

By Nell Colligan

Chenier Showcase Theatre's spring production, "Romance of the River", expertly directed by Martha Fontenot, was enthusiastically received by a packed house for both performances, June 4 and 5, at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Creole.

Presented in the dinner theater format, the muscial featured selections of popular, folk, and gospel music of years gone by. A well-balanced variety of romaantic, patriotic and humorous songs were enacted by the troupe to the accompaniment of pianist, Cheryl Arrington.

Ronnie Johnson, portrayed as a young river pilot, told the story of the old south, standing on the deck of an old steamer plying the mighty Mississipp, the latter created by the artistry of Laura Guthrie and her talented crew of stage builders.

The performance was preceded by a delicious country-style meal of chicken and dumplings prepared by a group of Cameron Parish's finest cooks headed by Nelvia Murphy.

Although space does not permit listing the individuals who participated in the production, their names and talents will be long remembered by the increasing number of Chenier Showcase fans who have come to expect excellence from this able group of performers.

Acreage to be reported

Calcasieu-Cameron parish farmers who planted an acreage of rice, corn, peanuts, grain sorghum, or soybeans in 1982 should file an acreage report with the Calcasieu - Cameron parish ASCS office. July 1 is the deadline date.

Kirk D. Moore, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service urges all farmers to file their acreage reports just as soon as possible after planting is finished.

Acreage certification is very important and reports are required from program participants for eligibility for program benefits such as price support loans and deficiency payments, if applicable, Moore said.

Moore explained that farmers not participating in the acreage reduction program should report and certify planted acreage to establish a base for 1983. In addition to reporting acreage planted, program participants need to identify and report conserving use acreage to qualify for program benefits.

Any Calcasieu - Cameron parish farmer having questions about provisions of farm programs and acreage reporting should contact the Calcasieu - Cameron parish ASCS office for additional information, Moore said.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Prison ministry

Dear Editor:

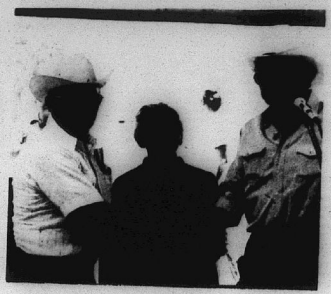
"Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me." Matt. 25:36.

Greetings in the name of Jesus Christ. We, here at the Cameron Jail Ministry, wish to thank the many people, who, along with us, have had the vision for this ministry. We proceed, as Jesus Christ would direct us, to go every Monday and Friday night in the Cameron Parish Jail to preach the Good News.

There is a calling for this ministry from Jesus Christ, to go forth and minister to those spirits which are in prison, thus we do in His name.

We provide the counseling and instructions from the word of God, so that a born again person of God may be made perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works. God draws these jailed persons to the Son and through the leading of the Holy Spirit, we bring them to the point where they are ready to accept a new life, in Jesus Christ.

Who cares? We care: "Tootsie" Dosher, Teri Nelson, Howard Dupuis and Frank Rainey. We care whether these people know of the better life Jesus Christ has to offer them, because we have been given the keepership over Jesus' store, His store house of people, who He has loved enough to stop them long enough here in jail to come to the knowledge of His saving grace.



But this isn't the end, hardly, for this is just the beginning as He gives us the desire to try and continue giving these people, who are released, the Word, as well as try and assist them into their readjustment and regeneration into their new life in Christ, as born-again Christians.

Since Jesus has put us as assistant managers over His store, there have been numerous saved, and the Word has been planted in anyone who dares to listen. There is a new life for everyone who will only believe. Most of those who come through this jail aren't satisfied with their lives, so they're told, "If you don't like the person you are, try being born-again, and become a child of God, instead of the mess you now are."

Sheriff Sono Savoie, at the Cameron Jail, works hand in hand with us, so that these people might become enlightened to the knowledge of Jesus Christ. He permits us, virtually, an open door policy for Church services and counseling. He also tries to work with us in helping these individuals out when help is sincerely needed. We're very thankful for him and his assistance.

In conclusion, we wish to thank the editor of the Cameron Pilot for permitting us to tell how Jesus Christ and His people are being doers of His word and not hearers only.

Shell opens plant near Johnson Bayou

Shell Oil Company began operations at its Barracuda Gas Plant last week. The new unit is located between Johnson Bayou and Holly Beach in Cameron Parish.

C-E Randall, Houston - Based affiliate of C-E Natco, Combustion Engineering, Inc. helped design and they constructed the $17 million facility. The nine - month construction project employed a peak labor force of 140.

The plant will be operated as a satellite of Shell's Stingray Gas Plant, which is two miles West of Barracuda on Johnson Bayou, and employs 22.

With a designed capacity of 100 million cubic feet of natural gas per day, the new plant can produce 2,500 barrels per day of ethane-rich natural gas liquids. It should be able to recover 78 percent ethane, 98 percent propane, and 100 percent butane-plus.

The gas will originate from Shell's High Island 179 and 193 offshore fields. It will be delivered into the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line's (Transco) North High Island System.

County Agent's Report

IRISH POTATOES

Most everyone who planted Irish potatoes in Cameron Parish has a very good yield this year. They should be harvested carefully and at the right time in order to keep well in storage. Potatoes harvested before they are mature will skin very easily which allows them to lose water and shrivel.

Freshly dug potatoes should be stored in a warm, moist place for a few days to allow cuts and bruises to heal. Then store them in a cool dark place. Ideal storage conditions are a temperature of about 40 degrees and a relative humidity of 85 to 90 percent.

AZALEA CARE

Azaleas may need some special care during the heat of summer if they are to produce flowers next spring.

A common problem this time of the year is chlorosis. It causes the leaves to turn yellow between the veins. Chlorosis is caused by a lack of iron adding aluminum sulfate to the soil. Be sure to follow the direction on the container for the correct amount.

VACCINATE HORSES

Some 200 horses in Louisiana died from mosquito borne equine encephalitis (sleeping sickness) last year.

The onset of warm weather and the mosquitoes which come with it makes it an ideal situation for an out-break.

It takes about a month for a horse to get full protection from the vaccination series, so it's not too early to get started. Horses should be protected against three types of equine encephalitis; they are eastern, western and Venezuelan.

FIRE ANT BAIT

We have received some Amdro (fire ant bait) from the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and is available to parish residents at the mosquito control office or at the County Agents Office in Cameron. It is in 25 pound packages for $37.50 and in single one pound bags for $2.

There are several things that must be considered in using Amdro. Tests on a national basis have shown control from 0 to 95 percent. In Louisiana, control with Amdro had averaged between 65-70 percent. It must be realized that Amdro is a biodegradable material which will only last a few days in the hot weather we have been receiving.

The time of application is therefore, very important since the sunlight and temperature break it down and it would be desirable to apply the material in the late afternoon or evening. This would give the material an added effectiveness or chance to be more effective in fire ant control. Moisture is another consideration and with all of the afternoon showers it's possible the material does not have an adequate opportunity to act on the ant population.

It should be noted that the material should be used within a few days after the bag is opened. It will however, last an extended period if it is stored airtight and in a cool area.

Woodrow Wilson was the only President in U.S. history to hold a Ph.D degree.

Rice farmers face problem

Louisiana rice farmers, already hard pressed to pay off creditors, may have to come up with as much as one-half million dollars in additional transport costs because of a government policy, according to an official at the State Farm Bureau.

"The Farm Bureau has asked the Commodity Credit Corporation to reconsider their present forfeiture procedures for 1981 crop rice which is in the CCC loan program," said Glenn LaHaye, a vice-president with the State Farm Bureau.

The Commodity Credit Corp. recently announced that rice farmers currently under loan to CCC must deliver their rice from on-farm storage to designated government storage facilities at the farmer's expense.

LaHaye said he hopes the CCC will act on the matter, "so as to help relieve the economic pressures of rice producers in Louisiana."

Rice farmers in the state, as well as many others, are currently experiencing severe domestic hardships due to a combination of poor crops and low prices. "The additional cost of transporting the rice will only add to the economic burden of rice farmers in the state," LaHaye said.

Reader writes about G. Chenier native

Dear Editor:

Looking back through your 1970 Centennial Edition, and thoroughly enjoying it, the thought came to write you this:

A descendant of a number of persons mentioned in your newspaper died recently - my husband of 47 years, Harold E. Vaughan, born and reared in Grand Chenier, son of Lloyd and Lorenza Vaughan.

What I want you to particularly know is that your former resident was one of 24 cadets receiving "the President's Medal" at LSU April 7, 1932, in special recognition for general excellence in military science as published in the American Press "50 years ago" and sent to us by Mrs. Ray Dimas, our beloved niece.

When war was declared, Harold was "in". We were in Grand Chenier playing "Set-back" with his parents when the announcement came over the radio, "we are at war." He was sent to Fort Benning, Georgia, for an officers' refresher course, then was an instructor there in heavy weapons. Then, because of laboratory work he had done at Continental Oil Co., he was transferred to the Quartermaster Corps, sent to the Philippines, New Guinea, etc., and was a Major on General MacArthur's staff and in charge of all the fuel which went to the western pacific - for planes, tanks, ships, everything.

At the end of the war he had the opportunity to go to Japan as a Lt. Colonel, but when he consulted me, I said "no way". Back to the good ol' U.S.A. So, obeying his General Thelma's orders, he did and we settled down to living.

Lots of your readers have hunted alligators, but Harold courted me by telling of going into their holes, calling them and hauling them out, wrestling them, then placing it on his bent knee and cutting the backbone cord so as not to ruin the hide.

Once, when we visited the zoo, he called the crocodiles, they opened their sleepy eyes, and started towards us, I left in a hurry.

Your columnist, Bernice Stewart Denny has been our friend for years. We still keep in touch. Hi Bernice.

Mrs. Don Bullion, of Port Arthur, is deep into family records and will make a trip soon to French Canada. She is the daughter of Willa Nunez Nolan, daughter of Cleave and Iris (Vaughan-Richard) Nunez, all of whom came from Cameron Parish.

My best regards to all who read this and God Bless.

MUSING...

Grandmother was blessing

By Bernice Stewart Denny

There are people whose very lives are a blessing to others. My grandmother, Susan McCall Stine was one of these.

She always seemed to say the right words--gentle, encouraging words--at the right time. But it was not her speech so much as her daily living, her caring, her sharing that endeared family and friends to her.

She had a talent for cushioning others against their disappointments and sorrows. The magic of her presence dispersed the needless worries of her associates. Anxiety she could understand and could help others cope with theirs. Her solution was to go to God and seek directed action for handling the problem.

She rarely turned down a request for her assistance. No night was too dark nor day too stormy to keep her from going to the bedside of one desperately ill.

Without recompense she served for family and friends on her old treadle machine until her health failed. I have seen her making shrouds or "winding sheets", plain cambric for the deceased gentleman or lace-trimmed for a lady or child. These were used in a casket to enfold the departed.

"It is the least and the last thing that I can do for a friend or acquaintance and for their families," she would muse. "I only wish that I might make the bereaved realize that God's love enfolds them in a like manner."

In a way Grandmother Susie reminded me of St. Francis of Assissi in personality. He, too, moved quietly and unpretentiously among people--serving, loving, sharing.

The story goes that one day he invited a young monk to go with him into a village to preach. But, instead of talking, he helped a poor woman across the street, patted a dog on the head, spoke to a native of the beauty of his plants.

As they departed, the young monk asked why he had not preached.

"Why, son," replied Francis, "we did so. We went about loving people, animals, and plants. That in itself was a sermon."

Grandmother Susie's whole life was a beautiful sermon eloquently expressed in many deeds, few words.

'Do not harm my children'

Audrey mass set Monday

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Sunday, June 27 marks the 25th anniversary of one of the most devastating storms to ever hit Cameron Parish.

On June 27, 1957, Hurricane Audrey came roaring in to the Cameron parish coastline, packing record winds and water causing millions of dollars worth of damage and taking 526 lives.

Among the memorial services to commemorate those who lost their lives in the hurricane is an outdoor service to be conducted by Bishop Spreyer at the shrine in front of the Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic church in Cameron Monday, June 28 at 7 p.m.

This shrine was constructed after Hurricane Audrey and shows a woman with her arms around a child with the inscription "Do Not Harm My Children."

It was purchased with donations from Cameron citizens from an idea by the late Bishop Maurice Schexneider, and made in Italy.

During the dedication ceremonies it was pointed out that this would always serve to remind the parishioners of the deadly storm.

Msgr. Curtis Vidrine, pastor of Our Lady Star of the Sea church, explains that the outdoor mass is being offered for all the victims and their families, Catholic and non Catholic, and that members of all denominations are welcome to attend.

Singers to be at churches Sat. & Sun.

The Oral Roberts Singers will be in Cameron putting on programs at two local churches.

On Saturday night, June 26, they will be presenting a program at the Wakefield Memorial Methodist church at 7 p.m. and on Sunday night, June 27, they will present a program at the Grand Chenier Methodist church at 7 p.m.

This is the second year the local churches have hosted the singers.

There is no admission charge and everyone is welcome to attend.

Parish 2nd graders beat state average

Cameron parish second graders scored slightly higher on the state basic skills tests given this school term than did second graders throughout the state.

According to a report furnished the Cameron parish school board at its monthly meeting, 93 percent of Cameron parish's regular education second graders passed the language arts test as compared to 92 percent statewide.

On the mathematics test 98 percent of Cameron's students passed the test as compared to 95 percent for the state.

A total of 167 regular education second graders took the test in the parish.

Special education second graders taking the test in the parish, however, did poorer than the state average with only 25 percent of Cameron's students passing the language arts test as compared to the state average of 61 percent and 50 percent of the parish students passing the mathematics test as compared to 74 percent for the state.

There were only eight second graders in the special education section in Cameron parish.

Saturday mass is changed

Msgr. Curtis S. Vidrine, pastor of Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic church, wishes to announce that beginning on June 26 the Saturday anticipated mass will be at 6 p.m. instead of the present hour of 4 p.m.

Last 'money' shrimp caught

Three Cameron Parish men caught shrimp that were the last of their kind.

Finding a shrimp in the nets worth $50 has been rare these past five years, but it has been possible. No more-- Preston Hebert of Cameron of the "Capt. Brady Joseph" and Vallian January, Cameron of the "Hat IV" out of Cameron and Homer Glosup, Grand Chenier of the "Capt. Bob" out of Grand Chenier just helped catch the last ones.

The final batch of "prize" shrimp that scientists have been tagging and releasing off Louisiana for the past five years have now all been found. The last eight were acknowledged June 21 in the cash awards from Louisiana State University that were presented to five Texas shrimpers and three Louisianians who recovered the coveted animals.

In Port Arthur, National Marine Fisheries Service agent Madeline Bailey presented Harry Verdin of Port Arthur with the $500 first place check. NMFS agent Mary Magee of Aransas Pass presented Willie James of Corpus Christi with the $100 second prize.

Other Texas shrimpers receiving $50 awards were Denise Gonzales of the "Dengay" out of Port Isabel, Charles George of the "Janice" of Port Isabel, and Robert Martinez of the "Tomera Pearl" out of Brownsville.

The Louisiana winners were presented their checks by Marine Advisory agent Paul Corell of Cameron.

The awards marked the end of a five-year period of data of gathering on Gulf shrimp crops. Scientists at National Marine Fisheries Service in Galveston will now spend another several years piecing the information together. When finished, they expect to have a comprehensive picture of the white, brown, and pink shrimp industries, as well as the factors that contribute to good and bad harvest years. The bottom line of the research is improved harvests.

According to Dr. Edward Klima of NMFS's Galveston Laboratory, director of the project, "Until we began this program we had little idea of the shrimp's life cycle and what helped or harmed its growth. Yet the shrimp is the Gulf's number one crop and harvesting competition is increasing. We simply had to have a better picture of the resource because of its value."

A tagging program was developed that would give experts such information as how fast the three commercially valuable species grow, what environmental factors--such as temperature and salinity--affect their growth, and where the juveniles go when they leave the estuaries of Louisiana, Texas and Mexico.

The study began in Louisiana in 1977, moved into Texas and Mexico in 1978, and finally spread east of the Mississippi River into offshore Mississippi in 1980.

Dr. Klima said the most important phase of the study was the one science could not control. "We simply could not retrieve the coded shrimp in enough numbers for significance. For that task, we had to depend on the shrimping industry, and we found it a good working partner."

To encourage returns, incentive programs were set up for the three coastal areas where the juvenile shrimp

Mrs. Griffith goes to press meeting

Geneva Griffith, a photojournalist for the Cameron Pilot and Lake Charles American Press, attended the National Press convention at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim, California last week.

One of the highlights of the convention was the presentation of a special NFPW President's award to Mrs. Sarah McClendon by D. J. Kline, president of the NFPW.

Nationally known for her television encounters with nine presidents and one of the Capitol's most aggressive correspondents at press conferences, Washington correspondent McClendon was also a major speaker at the convention.

In her 38 years as a newspaper, radio and television journalist, Mrs. McClendon has often come up with questions that heads of state would have preferred never to hear, and never to answer, particularly in front of a nationwide audience.

Two of her most notable questions were posed to Kennedy on security risks, and Nixon on neglected veterans.

The pre-convention tour started in San Francisco at the historic Sheraton-Palace hotel, a tour of the Napa valley and wine - tasting luncheon at the Robert Mondavi Winery and a seminar on food and writing; a tour of Dashell Hammit's haunts and a reception aboard a ferryboat at the Embarcadero.

The group then followed the legendary Camino Real (Highway 101) by motorcoach down the coast to Los Angeles and Anaheim, along the Pacific ocean, stopping along the way to visit famous landmarks, including Hearst Castle, Winchester House, Santa Barbara Mission, the Danish village of Solvang, Carmel and Monterey, and an overnight stay in the famous Modanna Inn in San Louis Obispo.

Tours of Universal Studio, Grauman's Chinese Theatre, The Queen Mary, Farmers Market, Rodeo Drive, a special fashion show by California's leading designers, and Robert "Rossi" Waldon as one of the convention speakers were some of the highlights of the convention.

McCalls were first settlers

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

Milledge William McCall and his wife Sarah Bray Martin McCall probably felt somewhat like Robinson Crusoe in 1831 as they surveyed the island of Grand Chenier, finding no roof for cover, having few tools, and a food supply amounting only to what they had been able to bring along on the flatboat.

There were some differences however. They had five young daughters to look after, and were able to share their concerns with two other families, the Sweeneys and the McDonalds who had joined the party on the way.

They also had some help equal to Crusoe's "Friday" in the form of some slaves, either acquired by McCall or inherited from his father Jessie McCall's estate, who had died 10 years earlier, in 1821.

McCall homesteaded a large portion of the lower end of Grand Chenier, and perhaps acquired other acreage.

With his wife, five daughters and seven sons, the latter who were born after the family arrived on Grand Chenier, McCall had much of "The Chenier" as a kind of McCall preserve.

But the big McCall family proved to be too much for the land available, and before the century was out, many of the McCalls were on the move again.

