IBM's traveling exhibition of working models recreated from Leonardo da Vinci's sketches of aeronautic, mechanical and hydraulic devices will be on view at the Children's Museum of Lake Charles, 809 Kirby Street, Lake Charles, May 6 through June 19.

The exhibition includes 24 models made of wood, brass and bronze. They are displayed on tables or suspended from the ceiling and can be manipulated by the public.

Leonardo, born in 1452, is best known for his famous paintings, including the Mona Lisa, now in the Louvre in Paris. Many people are not aware of his technological genius recorded in his extensive notebooks.

Using mathematical principles which he believed were the key to all knowledge, Leonardo explored such areas as anatomy, astronomy, botany, zoology, geology, flight, water and landscape.

Designs for a paddle wheel ship, an odometer, a scuba ladder and a pile drive were discovered among his sketches. Leonardo was fascinated with the idea of human flight and devised a helicopter and a flying machine for lofting his Renaissance contemporaries into the skies above Florence and Milan.

The models, based on Leonardo's sketches and drawings, were first built in Milan in 1938. In 1951, IBM commissioned recreations of the original models and began touring the exhibition all over the world.

Alan Kancher, IBM's branch manager in New Orleans, said "The purpose of this exhibition is to introduce young people in particular, but also people of all ages, to the problems of invention, design and the way machines operate. IBM is pleased to sponsor an exhibit that focuses on Leonardo's inventions, as well as his inventiveness."

School tours may be scheduled Tuesdays through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Other groups may arrange tours on Wednesdays from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. The exhibit is open to the general public Wednesdays faram 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m.

Cameron Parish Museum News

By GAY DYSON REEVES
Museum Director

March and April have been busy months for the Cameron Parish Museum.

Jessie A. Daigle, of Cameron, has completed three cassettes of his memories of early Cameron in English, and one cassette in French, to help preserve the Acadian French language of our area. He has also added three new items to our tools of early Cameron display.

Roberta Rogers, of Cameron, brought a pants press for the clothing display, and Maud Reid, of Orange, Tex., sent a collection of photographs of early Cameron residents.

Several pioneer family names are represented in the collection; Doxey, Eagleson, Harper, McCall, Miller, Peveto, and others. These photographs are available for your viewing in our museum album. We hope that more pictures will follow.

Fredman Theriot has crafted a beautiful cypress framed display rack for showing photograph and art collections. It is 6 feet tall and has four wings of pegboard. The cypress base has carved feet and the structure makes a beautiful addition to the collection of crafted items that Fredman has donated to the museum. If you have a photograph collection you would like displayed, we can now do it in style!

Lora Guthrie is collecting art works to compose an exhibit of Cameron Parish artists. If you have done an oil painting, water color, charcoal or line drawing and it is framed and ready for hanging, and you live in Cameron Parish, we would be happy to include it in this collection. These art works will not be judged. They are for the enjoyment of everyone and to exhibit the talents of our parish residents.

Just bring your contribution to the museum on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Naturally, these will be returned to you when the exhibit is completed.

April 24, the Montie family held a reunion in the Cameron recreation center. A committee chairman of the group, Peggy Reyes, brought groups to visit the museum. When you plan such group meetings and wish to add a tour of the museum on days other than Wednesday, just write to Leesburg Museum, P.O. Box D, Cameron, La. 70631, or call 775-5228 to make arrangements.

Storm h beach area

A BEACH REVETMENT project that was nearing completion west of Holly Beach was damaged by a freak storm early Saturday morning. The work was being done to protect the state highway which has been repeatedly damaged in past storms.

Beach street washed out

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"If something is not done soon, Cameron Parish will have no beach left--it is eroding away fast" Rodney Guilbeaux said as he surveyed the damage done by a freak wave last weekend at Constance Beach, west of Holly Beach.

It was 1:30 a.m. Saturday morning when without any warning a 7-foot wave swept into Constance and Holly Beaches, going into all the cabins that had first floors.

Allen Broussard, who owns six houses and rents out summer cabins, awoke to find water and mud a foot deep in all of his buildings.

The weather bureau said that a small low pressure system coming out of the Gulf stalled and pushed the water ashore at 35 miles an hour, and could not have been predicted ahead of time.

The Constance Beach front street, running alongside the beach was completely washed out, and the beach cabins sitting north of the road now have the Gulf of Mexico as their front yard.

Much concern has been voiced locally about the local erosion and the prediction that in the not so distant future there will be no more Cameron Parish because the Gulf is constantly eating away at the land.

The recent wave also did considerable damage to La. Hwy. 82 between Holly Beach and Constance Beach, that runs alongside the Gulf of Mexico, and gets knocked out every time a hurricane passes through.

It is under reconstruction from damage done to it two years ago, when Hurricane Betsy passed through.

The wave action damaged some of the foundation that is in the process of being laid for the rebuilt road.

The beach has now eroded into the Gulf and joins at least two more roads and many beach cottages that have given away to the Gulf since 1957.

[illegible] with other residents of the area are concerned that, even though the southernmost row of houses are the first to go, the whole beach community is slated to go soon if something is not done soon to prevent the erosion.

There are some Federal Studies under way to determine what is needed to be done, but these local residents hope that some action can be started before it is too late for them.

Jury opposes state agency

The Cameron parish police jury went on record Tuesday supporting a legislative bill to abolish the Coastal Management Zone department that has control over all construction and developments in the coastal wetlands.

John Paul Crain, Grand Chenier businessman, contractor and former member of the Louisiana Wildlife Commission, told the jury that the Coastal Zone department has become almost impossible to work with and is delaying projects in the marsh up to several years.

Braxton Blake, Cameron contractor and former police juror, agreed with Crain, and said that the agency was just a "stumbling block that serves no useful purpose."

"What they want to do," Blake declared "is to make Cameron parish a wildlife reserve and move us all out."

Blake said that the agency arbitrarily opposes any new permit and Crain said he knew of some permits that were still pending after three years.

Police Juror George LeBouef said that Rep. Randy Roach had contacted him and asked the jury to support legislation that Roach intended to introduce abolishing the Coastal Zone Agency which they agreed to do.

Bike-a-thon

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced that Mrs. Charlene Boudreaux will chair the hosptial's "Wheels for Life" bike ride in Grand Chenier this spring. This ride will raise funds to support the hospital's battle against childhood cancer and other illnesses being studied there.

The Bike-A-Thon is scheduled for May 14 by the Grand Chenier Homemakers Club.

Meeting reset

The South Cameron Athletic Association has cancelled its Thursday's meeting and has rescheduled it for Tuesday, May 10, at 6:30 p.m. in the Creole Fire Station complex.

All members are urged to attend.

Fr. Shreve to have 25th anniversary

St. Eugene Catholic Church Parish announces a 25th anniversary celebration for Father R. L. Shreve Sunday, May 22. An anniversary mass will be held at 2 p.m. at St. Eugene Catholic Church with a reception following at the American Legion Hall in Grand Chenier.

Father Shreve was born June 22, 1931 in Crowley to Mr. and Mrs. Olaf P. Shreve. He attended schools in Crowley and Lake Charles and graduated from Lake Charles High School in 1950. After serving four years in the U. S. Army, he began studying for the priesthood in 1955.

He attended St. Philiphen in Boston, Mass., Immaculate Minor Seminary in Lafayette, St. Mary's Seminary in Kentucky and St. John's Seminary in Little Rock, Ark. He was ordained on May 25, 1967 [illegible] Schexneider.

Father Shreve served as an assistant pastor at St. John Vienney in Bell City, St. Raphael in Iowa, St. John the Evangelist in Jeanerette, St. Henry in Lake Charles and St. Landry in Opelousas. He was appointed pastor of St. Lawrence Church in Mowata in 1974. In 1977 he was named pastor of St. John Vienney in Bell City and served there for seven years.

Since his appointment in 1984, Father Shreve has been serving as pastor of St. Eugene Parish in Grand Chenier. During this time, he has maintained two churches, St. Eugene and Immaculate Conception Chapel.

Through this means, everyone is invited to attend the celebration in honor of Father Shreve's 25th anniversary in the priesthood.

The Cameron Parish Police Jury at its meeting Tuesday proclaimed Sunday, May 22, as "Father R. L. Shreve Day" in Cameron Parish.

Ethics board opinion sought

(From American Press)

Cameron Parish Treasurer and Administrator E. Garner Nunez has been ordered to present information to the state Ethics Commission relating to allegations of impropriety concerning actions taken over 20 years ago.

Nunez responded to the allegations Tuesday during the regular meeting of the Cameorn Parish Police Jury.

"There have been a couple of personal allegations against me recently in regard to Police Jury operations," Nunez stated. "I would like to publicly explain these matters and let everyone know where everything stands."

Nunez said the one allegation concerns his lease of a Hackberry fish pond to the Police Jury.

In 1964, the Cameron Parish Police Jury leased the 7½ acre pond, located behind the old recreation center in Hackberry, to be used for public recreational purposes. Nunez says he, in turn, bought the pond from Ashburn Roux in 1970 or 1971 for a purchase price of some $1,300.

"In 1978," said Nunez, "a five-year lease was approved by the jury, signed by myself and the jury president and recorded at the courthouse. In 1980, the lease was amended to become an annual lease and that's the way it's been ever since."

Nunez said that each lease

Day of Prayer

Thursday, May 5, has been designated "National Day of Prayer" by President Reagan. The Gulf Coast Tabernacle of Cameron would like to encourage everyone to take time out of their schedule for prayer.

The church will be open to the public all day Thursday.

Benefit set for project

The Tarpon Project, a fund drive to purchase a 12 foot Tarpon mascot statue for South Cameron High School, is nearing the halfway mark. As of May 3, deposits have reached the $2,000 mark. The fish will cost approximately $4,500.

Friday, May 13, will be the first major fund raising activity. The public is invited to a crawfish boil, cake sale and dance at the Creole Fire Station. The meal will cost $5 and will be served from 5 p.m. until. The dance, with music by the Teardrops, will begin at 9 p.m. with the admission at $5 per couple or $3 per individual.

Coach Henry Griffin and his eighth grade homeroom also made a contribution.

Jason Nunez, 17, a senior at Grand Lake High School, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brent Nunez, has been named to represent Louisiana as a Congressional Scholar at the National Young Leaders Conference Post Graduate Program July 26-31, in Washington, D. C.

The Congressional Youth Leadership Council is a non-profit, organizaton guided by a bipartisan honorary board of over 250 United States Senators and Representatives and directed by a staff of professional educators. The goal of the CYLC is to allow a select group of exceptional high school students the opportunity to witness history in the making; to meet the leaders who fundamentally affect the workings of the executive,legislative and judicial branches of the federal government; and to bring to life the American constitutional process.

Vandalism, thefts told at refuge

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Sabine Wildlife Refuge in Cameron Parish has a serious problem and they are asking for help from the public to try and solve it.

The theft and vandalism at the refuge has amounted to over $4,000 the past few years, and it is thought that someone might have information concerning some of it.

The vandalism includes damage to the restrooms at the Nature Trail station south of the refuge, with urinals and water fountains being ripped off the wall, and windows broken. Also a bulldozer has been shot up, a refrigerator, heater, radio and generator have either been damaged or stolen.

There is also a problem with illigal game being taken off the refuge and sold, such as shrimp, redfish, flounder, speckled trout, garfish and crabs.

The "Take Pride in America" project has taken on this special effort to stop the theft and vandalism at the refuge and is asking the public to help in reporting anything they might witness to help.

Arrests and convictions will bring a reward through the Cameron Parish Crime Stoppers program, or Operation Game Thief.

The Operation Game Thief pays rewards to citizens who turn in poachers by calling toll-free to 1-800-442-2511.

Rewards are paid for information which leads to an arrest or a citation being issued, and a conviction in court is not necessary to earn the reward.

The program is administered by the Coordinator of Operation Game Thief, who is an officer of the enforcement of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Shrimping opens 16th

The shrimp trawling season in the state's inshore waters will open at 6 a.m., Monday, May 16, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries announced.

Virginia Van Sickle, department secretary, said the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission had approved a simultaneous statewide opening of all three shrimp management zones on Louisiana's Gulf of Mexico coast.

Kell McInnis, deputy secretary, told the commission that enforcement of shrimping laws would be stepped up at the fishermen's request.

He said 56 wildlife agents and other department personnel would be concentrated along the coastline, more aircraft would be utilized and prosecution of violators would be pressed.

Biologists predicted that this year's catch of brown shrimp would approximate the 1987 haul of 48 million pounds.

MUSING . . .

By Bernice Denny

No group of people could have been more patriotic than were those of Cameron parish when the United States Congress voted in March, 1917, to enter World War I on the side of the Allies.

They subscribed to the Liberty Loan Drive with enthusiasm. Even children were issued books in which to paste their purchased stamps of small denominations. A sufficient number might then be exchanged for a bond.

Wheatless days and meatless days were observed weekly by the most dedicated to the cause of freedom. The object was to free more wheat and meat to be shipped overseas to soldiers at the front.

Posters depicting the cruelty of the Huns and the viciousness of the Kaiser were dispensed widely. They were tacked to the walls of public buildings. Some were displayed in private homes.

On several occasions a crew from Lake Charles brought in an old moving picture apparatus, set it up in the public dance hall in Grand Chenier, put up a temporary screen, and cranked out pictures of war scenes in Europe.

Since there was no electricity in the building light was furnished by lanterns suspended from the ceiling.

Residents from miles around traveled the bumpy roads to view the "movies". Patriotism induced some; sheer curiosity, the others.

One fine old gentleman remarked plaintively, "I want so much to see what our boys are doing across, but I can't go to see the pictures. That contraption showing them is the work of the devil, and I'm not gong to gratify him by giving in to the desires of the flesh."

Women and school children, boys included, gathered to knit socks, mufflers, sweaters — all in khaki yarn — and to roll bandages to be shipped overseas to American forces.

Schools held daily morning assemblies. Children were taught patriotic songs, such as "America", "Battle Hymn of the Republic", "We're Tenting Tonight" and "Pack up your Troubles".

Every home was encouraged to display its national flag in one size or another.

Newspapers, brought in three or four times a week by mailboat, were eagerly read. Knots of men would gather, discuss the news, and prophesy the outcome.

Sad to say, more gold stars appeared in windows throughout the parish. Each family's sorrow was community shared. The whole parish united in a common cause and mutual support.

Its citizens were so sure that it was a "war to end all wars." They expected its end to bring perpetual peace if the Allies won. They really did!

Training is available

A variety of training and employment opportunities are available for individuals 55 and over who may wish to return to the workforce.

The Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) Older Individual Program is the most comprehensive and is available in every parish. This program offers economically disadvantaged persons 55 and over opportunities for resume' writing, interviewing skills, employment counseling, occupational classroom training, work experience in public agencies, and on-the-job training in the private sector.

The most important focus of the program is the valuable partnership between government and the private sector. The employer is reimbursed 50% of the participant's wages while providing training for that individual. The employer then has a trained, experienced individual to assist with the operation of this business.

Another important employment and training program is the Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP), provided for in the Older American's Act. This program offers employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged persons 55 and over in community settings. The SCSEP pays all of the salary, while public agencies provide meaningful work opportunities for older individuals.

A new program which has been piloted in 27 of the 64 parishes since February 1988 is the Dislocated Older Worker Program, provided for in the Job Training Partnership Act. The purpose of this program is to locate persons 55 and over who may have been let go from their jobs for various reasons and who may have limited opportunities for re-employment. Training and placement assistance are provided for older individuals in demand occupations.

For more information on these programs contact the Cameron Council on Aging.

Five players get academic honors

By ROBERT MANUEL

Five senior basketball players from Cameron Parish received academic all state recognition from the Louisiana High School Athletic Association.

To be considered for the honor, a player must be a senior, have at least a 3.0 grade point average in the three previous school sessions, and must have been selected first or second team or honorable mention all-district basketball player.

Johnson Bayou High School placed three players on the academic all state team, while South Cameron High School had two.

Kris Rutherford, with a 3.3, is already committed to Nichols State Univesity. Her major will be early childhood education. Her parents are Leland and Carolyn Rutherford.

Beach job is damaged

A 2½ mile revetment project to protect Hwy. 82 between Holly Beach and Constance Beach was badly damaged by a freak storm that hit the area early Saturday morning.

Danny Manuel, co-owner of Bayou Contractors of DeQuincy, said the $2.5 million project was about 98 percent complete when the storm hit. His firm had been working on the state project since January.

Manuel said he was meeting with state officials and that he expected that they would authorize repairs to the project.

The project consists of laying large mats of concrete blocks joined by cables along the beachside of the road to keep the Gulf from eating into the roadway.

Hwy. 27 has been badly damaged by recent hurricanes and there is a danger that the entire highway will be lost in some future storm if the erosion cannot be stopped.

Meeting set

The Creole Extension Homemakers Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, May 10, at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Mayola Wicke. Serving as co-hostess will be Mrs. Earline Baccigalopi.

Among summer activities to be discussed will be the club's annual outing to be scheduled for sometime in June.

Officers named

Officers elected by the South Cameron Elementary 4-H Club were: Brandi Sturlese, president; Larica Boudreaux, vice-president; Mike Savoie, secretary; Jennifer Savoie, treasurer; Andrea Miller, reporter; and Parliamentarians, Jerry Trahan and Laurie Bonsall. They will serve for 1988-89.

The election committee, Shelly Broussard, Christine Brown, Renella Boudreaux, and Jason LaBove, conducted the election.

Bader gets recognition

An officer of the Lake Charles Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol received the prestigious CAP Brewer Award at the annual Louisiana Wing Conference in Alexandria Saturday and Sunday.

Capt. Gerry Bader of Sulphur is the cadet Aerospace Education Officer and Administrative Officer for the Squadron. She is employed by the Cameron Parish School Board.

The Lake Charles Squadron received two other awards: the Outstanding Composite Squadron and No. 1 in aerospace training.

The voluntary organization has provided youth aerospace education, emergency services and air search to the area for the last 46 years.

THE SOUTH Cameron Elementary 4-H Club held a T-Shirt Decorating contest. The winners were first, Kristi Dupuie; second, Larica Boudreaux; third, Jami Pinch and honorable mention, Danielle Shay.

Funding sought for Cameron parish projects

By DINAH VAUGHN, DIRECTOR
Cameron Community Action Agency

In the midst of financial uncertainty and state budget cuts the Cameron Community Action Agency is striving to secure funding for the low income persons of Cameron Parish.

The agency has applied for federal grants to supplement existing programs and establish new ones. Grant proposals for over $100,000 have been submitted within the last two weeks.

Through survey and research data collected, the agency was able to secure additional funds for the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program. Eligible low income persons will now be able to secure assistance with utility bills.

The agency received a grant for "Homeless" persons and were successful in placing 59 homeless people in residences during the month of April.

In the next month the Community Action Agency will weatherize approved homes through the Weatherization Program. Only a small amount of funding is available at this time with a possible future increase.

The staff members of the Community Action Agency, Dinah Vaughn, Director, Gaile Wolfe, Office Manager and Frankie Campbell, Community Services Worker, are seeking resources to replenish those that are exhausted.

The agency will host a Grants Writing Seminar for foundation grants writing in July. All persons who are interested in participating should call 775-5145 before June 15. There will be a tuition charge.

Shrimpers suffer

By Loston McEvers

PRICES HURT OUR FISHERMEN

Some of the news I got this week was not so good for our commercial people. The shrimp houses are reporting that not many shrimp coming in from offshore and the price is not too good. Some of the buyers are having trouble reselling their shrimp, because of prices. It seems as though the overseas prices are cutting our American prices real bad.

I also was told that some of the oyster buyers have a good many sacks of oysters they're having a hard time selling. In fact, some can't seem to get rid of them at a right price, after all they paid a good price to the fishermen.

Going to fishing in our area marshes. Bass is still tough, but still good catches reported. I think more people are fishing the deep canals in the Big Burns and catch bream and white perch. The marsh is getting a littl low on water and makes the going tough.

The reports I got from Sabine and Lacassine are about the same as the Big Burns. I did get a report of some nice catfish being caught in Lake Misere and Lacassine Bayous.

SOMETHING AROUND THE U.S.A.

In the state of Kentucky, they have what they call a "Master Angler Award." To be eligible for this award, one must catch three different species of trophy-size fish. As of now there are only three in the state to qualify.

Among the three persons to qualify is a fifty-three year old woman, Geneva Melvin, of Canmer, Kent., Kentucky's first female master angler.

Mrs. Melvin's catches include a 40 pound flathead catfish; a 9 pound channel catfish and an 11 pound shortnose garfish. All of these were caught from Nolin Lake, Kentucky, and she caught these fishing from the family's houseboat.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

There's a saying that you can predict the weather by a rainbow. A morning rainbow usually means rain before the day is over, but when you see a rainbow in the evening, look for fair weather next day. Maybe so, I don't know.

How many times have you been fishing and the blackflies just eat away all day long? Makes a miserable fishing trip. Well, here's a recipe you may want to try.

Eat a yeastcake. Some people claim the yeast does something to the body chemistry that causes the skin to exude an odor that flies don't like which in turn keeps them off of you and no biting below the ankles.

Cry From The Mountain will be shown Sunday night, May 8, at 6 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Cameron. The film is a family adventure set in the majestic wilderness of Alaska.

In the film, a father takes his son on a camping trip so that he can gently break the news that he and his wife are getting a divorce. Events take a dramatic turn when the father is seriously injured in a kayaking accident and the son must seek the help of an old hermit. Billy Graham appears as himself with a message of hope.

No admission will be charged; a love offering will be taken.

Attention
ALL Beef Producers:
May 10th Determines Your Future

In this year of elections, the last thing you need is someone else talking to you about politics or your responsibility to other beef producers. It's a busy time of the year, and you've got your mind on your operation, not on going to town.

But, on Tuesday, May 10th, if you don't stop for a few minutes, go to your Parish Extension Office and vote, you'll miss the referendum that decides the fate of the Beef Checkoff Program.

Just a couple of years ago, our industry was being beaten up, and we were backing up . . . taking it. But we got our backs up and did something. We drew a line in the dust. We began to fight back. And you know what . . . it's working. Many people are eating beef more often, and the newspaper headlines read that beef is coming back.

Now, we're not telling you how to vote. That's your business. But, on Tuesday, May 10th, the National Beef Checkoff Program is going to continue, or it's going to stop dead in its tracks. It's totally up to you. So take a trip to your Parish Extension Office and vote. You'll be glad you did.

Vote May 10th

Season to end on commercial speck season

The commercial harvest of speckled trout (spotted seatrout) in state territorial waters will be closed at midnight, Friday, May 6, and remain closed through midnight, Aug. 31, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries announced.

The closure prohibits the commercial harvest, purchase, barter, trade and sale of spotted seatrout taken from Louisiana waters after the effective date of the closure, but does not prohibit dealers from possessing spotted seatrout legally taken prior to the date of the closure if appropriate records are maintained.

Virginia Van Sickle, Secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries, said the action was taken as a result of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission's directive established at its April 29, meeting in New Orleans and the legislative mandate which established a one million pound annual quota for spotted seatrout.

Road building

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, May 6, 1921)
CAMERON ROAD BUILDING

H. W. Guthrie, road contractor for 18 years, says they have more mileage and a better class of roads than he has ever seen built for the money.

Mr. Guthrie built a graded dirt road from Grand Lake to Sweetlake, a distance of more than 22 miles, under contract let last year at 30 and 35 cents per yard.

McCorquiodale & Sons of Lake Charles built about six miles near Grand Lake and 12 to 15 miles of fine roads in the Sweetlake section.

(Lake Charles American Press, May 4, 1928)
HACKBERRY WELL STAR PERFORMER

The Yont-Lee Oil Company's No. 10 State Well in the Hackberry field, which came in Saturday evening, appears to be in line for becoming the star performer for that new oil producing territory, maintaining a steady flow of pipe line oil at the rate of 2200 barrels a day. The oil is of 22.5 gravity.

The success of Yont-Lee in bringing in this well at a depth of less than 4,000 feet, with its location being within a stone's throw of the Caclasieu Oil Company's No. 3 Caldwell that is preparing to drill deeper, following an unsatisfactory test around a depth of 4,000 feet, is looked upon by some of the oil men as likely to indicate just how sharp the break is on the flank of the dome on that side.

agreement was fully authorized by the Police Jury and is on public file at the courthouse. He added that the matter has been scrutinized via some 24 annual audits.

"As soon as I found out about these allegations," said Nunez, "I went to (District Attorney Jerry Jones) and asked him to check into it. He said he could find nothing criminally wrong."

Even still, Nunez said that he has terminated the lease with the jury.

Nunez has been involved with Nunez Insurance Agency since late 1964 or early 1965 with his partner Adam G. Nunez.

Allegations against the administrator apparently involve a hospitalization insurance transaction which took place in the mid-1960s when the parish obtained hospitalization covereage from Aetna Life Insurance Co.

Nunez pointed out that the Police Jury's insurance committee approved and ratified the action at the time and that this transaction has also been audited some 25 times and is also part of the public record.

"We've had no negative comments from the state legislative auditor in the last 25 years," Nunez said. "We have probably handled in excess of $250 million since I've been here. We not only account for each dollar, we account for each penny."

After closeting themselves for a nearly hour-long executive session, jurors instructed Nunez to provide and submit complete and detailed information on both matters to the state Ethics Board as soon as possible for an opinion.

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Johnson Bayou High School boys track team, with a lot of hard work, dedication and school and community support, marched right up to the top of the award stand to claim the Class C Team State Championshp trophy in Baton Rouge, Saturday.

In the girls division, Pleasant Hill won the team title with 56½, followed by Phoenix with 52 and the Lady Rebels in third place with 46¼ and Atlanta, fourth with 46 points.

Individual event winners were Ricky Harrington, Dale Jinks and Scott Sandifer and Nathan Delino and Kent Leger got second places.

Harrington improved his poll vault record to 14 feet and also captured the high hurdle title. Jinks took the javelin throw while Sandifer took the title in the triple jump, placed third in the high jump and fourth in the shot put. Delino was runner-up in the pole vault and Leger closed in strong for a second place in the 400 meters.

Angie Trahan took second in the discus and heaved the shot over 36', an improvement of over 3' from her previous best, to capture that title. Cherelle Duhon took a second in the 100 meter hurdles and Stephanie Vining soared 4'10" for a second in the high jump.

Other parish athletes represented in Friday's State AA, A, and C meet were South Cameron's Willie Jackson. Jackson captured third place in the triple jump with a jump of 44 feet plus.

Employees feel crunch

BY JERRY WISE

Cameron parish school employees Monday began feeling the effects of the state's money crunch when they learned they will have to pay the state's share of their hospitalization insurance for two and a half months with only a hope the money will be reimbursed later.

The Cameron parish school board was told that the state has not paid its share for the last half of April and for May and June and the board reluctantly agreed that this cost will have to be passed along to the employees until the state reinstates the supplement.

The state's share after a May 1 rate increase is $48.80 for an employee, $103 for an employee and spouse and $130 for family coverage.

Board Member Dan Dupont said the board could not afford to make up the difference especially in light of the proposed cuts in the Minimum Foundation Program which is expected to cost the parish about $1.45 million.

In another insurance matter, the board voted to award its liability insurance to the Titan Insurance Co. for a total premium of $21,132 which will provide $5000,000 in coverage with $10,000 deductible.

In other business the board voted to pay the air fare and registration for Jason Nunez of Grand Lake to attend the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington in July.

A resolution was adopted commending the Johnson Bayou high school boys and girls track teams who won first and third place, respectively, in the State Class C meets last week.

The board authorized advertisement for bids for repairs and remodeling at several parish schools this summer.

Nov. 8, national election day, was added to the school calender as a holiday next semester.

Resignatins: Kim Keuhn, Cameron Elementary, Special Education Teacher; Brian McDowell, Johnson Bayou High, Teacher/Coach; Rene McDaniel, Johnson Bayou High, Home Ec.-Science Teacher.

The Cameron Parish Civil Defense personnel will begin preparation for the upcoming hurricane season when the parish hurricane preparedness meeting is held at 7 p.m Wednesday, May 18, at the Cameron Community Center behind the courthouse.

Rod Perkins of the National Weather Service and Steve Bray, TV weatherman, both of Lake Charles, also have been invited, Picou stated.

The parish's Civil Defense Agency was organized following Hurricane Audrey in 1957 and has been involved in all hurricane evacuations since then. CD members staff a headquarters in the court house during such storm threats.

Book features cheniers

By JERRY WISE

The new book, "LOUISIANA PARADISE, The Chenieres and Wetlands of Southwest Louisiana", is certain to become a best seller in Cameron Parish because its subject is the wetlands and their citizens of Cameron, Vermilion and Iberia parishes.

This is a gorgeous book, containing a large number of full color photos of this area, plus a wide variety of stories of the area, including Cheniere au Tigre, Grand Cheniere, the wildlife refuges, trapping, cattle raising, alligator hunting, waterfowl hunting, oil exploration, etc.

The 129 page book is authored by Amanda Sagrera Hanks, a retired Vermilion Parish teacher and librarian, who began her education as a teacher in a two-room school in 1934 on Cheniere au Tigre in Vermilion Parish. In 1941 she married Dallas Hanks and afterwards she taught school in Abbeville and Kaplan before retiring with 41 years of service.

She has previously co-authored with Zoe and John Lynch, "Gros Rat", the first of a series of children's books.

The opening chapter gives a brief history of the Louisiana cheniers from the time of the early Indians, down through the early settlement to the present time.

There is a fine section on Cheniere au Tigre giving its history along with many full color pictures taken by Mrs. Hanks. There are some old photos showing the old Cheniere au Tigre school and the mud baths at the health resort on the island years ago.

A reprinted circular on the Cheniere au Tigre Summer Resort listed the daily board and lodging rates at $1.50.

Another section deals with Cameron Parish and has two full color photos of the marsh being burned.

In the portion of the book on "Personalities", there are portrayals of John J. Lynch, of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service; E. A. McIlhenny of Avery Island, "the father of Louisiana conservation," Lenora Vaughan, "memorable

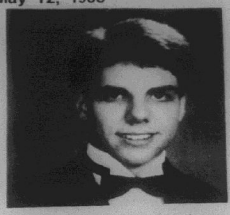
Summer classes



English and math classes will be offered at a summer school to be held this year at South Cameron High School, it was decided at the monthly meeting of the Cameron Parish School Board Monday.

High School Supervisor Adam Conner estimated that there would be about 33 students each for an English II and an Algebra I class. These would be students who have failed these subjects in the past and will need them next year to get their diplomas.

He said that summer school is expected to cost the board about $10,000, but students will be required to pay a fee of $100 for one subject and $50 for a second subject.

Conner said that he made a survey to see if a summer school was needed to serve the Hackberry-Johnson Bayou area but that the number probably will be too small. Students in those areas can go to Sulphur for summer school if need be.

The board discussed setting a minimum of students that would be needed for a class, and it was generally agreed that this would be five students.

DAVID W. CART has been named a United States National Award winner by the United States Achievement Academy in Science. He was nominated for this award by Mrs. Frances Hill, Science teacher at South Beauregard High School. He is the son of Larry and Gloria (LeDoux) Cart, formerly of Cameron. His grandparents are Joseph L. LeDoux of Ragley and Mrs. Ralph W. Cart of Strange Creek, W. Va.

New program

Of interest to rural landowners of Cameron Parish should be the Water Bank Program, a program designed to encourage farmers and landowners to help preserve migratory waterfowl producing wetlands.

Kirk Moore, County Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Cameron Parish, stated that sign-up for the program will begin May 16, 1988 and continue through June 3, 1988.

The Water Bank Program is a type of partnership between the landowner and the government which is of direct benefit to the sportsman. The main project objective is to maintain wetlands and adjacent areas needed for nesting and breeding places for migratory waterfowl. In Cameron Parish, the main objective will be on the restoration of wetlands.

Landowners participating in the Water Bank Program in Cameron, agree to restore the wetlands to their natural state and not clear, drain or burn off the land for the period of the agreement. The agreements are for a period of ten years. Landowners can put eligible wetlands into the program and receive $10 per acre for the wetlands.

Moore explained that Cameron Parish will be participating in the Water Bank Program in 1988 for the first time.

CATTLE DYING IN CAMERON

Any automobile party returning to Lake Charles from Cameron Parish recently reports that cattle are dying on the range as a result of the several weeks drought. Crops are suffering in all parts of Southwest Louisiana. Unless rain falls within the next few days, the situation will become very serious. It is estimated that fully 20 percent of the rice crop in Southwest Louisiana has been damaged already.

(Abbeville Meridional, May 13, 1911)

LAKESIDE LACONICS

We have had fine rains and a little dry weather would be much appreciated, and the lower places need a drying out. The lake has come up quite a bit and many fear another high water if the rains do not stop.

We have corn in tassel and will shortly have tomatoes and cucumbers; snap beans are plentiful and fresh potatoes have gone down to $1 per bushel.

A boat load from the Chenier swamped Lake Arthur.

We received the sad news of the death of Mr. Doxey, of Grand Chenier. He had been sick for several months but the end came very suddenly and unexpectedly. He leaves a wife, an aged father and five children in a sad and lonely home. He was in the prime of life and seemingly had many more years of usefulness before him.

District Court News

Judge H. Ward Fontenot handed down sentences in 38th Judicial District Court last week:

Guilty pleas were accepted from four men for taking oysters from a closed, polluted area, and each was fined $250; Timothy M. Taylor, 28, Sulphur; Jessie F. Roberson, 38, St. Elmo, Ala., and Michael P. Frederick, 34, and James Toureau, 31, both of Cameron.

Kerry D. Rojas, Sr., 43, Baratarian, Ala., pleaded guilty to trawling in closed outside waters and was fined $250.

In a companion case David ynn Hatley, 32, Panama City, Fla., pleaded guilty to theft of a case of beer from a local food store and was fined $250; possession of marijuana, for which he was fined $300; and for resisting an officer, for which he was sentenced to two days in jail, all time to run concurrently.

David C. P. Olsen, 24, Lumberton, Tex., pleaded guilty to illegal possession of stolen things (the beer mentioned above) and was fined $150, and also, driving under suspension, for which he was sentenced to one week in jail.

William R. Barry, 27, Hackberry, pleaded guilty to D.W.I. and was fined $400, plus ten days; the ten days to be suspended on the serving of two days in jail or 4 8-hour days of community service; also, he was assessed a fine of $100 for resisting an officer; and $100 for simple criminal damage to property (by pulling the iron bars out of the wall in the detaining room of the Cameron Sheriff's office.)

Benefit set

A benefit to raise funds to pay for the gasoline and insurance for the Food on Wheels for the elderly will be held May 7, and 21, at the Creole Community Center. Everyone is invited.

In the section on "The Human Impact", there are stories and photos of the discovery of the Spanish shipwreck off the Cameron coast, the discovery of oil in Southwest Louisiana, the Intracoastal Canal, the Cameron jetties, Intracoastal City and Freshwater City, the cypress swamps, beach erosion, etc.

Another section contains letters written by Mrs. Hanks' mother, Zoe Cessac Sagrera, to Mrs. Hanks and her husband during World War II when they were working in Wahington, D. C. The letters tell of the day to day life on Cheniere au Tigre.

In the appendices there is a fascinating group of lists pertaining to this area--birds of the Chenieres, boats "familiar to the wetlands," the names of bayous from Cheniere au Tigre to Pecan Island, names of lakes in the area, names of man-made canals, ditches and ponds; the names of Cheneries and island, names of large land holders in Southwest Louisiana, names of beaches, ridges and points; names of common plants and trees on the chenieres; cheniere medicinal plants and remedies; the names, dates and number of deaths of hurricanes that have hit the areas since 1856.

There is even lists of residents of Belle Isle, Cheniere au Tigre, Pecan Island, etc.

A bibliography lists about 100 books and articles on the cheniere area and there are large end cover maps showing the chenier area of Cameron, Vermilion and Iberia parishes.

The books is oversized, about 9 by 11 inches and has a hard cover with a beautiful marsh sunset on it.

The book was not intended to be a complete history and guide to the Louisiana chenieres, and more detail is given to the Cheniere au Tigre area than to the other chenieres. Also the topics are only partially covered with probably some other equally interesting areas not touched.

But after granting these limitations, one has to agree that this is probably the best all around book that has ever been written about the chenieres. Mrs. Hanks has put together a fascinating collection of stories, biographies, lists, photos, etc. dealing with the area.

The book was published by the Center for Louisiana Studies, University of Southwestern Louisiana, P.O. Box 40831, Lafayette, La. 70504 and can be ordered from that address at $20 per copy.

Considering the quality of the book, the many full color photos and the historical subjects covered, the book is a bargain and is one that you will want to buy and pass along to your children and to your grandchildren.

Redfish & Specks

By Loston McEvers

REDFISH & SPECS BACK IN NEWS

The redfish and speckled trout, the most sought after saltwater fish by both commercial and sports fishermen are back in the news again. I guess these two fish have stirred up lots of trouble along the way.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission passed an emergency measure last week to again impose the ban on commercial redfishing until August 31. The original ban would have lifted May 14. This emergency measure takes effect May 14.

The Commission also voted to ban commercial fishing for speckled trout in Louisiana waters. The ban takes effect on Friday, May 6 at midnight and will run until August 31.

The closure prohibits the commercial harvest, purchase, barter, trade and sale of spotted seatrout (speckled trout) taken from Louisiana waters after the effective date of the closure. It does not prohibit any dealers from having speckled trout in possession, if they were legally taken before the closure. Records of proof have to be maintained.

BASS & CRAPPIE

During their meeting, the Louisiana Wildlife Commission authorized their staff members to continue working toward an agreement with Texas on creel limits for black bass and crappie on Toledo Bend and Caddo Lakes.

The proposed agreement calls for a limit of 10 black bass, 12 inches long or longer. It also calls for a limit of 50 crappie (white perch).

SHRIMP SEASON

Our annual spring brown shrimp season will open Monday, May 16 at 6 a.m. for inshore waters. All three zones under Shrimp Management on the Gulf Coast will open.

It doesn't appear good as of now as the shrimp are too small, but by Louisiana law, the spring shrimp season must not open later than May 25.

According to biologists' predictions this year's catch of brown shrimp would approximate the 1987 haul by 48 million pounds. They said that on opening day, the percentage of marketable size shrimp of at least 100 to the pound, would range from 45 percent in the centrally located Zone 2, to 1 percent in Zone 1 on the east and zero percent in Zone 3 on the west, which is our area. They claim conditions for shrimp growth were improving daily. However, my own thought is that our local shrimpers don't have much to look forward to on opening day.

AREA FISHING

I think Lacassine and Sabine Refuges are producing more and better fish than our area Big Burns are. The bass on the Burns have not really turned on yet, however, Phillip Trosclair did catch a five pounder last week and then released it to have another chance at it another time.

Speckled trout activity has been picking up on the south end of Big Lake, but are also being taken on the north end of the lake and on the LNG Canal. They are catching quite a few in number but the size is running small.

Going back to the Big Burns, now is the time to take a child fishing as goggle eye has been good in the canals.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB NEWS

The club will hold two tournaments during the month of May. The first tournament is a draw-partner tournament and here are the partners.

Anthony Nunez and Phillip Trosclair; Darrell Boudoin and Keno Nunez; Carl Broussard and J. C. Boudreaux; Rudy McEvers and Gerald Richard; Tom Hess and Fredman Theriot; A. B. Richard and Michael Trahan and Ricky Canik fishing by himself.

This tournament will take place Sunday, May 15.

The second tournament will be on May 29 also on a Sunday. It will be the family tournament. Here's how it goes:

Husband, wife and children under 18 or still in high school; member and girlfriend or member and child (his or someone elses, under 18 or still in high school). You may have only two adults in a boat but you can have a child or more than one child in the boat with you.

OFFICAL PLEADS GUILTY

An Assistant District Attorney from Allen Parish pleaded guilty last week in Federal Court, to violating state game regulations.

He was initially charged with conspiracy to make false statements within the jurisdiction of the U. S. Wildlife and Fisheries Service, to take and attempt to take migratory game birds during a closed season. He took 23 wood ducks.

The defendant pleaded guilty to taking the wood ducks and the other charges were dropped. The maximum penalty for the offense is a $600 fine and/or six months in jail. U. S. Magistrate, John Simon, suspended any jail time but fined the defendant $500. The defendant was also put on five year's supervised probation and must also pay $25 to the Crime Victim's Fund. Simon took away the defendants hunting privileges for the length of this probation.

Members Present - Edwin Quinn, E. J. Dronet, Bryon Richard, and Gary Kelley.

Members Absent: None.

Others Present: J. B. Watts, Engineer Lonnie Harper, J. Berton Daigle, Jay Dinger representing Equipment Rentals, George LeBoeuf representing Lake Charles Diesel, Floyd Baccigalopi, and Guidry Savoie.

A motion was made by Bryon Richard, seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the Regular Meeting of February 16, 1988.

A motion was made by Gary Kelley, seconded by Bryon Richard, and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the month of February, 1988.

A motion was made by Bryon Richard, seconded by W. F. Henry, Jr., and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment:

1. Lonnie Harper & Asso., Inc. $2,310.00
2. Lonnie Harper & Asso., Inc. 743.57
3. Lonnie Harper & Asso., Inc. 550.95
4. Lake Charles Diesel, Inc. 38.81
5. Equip. Rentals Sales and Service 8,723.38
6. Larfay Ancelet Dragline 6,755.80

Mr. Jay Dinger, representing Equipment Rentals Sales and Service Inc., presented the last estimate on Project No. 1986-06-02 W-1 West Pump Station. He stated that the Pump Station is completed and ready to begin operation with the exception of installation of a level indicator flow switch that cuts the pump off. Mr. George LeBoeuf of Lake Charles Diesel assured the Board that the switch is ordered and will be installed tomorrow or the next day. Mr. Dinger invited Board Members to come to the W-1 West Pump Station site after the meeting to see the pump in operation.

A motion was made by Bryon Richard, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to accept as complete Project No. 1986-06-02 with Equipment Rentals Sales & Service, W-1 West Pump Station.

Engineer Harper reported concerning Project No. 1987-06-01, Drainage Lateral in West Creole Area, that Mr. Ancelet has one culvert yet to install. He also stated that we may need to contact the State to clean out culverts in a couple of areas. He stated that we probably will ask the parish to do a little culvert work there also.

Mr. Guidry Savoie complained to the Board about lack of drainage on his property. It was agreed that the Drainage Board will write a letter to A. J. Bergeron, Cotham Royalties, Ltd., requesting that they change the culvert at the intersection of Parish Road #350 and oilfield road to Vallette No. 1, adjacent to their N. Creole facility, and replace it with a 24" aluminum culvert with aluminum flapgate.

Mr. J. Berton Daigle said that most people are well pleased with Drainage Lateral in the West Creole area. However, he stated that one small portion of his property water is backing up and does not drain properly. It should flow west, but it doesn't and is actually partially stopped up. The parish says these ditches cannot be cleaned out because the fence is too close to the road. He asked the Drainage Board for any assistance they can give with this problem.

Mr. Floyd Baccigalopi stated that his property along the main drainage ditch has been flooded since November. It was uncertain what the cause is for this flooding. Perhaps W-1 West Drainage Canal should be checked for stoppage. Lonnie Harper stated that a Coastal Use Permit would be required to clean out W-1 West. He will apply for such a permit and will also work up an estimate on a price for cleaning it.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Beach Cleanup Day is Sept. 24

A second annual "Beach Cleanup Day" will be held in Cameron parish and other coastal parishes on Saturday, Sept. 24, it was announced at the Cameron Parish Police Jury meeting last week by the parish coordinator, Ed Kelley.

Kelley, who also headed the cleanup last year, said the cleanup would be expanded to all of the states on the Gulf of Mexico from Florida to Texas this year and will have the slogan. "Take Pride, Gulfwide."

He noted that the cleanup was very successful last year with 1500 persons taking part in the effort in Cameron parish.

Kelley said that parish beaches have remained cleaner than usual since the cleanup and that there isn't as much plastic material on the beaches as in the past.

He noted that Mobil Oil Co. has adopted Martin Beach to keep clean and that international agreements are being made to get ships not to throw debris overboard.

He urged the jurors to continue to cooperate with the program and asked them personaly to get out and help with the cleanup on Sept. 24. He noted that Governor Buddy Roemer took part in the Cameron Cleanup last year while running for governor.

Kelley also reported that the "Adopt-A-Road" cleanup program was continuing in the parish and thanked E. J. Dronet for furnishing the plastic bags for the Lions Club section of the highway.

Refreshments were served to all after Mass sponsored by the Evans Mhire K of C Council.

By Nell Colligan, R. N.

When a child is bitten by a dog, most parents are unsure what is the best course of action to take. Unfortunately, they often do what comes naturally--shoot the dog and ask questions later.

Whenever possible, the dog should be kept alive and under observation by the appropriate animal control agency. If the animal has been killed, the body should not be destroyed. it should be turned over to the local health authorities for disposition. (The head will be refrigerated, not frozen, until testing can be done.)

Dog bites vary in extent from slight contusions, superficial abrasions, and fang puncture wounds, to deep tearing lacerations if the animal or the victim attempts to pull away.

Treatment: (1) contusions usually require no treatment provided the skin is not broken. (2) Abrasions and puncture wounds require thorough local treatment followed, if indicated, by specific debriedment, irrigation and closure, protection against tetanus, and consideration of the need for protection against rabies.

Pastor will have his 25th anniversary

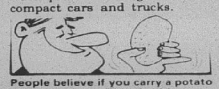
Following the Mass, a public reception will be he'd in Father Shreve's honor in the American Legion hall in Grand Chenier.

Father Shreve was ordained for the Diocese of Lafayette on May 25, 1963, by Bishop Maurice Schexnayder.



Father Shreve has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for more than 20 years, and is chaplain of Evans P. Mhire Council 8324 in Grand Chenier. He is also a member of Msgr. Peters Assembly of the Fourth Degree.

He is chaplain of two veterans organizations, Grand Chenier Post 364 of the American Legion and Cameron Post 1019 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Shrimp season is postponed

The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission on Tuesday gave its approval to a delay in the opening of the 1988 brown shrimp seasonin two areas of the state's coastal waters.

Earlier this year, the commission had approved a May 16, opening date for zones I, II and III.

But shrimpers in zone I in the eastern section of the coast and zone III in the western sections protested, saying biological date indicated that shrimp in those zones would be too small for harvest.

Legislators approved resolutions calling for a delay and Virginia VanSickle, the state's secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries, issued an emergency order last week to postpone the opening in zones I and III until May 25.

In other action Tuesday, the commission gave formal notice that it intends to adopt "goose creeping" regulations this year that will be similar to regulations it approved last year.

The regulations are designed to prevent hunters from sneaking up on resting flocks of geese and shooting into the flock.

