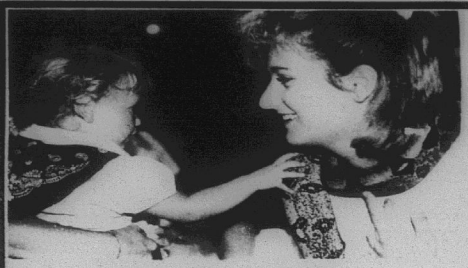
"We work closely with our area schools."

Beth Lundy
Charter Hospital's School Liaison

This school year, Charter Hospital will team up with Oak Park Middle School as a "Partner in Education." This partnership is just the latest of many bonds we have formed with the schools of our 10-parish area to help young people deal with stresses such as peer pressure, depression and drug abuse.

Through our full-time School Liaison, we put all of Charter's resources at the disposal of our public and private schools. Our professionals speak to students, teachers, parents and administrators; we offer crisis intervention teams to schools in special need; we assist with substance abuse prevention and education programs.



We believe one of the best places to offer help to young people is in the schools, and that's why Charter places great emphasis on its school programs.

Group visits France

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

One of the highlights of the London tour was the visit to Buckingham Palace. Even though it was raining and the regular changing of the guard did not take place, we got a glimpse of them as they came out of the front gate with rain capes over their uniforms.

The Queen's flag was flying over the palace, which was a sign that she was inside.

Charmaine Primeaux and Derinda Morris said "Doesn't it make you feel great just knowing the Queen of England is inside, and even if we don't get to see her, just knowing she is there makes me feel good."

While we were elbowing through the crowds to get a better view of the guards, suddenly a back gate opened and one of the beautiful carriages rolled out. Our guide told us that a head of state was visiting the Queen and this must be his carriage. We were impressed.

Seeing the priceless collection of crown jewels housed in the Tower of London is a must in London. The collection is breathtaking and is carefully guarded by the colorfully dressed "Beefeater" guards.

Each person is searched by a sensor as they enter the tower, "We are searching for plastic bombs", the guard said.

On leaving London, we passed through Kent County and stopped for a tour of Canterbury Cathedral, the seat of the Church of England, and made famous by Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," and where Thomas Becket served as Archbishop.

The quaint village in which it sits remains as it has for hundreds of years.

We boarded the ferry at Dover and witnessed the steep white cliffs and remembered the famous song during World War II "When the Bluebirds Fly Over the White Cliffs of Dover".

We also were able to get a close-up view of the Hovercraft in action across the English Channel to France.

From Dover we traveled through the countryside, noting the quaint little villages and lovely farms, laid out like a patchwork quilt.

PARIS ARRIVAL

Our hotel in Paris was located in the south of the city and was in the historical part, where most buildings were hundreds of years old and renovated to take care of the modernization that is required today, including only one elevator, with a capacity of two.

There are two forests in the city and no skyscrapers are allowed, with a maximum of only 10 floors in this very traditional city.

Thirty-three bridges pass over the Seine River as it winds through the city and some of the most historical buildings are along its banks.

The "Il de laCite" (Island in the middle of the city) features Notre Dame Cathedral, the Louvre, and many other historical buildings.

Kings lived in the Louvre until the 17th century when the Palace of Versailles was built, then it became a museum in 1793, with more than 400,000 works of art.

We viewed an oblisk from Egypt made 3,000 years ago which is on display in Concorde Square, where King Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette and 1,343 noblemen were beheaded during the French Revolution.

Nearby is Concorde Bridge which was built with stones from the Bastille, the notorious prison which was stormed and destroyed in 1789 during the French revolution.

A visit out to Versailles Palace is a must, and is breathtaking.

It was a half hour drive from Paris, and was the seat of government for many years until the French revolution.

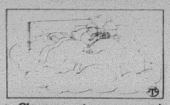
We took a cruise on the Seine on a Bateaux Mouche (Fly Boat) and when we passed the golden spire of the Eiffel Tower, Carolyn Harper summed up our feelings by saying "It looks like it is constructed of fragile golden lace." It was lit from bottom to top with thousands of gold lightbulbs.

The history of Paris goes back 200 years before the birth of Christ and we viewed the ruins of perfectly preserved Roman Baths, constructed before Jesus was born.

We learned that France was a part of the Roman Empire and was conquered by the barbarians in the 4th century.



Paris is now populated by 3 million people, and 7 million more in the suburbs.

As we left Paris and toured through the countryside, we marveled at the beautiful flowers everywhere. Geraniums and Hydrangeas filled flower boxes built under each window, on which there were no screens.

No air conditioning is needed and the windows are opened for the crisp air to come in and there are no insects.

We were told that the flowers were natural insect repellents and was one reason bugs never entered the houses or buildings.

CAMERON Summer FISHING FESTIVAL

THANK YOU!

The Cameron Summer Fishing Festival was a tremendous success! There was a fine turnout of festival goers and it was great to see the community really pulling together!

Everyone worked together to make the Festival a success and we wish to extend our sincere appreciation for all of the effort and cooperation put out.

All of the volunteers, sponsors, workers and organizations did a wonderful job. And, because of the support given the festival, we were able to make a $5000 donation toward the operation of the South Cameron Ambulance Service.

We are looking forward to next year's festival; 1989 Festival dates are July 27, 28, 29 & 30. See you next year!

4. Industrial Helicopters, Inc.	3,410.00
5. Larfay Ancelet Dragline Service	2,346.17

A motion was made by Edwin Quinn, seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried to make the final payment due Equipment Rentals Sales & Service, Inc. for Project No. 1986-06-02 (W-1 West Pump Station) only after clean up of the site is completed and after the re certificate has been received. The amount of this retainage payment due is $26,960.57.

Bruce Lehto of the Soil Conservation Service reported that SCS is still working on getting the problems worked out with design of the structures for boat bays and soil conditions at Structure #1 in the Cameron-Creole Watershed control Structural Project. He stated that cost overruns will probably not be a problem, and he will keep this Board informed.

A motion was made by Edwin Quinn, seconded by Bryon Richard, and unanimously carried to have Oil patch Welders construct and install a gate at the W-1 west Pump Station site at an estimated cost of $1,250.00.

Engineer Lonnie Harper reported that Gravity Drainage District No. 3 is subject to a 4 cent/cubic yard permit fee for the proposed Clean Out of W-1 West Drainage canal (Project LMND-SW Cameron Parish Wetlands #5641). Mr. Harper also gave an update on other permit applications pending.

Bryon Richard reported that Industrial Helicopters completed spraying of ditches in the district for vegetation control yesterday.

Mr. George LeBoeuf was recognized, and he explained an existing problem the Police Jury is addressing concerning drainage of the back street of Cameron so that flood water flows to the North rather than into the Courthouse basement. He restated his request for $2,100 to assist with the purchase of pipe for this project. Engineer Harper reported that the project is indeed feasible as proposed.

A motion was made by Edwin Quinn, seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve payment of $2,100 to assist the Police Jury in purchasing pipe in order to drain the flood water that accumulates in the Courthouse basement at the present time.

Some discussion ensued concerning an existing culvert which the Board of Commissioners has already agreed needs to be replaced adjacent to Berton Daigle's property. Lonnie Harper recommended "at least a 36" culvert for this job, and this was also agreed by consensus.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

The student must also give a 10 to 15 minute illustrated talk on any topic of importance today.

REMEMBER? Belgium farmers

By Keith Hambrick

Abbeville Meridional,
Aug. 13, 1910

Armand Capon, a native of Belgium, was in Lake Charles from Grand Chenier, where he owns a large tract of semi-swamp land. Mr. Capon is very much interested in Cameron lands, and will establish a colony of Belgium farmers on his tract. The arrangements are all completed and a number of his countrymen will arrive the latter part of the year and go to work raising fruit and vegetables.

Mr. Capon first took up the work of farming on an abandoned tract of land near Monroe, and he made a great success, although the land had been considered because of being impoverished. Mr. Capon planted Japanese clover, which not only enriched the land, but made a paying crop. Then he turned his attention to Cameron. "I was astonished early in the spring when I came down to Cameron from Monroe," said Mr. Capon. "They were still having ice and frosty weather at Monroe, while in Cameron the trees were coming out and spring was well advanced."

MY DEAR PEOPLE OF CAMERON PARISH,

I would like to take this opportunity to give you our fiscal report of my eighth year in office and thank you for allowing me to serve you as your Sheriff. As in the past, I will give you a break down of our total budget and our arrest reports. As most everyone knows, our economy has been on a decline since 1985 and I foresee that it will decline to a lower level for 1988-1989, because we only have the oil and fish industries to rely on. I think the oil industry is gone for the next decade or until they lift some of the restrictions on our natural gas.

You can see from our budget that our ad valorem taxes for 87-88 have declined a quarter of a million dollars. We were lucky that we had a surplus of $1,200,000.00, that we built up in the past seven years. So you will notice that our surplus has dwindled down to almost one-half of our surplus of a year ago. That is why I took a step to roll our millage forward in 1988-89 according to State law which gives you the opportunity to recover some of your decline in revenues. This means a little higher tax on the taxpayer. Although we had to advertise and have a hearing on this, I presume most people did not read or notice this particular act that the State gives you a chance to comply with the law. I don't want anyone to say that I did something without your knowledge. You can rest assured that under no circumstances will I mislead you. Than if you don't like the circumstance, you will have a chance to vote down the millage when it comes back for renewal in 1989. I do hope that you feel that I have not wasted your money and have showed you where it was spent and never have used a dollar to play politics with your money and that you will consider renewing it when the time comes.

I would like to break down my people that work for me so you will know. I have a Chief Deputy and four investigators; three secretaries in the criminal division. I have five girls in the tax and bookkeeping department. I have a Chief Civil Deputy and Secretary. We have five jailers and a secretary to keep up with all the paperwork. I have four dispatchers in Cameron and a part-time relief dispatcher. In Hackberry I have four dispatchers and a part-time dispatcher. I have three boats and three men working the waterways. I have thirty-one full-time road deputies; four part-time deputies; four school guards; one dog catcher and one escort, which leaves us seventy-five full-time people. These seventy-four people and myself are employed with an average monthly salary of $1362.22 or on an average monthly payroll of $102,166.50. The highest salary is mine, which is $3134.82. Our highest paid deputy besides myself is $1900.00 and the lowest paid is $932.00. (This is full-time people.) So my friends, I think we are blessed to have one of the best Sheriff's Departments in the State on these kinds of salaries. As you can see, there is no way any more can be paid on our budget. In fact, if our revenues decline any more, we will have to take further steps to balance our budget. But I pray our economy moves forward instead of declining.

Your Sheriff,

James R. "Sono" Savoie

I would like to breakdown this one particular matter. It shows where all the funds we collect on fines and tickets are distributed to show the ones who believe the Sheriff's Department gives speeding tickets to collect money. So if anyone says the Sheriff's Department is getting all this money - you will know the answer.

My dear friends, if you have any questions whatsoever, feel free to call me on any matter. I want to thank you again for allowing me to serve you as your Sheriff of Cameron Parish. I ask you for your prayers and help so we can continue safeguarding you for the next four years. God Bless each and everyone of you.

Mrs. Bishop is honored at Mass

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Mrs. Mary Bishop, who recently observed her 99th birthday, was honored Sunday, Aug. 14, at St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church. Msgr. M.J. Bernard dedicated the morning Mass to Mrs. Bishop, who along with many of her 78 descendants, was attending. He praised her faith and devotion toher church.

Mrs. Bishop was honored with a birthday reception and barbecue dinner in the church hall after the Mass.

She has lived to see six generations, although the four great-great-great-grandchildren could not attend, since they live in California. However, most of her children, grandchildren, great and great-great-grandchildren were on hand at the reception to wish her well into her 100th year.

Time has dimmed the sight in her eyes, but it has not hurt her mind, nor her spirit.

Mrs. Bishop was born in 1889 when Benjamin Harrison was president and four states were admitted to the union, North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington. The Oklahoma Territory had just been opened up for white settlers.

On Aug. 13, of that year little Mary Wetherill Bishop was born in Oak Grove to a slave girl, Louisia.

Mary attended a one room school where she learned to read and do arithmetic. When she was 15 she met and married Dominic Bishop, and to this union were born five children: Lillie, Harry, Joseph, Lovenia and Robert.

Prior to 1957, the Bishops lived in a two-story house on the Front Ridge, east of Cameron. The house was devastated by Hurricane Audrey on June 27, 1957. Mrs. Bishop's mother, Mrs. Louisa Andrews, a son Joseph, a granddaughter, Annie LeBlanc, and a great-granddaughter, Vickie LeBlanc, drowned in the hurricane.

The Bishops rebuilt a two bedroom home on the Front Ridge road, just east of the St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church.

Both served as custodians of the

Gator kids to stay at home

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has prohibited the out-of-state shipment of alligator hatchlings. At its regular monthly meeting in August the commission took action to protect this once endangered and now important commercial species, Alligator mississippiensis.

The commission was acting in response to house and senate resolutions of the 1988 legislative session which issued "urgent requests to prohibit the sale of hatchlings outside of the state," explained Johnnie Tarver, chief of the Fur and Refuge Division.

The action came after hearing technical and legal advice on the issue. The commission also entertained public comment from businessmen and Louisiana alligator farmers.

They gave

Chevron employees followed the example of their employer and chipped in personal donations as graduates of South Cameron to up the Tarpon Project deposits to $5,078.29. The school name and road signs have all been put up and the Tarpon Mascot was due for installment Friday, Aug. 12.

The drive for additional funds has ended as the deposits will adequately fund the major Tarpon Project.

Gator sale set here Oct. 12th

Paul Coreil, area fisheries and wildlife agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, announced that the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor a Cameron Parish alligator hide sale, Oct. 12, at 8 a.m.

These standards and policies will be explained to parents through written communication.

Shrimping now open

The 1988 fall shrimp season opened at 6 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 15, statewide, according to Kell McInnis, deputy secretary with the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

McInnis said Act Number 893 of the 1988 regular legislative session gave the commission additional authority in the opening of shrimp seasons. After reviewing a status report on shrimp populations and conditions in the Louisiana marshes, the commission selected the Aug. 15, date and set the opening time at 6 a.m.

Recent statistics released by the National Marine Fisheries Service show 13.4 million pounds (heads-off weight) of shrimp were landed in Louisiana during June of 1988. This is below the 16.3 million pounds landed during June of 1987.

Tarpons set scrimmage

The South Cameron High School Tarpons will have a scrimmage against Kinder at Kinder this Friday, Aug. 19, tentatively at 4 p.m.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Shrimping is now open here

By Loston McEvers

DUCK & SHRIMP SEASONS SET

the shrimp season for the fall inside waters on white shrimp has been announced by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

The shrimp season opened Monday, Aug. 15. Local shrimpers I talked to tell me it's a week too late and the shrimp are ready now and going out. You may recall the last two fall white shrimp seasons were opened too late and most of the white shrimp went into the gulf waters. Let's hope it's not the same story again this year.

CHANGES IN WATERFOWL SEASON

Because of drought conditions on the habitat of our ducks, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries complied with changes to go along with federal regulations. Declining breeding areas, and what should be a lower population of ducks has made them change.

The point system was eliminated; the bag limit was reduced to three ducks; shooting hours have changed to sunrise to sunset. (It was one half-hour before sunrise to sunset.)

Another big change is that pintails now may be taken only during the first seven days of the season and last seven days of the season. One pintail, either the drake or hen, can be taken daily during the first seven days of the season, and two pintails, drakes only, can be taken during the last seven days of the season.

No pintails can be taken during the middle of the 30 day season, which is the 16 days in the middle of the season.

The final version will be signed around Sept. 13. Other changes can still be legally made before this date.

This is the hunting dates for Louisiana ducks and coots for 1988. 30 days - three ducks. West Zone (our zone) Nov. 19-Dec. 4 and Dec. 26-Jan. 8. East Zone, Nov. 19-Nov. 27 and Dec. 19-Jan. 8.

East Zone, Nov. 19-Jan. 27.

There will be no canvasback shooting in all of Louisiana. Our coots will be a daily bag limit of 15 and 30 in possession. The regulations on geese will be the same as last year. (5 blues or no more than two speckle bellys in the five limit.)

In the daily three duck bag limit, no more than two mallards, only one may be a mallard hen, one black duck, only two wood ducks and only one redhead.

This is the way it should be unless, like I say, other changes made, because the feds change.

As I mentioned last week, John Paul Crain wrote a letter expressing his concern and feelings about the waterfowl season.

Mr. Crain has been managing sixty to seventy thousand acres for the past 40 to 50 years for waterfowl, trapping, alligator hunting and even for cattle grazing.

He was very grateful as I was for the teal season closing this year. It is very hard on our mottled ducks which raise here, and they're being destroyed and teal season hasn't helped us too many hunters kill these mottled ducks during teal season.

Most of us know John Paul served on the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission during the 50's and 60's, under then Governor Kennon and Governor Davis, so he has experience and he remembers what had to be done in 1961, 62, and 63, reduce the season down which then was 20 and 25 days, with 4 and 5 ducks bag limit, and only killing one mallard hen and one pintail hen.

Here is his letter:

I read quite a bit about increasing winter habitat in Louisiana which is fine to a certain point, but I would like to point out that we have more available habitat on our private lands as well as our refuges than it takes to take care of the few ducks we have left.

I would be glad to take any of your personnel with knowledge of what winter habitat looks like for a tour of our marshes as well as other marshes in Cameron Parish.

The duck seasons have been entirely too long for the last 15 years or more to maintain a duck population. Our two refuges in Cameron Parish have been hunted for waterfowl for the last several years which I think should not be hunted.

I realize our politicians had a lot to do with opening up our refuges, for public hunting, many of them good friends of mine, but unfortunately all politicians are not conservationists.

I was on the commission when we started protecting alligators and restocking in Louisiana in the early 60's and they have made a beautiful come back. As you well know, we are able to have limited harvest, and each year we are showing an increase in alligator population.

I am trying to point out that the short alligator season we have and other restrictions, our alligator population is still moving ahead while our duck population is going backwards, which is a good indication we still have more than enough winter habitat in Louisiana for the few ducks we still have.

I have hunted ducks in Yucatan a couple years ago and they also have no ducks. The American sportsmen have killed them all. I went on a two day hunt and I killed five ducks. I went mostly to see what it was like. There was a Mexican Army officer in the same camp with us and he hunted on a refuge adjoining where we hunted and he killed 27 teals one morning.

I also hunted the West Coast of Mexico and they have a few ducks down there. I acted as a guide.

You can look at the records of the hunting season since 1918 and you can see that we have had quite a few 30 day or less seasons. I hope that something can be done to go back to reality and shorten the season to where we can take care of the Great North American resources.

We do not allow any afternoon hunting on our property. Makes it easier to controlany poaching or over limit killing.

More on the beaches in big cleanup

Little Florida-Ocean View is beach Number 3 and is one mile in length. Access to this beach is parish road #528, located about 9.3 miles west of Holly Beach junction, on La. 82.

In last year's beach clean-up, beach captain Paul Hannen and his 42 volunteers picked up 300 bags of trash.

At this time the public awareness created by last years clean-up is showing up in the much beeter conditions of all the beaches in the area.

The Holloman Sancturay is locatd in this area and quite a number of Baton Rouge people are very interested in the care and condition of this beach.

Gulf Breeze Beach is Beach Number 4 in the clean-up campaign and is also a mile long. Access to this beach from La. highway 82 is Parish Road #532, which is 18.1 miles west of the Holly Beach junction.

This beach was formerly called Chaisson Beach, after the Mutt Chaisson dance hall that was once in the area. The residents renamed the beach Gulf Breeze after the hall was closed.

Mr. Lancon has also made a very nice highway sign identifying this beach.

The beaches are kept clean throughout the entire year by the tireless efforts of the residents.

The hermit crab's home is an empty sea snail shell. When the crab grows too big for the shell, it hunts for a larger one.

The longest winter in the solar system is 21 years long and occurs on the south polar regions of Uranus. The temperature then is estimated to be minus 362 degrees Fahrenheit.

European trip comes to end

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is the final installment about an European trip recently made by a group of Cameron parish youths and adults.)

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Through the Swiss Alps we drove through miles of tunnels through the mountains and on narrow roads that required mirrors at the curves so drivers could see the traffic around the next turn.

The lovely little Swiss Chalets built into the side of the Alps, surrounded by beautiful laid-out vegetable gardens, looked like picture postcards.

Our hotel Bellevue in Brunnen, Switzerland, was located on the shore of the Vierwaldstattersee river, so clear you could see to the bottom. All of the students fell in love with this place and all vowed to return some day.

Our day in Lucerne included a guided tour of the city and the famous Lion monument, a sandstone lion carved into the side of a mountain to commemorate the 760 slain of the Swiss guards of Louis XIV who fell at the storming of the Tuileries in Paris in 1792.

We also walked through covered bridges that were built in medieval times, and included original paintings from the 1400's depicting scenes from historical, religious, death and human relations themes.

We took a trip on Lake Lucerne by boat to the foot of Mount Pilatus where we boarded a cog railway to the summit of the mountain. The cog railway is over 100 years old and is the steepest in the world, traveling up at a 45 degree angle.

A climb by foot is required to reach the very top with a breath taking view of the Alps, glaciers and pockets of snow. We came back down the mountain on the other side by cable car, which is used by the skiers in the winter time season.

Our Alpine oddessy was completed with a Swiss folklore dinner and evening of entertainment at Lucerne's Stadkeller. The music featured the playing of the alpine horns (about 7 feet long with deep resonant sounds), and a Swiss yodeler.

After a night time walk along the lake outside our hotel, where flocks of ducks swam right up to the sidewalks to be fed, we reluctantly went to sleep to rest for the next day's journey.

Our scenic route through the Swiss Alps led us to the tiny principality of Liechtenstein, the smallest country in the world, only 60 square miles. We marveled that this place was smaller than CameronParish.

We next visited Austria and the ski resort town of Innsbruck, the former site of the Winter Olympic games. We visited the site of the games and saw the ski runs (minus the snow, of course).

From Lichtenstein to Austria we traveled through the 1½ mile Arlberg Straben tunnel, that cuts through a mountain.

In Austria we visited a crystal factory and watched as a glass blower laboring over a very hot kiln, fashioned a glass blown vase. Of course everyone had to have some sort of crystal made in the factory, which featured jewelry and beautiful cut crystal.

Our stop in Bavaria was at the castle of crazy, decadent King Ludwig II of Bavaria. His castle Neuschwanstein is a gingerbread fantasy of white turrets and gables thrusting high into the alpine mists.

We stopped in Oberammergau, Germany, next where the famous Passion Play is staged by a huge local cast every ten years. It is famous for its wooden carvings from the Black Forest.

I was amazed that no tour director or citizen that I asked seemed to know where Hitler's summer retreat was located. During World War II he made his Burchesgarten very famous, as the place he would retreat to plan his next strategy.

It was as though the people had completely erased that part of the German history from the record, but I thought, just as well.

It is the third largest city in Germany and located on very flat land.

We visited Castle Nyphenburg, once the home of Bavarian kings, but Bavaria became a republic after World War I and had no more kings. However, the royal family is allowed to live on the grounds, and may use the palace on state occasions, as they did during a recent visit of Charles and Diana from England, their royal cousins.

We noted that renovations are still going on to buildings that were damaged in World War II.

Our last night in Germany, and on our tour featured a German dinner in a typical German restaurant, and the majority of the group visited a German beer garden and journeyed back to the hotel on the underground subway.

A couple from Los Angeles, winners on the Dating Game TV program, and their chaperone, were in line with us and caused some excitement among our group when they found out the man served as Eddie Murephy's body guard.

Our flight of 4396 miles to St. Louis on a 767 took nine hours. From here we transferred to another plane that brought us back to Houston to the arms of waiting relatives.

Our little group was dead tired and all suffering from jet lag, but they were steeped in culture, knowledge, and had learned many lessons they would never forget.

People believe if you use the same pillow your dog uses, you will dream what he dreams.

church for about 60 years, first at St. Hubert, and at the successor church, St. Rose of Lima, which was built after the hurricane. Mr. Bishop was also a church trustee.

Mrs. Bishop was also a member of the church Altar Society.

On June 12, 1969, Dominic Bishop was stricken with a heart attack and died.

Mrs. Bishop was one of the first persons in Cameron Parish history to receive the Devoted Service Award in ceremonies at a morning Mass in St. Rose Chapel in 1972.

She was selected by the then Bishop Maurice Schexnyder at the request of Msgr. M. J. Bernard, pastor of the church.

During the 90th anniversary celebration of Sacred Heart Parish, Bishop Jude Speyrer of the Diocese of Lake Charles presented seven charter members of the church, all parishioners of 90 years or older, with special blessings from Pope John Paul.

Mrs. Bishop was one of the recipients of these blessings in a ceremony held Sept. 27, 1980.

She also became a charter member of the Order of St. Charles when Bishop Speyrer announced that these parishioners would be recipients of the first medals of St. Charles, which was struck for the new Diocese of Lake Charles.

She received this award for meritorious service to the Diocese.

She always fed the priests who held the services at both St. Hubert and St. Rose in her home.

On June 17, 1987, Mrs. Bishop collapsed with pneumonia, and was admitted to St. Patrick's hospital in Lake Charles, and since then has lived with a daughter, Mrs. Lillie Sykes, in Lake Charles.

On Aug. 1, of this year, she moved back home and is living with another daughter, Mrs.Lovenia Bartie, east of St. Rose Chapel.

New gator firm

One of the booths at the Louisiana Alligator and Trappers convention at Cameron last weekend featured products of a new Lafayette company.

Al Chauvin, Jr. and Peggy Matthews have combined their talents to promote Louisiana products made from alligator and fur.

They have combined their fabricating talents and salesmanship to form a partnership to sell shoes, boots, wallets, handbags, fur jackets, and many other products made from tanned alligator hides and fur skins.

The tentative name of the company will be Premium Alligator Products and will be located in Lafourche parish.

Their products will carry the Made in Louisiana label.

The tanning will be done elsewhere, to start, because the equipment to get started is so expensive on this step, but they will eventually add this to be able to do the entire process.

Head checks are due

Head checks for lice infestation are scheduled for the first week of school, according to Mrs. Nell Colligan, R.N., Cameron Parish School Nurse.

Efforts are continuing to reduce the number of lice cases in the schools each year, and to safeguard the health of children treated for lice, she stated. The number of cases has dropped gradually each year, but there is still room for improvement.

"Lice infestation harms the child in several ways," Mrs. Colligan states. "Each time the child has to be treated for lice infestation, a lice-killing chemical is used. Some of these chemicals are more harmful than others. In the case of lindane (Kwell), the chemical penetrates the skin, enters the bloodstream, and is eventually stored in the body's organs and tissues where it is capable of producing toxic side effects, especially to the brain. (A list of precuations to be observed when lindane is used is available at all schools in the parish.)

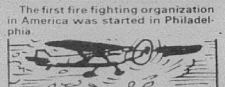
Even the less harmful chemicals should not be used routinely to "prevent lice". They should be used only in the treatment of an actual case of lice. In addition, the National Pediculosis Association warns against the use of lice sprays in the home or in the schools. The Association claims that the benefits are few, and the potential health hazards are great.

Other negative effects of lice infestation include the damage to the child's self esteem, as well as the time lost in the classroom when the child is excluded from school because of lice. Many children come to school on the first day infested with head lice. This could easily be prevented if each parent checked their children's hair prior to school's opening each year, Mrs. Colligan stated.

Phone refund set

Customers of Cameron Telephone Co. will be receiving refund credits on their Aug. 10, telephone bill.

The refund credits are due to the disallowance by the Public Service Commission of certain South Central Bell expenses. Some of the long distance rates paid by Cameron customers that were remitted to South Central Bell were affected by these South Central Bell costs, causing Cameron customers to receive a refund credit, according to Tommy Powell, PSC commissioner.



The refund credits for Cameron customers will be on average smaller than those recently received by South Central Bell subscribers since Cameron local rates were unaffected by these South Central Bell costs.

The average residential refund credit for Cameron customers will be $10.73 and the maximum approximately $13.35. The average business account will receive $17.48.

All parties that currently receive a monthly bill from Cameron Telephone Co. who had service during the period from November 1986 through February 1988 must contact Cameron Telephone Co. to apply for a refund. They may contact Cameron Telephone Co. business office at 583-2111 or by mail at P.O. Box 110, Sulphur, La. 70664.

Dredging of pass

By Keith Hambrick

New Orleans Daily
Picayune, Aug. 16, 1873

CALCASIEU PASS

A correspondent of the Lake Charles Echo furnishes the following information concerning the dredging of the inner bar of Calcasieu Pass:

The work is being done by the National Government, under an appropriation by Congress, and was commenced with a Government (United States) dredge boat, under the superintendence of Capt. F.D. Waldsaur, about the 1st of May last. The dredge boat has a length of sixty-five feet, with thirty foot beam, and its massive machinery is worked by two powerful engines, with twelve by twenty-four inches stoke, and aggregating about fifty-five or sixty horse-power. The boat has a crew of nine men.

The course of the channel to be excavated is north thirty-nine degrees forty-seven minutes east, from the mouth of the pass. Length of channel six thousand three hundred feet, width about one hundred and sixty feet from bank to bank, depth of the centre nine feet, sloping gradually up on both sides so as to have about six feet depth on a total width of one hundred and twenty feet. The soil is soft blue clay, except three large shell reefs, of which one is about fifteen hundred feet, one a thousand feet, and one six hundred feet wide. The amount of dredging done so far is about four thousand eight hundred feet in length on one cut of sixty feet wide, which leaves about five hundred feet in length to complete that cut through the entire channel.

CAMERON ROUTE TO BE DECIDED BY COMMISSION

The location of a proposed highway to Cameron lies within the discretion and decision of the Louisiana Highway Commission, Wilson T. Peterman, chairman of the commission, told representatives from Cameron Parish and businessmen of Lake Charles at a meeting held at the Majestic Hotel this week.

"You people from Cameron Parish must get together and stay together on the road proposition and the police jury must make formal application to the highway commission for a survey of the section as the commission must deal with the governing authorities of the parish and not with individuals," Mr. Peterman said.

He stressed the fact that the Cameron people must co-operate and settle their differences and center their wishes through the police jury, which in turn should communicate with the state highway officials.

"Put your own house in order, vote a bond issue and then take a chance on the location of the road. The shortest and most economical road must be built and the route will be selected where it is considered most practical and most feasible," Mr. Peterman stated. "It is the duty of the commission to give the same attention and service to Cameron as to any other parish and this we propose to do."

Mr. Peterman said he realized the need for the Cameron road and that such a highway would not only be of great assistance in the development and growth of that section, but also that other parts of the country would then be able to communicate with Cameron, either for business or pleasure purposes.

In reply to requests that the road pass through certain communities, Mr. Peterman declared the commission will consider the service that the highway can give and that the road will be routed through a settlement if found practical and if the cost is not expensive. He concluded by expressing the desire of the commission to help Cameron Parish but he warned that outside influences should not attempt to affect the location of the road.

After the close of Mr. Peterman's address, a motion was passed to ask the police jury of Cameron to make formal application to the highway commission for a survey of the marsh in order to determine the feasible location of the road.

At the informal meeting, discussion of the merits of the two proposed roads was made prior to the talk by Mr. Peterman. Some speakers wanted the east route, other the west and another advised that no road should be built.

W. P. Weber, president of the Association of Commerce, and chairman of the meeting, called upon Mayor J. A. Trotti, as the first speaker. Mayor Trotti declared Lake Charles was deeply interested in a road to Cameron, both from a business and pleasure standpoint and from the fact that taxpayers of this city must help pay for the maintenance of the road selected.

"The eastern route, known as the "Sweet Lake Road" which passes through Holmwood, is 3 miles from the business section of Lake Charles and tourists from Chicago arriving over the Lone Star route, and others from Shreveport, traveling over the road reaching north of here will hardly touch the city," Mayor Trotti said. "If the west route to Big Lake is selected, these toruists will pass through Lake Charles." Comparison was made to a hunter standing just outside the flight of birds.

Mayor Trotti declared the people of Calcasieu should not try to influence the Cameron citizens as to the route across the marsh in Cameron.

Thomas W. McCall of Grand Chenier, said he favored the east route and that this was the sentiment of the people of his section, who wanted a road built to serve the majority of the people. He stated the Grand chenier and Creole section is thickly settled and estimated that two-thirds of the population lived there. The need of a road was shown in his statement that his party had to travel 100 miles to reach Lake Charles from Grand Chenier. Creole, he said, is the central point of the parish and he wanted the road to pass through this settlement.

D. S. Jones of Grand Chenier, declared much cotton was raised in that section and that the east route would enable them to send the cotton to Lake Charles, while the road on the western part of the parish would require the Grand Chenier people to travel too long a distance to reach this city. A canal, he said, extends from creole to the Gulf where an unusually good beach is located.

J. W. Sweeney of Cameron said he had been active in getting the road built. He explained to the commission that the country must be seen and examined as maps could not show the real condition.

Drainage of Cameron marshes is more important than a road, A. B. McCain of Lake Charles said. He stated that since the Cameron people must pay for a road, the drainage question should be considered. He advocated that the western route across the parish be selected and that a canal, which must be dug to furnish material for the building of the road, could be run into the mouth of the Calcasieu river and drain the marshy country. Calcasieu river, he said, is lower than either the Sabine or Mermentau and that water from the marshes runs toward the west. He expressed the view that the parish seats of Calcasieu and Cameron should be connected by the shortest route.

Captain T. C. McCain, of the Lake Charles-Cameron Transportation Company, who operates the "Rex" declared that the building of a road to Cameron would force his boat to cease operations between Cameron and Lake Charles and that freight rates would be doubled. Cotton which was formerly shipped to Galveston, Texas, is now brought to Lake Charles as a result of his efforts, Captain McCain said, and the building of a road would force him to ship to Galveston on account of freight rates.

H. G. Chalkley, of Lake Charles, one of the largest taxpayers of Cameron Parish, stated the selection of the route across the marsh was immaterial to him as he owned property near either proposed road and he suggested that the decision of the route be left entirely in the hands of the highway commission. He made the motion that the police jury be asked to apply to the commission for a survey. This motion was carried.

J. M. Fourmy, state engineer, was in attendance at the meeting.

Tarpons suit out 73 grid players

By ROBERT MANUEL

South Cameron High School coaches suited out 73 football team hopefuls for the opening picture session day. Not expected to be ranked in the pre-season top ten listing after losing some heavy artillery through graduation, the Tarpons never the less have retained enough blue chippers to form a strong wedge for its drive to a district championship and a play-off spot.

Head Coach Parry LaLande is well aware of the challenge ahead and will rely on hard work and the leadership of returning regulars Kelly Richard, OG-LB, Chad Mudd, QB-DB, Joseph Duhon, WB-DE, Jamie Carroll, OT, and Kelly Vincent, NG.

Showing good promise as probable starters in spring drills were Mike Richard, John Guidry, Lionel Robert, Rozell Smith, Chester Moore, Dwayne Guilbeaux, Joey Trahan, Robin Rutherford, Walter Jones, Reggie Godette. The majority of the squad is young but talented and will compete well for some wide open slots.

LaLande assesses his team strengh as strong and quick, the major weakness being small and a lack of team speed.

In summing up, LaLande said, "We have young running backs. The offensive line played a lot but not as a unit. We did a lot of switching last year. We should have a fair defense but are still young. We have a lot of boys at the same level so it should be very competitive this year."

Coaching experience for the Tarpon staff includes LaLande with 11 years, Eddie Benoit 10, A. J. Seymour 17, and Henry Griffin with 27.

Tim McCall, a South Cameron and McNeese graduate will assist as a practicing teacher and coach.

Veteran Coach Wayne Johnson elected to try and move up to college coahing and has joined Sonny Jackson's staff at McNeese working with the kickers and weight program.

South Cameron will face bi-district rival Elton in the Aug. 26, Iowa Jamboree to set off an interesting season for both squads.

Johnson now assistant on MSU grid staff

Paul Lanier and Wayne Johnson, two successful area high school coaches, are serving as assistants on the McNeese State football staff this season.

A former player for the Cowboys and a tight end on the Pokes 1971 Grantland Rice Bowl team, Lanier is serving as coach of the running backs. Johnson, a graduate of USL, is working with the McNeese punters and place kickers.

Lanier, who has his master degree and his plus 30, is working on an advanced degree at McNeese. He has been in the coaching field since 1975 and served as head coach at Lake Charles High and Sulphur High, his last five years having been spent at Sulphur.

Church observes 50th birthday

By BOBBIE THOMAS

A celebration of the 50th anniversary of St. Mary of The Lake Parish was held Sunday, Aug. 14.

Mass was celebrated by Bishop Jude Speyrer at 6 p.m. Concelebrants were Msgr. James Gaddy, pastor, Rev. Sam Jacobs, Msgr. A. J. Vincent, Rev. Herman Ogea, Rt. Rev. Herbert May. Homily was preached by Father Sam Jacobs.

The honor guard of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus was present.