The members of this McCall branch had been moving every couple of generations since immigrants Francis and James left Scotland and then Ireland for colonial America around 1730.

While economic need was undoubtedly the motivation for these movements, it was sometimes said that the McCalls had developed a yen for "moving on", for seeking new homes in distant places.

The migrating McCalls left Edinburgh, Scotland because of religious beliefs, coming to America with French Hugenots and landed in New Jersey.

They moved into Virginia, then North Carolina, then on to Georgia.

Milledge McCall, who was to become the first permanent settler of Grand Chenier, was a medical doctor, he or his father Jessie having read medicine in Edinburg, Scotland.

His wife was the niece of Governor Vance of North Carolina.

The family came down the Mississippi River to New Orleans on a flatboat poled by slaves.

From New Orleans they came by water through the Gulf of Mexico and landed at Abbeville, where they settled. All five girls had been born before they left New Orleans and the seven sons were all born after they reached Grand Chenier.

The first home they built at Grand Chenier was held together with wooden pegs. Fear of hurricanes prompted the building of another home about 1900, since the first home was aging and might not withstand the force of the winds.

However, it was most difficult to tear down the first house when the new house was finished.

This second home was sold to Sidney W. Sweeney about 1930, who in turn sold it to people from Avery Island to be used as a hunting lodge, and it burned in the late 1930's.

In his practice of medicine McCall traveled widely over the nearby areas of marshes, swamps and islands. After the slaves were freed in 1865 many of them remained on the plantation at their jobs with the family.

The McCall daughters were married almost as soon as eligible: Mary Elizabeth to William Doxey; Eliza Ann to

McCalls

Albert Stafford; Margaret William to John Armstrong; Hester Milledge to Andrew J. Kearney; and Martha D. to the second John Weatherill on the Island.

Most of the McCall men found wives: William Harrison was married to Harriet Sweeney; John Martin to Hattie Gordon; Albert Henry to Frances Calhoun; James Bray to Laura Durr; Jessie Dennis to Mary Jane Spinks.

Milledge Bird was unmarried and Thomas died very young.

Only two lived beyond the age of 33. John Martin survived two wounds at the Vicksburg seige during the Civil War, and Jesse Dennis was too young to go to war and they survived into old age.

Milledge lived to be 77 years old, dying Aug. 20, 1880; and his wife Sarah to be nearly 94, dying Dec. 16, 1902. Both are buried in the McCall cemetery.

After the Civil War there was a gradual, hard won recovery of Grand Chenier spirit and economy. Cotton, the lone money crop was in demand.

But any assumption that the Grand Chenier McCalls would hold together and grow, along with allied families, as one large identifiable community, was wrong.

There was not enough good farm land to be had for all the children, much less the scores of arriving grandchildren.

To a great extent, the tribe once more began to "move on", about two generations after Milledge and his friends arrived.

Portions of connected families also took off, the Staffords, the Dolands, the Wetherills, the Doxeys, and from nearby Oak Grove, the Welchs, Rutherfords, Stewarts, etc.

However, there are still some descendants of these early families who remain on the land.

For the past 11 years the descendants of these first permanent settlers of Grand Chenier have been gathering from all over the country to honor the McCall family name and to renew old ties.

The 12th annual reunion will be held Saturday, June 26 at the Grand Chenier Recreation Center, starting at 10 a.m.

Each family will bring a covered dish for the always bountiful nbon meal and once again will give thanks that they have preserved the memory of their hearty and brave forbearers.

were being released. The first program was initiated through Louisiana State University in 1977, followed by a second at Texas A & M and a third through the Mexican government in 1978.

Each incentive program had sets of awards that were presented at roughly bimonthly intervals. Each set had a $500 award, a $100 award, and six $50 awards. Winning numbers for the drawings were randomly selected by computer.

Klima said all the shrimp turned in were winners--whether or not they sported the coded prize number--as far as scientists were concerned.

"Each animal has its own record," he said. "We recorded the size of the animal when it was captured and tagged, and when and where it was released. The tags were tiny plastic ribbons with numbers that tied the animal to the recorded information. Each animal turned in thus became a vital segment in the picture we're trying to develop of Gulf shrimp crops."

Klima said that some 696,000 shrimp were tagged during the five-year research program and some 43,000 were recovered and turned in by the shrimpers.

LOUISIANA'S ELECTRIC CO-OPS.

THE PEOPLE WHO LIT UP THE COUNTRYSIDE.

Did you know that not too many years ago, over 98 percent of the people in rural Louisiana were still living in the Dark Ages. That's because rural Louisiana didn't have electricity! And had it not been for the vision, dedication and hard work of rural leaders, most of Louisiana's countryside would still be in the dark today.

In the late 1930s, the people of rural Louisiana banded together and formed the state's first Rural Electric Cooperatives. With funds borrowed from the Rural Electrification Administration (REA), 13 Electric Co-ops were established to distribute electricity to the far corners of our beautiful state. At that time, less than 2 percent of rural Louisiana had electricity. Today, everyone who wants electric service can have it because of the Co-ops.

The Co-ops own and operate over half of the total miles of power lines in the state and serve one million people. It was the Co-ops who foresaw the critical energy problems years ago and built Louisiana's first coal-fired power plants . . . a step that will ultimately lead to stabilized electric costs for Louisiana's rural homes, farms, and businesses.

Rural Louisiana is a beautiful place to live, work, and bring up future generations. It's also a place where electric power is readily available because the people of rural Louisiana brought it to themselves through the Rural Electric Co-ops . . . the people who lit up the countryside 40 years ago, and who will keep the lights on for decades to come.

Well, we did get a little rain this week which was needed. With the heavy rains in the Vermilion Parish area, water coming down the Intra-coastal Canal has raised the water level in the Big Burn a little which also helps.

BIG BURN

Rudy's Fishermans Stop reports bass fishing was a little slow this past week in the Burn and really not that many boats going out, but he did get reports that fishing the trails early morning and the deeper canals later has produced some fair catches of bass. Joe (Poochie) Broussard, his wife, Pat, and son, Mike, along with Bryon and Kathy Broussard limited out this week on some nice bass using purple and firetail worms.

LACASSINE REFUGE
GARY'S LANDING;
LOWERY

There's bass being caught inside the impoundment using the Marsh King indigo red metal flake worms. I talked with fishermen on one boat that had 26 bass with the largest tipping the scales at 4-12.

TOLEDO BEND

If you find the bream beds, there's some nice ones. One angler from Lafayette landed one bream going two pounds seven ounces, only one ounce shy of the state record.

OFFSHORE
LARRY'S SEAFOOD DOCKS

Offshore fishing has been good but water has been choppy causing some of the smaller boats to fish the cuts and inland. Some nice red-fish and spec are being taken so it's not a lost trip. The Old River in Cameron is really producing some reds and some real nice speckled trout. Eddie Conner and his wife have been doing real good, and we've had some anglers stop at Rudy's Sunday that had some specs going 5 and 6 pounds and reds going 4 and 5 pounds. Those braving the rough seas are catching a few red snappers and Spanish Mackerals. We also had a report of a silverking tarpon caught off of Rockefeller Refuge about 15 to 20 miles out. It weighed close to 150 pounds.

If you're fishing the shallow fresh waters this weekend, early morning and late afternoon fishing is still the best. Saturday morning the major feeding is 4:30 a.m. and Saturday afternoon at 4:45 p.m. Sunday morning the major period is at 5:15 a.m. and the afternoon time is 5:40 p.m.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB

Sunday will be the club tournament, so members, don't forget. It's a pick your own partner.

285 pound blue marlin caught

Fishing is good

Members of the Cajun Saltwater Anglers club, sponsors of the annual July 4th Cameron Parish Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, went out this past weekend to test the waters in the Gulf of Mexico.

Dr. and Mrs. Greg Savoy, Pat and Mike Savoy, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jeansonne, and Dr. and Mrs. Palmer Texada came in with a boat load of fish, among which was a 285 pound blue marlin.

Dr. Savoy says that the fishing outlook for the upcoming rodeo is very good and the club is expecting a good turnout.

Council has picnic

On Friday, June 18, the Cameron Council on Aging had a picnic at the Grand Chenier Park.

Sandwiches and cookies were brought down from Lake Charles. Some of the elderly people brought cookies, cake, pickles, chips and fried chicken.

We had a good time during lunch and afterwards we had a watermelon.

Mrs. Blanche Authement was presented with the plaque for Senior Citizens of the month for May. She also received a gift certificate, fruit basket, and a pen and memo pad.

The following people went on the picnic: Ruby Nettles, John Nettles, Hazel Nunez, Blanche Authement, Vic Daigle, Bud LeBoeuf, Vetar January, Elda Conner and Mary Bargeman.

Hamburger was originally "Hamburg steak" and took its name from the city of Hamburg, Germany.

Five 4-Hers qualify in rifle shooting

Five Hackberry Jr. 4-H members qualified for state competition at Camp Grant Walker at Pollock. Qualifying in rifle target shooting were Clint Hewitt, Hokey East and Oran Strahan. In archery targets were Lancy Buford and Tim Constance.

These members will return in September to Camp Grant Walker for state competition.

J. B. players go to camp

The resident camp portion of Bobby Paschal's annual USL Basketball Camp kicked off its one-week session Monday with more than 140 high school and junior high boys taking part in Lafayette.

Paschal, head basketball coach at USL and camp director, said that the camp will run through Friday and features athletes from throughout the area and from age 12 through the 12th grade.

Youths from Cameron parish taking part in the camp this week include: Rodney Badon, Shane Blanchard, Pat Boudreaux, Bobby Constance, George Constance, Joe Constance, John Constance, Wallace Erbelding, Billy Storm, Clayton Jinks, Eric Jinks, Darin Miller, and James Miller, all of Johnson Bayou.

Grand Lake troop goes to camp

Grand Lake Boy Scouts from Troop 160 attended scout summer camp at Camp Edgewood. Frontier '82 was a one week camping experience for 16 boys.

The boys earned skill awards in citizenship, hiking, first aid, camping, cooking, swimming and communication and merit badges in canoing, lifesaving, nature, environmental science, swimming, first aid, basketry and athletics. There was a total of 97 skill awards and merit badges taken with a completion of 84 awards.

The troop also earned the Pioneer Troop Award which is earned by accumulating points on campsite inspection, camp good turn, advancement, camp cook-out, patrol orginazation and scout spirit.

Two scouts, Kerry Benoit and Billy Joe Albarado, were also accepted in the Order of the Arrow by a vote from fellow scouts in the troop.

Boys attending Frontier '82 were Brett Schultz, Kerry Benoit, Billy Joe Albarado, Mike Daigle, Scott Hebert, David Smith, Troy Thomas, Jason Nunez, Kevin Benoit, Kevin Breaux, Erik Morgan, Shawn Moore, Allen Granger, Nolan Picard, Andrew Picard and Jude Touchet from Troop 114 from Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou. Adult leaders attending were J.R. Breaux, asst. scoutmaster and Patrick Hebert, scoutmaster.

Information on shrimping season

By Jesse Knowles, Chairman
La. Wildlife & Fisheries Comm.

This is the time of the year when shrimp fishermen start asking if a closing date has been set for the brown shrimp season. They want to know how the season is going. Sport trawlers, now looking forward to the Fourth of July holidays, want to know if they'll be able to trawl.

The closing date for the spring season has not been set, and since the season established by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission called for a minimum 50-day season unless biological data indicated it must close earlier, it has a while to go.

Sport trawlers can count on the season running through July 6 at minimum, and there's a better than even chance it will run a little longer since the white shrimp haven't started showing up in catches being made at this time.

As for the catch being made this season, shrimp landings for the first four months, January through April, in the Gulf states were 13.1 million pounds (headless). That's down approximately a half million pounds from a year ago.

Florida, as usual for this time of the year, led all the states with 5.3 million pounds.

You've got to remember that these figures now available do not include any of the spring brown crop because that season opened in May.

It's much too early in the game to even guess at production, but I can tell you that prices have been good since the season opened and demand has been good. That adds up to money being made. And, there are some shrimp fishermen who will tell you it's better to make a lot of money off a fixed amount of shrimp than to have bumper poundage and low prices.

The Texas closure began 30 minutes after sunset on May 25 and will continue to 30 minutes after sunset on July 14. This year will determine how well that closure works. The purported purpose of the plan is to protect brown shrimp during their major period of migration from the bays to the gulf and allow them to reach a larger, more valuable size.

The folks in Texas are strong for the closure because they estimate that last year's closure resulted in increased landings of 12 million pounds, and an increase in value of 23 million dollars.

You've got to remember that last year was the all-time record year so this year's closure will be the real test. Everyone caught more shrimp last year. It will be interesting to see if Texas shrimpers are so enthusiastic about the closure after the final figures are in for this year.

At the New Orleans meeting during which the seasons were set, a spokesman for the canners and processors association testified that his people wanted an early season and relatively small shrimp. They got what they wanted and that's why the prices probably held up well during those early weeks of the season.

Imports of shrimp and shrimp products were down during the first three months of the year, compared to last year. Since imports have been a major complaint of Louisiana shrimpers, that decline can be considered a good sign.

It's my guess that the brown shrimp season will last until at least the middle of July. The fall season, always opening on the third Monday in August, was established by the Louisiana legislature. It's August 16.

The way I see it, we'll have a closed season for about a month, and there will be a breather to let us sit back and evaluate the first half of the year. With prices holding fairly well, the fact that the season is not going to be another record one might be comforting to some commercial fishermen, still smarting from economic burns.

26th Year--No. 34 July 1, 1982 Cameron, La.

Cameron no longer least populated

For probably the first time since it became a parish, Cameron is no longer the smallest parish in Louisiana in population--Tensas parish now has that distinction.

According to preliminary population estimates for Louisiana parishes as presented by the Research Division of the Louisiana Tech University, Cameron parish has a population of 9,517 persons as compared to Tensas' 8,412 population.

And Cameron could pass up St. Helena, 9,774; Red River, 10,840; and Caldwell, 10858 in a year or two.

Although Cameron parish has had a modest growth in the last few years, primarily due to increased job opportunities brought here by the oil and gas industries, other Louisiana parishes particularly those like Tensas in North Louisiana, have had little growth or have lost population due to residents moving from the farms.

The Tech figures were prepared for the State Treasurer's office to be used in the allocation of state funds for the 1982-83 fiscal year.

Slide show tells story of program

A color slide presentation showing how a study of Cameron parish geography, history and science is being incorporated into social studies and science classes of Cameron parish schools was shown to the Cameron parish school board at its recent meeting.

Susan L. Harrison, Title IV-C Project Implementor with the school board, showed the board a series of slides taken throughout the parish showing such local industries as fishing, oil and gas, cattle raising, alligator hide taking, etc.

She said that the Customized Competency Based Curriculum being used in social studies and science classes for kindergarten through the 12th grade was made possible for the parish by a government grant.

The social studies curriculum K-12, was developed in the summer of 1980 and piloted in the 1980-81 school year and is now being implemented in all parish schools.

The science curriculum, 1-9, was developed in the summer of 1981 and was directly implemented in all parish schools.

Miss Harrison said the program increases student awareness concerning the relationship of history, culture, topology, biology and ecology of Cameron parish to other parts of the world.

Miss Harrison said the slide presentation on the program is available to show to community and civic groups.

Proposed channel work told here

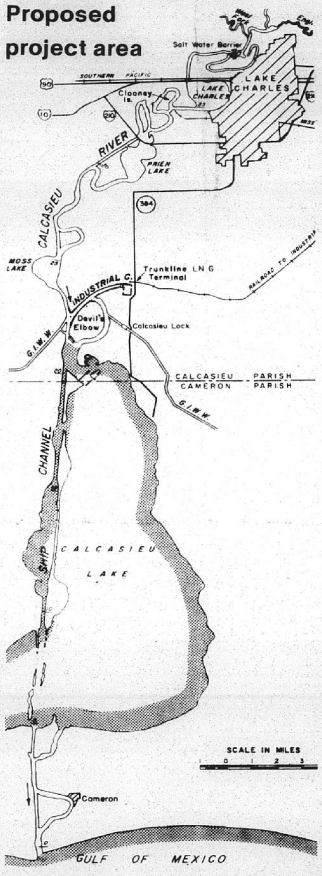
The Corps of Engineers is initiating a navigation study in Southwest Louisiana and requests information from anyone who would like to comment on the feasibility of providing navigation improvements on the Calcasieu River below Lake Charles.

The area covered by this study lies in Calcasieu and Cameron Parishes and extends generally along the Calcasieu River and Pass from the saltwater barrier north of Lake Charles to deeper water in the Gulf of Mexico. The Lake Charles Ship Channel study is being conducted as an interim study; that is, as one part of the Mermentau, Vermilion, and Calcasieu Rivers and Bayou Teche, Louisiana, study.

During the study the Corps will examine problems and needs of deep-draft navigation on the Calcasieu River and Pass. Plans which provide solutions to these problems will be developed and then evaluated for their feasibility. Problems identified so far have yielded the following proposals:

1. Easing of restrictive bendways in order to provide for freer passage of ships;

2. Provision of a passing lane and holding area to facilitate the safe movement of liquefied natural gas (LNG) carriers; and



3. Enlarging of the existing 40-foot channel in the Calcasieu River from the Port of Lake Charles to the Gulf of Mexico.

The easing of bendways would make it easier for ships to maneuver on the river, and is intended to reduce the congestion which is presently found in some reaches.

The purpose of the passing lane and holding area would be to provide for the safe passage of the LNG vessels which will be traveling the section of the Calcasieu River between the gulf and the Industrial Canal at Devil's Elbow. This will prevent the necessity of prohibiting other traffic on that reach of the river whenever an LNG carrier is in transit.

The proposed enlarged channel in the river would permit vessels which cannot now be filled to capacity due to depth restrictions to be fully loaded, thus reducing shipping costs. The enlargement will also reduce the one - way traffic situations which now arise when large oil tankers are in transit on the river.

The study will be conducted in two distinct stages. The first of these will involve general investigations intended to identify additional deep-draft navigation problems and opportunities in the study area.

During this stage, various alternative plans addressing the identified problems will be developed and evaluated. The purpose of this initial evaluation is to determine whether more detailed studies are warranted.

If additional studies are found to be justified, they will be conducted in a second stage. In this stage, results from the initial evaluation will be refined, the proposed project's economic and environmental feasibility will

Nature trail most popular attraction

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Creole Nature Trail which runs through Cameron parish is said to be the main tourist attraction in this part of Louisiana, according to the Louisiana Tourist Bureau.

One of the attractions along the way is the sign on the Trosclair Ice Company Building on La. 27-82 in downtown Cameron.

Proclaiming the town's claim to fame and of the pride that the citizens have in their community, Roland (T-Bolo; Phillip, and Adenise Trosclair, the company owners, commissioned an artist to paint the sign with the original verse so everyone coming into the town, and looking toward the Calcasieu river, can see it.