McCall named to wildlife board

Norman McCall, 64, of Cameron, owner of a fleet of crew and utility boats, has been appointed as a member of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission by Gov. Buddy Roemer and attended his first commission meeting Tuesday in Baton Rouge.

He succeeds Butch Crain of Grand Chenier who had represented the parish on the commission for a number of years during Gov. Edwards' administration. Cameron parish, because of its many wildlife and fisheries concerns, always has had a seat on the commission.

A native of Grand Chenier, McCall graduated from Grand Chenier High School and attended Louisiana Tech before entering service in World War II. He volunteered for the Navy and attended submarine school.

He served three years on the U.S.S. Jack and had seven successful war patrols on that vessel.

After the war, he went to work for Pure Oil Company as a deckhand and worked his way from boat captain to port captain. After the company was sold to Union Oil, McCall went into the boat business for himself and he and his family now own and operate 32 crew and utility vessels that work from Mobile, Ala., to Port O'Conner, Tex.

Norman McCall

He served as a Cameron Parish police juror for four years and is a former member of the West Cameron Port, Harbor & Terminal District board.

He serves on the Parish Election Supervisors board and was formerly on the parish Selective Service Board.

McCall is married to the former Joyce Colligan and they have three children and five grandchildren.

Ambulance tax vote scheduled

A 4-mill tax will be voted on by residents of lower Cameron parish on July 16, to finance ambulance service in the recently created South Cameron Ambulance District.

The special election was called by the Cameron Parish Police Jury at a special meeting last Thursday evening.

The 10-year maintenance tax will provide operating funds for the ambulance district which is the same as the South Cameron Memorial Hospital district, covering the Grand Chenier, Creole, Cameron, Holly Beach and Johnson Bayou areas of the parish.

Ambulance service was provided by a parish funeral home up until some years ago when new government regulations made it too costly for the firm to offer the service.

Since then ambulance service has been provided by the South Cameron Memorial Hospital. However, with declining revenues due to oil and gas slump in the parish the hospital is having financial problems and probably cannot continue to operate the service in the future without additional revenues.

The police jury in the past has subsidized the hospital $35,000 to $40,000 a year, but faced by its own financial crisis these funds no longer will be available to the hospital.

Police Jury and hospital officials have talked to two professional ambulance firms about taking over the local service but because of the relatively low number of ambulance calls these firms have not been able to offer their services at any savings.

Officials stated that the tax, if passed, will provide enough additional funds for the hospital to continue offering the ambulance service in lower Cameron.

Wildflowers topic of DAR meet in L. Charles

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"Project Wildflower" and the preserving of Louisiana's natural beauty was the theme of the annual luncheon of the Calcasieu chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) held Saturday at the City Club in Lake Charles.

Mary Henry, president, served as hostess, assisted by Wilma Guthrie.

Mrs. Henry introduced Mrs. Marie Doumite, of Fenton, who is the only living charter member of the local DAR chapter. She joined in 1925 when her grandmother Julia Baker helped organize the chapter and served as its first president.

Lilly Mae Dufrene, conservation chairman, explained that the National and Louisiana DAR chapters are emphasizing the conservation of national resources, including wildflowers.

She pointed out that "Project Wildflower" is a statewide program to help encourage the public to protect our natural resources.

She introduced the guest speaker Charlotte Colosky, State President of Louisiana Garden Clubs, who said Louisiana is just getting started with the growing wild flowers, and many businesses are donating funds to purchase the seeds for roadside planting.

Louisiana native irises do beautifully in the wetlands, she said, and can take their place alongside the famous Texas bluebonnet in natural beauty.

She pointed out that wildflowers have a great success rate of reseeding and coming back.

Former State Representative Margaret Lowenthal explained how she introduced a bill when she served in the legislature that strengthened the state litter laws.

The law also makes it illegal to pick, dig up, or cut wildflowers from any wildflower designated area along an interstate highway or road in Louisiana.

Flower centerpieces graced the tables, and packets of wildflower seeds were given to the guests.

Fishing problems

By Loston McEvers

FISHING PROBLEMS

I recently read a book on commercial fishing in Louisiana, which was great, but a little out of date compared to the hard times we're having now. It's funny how the tide can shift and it's just a turn around as to what it was. We all saw what happened to the oil patch and now we're seeing what's happening to our fishing industry.

Opportunity was great and still is, for different jobs created in the commercial fishing industry. For example, fuel, ice, groceries, parts, boats, nets, etc. are sold to commercial fishermen.

Now look at the trouble we're in. Redfish closed to both commercial and sports fishermen. Speckle trout closed to commercial fishermen, shrimping down, oystering down. Why? Do our biologists know the answer or is everyone playing a guessing game and turning it into a political game?

Louisiana's five million acres of coastal marsh and its vast network of inland waters provide a natural environment for a thriving commercial fishing industry.

Shrimp, oysters, crabs, crawfish, redfish and speckle trout, menhaden and of course, sports fishing, along with flounder, red snapper and others are here.

However, look now at all the coastal marshes we're losing to soil erosion. What happens in the next 10 years if this erosion is not stopped. Answer! I don't think we've got 5 million acres of coastal marshes left and I don't think our marshes are as productive as once were and it will not get better but worse if something isn't done.

The basic producers of seafood in Louisiana coastal waters are the individual trawler owners. There are probably over 4000 boats operating in Louisiana and with a crew average of 4, that's 16,000 people working.

Usually a trawler was costing about $50,000 but today a trawler will see a good price tag of $80,000 to $100,000 and insurance is as high per month as the note on the boat.

A successful fisherman shrimping usually makes 30 or more thousand dollars per year, but with hard times, some now are making way below this, that is if they're lucky and don't go in the hole at year's end.

OUTDOOR BILLS HEARING SET

As most of you know, shrimp season should be open as of the 16 of May, but it can be closed if biologists know they're too small. A current legislative bill is that current state law requires opening the brown shrimp season before May 25, and the white shrimp season by the third Monday of August. They want to remove the mandatory dates for shrimp season. I think this would be good as right now shrimp are too small to open the season and some years all the white shrimp are gone from inland waters before the fall shrimp season is open.

I guess the hottest issue is a piece of outdoor legislation introduced this season that would define speckle trout and redfish as game fish, making it illegal to sell them. This should really be interesting, and we're sure to see money and politics really take its course. According to Wildlife and Fisheries Secretary Virginia VanSickle, her department is neither supporting nor opposing this bill by Rep. Robert T. Garrity Jr. of Harahan.

I feel the way she does about protecting the reds and specs, by setting creel limits for recreational fishermen and closing the commercial season when they reach the catches set by the commission.

According to VanSickle, we're having problems with blackdrum, pompano and croakers.

Other bills introduced are: Setting creel limits for specs and reds.

Another would set the limit of 25 speckle trout and 5 redfish per day.

Exempting tuna, garand sharks from requirement that fish be landed with caudal fin intact.

Clarification of the term "fin fish".

Providing for license sights and conditions for hunting preserves.

Prohibiting using night scopes for hunting.

Prohibiting the taking or possession of spotted fawns.

Prohibiting an open season on beaver when they have reached nuisance status.

Changing the venue for suits against the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Limiting the commission's authority to adopt rules governing hunting preserves.

FLORIDA ALLIGATOR

Florida's alligator, once like Louisiana, threatened with extinction, will now have a season the first time in 26 years.

CAMERON FARMERS DISSATISFIED

Baton Rouge -- That the small farmers of Cameron Parish are not satisfied with the returns which they have received from he pink boll worm commission, in exchange for their sacrifices, developed in the course of statements by J. H. Meaux, delegate to the constitutional convention from Cameron, in the agricultural committee hearing, supported by others familiar with the subject.

This situation in his home parish has spurred Mr. Meaux on to great activity in his effort to secure relief for the cotton farmers of Cameron, who gave up the growing of cotton because of the pink boll infection, and who have suffered and many of whose families are in dire want as a result.

The statement was made that in Cameron the cotton farmers had received only $6.25 per acre for the loss of their crops up to May 1. The average payment to farmers for the past sixteen months has been about $50 per family. A total of around $28,000 in compensation had been paid out up to Jan. 1. About $13,000 had been paid to ginners and others for cotton seed that was burned.

"Not over 50 percent of the money collected has been paid back to the farmers," was the statement made by Mr. Meaux and Mr. Sledge, who referred to the matter in open committee.

"I do not wish to do anyone an injustice," said Mr.Meaux, after the meeting, "but I am determined to secure more adequate relief for my people if possible. It is not overstating the case to say that my people feel that the state has laid down on them after depriving them of their only sure means of livelihood.

"These lands in Cameron will not raise other products. Our small farmers are dependent upon cotton. In the other parishes affected they can raise other products, but not so in Cameron. Therefore we feel that we have a just complaint against some one."

Mr. Meaux did not make any charges, but he is conducting a quiet inquiry as to how the large sum of money collected, under the act of 1920, has been expended. He wants to know how it is that out of around $90,000 only $28,000 has found its way back for compensation.

(Abbeville Meridional, May 21, 1910)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

Allen Hunt of Salt Island was visiting relatives in the neighborhood. It is reported that he and his family will soon be residents of Lakeside.

We had a fine little shower on Saturday night but we needed much more.

On Thursday morning Mrs. Cleodes Benoit died very suddenly. She leaves a husband and three little girls, her twin sisters, Mrs. Cleomere Benoit, her mother, and near relatives. She was sick only a few hours.

No indication of salt water as yet but planting has been put back so much by the dry weather that the farmers cannot take advantage of the fresh water. The Lake still continues very low.

The fish seem to all have deserted this part of the country and the fishermen are certainly having a poor time.

This entire section is anxiously awaiting for the completion of the Intercoastal Canal. It will certainly be a great business producer and will furnish direct communication to many points where it now requires lots of time and money to reach, and will furnish an outlet for many articles of produce. It will also be a drain for our marsh lands and already some of the recent purchases of the development companies are being put into shape for cultivation. This is going to be a fine fruit section and the miserable service of the Railroad will receive a check such as it needs. A number of reliable people are waiting to inaugurate a good water service between here and ports east and west where markets and reliable service can be obtained.

No census enumerator has appeared here yet. Why is this?

Big Ben is the 13½ ton bell in the clock tower of the Houses of Parliament in London—the name is often incorrectly applied to the clock itself.

MUSING

By Bernice Denny

(Columnist's note: We have been asked by some long-time readers of our column to include a few of our superstitious tales of Cameron parish that we began collecting years ago. The following was told by Stephen (Buddy) Vincent, a pupil of ours in the old Klondike Elementary School.)

THE MYSTERIOUS STRANGER

At Corncob one morning three little children were playing on the hay in the barn. Now and then they glanced out through the open door to watch their father and uncle, who were crawfishing in a nearby gully.

A stranger appeared suddenly and talked earnestly to the women for several minutes. The children's curiosity was aroused. Few people came to the remote settlement called Corncob. And those few were relatives or old friends. The arrival of any guest, however short his visit, marked the occasion with a holiday aspect.

Like three playful puppies the youngsters began to roll and turn somersaults on the fragrant hay in order to find an outlet for their joyous emotions. Then they bounced over to the doorway for another peep at the source of their unexpected happiness. Alas! The stranger was no longer there.

Later to the mystification of the entire family, they learned from the father and uncle that no one had talked to them, nor had they seen any one that morning.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC —

Lead in our environment is a public health issue about which we should all be concerned. Lead is a soft metal which is now known to be harmful to human health if consumed or inhaled. Since lead accumulates in the body, its potential for harm depends upon the level of exposure from all sources.

There are three potential sources for lead to accumulate in the body. The major source is from food, and lead is also inhaled from the air. The other potential source of lead is from your drinking water.

To protect the public's health, public drinking water supplies are governed by the Safe Drinking Water Act under which the United States Environmental Protection Agency sets drinking water standards.

Although there is a high level of compliance with drinking water standards throughout the United States, there is still reason for some concern about certain contaminants which may get into public drinking water supplies, including lead.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based upon new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

- If your home or water system has lead pipes, or
- If our home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- If the home is less than five years old, or
- If you have soft or acidic water, or
- If water sits in the pipes for several hours.

Typically, if lead is present in the drinking water, it enters after the water leaves the local water treatment plant. The most likely source for lead contamination is in the home or residence. The most common cause of lead entering drinking water is corrosion, a reaction between the water and the lead pipes or the lead-based solder.

When water stands in the pipes of a residence for several hours without use, there is a potential for lead to leach, or dissolve, into the water if the lead source is present.

Soft water (water that makes soap suds easily) can be more corrosive and, therefore, has higher levels of dissolved lead. Some home water treatment devices may also make water more corrosive.

It was common practice in the United States through the early 1900's to use lead pipes for interior plumbing. Since the 1930's, copper pipe has been used for residential plumbing. Until 1986, however, lead-based solder was used widely to join copper pipes. Lead-free solder and lead-free materials are now required by federal law for use in new household plumbing and for plumbing repairs. To find out if the plumbing in a residence contains lead, try scratching the pipe with a key or screwdriver. Lead is a soft metal and is dull gray in color. If lead pipes are present they will scratch easily and will be shiny when scratched.

Dissolved lead cannot be seen in water. Testing by a state-approved laboratory is the only way to determine is drinking water has high levels of dissolved lead. Contact the local health department for the name of an approved laboratory. The lab will provide the correct procedures to be followed for a water test.

If the drinking water is determined to have high levels of dissolved lead, or if there is an abiding suspicion of lead contamination because of the presence of soft water, lead pipes, lead solder, and other lead-based plumbing materials, there are ways to minimize exposure.

One way to "flush" each cold-water faucet in a home when water stands more than a few hours. Flushing a cold water faucet means allowing the water to run until it gets as cold as it will get before each use. Normally this may take two or three minutes. Keep in mind that toilet and shower use or doing laundry with cold water will also move water through the plumbing system, and this will reduce the amount of time needed to flush the cold water faucets to five to 30 seconds.

Another way is one of avoidance: do not cook with or consume water from the hot water faucet. Hot water dissolves lead more quickly than cold water. Especially avoid using hot tap water for making baby formula. If hot water is needed for cooking or oral consumption, draw water from the cold water tap and heat it on the stove or in the microwave.

If plumbing repairs or other plumbing work is done, make certain that only lead-free solder and other lead-free materials are used. This is now a federal law.

There are other actions which can be taken by household users to reduce the risk of lead in drinking water. For additional information, please contact the local state health department, or the U.S. EPA. The U. S. EPA has a toll-free hotline dedicated to this subject -- 1-800-426-4791 -- and has also prepared a booklet on this issue.

This information has been approved by the U.S. EPA and meets EPS's lead public notice requirements under Section 1417 of the Safe Drinking Water Act Amendments of 1986.

Flowers are not supposed to be killed

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"Take Pride in Louisiana" is the theme that everyone is trying to stress during these hard times our state and parish are facing.

Along with these thoughts the "powers that be" are urging everyone to attract tourists to our area, because that's one industry that is said to bring more dollars into a community than any other.

The Creole Nature Trail was created several years ago, and promoted fiercely by the tourist bureau to attract tourists to our area to view the natural beauty that exists here, more than just about any area in Louisiana.

My family and I take great pride in how our lawns look, especially since our residences are located adjacent to the state Hug-The-Coast Highway.

For years we have also kept the right-of-way mowed, not only in front of our house along the highway, but across the road as well -- across the complete width of our property.

We take great pride in our beautiful cattails and lovely native purple irises that grow among the cattails.

We have been told that these natural wild plants attract tourists to our area to view their beauty in the wild.

I have told you this so you will see why I was absolutely sick at heart this past week when I came home from work and found that the state highway department had seen fit to spray poison all along the freshly cut right-of-way across the road from my house and managed to also spray it out into the ditch to kill the beautiful cattails and irises.

Now all you can see along the highway are ugly brown sticks sticking up out of the ditches where beautiful cattails, native flowers, and marsh cane once stood.

I immediately called the director of the highway department in Lake Charles to express my disappointment and he assured me that it was unnecessary to spray where homeowners were taking it upon themselves to maintain the highway right-of-way.

He also pointed out that it was a waste of costly chemicals.

I am sure that he will do his best to see that it will not happen again, for I pointed out to him that this was the first time in 15 years this has happened to me.

However, I do not know how long it will take for the cattails to come back, after their bout with the poison.

I hope more people will undertake to keep up the highway right-of-way in front of their homes so the highway department won't have to use poisons to kill the grass.

We can all join in the effort to "Make Louisiana (and especially Cameron Parish) beautiful", and maybe the Louisiana Department of Highways will cooperate with us, since we will be saving them labor and money.

SHAWN BONSALL and Nancy Jo Clark were named as the OUtstanding Junior Boy and Girl for the Grand Chenier Junior 4-H Club at the recent Cameron Parish 4-H Achivement Day.

New graduation time tradition . . .

Helpful tips for ensuring safe trips home from parties

But now, says the Insurance Information Institute, more and more parents are doing the driving or arranging for other types of transportation like limousines, vans and buses.

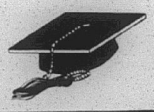
The parents are trying to stem the death toll from drinking and driving. Each year about 5,000 people under 21 are killed in crashes linked with alcohol. Unfortunately, prom time and graduation party time are especially perilous for young people on the road.

The I.I.I. urges parents, students and schools to take the necessary steps to ensure that prom goers and grads get back home safely.

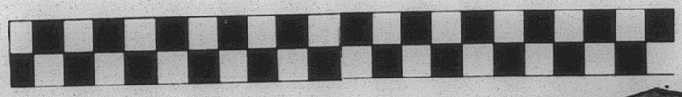
Here are some tips on how to make the prom-graduation season a safe one:

• Consider renting buses and vans to provide all the transportation.

• Don't let youngsters go to a prom or graduation party without an offer to pick them up—no questions asked—if anyone, particularly the youthful driver, has had too much to drink.



• If your community has a Safe Rides program, make sure the rides are available on prom and graduation nights.



• Parents can avoid needless worries by setting up a pick-up time and place, and caring enough to provide the youngsters with round-trip transportation.

• Students should remember that a drunk driver endangers the safety of everyone in the car plus those in other cars. Get a different driver or find another—and safer—way home.

Single copies of the Institute's "Drunk Driving: A Killer We Can Stop" brochure are available free by calling toll-free 1-800-221-4954.

MAKE THE GRADE WITH YOUR GRAD WITH A "CLASSY" GIFT OF A CLASS RING

If you're cramming to pass Gift-Giving 101 for your special graduate, relax. You'll go to the head of the class by giving the one graduation gift that will keep school memories alive throughout a student's life: A class ring. According to ArtCarved Class Rings, a leading school ring manufacturer, a class ring is a memento of the past and a promise for the future.

A class ring is a symbol of scholastic achievement, pride in one's school and accomplished goals.

Beginning of a tradition

This American tradition was started in 1835 by the West Point cadets, who donned a heavy gold signet ring displaying graduation date and school insignia. This idea was adopted by other universities and, later, high schools. Since then, it has been a school tradition.

Today's fashion-conscious student also wears a class ring because it is a fine piece of jewelry that can be worn with any outfit for any occasion. Unlike the rings of yesteryear, today's class rings come in a wide variety of designs that range from the heavier traditional oval to elegant contemporary designs.

There are many options available, so each ring can be personalized to reflect the student's own personality. These options include a club, sport or honor symbol sculpted on the side of the ring, full first name beneath the stone, or full name or initials inside the ring. Gem choice can be a birthstone, school color stone, or a diamond, or two or three!

Where to find them

High school class rings are available from your local jeweler, who can offer you professional service and advice. College class rings are available in campus bookstores, where trained personnel can assist you at all times.

To ensure a class ring will last a lifetime, make sure it comes with a complete lifetime warranty. The most comprehensive, such as ArtCarved's, will include free resizing, refinishing, stone replacement, cleaning and changes in graduation year.

It's elementary and adds up to this: If you want to pass Gift-Giving 101 with flying colors, give your favorite graduate the "classy" gift ... a class ring, the gift that sums up the student in a perfect circle.

Get high marks with . . .

Ideal "dress for success" graduation gifts: Elegant, tailored accessories

In addition to the welcome mark of achievement, a diploma also symbolizes the end of a graduate's day-to-day use of jeans and tee-shirts. Graduates learn early that, even for interviews for job placements, it is advantageous to demonstrate good taste and a willingness to make the transition from campus to business-type garb.

Few graduating students have enough of the proper accessories to make the transition. Thus, what better to help your graduate's launch into the business world than the gift of an accessory that lasts, and is beautiful and practical.

Available in any price range

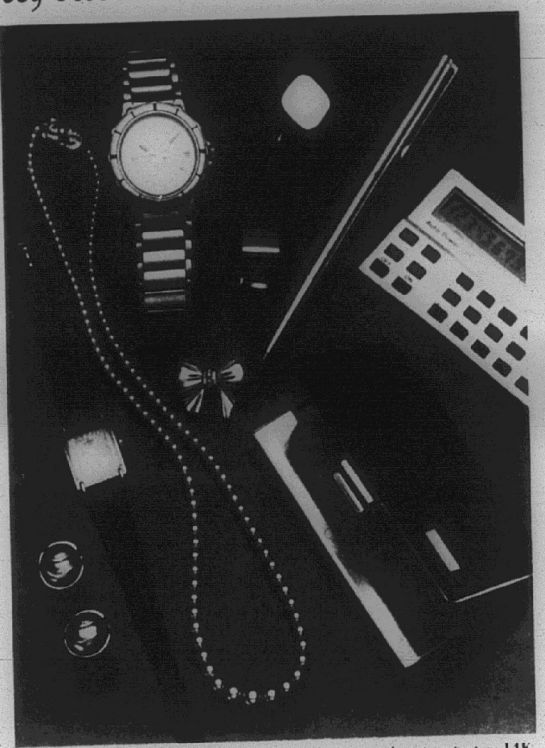
According to Jewelers of America (JA), the national association of more than 12,000 retail jewelers across the country, there is a wide array of perfect-for-business jewelry accessories at every price range.

For women entering the business world, there is still nothing more ideal than a strand of cultured pearls, which goes well with suits, blouses, sweaters or dresses, according to JA.

For the graduate who is starting off with a wardrobe of suits, think of a smart pin or brooch to dress up a lapel in a low-key way.

To provide "chic" from the top, a pair of pearl and gold earrings is a wonderful gift.

For the young man leaving campus life, consider tailored jewelry. Such items as cuff links, an elegant gold ring or a smart gold tie tac are perfect to start building his "business" wardrobe.



Timely gift idea

There are other items perfect for both men and women. A new watch certainly helps recent graduates make appointments and planes.

For him, especially if he'll be traveling in his new job, a world traveler watch to keep track of time around the world is a great idea. For her, a classic-styled watch with a tailored leather strap and satin-finished dial is conservative yet feminine.

Or, for strictly utilitarian usage, such items as a smart pen or an elegant card case are certainly candidates for a "success" gift.

Summing up, JA advises anyone seeking the "perfect" graduation gift to think in terms of the gift that lasts. Also, anyone interested in learning tips and guidelines for buying fine jewelry can write to Jewelers of America, Dept. MNS-G, 1271 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10020.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

"Traction engine"

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American, June 1, 1906)
CAMERON

The drouth is still on and crops are beginning to suffer. Unless it rains soon the early corn will be a failure.

The Carter traction engine passed through here Friday on its way to Mrs. Chadwell's, with Lucien Miller at the throttle and John Canon as fireman. The Chadwell well filled with sand and ceased to flow. In an attempt to bail out the sand, a pipe was twisted off and the well abandoned. A new well will be sunk. C. F. Henry speaks of having a deep well sunk on the Back Ridge.

Mrs. Placide Hebert and Miss Eugenia Nunez returned Friday from a visit to Mr. Hebert's mother at Lacassine.

Lands belonging to the following parties were sold on Saturday last: Mrs. Lillian J. Jones, Alfred Benoit, F. B. Cutting, E. I. Hall, E. R. Pool, J. J. Drost and Moses Knodell.

Mrs. Emma Harper and children are visiting the family of John Eagleson on Grand Chenier.

It is ordered by Judge Miller that the jury commissioners meet and select the grand and petit jurors for the July term of court, which convenes in Cameron on July 10, 1906.

Land and other transfers filed for record: Fred Vaughn to Sevene Broussard and Adam Fruge, $1,500; J. L. Miller and E. B. Calhoun to H. E. Broussard, $240; P. B. Boudoin to Beloine Boudoin, $300; Henry Griffith to Lloyd and Dudley Griffith, stock of cattle; Marie C. S. Eldy to C. M. Richard, $150; John Duhon to S. O. Carter, $160; J. J. Drost to Tom Thomson, 70 acres; J. J. Drost to J. G. Elender, $980; C. F. Crossman to H. E. Broussard, $450.

OIL PROSPECTS AT HACKBERRY

Great interest is being manifested by oil men and citizens generally in the well which is being put down on Hackberry Island in an effort to determine if oil really exists in paying quantities on this island. The well is now down some 2,000 feet and the drillers are preparing to wash out the well, so that it will be a few days before the result is known.

The present well which is being watched with such interest is the latest to be driven on this island. The drillers are Oscar Bever and his brother, who have earned an enviable reputation as expert and reliable men in this line, having drilled many of the wells in the Edgerly Field.

Parties who visited the scene of activity on the island report that there are splendid indications and are hopeful that a new oil field may be developed. The well is being driven at a point four and one-half miles due west of the boat landing.

The Victory Oil Company is said to have secured a lease on 100 acres southwest and adjoining the tract which is the site of the latest well. "Hap" Avery has been on the ground recently and has been watching progress closely.

It has been known for many years that oil underlays Hackberry Island, but whether in paying quantities has never been determined. One of the first, if not the first, wells to be driven there, was put down some 18 years ago by Dr. Harry Morrical, and a man named Savage. They found oil indications, but according to Dr. Morrical, they did not go deep enough, not having the facilities to drill wells in those days like they have now. Since that time, there have been 10 or 12 wells started but none proved to be a success, although all of them found good indications of oil.

The present well, whose development is being watched with so much interest, is the deepest, it is said, that has ever been driven there and with modern machinery and the knowledge gained in other fields, together with scientific advancement in all lines of industry, it is the hope of the men now financing this project that they will either strike oil in paying quantities or else they will prove beyond a doubt that sufficient oil does not exist to warrant the expenditure of money and time on the particular tract where they are working.

Oil men are unanimous, however, in the belief that an oil lake does underlie the island, as oil indications are stronger than in many of the other fields where profitable wells have been discovered and some of them hope to strike it.

AN APPRECIATION award was presented to Jimmy Brown, owner of Brown's Grocery in Hackberry, at the recent Knights of Columbus Council 8323 banquet. Grand Knight Dan Billiot made the presentation for Brown's support of the council.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

Recently the Cameron Lions Club had their semi-annual clean-up of their section of highway under the Adopt-A-Road program.

The men who participated in the clean-up were business men and workers who enjoy their Saturday off as much as the next fellow.

It seems a shame that one civic minded person will do this type of work to help our parish maintain clean highways, while another person doesn't have the decency or the stamina to stash the trash in his car until he faces the terrible task of unloading it at home or in a trash container.

I have heard all of the best of excuses. That is: not enough containers furnished by the state, no one maintaining containers and numerous others.

We earnestly plead with this type of citizen to take pride in helping his parish and state by doing a small chore of maintaining his own trash disposal while our state and parish are in economic distress.

Sincerely,
/s/Edwin A. Kelly

Dear Editor:

One of the things that attracted me the most about the Cameron area was the closeness in the community and the way the people all pull together to help support each other.

When there is a benefit for a needy cause, the whole parish is there to give all they possibly can. When our local football team got a chance at the State Championship, most of Cameron Parish followed them to New Orleans. The most noticeable thing about the area is the pride of the people. They hold their heads high and will very proudly tell anyone and everyone "we're from Cameron Parish"!

At times, I wonder where our priorities are when it comes to our children. Are we teaching them to be proud of their community? Are we passing our pride on to them?

Our local high school has fund raisers year round. Each class has to earn money for different events. They come to us - the parents, citizens and business people of Cameron Parish. We buy candy, pay to have our cars washed, buy raffle tickets, buy yearbook ads, give cash donations - the list goes on and on.

I have donated flowers for several different events. I have also donated to the SCHS Athletic Association, have been a member even though I had no child in athletics, have worked at dances sponsored by them, and have supported South Cameron High School as much as I possible could.

Last year, when the "Prom" was to be held at the Lake Charles Civic Center, there was an out-cry from the parents and businesses of Cameron Parish because a school function was taken completely out of the parish. One of the senior class sponsors wrote a letter saying the kids and raised their own money and "not 1¢ of taxpayers money was used"! She was wrong. It was the taxpayers of our parish who gave them the money by supporting their fund raisers.

The School Board wanted to pass a property tax. I, as a business person was called and asked to vote for the tax because if the tax did not pass, in the long run it would be our kids that would suffer.

But what about us? What about the local people and businesses? in the long run, WE will suffer if we don't get the support we need!

This year, I had a son in the graduating class of SCHS. When I called the senior class sponsor about flowers for graduation, she told me they had already been ordered from "Lake Charles". When I asked "why", she said she "told the kids to go to Lake Charles and check around for the best price"! I asked why I had not even been given the chance to quote a price.

I would like the leaders of our school to know that I'm not upset because I didn't get an order for flowers, I'm upset that I didn't even get a chance! I was not even given the courtesy of a phone call.

If our school comes to us for help and support, why then do they not encourage our children to give us support? Why don't they first check locally for availability and prices?

It is no wonder so many places are going out of business. We are asked to pay the taxes needed so our schools can have what they need, and to donate money, time and products. Yet, our local high school tells our children to "go to Lake Charles and see who has the best price"!

If things continue this way and the local businesses are not given a chance, what will happen? More businesses will close if they have to keep taking the burden of the taxes and do not get more support from the local people. We have to learn to be more supportive of each other.

When there is nothing left in Cameron Parish - what then, will our children have to be proud of?

and I don't know how to talk about it.
When men experience abnormal sexual function, they don't like to talk about it. The Sexual Dysfunction Center at Lake Charles Memorial Hospital wants you to know that usually the problem is not in your head; the great majority of physical causes of impotence are due to problems with blood supply. With the very latest technology, our physicians are able to tell if the problem is due to a blocked artery or a leaking vein. It is important to know that a prosthesis is no longer the only answer. Support tomato plants with stakes or trellises for a better yield and quality of fruit.

Q How should tomatoes be planted?
A To encourage stronger rooting, bury tomato seedlings to the level of the lowest pair of leaves. Space about three feet apart. If you support your plant with stakes or trellises, you'll get a better yield and quality of fruit.
Q How do I avoid transplant shock?
A Prepare a solution of Miracle-Gro for tomatoes. Tomatoes like plenty of fertilizer, use a cup of solution in the transplant hole when planting. Apply evenly every seven days throughout the growing season.

Duck stamp bill

By Loston McEvers

DUCK STAMPS

The House approved a package of wildlife measures, including one to require the purchase of a $5 stamp for duck hunting. This bill now goes to the Senate.

This should generate around three-quarters of a million dollars, and is suppose to be used to help the duck habitat, which has been dwindling in both Canada and the United States.

If it goes through, I hope the money is used for what it's suppose to be and not put in the general fund and spent elsewhere as so much of the wildlife money is being spent.

SHRIMPING

The inland waters for shrimping was suppose to open at 6 a.m. Wednesday, May 25, in Zones 1 and III, which includes our area. Let's hope the shrimp size is good and to not have to shut it down again.

A couple of things that both sportsmen who shrimp for home use and commercial shrimpers fishing for a living should be aware of:

First, the sports shrimper: They cannot pull a 25 foot trawl unless they have a $95 commercial license. To pay the $25 recreational gear license, your trawl has to be 16 feet or less.

Last year it was $25 for 16 ft., $40 for 25 ft., and $95 for over 25 ft., but that came to an end May 1. Some may think that last year's license is good on a 25 ft. trawl until June 20, but not so. You may no longer buy the $40 25 ft., so be sure before you hit the water, do not pull over a 16 ft. trawl unless you have a commercial $95 license.

Somthing else to remember, you have to have a valid Louisiana Fishing License of $5.50 besides your gear license. Also remember only 100 pounds of shrimp for your household use only, with the $25 gear license and 16 ft. trawl.

For a net larger than 16 ft., commercial licenses required are: commercial fishing license of $55, a commercial gear license of $25 for each trawl over 16 ft., and a commercial vessel license of $15 which totals $95. With this, there is no limit to how many shrimp you catch and you can sell them.

Something else facing shrimpers or any fishing or pleasure vessel, in Gulf or inland waters, is the subject of drugs.

Any small amount of drugs, no matter what kind (illegal drugs) found aboard a boat of any kind, the boat will be seized. It makes no difference how much the boat is valued at, if the owner is aboard or who brought the drugs aboard, it will be seized by U. S. Customs or U. S. cost Guard officials.

This to me seems unfair as any worker can bring a small amount of drugs in which the captain or owner has not much control over, even though I'm not for drugs, that's the law.

NEW COMMISSIONER

Congratulations to Mr. Norman McCall of Cameron, for being appointed as a member of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission. Mr. McCall succeeds Butch Crain of Grand Chenier.

I know Mr. McCall well, as I am also a native of Grand Chenier and his mother, Mrs. Gladys McCall, taught me in school. Mr. McCall was raised on the river and his dad, a trapper and fur buyer, also ran a hunting club where my mother worked.

Good luck to you, Mr. McCall.

Questions unanswered as of now:

Many of the area sports and commercial fisherman alike, were sort of unhappy with the Virginia VanSickle day in Creole. There were many questions these people wanted answered, but didn't get any of it brought out.

Basketball camp is to begin Mon.

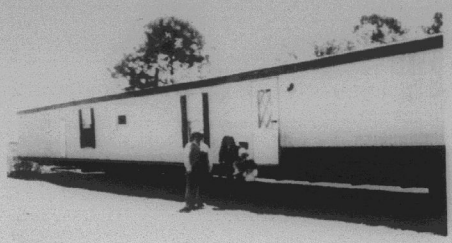
The Tarpon basketball camp, scheduled for Monday, May 30, through Saturday, June 4, is open to both boys and girls entering the 4th through 12th grades.

On Monday, and Tuesday, the sessions will begin at 8:45 a.m. and end at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 12 noon. All campers are to bring sack lunches.

Saturday's 12:30-3 p.m. session will be a basketball teleclinic, featuring Coach Denny Clum, Cardinal basketball coach, University of Louisville, Ky.

Coach Griffin and his staffers will provide a daily schedule of warmup exercises, fundamentals (defense, shooting, rebounding, passing and dribbling), individual and team contest, a cola break and basketball drills on video Monday and Tuesday.



Registration date at South Cameron's new gym is May 26, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The total cost to a camper is $135. Each camper will receive a Tarpon camp T-shirt and will be covered by insurance.

Not a union

The new organization recently formed by bus drivers in Cameron Parish was the Cameron Parish Bus Drivers Association instead of a bus drivers union as it was earlier reported.

An article submitted to the Pilot had incorrectly listed the association as a union.

Leagues are under way in parish

By ROBERT MANUEL

Forty-nine ASA softball and baseball teams of boys and girls, ranging in age from kindergarten to 18, are participating in the program sponsored annually by the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department.

Instituted in the early sixties under Sheriff Claude Eagleson, the program has prospered under each administration with the dedication of volunteer coaches.

The program, under Sheriff James "Sono" Savoie, has reached an all-time high with a total of 49 teams. Of this total 31 teams are from Cameron, Creole and Grand Chenier, while Hackberry and Grand Lake each have nine teams.

The State ASA boys tournament will be in Baton Rouge June 25-26, and will host all age groups - the 10 and under, 12 and under, 15 and under and 18 and under.

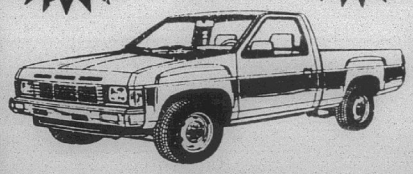
June 25-26, 10 and under, Plaquemine.

July 15-17, 12 and under, Milton.

July 8-10, 15 and under, Lafayette.

July 16-17, 18 and under, Leesville.



Appreciation is expressed to the local businesses who were co-sponsors of some teams.

The first receivers of telephone calls cried out "Ahoy ahoy" rather than the later greeting of "hello."

Church to observe 30th anniversary

On Sunday morning, June 5, at 11 a.m. the First Baptist Church of Grand Chenier will hold a special anniversary service, celebrating the 30th year of their organization into a full-time Baptist Church.

Rev. Wallace Primeaux, pastor of the Oak Grove Baptist Church at that time led the organization of the Grand Chenier Church on June 8, 1958. He will be the keynote speaker on Sunday.

Rev. Glenn Spinks pastored the church from 1958-1960. He also will speak at this service.

Rev. Jake Crowell, a former pastor, will bring the special music as well as lead the congregational singing. Other former members are expected to attend and there will be communications read from former members and pastors who are unable to attend.

Oyster fines

Five men pleaded guilty to oystering violations in Judge H. Ward Fontenot's 38th Judicial District Court last week and received the following sentences:

Pleading guilty to over-limit of oysters were: James E. Edwards, 32, Sulphur, fined $250, suspended; Timothy J. Pago, P.O. Box 419, Hackberry, $250, suspend all but $100; and Willis C. Oblanc, 43, P.O. Box 822, Cameron, $100, or 30 days.

Willis J. Miller, 24, Rt. 2, Lake Charles, pleaded guilty to three charges and was fined $250 and costs or five days for transferring oysters from one boat to another in the lake; and charges of possessing unculled oysters and using other than a self-propelled vessel were suspended.

Frederick W. Wannage, 61, Rt. 2, Lake Charles, was fined $25 on each charge of possession of unculled oysters and using other than a self-propelled vessel.

Hackbe to change addresses

The Postal Service has announced that they are in the process of converting mail service in Hackberry to street addresses.

Administrative Postmaster Ruel Sonnier stated that the old MRH Box number system has become such a problem that the route will have to be re-numbered. He stated that street addresses are the solution since this will be a permanent change and addresses will never have to be changed again.

A meeting was held on Thursday, May 26, between Ruel Sonnier, Kenneth Ducote, Police Juror, Faye Vincent, Postmaster, Hackberry and Hilda Domingue, Hackberry Water Works. Preliminary plans were discussed and all agreed to cooperate.

This will only involve customers in Hackberry who receive mail by street delivery at present. Sonnier stated that this is a Postal Service change and mail will be delivered to both the old and the new address for one year following the address changes.

Residents of Hackberry will be notified as each step in this process is completed, Sonnier said.

Dump permits to be required by Police Jury

Effective July 1, persons using the parish dumping facilities in the Grand Lake-Sweetlake area will have to have a Cameron Parish Residential Dumping Permit.

Indonesian student studies at G. Lake

By ROBERT MANUEL

During the past year. Mr. and Mrs. James Dartez of Grand Lake have served as host for Suzana Fadlan, as exchange student from Jarkata, Indonesia.

Suzana, who turned 16 on March 23, has two younger brothers in Indonesia. Both of her parents are architects, although her father is presently employed as syatems analyst.

During the 1987-88 school session, Suzana became well known for her art work at Grand Lake High and was regarded as a master at drawing the school mascot, the Hornet.

Suzana has been extremely busy in school activities; she is a member of Beta Club, FBLA, Annual Staff and SADD. She placed second in Algebra II at the District Literary Rally and competed at the State Rally in Baton Rouge.

While art, reading, and traveling are her favorite hobbies, she found time to discover two favorite American foods: pizza and jambalaya.

Suzana has been an asset to Grand Lake High School and will be missed next year by both students and faculty.

Refuges aided

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The month of May was a busy month for civic and school groups, and also individuals who are working on and helping out with the "Take Pride in America" project, according to Billy Delaney, who heads the local project for the federal refuges.

The environmental Science class of South Cameron High School got a new insight on the importance of protecting the environment and the estuary system.

The students learned that it is the responsibility fo the public, as well as the refuge employees to help take care of the public lands on the refuges.

The camp Fire Adventure group, Troop 84 Boy Scouts and Den 2, Pack 80 Cub Scouts of Sulphur, spent 3 hours of clean-up time and 3 hours of educational time at Sabine Refuge.

Many visitors stopped and expressed their pleasure in seeing the children cleaning the debris from the front of the refuge office and cleaning the flower beds of debris.

The Girl Scout Troop 433 and Cub Scout Pack 78 of Hackberry volunteered to clean up the Sabine Refuge Nature Trail and while walking the trail observed the wildlife they saw and had fun identifying the different species.

The Hackberry High School Elementary grades one through six received a lecture on conservation and land stewardship and learned lessons in caring about the habitat.

Even the fishermen and crabbers who use the public facilities at Sabine Refuge were called on to help with the clean-up program. They gathered five large sacks of trash that they picked up immediately surrounding each group of persons.

They openly expressed their appreciation and readily participated in the litter pickup.

Some of the people who were not even asked to help pick up the litter started to help out on their own.

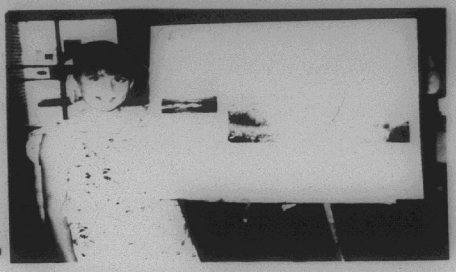
(From American Press)

The oyster industry in Cameron Parish will get a needed boost if a bill approved by the Senate becomes law.

SB 417 by Sen. Jack Doland, D-Lake Charles, and Rep. Randy Roach, D-Lake Charles, would permit an oyster depuration facility to locate in Cameron Parish.

Roach said depuration is a process commonly used in Europe to cleanse and purify oysters harvested from polluted waters.

A handful of these facilities have moved to the United States, Roach said, and a group of commercial fishermen in Cameron have decided to set up one there.



"The oysters are placed in tanks of clean water and allowed to purify themselves," Roach said.

"Utraviolet light is used to make sure the oysters are free of all bacteria and out of the oysters," he said.

The bill simply permits the process to be used on oysters harvested from the Calcasieu River System, Roach said.

"In all probability, this is the only way oysters can be harvested in Louisiana in the future," he said.

The bill will be debated in the House next week.

4-Her's poster national winner

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

During 1988 the Sabine and Lacassine National Wildlife Refuges have been participating in the "Take Pride in America" program and they have enlisted aid from organizations in various programs.

This week Kristi Jo Dupuie, local 4-H club member, won first place in the "Take Pride in America" poster contest. Her poster will be on display at Washington, D. C.

Kristi Jo, the 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Dupuie, is a 5th grade student at South Cameron Elementary school and a member of the 4-H club.

She is enrolled in the 4-H photography program and her lovely colored pictures of marsh scenes and wildlife formed the basis of her winning poster.

She explains "Louisiana marshes provide a winter home for millions of migratory water fowl and the loss of this haven will effect them greatly."

An enlargement of wild yellow irishes in a Little Chenier marsh bearing the inscription "A variety of wild flowers grow in the marsh, making it a beautiful sight to see."

(From American Press)

All current Lake Charles Dock Board members may be asked to resign and apply for reappointment as a bill changing the way commissioners are selected was approved by the Senate in Baton Rouge.

Area lawmakers on Tuesday decided to band together behind a Senate bill taking away special interest appointments to the bhoard and giving local government the input.

Board members now are all appointed by the governor from lists submitted by a variety of special interest groups.

The proposed law would continue with a seven-member board with six-year terms.

But it would give the Calcasieu Parish Police Jury one appointment, the Cameron Parish Jury another, the Lake Charles City council two appointments, and the Legislature would retain its appointments.

A similar bill filed on the House side will be allowed to die in committee as Rep. James Martin, D-Welsh, Rep. Randy Roach, D-Lake Charles, Rep. Vic Stelly, R-Lake Charles, Rep. Dennis Stine, D-Sulphur and Rep. James David Cain, D-Dry Creek, authors of the House bill, would co-author the SB 824 with Sens. Bill McLeod and Jack Doland, both Democrats from Lake Charles.

McLeod said it was also important to bring Cameron Parish into the appointment process of the Dock Board.

"Our channel goes through Cameron and they suffer erosion as a result," McLeod said. "It's only fair to give them some input into our operations."

Roach agreed.

"It's important to remember the Port of Lake Charles serves not just Lake Charles but all of Calcasieu Parish," Roach said.

Not only does the ship channel cut through Cameron, but all commerce through the channel would be subject to the regulations of the Port Board, he said.

The bill now goes to the House where it is not expected to meet any opposition.

Parish had 111 traffic mishaps

Jobless rate drops here

The unemployment rate in Cameron Parish dropped nearly two percentage points--from 13.7 to 11.8 percent--from March to April, according to the La. Dept. of Labor.

The monthly report showed thee were 3,875 persons employed and 525 unemployed in the parish during April.

For the state as a whole, the jobless rate dropped from 11.8 in March to 10.6 in April.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Some comments

By Loston McEvers

Here are a few comments that I had prepared to offer to Mrs. Virginia VanSickle, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries secretary when she visited Cameron recently on behalf of myself and other sports fishermen of our area.

1. I am not against the commercial fishing people, but I don't think we can fit into their rules. Why? Because we don't fish everyday as they do to make their living. Most of us has only one or two days a week we can fish, if we're that lucky. Now if a sports fisherman does get caught selling his or her catch they are breaking the law and should be punished.

2. You know the problem that came about with the redfish, well, I hope we can get a redfish season all year round. I think the limit should be between 5 and 10, but not over 10 per fisherman per day and also in possession. The size we now have is great.

3. I think we should put a size and number limit on speckle trout now, before we get into the same thing that we got into with the redfish. (Limit of maybe half of the limit we now have of 50, which would be 25 or maybe even less if need be.)

4. I do agree with all license fees, but I know we voted to keep LDWF monies just for our wildlife work, and it should not be used in the state's general fund, or any other funds.

There are a couple of bills in the Legislature that have really kept some eyes open. Bill 825 and 1443. It pertains to making speckle trout and redfish game fish. This would make commercial sales illegal and remove the pressure on both these species.

As most of you know, the recreational fishing industry is over a one billion dollar revenue for the state's economy.

The two species for the commercial side represents about two percent of the total economic value of the state's commercial seafood industry. Any way these bills go, it will make one side unhappy, but will hurt the commercial fishermen trying to make a living. This should be interesting.

Talking about saltwater fishing, Big Lake is still hot on speckle trout, as well as the Mermentau River in Grand Chenier. Dean Miller had one spec out of the river last week that went right at 4 pounds.

Boats are beginning to get offshore and doing rather well if the water is not too rough.

BLACK BASS NEWS

I would like to still see our limit on bass put down to 7 or 10 and put a size on them as well.

I got a news bulletin where the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission put a size and creel limit for black ass on Chicot Lake, located in Evangeline Parish.