The new parish hall which was completed in November, 1987, was blessed and dedicated to the Blessed Mother and Rev. Sam Jacobs, following the mass. There was a covered dish meal shared by all members of the parish.

In 1938 St. Mary of the Lake became the Mother Church of the Big Lake area. Previous to this Big Lake had visiting priests from the missions of East Texas, Grand Coteau, Opelousas and Lafayette.

In 1855 the priest from Opelousas took over the missionary work in southwest Louisiana. Late in 1869 Rev. Francois Maginny was appointed pastor of Lake Charles with Big Lake becoming a station mission of Lake Charles.

In 1892, Rev. Peter Van Alfen was in charge of missionary work in Big Lake. Some time from April 1894 to 1895, a church was built on land donated by John B. Broussard. In 1898, the parishioners erected a steeple which became the landmark of the Big Lake area.

In 1913, the Bishop of New Orleans came to Big Lake on the steamer Borealis Rex. The Bishop conferred the Sacrament of Confirmation at this time.

The church was demolished by hurricane winds on Aug. 6, 1918. The second church was built shortly after, under the supervision of Rev. Odilon Brise.

By the turn of the century, the Big Lake area was transferred to the Creole Church. Priests traveled to Big Lake from Cameron twice a month.

In 1932, Big Lake was transferred to Lake Charles and mass was celebrated by several different priests from Lake Charles, including Father Aurele Robichaud.

In 1936 Msgr. John A. Vigliero acquired one acre of land donated by H. G. Chalkley, president of Sweetlake Land and Oil Co. This land was used to build St. Patrick's Chapel which was blessed and dedicated April 4, 1937. The Big Lake church became St. Mary of the Lake Parish and the Mother Church of St. patrick's.

On June 11, 1938, Rev. Aurele Robichaud was appointed first pastor of St. Mary of the Lake and its mission, St. Patrick Chapel, by the most Rev. Bishop J. B. Jeanmard. St. Mary's Rectory was completed in 1939.

Feb. 29, 1942, Rev. Charles Levasseur was appointed pastor when Fr. Robichaud was tranferred to Kinder. Fr. Levasseur was a native of Canada as was Fr. Robichaud. Fr. Levasseur remained pastor for 26 years.

In 1963, through the initiative and generosity of Fr. Levasseur and his family, a beautiful new church was built. The cost of the church was $66,592. On May 3, 1964 the church was deidated and blessed by the Rev. Msgr. L. H. Boudreaux, P.A.

On Nov. 19, 1967, Fr. Levasseur retired after 26 years of guidance and service to the people.

From Nov. 1967 to June 1968, Msgr. J.M. Bernard was administrator of the parish and assigned Father Anthony Genna to serve the parish.

One June 15, 1968, Rev. Donald Theriot was appointed pastor for one year and in June 1969, Rev. Lloyd P. Hebert was appointed pastor and remained until 1973, when Fr. James Doyle became pastor.

June 16, 1981 Fr. Sam Jacobs was appointed pastor. During his three and one half years of service, the parish CCD building was built and plans for the newly finished parish hall were in progress. From Nov. 1984 to Nov. 1985, Fr. Hebert May was appointed administrator of the parish, at which time Fr. Jacobs took the position as director of vocations for the Diocese of Lake Charles.

In November, 1985, Msgr. James Gaddy was appointed pastor and the plans for the parish hall, begun under Fr. Jacobs, were completed under his guidance, as he continues to serve the parish as pastor.

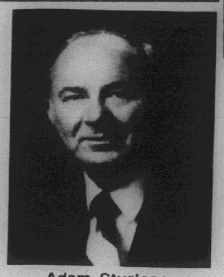
Constance to be in cleanup

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Ed Kelley, who is in charge of the upcoming "Beachsweep 88" on Sept. 24, announces that Rodney Guilbeaux, Jr. will again captain the clean-up program on Constance Beach.

Last year Guilbeaux, along with 82 volunteers, consisting of residents, 4-H club members, and Lions club members, cleaned 420 bags of trash from this beach.

Senator Jack Doland and his daughter were among the group working on the beach.



Constance Beach, located about 7 miles west of Holly Beach, came into being about 1950, when the late J. B. Constance opened up this property for development. It was first known as J. B. Constance Beach and was later shortened to Constance Beach.

Parish Road #517, about 7.2 miles from the Holly Beach junction is the best access route to this beach. This beach is well populated, with a very good quality of cabins and beach houses.

Guilbeaux and his neighbors do not always sleep good, for the Gulf of Mexico seems to have chosen their beach as a prime site for beach erosion.

Again this year a weather condition in the Gulf resulted in the loss of almost an entire street that bordered the beach, and has now given away to the Gulf.

Jack Wheeler and his coastal sea block program has been studying this area for possible implementation of erosion correction through the use of this concept, when funding is available.

The 1989 festival will be held in Cameron Jan. 12-14.

Population of ducks down

This fall's migrating duck population will be the second lowest on record, according to a status report issued July 25, by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Canadian Wildlife Service. Biologists from the two agencies said long-term drought and associated habitat degradation have combined to reduce the anticipated fall flight to 66 million birds.

This is down substantially from the 1987 index of 74 million birds and exceeds only the record low 1985 index of 62 million birds.

Discussing the report, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service Director Frank Dunkle said, "This report merely confirms our concerns of recent months. The continued drought has dried up the prime waterfowl breeding areas in Canada and the north-central United States. Our surveys indicate many ducks simply overflew the parched prairie wetlands and moved into northern Canada where the probability of young being produced is lower."

The outlook for fall flights of geese, however, is considered favorable, with their numbers about the same or slightly higher than last year. Weather conditions in the far north where the geese breed were more favorable than in the prairie regions where ducks nest.

Cowbelles meet

The monthly meeting of the Cameron Parish Cowbelles will be held Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Shirley Bonsall.

The initial contest between the Tarpons and Indians has a high interest factor as both teams carry high hopes of continuing a winning tradition.

Both team offenses will be keyed by veteran quarterbacks with triple threat credentials. Quarterback Chad Mudd and Bruchaus of Elton have the capabilities necessary to generate scoring drives.

The outcome of the abbreviated game will be close, as both teams sport a strong hard hitting defense that only a mistake could result in a score by either team.

In a show of defensive powers, the Tarpons held Kinder scoreless and managed a score against the Jackets in a recent scrimmage. Sophomore Derek Hardie broke open a defensive standoff with a long run to set up the lone Tarpon score.

Red Cross benefit set

A disaster relief benefit for the American Red Cross will be held Saturday, Sept. 3, at the Creole K.C. Hall at 6 p.m. with a meal of barbecue chicken.

An auction and dance will begin at 8 p.m. featuring Jerry Furs and the Tear Drops.

The benefit is sponsored by the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department and the Creole K.C.s.

MUSING . . . .

Memories in a box

By Bernice Denny

In my possession is a small vooden box, the sides and bottom mortised together, the top made to close by sliding along grooves. I have no idea what it was designed to hold but my grandfather, Ed Stine, used it in which to store receipts and other important papers.

The box was in an old trunk in the attic of my mother's home on the Chenier. After Hurricane Audrey it was one of the few contents of the trunk that remained dry.

The earliest paper in it is dated 1905. It was a local preacher's license issued to Grandfather Stine by the Crowley District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. It was signed by H. C. Morrison, president, and J. I. Hoffpauir, secretary. It was renewed at Lake Charles, La., on June 23, 1906, by F. N. Parker, Presiding Elder; renewed at Lake Arthur on May 20, 1907, by J. M. Henry, P.E.; at Jeanerette on June 1, 1908, again by the Rev. Henry and finally at the Crowley District Conference at Jennings, May 26-30, 1909, signed by J. E. Denson, P.E.

As time goes on even church customs and nomenclature are revised. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Protestant Church in 1939 to form the Methodist Church. In 1968 the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren united to form the United Methodist Church. The title of presiding elder referred to has become the district superintendent of today.

In my grandfather's name are two tax receipts bearing the same December date, 1907. They are signed by Charles Eagleson, Sheriff. One itemizes the state, parish, and poll taxes. The other is for a special public school fund tax. On the back of each is the same listing of acreage, livestock per kind, vehicles, merchandise or stock in trade, stocks, shares, household goods, jewelry, moneys, bonds, notes, watercraft,annuities, salaries, etc.

There is in the box a picture postcard of Dr. Francis Shelton, who had at one time practiced medicine in Cameron Parish. The card was postmarked Waco, Tex., Sept. 2, 1911.

In June 1919 a receipt from Calcasieu National Bank of Southwest Louisiana at Lake Arthur, signed by G. E. Bailly, showed that my grandfather had left five cards of War Savings Stamps in the bank vault for safe keeping. The bank made no charge nor did it assume any responsibility regarding the parcel. All of this is explained in the receipt.

By 1919 my grandfather's taxes were over seven times as high as those of 1907. All items are on one tax slip. D. R. Crain was sheriff, L. A. Laurent, deputy. Grandfather still had one wagon, but instead of the buggy of 1907 his receipt lists two Ford cars. I know that one was a truck.

There is a certificate issued in 1910 for five shares at $1.00 each in the Lake Arthur Oil Co., Ltd. It is signed by V. A. Miller, president, and by Alcibiades Broussard, secretary. The company's capital stock is listed at $50,000. The excellent condition of the certificate with its impressive gold seal and illustrations proves that the paper was by far more durable than the company itself.

A letter from my grandmother's nephew, Pete Eagleson, was written in 1916 from Camp Merritt, Jersey City, New Jersey, prior to his being sent to Europe during World War I. He wrote, "We left Florida at 10:20 a.m. Wednesday and arrived here at 9:20 a.m. Saturday. We did not travel very fast."

I feel that I am unfolding history as I handle these old records. There are many more. Some crackle and split as I open and refold them. Few are as durable as the worthless gilt-edged oil company bond.

Airman LaLande

Airman Fletcher G. LaLande, son of Robert G. LaLande and Donna M. LaBove, both of Cameron, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

He is a 1986 graduate of South Cameron High School.

Fall hunting season near

By Loston McEvers

DOVE SEASON

Dove season will open Saturday, Sept. 3, at noon. There will be a season in three splits, with a daily bag limit of 12. The dates set are Sept. 3-11; Oct. 15-Nov. 13; and Dec. 10-Jan. 9.

Rails and gallinules will begin at sunrise Nov. 19, and continue until sunset Jan. 20. The bag limit for king and clapper rails will be 15 per day together, possession limit of 30. The daily bag limit on sora and Virginia rails is 25 together, which is also the possession limit.

Snipe season will be Nov. 12-Feb. 23, daily bag limit of 8. Woodcock season will be Dec. 10-Feb. 12, with daily bag limit of 5.

Remember when you shoot these birds, leave the head and wing to identify them.

WARNING TO SALTWATER ANGLERS

Recreational anglers are cautioned that the law forbids the cutting up of saltwater finfish before coming in with the catch.

Recently seven men were charged with violating this statute of the law. Speckled trout that had been fileted was found on a crewboat boarded by game agents.

The men were issued citations and their fish confiscated and donated to charity.

So, keep the fish intact until you come in to shore where they can be identified and measured.

SELLING OF WILD GAME BRINGS CHARGES

Seven people from Avoyelles, Sabine and Vernon parishes had various charges brought against them. This resulted from a nine months investigation by undercover agents. More than 200 squirrels plus deer and rabbit meat and also two migratory geese were purchased by the agents.

The arrests took place Aug. 12. A Bunkie fish market operator had eight counts against him, two for selling game fish, two for selling squirrels, two for selling deer and one for selling rabbit and also federal charge of selling migratory geese.

Other charges on six other people were for selling deer, game fish and squirrel. Also waiting to be arrested is a Hornbeck woman, who is out of state. Charges on her are for selling squirrels.

According to game agents I have talked to there is plenty of this going on throughout the state, but it takes a while to prove and make arrests.

NO OUT OF STATE SALES

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has prohibited the out-of-state shipment of alligator hatchilings. This was done to protect this once endangered species, which is now very important for commercial use.

The Senate had urged a request to prohibit the sale of hatchlings outside the state of Louisiana in this year's legislative session, according to Johnnie Tarver, Chief of the Fur and Refuge Division.

Talking about alligators, the hunting season in our area will be on Sept. 10, and hunters are getting prepared.

FISHING & SHRIMPING IN OUR AREA

Bass fishing is still fairly good in the Big Burns and Lacassine and Sabine areas. The Miami Corporation's permit fishing, which includes the Big Burns will close Aug. 28. The two refuges will go on until Oct. and really that's when I like to fish Lacassine, as you do catch some pretty good bass.

Speckled trout and red fish are still fair, but again, the fall is really hot on red fish.

On the shrimping scene, the Mermentau River and Grand Lake areas are not producing that many shrimp, but the lake and ship channel in the Cameron area are producing some nice white shrimp. Let's hope.

LEMESCHE BASS CLUB

The Lemesche Bass Club held their monthly meeting Aug. 1, and drew for the last two tournaments of the year, Aug. 7 and 21.

A meal was prepared by Carl and Michelle Broussard.

Plaques were given to the women and youth for the family tournament held in May.

Results of the July 4 Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo were discussed.

Also discussed was for the club, along with the Grand Chenier and Creole Knights of Columbus Councils, to pay to keep the Grand Chenier and Creole swimming pools open for August.

President Carl Broussard presented this to the Police Jury the next day at their regular meeting and the money was turned down and the two pools were closed.

The club was trying to give something to the community as the community has been generous to the club. At the next meeting the club will find another project and see if it can be of service.

The September meeting will be held Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the W.O.W. Hall in Creole. The reason the first Monday was cancelled was because of the Labor Day weekend.

Largest stringer, 1st thru 8th: Tom Hess, Phillip Trosclair, Ricky Canik, Anthony Nunez, Rudy McEvers, Carl Broussard, J. C. Boudreaux, Mike King.

Diocese sets workshop

The Diocese of Lake Charles will present an introduction to the Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults (RCIA) in a workshop to be held on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 26 and 27.

The workshop is scheduled for the Family Life Center of St. Margaret Parish, and will begin on Friday at 6:30 p.m., according to the Rev. Sam Jacobs, director of Evangelization and RCIA for the diocese. The two-day program is designed to familiarize parish RCIA leaders, and those who are training to be leaders, with the process, he said.

The Rev. Don Neuman, an RCIA minister of the Diocese of Galveston-Houston, will present the major addresses during the workshop. "RCIA is based on the ancient initiation rites for the unbaptized which was developed by the Church in the First Century," Father Jacobs said.

"The version currently in use in this country is a process by which adults are instructed in the truths of the faith while supported by members of a parish community. The initiates in the program progress to full membership in the Church through the Sacraments of Initiation - Baptism, Confirmation and the Holy Eucharist," Father Jacobs explained.

The first Presidential news conference to be televised was held by President Eisenhower on Jan. 19, 1955.

PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the Regular Meeting of the Cameron Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 3, held Tuesday, July 26, 1988, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cameron Parish Police Jury Annex.

Members Present: Edwin Quinn, Gary Kelley, E. J. Dronet.

Others Present: Enginer Lonnie Harper, J. B. Watts, Bruce Lewis, S. C. S., Rudolph Bartie, Calvin Vallette, Malcolm Savoie, J. Burton Daigle, Ray Conner, Francis Guilbeau, Billy Delaney, Robert Landry.

Mr. Calvin Valette was recognized. He asked if the Drainage Board has any objections to his raising the levee on his property in Section 28. The three members present had no objections. The secretary will poll the members who are absent and inform Mr. Valette of the results.

Mr. Malcolm Savoie was then recognized and requested drainage on the marsh adjacent to his property so that drainage will be to the West. Lonnie Harper reported that he had worked on two permits relative to drainage of the area, one for a flapgate at the end of Burnell Nunez Road and one for a North/South lateral on the Savoie property. Mr. Rudolph Bartie objected to the flapgate, and this was agreed by Malcolm Savoie. Engineer Harper presented an aerial map of the vicinity for Board members and visiting property owners to view. Considerable discussion ensued. It was agreed that drainage will be established to the West if rights-of-way can be obtained from the Richard Estate and Calvin Vallette. It was also agreed by concensus that concerned property owners would be invited to attend next month's meeting for further discussion of the matter.

A motion was made by Gary Kelley, seconded by Edwin Quinn, and unanimously carried to approve the minutes of the Regular Meeting of June 21, 1988.

A motion was made by Edwin Quinn, seconded by Gary Kelley, and unanimously carried to approve the contract for drainage lateral in the West Creole area.

Civic group in cleanup

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

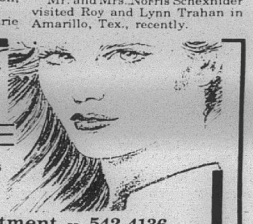
Driving to Cameron the other night about dusk to attend a meeting, I noted people picking up trash along the highway. They had on the bright orange jackets, the same color as the parish jail prisoners uniforms.

The thought went through my mind, "Has Sheriff Sono lost his mind? He has prisoners out here picking up trash at this time of the evening?"

When I got closer I saw that it was a group of women, and I realized they were the "pillars of the community."

The local American Business Women's Association chapter was one of the first clubs in the parish to volunteer to adopt a portion of a local road to keep clean of litter in the Adopt A Road Program.

These women periodically meet and clean up on each side of the portion that they have adopted, and since they all work during the day at various jobs, they must meet in the late afternoon to carry out the project.



On this particular night they had to hurry with their cleanup so they could attend the Fur Festival meeting that night. They said that they had learned a lot about the buying habits of people.

Yvonne Mhire said, "We found out that Bud Lite is the favorite beer, outranking others three to one."

Barbara Lou LaBove said, "This year it's beer cans, but last year it was paper coffee cups, and McDonald's must make a fortune from coffee sales."

These civic minded women, all members of the local ABWA, in addition to Mrs. Mhire and LaBove, were Patti Cope, Jocelyn Mosely, and Donna LaBove.

Rail Workers Say Spray Caused Illness

Union Pacific officials, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Agriculture Department are conducting investigations into a claim by forty-three Union Pacific railroad workers that they were sprayed by toxic cropdusting chemicals near Bosco Wednesday, August 24.

Several of the workers were treated after arriving at St. Frances Medical Center about 2 p.m., complaining of headaches and itching, burning skin on their hands and arms.

Dr. Charles Blackmon, who treated the patients, said that the chemical which may have been involved, methyl parathion, can cause difficulty of breathing, severe abdominal cramps, profuse sweating and slowed heart rate, but that it usually takes several days for symthoms to appear unless the chemical is consumed.

One worker claimed that twelve of the workers suffered direct exposure to the chemical. All were treated and released by 7 p.m. Each employee showered with an ethanol-based soap and scrub brush to neutralize the contaminants. After the showers, the men were checked for any clinical signs of toxicity, such as heavy sweating, salivation and pinpoint pupils and doctors also performed blood work and looked for muscular irregularities in the patient' tongues.

The workers continued to work three hours after the incident and hospital officials said some were 1 1/2 miles away from the area the plane few over.

Mark Davis, a Union Pacific spokesman in Omaha, Neb., said he wasn't aware of the time the employees on the track gang were sprayed, but that he got the report about 1 p.m.

Billy Kenney, the crop-duster flying the plane the workers say sprayed them, said Wednesday that the incident occurred about 8:30 a.m. and that he first learned of the problem when state Agriculture Department officials contacted him about 1:30 p.m. to ask what chemicals he had been spraying.

One worker said he did not know if the spraying was the fault of the cropduster or if the wind blew the chemical, reportedly a synthetic chemical pyrethroid with the brand name "Karate".

Kenney said he thought the incident had been blown out of proportion and that the workers got the drift from the spray, which is different from direct exposure. "All they had to do was get out of the way," he said.

Kenney said he only saw eight to ten workers at the site, but one of the workers, Joe Crow of Gurdon, Ark., said the crop-duster flew directly over him and 11 other workers. The plane was spraying cotton fields on both sides of the railroad track the men were working on, Crow said.

Crow also claimed the pilot would cut off the spray each time he passed over the track, but that the workers were still sprayed. He said the plane passed over the workers at least four or five times. Crow also said that the workers had been exposed to the chemical for the past two weeks, but that Wednesday was the first time it was reported and the first time the employees were directly sprayed.

Kenney said he had not been spraying for two weeks.

Parish Unemployment Rate Rises to 12.9%

Caldwell Parish's July preliminary unemployment rate was announced by the La. Dept. of Labor August 25 as 12.9 percent, up from a revised June rate of 12.3%. Unemployment compensation paid out in Caldwell Parish totaled $33,880.

Out of a parish labor force of 4,275, 3,725 were employed in Caldwell parish and 550 were unemployed in July. The labor force was down by about 50 workers from June while the number of unemployed rose from 525 in June to 550.

Surrounding parish rates were mixed, with LaSalle parish rates rising from 10.4 to 10.5 percent, Franklin parish dropping from 15.2 to 14.2 and Ouachita staying the same Statewide employment over the month was up 18,700 jobs and there were 6,800 fewer unemployed. The national unemployment rate for July was 5.5 per cent, unchanged from the June rate, and 7.1 per cent in July a year ago.

Louisiana apparently still led the nation in unemployment compared to West Virginia at 9.0 per cent in July, and Mississippi at 7.9 per cent.

Arrests Report

Dural Skiddy, 32, from Columbia was arrested for Disturbing the Peace.

There were 74 complaints filed with the department during the aforementioned time period, 70 which were cleared, 4 pending and 6 cleared from previous reports.

Louisiana Crew Joins Western Firefighters South of Yellowstone

Louisiana forest fire fighters flew west this week to join hundreds already battling wildfires that have blazed for weeks throughout several western states.

Department of Agriculture & Forestry Commissioner Bob Odom said 19 firefighters from the Office of Forestry were dispatched to the Hunter Fire in Grand Teton National Park, just south of Yellowstone National Park.

The location is in the Jackson Hole area of northwest Wyoming. "We responded to a request for help from the U. S. Forest Service as part of the cooperative agreement we have with the Forest Service and two other firefighting compacts. By this agreement, the Office of Forestry sends fire crews whenever and wherever extraordinary fire situations occur and our help is requested. In turn, the agreement allows us to ask for similar help if Louisiana has a fire blowup." Odom said.

He said the crew could be be called within 24 hours if an emergency back home required their services.

The 19 Louisiana firefighters and the parishes in which they work are Bryan S. Tilley, Allen Parish; David Perkins, Beauregard; Jimmy Horton, Bossier; Fred Breese, Bill Carpenter and Robert Holmes, East Feliciana; Jim King, LaSalle; Cullen Craham, Natchitoches; Ronald S. Stokes and Joseph W. Turner, Rapides; Hershel Culpepper, Red River; Jerry Nettles, St. Helena, Kirk S. Casanova, St. Tammany; Tony A. Bennett, Tangipahoa; Lawrence Avant and Jessie Smith, Union; Howard Ryder, Jr., Vernon; Don Small, Webster; and Joe Shields, Winn.

Acting State Forester Carlton S. Hurst said the Louisiana firefighters were assigned to what was described as a "new" fire that had already burned some 4,500 acres by the time the Louisiana crews arrived early Tuesday.

According to a member of the overhead team based at fire headquarters, burned acreage had risen to almost 5,000 acres by Wednesday morning. Jim Dukes, agency crew coordinator for Louisiana and Texas crews on the Hunter fire said at that time the fire was 60 percent contained. Dukes is fire management officer for Louisiana's Kisatchie National Forest.

The fire was started on Grand Teton park August 20 by sparks from a power line downed by a falling tree. It later spread to Bridger Teton National Forest. Area residents were evacuated at one point. Dukes said, but were allowed to return to their homes by Wednesday.

He said the Louisiana crew was assigned to a portion of the fire on the east side of Shadow Mountain, 16 miles northeast of the town of Jackson.

Crews are headquartered in a tent-like structure described as a "Visqueen hotel" at the Gros Ventre Campground in Grand Teton National Park, Dukes said, where the temperature dropped to 24 degrees Tuesday night.

Louisiana officials said a return date for the Louisiana Office of Forestry crew has not been determined.

"We don't know how long they will be gone because if the fire they have been assigned to is brought under control within a few days. They may well be sent to another

It rained a little Sunday on our parched front yard, but I hear we're not likely to get really wet anytime soon.

Applause also to Angela Gay Wheeler, of Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Wheeler of Columbia, who led NLU's summer graduating class with a 4.0 grade point average.

How on earth does anybody get a 4.0 average? I could never do that even in grade school. I take that back. I did get all S's (satisfactory) in Mrs. Corinne McHardy's first grade class, which I count as all A's.

I never could understand how kids could do so well. Like when I was in fourth grade and Brenda Adams was able to draw a map in geography without erasing, not even once. Brenda was through with her no erasure paper before I was half through, and mine already had three holes erased through it.

If you've been quietly scooting around without your motor vehicle registration on the up and up, you better look out, La. Dept. of Public Safety and Corrections is beefing up their enforcement of such violations.

The superintendent of state police is asking local sheriffs and chiefs of police to assist the Dept. of Public Safety in enforcing the state's motor vehicle registration laws, laws he says are being ignored by thousands of new residents in the state.

Col. Marlin A. Flores of the Dept. says, "Through inadvertance, intent or ignorance, countless numbers of individuals have moved into the state and have failed to register their vehicles. To those who have failed to comply we would caution - either register your vehicle now or risk having it seized and stored until the necessary fees have been paid."

Sept. 15 has been designated as the target date for initiation of the enforcement effort. Violations of the state's motor vehicle registration laws can subject a person to a fine of up to $100 plus court costs and or 30 days in jail.

I hear the Melvis Childress lunch bunch at Kelly has been getting only one side of the story from my resident bearer of tales.

People are always asking me what the resident is up to, therefore, in the interest of free and balanced public information, I think everyone should not only know what he's up to this week, but that I have gone above and beyond in the patience department this time.

For instance, last week I became suspicious that something was up when I saw a large, gray object hunkered down in the back of his truck.

Said large grey object, an old cotton mattress that had seen better days, was later seen trussed up and deposited against the barbed wire in the back yard.

Bow and arrow target practice began, the mattress bleeding cotton with each twang of the bowstring. As if that wasn't enough, that idiot dog he brought home because the little resident said he couldn't live without it, gutted the mattress further, strowing the cotton over the yard.

I was as civil as I could be through clenched teeth, and he did fuss mightily at the dog and truss the poor old mattress back together. I will admit that I made some comments that would not do for publication.

Then, low and behold, what do I spy but two boxes, similarly trussed, standing behind my clothesline. Resident says he's got them ready to be shot at.

There is crumpled syrofoam inside the boxes, sitting, waiting to explode styrofoam over the back yard.

OK, I go along with inventiveness where targets are concerned, as I have priced the fancy ones with deer painted on the front. I also admit that shooting cotton is a lot better than shooting cans or bottles.

It may interest the lunch bunch to know that I happen to have a few friends who wonder how I can put up with such a mess in the name of sporting.

My Daddy used to have an old record with a song called, "Cigarettes, Whiskey and Wild, Wild Women."

It was written with an old time, one, two, three beat and sung with a back country twang so that it came out, "Cigareetes, Whuskey and Wild, Wild Wimmin, They'll drive you crazy, They'll drive you insane."

Daddy thought it was hilarious.

Since the resident does not smoke, drink or, as far as I know, chase wild women, it doesn't make sense to give him too hard a time about his hobbies.

I really had a case against him last weekend with cotton in the back yard and the dog chewing on yet another target, a foam mattress dragged to the front yard, but he's always a step ahead of me.

I only got a few griping words out when he countered with "I'll clean it up and we're going to start practicing at _____'s house next week." I'm not telling whose backyard Robin Hood said would be hosting the archery shooting next.

All wives of bowhunting friends of the resident: look out for a large, grey bundle bleeding cotton coming up your driveway.

Your backyard could be next.

Comments to ETC. are welcome, send to ETC., P.O. Box 89-A, Grayson, LA. Requests to ease up on the Resident will be promptly ignored.

MENDING FENCES
By Myra Phillips
Cottonwood, Arizona

Ranchers in the course of maintaining their property schedule a solid block of time for "riding fence". Whether or not they stick to this routine -possibly dull and arduous task may dictate the success or failure of their -ranching investment. Cattle can stray and die after wandering through a broken fence. And varmints can come in and destroy stock and property unless a sound fence is constantly maintained.

This year I too am confronted with the realization that my neglect of "riding fence" in my own life has resulted in the personal calamity of my own lost stock of a very personal nature. Sorely untended, my broken fence allowed the loss of cherished personal possessions and the admittance of some objectionable varmints that even Orkin can't spray away with one application.

There is only one approach to take in a calamity of this magnitude, since I did not "ride fence" and maintain each break as it occurred. Now I may have to rebuild the entire fence. In looking back through these four breaks in the fence I can see that I lost the corner posts of self esteem that were holding the fence taut from each corner. I suppose my self-esteem dwindled away gradually like a small herd of ignorant cows who each follow the other mindlessly out of habit or instinct. A lost job, a failed marriage, a move to a strange town where my only friends are my family. Suddenly I looked in the mirror and my mind said, "You are a failure. You haven't done anything right." And then a small voice from out of nowhere says, "All is not lost - you just need to survey the situation and "ride fence" and bring things back to a productive direction."

"Yes,"I reply, "I'll mend those breaks in the fence of my life and this maintenance job will influence all of the activities and choices ahead of me. Let's face it, there's no other way out but ACTION. I can't go dig a hole, crawl in, pull the dirt in after me like so many loads of garbage. This may turn out to be a bitter job than I first thought. I am faced with the challenge of rebuilding my life from the ground up.

Now we come to a very important fence post - that of geographical location. Having lived in a very humid part of the country for five years, I find myself back in the country I love - the great southwestern part of these United States, where the cool desert mornings and afternoons, and lavish colored sunsets and sunrises that reflect off the melon-red messa with its clear, brisk mountain air that intoxicates an early riser venturing outdoors to check the tomato plants.

And yes, this leads me to another weather-beaten fence post, nature. Wherever I have lived, Montana, Florida, California or Canada, I have been awestruck by the beauties of God's creations. Even in the throes of Depression, in the swamps of Louisiana, I could take a walk down a wooded trail - or ride a boat down a swampy bayou and marvel at the beauties of field or flower - or animals carrying on their act of becoming.

A Canadian friend once told me. "Just keep on going, one foot in front of the other, and you'll make it." In looking back I can see where I stopped moving, stopped "riding fence" over the past few years and left my boundaries untended to the point of disrepair.

But I'm up on my feet now, wobbly as a newborn calf, moving slowly with one foot in front of the other. Now that I take stock, I realize that I will not have to tear down the fence and start from scratch. From now on I will ride fence with regularity - by the yard and by the inch. I'm confident I'll make it all the way. Adios.

This week's column was written by a good friend, Myra Phillips. I enjoyed it and received her permission to use it. There are a lot of people who have let their lives have breaks in their fences. It pays to always "ride fence every day of our lives, and mend the broken places before things get out of hand.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The public has read enough speculation, rumors, misconceptions and heresay in the newspapers concerning the National Guard and Vietnam.

How about providing your readership with some clear, unemotional facts.

The controversy surrounding Dan Quayle's military service in the National Guard has led many to believe that the Guard was a place where people could escape service in Vietnam.

The facts do not support this misconcepuion.

Twenty Army National Guard units were mobilized in 1968. Major units were from Hawaii, California, Massachusetts, Kentucky, New Hampshire, Kansas, Iowa, Indiana, Arkansas, Colorado, Maryland, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The number of Army National Guard soldiers who served in Vietnam with their units was 2,729. The number of guardsmen who served in Vietnam as fillers for active Army units was 4,311.

Eleven Air National Guard units with 9,164 airmen were called to active duty in response to the Pueblo Crises and the TET offensive.

In 1969 an additional 1,333 airmen were called to federal service. Of the 10,511 Air National Guardsmen more than 2,000 served in combat in Vietnam. Air Guard pilots flew 30,000 sorties during 50,-000 combat flying hours.

Army Guard soldiers were awarded some 4,000 medals for their Vietnam service to include 55 silver stars, 681 purple hearts, six Legions of Merit, and more than 1,000 bronze stars.

97 Guardsmen lost their lives in Vietnam. Three Air Guardsmen were listed as missing-in-action. They are missing still.

Joining the National Guard was no guarantee of escaping combat in Vietnam. To suggest that those who did were draft dodgers shows ignorance of the facts. To imply that these soldiers and airmen did not serve their country is an insult to those whose names are on the Vietnam Wall.

To use one man as a scape goat for the guilty conscious of an entire generation denigrates all that the citizen-soldier stands for.

The National Guard has defended this nation for 350 years. The Guard comes to the aid of its state during a crises whenever called on.

These are the facts.

UNDERSTANDING SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE

Dealing With Denial

By James Roosevelt
Chairman: National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare

Medicare beneficiaries needn't always pay if they get a letter from that agency denying reimbursement because it didn't find the medical service "reasonable and necessary."

Roosevelt

First, of course, you or your doctor have the right to appeal that decision. Second, if your physician does not accept Medicare assignment and he has collected from you for services which Medicare insists are unreasonable and unnecessary, he must refund the money to you. The only exceptions are if your doctor could not reasonably have been expected to know the service would be found unnecessary, or if he or she told you, in advance, that the service would not be covered and you therefore knew you would be responsible for the entire bill.

If you do not hear from your doctor within 30 days after you get the denial notice from Medicare, you should contact your doctor's office and ask for a refund. Your doctor may decide to appeal the decision on the grounds that he could not have known the service would not be reimbursed by Medicare. If he wins the appeal you are liable for the charges. If he loses, he's required to give you the refund.

Crop Insurance Program For Wheat Offers Coverage Options

JACKSON, MS -- The crop insurance program announced that 1989 winter wheat options will enable producers in Louisiana to tailor a policy to their own needs and budgets, according to Mitchell Crouther, Director of the Jackson Federal Crop Insurance Corporation Service Office. The coverage options Permit selecting both the yield guarantee and the amount of the indemnity to be paid per bushel in the event of a crop loss.

The streamlined policies also make it easier for wheat growers to obtain production guarantees based on their own previous yield experiences. A record of high yields increases the maximum amount of protection available and lowers the insurance cost per dollar of protection. Mr. Crouther says.

Until now producers have had to provide detailed year-by-year records to qualify for yield-based production guarantees. Under New rules only a signed yield certification statement is needed, along with records that can be supplied on request.

The deadline to apply for insurance on wheat is September 30, 1988. But Mr. Crouther suggests that interested producers should apply as early as possible to provide agents with time to determine the most favorable and affordable level of available coverage.

Mrs. Bryan Baum

Stuart-Baum Vows Spoken August 20

The beautifully structured Columbia- Methodist Church provided the setting for the traditional and sentimental wedding of Mr. Bryan Baum and Miss Cheryl Stuart on August 20.

The Church was beautifully and tastefully decorated with massive baskets of gladioli and babies breath with white satin bows as well as candle trees and a candle arch. The myriads of candles were lit by Ricky and Dana Campbell, as Mrs. Patricia Hogg played the everlastingly beautiful music of love.

After the mothers were seated, Chantay Martin, accompanied by her father, Sidney Martin, sang in tribute to the parents "Thanks Again".

Shannon Bird, attendant, and Kim Shipp, Matron of Honor, wore identical tea-length gowns of pink fuschia crystalline taffeta with pointed bodices, slightly bouffant skirts, lace sleeves, and matching shoes. They carried nosegay bouquets of white roses and intermittently placed miniature orchids, which had been fashioned by the bride. The flower girl, Megan Stuart, cousin of the bride, was dressed in pink fuschia taffeta with a back interest of lace. She wore a flower band in her hair and carried a basket of rose petals.

The bride escorted by her father was indeed the essence of bridal loveliness in her elegant slipper length creation of white whisper satin and lace. Her fitted lace bodice featured a scoop neckline and pouf lace sleeves. Tiny seed pearls and sequins were delicately scattered over the bodice and sleeves. The A-line skirt, adorned with re-embroidered lace appliques and pearls, flowed gracefully into a lace trimmed cathederal train. Her veil, held in place with a miniature rose band, was the same multi-tiered shoulder length veil her mother wore for her wedding. The cascading bridal bouquet of white roses and miniature orchids with satin streamers, had been fashioned by the bride. For the something borrowed she carried a small metal and jeweled Bible brought from Jerusalem. Too, she carried a lovely Belgian linen handkerchief, a gift from Mrs. John McCants especially for the wedding.

When the couple lit the unity candle, which had been used by her mother and father, Mrs. Hogg played the poignantly lovely "Always". Upon returning to the altar, the couple knelt on a prie dieu originally made by Mrs. Georgine Seegers and used by the Morris Girls at their weddings. Miss Martin, accompanied by her father, sang the thrillingly beautiful Lord's Prayer.

The brides mother wore a beautiful mauve pleated two-piece dress, matching shoes, and an orchid. The groom's mother wore a long torso model of pale peach chiffon, matching shoes, and an orchid.

The brides parents are Mr. & Mrs. James C. Stuart, of Columbia. The grooms parents are Mr. & Mrs. Huey Baum of Grayson. The brides grandparents are Mrs. & Mrs. M.H. Stuart and Mrs. & Mrs. Elly W. Coates of Columbia; and great grandmother is Mrs. Emma Coates. Mrs. Martha Mayes is the grooms grandmother.