It has just been given a fresh coat of paint, in time for the summertime visitors who visit Cameron parish from all over the United States.

The sign reads:

"Welcome to Cameron; Don't blink twice or you'll miss the time of your life.

"A list of great things to see in Cameron: No pollution, No traffic lights; No big city life; No city police; No trains (just boats).

"We do have:

"Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival.

Southwest La. Deep Sea and Inland Fishing rodeo.

"Nation's leading shrimp producer.

"South's largest shrimp cannery.

"Oil capitol of Louisiana.

"Fish, ducks, alligators, muskrats, nutria, birds, shrimp and deer.

"2,500 public spirited citizens.

"Population 1,500, Elevation 4 feet."

Cameron Outdoors

By Loston McEvers

Speckle trout are still on in Cameron and the cut running offshore. Crabbing on Rutherford Beach and Rockefeller Price Lake area are still good.

Not many other reports as the Big Burn is getting low on water and the weather conditions are still favorable for early morning and late afternoon fishing. Heavy thunderstorms and rains have slowed fishing down, but the water was needed.

Here's a friendly reminder that when you read this, if you haven't gotten a new fishing license, it's expired as of June 30.

Joe, Pat and Mike Broussard had two nice days of fishing this week. One day in Cameron with 12 red fish all over four pounds, turning at least 20 rat reds loose and also picking up seven specs. Thursday fishing the Big Burn, they caught 22 bass but only kept 2 pounds or better and that numbered to 8 nice bass.

Poem about a little batter

JUST A LITTLE BOY

He stands at the plate with heart pounding fast
The bases are loaded, the die has been cast.
Mom and Dad cannot help him, he stands alone
A hit at this moment would send his team home.

The ball meets the plate, he swings and he misses
There's a groan from the crowd with some boos and some hisses
A thoughtless voice cries "Strike out the bum",
Tears filled his eyes, the game's no longer fun.

So open your heart and give him a break,
For its moments like this a man you can make.
Keep this in mind when you hear someone forgot
He's just a little boy and not a man yet.

SHAWN MC GRADY, 11, of Cameron is shown with the 51 lb. ling (cobia) that he caught in the Gulf off Cameron while fishing on the Miss Angela Dee on May 31. The fish was 48 inches long.

CONSERVATION THOUGHTS

How seasons are set

By Jesse Knowles, Chairman, La. Wildlife & Fisheries Commission

Possibly the most important item on the agenda for the regular monthly public meeting of the wildlife commission in New Orleans June 29 was final rule - making on regulations for the 1982-1983 hunting seasons.

The proposed seasons actually had been selected at the April 27 meeting of the commission in Kenner, but a special act of the 1981 legislature established a joint oversight committee in the House and Senate natural resources committees which calls for them to review and possibly change regulations set by the commission.

During and following the series of public hearings on hunting regulations, seasons and bag limits conducted at strategic locations around the state early this year, a number of police juries were pressing for changes in the deer seasons.

It was anticipated by the commission that those police jurors who wanted to eliminate doe seasons entirely and close deer hunting in some parishes would be extremely vocal about their sentiments during the 30-day period provided the oversight committees to review commission action.

Fortunately, legislators making up the oversight committees, in their wisdom, decided against making any changes in the seasons and regulations established by the wildlife commission.

It was best, they reasoned, to go along with the commission and its highly-trained staff of biologists, rather than yield to any outside pressure groups.

As chairman of the commission, I was grateful that no changes were recommended. It would have placed the commission in the position of having to go through the rule - making process a second time and precluded the capability of printing the annual digest of hunting regulations before actual hunting started.

As of this writing, the printer has been instructed to go ahead with the digest and they will be distributed well in advance of the hunting seasons.

Whereas the commission has not taken any formal action on the hunting seasons for migratory birds because it is waiting for federal guidelines and regulations, hunting in Louisiana will begin with the opening of the dove season in the north zone on Saturday, September 4.

That first split of dove shooting in the north zone will be followed by the statewide teal season. Actual dates have not been firmed up yet but the commission always attempts to include two weekends in the nineday teal season.

Squirrel and rabbit hunting will begin Saturday, October 2, with the squirrel season running through January 10. The rabbit season will extend through February 28. The daily bag limit for both species is eight (8), with a possession limit of sixteen (16) after opening day.

The quail season will open November 25 and run through February 28. The daily bag limit is ten (10), with a possession limit of twenty (20) after opening day.

The archery season for deer will open October 1 and extend through January 20.

With few exceptions, the gun season for deer will begin November 6, with the length of the still hunting period varying in some deer areas.

Hunting with or without dogs will begin in most areas on November 26. Deer hunters will have to consult the digest of hunting seasons for particulars. It should be published in about four or five weeks, earlier this year than in previous years.

Hunting deer in the intensive deer management units will begin this year on November 6 and continue throughout the last day of deer hunting in each particular area.

The waterfowl seasons are never set until about the third week in August, when regulations and bag limits under federal frameworks are presented to the commission.

Waterfowlers can be certain of one thing in the west zone. We are bound into an agreement with the federal government to open the season on ducks, geese and coots in the west zone on the first Saturday in November. That will be November 6. The lengths of the splits will be settled later.

Hunting seasons are pretty well locked up now and sportsmen can begin making plans.

Softball tournament held by boosters

The South Cameron High School Band Boosters held their first mens and womens softball tournament in Creole June 18, 19, 20.

A large crowd turned out for the games and to enjoy good food, despite one short but vigorous thundershower Sunday.

Winners in the womens division were:

First place: Cameron Offshore; second, LeBears (Michigan-Wisconsin); third, Cameron Marine.

Winners in the mens division were: First place, Fire Stars (Franklin Supply); second, Brown's Grocery, (Hackberry); third, John's Bar.

The Boosters would like to thank all the merchants for their support and donations.

All proceeds go towards the band trip to Hawaii.

The next project is a food booth in Grand Chenier for the 4th of July Fishing Rodeo.

We would also like to thank the Sheriff's department for their help and support. And a special thanks to Oscar Harmon for running the whole tournament.

Beware overheating

In weather as hot as Texas' can get, it is wise to know the signs of overheating and heat stroke, warns a Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine physician.

Scott Taylor, D.O., clinic director at TCOM's Institute for Human Fitness, advises coming in out of the sun and getting a drink of cool water when you: get cramps in the abdomen or calves; feel flushed; seem disoriented; are nauseated.

When the relative humidity is not high, the body cools most effectively by evaporation. Placing the person in a shaded area and fanning the neck and trunk will usually be sufficient.

When the relative humidity is high, the body cools most effectively by conduction. Cool rags, cool water from a garden hose or ice packs to the head, neck and armpits will help conduct heat out of the body.

"The problem has gone past overheating and is headinto heat stroke when the person becomes extremely disoriented or stops sweating," Dr. Taylor said. "Then it's time for a physician or an ambulance."

DID YOU KNOW?

Making your life easier are a lot of innovative devices that you may not know about. Here are a few of them:

- Making an outside call from your hotel room used to be complicated. Now, in many hotels, you just pick up and dial. That's because of an innovative system called Tel-Charge which allows calls to be billed automatically.
- Both these ingenious systems were developed by the engineers at Conrac Corporation, a publicly-owned company whose primary business is manufacturing products for telecommunications, video and computer-related information markets.

Permits asked for work in the parish

The following firms have applied to the Corps of Engineers for permits for construction work in the Cameron parish area:

McDaniel Welding Service to install a fill and three buildings for welding services on the left descending bank of the East Fork of Calcasieu river about two miles north of the town of Cameron.

Huffco Petroleum Corp to construct a board road, drill site, ring levee, etc. for a proposed well location about 10 miles southwest of Lake Arthur in the Lake Arthur field.

Texaco, Inc. to construct a board road, ring levee, drill site, pipelines, etc. for a proposed well location about 7.9 miles northwest of Holly Beach.

Local youth dies in auto mishap

A 19-year-old Cameron man was killed Saturday after he was involved in a one-vehicle accident on Cameron Parish Road 357 approximately one and a half miles east of La. 27/82, according to State Police Troop D.

The fatality was identified as Bobby J. Breaux. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Cameron Coroner K. H. Hopper.

A passenger in the car, Gene A. Trahan, reportedly lost some fingers in the accident. He was taken to South Cameron Hospital.

Troopers said the wreck occurred at about 4:10 p.m. Breaux was heading east on Parish Road 357 in a pickup truck owned by Trahan. Breaux apparently lost control and left the roadway crossing over a ditch.

The truck then struck a utility pole and severed it after which it went through a barbed wire fence.

Troopers said the vehicle finally came to rest about 50 feet south of the fence.

Breaux's death is the third reported traffic fatality this year in Cameron Parish.

Funeral services were held Monday, June 28, in Miguez Funeral Home Chapel in Lake Arthur.

Burial was in Hanks Cemetery in Morse.

A native of Lake Charles, Mr. Breaux had moved to Cameron from Lake Arthur about six years ago. He was a welder's helper.

Survivors include his father, Clifford Breaux of Cameron; his mother, Marry Ann Breaux of Nacogdoches, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Peggy Sue Myers of Texas, Mrs. Billie Theriot of Cameron and Tammy Breaux of Nacogdoches, and his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Breaux Sr. of lake Arthur.

Permit asked

Amoco Production Co. has applied for a Corps of Engineers permit to dredge to maintain an existing canal and an extension thereto for access to a proposed well location about 9 miles northeast of Grand Chenier near Little Pecan Island.

Attend B. R. rally

Four representatives of the Cameron NAACP Chapter were among the persons from all over the state who attended the Louisiana Voter Registration rally in Baton Rouge on Saturday, June 19.

The rally was held on "Juneteenth", the day on which the slaves in the South learned of President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

Attending from the Cameron chapter were Mrs. Louise Cole, president; Clarence Roye, Charles Cole and James McMillian, Jr.

Democratic club proposed by writer

Dear Editor:

I've been in Cameron for four months and I love it. I love my work at the hospital and would like to get to know the townspeople better. I am a very active person and I enjoy talking to people. I came back to Louisiana from California six years ago.

The Democratic Party has really gone down. The Republicans are taking over. I still can't believe the south has turned Republican. I have been brought up in Mamou. I Spent sixteen years in Calif. and belonged to a very politically active family. From senator to councilman they were true Democrats. I learned a lot about the Democratic Party, what they stand for, but I also learned what Republicans stand for.

No matter what a candidate says when he opens his mouth a Democrat is a Democrat and a Republican is a Republican. No matter how they sound they are always what they are.

There are very few Republicans who change parties. The Democrats have been switching parties a lot in the last few years.

They elected a Republican as President after all the mess we put up with with Nixon. Do you honestly think Reagan is any better?

Then Louisiana elects a Republican Governor. I pray you have learned a lesson. There are a lot more people who are poor or middle class than rich in this world. The Democratic Party was started for the less fortunate people. If you are of that status please think before you vote and if you do not vote, please go to register. That voting privilege is the only thing we have left. Use it wisely.

As I read the paper yesterday I read where the Democratic Party opened it's Comeback Campaign. House speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said "The truth is out that Reaganomics is unfair and that the working poor, the elderly and the crippled have been its first casualties."

I would like to start a Democratic Club here starting with this parish. I formed a club in Calif. (Mendocino County). I was president for five years. I have never lost a candidate in my county because I worked hard. I was a volunteer and so were my members. I cannot do it without your help. If you are interested please let me know by mail or phone. If I don't answer I'll be working, but please don't stop trying. The Democratic Party needs you now.

I will leave for Calif. July 2 and will be back July 16. If you can't get me call Mrs. Elsie Roberts at 775-7180 or Mrs. Brenda Boudreaux at 542-4182. My address is: P.O. Box 65, Creole, La. 70632. My phone number is 542-4844.

Thank you,
Geri Petersen

Two men who were sentenced to 10 days each in jail Wednesday in 38th Judicial District Court after guilty pleas to driving under suspension were: Russell J. Miller, 22, Eunice, and Joseph C. Thibodeaux, 44, P.O. Box 423, Hackberry.

Fred Trent Gleason, 31, P.O. Box 721, Cameron, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was fined $350 and costs or one month in jail.

Judge H. Ward Fontenot presided on the bench.

Fines told

$5,995.80 was collected through 38th Judicial District traffic court during the week of June 21-25 on 102 tickets, according to Jerry G. Jones, Cameron Parish District Attorney.

Waterway to be dredged

The Corps of Engineers plans to perform maintenance dredging on the Gulf Coast Intracoastal Waterway between Apalachee Bay, Fla. and the Mexican border. In the process some marsh areas will be created by the disposal of the spoil along the route of the canal.

Maps showing the proposed marsh creation sites may be obtained from the Corps and anyone who wishes may request, in writing, a public hearing to be held to consider the activity.

The canal crosses the northern part of Cameron parish.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Family tradition has it that Francis Cross ran away to New Orleans and joined Jean Lafitte and his pirates". Home had been in Penn. where his Irish father first settled.

Francis married Harriett McCann sometime before 1823 in either New Orleans or South Mississippi, her father having come to the area from South Carolina.

John Hand made his way to the Gulf States also from S. Car. where he was born c1794. John's parents may have been Rev. Henry Hand, Revolutionary War veteran, and Elizabeth Harrison, both from Virginia.

Descendants of these Cross and Hand lines are to be found now in many parts of the Gulf States and beyond.

CROSS, HAND FAMILIES

My Cross and Hand Families by Jeanne Hand Henry, a Certified Genealogist, presents her documented research on these and nine other major family lines: Beeham, Hamrick, Johnson, Page, Poole, Vance, Wells, Williamson and Woodward.

With information from archives, publications, personal statements, vital statistics and military, courthouse, Bible and census records, the author uses a separate chapter for telling the story of each family line.

Beginning with the earliest known progenitor and continuing through her main line of descent, Mrs. Henry has organized a great deal of material into a valuable reference for researchers of families with the same surnames and migration patterns.

Softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 298 pages, indexed, $20.00, this volume available from: Southern Genealogical Services, 5913 Maysville Road, New Market, Alabama 35761.

CAROLINA ANCESTORS

Index of North Carolina Ancestors, published late in 1981, is intended to promote the exchange of information among researchers of families with North Carolina connections.

Consisting of three parts and a supplement, the first section and main body is an Ancestor Index listing surnames alphabetically with variant spellings; dates and state or country of birth, marriage and death; coded reference to counties and where lived, spouse's name (often more than one) and a code reference to the researcher who furnished the information.

Section two is a Spouse Index, each name with a reference back to the Ancestor Index. Section three is the Contributor Index, listing first all contributors alphabetically with their code number and then giving complete address of each. Section four is the Supplement listing counties, date formed, their parent and descendant counties, plus county map.

This index volume is computer prepared from entries submitted by over 1000 contributors; it contains more than 10,000 N. Car. ancestors and spouses.

Softcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 378 pages, $18.75 incl. mailing, available from: Reprint Co., Publishers, P.O. Box 5401, Spartanburg, S. Car. 29304.

Spanish moss

By Bernice Steward Denny

Spanish moss, with which we Louisianians are so familiar, is a hoary gray air plant that hangs from the branches of certain trees and sometimes telephone wires.

It is found chiefly in our Gulf States and in tropical America. Another name for air plant is epiphyte. The term includes any plant that grows on another but manufactures its own food by taking the raw material and moisture that it needs from the air. Spanish moss, a true epiphyte, has no underground roots.

Actually, it is not a moss but is composed of many long slender mosslike stems which bear small leaves and tiny yellow flowers with outcurved petals. The stems are sometimes twenty feet long. The plant is related to the pineapple.

Many different names have been given to the graceful plant that sways from our cypress and oaks ... Florida moss ... long moss ... black moss ... simply "mousse" or moss.

The Choctaw Indians called it "iti shumo", literally "tree thistle down", or more poetically, "pash ittula," or "falling hair."

The town of Ponchatoula in Tangipahoa Parish bears its name, as derived from the Choctaw "pashi (hair) and "ittula" (to hang); hence "Hanging Hair," or Spanish moss.

Penicaut, in 1699, wrote of the Pascagoula Indians and their village, saying, "As it was near the end of August, and the weather very warm, all the Indians there were as naked as when born -- that is, the men and boys, but the women and girls had a little moss fastened to their thighs, which covered their nakedness, the rest of their body being entirely naked. The moss is an herb of a long, fine fibre, growing upon the trees."

Penicaut goes on to say that the French along the Gulf Coast called the moss "barbe a' l' Espagnole," (Spanish beard) by way of ridiculing the Spanish. The Spaniards, in retaliation, called it "Perruque a' la Francoise" (French wig).

Dr. William A. Read in his book Louisiana French gives credit to Penicaut's explanation. He states that Du-Pratz, another early writer, incorrectly explained that the Indians called the moss "Barbe Espagnole" because it reminded them of the pointed beards of the early Spanish explorers of Louisiana.

Rice Field Day set for July 15

The annual Rice Field Day is scheduled July 15 at the LSU Rice Experiment Station in Crowley.

According to Station Supt. Macon Faulkner, the day will begin with tours of field research projects at 8:30.

Discussion of soybean irrigation will be led by Dr. James Griffin, red rice research by Dr. John B. Baker, rice disease research by Dr. M. C. Rush, rice breeding by Dr. Kent S. McKenzie, rice insects research by Dr. John F. Robinson, and rice fertilization by Dr. D. Marlin Brandon, Faulkner said.

A panel discussion will convene at 10:30, after the field tour ends. The discussions will include soybean production practices by Dr. Walter C. Morrison, rice diseases by Dr. H. Kenneth Whitam, and soil testing and fertility by Dr. Olen D. Curtis.

Faulkner will preside over a speaking session at 11:15 a.m., with Leonard Hensgens, chairman of the Louisiana Rice Research Board, speaking on activities of that group.

Following Hensgens' remarks, Dr. Doyle Chambers, vice chancellor for research and director of the Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station, will address the group. He will be followed by Richard A. Smith, Administrator, USDA Foreign Agricultural Service in Washington, who will discuss "The Rice Industry and The World Market."

Following the speaking session a barbecue lunch will be served to Field Day participants.

Hurricane season is here--get ready

The hurricane season has begun and the National Weather Service has a checklist of hurricane preparation activities that you should be doing now:

Find out the storm surge history of your area as well as your exact elevation.

Learn the safest routes inland.

Have plans for moving your boat.

Trim back dead wood from trees.

Check and secure loose rain gutters and downspouts on your house.

If you have no shutters to protect windows, stock up on boards to cover all glass exteriors.

When a hurricane watch is in effect, (the storm may threaten within 24 hours) stay tuned to radio, television or NOAA -- the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's all-weather FM frequencies (162.4, 162.475 or 162.44 MHz).

When a Hurricane Warning is issued for the area (i.e. a hurricane is expected to strike within 24 hours) you should do the following:

If you are on sturdy, high ground -- stay home!

Shutter or board up garage and porch doors and windows.

Move valuables to upper floors.

Bring pets indoors.