Beginning Wednesday, June 1, regulations setting a 14 inch minimum size length and a daily creel limit of 10, has been set for the lake. As we all know there is no size length in Louisiana for black bass and a total of 15 creel limit daily. I really like the idea. In some areas the size length would have to be a little lower, but I think no less than 10 inches should be state wide.

Club hears drive report

When the Creole Extension Homemakers Club held its May meeting in the home of Mrs. Mayola Wicke, members first heard the final report on the Cancer Crusade conducted by the club in the Creole area, and next they finalized plans for the club's annual outing.

President Mrs. Estelle Theriot reported on the Cancer Crusade which, according to the figures, topped last year's Crusade in the amount collected. A check for the total was presented to Mrs. Earline Baccigalopi,club member and secretary-treasurer of the Cameron unit of the American Cancer Society.

Members discussed the club's annual outing which is set for Wednesday, June 15. Plans call for the club to tour the Leesburg Museum in Cameron, to beachcomb and to visit the shell and souvenir shops in Holly Beach, and to lunch at one of the Cameron restaurants. Members are to meet at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Camellia Nunez in Creole to take off from there.

Mrs. Baccigalopi, a member of the Cameron Parish Library Board, reported on National Library Week observed at the library in Cameron during the week of April 18-22. She especially focused on the two main programs held at the library, one a slide presentation on Australia and New Zealand given by Bud Broussard and the other, a cooking demonstration by Jude Theriot.

The president read a thank you note from the library staff for the cookies which the club furnished for Library Week.

Members were reminded of the next Council meeting to be held Tuesday, Aug. 2, at the home of Nancy Cronan, assistant home economist, in Grand Lake. Those planning to attend are asked to bring a covered dish.

CAMERON UNDER WATER

From all accounts, Cameron Parish seems to be having its share of flood and high water. Captain Ben Moss of the Borealis Rex, the mail steamer plying between Lake Charles and Cameron, said this afternoon upon the arrival of the vessel:

"Cameron is certainly wet. All of the low lands are under water and getting worse. Three causes are contributing to this, namely, a strong southeast wind is forcing the water from the gulf up Calcasieu River; it is raining all over that country; and the flood here in Calcasieu is going down the Calcasieu River in tremendous volume.

"So far as I know, there has been no stock drowned so far, but I could see the cattle and horses standing belly-deep in the water.

"At Grand Lake, the water was on top of the wharf last night, being piled up by the wind. As the Rex came by this morning, the water had gone down to about a foot below the level of the wharf."

LOWER PARISH
NOT IN DANGER

Very few people came up on the mailboat Rex this afternoon from Cameron, but those who did say that Leesburg is not seriously inconvienced by the flood. Indeed, they say the flood there is not as bad as it is here. None of the stores are flooded as was reported, and while there was a great deal of stock drowned, the current is so swift that the bodies were carried out into the gulf.

The people of Cameron have apparently all reached the higher ridges safely, and there is no danger to life. The stock and property loss cannot be estimated at present.

HOTEL AT BIG LAKE

H. N. Feagin and his son, J. B. Feagin, of Orange, have purchased the Loyd Hotel at Grand Lake, and will make extensive improvements. J. B. Feagin and J. E. Sperry, the latter connected with the Orange Leader, were in the city last night and Mr. Feagin completed arrangements for the transfer.

The hotel will be screened and repaired by the new owners, and additions made. Bath houses will be constructed, and the hotel will have a dancing pavilion. Mr. Feagin states that he will make a specialty of fish, crab and chicken dinners, and expects to make the hotel a popular resort for Lake Charles people.

LETTERS

Dear Everyone,

My name is Suzana Fadlan. I am from Jakarta, indonesia, but since last August I've been living in Grand Lake and going to high school here as an exchange student. Now it's almost time for me to go home--and I would like to thank everyone in Grand Lake for giving me the chance to live here and have such a great time.

I'm really going to miss all my friends and teachers at Grand Lake High. They helped me learn about America and improved my English. I will never forget the new things I learned, like playing baseball...I'm proud to have gone to Grand Lake.

I also thank Sherell Trahan for making this year great. She's my Area Representative for Educational Foundation for Foreign Study--the organization that is sponsoring my exchange. Thanks for the activities, Sherell!

Most importantly, I would like to thank my host family, Jim and Betty Dartez, and Robert and Kristi Manuel. Thanks for sharing things with me. I feel like a part of their family, and saying goodbye in a few weeks will be very hard. I learned a lot from them. We have had good times together and I will miss them a lot.

I think America is wonderful. I enjoyed my year--abroad greatly. I will never forget all the experiences I have had this year. If you would like an exchange student to stay with your family, please let Sherell know (528-2113).

Finally, I'd like to say again a big "thank you" to everyone for your friendliness.

Sincerely,
/s/Suzana

Dear Editor:

We, the senior class of 1988, would like to again thank all our parents, friends and local merchants for contributing to our fund-raising projects during our years at South Cameron High.

We are also indebted to merchants and friends who are outside of Cameron Parish and who have contributed to our yearbook and football program ads. When possible, we should do business with them as well.

However, our main concern has not been to promote business enterprises local or otherwise. Our priority has been to avail ourselves of the best experiences and opportunities possible. Our local, long-time merchants support and understand this. Nevertheless, for this school year at South Cameron High, the local Cameron florist received 63% of the monies spent on flowers.

No slight was intended to any local merchants. Our only intention was to provide a unique and special graduation ceremony. We believe we accomplished this goal.

Sincerely,
Senior Class of 1988

Leesburg Museum Notes

By GAY DYSON REEVES, DIRECTOR

STUDENTS VISIT

The last weeks of the school year brought a rush of students to the museum from Cameron Elementary accomanied by their teachers and parents.

They were: Gerry Bader (Agate teacher) and Wayne Kershaw (vice-principal) with the artistically gifted students; Virginia Jones, teacher, Julie Burleigh and Debbie Billings, parents, with a first grade class; Carolyn Rutherford, teacher, Lisa Savoie, Jolene McCain, Patricia Morris, parents, with a second grade class; Lou Ann Rivers and Vickie Roberts, teachers, Julie Burleigh, Alicia Robertson, Patsy LaBove, Pam Pruitt, Linda West and Brenda Browning, parents, with two third grade classes; Valerie Precht and Reinette Guillory, teachers, Linda Felton, parents, two fifth grade classes; Eva January, teacher, Deala Guthrie and Flora Semmiens, parents, with a sixth grade class.

It is good to know that several hundred Cameron Parish students visited our museum this year, accompanied by teachers and parents. We hope they will return this summer bringing their friends.

SITTING ROOM

The sitting room furnished as in Cameron parish, circa 1900, will remain until September, 1988, then we will return the present antique furnishings to their generous owners and design a new living history room. Be sure and visit the museum this summer on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. so you won't miss the sitting room.

If you would like to bring a grou other days, I will try to accommodate you. Please call 775-5228 and we'll plan together.

ART DISPLAY

Our Cameron Parish art display looks great and we now have two paintings by Wayne Keshaw of Cameron, in addition to the others previously mentioned. Lora Guthrie expects their display to remain all summer and encourages additions.

AUDREY DISPLAY

Geneva Griffith has kindly shared her Hurricane Audrey story and her collection of photographs to form the basis of our display commemorating Hurricane Audrey during the month of June. It was designed and executed by Cindy Sellers, an unofficial museum technical assistant.

MURALS

In the meeting room of the museum you will see two dynamic murals created by Gerry Bader's artistically gifted classes from Cameron Elementary and Johnson Bayou Elementary.

JENNIFER ANN Cockrell and Michael Glen Bartie will exchange wedding vows at 5 p.m. Junme 18 in Ebenezer Baptist Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Cockrell of Creole. The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bartie, Sr. of Cameron.

CATTLE DRIVE DISPLAY

The cattle drive display has created enthusiastic responses from all age groups and I am happy to announce that Mr. and Mrs. Lynex Richard have agreed to let us keep it for another year.

The real cowhide shared by Mr and Mrs. Braxton Blake and Mr. Richard's first spurs are very popular with the young. They love to hear the story of Cameron Parish's most famous cattle drive.

MR. CRAIN VISITS

Perhaps our oldest visitor in May was Mr. Clayton Crain of Groves, Tex. He is the eldest son of Cameron's legendary sheriff, (1912-1924) Duncan R. Crain, who never carried a gun. Mr. Crain said that being 91 was just fine, but he has noticed he is getting a little hard of hearing.

People believe if you walk into a spider's web, you will get a letter

Signup near on wetlands

Cameron Parish farmers and landowners having eligible wetlands and wishing to participate in the 1988 Water Bank Program have until June 3, to sign-up for the program. Kirk Moore, County Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Cameron Parish, said that the Water Bank Program is designed to preserve wetlands and provide nesting and breeding areas for water-fowl.

Landowners can put suitable wetlands into the program and receive $10 per acre for the wetlands.

Landowners participating in the Water Bank Program agree to restore the wetlands to their natural state and not clear, drain or burn off the land. The agreements are for a period of ten years.

Anyone having questions about the program should contact the cameron ASCS office in lake Charles or phone 436-5020.

Jury tells views on dock board

Police Jury Briefs

APPOINTMENTS

The jury reappointed the following persons to various boards: Lloyd Badon, Waterworks Dist. 10; Mitchell Kyle, Hackberry Recreation Dist.; James S. Henry, Jr., Lower Cameron Hospital Dist.; Shelton LeBlanc, Recreation Dist. 6.

FISHERMEN'S PROBLEMS

At the request of Assistant District Attorney Glenn Alexander, the jury agreed to contact area legislators and urge them not to vote to prohibit commercial fishing of red fish and speckle trout.

Alexander said parish fishermen have already had a very poor oyster and shrimp season and to remove these fish from their catch will cause many to have to go on the welfare rolls.

He also noted that many parish people, who had formerly worked in the oil and gas industry, have started to fish to make a living because of the oil slump.

The jury agreed to the request and noted they had already last week sent out telegrams on the matter.

VARIANCE APPROVED

The jury approved a variance to the Flood Insurance Ordinance to permit Jimmy Kelley to lower the level of his home after a letter was presented from a doctor that the lowering of the house was needed for medical reasons.

ROAD RIGHTS OF WAY

Road rights of way were accepted from Rose V. Crochet at Klondike and John E. Rutherford Jr. at Little Chenier.

LIQUOR PERMIT

A liquor permit was approved for Bertha Nolan for the Jetties Quick Stop, located in the former Conoco station in Cameron.

BIDS ACCEPTED

The jury accepted the following bids on surplus equipment: John T. LaGrone, dozer, $5101; Donald J. Gray, crew cab, $202.13; Tab's Inc., grader, $1543.21; Walter Murrell, fire truck, $40; and Dennis Nunez, 1984 Ford LTD, $1875.

A 1984 Ford LTD on which no bids were received will be advertised again.

FIRE STATION PROPOSALS

The jury agreed to permit the Grand Lake fire district to secure proposals on the construction of a sub-fire station in the Grangerville area. Funds for the building will come from the district millage.

WEATHERIZATION

The jury adopted a resolution that will permit the Cameron Community Action Agency to begin a weatherization program helping needy families improve their homes in the parish.

Cameron parish does not necessarily need a voting member on the Lake Charles Dock Board--a non-voting representative may do the parish just as much good.

That was the consensus of the opinions expressed by the Cameron parish police jurors concerning a bill in the Legislature that would give the Cameron jury the right to name one of the dock board members.

The bill, which is being backed by all of the area legislators, would give Cameron a board member but this person would have to live in the dock board's district, which would mean in Calcasieu parish.

Senator Bill McLeod, in offering the bill, said he felt Cameron needed representation because the Lake Charles ship channel, which connects the Port of Lake Charles with the Gulf, splits Cameron parish down the middle and does present the parish with some problems.

However, former police juror Braxton Blake, who represented Cameron parish on the dock board for several years as a non-voting member, said he thought the parish would be just as well off continuing with the non-voting member since this person could be from Cameron parish.

Both he and Jury President Kenneth Ducote, who is Cameron's present non-voting member of the dock board, said they thought it would be hard to find someone in the Lake Charles area who could do a good job in representing the parish.

"This (proposed) representative is going to have a lot of pressure on him from up there," said Blake. "He'll live there, he'll be from that district. It's going to be hard to find someone who's going to have nothing but Cameron's interests at heart.

"I'm not worried about the Lake Charles Dock Board," Blake concluded. "I'm worried about taking care of Cameron. I think our legislators were doing what they thought was right in trying to help us, but, personally, I feel like you're better off with a non-voting member from here than you are with a voting member from up there."

Meanwhile, state Rep. Randy Roach, who represents Cameron Parish and as a co-author of the bill was instrumental in getting an appointment for Cameron in it, said, "If the Cameron Parish Police Jury doesn't want (voting) representation on the dock Board, then I will amend it out of the bill."

Roach said from Baton Rouge Tuesday that he will meet with the rest of the Southwest Louisiana delegation to decide where the seventh appointment on the Dock Board would come from.

Roach also said he would call Cameron police jurors to find out exactly what their opposition to the bill is.

Randee Sue Murphy

Booklet on Nature Trail is written

Randee Sue Murphy is proud of Cameron Parish and the wildlife that can be viewed along the Creole Nature Trail that runs through the parish.

This is evidenced in a 16 page book she wrote and illustrated for a special project in her Elementary Education class at McNeese State University.

Randee Sue, the daughter of Shirley and Wendell Murphy, is a senior this year and an honor roll student. Her book project was made for extra points in the education class.

It describes a little squirrel named Buck who travels along the trail hunting for his many little friends that live there. "Happy Birthday Buck" is the title and it has a very happy surprise ending.

It will be on display at the Cameron Parish Library during the summer months for children to thumb through and enjoy.

Dress code announced

The Hackberry high school dress code for the 1988-89 school year has been announced by Principal Pam LaFleur who said the school is announcing changes in the code early as they may affect shopping for school clothes.

1. Skirts - must reach the knee - nothing shorter.
2. Jams and culottes - must reach the knee.
3. No clothing, especially T-shirts, are permitted which displays obscene pictures, words, or sayings or references to alcohol and drugs.

Hospital has new program

A new program, "Express Care Card", has been announced by the South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

The card, according to Administrator Joe Soileau, is intended to "remove the red tape between the patient and medical attention."

The card may be used for all hospital services including the ambulance, emergency room, inpatient admission and outpatient services.

By securing the Express Care Card in advance, a patient can eliminate filling out forms and cash payment in advance.

"You simply present this card when using any of our provided services and treatment can begin immediately," Soileau said.

"We will file Medicare and/or insurance forms for you if coverage is applicable. If it is determined that your coverage will not provide for any or all payment, then you decide how payment can best be budgeted.

"Many of you will be receiving the Care Card in the near future," he added. "Those of you who wish to apply for this card need only to come by our office at the hospital."

Meeting set on brucellosis

Rep. Randy Roach and Myrna Conner will meet with Dr. William Fairchild, state veterinarian, regarding the brucellosis program Thursday, June 16, at 9 a.m. at the state capitol.

Anyone with questions before the meeting should call 542-4687 or the House of Representatives Link at 491-2102.

Roach gets good 'press'

Rep. Randy Roach, who replaced Conway LeBleu in the Louisiana House from Cameron Parish and lower Calcasieu, got some high marks in a statewide political column written by John Maginnis this week on some of the freshmen legislators.

"One of the most impressive House freshmen is Randy Roach of Lake Charles," Maginnis wrote in his column. "He is conscientious, politically astute and regarded as a future comer in state politics."

Scholarship

James M. Meaux of Grand Chenier, has received the S. E. McCraine Scholarship at LSU.

Meaux, a junior in animal science, is the son of Ann and John Meaux of Grand Chenier. He is a member of the 1988 LSU Livestock Judging Team and the Block and Bridle Club.

Band issues record

"Breaking Ground" a local six-piece band, will host a Nashville style record party Saturday, June 18, at the Grand Lake multipurpose building.

It starts at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to come out and meet the band and hear the band's new record, their first, a single on the BG Records, the band's personal label.

The songs on the record are "Looking at You" and "Bar Room Queen", both written and produced by Terry Beard. The record was made and mixed at EMF productions in Lake Charles.

Members of the band have played with various groups over the years such as "Milu and the Majestics", "Country Express", and "Cookie and the Cupcakes", but for the past seven years the six have combined their talents into "Breaking Ground".

Meaux on top team

Winning the evaluation phase of the recent Southeastern U. S. Evaluation, Selection and Judging Contest for the second time in three years, completed a good year of competition for the LSU livestock and meats judging team.

Held at the University of Tennessee-Martin, the events included students from 12 other colleges in the Southeastern United States.

Members of the winning team were Jimmy Meaux, of Grand Chenier, Jimmy Reber of Bush, Craig Fontenot and Felix Morein, both of Ville Platte, Keith Matirne, of Crowley; Yvonne Savoy, Church Point and Sheila Peavy, Jena.

The Southeastern event capped a season in which the LSU team competed in the Southwestern Exposition Livestock and Meats Contests in Fort Worth, Texas; the Dixie National Beef Cattle Judging contest in Jackson, Miss., and Ak-Sar-Ben Animal Evaluation Contest in Omaha, Neb.

Meaux, a senior in animal science, led LSU to the team championship as high-scoring individual at the Martin contest, finishing ahead of 79 contestants in the evaluation contest and placing first when results of all of the contests were combined.

Earlier in the judging season, Meaux placed 12th among 182 contestants in the breeding animal selection division at the Ak-Sar-Ben contest.

TAKING AWAY THE CAMERON TRADE

The Galveston News says: Trading by means of small vessels between Galveston and the coast and bayou-reached cities of Louisiana is assuming considerable proportions. One of the vessels engaged in this service is the schooner George Locke, Captain A. W. Lawrence (Laurents), master.

The George Locke has been in the Galveston trade for the past two years, during which time there has been built up a business that is now keeping the boat busy. During the past cotton season there was raised in Cameron parish, 1,800 bales of cotton, of which amount the George Locke brought to Galveston, 1,100 bales.

At present the trade from Galveston consists mainly of shipments of flour and groceries from local wholesalers, bringing into this city potatoes and other farm products. Later on, shipments of Louisiana oranges will be a feature of the inward business, to be followed by shipments of cane and syrup.

Captain Lawrence reports that the section of Louisiana that he visits is now entering upon what he believes will be one of the best years in its history. There is a considerably increased acreage of cotton, and it has come up with a good stand and looks exceptionally promising. New settlers are coming in and new land is being broken out, with the result new business is developing.

(Abbeville Meridional, June 10, 1911)

LAKESIDE LACONICS

The mercury got up to 96 this past week.

Our gardens sure need a rain and the rice farmers also. The lake is low and the water quite brackish.

Deer flies are quite a nuisance at present.

The fishing season has opened and our local fishermen are preparing for business.

It is reported that the steamer Olive will resume her trips from Mermentau to the Cheniere. It will certainly seem quite like old times to see her traveling again.

All the crops in this section so far are in fine shape but the Spanish flies are coming in evidence and there is much anxiety as to what the outcome will be. Several remedies are suggested; one is a liberal sprinkling or spraying with gasoline. It is claimed that every one touched will be killed and the plants will not be injured in the least. Another plan is to make a small heap of dry straw and at night set it on fire and whip the bugs and they will jump into the fire and be burned and the others will leave before morning.

Wall replica is coming

The Traveling Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall, a replica of the V-shaped memorial in Washington, will be displayed on the grounds of Bossier City's civic center June 21-27, and will not be displayed in Louisiana any other time this year.

Although half the size of the monument in Washington, D.C., the traveling wall contains the names of all 58,156 people, including eight women, killed or missing in the Vietnam conflict. More than 830 of those people were from Louisiana.

The 250-feet-long traveling wall will be displayed 24 hours each day near the lake at the civic center and sand will be placed before the wall for visitors who wish to leave flags and flowers, a common practice at the Washington memorial. Items placed at the traveling wall will be forwarded to Washington, said Lorenz Walker, civic center director.

Because the Vietnam memorial is an emotional display, often evoking tears from visitors as they locate the name of a loved one, Walker said counselors will be at the site. He said assitance also will be available in locating names on the wall.

REDS-SPECS - NOW SPORTS FISH

Well, with all the fighting going on between commercial and sport fishermen a bill may be passed by the legislature making redfish and speckle trout a game fish. This would mean no more commercial fishing on either of these two species.

This will really have an impact on many commercial people, from the fishermen on the water, the net shops, boat and marine shops, the fish markets and of course the restaurants who prepare blackened redfish and spec dishes.

I was neither pro nor con on this, I just hope that what's being done is in the best interest of the people of Louisiana. As most of you know, when the oil patch just about shut down, many people who were fishermen before and many who weren't, took up commercial fishing to make a living. Now much of the same people will have to go to another trade, but how many trades does Louisiana expect to lose, until there's no more trades left - time will tell.

The commercial taking of speckle trout was closed May 6, by the Commission after a quota of one million pounds was reached, but remained open to sports fishermen.

The recreational redfish season opened June 2, aftr being closed for a period in January.

If this bill goes thru the House then only one state will be left for commercial fishing - Mississippi, which has a 200,000 quota. Texas and Alabama and Florida have closed their waters to commercial fishing.

There is still a question of exactly how deflated are these two species, if any, at all.

I do not believe the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has current data on these two species.

Randy Roach was not in favor of shuting out the commercial fishermen and Virginia Haik Sickle, our Wildlife and Fisheries Secretary, told the committee that her agency data warrants putting sports fishermen on a limit of 5 redfish and 25 speckle trout per day.

I have always said that 50 reds or 50 specs or 50 combined was way too many fish to catch.

Everyone wants to protect these two species of fish, if it works out, time will tell.

FISHING LAWS CHANGE

There are still plenty of arguments in Baton Rouge as bills are being introduced in the special session of the Legislature, for changes in fishing laws.

Rep. Randy Roach managed to pass a bill which passed the full House and now goes to the Senate. It prohibits fishermen from setting up nets at the mouth of streams to catch shrimp.

When the water goes up from high to low tides, the marshes drain and everything coming through gets caught, including speckle trout and redfish, plus flounders and many other types of fish.

Elton Louviere and painting

DU artist for Miss.

Louisiana artist Elton Louviere has been selected as the Mississippi Ducks Unlimitd Sponsor Artist of the Year for 1988, according to Joe Moss, State Chairman. Louviere's painting of mallards against a Mississippi woodland setting will be the second in the sponsor print program for the state group.

In appreciation for their generosity as a major contributor to waterfowl, prints of Louviere's painting, entitled "Out of the Blue - Mallard Point" will be offered to individuals or businesses that become DU sponsors in Mississippi during 1988.

Louviere, of Lake Charles, has been the recipient of numerous awards and honors over the past ten years. His art prints and originals have raised over one million dollars for Ducks Unlimited's national and state programs.

Among the artist's honors are: first Louisiana Artist of the Year, 1983 for Ducks Unlimited; DU Supplementary Artist, Mississippi Flyway, 1983; DU Supplementary National Artist, 1984; DU Supplementary Artist, Mississippi Flyway,1986; Artist of the Year, Louisiana Wildfowl Festival, 1985.

He is currently working on the final paintings for his new book, "Images of Louisiana", which will be out in the Fall of 1988.

Police Jury Briefs

TAX LEVIES SET

Parish Treasurer Garner Nunez told the jury that parish-wide tax assessments have dropped from $103 million to $99 million making it necessary to increase parish millages by a few points to collect the same amount of taxes as last year. This was approved.

EMS SPEAKERS

Barbara Dixon, new director of the Southwest Louisiana Emergency Medical Services, introduced herself to the jury and pledged to work with them on improving emergency medical services in the parish. She said that the agency receives no state or federal support and must depend on local governing bodies for assistance.

CIVIL DEFENSE PLAN

The Civil Defense's "All Hazard Emergency Operation Plan" was adopted by the jury and will be published by Civil Defense, according to Pete Picou, parish CD director.

HIGHWAY MATTERS

Juror Douaine Conner told the jury that water was standing on La. Hwy 82 east of the Grand Chenier bridge and was a hazard to motorists. He asked that the state highway department correct the situation.

Jury President Kenneth Ducote said he had heard that the state highway department was proposing to turn 900 miles of state highways over to the police juries. He said he did not know if this included the East Creole highway or not, but that the jury wasn't in a position to take it over. He asked the jury secretary to look into the matter.

RESOLUTIONS

The jury passed resolutions commending Father Elmo Hebert of Sacred Heart Catholic Church on the 25th anniversary of his ordination, and the Johnson Bayou high school track team for winning the state Class C track title.

PIPELINE MATTER

At the request of Juror Douaine Conner, the jury agreed to invite representatives of two pipeline companies to attend the next meeting to explain why pipeline work in the Lowery area is blocking drainage.

TWO ARE THANKED

At the request of Juror George LeBouef, the jury agreed to write a letter to Virginia VanSickle, secretary of the La. Wildlife and Fisheries Dept., thanking her for her recent visit to Cameron parish, and also to thank Rep. Randy Roach for arranging the visit.

PERMITS APPROVED

The jury approved four drilling and pipeline permits, three seismic permits and two permits pertaining to bulkheads and levees.

DR. LICENSE OFFICE

Juror Ray Conner said he understood that the Cameron Driver's License Office may be closed and asked the jury to write the state urging that the office remain open.

"Some of our people will have to drive 60 or 70 miles to get to the office in Lake Charles," Conner said, adding it would be a real problem for elderly and handicapped drivers.

VACUUM TRUCKS

Cameron businessman Larry Taylor said that he had learned that someone was asking for the Dept. of Transportation to operate vacuum trucks in Cameron parish. He asked the jury to make sure the trucks would not be transporting hazardous waste.

(The jury checked into the matter later that day and were informed that the proposed hauling involved transporting non-hazardous oilfield waste out of the parish and that no hazardous materials would be involved.)

Limits asked on redfish by Association

The Louisiana Gulf Coast Conservation Association has asked its members and all recreational fishermen to immediately reduce voluntarily their redfish creel limit from 15 to 6 fish per trip. Also, redfish smaller than 16 inches, and only one over 27 inches should be kept.

Current law allows 50 total fish and two reds over 30 inches.

"We have just received written response from Dr. Condrey to our January request for detailed creel and size restrictions providing the needed 30 percent escapement of juveniles into the spawning stocks," said Mark Hilzim, GCCA executive director. "These new voluntary restrictions replace our call for a 15 fish voluntary limit made last January," said Hilzim.

Recreational redfishing was reopened in Louisiana on June 2, the same day the Senate Natural Resources Committee approved a bill that will make both redfish and speckled trout gamefish.

Mouton loses to champion

Tommy Mouton of Cameron, who is the No. 7 ranked kick boxer in the world, recently lost a match to Dennis Alexrio, who holds a 37-0 record with 35 knockouts.

Mouton, who was 15 pounds lighter than the champion, went toe to toe with him and the fight was dead even going into the sixth round when Alexrio threw a back kick that broke two of Mouton's ribs, ending the fight.

Mouton's kick boxing record now stands at 15 wins and 2 losses, with the 15 by knockouts.

Mouton will defend his Southwest United States kick boxing title in August in Miami.

Pageant results in reprimand

A controversy over a Hackberry High School program held as a fund raising event culminated in the reprimand of the school principal by the Cameron Parish School Board at its monthly meeting Monday.

The program entitled, "Ladies of the 80's" was a "male beauty pageant" held at the school sponsored by the cheerleaders to pay the expenses for sending a member to the Hula Bowl in Hawaii.

However, some Hackberry parents said they felt that the program held at the Hackberry Multi-Purpose Building was offensive and in bad taste and complained to the school board about the matter.

The school board had earlier viewed a 45-minute videotape of the program and after meeting in closed session during its regular meeting Monday, the board approved the reprimand of Principal Pam LaFleur.

Interim Superintendent Robert Ortego stated following the closes session:

"I, the staff and members of the board, have viewed the video and are very much not in favor of what transpired. It is not something that we do not condone or ever will condone in any school in this parish.

"The principal has been a principal for 12 or 13 years and this is the first mistake she has had in her tenure. I have taken action as per our personnel evaluation plan where I have reprimanded her verbally and in writing.

"She understands that an error in judgment has been made. Our principals are required to do a lot of things such as review junior-senior prophecy and wills to keep that sort of thing out of their schools. She evidently took it for granted that it would not get to the point that it got."

A number of Hackberry parents were present at the meeting and one, Tina DeBarge, presented the board with a number of letters concerning the incident.

Beach cleanup set Sept. 24

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Last year Louisiana staged its first annual beach clean-up. Ed Kelley is chairman of the Cameron Parish program and oversees the clean-up of the 36 miles of beach in the parish.

This past weekend he made an inspection of the two miles of beach at Martin Beach which Mobile Oil Company has adopted and found the beach in good condition.

Jeff Passmore, environmental and regulatory engineer for Mobil, met Kelley there and picked up trash on the adopted area. Last year 50 people were involved in the clean-up effort on this portion of the beach, Kelley said.

Another mass clean-up effort is planned for Sept. 24, and it is hoped that there will be as many volunteers as there were last year.

Cameron Parish has the largest area of beaches in Louisiana and those who have helped clean them up are constantly on the alert for people leaving their trash behind.

In fact, last year persons were seen dumping trash in an area of a beach in Cameron and some of the people who had just finished cleaning up the area got the license number of the truck that was used and reported it to the sheriff's department.

The person was allowed to clean up the mess without being arrested.

The fine for littering is $124.25 and District Attorney Jerry Jones will prosecute anyone caught littering. Sheriff James R. Savoie instructs his deputies to be on the alert to make arrests for littering.

Mickey Guilbeau and shellcraft

Guilbeaus turn shells into unique creations

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

When Mickey Guilbeaux goes walking along the beach collecting shells and driftwood for her shell collection she sees all kinds of things that can be turned into priceless treasures.

The tiny kokenie shells become lovely blossoming flowers when she glues them together to form a row of petals around another tiny shell that becomes the stamen.

Others become leaves and they are set in a lovely basket to grace a coffee table in many states across the land.

Other colorful shells become the frame of various shaped mirrors to go on walls in every room of the house, and become one of a kind conversaton pieces.

Mickey displays these items in her shell shop in her home on Constance Beach and she combines the local shells she finds with imported shells to form the various pieces.

Mickey enjoys meeting people that drop in from all over the United States who come to look, purchase, and to stay awhile and chat on her inviting patio in front of her beach home.

She and her husband, Rodney, are living in retirement at the beach and love every minute of it.

When Mickey looks at a garfish she doesn't see an ugly fish, she sees the beautiful scales on its skin and thinks of all the lovely things she can make from them.

Many of her friends who catch the fish to eat save the skin and scales for her instead of throwing it on the trash pile.

Her husband, Rodney, starts his outdoor boiling pot and throws the skin in whole and boils it for about six hours, adding some bleach and a little detergent to the water.

They are also in various shapes, like crosses, arrowheads, doves wings, and shells. Some even have delicate flower designs on them.

They are used to make earrings, in decorating her mirrors, in shaping delicate pelicans, petals for flowers, and many other things

The Guilbeaus note that the ancient Indians were the first to discover the use of the garfish scales and how to process them, as they used the same method of boiling them as is used today.

The scales that came out looking like arrowheads were ready-made and didn't have to have anything done to them to attach to spears.

INSURANCE BIDS

The school board awarded contracts for insurance on errors and omissions, vehicles and worker's compensation but put off until a special meeting on June 30, to accept a health insurance proposal.

Bids were also accepted on bus and vehicle maintenance in the various communities of the parish but no bids were received for the Grand Lake area and will be rebid.

A number of bids also were received for reparis and remodeling at various schools in the parish.

RETIREES

The board approved payment of sick leave up to 25 days for the following retirees: Shirley Boudreaux, Preston Blanchard, Lorine Baccigalopi, Willyhugh Pulver and Patty Singletary.

The Cameron Pilot was renamed as the official journal for the school board for the coming year.

GRADING POLICY

Supervisor Adam Conner announced to the board a new grading policy for students. He said that the school system had tried a policy where the lowest grade was 50 in hopes that this would give some encouragement to poor students.

However, the policy has not worked and teachers will be told to return to the old method where an "O" will be given if a student turns in a paper with nothing on it but his name.

PUPIL PROGRESSION

A change also was announced in the pupil progression plan. In the future a pupil will have to make a passing grade in four of the five major subjects (English, reading, nath, science and social studies) n order to be passed to the next grade.

BORROW FUNDS

Interim Superintendent Robert Ortego told the board that because of the state's financial situation school boards are being asked to borrow the amount of money that they would ordinarily receive from the state for a three month period under the Minimum Foundation Program.

The money is to be loaned to the boards by a state agency at a low interest rate with the state to pay the interest at a later date.

Ortego told the board that the plan would actually be beneficial to the Cameron Parish School Board but that Cameron might be one of three boards in the state that might not be able to borrow the money since it is better off financially than most boards.

Board members did agree to apply for the loan even with the possibility that it might be denied Cameron Parish.

NO CONTAMINATION

Ortego advised the board that in response to a letter written by the board to the Department of Conservation the board has been advised that the state has found no penetration of the Grand Lake school grounds by waste materials from a nearby waste disposal facility.

PHYSICAL EXAMS

The board was told that a recent Attorney General's ruling had been given that school boards must pay for school bus drivers' annual physical examinations.

Supervisor Roger Richard said the board has been paying $15 to bus drivers each year for the exam. He got the board's permission to contract with a doctor in each section of the parish to do the exams at a set rate.

The ruling also applies to parish lunchroom workers who are required to secure a health certificate each year and the board will begin paying for these.

CONVENTION

The board disagreed on who should attend the Southern Region School Baorda Convention in Williamsburg, Va. in the near future. Mr. Ortego said he had made reservations for board members Rickey Guidry and Preston Richard, who had expressed interest in going.

However board member Dan Dupont said that in the past, due to budget reasons, the board had sent only one board member to this meeting. He made a motion, seconded by Dan Billiot, that only Guidry"s expenses be paid.

On the vote on Dupont's motion, which carried, he, Billiot and Guidry voted yes, while Richard, and Mrs. Betty Seay abstained. President Arnold Jones did not vote.

COACHES SALARIES

The board voted on a new policy to pay a teacher extra if he or she takes on one coaching duty. If a teacher coaches in two areas, he or she will be considered a regular coach and receive extra pay under that schedule.

Mr. Richard noted that the board had hired some teachers in the past with the understanding they would do extra coaching duties but they resigned their duties after getting tenure as a teacher.

Mr. Ortego said the system was having a problem in securing coaches and presently there are three coaching vacancies in parish schools.

SCHOLARSHIP

Supervisor Uland Guidry reported that there had been a one percent improvement in attendance in parish schools this past year.

He also reported that 43 parish students had received academic scholarships and two had received athletic scholarships this year for a total of $65,300.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Supervisor Adam Conner reorted that four summer school classes with a total of 26 students are being held at South Cameron High School this summer and that there were 60 adults enrolled in adult classes this past year.

WATERSHED PROGRAM

Supervisor Guidry was authorized by the board to apply for a soil and water conservation program on several of the school board sections. The program will consist of maintaining a certain water level on the land to attract mallard ducks. The board would be paid $10 an acre for joining the program.

Barbara Guidry, Johnson Bayou high teacher, was granted a sabbatical leave for the fall semester of 1988-89 for rest and recuperation.

A meal was prepared by Telesmar "Blanc" Borsall and John "Man" Theriot, consisting of spaghetti and meat balls.

The brown Indian muntjac, or barking deer, barks like a dog when excited. The buck is 30 inches tall and has two-tined antlers, about four inches long.

Questions answered

By Loston McEvers

COMMENTS FROM WILDLIFE SECRETARY

I received a letter from Virginia VanSickle on some of the questions I had that were not answered the day she was in Creole.

She is very much in agreement as to enforcing the laws for both commercial and sports fishermen. The creel limits for redfish and speckle trout of five redfish and 25 speckle trout for sports fishermen for the coming year, was recommended by Wildlife and Fisheries biologists and the L.S.U. Coastal Fisheries Institute.

The recommendation I asked for - a size of 10 inch black bass in marshes and 12 inch black bass in large lakes, and a limit of ten each daily in both places, was similar to those from the Louisiana Black Bass Unlimited and ALBC.

Miss VanSickle promises to set up a working advisory committee on black bass, after the legislative session is over. The bass leagues are submitting names of people to serve on this working group. She is particularly interested in individuals from universities who might be able to contribute technical information that should be considered in an evaluation of a bass management program.

She goes on to state that we shouldn't worry about misuse of the conservation fund. Governor Roemer made a committment to several outdoor writers recently that the fund will be protected, consistent with the constitutional amendment that shelters this money after July 1, 1988. Unfortunately, our actual revenues from the conservation fund are much lower than predicted. Instead of having generated $18 million by license sales this year, the actual amount of money accrued in the fund was $12 million. The money was not there to be used for any other purpose. We have had to manage the operations of the department on an actual budget of $26 million even though the appropriation for the department would have allowed to spend roughly $40 million this fiscal year.

FISHING AROUND THE PARISH

Bass action in the Big Burns area is sort of slow, but bream and white perch is really good with 80 to 90 per boat.

Red fish and speckle trout have begun to turn on with nice catches reported in Big Lake, Cameron jetties and Grand Chenier jetties.

Grub has really been good, along with the red fish and spec rigs.

On the offshore scene some nice catches of wahoo, amber Jack and blackfin tuna were reported. It's been tough with the Gulf waters being rough, but on a calm day fishing is picking up.

I heard a good fish joke I couldn't hardly pass up:

This angler went fishing and returned to the local fishing stop to get a cold berr. He was asked by some of his friends if he caught anything.

"Sure, I caught a fish, but it was too small to fool with, so I had a couple of other guys help me throw it back in the lake."

I've heard about the big one that got away, but never the small one that took three people to throw back in.

Catch 'ya next week.

Family Day to be held July 2

Cancer drive nets $3000

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"Cancerbelle" walked around the checkerboard field at the Rec-Plex in Cameron Sunday afternoon and dropped a chip on Garner Nunez's square, making him $1,000 richer. The Cameron Parish Cancer Society realized $3,000 in their unique cancer drive.

"Cancerbelle" is owned by Shawn Bonsall of Grand Chenier, who loaned his animal for the "let the chips fall where they may" event for the local Cancer Society.

The field was squared off in 200 squares and donors purchased the square on which they thought the cow would drop her chip. She was cheered on by participants.

This was the first such event of this kind ever held and was the brain child of Dee Fuselier with the American Cancer.

Bass Club meeting set

It will be held Monday night, June 27, at 7 p.m. at the W.O.W. Hall in Creole. The change is being done due to the Cameron Parish Fishing Rodeo being held on the July 4th weekend.

All members are urged to attend.

Meeting set

The Cameron chapter of the NAACP will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. Friday, June 17, at the Calcasieu Marine Bank meeting room, according to Louise Cole, president.

L. C. Lions are hosted by Guilbeaux

Giles Cowen, Past District Governor and incoming Lions Governor, installed the officers.

Special guests were introduced by Guilbeau as follows: Raymond Thevis, Rayne, District 8-0 Governor; and Glen Bonin, Maplewood-Hollywood and V. A. Tramonte, Carlyss, Past District Governors.

Special gifts of a Lions calendar were presented to Thevis and a shell basket was presented to Eunice Thevis.

Letter

Dear Editor:

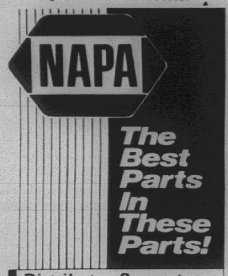
The purpose of this letter is to sincerely thank everyone who contributed in any way to making our Grand Lake grade six class field trip to Eureka Springs, Ark., a great success.

The list of parents, relatives, and friends is endless, for a great number of them donated time and money toward the financing of this most educational trip.

I should like to thank personally Mrs. Pearl Leach, my principal, because without her support and approval, the trip would have never materialized.

Special thanks to Toby Aguillard, my high school senior aide, right hand man, secretary, and the one who did most of my leg work in order to make reservations for all the shows and places we saw.

And to my students who were so polite and well-behaved, I thank you and love all of you dearly. Everywhere we went, you were complimented on your behavior.



Chaperones, you were great, too. Without your help and support, this trip could not have been a success.

Most important of all, we all thank God for watching over us during this most precious time of our lives.

The video tape of the trip is on loan. Just call me at home.

Fathers honored

Husbands of Cameron Parish Cowbelle members and fathers were guests of the Cowbelles at their annual "Beef For Father's Day" supper held last week at the Creole Fire Station.

Mrs. Norma Blake, Cowbelle president, served as master of ceremonies and Rev. Rod Kennedy led the blessing.

Mrs. Elizabeth Richard, chairman of the scholarship committee of the club, announced that the annual scholarship was won by Catherine Perry, who is also the Cameron Cattlemen Queen. She presented Miss Perry with a plaque.

Mrs. May Ann Hebert, who served as Beef For Father's Day chairman, presented Brown LeBouef with a rib rack from the club. Each father put his name in a drawing for the prize and Mr. LeBouef's was drawn.

REMEMBER WHEN? By Keith Hambrick

ALMOST A CYCLONE IN CAMERON

June 15--On Sunday evening about 4 O'clock, Cameron Parish was visited by a terrific wind, rain and hail storm, within an area extending from Grunik's Store to LaBauve's Bayou.

Fifteen or twenty houses were blown off the blocks. Cotton was stripped of its leaves and the corn crop ruined.

Con Yocum's house was carried twenty feet and badly wrecked. Am Yocum's house was blown from the blocks and one side blown out. On the Stafford place (belonging to John Sells) two houses were blown down.

The hail stones were very large, some going through the roofs of houses. That portion of the parish lying east of LaBauve's Bayou received but little damage. Leesburg did not suffer any damage.

(Lake Charles American, June 21, 1907)
CAMERON

June 17--The water is falling fast and the farmers are replanting their cotton. It seems rather late, but with favorable seasons and a late fall, some cotton may yet be made on the overflowed lands.

Sosthene Richard died at his residence near Creole on the 12th. Mr. Richard had been in bad health for several years and his death was not unexpected. He was 77 years of age. Mr. Richard leaves a wife and thirteen children, six sons and seven daughters, all residents of the parish.

Married on the 10th, Grover Rutherford and Miss Mary Broussard, and Frank Fawvor and Miss Ruth Rutherford, Rev. Ed. Stine officiating.

Our little burg was full of excursionists Sunday.

Jos. Doland and family will leave tomorrow for Donner, La., where they will reside. Mr. Doland lost his crop by the high water.

Lawrence Sweeney is a visitor here.

J. W. Clark was a passenger down on the Rex today.

Ben Eaves and Ray Pevoto of Johnson's Bayou were here Sunday. Ben came over to meet a friend, who came down on the excursion.

The first watermelons of the season were brought in by T. D. Stine on Friday last.

J. F. Franklin and Gideon Constance are over from Johnson's Bayou today.

Mrs. Dolly Root is visiting the family of her son, Wm. Stine.

"Students will be expected to keep themselves well-groomed and neatly dressed at all times. Any form of dress or hair style which is considered contrary to good hygiene or which is destructive or disruptive in appearance and detrimental to the purpose or conduct of the school will not be permitted.

South Cameron High School
Rodeo Team

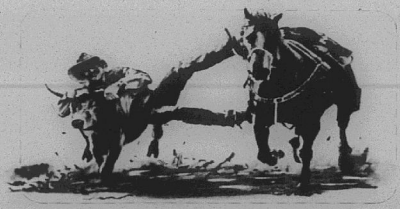
RODEO SUPPORTERS:

On behalf of the South Cameron Rodeo Association and the South Cameron High School Rodeo Team, we wish to express our sincere appreciation to all donors of prizes, equipment, supplies and volunteer work which made possible our Annual High School Rodeo, a qualifying rodeo sanctioned by the State and National High School Rodeo Association, held April 15 & 16, 1988, at the Cameron Parish Rodeo Arena.

Proceeds from our local rodeo have been used to sponsor activities of the South Cameron Rodeo Team such as: school vests, rodeo jackets, group pictures, team socials, State Finals entry fees, cash awards for National Qualifying Contestants, Little Britches Rodeos and other Youth Rodeo activities.

Your Support has enabled us to assist our local rodeo youth in hosting successful qualifying High School Rodeos for the past three years. Our parent association and our student club takes pride in these accomplishments. However, our greatest pride is the community support which has made all this possible.

Thank you for your continued interest and support of our SOUTH CAMERON HIGH SCHOOL RODEO TEAM.



Sincerely,

Bobby Montie

Cameron's Rabbit Island is 'for the Birds!'

By Geneva Griffith

A friend of mine from Alexandria called me for some information on a place in Cameron parish I had never heard of.

Hope Norman is an avid birdwatcher and an author and needed the information for a story she is writing on birds and the island rookery.

The subject was "Rabbit Island", an island in Calcasieu Lake, in Oyster Bayou, on the south part of West Cove.

I contacted Kenny Hebert, information officer with the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries agency, who informed me that the 80 or more acres on the ½ mile-in-diameter island is a natural rookery for birds of all varieties.

"It seems that they seem to sense that they will be safe on the island and it is a protected area for nesting," Hebert said.

He also informed me that the island served as a bombing practice area during World War II and that there are potholes and craters all over it, resulting from the bombing operations.

These make it awfully difficult to traverse.

He had no explaination for why it is called "Rabbit Island" because there seems to be none of them on the island now.

He said it was a possibility that the island was at one time a peninsula jutting out from the land.

I then talked to Fletcher Miller, a local hunter and trapper since retiring as a menhaden boat captain.

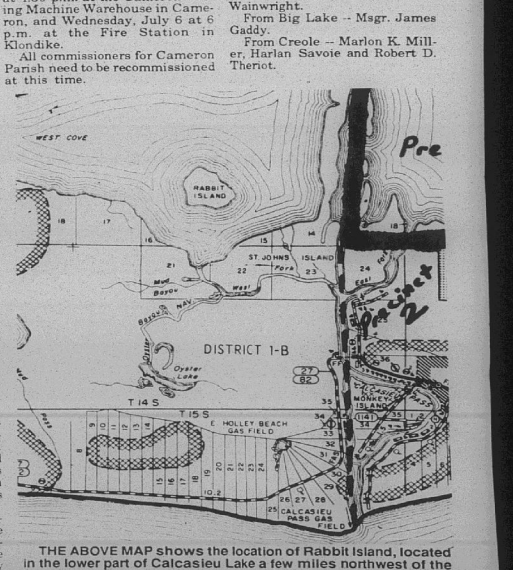
Fletcher says that he doesn't know where the island got it's name either, but he does remember passing by the island as a youngster when he would go out trapping and oystering with his grandfather. Alex Obrian and that the island looked basically then as it does today.

Miller said that his father was a commerical fisherman and oysterman and sold his catches to someone on the Rex who took them back to Lake Charles for sale there.