The brides parents hosted the reception in the recreation room of the church. Magnificient potted impatiens and spotted ivy were placed advantageously to provide a proper background for the lace, linen, and bow bedecked tables of delectable food and drink.

The grooms table was centered with red roses in a silver champagne bucket. The grooms cake was chocolate with a hunting scene, his favorite sport. A silver coffee service was placed at the other end of the table.

The brides table, flanked by graceful Boston Ferns in tall standards, was indeed impressive. The three-tiered cake, made by the groom's sister, was magnificent in its size and ornamentation. The bottom layer held a miniature replica of the brides bouquet; the second tier held silver bells and flowers; the top tier held the bride and groom figurines in a gazebo; the same figurines used on the brides parent's cake. From the gazebo were ribbons falling to twin cakes topped with doves.

The bride's aunts, Mrs. Karen Stuart and Mrs. Faye Stuart, served the brides cake; Darla Hillestad served the punch; Mrs. Dewanna Johnston, the coffee. Others assisting were Mrs. Jerry Hall, Mr. & Mrs. Jerry Futch, Mrs. Linda Martin, Mrs. Kathy Hopkins, Mrs. Maureen Parker and Mrs. Frances Morris.

Before the happy couple left for a honeymoon to Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the bride tossed her bouquet which was caught by Tonyah Johnston; the groom threw the garter, caught by Lynn Meredith. Upon their return, Mrs. Baum will resume her duties at The Ruhl Company of America, Monroe,La; Mr. Baum, his duties at Louisiana Pacific, Urania,La. The couple will reside in Grayson.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

Mr. & Mrs. Huey Baum hosted the rehearsal supper for the Stuart-Baum wedding party and guests, at the Columbia Garden Center.

In keeping with the bride's chosen color of shades of pink fuschia, the hosts had made the background into a veritable picture of beauty. The tables were covered with silken pink cloths. The serving table was centered with a mixture of mauve flowers in various shades, with small candles in pink holders flanking each side. Pink dinnerware and cutlery completed the picture.

The couple took this opportunity to present gifts to their attendants. They graciously presented gifts to others who were helping with the wedding.

Those who assisted Mr. & Mrs. Baum were Mesdames Billie Howell, Sue Bailey and Pauline Potter.

Veteran's Toll-Free Line Available

If you have a question concerning veterans benefits or need information or assistance, call the Veterans Administration Regional Office in New Orleans using the toll-free telephone line to get the answer.

Toll-free telephone service is now available in all 50 states providing direct access to Veterans Administration Regional Offices, according to Anthony R. Lentini, Director of the New Orleans Regional Office, reminding veterans and their dependents of the service which is available from 7:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Because the service is so popular, Lentini said veterans should have at hand as much VA-related information about themselves as possible when making a call.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

America's first soldiers were its militiamen enlisted locally to protect their colony from attack by Indians or any other hostile force, including foreign powers.

Though having little equipment and minimum training, these early American military men were generally successful as home guardsmen or on the campaign trail and most descendants are proud to establish a kinship.

To genealogists, military records are invaluable in proving where and when a specific person lived, perhaps where he came from and where he went. Some enlistment rolls include even personal descriptions.

The barrier to using such valuable information has long been to locate what records were left behind and make them available for research.

A masterful job has now been completed for America's first colonial militia established in Virginia in the 1600's.

COLONIAL SOLDIERS

Virginia's Colonial Soldiers by Lloyd DeWitt Bockstruck is a comprehensive register of some 14,000 names as compiled from county militia rosters, muster rolls, the papers of George Washington from the French and Indian War, bounty land applications and warrants, court minutes and orders, courts martials, manuscripts, British and American archives, and various other sources.

For many here there is much more than a name, place and date — sometimes residence, occupation, age, height, physical features, place of birth, spouse or widow, specific military experience, etc.

This outstanding reference for America's early colonial soldiers is hardcover with jacket, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 443 pages, place and full name indexes, $20.50 incl. mailing, available from: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202-3897.

PASSENGER LISTS

Passenger and Immigration Lists Bibliography 1538-1900, Second Edition, as edited by P. William Filby provides a list of more than 2,550 published works of names of persons arriving in the United States and Canada within the given dates.

Including all information from the 1981 first edition and its 1984 supplement, this Second Edition adds more than 750 new lists, all alphabetical by author or by title when no author is known.

Each entry has an identification number, gives its full publication and reprint information and describes what its Passenger or Immigration List contains.

The index to this bibliography includes ship names, place names collective names of various nationalities and peoples, places of emigration and immigration, ports of departure and arrival, places of settlement, and other special aid information for researchers.

Hard cover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 348 total pages, indexed, $100.00, available from: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

Tips To Battle The Back-To-School Blues

It seems summer has just begun, yet, it soon will be time to begin thinking about getting the kids ready for the coming school year.

This year don't panic! Knowing how to handle a Back-to-School shopping spree for your child can make the trip a pleasant adventure for both you and your child. A nationally syndicated columnist and author specializing in the subject of child-rearing, Dr. Linda Albert and JCPenney have developed a list of ten ways to Battle the Back-to-School Shopping Blues.

- Try on last year's fall and winter clothes to see what still fits. Take an inventory of needed purchases. If your children are old enough, let them help you with a wish list. Then decide on a budget before you go so they know costly "must have" items means sacrificing others. Popular on the wish list are stonewashed jackets, miniskirts and jeans from JCPenney.
- Teach your children to recognize quality and durability in fabric and how to care for the item. Even small children can learn what feels soft or itchy, warm or cool, strong or fragile.
- Shop for the most important articles early in the season, when the selection is best. Your children are more likely to wear the items they are happy with, so the higher prices will be worth it in the end. Bargain hunt later during sale season for basics like socks and T-shirts.
- For children under 10, you select - kids choose. Assemble a selection of items that are acceptable to you in terms of style, durability, practicality and price. Let the kids make the final choice from this selection.
- Don't fight the fads, remember that every generation of kids dresses differently. Forcing your fashion preferences results in a closet full of unworn clothes. Allowing children choices will also develop their individual sense of style.
- When you have to say no to a particular item, try to give alternatives. If he can't have the designer sweats, point him toward his favorite color in a similar look of private label fleecewear. Stores such as JCPenney carry a wide variety of national and private labels.

- When your child insists on a high-priced item, compromise by putting down the amount you'll pay and let the child make up the difference with savings or household chore earnings. Or buy fewer expensive items and stretch their usable life by dressing them up with accessories.
- Try to educate, not control. Teach children to wear colors and styles that flatter them, and stress the importance of fit. Have children stretch, sit and squat in the clothing and ask how it feels.
- Praise your children when they make wise choices in matching outfits or selecting quality items. In young children, develop confidence in making the right choices by cutting out pictures from the JCPenney catalog and putting different outfits together. Talk about colors and how to mix and match patterns. This will help children prepare for school on mornings you re too busy to supervise.
- Make the shopping trip a special treat by taking each child separately when possible. Shopping with each child alone is a high-quality time for the two of you. Two hours is the maximum time you should spend to avoid frayed nerves on both sides. Department stores offer a large assortment of merchandise for time-saving one-stop shopping. Finish the trip with a special treat, you both deserve it!

Q&A

Biotechnology: A Cure For Mental Illness?

by Howard A. Schneiderman

Dr. Schneiderman is Senior Vice President of Research and Development for the Monsanto Company. He recently spoke at the University of Massachusetts and responded to the questions of how advances in biotechnology may enhance the quality of human life.

Research in biotechnology may lead scientists to causes and cures for many mental diseases.

Q. What is biotechnology?

A. Biotechnology is the use of microorganisms, cells or parts of cells to produce useful substances. Also, in understanding how cells and organisms work, scientists can alter or repair what cells and organisms do. Biotechnology makes use of genetic engineering which is basically a technique done in the laboratory to transfer genes or traits from one organism to another.

Q. How can research in biotechnology make advances against mental illnesses?

A. One area getting increased attention is a class of proteins and peptides. Several peptides and proteins produced by the human brain and by other organs have specific parts of the brain as their "target," and can profoundly alter pain, anger, appetite, sexuality and other types of behavior. It's almost certain production of these proteins and peptides by biotechnology and their study will lead us to a better understanding of the causes and cures for crippling mental illnesses such as schizophrenia, depression and Alzheimer's disease.

MHA Stress and Suicide Workshop Set Sept. 22

The Caldwell Parish Mental Health Association will sponsor a workshop dealing with stress and suicide. Each subject will be dealt with separately and together.

The meeting will be held in the high school auditorium at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend, both young and old.

Professionals who have the expertise to answer questions and instruct in various areas pertaining to these two problems.

The growing number of adolescent suicides is alarming; each year more than 5,000 young people from ages 15-24 take their own lives. But suicide is not limited to the young.

How can we recognize these tendencies? What can we do to help prevent suicide? What aids are available to help?

Everyone is invited to come to the meeting and bring someone with them. A life may be saved by knowing what to do.

HEARTBEAT

IS YOUR LIFESTYLE HEALTHY?

There's a reason so many diet and exercise weight-control programs fail. Knowing it can help you attain your health goals.
People often think of their diets — whether counting calories or adding up cholesterol — as a temporary measure, a necessary evil designed to achieve a certain goal by a certain date. Often a process of behavior modification is needed. It entails changing your behavior patterns and long-standing eating habits.
With your doctor's help, select a good diet — one that's low in cholesterol, saturated fat, and sodium. To change your eating habits, first identify them. Each day, write down everything you eat and drink. Note the time of day you ate the food, where you ate it and how you felt. After two weeks, study the record to see which eating habits you can keep and which need changing. Once you've identified self-defeating habits that are part of your behavior, you can change them.
Use various strategies to control your eating habits. Write a contract with yourself that rewards you for each goal you achieve. Make it fun, something you can anticipate. When you have negative feelings that lead you to eat, substitute another pleasurable activity.
Exercise is a good companion activity to any dieting program. It serves many purposes — burns calories, improves muscle tone, and improves the efficiency of your cardiovascular system. Before starting an exercise program, check with your doctor. Any aerobic exercise, such as walking, cycling, or jogging, is good.
Other risk factors associated with coronary heart disease also need monitoring. They include such measures as stopping smoking, controlling hypertension, including being aware that some anti-hypertensive — drugs raise cholesterol, and bringing diabetes under control.
It's important to keep track of your cholesterol level. It's a good idea to have your doctor test it for you. If your cholesterol level does not respond enough to a change in diet and still remains high (over 240 mg/dl), your physician may then want to prescribe a first line cholesterol lowering drug, such as Lorelco, Questran or nicotinic acid.

THEY MOVE!

Thirty original wooden toys — that shake, rattle, roll, clatter, snap, crawl and jiggle — are yours for the making with readily available woods and ordinary workshop tools. Push or pull any of the animated toys and they spring to life in an uncanny imitation of the real thing.

How to Make Animated Toys offers step-by-step instructions, vivid 2-color, easy-to-follow patterns and exploded drawings that show you exactly what to cut — where to hammer — and how to assemble every project.

Imagine the fun kids will have pushing, pulling and spinning prehistoric monsters, active animals and wonderful wheeled vehicles. Here are just a few of the projects:

- Leaping kangaroos
- A turtle whose head and tail disappear inside the shell
- A claw-snapping lobster
- A jaw-crunching tyrannosaurus
- Planes, boats, trucks, flying saucers
- and dozens more!

Best of all — this treasury of toys is part of the Popular Science library for woodworkers, so you know you can trust it for expert instructions and easy-to-use patterns that reap high quality results.

FALLING ASLEEP AT THE WHEEL

By Merrill M. Miller, Ph.D.
Scientific Director
Sleep Disorders Center
Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation
La Jolla, Calif.

What makes drivers sleepy?

Sleep Deprivation. Many Americans are getting less sleep now than ever before. But few realize that the effect of sleep loss accumulates—the pressure to sleep builds up. People who have accumulated a large sleep debt are dangerous.

Sleep Disorders. Each year sleep disorders centers see 20,000 to 30,000 new patients who have the problem of involuntarily falling asleep. A car accident is often what prompts them to seek medical help. Fortunately, sleep disorders usually can be successfully treated.

Body Rhythms. The Association of Professional Sleep Societies—an organization of sleep researchers—recently reviewed data on 6,000 one- and two-vehicle accidents. They fell into a time pattern with a major peak between midnight and 7 a.m. and a second peak in the daytime between 1 and 4 p.m. Our daily body rhythms make us more likely to feel sleepy at these times even if we're not lacking in sleep.

Alcohol and Street Drugs. Not only does alcohol impair judgment and reflexes, but even small doses can increase people's basic levels of sleepiness, particularly if they are somewhat sleepy to begin with. And having consumed alcohol, drivers are less likely to recognize their own fatigue. Most street drugs have similar effects.

Essential Medications. Unfortunately, many over-the-counter and prescription medications trigger daytime sleepiness as well. Though warned by physicians and pharmacists not to drive when taking certain medications, patients don't always heed the warnings.

These are some signs of driver fatigue:

- Difficulties in focusing, increased blinking or even closing the eyes for a second; narrowing of the field of vision.
- Drifting to either side of the road.
- Taking longer than normal to react to a dangerous driving situation.
- Failing to scan the roadways and mirrors—looking only on one side of the road or straight ahead.
- Not remembering the previous few miles of the trip.

Helpful Hints.

Before you leave to drive anywhere—but especially on a long trip—consider these helpful hints from the New York State Thruway Authority:

- Pull over and take a safety break, then drive alert.
- Let someone else drive for a while, if possible.
- Set reasonable travel objectives.
- Make up for any sleep you may have lost prior to driving.
- Avoid alcohol, even the night before driving. Effects of alcohol can take a long time to wear off.

It's almost impossible for a normal person to fall asleep at the wheel without any warning. The problem is that people continue to drive when they know they're sleepy.

If sleepiness is a persistent problem, it may be signaling a sleep disorder that requires medical attention. Sleep disorder experts can now successfully treat many people who come for help.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Traveling Safely and Smartly with Children

Traveling with children can be a delightful experience, if you plan ahead and follow a few tips such as the five suggestions from the travel experts at American Express Travelers Cheques:

If you're traveling by day in the car, bring along a cooler with cold drinks. This can provide ready refreshment for thirsty children.

As you organize your travel funds, plan to carry more than half of your money in travelers cheques and the balance in cash. Travelers cheques are safer than cash because they can be replaced if lost or stolen.

Don't keep all your valuables in one purse, suitcase or your car glove compartment. Husbands and wives should split carrying cash, travelers cheques, credit cards and checks.

Never pack valuables like cheques, cash or jewelry in your luggage, and don't travel with more bags than you can comfortably handle, especially if you have children with you.

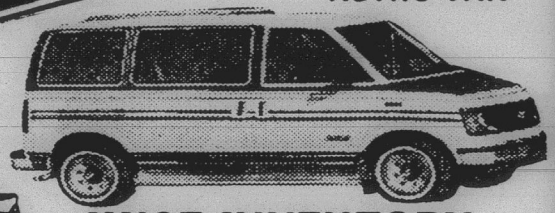
NEWS OF SAFETY

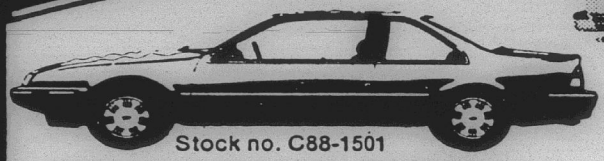
Don't Drink And Dive

Here are tips from Olympic gold medal diver Greg Louganis on how you can take the plunge to enjoy the fun and sport of diving—safely.

Plan and control your dive before you take the plunge. Keep your head and hands in front of you.



Don't drink and dive. The slowing effects of alcohol or drugs on reaction times can be extremely dangerous in diving. The National Pool Foundation is one of the groups that is working to increase awareness of the hazard of alcohol when diving. It's not okay to have just a few drinks before you dive.



Look before you leap. Know the water depth before you dive and look for submerged obstacles or surface objects. Don't dive into an aboveground pool or into the shallow end of a pool. Nine of ten diving injuries occur in six feet of water or less. Don't dive into unfamiliar bodies of water. Three out of four diving accidents happen in natural bodies of water like lakes and rivers.

Keep it simple. Keep your arms extended and head and hands up during the dive. After you dive down, you must steer up with your hands. You can enjoy diving safely if you keep in mind that you're doing it for fun and you keep your dives neat and simple.

Tarpons host Iowa Friday

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons lost to the Elton Indians 7-0 in the Iowa Jamboree last Friday night.

The Indians picked up 107 yards to South Cameron's 35 yards and made 11 first downs to the Tarpons' one.

Elton's stacked defense in the middle short-circuited the Tarpons sweep offense, knifing through the pulling guard slots to drop the intended ball carrier in his tracks. That forced the Tarpons to the air that accounted for their lone first down of the contest.

The Tarpons will open their regular season at home Friday at 7 p.m. against Iowa, a team that is still seeking its first victory over the Tarpons. Of concern to the Tarpon coaching staff is Iowa's ability to score as well as its ability to stop the run with its split 6 defense. Veteran Coach Tobear Cormier's intent is to stop the run and force the pass, hoping the odds will favor his defense.

South Cameron could be improved 100% even in this short time to retain their victory skein over the hungry Yellow Jackets.

Head Coach Parry LaLande will rely on a successive 5 game non-district schedule to grow into a contention role.

Chamber being formed locally

An organizational meeting to form a Chamber of Commerce to represent the various Cameron communities was held Monday, Aug. 29, in Cameron.

Guest speaker was Joe Sironi, President of the Chamber Southwest of Lake Charles. Mr. Sironi shared with the group of over 25 parish business men and women, what a Chamber of Commerce is and what it takes to succeed.

He described a Chamber of Commerce as a group of businesses banded together helping to solve common problems.

A decision was made by the group to meet again to organize and set goals on Thursday, Sept. 8, at 11:30 a.m. at Pat's Restaurant. All business people are invited to attend.

BOB FRUGE, president of Cameron State Bank, presents a chckfor $150 to Renee LaLande, representing the South Cameron High School Cheerleader Squad. They are also holding a Tarpon Touchdown Towel,swhich is presented to 100 Tarpon supporters as a packet when they receive their reserved seats to the Tarpon games.

Spec trout season will start Thurs.

The commercial fishing season for speckled trout began at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 1, according to the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The season will remain open for commercial fishermen until a quota of 1,250,000 pounds of speckled trout has been landed, said Virginia VanSickle, department secretary.

VanSickle reminded fishermen that the minimum size for commercially taken speckled trout is 14 inches and that all finfish in their possession must have head and caudal fin (tail) intact when put ashore from a vessel or when sold.

The annual Sept. 1, opening date for the commercial speckled trout season was established by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, and Act 889 of the 1988 Legislature set the quota at 1,250,000 pounds. The law also mandated the commission to close the speckled trout fishery to all commercial activity once the quota is reached.

Pork vote slated here

On Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 7 and 8, the nation's pork producers will vote in the pork referendum, which will determine the future of the present pork checkoff which provides funding for the many promotion and research programs that benefit pork producers.

All pork producers and eligible family members are encouraged to cast a ballot in the referendum at the Cameron Cooperative Extension office from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Any person who has raised two or more hogs for sale since Nov. 1, 1986, is entitled to vote, including 4-H and FFA members.

The Cameron Volunteer Fire Department is not in any way connected or sponsoring the supper, auction and dance for the Calcasieu-Cameron Red Cross disaster fund raiser scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 3, at the Creole K.C. Hall, as reported last week. All proceeds will go to the Red Cross and not the fire department.

MD drive set

The Cameron Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual Muscular Dystrophy Drive Friday, Sept. 2, in front of the fire station in Cameron, from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. All money will go to Jerry's Kids.

Luncheon set

The second annual South Cameron Hospital Council on Aging luncheon will be held at 11 a.m., Sept. 8, at the K.C. hall in Creole. The Knights of Columbus 3014 will co-sponsor the event.

Bingo will follow the luncheon.

Is accepted

Melanie L. Blanchard of Hackberry has been accepted in the Louisiana School for Math, Science and the Arts in Natchitoches, to serve her junior year of high school.

Aging meeting

The Cameron Council on Aging board of directors will meet Sept. 14, at 10 a.m. at the Cameron Senior Center, Cameron.

Bill Dixon, Social Security Administrator, will be the guest speaker.

SCHOOL SETS OPEN HOUSE

South Cameron Elementary School will have an open house Thursday, Sept. 8, 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Parents are encouraged to visit with the teacher and discuss procedures for classroom instruction.

Refreshments will be served in the school library, according to Barry W. Richard, principal.

ECONOMY MOVES CONTINUE

Jury announces new fees and cuts

Still continuing to try to ward off a huge fiscal deficit, the Cameron Parish Police Jury made a number of budget cuts at a special meeting last Thursday evening.

INSURANCE

"This would not affect the benefits of the employees. It would just mean that we would be taking care of that particular problem ourselves, rather than have the insurance company take care of it." The move will save the parish $108,000 a year.

They also approved reducing the auto insurance coverage from $1 million to $100,000 and increasing the deductible from $1000 to $10,000.

Nunez said that $500,000 worth of comprehensive general coverage with a $10,000 deductible would be around $112,000. The jury would pay about one-half the cost with the rest being picked up by the water districts and the various other entities.

Therefore, the parish's total cost for insurance under the new plan would break down to: $35,000 for business auto, $21,000 for property, fire and extended coverage on buildings, zero for workman's compensation and $70,000 projected for comprehensive general coverage. This would cost the jury a grand total of $127,000 for coverage from Sept. 1, 1988 to Sept. 1, 1989.

PERMIT FEES

The jury then proceeded to adopt a schedule of fees for various parish permits for which there had been no charges in the past. These were as follows:

- Drilling and pipeline permits, $250 for the non-damaging permits; $500 for the damaging permits (if a parish road is damaged.)
- Seismic permits, $25 each.
- Coastal Zone permits, based upon estimated cost of the project: $1 to $5,000, $50 permit fee; $5,000, to $50,000, $100 permit fee; projects over $50,000 will require a $100 permit fee plus one percent of the development cost.
- Develoment permits, $25 (including dredging, filling, grading, paving, excavation and bulkheads).
- Bulding permits, $25 (mobile homes, moving houses to new locations, residential and non-residential construction).
- Liquor permits, $25 each (retail, special event, temporary, Sunday sale).
- Bingo permits, $25 (if a state license is obtained).

DRIVEWAYS

The jury also adopted a $400 permit fee to provide and install an 18-inch by 24-foot culvert in a driveway with a higher fee for large pipes.

SOLID WASTE DISPOSAL

Turning to solid waste collection and disposal, the jury voted to close the parish dump sites one day a week and operate them four hours a day for the other six days. Twice a week residential garbage collection will continue.

Juror Carroll Trahan of the Holly Beach-Johnson Bayou area asked that the dumps in his area be kept open seven days a week with residential collection being discontinued.

He said that this was a preferable alternative for his area because of the large number of beach camps used on the weekends and because of the homes being spread out over a large area.

"If we were to close the dumps part-time, we would have garbage being dumped on the roads," he stated. The jury agreed to his request.

PERSONNEL

The jurors went into a closed session for about 30 minutes to discuss personnel financial matters but took no action on them when they resumed their regular meeting.

Terry Hebert

Hebert is named to dock board

Cameron parish now has its own voting member of the Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal District dock board. He is Cameron businessman Charles T. (Terry) Hebert who was appointed to the position last Thursday night by the Cameron police jury.

Cameron parish had been represented on the board for several years in the past, first by Police Juror Braxton Blake of Cameron and later by Juror Kenneth Ducote of Hackberry. However, neither had a vote on the board.

The Legislature recently completely changed the makeup of the dock board and in doing so gave Cameron parish a full voting member on the board.

However, since the Harbor and Terminal District does not include any portion of Cameron parish, Cameron's board member has to live in Calcasieu--which Hebert does, just over the line north of the Grand Lake area.

Four other persons submitted applications for the Cameron appointment--Coy Russell Duplechain and Gordon Tugwell of Lake Charles and James H. Butler and Marie Batts Butler of Sulphur.

Hebert was nominated for the position by Juror George LeBouef and also received the votes of Brent Nunez and Carroll Trahan.

Juror Ray Conner nominated James Butler who also received the vote of Juror Douaine Conner. With Jury President Kenneth

Welch national powerlift champ

Gerald Welch of Hackberry won his second national powerlifting championship in St. Louis, Mo., recently and qualified for the 1989 World Drug Free championships in Chicago.

At the 1988 American Drug Free Power Association Senior Nationals in St. Louis on Aug. 14, Welch won his second National Championship with a new national record total of 2,159 pounds. He now holds all three national records in the 275 pound class. His nearest competitor totaled 1,945 pounds.

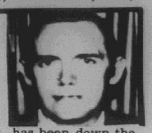
In the bench press, in which Welch held the record with a 507 pound lift, he set a new record of 523 pounds. His nearest competitor lifted 462 pounds.

The dead lift was the only national record not previously held by Welch. John Kuc held this record at 755 pounds and is a four time world champion. Welch broke this record with a 781 pound lift.



Welch has participated in five meets this year but will not have any more until 1989. He said he is taking two weeks off and going on a diet to drop off 25 pounds and try to add more muscle and less fat.

1909 Storm

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American, Aug. 27, 1909)
NO STORM DAMAGE IN CAMERON

Aug. 24.--The threatened gulf storm yesterday and the high winds of last night caused some apprehension of damage or loss of life in Cameron Parish, an apprehension justified by the announcement by the weather bureau that the storm passed inland between Calcasieu and Sabine passes.

All fears were relieved, however, when the Rex arrived at its usual hour shortly after noon today. Clerk Thomson said that the winds were high at Cameron and it took several extra lines to keep the Rex from breaking away from the wharf. But the water did not come in from the gulf and no damage was done either at Cameron or points west of it, so far as reported. It is thought that the storm spent its force before it reached land.

THE INTERCOASTAL OR CALCASIEU RIVER PASS ROUTE?

Editor, American-Press: Having been a consistent worker for deep water for Lake Charles for years, and keeping in direct touch with every move to that end, I feel that we are now at the critical stage of either getting deep water as fast as human agencies can get it, or passing it up forever.

Pesonally I have always been an advocate of the Calcasieu Pass route, and if I thought there was a possibility of getting that way in the next five years, I would still advocate that route, but I am convinced that without present resources the cost is prohibitive, and it is a case of "Hobson's choice,"--either Intercoastal route or no deep water.

With reference to Cameron citizens wanting deep water, I would offer as a suggestion that they first take advantage of their "golden opportunity" offered in the way of rich farming lands, fishing, and bathing possibilities by getting their road system completed so that they can take advantage of the large non-resident land owners in the way of taxes to build a road north and south from the parish line to the beach on the gulf, thereby opening up one of the finest places of virgin territory left underdeveloped in the south. This will give them the advantage of the port at Lake Charles, and at the same time be an added inducement for deep water through Calcasieu Pass.

Bonsall reunion is visit to past

By JAMES BELTON BONSALL

The children of the late Mrs. Bernie Lee Colvin Bonsall (Mrs. James Bonsall and James Belton Bonsall) of Grand Chenier and Constance B. Sims of Lake Charles, attended the Aug. 6, annual Colvin family reunion in Unionville, in Lincoln Parish just north of Ruston.

The Colvin family has held a family reunion every year since 1916. Family members gather in the specially-built Colvin Memorial pavilion that is next to the Unionville Cemetery where many generations of the Colvins are buried and across the road from the Unionville General Store (an historical landmark) operated by Colvin members since 1853. Louisiana Life Magazine printed a story on the reunion in its August 1984 issue.

About 300 family members attended the 1988 Colvin reunion. Mrs. Kate Colvin Jones, a 95-year-old retired school teacher, was honored as the oldest member attending and a young lady student at La. Tech, a Colvin descendant from Idaho, as the one who traveled the farthest.

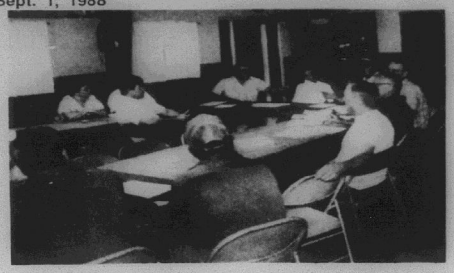
The Colvin family originated from Devon County, England. John Colvin and his wife, Hannah Price, received a 200 acre land grant in South Carolina from King George III in 1774. Their oldest son, William, (1762-1835) and his son, Andrew, (1785-1849), is the line through which most of the Louisiana family is descended.

However, John Colvin's fourth son, Daniel (1777-1840) and his wife, Susan, were the first Colvin family to move into Louisiana around 1807. They left Georgia and crossed what was called the Indian Nation (today the states of Alabama and Mississippi) in covered wagons and on boats and settled in this part of north central Louisiana.

Recently when a pipeline right-of-way was cleared through the pine woods, the old original Daniel Colvin Cemetery was rediscovered where he, wife and children are buried. Present generation Colvin children cleaned the cemetery and a new fence had been put up around it, and as part of the reunion celebration Colvin family members visited this cemetery.

Bernie Lee Colvin (Mrs. James Bonsall) had been born at Dubach, just a few miles north of Unionville, the daughter of Dr. Rufus Belton Colvin. Her grandfather was Ansley Hall Colvin, Jr. (1856-1903) and her great-grandfather, Ansley Hall Colvin (1829-1909). Belton Bonsall and Constance Sims visited the tombs of these two ancestors in the Unionville Cemetery. Luther Colvin, Mrs. Bonsall's cousin, took Belton and Connie to see the sites where old family pioneer homes had stood, including the place where their grandfather, Rufus Belton, had been born near Bayou D'Arbonne.

On their return to South Louisiana, Belton Bonsall and Connie Sims visited their mother's first cousin, T. L. Colvin, Sr., and his wife. Mr. Colvin, publisher of The Jackson Independent, the Jackson Parish newspaper in Jonesboro. The Jackson Independent has been printed for 94 years and the last 78 years by Colvins. Mrs. Bernie Colvin remembered as a girl when she'd visit Uncle A. M. Colvin (T. L.'s father) and help around the paper, including clean the type. A visit was made to the modern printing plant.



In 1987 The Jackson Independent won first place in the National Newspaper Association contest for the best advertising idea for circulation. This was a series of ads that were parodies of the "Bartles and James" television ads, "We thank you for your support", with Mr. Colvin and his son, Ted, in photographed situations similar to Bartles and James.

In the visit, Colvin family traits and talents were discussed. Through the generations there have been many talented artists (persons with a strong visual sense, a love of literature), writing, story-telling and reading, musical talents, school teachers and business people. The Colvins have the inherited English trait of being rather reserved.

In relation to art, Mrs. Alice Colvin is working to help organize the Jackson Heritage Museum and Fine Arts Association in Jonesboro and Belton Bonsall told her of experiences in helping launch the Cameron Parish museum, that is in his great uncle Dr. Isaac Bonsall's old home in Cameron, last fall.

A final stop on the North Louisiana Colvin trip was made in Winnfield. Rufus Belton Colvin and his family had lived in Winnfield and Bernie Colvin had often told her children of living just down the street from her three friends and school mates who became Louisiana governors: O. K. Allen, Huey P. Long, and Earl K. Long.

Belton and Connie Bonsall visited the Earl K. Long Memorial statue erected on the site of the old Long home by the State of Louisiana, and they drove through the historical old neighborhood looking at the old homes.

S. W. SWEENEY OF CAMERON ADVOCATES DEEP WATER THROUGH CALCASIEU PASS

Editor, American Press:

I have been reading with great pleasure all the late publications of The Daily American Press relative to the deep water for Lake Charles, but I feel as if the question of route for this great enterprise should be more carefully and closely considered by all of us before it is too late to do so. Hence it is for this reason that I am writing this article and asking that the same be published in your paper, for not only will we have a greater Lake Charles with the bringing of deep water, but also a greater Southwest Louisiana, especially if the route for same is taken through our best and natural route namely: Lake Charles to Gulf by Calcasieu Pass or River.

Whereas, on the other hand, if the route is taken via the Intercoastal-Orange-Port Arthur route, then, in the long run I venture to say that instead of helping to make Lake Charles grow to a more stable and cosmopolitan city, and the whole of southwest Louisiana grow to a greater commercial and agricultural center of the south, we help to make Southeast Texas such a further noted section, as with its three deep water ports already opened up and now in operation, namely, Port Arthur, Beaumont and Orange, and now with the same route further extended out say upon its east or northeast wing, another distance of about 50 miles to Lake Charles, if the cut is made through the Intercoastal route as now contemplated, this in the end will be a handicap to Lake Charles, owing to her thereby placing herself at such a far greater distance from the deep water of the gulf than what she could naturally do by making the cut of deep water to her port through Calcasieu Pass or river, which in the end will mean her export and import trade to and from different parts of the world will naturally be carried on at a far greater expense and loss of time to the ship owners that will make her said port by the "Texas Route," which I have herein outlined.

Therefore, we will say the distance from Lake Charles to the gulf by the "Texas Route" will total up about as follows: Lake Charles to Orange, about 50 miles; Orange to Port Arthur, 22 miles; Port Arthur to south end of Sabine Pass Jetties, about 20 miles. Thus this figures a total of about 92 miles that a ship would be forced to travel after leaving Lake Charles before the same would enter the gulf by this route.

Now, on the other hand, we will figure the best, true and logical route--Lake Charles to gulf via Calcasieu Pass and river, with canal on east side of Calcasieu Lake, as per the map or blue print of said route once made by Engineer Mandell, of Lake Charles, which, if I remember right, was only a total distance of about 40 miles from Lake Charles to deep water in the gulf, which thereby means a saving in distance of fully 40 or 45 miles of inside run for ships in the two routes.

There is another great point favoring the short and natural route that I want to here also remind you of and bring to your attention about this proposition, which is from a natural drainage standpoint that taking of the shorter route will greatly and materially assist all of us from this end of it, and I feel sure that all of you will again bear me out as being correct also along that end of the deep water proposition.

You will recall the great losses experienced by Lake Charles and her surrounding territory, including both the city and country, all along down the Calcsieu river and lake, during the fall of 1913, when we were all visited by that awful high water, and which I hope we will never again see. However, I feel satisfied, and I think practically all of you will agree with me, that a 35-foot deep water channel cut from Lake Charles practically straight to the gulf through the Calcasieu Pass or river as herein outlined, we would so greatly assist the entire drainage of Southwest Louisiana that no doubt such an occurrence of high water as we had in the fall of 1913 would never again be noticeable to this section of the state of Louisiana, for the distance as so outlined for this said deep water route, as per said map or blueprint I once had in my possession and made by Engineer Mandell, cuts the distance from Lake Charles to the gulf by said route several miles. This, therefore, would mean, as above stated, a big thing to the whole of Southwest Louisiana not only from the commercial and agricultural standpoint from the deep water end of it, but also from a great and natural drainage standpoint.

The writer recalls about seven years ago this deep water question was being agitated by the Lake Charles businessmen and others of this section, etc., and I felt sure the way was then opened up for us to all get together along this line after act No. 302, senate bill No. 207, for year 1914, as authorized by our ex-Senator Aladin Vincent, of our own district, had become a law whereby navigation districts could be formed, which the said act soauthorizes navigation districts created by one or several parishes of the state getting together and complying with the requirements of said act, and thereby so levy the required taxes and sale of bonds for just such purposes I think of getting a good deep water channel to Lake Charles by the route that I have herein outlined as the short route. And it seems that this is a fine way to raise the ncessary money on the part of the local people in said district for such a good and fair proposition as you could readily seethat by about three parishes, or more, getting together and making one navigation district, whereby a mighty small levy of taxes would be required by all concerned therein in order to issue bonds, etc., for such a deep water route to Lake Charles by Calcasieu Pass and river. This amount being followed up at the right time by our national government, which no doubt could just as easily, if not more so, be secured by an appropriation sufficient to enable the completion of all things required to put this short route in operation and give us another port of entry, which would not only in the end be a great benefit to the city of Lake Charles and Southwest Louisiana, but to the whole world as this would then put Lake Charles on the map as being able to carry on with more ease and speed all of the great export and import trade that will naturally come to its great port by such a route. It can, therefore, be seen that if the said deep water is so located that the ships can enter for the port of Lake Charles, La., right here at the short route, instead of going away round through the longer route, then there is naturally more business guaranteed to the said port of Lake Charles which would be due to the great saving of time and money by running through the said short route, all of which I have hrein fully explained, or tried to, and hope that I have made it so plain that all will readily understand the proposition.

Yours very sincerely,
/s/ S. W. Sweeney

New fishing regulation for Toledo

Revised sportfishing regulations will go into effect Thursday, Sept. 1, at Toledo Bend Reservoir and Caddo Lake, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries announced.

The two bodies of water lie athwart the Louisiana-Texas border, and the new rules stem from a recently ratified reciprocal agreement between the two states.