Fill containers (including bathtub) with several days' supply of drinking water.

Turn the refrigerator to maximum cold and open it only when necessary.

Turn to the NOAA frequency.

Use the phone only for emergencies.

Stay indoors on the downwind side of the house, away from windows.

Beware of the eye of the hurricane -- winds will reverse after the eye passes.

Leave mobile homes.

Leave coastal or other areas which might be affected by storm tides or stream flooding. When you leave:

Depart early, in daylight if possible.

Shut off water and electricity at main stations.

Take your radio, small valuables and papers -- but

Leave food and water for pets if they cannot accompany you (shelters will not take them during these periods).

Lock the house.

Drive carefully to the nearest designated shelter using recommended evacuation routes broadcast on your radio.

Order birth certificates of kids early

"Parents of new students starting to school this fall for the first time--now is the time to write for your child's birth certificate," urged Sarah Braud, M. D., State Health Officer, Office of Health Services and Environmental Quality. (OHSEQ).

"By starting the process now, parents can save themselves time and effort--and possible delay of their child's school registration," she emphasized.

According to Stanley Brown, State Registrar of Vital Records, "Our volume of requests increases tremendously in the summer and early fall. Therefore it could take longer for individuals to receive their certificates.

"Students entering school for the first time cannot register without their birth certificate," Brown stated. "School Board officials throughout the state are consistent on this matter.

"Parents wishing to obtain certificates may do so by writing: Vital Records Section, P.O. Box 60630, New Orleans, La. 70160.

"It is important that the following information be included in the request: Legal name of child (no nicknames), date of birth, city or parish of birth, mother's maiden name, father's name.

"A personal check or money order made out to Vital Records should be enclosed with the request--$2 for the short card or $3 for the long form.

To be married

Mr. and Mrs. Archie S. Hebert Sr. of Lake Charles announce the engagement of their daughter, Collet E. to Chris E. Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Landry Jr. of Creole.

The couple plans a 10:30 a.m. July 17 wedding in Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church, Lake Charles.

All relatives and friends are invited. A reception will follow at Prien Lake Park on Prien Lake Road.

Crystal is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Little and Jeremy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Nunez, all of Grand Chenier.

Monitoring slash opposed

The Cameron Parish Police Jury voted Tuesday to oppose the efforts of the Department of Energy (DOE) to discontinue the monitoring of discharge of salt brine into the Gulf.

Paul Coreil, marine extension agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, told the jury he had attended a meeting of officials of DOE, McNeese University and Texas A & M University at which the first year of the monitoring of the brine discharge was reviewed.

The brine is the melted salt that is being pumped out of salt domes at Hackberry to create caverns for the storage of petroleum under the government's strategic oil storage program. The brine is being brought by pipeline to a point a few miles southwest of Cameron and discharged into the Gulf.

Because of the fears that the brine might harm fishing in the Gulf, McNeese and Texas A & M were hired to monitor the discharge to see if any marine life was being affected.

Coreil said that while no wide spread harmful effects have been found during the year, the monitoring reports were inconclusive since the brine line has been operating only at a part of its capacity on a part time basis. Also, he said, no conclusions could yet be made on the cumulative effect of the brine as the pumping continues.

The marine agent said DOE officials wanted to cut out the monitoring altogether since they said no harmful effects have been found so far, but had agreed to a 60 percent cutback.

Coreil said that McNeese officials opposed the cutback and might pull out of the monitoring altogether if a cutback is made. He said the university felt that it could not do a complete and thorough job unless it was permitted to continue on the same basis as during the past year.

Coreil told the jury that DOE was going back on a commitment that it had made to the jury that it would continuously monitor the discharge to prevent harm to marine life.

He said Rep. Conway LeBleu planned to introduce a resolution in the legislature opposing any cutback on the monitoring.

The jury also passed a resolution opposing any cutback.

Coreil noted that the jury and other interested groups had only until July 19 to file protest on the proposed cutback.

Jury asks bridge included in study

On a amotion by Hackberry Juror Kenneth Ducote, the Cameron parish police jury voted Tuesday to ask the Corps of Engineers to include in its upcoming study of proposed improvements for the Lake Charles ship channel the following items:

*Erosion of channel's banks.

*Salt water intrusion from the channel into Cameron parish marshes.

*The need for a high level bridge over the channel at Cameron.

The Louisiana Department of Transportation some months ago announced plans for the construction of a high level bridge at Cameron but at a hearing conducted by the Corps of Engineers Lake Charles shipping interests opposed the bridge on the grounds that it might harm shipping on the channel.

In other business, the jury amended its garbage and trash ordinance to make it unlawful for anyone to dump trash on lands or waterbottms leased to the jury not designated as a garbage dump.

Mike Pearson Motor Co. of Many submitted the low bid of $18,732 on a dump truck for the parish.

Lake Charles Dock and Towing had the low bid of $8.50 a yard on reef shell for delivery to Grand Lake.

The Cameron Pilot was again named as the official journal for the parish.

John Bailey and R. L. Abshire were awarded a $414,687 contract for road construction in Ward 6 contingent upon the school board accepting its share of the contract for paving work at Hackberry high school.

Juror Ray Conner offered a motion, which was adopted, that the jury write the Corps of Engineers asking that the mouth of the Mermentau river be cleaned out where it runs into the Gulf. He said the mouth has silted up so much that a person can walk across it.

Conner also got the jury to agree to write letters to all firms planning to do construction work in the parish asking them to use as much local labor as possible. He noted that the parish was feeling the effects of the recession and jobs were needed for local people.

The jury agreed to permit Geophysical SErvice to do seismic work in the Gulf between Cameron and Holly Beach with the understanding that it be done quickly so as not to interfer with shrimping.

The Creole Knights of Columbus were given a temporary liquor permit for a barbecue to be held Sunday, July 18 at the KC hall.

A beer permit was approved for Jimmie Billiot for a convenience store at Holly Beach.

Residential building permits were approved for Jessie Alvin Nunez, Grand Lake; and Steven Thomas Taylor, Cameron. A residential improvement was approved for Charlie LaBove, Grand Lake; and mobile home permits were okayed for Arvin Primeaux, Hackbeery and Martin G. Theriot, Jr., Chenier Perdue.

Non - residential permits were approved for Tenneco Oil Co., Johnson Bayou; and for the Cameron elementary school.

Jeff Davis Electric Co-op was given a permit for a powerline to cross parish roads and to serve the Michigan Wisconsin substation.

Union Oil Co. was granted a permit for a bulkhead at Sweetlake.

John Paul Crain was given a permit for a crawfish pond at Johnson Bayou.

Melvin Theriot was reappointed to another term on Waterworks District No. 9.

A right-of-way for a short road was accepted from Victoria Daigle.

The jury voted to discontinue its meetings on the third Tuesday evenings of each month.

Thirteen permits for oil and gas wells and pipelines were approved.

However, requests for two permits from Sam Myers in the South Kings Bayou Area were tabled and a representative of the firm was asked to meet with the jury at its next meeting.

The jury and drainage board both oppose the permits as the firm proposes to cut a canal across Rutherford Beach for access to a well site. The public bodies said this would open the area up for salt water intrusion and suggest that the firm build a board road or do directional drilling to complete the well.

Office closed

The Cameron drivers license office will be closed July 5 through 16, with the exception of Monday, July 12.

Regular office hours will resume July 19.

Parents to meet at G. C.

Mrs. Guthrie announced that there will be an important meeting of parents in the Grand Chenier area who are involved with "ACTION" (Adults Coming Together In Our Neighborhood) on July 14, at 7 p.m. in the Grand Chenier Recreation Center.

Plans will be made regarding the opening of a game room at the recreation center.

The local ACTION group is working in conjunction with the SAPE program (Substance Abuse Prevention Education).

Drugs topic of program

There will be a slide presentation on the harmful effects of narcotics shown at 7:30 p.m. July 12 at the Grand Chenier Recreation Center, sponsored by the Cameron Sheriff's Department.

They will exhibit different drugs. Deputies will be on hand to answer questions.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Top anglers are named at local rodeo

Leonard LeDoux walked off with two titles in the Cameron Parish Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo at Grand Chenier Sunday.

LeDoux won the top male fisherman award along with sharing the best deep sea angler honor.

The top lady angler was Diane Cox. Pierre Daboval was the co-winner with LeDoux for the deep sea honor.

The top fisherman in the bay and surf division was Randy Hbert with Jerry Carter garnering the top angler award in the charter division. Jerry Fontenot was named the outstanding diving club member.

Mass honors Audrey dead in parish

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Because of a full day of rain, the outdoor ceremony originally scheduled in front of the Hurricane Audrey memorial in front of the Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic church, had to be moved inside.

The special Mass held in remembrance of those who lost their lives 25 years ago was held Monday night, June 28, with Bishop Jude Spreyer as the Celebrant, assisted by Msgr. Curtis vidrine as the Con-Celebrant.

The 4th Degree Knights of Columbus formed an honor guard for the Bishop.

In the church built in the form of a ship, surrounded with blue stained glass windows, installed to resemble the waters and waves of the Gulf of Mexico, worshipers gathered to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the hurricane which took 526 lives on June 27, 1957.

Bishop Spreyer praised the courage and faith of the local parishioners to overcome all the odds and rebuild their community after such a disaster.

He stated that the erection of the monument in front of the church is a tribute to the great faith of the parishioners in their church and community.

He also pointed out that adversity strengthens the faith of the believers.

Msgr Vidrine led the worshipers in a special prayer that the local church calls it's own and is a prayer for the hurricane season.

Queen is crowned

Selika Miller, a 16-year-old Oak Grove beauty, was named the 1982 Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Queen last Saturday in Grand Chenier.

Selika is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller and a South Cameron High School student. She was crowned by last year's queen Stephanie Coleman of Bell City.

First runnerup was Stacey Thurman with Paula Compton second runnerup. Both are from Hathaway.

Filing set for elections here

Secretary of State Jim Brown reminded potential candidates in the September 11 primary election in Cameron Parish that qualifying for local candidates opened Tuesday, July 6, and will close Friday, July 9, at 5 p.m.

Candidates for School Board and for constable, Ward Five and Justice of the Peace, Ward Two, will qualify with Cameron Clerk of Court Roland U. Primeaux at the Cameron Parish Courthouse in Cameron, or with the president or secretary of the Cameron Parish Board of Election Supervisors.

Voters in Cameron Parish at the September 11 primary will vote on a candidate for U. S. Representative from the Seventh Congressional District, BESE Board member, also from the Seventh Congressional District, and Judge, Third Circuit Court of Appeal, Second District, Division B.

In local elections, voters will pick school board members from Districts Four and Six, a constable in Ward Five and a justice of the peace in Ward Two.

The general election will be Tuesday, November 2, 1982, Brown added.

Kaplan man arrested in beach incident

Charges were still pending this week against a 26-year-old Kaplan man who was arrested Saturday for injuring a Cameron Parish sheriff's deputy and destroying a patrol car, according to Sheriff James R. "Sono" Savoie.

The suspect, Kenneth LeBlanc, was booked into the Cameron Parish jail for attempted murder, aggravated criminal damage to property, possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia and resisting arrest.

Savoie said the incident occurred Saturday night on Holly Beach.

Deputy Tommy Thompson and Louisiana Wildlife Agent James Nunez were standing between a patrol car and another vehicle when another vehicle came along and struck the sheriff's department unit, Savoie said.

Thompson received minor injuries and was held at a South Cameron hospital overnight and then released. Nunez was reportedly treated and released.

Family gathering

By Bernice Stewart Denny

The McCall family reunion, held June 26 in the Grand Chenier Recreation Center, brought 85 of us together.

This was our twelfth annual reunion held in memory of our mutual ancestors, Dr. Milledge William McCall and his wife, Sarah Bray Martin. They were the first family to settle permanently on Grand Chenier, circa 1838.

Of their five daughters and seven sons, six lines of descent were represented at the reunion. The oldest present of each blood line was as follow s: Mary Elizabeth McCall Doxey, Dorothy Doxey of Lake Charles; Martha Diana McCall Wetherill, Susan Beth Stewart Fox of Iowa; William Harrison McCall, Carl Reuben McCall of Grand Chenier; James Bray McCall, Hazel Grace McCall Hayes of Indian Bayou; Albert Henry McCall, Fannie Lee McCall Ricks of Union, Miss.; Jesse Dennis McCall, Forest Fern Gauthier of Jennings.

Two lines of descent were claimed by Susan Stewart Fox and her sons, Marvin and Troy. Through Mrs. Fox's late father, A. P. Stewart, she traces her lineage back to Martha McCall Wetherill, and through her mother, Bernice Hollister Stewart Denny, to William H. McCall.

Traveling the farthest to attend the reunion were Dr. Beverly Ricks, an instructor at Northeast State University of Monroe, and his mother, Mrs. Fannie M. Ricks of Miss.

Hosting the event were Virgie McCall LeBleu, Sybol McCall and Fae McCall Jones, all of Cameron, and Lynn and Betty McCall and Thomas "Sonny" and Jane McCall, of Grand Chenier.

Grace was said at the luncheon by Bernice Denny.

The day was spent in reminiscing and in exchanging notes of happenings during the past year. And as always, those happenings involved sad events of illnesses and death and joyous events of marriages and births and successes among the descendants of Dr. and Mrs. Milledge William McCall, brave pioneers of a by-gone era.

Oilmen are optimistic

Despite the downturn in drilling activity and oil prices, a survey of nearly 40 oil and gas company executives in the Gulf Coast region indicates a mood of industry optimism in the months ahead.

The study was conducted by Gulf Coast Oil Reporter, which will detail its findings in an eight-story series in its July issue. The magazine, formerly known as the Oil Field Monthly Journal, was renamed after its purchase last month by Hart Publications of Denver, Colorado.

"The common impression is that the oil industry has fallen on hard times -- the rig count is down and money is tight," said Ben Daviss, managing editor of the new magazine. "But underneath that, in the Gulf area there's a real bedrock of optimism about the future."

The factors influencing the belief that recovery is on the way:

Lease costs are lower because fewer companies are bidding for leases.

Drilling costs are down by as much as 30 percent and in some areas footage rates are available instead of just day rates.

Because it's cheaper to drill, some operators find profits are still adequate despite decreases in oil prices and sales.

Well permits have increased and some refineries have upped production, indicating that the "oil glut" is over.

Now that Congress has adopted the 1983 budget, companies are better able to judge how much loan money the financial markets may be able to provide.

Places of Payment. Both principal of and interest on the bonds will be payable at the branch office of Calcasieu-Marine National Bank in Cameron, Louisiana, or at the option of the holder, at the principal office of Cameron State Bank in Cameron, Louisiana.

Payment and Security. The full faith and credit of the District are pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds, and the District is authorized and required to impose and collect annually, in excess of all other taxes, a tax on all the property subject to taxation by the District sufficient in amount to pay the interest and the principal falling due each year on the bonds.

Bidding Details. Each bid must be on the official bid form furnished by the undersigned and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for $663,000 Waterworks Bonds of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana" and must be directed to the undersigned. Bidders shall specify the rate of interest which the bonds of each maturity shall bear, to be expressed in multiples of one-eighth (1/8) or one-twentieth (1/20) of one percent (1%). Bidders are not restricted as to the number of rates that may be named and any rate named may be repeated, but all bonds maturing on the same date must bear interest at the same single rate from their date to such maturity date. No rate named may exceed fifteen per centum (15%) per annum and the difference between the highest and lowest rates named may not exceed two and one-half percent (2 ½%). Only one coupon will be attached to each bond for each installment of interest thereon, and bids providing for additional or supplemental coupons will be rejected. No proposal will be considered for less than all the bonds or at a price less than par or which specifies the cancellation of coupons or the payment of any premium offered in anything other than cash. In addition to the price bid, the successful bidder must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of the full payment of the purchase price. Each bid must be unconditional and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check drawn upon a solvent bank or trust company payable to the order of Fire Protection District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, in the amount of thirteen thousand two hundred sixty dollars ($13,260). Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned promptly after the award of the bonds. The check of the successful bidder will be deposited by the Board of Commissioners, the proceeds of which will be credited to the purchase price on the settlement date or in the event the successful bidder fails to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds, retained by such Board as liquidated damages. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of such good faith check.

Award of the Bonds. Prior to the close of business on the day of opening of sealed proposals, the bonds will be awarded to the responsible bidder or bidders offering to purchase the bonds at such rate or rates of interest as will produce the lowest net interest cost to the District over the life of the bonds, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of interest payable on all of the bonds from their date until their respective maturities. The right is hereby reserved to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

CUSIP Numbers. It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be imprinted on the filing panel of the bonds, but neither the failure to print any such number on any bonds nor any inaccuracy, error or omission with respect thereto shall constitute cause for failure or refusal by the successful bidder to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms of its bid. No such CUSIP identification number shall constitute a part of the contract evidenced by the particular bond upon which it is imprinted and no liability shall attach to the District or any officer or agent thereof, including any paying agent for the bonds, by reason of such numbers or any use made thereof, including any use thereof made by the Police Jury or the District or any officer or agent thereof, or by reason of any inaccuracy, error or omission with respect thereto or in such use. Except for the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of such numbers, which shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid by the successful bidder, all expenses in relation to the printing of such numbers on the bonds will be paid by the District.

Delivery of Bonds; Payment. Delivery of the fully executed bonds will be made at the expense of the District, at the option of the successful bidder at either the office of the Board of Commissioners in Cameron Parish, Louisiana, or at any bank or trust company mutually agreeable to the District and the purchaser in New Orleans, Louisiana, on August 31, 1982, or as soon thereafter as possible. The purchase price then due, including the amount of the accrued interest, must be paid by a certified or cashier's check drawn upon a solvent bank or trust company in Federal Funds payable to the order of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, or to the order of such successful bidder, all expenses in relation to the printing of such numbers on the bonds will be paid by the District.

S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, and the District shall comply with the applicable Treasury Regulations adopted under such Section 103(c) so long as any Bond is outstanding.

Local decision is reversed by court

The Third Circuit Court of Appeal has reversed a decision which had awarded $20,430 to Cameron Parish Waterworks District No. 1 as damages for defective painting of a water tank.

Curtis Lolley, doing business as Hercules Tank and Iron Works, an out-of-state contractor, had been awarded a $15,900 ($4,000 for the interior and $11,500 for the exterior) contract to do the painting.

The district refused to pay, claiming defective work. Lolley sued. The district responded by asking for $30,000 in damages, later amended to $132,500.

In reversing District Judge Ward Fontenot's decision, the three - judge panel awarded Lolley $11,400. The award was completely offset by an award of $11,900 to the district, resulting in a net award of $400 to the district.

The higher court reached Lolley's award by deducting $4,500 from the contract price which he had authorized for third party damages. The district award consisted of $5,900 spent to correct defective work inside the tank and an estimated $6,000 to touch up the outside.

Carol Hopper, R.N., EMT-A instructed the course and pointed out the large number of American stricken with deafness or some form of hearing loss and the neglect of society to accept deafness as a handicap.