The riverboat Rex made biweekly visits down the Calcasieu river from Lake Charles to Cameron in those days.

He pointed out that there were no regulatins nor restrictins on fishing and oystering then.

Jerry Jones said that he had never heard of how the island got it's name, but the greatest oystering in the Lake is down from the reefs to the north and west of the Island.



Glenn Alexander said he has been on the island on many occasions and has observed numerous rabbits there each time.

John Paul Crain says that he used to hear old-timers say there always were numerous rabbits on the island and was probably why the island was named "Rabbit Island".

He also said that there has always been an abundance of wildlife inhabiting the island, in addition to the natural bird rookery.

He also believes that the island has been basically the same as it is now ever since the white men came to this area in the late 1700's and early 1800's.

Since there seems to be no written or documented history on the island it's naming can only be surmised, but one thing is certain, the state owned island will probably remain a sanctuary to nesting birds for a long time.

Reward offered in marine theft

Cameron Parish Crime Stoppers are offering cash rewards up to $1000 for information that will lead to the arrest, and prosecution of person or persons responsible for the theft of equipment and supplies aboard M/V "C Star 11" docked at the West Cove Seafood #2 Candy's Seafood on La. 27 north of Hackberry.

The theft of marine suplies and equipment were valued at $16,336 and happened sometime from Sept. 1987 to Friday, April 29, 1988. The vessel was stripped of anything that had value.

The subjects entered the vessel by injecting some instrument into the key way rendering the lock useless.

Anyone having information or knowledge on the thefts should call Cameron Parish Crime Stoppers at 775-7867.

The caller does not have to give his or her name, a code number will be assigned.

Crime Stoppers will also pay cash rewards for information that helps to solve any other crime besides the "Crime of the Month."

Society not making calls

"The American Cancer Society is not conducting a telephone survey in Cameron Parish or anywhere else", announced Deola Fuselier, Area Director. She said the ACS office had received calls from women inquiring whether or not the survey was legitimate. She encouraged the public not to cooperate with the caller because it isn't a valid survey.

"Surveys conducted by the American Cancer Society are carried out by volunteers who know the participants personally. Participants fill out confidential questionnaires in writing and not over a telephone", she concluded.

Fishermen reminded

Louisiana's sport fishermen were reminded today that although they now may legally take redfish in state territorial waters, a total ban on fishing for redfish remains in effect in waters under federal jurisdiction.

The warning came from the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Virginia Van Sickle, department secretary, cautioned redfish anglers to stay close to the shoreline as, in general, federal control begins three miles from shore.

She said some fishermen had expressed uncertainty about the situation after a temporary suspension of recreational redfish fishing in state waters was lifted June 1. The state action, she stressed, has no effect on the redfish embargo in federal waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

MUSING...

Houses faced south then

By Bernice Denny

Since the days of earliest settlements on Grand Chenier and Oak Grove houses were built north of the highway and facing the south. The reason was that the road ran east and west along the north edge of the vast sea marsh. There was scarcely room south of the road for a dwelling.

As a child, I recall one or two tiny houses built south of the road across from the old ferry landing at Grand Chenier and another at Cow Island (the upper part of Grand Chenier, as it was called).

Nearly all of the kitchens were built with a southern exposure. Such architecture was prompted by the fact that south winds blowing from the gulf were cool and moist; those from the north in summer were hot and dry.

The woman of the house spent much time in her kitchen, especially during summer months. She cooked, she canned, or she ironed throughout the day. Her source of heat for all was a wood-burning stove.

In the 1800's and first decade of the 20th century passersby rode horseback or bicycles or traveled by wagon or buggy. The housewife was able to watch the going and coming from her kitchen door or window. If it were a relative or old friend, she might open the door and chat briefly with the traveler. The latter, in turn, enjoyed catching up on bits of family news.

Nearly every residence had an open front porch. It was there that the family gathered to visit, to sew, to churn butter, shell peas, pare fruits. Rocking chairs and a porch swing were open invitations to relax. Children delighted in sitting on the edge of the porch dangling their little legs in midair.

In summer the porch served as an open air living room. Only rain or mosquitoes drove the residents indoors.

Later came the trend to screen porches or to enclose them with windows. Finally air conditioning made the front porch an unnecessary upkeep. Cooler kitchens along with constant, rapid travel did away with the need for kitchens with southern exposures.

Truly, the old order has changed!

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Wildlife changes

By Loston McEvers

WILDLIFE CHANGES ARE MANY

• There are many changes in our fish and wildlife rules, coming upon us. I'll try to throw a few items at you.

First of all, redfish and speckle trout are back in the news. Here's the new proposal - Redfish, now a gamefish - no more commercial fishing for redfish. Sportsmen can catch only five reds with five in their possession. The minimum size on redfish will be raised from 15 inches to 16 inches in length. Also, the two redfish over 30 inches is out, now you can only have one over 27 inches in length in your possession.

For speckle trout, the commercial fisherman will be able to catch a one million pound quota, when this is reached, it will also be shut down until the following year. Sportsfishermen will be able to catch and have 20 speckle trout in their possession, lowered from 50.

CAUTIONED

Sportsfishermen are cautioned and reminded that just because you can take redfish in state territorial waters, there is a "total ban" on fishing for redfish in federal waters. Federal waters start three miles from the Louisiana coast.

The final public hearing on proposed regulations for the 1988-89 hunting season will be conducted Thursday, July 7, by the La. Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

It will be held at the Quail River office at the La. Department of Wildlife Building in Baton Rouge.

Proposed season dates, bag limits and other regulations on the state's resident game species: rabbits, quail, squirrel, deer and turkey will be discussed.. The Commission will meet July 8 at 10 a.m. for it's regular scheduled monthly meeting and final ratification on these regulations will take place.

All hunters, conservationists and other interested parties are invited to the July 7 hearing.

The hunting regulations involving migratory waterfowl will be drawn up at that time and guide lines are received in August of this year.

TOLEDO BEND

There will be a closed area near the intake dam of the Gulf States hydroelectric plant on Toledo Bend. It will be marked off with buoys. The action was taken to protect a brood stock of striped bas that congregate near the intake dam.

The closure was ordered by the Texas Park and Wildlife Department at the request of the La. Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Both Texas and Louisiana sportsmen are obligated to observe the fishing ban, which will run from July 1 through Sept. 30.

BOAT REGISTRATION

New computers are set up to speed up and improve services to the Louisiana boating public. The success depends on boaters cooperation in supplying the required information, when registering their craft.

Every boat built since 1973, whether commercially manufactured or homemade, carries a hull I.D. number on its transom. All applications must be completely filled out or it will be returned. All blanks are to be completed. For further information, call 504/925-4079.

OTHER CHANGES

*Virginia Van Sickle has warned the enforcement division not to fix any tickets or citations, if any known fixing takes place, the person or persons will be terminated.

The agency is using a new system to track down citations to see that prosecution takes place. Each agent will have his own ticket book and must account for any lost or void citations.

*Changes on hiring practices which will end the requirement that applicants have a letter from their senator or representative--This should help them hire the best people for the job. Also an agent used to have to live in the enforcement area but that will no longer be, it will be in a regional area and this again should eliminate political interference. Position may also be shifted as to where the personnel is needed. An increase in undercover agents and more training for law enforcement personnel should try to pickup the morale.

These are some of the things that should make our wildlife enforcement division better.

Dogs subject in parvo virus infection

Parvo virus was first isolated in 1978 as a cause of a severe infectious enteritis in canines. Although the incidence of the disease has been reduced by the use of vaccines, large numbers of dogs continue to be affected each year.

There seems to be a higher incidence of the disease in warm weather. The virus is resistant to heat and to most disinfectants but a 1:30 solution of Chlorox has proven to be virucidal. Also direct sunlight can inactivate the virus. The parvo virus can survive a year or more under certain conditions.

Unvaccinated dogs of any age can become infected with parvo virus but puppies and older dogs are especially susceptible. Also dogs under stress from poor nutrition and parasitism are at a higher risk. Doberman Pinchers and Rottweilers seem to more prone to parvo virus than other breeds.

Parvo is transmitted by contaminated fecal matter, vomitus and saliva. Also contaminated shoes, hands and clothing can spread the disease.

The incubation period (time from exposure to onset of illness) may be four to ten days. The most common signs are loss of appetite, vomiting, and diarrhea, which often becomes bloody. These symptoms can lead to dehydration, shock and death.

When a dog is found to have Parvo your veterinarian will begin a treatment aimed at reducing discomfort and correcting dehydration. Often treatment includes IV fluids, antibiotics and other medication. Unfortunately, even with treatment many cases are fatal.

As with most diseases prevention is the best cure. This is accomplished with vaccination. Current recommendations are to vaccinate puppies at 6-8 weeks of age and repeat every 2-4 weeks until it weeks of age. Once a dog has completed his series, a booster is advised every six months.

For more information on Parvo virus, check with your local veterinarian.

Quilting is still alive

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

A group of Creole women are keeping alive an old tradition, the art of hand quilting.

They have been meeting for years in the home of Mrs. Camelia Nunez to help one another make quilts for their family and friends.

They also enjoy getting together at night to chat and exchange neighborly news.

Mrs. Nunez's home is used for all the quilting bees because she has a huge, seldom used sitting room in which the project can be set up and left until it is finished.

The quilt is put on wooden quilting frames and rolled from each end toward the middle as each row of quilting is completed. It usually takes about a week of quilting to complete a project, depending on how many work on it, and how many nights a week are spent on it.

The present project the group is working on is a cattle brand quilt for the Cameron Parish Cowbelles organization, to which most of them belong.

Oranges were big crop in parish in 1915

LETTERS ATTEST TO SUCCESS OF THE PRODUCE ASSOCIATION

Grand Chenier, La., Dec. 30, 1914

Mr. E. M. Foster, Jr., Mgr., Southwestern Produce Assn., Lake Charles, La.

Dear Sir:

Your esteemed favor of the 28th inst., enclosing check for the oranges shipped you recently, has been received. I wish to thank you for the interest you took in handling the oranges for me and the price you gave. The prices you gave me for the oranges were surprising, that is, say, about 50 per cent more than I anticipated geeting.

From this recent deal with you, I am thoroughly convinced of the object your association has in view, and I hope that this will lead to future business between us.

Yours very truly,
P. W. Doxey

Lake Charles American Press, June 22, 1917.

RFD EXTENDED TO BIG LAKE

The people who live in the country adjacent to the city will be glad to learn that the Rural Route No. 2 has been extended and beginning July 2, mail will leave Lake Charles each morning at 8:30 and the Big Lake colony will get daily mails the same as if they were at home. There will be no mail on Sundays, however, and the colonists and people along the line will have to content themselves with magazines for one day.

This makes an automobile trip of 50 miles for the postman and is quite a noteworthy extension of the route for the post office department. During the summer season, when there are large numbers of cottagers at the lake, the mail will doubtless be very heavy, but in the winter season it will be quite light.

THE CAMERON ROAD

The purchase by the police juries of Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, assisted by Mr. J. A. Bel, of the toll road leading from the parish line of Calcasieu to the town of Grand Lake in Cameron parish, opening this heavily traveled highway as a free public road, it is to be hoped, will be the start of further extension of the good roads system toward the gulf.

Our neighbors in Cameron will no doubt soon realize the value of freer access to the markets of this city and we trust the time is close when a general system of improved roads will connect all the rich farming and grazing sections of the southern parish with the system of highways joining them on the north.

Cameron is without railroads, but with good roads that may be traveled in all kinds of weather, the railroad facilities of Lake Charles and all other towns in this section will be open to them with advantages that will very likely in a few years bring them returns fully equal to the cost of their road system, both in better market returns and in increased values of land.

FREE ROAD TO GRAND LAKE

The public will be pleased to learn that through the purchase of the J. A. Bel toll-road to Big Lake, the tolls that have been required during the existence of the part of the road south to Grand Lake from the Calcasieu-Cameron line were lifted today and henceforth no charge will be made for any character of passage upon the highway.

It is due to the earnest activities of the Calcasieu police Jury aided by the Chamber of Commerce, that the funds have been secured to consummate this project in which so many Lake Charles and other people are interested.

At the recent session of the police jury, a petition was presented to the police jury which resulted in the action favorable to purchase, the amounts of money to be paid by Calcasieu and Cameron parishes and the amount which Mr. Bel agreed to stand good for in the purchase being understood, and as the financial arrangements have been brought about satisfactorily, the road is now a public highway.

The amounts as agreed upon are given as follows: Cameron Parish, $2,500; Calcasieu Parish, $5,000; J. A. Bel, $2,500.

Trust Funds

(FROM AMERICAN PRESS)

Parents and grandparents may set up trusts for unborn heirs under a bill approved Tuesday by a Senate judiciary committee.

HB 760, by Rep. Randy Roach, D-Lake Charles, amends current law, which requires the heir to be born before a trust may be set up.

Under Roach's bill, the beneficiary must be born at the time of death of the person setting up the trust but not when the trust is first set up.

Another bill by Roach, prohibiting insurance policies from being introduced as evidence in a civil damages case, was deferred.

Roach said the bill was deferred because another measure amending the state's evidence code has the same provisions.

Coastal Concern team winner of tournament

Coastal Concern of Cameron parish sponsored a girls softball team. The team won 1st place at a fun day tournament held recently at the Cameron Recreation Complex. Also, the team is in 1st place of the girls softball league, age division 11-12.

Sherry Authement and Sherrill Authement are sponsor representatives and Susan Beard is coach.

Dear Editors,

I wish to thank you for your coverage on my book, Louisiana Paradise. The coverage was well done and I do appreciate you interest in the book. It has sold itself. I understand it is being considered for a second edition. Mr. Conrad, his co-worker, Dr. Carl Brasseaux and his staff are excited about the reception the book has received.

Thank you.

(EDITOR'S NOTE--These were letters from two South Cameron Elementary School students to South Cameron Memorial Hospital thanking the hospital for the ambulance's visit to the school. Arlene Miller and Debbie Payne were hospital attendants.)

Dear Mrs. Arlene and Ms. Debbie,

Thanks for coming to our school. I really liked your demonstration. I learned a lot of things. I didn't know that ambulance's could carry four people, I just thought two. The sirens were loud. I learned also what the sirens mean.

Danielle Shay

Dear Mrs. Arlene and Ms. Debbie,

I really enjoyed the demonstration that you did on the ambulance. What I enjoyed most was the sirens. They were loud but they got your attention. Second of all I liked the scoop stretcher. Third of all I liked the helicopter service and that four people could ride at a time. I appreciate your time.

Thank you,
Jennifer Harper

Hunting seasons are topic of hearing

A final public hearing on proposed regulations for the 1988-89 hunting seasons will be conducted Thursday, July 7, by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

The hearing, beginning at 2 p.m., will be held at the Quail Drive office of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries in Baton Rouge.

It will cover proposed season dates, bag limits and other regulations applicable to the state's resident game species--quail, rabbit, squirrel, deer and turkey.

Final ratification of these regulations will take place at 10 a.m. the next day, July 8, when the commission meets for its regularly scheduled monthly meeting.

Virginia Van Sickle, department secretary, invited all hunters, conservatinists and other interested parties to participate in the July 7 hearing. She noted that previous public hearings were held earlier this year at three locations to give citizens a chance to air their views on these issues.

Van Sickle added that 1988-89 hunting regulatins involving migratory waterfowl will be drawn up after federal guide lines are received in August 1988.

Fish bill out again

(From American Press)

The move to make redfish a gamefish was revived Tuesday as a House panel sent the bill to the full House, albeit unfavorably.

However, the full House apparently has the votes to pass SB 829 because it directed the committee to make a report on the bill.

The committee discussed the matter briefly Tuesday before sending it to the full House with a vote of 12-5.

The bill, by Sen. Ben Bagert, D-New Orleans, prohibits commercial harvesting of redfish and limits commercial harvesting of speckled trout to 1 million pounds per season.

It also sets recreational limits at five reds and 25 specks per day.

Rep. Ted Haik, D-New Iberia, was unsuccessful in an attempt to amend gamefish status for reds out of the bill.

The amendment would have allowed commercial fishermen to harvest 1.5 million pounds of redfish a year and 1.2 million pounds of specks.

Rep. Randy Roach, who is against gamefish status, voted against the amendment because "I knew the bill would not get out of committee with a favorable report with that amendment."

The time for any amendments, he said, is when it gets to the House floor.

Roach supports allowing the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to establish commercial quotas for both species.

"We need to allow the biologists to regulate the species," he said. "It should not be an issue that is handled politically."

The House is expected to debate the measure later this week.

Rates cut by co-op

There was a decrease in the bills, due to a decrease from the company's wholesale power supplier.

Through the efforts of the Board of Directors of the local REA and the management of Cajun Electric, another step has been achieved in the workout plan with REA, said J. H. deCordova, General Manager of Jefferson Davis Electric Coop.

This will probably be the last rate decrease unless the cost of fuel should suddenly decrease, he said, and the rate will remain in effect throughout this year and possibly longer.

The local cooperative has recently been declared to be under the control of the Louisiana Public Service Commission resulting from another lawsuit concerning Dixie Electric Membership Corporation.

Jobless rate has big drop

Cameron parish had the 9th lowest unemployment rate in the state for May, according to the Louisiana Dept. of Labor. The parish rate was 9.7 percent, a big drop from the 12 percent rate for April.

According to the Labor Dept. there were 450 persons out of work in the parish out of a total labor force of 4,650.

The rate for the state was 10.5 percent for May, down from 10.7 in April.

The national jobless rate was 5.4 percent for May.

Best athlete

Carrie Beth Boudreaux, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Boudreaux, formerly of Cameron, was awarded a trophy and letter of congratulation for the best athlete of the year by the Ambassador of the U. S. A. in Dubai, U.A.E.

Carrie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oran Boudreaux of Creole and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cheramie of Cameron.

Ethics matter is taken up

The Commission on Ethics for Public Employees last Friday took up a matter concerning Garner Nunez, Cameron parish treasurer and administrator, but deferred action until it can get some information.

Nunez had told the Cameron Parish Police Jury at a recent meeting of a possible conflict of interest arising out of an insurance company in which he had had part ownership doing business with the parish.

The jury had requested Nunez to present the facts to the Ethics Commission for their opinion.

Going to BR? Call Randy

Local groups or individuals planning to attend the Legislative sessions in Baton Rouge are encouraged to contact Rep. Randy Roach in advance so that he can make arrangements to meet with them.

Myrna Conner, Roach's legislative assistant for Cameron Parish, said such arrangement can be made by calling 491-2102 or 542-4687 or Rep. Roach in Baton Rouge.

Also a message can be sent in to Rep. Roach during the session by a guard or someone else in authority.

Recipes needed by Aug. 1st

Mrs. Shirley Bonsall and Robert Pinch, co-editors of the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival cookbook announce that recipes for the 1989 cookbook should be in to them by Aug. 1.

They may be sent to Mrs. Bonsall, Rt. 1. Box 56E, Grand Chenier, La. 70643.

Mudd All-Around for 2nd year

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Chad Mudd has plenty of reasons to smile these days as he stands in the "Saddle Room" of his home and points out the newest addition, the two saddles he won this year when he won the title of 1988 Louisiana All-Around Cowboy, for the second year in a row.

The two new saddles were awarded to him for All-Around title and for placing first in Cow Cutting.

In addition to the saddles he won a $125 gift certificate, a hat and four plaques in the competition at Burton Coliseum in Lake Charles. He racked up a total of 436 points in steer wrestling, team roping and cutting to win the title.

He has been in the rodeo rings as long as he can remember, following in the footsteps of his older brother and sister, who were also state winners.

His older brother, Lance, rodeos for McNeese State University and L.R.A. (La. Rodeo Association) and represented McNeese in Nationals at Bozeman, Mont.

Chad will be representing Louisiana in the National finals in Pueblo, Colorado next month, and you can bet that his proud family will be there cheering him on.

By Bernice Denny

Irrelevancy of age

Have you ever thought of how irrelevant one's age actually is to what one is told in regard to it?

When I was two, my mother would say, "You are a big girl. Don't act like a baby."

I interpreted it in my childish mind to mean, "You must not cry over little things, but it is all right for your six-months old brother to cry."

When I was four, I attempted to climb the haystack back of the barn. Mamma saw me and called out, "Come down at once, honey. You are too little. Mamma's baby will get hurt."

I didn't know whether to feel flattered by having once again become Mamma's baby or to feel frustrated.

Then at eight I climbed to the top and was sliding down a similar haystack. I felt exuberant; certain that I had reached the proper age.

But Mamma saw me. She always seemed to be aware of my activities. She appeared horrified. "The idea of a great, big girl like you climbing and sliding down haystacks. Act your age." Poor me! I thought I had been.

I do recall one Sunday afternoon when I, along with Brother and two cousins, Mary Elaine and Sophie, climbed the cowpen fence, across the roof of the "shekay" (the calf shed), and on up to the top of the big barn. Elated at our triumph, we four little kids sat astride the ridge pole, waved our arms, and gazed at the countryside.

Our mothers were visiting in the living room and never dreamed of our escapade. It was a good thing, for they might have suffered heart attacks or we broken bones in scrambling down hastily. At the time we knew that we were not of an age to take such risks.

Then in my early and middle teens--the most difficult years in any life--I was told that I was too young to date; old enough to act with ladylike dignity; too young to wear makeup; old enough to sew dresses and to make dainty buttonholes.

I decided then and there that age can be anything one wants it to be. Now when our group is having fun playing dominoes and my partner and I score high, I feel as young and exhilarated as when I reached the top of the barn.

But when I have been busy in the kitchen all morning and am tired, I tell myself that the big, comfortable lounge chair in the living room was designed for an elderly lady just like me.

ANTHONY CLEMENS of Anacoco displays a striped bass weighing 38 pounds 4 ounces that he caught recently. The big striper eclipses the previous Louisiana record for the species, a 37-pounder landed in 1983. He hooked it "in the Toledo Bend area," but wouldn't say exactly where.

BY THE DROUGHT

Hunting may be hurt

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The hunting industry is very important to the economy of the area, supporting many hunting clubs and associated jobs. News of the drought up north brings a grim outlookfor the upcoming hunting season.

The drought has once again hit the principal duck nesting areas of North America, and wildlife biologists are concerned about the status of duck populations this year.

"The situation looks grim" said Frank Dunkle, Director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Habitat conditions are worse than last year, and at this point, it appears unlikely that mallards, pintails, and other prairie-nesting ducks will have the good production year they need to build up their numbers."

If duck production is low as a result of this drought, Dunkle said, the Fish and Wildlife Service would be required to take a hard look at this year's waterfowl hunting regulations. He emphasized, however, that no decisions about hunting regulations will be made until complete information on habitat conditions and duck populations is available later this summer.

Aerial and ground surveys by U. S. and Canadian biologists and climate data from Canada indicate very dry conditions in much of the prime duck production area of the continent, the north-central prairie states and southern Canadian provinces of Alberta, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan.

Grassland areas are the most affected and conditions there are the worst observed in many years.

In southern Canada, poor conditions began as early as last summer when less than one-third of the prairie region received normal precipitation.

Extensive dust storms were common this spring in some regions.

Preliminary reports on duck distribution and abundance reflect stressed habitat conditions, as biologists report congregations of ducks crowding into what water remains, often with little nesting cover.

This year's dry conditions will likely continue the 1980's trend of generally poor duck production. In 1985, duck breeding populations fell to the lowest level since surveys began in the 1950's, and numbers have not improved significantly since then.

In 1987, breeding populations of 6 of the 10 major duck species (mallard, American wigeon, blue-winged teal, northern pintail, canvasback and scaup) were significantly below their respective average population sizes for 1955-86.

Roach's bills are passed

(From American Press)

Five bills related to the fishing industry by Rep. Randy Roach, D-Lake Charles, were passed by the Senate Thursday and now go to the governor for his signature.

HB 1266 provides that the license fee charged out-of-state commercial fishermen for oyster tongs shall be eight times that charged Louisiana fishermen.

Roach said this was an attempt to discourage out-of-state fishermen from pressuring the oyster industry.

HB 1890 provides for the opening and closing of oyster tonging season in Calcasieu Lake and Sabine Lake.

Under the proposed legislation, the season would be from Nov. 15 through April 30.

It also allows the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission to change the opening and closing of the season by two weeks, if biological date indicates a need.

Current law prohibits people from setting most nets at the mouths of streams to collect fish as the streams drain into the marsh. However, butterfly nets and trawls were left out of the law.

HB 1717 allows the Department of Environmental Quality to waive permits in remedial action on a site when a danger to public health is determined.

HB 1401 changes the venue for suits against the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission to East Baton Rouge Parish.

THIS WAS A scene from last year's Cameron Parish Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. The rodeo will be held again this Fourth of July weekend from the Grand Chenier park. Lynex Richard is shown above weighing in a 19 lbs., 6 oz. horse-eye jack for Dr. Prentice Perkins of Mamou.

The list is being compiled by the department's Fish Division and will cover both fresh and salt water fishing services. All interested parties are urged to submit their names, addresses and services offered to Arthur Williams, Programs Manager, Fish Division, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries, P. O. Plaquemines also working with FEMA

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The following article concerning Plaquemines Parish's efforts to get FEMA's restrictions on construction made more tolerable will be of interest in Cameron Parish where a similar program has been under way for several years. Dr. Joseph Suhayda, mentioned in the article, has been in charge of the Cameron program which is being sponsored by the Cameron Parish Police Jury.)

(From the Plaquemines Watchman)

Consultants presented a report to the Plaquemines Parish Council Thursday that shows while a storm surge would overflow the current Mississippi River Levee in some areas of South Plaquemines, it is drastically less than assumed under previous data used by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

FEMA regulations forced the parish to institute strict building height requirements for new construction three years ago for areas south of West Pointe a la Hache.

Consultants hired over a year ago by the parish brought Council members up to date last week reviewing the recently completed report. Working in conjunction with FEMA officials, Dr. Donald T. Resio and Dr. Joseph Suhayda have been working on redefining statistics used by FEMA to determine the extent of possible flooding to Plaquemines caused by a sorm surge.

FEMA had already acknowledged that the parish has adequate protection for either excessive rain or high river flooding, but concluded in a storm surge, southern areas of Plaquemines would sustain flooding.

Eight other studies similar to the calibration report had been done by FEMA or the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, but to a lesser extent. In the past, parish officials had claimed Plaquemines was not exposed to the flooding potential that studies indicate. FEMA officials, early-on, said to undertake an extensive report, simular to the one Resio and Suhayda did, would cost FEMA approximately $1 million. Resio and Suhayda say they have completed the report at a much reduced amount than that price.

The report involved building computer models to simulate areas of Plaquemines and actually run tests that show if water would top the Mississippi River Levee in a storm surge.

The consultants said the project would not have been completed as quickly and accurately as was done, but they discovered a way to incorporate micro computers to run the tests. That procedure, they say, had not previously been used to simulate the tests. However, FEMA officials had to first approve the use of micro computers in order to accept the findings.

Findings will be given to FEMA officials who will use the data to prepare new maps for Plaquemines Parish which will show how high off the grund residents in the various communities must build. Current maps show buildings must be at elevations of 8 to 14 feet about ground level.

IMPORTANT TO CAMERON FOLKS

Hon. Aladin Vincent, senator from this district, has had formal notice that a hearing upon the Mermentau Dam, with reference to its effect on navigation and its causing of overflow and other damages to private lands will be held at the office of Major E. H. Schulz, 326 Custom House, New Orleans, on July 21, at 10 a.m.

Some weeks ago Senator Vincent called the attention of the government to the menace of the remains of the dam to Cameron farmers, through Congressman Lazaro. He received a prompt reply from Congressman Lazaro, who forwarded the papers to Gen. Bixby, chief of engineers, who replied that the matter was in the hands of Major Schulz. The official call for the meeting was then issued.

The Cameron people who are concerned over this dam and the danger with which it menaces their crops should arrange to have a representative at the meeting July 21.

MAY BUY 30,000 CAMERON ACRES

New Orleans Times-Democrat: Perry Ulrich, who negotiated the deal for the sale of 106,000 acres of marsh land in Cameron and Vermilion parishes, which was announced a week ago, upon his return Friday morning to New Orleans from that section, where he spent the past week, stated that the deal for 30,000 additional acres had not yet been concluded, but may be consummated upon his return to Chicago.

It was Mr. Ulrich's intention to take the capitalists who made the larger purchase for an inspection of the 30,000 acre tract, but at the last moment they were compelled to return to Chicago. He himself will leave Sunday for Chicago, where he hopes to conclude the deal for the additional tract.

Leesburg Museum News

By Gay Dyson Reeves
Director
Phone 775-5228

June visitors to the Leesburg Museum have represented many states and local groups. Hurricane Audrey was well remembered during June with Geneva Griffith's story and pictures. The display of paintings by Cameron parish artists have been well received and will remain until Sept. 1.

Beginning July 1, two new exhibits will be shown in the museum that may be of interest to many. One is a display of color photographic prints of wild flowers of Cameron parish. This beautiful collection was taken by Kristi Jo Dupuie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Dupuie of Grand Chenier. Kristi Jo is entering the fifth grade in the fall and is a second year member of a 4-H club photography project.

The other display consists of two spectacular wall sized murals developed by the artistically gifted classes of Cameron elementary and Johnson Bayou schools. Members of the groups are, from Cameron, Shawn Authement, Marta Leija, Patrick Hebert, Ernest January, and Kenneth Walker, and from Johnson Bayou, Hank Badon, Trevor Trahan, Andy Tingler, Mindy Harrington, Bethanie Skidmore, Chad Merritt, Todd Billiott, Shannon Trahan, and Stephanie Vining.

The murals are shown in the meeting room and represent outer space themes. These students of Gerry Bader range in grade level from second to eighth. These exhibits will remain until Sept. 1.

PICTURES NEEDED

We are still in need of copies of your photographs of "old Cameron parish" to add to our picture book. These could be of people, places, buildings, boats, objects, animals, or whatever. Just write a simple title on the back of your copies giving the approximate year and appropriate names and send them to Leesburg Museum, P.O. Box D, Cameron, La. 70631. Everyone enjoys looking at photographs of yesterday.

HURRICANE

During this week of June 27, hurricanes are naturally very much on our minds. One of the most dramatic articles in our Cameron Parish History Book is written by W. T. Block, noted historian. It is titled, "October 12, 1886: The Night That Johnson Bayou, Louisiana, Died."

Mr. Block had many relatives in Johnson Bayou at that time and he states that over 1800 people lived in the prosperous communities existing then. Mr. Block states that the Johnson Bayou area had suffered from seven hurricanes dating from Sept. 13, 1865, until October of 1886, but none had been so severe as to discourage settlement.

During the hurricane of 1886, 110 lives were lost and the ridges were swept clean of all animal life and buildings. Few returned to resettle.

Mr. Block's article of seven single spaced typed pages paints a comprehensive picture of life in Johnson Bayou at that time and is a part of the collection of historical materials that compose our parish history book.

Donald Broussard's account of his experience during Hurricane Audrey is also included along with Dr. Cecil Clark's personal story of Hurricane Audrey, written for a national magazine.

Order your copy so we can have the book printed. Send $20 to Cameron Parish History Book, P.O. Box D, Cameron, La. 70631. The balance of $40 is payable when the book is printed. Be sure and include your name, address and phone number.

The book is on display in the Leesburg Museum on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Crawfish and rice recipes are available

Connoisseurs of Louisiana cuisine have always known that crawfish and rice are a natural combination and now the Rice Council, in cooperation with the Louisiana Crawfish Farmers Association, has a new recipe brochure that features a number of crawfish and rice dishes.

"Crawfish & Rice: A Snappy Combination," presents six crawfish and rice dishes that have been tested in the Council's kitchen. Recipes include "Bayou Salad," "Quick Crawfish Jambalya," and "Saffron Crawfish Risotto."

For a complimentary copy of the brochure, send a long, self-addressed stamped envelope to the Rice Council, Dept. J, P.O. Box 740121, Houston, Tex. 77274.

John R. Williams, executive director of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home in Monroe, urges churches to give liberally through the Cooperative Program of the Louisiana Baptist Convention, thereby helping worldwide mission causes, including the Children's Home.

As churches of the Louisiana Baptist Convention share through the Cooperative Program each week they have a part in the work of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home in Monroe. They are providing help for today and hope for tomorrow to children and families.

Galley's calves are taking top honors

The grand champion steer shown at the recent LSU Spring Livestock Show not only brought his owner, 17-year-old Roland LeLeux Jr. of Crowley, a record price of $8,040, but it's only the second time in 42 years that the same exhibitor had back-to-back grand champion steers.

Galley not only bred and sold the winning 1988 steer to the Crowley youth, he also sold him the calf that became the 1,230 pound cross-bred grand champion steer that sold for $6,765 at the 1987 LSU show.

Being Louisiana-bred, each animal won LeLeux an extra $500 from the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association and his 1988 champion steer also won him an additional $2500 for being named the Reserve Champion at the Southwest District Livestock Show in Lake Charles.

Young Galley's fourth annual Spring Club Sale, the same one at which LeLeux has purchased his champions-to-be during the past two years, was held in April on the Joe Withers farm located about five miles west of Hwy. 27 on Holbrook Park Road, south of DeQuincy.

About 50 crossbred steers and a group of Black Main Anjou heifers were sold with buyers from several states.

FULL TIME BUSINESS

Galley's Champion Drive Cattle Company, which began as a hobby for Galley when he was a 9-year-old 4-H member living south of Lake Charles, now has evolved into a fulltime business for Galley and his wife, Julie, along with assitance from Julie's parents, Joe and Pat Withers.

Young Galley was a livestock exhibitor for ten years and during that time showed the champion steer at the Calcasieu parish show several times and won numerous showman awards. He also served on the Louisiana Hereford Association's Jr. Board of Directors, and was on the livestock judging team.

When Galley was in the 10th grade, a friend asked him to purchase show animals for local youths because there were so few available in the state. He bought and resold five steers that year and so Champion Drive Cattle Co. began.

As a senior in LaGrange High School and throughout college, Galley began to build a herd of cows. He traveled to Texas, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma to find the type cattle needed to produce club calves. He selected mostly Chianina and Maine Anjou cattle, exotic breeds relatively new in the U.S., but fast becoming popular for raising show steers. He established the goal to produce top quality Louisiana-bred cattle. At the time, most show cattle were imported from other states.

Through the livestock shows and 4-H activities, Galley met a DeQuincy 4-H member, Julie Withers, and began to spend as much of his spare time as he could manage in DeQuincy. With the help of Joe and Pat Withers, who later became his in-laws, Galley established his headquarters on the Withers property. He also leased land for use nearby from Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wise.

Galley graduated from McNeese with a degree in Animal Science in 1984 and really began a fulltime cattle business. He started with 20 head, which has increased to as many as 130 brood cows at times. The program is based on two calving seasons, spring and fall, to accomodate the two major show seasons.

An artificial insemination program is used, as well as a battery of high performance bulls.

Galley serves as consultant for many other people who wish to acquire cattle for all types of programs. Currently, Galley's favorite interest is in "Cashback", the 7/8 Maine Anjou bull he owns jointly with James and Sherry Shell of China, Tex.

Galley is a strong advocate of 4-H and FFA programs and feels they teach youth responsibility, not only in caring for the animals, but also for learning the ins and outs of the financial world. For many youth, these programs offer the chance to succeed at something where they may not have the opportunity in other activities.

Galley's customers have accumulated an outstanding show record. Calves sold by Champion Drive have won parish, district, and state shows. Since the Louisiana-bred Show Steer Program was started which given extra credit to steers produced here in the state, Champion Drive has produced the state champions at the LSU Spring Livestock Show in 1985, 1987 and 1988, with the Reserve Champion in 1986. Probably no club calf producer anywhere else has such consistent winners in the state.

Galley remains in favor of importing show steers from other states, for two reasons. There are still not enough quality steers from within the state for all exhibitors, and because only by looking to and learning from producers elsewhere can Louisiana breeders keep up with the trends and continue to improve their own product. Galley is pleased that his market has expanded to include customers from Texas, Oklahoma and Mississippi.

Some people get the impression Galley's work is glamorous, because he gets to travel, is his own boss, and shares in the excitement of show days. What's not always obvious is the hard work, long hours, and worry of the business.

He wears out a truck each year and a pair of boots in two months. His biggest satisfaction remains in watching the cattle grow and progress, and the many friends he has made throughout the country who share an interest in livestock and youth.

Wife Julie, who is 24, helps out when she can but at present is working as a Registered Nurse at the Sulphur hospital and working on her Master's Degree on the weekend in Galveston.

Soc. Security services are free--Dixon

People in Southwest Louisiana have been receiving direct mail solicitations asking that they pay $7 to join an organization that says it will provide many services related to Social Security, Bill Dixon, Social Security manager in Lake Charles, said recently.

First, Dixon said, there is no need to pay any firm money to obtain any of the services provided by Social Security.

In return for the $7 payment, this firm offers to provide a statement of a person's earnings covered by Social Security, a plastic Social Security card, and a guide to Social Security.

Any person can obtain a statement of Social Security covered earnings without paying anybody. All a person has to do is call any Social Security office and ask for a request for statement of earnings form. After completing the form and mailing it, the person will receive the statement in a few weeks. This firm can do no more.

In addition, there is no need for a plastic Social Security card, Dixon said. It is of no use for Social Security purposes. The Social Security number card issued by the Social Security Administration is the only official card and should be used whenever a Social Security card is needed.

People can obtain many publications about Social Security's free services by calling the Lake Charles Social Security office and asking, Dixon said.

Free information about Social Security and free Social Security cards can be obtained from the Lake Charles Social Security office by calling 478-0220 from the Lake Charles area and 824-6820 from the Jennings area.

Here's how to certify your record fish

The Louisiana Outdoor Writers Association maintains the official Louisiana Fish Records for 15 freshwater and 36 saltwater species and is now adding a new fly-fishing division which will include bass, bream and warmouth (goggle-eye) along with speckled trout and redfish.

The freshwater categories are hybrid bass, largemouth bass (caught by both rod-and-reel and flycasting rod), spotted bass, striped bass, white bass, bowfin (choupique), bream, buffalo, carp, catfish, crappie (sac-a-lait), chain pickerel, redfin pickerel and warmouth (goggle-eye).

Also, rainbow runner, redfish, sailfish, sheepshead, cubera snapper, red snapper, spadefish, spearfish, tarpon, tripletail, speckled trout, white trout, blackfin tuna, bluefin tuna, yellowfin tuna and wahoo.

Fishermen who believe they may have caught a record fish should have it weighed as soon as possible before any shrinkage sets in. The fish must be weighed on a government-certified scale, such as that found in a meat market.

Two witnesses are necessary at the weigh-in. One of them may be the person doing the weighing, and the other preferably a person who saw the fish caught.

A photo of the fish should be taken. The species should be identified by a fish biologist, especially if the trophy is an African pompano, hybrid bass, spotted bass, white bass, king mackerel or Spanish mackerel. Biologists of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries are always happy to help.

All entries must have been taken in a sporting manner, and all entries are required to have been taken from Louisiana water or off the Louisiana coast.

Blueberry Americana

Young America likes blueberries because they are low in calories and make a nutritious contribution to the diet. Half a cup of blueberries contains approximately 45 calories. They rank first in vitamin A and second in food energy of all berries. Blueberries also contain vitamin C, iron and a trace of minerals.

During the warm days of summer, the mouth watering taste of fresh blueberries can be enjoyed in a variety of ways:

- Combine blueberries, strawberries and green grapes for a beautiful (colorful) salad. Or serve with a light lemon sauce for a refreshing dessert.
- Stir ½ cup fresh blueberries into bran muffin mix for nutritious breakfast treat.
- Pile fresh blueberries in the center of a cantaloupe or honeydew melon half for a light summer luncheon.

Drive to be held to aid retired nuns

Harold E. Teagle, director of the Office of Development for the Diocese of Lake Charles, has been appointed coordinator of a drive to raise funds to help religious congregations care for their elderly members.

The appointment, by the Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, is effective immediately. Teagle will be primarily responsible for educating people of the diocese about the need for funds for retired sisters, and for assisting pastors to promote the appeal, the bishop said.

According the recent studies, religious orders will need an additional $2.5 billion to provide adequate care for the growing number of elderly nuns. The bishops of the United States approved an annual collection for this purpose at their annual meeting in November. The appeal will alst 10 years "unless the need is met before then."

REDFISH-SPECS BACK IN NEWS

Redfish and speckle trout are still a hot issue in Baton Rouge. One week it's one way and the next week it's another. Here's the latest, but may change again before you read this.

The bill which was to prohibit commercial harvesting of redfish, was killed last week. The issue got on the hot side as both commercial and recreational fishermen were on hand. There was some name calling and of course this makes it worse.

State fishing officials oppose making redfish a game fish, but they may recommend a zero quota for the next few years to have better control over the population.

However, a bill giving the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission authority to set quotas for commercial harvesting of redfish and speckle trout is still alive and if this goes through, the commission would say what the quota would be.

After the bill was deferred, Virginia VanSickle, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Secretary, said they might just set the quota at zero. However, she did say the maximum she could recommend would be 500,000 pounds per year.

Last year we were suppose to have a 1.7 million pound quota for redfish for commercial fishermen, but it now seems officials estimate over 4 million pounds of redfish were harvested commercially.

Our two lawmakers representing Cameron Parish, Rep. Randy Roach and Sen. Jack Doland, both back killing the redfish bill. They do not agree with closing redfish to commercial fishermen, but they do agree with the bill letting the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission set the quotas on both redfish and speckle trout.

Now in the bill for recreational fishermen is a limit of 5 redfish and 25 specks per day.

Groups supporting the gamefish present were members of the Gulf Coast Conservation Association and the Louisiana Maritime Trades Association and area sportsmen groups, who were representing the state's 200,000 recreational saltwater fishermen.

Groups against the bills present were representatives of the state's 1800 commercial fishermen, fish wholesalers, fish processors and the Louisiana Restaurant Owners Association.

This has been a long drawn out affair, but if the people voting for or against this bill, whom we elected, can just use biological data and be fair with this important situation and leave politics out of it, it will help the state of Louisiana as a whole.

FISHING IN OUR AREA

Speckle trout and redfish have been real good out of the Big Lake area and the Cameron channel area. Speck and redfish rigs, white yellow has been good, along with chartreuse and green grubs.

In the Grand Chenier area around the bridge in the Mermentau River, redfish has been good, with 16 to 18 inches in length.

JULY RODEO

Don't forget the 4th of July Deep Sea - Bay and Surf Fishing Rodeo, to be held at the Grand Chenier State Park this weekend, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, July 1, 2, and 3. Lots of onshore activities are planned for three days and nights, along with boat races and fishing activities. Come on out and have a good time.

WATERFOWL SEASON '88

The State Wildlife Commission is having a meeting to go with federal guidelines for our days and limits for the 1988-89 waterfowl season.

I would think we are going to be surprised by our season and limits, with the dry spell the northwest and Canada are having. This dry spell is taking place in much of the prime duck production area. Things are worse than last year and we all know how bad waterfowl hunting was last year.

Last year mallard, wigeon, pintail, canvasback, blue-wing teal and scaup were the worst since 1955.

I feel they can cut the limits all they want, but if they don't cut the days, they're just spinning their wheels.

If the limit should be only two ducks, some hunters will hunt two or three times per day say for 60 days, but if a season of say 40 days and two ducks, think of the lesser ducks that will be killed. We will have to suffer to try and not mess up our hunting for future years or we'll end up with no season at all.

Just look back at the gros-bec situation. That season was taken off the sportsman's game bird list back in 1918 and is still off.

However, you read all the time of the slaughter of gros-becs when they're too young to fly. This is an old Cajun tradition, to have a gros-bec supper. They are being sold also to have big time parties.

Things have gotten so out of hand that violations from killing gros-bec is around $100,000 and a year in jail. That on the Lacey Act and then on the Migratory Game Bird Act, another $5,000 and six months in jail may be given.

Louisiana has a reputation for over-kills or over-limits, and also hunting over baited ponds. This has really put a bad image on our state from other states. We do need to clean up our act.

Dear Sir/Madam:

I would start by assuring you that I am no politician, and the comments I will refer to are truly that of concern. I will attempt to instill this same concern to you, the voter, because you will soon be faced with one of the most important decisions you may ever be asked to make in the voting booth. I, as a Health Care Professional, cannot emphasize strongly enough, the importance of an ambulance service in our area, and I would ask you to consider it's importance to the life and well being of your loved ones, friends and neighbors and anyone in dire need of medical attention.

Many questions about the proposed amublance tax are circulating in the community. This statement is intended to explain why we need the tax, how the funds will be used, and what benefits it will provide you, the consumer.

The Hospital, in years past, has relied on grants from the Police Jury to maintain the ambulance service. The funds provided were used to purchase new ambulances, refurbish those worth saving, and to pay for maintenance, insurance, and other costs that were ambulance related. The Jury is no longer able to subsidize this service, so the ambulance district has been formed to evaluate the options available in maintaining an ambulance service in our area. The ambulance board has studied and accepted bids from ambulance services (Acadian & Holstons) and have found these services too costly. They have decided to seek a 4.0 mill tax and provide for our own service.

The funds generated from a 4 mill tax will be used in the following ways.

1. The oldest ambulance will be replaced by a new unit, and the newer unit will undergo a complete refurbishment.
2. New, modern equipment will be purchased which will enhance our rescue efforts, and provide for a better communication system.
3. We will use a portion of the funds to provide continuing education for our present staff, and help provide education and training for our local residents who show an interest in the "EMT" field. We can then staff the service with local people, who are better qualified to provide skilled service.
4. We will use funds to pay our present employees, maintain full insurance coverage on the units and provide continuing education for personnel who staff the ambulances.
5. Maintenance of the two units has always been an expensive item, and we will continue to have these unforeseen problems in the future.

The Board has declared that should the community pass the 4 mill tax, all residents of our Service District will be members of the District and no fee will be charged the patient for this service. We will, however, bill private insurance companies, Medicare or Medicaid, and/or other coverages the patient may have. We will accept payment frcm these agencies as payment in full, and the balance will be written off as paid to all patients who reside in our ambulance service district. This service will cover only transfers to South Cameron Memorial Hosptial and to any hospital in Lake Charles. Only hospital transfers will be covered under the membership program. This program, in essence, is similar to a membership with Acadian Ambulance Service.

I have been given the task of overseeing this new ambulance service should the tax pass. I wish to assure each of you that I will work diligently to provide for the best care possible, and that all resources available will be used to achieve this goal. I know that all questions have not been answered, and I invite you individually or as a group to call if I can be of assistance in answering any questions you may have.

Please remember that together we have the opportunity to develop an ambulance service capable of delivering quality professional medical care to those who will need it in life or death situations. I ask you to join with me, the Medical Staff, the Board of Directors and employees of this Hospital and support the proposal before you on July 16th.