Under the new rules, recreational fishermen on both sides of the state line will be required to observe a creel limit on black bass of 10 a day, with a minimum size of 12 inches total length. Both largemouth bass and spotted bass are included.

In addition, anglers at Toledo Bend and Caddo Lake will be limited to a catch of 50 crappie a day, a provision already in effect at Caddo. The present Louisiana daily limit of five on striped bass and unlimited catch of bream will remain unchanged.

Littering out

Littering can now affect your pocketbook and/or suspend your driver's license.

In Lousiiana littering is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 and up to $750. For throwing any litter from an automobile or a boat, the blame for littering is placed on the driver of the automobile or the operator of the boat.

Upon the second conviction of littering, a person shall be fined not less than $300 nor more than $1,500 and shall have his driver's license suspended for 30 days.

Louisiana enacted this law during the 1987 regular session.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

'Gator season to open Sept. 10

By Loston McEvers

BIG BURN CLOSES

All of the Miami Corporation permit fishing is closed as of last Sunday. It's been a fair year for bass in the Big Burns, but better in the eastern part of Grand Lake for bass. The past three weeks some large bass have been taken.

The permit fishing will be closed now until March, 1989.

ALLIGATOR SEASON

Alligator trappers will start their hunt Sept. 10.

Alligator hunting has brought in thousands of dollars to our economy and our trappers.

Back in the '50's gators were hunted hard, all year round and in the 1960's, we realized they were in trouble and put them on the endangered species list. But good management has brought the gator back and in the last few years with a tagging system, allowing only a certain amount of tags, the gator is no longer in trouble.

In 1972 the first controlled hunt took place and 1337 gators were harvested and each hide sold averaged over $55 each. In 1973 the harvest increased and 2916 hides brought an average of $92 each, but it came to an end that year as the feds put them on the endangered list. Louisiana proved we had an over abundance of gators and the same year Cameron, Calcasieu, and Vermilion parishes were allowed a limited hunt.

In 1981 hunting took place in all Louisiana and 14,500 hides valued at $120 a piece were harvested. That's $1.74 million to pass through the Louisiana economy.

Today it's still on an application for tags basis, and a license is required. Resident licenses are $25 plus $2 tag and non residents are $150.

The hunters are briefed before the season as to where to place the tag and how to skin the gator so it can be recognized as that year's gator killed. The tag stays on the gator's tail, about 6 inches up until processing is done.

Hunters are not allowed to cut a gator loose in hopes of catching a bigger one. Most of these would die, due to the fact it swallowed the 10/0 or 11/0 hook that had been baited.

The lines are set one day before the hunting begins. Chicken and melts are the favored baits, but black birds are used by many.

Hook and line set on a pole about 14 to 18 inches above the water is used and must be used to legally catch gators. This also keeps the smaller gators from being hooked. It also keeps from catching so many female gators, as the old way you found the hole or nest and the female was always killed. The ratio now is 7 males to 1 female killed.

When a big bull gator is hooked, like 12 ft., 600 pounds. You got to know what you're doing, it becomes dangerous. Once you make sure the gator is dead, you have all that dead weight to put in the boat and that's man power.

In 1987, there were 1334 commercial licenses issued and right at 24,000 alligators were harvested. Hides averaged $39 a foot, which brought in one million dollars. Now alligator meat has become a fine dish to where those sales have done well. In 1986 310,000 pounds of gator meat deboned sold for $1.4 million. Many gator hunters do hunt for a living or to make extra money, but it's a sport to them also.

Something else that brings in extra money is the gator hunter acts as a guide and brings out a sportsman that has all the proper licenses and charges him so much a day, plus so much for the trophy bull alligator he kills as it is still on the hook and line.

REMINDER TO CRAWFISH DEALERS

A person buying, acquiring or handling any species of fish for resale is defined as a wholesale/retail dealer, and must obtain a license. That includes crawfish dealers as well and the people who buy and process to sell softshell crawfish.

The license costs $105 for residents and $405 for non-residents per year. Beginning Oct. 1, the 1989 calendar year license will be out for sale.

TOLEDO BEND

New sportfishing regulations will go into effect Thursday, Sept. 1, at Toledo Bend Reservoir and Caddo Lake.

The two bodies of water are on the Louisiana-Texas border and the new rules were done in agreement between the two states.

Under the new rules, recreational fishermen on both sides of the state line will be required to observe a creel limit on black bass of 10 a day, with the minimum size of 12 inches total length. This includes both largemouth and spotted bass.

Also, anglers fishing these two lakes will be limited to 50 crappie per day (white perch, Sau-ca-la). The present Louisiana daily limit of five on striped bass and unlimited catch of bream will remain unchanged.

I wish Louisiana would get smart and have our largemouth bass to 10 per day with a 12 inch limit. This would mean we'd have more bass and larger bass in our marshes and lakes.

Remember, dove season this weekend.

Waterfowl season is announced

The 1988 waterfowl season has been set by the Lousiana Department of Wildife and Fisheries. The following changes should be noted:

1. Shooting hours for all waterfowl will begin at official sunrise rather than the traditional 30 minutes before sunrise. Legal shooting will end at official sunst.

2. The point system will not be used to determine bag limits. The daily bag limit will be three ducks; these three ducks may include no more than two mallards (no more than one which may be a female), one black duck, two wood ducks, and one redhead. During the first seven days of the season one pintail of either sex may be taken in the bag and during the last seven days of the season, two pintails may be taken. Pintails cannot be taken during the remainder of the season. No canvasbacks may be taken at anytime.

3. The total number of days open to duck hunting has been reduced to 30 total days with the West Zone's first split opening Nov. 19, and closing Dec. 4. The second split for the West Zone will open Dec. 26, and close Jan. 8. The East Zone duck season will run from Nov. 19-27, for the first split and Dec. 19-Jan. 8, for the second split. There will be no special nine day teal season in September and no special scaup season in January.

4. Hunters should also be reminded that "goose creeping" is prohibited in Louisiana.

5. Goose season in the West Zone will open Nov. 19 and close Dec. 7. the second segment begins Dec. 26, and closes Feb. 14.

Holly Beach dates back to 1930's

By ED KELLEY
Cameron Parish Beach
Clean-up Coordinator

Holly Beach, designated as beach No. 6 on the beach clean-up map, is named after the community of Holly Beach, one of the major assets for tourism in Cameron Parish, due to its beaches and facilities for tourists.

We cannot decribe the origin of this beach without some of the history of Holly Beach being included.

Cameron beaches had always been used as tourist spots for residents of the Acadian area known locally as out "east-ers". When the beaches used by the Marseleus Peshoff and Broussard hotels became muddy, the time was ripe for the development of the Holly Beach area.

In July, 1930, John B. Dagile, L. R. Henry and Mark Richard drew up the plats and became developers of the James Wakefield Property which became Holly Beach. The street names were very appropriate for the area, such as Mallard, Heron, Teal, Brant, Egret streets and Pelican Blvd.

The late Alcee Daigle owned a two story hotel on this beach, from which he operated a hunting club. In his hunting business he used air boats and marsh buggies.

The developers, Mr. Daigle, Henry and Richard, also had a dance hall. Mr. Charles Hebert of Hebert Abstract Co. tells us he was their soda pop salesman at a very early age.

Last year Beach Co-captains Clifton Cabell and Gerald Touchet and 125 volunteer picked up 900 bags of trash. They are ready to go again this year.

Holly Beach extends from the now destroyed beach rest area to the the undeveloped section of Holly Beach or about 4 miles. There is access to the beach by quite a number of streets.

Although not included in our beach map this year, we have another welcome volunteer to our group of beach captains. This is Mrs. Mona McBride of Lake Charles who will take over the cleaning of the old Peveto Beach area.

Peveto Beach extends from the old beach rest area west about five miles to the old beach pier structure. At one point in time this was also referred to as Palm Beach.

At one time this beach had cabins and Ray Peveto, one of the developers, owned a cold drink stand. An entire section of beach containing these places was washed out due to storms and erosion.

Cleaning of ths beach should be very helpful and allow the tourist to appreciate the beauty of this area for the highway runs parallel to this beach.

Seafood meeting

Seafood industry experts from the United States, Europe and Japan will speak at the Fourth Annual Seafood Export Conference, hosted by the U. S. Department of Commerce in New Orleans Sept. 7-9.

The conference is designed to assist the U.S. seafood industry to take advantage of international sales opportunities. U.S. exports of seafood are increasing at a rapid pace. In 1987, $1.6 billion worth of U.S. seafood was sold to overseas markets. This figure represents an increase of almost 48 million pounds in volume and more than $290 million in value from 1986.

Museum has exhibit

On Tuesday, Sept. 6, the second annual photographic exhibit, "Southwest Louisiana-A Roadside View", will open at the Brimstone Museum in Sulphur.

The artist reception, which will open the exhibit, is scheduled for 7-9 p.m. on Sept. 6. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

This title has been chosen because all areas photographed are accessible by car, many are on state highways. These are scenes which can easily be seen by anyone.

During the past year, LeBlanc has traveled over 5000 miles within the Calcasieu-Cameron parish area to seek out just the right areas to photograph. This series of portraits are the finalists from hundreds of exposures taken.

Employment up

The unemployment rate in Cameron parish dropped from 8.9 percent in June to 8.2 percent in July and gives the parish the third lowest jobless rate in the state.

According to the La. Dept. of Labor, only Lincoln parish, 5.4 percent and Vernon parish, 7.4 percent, had lower jobless rates, with Cameron tied with Sabine parish at 8.2 percent for the third lowest in Louisiana.

For the state as a whole the July jobless rate was 10.2 percent, down from 10.7 in June. The national rate for July was 5.5 percent, unchanged from June.

Meeting set on Chamber here Thurs

A meeting to organize a Chamber of Commerce to represent the various Cameron Communities will be held Thursday, Sept. 8, at 11:30 a.m. at Pat's Restaurant, Cameron.

An election of a board of directors will be held.

All parish business men and women are invited to attend.

Hackberry Parent Nite

Parents of students in grades 6-12 at Hackberry High School are invited to attend Parents Night Monday, Sept. 12. The program will begin at 7 p.m. in the auditorium. Classroom visitation will follow.

Parents will simulate their child's daily schedule in fifteen-minute intervals. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria courtesy of the 4-H club.

Gators to be trapped

Beginning Sept. 10, commercial trappers under permit from Lacassine Refuge will begin removing alligators from Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge. Bobby Brown, manager of the refuge, cautions fishermen not to interfere with this operation.

In past years the trappers' lines have been cut or pulled up, and hooked alligators killed or cut loose. Brown says the harvest is necessary to regulate the alligator population and to support research work underway by LSU.

He stated that this operation is important enough that the refuge will be closed to public use if interference is encountered this year.

Benefit set at Big Lake

Sunday, Sept, 11, St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church in Big Lake will hold a benefit for Toby Aguillard, who has entered St. Joseph Seminary in New Orleans to study for the priesthood.

Proceeds will go towards educational expenses.

Barbecue chicken dinners will be on sale following 10 a.m. Mass for $4 per plate.

Meets goal

Dell T. Hebert, area director of the American Heart Association, announced that Cameron Parish has again met its goal in the 1987-88 fund drive. The total raised by the parish was $2,981.

Mrs. Hebert said for Southwest Louisiana the total amount contributed was $127,668, exceeding the goal.

$25,000 exemption won't fly--Roach

From the reaction that he has received from the public and from fellow legislators, Rep. Randy Roach says he doesn't think Gov. Roemer's proosed reduction of the homestead exemption from $75,000 to $25,000 "is going to fly."

He said some 25 legislators have already committed themselves to vote against the governor's proposal.

However, Roach in a talk to the Cameron Police Jury Tuesday said he is drafting an amendment to Roemer's fiscal package to immediately institute a $50,000 homestead exemption and give parishes and cities the option to lower the exemption to $25,000 on local projects on a per project basis.

Roach said that the Roemer bill, some 1100 pages in length, is "a complete revision of the entire financial structure of the state."

He indicated that he was favorably disposed toward financial reform and said he hoped that the homestead exemption does not "muddy the water on fiscal reform."

He predicted that the Legislature will pass some type of fiscal reform package and that it will be submitted to the voters on Dec. 3.

Roach also commented on the proposed four cent gasoline tax which would go into a highway trust fund. He said that there was some misunderstanding that this was part of Roemer's fiscal package. He said tht this was not so and the tax may not be taken up at the upcoming special session.

Roach said if the tax is approved, one of the projects that it would finance would be the four-laning of Hwy. 171 and connecting routes from the Gulf to the Arkansas border.

In response to a question from Juror Kenneth Ducote, he said that the Cameron portion of the route is definitely included in the project although sometimes the route is just referred to as Hwy. 171 and the Cameron portion is not mentioned.

Police Juror Brent Nunez, who said he had "not talked to anyone who would vote to lower the homestead exemption," asked Roach whether Roemer might be willing to sever the exemption issue from the remainder of the reform package.

"Is the governor willing to lose the whole package because of homestead exemption? Or might there be a move to separate the issue from the entire fiscal reform proposal?" Nunez said.

"I don't think the governor will separate it," Roach said. "I understand it's a very emotional issue.

"The homestead exemption is part of Louisiana's culture, like shrimp and crawfish. And I think he will consider other suggestions as to what to do with it, but I don't think that he would back off on it and take the homestead exemption element out of the package all together," Roach said.

"That's the only way he can get the thing passed is to put it all together and get what he wants achieved," he said.

THREE SPECIAL DAYS

In other business, the jury declared two special days in recognition of national accomplishments of two Hackberry residents.

"Joey Gray Day" was proclaimed for Thursday, Sept. 15, in honor of the Hackberry youth who won the national steerdogging championship at the recent National Little Britches Rodeo.

"Wayne Welch Day" was proclaimed for Friday, Sept. 16, in recognition of Welch having won a national power weight lifting championship recently.

At the request of the Cameron Chapter, the jury also proclaimed Sept. 22, as "American Business Women's Day" in the parish.

LIQUOR PERMITS

APPOINTMENT

Helen Colligan, whose term on the Cameron Parish Library Board had expired, was reappointed to the board.

The jury accepted the resignation of Johnny LeBlanc from the Recreation District 6 board and will name a replacement next month.

ELECTIONS SET

The jury approved the creation of Fire Protection District No. 15 for the Klondike area and approved the calling of a 4-mill maintenance tax election there.

The jury also ratified the calling of a half mill election in the Johnson Bayou Recreation District to operate the Multi-Purpose building there.

COAST GUARD

At the request of Juror George LeBouef, the jury agreed to invite a representative of the Coast Guard to attend the next jury meeting to discuss the wave wash problem in the Calcasieu river at Cameron.

LeBouef said that speeding boats are causing high waves that are damaging boats docked along the river.

DREDGING

Terry Hebert, who recently was appointed as the Cameron Police Jury's representative on the Lake Charles dock board, reported to the jury about their recent request to dredge the Hackberry cut off the ship channel.

Hebert said a contract has been let for the dredging of the ship channel and the cut will be cleaned but said no exact time could be given when this would be done.

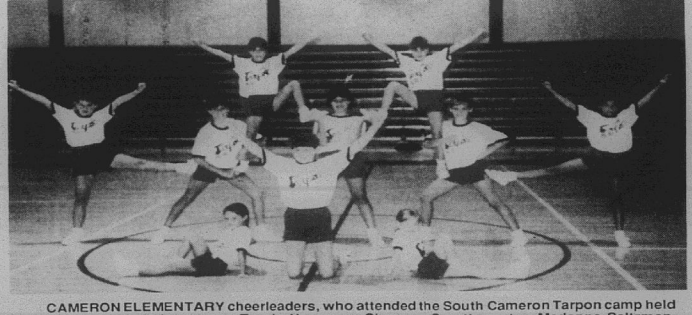
Hackberry Juror Kenneth Ducote said the cut needed to be cleaned out soon as shrimp boats were having difficulties in getting in to shrimphouses located on the cut.

Fire station contract set

The Cameron Parish Police Jury awarded a $29,465 contract Tuesday for the construction of a sub-fire station in the Grangerville area in the northern part of the parish.

Robert Brown Construction Co. submitted the low proposal on the construction of the station. The building will be built with funds from the Fire Protection District No. 14.

Police Juror Brent Nunez said the cost of the station was low enough that sealed bids were not required under the public bidding law. He said by securing proposals instead of bids the district was able to save several thousand dollars.



Jurors are given award by CLEAN

The Cameron Parish Police Jury was presented with the "Health Pelican" award by a representative of the Calcasieu League for Environmental Action Now (CLEAN) at the body's monthly meeting Tuesday.

Making the presentation was Mike Savoie, vice president of the organization.

Savoie said the jury was the first public body to which the award has been given. The jury was cited for its opposition to the expansion of a waste disposal facility in the northern part of the parish.

"A lot can be accomplished with the cooperation of the local governing body," Savoie stated.

Tarps take big win

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Tarpons took a hard earned 14-0 victory over a confident Iowa Yellow Jacket football team here Friday night.

The contest had Iowa taking charge and looking good until late in the second quarter. However, the Tarpons' persistent hard-nosed efforts were too much for the Jackets and the momentum swung back in the Tarpons' favor.

The wet soggy turf, the aggravated horde of fire ants and the inability of the Tarpon offense to crack the Iowa defense did little to dampen the Tarpon determination.

With 3:45 remaining in the second quarter, a sack of the Iowa punter had the Tarpons with the ball on the Iowa 38, with first and 10. A fired up offensive line exploded and made a gaping hole to free shophomore TB Regie Godette like a pony express for 16 yards, the longest gainer of his young career.

Quarterback Chad Mudd and tailback Godette alternated on short gains to the Iowa six. A neat execution of a fake keeper drew all the attention as Mudd drove into the end zone unnoticed and untouched. Mudd's run for the PAT failed.

The Tarpons went in with a slim 6-0 lead at half time. Iowa had gained possession of the ball with 12 seconds remaining but opted to let the clock run out, instead of gambling on a touchdown bomb or an interception by the Tarpon defense.

The second half was a series of trading opportunities but the name of the game was defense. Iowa threatened once early in the third quarter with a long pass completion but the Tarpon defense clamped down forcing a punt which was blocked by the Tarpon special team.

The Tarpon defense was the difference as its special team led by Charles Duhon and Lionel Roberts accounted for two blocked punts and one sack of a muffed punt attempt.

The Tarpons added the icing on the cake with a 32 yard burst up the middle by Chad Mudd. The score came with less than a minute left in the contest. Mudd also added two points with a PAT run.

Sophomores testing set

Parents of Cameron Parish School students have been reminded by School Supt. Thomas McCall that the Legislature has established a testing program that all students must be involved in beginning with the 1988-89 sophomore class.

In a letter to parents he stated: "In a continuing effort to improve the quality of education, the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education and the Louisiana Legislature has established an exit level testing program. Students will be required to pass an Exit Test in order to receive a high school diploma. Students who fail the test must be offered a remedial program and retake opportunities.

"Students in the 1988-89 sophomore class will be the first class required to make satisfactory performance on the test. The Language Arts and mathematics parts of the test will be administered to sophomores in the spring of 1989. The science and social studies parts of the test will be administered during the spring of 1990.

No tax now

Creole Police Juror Ray Conner said at the Police Jury meeting Tuesday that he wanted to clarify something about the 4-mill fire protection maintenance tax that has been called for that area.

He said that some people had told him they thought a water and fire bond issue passed in 1976 had included a maintenance tax for the upkeep of a fire department.

Conner said that this was not so and that there is no present fire maintenance tax in the Creole area. That is the reason why the Creole fire station was shut down--there was no maintenance tax to keep it open.

D. L. BRASSEAUX, of ANR Pipeline, presents A. B. Richard, president and Arlene Miller, treasurer of the Creole Summer Softball League with a $500 donation.

Leadership program to be held

On Saturday, Sept. 17, the first REACH America Peer Leadership Training Program will be held at South Cameron High School, under the sponsorship of the Cameron Parish School Board and the Cameron Parish Drug Abuse Education and Prevention Advisory Council, according to Uland Guidry, Supervisor of Student Services.

The intensive one-day workshop will provide teenagers with important health information regarding the detrimental effects of alcohol and other drugs, as well as instruct the students on effective means of preventing drug abuse among their peers and younger students.

REACH (Responsible Educated Adolescents Can Help) America (Stop Drugs!) is a project of the National Federation of Parents. The workshop will be directed by Joe Stevens of Edgewater, Maryland, professional trainer.

Additionally, Joe Dumars, professional basketball player for the Detroit Pistons, will appear and speak to the students.

This program is open to interested teens from any of the four Cameron Parish high schools. Bus transportation will be provided from the Grand Lake, Hackberry and Johnson Bayou areas. Meals and a 300-page Student Training Manual are furnished free of charge.

Students interested in attending the program should cotnact their high school principal or guidance counselor as soon as possible as space for the program is limited.

Report Soc. Security earnings accurately

People receiving Social Security benefits who also work are required to estimate their yearly earnings as accurately as possible and to report the amount to the Social Security Administration, Bill Dixon, Social Security manager in Lake Charles said recently.

Excess earnings under Social Security's retirement test are the primary cause of overpayments, Dixon noted. More than one million people were overpaid in 1987 because of under estimating or failing to report their earnings. Total overpayments, as a result, amounted to more than $1 billion nationally.

People must file an annual report of earnings at the end of the taxable year. At that time the amount of benefits due for the year is figured; if all the payments that were due have not been made, the person is paid the appropriate amount.

On the other hand, Dixon said, if the person is found to have been overpaid, the amount of the overpayment must be repaid in full or withheld from future benefits.

More information about how work affects Social Security benefits can be obtained by calling the Lake Charles Social Security office. The telphone number is 478-0220.

Hospital's solarium enjoyed by patients

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

I visited someone at South Cameron hospital last week and went down to the bright and cheery solarium to pick up some magazines to read.

I noticed some of the swing-bed patients sitting around watching television and looking out the wide expanse of windows. Some of the nurse's aides were taking a lunch break at one of the tables.

Angeline Mhire had a beautiful corsage attached to her wheelchair and was wearing one on the shoulder of her robe.

I remarked about the beautiful flowers and she said, with a look of happiness on her face, "This one on my shoulder arrived this morning."

Miss Annie Paris was watching the news on TV and I remarked to her that I wasn't aware that she was in the hospital.

I asked about her health and she replied, "Well, I guess I'm doing pretty good for a 95-year old woman."

I thought so too, and have always admired Miss Annie and held a soft spot in my heart for her.

I guess when I look at her it brings back memories of my late mother-in-law, for they were good friends as young girls growing up in Cameron Parish when they were Annie Gunik of Cameron and Dora Welch of Oak Grove.

I asked Miss Annie if she had played bingo lately, because her son-in-law, Harold Carter, always teases her about being a gambler and never missing a bingo game in the neighborhood.

Olive Rutherford, who lovingly hovers over all of the little ladies, spoke up and said that indeed they did have weekly bingo games in the solarium.

Caroline Aken was sitting over on the couch listening to the various conversations going on and chimed in with various tales from her girlhood and gossip from the era, which entertained all of us.

Mass is always held there every Wednesday and not only attended by the hospital patients but others in the community.

As I walked out of the solarium that day I remembered the day it was dedicated and of how the Crain family had donated all of the furnishings in memory of Adalaide Theriot Crain, Eugenia Sweeney Crain and Shirley Crain.

I thought, "What a living memorial this is to the memory of these three women and how thoughtful it was of the Crains to donate it for so many people to enjoy.

Fishing News

By Loston McEvers

SPECKLE TROUT AND REDFISH NEWS

The commercial speckle trout season opened Sept. 1, which will help our commercial people, as it's been a long spell since closure of both redfish and speckle trout for them.

The season will remain open for the commercial fishermen until a quota of 1,250,000 pounds is reached.

The minimum size for commercials is 14 inches, and all finfish in their possession must have head and caudal fin (tail) intact when put ashore from their boats or when they are sold.

According to Virginia VanSickle, Secretary of Wildlife and Fisheries, they will closely monitor the catch on the speckle trout and will close the season when the quota of 1,250,000 pounds is reached. Closure can close within 72 hours of a public notice.

REDFISH SIZE AND LIMITS

I received a letter from Maurice N. Cockerham, Information Officer with the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, on how some people are still confused on the sizes and limits of redfish and speckle trout.

The redfish is removed from the commercial list for three years. The speckle trout has a 1,250,000 quota for commercial fishermen starting Sept. 1, until quota is reached.

Only recreational fishermen will be allowed to take redfish in state waters until Sept. 1, 1991. Remember after three miles out, you're in federal waters and no redfish may be taken.

The creel limit on redfish is five per day and the possession limit is five. The minimum size is 16 inches and only one redfish may be taken that is 27 inches long or longer.

Remember the head and tail have to be intact. No filleting of fish until you reach your home or camp.

A redfish undersize will cost you somewhere around $140 fine so remember these sizes and limits.

Speckle trout for sports fishermen has a 12 inch minimum size. The daily creel limit is 25 and also the possession limit is 25.

THINGS OF INTEREST

*The state record redfish, 56 lbs. 8 ozs., was caught by O. L. Comish in Sept., 1933. This record has been there for 55 years.

*The state record bream, 2 lbs. 8 ozs., was caught by Grant Kelly in 1959.

*With record low duck population for this year's season, agents will be out checking hunters, guns and ponds. If you plan to bait your pond, don't, and be sure to use steel shots only, have your license and stamp, a plugged gun and know your ducks and limits. Also if no other changes, you'll be hunting a half hour later in the mornings.

*All of Miami Corporation permit fishing land is now closed for fishing until 1989, so remember this:

*As most of you know, all of us who buy fishing tackle of any sort, pay an excise tax, in which the federal government returns a portion back to the state of Lousiana. It is called the Wallop-Breaux fund.

We in Louisiana get around $1,638,712 which goes a long way to keep managing and improving fishing in our state.

If some Congressmen had their way they would take the dollars that fishermen have paid as excise taxes to improve fishing and divert them to the general fund to be used on some of their "pet projects". Here in Cameron Parish we know how monies can go fast from general funds and not even know where it went.

Here in Louisiana we cannot let fishing be robbed of its future.

Not long ago the Sport Fishing Institute had to fight to keep $25,000,000 of the Wallop-Breaux monies, from being diverted to non-fisheries programs. However, with all the budget difficulties, I'm sure the funds will again be a target for the budget ax.

We need to call or write our Seantors and Representatives in Washington and let them know how you feel. I sent in a survey of my own to let them know how I felt. Write and tell them you want to keep the Wallop-Breaux fund monies from excise taxes you pay in that fund and not be put into the general fund.

Catch you later.

KC meeting

The September meeting of the J. P. Boudoin Sr. K. C. Council will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 8, at the K.C. Home in Creole.

Plans for the fall barbecue will be discussed. A meal will be served at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Nell Colligan

Aids topic of meeting

Featured at the August meeting of the Creole Extension Homemakers club held in the home of Mrs. Camille Nunez was a slide presntation on "Aids" given by Cameron Parish School Health Nurse, Mrs. Nell Colligan. Assisting Mrs. Nunez with hostess duties was Mrs. Betsy Carter.

Colligan's presentation focused mainly on the different ways in which the disease is transmitted such as by direct sexual contact, the sharing of needles by drug abusers, and more rarely, by blood transfusions (transfusions are now virtually ruled out as possible sources of exposure because of the new blood test).

Also stressed was the fact that we have nothing to fear from the person with Aids since the disease is not contagious, and can only be transmitted by sexual or blood contact.

Members who had attended the Aug. 2, Council meeting at the new home of assistant home economist, Nancy Cronan, in Grand Lake, each gave a report on some different part of the meeting which included a slide presentation on "Market Place Options" given by guest speaker, Mrs. Eva Wilson.

Volunteers are sought

The Cameron Council on Aging is establishing a "Volunteer Bank". Any person wishing to donate time to the elderly programs should contact the Council on Aging and give your name, address, telephone number and what volunteer service you would enjoy providing.

Services such as transportation, visiting homemaker services, running errands, etc. are necessary to help the senior citizens.

Call Grace Carroll at the Council on Aging office, 775-5668.

Burton set for rodeo

Burton Coliseum will be the site of the Lousiana High School Championship Rodeo Finals for the next three years, by vote of the state rodeo board of directors.

The next board meeting will be held Sept. 20, in Alexandria.

President, Mrs. Estelle Theriot, announced that the club's September meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Winnie Mouton with Mrs. Mavola Wicke serving as cohostess.

A Pilot reader called to tell us that the water front photo that we ran in last week's Pilot was taken in Calcsieu parish instead of Cameron parish as we had indicated.

He said the site shown was on the old Intracoastal dump road about two miles north of the Calcsieu-Cameron line.

This picture and others taken in the Cameron-Calcsieu area by photographer Mike LeBlanc are on exhibit at the Brimstone Museum in Sulphur.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Duhon Sr. of Creole announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Valerie Ann to Lawrence Anthony Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean "Shorty" Landry of Cameron. The wedding is set for Saturday, Sept. 10, at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Creole beginning at 11 a.m. A reception will follow at the VFW Hall in Cameron.

Through this means friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Reunion set

The 1979 graduating class of South Cameron High School will hold their tenth year reunion Saturday, Oct. 1, at the Cameron Recreaton Center at 10 a.m.

It is important that classmates send money and paragraph to Mona Kelley by Thursday, Sept. 15.

MY DEAR PEOPLE OF CAMERON PARISH. . .

I would like to begin by asking these questions to the Police Jury. Where, where was all the money spent? It's amazing reading in the paper where the Police Jury has made all these cuts to save money on paper. According to the audits that have been turned into the State, the Police Jury knew they were on a decline and yet they continued to over spend. Yet, they waited until four years later, when they are completely broke to let the people know about their financial situation. Here are excerpts from their audit reports from 1980 until the end of 1986. They cannot tell you they did not know because this is what they turned into the State Auditor.

Here are the parish-wide assessment values from 1981 to 1988, showing you a grand total of what the assessment of the total ad valorem tax of Cameron Parish was. There is also a millage rate by each ward for the same period. You can see, that wards one, two and three have increased way over 100% in millage rates, where wards four, five and six have increased at a lower percent.

Now according to the paper of August 26, 1988, you are giving figures of what it cost to put in driveways. I think if you check with the four surrounding parishes, you will find that they have had to furnish their own culverts and shell and the P.J. would then install it and back fill it with dirt. Now you want to charge a $25.00 fee for the permit, plus up to $1100.00 to install culverts. In my opinion, I think that after all these years, you are trying to get back at the people because they didn't vote for your tax. This is kind of like your proposal for your dump sites. Why don't you show the people exactly where this $600,000.00 plus, that you received on the garbage tax, is spent on garbage and dump sites. I was told that you gave a figure at the meeting of $570,000.00 for the garbage fees, but did you tell them that the year before you spent $53,000.00 over the garbage money you took in and subtracted from the year you said you only collected $570,000.00. In my opinion I think you're trying to get back at the people instead of showing them facts and figures.

Isn't it true with all these fine buildings and ballparks you've locked up that you still have to carry liability insurance on these facilities. According to the Insurance commissioner in Baton Rouge, the Police Jury should have an umbrella policy on all property under their control. So why couldn't the people use these facilities with a user's fee? Why can't they use the ballfields in the daytime, instead of putting up a fence, generally the way we build a lot to put cattle in, especially in Creole. Isn't it true that some of you made a statement that you wanted to show the people for not voing your tax and filling up your cookie jar?

I guess most of you remember three years ago when the Police Jurors were going around telling you, the people, that they could not put any more shell or do this or that because the Sheriff had stopped them from doing all these projects. The truth is there's nothing I can do about them hauling shell anywhere they want to dump them. But they chose to play dirty politics instead of telling you the truth that they weren't going to have enough money to do phase III on the courthouse which we so desperately need. They chose instead to continue to build their multi-purpose buildings and run a tax for this white elephant recreation center we have in Cameron that is slowly driving businesses away from Cameron. Plus they let $2,200,000.00 get away from the Parish for a new jail because they didn't have the $900,000.00 in matching funds.

So now, we have no renovation in the courthouse, no new jailhouse, and no money to keep the multi-purpose buildings open. So I think those six police jurors and their administrator should be commended for spending all of the finances and saving nothing for these rainy days. Cameron Parish was considered to be one of the most financially sound and self-sufficient Parishes in the State. But in the last four years they spent all their revenues plus all their surplus. May I suggest they still have some former Cameron Parish Police jurors that's living that could maybe give you some advise on how to run the parish as a business like when they were in there.

According to the audit reports, I do not see all the grants for these buildings or any other grants that you've told us were matching funds from the government. I would like to see your report showing these matching funds for these roads and multi-purpose buildings.

It's a sad day in our Parish history when you have to cut all the working people's salaries and yet keep the job that the Police Jury created for a road superintendent, and paid him more money than any elected official in Cameron Parish, including Senator and Representative. I understand his salary was $40,000.00 and in my opinion $12,000.00 would have been overpaid.

I noted in the Assessor's office that they are asking for a fire maintenance tax in Creole. I also checked out and found that Creole had a fire district and that they've been collecting 2 mills since 1980 which brought in $64,167.01 in taxes. Why don't you show the people where this money went to and how much the maintenance tax will bring and what is the cost of operating the fire station? The money is not falling from trees anymore. The well has gone dry and the oil companies have moved out. I think, according to the people, they would like to know where all this money has been spent.

I had several calls from Grand Lake asking me if you can charge them a fee for using their building. I told them I didn't know but I would check it out. So I checked and found they had a fire maintenance tax of 5.35 mills. I took the liberty to see what that tax brought in eight years. That amount was $209,839.23. Maybe you want to explain to your people where this money has been spent and why you have to charge for the use of the building.

So my dear people, our economy has always depended on the oil and fish industries. Now we have more oil than we can use and more gas than we can sell. I think our economy will further decline until we can bring some new industry in Cameron Parish. I think it is time for us to stop, think and see if our tax dollars are spent wisely for the good of all the people instead of spent for political reasons. This is your decision alone. In closing, I would like to see the Police Jury give you, the people, a breakdown on where these millions were spent since 1980.

From information I have gathered, 90% of all your roads were blacktopped before 1980 and the road royalty fund (which you were getting from the State and was dedicated to roads) has been changed to the name of "Parish equalization fund". These funds are now in the general fund and spent wherever you see fit. So now you don't have any money for the upkeep of the roads and no money for your multi-purpose buildings and probably don't have any money to buy shell to replace the blacktop. You can fool some of the people some of the time, but not all of the people all the time. So, now, why don't you start telling the people the facts and give them the figures. I think everyone can read, so don't just put the figures you want them to know about.

So, in closing, I am asking you the questions that the people have been asking me. If you feel that we need a debate on each other's office, I will be glad to accommodate you with facts and figures.

MUSING . . .

A chance meeting

By Bernice Denny

The disastrous fires that have swept our northwestern states have not only been of grave concern to the residents there but also to environmentalists everywhere. My husband and I, having traveled through those states, are daily dismayed by new accounts of the havoc wrought.

The vicinity of Old Faithful in Yellowstone National Park threatened! How unbelievable! How sad!

Thinking of our visits there, I recalled a half-forgotten incident that occurred in September of 1982 on my first visit to Yellowstone. We had spent the day watching and photographing Old Faithful and the lesser geysers, wandering through curio shops, and sampling restaurant food.

After having driven out of Wyoming, we stopped for gas in Montana. The man who serviced the car, noted our license plate, and inquired as to where in Lousiana we lived. Clint told him we were from Iowa, a small town of which he had probably never heard.

He hastily replied, "Oh, yes, I once lived in Lake Charles and Cameron and worked for an oil company in Johnson Bayou."

Never missing an opportunity to claim my Cameron heritage, I volunteered that I was a native of Grand Chenier.

The man looked more closely at me and asked, "Could you by any chance be related to Bernice Stewart, whose column used to appear in 'The Cameron Pilot'? You surely resemble her picture as I recall it."

I assured him that I was Bernice herself, that my first husband had died, and that I had remarried the year before.

He began to name old friends of his in Cameron. Some were my cousins or dear friends of mine; others I did not know. He praised the Cameron people for their friendliness and hospitality.

I cannot recall the gentleman's name, but I shall never forget the delight we shared in those brief moments. Somehow the miles between Cameron and Montana seemed to melt. I still marvel at the magic of the chance meeting.

Cattle with Brahman influence do well

A state-sponsored program to show that Louisiana cattle with Brahman influence can score high with national meat packers was an unqualified success, Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom said.

In September of last year, Excel Corp., the nation's third largest meat packer, issued new grading standards which excluded from consideration any cattle with Brahman blood because the company felt Brahman-influenced animals were less muscled, meaning less beef per carcass.

In response to the decision, the department initiated a program in which a group of 270 Louisiana cattle were sent to a commercial Nebraska feedlot for final finishing. Under an agreement with the department, the animals were fed on normal rations and at the end of the grow-out period were taken to slaughter by Excel.

"The decision by Excel to arbitrarily exclude animals with any Brahman blood would have seriously impacted Louisiana's cattle industry. We felt such a standard didn't accurately reflect the research done at LSU," Odom said. "We were very happy with the way these cattle performed. The numbers look real good."