Participants were instructed in the basic alphabet and many of the signs which would help hospital, emergency or law enforcement personnel communicate with the deaf person during a crisis.

YOUR ELECTRICITY FUTURE IS LOOKING BRIGHTER.
OUR COAL-FIRED POWER PLANTS ARE THE REASON.

Good electric service is essential to all of us. Having it as cheaply as possible is important to Louisiana's Rural Electric Co-ops and our one million members across the state. That's why we've done something to guarantee that our members will have electricity when it's needed, where it's needed, and at the lowest possible cost.

We've built Louisiana's first coal-fired power plants to meet the growing demands of the people who live in rural Louisiana. Coal was chosen because it is the cheapest fuel source available to us in today's economy.

In the early 1970s, Louisiana's electric industry was nearly 100 percent dependent on natural gas and oil as fuels to produce the electricity you use. These fuels were cheap and abundant . . . or so it seemed. But things changed, and for the worse. Our cheap and abundant oil and gas became expensive and scarce. And they were outlawed by the federal government as boiler fuels in new power plants. So, Louisiana's Rural Electric Co-ops made an historic decision to build Louisiana's first coal-fired power plants and began the crucial first step toward stabilizing power costs.

Today, coal is cheaper than natural gas and fuel oil, abundant in supply, and environmentally safe. Projections show that through the use of coal as a fuel, power costs should begin to stabilize. And when that happens, so should electric bills.

The "coal decision" is part of Louisiana's Rural Electric Co-ops' continuing commitment to provide a stable supply of dependable electric power at the lowest possible cost. Forty years ago, the Co-ops lit up Louisiana's countryside, and coal power will keep the lights on for decades to come.

26th Year-- No. 36 | July 15, 1982 | Cameron, La.

$1 million urged for beach project

The Holly Beach-Peveto Beach project in Cameron Parish is one of six coastal projects that have been recommended to Gov. Dave Treen by the Coastal Protection Task Force to combat coastal erosion.

The Task Force has asked that $7 million be taken from the Coastal Environment Protection Trust Fund for the six pilot programs.

The Holly Beach-Peveto Beach project will complement the Office of Highways placement of T-groins along an eroding stretch of beach and Hwy. 82 between Holly Beach and Peveto Beach.

This will be accomplished by placing sand pumped in from offshore or from spoil disposal areas around the T-groins. The project will cost about $1 million.

The other five pilot projects are Barrie Island stabilization at Isle Dernieres and Cheniere Ronquille; Pass-a-Loutre marsh building; and projection of future coastal conditions. In addition the Task Force recommended state funds be used to match federal funds for the implementation of the Caernarvon Freshwater and completion of the Teche-Vermilion Freshwater Projects.

The Holly Beach-Peveto Beach project would be 100 percent state funded.

Two races set in the parish

The Cameron parish schoolboard Monday accepted bids totaling $165,426.34 for paving drives and parking lots at three schools and the school board office.

The work will be done by John Bailey and R. L. Abshire who submitted a low bid to the police jury last week on road work which also included the work for the school board.

The cost of the school paving projects are: Hackberry high school, $49,785.44; Cameron elementary school, $51,706.02; Johnson Bayou high school, $28,409.66; and the school board office, $35,525.22.

School Board Member Arnold Jones objected taking the funds for the project from the school board's general fund and also pointed out that other schools in the parish should have paving also. After being assured by the superintendent that there were sufficient funds in the parish's special building tax fund for the work, Jones voted with other members to accept the bids.

The Borden Company was awarded a contract to furnish milk to parish schools for the coming year and the Evangeline Company got the bread contract.

The board approved a request from Natural Gas Pipeline Co. to install a pipeline across two school sections for a total right-of-way fee of $44,850.

A list of teachers and principals for the 1982-83 school term was approved. It was reported that four special education teachers, a speech therapist, assessment teacher and social worker are still needed.

The Cameron Pilot was designated as the board's official journal and the Calcasieu Marine and Cameron State banks were named as fiscal agents.

The board agreed to permit a firm to make an energy saving proposal on two schools in the parish.

The board authorized advertising for bids for improvements to the Cameron elementary school grounds.

Two districts get state funds

Gov. Dave Treen has approved funding for two Cameron parish fire protection districts under the Federal Coastal Energy Impact Program. Cameron Parish Fire Protection District No. 7 had its application approved in the amount of $104,794.

The project will consist of construction of a new fire station in Creole to house fire equipment within Fire Protection District No. 7. This district was created for the purpose of furnishing fire protection for the Village of Creole and the southern section of Ward 3 in Cameron Parish.

Fire Protection District No. 2 funding was approved in the amount of $104,794.

This grant will consist of the construction of a five stall Fire Station complete with training room, security office, storage areas, and toilet facilities in Hackberry.

To date, Louisiana has received over $44.5 million in grants and $32.1 million in loans from the CEIP allotments. The CEIP was established under Section 308 of the Coastal Zone Management Act as amended. It provides coastal states and local governments in such states with federal financial assistance to mitigate impacts that result from specified energy development activities.

. . . Outdoors

BY LOSTON MCEVERS

The overcast skies we have had have been a blessing due to the hot days. We've had very few showers and we still need rain as water in the marshes is low and it's just plain dry on the ridges.

I would also like to thank Paul Coreil, marine agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes for all the information he has been giving our area fishermen and politicians on hazardous water and on the brine line situation. (Pipeline carrying brine from Hackberry to the Gulf). The Dept. of Energy wanted to discontinue monitoring the discharge of salt brine into the Gulf and thanks to our Police Jury, and Rep. Conway LeBleu for opposing this important issu

Fishing in our area is not hot, but it's far from being cold. Here's some results:

CAMERON JETTIES

Large numbers of specs and red fish are being caught off the jetties, with David George and a friend from Lake Charles boated 50 mixed with some of the specs going 5 to 7 lbs. Most of the reds were "rat" reds but nice anyhow.

LARRY'S SEAFOOD OFFSHORE FISHING

Offshore fishing has been real good with nice catches of red snappers and Spanish mackerals being taken. One boat reported to Rudy's Fisherman's Stop that they had 175 red snappers with largest going 13 lbs. and 56 Spanish mackerals, but had caught over 200, just not enough room and ice to take them aboard. I would also like to congratulate Ronnie Picou on his nice drum, Ray Burleigh on his gar fish and Mary Kaye Pinch on the places they took during the last deep sea fishing rodeo July 4.

GARY'S LANDING, LOWERY

Fishing has been on the slow side as I spent 4 days last week at the camp and most boats fishing outside the Lacassine impoundment had 3 to 5 bass and maybe some white perch. However, catfish are being caught with one I saw going 9 lbs. Fishing inside the Lacassine Refuge is better, but still slow, with boats pulling over the rollers catching 10 to 12 bass per boat and those fishing bream are catching 30 to 40 per boat. There's a lot of growth in Lacassine so bring along a push pole.

BIG BURNS

Water is still a little low and the water hyacinth are pretty thick but find some clear water with fish and you'll catch your limit, with some nice bass in the 4 to 5 lb. class reported.

Last week David George fished three days in the burns and caught his limit each day and had a 8 pounder each day with one going 5½ lbs. David was using the indigo worm and Snag-a-Sallys.

Fishing is still it's best early morning and late afternoon. Best baits are worms with small slip sinker (indigo color), silver or gold Johnson weedless spoon with green pork chunk #1 or #11, and white or yellow Snag-a-Sally #4 blade. Work your bait in thick cover and sort of slow. Use at least 17 lbs test line or better because of weeds and lily pads and if you get hung up, pole or use trolling motor to get to your bass.

Francis Basco and his wife Kathy caught 12 bass last week using the Snag-a-Sally. On Kathy's first cast she caught a bass; beginners luck.

OTHER FISHING AREAS

Ladd Dyson and Provite Miller were a week early for the July 4 Rodeo, but landed a gar fish going 160 lbs., 6 ft. 7 inches long. After three passes and one slap of the tail, they had to shoot it and take it to the bank to get it in the boat. They were fishing out of Hog Bayou.

ROCKEFELLER REFUGE

Crabbing has been the talked about thing. Price Lake is the place to go, as last week people were just using a net because they were swimping just under water. I saw one fisherman Wednesday catch 4 dozen in about an hour and never tied a bait on a line.

"Many small make a great."
Chaucer

BEST FISHING TIMES

This is no guarantee, but here's how its been for me: Overcast skies, cloudy skies you will produce bass. If the moon is full you will have to fish from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., in the heat of the day, and fish the heaviest and thickest cover, because the bass will hide from the sun and try to keep cool.

SHOWN WITH the 6 ft., 7 in. long, 160 pound alligator gar they caught in Hog Bayou are Pravate Miller and Ladd Dyson.

Boating accidents increasing in La.

By Jesse Knowles
Chairman, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission

Motorboat accidents, involving pleasure craft and resulting in fatalities, have been increasing at an alarming rate in Louisiana. Out of approximately 200 reported boating accidents, mostly related to recreational boating, there were 73 fatalities in 1981.

Deaths from motorboat accidents last year exceeded fatalities from hunting accidents by 700 percent, leading to the most illogical conclusion that pleasure boating is more dangerous than hunting with firearms.

This is not only true in Louisiana but it is also a fact in most of the states.

One contributing factor, as I see it, is the fact than anyone who can afford a boat is free to buy one and take to the waterways without any experience in operating a boat and little knowledge of the rules of the nautical road.

The only controlling factor, without which there probably would be more fatalities, is the fact that all boaters should by law comply with safety provisions contained in the state's "Uniform Pleasure Boating Act".

This act tracks the federal safe boating act and covers everything from proper motorboat registration to specific equipment which must be on the craft or aboard. Any violation of the state law is also a violation of federal law.

Under state law, primary responsibility for enforcement of the boating laws is vested in the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. Other state and local law enforcement agencies assist in enforcement of motorboat laws and regulations, but the responsibility rests with the department.

It is ironic, perhaps, that 30 states (60 percent of the states) have mandatory hunter - safety education laws, but little attention is devoted to boating safety other than the provisions of state acts that necessarily must track the federal safe boating act.

Boating safety education obviously is the only way to cut down boating accidents and fatalities resulting from those accidents. The department is gearing itself now to devote more attention to boating safety education but there are opportunities for recreational boaters to help assure themselves of safety afloat.

Throughout the state, Coast Guard Auxiliary units and Power Squadrons offer spring and fall classes in safe boating. They also conduct free courtesy inspections, checking out recreational boats and advising boat owners if they have all the proper and necessary equipment.

Additionally, through its Information and Education Division, the department is prepared to provide free lectures on boating safety for any and all groups requesting this educational service.

All it takes is a letter or call: Information and Education Division, Dept. of Wildlife and Fisheries, P.O. Box 14526, SE Station, Baton Rouge, La. 70898. The telephone number is (504) 342-1096.

Unfortunately, belt - tightening in Washington has cut back on help which the department formerly received from the U.S. Coast Guard. Don Layrisson is the department's Boating Law Administrator. I quote from a letter received by him from Capt. G. F. Viveiros, Jr., Chief, Boating Safety Division, Eighth Coast Guard District.

"Enclosed is a copy of a letter dated June 1, 1982, written by Commodore Tessier of the Cypremort Yacht Club describing a potential safety problem on Vermilion Bay. As you are aware, cutbacks in the Coast Guard Recreational Boating Safety Program have resulted in the elimination of the Boating Safety raining Teams, leaving me with no 'on the water' enforcement personnel. Enforcement of problems such as the one described on Vermilion Bay will become solely a state responsibility."

It is obvious that the department must address itself substantially to this problem of safe boating, but I am confident that with public interest in better safety afloat, and parish support, we can do a better job and cut down on those fatality statistics.

Horse show set

About 400 youths will participate in the 13th annual Louisiana 4-H and FFA Light Horse Show to be held July 15-17 in the John M. Parker Agriculture Center on LSU's Baton Rouge Campus, according to Dr. Clint Depew, equine specialist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Judging, public speaking and demonstration contests will begin the show Thursday, July 15. All entries must be checked by 5 p.m. Thursday.

Showmanship, with all breeds competing, will begin at 8 a.m. Friday, July 16. Halter classes will be judged according to the following order: paint, arabian, quarter and appaloosa horses. Following the halter judging, parish groups and roping and cutting will be judged.

On Saturday, July 17, performance classes will be judged, beginning with English pleasure.

The youths will compete for All Around High Point awards in two age groups--14 years and older and 13 years and younger.

The event is open free to the public.

MUSING...

By Bernice Stewart Denny

The following is a story of Jayhawkers as told to me years ago by the late Captain Vinson Laurents.

The setting was shortly after the Civil War at Laurents Point on Lake Arthur. Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Laurents owned the property and lived there with their sons and daughters. They operated a small general store, which was built near their comfortable dwelling house.

Down the river one day there came a sailboat bearing several men. They landed at the little pier and advanced toward the house. The Laurents, hospitable and gracious, always welcomed sojourners.

Almost as soon as a family member spied the men, there came terrible cries from the group. At once the Laurents recognized that signal as belonging to the despicable Jayhawkers.

Mr. Laurents, who had been sitting on a cobbler's bench working with leather, sprang to his feet. He threw bench and leather up through an opening in the attic. He seized his shotgun and called in his faithful old dog.

By that time the Jayhawkers came crashing through the door. One drew his gun as though to shoot the dog.

"You shoot that dog," yelled Laurents, "and I'll plug you even if others among you kill me."

They proceeded to disarm Laurents and to tie him and his sons, Jules G. and William, with ropes. They took the father's shoes off his feet.

Then they prowled about through house and store. They stole money, food, and articles that they were able to carry away in their boat.

What they could not take, they attempted to destroy. They even slit the feather mattresses and dumped their contents throughout the house.

Their looting accomplished they rushed to their boat and sailed away.

THE DAUGHTERS of Mr. and Mrs. Kim Savoie of Cameron, Bonnye Beth Savoie, 4, and Krissie Savoie, 2, each were the first runnerup in her division of the Little Miss July 4th contest held during the fishing rodeo.

Need veteran information? give a call

If you have a question concerning veterans benefits or need information or assistance, call the Veterans Administration Regional Office in New Orleans using the toll-free telephone line to get the answer.

Toll-free telephone service is now available in all 50 states providing direct access to Veterans Administration Regional Offices, Anthony R. Lentini, Director of the New Orleans Regional Office, said today in reminding veterans and their dependents of the service which is available from 7:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Because the service is so popular, Lentini said veterans should have at hand as much VA-related information about themselves as possible when making a call.

Lentini pointed out that VA counselors can provide faster service when the veteran's claim number, military serial number or Social Security number is provided.

The following toll-free number is provided for use by veterans and their dependents in the State of Louisiana in need of assistance from the Veterans Administration Regional Office in New Orleans: 1-800-462-9510.

Homemakers planning trip

The Cameron Extension Homemakers Club met June 30 at the home of Julie Burleigh.

The meeting was a work meeting to get everything ready for the booths and Little Miss Fourth of July Contest in Grand Chenier.

Members also set a date for a trip to Houston for which the money was raised.

Members enjoyed a covered dish supper.

The club did very good with the booths and raised enough money for the trip.

"We would like to thank all the people who participated in the contest and also the people who bought refreshments and handicrafts at our booths," a club spokesman said.

Soc. Security

Proof of age continues to be one of the most troublesome types of evidence needed to establish eligibility for Social Security benefits, according to Donald Saulnier, Manager of the local Social Security office. Many people are unable to prove their age without some difficulty.

In most cases, the problem arises when a person applies for benefits and the age given is different from that already in the Social Security records, usually given at the time the person applied for a Social Security card many years before. When this happens, the person must reconcile the two with conclusive proof of his or her real age.

The preferred proof is a birth certificate or a baptism certificate recorded before age 5. However, a combination of other proofs may be used to establish the correct age, such as school records, voter's registration card, insurance policies, and the like. The earlier the record the better. The Social Security office will help in establishing the best evidence of age.

People who think they may have trouble proving their age should not wait until they are ready to apply for benefits to do so. They should take steps now.

Lightning is danger this time of year

Lightning storms are very active this time of year and with more of the rain and thunderstorm season still ahead, precautions should be considered to minimize risks of lightning accidents.

According to Mansel M. Mayeux, agricultural engineering professor and chairman of the LSU Center for Agricultural Sciences and Rural Development's safety committee, research indicates that 12 to 15 percent of lightning deaths result from seeking refuge under trees. Ten percent of deaths occur on open water and another 10 percent on tractors. The safest place is inside a building or all-metal vehicle, such as an automobile.

To minimize risks of lightning accidents, Mayeux offers the following tips:

--Do not stand underneath a natural lightning rod, such as a large tree in an open area.

--Get out of and away from open water.

--Avoid tractors and other metal farm equipment.

--Get off and away from motorcycles, golf carts and bicycles.

--Stay away from wire fences, clothes lines, metal pipes, rails, etc., that might carry lightning to you from some distance away.

--Avoid small isolated sheds in open areas.

--In a forest, seek shelter in a low area under a thick growth of small trees.

--In an isolated flat area or plain, drop to a crouch on one knee.

--If indoors, do not use telephone or plumbing system.

--If a person is struck and not breathing, he or she may often be revived by applying CPR. This is mouth-to-mouth resuscitation plus external cardio compression. It should be administered within four to six minutes to prevent brain damage.

To avoid property damage, Mayeux advises:

--Install lightning rods on houses or at least, ground television and radio antennas.

--Unplug large appliances.

--Turn off air conditioners to prevent damage from power surges.

--Use battery powered radio to keep informed.

For more information on home and farm safety, contact an agent in the parish office of the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

ELECTION THREE WEEKS OFF

Geese arrive here . . by truck

Some 500 ringneck geese arrived at the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge at Grand Chenier this week--not on the wing as they usually do, but this time by truck.

The geese were the first load of some 2, 000 Candidian geese which are being transplanted here from the Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Missouri in an effort to encourage the geese to fly further south each year instead of all stopping in Missouri.

Local refuge employees, John Clemont, Jr. and Murphy Moss brought in the load this week. Assisting with clipping of a wing on each geese before they were released in a larged fenced in area behind the refuge building were Bob Chabreck, Oscar Sturlese, Donald Lee Miller, Sidney Portley Robert Mhire, Adam Swire and Joe Swire.

A total of 3, 605 Cameron voters are registered to vote in the December 7 Democratic primary, Miss Wynona Welch, parish registrar of voters said this week. Nov. 6 was the last day to register to vote in the first primary.

Miss Welch said that current total represents an increase of about 400 voters over the number registered seven years ago before Hurricane Audrey.

A total of some 2700 persons voted in the parish elections held four years ago and it is expected that there will be more than 3, 000 votes cast this year, to set a new record.

Miss Welch gave the following breakdown of registered voters by precincts:

Ward 1, Precinct 1 Cow Island, 127.

Ward 1, Precinct 2-Klondike, 172.