Sincerely,

Joe Soileau

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Application for membership in The Sons of the American Revolution is required to show complete genealogy from the applicant back to his SAR ancestor. Some show additional genealogical information such as parents and grandparents of the SAR ancestor and references to prove the genealogy.

The recent publishing of an INDEX to the Louisiana SAR records greatly facilitates their use and gives them even larger genealogical value.

SONS OF AM. REV. LOUISIANA INDEX

Index of Membership Applications to The Louisiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution compiled by Dalton L. Woolverton is a composite of all Louisiana SAR indexes contained in the twelve rolls of microfilm of the thirty books of records.

In late 1986 the La. Society Board of Directors voted to have the registrar make microfilm copies of all membership applications. These records start in 1893 and end in 1986, being 2600 applications including some few supplemental ones.

Copies of the microfilm records have been given to the seven Louisiana SAR chapters and to the genealogy departments of major Louisiana libraries.

Purpose of this recently published INDEX is to direct genealogical researchers to the application. Two indexes are included: by applicant's name and by ancestor's name. Each entry has the applicant number (1-2600) and the La. SAR record book number (1-30). The microfilm includes the complete applications as copied from these record books.

GERMAN REGISTERS

A Guide to German Parish Registers compiled by Johni Cerny represents an important breakthrough in German research for the tremendous microfilm collection of these acquired over the past fifty years by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for their Family History Library at Salt Lake City.

Presently this collection of German Parish Registers alone consists of some 100,000 rolls of microfilm, copies of which can be ordered and viewed at LDS libraries throughout the country.

This new Guide, Vol. One in a planned series of three, is for the registers from Baden, Bavaria and Wuerttemberg. Most parishes began recording christenings, marriages, deaths/burials, etc. after 1600 but some are from the mid 1500s.

Because this mammouth collection of registers is difficult to use - the Family History Library Catalogue is arranged by locality and lists only the parish that kept the records - the new Guide reduces the search area considerably by naming villages and communities as well as towns. This Vol. I represents one-third of the over 100,000 locations named in the entire collection.

Entries in this Guide are alphabetical by village (location) name, then parish name, the source and types of records available. The Introduction explains abbreviations, German-English spellings and meanings, use of the book, etc.

Hardcover, 6 x 9 in., 420 pages, $32.00, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

LAUGHING WITH GENEALOGY

The Sunny Side of Genealogy compiled by Fonda D. Baselt after several years of clipping and filing mostly funny items relating to genealogy is bound to make anyone laugh.

There's this description of an ancestor's hanging: "He died during a public ceremony, when the platform upon which he was standing collapsed beneath him."

And "Names are not always what they seem. The common Welsh name Bzjxllwcp is pronounced Jackson" from the humorist, Mark Twain.

"Why is it? Just as you are hot on the trail of an ancestor, it's always time for the library to close?"

"Whenever there's a will, you'll see an heir loom."

"Heredity: Something you believe in when your child's report card is all A's."

"Epitaph: Here lies a father of 29; there would have been more but he didn't have time."

"The man who boasts only of his ancestors confesses that he belongs to a family that is better dead than alive."

One of Notations written by doctors on Death Certificates: "Deceased died from blood poison, caused by a broken ankle, which is remarkable, as the automobile struck him between the lamp and the radiator."

This "humorous collection of anecdotes, poems, wills, epitaphs and other miscellany from genealogy" is softcover, 5 1/4 x 8 1/4 in., 102 pages, $10.95 incl. mailing, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co, 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

Good Reading

New American Cuisine Is Lighter and Better

"New American Light Cuisine" by Jude W. Theriot, publ. by Pelican Publishing Co., available in bookstores, $11.95 hb

Reviewed by MARIE WISE

Lovely, light and luscious are descriptive words for the foods that any cook - from beginning to expert - can produce from this book's wonderful collection of recipes.

It was an expert who developed them - Chef Jude Theriot trained as a French chef and specializing in Cajun cuisine, a member of the International Assn. of Cooking Professionals and the author of two other cookbooks.

What makes these recipes so special? They are high in taste and low in calories - Chef Theriot says he lost 63 pounds while developing and consuming his low-cal gourmet dishes.

Altogether he presents more than 150 recipes, most of them less than 300 calories for a main course portion; many less than 50 for other servings.

Substitutions are the key to many of Theriot's light recipes: skim milk for whole, reduced calorie cheeses and condiments, vegetable oil spray for cooking oil, light mayonaise and cream cheese, low calorie yogurt for sour cream, 40 calories per slice bread, sugar substitute for sweetening, and many more.

In addition to listing calories for each recipe portion, each is followed also by its carbohydrate, fat, chloresterol, protein and fiber counts...just what you need to know about food intake.

Every recipe has its Lagniappe, an extra paragraph telling if the recipe freezes well or should never be, how to reheat, if good both hot or cold; how long it may be made ahead and stored, how long it will keep, what steps may be done ahead, ingredients that may be substituted to alter a recipe, if one must be served immediately, how to turn a side dish into an entree plus various other "extras".

From sections for Breakfast and Appetisers, on through Soups, Salads, Dressings and Sauces, to Seafood, Meats and Poultry; concluding with Vegetables and Desserts, the recipes go from Crepes to Baked Alaska and include new versions of many old favorites.

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS WORK?

HAVE SOMEPLACE YOU NEED TO BE?

WEST CALCASIEU CAMERON HOSPITAL CAN HELP YOU OUT!

THE BEST MEDICINE

Exclusively at
WEST CALCASIEU CAMERON HOSPITAL

When your child is ill, you want to stay at home and see that they receive all the comfort and attention you can provide. But when you have other obligations that isn't always possible. If you work outside the home it means taking off from work, possibly losing pay or benefits. The alternatives aren't very good either. It's hard to find babysitters or day care centers who accept ill children. It's hard to concentrate on work with a sick child at home.

So what can you do?

Bring them to Best Medicine at West Calcasieu Cameron Hospital. Best Medicine puts the little one you love in the care of trained personnel while you work. The Best Medicine provides care for temporarily ill children three months to 12 years of age. The Best Medicine is housed in the pediatric unit of the hospital leaving you feeling confident that your child is receiving optimal care, while you are at work. You can enroll now in the Best Medicine program and use the services when you need them ... all you have to do is pick up the phone and let us know you're on your way. Anytime! A daily record of your child's symptoms and activities for that day will be presented to you at the end of your child's stay.

THE BEST MEDICINE

All-day care, all-day peace of mind! And it's there Monday through Sunday - twenty -four (24) hours a day at West Calcasieu Cameron Hospital.

Pre-registration is recommended, but not required! For more information on The Best Medicine program call the Community Relations Department at 527-4371.

Road work is urged

Juror George LeBouef asked the secertary to write the highway department asking them to cut the grass along Hwy. 27 from the "Y" several miles east of Cameron into Cameron.

He said the spraying had killed the weeds and grass but this still was an unsightly stretch leading in to Cameron's parish seat.

Ray Conner asked that the highway department be asked about the status of plans to widen Hwy. 27 north of Creole as a hurricane evacuation route.

LeBouef asked that the highway department be asked about improving Hwy. 27 east from Cameron to Creole, noting that it is the town of Cameron's only reliable storm evacuation route.

He noted that about 3,000 of the parish's 10,000 residents live in the Cameron area and that if something should happen to block Hwy. 27 during a storm they would have no way out.

Conner said that state bonds were sold in 1972 to provide a hurricane evacuation route for lower Cameron parish and that nothing has been done since then.

Conner also asked that the 35 mile speed limit on the state highway running east from the traffic light be extended to the ball park.

CABLE TV

Turning to another subject, Conner and LeBouef both asked that a representative of the parish cable TV service attend the next jury meeting to tell what improvements have been made to the system.

Conner said a representative had told the jury in January that a lot of new equipment would be installed and he wanted to know "where's the equipment?"

FIRE HYDRANTS

The jury, at the request of D. L. Brasseaux, authorized the Grand Chenier fire department to advertise for bids on 10 fire hydrants to be installed in the Oak Grove area.

SEEK INDUSTRIES

Juror LeBouef asked the jury to look into setting up some type of group to try to get industries to locate in the parish.

President Ducote said that two agencies, IMCAL and the Southwest Louisiana Foundation, were aiding the parish in these endeavors.

Plans told for event

Information on the onshore activities of the first annual Cameron Summer Fishing Festival have been announced. The Festival will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 29-31, behind the Cameron courthouse.

The games will open at 10 a.m. on Saturday and 12 noon on Sunday.

Booths will include: crafts, leatherworks, sliced watermelon, boiled shrimp, shrimp on a stick, seadogs, hamburgers, hot dogs, pizza, oriental food, snow cones, frozen drinks, lemonade, balloons, funnel cakes and beverages.

Activities will include: space walk, card reading, face painting, pony rides, car bash and other miscellaneous contests.

Entry forms for the blessing of the fleet to be held Friday, July 29, at 6 p.m. during the Cameron Summer Fishing Festival may be picked up at Evelyn's Flower Basket in Cameron.

Commissioner school set

There will be another voting commissioners school at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 12, at the Voting Machine Building in Cameron, according to Clerk of Court Debbie Theriot.

A number of commissioners were unable to attend an earlier school because of other commitments, she said.

Sheriff, clerk are sworn in

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Judge H. Ward Fontenot swore in the new Cameron Parish Clerk of Court, Mrs. Debbie Theriot, and Sheriff James R. Savoie, and all of their deputies Friday morning in the courtroom of the Cameron courthouse.

Sheriff Savoie announced that he had appointed Theos Duhon to serve as his chief deputy.

Sheriff Savoie said that he is going to strive even harder on a program of crime prevention.

Sheriff Savoie was elected sheriff in 1979 following the retirement of Sheriff Claude Eagleson and took office in July, 1980. He was re-elected to a second term in 1983.

Mrs. Theriot thanked everyone who had helped her in her race for the clerk's office, which she undertook when the outgoing Clerk Roland Primeaux announced his retirement. Mrs. Donna LaBove presented her with a bouquet of roses from the Cameron State Bank.

License office remains open

The Cameron Office of Motor Vehicles (driver's license office), which had been scheduled to be closed, now will remain open, it was learned this past week.

Darleen Cheramie, the local examiner for the past five years, is currently working part-time in the Sulphur office, so persons planning to go to her office in the basement of the courthouse might wish to call first to make sure the office is opened that day. The number if 775-5990.

She said she expects the office to return to full-time status in the near future.

Reunion set

The LaBove family reunion will be held Sunday, July 10, at 11 a.m. at the Creole Fire Station. Music will begin playing at 1 p.m. Everyone is asked to bring either a vegetable dish or dessert.

Anyone needing more information, please call Debbie Theriot at 775-5316 or 542-4390 or Lou Duhon at 542-4666.

Duhon named chief deputy

Theos Duhon, 42, has been named chief deputy for the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department it was announced by Sheriff James R. "Sono" Savoie after he was sworn in for a third term in Cameron Friday morning.

Sheriff Savoie has not had a chief deputy for the past six years, although Duhon has been serving unofficially in that capacity.

Duhon's family was from Hackberry but he was raised in Lake Charles and graduated from LaGrange High School. He also attended McNeese University.

He worked for the Calcasieu Sheriff's Department for ten years and has worked for the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department for the past eight years with the title of chief investigator.

Sheriff Savoie also announced that he has named the following deputies as investigators: Don Benoit, Jerry Constance, Mike Hebert and Wade Granger.

There are a total of 82 persons in the sheriff's department and there is a monthly payroll of $105,000.

The sheriff recently purchased for $65,000 a large vacant building on main street which is being remodeled with $25,000 in funds from the Criminal Court Fund. The criminal department of the sheriff's department will be moved into these new offices in several weeks.

Magic show

The Cameron Recreation Center will sponsor a magic show Saturday, July 9, at 4 p.m. George LaBove will be featured. Free admission to all ages.

Jurors urge tax passage

Passage of the 10 mill tax called by the Cameron Parish Police Jury for Saturday, July 16, is critically needed, members of the jury said in a joint statement read at the jury's monthly meeting Tuesday.

The jury has already made some very large cuts to offset the $3.5 million reduction in the Road Royalty Fund during the past five years due to the oil and gas crisis, Jury President Kenneth Ducote stated.

These included a 42% budget cut in 1986, a 25% cut in 1987 and a 15% budget cut this year.

The jurors' statement said that if the tax fails to pass there will have to be a drastic reduction in the jury's work force, a cut in wages for remaining employees and the closure of a number of multi-purpose buildings, recreation centers and fire stations that do not have their own tax base.

In addition the jury would have to eliminate appropriations to the hospital, Council on Aging, waterworks and sewerage districts, and various other agencies, plus having to charge fees for garbage pickup, installation of culverts and various permits.

"This tax is desperately needed for the survival of our parish," the statement concluded.

Myrna Conner, legislative assistant to Rep. Randy Roach, also read a statement at the meeting pertaining to the 10 mill tax.

Roach noted that the parish is in the same financial condition as the state and basically for the same reason--the severe decline in the cost of oil.

He noted that the decline in the oil industry has severely effected the parish causing the loss of jobs and moving of some families from the parish.

Roach urged each citizen to vote on July 16, and to make their decision on the tax based on "what you believe is best for the future of the parish."

President Ducote pointed out that homestead exemption will apply on the tax and that most home owners will not have any additional tax to pay.

Mosquitoes are coming

Heavy rains and high tides received in the last two weeks have hatched large broods of mosquitoes in most areas of the parish, causing the Cameron Mosquito Control to work around the clock to reduce population. Ideal weather conditions are allowing repeated mass migrations of the pests out of the deep salt marshes into populated areas necessitating respraying of most areas.

Although the entire parish is being checked on a daily basis, numerous heavy thunder showers are severely hampering the spray operations. Once the weather settles down control is expected within a few days.

Rodeo was big success

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The three-day fishing rodeo held last weekend at the Grand Chenier State Park brought fishermen from all over the state and Texas and a good catch of fish.

The event was sponsored by the Lemeche Bass Club, the Sturlese American Legion Post No. 364 of Grand Chenier, and the Creole Summer Softball League.

Carl Broussard, Commodore of this year's event, said he was pleased at the turnout and the money made by the three organizations for their various projects.

Miss Dana Willis of Cameron was named Rodeo queen at the Saturday ceremonies.

Father Elmo Hebert, a missionary to Africa, led the Catholic Mass at 4 p.m. Saturday, under the park pavilion. Serving as altar boys were Dale Swire and Dickie Brasseaux.

Many bands played all during the rodeo.

Most rodeo participants fished close to shore, within ten miles out, except the last day when the big boats, named the "Monique McCall" and the "Whopper Stopper IV" came in and filled up the record board in the offshore categories.

T-Boy McCall said he took his party 110 miles out hunting for one of the bill fish but didn't see one. However, he did manage to snare one of the largest fish in the rodeo, a 95 lb. shark.

Curtis Richard said his party was fishing within miles from shore and ran into a school of dolphins that would have filled up the boat if they had wanted them.

The "Whopper Stopper IV" had a woman captain this year, as Dianne Fowler Andries of Many, took over the helm. Her late father was a great supporter of the local fishing rodeos until his death last year.

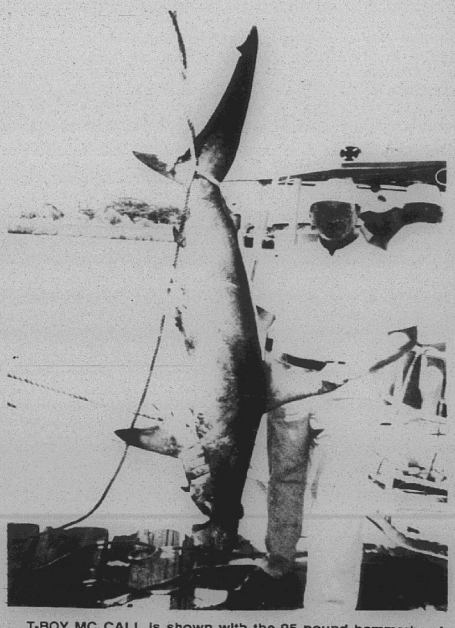
RESULTS



The final results of the rodeo are as follows: offshore: Amberjack, Dennis Smith, DeRidder, 30 lbs.; Maury Morris, Alexandria, 11 lbs. 4 ozs.; Chris Alexander, Alexandria, 10 lbs. 4 ozs.

Barracuda, T-Boy McCall, Cameron, 20 lbs. and 13 lbs. 8 ozs.; and Joe Balensiefer, Alexandria, 8 lbs.

Cobia, Linda Williams, DeRidder, 12 lbs.

Dolphin, T-Boy McCall, 22 lbs. and

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Sportsmen's Paradise?

By Loston McEvers

LOUISIANA, SPORTSMENS PARADISE

Did you ever hear someone tell you you may eat those words. Well, if things don't change in this great state of Louisiana, we'll have to eat those words, "Louisiana Paradise".

I read a few days ago that the state warned against fishing and swimming in Bayou Trepagnier, because of discharge from a refinery in New Orleans. Toxic they say now this bayou runs 3½ miles through cypress swamps in St. Charles Parish, joins up with Bayou La Branch and then flows into Lake Pontchartrain.

Then sewage contamination in the Tangipoha River. All of these are on the scenic waterways.

Remember last year just about 210 bridge, don't eat the fish. What about the tide in Kinder, affecting the oysters in our own back yard. Sewage they say.

What about the oil field pits and discharges or the erosion of our coast.

We say our redfish are depleting, shrimping no good.

Is this the Louisiana Paradise we know?

You know making us buy a state duck stamp, stopping commercial redfishing, making us buy salt and freshwater licenses, or even putting out the new colorful license plate they're thinking about, white-red-blue-USA-Pelican and yes, "Sportsman's Paradise". But like with the redfish, this ain't politics, or is it?

All of the above won't ever get "Louisiana Paradise" back again, if these politicians we vote in office don't stop their crap, and start thinking straight, that is about this great state, instead of themselves.

I guess if you don't have anyone smart enough in our state to be a superintendent of education and have to hire a $100,000 man from out of state, you might as well let some out of state artist paint up the new state stamp, or should we let our great artists in this state do the job, but this ain't politics, is it?

DEER HUNTING, 1987-88

Southern states have reports of good deer harvest last season.

Record seasons for Tennessee with 97,000 whitetails harvested and Kentucky with 61,000. Tennessee had an increase of 20,000 over the previous year and Kentucky also 20,000 over previous year. The state of Virginia recorded their second best season, with 119,000 deer harvested, just two percent less than 1986. Georgia harvested 250,000 deer of which 88,000 were does. Georgia has a herd of approximately one million head.

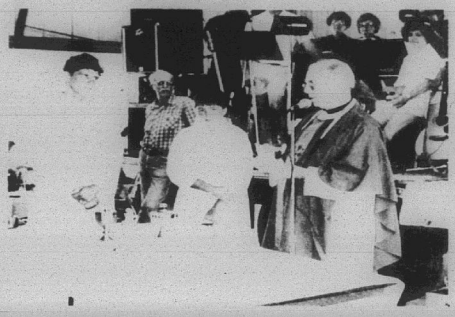
In our state of Louisiana, where we do not use tags, and I'm glad of it, it was a little bit more difficult to get an accurate count, but an average harvest of between 80,000 and 90,000 head. We had lots of warm weather and this could have hurt our harvest.

In West Virginia, hunters harvested more than 103,000 white-tails, which included 35,000 does. The does were a record harvest.

When we in Cameron Parish begin our '88-'89 deer season, we will now be in Zone 3, which will consist of 48 days still hunting only. There are only 4 zones for the entire state, beginning next season.

The parishes in Zone 3 are: all of Cameron Parish, all of Vermilion Parish, all of Jeff Davis, all of Acadia parish, the southwest part of St. Landry, all but the Northeastern part of Calcasieu parish, the southern part of Allen parish, the center part from South to North of Beauregard parish and most of the South, Central down of Vernon parish.

SHRIMP TRAVEL



As most of you know, we all like shrimp for bait, especially saltwater fishing. Now, have you ever thought about the shrimp you use, where did it come from or from how far did it travel to get here. Most of us are under the impression the shrimp we use for bait, or eat, coming from our local lakes and if caught in the Gulf off our coast, come from our inland waters. Well, we could be wrong.

Somedays the shrimp are there, if you're trolling and then the next day they're gone. A marine biologist in Alabama had his staff tag 12,000 shrimp in Ala., and released them in Weeks Bay, by Dauphin Island in Ala. 11 weeks later, two of the tagged shrimp were recovered 255 miles away. Where? Yes, you're right, off our Louisiana Gulf waters.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CAMERON PARISH:

On July 16, 1988, the Cameron Parish Police Jury hopes to pass a 10 mill tax to be used for maintaining and operating public roads and bridges. We would appreciate your vote and support.

Over the last five years income from the Road Royalty Fund has decreased from five million dollars to 1.5 million dollars and there are no indications of recovery.

The Police Jury has been making cuts to offset this loss of revenue. In 1986 a 42% budget cut was made. In 1987 a 25% budget cut was made and in 1988 a 15% budget cut was made. Employees have had salary cuts and additionally, have had to absorb insurance costs.

An alternative to this tax would be: a drastic reduction in the work force for all departments of the Police Jury; a cut in wages to the remaining employees of the Police Jury; the closure of all multi-purpose buildings, recreation centers and fire stations that do not have a tax base supporting them; the elimination of appropriations to the hospital, Council on Aging, Waterworks Districts, Sewerage District, Drainage Districts, Criminal Court fund, Crimestoppers, Flood Insurance Survey, Leesburg Museum, and rodeo, 4-H, and FFA facilities; fees would be charged for the installation of culverts, garbage pickup, building permits, bingo permits, liquor applications and coastal zone permits.

This tax is desperately needed for the survival of our parish. Please vote YES on July 16, 1988.

Thank you for your support.

REMEMBER? By Keith Hambrick

Cotton crop was good in parish in 1923

(Lake Charles American Press, July 2, 1915)
NEWS FROM HACKBERRY

B. Granger, from Sweet Lake, is building at Doiron Wharf.

Hon. P. E Smith, representative from Cameron Parish to the state legislature, has been a several days visitor here.

E. W. Guidry, from Grand Lake, is here on business.

The launch, Eula, Capt. J. C. Elender, will go via the Intercoastal Canal to Orange and Port Arthur, Tex., July 3, with a boat load of pleasure seekers.

John B. Duhon was a Vincent visitor last Sunday.

Rev. Father Buissiux, from Creole, was up at Hackberry Saturday and Sunday and said mass at the Catholic chapel.

(Lake Charles American Press, July 9, 1915)
CAMERON TAXES RAISED

The Cameron Parish Police Jury, at its meeting Monday, raised the parish tax rate from 6 mills to the limit, 10 mills, according to reports reaching the city. The additional revenue will be used in the construction of improved roads, about $36,000 being available for the purpose.

It is believed that negotiations are underway for the purchase of the J. A. Bel toll road from the Cameron Parish line to Grand Lake. The police jury will open up the road for travel. Part of the funds it is stated, will be used in the construction of an earth road south and east from Grand Lake, which ultimately may extend to the gulf shore.

(Lake Charles American Press, July 6, 1923)
BIG COTTON CROP

In the absence of H. C. Fondren, now agricultural and immigration agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, E. B Glick, in charge of the parish demonstration office, is very optimistic as to the outlook for a big yield of cotton in Cameron and Calcasieu parishes this year.

Mr. Glick, after working several days getting lists of acreages, stated Saturday morning that in Cameron there is now 4,800 acres planted in cotton and 3,700 acres in Calcasieu. He said that the condition of the 1923 crop is fine and he does not doubt but that more than 7,000 bales will be harvested in the two parishes.

(Abbeville Meridional, July 9, 1910)
MOSQUITOES

When we read the other day that the mosquitoes were so bad at Cameron and Lake Charles as to cause the suspension of business, we thought how fortunate we are in Abbeville. It seems we were a bit previous. The infernal pests have evidently left for new pastures, arriving here Wednesday night, since when they have been devouring everything in sight that carries blood.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

We are having rain every day now. Have more than we need. But it has benefitted the rice farmers immensely and saved them many dollars.

Allen Hurt's little girl was quite sick a week ago but is fully recovered now.

All the pumping plants in this section are now shut down having plenty of water.

Spanish flies are destroying the gardens and truck patches having caused quite serious losses to some of our farmers. Who knows a good destroyer for them?

Mr. Adolph Miller and Miss Mary are taking a trip to the Gulf this week with Mr. Joe Miller's family and his gasoline launch.

Mrs. Jos. Richard and children are paying a visit to their former home and visiting relatives and friends.

The bridge crossing to Monroe is sunk and it is very dangerous and unpleasant for any teams to cross at that place.

Now is the time for the home canner to get busy, tomatoes and other vegetables are giving plenty of chance for active operations in that line. This section is making a fine crop of corn. Oranges will probably be a big crop also.

Butterfly net rules to be enforced here

Major Chad Manuel, who is in charge of the District Office of Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries has announced that the wildlife agents have been ordered by the new administration to strictly enforce the law on butterfly nets in the Calcasieu River.

Manuel said that up until now the Wildlife and Fisheries had been lenient, but he has been ordered to start immediately enforcing the law and giving tickets for those breaking the law.

The law reads that all butterfly nets located in east and west passes of the Calcasieu River, in Grand Bayou, and in Oyster Bayou, all within Cameron Parish, shall be tagged with a tag listing the fisherman's name, address, and butterfly net number.

The tag must be attached to the net, frame, or any other structure, or a part directly attached to the net or frame in such a manner that it is above the water at all times.

The tag must be of a readable size, easily visible, and with letters at least three inches high.

(a) Any object to which the net is attached or mounted solely for purposes of fishing, including but not limited to any unmanned boat or vessel, floating platform, pontoon, or barge, shall be moved from the waterway and relocated adjacent to the shoreline in a manner which shall not present an obstruction or hazard to navigation.

(b) Any anchor or weight used to secure in the waterway the net or any object to which it is attached or mounted solely for purposes of fishing, including but not limited to any unmanned boat or vessel, floating platform, pontoon, or barge, shall be removed from the waterbottom.

(c) Any rope, line, chain, or other device used to connect to the shoreline the net and any object to which it is attached or mounted solely for purposes of fishing, including but not limited to any unmanned boat or vessel, floating platform, pontoon, or barge, shall be prohibited. However, the prohibition expressed herein shall not apply when such rope, line, chain, or other device is being used to secure, when not in use, such net and any object to which it is attached or mounted adjacent to the shoreline in a manner which shall not present an obstruction or hazard to navigation.

Any butterfly net, whether or not it is being fished, that is not marked for identification so that the person owning or responsible for such net can be identified shall be considered contraband. Any agent finding the contraband butterfly net shall immediately seize and take it into custody and may obtain from a judge of any court in the parish where the butterfly net was found, an ex parte order forfeiting the contraband and ordering its destruction.

Manuel said that he wanted to give the butterfly barge owners notice that the Wildlife agents have been given orders to comply with the law, and that they will have to make arrangements to comply with it with their barges.

Patrick Webb, Director
Charter Counseling Center, Lake Charles

For many people, counseling is more convenient when it's available close to home and when it fits easily into their weekly schedule. We saw this need and opened Charter Counseling Centers in Lake Charles, Sulphur, Jennings, Eunice and Crowley.

The professional counselors at our Centers help people deal with life's ups and downs through marriage and family counseling, child and teen counseling, support groups and counseling for personal problems.

We at Charter are always seeking ways to be of service, and our Counseling Centers are an example of how we respond to our community's needs.

Dear Sir/Madam:

I would start by assuring you that I am no politician, and the comments I will refer to are truly that of concern. I will attempt to instill this same concern to you, the voter, because you will soon be faced with one of the most important decisions you may ever be asked to make in the voting booth. I, as a Health Care Professional, cannot emphasize strongly enough, the importance of an ambulance service in our area, and I would ask you to consider it's importance to the life and well being of your loved ones, friends and neighbors and anyone in dire need of medical attention.

Many questions about the proposed amublance tax are circulating in the community. This statement is intended to explain why we need the tax, how the funds will be used, and what benefits it will provide you, the consumer.

The Hospital, in years past, has relied on grants from the Police Jury to maintain the ambulance service. The funds provided were used to purchase new ambulances, refurbish those worth saving, and to pay for maintenance, insurance, and other costs that were ambulance related. The Jury is no longer able to subsidize this service, so the ambulance district has been formed to evaluate the options available in maintaining an ambulance service in our area. The ambulance board has studied and accepted bids from ambulance services (Acadian & Holstons) and have found these services too costly. They have decided to seek a 4.0 mill tax and provide for our own service.

The funds generated from a 4 mill tax will be used in the following ways.

1. The oldest ambulance will be replaced by a new unit, and the newer unit will undergo a complete refurbishment.
2. New, modern equipment will be purchased which will enhance our rescue efforts, and provide for a better communication system.
3. We will use a portion of the funds to provide continuing education for our present staff, and help provide education and training for our local residents who show an interest in the "EMT" field. We can then staff the service with local people, who are better qualified to provide skilled service.
4. We will use funds to pay our present employees, maintain full insurance coverage on the units and provide continuing education for personnel who staff the ambulances.
5. Maintenance of the two units has always been an expensive item, and we will continue to have these unforeseen problems in the future.

The Board has declared that should the community pass the 4 mill tax, all residents of our Service District will be members of the District and no fee will be charged the patient for this service. We will, however, bill private insurance companies, Medicare or Medicaid, and/or other coverages the patient may have. We will accept payment from these agencies as payment in full, and the balance will be written off as paid to all patients who reside in our ambulance service district. This service will cover only transfers to South Cameron Memorial Hosptial and to any hospital in Lake Charles. Only hospital transfers will be covered under the membership program. This program, in essence, is similar to a membership with Acadian Ambulance Service.

I have been given the task of overseeing this new ambulance service should the tax pass. I wish to assure each of you that I will work diligently to provide for the best care possible, and that all resources available will be used to achieve this goal. I know that all questions have not been answered, and I invite you individually or as a group to call if I can be of assistance in answering any questions you may have.

Please remember that together we have the opportunity to develop an ambulance service capable of delivering quality professional medical care to those who will need it in life or death situations. I ask you to join with me, the Medical Staff, the Board of Directors and employees of this Hospital and support the proposal before you on July 16th.

I hope each of you will carefully review and understand the necessity of maintaining an ambulance service in our community. I wish you to consider the other services we now provide. The ambulance, if the tax is approved by you, will continue to provide services to all Festivals, Football Games, Senior Citizen's Olympics and Special Olympics Events, High School Sanctioned Rodeos and other Community Events.

Sixty-five percent of all ambulance service provided last year was administered to the elderly of the community. I urge each of you to vote your preference on July 16. Do not let others decide the outcome of such an important issue.

We need your help. PLEASE VOTE YES ON THIS IMPORTANT PROPOSAL! Remember this will mean FREE ambulance membership. Our continued ambulance service will be in serious jeopardy if this proposal does not pass!!

Sincerely,

Joe Soileau

of Cameron Parish

31st Year-- No. 54 Cameron, La, July 14, 1988

Map shows infected herds in state

Brucellosis war is being won

Southwest Louisiana has a large number of cattle infected with brucellosis according to State Veterinarian Dr. William B. Fairchild, who met recently with State Rep. Randy Roach concerning the problems.

As of June 1, there were 87 known infected or pending herds in Cameron, Calcasieu, Beauregard and Vermilion parishes for a total of 21 percent of the 354 infected herds in the state.

The breakdown by parish was Cameron 32; Calcasieu, 26, Beauregard, 11 and Vermilion 18.

Commissioner of Agriculture Bob Odom had warned the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association that the state must show a marked reduction in the incidence of brucellosis to head off stiff federal restrictions on movement of state cattle.

He told the cattlemen that the state had to reduce its infection incidence to less than 360 herds by Oct. 1, 1988, and move from Class C to Class B category or the movement of virtually all cattle into other states would be stopped.

The state appears to be reaching that goal since there were 354 quarantined herds in June, down from 367 in May and down from 657 herds in June, 1987.

Central Louisiana also has a big brucellosis problem with 59 quarantined herds in Natchitoches parish, 18 in Rapides and 15 in Avoyelles.

Dr. Fairchild, who administers the testing and certification program, said the state program has made tremendous gains in recent years, but his veterinarians are redoubling their efforts to insure that Louisiana meets the numbers stipulated by the federal deadline.

"In Jan. 1987, we had 747 quarantined herds. Of those herds 645 had revealed reactors (positive tests for brucellosis.) As of Jan. 1, 1988, we had 463 quarantined herds with 358 herds with reactors. That's a big drop, but we've got to maintain a 360 level through the Oct. 1, date of this year."

After the Class B status is reached, Fairchild said, then the state must prove to USDA that it has made further reductions in brucellosis to meet Class A status by Jan. 1, 1990, or again face severe restrictions on movement.

In another aspect of the program, the state Livestock Sanitary Board, which regulates livestock diseases in Louisiana, has put a regulation in place which requires that all cows that have not been vaccinated for brucellosis by Jan. 1, 1989, cannot be sold at state auction barns unless sold to slaughter or a quarantine feed lot unless from a certified free herd Fairchild said.

Fish dealers reminded

Louisiana's wholesale and retail fish dealers were reminded that they are required to make purchases only from licensed commercial sources and to keep adequate records of all transactions.

Agents of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries are stepping up their efforts to make sure that every dealer complies with the law, said Lt. Col. Winton Vidrine of the Enforcement Division.

Vidrine said that under RS 56:306 dealers are obligated to buy only from commercial fishermen or from validly licensed dealers. He said the individual dealer must be especially careful not to buy from a recreational fisherman.

Dealers also are required to maintain records of their transactions for three years and to make these records available for inspection by the department.

The records must be kept in English. They include:

1. Records of the quantity and species of fish acquired, the date the fish was acquired, and the name and license number of the commercial fisherman, the wholesale/retail dealer or the out-of-state seller from whom the fish was acquired.

2. Records of the quantity and species of the fish sold, the date the fish was sold, and the name and license number of the person to whom the fish was sold. When sold to the customer, the records shall indicate the quantity, species and date, and shall state that the fish was sold to the consumer.

Zone 3 is closed Mon.

The 1988 spring shrimp season in that portion of Zone 3 eastward from and including the Mermentau River and the Western Shore of Grand Lake and Lake Arthur to Vermilion Bay closed at 12 noon Monday, July 11, according to Virginia VanSickle, Secretary of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

VanSickle said biological monitoring in conjunction with the Department's ongoing shrimp monitoring program had detected sufficient quantities of white shrimp to necessitate the closure.

The season in that portion of Zone 3 west of the Mermentau River including Calcasieu Lake and Zone 1 will remain open until further notice.

Unit schedule

Tax votes are Sat.

By JERRY WISE

Cameron parish voters will make decisions on two important tax issues at the polls this Saturday.

One is a 10-mill tax called by the Cameron Parish Police Jury to improve and maintain public roads and bridges.

The other is a 4-mill tax to provide ambulance service in the lower part of Cameron parish, the area served by the South Cameron Memorial Hospital.

Both taxes are for 10 years and both are covered by homestead exemption, which means homeowners will not pay taxes on assessments under $75,000.

Both tax elections were brought on by the serious crisis that both the parish and state are now in. In past years, the police jury has had ample funds coming in road royalty funds and other funds from the state to adequately keep up the roads, subsidize the ambulance service and help other parish bodies such as the Council on Aging, recreation and community centers, etc.

A statement signed by all of the police jurors, to be found elsewhere in the Pilot, points out that despite drastic cuts the jury has already made, it will not be able to continue all its past services, unless additional funds are provided by the tax.

In addition, they state there will have to be a layoff of a number of parish employees and a cut in wages for remaining employees if the tax fails.

All multi-purpose community buildings, recreation centers and fire stations that are not supported by their own taxes would have to be closed as well, they stated.

"This tax is desperately needed for the survival of our parish," the police jurors stated.

AMBULANCE TAX

Joe Soileau, administrator for South Cameron Memorial Hospital, in telling of the need for the 4-mill ambulance tax points out that the police jury will no longer be able to subsidize the ambulance service as it has in the past.

Also it was found that private ambulance companies could not provide service to lower Cameron parish at a reasonable price because of the relatively small population.

Soileau states that the 4-mill ambulance tax would permit the hospital to buy a new ambulance and refurbish one of the older units, plus the purchase of more modern rescue and communication equipment.

Under the hospital's proposal, all residents of the service district would be provided free ambulance service when needed, although the ambulance district will bill private insurance companies and Medicare and Medicaid when appropriate. In any case there would be no charge to patients living in the district.

Softball tourney

The Cameron Recreation Center will sponsor a softball tournament Saturday, July 23, and Sunday, July 24, and a tennis tournament Saturday, July 30.

Entry fees for the softball tournament will be $70 before July 20, and $75 after the deadline. It is open for mens and womens teams.

There will be a singles tennis tournament for men with an entry fee of $2. Trophies will be given to first, second and third places. Registration will be held Friday, July 29, at 10 a.m.

For more information call 775-5081.

Cal. Cowbelles

All fathers present at the DeQuincy stockyard barn Saturday, June 11, and the Zaunbrecher stockyard barn Thursday, June 16, registered for a drawing for a beef roast given by the Calcasieu Cowbelles.

The Calcasieu Cattlemen Queen, Kim Allison, the daughter of Mrs. Gerald Helms, was present along with several Cowbelles.

Mary Ann Guidry was chairman of this committee.

Services told

The Cameron Council on Aging provides health screening services at the Cameron Senior Center. Blood pressure checks and blood sugar tests are given by appointment. Donations toward the cost of the materials are accepted.

IN OUR OPINION

Voters will decide

Public finances for Cameron parish--as for Louisiana also--are in terrible shape at this time and aren't likely to improve any time soon.

Just a few years ago, the parish and state were doing quite well because of the large amount of oil and gas revenues each was receiving. On top of that there was plenty of revenue sharing pouring in from the state and federal governments.

All of that is changed today. The state is in a serious financial bind and Cameron parish is in the same situation. A few years ago, there was plenty of money for roads, community and recreation centers, old age programs, assistance to various parish organizations, etc., but there isn't any more easy money coming in now.

The Cameron police jury has already made drastic cuts in its budgets for the past two years, and there still doesn't appear to be any way of balancing the budget for the coming year without even more cuts or getting additional revenues.

In that regard, the jury has decided to leave that decision to the citizens of Cameron Parish by calling of a 10-mill election for this Saturday.

Citizens who do not want to see parish programs and services slashed any further, who do not want to see parish employees laid off and salaries of those remaining cut, can vote for the tax proposition. Citizens who would rather not pay the additional taxes even with the cuts outlined can vote against the tax. (However, because of homestead exemption, most parish residents will not have any additional taxes to pay.)

The 4-mill ambulance tax should be a good deal for most residents as it is covered by homestead exemption also. Without the tax, the hospital may not be able to continue to offer ambulance service, and to entice a private ambulance firm to come in would probably cost each family a sizable membership fee each year.

PARISHWIDE POLICE JURY TAX PROPOSITION

Shall the Parish of Cameron, Louisiana, be authorized to levy a tax of ten (10) mills on the dollar of assessed valuation on all property subject to taxation in said Parish, for a period of ten (10) years, beginning with the year 1988, for the purpose of improving, maintaining and operating public roads and bridges within and for said Parish?

YES ☐ NO ☐

LOWER CAMERON AMBULANCE SERVICE DISTRICT TAX PROPOSITION

Shall the Lower Cameron Ambulance Service District of Cameron Parish, Louisiana be authorized to levy a tax of four (4.0) mills on the dollar of assessed valuation on all property subject to taxation in said District, for a period of ten (10) years, beginning with the year 1988, for the purpose of providing ambulance service, within and for said District?

YES ☐ NO ☐

Statement by Sen. Doland

By SENATOR JACK DOLAND

The State of Louisiana will have very little money to assist local government for the next year. There are so many amendments put on the two cent exemption that many projects will not be funded. The people of Cameron Parish should study carefully the pospsal by the Police Jury regarding the ten millage ad valorem tax to be voted on July 16.

Since the State of Louisiana is approximately one billion dollars behind in revenue that was available a few years ago, there will be less and less money going for projects of a local nature and I see no immediate help in this area. This is a problem that developed over several years.

As you contemplate whether you will vote for this, consider the services you need versus the money it will cost and make your decision knowing that the state will not be able to supplement many local projects. All parishes and cities will have to become more self-sufficient and depend less on state revenues.

Statement by Rep. Roach

Rep. Randy Roach has urged residents of Cameron parish to make their decision on the police jury 10-mill tax Saturday based on "what you believe is best for the future of the parish."

Roach noted that the parish is in the same situation as the state--hard pressed for funds and basically for the same reason--the severe decline in the cost of oil.

The state representative urged everyone to "use their own judgment and to exercise their American right to vote on Saturday, July 16."

School Board Briefs

INSURANCE BIDS

The board accepted the low bid of $61,950 from Alexander & Alexander on fire and extended coverage for parish school property. This was a big drop from the $118,000 premium of last year.

A bid of $6,321 was accepted from Holbrook, Inc. of Lake Charles on a new walk-in cooler for Grand Lake high school.

BUS DRIVER NAMED

Annual dues of $5,000 were approved to the Louisiana School Board Association.

FARMING INCOME

Supervisor Uland Guidry reported to the board as of June 15 that $17,354.16 had been realized off of its agriculture lease, Section 16-14-3, in the Klondike area, including $6,000 for hunting rights.

Guidry also reported that a number of pieces of school equipment, such as gas ranges, freezers, etc., had been shut down for the summer to save energy. He said that a pilot light could consume as much as $4 to $5 a month in gas.

TEACHER OBSERVATIONS

Asst. Superintendent Robert Ortego reported that 527 observations and evaluations of teachers were made by school supervisors last year.

Supervisor Adam Conner reported that the system's federal programs will be about the same this coming year as in the past and will bring in about $500,000 in federal funds.

INSURANCE PROGRAM

The board decided at a recent special meeting to postpone a decision on school employees health insurance until it learned how much the state intended to pay. It did agree to start paying premiums of $50 per month per employee as was approved by the board on April 6.

The board authorized the superintendent to appoint a committee of employees to make a study of the insurance problem.

STUDENT HONORED

The board adopted a resolution honoring Nancy Jo Clark of Grand Chenier who recently won first place in a state Child Search poster contest.

Mrs. Jerrie Wainwright, lunchroom supervisor, reported that three doctors in the parish have been designated to provide health examinations for parish lunchroom workers. The board will pay for the exams if they are made by these doctors.

Sign-up period set for farmers July 18-Aug. 5

A sign-up period for the Conservation Reserve Program will be held July 18, through Aug. 5, at ASCS offices across Louisiana.

Farmers may volunteer highly erodible cropland for entry into the Conservation Reserve Program according to Kirk D. Moore, County Executive Director, of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) for Calcasieu and Cameron parishes. The Conservation Reserve Program was established as part of the Food Security Act of 1985.

Landowners wanting to put land into the program that meets eligibility requirements will need to submit bids during the July 18-Aug. 5, sign-up period, Moore said.

There have been six sign-up periods in 1986, 1987, and 1988 for 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1989 contracts. Moore said that the July sign-up will be for 1988 and 1989 contracts. Landowners place eligible land in the Conservation Reserve Program for a 10-year period and receive annual payments.

Anyone with questions about the Conservation Reserve Program should contact the Calcasieu parish ASCS office, Moore said.

The longest winter in the solar system is 21 years long and occurs on the south polar regions of Uranus. The temperature then is estimated to be minus 362 degrees Fahrenheit.

Catholics are 33 percent of the population

The Catholic population of the Diocese of Lake Charles now totals 89,616, according to the Catholic Directory, just published by P. J. Kenedy & Sons.

The figures, compiled by reports from the chancery office and the parishes of the diocese, show that the Catholic population stands at 33 percent of the total population of the five-parish area of 270,500.

Number of diocesan priests, 47; number of religious priests, 29; total priests, 76; newly-ordained priests, 2; permanent deacons, 21; brothers, 2; sisters, 43; church parishes, 36; missions, 25; hospitals, 1; patients treated annually, 35,781; nurseries, 3; total assisted annually, 153; high schools, 2; high school students, 505.

Elementary schools, 10; elementary school students, 2,679; high school CCD students, 4,078; elementary school CCD students, 7,387; priests teaching, 1; sisters teaching, 11; lay teacher, 204; infant baptisms, 1,685; converts, 193; marriages, 558; deaths, 737; total Catholics, 89,616; total population, 270,500; percentage of Catholics in total population, 33.

ANDRE THOMAS Savoie, 15½ months old, was crowned Little Mr. Fishing Rodeo '88 during the Fourth of July Cameron Parish Fishing Rodeo. He is the son of Vickie and Dave Savole of Creole, and was sponsored by his big brother, David Lee. His grandparents are Bobbye and Lee Nunez of Grand Chenier and Joyce Savole of Grand Lake.

During the Middle Ages, the year began at various dates in different times and places. In England it was not until 1751 that January was restored to its place as first month, as it had been during the Roman era.

A big let down

By Loston McEvers

TEAL SEASON
BIG LET DOWN

We're all looking forward to the upcoming migratory waterfowl season coming up this winter. Lots of us also look forward to the early special teal season in September, but I think we'll be let down this year.

The Fish and Wildlife Service plans to cancel our special September teal season this year. This will pertain to 18 states.

Due to the drought, many ducks were hard hit and the blue-winged teal was not spared.

The early teal season usually runs 9 days; blue-winged teals are the early birds which migrate south. They leave these breeding grounds in August and about 5 weeks before the other ducks leave. They will stop in the Southern states in early September, before going on to their winter grounds of Mexico and Central America.

The population of blue-winged teal has declined from the normal population of 4.8 million birds, down to 3.6 million birds.

States that will probably be affected are; Louisiana, Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico. Other states that also might be affected are Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

What really gets your damper down is to read, or see on T.V. the slaughter of these teals in Mexico. We as hunters provide and take the blunt to try and save or preserve these birds, for our southern neighbors to have a slaughter.

There are approximately 15,908,000 hunters in the United States, of which 492,000 are Louisiana hunters. U. S. hunters average about 21 days each hunting water fowl, while Louisiana hunters average about 28 days hunting water fowl.

Fifth-one percent of U. S. hunters hunt in private places. However, there are only around five million U. S. hunters who hunt migratory birds, and of that a little over two and a half million hunt ducks. Big game is the most hunted, where 12 and one half million U. S. hunters hunt for big game.

ZONE 2 SHRIMP
SEASON CLOSED

Louisiana's Zone 2 inside waters for shrimp closed July 8. These are the waters from South Pass of the Mississippi River westward, to the western shoreline of Vermilion Bay, including Southwest Pass at Marsh Island.