Historically, Louisiana cattlemen have crossed the standard English breeds of cattle with Brahman cattle. The combination gives the weight-gain characteristics of the English animal and the heat and insect tolerance of the Brahman cow, necessary in Louisiana's hot, humid climate.

Fifty-three percent of the animals fell into Excel's top two grades which received a premium price, 32 percent were in a mid-range and only 15 percent of the animals fell into a discount-grade range.

This project "will go a long way to giving a signal to the Louisiana cow-calf producer and others in the Southeast United States that their Brahman cross cattle will sell under a tough national grading standard," Odom added.

The cattle used in the project were furnished by Clinton cattleman, Sonny Guttziet. The animals had 25 percent Brahman influence which university research has shown will give the climate tolerances while detracting very little from weight-gain potential.

Wild horse sale to be held soon

A temporary wild horse adoption center will be operated by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) in Alexandria, La., Sept. 23-25. Several truckloads of wild horses from the West will be available to qualified individuals who agree to give them good homes. These horses will include mares, geldings, and some mares with foals. The adoption fee is $125 for each horse. You may adopt up to 4 animals in a 12-month period.

The Louisiana adoption center will be held from Friday, Sept. 23, to Sunday, Sept. 25, at W. H. Hodges Stockyard. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 8:30 a.m. to noon on Sunday. The stockyard is located on Louisiana Route 1 approximately 1.5 miles south of Broadway. The stockyard is on the west side of the street, at 3500 Lower 3rd Street.

If you are interested in adopting, you need to have adequate shelter and 20' x 20' of corral space per animal with sturdy fencing 6 feet high, and a solid horse trailer with a covered top and swinging back gates (drop ramp gates are not permitted). They will place your halter and lead rope on your animal and load the animal on to your trailer.

Application forms and additional information can be obtained by contacting: Adopt-A-Horse Program, Bureau of Land Management, 300 Woodrow Wilson Ave., Suite 326, Jackson, Miss. 39213, or call (601) 965-4405.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Five ancestral lines are traced from their British immigrants to the New England colonies of the 1600s and 1700s in a new book by William G. Weger.

The Golden Threads Volume III, latest in a series of genealogical volumes by this author, gives information also on some fifteen allied lines to the major families researched, descendants of whom migrated south and west across the nation.

The KERR (also CARR) section traces seven generations from John, Sr., born in PA c1759; married Eleanor Warden, had eight children. A son, John, Jr., c1795-1853, married Deborah Pierce, had five sons, spent some time in VA and KY. Allied lines of WARDEN and PIERCE are included.

The CARPENTER section begins with tenth generation Ephraim, 1709-1774, traces him back five more generations to William of London and forward to the present. Ephraim married Zerviah Carpenter, had five children all born in MS; a son, Nathaniel 1736-1818, married Susannah Read, had ten children, was an officer in the American Revolution. Allied lines include REED, BRIGGS, HUTCHINS.

William VINCENT, 10th generation on this line, is traced back three more generations. He married Elizabeth Bennett in R.I. in 1724, had four children. This section continues through William's son, Caleb c1725-1822 and includes allied lines of SMITH, BENNETT, SAMPSON (Samson.)

The HALL line begins with Samuel, 12th generation, born 1644 in MS, married Elizabeth White, had ten children. Moses, Sr., 9th generation, 1732-1812, was a Lt. in the American Revolution. Allied lines include RICHARDSON, JOHNSON, CLEMONS.

The RALSTON section has eight generations beginning with William born 1734 in PA, had five children. A son, William, served in the American Revolution, had nine children. HAWLEY, (also Halley, Holley, Holly) is an allied family.

This multi-family genealogy is filled with personal information and experiences from records, letters, biographical sketches, newspaper writeups, diaries, oral histories, etc. There is a pedigree chart for each major family and many photos.

Well organized and presented, very interesting to read, this volume is hardcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 333 pages, full name index, $38.00 incl. mailing, available from: The Golden Threads, P.O. Box 976, Ottumwa, Iowa 52501.

Beach cleanup slated for September 24

By ED KELLY,
CAMERON PARISH BEACH CLEANUP COORDINATOR

At one time this beach was sandy and solid almost to the Calcasieu Pass Jetty.

With the extension of the ship canal jetty at Calcasieu Pass, the Calcasieu River sediment collected at the delta of the river. For some time Mr. Broussard and Mr. Peshoff, hotel owners, built walkways out past the mud build up. These were hard to maintain due to storm surges and bad weather affecting the Gulf and were finally abandoned after Hurricane Audrey.

For some time before the arrival of sediment a very edible type of clam could be harvested at this beach. These quite often were dug and enjoyed by residents. Also before the advent of electric and gas stoves a lot of wood and lumber were taken from this beach as firewood.

This beach remained dormant until last year when beach captain Ronnie Picou negotiated a right of way and the Cameron jury built a small road to the beach as an access road.

This portion of usable beach is about 3 miles long and is used very much by local residents. It extends from its access point near Bobby's Lane to the washout back of Recreation District #6.

Beach captain Ronnie Picou and 125 volunteers picked up 1300 bags of trash last year and will clean it again this year on Sept. 24.

The awareness program is visibly working on this beach, for local residents have cleaned it during the year and are doing a very good job of stopping people from leaving litter.

Chamber organized for parish

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce was officially organized at a meeting of 31 parish business and professional people held Thursday, September 8, at Pat's Restaurant.

The following officers were elected:

The chamber will meet at 11:30 a.m. every second and fourth Thursday at Pat's Restaurant in Cameron. The next meeting will be Sept. 22.

All interested residents of Cameron Parish are urged to attend and become an active part in the new Chamber of Commerce.

Incinerator shut down

Attorney General William J. Guste, Jr. has won his fight to shut down a solid waste incinerator and disposal site near Cameron.

Guste said the Third Circuit Court of Appeals on Friday upheld a state district judge's ruling that McDaniel Welding Service, Inc. of Cameron stop accepting, disposing of and incinerating wastes of any type.

Last month, at Guste's request, State District Judge H. Ward Fontenot ordered McDaniel Welding to stop receiving and processing wastes.

Last September, the Department of Environmental Quality revoked the company's air and solid waste disposal permits. Ultimately, the company appealed DEQ's administrative action to the Louisiana Supreme Court which in May refused to hear the case, said Guste.

Judge Fontenot postponed the shutdown of McDaniel Welding, giving the company 10 days to file an appeal with the Third Circuit court.

Guste said the appeal court found no merit in the company's claim that its constitutional rights had been violated when DEQ revoked its permits in an administrative hearing last year.

Polling places are announced

Ward 1, Precinct 1, Recreation Center at Johnson Bayou; Ward 1, Precinct 2, Police Jury Building, Cameron; Ward 2, Precinct 1, Recreation Center, Hackberry; Ward 3, Precinct 1, Recreation Center, Grand Lake; Ward 3, Precinct 2, Recreation Center, Grand Lake; Ward 4, Precinct 1, Fire Station, Grand Chenier; Ward 4, Precinct 2, American Legion Hall, Grand Chenier.

Ward 4, Precinct 3, Muria Fire Station, East Creole; Ward 4, Precinct 4, Parish Maintenance Building, Klondike; Ward 4, Precinct 5, Myers Landing, Lowery; Ward 5, Precinct 1, Woodman of the World Hall, Creole and Ward 6, Precinct 1, V.F.W. Hall, Cameron.

Green Wing invitation

Cameron Parish Green Wing members have been extended an invitation from the Calcasieu Parish Ducks Unlimited chapter to attend their Green Wing Day, according to Kenny Hebert, with the Fish and Wildlife Service.

It will be held on Saturday, Sept. 24, at the Jean Lafitte skeet range on Ward Line Road (6¼ miles south of the Chloe exit, on a gravel road), starting at 9 a.m.

There will be skeet shooting, duck and goose calling, and bait casting contest; hunter safety and many other events.

A noon picnic lunch will be served.

Event may or may not be held

The Wakefield Methodist church is sponsoring the Senior Citizens Activity Night Sunday, Sept. 18, at 5 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church in Cameron.

However, the event probably will be cancelled should the hurricane affect the Cameron parish area.

Old school leased for oyster site

The Cameron Parish School Board Monday gave final approval to leasing the old Vo-Tech school at Oak Grove to a local firm that plans to put in an oyster purification plant.

Rudy Aplin, representing the local group, and an Alexandria architect showed the board the drawings of how the purification tanks will be located in what was formerly the gym.

He said that osyters from polluted areas of Calcasieu and Sabine Lakes will be brought in and purged of their impurities and then shipped out either in their shells or shucked.

He said it would be a year round operation and that up to 1500 sacks of oysters could be handled by the plant.

Aplin said they hope to have the plant in operation by December or January.

Three water wells will be drilled for the operation--one to provide fresh water, one to provide salt water and the third to be used for injecting the used water. (The latter would be into a sand that would not affect the fresh water sands.)

Aplin said his firm would like to take over the building next week pending finalization of getting insurance. He agreed that the school board would be liable for any of the plants operations.

The board gave final approval for the lease at $10,000 a year for a 10-year period with the option of an additional ten years.

TARPON PROJECT

The school board endorsed a play by the Tarpon Project committee to select a welcome sign at the South Cameron high school stadium and to sell advertisements on it to raise funds for a project on the school's history. Larry Taylor, Cameron businessman, presented the proposal.

NEW GEOLOGIST

David Sturlese of Lafayette was named as the board's consulting geologist to assist it with mineral leases on school property. He succeeds his father, Adam Sturlese, who was the board's geologist for many years up until his recent death.

Sturlese told the board that oil and gas was an "extremely depressed industry" and he did not foresee any improvement in the near future. He said there was little drilling in the parish now and that it probably will take a big discovery to increase activities here.

The one bright spot, he said, was the increased price for gas and predicted a doubling of gas prices by winter.

SUIT FILED

District Attorney Jerry Jones advised the board that a suit had been recently filed in New Orleans on behalf of the board seeking to recover some of the cost the board has had in removing asbestos from parish schools.

The board removed asbestos from the schools several years ago after it was learned that the material was a health hazard. The suit will seek to recover damages from the asbestos manufacturers.

TRACK WORK

The board authorized the resurfacing of the South Cameron high school track for approximately $30,000 plus the restriping of the Johnson Bayou track.

Architect Sonny Hackett said that the synthetic surface put on the South Cameron track had gone bad in just a few years but that most other schools had had the same problem with their tracks.

He said the contractor will give a 5-year warranty on the new surface.

SCHOOL BUS POLICY

The board heard a discussion on the policy of paying parents to transport their children to a bus stop when it was too difficult for a bus to go down a bad road to their houses.

The board agreed to continue doing this in special cases if the road in question was a public road. In the case of a private road, the board decided that payment would not be made since the school bus was prohibited by law from going on the road.

The decision will mean discontinuing payment for one family in the Lowery area since the road in question is a private road.

Crawfish farm is proposed

The Cameron Parish School Board may soon find itself with an interest in a crawfish farming operation as the result of a proposal made to the board at its monthly meeting Monday.

Joe R. Palermo, Jr., Sulphur businessman who presently holds a hunting and trapping lease on school section 16-12-11 in the Gum Cove section of the parish, asked the board to extend his lease for ten years after it expires in 1990 so that he could put in a crawfish farming operation.

He proposed to pump the water off the east 320 acres of the section, put in cross levees, plant rice and then start raising crawfish.

Palermo guaranteed an annual $6,000 lease to the board for the ten years and would give the board 20 percent of the crawfish crop and 25 percent of alligator and trapping revenues.

In addition, he agreed to permit the west 320 acres to be put in the Water Bank Management Plan which would bring the board $3400 a year.

Palermo estimated that he would get 100,000 pounds of crawfish per year with a market price between $6000 and $10,000 a year. He said the operation would be expanded as bigger markets were developed.

In partnership with Palermo on the farming project is Bill Chapman.

Palermo told the board that due to the restrictions being placed on waterfowl hunting, he was doubtful that school board sections would bring as large hunting leases as in the past.

The board agreed in principle to the request and appointed a committee to inspect the property and to work out the details of the agreement with Palermo. They also asked that a clause be inserted insuring that Palermo would make a good faith effort in the farming operation and not discontinue it after a year or so.

School slated

The Voting Commissioners in Charge school for the Oct. 1, 1988 election will be held Thursday, Oct. 22, at 4:30 p.m. in the voting machine building in Cameron.

All Commissioners in Charge must attend, according to Mrs. Debbie Theriot, Cameron Parish Clerk of Court.

Wedding plans

In case of emergency evacuation due to Hurricane Gilbert, the wedding of Cherelle Duhon and Dale Jinks of Johnson Bayou to be held at the home James Duhon in Hackberry, will be postponed until further notice.

Area prepares for Gilbert

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Following a meeting of the Cameron Parish Civil Defense Agency at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Parish CD Director Pete Picou issued the following advisory of Hurricane Gilbert:

"The Cameron Parish Civil Defense, using weather information from all sources available, advises residents of lower Cameron Parish to take all preliminary precautions at this time. Indications are that it appears that there will be enough time to evacuate lower Cameron Thursday morning after daylight.

"However, all residents should keep in touch with the media. In case there is a change you will be notified immediately by all surrounding news media when conditions make it necessary to evacuate."

Picou said there would be 190 volunteers patrolling throughout the parish during any evacuation to prevent looting and to man roadblocks. Texas State Police will take care of road blocks on the western part of the parish and the Vermilion sheriff's department will do likewise on the east.

Picou said the long range weather prediction from the National Weather Bureau put the eye of the storm coming ashore near Galveston, although this could easily change.

Picou said the projection showed the eye crossing the coast Saturday morning with the outer fringes making landfall Friday night.

The Red Cross will open a shelter at the Lake Charles-Boston High school and Burton Coliseum will be open for 200 campers and also cattle.

Oil companies began moving equipment out of Cameron Tuesday night and parish cattlemen also began moving out cattle.

Picou said that in the event the storm should change course and come in earlier than expected there would be enough volunteers to get the message out.

Cameron parish schools were dismissed at noon Wednesday so that students and teachers could join the evacuation and apprently school will not be resumed until at least next Monday depending on the course of the storm.

Assistant Supt. Robert Ortego said that the South Cameron-DeQuincy football game scheduled for Friday night in Creole probably will be cancelled also.

The Peer Leadership Training Program, which the school board was to have conducted Saturday at South Cameron High School, also was cancelled and probably will be reset for a later date.

HHS tells candidates

Chosen as the Junior Miss Calcasieu Cameron Fair Queen contestant was Chasitie Mitchell. Chasitie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mitchell, is in the ninth grade.

Chosen as Senior Miss Calcasieu Cameron Fair Queen contestants were Cynthia Pearson and Christy Trahan. Cynthia is the daughter of Mrs. Burt Swire and the late Levi Pearson. Christy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Trahan. Both girls are in the 12th grade.

The fair will be held October 3-9.

Grand Lake school plan study OKed

The development of a master plan for future expansion of Grand Lake High School was approved by the Cameron Parish School Board at its monthly meeting Monday.

At board member Ricky Guidry's request, the board agreed to allow him to meet with the board's architect, the school's principal and other school officials to make plans for the school's future growth.

Although any expansion would necessitate a bond issue, Guidry said this was something to be considered in the future.

In his presentation to the board on the needs of the school, Guidry stated:

"Grand Lake has experienced a 33% growth in student enrollment the past 15 years from 300 to 400 students and the school has added additional academic programs.

"During this period, there have been no permanent additions other than the Business Lab/Classrooms and the Elementary Gym.

"Last year the cafeteria was expanded to handle the increased enrollment. At that time, we moved Home Economics to the Kindergarten Building to pick up a net of two classrooms. We are also utilizing six temporary buildings.

"We have our tutors working in storage closets and if one more class has to be split we have no room for them.

"Grand Lake has increased in popularity as a bedroom community serving both Lower Cameron and Lake Charles. I feel the potential growth of the Lake Charles job market is good with the Chenault Complex and the new naval base, and Grand Lake will grow with these moves. We also have a nursing home to be constructed in Grand Lake in the spring of 1989.

"The goals of the master plan will be to provide adequate permanent classroom space to meet the needs of the students over the next 10 to 15 years, as well as to update the school library and science lab.

"Once a master plan is developed, we can then look at the cost and determine the financial needs."

Game probably cancelled

The South Cameron-DeQuincy football game scheduled for Friday night in Creole probably will be cancelled, according to South Cameron Coach Parry LaLande.

He said that DeQuincy high had offered to host the game in DeQuincy, but with the football players and the fans being scattered in different directions by the evacuation, this would not be practical.

He advised fans to watch the daily paper and check radio and television for any last minute developments that could put the game back on schedule.

Beach cleanup set 24th

Lt. Gov. Paul Hardy has invited Louisianians to Beachsweep '88 Sept. 24, when Louisiana joins the four other gulf coast states to clean hundreds of miles of beaches during the "Take Pride Gulfwide" effort.

Starting at 10 a.m. that day, thousands of volunteers will move along Gulf beaches collecting beverage cans and bottles, tires and household items plus plastic, styrofoam and marine debris. Collected materials will be categorized by the Louisiana Geological Survey team to discern origination sources.

Louisiana's first statewide beach cleanup last year drew 3,300 volunteers who cleaned all 17 beaches, filling 16,000 trash bags with 800,000 pieces of litter.

According to the Louisiana Geological Survey, last year's refuse was 35 percent plastic, 23 percent glass, 28 percent metal, 4 percent fishing gear, 2 percent paper, .5 percent wood, .4 percent rubber and .3 percent clothing.

Hardy is encouraging citizens to refrain from throwing anything from boats or cars, but to take all refuse to a proper receptacle, including broken fishing gear and six-pack plastic loops which can kill birds and marine life.

Anyone interested in volunteering to help make Louisiana's beaches beautiful should contact the following area Zone Coordinator: Cameron Zone, Ed Kelly, 775-5493.

Volunteers should be prepared for the beach by bringing suntan lotion, a hat, a long-sleeved shirt and gloves to protect hands from sharp objects and chemicals. Participants in the all-day family event are invited to stay for the celebration that will follow each beach's cleanup.

Included in the list of beaches slated for cleanup are:

*Acadiana Zone--Cypremont Point Beach;

*Grand Isle Zone--Fourchon Beach, Elmer's Island, Grand Isle, Grand Terre;

*Chandeleur Zone--Chandeleur Islands.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CAMERON PARISH AND "SONO" SAVOIE:

For the past eight years "Sono" Savoie has done nothing but wait for an opportunity to be critical of the Police Jury. On many occasions he has taken to the press to spread his venom. He has done so with little or no regard for the consequences. All those times I thought that he was talking about other members of the Jury. After all these years I now realize that his venom has been directed at me also.

Let me begin by stating that I have no intention of getting into a press war with "Sono". I wanted to respond to allegations that I feel reflect on me personally as a Police Juror and as a private citizen.

"Sono" has stated in the Cameron Pilot that cuts in salaries and services were to "Get back at the people for not filling up the cookie jar." When you have had as drastic a reduction in revenue as we have had, those measures are taken because there are NO OTHER alternatives. That kind of statement could never come from a concerned elected official who has committed himself to the honest and impartial service of the people he represents.

"Sono" also talks about the Grand Lake Fire Maintenance Fund. Well I say to "Sono", don't worry about that fund because I personally watch it like a hawk. Every penny is accounted for in that fund, along with $40,000.00 that I got from the Calcasieu Parish Police Jury. That money will be used for fire protection only, not on recreation.

In response to your new jail: I talked with many people in my community and throughout the parish and this may come as a surprise to you, but not one person told me to spend tax dollars on a new jail.

Concerning your statement of "spending all the money and not saving anything for a rainy day": Yes, I am guilty of that, I spent money on citizens of Cameron Parish to make their lives and the lives of their children easier and more rewarding. That money went for shell, culverts, drainage, roads, 4-H and FFA programs, South Cameron Hospital, Ambulance Service, Council on Aging, flood insurance programs, recreation for young and old and many, many, more projects too numerous to mention here. But it was all spent on and for the citizens of Cameron Parish and yes, I remember two police cars and numerous other items for the Sheriff's Department.

I ask this question, why can the Police Jury have a very strong working relationship with the District Attorney's office, the Judge's office, the Assessor's office, the Clerk of Court's office, the School Board office and all other organizations throughout the parish and the state and not the Sheriff's office? I ask you, what is wrong? Are all other elected officials out of step? Are you the only person that is right and all these other people wrong? There are 64 parishes in Louisiana, why is Cameron the ONLY ONE that the Sheriff condemns the Police Jury? Are we to continue to fight when we should be putting all this energy to working TOGETHER for the good of OUR PEOPLE?

"Sono", in all your letters to the Cameron Pilot, you always mention three things. You mention: My Dear People, our youth, and you mention God.

Well, let's talk about "My Dear People". You bet your boots they are dear people, for they are the same people that elected you and me to serve them. They elected me to do my job and you to do yours. But, have you done that? Those same people are the people that you seem to be dividing one against the other. You also seem to question my standing with my people. Let's not forget that election day was not so long ago. In October of 1987, my people gave me approximately 75% of their vote, you seemed to get only 48% of the vote. I work very hard and spend many hours at being Police Juror. I promised my people that I would work hard for them and I have not failed them.

You talk about our youth and how much you love them. Well, I ask you "Sono", by taking to the press and taking to the roads to continually find fault with the Police Jury members, wouldn't you send a different signal to our youth if you showed some restraint and worked toward compromise?

Let me ask this, why have you not been to a Police Jury meeting in eight years? Aren't you less than 100 yards from that building? How come on every occasion when I meet you in public, I make special effort to go and shake your hand? Is that something our youth would notice? At my house I try to teach my son NEVER to hold a grudge and always be very forgiving.

You always end your political letters with a Blessing from God. Well, again I ask, "Sono", if God were to respond to you and I, do you think that he would approve of all this bickering? I think not. I think that he would say to the both of us, yes I made both of you to think and act differently and yes I had a strong hand in putting both of you in politics. But, I have never wanted you to do anything other than what you both know to be my way. And that way is to serve our people in the best and most honest way possible. So I say to you, "Sono", and to all other disgruntled citizens of Cameron Parish, let's work together for the good of all our people. Times are hard now but could get much harder in the future. We can all be winners if we have a common goal. My goal is to be the best elected official in Cameron Parish. Wouldn't it be nice if that were all our goals?

In closing, those of you that continue to fuel the fires of discontent will never be winners and the losers will be the thing that means the most to us all, our people. So I say to all of you, united we stand, divided we fall. Let's work together to solve our problems.

Tarpons lose to Lions 12-0

By ROBERT MANUEL

The Vinton Lions, dressed in red, provided most of the fire in chalking up a 12-0 victory over the South Cameron Tarpons Friday night at Vinton.

The Tarpons, 8th ranked in the state before the game, now have a 1-1 record.

Vinton's strong veteran line and their speed in the backfield was more than the Tarpon team was able to handle.

The Tarpons were their own worst enemy, as even in a gallant comback attempt, penalties or missed assignments denied them good opportunities to overcome the shaky 12 point lead of the Lions.

The Lions Dallas Janice had scored on end runs of 12 and 61 yards in the second quarter. The Tarpons came to life at that point but the Vinton defense frustrated the Tarpon offense with timely big plays to stop thre Tarpon drives in the second half.

The Tarpons' major threat occurred early in the third quarter following a fumble recovery by Charles Duhon on the Vinton 23 yard line. A dive play, followed by a Chad Mudd keeper that carried to the two yard line, seemed an answer to the troubled Tarpons. A five yard penalty and an overpowering Vinton line denied that score as did two interceptions in other desperate drive attempts.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Gator season

By Loston McEvers

ALLIGATOR SEASON

Alligator season has opened and it seems the high water from the heavy rains has scattered the gators. Also the cool spell has kept the gators out of sight, but I think if we don't get a hurricane our trappers will do all right. Remember, running another man's line is poaching and dangerous, so don't do it.

DOVE HUNTING SLOW

Well, the first nine days of dove season are over and no bragging about how many doves were killed.

I do know the heavy rains hurt alot, but I honestly think the doves that were killed were the ones that raised and stayed here.

Oh well, the second split is going to be 30 days instead of nine like the first split. That will begin Oct. 15 through Nov. 13. I think that will be a better season.

DUCKS BACK IN NEWS

It was said by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that getting rid of the point system is the best thing that could happen. It seems way more ducks are killed under the point system and I have to agree. You know when the point system started, it was a plan to kill more ducks.

This year we will probably still have three ducks for 30 days, but they changed the pintail kill again.

The regulation on pintail is changed from a pintail the first seven days and two male pintails the last seven days, the limit now on pintails will be one bird of either sex daily throughout the regular season.

If the pintail population continues to fall as they have in the past, down to a record low 2.5 million, the next step will be to close the season probably in 1990, like they closed the season on canvasbacks.

So as now it seems like three birds, only one pintail and lots of luck.

NEW WILDLIFE BUILDING

The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries has for a long time offices scattered through Baton Rouge and even New Orleans. Well, now everything is being consolidated into a single location at the Quail Drive headquarters.

This new building, with 90,000 square feet of office space, will be open to serve the public Monday, Sept. 19. There will be 230 LDWF employees relocating to the new building.

If you need to go to the new office, and I know many of our commercial fishermen do go for licenses, etc. It is on 2000 Quail Drive, in the southern end of Baton Rouge, located off Perkins Road, between College Drive and Essen Lane. If you're going by I-10, you can take the Essen Lane and College Drive exits.

Old parish census records

By Bernice Denny

Old census records fascinate me. I find it interesting to discover what our parish was like long ago.

The population of Cameron Parish in 1870 was 1,591; in 1880, 2,416; in 1890, 2,828; and in 1900, 3,952.

It was on June 18, 1860, that President James Buchanan, Democrat, signed into law a bill that ordered a federal survey of lands of "Grand Chenier Island in the State of Lousiana." The bill had been prompted by a Mr. Laudrum, who felt an interest in public lands within his district.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the anomalous survey of the Grand Chenier Island in the southwestern district of Louisiana, as approved by R. W. Boyd, Surveyor General, on the 28th day of February 1852, be, and the same as hereby confirmed: and persons residing thereon at the date of this act who, according to the preemption laws now in force, would be entitled to a preemption, shall be allowed such rights on the lands referred to in the bill; but such preference right shall be confined to the single subdivision of land upon which the party may reside, and shall exceed, in no case, one hundred and sixty acres.

Approved: June 16, 1860.

In 1851 our nearest post offices were Big Woods and Lake Charles in Calcsieu Parish and Abbeville and Perry's Bridge in Vermilion. Across the Sabine River were post offices in Beaumont and Sabine City.

Leaders are needed for Girl Scouts

Girl Scout Troops are being formed in Cameron, Creole, and Grand Chenier areas. Leaders are needed to organize the troops. Anyone interested in becoing a leader or in a troop should register at one of the following locations:

LEGAL NOTICE

The meeting was called to order by Chairperson Shirley Chesson. All members were present.

Mr. Nunez discussed the importance of the upcoming tax election of the police jury.

Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read, on a motion by Joey Babineaux and second by Alex Beard Jr.

The board discussed the need and cost of emergency lighting in the fitness center. Betty reported that she felt two lights could service the needs. The lights would cost $64.00 each, plus the cost of wire. On a motion by Pat Hebert and second by Joey Babineaux the board moved to purchase two units, and the necessary wiring.

Directors report: Betty LaBove asked that the board recind its motion of last year and allow the life guards to swim while on break so they could cool off. On a motion by Joey and second by Alex the board moved to allow swimming on break by the life guards but no diving. This is to be on a trial basis and can be stopped by Peggy if it gets out of hand.

Betty reported that the air conditioning unit in the recreation district and the compressor on the Coke machine went out and that she felt like it was a result of the brown out. Shirley asked that Betty contact Jeff Davis Co-op for assitance in replacing the units.

Betty reported that 103 swimming memberships have been sold, and that many people also paid the walk in fee to swim.

Betty reported that the recreation complex has consolidated to one phone and that all phone equipment had been purchased.

Betty reported that there were 61 memberships at the fitness center in June and that the aerobics class is doing good.

Betty reported that a child had sat on a window sill and a window pane had broke. The board indicated that since it was an accident the child would not have to pay for it.

On a motion by Joey and second by Pat the board moved to do away with the petty cash fund at the fitness center with $25 to be held for change purposes. The original need of the petty cash fund was when the facility was being built.

Peggy stated that the paint was peeling off of the shower room floors and that she would monitor close so it did not get dangerous.

Peggy was asked to report on the life guard grading system. She will report at the August meeting.

The meeting was adjourned on a motion by Joey and second by Alex.

Probations are revoked

Two men appeared before Judge H. Ward Fontenot in 38th Judicial District Court this week to answer probation violation charges.

He pleaded guilty to criminal mischief, which was reduced from burglary, and was sentenced on October 2, 1986 to 120 days in jail, all but 20 suspended, and was given credit for time served.

His probation violations were (1) failure to pay $10 a month supervisory fees; (2) Failure to seek employment.

Timmy Paul Touchet, 19, Rt. 1, Gueydan pleaded guilty to 4 counts of burglary; 4 counts of theft; and 2 counts of simple criminal damage to property and was sentenced on Oct. 19, 1986 to 2 years in the Department of Corrections, suspended, concurrent on each count of burglary; 6 months in the parish on each other charge, also suspended.

Judge Fontenot revoked his probation due to the fact he was convicted in Vermilion Parish Court of distribution of marijuana on August 3.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

The Special Olympics was begun by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation. The organization donated $250,000 and the first meet was held in backyard of Eunice Kennedy Shriver's home. Since then participation in the Special Olympics has spread throughout the United States and many foreign countries. Louisiana became a participant in 1968.

Locally, Cameron Parish participation began in 1983. A South Cameron High School coach trained one boy and took him to participate in the international games held in Baton Rouge at L.S.U.

That same year, Coach Margo Young of South Cameron asked me if I though that there was any way possible to get a Special Olympics program started in Cameron Parish. Between the two of us, we got it off the ground.

Margo, being certified in adapted physical education, was qualified to train several of the athletes. That year, our group made it to the state games in Hammond. The next year Cameron Parish sent about sixty kids to the area games in Lake Charles.

Unfortunately, the next year Margo Young moved to Colorado. Being a part of the school system and, in particular, the special education program, it had been easy for her to recruit participants. I, on the other hand, was not a part of either group, and this created a problem. Luckily, the area special education teachers came to my resuce. They not only recruited the participants, but they volunteered their help in the training of the athletes. Not just anyone can work with these athletes. Fortunately, Special Olympics has a school set up to train coaches to work with the athletes. I am very fortunate to have a few of these specially-trained coaches working with our group.

In the past the Louisiana Special Olympics and the Southwesat Area have helped with the expenses for the Cameron Parish Special Olympics. But, now that funds are short everywhere in the state, each parish has been asked to support its own Special Olympics program.

On Sept. 30, 1988, the Cameron Parish Special Olympics fund-raising committee has scheduled a dance. Proceeds from the dance will go towards our Special Olympics team and Skylark (the Hope Cneter). The dance will be at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Cameron, and the music will be provided by Wayne Toups. I would like to invite everyone to come out and support the Cameron Parish Special Olympics.

It is my greatest dream to have the Cameron Parish school system to back the Special Olympics 100%. We truly need the support of our schools and our community to provide enough funds to make our program better to reach out and include all of our special athletes in our Cameron Parish Special Olympics program.

Cleanup set for beaches

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Beach captains and volunteers are ready for "Louisiana Beachsweep 88" this Saturday to clean the Cameron Parish beaches, according to Ed Kelley, local chairman.

Last year about 1500 people cleaned about 94 tons of debris from Cameron Parish beaches. Cameron is joining in an effort this year which includes all five Gulf Coast states on the same day.

Volunteers are asked to assemble at the assembly points indicated on the map shown here. Assembly time is 9 a.m. and work on the beaches starts at 10 a.m. and continues until 2 p.m.

At that time hot dogs and cold drinks will be served at locations indicated by the beach captains.

An important factor in this year's effort is a request by the Louisiana Geological Survey to tabulate data on what is found on the beach. This will be used to locate the source of litter and try to cut it off at the source through public awareness.

"We suggest that the volunteers work in crews of three, with one person accurately tabulating on the data sheets the type of trash that is picked up, broken down into categories of plastic, styrofoam, glass, rubber, metal, paper, wood (not including driftwood, which is to be left on the beach), and cloth, with these categories broken down into specific items also," Kelley said.

Late volunteers may join in the effort by calling Kelley at 775-5493 or 775-5397 after 4 p.m.

Out-of-town volunteers who do not wish to institute long distance calls may call on the Cameron State Bank-Lake Charles line which is 439-6374 or by contacting the Lake Charles branch of the Cameron State Bank at 433-7244.

"Last year's volunteers included large numbers of 4-H clubs, school and church groups and other organizations who did a fantastic job", Kelley said.

"We thank all donors of any kind of service rendered to our beach clean-up, and a list of these donors will be published in the newspaper", Kelley stated.

He also said that caps and T-shirts with the beach cleanup logo may be purchased by direct order to Baton Rouge.

Hurricane bypasses the parish

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Cameron Parish residents breathed a sigh of relief last weekend when Hurricane Gilbert tailed to follow the path that it was believed he would take, sparing the parish once again.

We certainly owe a debt of gratitude to the tireless Civil Defense workers who gave of their time to keep watch on the storm.

They are always on the job, manning the communicatons and keeping track of each storm as soon as it enters the Gulf of Mexico.

One good thing it did as it passed through the Gulf was to bring in a high tide, which cleaned up the beaches as it threw the drift up into the sand hills.

This should make the work easier for the thousands of people expected next weekend to participate in the beach cleanup.

The local citizens made an orderly evacuation when the Civil Defense gave the word to leave, as a precautionary measure, taking many possessions with them.

Even though we had to bring them all back and put them all back in their proper places in our homes, we should not gripe about it, but count our blessings that we have homes to come back to and remember that "It's better to be safe than sorry."

Revival set at G. Chenier

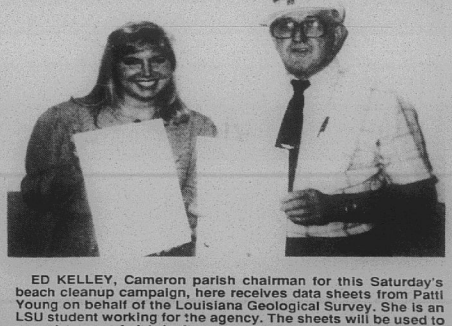
Trapping to start Dec. 1



Dates for the 1988-89 furbearer trapping season were announced recently by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The annual fur harvest will open Nov. 20, and run through Feb. 15, in the state's north zone, according to Johnnie W. Tarver, administrator of the LDWF Fur and Refuge Division. In the south zone, the season will begin Dec. 1, and end Feb. 28.

In addition, Tarver said, an experimental season has been scheduled in the north zone for Feb. 16-March 15, during which trappers will be allowed to use only traps with padded jaws (Soft-Catch or the equivalent).

Tarver said federal restrictions imposed by the CITES Scientific Authority for otter and bobcat furs would continue to require placement of an export tag prior to out-of-state shipment.

ED KELLEY, Cameron parish chairman for this Saturday's beach cleanup campaign, here receives data sheets from Patti Young on behalf of the Louisiana Geological Survey. She is an LSU student working for the agency. The sheets will be used to record types of debris found on the beach.

Gator hunting a little slow

By Loston McEvers

ALLIGATORS AND HURRICANE GILBERT

Offshore fishing is not going on as well as offshore shrimping, inland and bay is still going on, as well as Lacassine and Sabine bass fishing, all due to Hurricane Gilbert with 120 mph. Some nice redfish were taken out of Calcasieu Lake this past week, with some 7 to 9 pounds reported. Also a report of a 31 pounder taken at the Cameron Jetties.

Freshwater reports from Lacassine Refuge has been good, with fairly large (3 to 5 pounders) bass reported taken. When the barometer reading falls, fishing does get better. I even did good on bass filets, as a good friend of mine brought me two gallons of fresh bass filets. It's good to be a good bass fisherman, but it's better to have a friend who's a good bass fisherman, less cost and less work.

ALLIGATOR TOUGH

Our alligator trappers are having a hard time getting their gators, some are having good catches, but with the cool spell, some of the bigger gators are burying themselves. There are more smaller gators being caught than normal. Also our hunters are trying to prepare for Hurricane Gilbert, like getting their household stuff and clothes packed, their cattle and horses and other important items out to higher ground, and still run their lines, skin, prepare their meat and get it out.

The two alligator houses in lower Cameron, the Jerry Theriot's in Little Chenier and the Benny Welch's in Grand Chenier, have really been busy, as they skin for other people.

Mr. Welch raises his own alligators, as he has an alligator farm, but he took care of all his before the regular season opened, now he's skinning other hunters' gators as well as Jerry Theriot.

Many of our hunters have their gators ready to go if an evacuation should be called.

Next week, I'll try to have a better write-up, as Hurricane Gilbert kind of put us a few days behind. Catch 'ya next week.

Tarpons to host Warriors Fri.