Ward 2, Precinct 1-Grand Chenier, 339.

Ward 2, Precinct 2-Muria, 214.

Ward 3, Precinct 1-Cameron, 963.

Ward 3, Precinct 2-Creole, 439.

Ward 4, Precinct 1-Grand Lake, 290.

Ward 4, Precinct 2-Sweetlake, 230.

Ward 5, Johnson Bayou, 231.

Ward 6, Hackberry, 600.

SEEKS TITLE--Mis Sandra LeBlanc, 19, is the St. Martin contestant who will compete for the title of queen of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival in Cameron this month. A student at the University of Southwestern is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey LeBlanc, Sr. of Breaux Bridge. She has brown hair and eyes, stands 5 feet 9 inches and weighs 120 pounds.

Candidates out 'beating bushes'

Cameron parish's 35 candidates for political offices were busy "shaking the bushes" for votes this week as the December 7 Democratic primary neared. Only three weeks remains until election time and most candidates are making a sincere effort to contact every voter in their ward or the parish.

There are seven candidates in the three contested parishwide races--state representative, sheriff and assessor. (Clerk of the Court J. Berton Daigle and Coroner Dr. Stephen Carter were unopposed).

The representative's race is a re-run of the campaign four years ago. Rep. Alvin Dyson, seeking his fourth term, is opposed by Conway LeBleu, former Ward 3 police juror.

The sheriff's race is a wide open affair, since Sheriff O. B. Carter is now seeking re-election. In the race are Milfred Conner, Cameron machine shop operator; Claude Eagleson, Sweetlake rice farmer and cattleman; and Joe P. Rutherford, Oak Grove cattleman and businessman. Mr. Eagleson was also a candidate for sheriff four years ago.

In the assessor's race, the incumbent, Leslie R. Richard, is opposed by Daniel Roux, Jr., Cameron builder and cattleman.

JURY RACES

There are 18 candidates for the six police jury offices, a larger number than usual because vacancies are to be filled in two of the races.

In Ward 1, incumbent Horace P. Mhire of Grand Chenier is opposed by Cleveland Broussard, Lowery cattleman and farmer.

In Ward 2, David Y. Doland, Jr., cattleman; Elry Nunez, Crain Bros. employee; and Curley J. Vincent, merchant, oppose incumbent, Vian Theriot.

A new juror will be elected in Ward 3 as a result of the death earlier this year of the incumbent, Roland J. Trosclair. Seeking the post are Joseph G. Boudoin, Creole service station operator; Adam Dorestan LaBove, Cameron fisherman; Frankie Henry, Cameron motel owner; and Milton Theriot, Millwhite Mud Co. employee.

Ward 4 has another wide open jury race, since longtime juror Ernest Hebert is retiring. In the campaign are Leo Granger, Grand Lake cattleman; Ernest Hebert, service station owner; Joseph Ogea, construction worker; and Charles Precht, cattleman and rice farmer.

A spirited race has developed in Ward 5, with incumbent Archie Derwick being opposed by Francis Rebelding, Johnson Bayou cattleman, and A. M. (Red) Smith, oil company superintendent.

In Ward 6, incumbent C. A. Riggs is opposed by John A. Lowery, Hackberry oil company employee.

JUSTICE OF PEACE

There is only one race for justice of the peace in the parish, that between Edward J. Richard and Cleveland Rutherford in Ward 2.

Joseph P. Kershaw, Ward 1; Ace J. Ross, Ward 3; Ike Wasey Granger, Ward 4; Kenneth L. McRight, Ward 5; and Ralph R. Adams, Ward 6, are unopposed for J. P.

CONSTABLES

There are two constable races.

In Ward 5 Sullie Manuel, Jr., Oran Trahan and Warren O. Trahan are seeking the post.

In Ward 6 James Constance, Abel Kershaw and Clyde A. McCown are asking election.

Constables who are unopposed for election are: Louis LeBouef, Ward 3 and Lawrence L. Faulk, Ward 4. Ward 1 and 2 have no constable candidates.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

None of the candidates for the Democratic executive committee are opposed. They are: Dr. Cecil Clark and Jerry Jones, at large; Lionel A. Theriot, Ward 2; Rupert M. Doxey, Ward 3; and C. A. Riggs, Ward 6.

NO VIOLATIONS

There were no game or fish violations reported in Cameron parish during October, according to the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission.

Top rice, corn growers honored by Lions club

Cameron parish's top producing rice and corn growers were recognized at the Cameron Lions Club meeting Wednesday noon at Fred's Restaurant. This was the fourth year that the awards were made.

Claude Breaux, who farms on the Lacassine Plantation near Hayes, raised an average of 27. 06 barrels of rice on 38 acres, to take top yield honors in the long grain varities.

His father, Firmin Breaux, was first in the medium grain rice division, with an average of 30. 45 barrels on 186 acres. He also farms on the Lacassine Plantation.

Severin Miller and his son-in-law, Charles Theriot, of Grand Chenier, shared the honors for the top corn yield in the parish--74 bushels per acre on 8 1/2 acres.

The 30. 45 barrels of rice average raised by Firmin Breaux set a new record for the Lions' top producers contest. The previous best yield was 29. 7 barrels reported by Donald Todd in 1962.

Ernest Richard still retains the best corn yield with the 90 bushel average which he raised in 1961.

Each of the top producing farmers received plaques from the Lions Club. County Agent Hadley Fontenot compiled the records for the contest.

Rules given for parade

Organizations and businesses who plan to enter floats in the annual parade of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival later this month may secure entry blanks from Diel Lalande or the Cameron Optimist Club.

The festival is slated for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 29 and 30. The parade will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday traveling from west to east down Cameron's main street.

Floats may be entered in two classifications--most original or most beautiful--and in two divisions--junior and senior. Four first place and four second place prizes will be awarded.

McKeithen to speak

John McKeithen, candidate for governor, will speak in Cameron at 9 a. m. and at Creole at 10 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 16. He will be accompanied by Ashton Mouton, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Speedy Long, candidate for insurance commissioner.

Parish farm sales are nearly $4,000,000

If you think that farming has been declining in importance in the Cameron parish economy you're wrong.

So says County Agent Hadley Fontenot, who reports that the total cash sale of Cameron parish farm products will total nearly $4 million this year--$3, 971, 000 to be exact.

This is nearly double the farm products sales for 1949 when they were $1, 670, 100. The figure for 1954 was $2, 357, -827.

Mr Fontenot bases the $3, 971, 000 figure for 1963 on the following estimates:

Rice--13, 300 acres, average yield 20 barrels for a total of 266, 000 barrels at $6. 50 per barrel.... $1, 729, 000.

Cattle--50, 000 cows, with 40 percent producing calves, for 20, 000 calves sold at $50 each..... $1, 000, 000.

Poultry--30, 000 hens, average 16 dozen eggs, for 480, 000 dozen at 40 cents..... $192, 000.

Hay, sheep, swine, fruit & vegetable.... $50, 000

The county agent notes that while farm production has been going up in the parish, the number of farmers has been declining, which means that Cameron parish farmers, as a whole are making more money than they have in the past.

Ward and Martha Fontenot

An international flavor will be added to the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife program this year when Ward and Martha Fontenot entertain with French, Spanish and English folk songs.

As a hobby Ward and Martha have been entertaining at civic clubs and other functions around Baton Rouge and also performed at the state county agent's conventions at Lake Charles in September this year.

The Fontenots formed the amateur team following their marriage some two years ago. Ward is a law student at Louisiana State University. Martha, a L. S. U. graduate, is employed at the L. S. U. library. She is a native of New Orleans and Ward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Fontenot of Cameron and a graduate of the South Cameron High School.

Fur activities are set for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 29 and 30th. The Friday night program will be held at the elementary school auditorium in Cameron and the Saturday night program will be held in the South Cameron high school auditorium at Creole.

Programs both nights will feature a varied assortment of entertainment consisting of song and dance acts, skits, queen's contest and demonstrations of wildlife calls.

Navigation gap in lake affirmed

The U. S. Corps of Engineers has promised that it will leave a navigation gap in the east spoil bank along the ship channel through Calcasieu Lake to provide easy passage for Cameron oyster and shrimp to and from the lake, State Rep. Alvin Dyson announced this week.

Rep. Dyson said the Corps' orginal plans had been not to leave a gap. Cameron fisherman strongly opposed such a move, as it would have made it difficult for fishermen to get into the lake. Also it would have prevented the flow of salt water over the oyster reefs, which is needed for normal growth of the oysters.

At a special meeting of the police jury on Sept. 16, Mr. Dyson secured the adoption of a resolution to the Corps of Engineers asking that a navigation channel through the spoil bank into the lake be left open at Mile 8 opposite beacon lights 21 and 22.

Mr. Dyson said that after weeks of work with the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Department and with Congressman T. A. Thompson that he had secured the approval of Corps of Engineers for the navigation channel between Long Point and St. John's Island.

Jones cited for heart leadership

Jennings B. Jones, Jr., Cameron attorney, was presented the Louisiana Heart Association's Golden Heart Trophy at a district meeting of the association last Thursday in Lake Charles.

Mr. Jones, who is president of the Cameron Parish Heart Council, was honored because under his leadership Cameron parish has placed among the top three parishes of the state during four consecutive years in per capita support of the Heart Fund.

Long to speak here

Gillis Long, candidate for governor, and his ticket will make a speaking tour of Cameron parish, Friday, Nov. 22. A schedule of his stops will be run in the Pilot next week.

This Thursday, Nov. 14, Senator Russell B. Long will speak in behalf of Gillis Long at a free barbecue to be held at the Prien Lake park at Lake Charles beginning at 7 p. m. Citizens of Cameron Parish are invited to attend.

Turkey shoot set

The Southwest Louisiana Rifle and Pistol Club will hold a turkey shoot at its range south of Holmwood, Saturday, Nov. 23, from 11 a. m. to dark. Shotguns and rifles will be used.

Michot to speak to Lions Club

State Rep. Louis J. Michot, Jr., a candidate for governor will be the main speaker at the Cameron Lions Club meeting at Fred's Restaurant in Cameron, Wednesday, Nov. 20.

All of the gubernatorial candidates have been given invitations to speak to the Lions.

Born and raised in Lafayette, Mr. Michot attended the University of Southwestern, served four years in the Marine Corps, and is the franchise owner in Louisiana and Mississippi for Burger Chef Systems, Inc. national drive-in hamburger chain.

From 1957 to 1959 he held a position in Washington with the Air Transportation Association of America, and from 1953 to 1957 was general manager of the Greater Lafayette Chamber of Commerce. Prior to that time he was owner of a theater and building-cleaning business in Lafayette.

Cameron absentee voting set

J. Berton Daigle, Cameron parish clerk of court, announces that absentee balloting for the statewide election to be held December 7, will begin Monday, Nov. 18, and continue through Nov. 30.

Members of the armed services and their dependents can make application now by mail, he said. Members of the U. S. Merchant Marine, civillion government employes serving outside the United States, and members of religious groups or welfare groups attached to the armed forces may also make their requests for absentee ballots by mail.

Applications for ballots by mail must be postmarked outside the state of Louisiana except for military personnel, he said.

New store to open in Creole Sat.

Creole has a new business-Gulf Appliance Sales, located next to Fawvor Chevrolet Co. and operated by Alton Bacciagalopi. The firm will carry a complete line of Frigidaire appliances and also furniture, household ware, hardware plumbing, etc.

An open house will be held Saturday, with free donuts and coffee for visitors. Door prizes will be awarded.

A native of Creole, Mr. Baccigalopi was associated with Creole Electric & Appliance for nine years.

The Constitution of 1812 of Louisiana entitled the governor to appoint the secretary of state for a four year term.

Festival group to meet Monday

The board of directors and activities chairmen of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will meet at 7 p. m. Monday, Nov. 18, at Fred's Restaurant to review final plans for the festival to be held in Cameron, Nov. 29 and 30.

Folks songs to be festival feature

New DWI law is signed by Treen

Governor David C. Treen announced today he has signed into law legislation requiring tougher penalties for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated.

The bill does not become effective until January 1 of next year. This is to give an opportunity for all in the state of Louisiana to understand the law and to understand that we mean business," Governor Treen said at a Capitol press conference. "We are going to have rigid enforcement of this law."

Governor Treen expressed his appreciation to Rep. Eldridge Morris of DeRidder and Senators Richard Neeson of Shreveport and Tommy Hudson of Baton Rouge, floor managers of the measure, House Bill 1795. The Governor also praised efforts by Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) for their support of the bill and his Task Force on the Drinking Driver.

The Governor expressed optimism about chances for passage in the current legislative session of four other bills designed to toughen laws on drinking and driving.

House Bill 1795 was one of the key measures in Treen Administration efforts to respond to Louisiana's tragic record of 500 deaths, 40,000 personal injuries and 80,000 accidents annually, related to the drinking drivers.

Attached is a summary of key features of the bill.

A. First Offenders:

Present law for first offense DWI is a minimum fine of $100 and a maximum fine of $400. A 30-day to six month jail sentence can be imposed but is often replaced by only treatment at a substance abuse center.

Law to become effective January 1, 1983, increases fine to not less than $125 nor more than $500 and a jail sentence of not less than 10 days nor more than 6 months. The only substitutions for this sentence are: 1) offender is placed on probation with a minimum condition of two days in jail and participation in court-approved substance abuse and driver improvement programs, or 2) offender is placed on probation with a minimum that he perform four eight-hour days of court-approved community service activities and substance abuse and driver improvement programs.

B. Second offenders: Present law for second offense DWI is 125 days to six months in jail, but again court-ordered treatment at a substance abuse center can be substituted for the jail sentence. Fines now range from a minimum of $125 to a maximum of $500.

Law to become effective January 1, 1983, increases fine to not less than $300 nor more than $500 and a jail sentence of not less than 30 days nor more than 6 months. The only substitutions for this sentence are: 1) offender serves 15 days in jail and participates in substance abuse and driver improvement programs, or 2) offender is placed on probation with a minimum of thirty eight-hour days of court - approved community service activities and substance abuse and driver improvement programs.

C. Third offenders: Present law for third conviction DWI is not less than one year nor more than five years in jail and a fine of not more than $1,000.

Law to become effective January 1, 1983, retains these penalties and provides that at least six months of the sentence be served without benefit of probation, parole or suspension of sentence. If a portion of sentence is imposed with benefit of probation, parole or suspension of sentence, then the offender will be required to participate in court-approved substance abuse and/or driver improvement programs.

(Other provisions of present law are retained with an addition by this law providing for screening for substance abuse programs.)

Bank makes contribution

The Louisiana Independent College Fund is the recipient of a donation from Cameron State Bank in Cameron, Joe Didier, Executive Director of the fund reports.

The gift of $75 was the seventh contribution to the fund from the bank and was sent in by Mr. E. J. Dronet, president.

Louisiana Independent College Fund, with headquarters in Baton Rouge, seeks the support of business and industry for three of Louisiana's independent liberal arts colleges.

The fund promotes private higher education as part of the free enterprise system in the belief that voluntary giving to independent colleges by corporations promotes freedom of choice for students, healthy competition between colleges and stimulates quality in all phases of higher education.

The three colleges supported by the fund are all fully accredited, four year institutions. They are Centenary College in Shreveport; Louisiana College in Alexandria - Pineville; and Holy Cross College on the West Bank in New Orleans.

Notice of Redemption. At least thirty days' notice of redemption will be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, and in a financial newspaper or journal published in the city of New York, New York.

Places of Payment. Both principal of and interest on the bonds will be payable at the branch office of Calcasieu-Marine National Bank in Cameron, Louisiana, or at the option of the holder, at the principal office of Cameron State Bank in Cameron, Louisiana.

The full faith and credit of the District are pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds, and the District is authorized and required to impose annually, in excess of all other taxes, a tax on all the property subject to taxation by the District, sufficient in amount to pay the interest and the principal falling due each year on the bonds.

Bidding Details. Each bid must be on the official bid form furnished by the undersigned and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for $663,000 Waterworks Bonds of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana" and must be directed to the undersigned. Bidders shall specify the rate of interest which the bonds of each maturity shall bear, to be expressed in multiples of one-eighth (1/8) or one-twentieth (1/20) of one percent (1%). Bidders are not restricted as to the number of rates that may be named and any rate named may be repeated, but all bonds maturing on the same date must bear interest at the same single rate from their date to such maturity date. No rate named may exceed fifteen per centum (15%) per annum and the difference between the highest and lowest rates named may not exceed two and one-half percent (2½%). Only one coupon will be attached to each bond for each installment of interest thereon, and bids providing for additional or supplemental coupons will be rejected. No proposals will be considered for less than all the bonds or at a price less than par or which specifies the cancellation of coupons or the payment of any premium offered in anything other than cash. In addition to the price bid, the successful bidder must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of the full payment of the purchase price. Each bid must be unconditional and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check drawn upon a solvent bank or trust company payable to the order of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, in the amount of thirteen thousand two hundred sixty dollars ($13,260). Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned promptly after the award of the bonds. The check of the successful bidder will be deposited by the Board of Commissioners, the proceeds of which will be credited to the purchase price on the settlement date or in the event the successful bidder fails to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds, retained by such board as liquidated damages. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of such good faith check.

Award of the Bonds. Prior to the close of business on the day of opening of sealed proposals, the bonds will be awarded to the responsible bidder or bidders offering to purchase the bonds at such rate or rates of interest as will produce the lowest net interest cost to the District over the life of the bonds, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest payable on all of the bonds from their date until their respective maturities. The right is hereby reserved to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

CUSIP Numbers. It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be imprinted on the filing panel of the bonds, but neither the failure to print any such number on any bonds nor any inaccuracy, error or omission with respect thereto shall constitute cause for failure or refusal by the successful bidder to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms of its bid. No such CUSIP identification number shall constitute a part of the contract evidenced by the particular bond upon which it is imprinted and no liability shall attach to the District or any officer or agent thereof, including any paying agent for the bonds, by reason of such numbers or any use made thereof by the District, any such officer or any such agent, or by reason of any inaccuracy, error or omission with respect thereto or in such use. Except for the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of such numbers, which shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid by the successful bidder, all expenses in relation to the printing of such numbers on the bonds will be paid by the District.

Delivery of Bonds; Payment. Delivery of the fully executed bonds will be made at the expense of the District, at the option of the successful bidder at either the Police Jury Government Building in Cameron Parish, Louisiana, or at any bank or trust company mutually agreeable to the District and the purchaser in New Orleans, Louisiana, on August 31, 1982, or as soon thereafter as possible. The purchase price then due, including the amount of the accrued interest, must be paid by the certified or cashier's check drawn upon a solvent bank or trust company in Federal Funds payable to the order of said Fire Protection District No. Fourteen of Cameron Parish, Louisiana. Upon delivery of and payment for the bonds the purchaser will also be furnished with the usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending or threatened affecting the issuance of the bonds. The purchaser will also be furnished at the expense of the District with the approving legal opinion of Wood & Dawson, New York, New York, bond counsel, as to the validity of the bonds, which opinion will be printed upon the bonds.