The significant number of juvenile white shrimp that showed up in Zone 2 is the reason for closing.

The spring brown shrimp harvest will continue in Zone 1 and 3, but when a large number of juvenile white shrimp start showing up, these two zones will also be closed.

The National Marine Fisheries Service released 9.5 million pounds of shrimp were landed in Louisiana during May this year. This is down from May 1987, when there were 12.8 million pounds landed. Now you see why our shrimpers are having such a hard time. Also the prices are down from last year.

LOCAL ANGLERS

The Fourth of July Cameron Parish Fishing Rodeo brought many anglers in competition. We had a good show of local angiers place. T-Boy McCall of Cameron was the Outstanding Male Angler. He also had the top largest fish of the rodeo, with a 95 pound shark. He was also top offshore angler. Danny Boudreaux of Grand Chenier was named top bay and surf angler.

Other parish anglers placing were on Friday: bonito, Curtis Richard, 2nd; Spanish mackerel, Curtis Richard, 1st; croaker, Temann Racca, 3rd; flounder, Dan Pradia, 1st; Arnold Jones, 3rd; gafftop catfish, Danny Boudreaux, 1st and 2nd and David Doxey, 2nd; garfish, Rondell Hebert, 1st; redfish, Curtis Trahan, 1st; Terissito Batchelor, 2nd and Jared LeBoeuf, 3rd; saltwater drum, Jerry Trahan, 1st; Temann Racca, 2nd and Angelle LeBoeuf, 3rd; sheephead, Temann Racca, 1st.

Saturday's local anglers were: bonito, Curtis Richard, 2nd; Spanish mackerel, Curtis Richard, 2nd; flounder, Dan Pradia, 1st; Arnold Jones, 3rd; gafftop catfish, Danny Boudreaux, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd; garfish, Chad Little, 1st and 2nd; redfish, Gary LeBoeuf, 1st; Jerry Trahan, 2nd and Rudy McEvers, 3rd; saltwater drum, Jerry Trahan, 1st, Temann Racca, 2nd and Danny Boudreaux, 3rd; sheephead, Curtis Richard, 1st; and Temann Racca, 2nd; speckle trout, Arnold Jones, 3rd.

Congratulations to our local anglers. I hope they do as well in the upcoming Cameron Summer Fishing Festival on the last weekend of the month, July 29, 30 and 31.

TEAL-MAYBE

According to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, teal season isn't dead yet. It may only be 3 to 5 days with maybe only two blue wing teal, but if that's the best we can get, that's better than none at all.

I waited to put the latest I heard.

Until next week, good fishing and enjoy the outdoors.

Most of the 100 million meteors that enter the Earth's atmosphere each day burn up and filter down to Earth as dust. The total weight of this dust that falls in one year is estimated to be four million tons.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CAMERON PARISH:

On July 16, 1988, the Cameron Parish Police Jury hopes to pass a 10 mill tax to be used for maintaining and operating public roads and bridges. We would appreciate your vote and support.

Over the last five years income from the Road Royalty Fund has decreased from five million dollars to 1.5 million dollars and there are no indications of recovery.

The Police Jury has been making cuts to offset this loss of revenue. In 1986 a 42% budget cut was made. In 1987 a 25% budget cut was made and in 1988 a 15% budget cut was made. Employees have had salary cuts and additionally, have had to absorb insurance costs.

An alternative to this tax would be: a drastic reduction in the work force for all departments of the Police jury; a cut in wages to the remaining employees of the Police Jury; the closure of all multi-purpose buildings, recreation centers and fire stations that do not have a tax base supporting them; the elimination of appropriations to the hospital, Council on Aging, Waterworks Districts, Sewerage District, Drainage Districts, Criminal Court fund, Crimestoppers, Flood Insurance Survey, Leesburg Museum, Cooperative Extension Service-Fisheries and Agriculture and rodeo, 4-H, and FFA facilities; fees would be charged for the installation of culverts, garbage pickup, building permits, bingo permits, liquor applications and coastal zone permits.

This tax is desperately needed for the survival of our parish. Please vote YES on July 16, 1988.

Thank you for your support.

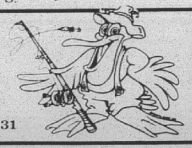
Chinese tallow trees have become nuisance

The Chinese tallow tree has become a familiar sight in the Louisiana landscape over the years. It is often called the vegetable tallow, soap or popcorn tree, as well as chicken tree.

For many who need a quickly growing tree to provide shade during the warmer months, it meets the need. It also has attractive fall colors before shedding its leaves for the winter.

However, the Chinese tallow tree has earned its reputation as a pest by dropping its berries and sprouting prolifically in home lawns and gardens.



According to forester Dr. Alden Main, we have the Foreign Plant Introduction Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to thank for bringing the specimen into the country. Knowing that the tree's seeds possessed a large amount of vegetable tallow, the USDA's Bureau of Plant Industry tried to help establish local soap industries by bringing it into Louisiana and other states. Sailors who had picked tallow seeds in their seafaring brought them ashore in areas of the Gulf Coast, southeast Atlantic Coast and California.

"Tallows have since become more and more a nuisance, being looked upon by many as an aggressive weed," says Main. "The tallow-covered seeds are spread widely by birds and eventually become established in agricultural lands, lawns and gardens," adds Main, a forestry specialist with the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service.

"Seedlings and sprouts are difficult to eliminate because they spring from stumps and roots. If the trend continues, the Chinese tallow will be the most common tree in many parts of south Louisiana."

For homeowners and farmers who look on the Chinese tallow as a pest, there are ways to eliminate or at least minimize its growth. Homeowners can control individual trees by injecting the herbicide Roundup into larger trees and by spraying the smaller ones. Where the trees have taken over a large area,such as agricultural acreage, aerial spraying with herbicides may be needed.

Diesel fuel tax laws are explained

Since April 1, farmers and commercial fishermen in Louisiana and elsewhere in the nation have had to pay 15.1 cents per gallon more for diesel fuel for off-road uses to run their production equipment, leaving these producers a bit short of cash and asking a lot of questions about details of the government's new collection and tax credit program.

"Farmers and fishermen may find themselves having to borrow to cover these additional production costs this year," said agricultural engineer W. A. Hadden of the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service.

The tax on farming and commercial fishing fuel has been collected since the first of April at the wholesale level, in compliance with the Federal Revenue Act of 1987. Prior to that, the tax for off-road diesel vehicles and equipment was collected by retailers, allowing farmers and fishermen buying production fuel wholesale to be exempt from the assessment.

Under the new law, farmers and fishermen who pay $1,000 or more in taxes in a calendar quarter are eligible to file during the first three quarters of the year for a tax credit with the Internal Revenue Service, using IRS Form 843. For fourth-quarter credit, the form must be included in the annual income tax filing.

"This new way of collection will result in a 20 to 25 percent increase in diesel fuel costs up front, although the tax will be ultimately credited," said Hadden. Extension experts have estimated that to pay $1,000 quarterly in excise taxes and be eligible for rebates during the year, commercial users have to buy 6,623 gallons of diesel fuel during the quarter.

Farmers who do not use enough fuel to pay $1,000 in taxes quarterly must wait until they file their annual income tax to be eligible for a tax credit, Hadden said. That can be applied for on IRS Form 4136.

"It's a new ball game requiring farmers to plan for these added expenses as they project their next operating budget," said Hadden. "By this time next year, the payments and credits should be balancing. But for the time being, the change is hitting some producers hard."

Louisiana architecture has a unique heritage

"Louisiana's Remarkable French Vernacular Architecture 1700-1900" by Jay D. Edwards, pub. by LSU Dept. of Geography & Anthropology, 31 pages, 9 1/2 x 9 in., about 60 illustrations, $12.00 sc

Reviewed by
MARIE WISE

The most distinctive and elegant tradition of home building in North America belongs to Louisiana's remarkable French vernacular architecture.

From one-room settlers' dwellings to the stately town and country houses of plantation owners, handed-down terms from the French language give our state a unique vocabulary to go with its historical homes.

At first, French settlers built shelters poorly adapted to the Louisiana climate. Sills resting directly on the ground rotted away and houses with low roofs and few openings heated like ovens in the summer.

But people learned fast and developed the poteaux sur solle (post-on-sill) house raised above ground on piliers (pillars) of durable cypress blocks.

They added galleries, more doors and windows, used the piece sur piece (horizontal log) method of closely fitting corners together and learned to make bousillage (mortar) from a mixture of mud, lime and Spanish moss.

By the later 1700's the simple Creole cottage - a culmination of French, Canadian, and West Indian heritage - was undergoing a remarkable series of expansions.

After bricks became available in New Orleans a res de chaussee (ground floor) of brick and upper walls of briquette entre poteaux (brick between posts) became popular for town and plantation houses.

The largest of the raised plantation houses were completely encircled by elevated galleries supported by colonnades of columns crafted from pie-shaped bricks.

Exteriors were covered with overlapping clapboards, left unpainted or plastered and whitewashed (blanchir). Oak or cedar shingles completed the roofs.

With the influx of Anglo-Americans after the Louisiana Purchase of 1803, the Creole house became more varied and elaborate while the arts of faux bois et marbe (false wood graining and marble) grew popular.

It's been quite a trip for the Creole cottage from pioneer hut to elegant mansion. Many examples of this type of architecture exist today and many more are being built as new homes.

Old or new, small or large, these Creole structures are uniquely Louisianian and if you know the French terms, they have a language all their own.

The heads of the smallest dinosaurs were only about three inches long.

NOTICE

Minutes of the regular meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3, held Tuesday, May 17, 1988, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Edwin Quinn, E. J. Dronet, Gary Kelley, and W. F. Henry, Jr.

Member Absent: Bryon Richard.

A motion was made by Gary Kelley, seconded by E. J. Dronet, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the regular meeting of April 19, 1988, and to amend the minutes of the last two meetings to reflect the attendance of W. F. Henry, Jr.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the Financial Report for the month of April, 1988.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Edwin Quinn, and unanimously carried to approve the following bills for payment.

1. The Cameron Parish Pilot $59.00
2. Barbara Lou Billiot 501.01

Mr. George LeBoeuf was recognized. He stated that there is a culvert which empties into the ditch behind the Courthouse, and the bulk of the water settles into a large container behind the Courthouse and runs into the basement. In order to solve this problem, the Police Jury would like to drain this water to the back parish property and pump it into the river. It will take approximately $2,100 to purchase the pipe required for this project. He stated that the Police Jury will have a civil engineer to evaluate the situation, and if it is feasible, they would like to request the Gravity Drainage District No. 3 Board to help with the cost of the pipe.

It was the body consensus that if this plan will work, Gravity Drainage District No. 3 will pay for $2,100 worth of pipe to drain the area behind the Courthouse and pump flood water into the river.

Alva Mae Savoie inquired about the status of clearing the ditch which adjacent to her property. It was agreed that she will contact Lonnie Harper for this information.

It was agreed that Gravity Drainage District No. 3 is responsible for delivering a load of shellto Jody Savoie as agreed in the right of way for Project #1987-06-01, Proposed Drainage Lateral West Creole Area, Wetlands #811. Gary Kelley will have a load of shell delivered to him.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried that the following millage be assessed on all property within the boundaries of Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3 for the year 1988:

Maintenance Fund	4.77

Bruce Lehto of the Soil Conservation Service submitted two amendments to the Project Agreement for Cameron-Creole Watershed Control Structures Project. Amendment No. 3 simply adds a non-discrimination clause, and Amendment No. 4 increases the local cost share of the project by approximately $23,000 for mobilization and field office costs. These costs are to be shared equally by Gravity Drainage Districts No. 3 and 4.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by W. F. Henry, Jr., and unanimously carried that President Edwin Quinn be authorized to sign Amendments No. 3 and 4 to the Project Agreement for Federal Project #69-7217-7-19, Cameron-Creole Watershed Control Structures.

Mr. Lehto then presented Amendment No. 4 to the Project Agreement for the Cameron-Creole Watershed, Calcasieu Lake East Levee 2nd Lift and Reshaping Project. He explained that this amendment adjusts for cost overruns to be paid for by the Soil Conservation Service, at no additional cost to the local districts.

A motion was made by W. F. Henry, Jr., seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried that President Quinn be authorized to sign Amendment No. 4 to the Project Agreement for Federal Project #69-7217-8-19, Cameron-Creole Watershed, Calcasieu Lake East Levee 2nd Lift and Reshaping.

Mr. Lehto then reported that on the Grand Bayou Structure there was supposed to be clearance so that small boats could go under the gate. It now appears that the final design of the gate does not allow room for this clearance, and Soil Conservation Service has requested a redesign to make allowance for such clearance.

A motion was made by E. J. Dronet, seconded by Edwin Quinn, and unanimously carried to authorize Industrial Helicopters to spray drainage ditches for vegetation control within the boundaries of Gravity Drainage District No. 3, at a cost of $3,410.00.

It was agreed by concensus that a letter be written to Equipment Rentals Sales & Service, asking them to clean up debris left at the job site for W-1 West Pump Station.

A motion was made by Edwin Quinn, seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried that a security light and gate be placed at the W-1 West Pump Station site.

It was agreed that W. F. Henry will contact the electric company to have electricity run to the site and, for a security light to be put up. Gary Kelley will contact someone to build a gate for the location.

Orange groves once plentiful

By Bernice Denny

From the 1850's to circa 1915, orange groves on Grand Chenier were profitable business ventures.

E. D. Sine, my maternal grandfather, had an orchard of two hundred trees. At one time he had a well put down by which to irrigate them in case of droughts. Shallow ditches were dug in order to carry water to all parts of the orchard. Unfortunately, the sand, loose soil caused the water to soak into the ground before it had traveled far.

Later, freezes and scale bugs took their toll on trees and fruit. After a freeze Grandfather would trim the trees back. Soon they sprouted and replenished themselves. He imported ladybugs and turned them loose in the grove to devour the scales.

Orange trees are among the most beautiful of nature's gifts. In the spring their pure white blossoms shed fragrance over the land. In summer the enlarging green fruit reminds one of tiny emerald balloons being blown to capacity. Fall is the ripening season with green turning to gold and orange.

Every fall Grandfather had pickers in the orchard. The oranges that had fallen were carefully examined for firmness and color. Ladders were used by the men to gather fruit from the higher branches.

Other workers culled and packed the golden orbs into special crates to be shipped via the Mermentau River to Lake Arthur and points beyond. In earlier days trading shops had carried the harvest to Galveston.

In 1913, a young teacher, Miss Marie Portal, boarded in my grandparents' home. She told the family that her parents, emigrants from France, were adept at making orange blossom wine. She asked permission to gather the fallen blossoms to send to them.

Grandmother gave Miss Portal several freshly laundered white sheets to lay on the ground beneath the trees. The young teacher joyously gathered and packed the sweet smelling blossoms to send back home.

The best inducement to relaxation and meditation is to slip away in spring to an orange grove and sit beneath a tree. The perfumed petals fall over and around one. They nestle in one's hair like miniature bouquets; then carry one's thoughts away to a never-never land of beauty.

Musing . .

By Bernice Denny

Our roses have been blooming all spring and summer. When I look at them I am reminded of the many legends inspired by their beauty.

One story describes roses as thornless in the Garden of Eden. Prickets did not appear on them until after Adam and Eve had sinned and were expelled.

Saint Dorothy, a fourth century martyr, is said to have received roses while in her prison cell from an angel sent from Paradise.

Still another legend claims that Jesus' blood at his crucifixion dropped onto the moss at the foot of the cross. At once moss roses sprang into bloom.

After Charles Lindburgh made history with the first solo flight across the Atlantic, he came home by ship.

FOREST BAYOU
SAVES CAMERON

If it were not for Forest Bayou, Cameron parish would not have broken into the "big time" in Baton Rouge at this session of the legislature.

Mr. Erbelding, the Cameron member, had already introduced several bills to curb the activities of the market hunters, but they had been coldly received--how coldly none may know save those who go against the legislature with a proposition to protect the supply of game birds.

Thereupon the Cameron representative bethought himself of Forest Bayou and introduced Concurrent Resolution No. 20 in which the legislature of Louisiana entreats the Congress of the United States to appropriate the sum of $500 to dredge Forest Bayou.

Asking Congress for $500 is like asking for a match. Even a total stranger will loosen up for a match, but Congress will be obliged first to find Forest Bayou, and it took a considerable amount of inquiry for the American Press to discover where it is supposed to be. Several students of Cameronia were appealed to in vain but finally one of them remembered that it is a blind bayou leading off through the marsh from Bayou Bois Couriers toward the Creole ridge.

No one professed to know why its dredging was desired or what purpose could be accomplished by it. The matter of dredging Forest Bayou, it was learned, was before the board of engineers some years ago, but the inhabitants of the Creole ridge disclaimed any knowledge or any desire for the improvement. The engineers finally decided that the only possible beneficiary would be one of the big land companies, and the company had money enough to pay for its own dredging.

The Cameron people may have since found some use for it. Meanwhile, there is our Forest Bayou, which is, of course, miles away from a forest unless we count marsh grass.

Press, July 20, 1923

CAMERON ROAD TO PORT ARTHUR

July 14: S. W. Sweeney, former clerk of court of Cameron Parish, spent Friday in Lake Charles and while here discussed the proposition of Port Arthur and Cameron to construct a model highway along the gulf beaches from the Sabine River below Port Arthur to the Calcasieu River at Cameron and the installing of a ferry on the Sabine by the city of Port Arthur.

Mr. Sweeney is very enthusiastic over the prospects for getting an outlet for travel for the people of his parish and for the cotton, furs and trucking products of the rich lands of the sister parish to the south of Calcasieu.

Mr. Sweeney declared while in Lake Charles that it is a fact that the people of Cameron will build the proposed road and that Port Arthur will install and maintain a free ferry over the Sabine River in the near future.

He said that all west of the Calcasieu River in lower Cameron is one ward subdivision of the parish and that about 90 or 95 percent of the taxable property in that part of the parish is owned by non-residents who would bear the burden of improving conditions and making their property valuable.

He stated also that the section of the country in which it is proposed to vote bonds, is free from any burdens of that character and there will be no difficulty in disposing of any bonds that will be issued, at good prices.

Mr. Sweeney has other aspirations for his section of Southwest Louisiana in the matter of good roads and travel. At a meeting of the LaFitte Cut-off Association, held in Lake Arthur in June, he exhibited a map, briefly outlining a plan to divert tourist travel on the LaFitte Cut-off into Texas via Port Arthur. He pointed out that when the people of Cameron had built their highway along the gulf beaches into Port Arthur and Route No. 42 of the state highway system was completed south into Cameron along the east end of Sweetlake, the LaFitte Cut-off would intersect it in that vicinity and then tourists would have an all-gulf route from New Iberia to Port Arthur, via the little gulf town of Cameron.

It has been reported on good authority that the people of Port Arthur are very much interested in the travel and business of Cameron Parish and that the mayor of Port Arthur went to Cameron in the interest of trade relations and proposed to install and maintain a ferry on the Sabine River, if the taxpayers of Cameron would build the road along the gulf shores.

Fred Shutts, parish engineer for Calcasieu Parish, stated a few days ago that the construction of a highway, such as is proposed, from Cameron to Port Arthur, is entirely feasible and can be done very cheaply; and that there is only a few miles of marsh lands to cross; that the route would be east and west along the gulf beaches and that in the vicinity of Johnson's Bayou, already there are several miles of good roads constructed.

SOUTH CAMERON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Joseph L. Soileau
Administrator

Dear Sir/Madam:

I would start by assuring you that I am no politician, and the comments I will refer to are truly that of concern. I will attempt to instill this same concern to you, the voter, because you will soon be faced with one of the most important decisions you may ever be asked to make in the voting booth. I, as a Health Care Professional, cannot emphasize strongly enough, the importance of an ambulance service in our area, and I would ask you to consider it's importance to the life and well being of your loved ones, friends and neighbors and anyone in dire need of medical attention.

Many questions about the proposed amublance tax are circulating in the community. This statement is intended to explain why we need the tax, how the funds will be used, and what benefits it will provide you, the consumer.

The Hospital, in years past, has relied on grants from the Police Jury to maintain the ambulance service. The funds provided were used to purchase new ambulances, refurbish those worth saving, and to pay for maintenance, insurance, and other costs that were ambulance related. The Jury is no longer able to subsidize this service, so the ambulance district has been formed to evaluate the options available in maintaining an ambulance service in our area. The ambulance board has studied and accepted bids from ambulance services (Acadian & Holstons) and have found these services too costly. They have decided to seek a 4.0 mill tax and provide for our own service.

The funds generated from a 4 mill tax will be used in the following ways.

1. The oldest ambulance will be replaced by a new unit, and the newer unit will undergo a complete refurbishment.
2. New, modern equipment will be purchased which will enhance our rescue efforts, and provide for a better communication system.
3. We will use a portion of the funds to provide continuing education for our present staff, and help provide education and training for our local residents who show an interest in the "EMT" field. We can then staff the service with local people, who are better qualified to provide skilled service.
4. We will use funds to pay our present employees, maintain full insurance coverage on the units and provide continuing education for personnel who staff the ambulances.
5. Maintenance of the two units has always been an expensive item, and we will continue to have these unforeseen problems in the future.

The Board has declared that should the community pass the 4 mill tax, all residents of our Service District will be members of the District and no fee will be charged the patient for this service. We will, however, bill private insurance companies, Medicare or Medicaid, and/or other coverages the patient may have. We will accept payment from these agencies as payment in full, and the balance will be written off as paid to all patients who reside in our ambulance service district. This service will cover only transfers to South Cameron Memorial Hosptial and to any hospital in Lake Charles. Only hospital transfers will be covered under the membership program. This program, in essence, is similar to a membership with Acadian Ambulance Service.

I have been given the task of overseeing this new ambulance service should the tax pass. I wish to assure each of you that I will work diligently to provide for the best care possible, and that all resources available will be used to achieve this goal. I know that all questions have not been answered, and I invite you individually or as a group to call if I can be of assistance in answering any questions you may have.

Please remember that together we have the opportunity to develop an ambulance service capable of delivering quality professional medical care to those who will need it in life or death situations. I ask you to join with me, the Medical Staff, the Board of Directors and employees of this Hospital and support the proposal before you on July 16th.

I hope each of you will carefully review and understand the necessity of maintaining an ambulance service in our community. I wish you to consider the other services we now provide. The ambulance, if the tax is approved by you, will continue to provide services to all Festivals, Football Games, Senior Citizen's Olympics and Special Olympics Events, High School Sanctioned Rodeos and other Community Events.

Sixty-five percent of all ambulance service provided last year was administered to the elderly of the community. I urge each of you to vote your preference on July 16. Do not let others decide the outcome of such an important issue.

We need your help. PLEASE VOTE YES ON THIS IMPORTANT PROPOSAL! Remember this will meat FREE ambulance membership. Our continued ambulance service will be in serious jeopardy if this proposal does not pass!!

Remember this tax approval will mean FREE ambulance membership to each resident of our service district, this includes Grand Chenier, Cameron and Creole. There will be no charge to the people from these areas for ambulance service to this hospital or any hospital in Lake Charles.

Jury tax fails; ambulance OKed

Cameron Parish Police Jury President Kenneth Ducote of Hackberry said that the jury will have a special meeting next Tuesday evening to start making decisions on what budget cuts can be made to bring the jury's budget into balance for the coming fiscal year in view of the defeat of a 10-mill road and bridge tax last Saturday.

The tax was defeated by a vote of 1090 for and 1365 against with 55 percent of the voters opposed to the tax.

However, a 4-mill tax to fund ambulance service for lower Cameron parish was approved by a vote of 871-481 or with 64 percent in favor.

Jurors had stated prior to the election that due to a drastic decrease in the Road Royalty Fund the parish would have to make some drastic cuts should the tax fail, including layoff of some employees, reduction in salaries, the closure of a number of multi-purpose buildings and the elimination of support for many parish agencies and programs.

Ducote said the jurors probably will review all of their options at the Tuesday meeting and perhaps again at their finance meeting set for Thursday, July 28. He said he expected that they would be ready to announce what actions they intend to take at the August meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 2.

"We will be looking at all areas, taking one item at the time," Ducote stated.

The jury had earlier made some salary cuts and cut out a number of services.

The passage of the ambulance tax will permit the South Cameron hospital to continue ambulance service. The police jury, which had subsidized the service in the past, had indicated that it could no longer do so.

Trappers, gator convention set

Bob Watson, president of the Louisiana Trappers and Alligator Hunters Association, has announced that the convention of the organization will be held Aug. 6, in Cameron.

All events will take place in the Cameron Recreation Center, starting at 9 a.m.

Persons from all over the state will attend the day's events including speakers, nutria and muskrat skinning contests for boys, girls and seniors; trap setting contest, pirogue racing, alligator race, etc.

The event will close with a dance.

Shrimping is closed

The spring shrimp season in that portion of Zone 3 west of the Mermentau River including Calcasieu Lake closed at noon July 17, acording to Bob Misso, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Misso said closing of the spring shrimp season in this portion of the State's inshore waters was necessary because of increasing recruitment of juvenile white shrimp and because Louisiana law provides that the season is to be closed when technical data indicates the need for closure to protect the incoming white shrimp crop.

With this closure, all of Louisiana's inshore waters west of the Mississippi River will be closed to shrimping until the fall season opens. Zone 1, however, which encompasses that portion of Louisiana's inshore waters east of the Mississippi River, will remain open until biological data indicates the need to close.

Alligator hunt begins Sept. 10

This year's alligator hunting season, lasting 31 days, will open Sept. 10, and run through Oct. 10, according to the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Johnnie W. Tarver, administrator for the department's Fur and Refuge Division, said biologists will establish quotas for the 1988 harvest after completing alligator population surveys this month.

Tarver said that alligator tags, when available, will be priced at $2 each. The $2 charge was approved by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, he said, and replaces the $5 flat fee formerly assessed for tags allocated by the batch.

The increased income from the tags will help defray the costs of the state's alligator harvest program.

Department officials expect that the issuance of about 25,000 tags will be authorized for harvest of alligators from the state marshes and swamps with an additional 10,000 tags going to commercial gator farmers. Last year 23,200 gators were taken by some 1,400 hunters while 8,600 gators were harvested by 18 gator farmers. Gator farmers, with approval of the department, can harvest pen-reared gators during closed season.

Hides brought an average of $38 a linear foot in 1987, and indications are that prices will be at least as good this year, Tarver told the commission.

He added that the 1988 season opening was scheduled for Sept. 10, five days later than last year's, because cool weather in the state's wetlands had delayed alligator nesting and egg laying.

Tarver assured the commission that, as in the past, the alligator harvest will be carried out under rigidly controlled conditions on selected public and privately owned sites.

Also, it was announced that at six Wildlife Management Areas and one refuge where alligator hunting is permitted, tags will be available on a bid basis. The minimum bid was put at a 25 percent return to the department based on the hunter's hide sales in addition to the $2 tag fee.

The department-managed areas are the Grassy Lake, Joyce, Manchac, Pearl River, Sherburne and Spring Bayou WMAs and the Atchafalaya National Wildlife Refuge.

Limousin Field Day scheduled

A Limousin Field Day will be held by the Louisiana Limousin Association Saturday, July 23, beginning at 2 p.m. at the Cameron Parish livestock barn and arena east of Cameron.

Brian Gallley, DeQuincy show animal breeder, will give a demonstration on grooming and Uland Guidry of Creole will talk about selecting calves. Charles Litteral will give an electric fence demonstration.

A meal will be served courtesy of the Association.

Wicke said there are about a dozen Limousin breeders in the parish and a number of others are using Limousin bulls for crosabreeding.

TED rules delayed

Louisiana Attorney General William J. Guste Jr. said Friday that an agreement to delay federal regulations requiring shrimpers to use turtle excluder devices does what he's been trying to do in the courts.

"This couldn't come at a better time. The battle of the courts was for all practical purposes over, but this amendment will give shrimpers some time and give Congress the information they need to decide if the TEDs regulations should remain in effect," Guste said.

The agreement worked out by U.S. Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., with sponsors of the Endangered Species Act will postpone the implementation of the TEDs regulation for 22 months in inshore waters and 10 months in offshore waters.

"Louisiana shrimpers are having a terrible year anyway," Guste said. "Buying the TEDs would have cost them from $500 to $1,000 right away and using them would have cut their catches tremendously. At least with this measure they'll be able to continue to eke out a living."

New redfish rules effective July 21

New regulations for Louisiana sportsmen angling for redfish will go into effect Thursday, July 21, when Gov. Buddy Roemer signs legislation removing the species from the commercial category.

Under the new law, Senate Bill 829, only recreational fishermen will be allowed to take redfish in state waters until Sept. 1, 1991, said Virginia VanSickle, secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries.

VanSickle said the new law reduces the creel limit to five redfish a day and also set a possession limit of five. The minimum size will be 16 inches, and only one redfish may be taken that is 27 inches long or longer.

Speckled trout also come under the new law, VanSickle pointed out. A commercial quota of 1,250,000 pounds a year is established for the species, and the daily creel limit and possession limit for sport fishermen is reduced to 25.

Minimum sizes on speckled trout remain unchanged--14 inches for commercial fishermen and 12 inches for recreational anglers.

The commercial speckled trout season is scheduled to begin Sept. 1, each year. VanSickle noted the law provides that once the trout quota has been reached, no vessel possessing or fishing any seine net, gill net, trammel net or hoop net shall have a speckled trout aboard the vessel.

At the same time, when the speckled trout quota has been filled, commercial mesh sizes for gill nets, trammel nets and seine nets other than strike nets will be increased to a minimum of 4-1/2 inches stretched.

Undersized crabs seized

Enforcement agents are on the lookout for commercial fishermen who violate state law by taking undersized crabs, according to the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

Lt. Col. Winton Vidrine of LDWF's Enforcement Division said that in a recent case, a truck cargo of 4,545 crabs was checked and 665 were found to be under the legal limit. The driver was ticketed. This was in Terrebonne Parish.

Hardshell crabs: Five inches in width as measured from point to point of the upper shell except when held for processing as soft crabs or sold to a processor for the making of soft crabs.

Softshell crabs: 4-1/2 inches in width as measured from point to point of the upper shell.

The term "strike net" is newly defined under the law as any gill net, trammel net or seine net not anchored or secured to the water-bottom or shore and which is used off a vessel and actively worked while being used. A person may not possess more than two strike nets.

VanSickle stressed that violators of the new law will be subject to loss of their licenses as well as other penalties.

Gov. Roemer has said that he plans to sign Senate Bill 829 Thursday morning, and it will go into effect immediately.

MUSING

By Bernice Denny

Each superstitious tale of long ago had a definite lesson of right and wrong hidden within. The following demonstrates a kind Providence.

It was related to me by my late brother, Archie Hollister, who had heard it from Mr. Simien Duhon of Hackberry.

A Hackberry man planned to visit friends in the nearby settlement. Before he reached there, his horse shied. The rider looked about and spied a white bench across the path before him.

Each time he attempted to circle it, the bench moved directly in front of him. He coaxed his horse to jump over the bench, but the animal stood still and seemed to tremble.

The man made a wide detour only to find the bench there ahead of him.

Finally he decided to return home. As he approached the house, his wife ran out to tell him that their little child had suddenly become desperately ill and that he must hasten to get the doctor.

He promised he would if the bench would permit him. Such talk seemed gibberish to the anxious mother.

The husband dashed away. No bench obstructed his path this time, nor did he ever see it again.

Melody Jumper, Counselor
Charter Counseling Center, Lake Charles

For many people, counseling is more convenient when it's available close to home and when it fits easily into their weekly schedule. We saw this need and opened Charter Counseling Centers in Lake Charles, Sulphur, Jennings, Eunice and Crowley.

The professional counselors at our Centers help people deal with life's ups and downs through marriage and family counseling, child and teen counseling, support groups and counseling for personal problems.

We at Charter are always seeking ways to be of service, and our Counseling Centers are an example of how we respond to our community's needs.

Cleanup effort

Dear Editor:

Constance Beach residents woke up to a "Pogy Fish" spill on their beaches Saturday, July 16. Roland Prioux called the foreman of the Cameron Parish Work Crew in Johnson Bayou (Leroy Blanchard) who in turn called the Parish Supervisor (Bud Rollins in Hackberry). Bud inspected the strong odor producing mess and directed the Johnson Bayou work crew to gather and bury the dead fish.

I called the general manager of Zapata Haynie (Edward W. Swindel) to inform him of the situation. He visited the site Saturday morning and observed the work crew in the clean up operation. He revisited the area again Sunday in the late afternoon. He noticed that a 150 foot area on the east end of Constance Beach still had a small concentration of dead fish along the shoreline amongst the rocks and broken roadway.

When I called Mr. Swindell Monday morning, he had already made arrangements for a work crew to rake and pick up the remaining fish. That work crew finished cleaning up by noon Monday. Mr. Swindell informed me that he would call the Police Jury to reimburse them for the labor to clean up Saturday morning.

We, the residents and tourists of Constance Beach, are grateful for the prompt action by the Cameron Parish work crew on an early Saturday morning as well as the quick response and concern of the general manager of Zapata Haynie on Saturday morning as well as the rechcking of the area Sunday evening plus the dispatching of a clean up crew Monday morning.

It it is this type of community spirit and concern for citizen's welfare that make Constance Beach, Cameron Parish, and the State of Louisiana such a good place to live in while enjoying the friendship of the finest people on the face of the good earth.

A ROAD QUESTION
DEMANDING IMMEDIATE ATTENTION

For more than a quarter of a century, the people of Cameron Parish have been looking in vain for Lake Charles to see to it that they were given an outlet to the world by means of a direct modern highway from this city to Cameron.

They have looked to us for help. Lake Charles concerned itself that a highway was constructed to Big Lake, fully half way to Cameron, mostly for pleasure and comforts, and then apparently lost interest in any further road development to the south.

Cameron has told Lake Charles that it would send thousands of bales of cotton to market in this city yearly; it has pleaded for more means of escaping from gulf storms; it has promised to be Lake Charles' garden and poultry farm; it offers Lake Charles its fur trade; its people have looked toward Lake Charles as their commercial center and have always had the most cordial feelings for Calcasieu people and Lake Charles business concerns.

However, with all its intentions of cooperation in making a great Southwest Louisiana, Lake Charles has been more or less indifferent to the great storehouses of wealth and the millions of dollars of business that should be developed in Cameron and handled through this city by way of a Grand Lake road.

Cameron is a potential power in this part of the state in commercial affairs, but The American Press now notifies Lake Charles businessmen that the turn is about to come with this potentiality, as far as this community is concerned.

It has come to the knowledge of this paper that plans are on foot for creating road districts and voting bonds and constructing a modern highway from Cameron to the Sabine River below Port Arthur, in order to get Cameron in touch with the outside world, with a modern highway. More than that, Port Arthur, it is claimed, has agreed to put in a first class ferry and maintain a road from that point on the Sabine River north into the city.

This will give Cameron quick facilities to one of the leading seaports in the south. When the LaFitte Cut-off of the Old Spanish Trail is completed west to Sweetlake and when finally Route No. 42 of the state highway system is built through to Cameron and intersects the LaFitte Cut-off, somewhere in the vicinity of Sweetlake, Cameron could route tourist travel through the little gulf city and along the gulf beaches into Port Arthur and into the Old Spanish Trail again at Beaumont.

The American Press will not at this time offer any suggestions for accommodating Cameron Parish with an outlet via Big Lake to Lake Charles, but it does prophesy regrets in the future if Cameron is not immediately given consideration. Self interest now, however low it may be altruistically, deserves serious consideration.

Lake Charles plans to be a port for all Southwest Louisiana and wishes to be on the line of tourist travel.

Are we going to let this opportunity get by us?

(Abbeville Meridional, July 23, 1910)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

The rains still continue, not heavy but very little clear weather. The lake is falling a little bit, but the mosquitoes are worse than they have been at any time.

The report is circulating that Mr. Craig Gilmore of Gibson City, Ill. was killed recently in an auto accident. He owned considerable real estate in this section and was interested in a number of enterprises here.

Allen Hunt and family returned from Week's Island and reports all doing well there. He also found that his crop of chickens had disappeared in his absence.

There are several sick horses and cattle in this neighborhood, but it is very likely it is not charbon as they have been sick for several days.

Last week the time of the court at Leesburg was occupied with the hearing of motions, defaults and confessions of judgment, while the grand jury was in session. Of something like a half hundred cases before it, the grand jury turned everything down except fourteen true bills, nearly every one of which charged with hoodlumism or selling liquors without license. The criminal term started Monday, petit jurors having been summoned.

The only case tried last week was a divorce which was granted. Attorneys Albert Barbe and T. C. Plauche represented the plaintiff, with Attorneys Percy C. Smith as counsel for the defendant.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Duck Seasons?

By Loston McEvers

Fishing this past week was good, all in all. Redfish in the rivers and jetties and bayous are good and being caught. Drums are also being taken. Becky McEvers caught a 26 pound drum in the Mermentau River this past week.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB

The club had some good fish their last tournament. Anthony Nunez and Philip Trosclair had a team stringer of 36 pounds 1 ounce on 14 bass; Carl Broussard and J. C. Boudreaux had a 28 pound stringer on 14 bass; Tom Hess and Ricky Canik, 18-7; and Rudy McEvers and Michael Trahan, 14-9.

Carl Broussard had a 5-12 bass; J. C. Boudreaux, a 4-14; Philip Trosclair, 4-5, and Anthony Nunez, a 4 pounder.

Here's the way they placed indivdually: 1st, Carl Broussard; 2nd, J. C. Boudraux; 3rd, Philip Trosclair; 4th, Anthony Nunez; 5th, Rudy McEvers; 6th, Tom Hess; and 7th, Ricky Canik.

THINGS YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW

★Zone 2 and Zone 3 are closed to inland shrimping, along with a portion of Terrebonne Parish.

★Louisiana's wholesale and retail fish dealers can only purchase fish from licensed commercial sources. They must also keep adequate records of all transactions. Licenses will be checked before transactions. No fish may be sold by recreational fishermen and no fish may be bought from recreational fishermen. Dealers have to maintain records for three years and make them available for inspection. These records have to be kept in English. Records will consist of quanitity, kind of fish, date, name and license number of commercial fisherman. This also applies when selling to a customer of how many, kind, date and name of customer.

★Redfish given a gamefish status for three years. Limit of 5 per sports fisherman.

★Recreational fishermen can catch 25 speckle trout per day. Commercial fishermen have a quota of 1.25 million pounds per year.

★Alligator hunters will have to get a $2 permit for every gator they hope to bag this year, instead of paying a flat $5 fee for permission to hunt. Alligator season will run Sept. 10, thru Oct. 10. Approximately 25,000 tags will be issued this year. Hunters last year harvested around 23,000 alligators, filling 95 percent of the tags issued. An average of $38 per foot was paid.

★The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries will serve as host agency when the Mississippi Flyway Council holds its annual summer meeting July 29-30, in Baton Rouge.

★There were 38,228,000 people who bought fishing licenses in the United States. Of these, 1,050,000 were Louisiana fishermen. U. S. fishermen averaged 19 days fishing, while Louisiana anglers averaged just under 25 days fishing. Black bass was the most popular freshwater fish that anglers went out for. In fact 16,241,000 fished for black bass in the U.S., while 13,709,000 went for saltwater fishing. California ranks first for number of fishermen, with 3,058,000. Louisiana was 19th with 1,050,000. Texas was second with 2,462,000 and Florida third with 1,902,000.

OUTLOOK FOR FUTURE DUCK SEASONS

I had a phone call and a letter from Kenneth Hebert who works in the Education Sction for Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries.

He sent me copies of the North American Waterfowl Management plan. This is probably the last major effort to save our North American ducks.

He has talked to several people who are aware of the habitat problems now on the Canadian prairies. If this plan doesn't work, waterfowl will be a thing of the past in just a few more years.

The U. S. Congress promises to help fund this plan, but they're slow in coming up with the needed funds, and have only appropriated a small amount of money that is needed.

It is urged that you call or write our Congressmen in Washington to try and make this plan work. Addresses as follows: U. S. Senator John Breaux, 516 Hart Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20510 and Congressman Jimmy Hayes, 901 Lakeshore Drive, Lake Charles, La. 70601.

Kenneth had talked to a man who had worked on the Canadian Duck Census for 20 years or more and he claims we may be too late. These are his words: "This is probably the beginning of the end."

We as hunters need to get involved.

It's not only the drought, but wetland in Canada is being dried up to plant more crops and that takes away more nesting. This is also happening.

Next week I will pass along to you how the new plan is introduced and plans to work. It may take two series to get it all to you, but don't lose these addresses to our Congressmen, so we can all write and let them know, we are behind this.

HUNTING SEASONS SET

Quail, Nov. 28-Feb. 28.
Rabbit, Oct. 1-Feb. 28.
Squirrel, Oct. 1-Jan. 15.
Doves, Sept. 3-11, Oct. 15-Nov. 13 and Dec. 10-Jan. 9.
Snipe, Nov. 12-Feb. 23.
Woodcock, Dec. 10-Feb. 12.
Rail and Gallinule will be set later.

The archery season for deer also begins Oct. 1, through Jan. 20.

On the gun season for deer, Areas 2 and 3 will begin Nov. 5, and Areas 1 and 4 Nov. 19. We're in Area 3.

Area 1, 48 days, Nov. 19-27; Dec. 3-11; Dec. 17-Jan. 15.

Most of these are almost the same as last year. A pamphlet will be published for the public and I will keep you informed.

Ducks, coots and geese are being worked on with the Feds. That'll be at a later date. It doesn't look good for the teal season, but there's a possibility--we'll just wait and see.

Police Jury slashes budget

Tax elections set for Oct. 3

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish Police Jury at a special meeting Tuesday night voted to create three special districts and to call tax elections in two existing districts.

The action was the result of earlier action taken last Thursday night with a number of parish public facilities, not supported by their own taxes, being closed as an economy measure effective Aug. 1.

Tuesday the jury agreed to advertise its intention to create a Klondike Fire Protection District and Creole and Grand Chenier Recreation Districts.

It also voted to call special maintenance tax elections in Fire Protection District No. 7 (Creole) and Hackberry Recreation District Tax to maintain the Hackberry Multi-Purpose Building.

The tax elections will be on Oct. 3, and if passed would be on the tax rolls for 1989. It was also expected that the Klondike Fire District could be created in time to call a tax election there in October. However, Creole and Grand Chenier jurors decided not to call recreation tax elections there until some later date.

Gerald Landry and Bobby Hewitt presented the jury Tuesday with a petition signed by 462 registered voters of Hackberry indicating they would support a tax to keep the Hackberry Multi-Purpose building open. They said they were confident that a tax would be approved in October and asked the jury to keep the building open August and September until the tax passed.

Juror Carroll Trahan of Johnson Bayou said he was in sympathy with the Hackberry people but noted that Johnson Bayou probably would lose its elderly feeding program because of the shutdown of the center there.

He moved and the jury voted to retain the closing of the Hackberry center. However, this was amended to state that the jury would reopen the Hackberry center in October if their tax passed and if the district agreed to reimburse the police jury.

An attorney representing the Klondike fire department then requested the jury to keep the Klondike fire station open until a fire district could be created and a tax passed there.

He said the fire department, created in 1984, has 30 volunteer firemen (many of whom were at the meeting in uniform) and that they had answered 30 calls to fires since then.

He noted that the utilities for the fire station were only about $150 a month.

Jury President Kenneth Ducote said that since Cameron Parish has a joint service agreement on the operation of the Klondike fire department the matter should be tabled until the Vermilion police jury could be consulted on the matter.

The Creole fire department is located in the same building as the Creole Multi-Purpose Building and presumably it will be closed Aug. 1, and reopen later if the tax is approved.

Pay is cut for all employees

The Cameron Parish Police Jury, meeting in a special session Tuesday night, took actions to cut the salaries and wages of all of the parish employees in light of a large deficit in the current budget and the defeat of a recent 10-mill tax by voters. Annual pay cuts totaling $192,000 were announced for employees.

The jurors, meeting before a packed audience of parish employees and interested citizens, took up several matters before going into a closed session which lasted about two hours to discuss personnel pay cuts.

(Personnel matters are one of the few subjects which public bodies can discuss in executive session).

Following the resumption of the open meeting, Jury President Kenneth Ducote announced that the jurors had decided on the following pay cuts for parish employees:

*All road employees were cut 10 percent for a $164,000 annual savings and a $68,000 savings for the remainder of this year.

*All salaried employees of the parish will receive a 3 percent cut which added to the 7 percent cut made recently will give them a 10 percent cut.

(All overtime for both road and salaried employees is to be eliminated except in the case of an emergency such as a hurricane.)

The parish administrator/treasurer's salary was reduced from $40,399.20 to $35,000 a year.

The police jury secretary's salary was reduced from $34,372.80 to $27,500.

The road supervisor's salary was cut from $37,497.60 to $29,500.

Five secretaries and assistants in the police jury offices received pay cuts ranging from several hundred to several thousand dollars each.

The police jurors had earlier voted to cut their own pay by 7 percent.

Rev. Chris Andrews

G. Chenier revival set

The Grand Chenier United Methodist Church is holding a revival Sunday, July 31, through Tuesday, Aug. 2, starting at 7 p.m.

Chris Andrews will be the visiting preacher. Rev. Andrews pastors the Trinity United Methodist Church in Ruston. He has pastored churches in England, Missouri and Louisiana.

Three polling places to be moved soon

The Cameron Parish Police Jury, which plans to close three community multi-purpose buildings Aug. 1, as an economy measure, took action Tuesday night to move the election polling places from these buildings to new locations.

The Creole voting place will be moved from the Creole multi-purpose building to the Creole KC Hall.

The Johnson Bayou voting place will be moved from the multi-purpose building to the recreation center there.

The Klondike voting place will be moved from the multi-purpose building to the Klondike maintenance barn.

The moves will be made to be ready for some special tax elections that are being called in some of the districts on Oct. 1.

Voting places in other precincts were not affected as they mostly are located in public buildings that were not affected by the closings.

Registrar sets visits

The Cameron parish registrar of voters, Mrs. Ruby Kelley, will be in the following locations for the purpose of registering voters:

Aug. 4, Johnson Bayou Recreation Center, 9 a.m. to noon; Hackberry Recreation Center, 1 to 4 p.m.

Aug. 11, Grand Lake Recreation Center, 3 to 7 p.m.

Aug. 18, Klondike Parish Barn, 9 a.m. to noon; Lowery, Mrs. Clifford Broussard residence, 1 to 4 p.m.

9 parish buildings to be closed Monday

By JERRY WISE

Faced by a $904,329 deficit in its current budget and the defeat of a 10-mill property tax on July 16, the Cameron Parish Police Jury at a special meeting last Thursday evening voted to close down nine parish facilities and to end funding to about five parish agencies effective Aug. 1.