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons will try to get back on a winning streak Friday against the Davidson Warriors of St. Joseph. Game time is 7 p.m. at Creole.

The Warriors, according to Coach Parry LaLande, are not as strong as they were last year but are just as dangerous using a wide open pro-type offense that relies basically on the pass and running back W. Triplett, a 180 pound senior.

Both team lineups have some similarities as each team is depending heavily on underclassmen to fill several slots on both offense and defense. In a sense, the game is up for grabs.

LaLande and his staff are looking for some changes that may provide more consistency in its offensive attach. Last week's loss of three practice days and the cancelled game with DeQuincy was costly in time needed to seriously affect any changes that would help provide more scoring potential in the offense.

The Tarpon team may have to do it without senior guard and linebacker Kelly Richard, who is not fully recovered from surgery on a torn ligament in his thumb.

Archery hunt to be held on Lacassine Ref.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has scheduled an either-sex archery hunting season for deer on the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, located in Cameron Parish west of Lake Arthur.

The entire refuge, except for the 16 acre headquarters area, will open Oct. 1. The hunt is scheduled to run until Oct. 31. However, the season may end before that date should factors arise that could threaten the welfare of the deer herd.

All prospective refuge hunters should stay abreast of the hunting situation. This can be done by calling the refuge at 318/774-5923. State regulations will apply for archery hunting on the refuge. No permits or check-in will be required; however successful hunters are requested to have their deer checked by a refuge employee.

Rutherford Beach opened in 1962

(EDITOR'S NOTE--This is the last article on the eight beaches in Cameron Parish that will be cleaned up during the big Gulfwide beach-cleanup on Sept. 24.)

Rutherford Beach is located about two miles southwest of the community of Oak Grove. It is accessible from Parish Road 357, via Rutherofrd Beach road.

Rutherford Beach was opened for public use in 1962 when the descendants of B. F. Rutherford and Adelia Broussard Rutherford dedicated the streets and beach area to the Cameron Parish Police Jury for public use.

From Rutherford Beach other Cameron beaches can be reached. To the east and across the old natural mouth of the Mermentau River lies a beach and barrier ridge known as Hackberry Beach. This beach area adjoins property owned by the Carter family, descendants of Dr. and Mrs. S. O. Carter.

The Rutherford Beach area for beach clean-up extends from Hackberry Beach to the west to Broussard Beach or about twelve miles. In 1987 Beach Captain Dean Roome, co-captain Ray Conner and 513 volunteers removed 2500 bags amounting to 30.5 tons of trash and debris from this beach. They are planning to strive for the same successful clean-up this year.

The tremendous success they enjoyed during last year's clean-up would not have been possible without the tremendous support of the Cameron parish school children. School children from the Grand Chenier, Cameron, Creole, Oak Grove, Hackberry, Grand Lake and schools throughout the state made up a greater portion of the work force on the beaches of Cameron Parish last year.

Fleas are an occupying army and are adaptive to most environments.

Radon gas no danger here

Exposure to radon gas poses almost no threat to Louisiana residents, according to experts with LSU and the Louisiana Nuclear Energy Division.

Keith Hood, a radiation safety specialist for LSU, said the clay in Louisiana's soil makes it difficult for the radon gas to rise to the surface.

Jay Mason of the Nuclear Energy Division of the Department of Environmental Quality said a small statewide survey found that 99.9 percent of the homes surveyed contained no significant levels of radon.

Constitution Day observed by D. A. R.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Dr. John Vile, head of the Social Science Department of McNeese State University, was the guest speaker at the Constitution Day luncheon held Saturday at the Pioneer Club.

It was a joint gathering of the Louisiana Bayou and the Calcasieu Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Mary Henry, Regent of the Calcasieu DAR was the mistress of ceremonies, and the honored guest was Mrs. Marie Dumite of Fenton, who is the only living charter member of the chapter.

Dr. Vile's talk centered on the history and background of the constitution.

He traced the steps of the different states that ratified and those that refused to send representatives to the Continental Congress.

"We are heirs to the wisdom and courage of the Federalist party in writing up this great document," he said.

"We need to remember that what we do today will affect those that come behind us, and we can leave no finer legacy than freedom under the law."

The adjournment of the event was concluded with the reading of the preamble to the Constitution of the United States.

TO THE PEOPLE OF HACKBERRY:

We, the members of the Board of the Hackberry Recreation District, would like to answer some questions about the up-coming special election to be held Saturday, October 1, 1988, for the purpose of re-opening Hackberry's Multi-Purpose Building.

You will notice the proposal reads: "a one and one half (1.5) mills for the purpose of maintaining and operating the District's Recreation and Multi-Purpose facility". This millage will be used TOTALLY for the operation of the Multi-Purpose Building only. The Board was petitioned by the community to allow the millage to be attached to its district since the Multi-Purpose facility did not have a maintenance fee.

The Board feels that the Multi-Purpose facility is very much needed for the community. We assure you that it will be operated with new guidelines that will make it available for the whole community, young and old alike.

We urge you to help make this fine building available again and vote "YES" on Saturday, October 1, 1988.

Information told for S. S. application

Persons 65 or older,blind, or disabled who believe they may be eligible for supplemental security income (SSI) payments should apply with the Lake Charles Social Security Office without delay Bill Dixon, Social Security District Manager said recently.

While applicants must provide certain information before their eligibility for monthly payments can be decided, they do not need all the necessary information to apply. The people at the local Social Security office can help to get whatever is needed.

There is a very practical reason for people to apply for SSI promptly. The payments cannot start before the date of application, Dixon said. Delay in filing can therefore mean a loss in payments. If some of the required information is lacking, the people in the Social Security office will help the applicant obtain it.

SSI applicants should furnish their Social Security card or a record of their Social Security number; their birth certificate or, if that is not available, the oldest proof of their age they have; information about their income and assets, such as bank books, insurance policies, and copies of tax returns; information about their mortgage if they own their home or about their lease if they rent their home; and medical records

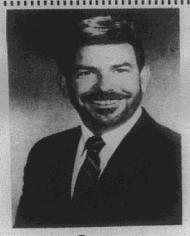
ACT tests set

As the new fall term opens South Cameron High School juniors and seniors should give some thought to taking the ACT Assessment.



The ACT Assessment, which consists of four academic tests that measure educational development and a detailed questionnaire that collects information relevant to educational and career planning, is recommended or required by more than 3,000 postsecondary institutions and scholarship programs.

Most students take the ACT Assessment during junior year or early in senior year, so their results will be available in time for use in planning for postsecondary education and careers.

The guidance office has the information and forms students need to register for the ACT Assessment. ACT also provides free copies of the booklet, Preparing for the ACT Assessment, which contains informaton about getting ready for the examination, plus a complete practice test.

The basic registration fee for the Assessment is $11.50.

For more information about the ACT Assessment, see Kay Palmer, Counselor.

Galveston storm is remembered

By Bernice Denny

Hurricane Gilbert has rolled and tossed and filled the Gulf with its violence. It has wrought destruction of life and property. It filled the minds of millions with concern -- even fear.

Thousands along the coast heed hurricane warnings today and move farther inland. The residents of Cameron and Vermilion remember Audrey all too well. The majority have to no desire to risk their lives. Losing their homes would be bad enough.

Our Weather Bureau, our local meteorologists, our Civil Defense, our Red Cross workers are all to be praised for their warnings and assistance when hurricanes ravage our coasts and rip through our lands. We have come a long way since the turn of this century--since Audrey itself.

I recall one story that my family used to tell me about the Great Galveston Disaster of 1900. My grandmother's cousin, Fannie McCall, of Grand Chenier, had married George Sannes. The young couple moved to Galveston Island, where he had work. They lived in an apartment building, a very large one. George left for work that morning. The storm struck, pushing its mountain of water ahead of it. He could not get back to his bride.

Later he was to discover that the building itself and its occupants were gone. Fannie's body was never found. He walked up and down the area. One day he spied a shiny object lying on the sands of the beach. He picked it up. It proved to be the silver-backed hairbrush, a part of the dressing table set he had given his wife. Engraved in the silver was her monogram.

Another story came out of the devastaton to Johnson's Bayou in 1886. My step-great-grandmother, Mrs. Myron Reuben Hollister, was alone at the time.

As the water rose and swirled around her house, which was probably a small one, she opened the outer doors to allow the water to wash through, thereby hoping to keep it from being carried away.

The water rose higher inside. The forlorn octogenarian clambered up on her kitchen table. The next instant she found herself and table floating through the door. For hours she lay clinging to her strange raft as wind and water played havoc all around her. She survived to tell how her faith in God had sustained her during those awesome hours.

It is possible that more hurricanes may be spawned this season. One never knows whether they will be on a smaller scale or whether they will be as monstrous and wild as Gilbert. We need to heed the weather bulletins. We need to listen to our Civil defense and act upon its recommendations.

(Lake Charles American, Sept. 22, 1905)
GRAND LAKE

Sept. 15--Last Saturday the family meeting of the heirs of the late Cesare Hebert was held in the store of D. A. Broussard, notary public.

Mrs. J. W. Watson, chaperone, and a bevy of young ladies, viz: Mabel Gish, Nellie and Dollie Cline, Myrtle Watson, Eva Pickeral, of Lake Charles, and Sophia Lee of Jennings are occupying the Blood cottage.

Died, Sept. 10, Mrs. Susan Demarest, after an illness of two years.

Hon. A. P. Pujo from Lake Charles, Eugene and Jesnair Hebert of Lacassine were in attendance at the Hebert family meeting.

A. O. Kingsbury and wife have removed to Lydia, (St. Mary's parish) having rented their farm to D. H. Broussard & Co.

Mr. Dave Hebert will complete his school term at Creole and return home next Saturday. He is much pleased with the vocation of teacher.

(lake Charles American Press, Sept. 21, 1917)
CAMERON MEN WILL BE LATE

The men to go from Cameron Parish to Camp Pike to become part of the great national army did not arrive on yesterday's boat, and accordingly, will not now get here until tomorrow afternoon, upon the return trip of the Rex which went down this morning on its regular Wednesday run.

This means that the Cameron men will go a day late in leaving Lake Charles and will be a day late in getting into camp. When the authorities at Camp Pike learn that Cameron Parish enjoys a unique condition as to transportation facilities, means of communication, etc., they will likely overlook the lateness of arrival on the part of these men.

Cameron Parish, without a railroad, a trolley line, a telegraph line, a telephone line and with an expanse of territory as large as half a dozen of the average counties of the northern states, is not a section of the state from which speed might be expected, though Cameron is noted for rearing men who "get there."

The notices did not get to all the men, it is understood, in time for them to assemble at Leesburg to take yesterday's boat, so the only recourse, unless they get some private launches, is to await the return of the Rex tomorrow.

Cameron has already sent one of her men, Mr. Portie, and the balance, except for two men, will leave in the present contingent.

As a matter of making it clear that there is no fault attached to either the Cameron local board or to the men relative to the latter not getting off on yesterday's boat, it is proper to mention that the board received its notification by mail boat from the government authorities to send the full contingent of white men, at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, and as the boat begins its trip back to Lake Charles at an early hour the next morning, there was not time to get notice to the individual men scattered over the parish with its 1,500 square miles of prairie land, without railroad, telephone, or telegraph communication and assemble them for the trip.

(Abbeville Meridional, Sept. 24, 1910)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

We are having quite a spell of weather. Heavy east winds and threatening rains, but not much rain as yet and no damage to rice. Some of the plants are threshing and also flooding late rice.

Master Malcolm Diehl returned to Jennings to school.

Mr. Miller is harvesting his corn crop and he has some fine samples of what this section can produce in that line. The crop has been fair considering the drawbacks of the season.

Mr. Cheek Sr. is on a visit to his home at Lakeside.

Hailed with the greatest of pleasure in this place and throughout Cameron Parish the suggestion in The Item of Sunday of ex-Judge E. D. Miller for governor. (New Orleans Item)

Judge Miller would unquestionably make a strong candidate for the people. He is not a politician but a man of the people. He numbers his friends in Cameron by the hundreds; in fact, almost every man, woman and child in the parish knows and loves Judge Miller.

TO: THE CITIZENS OF DISTRICT FIVE "CREOLE AREA"

My Dear Friends:

With God's help, the citizens of Cameron Parish were spared from a major disaster, Hurricane Gilbert, last week. With God's continued help we will not let one individual or a group of individuals destroy our Parish from within.

We have officials who seem to thrive on spreading misinformation and lies. Please do not let them mislead you.

Here are the facts concerning the upcoming Fire Protection Maintenance Tax election in the Creole area:

(1) The Creole Fire Protection District has never voted or collected a maintenance tax, as per the letter from Tax Assessor, Bobby Conner.

CAMERON
Parish Assessor
P. O. Drawer G
CAMERON, LOUISIANA 70631

Mr. Ray Conner
Cameron Parish Police Jury
P. O. Box 366
Cameron, Louisiana

Dr. Ray:

As per request, please find enclosed a copy of the resolution for Cameron Fire District #7. Please note that this tax is for the retirement of the bond for this district and does not constitute monies for maintenance of this fire district.

If you should need further information concerning this matter, please feel free to contact me at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Bobby

Robert E. "Bobby" Conner
Assessor - Cameron Parish

The Police Jury General Fund provided monies for the maintenance of the Fire Station and the purchase and maintenance of fire equipment for the Creole District. As you are well aware, these funds have been depleted.

(2) In 1977, the Creole District voted a Fire Protection Sinking Fund Bond Issue, which expanded the water/fire system.

If the Creole Fire Protection Maintenance Tax fails on October 1, 1988:

(1) The fire rating will increase from an eight to a ten, which means that the fire insurance rates will increase approximately 23-30 percent.

(2) Fire trucks and fire fighting equipment will be removed from our district. We will have no fire protection in this district.

Fire protection is needed in the Creole area. Please make it your business to vote on October 1, 1988.

If anyone wishes to print information about the Creole Fire District or any other public information, please print the truth, our citizens deserve this.

Why couldn't you and I get the correct information and publish it together?

Why couldn't you and I join together to help the people that we were born and raised with, instead of trying to hurt them?

Why don't we as public officials all band together to help our parish?

RAY CONNER

TEDs to be delayed until May, 1990

A House and Senate conference committee has agreed to delay enforcement of regulations requiring use of turtle excluder devices (TEDs) in shrimp nets.

The committee approved an amendment by Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., to a bill reauthorizing the Endangered Species Act. The amendment puts off TEDs regulations until May 1, 1990, for inshore areas and until May 1, 1989, in offshore areas.

Rep. Billy Tauzin of Thibodaux said the TEDs regulations were due to take effect Saturday, Sept. 17. The delay was sought to enable further study into the status of the turtles being protected and to identify measures to save them from extinction.

Constance Beach loses 38 feet

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

"Grand Isle lost only 13 feet of beachfront and is getting all kinds of help and publicity and we lost 38 more feet in a 500 foot section during Hurricane Gilbert", said Rodney Guilbeaux, the unofficial mayor of Constance Beach. "We can't seem to be able to get any help."

This is the second time this year the little resort community, just west of Holly Beach has lost land to the Gulf of Mexico.

In April a giant wave came up during the night caving in all of the land up to the first paved street, and taking most of the street.

The wave wash from Hurricane Gilbert finished taking what was left of the paved street and left three houses hanging precariously over the Gulf. One was even a small hotel, "Ellie's".

It also knocked out all of the utilities to the houses that were on the front row of cabins by the Gulf.

Even though the Hurricane did not damage the parish in any other way, the storm surge ate away a big chunk of land in an area that has already been hit hard.

When asked what Guilbeaux thought could be done to save the area and the beach, he said the only thing would be to put up some kind of jetties or blocks to keep back the wave wash.

The mayor of Grand Isle has devised an adopt a rock program wherein people would buy a rock in their name at $500 each to build a jetty to save that resort.

Guilbeaux said there are even better methods on the market at this time, huge concrete blocks, but they cost $200,000 each.

In the meantime there are groups such as the Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana who are trying to get the Governor to recognize the problem in our area to try and to figure out a solution.

The group is asking Governor Roemer to include coastal restoration in his call to the special session and are urging legislation to create an Office of Coastal Restoration in the Governor's office, with authority to deal with coastal problems.

Everyone is asked to contact their legislators to take action on coastal restoration this special session and to dedicate funds for this purpose.

Over 800 help to clean beaches

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

They came from all over Louisiana - clubs, politicians, families, students, even 35 students from the Wetlands Resources unit at L.S.U. in Baton Rouge - to take part in the second annual clean-up of Cameron Parish beaches.

Kelley directed the clean-up from his headquarters in the Johnson Bayou Recreation Center and reported that 845 people had signed the registers at the various beaches, which were under the direction of various beach captains in the area.

Ed Kelley said the Cameron teams filled a total of 3,252 large plastic bags with debris picked up from eight different beaches.

Some "institutional waste" such as vials, syringes and surgical gloves was found on Little Florida Beach between Constance and Holly Beach, according to Barbara Colthrap, director of the Louisiana Litter Control and Recycling Commission.

However, she stressed the amount of medical waste "didn't appear to be a major problem." Last year, the teams found similar items, but not in large quanities.

The cleanup statewide resulted in the collection of about 8,500 plastic bags estimated to be about 80 to 100 tons of trash and litter from the beaches, she said.

Most of the items found consisted of styrofoam, plastic jugs or bottles, and other plastic items, she said.

There were also many foreign products or "exotic trash" picked up labeled in Greek, Spanish and even Oriental languages.

She added that it's believed that most of these items were dumped into the Gulf by merchant vessels.

Kelley said that the cleanup teams had a big helper this year better known as Hurricane Gilbert. A lot of the litter and trash was washed off the beaches into the marshes and dunes by the high water.

Election is Sat.

One big change has been made in the ballot to be voted on in Cameron parish this Saturday, Oct. 1--the race for the Court of Appeal judge will be missing.

A federal judge issued an order Tuesday telling the state to remove from the ballot the candidates for the four state appeal court seats. The election was blocked by a suit charging that the election system violates blacks' rights and the Legislature apparently will have to come up with a new method of filling the judges seats.

However, a constitutional amendment and three district tax elections will remain on the ballots in Cameron parish.

All of the parish will vote on a proposed consitutional amendment to authorize the Board of Commerce and Industry, with the approval of the governor and the affected local tax recipient bodies to grant for five years to owners of property in a housing strategy area, the right to pay ad valorem taxes based on the assessed valuation of the property for the year prior to any restoration or improvement.

Voters in the Creole area, Election District 5-1, are to vote on a 4 mill tax for a period of ten years for the purpose of maintaining and operating the District's fire protection facilities and acquiring fire protection equipment.

Voters in Big Lake, Grand Lake and Sweetlake, Election District 3, Precincts 1 and 2, will vote on a 2.5 mill tax for the purpose of maintaining and operating the District's recreation multi-purpose building within the district.

Voters in Hackberry, Election District 2, Precinct 1, will vote on an additional tax of 1.5 mills for the purpose of maintaining and operating the District's recreation multi-purpose building within the district.

Dance slated

There will be a dance held Friday, Sept. 30, from 8 p.m. to midnight in the Catholic Hall, Hackberry. Admission will be $2.50 and you must pay to return. The music will be played by Odyssey and it is sponsored by the Pal Group.

Gator festival is a success

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A fun day for the whole family was had by everyone attending the third annual Alligator Harvest Festival in the Grand Chenier State Park Sunday.

Alligator, seadogs, chicken dinners and hamburgers were served all day and there was a free dance.

Games were enjoyed by the children, who were awe struck by the arrival of Gumbo Gator, and cake walks were held for the whole family.

Scott Henry, a Cameron alligator hunter, was awarded the annual Joseph Sturlese Memorial Plaque for bringing in the largest alligator, measuring 13 feet 5 inches, last year. It was presented by Mrs. Doris Sturlese, whose late husband, Joseph Sturlese, was a pioneer Grand Lake alligator hunter.

This plaque is donated by the Sturlese family and is awarded to the parish alligator hunter bringing the largest gator the previous year.

Mrs. Rosa Reyes was crowned "1988 Senior Queen" by last year's winner, Mrs. Ruby Nettles, assisted by Kathryn Wilkerson "1988 Miss Cameron Parish."

Mrs. Reyes was also presented with the Miss Congeniality award.

Margaret Molby was first runnerup; Rosa Mhire, second and Lida Miller, third. Other contestants were Victoria Daigle and Mavis Guidry.

Dinah Vaughn served as the announcer and Mona Theriot was the contest coordinator. Judges were James Smith, Vicki Zimmerman, and Pam Dixon, all employees of KPLC-TV.

Tom Moorman, an employee of Rockefeller Wildlife Refuge had a display of alligator products that have been seized and confiscated by U. S. Customs and Federal Wildlife Agents.

He also had a cage of live baby alligtors that the children, especially, enjoyed viewing.

An auction was held during the afternoon of homemade items made by local church members.

Two handmade quilts, one a log-cabin Christmas quilt and the official alligator festival quilt, were purchased by Linda and Richard Sturlese and Mary Picou.

Proceeds from the event went to the Catholic Community Association.

Special Olympics to sponsor dance Fri.

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The newly organized Cameron Parish Special Olympics committee met last week to plan a local fund raising event on behalf of the Hope Center, Skylark and Special Olympics program.

A dance will be held after the South Cameron High School homecoming game Friday night, Sept. 30, at the Cameron K. C. Hall. The dance will start at 5 p.m., with Wayne Toups and his band playing. Gumbo will be sold at the dance, and for anyone else wanting it, starting at 5 p.m.

Other members of the committee are Glenn Alexander, Tammy Conner, Bobbie Primeaux, Mike Savoie, Val Mouton, Paul Coreil and Ruby Dupuie.

Cameron Parish began participating in the Special Olympics in 1983 when a South Cameron High School coach trained one boy and took him to participate in the international games held in Baton Rouge at L.S.U.

Coach Margo Young and Darrell East started the program and East became the Cameron Parish Special Olympics Coordinator. They sent several children to the state games in Hammond and sixty the next year to Lake Charles.

Brandi Styron gave a report of 4-H Club camp and Stephanie Guilbeaux gave a report on 4-H Club 6th and 7th grade field trip.

After the enrollment cards were passed out to members, Gary Wicke discussed the different projects. He also answered any questions on the different projects.

A discussion was held on the amount of dues for the club were going to be and $2 per member was decided on. The Cameron Clover was discussed. An October program committee was selected and the members are: Raymond Vickery, Nikki Didelot, Farrell Lewis, Tira Harris and Stephanie Guilbeaux. The 4-H Club week committee members are: Christy Wolfe, T. J. Porche, Bryan Venable, Stephanie Bellard and Lucretia Godette.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

It was a very frightening experience to discover that the child you are about to give birth to will be born with a physical or mental handicap.

You don't know what to expect or where to turn for help. When my son, B. J., was born one of my first visitors in the hospital was a representative of the Skylark Hope Center of Lake Charles. The center offered my family and me just that - Hope.

They explained their available services and offered help and support immediately.

Since that time they have visited my home on a regular basis. Testing, evaluating and teaching B. J. and me the exercises to perform daily in order to help strengthen him physically and mentally.

I know of several children in our parish at the present time who utilize the services of this free program. United Way and private donations provide a major portion of Skylark's income.

Some of the things that are needed at the present time for the center are wheelchairs, a ramp, speech evaluation equipment, hearing evaluation equipment and many other items too numerous to mention.

On Friday, Sept. 30, many of my generous Cameron parish neighbors have worked together to sponsor a benefit dance to raise much needed money for the Skylark Hope Center and the Cameron Parish Special Olympics. These wonderful people are giving their time, money and talent to help support these wonderful programs.

I cannot begin to thank everyone for all their help but I would like to personally thank Debbie Theriot, who serves as chairman of the Cameron Parish Special Olympics for her many hours; Glenn Alexander for his time spent away from his office to help publicize the event, and the remaining members of the Special Olympics Committee -- Val Mouton, Mike Savoie, Paul Coreil, Tammy Conner and Ruby Dupuie.

A special thanks to Mrs. Joe Istre, who has spent so much of her time giving to special children, Darrell East, co-ordinator of Special Olympics is very appreciative of all the work which has gone into this event.

I know that I speak for all the parents of these special children when I say thank you and God bless you.

As well stated by my good friend, Alice LaBove, having a special child makes you feel as though you were selected by God to experience the love of that chld and to see the good that these children bring out in other people.

Please come out and support our effort to brighten the future of these wonderful children.

Alligator sale set

The Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor a public alligator hide sale Wednesday, Oct. 12 at 8 a.m. at the Cameron Mosquito Control Barn, 7 miles east of Cameron.

The sale will be structured like the Abbeville sale, with sealed bids submitted for each hunter's lot of hides. Each lot will be unloaded and measured on a first come, first serve basis. All hunters are asked to arrive at the sale by 8 a.m. on Wednesday morning.

Hides that have been sold at the Grand Chenier State Park Sale for the past two years will this year be sold at the Cameron parish sale.

Anyone wanting additional information may call the Extension Service office at 775-5516 or 775-7443.

Prior notification is not necessary to attend the sale.

People believe if you walk into a spider's web, you will get a letter.

Nine million tons of salt are applied to American highways each year for road de-icing.

SCOTT HENRY of Cameron here is presented with the annual Alligator Festival Award for having brought in the largest alligator this past year--a 13 ft. 5 in. gator. Mrs. Sturlese presents the award in memory of her late husband, Joseph Sturlese, a pioneer Grand Chenier alligator hunter. (Geneva Griffith Photo)

The museum has been closed since August due to closure of many public buildings until funding plans have been effected. We hope that some plan will be developed so that we can reopen.

In the meantime, those of you who have articles on loan to the museum may be concerned about them. We would like to keep the articles until we know if we will be able to reopen the museum. Naturally, if it must remain closed, we will return all articles to the owners.

If anyone should wish to claim their articles now, please call me at 775-9228 and we will plan to meet in the museum.

The paintings shared for the summer art display may be obtained from Lora Guthrie in the Take-2 clothing store from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday thru Friday. Lora will keep your paintings there until you come for them. Thank you for sharing your work with us.

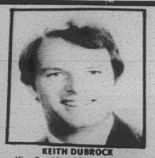
Broussard baby receives his baptism



Jeremy Reed Broussard, infant son of Kevin and Jenny Sue Broussard of Milton, received infant baptism at the Sunday morning service, Sept. 18, 1988, in Lake Arthur First United Methodist Church. The Rev. David DeWitt, pastor, officiated.

With the parents at the altar were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Broussard of Lake Charles and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fox, Jr., of Milton and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fox, Sr. of Lake Arthur and Mrs. Bernice H. S. Denny of Iowa.

Mrs. Denny and the baby's late great-grandfather, A. P. Stewart, were natives of Grand Chenier.

In honor of the christening, Mrs. Fox Sr.'s birthday on the 18th, and that of an uncle and aunt around the weekend, a family dinner was held at noon in the home of the senior Foxes. Nearly 40 were present from Lake Charles, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Milton, Iowa, Lake Arthur and Orangefield, Tex.

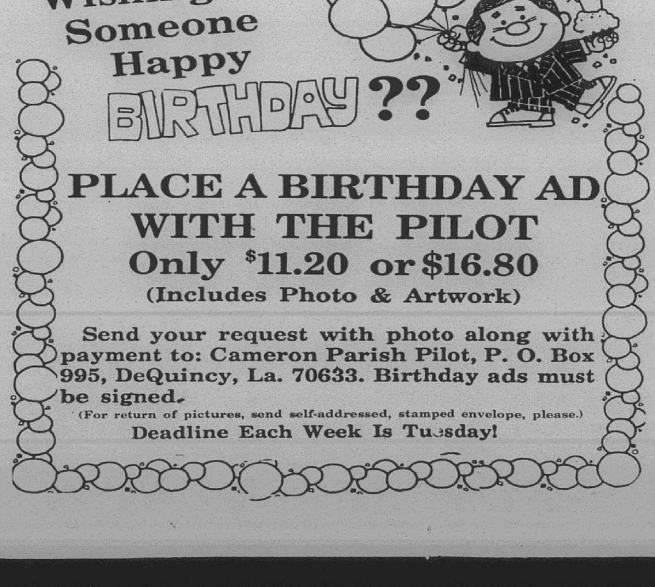
TO THE VOTERS OF CAMERON FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT #7:

As you know we have an election this weekend to decide on a Fire Protection Maintenance Tax in our district. We, the Volunteer Fire Department, feel that we should let you know some facts. First of all it is a 4 mill tax for a period of 10 years. From previous years, it is estimated that it will cost the Creole Volunteer Fire Department approximately $10,000 a year to operate. Four mills will bring in approximately $14,000 a year. We know that this is more than estimated to operate under normal circumstances, but we feel that a little more money will be needed in case of a truck breaking down and for purchases of other needed equipment, such as hoses, nozzles, tires, etc. (things that do wear out over the years).

Cameron Fire Protection District #7 has never had a maintenance tax (one of the only Fire Districts in the Parish without a maintenance tax). It has been funded by donations and the Cameron Parish Police Jury.

If this tax is not passed, we will lose our Fire Protection. As a result our district will drop from its present rating of an eight to a ten. What this means is an increase of 23 to 30 percent on Fire Insurance. Figures from a local insurance agency show that on a $25,000 Fire and Wind Policy under an eight rating would cost $627.00 and under a rating of ten would cost $774.00. For a $50,000 policy under an eight would cost $878.00 and under a ten would cost $1084.00.



The monies collected from this tax will NOT go into the Police Jury General Fund but will be handled solely by the Creole Volunteer Fire Department, for maintenance of the department.

We are not pushing this tax to get any political or financial gain, but feel that we have worked too hard to get as far as we've gotten with our Fire Department to let it all go down the drain.

The choice is yours--Pass the Tax or pay more on insurance. Please get out and vote on October 1.

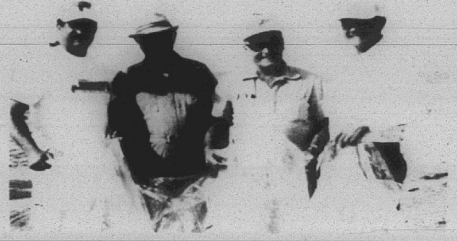
Endowment fund sought for elderly

By DINAH VAUGHN, Director
Cameron Council on Aging

Budget cuts...these are perhaps the two most dreaded words that any agency could ever hear. Recently the tightening up of the federal, state and local budgets has threatened the existence of the Cameron Council on Aging programs. A possible solution to the problem is the Cameron Council on Aging Endowment Fund.

With the existence of the Endowment Fund, our senior citizens will not have to worry if they will still be able to get a nutritious meal or the necessary transportation to the doctor and other services. The Endowment Fund is designed to eventually support the numerous elderly programs sponsored by the COA with little or no federal money.

It is a perpetuating fund, whereby all contributions received are deposited in an account and never withdrawn; only the accrued interest is ever spent. It will be managed by the COA board of directors, and governed by by-laws; receive and maintain donations of real and personal property and use interest from these funds to provide financial assistance for the senior citizens programs.



The Council on Aging is currently accepting donations of cash, properties, stocks, bonds, mineral royalties and insurance endowments. Any gift to the Endowment Fund remains there forever and continues to generate new monies. This benefits the seniors of today as well as those of tomorrow.

This is a perfect opportunity for you to insure your golden years and the future of those you love, and all gifts are tax deductible. If you wish to recognize the death of a friend or loved one, what better way than to make a contribution in his or her name.

If you wish to help someone celebrate a birthday, anniversary, or some other memorable event in their lives, why not make a contribution in their future. For more information please call the Cameron Council on Aging at 775-5668.

Drainage was planned in 1907

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American, Sept. 27, 1907)
REDEEMING LAND IN CAMERON

Steps are being taken by the heavy taxpayers of Wards One and Two of Cameron Parish to erect two drainage districts, each ward to constitute one, and petitions to the police jury of Cameron Parish asking for such action have been prepared and are being distributed.

The two wards involved constitute the eastern portion of the parish and embrace the Grand Chenier ridge, one of the most fertile portions of the entire parish. The crops on Grand Chenier this year are especially fine. A good yield of cotton has been secured and the orange crop is larger than for many years.

The real estate owners of that neighborhood have come to realize that they need more cultivable land and have found that by constructing a few drainage canals to the Mermentau many hundreds of acres of semi-swamp land now used only for pastures, can be converted into farms. There are many thousands of acres of the richest lands of Louisiana that can be redeemed in the same way at comparatively small expense and the Cameron people are falling in line with what is being done in nearly all of the coast parishes.

The police jury of Cameron will probably grant the petition as soon as the matter is presented to them. In fact they have the power, as every police jury has, to create drainage districts without petitions; but it seems proper tht the move should first come from the taxpayers. If the petition is allowed, five commissioners will be named in each district, three by the police jury, on the recommendation of a majority of the resident taxpayers of the district and two by the governor of the state. Among those chiefly interested in the proposed improvement are members of the Miller, McCall, Nunez, Jones and Portie families, some of the oldest and best known in the parish.

NO MORE WELLS AT CAMERON

Sometimes the news from the territory surrounding Lake Charles wonre prospecting for oil is going on is "just fine." Other days it isn't. This is one of the "off" days.

To begin with, neither the Gulf Refining Company nor anybody else is going to do any further drilling on Hackberry Island just now. Mr. Charles O. Noble, of the Gardiner-Noble syndicate, says so, and he is interested enough to know. On the contrary, Gardiner-Noble are packing their machinery and pulling out from Hackberry. Mr. Noble went down to the island today to superintend the loading of the drilling rig on barges, which will be brought here and stored.

"The report that the Gulf was about to drill another well," said Mr. Noble, "probably originated from the fact that our rig is being moved. But it is being moved out, not in. We expect to complete the work today. I can say positively that the Gulf people do not now contemplate further drilling."

For the past thirteen years Hackberry island has been a veritable Golconda--for oil well drillers, manufacturers of iron pipe and drilling machinery. (Note: Golconda is a city in India, formerly the center of the diamond trade. It is used here to mean a source of great wealth.) For the prospectors it has not been exactly the same thing. Soon after the Beaumont discovery in January, 1900, oil prospectors fixed upon Hackberry as one of the likeliest places for oil discoveries. The dome-like rock structure rising out of the marsh, with oil springs, gas bubbles and mounds, seemed an ideal drilling place. Work was begun there in the same year and has been continued by one company or another with little interruption ever since. Only the prospectors could tell how much money was spent. The drilling has been through hard rock and unusually expensive and just enough of a showing has been obtained to encourage further efforts. It is understood that one well has been drilled to a 2,500 foot depth.

MUSING . . .

Parish homes in 1800's

By Bernice Denny

If in fantasy we were to enter Cameron Parish homes as they were furnished in the late 1800's or early 1900's, we might be both intrigued and puzzled.

Without electricity and its performance at the touch of a switch, we would need instructions in order to function.

In every room we would see coal oil lamps on table, dresser, or high shelf. Their bowls would need filling; their chimneys, cleaning; their wicks, trimming. One must not run out of matches.

Instead of a washing machine on the back porch or yard big zinc tubs and a washboard. Near the house a huge black iron wash pot would stand ready to be filled with water carried from a well or cistern. Beneath the pot, which usually rested on old bricks or some kind of slab, a fire would be built. Into the boiling water shavings of lye soap or the later famous yellow bought soap would be dissolved. Into this the white clothes were doused and boiled within an inch of their thread-count.

A broom handle or other smooth pole would be used to lift the clothes and transfer them to a nearby tub of rinse water. A second rinsing in clear water was followed by a final rinse in blueing water. At last the clothes were wrung as dry as possible by hands of the now tired laundress and were hung on clotheslines pinned by clothespins or spread on fences to dry.

In earlier days starch for the clothes was made with flour. Later store bought starch was used. In both cases it was cooked in water. Still later cold water starch came into vogue.

Ironing was done by means of heating sadirons on top of the kitchen stove, a wood-burning one. To insure that the irons were not smutty some ladies placed clean ashes on the scrubbed white kitchen floor and rubbed the iron into the ashes each time before setting it on a garment. A few kitchens boasted coal oil stoves.

Instead of built-in kitchen cabinets one usually found safes or cupboards (pieces of standing furniture). Sinks were a rarity. A "pot" table--so called because a shelf beneath the table held pots--was covered with oil cloth long enough to conceal the shelf of pots. On the table was a big dish pan, a smaller rinsing pan, a soap dish, and an open water bucket in which stood a long-handled dipper. Few early kitchens had piped-in water.

In bedrooms there were no closets. Furniture known as wardrobes, clothes-presses, or "armoires" was used. Since few homes contained bathrooms, each bedroom was furnished with a washstand and its accompanying water pitcher and bowl. Beside each was a combinet, commonly called a "slopjar". At night a chamber pot, hidden by day, was placed near the bed.

A bedroomwall might sport a row of nails, some driven through empty spools, on which to hang hats or clothes. Evidently, the common coat hanger had not been invented. Other items of clothing were put into dresser drawers.

If these homes of a long ago era lacked the conveniences that are ours today, they more than compensated by offering gracious, unlimited hospitality to all who entered their doors.