Offering Circular; Additional Information. Copies of a consolidated offering circular regarding the Fire Protection Bonds, Series 1982, of Fire Protection District No. Fourteen of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana and the Waterworks bonds, Series 1982, of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana being contemporaneously offered by said waterworks district and copies of the respective official bid forms are available upon application to Mr. George W. White, Fiscal Service, Inc., 535 Gravier Street, 7th Floor, New Orleans, Louisiana, 70130, or to the undersigned. Information relating to the District and its affairs, and further information relating to the bonds, will be furnished upon application to the undersigned.

Prepare your trees for storm season

By Paul R. Orr,
Louisiana Office of Forestry

The official announcement of hurricane season always prompts me to take a stroll around the yard to inspect my old water oaks and determine whether they can stand up to hurricane winds.

This year I went a step further and spent a day of the Fourth of July weekend pruning out dead and weak limbs from one of the trees that seemed questionable.

It does not always take hurricane-force winds to expose the weaknesses of shade trees. Louisiana's frequent summer thunderstorms commonly stir up winds violent enough to cause breakage.

To me, and to most of us, the benefits derived from shade trees are well worth some extra care to keep them as strong and healthy as possible so that they can better withstand strong winds. From time to time it may be necessary to prune out deadwood, decayed branches or weak forks or to thin out branches to reduce weight and wind resistance, especially in cases of trees located where brakage could cause property damage.

Other good cultural practices, such as fertilization, are also important in maintaining strength by increasing growth of new wood and closing wounds which might otherwise expand and weaken the trunk or branch.

Occasionally, high value trees such as very old or historic trees, particularly live oaks, have structural weaknesses that require installation of cables or braces to lessen the chance of storm damage. However, I commonly find unnecessary cables or cables positioned improperly so that they do not provide the support needed. If cables seem to be called for, get the opinion of at least two reputable arborists or other tree experts.

Now is a good time for you to take a good look at your large shade trees to see whether they have broken or dead limbs, decayed areas or other weaknesses that might require attention. If you have doubts, it might be a good idea to ask an arborist to have a look--it could save you some headaches later.

Plan now for fall tomatoes

Fall tomatoes can be very productive for growers who plan ahead, and this planning needs to begin now, according to Dr. Thomas J. Koske, gardening specialist with the LSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Tomato seed planted in early July will be ready to transplant in about four weeks. No hardening - off period will be required since plants will be grown outdoors.

If plants for the fall are set in the garden the latter part of July or about the first of August, a good fall crop can be harvested, Koske says. High August temperatures may cause the first blooms to fail to set fruit, but when night temperatures cool in early September, plants planted early will be large, vigorous and ready to set lots of fruit for the fall harvest.

Tomatoes for fall production may be started directly in the garden row, in peat pots, or from rooted suckers. Rooted suckers from healthy spring tomato plants may be broken off and the roots allowed to develop in a moist light-weight soil, sand or a potting medium. Plants propagated this way need less time to form a large transplant. Rooting suckers must be started by early to mid July. Remove the first flower clusters on the suckers to encourage vegetative growth. Consider using rooted suckers or purchased transplants at this time in north and central Louisiana.

Tomato plants set out for fall production should be heavily mulched to conserve moisture and keep soil cooler around the roots. If there are rows in the garden already covered with black plastic mulch, cut a cross right into the holes vacated by the spring crop. Mulch over the plastic to block some of the heat.

Common tomato varieties that have performed well in the fall are Pelican, Floradel and Hawaiian Hybrid N-65.

Contact your local county agent for free information and advice on fall gardening.

Plan ahead on Social Security

It is important for people who plan to apply for Social Security benefits to do so 2 or 3 months before they want benefits to begin, or, at least as soon as possible after they become eligible, according to Donald Saulnier, Social Security district manager in Lake Charles.

This is because payments for months before the month the application is made are limited by law. The general rules are:

-Workers 65 and over, widows, widowers, and parents 62 and over--back payments are limited to no more than 6 months, but none before the month the person becomes 65 for workers, or 62 for widows, widowers, and parents.

-Workers under 65 and widows and widowers under 62--in general, no payments can be made for months before the month of application.

-Disabled workers, widows, and widowers--back payments can be made for up to 12 months before the month of application, but not before the 6th full month of disability.

People applying for benefits, especially those applying for reduced benefits--before 65 for workers or before 62 for survivors--should apply as soon as possible when they become eligible so they will not miss out on any possible benefit checks.

More information about back payments and all other parts of Social Security can be obtained by calling the local office.

MUSING...

By Bernice Stewart Denny

It has been my privilege to read the autobiography of Ethel McCall Doland, which she concluded on August 16, 1967.

Mrs. Doland, a first cousin of my maternal grandmother, Susan McCall Stine, was a native of Grand Chenier. Her parents were Jesse Dennis McCall and Kate Hackett McCall.

Mrs. Doland died several years ago. Her husband, Samuel Shelton Doland, had preceded her in death in 1960. Their three daughters, Mary Elaine Cohen, Sophie Johnston, and Linnie Belle Emmons, are also deceased.

Surviving are three sons, Nolan of Joaquin, Texas; Everett of Grand Chenier, and Thomas of Lake Charles.

It was Everett who gave me a typed copy of his mother's story and permission to share excerpts from it with my readers.

Cousin Ethel, born August 18, 1885, writes in a humorous vein of incidents long ago.

"I was a child that loved to go (and still do)," she wrote; "so one day Mother was in the room and Dad had come in for coffee. When he left, I followed him. I was about three years old. He was working on the back ridge of our place and you had to cross a slough, but there were planks and logs to cross on. Dad didn't know I was following. When I got to this place, I stepped on the log and it turned with me and I fell into a big mud hole. Well, I began to cry and holler; so Dad quit his team and came to find out what was happening.

"There I was -- bogged! Dad looked and saw a great big snake on the other side crawling toward me. He jumped, shoes and all, into the mud and got me out. Then he went back and killed the snake."

Again she srites: "Ruby (my younger sister) and I loved to ride. We rode every time we got a chance. We'd go to get Dad's horses that he worked in the fields. We'd go with a rope, catch the horse, put a noose on his nose, and crawl up by the knot on his knee, and gallop him to the house. Dad had to let us do that in order to get us to shuck corn and feed the horses. If Dad wanted to go to town, we'd hitch old Blonco to the buggy and go for a ride.

"We raced our horses whenever we wanted. We had side saddles and wore long full skirts weighted with buck shots to hold them down when we rode fast. We were never thrown. Sometimes Ruby or I would push the other one off old Rebel's tailbone and gallop away!"

Cousin Ethel writes on: "I was awful easy teased. When the bigger girls wanted to get rid of me they would do kind of mean little tricks. I was about five or six. I claimed as my sweetheart a grown boy called Joe, the son of our neighbors.

"His sister would sing (in order to make me leave the group) (I'd been married a long time ago if it hadn't been for cotton-eyed joe.) Would I get mad! I'd leave them and that was exactly what they wanted. When I grew up, I married Joe's brother."

ENGAGED--Mr. and Mrs. John J. Landry Jr. of Cameron announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Susan Marie Landry, to Terry Mitchel Beard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Beard Jr. of Sweetlake. The wedding is set for Saturday, August 28, at 2 p.m. at the St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church in Big Lake. Trough this means friends and relatives are invited to attend

ENGAGED--Mrs. Weida Ravia of Hackberry announces the engagement of her daughter, Theresa Ann, to Benjamin McDaniel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McDaniel, Sr. of Lacassine. The couple will be married at 3:30 p.m. on Aug. 14 at Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church in Lake Charles.

ENGAGED--Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Prejean announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Dana Ann Prejean, to Michael Anthony Benoit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benoit of Cameron. The bride-elect attended Comeaux High School, and the groom-elect attended South Cameron High School. The couple will be married Aug. 14 during a 2 p.m. ceremony in St. Anne's Catholic Church.

Winning beef recipe given

Mrs. Linda Sturlese, secretary-treasurer of the Cameron Parish Cowbelles, served as the state chairman of the Louisiana Beef Cookoff contest held recently at McNeese State University in the Home Economics Department.

Beef Pizza Roll
1 box hot roll mix
1 eggplant
2 lbs ground beef
2 medium onions, chopped
1 large clove of garlic, chopped
1 10 oz. can of tomatoes
1-3/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. red pepper flakes
1/2 tsp. black pepper
3 tbsp. oil
1/2 cup parmesan cheese
1 tbsp. dried parsley
1-1/2 tbsp. basil
1 egg yolk beaten with 1 tsp. milk
fresh parsley for garnish.

1. Mix roll mix according to directions on the box and let rise one hour.
2. While roll mix is rising, peel and slice eggplant; soak in salt water. Saute beef until it loses its redness. Add onion and garlic. Cook until vegetables are soft. Add tomatoes, salt, and pepper. Simmer until tomatoes are well cooked and juice disappears. Squeeze water from eggplant. Chop and fry in oil. Add eggplant, cheese, parsley and basil to beef mixture.
3. Divide dough into two parts. Roll out one piece at a time in rectangles approximately 12" x 15". Spread with beef mixture leaving one inch on each side. Roll up like a jelly roll. Place on lightly sprayed cookie sheet. Brush top with egg yolk. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes or until golden brown. When cool, cut into 1" slices. Makes 20 slices, serving 10. Preparation time: one hour.

Pesticide dangers

The misuse of pesticides and fertilizers results in accidents every summer, a Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine toxicologist cautions.

Most accidents are caused by improper distribution or storage, says Gary Wimbish, Ph.D., associate professor of pathology at the medical school. "The ABCs for proper use of pesticides are simple: Read the label, mix and distribute them as instructed and avoid contact with the skin or inhalation of the vapors."

Accidents usually go something like this: Some of the poison is left over, it is stored in a soft drink bottle, and a curious child comes along and drinks it. "The way to avoid this, of course, is to maintain the excess in the original containers and store them out of the reach of children," Dr. Wimbish said.

Symptoms of dangerous contact with a pesticide can be mistaken for those of a cold or virus, he added. The symptoms are nausea, loss of appetite, cramping, excessive sweating, salivating and diarrhea. If you suspect an ingestion of a poison, first call your physician, who can make a definite diagnosis with lab tests, and if a doctor is not available, then call the local poison control center, whose number should be kept by the telephone.

One of the most dangerous fertilizers used in farming operations, Dr. Wimbish said, is anhydrous ammonia. "Tanks can leak and as pressure builds (usually associated with over-filling and heat), the safety valve may release a large blast of ammonia into the operator's face, causing permanent damage to eyes, skin or the respiratory system, or even death. The only advice I can give is to be very careful of leaks and take all proper precautions, treating the anyhydrous ammonia as a deadly gas."

Local boat makes rescue

Groves, Tex. 77619

Dear Editor:

I am writing this to express my gratitude to Captain T. Hash and the crew of the Mary Diane McCall, a ship owned by T-Boy McCall of your city.

On Sunday, July 11, we were fishing in the Gulf when our small pleasure boat began rapidly taking on water. We caught the attention of the Mary Diane McCall and within minutes they came to our aid. They pulled us from the water, saved our boat, and recovered many of our possessions which otherwise would have been lost. The crew then made us comfortable and even fed us dinner while they carefully towed our disabled boat back to our home port.

We cannot thank them enough for all they did. Nowdays, with apathy everywhere, it's reassuring to know there are people like Captain Theran Hash, Rafael Papitan and Danny Crawford, who are willing to help a stranger in need. Your community should certainly be proud of these fine men.

Sincerely,
Dr. and Mrs. Bob Wilcox
and
Dr. and Mrs. Jim Cook

Electric bills to go up in parish

Consumer-owners of Jefferson Davis Electric Co-op attending their annual meeting July 12 in Jennings heard reports, re-elected three members of the board of directors and were warned to expect higher utility bills in spite of the efforts of the non-profit Co-op to hold down costs.

Co-op Manager J. H. deCordova reported the Coop experienced a deficit of $15,170.31 during 1981 and was probably going to be required to increase base rates by the Rural Electrification Administration to insure the utility can make its loan payments.

Explaining the action to the more than 400 persons attending the meeting, including 283 registered Co-op members, deCordova noted that increases would be very slight and would only affect those using 2,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity or more. The increase would be about $4.50 for anyone using 2,000 KWH of electricity and $9 for someone using 3,000 KWH.

This would equal about a six per cent increase to cover last year's losses and make sure the Co-op would have adequate revenues for the next two years.

He added that electric service today costs only a little more than it did 40 years ago, but now consumers use much more than they used to and have a higher bill as a result. The major cause of the increased cost of power is the higher cost of fuels and coal-burning and nuclear power plants to provide that power, he reported.

All utilities, the manager said, were having to increase rates and pass on higher power costs whether member-owned or investor-owned.

Responding to a question from a member, he noted that those members who serve on the board do so without pay.

Re-elected to the board were Eugene C. Todd, Sidney Derouen and Garner Nunez.

Other directors are Joseph L. Tupper, president; Richard J. Byler; Charles M. Davis, secretary-treasurer; Robert O. Hackett; Louis Trahan and W. F. Henry, Jr.

Board president Tupper welcomed the members to the Co-op's 38th annual meeting and reported the organization now has 45 employees who service over 1400 miles of power line and more than 8,000 consumers.

He stressed that the major concern of the board is to provide the members adequate power at the best possible price, adding that each director is also a Co-op consumer who pays the same rates.

High fuel costs and having to transport coal 2,000 miles are factors which have produced higher utility bills, Tupper noted. Two-thirds of the cost of coal delivered to the Big Cajun No. 2 power plant at New Roads is for the transporting of that coal and one-third of the cost of the plant itself is for environmental equipment to insure clean air and water.

Coal is still a bargain, he added, even with the high transportation costs since Louisiana natural gas would cost $4 a million Btu's and coal runs $2.45 per million Btu's.

Tupper also pointed out increases in the cost of money to build and maintain the Co-op system as a factor in higher bills plus increases for all the other items the rural electric must have to provide service to the members.

"Our base rate must be adequate to cover the cost of providing this service," he added, noting that a non-profit utility such as Jeff Davis Electric provides electricity at cost to the consumer.

Giving the financial report was board secretary - treasurer Charles M. Davis who reported that 76.1 per cent of every dollar spent for electric service went to cover the cost of wholesale power alone. Only 14.5 per cent of that dollar went for operation and maintenance of the utility. Depreciation accounted for 4.6 per cent, he noted; taxes, 1.7 per cent; interest and other expenses took 4.6 per cent and patronage capital experienced a 1.5 per cent loss, amounting to a loss of $15,170.31.

Total revenue the Co-op took in during 1981 came to $9,946,489.79.

Rep. LeBleu's bill signed by governor

Governor David C. Treen has signed into law a bill which gives the state of Louisiana a new source of funds for land acquisition for wildlife management and conservation.

The measure, House Bili No. 333, by Representative Conway LeBleu of Cameron and others, would allow the state Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to use excess funds in the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge Trust Fund for land acquisition.

"Contributing to the preservation of Louisiana's natural heritage is one of the most significant initiatives a governor can make for future generations" Gov. Treen said. "This legislation will help add to protected areas for wildlife."

The Rockefeller Refuge was donated to the state by the Reckefeller Foundation in 1920. Income from the refuge maintains the preserve.

"It is entirely appropriate that excess mineral income from the refuge go to this worthy cause," Gov. Treen said. He signed the bill in his Capitol office.

SENATOR CLIFF NEWMAN, who serves Cameron Parish, is pictured speaking before the Senate in the recent session of the legislature that has just ended.

Monitoring to continue

Monitoring of the brine line from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve site at West Hackberry won't be suspended, although the Department of Energy is looking at the possibility of reducing the level of monitoring, a DOE official said Tuesday.

Dwayne Gray, assistant project manager for the oil storage project, said halting monitoring efforts would not be in the best interest of the State of Louisiana or the federal government.

He said monitoring won't be reduced until the Department of Natural Resources, Environmental Protection Agency, Wildlife and Fisheries, DOE and McNeese, agree to changes in the monitoring plan.

Cameron shrimpers and fishermen have protested a preliminary proposal by DOE to go to quarterly instead of monthly monitoring. That proposal came on the heels of a report by scientists on the project that indicate there has been an impact to the marine life in the area surrounding the brine diffuser.

Gray said no decision is expected until final reports on the findings are in from McNeese scientists monitoring the program. Teh final official report is not due until November, he said.

Gray said that once a final report is in. DOE, McNeese and other agencies may determine that increased monitoring is needed in some areas, while a decrease would be necessary in others.

Offshore well fire put out

Shell Offshore Inc. officials said Tuesday that the fire on a gas well located 10 miles south of Cameron has been extinguished.

The well, which is still flowing natural gas, is located on a west Cameron Block 65 platform. The blowout occurred during a workover operation on the well Wednesday, July 14.

the well ignited Thursday, July 15. There were no injuries and pollution is minimal.

Work is continuing on a two-part plan to control the well. One approach is to control the well from the surface. In order to do this, workers are clearing debris from the fire-damaged workover rig alongside the Block 65 platform.

Once the debris is removed, SOI officials will assess the condition of the equipment on the blowing well and determine the specific approach to control the well from the surface.

The other approach is to drill a relief well, to cut off the flow of gas to the blowing well.

Drug program

The Cameron Sheriff's Department has a drug presentation program which has been shown to numerous church organizations and private groups.

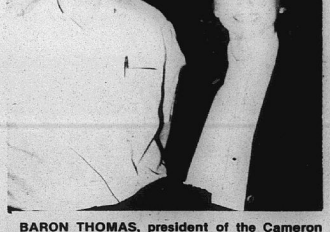
The program was put together by a prisoner who is now incarcerated and serving time in the parish jail. He tells of how drugs have affected his life and in this presentation he shows the dangers and effects of drugs on slides. The presentation consists of music and slides.

A deputy is also present at every meeting and tells of the statistics of drug bust in this parish and also shows drugs and drug paraphernalia. The Sheriff's Dept. urges the citizens of the parish to view this presentation. To find out more information concerning the drug program, you may contact the Sheriff's Dept.

Candidate speaker at Lions meeting

Mrs. Ginger Falcon, Lake Charles, was the speaker last week's meeting of the Cameron Lions club. She was introduced by Mrs. Hilda Henry, the wife of a club member.

Mrs. Falcon is a candidate in the Sept. 11 election to the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, Seventh Congressional District.



She spoke on her reasons for running for political office and what she planned to do when elected.

She said: "I believe that the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education should be more than a rubber stamp of the State Department of Education."

Baron Thomas, club president, appointed Eddie Jo Conner chairman of the New Orleans Football game project.

Ed Kelly, secretary, made a report on the Lions light bulb sale.

The Hornets sponsored by Sweetlake Construction, won the pre-season tournament, swept regular season play, the playoffs and was victorious in the post-season tournament.