However, these measures are expected to only save the jury $95,566 this year and $209,000 on an annual basis.

MULTI-PURPOSE BUILDINGS

The jurors acted first to vote to close all of the multi-purpose buildings which Ducote said was costing the parish $60,000 annually to operate. These included the buildings in Cameron, Johnson Bayou, Grand Lake and Hackberry. The vote was unanimous. The closings will save the parish $27,000 this year.

(The multi-purpose buildings have been built over the past few years with federal and local funds and have no maintenance taxes. They have been used for public meetings, dances, weddings, Council on Aging feeding sites, etc.)

REC CENTERS, FIRE STATION

The jurors then voted to close the following facilities that do not have their own tax base: the Creole and Klondike fire stations, the Grand Chenier recreation center, the Grand Chenier and Creole swimming pools and the 4-H and FFA parish livestock barn.

The closing of the two fire stations will save $6,666 this year and $16,000 annually. Closing of the recreation facilities will save $22,000 this year and $37,000 annually.

(Other fire stations in the parish will not be affected since they have their own tax districts. Likewise the Hackberry, Cameron and Grand Lake Recreation districts have their own tax income.)

The vote to close these facilities was 5 to 1 with Douaine Conner voting against closure.

(Whether the Creole and Klondike fire departments will have to close down is not certain yet. The Klondike fire truck was purchased by Vermilion parish and there may be some arrangements to keep it in operation.)

HOSPITAL APPROPRIATION

The jurors then voted unanimously to end the $32,000 annual subsidy to the South Cameron Memorial Hospital, which will save $13,300 on this year's budget. The jury had been paying to hire out of parish doctors to staff the hospital on the weekends and in the past had helped subsidize the cost of the ambulance service.

(The hospital district was successful on July 16, in getting a 4-mill ambulance tax passed, and this should free up some funds for the hospital that were being "spent on the ambulance.)

COUNCIL ON AGING

The ending of the annual subsidy of the Council on Aging parish feeding program of $64,000 was then approved by the jury with Douaine Conner again voting no. This will save $26,000 this year.

"As bad as I hate to do so, I will make the motion," Juror Ray Conner said. "It really gets to me."

CRIMESTOPPERS, ETC.

The jurors voted unanimously to end funding to a variety of parish agencies and programs including the Crimestoppers Program, Leesburg Museum, Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival, the flood insurance program study, etc. They had earlier stopped contributions to the Southwest Louisiana Tourist Bureau, and Civil Air Patrols.

FEES

Jurors voted to begin charging fees for driveway installations, drilling permits, building permits and all other types of permits. A permit schedule will be announced later.

INSURANCE

The jury discussed but postponed until later action on proposals to eliminate workman compensation insurance on parish employees and fire and extended coverage on the parish buildings.

District Attorney Jerry Jones told jurors that the jury was not obligated to carry workman compensation insurance and Jury President Ducote said the jury still would be entitled to benefits as they were under workman compensation but the jury would have to pay it.

It was noted that the jury is presently serving as the agent for all of the districts in the parish in collecting workman compensation insurance and that these districts probably would continue their insurance should the jury end its program.

It was also discussed possibly discontinuing all fire and extended coverage insurance on all parish buildings with the exception of the courthouse and jury annex.

Three feeding centers cut

The Cameron Parish Council on Aging board was scheduled to meet Wednesday afternoon to restructure the parish elderly feeding program following the Cameron police jury's elimination of its funding of the feeding program.

In a move to eliminate a huge deficit this year, the police jury last Thursday night voted to amend its budget to remove the $64,000 that it has been giving to the Council for the feeding program each year.

The funding will end Aug. 1, and will save the jury $26,600 this year.

Dinah Vaughn, Council on Aging director, said the Council will have enough funds from its $108,000 feeding appropriation from the state to continue three of the present six feeding sites in the parish.

One of these will be at the Council on Aging office in Cameron, which the Council owns. The other two sites will have to have at least 20 regular patrons to remain open.

Vaughn said that the Council is presently feeding 220 elderly persons in the parish and this will drop to 124 at the three remaining sites. Some home delivery will continue to the most needy persons.

Mrs. Vaughn said that each person who the Council can no longer serve will receive a letter advising them of the action.

She said she was presently trying to secure two federal grants and if successful would be able to continue the full program.

Six employees hired at the three discontinued sites will lose their jobs. They are hired by the Lake Charles firm that caters the daily meals.

Festival set

The first annual Cameron Summer Fishing Festival will be held this weekend in Cameron with most activities scheduled around the Cameron multi-purpose building behind the courthouse.

(The building, which is scheduled to be closed by the police jury on Monday as an economy measure, will be open for the festival.)

Friday's events include a beauty pageant at 1 p.m., blessing of the fleet at 6:30 p.m., skydivers at 7:30 p.m. and opening ceremonies, a seafood supper at 8 p.m. and a free street dance from 8 to midnight.

On Saturday booths will be open from 10 a.m. to midnight, with a variety of contests and games scheduled. Also a magic show, bicycle exhibition, bird show, battle of the bands and a dance.

Sunday's events will include a reptile show, magic show, marshmallow drop street dance and the awarding of fishing prizes.

In the fishing tournament fishing begins at 12:01 a.m. Friday and ends at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Admission to the festival grounds is $1 per person with drawings for door prizes on Saturday and Sunday. Children under 6 will be admitted free.

Church is 50 years old

The Most Rev. Jude Speyrer, Bishop of Lake Charles, will officiate at the 50th anniversary celebration of St. Mary of the Lake Parish at Big Lake on Sunday, Aug. 14.

The anniversary observance will begin with the celebration of Mass in St. Mary of the Lake Church, beginning at 6 p.m. Bishop Speyrer will be the principal celebrant. Concelebrants will be Msgr. James Gaddy, current pastor, and all former pastors.

The Mass will be the anticipated Mass for the Feast of the Assumption, and will mark the end of the Marian Year celebration in the parish, according to Msgr. Gaddy. "We feel that this is most appropriate, since our parish is dedicated to the Blessed Lady," Msgr. Gaddy explained.

Following the Mass, Bishop Speyrer will dedicate and bless the newly-completed parish hall, after which a reception and covered dish supper will be held for all parishioners.

St. Mary of the Lake Parish was established by the Most. Rev. Jules B. Jeanmard, Bishop of Lafayette, on June 11, 1938, with the Rev. A. J. Robichaud as the founding pastor.

Father (now Monsignor) Robichaud has been invited to participate as one of the guests of honor at the anniversary celebration. Other former pastors who have been invited are Msgr. Charles LeVasseur, Msgr. M. J. Bernard, the Rev. Donald Theriot, the Rev. James Doyle, the Rev. Sam Jacobs, and the Rev. Herbert May, who served for a time as administator of the parish.

Savings office closed

The Cameron office is one of four small offices that the Louisiana Savings Association plans to close, it was announced last week. The others are in DeRidder, Vinton and the downtown office in Sulphur.

Louisiana Savings, a federally insured depository institution, operates 15 other offices in Southwest Louisiana, Alexandria, Lafayette and Baton Rouge.

The four offices being closed are not of sufficient size to warrant continued operations, President Robert A. McAnulty said. Customer accounts will be transferred to alternate branch offices on Aug. 26, he said.

Blood Drive set here

— NOTICE —

Many of you may be aware that the homestead exemption is under study and will be closely looked upon by the legislature in the upcoming special session. As an elected official for the Homeowners and taxpayers, I feel it is my duty to inform you of how lowering the homestead exemption would affect you.

The homestead exemption now allows the amount of $75,000 or an assessed value of $7500 to be exempted from taxes. There are some people who belong to a "fiscal reform group" who would like to lower or eliminate the homestead exemption. If lowered, the amount would probably be $25,000 or an assessed value of $2500. Governor Roemer has stated that he would propose lowering the homestead exemption to that amount.

I ask that you, as homeowners, stay abreast of this matter, because this, if changed, will affect you. The best way to do this is to stay informed. Our office will do its best to keep you informed on this situation.

You may want to express your views to our local legislative delegation: Representative Randy Roach, P. O. Box 1299, Lake Charles, La., 70602, 318-491-2101 or 318-474-5516 and Senator Jack Doland, 4001 Bayou Woods Drive, Lake Charles, La., 70605, 318-474-0026 or 318-474-0446. If you agree or disagree for a change in the homestead exemption, these legislators will be representing your views in Baton Rouge; so let them hear from you as a homeowner.

Below is a chart illustrating how the lowering of homestead exemption to $2500 would affect you. Please feel free to call this office if you are uncertain how this would affect you individually, and we will be glad to figure these amounts for you. The figures used below are 1987 millage rates. As you know, the millage rates often vary from year to year, and from one area of the parish to another.

Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact our office at 775-5416 or 775-5663.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American, July 26, 1907)
CAMERON

July 22--On Friday night last another attempt was made to destroy the dam on the Mermentau. About 1 o'clock a.m. some parties in skiffs called for the watchman to open the locks. As the two guards appeared, they were arrested, tied and taken ashore. The parties then called for Bob McCall, who was asleep in the house. The three were then taken some distance up the ridge where they were securely tied and guarded. The dam was then dynamited in three different places. About one-half of the dam was destroyed. There were ten in the party and they were either masked or had their faces blacked.

The guards were then allowed to go back to their quarters, with the injunction to remain indoors until 6 o'clock. All of the guns belonging to the guards were taken away. The two guards besides Bob McCall, were Uri Vaughn and Ennis Harden.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

the rain has quit, for a time and things begin to look natural again, but the mosquitoes are still with us in a plenty.

We would like to hear the opinion of the Mermentau fishermen on the republished article about the grand conservation of fish by the pumping plants. All we have heretofore heard or seen has been exactly the opposite. There is no doubt about their safety when they get into the rice fields but where they conserve at is a mystery known only to the Gueydan News as we have seen millions of fish dead in the rice fields, when the water was turned off or evaporated. Between indiscriminate seining for the big and destruction of the little fish by the pumping plants, any fisherman will tell you that the fish supply is rapidly being depleted.

Jos. Richard and children returned from their visit to Shuteston. The weather conditions were similar to here and they were compelled to return by train on account of the high water.

Mrs. Arthur Miller's mother and several other members of the family are visiting her at Monroe plantation.

From Person Mention: Miss Leotine Breauxis leaves next week on a visit to relatives on Grand Chenier.

Mr. Dienemann is an expert horticulturist and will be in charge of that portion of the work.--Lake Arthur Herald.

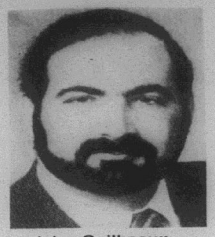
Nominations sought for dock board



The Cameron Parish Police Jury is now considering nominations of someone to represent the parish on the Lake Charles Port, Harbor and Terminal District (dock board).

At the recent session of the Legislature, a bill was passed establishing a new procedure for naming members to the board. Since Cameron parish has an interest in the Lake Charles port because the ship channel splits the parish in two, the bill provided for a board member being named to represent the parish.

The catch, however, since by law board members must live in the port district and since Cameron parish is not in the district, Cameron's representative will have to come from Calcasieu parish.

Jury President Kenneth Ducote said at the jury's special meeting Tuesday night that the jury is accepting recommendations for someone to fill this seat.

In the past Cameron parish has been represented on the dock board by a non-voting member. Cameron Police Juror Braxton Blake previously served in this position and when he went off the jury recently his place was taken by Juror Kenneth Ducote of Hackberry.

John Guilbeaux

Promoted

Arthur Hollins III, president and chief executive officer of First National Bank of Lake Charles, announced the promotion of John Guilbeaux to vice president at the Sulphur Branch.

Guilbeaux, a native of Sulphur, joined First National in 1976 as a part-time teller. He was promoted to assistant vice president and assistant manager of the Sulphur Branch in 1978 and has been manager of the Sulphur Branch since 1982.

Guilbeaux is a graduate of Louisiana Banking School for Supervisory Training and is currently a senior at McNeese State University, majoring in business management.

He is president-elect of the Sulphur Rotary Club, director of West Calcasieu Chamber of Commerce Board, and a member of Sulphur Ready Cities Industrial Development Group. He is also a member of Our Lady's School Trust board and finance minister to Our Lady of Prompt Succor Church.

Guilbeaux is the son of Rodney and Mickey Guilbeaux of J. B. Route, Cameron.

Parish will lose funds

(CAPITAL NEWS)

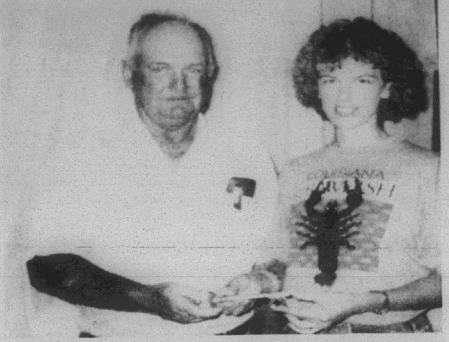
If the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education adopts the funding formula endorsed by local school superintendents, Cameron Parish will lose about 11 percent of its state aid for support services in the 1988-89 school year -- almost double the average loss.

The Superintendents Advisory Council met last week to consider methods for distributing the $15 million equalization fund provided by the state to help local school systems gradually assume responsibility for non-instructional services.

Under the method chosen at the meeting, the parish will have to come up with an extra $129,479 for non-instructional costs rather than the $17,905 originally cut. That amounts to an 11 percent cut, giving the parish $48,426 of the equalization fund. The estimated cost of support services in the parish for the coming school year is $1.1 million.

State Superintendent Wilmer Cody and his staff computed and presented to the council the effects of four methods for distribution of the fund. They had narrowed the possibilities from about 35 methods.

The average cut to school districts under the revised Minimum Foundation Program is about 6 percent of the state aid they used to get for non-academic items such as bus transportation and utilities. Gov. Buddy Roemer increased academic spending in the formula, but the increased funding cannot be used outside the classroom.



The distribution method recommended by Cody, which was finally endorsed by the group, restores $10 million to the districts in the same way cuts were originally determined. The remaining $5 million in the equalization fund is reserved for only those districts with less-than-average ability to raise money at the local level.

Assumption Parish Superintendent Lynn Aysenne, who chairs the advisory group, agreed that the plan Cody suggested was the "most fair to all school systems." Two other plans would have been more favorable to assumption than the one Aysenne supported.

Under the plan endorsd by the superintendents, districts with a larger tax base (urban districts) would receive a smaller share of the fund, meaning a larger percentage cut. Some rural districts would experience less than $15,000 in cuts.

BESE member Claire Landry of Arabi predicted that the board, at its July meeting, will approve the method recommended by the council. She complimented superintendents for "a willingness to go along with what seems to be the general good," rather than each supporting the formula which would most benefit his local school system.

Dutch teacher-to-be visits in parish

By ELLIE LANGEVELD

After high school I worked four months in Israel as a volunteer, picking apples six days a week. I lived in a hibbutz which is a working farm community.

For six months I worked in the Haute-Savoie in France as an Au-pair-girl living with a French family assisting in the care of their children. I had studied the French language for six years in high school. This gave me valuable experience to improve speaking the French language.

Two years later I lived in London, England for eight years with a Jewish family as an Au-pair-girl, assisting in the care of a child and house, gaining experience in speaking the English language.

For the past four years I have attended Teachers Training College - SOL studying French and English to become a teacher. My college requires English-French majors to go several times to a French or English speaking country as part of my college credit.

I spent six weeks in Normandy, France, living and working on a farm, building fence, feeding cows and horses, cleaning and small chores as part of my college credit.

Last summer I spent six weeks in England at the University of Chambridge where I studied English history. There I had the opportunity to tour Scotland for one week.

This year I have had a very special opportunity to come to America and study Texas and Louisiana culture.

The states are truly a melting pot of cowboy, Cajun, Mexican and many other exciting cultures.

While here I have lived on a farm near Orange, Tex., with Elaine Meyers, owner of The Horseman's Store of Texas, a unique western wear store.

I have travled to San Antonio to study Texas and Mexican history. I then visited Dallas where I visited South Fork Ranch and attended a buyers market at the Dallas Market Center; three trips to Houston, where I visited one of the largest computer banking centers in the U.S. and viewed my first skyscrapers.

While here I have visited various schools, E. I. Dupont Chemical Plant in Orange, museums and old homes, gone to Louisiana High School Rodeo Finals in Lake Charles, have ridden both English and western horses. I have ridden horses with cowboys and had hands-on experience in true ranch life.

I experienced for the first time barbecue, meringue pie, etouffe, baked potato, sweet potato, corn bread, okra, squash, crawfish, crabs, catfish, fried shrimp, gumbo, salad bar, funnel cakes and many other foods not found in Europe.

Your country has many billboards and freeways, some through large cities. There are no freeways in our cities because many times they are more than 500 or 600 years old.

We only have one drive-in restaurant in Holland, which is a MacDonald's. No air conditioning in our cars or most of the houses. I travel mostly by bicycle even in rain or snow and live on the fifth floor of the building with no elevator.

There are 14 million people living in one-third the area of Louisiana.

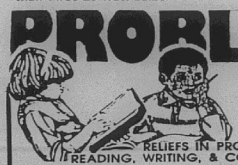
I work, also, part time as a secretary for a famous Dutch lawyer. I speak five languages.

To end my trip I have had the best time of all. For the last three days I have been the guest of Shirley and Charles Bonsall of Grand Chenier.

They organized a tour of attractions in Southern Louisiana. We visited Avery Island. In Holland we have Tabasco sauce and it was very interesting to see this plant. We also visited the gardens of Avery Island where I saw my first alligator. We visited Shadows on the Teche plantation house where I met some tourists from France. We toured Live Oak Gardens on Jefferson Island and visited the plantation house.

I found the Acadian Village in Lafayette very interesting and met tourists from Ireland and Belgium. We ate lunch and danced at Mulates in Breaux Bridge.

Larry McNease, with the Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge took us on a tour of the wildlife reserve.



Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bonsall prepared a Cajun seafood dinner where I had my first barbecue, crab, crawfish etouffe, meringue pie, piggyback shrimp and crab stew. I believe this is the best food since coming to America on May 15.

I enjoyed visiting with Shawn and going over his 4-H record book. I didn't know what 4-H was - I never had the opportunity to learn it.

The Sheriff of Cameron Parish, Sono Savoie, presented me with a key to the parish. I felt very honored and will forever treasure it along with my memories of my trip to Louisiana. Your state is truly one of the best places in the world. I will be returning to Holland July 26. I will always remember the good friends I met here in America.

Lions club inducts three new members

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Three new members were inducted into the Cameron Lions Club last week at the Cameron Motel restaurant.
Lions President Dr. Ray Leidig conducted the installation of Mike Johnson and Joe Soileau, sponsored by Eddie Joe Conner; and Pete Duhon, sponsored by Terry Hebert.
Rep. Randy Roach was the guest speaker and gave a brief review of the recent legislative session.
"I am very optimistic in what I see coming from the Governor's office," Roach said. "We had some tough issues in this session."
He also said that the state's bond rating on the bonds for the Recovery District were uprated from a BBB rating to an A because of the confidence people are placing in the new administration.
He explained that the state is facing the issue of lowering the homestead exemption, industrial tax exemption and also the possibility of a local income tax, among other things.
He said there is talk of calling a special session at the end of August for this.
Roach discussed the Highway 171 project and said there is a possibility that there may be federal help on it after 1991, when the interstate system will be completed.
He said they are also investigating to see if some or all of Highway 27 can be changed to a federal from state highway.

TED delayed by Senate until 1989

The U. S. Senate on Monday voted to delay a National Marine Fisheries Service requirement that shrimp fishermen use devices to prevent sea turtles from being snared and drowned in nets.
Under an amendment proposed by Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., shrimp boats would not have to use turtle excluder devices in offshore waters before May 1, 1989, or in inshore waters before May 1, 1990.
Approved by voice vote, the language represented a compromise worked out by Heflin and Sen. George Mitchell, D-Maine, floor manager of legislation to reauthorize and strengthen the Endangered Species Act.
The compromise, which also provides for a National Academy of Sciences study of sea turtle populations and the value of turtle excluders, allowed the Senate to begin debate on the endangered species legislation, similar to a House-passed bill.
Backers of the Endangered Species Act had been trying for more than three years to get a bill to the Senate floor to renew the 1972 law, which has technically lacked legislative authorization since Oct. 1, 1985.
Conservationists argue that the sea turtle population is being decimated by shrimp nets. Shrimpers contend that excluder devices are dangerous to the operation of their vessels, reduce shrimp catches and are unnecessary for turtle survival.

Irish youth enjoy crabs from Creole

The youth involved in the Ulster Project were served boiled crabs donated by Debbie and Jerry Theriot of Creole. It was a unique experience for the Irish according to Gus Fontenot, one of the American hosts.
The Ulster Project brings Catholic and Protestant teens from Ireland to spend a month in the homes of American teens for the purpose of promoting peace through observation and communitions.
The Irish teens are returning to Ireland this week.

McCarthy told of his plans for his company in Cameron parish, and stated that the future looks bright for Cameron parish because of their vast untapped oil reserves.
He said that he looks for more drilling activity to be started here in the future.
Rep. Randy Roach reviewed some of the things that went on in the recent legislative session in Baton Rouge.

MUSING . . . . . By BERNICE DENNY

Old church records recall memories

To a casual reader old records and statistics can be boring, but to a Cameronite who salvaged so little of his recorded past in the devastation of Hurricane Audrey, such records become golden.

We chanced upon some incomplete records of the Grand Chenier Methodist Sunday school between 1930 and 1933.

During the summer of 1932 the school superintendent was Ed Stine; secretary, Mrs. S. S. Doland (the former Ethel McCall).

There were six classes, beginning with the youngest group on up to adults. Their respective teachers were Mrs. Ida C. Doxey, Mrs. Joseph W. Doxey, Mrs. Pierre Vincent, Miss Bernice Hollister (the present Mrs. C. H. Denny), Mrs. Lee Nunez, and Ed Stine.

In the record for July 17, of that year, we learn that the opening services and meditation were conducted by Ed Stine; the opening song was "A Story to Tell to the Nations." Scripture reading was Exodus 11:1-12, 36: the subject of the lesson, "The Passover."

Five officers and teachers were present and three absent; 35 scholars present and 18 absent. The collection amounted to $.82. (If you recall, the Great Depression was on.) Fifteen cents had been mailed in for literature for the second youngest class. One visitor was present. The weather was cloudy and warm. The school was closed with prayer by Homer H. Brosusard.

On Mrs. Doxey's primary roll we find the following names: Eddie Lois Stewart, Thomas Doland, Jennings Jones, Jr., Arnold Jones, George Osborne Miller, G. C. Sweeney, Belton Bonsall, Connie Bonsall, Cecil Clark, Gayle Stewart, Dorothy Bonsall, and Rupert Peveto.

Mr. Stine's class included Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Jones, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Travis Sweeney, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bonsall, Pierre Vincent, Thompson J. McCall, John M. Wetherill, H. H. Broussard, Archie Hollister and Capt. Charlie C. Nelson.

The church bell that was rung each Sunday morning that long ago summer to announce that services were about to begin was to ring undisturbed for another quarter of a century until Hurricane Audrey forced it to toll the knell of the little building itself. Yet it still rings in the memory of many of us who heeded its call. And the worship services and the dear ones there shall never be forgotten.

Dinner set

A weekend dinner to benefit the Bargeman Memorial Church of God in Christ will be held Saturday and Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m. at Sophie's Cafe in Cameron.

Mrs. Mary Bargeman and Mrs. Dot Mayne, sponsors, invite the public to come have dinner with them and aid the church.

Records found

Recent discovery of partial military treatment records by the National Archives and Records Administration may enable many Army and Army Air Corps veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict to file for Veterans Administration disability compensation payments. The newly found records cover the years from 1942 to 1945 and 1950 to 1954.

The records cover personnel who served in the Army and Army Air Corps, as well as personnel from other services who were treated in Army medical facilities.

Sulphur Mines SPR to be phased out

Based on cost effectiveness studies conducted by the Department of Energy and a 1984 National Petroleum Council study of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, the Department of Energy is planning to decommission the Sulphur Mines facility of the SPR.

Sulphur Mines is one of six oil storage sites within the Reserve. The 173-acre site, including five then-existing brine-production caverns, was acquired by DOE in 1979 and, since 1983 when oil fill was completed, has been in a standby operational mode. Sulphur Mines now contains 26 million barrels of oil.

The decision to decommission the site is based on several factors:

•Sulphur Mines has the highest per barrel operational costs for storing oil in the SPR (approximately 50 to 100 percent greater than the other five sites).

•The site is limited to one drawdown because of the storage caverns close proximity to one another and to the edge of the salt dome. The other SPR site are generally capable of five drawdown cycles and fill cycles.

•Drawdown and distribution capabilities are approximately 100,000 barrels of oil per day. Drawdown is restricted by pipeline connections to the West Hackberry site. The two sites share a pipeline between West Hackberry and SUN marine terminal, which prevents the simultaneous drawdown of Sulphur Mines sour crude with the West Hackberry sweet crude.

•Transferring Sulphur Mines oil to other sites and decommissioning the site will save the project an estimated $83 million over twenty years with a paycheck, on the cost of decommissioning, of approximately two years.

Crude oil transferred from Sulphur Mines will be stored at the Big Hill site near Beaumont. The 26 million barrels of storage capacity at the Sulphur Mines site will be replaced by creating an additional 20 million barrels of capacity at the Big Hill site and 6 million barrels at the Bayou Choctaw site near Baton Rouge.

A total of sixty-four people are employed at the facility by Boeing Petroleum Services Inc. and Wachenhut Security International. All of the BPS employees will be offered employment elsewhere within the SPR. Every effort will be made to relocat employees to West Hackberry and Big Hill. A similiar plan will be offered by WSI to their employees.

It is currently planned that at the conclusion of crude oil transfer, the Sulphur Mines site will be put on the market as an operating facility for commercial use.

'Jump' said Butch

Cameron Parish's new state representative, Randy Roach of Lake Charles attracted a lot of attention in his first session of the Louisiana Legislature. In fact, Iris Kelso veteran New Orleans Times-Picayune political reporter, named him to two "Bests".

Best new house member - Rep. Randall Roach, 37, a lawyer from Lake Charles. There are many other promising rookies. New Orleans Reps. Irma Dixon and Mitch Landrieu, Democrats like Roach, are among them.

But Roach nailed down the prize with a memorable speech citing a Butch Cassidy argument on why legislators should vote for Gov. Roemer's 2-cent sales tax proposa.

Best story - Roach's on the choice legislators faced on Roemer's 2-cent sales tax proposal. Butch Cassidy and Sundance were being chased by a posse and ended up on the ledge of a cliff overlooking a river.

"Jump!" said Butch.

"I can't," said Sundance. "I can't swim."

"Can't swim, hell", said Butch. "Don't worry about that. The fall will probably kill you."

Said Roach, "Here we are worrying about our political futures. If we can't turn this state around, none of us are coming back."

Signup period set

As another sign-up period approaches for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service urges farmers to establish filter strips on highly erodible CRP acres to further the goal of improving water quality in streams and other waterbodies.

The seventh CRP sign-up begins July 18, and ends Aug. 5, according to Kirk D. Moore, County Executive Director of Agricultural Stabilizationa nd Conservation (ASC) in Calcasieu Parish.

The new vegetative filter strips, if established and maintained, will improve water quality and keep fertile soil on the land, Moore said.

Legislature makes wildlife changes

By LOSTON McEVERS

FISHING SLOW

Fishing last week was a little on the slow side, as thunderstorms in our area sort of messed everybody up, especially the electrical storms.

MORE CHANGES

A few changes again this week for Louisiana sportsmen:

★31 Day Alligator season starts Sept. 10 instead of Sept. 1. It will run through Oct. 10.

Alligator tags, when available will be priced at $2 for each gator. There will no longer be a $5 flat fee.

Approximately 25,000 tags will be issued for the marshes and swamps and an additional 10,000 tags going to commercial gator farmers.

★Redfish were removed from the commercial list for three years, with a limit of 5 per day for recreational fishermen and only one redfish over 27 inches in length. Minimum length is 16 inches.

★Speckled Trout: Limit of 25 per day for recreational fishermen and a quota of 1.25 million pounds for commercial fishermen. Minimum size for recreational fishermen will be 12 inches.

★Wildlife Agents are on the lookout for commercial fishermen who violate state law by taking undersized crabs. In one case, a truck cargo of 4,545 crabs checked, 665 were found to be undersized. A citation was issued.

Minimum length: Hardshell crabs, five inches in width, point to point, width of body shell; softshell crabs, 4 1/2 inches point to point, width of body shell.

★The T.E.D. (turtle excluder devise) is not going into effect Sept. 1, 1988. It is being postponed until Sept. 1989. More studies are to be made. This is good news for our local and state commercial shrimpers fishing the Gulf of Mexico.

WATERFOWL FOR THE FUTURE
(First of two part series)

It would seem funny not to see flocks of geese in a V-shape overhead during our late autumn and ducks and coots not in the ponds along the roadway. It would be hard not to be able to go hunting with a campanion during the winter. Well, if things don't change, it can happen.

Millions of acres of wetlands and other vital habitats for ducks and geese have already been lost. If we start now, there is still time to save North American waterfowl.

The U. S. and Canadian Wildlife biologists have outlined what needs to be done. The North American Waterfowl Management Plan is what it is called. They set their goal to do this plan by the year 2000. It will take a great deal on behalf of the U. S. and Canadian governments to make the plan work. We need strong commitments from the public, organizations, businesses, hunters and non-hunters, all working together.

★Recommends measures for resolving problems of International concern.

The plan's success also will require the participation of private organizations and individuals who want to help conserve waterfowl.

The North American Plan focuses on the value of maintaining enough high-quality habitat to ensure the abundance of North American ducks, geese, and swans. It does not change the processes used in either country to set waterfowl hunting regulations or to fund waterfowl conservation programs.

Waterfowl migrate between northern nesting grounds and southern wintering grounds each year. In their passing, they generate several billion dollars in direct expenditures by birdwatchers, hunters, naturalists, and others. These revenues benefit hotels, restaurants, gas stations, outdoor guides, book and magazine sales, clothing, recreational vehicles and equipment, and other sectors of the economy.

To maintain these economic benefits--as well as for aesthetic reasons--waterfowl populations must be large enough to continue to provide enjoyment for millions of people. But how many waterfowl are needed?

The North American Plan establishes population goals for the 32 populations of ducks, geese, and swans regularly shared by the United States and Canada. For ducks, these goals are based on average continental duck populations from 1970-79. Thus, the North American Plan calls for a total breeding duck population index of about 62 million, producing an average annual fall flight of about 100 million ducks. Population goals for individual species such as mallards and black ducks are also established.

Present numbers of many duck species are significantly below the goals established in the North American Plan. The breeding populaton index for the 10 most common ducks in surveyed areas in 1986 was only 31 million (compared to a goal of 36 million established in the plan for these species), and the projected fall flight was only 73 million. Reduced numbers of individual species such as mallards, black ducks, and pintails are of special concern.

The plan also establishes goals for goose, brant, and swan populations. These goals are based on wintering population indices of these birds. Most of these species are at or near their goals, but several--the cackling and dusky Canada goose, the Pacific white-fronted goose, and the Pacific brant--have been declining and need special attention. The goal of the North American Plan is to maintain current numbers for most goose, brant and swan populations and to restore those that are declining.

Loss of habitat is the most serious threat facing North America's waterfowl. Each year in the United States, nearly half a million acres of wetlands are destroyed, mostly by agriculture but also by urban and industrial development. These wetlands--small potholes in the northern prairies, coastal marshes, vast southern bottomland, hardwood swamps, and others--are essential for breeding, migrating, and wintering waterfowl. In the United States more than half the wetlands that existed in colonial times have been destroyed.

Major losses of wetlands are also occurring in prime waterfowl nesting areas of Canada. As much as 40 percent of the wetlands have been lost in some areas. In addition, recent studies in Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba show that an average of 59 percent of the prairie pothole basins and up to 79 percent of the wetland plants around the pothole edges are effected by farming each year.

Intensive agriculture has also resulted in soil erosion, water quality degradation, siltation, and chemical contamination. Wetland drainage and other poor soil management practices have increased salinization. The result is that the quality of many remaining waterfowl habitat areas has been diminished.

In addition to wetland losses, remnant tracts of native grasslands--the most important nesting habitat of prairie mallards and pintails--are being lost at the rate of 2

Pick-Up Camping

You say you want an RV that's comfy enough for the whole family, tough enough to take off-road, lets you take a trailer boat along yet stays low in cost? A pick-up truck camper is your only option.

"It's a working man's motorhome," says Bill Garvey of the Starcraft Recreation Council. "Truck campers also mean almost instant set-up. It's no wonder they continue to be so popular."

Starcraft, a company that has been making RVs for over 20 years, offers both fold-down truck campers and the recently introduced line of hardside campers called Fleetstar.

"A fully equipped Fleetstar is a good example of how much a truck camper can offer," says Garvey. "It has a 3-burner range, a refrigerator, stainless steel sink, hot water, a shower, heater and full-length mirror."

The interior of the Fleetstar is as attractive as it is efficient, with color-keyed decor, stain resistant fabric covers, decorator cabinetry, lots of storage space and cedar wardrobe floors.

Four-wheelers have found fold-downs, with a low center of gravity, are the choice for heading off-road. Somewhat smaller in size, they are considerably lighter in weight and cost less. They set up in minutes, sleep four and give as much inside headroom—6'6"—as most hardside models.

Hardside campers require virtually no set-up. The traveler can pull off the road at a safe spot to rest or fix meals without the hassle of pulling out gear or setting things up.

"Both types are gaining popularity among well-rounded outdoorspeople because they can tow other things—a boat, snow mobiles or dirt bikes," Garvey points out.

The incredible increase in sales for pick-up trucks in recent years will likely influence the numbers of people who choose a pick-up camper. According to Automotive News, a weekly trade magazine, the top 10 list of automobile sellers for 1986 was headed by Ford F-series trucks and Chevy trucks. The largest selling car trailed at a distant third. Many of those who already own a pick-up are realizing the economic advantage of purchasing a truck camper rather than other kinds of RVs.

Because truck campers offer so much—camping trailer comfort at an economy price—they will continue to be a popular choice among RV options.

Tow safely

When towing a trailer, you should maintain a safe distance behind any vehicle you are following, according to Ford Division's recreation vehicle sales department. For each 10 miles an hour of speed, allow the distance of at least one length of your trailer and tow vehicle combined. Avoid high speeds and sudden stops that might cause erratic trailer tracking.

Good fishing near in any direction

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Go in almost any direction from the town of Cameron, and before you go very far you'll find water. You'll also find fish.

For Cameron, which lies only a hop, skip and jump from the Gulf of Mexico, it's right in the middle of some fine fishing.

Go south or west of town, and you will hit the Calcasieu River, which serves as the ship channel to Lake Charles.

Then go south a few miles and you soon reach the Gulf of Mexico.

So within a few miles of Cameron, you can find everything from redfish and speckled trout up in the shallows of Calcasieu Lake, to flounder, drum and sheepshead along the river channel, to deep sea fishing for snapper, ling and a multitude of other fish.

Boats can be launched along the channel in Cameron, and it is only a short run from there to Calcasieu Lake, or the Gulf.

From the Cameron jetties it is only a short run of a few miles to the nearest rigs.

There are many such rigs scattered in virtually all directions from Cameron, and those in each area offer different types of fishing, from speckled trout and white trout and gafftop around the platforms near shore to snapper, king mackerel and warsaw around the more distant rigs.

The ship channel which runs on the western edge of Cameron offers some good fishing, too, but it is far different from offshore fishing and reflects the great variety of action available in the Cameron area.

For instance, the offshore fisherman needs a boat, or must join a party on one of the "head" boats, to reach his waters.

But the ship channel offers fishing from the bank.

The channel offers action on flounder, redfish, speckled trout, croaker, and various other fishes which move up and down the narrow cut between the Gulf and Calcasieu Lake.

Put it all together, the offshore fishing, the jetty fishing, the channel fishing, the bay fishing in Calcasieu Lake, and you have a wide choice.

Bass Research To Benefit From Military Bass

The new Military Bass Grand National Tournament Circuit will contribute a portion of its Big Bass Award Fund from each of its 161 tournaments to the Bass Research Foundation (BRF), according to Joe McDaniel, chief executive officer of MBAA Communication, Inc., which operates the circuit.

Walter Stubbe, executive director of the Bass Research Foundation, which is located in Starkville, MS., said he was delighted to learn of McDaniel's decision. "This new tournament circuit promises to be one of the biggest in the U.S., and its support is a natural and most welcome."

BRF is funded entirely from contributions by industry sponsors, bass fishing organizations, and concerned bass anglers throughout the United States. It was formed in 1974 for the purpose of protecting, improving, and preserving bass fishing now and for the future.

McDaniel notes that the Military Bass Anglers Association in its club tournaments over the past three years, has had better than a 95 percent live release rate in over 1,000 tournaments.

Festival has own Logo!

The Cameron Summer Fishing Rodeo Pelican logo was designed by Lake Charles artist Marty Myers, who was also the creator of Gumbeaux Gator, the Contraband Days logo and the Lake Charles Water Fest logo.

Starting as a commercial artist, he is now creative director for an area TV station and also is a free-lance photographer.

Myers designed the logo for the Cameron festival at no cost to the festival and the Festival Board wishes to salute him for a job well done.

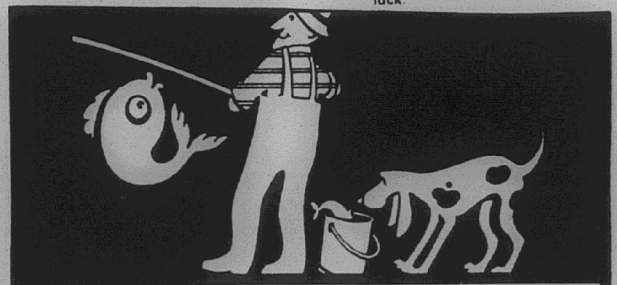
The Pelican will be named in a contest to be judged by Myers at the festival this weekend.

Keep it simple

Make kids' fishing fun

More and more families are finding that fishing is an inexpensive, relaxing way to keep youngsters happy.

"Kids are easily entertained," says Tom Conley, executive vice president of the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association (AFTMA). "Fishing allows them to be outdoors and to explore and learn about nature."



The only things necessary for a successful "kids included" fishing trip, according to Conley, are a simple rod, a bobber rig, some bait, a stream or pond, and some enthusiasm.

"Adults don't need to be expert fishermen to enjoy fishing with their kids," stresses Conley. "It can be fun for parents and kids to learn together."

To get youngsters started in fishing, AFTMA offers these guidelines:

- Choose a location close to home, such as a park that offers a comfortable bank from which to fish. Most tackle dealers and sporting goods store personnel can offer tips on where to fish.
- Let the kids dig for their own bait. Worms are great for beginners, but other small live creatures that stay on the hook work well, too. A stroll through a field can produce crickets and grasshoppers, delicacies for panfish.

People believe if you sprinkle salt on the tail of a bird, you will have good luck.

Summer Fishing Festival!

Louisianians owe it to themselves to explore the gastronomic delights of amberjack, yellowfin tuna and other species that abound in Louisiana's offshore waters, especially in light of the commercial ban on redfish and limitations on speckled trout.

"Amberjack and yellowfin tuna and some other species are excellent for grilling or even blackening," says marine economist Dr. Ken Roberts of the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service. "And commercial fishermen have been increasing catches from far offshore. Seafood lovers owe it to themselves to explore these fish and the many ways they can be prepared. Programs of the Louisiana Seafood Marketing and Promotion Board are helping restaurant chefs and consumers gain more confidence with the species."

Roberts says that amberjack, tuna and other less publicized species are available from many seafood markets, but sales probably are not as good as they could be because customers do not view them as products from Louisiana's Gulf waters. Knowing that the fish are part of Louisiana's vast marine resources will stimulate sales, he believes.

While commercial redfish landings were climbing from 2.9 million pounds in 1985 to 7.8 million pounds in 1986 and then falling to 4.4 million pounds in 1987, yellowfin tuna catches zoomed from 227,000 pounds in 1985 to 5.6 million pounds last year, and amberjack went from less than 100,000 pounds in 1985 to more than 400,000 in 1987.

However, lawmakers at the recent session of the state legislature imposed a complete ban on commercial fishing of redfish for three years and established an annual maximum quota of 1.25 million pounds of speckled trout.

Sportsmen's limits under the law include five redfish per day and only one exceeding 27 inches, and 25 speckled trout, with none less than 12 inches and no maximum limit on size.

"The yellowfin is a high-seas tuna. Often called the steak of the sea, it has red meat that looks like steak. It's cut across the loin like steak and is almost boneless, excellent for grilling.," says Roberts.

"We think you can take the popularity of redfish and diversify it into four of five different types of fish to keep from putting pressure on any one species," says restaurateur Todd Gerald of Ralph and Kacoo's seafood restaurant in Baton Rouge.

A member of the Louisiana Seafood Marketing and Promotion Board, Gerald says that merely transferring the pressure off redfish onto another species would just endanger the other species. By satisfying seafood lovers' palates with tasty creations using such species as amberjack, mahi mahi (bull-nose dolphin), flounder and yellowedge grouper, he says that the demand will be shared among more than one type of fish.

While admitting that he has found no comparable replacement for the trout, he has been offering flounder fillets on the menu as flounder almondine and meuniere.

"We serve a stuffed flounder that is split down the middle with bones in. But what do you do with flounders that are too big or small for stuffing?

"We take those and fillet them out. There are some people who can't handle the bones, anyway. These dishes have gone over pretty well."

He says that amberjack he prepared was well received at a press party prior to the River City Blues Festival in Baton Rouge a couple of months ago. He also prepared it on the cooking segment of a local television show.

Gerald says that popularity of the blackening style of fish preparation, which is not limited to redfish, has really fallen off.

The texture and taste of amberjack is promising and to familiarize his customers with it, the whole fish is displayed in the restaurant's seafood market in the lobby. Waiters, too, are well schooled on its features.

Reptile show to be held

A big attraction at the Cameron Festival will be the Peaceable Kingdom Pet Shop Reptile Show to be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, July 31, during the festival. You can even hold one if you like.

The program, presented by owners, Sharon and Paul Moore of Sulphur, will feature several species of reptiles including some from Louisiana and North America as well as varieties that live in tropical climates.

Breeders of their own reptiles, the Moores share their experiences of raising the non-poisonous species and give educational advice on caring and encountering these mysterious animals.

Computers speed up boating aid

New computer techniques are enabling the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to speed up and improve its service to Louisiana's boating public.

But the program's success depends on boaters' cooperation in supplying required information when registering their craft, says the department's Motorboat Registration Section.

Department officials also urged owners to make sure that every boat built since 1973, whether commercially manufactured or homemade, carries a hull identification number on its transom. Compliance will make it easier to trace stolen boats, they said.

The department is trying to maintain a 30-day turnaround on applications submitted by mail. Applications brought in person to the Bon Marche office in Baton Rouge are usually processed on the spot. However, it is the owner's respnsibility to produce a current registration certificate or other necessary documents.

All applications must be completely filled out, it was stressed. If any blanks are not completed, the application will be returned unprocessed. Payment may be by check or money order.

New applications may be accompanied by proof of ownership--manufacturer's statement of origin, bill of sale or invoice with the hull identification number. If the boat has been brought in from another state, the owner must show a registration certificate or title from that state.

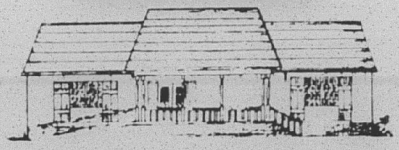
For older boats that are owned by an individual and have never been registered, the department requires a notarized statement explaining how the owner came into possession of the boat.

Transfer applications need a bill of sale, prior owner's registration certificate reassigning ownership, succession papers, repossession papers, inheritance papers or an affidavit from an attorney attesting to transfer of property.

If a registration certificate and/or boat numeral decals are lost in the mails within 30 days after being processed, the department will replace them free. If department records show that more than 30 days have elapsed, the registrant will be charged for duplicates.

Application forms and information may be obtained from any Wildlife and Fisheries office, or by writing or calling the Motorboat Registration Section, Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, P. O. Box 14796, Baton Rouge, LA 70898 (telephone 504/925-4079).

Seasons to be almost the same for 1988-89



Louisiana sportsmen can anticipate seasons similar to the 1987-88 year, except for seasons dealing with waterfowl, according to Virginia Van Sickle, Secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The commission recently approved the standardized opening dates for resident game, beginning with the squirrel and rabbit seasons which open on the first Saturday in October (Oct. 1, 1988).

The archery season for deer also begins on October 1 and continues without interruption through

The first segment of the regular (gun) season for deer will begin on November 5, 1988 in Areas 2 and 3, and on November 19 in Areas 1 and 4.

Van Sickle reminded hunters that deer and turkey hunting area designations and, to a lesser extent, geographical descriptions of areas were altered earlier this year. Hunters should secure a copy of the 1988-89 Hunting, Fishing and Motorboat Regulations, to be published in August, and note the new area maps for both deer and turkey hunting.

Van Sickle stressed that the seasons for migratory birds other than waterfowl are tentative at this point, pending final action by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Pending final ratification, seasons for migratory birds other than waterfowl will begin with the statewide dove season. Once again, shooting will be legal only from noon until sunset on the opening weekend of each segment of the dove season. Shooting will begin one-half hour before sunrise following each opening weekend. Bag and possession limits are unchanged. The first segment will begin September 3.

Although final action has not been announced by the federal government, indications are that the Special Teal Season in September will be eliminated this year by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The Snipe season will also open on Nov. 12 and the Woodcock season begins on Dec. 10.

percent annually. In the last decade, one-third of the remaining grasslands in the north central states, once maintained as pastures, have been converted to cropland. In Canada, only about 12 percent of the original natural grasslands remain.

Losses of upland nesting cover have concentrated ducks and their predators in remaining patches of suitable habitat. As a result, in much of the prairie pothole region where most ducks breed, nest success is too low to maintain or build some waterfowl populations even in years of favorable water conditions.

Habitat loss is also of concern in areas used by waterfowl for rest-stops during migration and for wintering. Waterfowl concentrate more during molting, migration, and wintering than during the nesting season, so habitat loss or degradation or outbreaks of disease on critical concentration areas such as marshes, deltas, or coastal bays and estuaries can be serious. Important migration and wintering habitat areas have been lost to agriculture, industry, and other land uses, and the quality of much of the remaining habitat has decreased substantially.

The North American Plan identifies key waterfowl habitat areas and calls for their conservation and protection. The aim of this continental habitat program is to ensure the preservation of enough high quality waterfowl habitat to sustain waterfowl populations at the levels identified in the plan, and to maintain their current distribution across North America.