Vaughn is officer is state group

Dinah Vaughn, director of the Cameron Community Action Agency, was recently elected secretary of the board of directors of the Louisiana Association of Community Services organization.

The Cameron Community Action Agency is less than two years old. Persons below the poverty level in Cameron Parish are being assisted with commodities, utility bills, home repairs, transportation, and other services.

ASC sets boundaries

Farm administrative boundaries have been set by the Cameron parish Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee in preparation for holding elections for ASC county and community committee members later this year, reported James Cox, ASC Chairman of Cameron parish.

ASC local administrative areas help provide farmers with effective farm program administration through local representation. These areas are reviewed yearly to determine whether boundary changes would benefit farmers, Mr. Cox said.

This year Cameron parish will have three ASC local administrative areas. A list of ASC local administrative areas and the number of farms each area is available for inspection at the Calcasieu-Cameron parish ASCS office.

Mr. Cox said that reviewing and setting ASC local administrative area boundaries is only the first step in this year's community and county committee members election schedule.

'Gator hunting improving

By Loston McEvers

ALLIGATOR HUNTING

This year's alligator season will end Oct. 10. Things look way better than a week ago as most hunters have either got their tags filled or some are missing 2 to 4. Don't get me wrong, some of the hunters with large amount of tags, still have a few more to go, but the outlook is bright, unless we start to get cooler weather.

The Wildlife department issued around 25,000 tags with an additional 10,000 tags going to commercial gator farmers.

Last year some 23,200 gators were harvested by 1400 hunters. Another 8,600 gators were harvested by 18 gator farmers.

Last year prices averaged $38 per foot, but I think the gator hunters are expecting more this year.

I heard that the alligator buyers didn't want the smaller gators this year. They preferred the larger ones. This may be talk on the street, but maybe they already bought smaller ones from the alligator farmers.

TRAPPING SEASON

The 1988-89 furbearing trapping season in the north zone will be Nov. 20 thru Feb. 15. In the south zone (our zone) it will be Dec. 1 thru Feb. 28. There will also be an experimental season in the north zone from Feb. 16 thru March 15. The trappers for this season will only be able to use traps with padded jaws.

BUNDICK LAKE

The water level of Bundick Lake in Beauregard Parish began Sept. 20, in a four-month program to balance fish population.

The drawdown will help control an overpopulation of gizzard and threadfin shad, to give more lake for the bass, crappie and other game fish. This will also reduce vegetation in shallow waters, and give camp and business owners a chance to do dock work, wharves and other work, when the land will be lower than 6 feet below spillway elevation.

Refilling of the lake will begin Jan. 15, 1989.

LOUISIANA DUCK STAMP

All waterfowl hunters 16 years of age and older will be required to purchase a $5 Louisiana Duck Stamp in addition to a federal duck stamp for the 1989-90 hunting season.

All monies from the stamps and prints will be placed in a special account and used only for buying or leasing of wetlands for waterfowl in Louisiana.

LACASSINE NATIONAL REFUGE

An either-or archery hunting season for deer on Lacassine National Refuge, will open Oct. 1, on the entire refuge, except for the 16 acres headquarters area. The hunt is to run until Oct. 31. If the welfare of the deer is threatened, it could close before. For more information you may call 774-5923.

SABINE NATIONAL REFUGE

The 1988 fishing season on Sabine National Refuge will close at sundown Oct. 15, and will remain closed throughout the winter to protect and maintain waterfowl concentrations in the area.

The roadside canals on Hwy. 27 will remain opened during the winter for fishing, crabbing and cast netting. Daylight hours only and no boats will be allowed in these canals. Grand Bayou and East Cove will be open to boat usage for winter fishing except during the waterfowl hunting season.

The same 24,000 acres of the refuge will be open to the public for waterfowl hunting this winter.

CAMPS ALONG OUR COAST LINES

Living here in Cameron Parish we see camps in our marshes, coast lines and beaches and we don't think anything of it, as we've lived with this all our lives.

In Louisiana, there's approximately 19,000 camps, some shacks, some nice and some nicer. No matter how they're built, it's a mansion to its' owner and friends. They are used for fishing, hunting and lots of other outdoor activities. Lots of these camps are in heavy populated areas, while many are isolated in our marshes. Many try to locate where there's a powerline for electricity, but many are not, as light plants are used. Running electricity through a marsh area will run somewhere around $35,000 a mile and that's tough and expensive.

Many families live in camps year around, where commercial fishermen, trappers, shrimpers and crabbers live in the marsh and make only a few trips in to visit or get supplies and sell their catch.

In today's time, where you have good motor boats, it's way easier to get to the camps than it was years ago when all you had was a pirogue.

I remember as a young boy, we would go out to a camp that my father and others had, where they lived during trapping season. The camp was used for hunting clubs stopping point. The guide would leave the motor boats there and take pirogues to the duck blinds. Inside the camp was a homemade bed, table and chairs, cabinet, a wood stove with a few black pots, utensils, plates and bowls, and of course a coffee pot with cups.

This camp was called the "Coffee Shop" by the hunters and guides, as they would make coffee before and after the hunt. There were also many gumbos made in the camp. The only way to get to the camp was by boat.

In today's time, we have a good shell road, built by the oil companies with electricity and telephone service just across the canal, in a modern two-story camp (mansion), built by one of my uncles, a deep water well and all the goodies.

Times have really changed down here in our marshes and coast lines, but there's still camps and I'm sure will always have camps in our area, because of all the fishing, hunting and trappers.

The annual Monkey Island Boy Scout on-shore fishing rodeo is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 8. The activity is open to all youth of Cameron Parish and boy and girl scout groups from the five parish area.

Registration will begin at 7 a.m. with weigh-in and award session at 3 p.m. There is a $3 registration fee. Shrimp bait will be provided free from the local shrimp houses.

The Cameron Youth Council and the Lake Charles Pilot's Association will co-host the event with Robert Manuel as weigh-in master.

The Lake Charles Pilot's Association operating base at the point of Monkey Island bordered on each side and facing the Gulf, provides an excellent view of the port activity as well as provides easy access to some real good fishing along the shoreline. Only on-shore anglers can compete for prizes, no boating groups are eligible.

The annual event has been a cooperative enterprise sponsored by volunteer help and donations of money or prizes from merchants, individuals, commercial fishing interests and the help of both the Cameron Parish Sheriff's Department and the Police Jury.

Chief cook Clyde Theriot will have his cooking crew and pots ready for the fish fry. Senior citizens are urged to join their grandchildren in the fun day activity.

Fish kills are studied

Localized fish kills along the Louisiana coast resulting from Hurricane Gilbert are being monitored by biologists of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

John Roussel of the department's Saltwater Finfish Section said that although Gilbert made landfall far from the Louisiana coastline, its mere presence in the Gulf of Mexico caused tides to be abnormally high for a number of days.

The high tides inundated small ponds and sloughs containing stagnated water as well as numerous vegetated areas which have a high oxygen demand, Roussel said. As the tides receded, fish became trapped in areas that are either low or void of oxygen.

Department biologists report that none of the fish kills discovered to date have been extensive. However, Roussel said specialists will closely monitor the situation and continue to investigate and document any additional kills.

Broussard is saluted

Dear Editor:

When Donald P. Broussard retired as Librarian at South Cameron High School on Monday, Sept. 19, it was a sad day for those of us who worked with Don and had grown to love and respect him.

I would like to personally thank Don for what he has meant to me as a co-worker and what he has meant these many, many years to South Cameron High School and to Cameron Parish.

Don is one of those rare individuals who goes above and beyond the call of duty and never complained while carrying out the responsibility of others. He was always willing to help, answer questions, make suggestions, provide leadership, and then carry the load/responsibilities of others. He was unfailing in his support and devotion to SCHS and Cameron Parish.

It is said that everyone is replaceable--but I don't believe any one person can ever fill the shoes of Donald P. Broussard and I feel privileged to have worked with him these nine years.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

Antoine BONIN, born 1715 in Grenoble, France, was a rifleman in the French Army of Occupation of the Louisiana Territory and in 1740 while stationed with the garrison at Fort Toulouse, Ala., he married Marie Marguerite Tellier.

Discharged in 1763 after the Treaty of Paris gave possession to Great Britain of former French lands from the Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River, the Bonins and their family of four sons and two daughters moved to French territory west of the Mississippi.

Sailing to New Orleans in 1764 they first settled at Pointe Coupee, moving the following year to the Attakapas country west of the Atchafalya Basin by way of present Breaux Bridge and down Bayou Teche to the area of what is now St. Martinville, LA.

Antoine Bonin was the son of Francois, born 1677 and Antoinette Fagot; and grandson of Paul, born 1650 and Agatha Allard, all of Grenoble, France.

Descendants of Antoine, now in the 9th generation born in this country and numbering in the thousands, have been traced in a comprehensive genealogy of his Bonin line.

BONIN FAMILY

The Bonin and Related Families as compiled by Jestnair J. Bonin lists almost two thousand Bonin names in its separate Bonin Family Reference Guide (index).

Serving as an unusual Key to Information for the book, this Guide alphabetically lists all Bonin names included, with birth date and page number where each person's family is recorded. Thus an individual can be traced back to the family progenitor, Antoine, and forward through descendants.

A separate Index of Related Families alphabetically lists some 5500 additional names including most of the well known South Louisiana surnames: Albert, Bonin, Borel, Boudreaux, Bourque, Boutte, Breaux, Broussard, Comeaux, Derouen, Dugas, Duhon, Hebert, Judice, Landry, LeBlanc, Louviere, Oubre, Romero, Segura, Thibodeaux, Trahan, Verret, Viator, and many more.

Filled with names, dates and places, this Bonin genealogy is hardcover, 6 x 9 in., about 420 total pages, $32.00 incl. mailing, available from: Hebert Publications, P.O. Dr. E, Ville Platte, LA 70586.

INDEX TO SESSION ACTS

Name Index to the Session Acts of the Mississippi Territory by Carroll Ainsworth McElligott indexes surnames extracted from the 14 existing Session Acts of the Mississippi Territorial Legislature during its turbulent 1801-1816 years before Mississippi was admitted in 1817 as the 20th state of the U.S.

These Session Acts include lists of committee members, acts of divorce, acts to change the name of an individual, to emancipate certain persons of color, to authorize the sale of property of an estate, etc.

This Index is softcover, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in., 38 pages, $8.50 incl. mailing, available from: Carroll Ainsworth Enterprises, P.O. Box 188, Harleyville, SC 29448.

Tales of Lafitte

By Bernice Denny

Many were the tales of long ago that Captain Vinson Laurents told me back in the early '50's. Below are a few brief extracts:

There used to be an opening from the Gulf of Mexico into White Lake. When hard pressed Jean Lafitte would sail into the Lake. In one place in a bayou along the levee many pieces of fine European china have been found.

About 1819, one of Lafitte's pirates, named Brown, was sailing up Bayou Que Tortue. He landed at the home of a Mr. Lyons, who had received a land grant from an Indian tribe there. Brown robbed Lyons of his slaves and other properties; then returned to Galveston.

When Lafitte learned the truth about Brown, he had him hanged. Lafitte had given his pirates strict orders not to molest citizens living along the waterways.

Captain Laurents stated that in 1816 his great-grandfather, Benoit Laurents, rode horseback through southwest Louisiana and southeast Texas with a French officer, LaLande, to the Rio Grande.

LaLande remained, but Laurents rode back alone through Camanche Indian territory. He spent three days in Campeachy (now Galveston) with Lafitte.

At that time it was said that Lafitte had the equivalent of $5,000,000 in his possession.

Flood insurance needed in area

Many residents of areas subject to hurricanes often overlook an important part of being prepared: adequate property insurance.

Harold T. Duryee, who heads the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), points out that while most homeowners' insurance policies provide coverage for damage from wind, they do not cover the serious damage caused by flooding that usually accompanies hurricanes. According to Duryee, residents of both coastal areas and inland communities should consider their need for flood insurance protection, especially now that the 1988 hurricane season is underway.

Along the coast, flood waters are caused by tremendous storm surges which bring ocean waves that rise 20 feet or more above normal sea level. While the hurricane-force winds die down as the storm moves over land, the vast quantities of water within the system can cause major flooding well inland from the coast.

In 1972, Hurricane Agnes was downgraded from hurricane status shortly after landfall. With winds of less than 45 mph, Agnes inundated more than a dozen states from Florida to New York. Property damage due to flooding amounted to more than $2 billion, making Agnes the country's most expensive natural disaster. According to FIA's Duryee, more than 95 percent of these losses were uninsured.

The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) was created by Congress to provide previously unavailable flood protection and continues to be the only source of flood insurance for most property owners. Overseen by FIA, the NFIP offers protection against flood damage in nearly 18,000 communities throughout the U.S. that have adopted and enforced floodplain management ordinances.

Coverage is not automatic; homeowners, business owners, and renters must purchase this insurance to be protected against flood losses. It may be purchased through any property/casualty insurance agent or broker.

FIA is a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), and part of its mission is to inform the public about the availability of flood insurance because there are so many uninsured buildings at risk of flooding. "There are more than two million flood insurance policyholders," Duryee said. "But estimates are that there are between six and eight million insurable buildings at risk. This means there could be as many as six million uninsured buildings," Duryee warned.

There is normally a five-day writing period before flood insurance policies become effective, so they must be purchased before storm warnings are issued. While an insurance agent can provide the most specific information to local situations, NFIP does have a toll free number for further assistance. The number is 1-800-638-6620.

You need a guidebook to take on that trip

"Pelican Guide to New Orleans by Thomas K. Griffin, $4.95; Maverick Guide to Hawaii" and "Maverick Guide to Australia" by Robert W. Bone, $11.95 each, all publ. by Pelican Publishing Co., available in bookstores.

Reviewed by MARIE WISE

You need a guidebook to take on that trip if you are going to know what there is to see, where to find it and how much it's going to cost.

You need to know where to stay, where to eat, whether you need reservations, what hours various attractions are open, how to get from here to there, things not to do. Following are three excellent guidebooks to tell you all this and more:

The Pelican Guide to New Orleans by Tommy Griffin, a New Orleans newspaperman for more than 30 years, takes the reader on a block-to-block tour of the Crescent City's major attractions.

Now in its 7th edition, this handy sized 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 in. book, 174 pages, tells about the city's people, entertainment, history, night life, cuisine, business, industry, sports and culture.

There is a special chapter on Mardi Gras and an itinerary for a typical five-day stay.

The Maverick Guide to Hawaii now in its 12th edition is one of the finest travel guides in print. By Robert W. Bone, former writer for the Fielding travel guides and Time-Life Books, now travel guide for Honolulu magazine, tells EVERYTHING you need to know for getting ready to go to Hawaii and enjoying it after you are there.

For Hawaii, "the Big Island" and the five other major islands, information on sports, sightseeing, history, the people, special activities and attractions, up-to-date prices, transportation, anything else you might want to check on - it's all given in the 463 pages of this "traveling companion".

The Maverick Guide to Australia, also by Bone and in its 7th edition, is a happy necessity for a trip "Down Under".

Guiding the visitor from one part of this big continent to another, Bone's 367 page book is comprehensive in its information and entertaining to read.

As a "been there" guide he goes through background, history and "the general picture" to transportation, hotels, dining, sightseeing, guided tours, sports, shopping, entertainment, night life, and addresses you need to know for each of eight major areas.

Take a guidebook on your trip; you'll be glad you did.

Clean off 'love bugs' to prevent damages

There's no love lost when Louisiana motorists encounter that semiannual nuisance called the "love bug".

Also known as march flies, honeymoon bugs and a host of other names, love bugs usually emerge in the state in large populations in May and September each year.

"We missed a big spring population this year, but they seem to be trying to make up for it now, especially in the southern part of the state from St. Francisville to the coast," says entomologist Dr. Dale Pollet of the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service.

He notes that the love bugs are especially prevalent along roadways, levees and other grassy areas. As they are struck by cars and other vehicles traveling on the road, their remains plug up car radiators, coat windshields and lessen the intensity of headlights. Otherwise, they are harmless and do not sting or bite.

Pollet says love bugs are common along the Gulf of Mexico and in Mexico and Central America. Females can lay up to 300 eggs and prefer nesting in decaying vegetation, which provides emerging larvae with a ready food supply. This explains in part why they are often found in great numbers along roads and other areas that receive occasional mowing.

On the positive side ecologically, Pollet says that larvae convert dead plant material into usable nutrients in the soil. Larvae develop rapidly over the summer because of the state's warmer temperatures and adequate moisture, then pupate in the soil and mature in late August and September. Although indivduals are short lived, their populations may emerge over a six-week period.

Attraction to heat also explains why they are often found along roads. The heat of the car also attracts them after the vehicle has stopped.

At night, the flies settle on foliage and rest, taking flight with the light of morning.

Pollet says that it is important to clean the spattered insects off car finishes as soon as possible to

Ag seminar to be held in December

Extension Service agents from Acadia, Allen, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Cameron, Evangeline, and Jeff Davis are involved in the planning of this event.

Major topics to be covered are: Agricultural Alternatives; Hunting Leases--Upland and Waterfowl; Fruit and Vegetable Production; Aquaculture--Softshell Crawfish Production; and Rabbit Production. Experts from each of these areas will make presentations.

The public is invited to attend. Registration fee is .15 per person. The deadline for registration is Nov. 23.

Cancer Answers

A No matter where you get your tan, you're getting skin damage along with it. Repeated exposure to ultraviolet radiation--whether artificial or from the sun--leads to aging of the skin, wrinkles and possibly skin cancer.

Many tanning salons have machines that emit ultraviolet A radiation (UVA). Although the natural ultraviolet B radiation (UVB) from the sun is most associated with burning, UVA (from the sun or a sun lamp) penetrates more deeply into the skin than UVB, and is responsible for the aging effects on the skin. UVA probably contributes to the development of skin cancer as well, just as UVB does.

Before you go to a tanning salon or lie unprotected in the sun, remember that long after your tan fades, the damage you have done to your skin remains.

Located adjacent to the Cameron Courthouse, in the same building as Hebert Abstract Company, Inc.
OPEN: MONDAY THRU FRIDAY -- 8:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

TO MR. NUNEZ AND MR. CONNER:

Mr. Nunez, I would like to answer your statement to the best of my ability, fair and impartially. You stated I went to the press to spread venom, which means poison. As far as I'm concerned, I went to the press to tell the people the truth and not mislead them. Pick out one article that I have written and show where I have spread false statements.

When I wrote these articles, I had complaints that I felt were for the good of the people. I always felt I was working for the good of improving the courthouse and what our tax dollars should have been spent on. What body was trying to poison the minds of our people with false accusations, that Sono would not let them haul any more shell for the private drives? In my opinion, if anyone was spreading venom, it was the Police Jury.

Mr. Nunez,you stated as an elected official I could not have made some of these comments if I had been fair and impartial and represented my people. Mr. Nunez, who made the statement that we are going to punish the people for not voting our tax. That was not Sono! Who was the Police Juror that was supposed to be watching over these budgets, especially when he is the President; yet, knowing that money wasn't plentiful? I think you had lots of other choices before you should have cut salary wages. If my memory serves me right, you were president of the Police Jury in 1986. According to your auditor's reports, you spent almost $3,000,000.00 more than you had taken in. If you were that good of a hawk, you should have been watching that budget then, in 1986. In my opinion, the president should bear full responsibility of the functions of the Police Jury and to let his people know, then we wouldn't have had such a drastic change in reduction and you could have prepared your people for the let down.

Mr. Nunez, you talked about the Grand Lake Fire Maintenance Fund. I personally don't need an answer. I thought I stated, you need to tell your people WHY you were CHARGING an HOURLY FEE to use the Fire Station on the Island, because they are calling me to see if it could be done. So why don't you just answer the question to the people so they will know. I am real happy to see the people in Deatonville get this water and fire system, because I don't think they could have drilled their wells and put in their system for $40,000.00. Did $40,000.00 cover all expenses for this fire system?

In response to a new jail, you may have talked to many people saying we did not need a new jail. Don't forget, I think I talked to way more people than you and they see a need for a new jail. It is sad when our government body knows the condition of this 50 year old jail, and we have to put the youths in the same cells with hard criminals and the women only a few feet from the men. Yet, you say we don't need a new jail. In my opinion, the real reason you all thought that it was Sono's jail and let $2,200,000.00 slip through your hands.

I am glad to see you stated you are guilty of spending all the money on your programs in your statement. What I am saying is that you knew the money wasn't available anymore, and yet, you kept spending on non-essential things and expected the people to keep on filling up your cookie jar. According to your auditor's report for 1980, 1982, 1984, 1985 and 1986, you took in $49,000,000.00 plus dollars and have 1981 and 1983 that is not accounted for and I presume those 2 years with a conservative figure brought you all in approximately $15,000,000.00. So within the five years, your auditor's report showed you spent $54,000,000.00. So if you add $15,000,000.00 for 1981 and 1983 it would give you a total of $69,000,000.00 in 7 years. My question was: give an account of where all this money went and not side track the issue.

You stated that you had a real good working relationship with all other departments except the Sheriff's Department. Is your memory so short when the Clerk of Court and the Sheriff's Department went over to ask you to consider doing Phase 3 instead of Phase 2, so we could have better working conditions. I didn't see a jury member come to the courthouse to see our working conditions. Mr. Blake stated that they could all go to hell that they were not about to come and inspect our conditions. If you would have been a concerned juror, you would have voiced your opinion at that moment. No, I don't think all the other offices are out of step and I am the only one that is right, but I know the Sheriff's Office is the only one that doesn't have to depend on you to run their office.

It is a great saying for the Jury that the Sheriff does not cooperate with them. Why don't you tell the people that for the first 5 years I tried my best to work and improve the courthouse. What was your answer? We got it under consideration and it is in the making. After 5 years, I found out that I was a damn fool for believing this. Do you remember 6 or 7 years ago when I brought all the jurors to our garage, where the kitchen is? I showed you we had a flooding problem every time it rained. The water ran in the kitchen and ruined two regrigerators. You had to rent pumps costing as much as $700 per month to keep it pumped out and yet nothing was done until we got a new juror, Mr. George LeBoeuf. He came over and I showed him what our need was and within 7 months, we finally got relief after 8 years. Then you all stated that I do not want to work with you. How about our parking space in the front of the courthouse? We had all kinds of problems convincing you we needed it.

In responding to your answer, the three things I always mention, My Dear People, Our Youths, and God. I can't help but notice that you are side tracking the issue altogether and not giving the people the answers and figures. No one knows better than Sono Savoie that we have the finest and dearest people in Cameron Parish. Again, the only thing I was showing the people that you all knew the money wasn't there anymore and the drastic cut should have been started 3 years ago. If showing the people facts is dividing up the community, then I am guilty. The way your statement reads, I am only using the people by saying my dear people of Cameron. As far as I'm concerned I always call a spade a spade and a club a club. So you can believe what you want to.

Mr. Nunez, the only signal I want to send to our youths is we need good and conservative government and tell them the truth and not mislead them. We have the finest children in the State of Louisiana. I don't think they will ever forget the day they were fenced out of the ballparks and the buildings.

Mr. Nunez, if you are going to start quoting me about using God's name, then quote me right. My phrase is "May God Bless Each and Everyone of You" and not misleading like you have in the paper, "With a Blessing from God". That will give the impression I am sole owner of God. Let me give you a little advice. Pray to God instead of quoting whether he approves or disapproves. Yes, I agree with you, wouldn't it be nice if we all had good goals, especially the elected officials.

Mr. Nunez, Let's set the records straight on the 1987 election. I think if you go back and check my percentage, I got 65% of Grand Lake and Sweetlake with 4 opponents and got 75% of the vote with only one opponent. Mr. Nunez, why don't you try running for office parishwide and see if you can come up with 75%? I am well pleased with the percentage and the vote I have received. The people still had confidence in the way I was running my office and I am sure when the people of Cameron Parish feel that I have betrayed or misled them that they will replace me as Sheriff. There is no doubt in my mind that I would be the blame for my actions as Sheriff. So I cannot blame anyone except Sono Savoie for not fulfilling the desires of the people in the way they want the Sheriff's Department run.

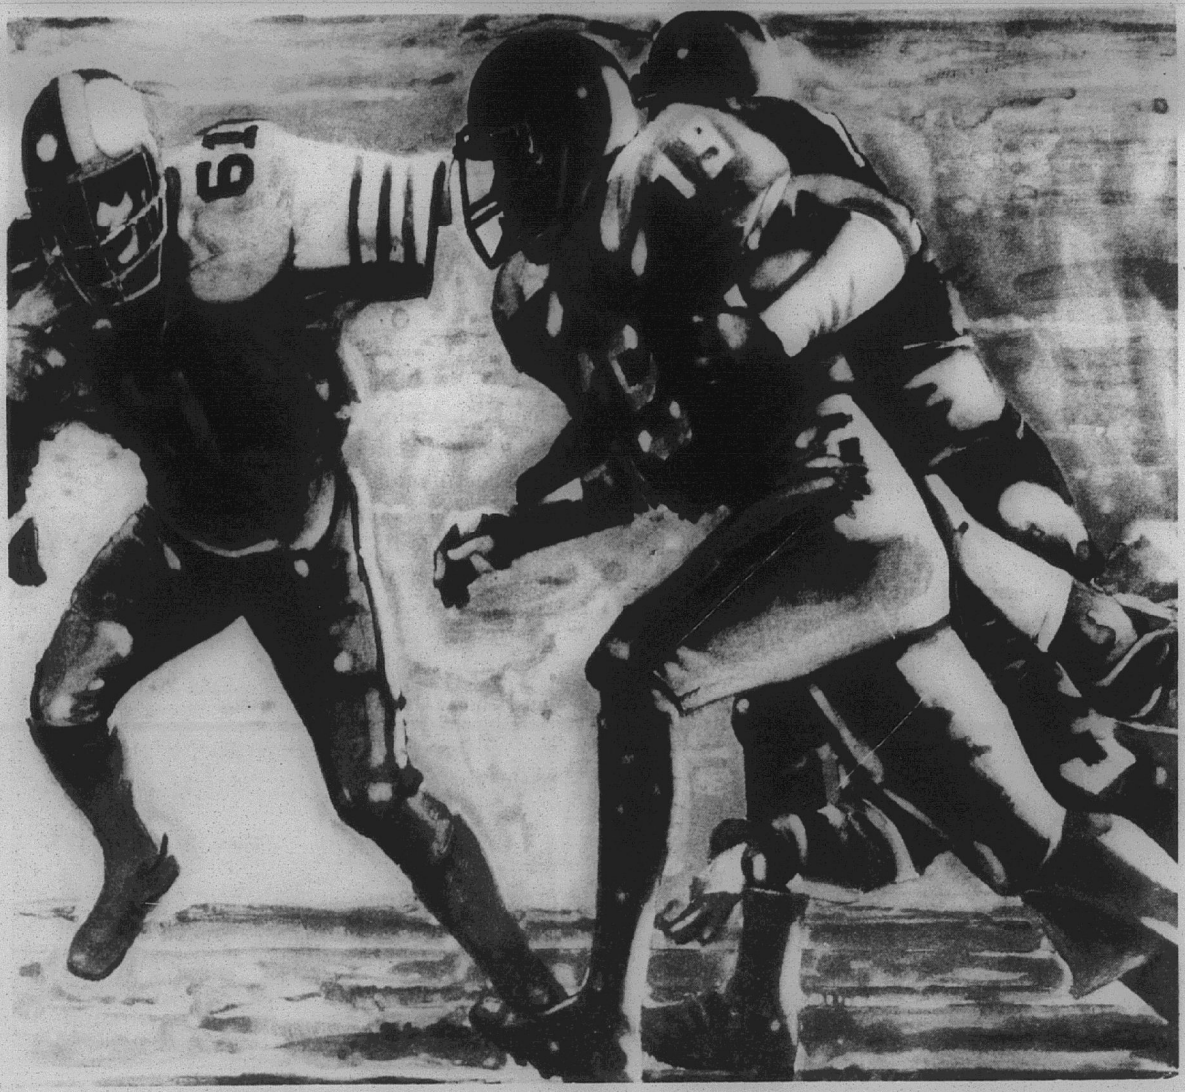
This is where I differ from the Police Jurors. I let the people know the facts of all my income and where I spend the money.

Mr. Nunez, being you are critical of me writing this about the jurors, I will take this opportunity to address your health spa project. Mr. Nunez, isn't it true that you had a meeting with your recreation board people and you told them you wanted to build this health spa before election day that you knew where you gould get your hands on $80,000.00 which I think was your tax on your recreation district and wasn't that the year you were president of the Police Jury. You got approval from the general fund, $96,000, to complete the building, for a grand total of $175,000,.00. You took the money of the tax people and tried to compete against private enterprise businesses. Yes, I understand you also have a fee to use it. Why don't you show the people what it cost per month to operate this portion of the building; how much are your revenues per month in return on it and see how long it will take to recover the $176,000.00 it cost.

Yet, you see no need in repairing or adding space for the courthouse and their people. The only way we got space and relief, I used $65,000.00 of my law enforcement money to buy a building and gave it to the Police Jury. Mr. Jerry Jones was nice enough to commit $25,000.00 out of the District Attorney's Fund for renovation. I think the Police Jury finally paid $5,000.00 and I had to pay an additional $5,000.00. It's not quite as nice as the mansion, but real comfortable. I have three secretaries that think they are in heaven. Yes, we did sign an agreement that the Police Jury would refund my money by 1992.

Mr. Conner, in your statement you said I made false accusations and I was dividing people up in your district. I shouldn't have asked you more than one question at a time, because I knew you would get it mixed up like when they asked questions in the police jury room. You stood up and made a statement that you didn't know anything about it and wanted to clear your name. You were President of the Police Jury two different times and yet don't know what is going on. I understand at the meetings your answers were, that's a good question, I don't know but I will find out. I will state again, in my opinion, the Police Jury President should be responsible for all business transactions in his year of duty. There is no doubt, I share full responsibility of what goes on in the Sheriff's Department. The people elected me and the 6 Police Jurors to account for our actions. My 3 questions were: first; We had a fire district tax which you said was the retire bond issue, to my knowledge I never knew existed, so what accounted for $64,000.00 in the 8 years? My second question was: Why don't you tell the people how much this 2 mill tax will bring on the fire maintenance tax? The third question was: How much does it cost to operate the fire department? I am never against tax for a good purpose, but let's tell the people all the facts about the tax dollars. If anyone has ever spread false rumors it is Ray Conner and I can prove it. Didn't you get a call from one of the working people the other day? He asked you about his cut in his salary. You told him on the phone that they were not supposed to and for him to come down to the Police Jury Office the next day. When he asked you about it, again, you forgot. So prove to me where I lied to the people of Creole.

As in each one of your statements, you are talking about compromising and working together, why have you waited eight years to talk about compromise and working together? My friends, I will never compromise as long as I think I am right, but I will always bend over backward to work together. The only way I can work with you is if everybody signed a statement, because I've been misled for eight years and you have to prove to me that you want to work together.



So may God Bless us with a better relationship so we can be fair and honest.

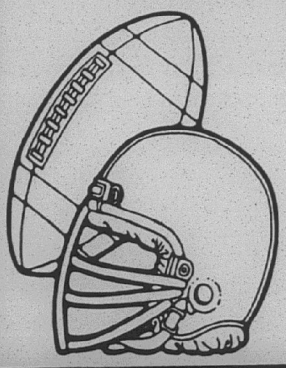
A SALUTE TO SOUTH CAMERON HIGH SCHOOL!



I wish to extend my best wishes to the students, faculty and graduates of South Cameron High School on the occasion of the annual Homecoming Friday.

South Cameron High School is truly a credit to Cameron Parish. The school has one of the finest school plants to be found anywhere. It also has a fine faculty and outstanding programs.

The 10-year and 25-year graduates of South Cameron, and the 50-year graduates who finished at South Cameron's predecessors, Creole and Grand Chenier High SChools, remind us of the fine citizens who have graduated at South Cameron over the years. We know that they continue to be proud of their old Alma Mater.

On one last note, I hope that all of the students and graduates enjoy the Homecoming festivities and the ballgame. I sincerely urge all of you to be careful when driving home to enable the parish to continue its safety record and make the Hoemcoming have a happy ending.

Your Friend,
James R. Savoie

Tarps to host Waterproof Fri.

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons will try to improve their season record to 3-1 against the visiting Waterproof Tigers Friday in its annual Homecoming game.

The Waterproof Tigers will bring a potent passing attack into the Tarpon camp. The Tigers have good size, speed in their receivers and a quarterback who likes to throw the ball.

Like Davidson, they also rely on a wide open pro-type offense that lends itself to a passing game. The Tarpon rush and their alert secondary will again be a key factor in the outcome of the game. South Cameron defenders accounted for three interceptions and could combine a good pass rush with more interceptions to derail the Tigers.

Ferriday, a AAA power, used the pass rush effectively to blank the Tigers in last week's game. The Tigers may not find the Tarpon defense any easier in Friday's 7 p.m. Homecoming game.

Special days are set here

The South Cameron High School students have been spreading plenty of spirit this past week in celebration of Homecoming Week.

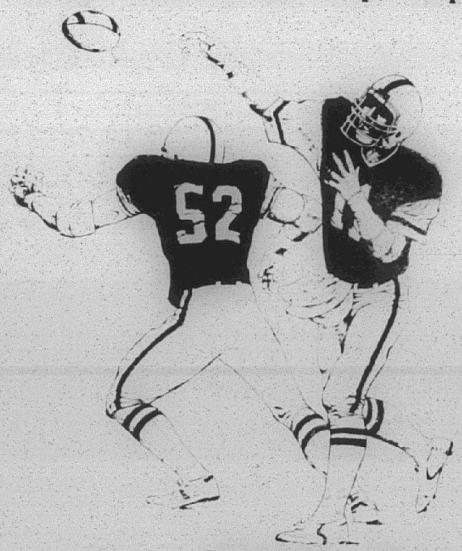
Monday was mix and match dress up day. On Tuesday, nerd day; and Wednesday, punk rock day.

Thursday will be hobo day and Friday will be red, white and blue day.

A bonfire will be held behind the school on Thursday at 5 p.m.

Science club to be formed

A Science Club will be organized Thursday, Oct. 20 at South Cameron High School. Mrs. Hebert will be the sponsor.



The purpose of the club is to promote scientific research through science projects and promote outside interest through field trips.

Four FFA members win trip

Four Future Farmers of America were recipients of an all expense paid trip to Mid-South Farm in Memphis, Tenn. They are Gabi and Chris Daniels, sons of Ronnie and Caroline Daniels; and Kerri and Candace McCain, daughters of Vernon and Jolene McCain.

RECORD IS NOW 2-1

Tarpons take a big win over Davidson

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons upped their season record to 2-1 with a 35-6 victory over the visiting Davidson Warriors last week.

The aggressive Tarpon defense pounced on the Warriors fumble of their opening possession of the ball on their 26-yard line. In three plays Robin Rutherford, filling in at the fullback slot, drove in from six yards out for a quick touchdown. Quarterback Chad Mudd's run for the PAT made it 8-0.

A few plays later the Tarpon offense was again in control of the ball. On a neatly executed flea-flicker play, Mudd's flat pass to wide receiver Walter Jones was lateraled right back to tailback Rozell Smith, who raced into the end zone untouched. The point after touchdown failed and the Tarpons had an early first quarter lead of 14-0.

The Tarpon offensive momentum came to an end following a fumble recovery by Davidson on the Tarpon 24. The short drive into the end zone was capped by Jerome Johnson on a one-year plunge into the end zone. The second quarter score made it 14-6.

Davidson threatened once more but Chad Mudd intercepted in the end zone to stop that drive and put the Tarpons back on track.

With the ball on the 20, the Tarpons started their most impressive drive of the night, executing the ABCs of football loud and clear to cover the 80 yards in nine plays. Smith took it in for the final yard to boast the score to 20-6 at halftime. That 80 yard drive established the Tarpons as the masters of the turf for that night.

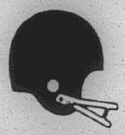
Davidson never threatened again and the Tarpons added 15 more points in the third quarter on a 26-yard sweep by Smith and a 3-yard run by Lionel Roberts. Kelly Vincent's PAT kick made it 35-6.

Head coach Parry LaLande used a lot of reserves and combinations of players that revealed some positive aspects of the Tarpon team. Should it all come together in the Waterproof game, the Tarpons will be a step closer to be ready for the district game wars which begin next week with Vermilion Catholic at Vermilion.

A host of first year starters are getting some game savvy and are becoming turf wise. The Tarpon's kicking game is one of the best of any class school in the area. Punter Joe Duhon is averaging over 40 yards a punt, Dexter Fountain's kickoffs land in the end zone, Kelly Vincent, Chad Mudd's understudy, in extra-points and field goal kicking,looks promising.

Walter Jones spirit and sure hands have been a big plus for the team. Robin Rutherford and Reggie Godette are looking good at fullback and do well at other positions. Rozell Smith, making his first start as TB ran better as the game progressed and the line responded by blocking better.

Officers named by F.B.L.A.