Along the way there were 6 one-hitters pitched and a record 21 bases stolen in one inning of play.

While the Sweetlake nine was averaging 13 scores per game, the opposition managed to score three or less runs.

The Hornets scored 238 runs for the season to their opponents combined scores of 47.

Sparky Myers bested the Hornets in early season play and the Hornets roared back against that team in two later outings by the scores of 15-3 and 11-0.

Head Coach for this year's squad was Frank Brocato. Brocato was assisted by Daniel Poole, J. Brocato and Kevin Faulk.

Cameron Outdoors

This past week, marks fishing like it was years ago, especially when you say "specks". With thunder storms popping up quickly and all around, most offshore fishing is down to a halt, so most anglers are fishing closer to shore or in the cuts and jetties. Big Lake is really producing some nice specks and rat reds.

Just offshore off Rutherford Beach this past week were nice large schools of speckled trout and also rat reds. If you are planning to fish close offshore, the Cameron jetties, Grand Chenier jetties and Joseph's Harbor out of Rockefeller is your best bet, you should pick up some nice speckled trout, redfish and king mackerel. Also don't leave Big Lake out. Most anglers are using grub and tout baits, (white or white and red tail touts) (white or green grubs) and speck and redfish rigs, (white and white) (white and yellow). On your speck or redfish rigs you may also put a piece of shrimp which also helps.

Inland Fishing: Marsh fishing has been slow, but a few nice bass are being reported. I talked with Dennis Taylor this week and he had some real nice 2 and 3 lb. bass, but the beauty was the 6 pounder to go along with his stringer. Dennis is using the gold Johnson spoon with the Uncle Josh pork chunk. These bass were taken in the Big Burn.

Controversy rages over gill nets

By Jesse Knowles
Chairman, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission

Both sport fishermen and commercial fishermen along the Louisiana coast have a problem now in Terrebonne parish. It isn't a new problem. It's the old gill net controversy.

It came to a head in that parish on June 24th when Judge Cleveland J. Marcel, Sr., of the 32nd Judicial District Court in Houma, ruled to quash the case pending by the State of Louisiana against O'Neil Sevin and Gene Trahan, both of Chauvin, La.

Sevin Trahan has been arrested March 24th by Wildlife Agents Richard Breaux and Rhebb Rybisky. They were charged with illegal use of a gill net where prohibited, and using illegal (undersize) nets.

The Department of Wildlife and Fisheries said that Sevin and Trahan contended they were fishing a legal hoop net that was attached to a 1200-foot monofilament gill net; however the fish that were confiscated along with the monofilament netting and the hoop net had been trapped in the gill net.

Sevin and Trahan maintained that the gill net was actually a lead which serves to guide, or lead, fish into a hoop net in waters where hoop nets with leads are legal.

Hoop nets with leads are legal in overflow waters such as the Atchafalaya basin and other areas in central and north Louisiana which are subject to inundation each spring.

Monofilament gill nets are illegal south of a coastal boundary line established by the Louisiana Legislature.

The statute (R.S. 56:322), dealing with the use of netting in saltwater areas, provides for a mandatory fine of $500 and revocation of all fishing and gear licenses for a period of one year for violations of gill nets and use of monofilament.

In his ruling to quash the case, Judge Marcel said "half the waters below the intracoastal canal could well be considered overflow waters" and termed the act "vague, indefinite" and incapable of enforcement.

Judge Marcel was quoted in the June 28th edition of the Houma Daily Courier that if wildlife and fisheries agents arrest fishermen for violating the law, "they could find themselves being sued" for violating the constitutional rights of those arrested.

The Houma Daily Courier of May 12th reported "District Attorney Norval Rhodes has not prosecuted cases in recent years involving hoop nets with monofilament leads because of what he calls a 'loophole' in the law'," and "Rhodes said he cannot charge the so called 'gill metters' with the illegal use of a gill net if they are using - and possess - a valid license for a hoop net.

As chairman of the commission, I set up a meeting with Attorney General William J. Guste, Jr., other commission members and Secretary Guidry and his enforcement chief.

Later that day, acting upon a recommendation of the attorney general, Secretary Guidry issued an order to his enforcement agents not to enforce gill net laws in Terrebonne parish until the matter can be resolved.

The law gets complicated but when District Attorney Rhodes refused to appeal Judge Marcel's ruling to a higher court, the attorney general's hands become tied. He cannot intercede in the parish unless invited to do so.

The present status might be called a stalemate. Enforcement has been suspended in Terrebonne parish, but wildlife agents will make cases in any of the other coastal parishes and violators will not find district attorneys friendly, nor the courts hesitant to enforce the lawy.

Despite what Judge Marcel thinks, the law itself has not been declared unconstitional because it hasn't been tested out of the parish in a higher court. D. A. Rhodes and Judge Marcel won't assist in getting a legitimate court test.

What I hate to see is welling support for a big push next year in the legislature to make speckled trout and redfish game fish like they are in Texas. It would knock a lot of legitimate commercial fishermen out of a good source of income.

Best bet is not to copy the illegal fishermen in Terrebonne. It would only make the push in the legislature next year bigger and more likely to succeed.

Shrimping to end July 24

Shrimping in Zone 3, that area of the Louisiana coast west of Vermilion Bay to the Texas state line and in much of Zone 1, that area east of the Mississippi River to the Mississippi state line, will close at 6 a.m., July 24, according to the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

All closed inside waters will remain closed until 12:01 a.m. Monday, August 16, the third Monday in August as set by Louisiana law.

LOUISIANA'S ELECTRIC CO-OPS.
THE PEOPLE WHO LIT UP THE COUNTRYSIDE.
Did you know that not too many years ago, over 98 percent of the people in rural Louisiana were still living in the Dark Ages. That's because rural Louisiana didn't have electricity! And had it not been for the vision, dedication and hard work of rural leaders, most of Louisiana's countryside would still be in the dark today.
In the late 1930s, the people of rural Louisiana banded together and formed the state's first Rural Electric Cooperatives. With funds borrowed from the Rural Electrification Administration (REA), 13 Electric Co-ops were established to distribute electricity to the far corners of our beautiful state. At that time, less than 2 percent of rural Louisiana had electricity. Today, everyone who wants electric service can have it because of the Co-ops.
The Co-ops own and operate over half of the total miles of power lines in the state and serve one million people. It was the Co-ops who foresaw the critical energy problems years ago and built Louisiana's first coal-fired power plants... a step that will ultimately lead to stabilized electric costs for Louisiana's rural homes, farms, and businesses.
Rural Louisiana is a beautiful place to live, work, and bring up future generations. It's also a place where electric power is readily available because the people of rural Louisiana brought it to themselves through the Rural Electric Co-ops... the people who lit up the countryside 40 years ago, and who will keep the lights on for decades to come.

Governor signs bill on speed limit

Governor David C. Treen said today he has signed into law a bill setting interstate highway speed limits at 65 miles per hour, if the federal government repeals the 55 miles per hour speed limit.

House Bill 47 is by Representative Dastugue and 24 other legislators.

It sets the maximum Interstate speed limit at 65 miles per hour. Another section allows the Secretary of the Department of Public Safety to set a speed limit above the present 55 miles per hour if national speed limits are increased.

Gov. Treen emphasized the bill would become effective only if Congress has repealed the penalties for the 55 miles per hour speed limit by January 1, 1983.

The bonds maturing August 1, 1993, and thereafter are subject to redemption at the option of the District on and after August 1, 1992, in whole at any time upon payment of the principal amount thereof, together with the accrued interest thereon to the date of redemption.

Notice of Redemption. At least thirty days' notice of redemption will be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, and in a financial newspaper or journal published in the city of New York, New York.

Places of Payment. Both principal of and interest on the bonds will be payable at the branch office of Calcasieu-Marine National Bank in Cameron, Louisiana, or at the option of the holder, at the principal office of Cameron State Bank in Cameron, Louisiana.

Payment and Security. The full faith and credit of the District are pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds, and the District is authorized and required to impose and collect annually, in excess of all other taxes, a tax on all the property subject to taxation by the District, sufficient in amount to pay the interest and the principal falling due each year on the bonds.

Bidding Details. Each bid must be on the official bid form furnished by the undersigned and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for $683,000 Waterworks Bonds of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana" and must be directed to the undersigned. Bidders shall specify the rate of interest which the bonds of each maturity shall bear, to be expressed in multiples of one-eighth (1/8) or one-twentieth (1/20) of one percent (1%). Bidders are not restricted as to the number of rates that may be named and any rate named may be repeated, but all bonds maturing on the same date must bear interest at the same single rate from their date to such maturity date. No rate named may exceed fifteen per centum (15%) per annum and the difference between the highest and lowest rates named may not exceed two and one-half percent (2½%). Only one coupon will be attached to each bond for each installment of interest thereon, and bids providing for additional or supplemental coupons will be rejected. No proposals will be considered for less than all the bonds or at a price less than par or which specifies the cancellation of coupons or the payment of any premium offered in anything other than cash. In addition to the price bid, the successful bidder must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of the full payment of the purchase price. Each bid must be unconditional and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check drawn upon a solvent bank or trust company payable to the order of Waterworks District No. Eleven of the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, in the amount of thirteen thousand two hundred sixty dollars ($13,260). Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned promptly after the award of the bonds. The check of the successful bidder will be deposited by the Board of Commissioners, the proceeds of which will be credited to the purchase price on the settlement date or in the event the successful bidder fails to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds, retained by such board as liquidated damages. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of such good faith check.

Award of the Bonds. Prior to the close of business on the day of opening of sealed proposals, the bonds will be awarded to the responsible bidder or bidders offering to purchase the bonds at such rate or rates of interest as will produce the lowest net interest cost to the District over the life of the bonds, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest payable on all of the bonds from their date to their maturities. The right is hereby reserved to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

CUSIP Numbers. It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be imprinted on the filing panel of the bonds, but neither the failure to print any such number on any bonds nor any inaccuracy, error or omission with respect thereto shall constitute cause for failure or refusal by the successful bidder to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms of its bid. No such CUSIP identification number shall constitute a part of the contract evidenced by the particular bond upon which it is imprinted and no liability shall attach to the District or any officer or agent thereof, including any paying agent for the bonds, by reason of such numbers or any use made thereof, including any use thereof made by the Police Jury or the District, any such officer or any such agent, or by reason of any inaccuracy, error or omission with respect thereto or in such use. Except for the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of such numbers, which shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid by the successful bidder, all expenses in relation to the printing of such numbers on the bonds will be paid by the District.

Delivery of Bonds; Payment. Delivery of the fully executed bonds will be made at the expense of the District, at the option of the successful bidder at either the Police Jury Government Building in Cameron Parish, Louisiana, or such trust company mutually agreeable to the District and the purchaser in New Orleans, Louisiana, on August 31, 1982, or as soon thereafter as possible. LeBleu's bill is signed by Treen

Governor David C. Treen is shown with Rep. Conway LeBleu signing into law legislation which gives the state of Louisiana a new source of funds for land acquisition for wildlife management and conservation.

The measure, House Bill No. 333, by Rep. LeBleu of Cameron and others, would allow the state Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to use excess funds in the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge Trust Fund for land acquisition.

"Contributing to the preservation of Louisiana's natural heritage is one of the most significant initiatives a governor can make for future generations," Gov. Treen said. "This legislation will help add to protected areas for wildlife."

The Rockefeller Refuge was donated to the state by the Rockefeller Foundation in 1920. Income from the refuge maintains the preserve.

"It is entirely appropriate that excess mineral income from the refuge go to this worthy cause," Governor Treen said. He signed the bill in his Capitol office.

How we got courthouse

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Camron parish has been known for its bountiful hunting and outstanding hospitality and these traits are likely the reason it has the best known parish landmark, the large beige courthouse standing in the middle of the town square.

The parish erected its very first courthouse in 1874 in the middle of town. It was a two story wooden structure, built box-like with windows all around to take advantage of the Gulf breeze.

The upstairs courtroom contained a wooden table at which the judge sat, simple wooden pews, and an organ (foot pump) which sat in the corner. The organ was to take care of the church services that were also held in the courthouse on Sundays.

A tiny wooden jail, built in similar design to the courthouse was erected in the rear of the old courthouse, with slatted windows and a door key made from an old silver spoon.

In 1937, during the presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the police jury applied for a new courthouse under Roosevelt's public works (WPA) program, one of the many programs instigated during Roosevelt's tenure to put people to work and help bring the country out of its deep depression.

Roosevelt evidenly kept a tight rein over the various projects because it is said that when the local application was received in Washington the directors of the project proposed that a very small courthouse be erected in Cameron parish because of the sparse population. They took note of the fact that Cameron parish was the smallest in population in Louisiana.

The late Senator Allen Ellender later related what took place to his friends in Cameron.

It seems that when Roosevelt heard about the proposed project, he personally took charge and demanded that Cameron parish get the larger building it had requested.

His statement, as related by Senator Ellender, was "I know those people down there. I have hunted at Jim Bonsall's hunting camp adn he is a good friend of mine and they must have their large courthouse. They are good people and deserve it."

So the courthouse project was personally approved by the President of the United States, Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works Project No. La. 1023-D.

Herman J. Duncan & Co., Inc. of Alexandria were the architects and J. Parnel Blair, Lake Charles was the contractor on the building which was erected in 1937.

The police jury at that time was Benson Vincent, president; Alfred Richard, vice president; C. A. Miller, treasurer; J. W. Doxey, secretary; O. J. Thibodeaux, Vian Theriot, Drozan Miller, James B. Savoie, and Eraste Hebert.

The parish officials were: Mark Richard, sheriff; Lionel A. Theriot, clerk of court; J. Whitney Stine, assessor; Mark C. Pickerel and John T. Hood, judges; C. V. Patterson, district attorney; and Thomas W. McCall, superintendent of schools.

Nearly all of them are dead but their names are engraved on a brass plaque in the foyer of the sturdy old courthouse for posterity.

The old courthouse still stands proudly in the middle of the town of Cameron today as it did then, on the very same spot as the original courthouse and jail. The jail today is located on the top floor.

It has changed very little since it was built, other than some renovation and the addition of air conditioning.

It also has the distinction of saving several hundred lives during Hurricane Audrey in 1957, of people who had taken refuge on the upper two floors, since only the bottom floor was flooded.

So through the foresight of the number one man in the United States the courthouse has continued to meed the needs of the parish, even though it no longer has the distinction of being the smallest parish in Louisiana in population.

GARY'S LANDING LOWERY

Lynex and Alice Richard and the Walter Comeaux's had a nice fishing trip, fishing Streeter Canal - 48 white perch, 5 catfish and one nice bass. These were taken on shiners, fishing under the thick chickapia pads. Mrs. Comeaux caught the bass going 4 lbs.

This weekend my wife Glender and I joined them and tried our luck. The fish were not as active, but we caught a few.

LACASSINE REFUGE

Still the same story plenty of growth and hot, but a few brown and bass are being taken. Bream are being taken on live worms, while bass are being taken on spoons with pork chunk and indigo worms.

BIG BURNS

Not too much to report as it's about the same shape as Lacassine, but David George and Terrance Savoie picked up 23 bass this week on the spoon and pork chunk. David told me they were hitting the indigo worm but dropping it. Also, I talked to a couple of lake Charles anglers and they caught 13 bass, 20 or so bream and a couple of white perch in the deep canals, using the lady bugs and the white beatle with the red dot.

OFFSHORE LARRY'S SEAFOOD

Offshore fishing has been good with nice catches of red snapper and king mackerals being caught. Also a couple of lings were taken in the 40 lb. class.

SPECS AND REDS RUDY'S FISH N'STOP

All the reports from Rudy's this week were good as far as speckle trout and redfish were concerned. Rudy and Fred Conner picked up 15 specs this week fishing off the Grand Chenier jetties; Barry Richard and Quenten LeBoeuf picked up 72 specs and redfish at the close offshore platforms. David George and Terrence Savoie pickup up 50 specs and reds fishing the Big Lake up to lake Charles area; Alvin Ray (Foo Foo) Mudd and Kenneth Dupont picked up 68 specs and redfish right offshore; Barry Richard and Kyle Howard also had a nice catch of specs. All together Kyle Howard, Barry Richard, Quenten LeBoeuf and Goose Richard picked up over 300 specs and reds in a two day trip. Most of these catches are taken with the spec or redfish jig double rigs with yellow - white - black, combination of one or two, the tout white or white red and, of course, shrimp.

Sunday Rudy and Fred Conner pulled up 7 rat reds and 18 drum out of Grand Chenier.

TOLEDO BEND

Toledo has been good fishing in the past two or three weeks; 4, 5 and 6 lb. bass are hitting pretty good.

Marilyn and Gilbert (Poo) Landry, Tommy and Gayle Bonsall, Jeffery and Brenda Boudreaux, Claude and Agnes Bonsall, Ual Bonsall, Kirk Landry, Playmate and Dot Theriot, and Billy Richard caught 35 bass and 25 bull bream with Tommy catching one bass going 5-1/4 lbs.

Kenneth Montie and his gang caught some nice bull bream.

Birth

CARL ALVIN CONNER

Mr. and Mrs. James "Butch" Conner announce the birth of a son, Carl Alvin July 8, weighing 7 lbs. 3 oz. at Lake Charles Memorial hospital. They have one other child, James Jr.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Benoit of Cameron and Mrs. Alvin R. Conner of Grand Chenier.

Hospital holds drill on helicopter use

Excitement ran high as the helicopter circled and landed at South Cameron Memorial Hospital. No, it was not a patient brought in from a rig accident. Instead it was a time for employees to learn about safety measures when approaching, leaving a helicopter and while in the air.

Pilot John Fleming talked with the group on the emergency room ramp, stating that the helicopter was safer than driving your car. After explanations and instructions, the employees were taken "up" for a first hand tour.

For most of the employees it was a brand new experience, an experience that will be put to good use if emergency care personnel need to give medical care on the offshore rigs.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

We, as a club and as individuals who spent a wonderful 4th of July weekend in Grand Chenier, Cameron Parish, would like to extend our utmost appreciation to all individuals, church and civic organizations, who gave their time and support to our club in hosting the 4th of July, Cameron Parish Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo for 1982.

Special thanks go to Robert Mhire, who coordinated the onshore activities, Ray Burleigh, who coordinated the Blessing of the Fleet and the boat races and who is always helpful and cooperative, Crain Bros. who furnished supplies and materials for our weigh station, among many other services; Guthrie Perry and Paul Coreil, without their excellent support, this rodeo could not run efficiently, the many, many deputies on duty for the Cameron Parish Police Department, Sheriff's Department, and Wildlife and Fisheries Department, who kept the traffic and parking under control, and all area merchants who opened their establishments longer hours and helped promote our rodeo by selling tickets. We owe them a great debt for being so helpful and cooperative. Last, but not least, we want to thank all the individuals who cooked and took part in the festivities, contests and fishing.

Thanks again for your excellent support and cordial welcome to all of our members.

Sincerely,
CAJUN SALTWATER ANGLERS