This means enough habitat to support 62 million breeding ducks and a fall flight of more than 100 million ducks, as well as more than 6 million overwintering geese. To achieve this, the plan establishes habitat goals for various regions of the country and for individual species of concern.

Next week, last of a two-part series, on ways of saving waterfowl habitat.

On the average, a city dog lives longer than a country dog—eleven years compared to eight.

Garfish date back to the dinosaurs

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Primitive armor-plated fishes filled the waters when dinosaurs were plodding across Louisiana.

Today, two families of these primitive fishes, the gars and the bowfins still are represented by fish very similar to their ancestors of 125 million years ago.

Primitive characteristics of these fishes are exemplified by their armor-like scales and their unique ability to breathe air.

This enables them to survive in polluted or drouth stricken areas under conditions that would be fatal to other species.

No doubt, these adaptations have made survival possible for these "living fossils" throughout the changing environments of geologic time.

Four species of the gar family are present in Louisiana today: the alligator gar, the shortnose gar, the spotted gar, and the longnose gar.

Truly reminiscent of prehistoric creatures is the alligator gar, reaching a length of ten feet and a weight of more than 300 pounds.

Smaller fish are identified by the double row of teeth in the upper jaw.

The shortnose gar, the least commom of the gar family, is similar in appearance to the spotted gar but the head is without spots.

The spotted gar is characterized by dark, round spots on the head and body and reaches a maximum length of three feet.

The longnose gar is easily identified by a long, thin bill, and are the most abundant and widespread species of the ancient gar family.

The bowfin is commonly called grindle, mud fish, cypress trout, and the common name here is chou-pic.

The distinguishable characteristic of this fish is the long dorsal fin which extends like a bow down most of the back.

Gars and bowfin generally are regarded as a nuisance by sport fishermen.

Gars are commercially important in some areas as a food fish, but not to the extent of other commerical fish species.

Many trotline fishermen have had visions of fighting catfish on their line only to find bait-stealing gar on the hook.

The powerful bowfin has provided the action for many tales of "The big bass that got away."

The wire loop encircles the hooded minnow, and when the gar strikes the loop is jerked around its bill.

Lures made from frayed nylon rope also are effective for catching gar.

Gar fishing is a summer sport since the fish are not active in the fall and winter months.

He always knows where the best fishing spots to catch the "big ones" are located, and keeps it a deep dark secret.

He probably already has his eye on the one he will catch and enter in this year's competition.

Flambeau has developed a Huck Finn Starter Kit® that has everything a young fisherman needs to get started.

Fishing—Fun For Kids, Too

You want to get your child started in the popular, fun and rewarding sport of fishing. You picture the two of you out on a boat. You're there to see the excitement in his face when he catches his first fish. The question is: How can you get him interested in the first place?

You could give the youngster some of your lures, share out of your tackle box, and loan him your rod and reel. Or, you let him feel that fishing is a sport he should enjoy with his own equipment.

With his own fishing kit, almost any youngster will be more interested in learning to fish. Plus, it gives you the chance to share your hobby and develop a future fisherman.

Your young fisherman (or fisherwoman) may still have to borrow your rod and reel at first. And, he'll also need your help along the way. But with a little encouragement, you may have a new fishing buddy for life!

Stress-therapy prescription: Go fishing

What should you do when the phone won't stop ringing, the bills won't stop coming, and on-the-job pressures won't quit? Go fishing! recommends Dr. Dana Ackley, a noted psychologist and avid fisherman.

Nothing soothes the soul like fresh air and serene surroundings, according to Dr. Ackley. Fishing is the perfect therapy for frazzled nerves.

"People in high-pressure businesses often don't realize when they need a break," says Dr. Ackley. "They become irritable and their creative wells begin to run dry. Fishing can release the tension, because it relaxes and helps to 'de-stress' you."

To make your fishing a relaxing experience, the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association (AFTMA) offers these suggestions:

- Dress comfortably. You're not out to impress anyone. Comfortable jeans and a warm coat are more practical than the latest fad in casual wear.
- Don't think about your future chores. If you do, you will feel rushed, and that can do more harm than good. Just enjoy now—after all, worrying never solved a problem or got a job done. But tackling that same task when you're refreshed brings amazing results.
- Take time to really tune in to your surroundings. When was the last time you admired a sunset, listened to the sound of water splashing over rocks, or felt the soft wind on your face? Appreciate the scenery around you with all your senses. When you do, you'll find the everyday pressures of life quietly fading away.

Bird show to be Saturday feature

A bird show put on by Bird's, Pets and Things will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 30, during the Cameron Summer Fishing Festival.

The traveling Bird show has been around for many years. It started out as a way to help the handicapped and has evolved into an institution in Southwest Louisiana.

They also bring hamsters, guinea pigs, rabbits, and even "Willard" the Rat. Be sure to bring your camera. You are welcome to take pictures.

Key Pointers For Effective Knot Tying

Knots weaken fishing line. Consequently, you should tie the strongest, most reliable fishing knots that you can in order to achieve the maximum-strength possible from your line. Here are some key pointers for effective knot tying from Du Pont, the makers of STREN and PRIME fishing lines:

1. Keep your twists, spirals, and other steps uniform so that when you draw your knot closed it is neat and precise.
2. Snug all knots up tightly with steady, even pressure. Knot slippage under stress can cut the line, so watch the knot for evidence of slippage and re-do it if necessary. Don't pop the knot to tighten it.
3. Wet the line as an aid to drawing it up smoothly.
4. Be careful not to nick the knot or line with your clippers when you cut off the protruding tag end.
5. If your knot breaks repeatedly when you tighten it, check your hook or lure connection for rough spots that are cutting the line.
6. Use plenty of line to allow you to complete your tying steps without difficulty.
7. When using double lines keep them as parallel as possible and avoid twisting them as the knot is being tied.
8. Practice knot-tying ashore, at home. Practice! Practice! Practice! It makes perfect.

Creole Fire Dept. to continue aid

By JERRY WISE

The Cameron Parish Police Jurors at their monthly meeting Tuesday made two concessions concerning parish facilities closed Aug. 1, but stuck fast to most of their cost-cutting actions taken at special meetings last week.

Both the Hackberry and Klondike fire stations, which do not have their own maintenance taxes, were closed but the jury did agree to permit the two Creole fire trucks to be moved into the yard of the fire chief, Gordon Nunez, where they would be available to be manned by volunteer firemen in the case of a fire.

The jurors agreed to make the same arrangements available to the Klondike fire department and it is expected that this will be done there also.

A maintenance tax election has been called for the Creole fire district on Oct. 1, and if the tax is passed it is expected that the fire station part of the Creole multi-purpose building will be opened soon after the election.

At the rquest of the Klondike volunteer fire department a Klondike Fire Protection District is being created and a maintenace tax election is expected to be called there also. However, there may not be enough time to get an election called and get the tax, if passed, on the roll for 1989.

(The jury has also called a tax election for Oct. 1, in the Hackberry Recreation District for a tax to maintain the Hackberry Multi-Purpose Building which was closed also. If the tax passes, it is expected that this building will be reopened shortly afterwards also).

However, the jury turned down a request from Carl Broussard representing the LeMesche Bass Club to keep the Creole and Grand Chenier swimming pools opened until school starts at the end of August.

Broussard said the club, which had raised some funds at the recent Fourth of July fishing rodeo, had agreed to pay the electric bill and the cost of the pool chemicals and that the pool directers had agreed to work the rest of the month without pay.

However, Police Juror George LeBouef said the jury had no alternative but to close the pools and the other public facilities that do no have maintenance taxes. He said the jury had presented a 10-mill tax proposal to the public to support these facilities and the tax had been voted down.

"We are doing what the majority of the people have asked us to do," LeBouef said.

One other person spoke in favor of trying to keep the Creole and Klondike fire stations opened. Francis Guilbeaux, former Cameron volunteer fireman, warned that if the Creole fire department was closed that it would take at least 15 minutes for the Cameron fire department to respond to a fire in that area.

He said that the loss of the fire protection would cause fire insurance to go up in that area.

Feeding centers reduced to 3

By JERRY WISE

Elderly feeding centers in Grand Lake, Grand Chenier and Johnson Bayou have been closed by the Cameron Council on Aging as the results of the police jury's elimination of its funding for the program.

Dinah Vaughn, Council director, said the three centers were closed as they had the least number of persons eating there--each under 20.

However, the centers of Cameron, Hackberry and Creole are being continued. The number of persons fed in the parish is being reduced from 220 to 124--72 at the three remaining centers and 52 home delivered.

The nutrition staff has been cut from 9 to 3 persons and two other office staff members have been laid off.

Mrs. Vaughan said that the Council also will begin paying for the utilities at its office in Cameron. In the past the jury had paid for this.

She said that the council's transportation program has been cut to 51 percent of its former level by the state. Transportation still will be offered to Lake Charles for the elderly for medical, social security and other reasons, but trips to Lafayette and New Orleans no longer will be possible.

Mrs. Vaughn said her agency is trying to secure some additional federal grants with the hopes of restoring some of the programs if successful.

Congressman Hayes

Hayes to be speaker at convention

Congressman Jimmie Hayes will be the principal speaker at the 7th annual Louisiana Trappers and Alligator hunters convention Saturday at the Cameron KC Hall.

The convention convenes at 9 a.m. in addition to Congressman Hayes, Paul Coreil will speak on alligator hide grading and Greg Linscomb will speak on the Fur and Alligator Council.

There will be an election of officers. The meal will be served by the Cameron Parish Council on Aging.

Starting at 1 p.m. several contests will be held including muskrat and nutria skinning for men, women, and juniors; trap setting, skeet shooting, an alligator race, etc.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Ed Kelley, Zone Coordinator for Cameron Parish Beaches, announces that the Louisiana Beach Clean-up known as "Beach sweep 88" will take place Saturday, Sept. 24, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Since five Gulf coast states will be cleaning beaches on this date the slogan is "Take Pride Gulfwide."

* * *

Beach clean-up originated when 2100 volunteers collected 26.3 tons of plastic debris from their beaches in 1984. This was followed by Texas beach cleanings in 1985 and 1986. In 1986, 2800 Texas volunteers cleaned about 124 tons of debris from their beaches.

Louisiana followed suit in 1986, with Cameron parish joining the clean-up in 1987. At this time 1500 people cleaned 94 tons of trash from Cameron parish beaches. Cameron parish has eight accessible beaches at present.

The one designated number one is Martin Beach located on Johnson Bayou. This beach is a beautiful expanse of sand and water which extends from Parish Road #532 to Smith's Bayou, or a distance of six miles. This beach extends beyond Smith's Bayou but is not all accessible, depending on the condition of the tide.

The present name of Martin Beach was acquired when Mrs. Ezora Martin's cafe was open on Highway 82. People given directions to the beach were referred to Martin's cafe, hence the name of Martin's Beach.

Beach Captain Dan Billiot and 365 workers on Martin Beach reported picking up 1375 bags of trash in the 1987 clean-up.

He will be captain of the beach clean-up this year, with the assistance of Jeff Passmore, environmentalist for Mobil Oil Company.

Pay review asked for boards here

In light of the salary cuts given all Cameron parish public employees by the police jury effective Aug. 1, the jury passed a resolution at its monthly meeting Tuesday suggesting that other parish boards and offices not directly paid by the jury be reviewed for possible salary adjustments also.

Juror George LeBouef said that since the jury has cut most parish employees by at least 10 percent and some personnel in the police jury office by even more, other boards and offices should review their salary schedules and adjust if necessary.

LeBouef was apparently referring to a number of recreation, water, sewer, etc boards that have their own maintenance taxes and whose employees salaries are not determined by the jury.

The Jury passed a resolution agreeing to write letters to the boards to this effect.

Jury asks for nominations for board

The Cameron Parish Police Jury is presently accepting nominations for the Lake Charles dock board post that has been designated for Cameron parish in the recent bill passed by the Legislature.

The board member will be a voting member, but he or she will have to live in the Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal District, which is all in Calcasieu parish.

The jury has received several applications and nominations to date and is expected to make its decision later this month.

One applicant for the position addressed the jury at their monthly meeting Tuesday. He is Terry Hebert, who is vice-president of Hebert Abstract Co. and a partner in Habco Realty, both firms located in Cameron.

However, Hebert lives just across the Calcasieu parish line in the Grand Lake area and would be eligible to serve on the board.

He cited his business experience for the position and also told the jury of his environmental concerns for the parish.

Police jury news briefs

Among the items taken up by the Cameron Parish Police Jury at its monthly meeting Tuesday were the following:

(However, it was not clear whether the rodeo would still be held at the park since this was one of the facilities that was closed by the jury on Aug. 1.)

* A liquor permit was approved for Pressley Maturin for the Four Corner Bar at Holly Beach.

* Ricky Miller, whose term on Waterworks Dist. 7 had expired, was reappointed.

Carolyn Thibodeaux and Shelton LeBlanc resigned from the Recreation Dist. 6 board and they were replaced with Margaret Salzman and John Stephenson.

Bids were received on fire hydrants for the Oak Grove area.

* A resolution naming the Cameron Community Action Agency as an official agency to handle state and federal funds was approved.

Cable TV is improving

The cable television reception in Cameron parish should show some big improvements within about a month, a representative of Tele-Media, Inc. told the Cameron parish police jury Tuesday.

The jury had asked the company to send someone to their meeting due to numerous complaints about the cable service.

The district manager for the firm said that some of the cable has been replaced and new equipment installed and that reception should be much improved.

Also he said that customers calling in a complaint no longer will get a telephone recording but will get an answering service that will take the message.

Juror Ray Conner said he believed the company should go back to operating a 5-day-a-week office in the parish.

Local men are honored

Two Cameron Parish men, Ed Kelley and Paul Coreil, have been recognized by Lt. Governor Paul Hardy for contributions to the litter awareness program.

They were given the "White Egret Award" for significant contributions to make Louisiana a cleaner, more beautiful state.

Kelley, the chairman of the local Recreation and Tourism committee and Paul Coreil, Area Agent of Fisheries and Wildlife for Cameron and Calcasieu Parishes, recently attended an organizational meeting to plan for the second annual statewide beach clean up set for Sept. 24.

Kelley served as the Southwest Louisiana Chairman for the clean up last year which resulted in over 1500 volunteers covering all eight Cameron Parish beaches.

He plans to again serve as the Southwest Louisiana Zone Chairman for this year's beach clean up which is dubbed "Louisiana beach-sweep 88" with the pledge "Take Pride Gulfwide."

Comm. school

Debbie Theriot, Cameron Clerk of Court, will hold a commissioners school Aug. 11, at 3 p.m. in Klondike at the Parish Barn and at 6:30 p.m. in Cameron at the Voting Machine Warehouse.

This school is to certify new commissioners.

Bike races to be held Nov. 12-13

The Avenue of Flags display at Orange Grove/Gracelane Cemetery in Lake Charles will serve as a dramatic backdrop for the start and finish of two 110-mile bike rides planned for this Veterans' Day weekend, Nov. 12, and 13.

According to Brad Mayo, President of the Calcasieu Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution (SAR), the bike festival is being planned to raise money to cover expenses for poles and maintenance of the flags.

The two 110-mile bike rides will follow the Creole Nature Trail along Highway 27 from Sulphur through Cameron and back to Lake Charles. The festival is unique in that riders may participate in a 110-mile ride on either day of the holiday weekend.

Rides of 15, 30, and 50 miles will be offered as well as the two monster rides.

Century bike rides (rides of 100 miles or more) have enjoyed increased popularity in recent years. Some of the more than 200 organized rides across the nation have drawn more than 11,000 riders. Organizers of the Veterans' Day Bike Festival hope to have 1,000 participants in their inaugural rides. The rides will be open to all bicyclists for a nominal entry fee.

Deputies are recognized

Cameron Parish Sheriff's Deputies Kim Nunez and Eric LeBouef have been honored by Hurst Jaws of Life Rescue Systems for being instrumental in the rescue of a victim in an incident on July 4.

They successfully extracted a man from his car that was involved in a wreck. They each received the Green Cross award for using the Jaws of Life equipment to free the entrapped victim.

H. Alfred Eberhardt, president of the Hale Fire Pump Co., manufacturers of the Jaws of Life, praised the deputies and their department for their prompt efficient use of the tools.

Gerald Welch in action

Welch wins world drug free championship

If you have been following the progress of Gerald Welch in the past you would know that he has four Louisiana State championships in powerlifting and fourteen Louisiana State records under his belt. Also he has won the 1987 National title and has three national records to go with it. Gerald has also made the cover of a nationally published magazine and was in two other magazines (Muscle Development, Muscle & Fitness).

Gerald's most recent victory was his dream come true. He went to England and won The First Drug Free World Championships. Now Gerald holds a world title and four world records to go with it.

Gerald is almost 39 years old and he did not start lifting until he was 32.

He has had a lot of help from friends like Ronald Richard and Troy Byler who help him in his workouts and give him the encouragement that helps him do his best. Gerald would like to thank all of the people who wished him luck and congratulated him on his win in England.

Gerald's next meet will be in St. Louis, Mo., on Aug. 13 and 14, for the 1988 A.D.F.P.A. Senior Nationals. If Gerald wins this meet it will qualify him for the 1989 world championships which will be held in the United States.

WINNING TOP honors at the recent Contest Day in the fur judging division were Chad Portie, second place; Andrea Miller, third place and Scott Canik, first place. They are members of the South Cameron Elementary 4-H Club.

Q Besides fiber, are there other foods that might protect people against cancer?

A Here are some other foods that may help reduce your chances of developing cancer:

Deep yellow fruits and vegetables: Studies show that vitamin A may reduce the risk of cancer of the skin, mouth and lungs. You can find vitamin A in fruits and vegetables such as carrots, peaches, sweet potatoes, spinach and turnip greens.

Citrus fruits and other foods high in vitamin C: Vitamin C may protect against cancer of the esophagus and stomach. You can get it by eating oranges, grapefruit, lemons, broccoli, cantaloupe, red and green peppers, strawberries and tomatoes.

Cruciferous vegetables: These are vegetables in the cabbage family like cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, and all types of cabbages. Certain substances in these vegetables may protect against cancer of the colon and stomach.

A diet that will help lower your risk for cancer will also help you fight heart disease. Both are light on fatty foods, and heavy on fresh fruits and vegetables.

Dr. Newell is chairman of the Department of Cancer Prevention and Control at M. D. Anderson Hospital.

Three polling places to be moved soon

The Cameron Parish Police Jury, which plans to close three community multi-purpose buildings Aug. 1, as an economy measure, took action Tuesday night to move the election polling places from these buildings to new locations.

The Creole voting place will be moved from the Creole multi-purpose building to the Creole KC Hall.

The Johnson Bayou voting place will be moved from the multi-purpose building to the recreation center there.

The Klondike voting place will be moved from the multi-purpose building to the Klondike maintenance barn.

The moves will be made to be ready for some special tax elections that are being called in some of the districts on Oct. 1.

MUSING . . . . By BERNICE DENNY

Orange groves were plentiful here years ago

From the 1850's to circa 1915, orange groves on Grand Chenier were profitable business ventures.

E. D. Stine, my maternal grandfather, had an orchard of two hundred trees. At one time he had a well put down by which to irrigate them in case of droughts. Shallow ditches were dug in order to carry water to all parts of the orchard. Unfortunately, the sand, loose soil caused the water to soak into the ground before it had traveled far.

Later, freezes and scale bugs took their toll on trees and fruit. After a freeze Grandfather would trim the trees back. Soon they sprouted and replenished themselves. He imported ladybugs and turned them loose in the grove to devour the scales.

Orange trees are among the most beautiful of nature's gifts. In the spring their pure white blossoms shed fragrance over the land. In summer the enlarging green fruit reminds one of tiny emerald balloons being blown to capacity. Fall is the ripening season with green turning to gold and orange.

Every fall Grandfather had pickers in the orchard. The oranges that had fallen were carefully examined for firmness and color. Ladders were used by the men to gather fruit from the higher branches.

Other workers culled and packed the golden orbs into special crates to be shipped via the Mermentau River to Lake Arthur and points beyond. In earlier days trading shops had carried the harvest to Galveston.

In 1913, a young teacher, Miss Marie Portal, boarded in my grandparents' home. She told the family that her parents, emigrants from France, were adept at making orange blossom wine. She asked permission to gather the fallen blossoms to send to them.

Grandmother gave Miss Portal several freshly laundered white sheets to lay on the ground beneath the trees. The young teacher joyously gathered and packed the sweet smelling blossoms to send back home.

The best inducement to relaxation and meditation is to slip away in spring to an orange grove and sit beneath a tree. The perfumed petals fall over and around one. They nestle in one's hair like miniature butterflies; then carry one's thoughts away to a never-never land of beauty.

Grandparents are Tommy and Beverly Goodrich of Hackberry and W. D. and Dinah White of Lake Charles.

Tecay and Amy Broussard and Faye Vincent spent a few days in Panama City, Fla. Bubbie and Twila Broussard joined them. They attended the dog races, Ocean Opera and 50's show.

Tony, Kelli Nocole and Cody Fenetz vacationed at Six Flags Over Texas; went to Water World, Wild Kingdom and visited Mr. and Mrs. Dave Landers in Dublin, Tex.

Bobbie, Curtis, C. R. and Troy Fountain visited the Roland Kershaws in Houston and friends in Galveston.

Parish students make trip to Europe

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is the first of several installments on a recent European trip made by 29 students and adults from Cameron Parish. Geneva Griffith, the Pilot's reporter, was along to record their experiences.)

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The temperature registered 101 degrees when the group of 20 South Cameron High School students and 9 adults left Cameron parish for Houston's Intercontinental Airport for an educational tour of Europe.

In the next ten days they toured six countries with varied temperature changes, rain almost daily and a climb to heights of 7,000 feet in the Swiss Alps.

When the group met at the Houston airport there was a feeling of apprehension because of the U. S. Navy ship's shooting down of the civilian airplane, Iran had promised retaliation.

After an all-night flight to London, our fears subsided somewhat when we saw how tight the security was at the airport in London.

Armed security guards were everywhere and all precautions were being taken, which got even harder as our trip progressed, because we were each questioned at length when we reached the Munich airport on our departure for home from Germany.

On the guided tour of London it was interesting to note how many historical buildings had survived the "Blitz" of World War II, and it was easy to tell how many of the buildings had been replaced, often made to look like the ones they replaced.

We learned that St. Paul's Cathedral survived because six brave men and women spent the night on the roof each night during the war, grabbing the incendiary bombs as the German planes dropped them, and snuffing them out in tubs of water. These bombs were dropped to light the way for the bombers who came behind to unload their bombs on the city.

St. Paul's was originally built in 600 A.D. and is 1600 feet above sea level, the highest part of London.

Many great kings, scholars, warriors and statesmen are buried there, some in crypts and others under the floor with cement overlays explaining who they were.

Telisha Sturlese and Holly Roberts both remarked, "We don't feel comfortable walking on the graves of dead people. It doesn't seem right, for you should have respect for the dead."

It was interesting to note that Charles and Diana's wedding took place here, because it had the largest seating capacity in London.

We found on our tour that most large towns had large rivers running through them, over which very old and very new bridges spanned to link each part together.

In London is the Thames River, which is 210 miles long and many of the government buildings are located next to it, such as the houses of Parliament, etc.

We learned that those with expensive tasts shop at Knightsbridge, and the regular shoppers shop on Oxford Street.

Shopping brings up the subject of money, which we got some good lessons in math with. First of all, you have to have the currency of each country you go into and you must stand in lines in banks or at certain places, especially at the borders, to change your paper money or travelers checks into the country's money.

They will not exchange anything from another country except paper money, so you had to make sure it was all spent before you went to the next country or you were stuck with it.

The rate of exchange was different in each country, so we had to figure out ingenious ways to figure how much our purchases would be in dollars.

For instance, the exchange rate in England was one dollar equaled 56 pence, so we would multiply the English cost by $1.75.

The Swiss formula was more complicated, when we multiplied the Swiss franc by 2 and divided by 3.

There are six royal parks in the middle of the city where no building is allowed. Owned by the royal family, they are filled with beautiful greenery, flowers and trees for everyone to enjoy.

(Lake Charles American, Aug. 7, 1903)

Grand Lake—We had a fine rain last Saturday and Sunday a week ago, a six-inch fall.

Rev. C. A. King filled his regular appointment at this place Wednesday night.

Father Lewis returned yesterday from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Harry Williams of Lake Charles, accompanied by Capt. Harry Williams.

Mrs. Martin Hebert and children are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kingsbury.

Mrs. Sol Bloch and family are in their cottage, having arrived last Monday. So now every cottage is full and there is still cry for more room.

CAMERON SHOWS PRIZE PUMPKIN

W. R. Carter, representing J. Pollock & Co., of Mobile Ala., is here soliciting orders for his house.

Assessor H. G. Granger and wife and son, Alex, were visiting relatives and friends on Grand Lake a few days last week, returning Monday on the Rex.

J. R. Erbelding, of Johnson Bayou, was in our midst Saturday and Sunday.

John Sells, one of Cameron's prosperous farmers, has distinguished himself this week by bringing into town one of the largest pumpkins ever raised in this section of country. The pumpkin is of the Native variety and tipped the scale at 53 3/4 pounds. John has some scientific ideas on farming. He has also a fine crop of cotton and corn and tomatoes.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

We have had a little sunshine which has been duly appreciated.

Henry Pomeroy and a party of friends were compelled to pass all night on the Lake caused by the dismanagement of the engine of the launch. Capt. Geo. Halliburton took the distressed sailors home on his morning mail trip.

Rice is doing finely. Some trouble in spots with the peet maggot, but it was remedied by turning off the water for a time and then pumping on a new supply.

Master Edward LaDeoux of Iota is visiting his cousins at Lakeside.

Too much rain is reported from the Chenier district. The rain here is preventing the farmers from working their cotton. It is in fine shape but weedy.

CHARLA BLAKE, a senior in architecture at the University of Southwestern, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Blake, Jr. of Cameron, was recently elected as a senator in student government elections.

3. The recreation center will be closed on Thursday during the fall, winter, and spring and at 6:00 p.m. when the time change from October thru April on Sunday. This is due to low turnout during these times savings of $2,600 per year.

4. All employees to be placed on an hourly basis as follows: Betty LaBove $4.00/hour, Sandi McFarland $4.00/hour, Kevin Faulk $3.50/hour. Estimated savings of $3,000.00 per year.

5. Purchase phone equipment to do away with AT&T bill for savings of $3,000/year.

7. Discontinue paying per diem fees for a savings of $600/year.

8. The pool will open from 2:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. with lifeguards to report for work at 2:00 p.m. for a savings of $1,500.00/year.

Total annual savings with the approved cuts are $9,793.00. These cuts will offset the reduction in tax revenues received by the recreation center.

Being no additional business the meeting was adjourned on a motion by Alex Beard, Jr., seconded by Jolene LaBove.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Fishing has been good

By Loston McEvers

AREA FISHING

Fishing in our area is still good with some nice redfish taken in the Grand Chenier area. Bass fishing on Miami Corporation permit land is still good.

You are reminded that you may only have five redfish, 16 inches or longer in your possession with only one being over 27 inches long. Some anglers are being caught for not knowing the new law.

DUCK TALK

State biologists are working to control a die off of ducks at the Atchafalaya Delta Wildlife Management Area in St. Mary Parish.

Losses have been relatively minor. They are running tests to see if an outbreak of botulism is involved.

Last count 81 duck carcasses of mostly mottled ducks, but a few wood ducks and mallards, have been involved. The carcasses are carried away from the area and burned. There have also been 43 white ibises, snowy egrets, and other wading birds been found dead.

The birds that appear sick are being caught and put in pens at the management area.

It seems the cause could be dry weather conditions and low stagnant water.

WAYS OF SAVING WATERFOWL HABITAT

Both the United States and Canada already have extensive systems of wildlife refuges, waterfowl management areas, and migratory bird sanctuaries. These are habitat areas that have been acquired by Federal, State, Provincial, or Territorial governments and set aside as public lands. Many are managed for waterfowl conservation.

In the United States, more than 3.5 million acres of waterfowl habitat have been preserved since the 1930's through the "Duck Stamp" program. Under this program, waterfowl hunters are required to purchase Federal "Duck Stamps" each year before hunting migratory waterfowl. Many stamp collectors and non-hunting conservationists also purchase these colorful revenue stamps.

Money collected through the program goes to the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund, which is used by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to acquire waterfowl habitat for the National Wildlife Refuge System. In recent years, about $15 million annually has been raised for waterfowl conservation through Duck Stamp sales.

Since 1961, Congress has provided additional funding to the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund for wetlands acquisition. In 1986, Congress passed the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act which gradually increases the price of the Duck Stamp over the next ten years. This increasd funding will speed wetland preservation.

Many States also set aside habitat in waterfowl management areas, and some States have instituted their own Duck Stamp programs.

The Canadian Government established the first waterfowl sanctuary in North America at Last Mountain Lake, Saskatchewan, in 1887. Canada has since established a total of 99 migratory bird sanctuaries of over 27 million acres. Most Provincial governments also have wetland conservation agreements with private interests that contribute toward goals in the North American Plan.

Vital waterfowl habitat areas are still being destroyed faster than they can be acquired and preserved, however. New and more creative programs are needed to halt the destruction of waterfowl habitat--programs that are quicker and less costly than acquisition by Federal, State, or Provincial governments.

Parish schools will open on August 26

Ending date: June 2, 1989.

Holidays: Labor Day, Sept. 5; Election Day, Nov. 8; Thanksgiving, Nov. 21 through Nov. 25; Christmas and New Year, Dec. 19 through Jan. 2; Easter, Mar. 20 through Mar. 24.

Projected enrollment for the 1988-89 school year is 2,125, a slight increase from last year's enrollment of 2,077.

154 classroom teachers are employed by the Board. Teachers salaries in Cameron are above the state minimum salary schedule. Cameron teachers rank first in the state in beginning teacher salaries.

32 school buses are used to transport students to and from school. The School Board owns 21 of these buses. Buses in Cameron travel 1,367 miles per day. The cost of transportation is $297.56 per child.

A National School Lunch Program is operated in each of the seven schools providing a nutritious noon meal for children. During the 1987-88 session 292,644 meals were served at a cost of $471,658 or approximately $1.61 per lunch. State funds of $107,068 and Federal funds of $172,377 were received to help fund the lunch program. Additionally, surplus commodities valued at $66,567 were used to supplement lunchroom meals.

Computer Assisted Instruction is offered at all elementary schools. Each secondary school offers computer assisted instruction, word processing and when a certified teacher and student interest warrants computer science.

Special projects such as meat processing, horticulture, taxidermy, woodworking, etc. are offered through the Vocational Agriculture department.

A sex education curriculum is offered to students grades 7-12. Students must have parental permission to receive instruction in sex education. The sex education curriculum was developed by teachers and parents and was approved by a Parental Review Committee and the Board.

Special programs such as the Chapter 1 Reading and Match Tutorial and Special Education offer remedial help to students. The Gifted/Talented program enables eligible students to expand their academic curriculum and enhance their visual arts.

Other special programs offered to students are a gun safety program in grade 8; CPR instruction in grade 10 and a comprehensive drug education program, grades K-12.

Programs and activities in the Drug Education program include a Substance Abuse Prevention Education Program (SAPE) at each school, the Me-Me Program in grades 1-6, and "Say No to Alcohol and Drugs" in grade 6.

Although the drug education program provides information on drugs and alcohol, emphasis is placed on children understanding why people abuse drugs rather than on the drugs being used. If children feel good about themselves, understand what is important to them, and learn the skills necessary to make decisions, hopefully, they will have less need to abuse drugs or any substances later on in life.

The cost of public education in Cameron Parish is a major enterprise. The budget for the 1986-87 school was as follows:

Instruction	44,116,105
Support Services	265,718
Instructional Staff Services	254,000
General Adm.	1,8957,369
School Adm.	602,065
Business Services	1,688,783
Community Services	1,890
Non-Programmed	90,000
Total Budgeted Expenditures	8,922,184

All the schools in Cameron Parish are approved by the State Department of Education and South Cameron High School, Hackberry High School and Grand Lake High School are members of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

MUSING . . .

Rain has varied appeal to us

By Bernice Denny

Rain, which has been with us in abundance recently, provides a philosophy within itself. In spite of the magnitude of our scientific knowledge we have not, but the great Creator could have devised such a method of watering the earth.

Why there are periods of prolonged droughts or long spells of seemingly endless rain are difficult to understand. Oh, I am sure that meteorologists have explanations, but to the average person it is a riddle.

One person's desire or need of rain is diametrically the opposite of another's. Or, we want what we do not have. Still, enough is enough, and more than that is too much.

W. H. Burleigh spoke of the rain as "making mourning music for the mind," while Longfellow reiterated, "How beautiful is the rain!"

We wish that the parched states of the Midwest might also receive some of the blessing that is literally being showered down upon us.

We are told that the rain forests of the globe--areas that girdle the equator--receive rain almost daily. It totals a minimum of 80 inches, often exceeding 150 inches a year. The largest is the Amazon rain forest, which covers two million square miles, a third of South America.

Some rain usually falls in the driest of deserts. Those of the American West have an annual brief rainy season, occasionally, however, a torrential downpour produces flash floods, which can be devastating.

Aren't we fortunate that we live in a land between the two extremes?

Constitution observance is being observed

Mrs. Gilmore W. Lassman, Bicentennial chairman for Calcasieu Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) has reported 1988-89 plans for commemorating the ratification of the U. S. Constitution.

Programs and publicity will center around the history, meaning, and whereabouts of the Constitution, and how it affects all Americans today.

Our Constitution, where is it today? The document on parchment paper in the custody of the Department of State was taken to New York, Philadelphia and Washington as the nation's capital was moved to those cities.

During the War of 1812, just before the British attack on Washington, the constitution, along with the declaration of Independence, was transported to Leesburg, Va. There they were separated. The declaration traveled to city after city, but the Constitution remained in Washington at the State Department.

President Warren G. Harding in 1912 ordered the Constitution and Bill of Rights be remanded to the Library of Congress, where on Feb. 24, 1924, they were put on permanent display.

During World War II the documents were secretly moved to the bullion room at Fort Knox, then returned to the Library of Congress in 1944. On Dec. 13, 1952 they were taken to the National Archives in Washington, D. C. Two pages are on permanent display and the other two are shown once a year on Sept. 17, Constitution Day.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Due to the absence of census records from the 1800's for most parishes in Ireland, the occasional inventory of landowners assumes particular importance for genealogists as a reasonable substitute.

In 1873 the Local Government Board set about to ascertain the number and names of owners of land of one acre or more in Ireland. The result was a "census" of 32,611 landowners of one to thousands of acres and the knowledge that there were 36,144 additional owners of less than one acre each - these household heads counted but not named.

Referred to as Returns because the property owner lists were drawn up by clerks of the Poor Law Unions from the property valuation and rate books in their custody and then returned to the Local Government Board, these lists were published in 1876 as a Parliamentary paper, similar returns for England and Wales being published at the same time.

The Irish Returns constitute an official inventory of land ownership (of one acre or more) at the time and may be called an 1870's Domesday Book for Ireland.

LANDOWNERS IN IRELAND

Land Owners in Ireland, 1876 reprinted in book form this year from the original published Return, is organized by provinces, then by counties (population and inhabited houses given for each), then alphabetically by name of the landowner giving his address, property acreage and valuation. Forty counties make up the four provinces.

This important book is hardcover, 7 x 10 1/4 in., 325 pages, $37.00 incl. mailing, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

DOCK BOARD POSITION

The Cameron Parish Police Jury will receive applications or nominations for the Cameron Parish appointment to the Lake Charles Dock Board until Friday, August 12, 1988. To be eligible for the position, an applicant must live in the Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal District, which is in Calcasieu Parish. The Cameron Parish appointee will be a voting member of the Dock Board.

Board declines to rededicate tax

School Board Member Preston Richard urged the Cameron Parish School Board Monday to take steps to change a special 5-mill school maintenance tax now in effect to a general fund tax but he was unable to get much support from other board members.

School Board President Arnold Jones agreed with Richard noting that all of the schools are in "pretty good shape" now and that the $500,000 per year maintenance tax would probably be needed in other areas as a result of state cuts to education.

Supt. Thomas McCall said the board's legal advisor, Jerry Jones, had stated he believed the funds could be rededicated to the general fund by a vote of the people.

Richard argued that it would not be a new tax, just a shifting of the funds from one area to another and that the funds still could be used for repairs as well as for other school expenses.

However, Dan Dupont said he was in favor of waiting until next year and Betty Seay said she felt the public would oppose the measure if they thought it would do away with repair funds for their schools.

Richard's motion to call an election on Oct. 1, to rededicate the funds failed for lack of a second. However, the board did authorize Supt. McCall to get an attorney general's opinion on whether such a rededication would be legal.

Shrimp ogy seasons are set

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission set 1988 shrimp and oyster seasons, served notice of intent to set the fur hunting seasons later and changed menhaden regulations at its meeting Friday.

The 1988 fall white shrimp season will open in all three coastal zones at 6 a.m. Monday, Aug. 15, and continue until biologists recommend closure.

In the past, the fall white shrimp season dates were set by law, but the 1988 Legislature authorized the LDWF to set the seasons based on biological information.

Phil Bowman of the LDWF's Seafood Division reported white shrimp are larger and more numerous in west Louisiana.

The season for taking menhaden, as well as landing and processing them in Louisiana ports, is the third Monday in April through the Friday following the second Tuesday in October.

Program set for 4 yr. old

Cameron Elementary School will provide a state funded full day program for eligible 4 year old children. Children who are eligible to participate in this program must be 4 by Oct. 1, 1988, must be at risk of being insufficiently ready for the regular school program as determined by screening results and from a family whose income is under $15,000 per year.

Parents who feel they meet eligibility requirements should have their child screened for this program.

A meeting will be held at Cameron Elementary Tuesday, Aug. 30, at 2 p.m. in the school cafeteria for parents interested in the program. Parents should bring their child's birth certificate to the meeting. If you are unable to attend this meeting call the school for more information, according to Judith Jones, Superivosr of Curriculum and Instruction.

Cake sale set

Miss Kittie's Women's Softball Team is having a cake sale Friday, Aug. 12, in front of Cameron State Bank in Creole. All proceeds will be used for the regional tournament in Tulsa, Okla.

Funds sought by council

Due to the recent budget cuts the Cameron Council on Aging is seeking donations from private individuals. Due to the failure of the police jury 10 mill tax the Council had to close three nutrition sties and discontinue meals to over 75 senior citizens.

The Council's transportation service has been reduced by 50%.

Anyone wishing to make contributions may do so by contacting the Council on Aging office at 775-5668 from 8 to 4 each weekday. All donations will be utilized to provide meals for the elderly or any other service the donor designates.

Parish road projects told

Two Cameron parish projects are among the 21 road projects scheduled to be let for bids in the next 12 months in the Seventh Highway District, according to Neil Wagoner, highway secretary. They are:

Overlay of about 3.5 miles along La. 82 between the Texas State line and Johnson Bayou (east section); $420,000.

40 shrimping arrests made

Wildlife and Fisheries Enforcement Agents netted more than 40 illegal shrimping cases along Louisiana's gulf coast over the past weekend, according to Virginia VanSickle, Secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The shrimp season in the state's Inside Waters was closed by the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries when young white shrimp began their migration through the coastal estuary system.

The arrests, which included more than 30 charges of using butterfly nets during a closed season and 10 cases involving the use of double-rigged trawls, were made from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the Sabine River on the Texas boundary.

Enforcement Agents utilized aircraft and small boats in addition to the department's large patrol vessels, the Rip Tide and the Delta Tide. Some of the illegal shrimping cases resulted from complaints, while others were discovered by patrolling agents.

Taking shrimp during a closed season constitutes a "Class Four" violation of the state's fish and game laws. A first offense carries a fine of $500 to $750 and/or imprisonment for up to 120 days. The penalties range upward, with third and subsequent offenses carrying a mandated fine of up to five thousand dollars and imprisonment for not less than 180 days.

According to Lt. Col. Winton Vidrine, the department has increased patrols in the coastal areas. He stated, "We're going to be out there day and night, in the air and on the water. When we find illegal shrimping, we're going to confiscate the entire catch and all fishing gear used for shrimping. We can also seize the vessel. Anyone tempted to take shrimp illegally is going to be risking an awful lot."

Gator hunters meet here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Congressman Jimmy Hayes was the guest speaker at the 7th annual Louisiana Trappers and Alligator Hunters convention held in Cameron Saturday. He was introduced by Cameron Parish Police Juror George LeBouef.

Congressman Hayes spoke about what the congressional delegation is doing to promote the fur and alligator industry.

"The alligator industry has come a long way from nothing to the most rapid growing industry in the state", he said, "and we must do all we can to protect it."

He spoke on ways the delegation is working on coastal erosion and other programs concerning the coastal parishes.

He said that Congressman Ortez is working on trying to extend the TED order until September, which has been very hard to do because of the environmental groups that have been working against it.

However, even though they do not have the votes to win now, they are maneuvering to try to get the order held off, which should be good news for the shrimping industry.

He also said that a federal grant has just been awarded to McNeese State University and Nichols State University for the study of oyster contamination.

He said the date the government has been using to control the oyster program is 40 years old, and the new study will be a boon to the local oyster industry.

Darrell Dupont served as master of ceremonies and introduced Paul Coreil, area agent of Fur and Wildlife for Louisiana Extension Service, who reviewed some very important issues that came up in the recent legislature affecting the local trapping industry.

He presented plaques of appreciation from the Louisiana Trappers and Hunters Association to Rep. Randy Roach and Senator Jack Doland.

Greg Linscomb, with the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries agency gave a slide presentation on the

Redfish can be pond raised

By Loston McEvers

REDFISH AND PONDS

With all the racket we've had in Louisiana about redfish, maybe we should start doing what South Carolina is doing with experimental ponds.

Biologists at the Waddell Mariculture Center, New Bluffton, S.C., recently harvested 19,000 pounds of redfish from five quarter-acre ponds. The fish stocked as two inch fingerlings, just 20 months earlier, averaged between 2 and 3 pounds each when harvested.

The success was in increasing the rate of feeding, amount of aeration and the rate of water turnover.

There are several redfish farms operating and biologists think you can raise redfish as you do catfish.

DEER POACHING

A resident of St. Landry parish has been sentenced for deer poaching. (Taking deer at night and taking deer in closed season). A $500 fine plus $79.50 court costs and 10 days of community service was imposed and a 90 day jail sentence suspended. The hunter was also forbidden to hunt or fish for two years.

DUCK LOSSES

Here's some interesting figures of the breeding population of ducks that return north to nest. It's really in terrible shape. Mallards are down 2% from 1987, but down 20% from 1955. Gadwall are down 10% from 1987, Wigeon has gained 16% from 1987, Green Wing Teal gained 3% from 1987, Blue Winged Teal gained 1% from 1987, but lost 25% from 1955, Pintail lost 18% from 1987 and lost 54% from 1955. Redhead gained 10% from 1987 and gained 17% from 1955, Canvasback lost 9% from 1987 and lost 22% from 1955, scaup down 12% and 21%.

All ducks together dropped 4% from 1987 and 16% from 1955.

The figures I'm going to give you now will surely scare you. (These are breeding birds). Pintails are in terrible condition, back in 1956 when we had 10,124,000 birds and now in 1988 there are only 2,577,000 birds left. Mallards dropped from 12,904,000 in 1958 to 6,549,000 in 1988. Blue Wing Teal dropped from 6,441,000 in 1975 down to 3,646,000 in 1988.

In the last five years Louisiana has lost 30,000 duck hunters. They have dropped out of the sport. We usually lead the U.S. in number of duck hunters and in number of birds harvested each year.

It's sad, but only about 16% of our duck hunters belong to Ducks Unlimited that's about one out of 6. We could do better.

GATOR HUNTERS

"Problems in the Fur Industry Louisiana." He said that overall the harvest and prices of furs have declined in the past five years. "Up until five years ago West Germany was the highest consuming country of furs, but now it is the United States."

He pointed out that it is very important to reach the consumers with products they want, such as the new idea of dying furs to resemble exotic animals, and the shearing of guard hairs to make soft furs resembling beaver.

He told of the work being done by the Louisiana Fur and Alligator council that was created in 1986.

He discussed the "Crocodilian Trade Study", which Ted Joanen, with Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge, has been working on for years.

"In 1977 when the alligator hunts opened back up, many people (mainly environmentalists) were against it, but with more information before the public, this has now changed", he said.

He also discussed the alligator skin handling and grading study and said that with the competition in the industry it is imperative that Louisiana keep the quality of skins up.

"We now have very good prices, but we want to keep the highest quality of skins in the world, so our skins will be known for this."

He pointed out that to sell trapping helps to preserve the wetlands and to counter the anti-fur interests.

"We need to try to change the attitude that alligators are an endangered species," he said.

Don't cut up saltwater fish before docking

The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries cautioned recreational anglers that state law forbids them to cut up saltwater finfish before bringing their catch ashore.

Lt. Col. Winton Vidrine of LDWF's Enforcement Division said the warning was prompted by a recent case in which seven men were charged with violating the statute.

Lt. Col. Samuel Martin and Sgt. Robley Guidry boarded a crewboat in the Bay Cocodrie area of Terrebonne Parish and found quantities of speckled trout that had been fileted.

The agents issued citations and confiscated the fish, which later was donated to the St. Vincent de Paul Society in Houma for charitable uses.

Col. Vidrine called the attention of anglers to RS 56:325.2, which stated that "all saltwater finfish possessed by a recreational fisherman shall have the head and caudal fin (tail) intact when set or put on shore from a vessel."

Vidrine added that while on board the boat, finfish must be kept in condition to be identified and measured.

Longview-Dunn Beach to be on cleanup list

Ed Kelley, Cameron Parish Beach Clean-up Coordinator is already working on the "Beachsweep 88" program, to be held on Saturday, Sept. 24, on Cameron's seven beaches.

Longview-Dunn Beach is designated Number 2 on the beach cleanup map and is about 4 miles long. Access to this beach is by way of Parish Road No. 530 and is approximately 10.1 miles west of the Holly Beach Junction. This is a very good expanse of beach, quite sandy, that has clear water most of the time. This beach is an excellent spot for surf fishing, especially at this time of year.

Last year the beach captain, Scott Henry, and his crew of about 50 people picked up 600 bags of trash in their four hour period on this beach.

All beaches in Cameron Parish are reported to be much cleaner this year in comparison with last year. This has contributed very much to the public awareness program set forth in last year's cleanup.

Two named to notary society

Mrs. Allyson R. Bourriaque and Gary Dimas of Cameron have been elected to membership in the American Society of Notaries, a national organization of persons who hold the office of notary public.

Mr. Dimas is the Chief Deputy Assessor in the Cameron Parish Assessor office and Mrs. Bourrique is a deputy assessor.