The South Cameron Future Business Leaders of America met Friday, Sept. 23 and elected the following officers. They are Belinda Hardie, president; Patricia Henke, vice president; Rhonda Perry, secretary; Stephanie Nunez, treasurer; LaTonia Andrews, reporter; Becky Theriot, parliamentarian.

Dues of $15 must be paid by Saturday, Oct. 15 to Stephanie Nunez.

Installation of officers will be held at the October meeting. Other club activities will be discussed.

Video helps coaches avoid player injuries and lawsuits

By Larry Weisman
USA TODAY

But maybe he should.

And maybe, given an eye-opening educational experience, coaches and school administrators can better prevent injuries. Maybe they can lessen the liklihood of two painful occurrences — catastrophic injury and an assessment of guilt and damages running into millions of dollars.

That's the point made by Sports on Trial, a videotape distributed by The Athletic Institute to increase awareness of effective injury prevention and potential liability lawsuits.

"There's no question the average level of awareness of the coaches is very low because football had been a sort of hallowed ground," says Carey McDonald, the former executive director of the National High School Coaches Association.

That awareness exists on two levels — awareness of appropriate training, coaching and medical techniques, and awareness of the litigious climate of society.

Sports on Trial shows a mock trial in which the audience hears testimony, weighs evidence and is asked to decide liability.

The case involves a football player at mythical Anywhere High. The player suffers a neck injury during a game and is permanently paralyzed. His coach and the athletic director come under legal scrutiny regarding training, coaching and care at the time of injury.

Dr. Fred Allman, chairman of the board of the Sports Medicine Foundation, and Phoenix attorney Richard T. Ball developed the mock trial three years ago.

Ball showed the tape at a coaches convention last summer in Cromwell, Conn. He stopped often to put coaches in the audience on the witness stand. Many realized they too were one injury away from a real-life grilling.

"I am going to make every effort to get a copy of this presentation and show it to my entire staff," said John F. Giampaolo, athletic director at Monroe (Conn.) Masuk High. "This presentation had everyone at the seminar thinking that at any time it could be them on trial."

Sports on Trial is available through The Athletic Institute, North Palm Beach, Fla. 407-842-3600.

Miss Willis named queen at H'coming

Dayna Elaine Willis, 17, a senior at South Cameron High School was crowned last Friday night as the 1989 Homecoming Queen.

On Tuesday, Oct. 4, she was named fourth alternate in the Calcasieu Cameron Queen's Fair Pageant.

Active in cheer leading, Students Against Drunk Drivers, Substance Abuse Prevention Education, Future Business Leaders of America, she is a member of the track and basketball teams.

Lacassine to close

The Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, located in Cameron Parish, will close to fishing and other forms of public use, except for archery deer hunting, at sunset on Oct. 15, according to Bobby Brown, Refuge Manager.

Oct. 15, is the normal time that the refuge closes for recreational use by the general public. This area is closed at this time to provide undisturbed sanctuary for the hundreds of thousands of ducks and geese that spend the winter in the refuge.

The refuge will reopen to the public for fishing, sightseeing, birdwatching, and other uses on March 1, 1989.

Visits to the refuge by individuals or groups after the closing date require special permission from the refuge manager.

Waste fees to be increased

The Cameron Parish Police Jury was informed at its monthly meeting Tuesday that Waste Management, Inc., the firm hauls off and disposes of the parish's garbage and trash, plans to increase its tipping fees from $2.50 to $4.50 per cubic yard, effective Jan. 1.

This would mean an annual increased cost of $90,000 per year to the jury which is currently having serious financial problems.

The jurors agreed to negotiate with the firm to try to secure a lower fee.

The jury presently operates its own garbage trucks and hauls the garbage to central sites where Waste Management picks up the garbage for transporting out of the parish.

Last month the jury voted to close the dump sites one day a week and to operate them four hours a day the other six days. Twice a week residential collection is continuing.

In the Holly Beach-Johnson Beach area the dumps remain open seven days a week but residential collection was discontinued.

Jurors have considered charging a monthly garbage collection fee but has taken no action on this.

Big Diamond permits are all revoked

The Cameron Parish Police Jury was informed at its monthly meeting Tuesday that the La. Dept. of Natural Resources has revoked all of the permits for the Big Diamond dump site in the Grand Lake area.

These included a permit for the expansion of the old dump site at Grand Lake, the drilling of three wells to dispose of waste water and a permit to close out the old dump site.

Th disposal firm was asked by the state agency to come up with a new plan by Oct. 14, for the closure of the old site.

The jury and the disposal firm have been involved in legal battles for the last several years over a proposal to enlarge the Grand Lake site. After the jury refused to issue the firm a permit, Big Diamond sued the jury but the jury won the case.

Chamber will meet Thurs.

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce will meet at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 13, at Pat's Restaurant in Cameron.

The board members will meet at 11 a.m. on that date.

All persons interested in joining the Chamber and working to better Cameron Parish are urged to attend.

Coast Guard can't police speeding

The Coast Guard has no authority to control the speeding of boats in the Lake Charles ship channel and Calcasieu River, the Cameron Parish Police Jury was told at its monthly meeting Tuesday.

Juror George LeBouef had requested the jury secretary last month to write the Coast guard asking for a meeting with a representative concerning the problem of speeding boats causing wave wash that damaged boats and caused erosion.

Lt. Commander Phil Wiczyfki of the Coast Guard and a representative of Lake Charles Pilot Association told the jury that the Coast Guard had no authority to control speed limits on the waterway.

Wiczyfki was also asked what could be done to remove sunken boats in the channel. He said if these were causing a navigation hazard, the Coast Guard could take action.

The jury also told the representative about a marine drilling rig anchored in the channel that was leaking. There was concern that should it topple over it could block the ship channel.

Museum offer is declined

Mrs. Ada Broussard, Cameron Parish librarian, informed the Cameron Parish Police Jury that the parish library board has decided not to take over the operation of the Leesburg Museum as requested by the jury.

The Museum, located in an old home near the courthouse, was closed by the jury last month due to a shortage of funds.

The Museum has had on display many old photographs and mementoes of earlier days in Cameron Parish. The Museum presumably will continue to remain closed unless some other means of financing it can be found.

Two winners at the Fair

2 taxes OKed, one defeated

Two special property taxes were approved by voters and one was rejected by Cameron parish voters Saturday. The elections had been called to provide funds for public facilities that had been recently closed by the Cameron Parish Police Jury because of a shortage of funds.

In the Hackberry Recreation District, the vote was 280 for and 149 against a 1.5 mill, 10-year tax to operate the multi-purpose building in Hackberry. The building is used for community functions and also as an elderly feeding site.

In Fire District 4, the Creole area, voters voted 155 to 93 in favor of a 4-mill, 10-year property tax to maintain the Creole fire station and multi-purpose building and to acquire new firefighting equipment for the district.

In Recreation District 5--the Grand Lake-Sweetlake area--voters rejected a 2.5, 10-year tax to maintain the district's multi-purpose building by a vote of 113 for and 290 against. The Precinct 1 vote was 55 for and 163 against. The Precinct 2 vote was 56 for and 121 against.

Cameron parish voters voted 1,084 against and 407 for on a constitutional amendment that would give tax breaks to persons in special districts to improve property.

On Tuesday, the Cameron Parish Police Jury voted to reopen the Creole fire station and the Hackberry multi-purpose building since funds now have been approved to operate the facilities.

However, the Grand Lake-Sweetlake multi-purpose building will remain closed since the tax failed there.

Awareness week set

Substance Abuse Awareness Week will be observed at South Cameron High School Oct. 9-15. This year's focus is "Celebrate 88: Unite to Make a Difference."

Students at the school will be asked to sign a scroll to indicate that they will not use alcohol or other mood-altering drugs during the week. This scroll will be presented to the Cameron Parish School Board on Oct. 10.

Other activities will include: Oct. 11, Green Day, students will be asked to wear green to symbolize their choice not to use drugs or alcohol.

Oct. 12, Tag Day, students will be able to design and wear tags that will represent this year's theme.

Oct. 13, a sack lunch and dance will be held during lunch.

Parish will get zero!

Senate Bill 6 which allocates $30 million to aid parishes in providing local services includes nothing for Cameron Parish and the Cameron Parish Police Jury is upset over the matter.

Parish Administrator Garner Nunez said he has on the jury's instruction sent a telegram to the governor pointing out that during the past ten years $371 in severance taxes have been taken out of Cameron Parish by the state and $25,957,000 was collected the last fiscal year alone.

In the telegram, Nunez said the jury was "appalled" by the state's decision not to give the parish some aid since the parish is in the midst of a very serious financial crisis.

Tarpons drown Waterproof Fri.

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons punted but once and put on a balanced offensive attack that accounted for a 40-14 Homecoming victory over the Waterproof Tigers.

The Homecoming crowd saw the Tarpons display their best offensive show of the season. First quarter action had tailback Rozell Smith break through on an off-tackle sweep 40 yard scoring run that was nullified by a penalty. The disappointment was short lived as following a Waterproof punt, the Tarpons were back on track again and capped a 49 yard drive with a 20 yard sprint run by quarterback Chad Mudd. The P.A.T. run failed.

With the Tarpon defense choking off every Waterproof effort, the Tarpons churned up yards with consistency on the ground and in the air. The second quarter scoring accounted for three more scores, a 5 and 20 yard scoring run by Smith and touchdown strike by Mudd to split end Dexter Fountain. The Tarpons went in at halftime with a comfortable 26-0 lead.

The Waterproof Tigers abandoned their passing game and came out in the second half with a running game that started with their first possession of the third quarter. The surprised Tarpon defense saw their shut-out efforts vanish as the Tigers drove downfield for 66 yards, breaking tackles and struggle in on a final crossbuck scoring run by Kenneth Lee.

Tony Brown's extra point run made the score 26-8 early in the third quarter. Unimpressed, the Tarpons reeled in a 66 yard scoring drive of their own. The drive was capped by a Mudd to Smith lateral that covered the final 12 yards. Kelly Vincent split the uprights for the extra-point. The third quarter score was now 33-8.

The Tigers and the Tarpons exchanged touchdowns once more in the fourth quarter. Tony Brown, fullback for the Tigers broke a pileup of would-be tackles and escaped for a 50 yard gallop to set up its final score. Stanley Jackson took a hand-off and traveled 12 yards to cap that drive.

South Cameron responded with a 39 yard scoring drive of its own. Joe Duhon, wingback, took a hand-off on a counter-tackle trap to score from 22 yards out. Kelly Vincent scored his second P.A.T. in as many tries to make the final score 40-14.

Tarps in running for district title

District 8A teams enter into full scale competition Friday with all games a big step forward for at least half of the teams.

In a conversation with Eddie Benoit, veteran assistant coach at South Cameron, North Vermilion seems to have a definite edge on everybody else, with Delcambre, Hanson, South Cameron and Vermilion Catholic, all about equal in expectations. Only Gueydan seems to have an uphill battle at this point.

Both South Cameron and Vermilion Catholic looked impressive enough in their last outing to demand respect from each coaching staff. South Cameron's coaching staff scouted the screaming Eagles in its 12-0 victory over the St. Edmond Blue Jays in Thursday's game and the Vermilion staff was all present for the Tarpon-Waterproof game.

Vermilion Catholic's strongest asset is its line led by a 240 lb. all-state guard and a 6'4" 220 lb. tackle. Its backfield strength is No. 32, a fullback. South Cameron will try and overcome the weight disadvantage with a total team effort, offensively and defensively. Both units have shown steady improvement. In its 40-14 victory over Waterproof the Tarps were minus starting guard and linebacker Kelly Richard and starting tackle Jamie Carroll. Both positions were filled admirably well. J. M. Boudreaux, a sophomore, filled in at guard and linebacker and Lane Bonsall, a junior, and Dwayne Guilbeau, a sophomore, filled the offensive and defensive slots respectively.

Kelly Richard's injury is healing fast and Jamie Carroll will be back Monday ready for practice. Jamie was Louisiana's representative in the National Junior Skeet shooting championship.

The game Friday night will be a stern test of the Tarpon's capabilities and perseverance.

By Bernice Denny

Recently I met a lady from California who declared that she would not live along the Gulf Coast for all the money in the world.

"I am deathly afraid of your hurricanes," she confided.

"We don't claim them," I said jokingly. "We evade and reject them. But aren't you afraid of the earthquakes in your area?"

"Oh, no," she answered. "We take them in stride."

Regardless of where a person lives there is no absolute security against destruction.

It is true that the entire eastern seaboard and gulf coast are vulnerable to hurricanes. The western coast, too, is buffeted by storms. California and other parts are victims of earthquakes. Washington has its Mount St. Helens. Places in Florida open and gulp down cars and buildings.

The Mid-West lies in the center of the tornado belt. Actually, no part of our country is immune to them. Blizzards may grip the North; heat sear the South. Droughts turn farmlands into deserts, and winds erode the land. Animals perish.

Floods and forest fires can be every bit as terrifying and destructive as hurricanes.

Catastrophes occur anywhere and under all conditions. A jet passenger plane crashes. Death tolls mount. A submarine is trapped at the bottom of the sea. A mine caves in. A ship explodes. A hotel or hospital, an office building or home bursts into an inferno of flame and human lives are snuffed out.

A grandstand collapses and crushes hundreds of cheering fans. A high span over a swift stream gives way. A line of railroad cars run amuck. Automobiles pile up. Lives are lost or maimed.

Does this catalog of disaster and potential destruction make it appear that there is no security anywhere for people and property? Such is its purpose, and with good reason! Whatever security we possess is only relative.

It behooves each of us to be cautious and sensible in the face of danger; to remove ourselves from the known approach of disaster. Even at that and for the unknown there is no guarantee.

Nine million tons of salt are applied to American highways each year for de-icing.

Memories of the Challenger

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

As I was watching the replay of the lift off of the Discovery rocket from the Florida launch pad last week, I noted the look of apprehension on the faces of all the onlookers.

The TV camera panned around, especially on the group of school teachers who had come, who were candidates for the flight on which Christa McCauliff lost her life on the Challenger.

It reminded me of the night at the supper table when I announced to my son and grandson and I had just received an invitation from the National Space Center to enter the competition to go on a space flight when a writer would be chosen to ride.

This happened the same week the Challenger exploded.

My grandson looked up from his plate in horror and said, "Oh MiMi, please don't go."

I assured him that I had no intention of following it through, and that I had already thrown the letter away.

The honor of just being considered was enough for me, and I will leave that for much younger and more adventuresome writers.

Creole Homemakers hold election

When the Creole Extension Homemakers Club held its September meeting in the home of Mrs. Estelle Theriot, members elected officers and saw a demonstration given by assistant home economist, Nancy Cronan. Assisting Mrs. Theriot with hostess duties was Mrs. Wayne Montie.

Officers elected to serve 1989-90 are: Mrs. Earline Baccigalopi, president; Mrs. Estelle Theriot, first vice-president; Mrs. Mary Driscoll, second vice-president; Mrs. Eleanor West, third vice-president; Mrs. Mayola Wicke, treasurer; Mrs. Butsy Carter, secretary/reporter; Mrs. Winnie Mouton, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Theriot, past president.

Members agreed that Education Committee chairmen would remain the same as well as monthly meeting hostess.

Mrs. Cronan's demonstration, titled "How Sweet It Is," was about sugar, particularly the amounts contained in various popular foodstuffs and soft drinks. She displayed several food items and drinks, asking different persons present to guess the number of teaspoons of sugar contained in each.

She advised that a person should thoroughly read the ingredients listed on the package or container so as to determine sugar content. She cautioned to be aware of sugar listed by other names such as sucrose, glucose, dextrose, etc. Following her demonstration, she passed out literature on the subject.

President Theriot gave a report on the basket weaving workshop, sponsored by the Council, which she had attended Aug. 6, at the Muria Fire Station. After the report, she displayed the basket that she had made.

Mrs. Cronan announced that the next Council meeting is set for Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 1 p.m. in the Extension office in the Cameron Courthouse.

Members were reminded that the club's October meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Butsy Carter with Mrs. Mayola Wicke, cohostess.

We would like to thank you again for your time, help and support of the 4-H program. It is people like you who help make it a great success.

Thanks again,

Cameron Communications winner of CPA award

Cameron Communications Corp., which sprang from a single telephone company established 60 years ago, has received the Free Enterprise Award from the Louisiana Society of Certified Public Accountants.

The corporation was nominated by the Lake Charles Chapter of CPA's and the award was presented Friday, Sept. 15, during the chapter meeting.

The award was presented William L. Henning, Sr., Chairman of the Board of Cameron Communications Corp. in recognition of the company's outstanding contribution that exemplifies the continuance of our free enterprise system.

Cameron Telephone extended lines from Hackberry to the Gulf Coast in 1930. Another exchange in the Vincent Settlement-Carlyss areas was added in 1938.

In 1955, service was extended to communities of Creole, Grand Chenier and Johnson Bayou, with free calling along one third of the Louisiana coastline.

Hurricane Audrey in 1957 destroyed the Cameron Telephone system, along with its outside plant and coastal switching office.

The first dial mobile telephone service in the United States was placed into operation by the company in 1958, establishing local telephone service to the oil industry as far as 40 miles offshore and other locations without telephone service up to that point. This also was to provide telephone service to areas Cameron Telephone had not yet been able to rebuild as the result of Hurricane Audrey.

The company expanded beyond its area in 1960 by purchasing Elizabeth Telephone Co.

Cameron Telephone expanded again in 1969 by being authorized to do business in Texas and purchasing Nome Telephone Co. west of Beaumont, Tex.

Two years later, the company offered improved mobile telephone service to Gulf Coast area subscribers, enabling them to sue the car telephone anywhere in the United States.

In 1973 the firm replaced its existing microwave system from Carlyss-Hackberry-Cameron with the state's first digital microwave system.

A digital common control switching system was installed in 1979, offering touch tone service, call forwarding and numerous other features.

As divestiture of the Bell System began in 1982, Cameron Telephone moved immediately into the areas opening up to competition in communications in the long-distance business and operations nationwide with facilities throughout the state through its Mercury Long Distance company.

Selling and servicing telephones and equipment to businesses and residences in Louisiana and Texas was begun through another newly formed company, Cameron Telephone Systems.

In 1982, the first homes were wired for Carlyss Cablevision Inc. The cable route passes approximately 1,458 residences with over 300,000 feet of cable buried.

Cameron Communications Corp. was formed in 1986 to become the parent company of: Cameron Telephone Co., Cameron Telephone Co. of Texas, Elizabeth Telephone Co., Cameron Telephone Systems, Mercury Long Distance, Mercury Cellular Telephone, Mercury Paging, and Carlyss Cablevision Inc.

Health Unit services are no longer free

Office of Public Health (OPH) units across the state will begin charging administrative fees for certain services effective Nov. 1.

Joseph Kimbrell, OPH Deputy Assistant Secretary, said the units will begin charging a $5 administrative fee for each childhood vaccination visit, for each influenza vaccination given to a high-risk patient, and for each initial visit from patients medically evaluated and treated for a sexually transmitted disease (STD).

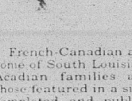
High-risk patients are those with chronic upper respiratory disease, heart, kidney and liver diseases resulting in routine medical intervention and those 65-years of age and older, according to Kimbrell.

Sexual contacts of suspected cases of STDs will not be charged unless examination reveals that disease is present and treatment is provided, Kimbrell said.

Kimbrell said that due to Louisiana's fiscal crisis, it has become necessary to charge fees for the three services which were previously provided free of charge in parish and regional health clinics.

He added, "Title 19 patients, and those documenting financial status below 100 percent of poverty will not be charged a fee for services."

Kimbrell said that the fee structure prevents any family from being charged more than $20 in fees in any one day. As an example, he said a mother bringing in her four children for childhood vaccinations would be charged $20, and a mother bringing in her six children for childhood vaccinations would be charged $20.



Graduation test to be mandatory

New requirements have been set for high school graduation at the July 28, meeting of the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education.

The Board voted to adopt as an emergency rule that "In addition to completing a minimum of 23 Carnegie Units of Credit, the student shall also be required to pass the Graduation Test, beginning with the 1991 graduating class. This shall first apply to students classified as sophomores in 1988-89 and thereafter."

The Graduation Test is made up of two parts. Part One will be administered to tenth grade students and consist of English language arts, writing, and mathematics. Part Two will be administered when these same students become eleventh graders and will consist of science and social studies.

Students must pass all components of the test to become eligible for a diploma. Remediation and retake opportunities will be provided for students who do not passthe test.

The Challenge of Genealogy

by MARIE WISE

French-Canadian ancestors of some of South Louisiana's many Acadian families are among those featured in a sixth volume completed and published in a planned series of twelve on the genealogy and heritage of these early American pioneers.

FRENCH-CANADIAN PIONEERS

Our French-Canadian Ancestors, Volume VI by Thomas J. Laforest begins, as have previous volumes, with a chapter on political and social life in New France at the time.

This volume has some 20 pages on "The Judicial System" including many names, dates and circumstances taken from cases that were heard in Claims Court.

Following are 20 chapters, each on a New France pioneer, his life and times, progeny, etc. Featured in this volume are Francois Belanger, Gaspard and Pierre Boucher, Elis, Paul and Pierre Bourbant, Robert Caron, Jean Cote, Etienne de Nevers dit Bratigny, Pierre Dizy dit Montplaisir.

Also Thomas and Jean Godefrey, Thomas Hayot, Robert Leclerc, Pierre Lefebvre, Jean Lemire, Pierre Lepele dit Lahaye, Rene Maillot dit Laviolette, Mathurin Martineau dit Saintonge, Etienne Pepin dit Lafond, Jean Poisson, Robert Rivard dit Loranger, Mathrin Tessier dit Maringouin and Francois-Noel Vanasse.

Each chapter has a black and white sketch of the person featured, its own additional notes and a list of Name Variations. (Note: With the French flair for adopting dit — "also known as" — names, many of these variations have little similarity to the original.)

There is a bibliography and a French-Canadian-American Family Name Variations appendix of C names, continued from Volume IV's list of A-B names. The name Champagne, for example, taken from this list shows more than sixty variations.

Written in narrative style that makes exceptionally interesting reading, this Volume VI is stiff cover; 6 x 9 in., 300 pages, many illustrations, full name indexed, $14.00 incl. mailing (or $70.00 for all six volumes), available from: The LISI Press, P.O. Box 1063, Palm Harbour, FL 34682.

Dak., later one line to Louisiana. Much personal history is given including physical descriptions of individuals, family stories, experiences, etc.

Continued features in this issue include "Descendants of Franz Paul Boos" and "Index to Registration of Foreign Born Persons" from the Registrar of Voters records, New Orleans showing B names with 1850s-1890s dates.

Also "Louisiana Coast Directory" of 1857, Iberville Parish, "AKA (Also Known As Names) of Early Louisiana", Maloze through Vitry, concluding this feature; 1892-1896 Baptism and Marriage Records from the First English Lutheran Church, New Orleans; book reviews; a list of exchange quarterlies, Queries (2 free per year to subscribers), other features.

L'Heritage is stiffcover, 8 1/2 x 11 in., 80 pages, full name indexed, available with $17.50 annual Society membership, (single copies $5.00 each) from: The Registrar, St. Bernard Genealogical Society, P.O. Box 271, Chalmette, LA 70044.

Remember?

Lake Charles American,
Aug. 5, 1904

We have been blessed by a copious shower of rain this morning, and more coming. The first of any amount for five months.

Father Wilkinson of Lake Charles, pastor of this charge for three years of its first organization, preached for us last Sunday in place of Rev. Deaton, the pastor, who is holding a series of revival meetings at Cameron. Our hearts are always made glad by a visit from Father Wilkinson.

Madam Hebert is very sick at her daughter's, Mrs. Tom McAllister. I have heard this morning, the doctor had given her up.

Mrs. M. Hebert and daughters, Alice and Mary, and sons, Dave and Tom, went to Cameron Saturday to be at the opening of the revival meeting Sunday and returned on Monday.

Hotel Loyd is quite a busy place. There are twenty or more boarders at present.

Miss Cretia Little of Hackberry visited Alice Hebert last week.

Mr. Geary and daughter Helen, returned to Lake Charles Sunday evening to spend a day or two.

The gasoline launch, Juliette, alternating with the Romeo renders our boat service very satisfactory and convenient.

Well, we have not had a flood, but we have got water enough. The rainfall has been at least eight inches in thirty-six hours.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Some rice cutting will be commenced this week on the Lowry plant.

A new fisherman arrived at the home of Mr. Paul Jolisaint on Friday, 29 of July. All concerned are doing well.

Capt. E. Sturlese and wife, after spending some time at Sulphur with the family of J. T. Butler, came back home at Grand Chenier last week.

Mr. Leonard Meaux and family of Kaplan are down at Grand Chenier, the guests of Chas A. Theriot and family for a few days.

Mrs. Ed Pleasent of Port Arthur, Tex., is the guest of her family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Doxey of Grand Chenier.

Ask Ochsner

Q. I have been plagued with ingrown toenails for most of my adult life. Is there anything that can be done for me to prevent this problem?

A. For many people ingrown toenails are a recurring problem and a recurring source of pain. But now there is a simple, permanent solution, says Dr. Charles Perniciaro, a dermatologist at the Ochsner Clinic of Baton Rouge.

The chemical phenol is applied to the root of the nail, he explains. This prevents that portion of the nail from growing again and permanently keeps the patient from getting ingrown toenails.

After injecting a numbing medication into the toe, the physician removes the side of the nail, the part that was growing into the flesh and causing pain. Phenol is applied at the point on the base where the excess growth originated.

Only the lateral edge of the toenail is chipped away, so the nail still looks normal, Perniciaro says.

He also adds that the technique is effective about 95 percent of the time.

Paddlefish protected

By Loston McEvers

PADDLEFISH PROTECTED

A few months ago I wrote an article about the spoonbill catfish as we call them, but Paddlefish is what most people know them as. I remember when I had my camp in Lowery, there were many being caught. A boneless fish, with beautiful white meat, the Paddlefish eats off the bottoms or the greenish plant stuff floating on top of the water. They do not feed on other fish.

A crew of volunteers from the state of Tennessee came down and set up nets around Lacassine and really caught many paddlefish. Instead of keeping the meat, they would just split the belly open and salvage the eggs and throw the fish away. The eggs were bringing big money. When this was found out by our agents and biologists, Louisiana put them on a protected species list to try and protect the paddlefish.

A Catahoula Parish resident has recently been fined and sentenced to 30 days in jail for poaching. He had 117 paddlefish in his possession.

He was convicted on Sept. 14, in Fifth Judicial District Court, ordered to pay fines totaling $600 and court costs of $104.

He was also sentenced to two 30-day terms in jail, to be served concurrently.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission has banned the taking of paddlefish until July 1989, as a means of preserving the species before they become extinct.

The reason we call them spoonbill catfish is for their long flat snout. They were fished hard commercially for the highly prized roe (eggs). Even sports fishermen are prohibited from taking the paddlefish, except for the one fish if accidentally snagged.

HURRICANE GILBERT

Biologists from the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries are monitoring fish kills as a result of Hurricane Gilbert. Although Gilbert didn't hit our coast, higher tides than normal pushed waters over levess, going into small ponds with sloughs containing stagnated water, even in vegetated areas, which have a high oxygen demand. When the tides went out, fish became trapped in areas that are too low or without the proper amount of oxygen.

Fish kills that have been reported are not in large amounts but a close eye will be kept on the situation.

DELAY IN TED ENFORCEMENT

A House and Senate Conference Committee has agreed to delay enforcement of regulations requiring use of the TED (turtle excluder devices) use in shrimp nets.

A bill reauthorizing the endangered species act puts off TED regulations until May 1, 1990, for inshore waters and May 1, 1989 in offshore waters.

The TED regulations were suppose to take place last month on Sept. 17. A further study of the turtle is being done and maybe they'll find another way besides using the TED. Let's hope so.

THINGS OF INTEREST

Fish vary quite a bit on their life span. For instance a largemouth bass will live up to 12 years, where crappie (white perch) will drop dead between 4 and 5 years, but bream barely make it past three years.

Big bull redfish will live 40 years while speckle trout only 7 years. A big, ugly black drum will live up to 45 years, bluefin tuna and blue marlin 30 years, the dolphin (a mammal) 40 years while some species of shark go to a ripe old age of 50 years.

Groups will live up to 30 years. The dolphin (fish) barely makes it past five years old. Other short lived species are Spanish mackeral, 7 years and shrimp only survive 1½ years and the crab hardly ever sees its second birthday.

Nutria trappers got only $2.50 per pelt last season, compared to $4.50 the previous year. I think quite a few trappers didn't trap or didn't trap as hard, because only 600,000 pelts were taken, because you average pelts for the ten years before and it came to one million pelts per year. If prices continue to be low and nutria are not trapped harder, substantial coastal vegetation damage will result.

Raccoon, one of Louisiana's most valuable furbearers, also saw prices low with $6.75 per pelt last year compared to $13 the previous year. Again, if raccoons are not trapped like they should be, a die out will occur related to canine distemper.

Wall Street has a lot to do with the prices of Louisiana fur. The value of Louisiana fur last year was down $3.3 million from the previous year.

Don't filet saltwater fish until you put them ashore. They must be whole if they are in your boat.

What is the definition of ashore in this law? Many people have camps along the coast and marshes, which are on land and that's ashore. I don't see how they can prevent a person from fileting his legal catch of fish at this camp, which is onshore and then bring it to the landing. But the catch in the law forbids having fileted saltwater fish in a boat.

So, I guess the answer is a fish must be intact when you get to the landing. A camp dweller who lands a fish at his camp, filet it there and eats it there, would be perfectly legal. What is prohibited by the law is the same camp owner fileting his catch, then loading the filets back on his boat and transporting them to the landing.

It sounds stupid, but that's the law.

Anthony Clemens of Anacoco caught a new state record striped bass by the spillway at the Toledo Bend Dam. Recorded at 38 lbs. 4 ozs., on a certified scale, it measured 41.5 inches long and a girth of 26 inches. The girth is the diameter around the larger part of the fish's body).

October is a good month for big red snappers. The red snapper tends to come inshore when the weather begins to cool off or get colder. Really December through January will have more red snappers closer to shore, like 25 to 60 miles in water depths of 50 to 60 feet, but the weather is usually too bad with rough seas, so October is really better because the seas are calmer and weather usually beautiful.

Rabbit-squirrel and archery season opened Saturday, Oct. 1.

REMEMBER

Plant farm was slated in 1917

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, Oct. 5, 1917)

BIG INDUSTRY FOR CAMERON

Mr. J. T. Martin of Kenner reports that he has found the proper place to establish his plant farm.

After a careful investigation of different sections of the Gulf Coast, Mr. Martin visited Cameron. "Nuff said." The conditions there were almost ideal for his business. In fact, he was so well-pleased with the climate and soil of Cameron that the difficulty of communicating with the outside world was not enough to stop him.

This is Cameron's one big disadvantage, but there is a movement on foot to construct a telephone line between that point and Lake Charles that is almost certain to go through.

The village of Cameron, owing to its situation between Grand Lake and the gulf, has a mean winter temperature ten degrees higher than Shreveport, 185 miles further north. The soil cannot be beat for the production of vegetables, which can be on the market from two weeks to one month earlier than they are in the northern part of the state. In fact, cabbages, turnips, beets, carrots, etc., were successfully raised here last winter and were not damaged by the cold snap last February, which was the coldest in years, and which almost wiped out Mr. Martin's business near Shreveport.

A deal was closed Thursday with Mr. O. F. Henry, whereby Mr. Martin secured all the land he desired for his purpose. This land lies near and adjacent to the village of Cameron. The work of getting the land in shape was started yesterday, and as Mr. Martin states that he intends to plant 200 pounds of cabbage seed, it can readily be seen what the new industry means to Cameron labor. During the busy season, from 30 to 100 hands are required to handle the plants.

The construction of the telephone line will serve to bring Lake Charles and Cameron into closer relationship, but it will never serve the purpose as a good shell or gravel road between the two points would.

(Lake Charles American Press, Oct. 3, 1919)

CAMERON ROAD WORK ACTIVE

Road district No. 4 of Cameron Parish has let a contract to Contractor Zeigler of Jennings to build a road ramp across the Black Bayou marsh. The road will be 1500 feet long and will cost about $1800. A dredge will be used. The road will have an 18-foot crown. This link will connect a Cameron Parish road with the Gulf HIghway.

T. H. Mandell, engineer for Cameron Parish, is laying out the proposed road which will connect Sweetlake with the terminus of the Gerstner Field road. The road will be 11 miles long, graveled or shelled. A contract will be let soon after the road is staked off. The road when completed will open up the vast rice farming and cattle country southeast of Lake Charles. The following farms will have access to the road: The Devers Realty Co., North American Land & Title Co., Rosteet, LeBleu, Hebert and other farms, totaling more than 31,000 acres. the road will be built out of the fund created by the voting of a $100,000 bond issue in road district No. 4.

(Abbeville Meridional, Oct. 8, 1910)

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Cool nights and warm days gladden the heart of the rice farmer. We need rain very much. At all places around generous showers have fallen but here our gardens are dead from want of rain.

Mr. Robert Nunemaker paid the post office a visit last week after an absence of over two years, being kept at home with rheumatism. He continues to improve and will soon be around again.

School will open Oct. 3, with Miss Smith as teacher.

Pomeroy Bros. are harvesting the finest crop of rice in the neighborhood and will be ready to thrash on Monday, Oct. 3.

Adolph Miller still continues to be quite sick and the hot weather keeps him feeling poorly.

Mrs. Allen Hunt is going on an extended visit to her husband's family at Week's Island.

Most of the Monroe families will move away as soon as their crops are harvested.

Mr. Arthur Diehl is still at Lakeside and finds the fishing quite good.

Mr. Jolisaint is carring the mail again, the Mabel is up for repairs.

Wild plums are ripe and are a fine fruit for sauce or jelly.

All the chickens in the neighborhood are suffering from that scourge of the Southern poultry, chicken pox, and all known remedies seem to fail of a cure.

Emery Cheek is home again from Welsh.

A marine catfish can taste with any part of its body

Sugar is topic of Chenier demonstration

The Grand Chenier Extension Homemakers Club held its monthly meeting Tuesday, Sept. 20, in the home of Mrs. Debra Heard. Mrs. Gail Bonsall, served as co-hostess.

A report on the Cameron Parish Council meeting held in Mrs. Cronan's home in Grand Lake was given by Charlene Boudreaux.

The October meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m. in the American Legion Hall. Members are reminded to bring an orange/black gift for their Sunshine Sisters.

Primeaux feted

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Roland Primeaux, recently retired Cameron Parish Clerk of Court, was honored Saturday night with a supper and dance at the Cameron K.C. Hall.

He was honored for his 39 years of service to the Cameron Parish Clerk of Court's office, 12 as the Clerk of Court.

C-Ann King, Primeaux's daughter, served as master of ceremonies, and read letters of commendation from the Governor, Jerry Fowler, Commissioner of Elections; and the national president of clerks of court.

Toasts were given by Jennifer Bercier, Assistant District Attorney; Sono Savoie, Cameron Parish Sheriff; Joel Martel, Primeaux's daughter; and Myrna Conner, legislative aid to Rep. Randy Roach.

Site is complete

The U. S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve (SPR) announced that creation of the final underground crude oil storage caverns at the West Hackberry reserve site have been completed.

West Hackberry is one of six SPR crude oil storage sites located along the Louisiana and Texas Gulf Coast owned by the U. S. Department of Energy (DOE).

Since 1977, when DOE acquired the West Hackberry facility, 22 crude oil storage caverns have been created. The caverns were created through a process known as leaching, whereby fresh water is injected into a salt dome far below the earth's surface where it dissolves the salt, leaving behind a space filled with heavily saturated brine.

As crude oil is added into the cavern, the brine is forced out. A typical SPR storage cavern is designed to hold 10 million barrels and takes approximately 2½ years to create.

The site's brine disposal system consists of a 36-inch diameter pipeline from the site to the Gulf of Mexico, as well as brine disposal wells. As the newly completed caverns are filled with oil, brine is pumped out and dispersed from the brine line into the Gulf.

Now that cavern development is complete, the West Hackberry brine line will be used only intermittently to facilitate site oil movements.

Efforts are told

The Cameron Parish School Board was given a presentation at its monthly meeting Monday on the substance abuse prevention week being observed in all parish schools this week.

Representatives from each of the seven schools presented board members scrolls signed by a large number of students pledging not to partake of addictive drugs or alcohol during the week. Also signed cards were presented and these will be sent to Nancy Reagan.

Supervisor Uland Guidry said the program was being conducted to encourage students to learn more about the dangers of drugs and to "just say no."

Each school's representative told about the activities being conducted in their schools during the week including pep rallies, tag days, dances, door and poster contests, etc.

Mrs. Rosa LeMaire, a teacher from Grand Lake High School, showed the board a poster contrasting the main discipline problems in schools in the 1940's and in the 1980's.

Today, she noted, the top problems were drug and alcohol abuse, suicide, rape, pregnancy, sexual disease, etc.

She said the drug abuse prevention program was having a real impact in her school and noted that one private individual had donated five trophies to be used as prizes in the school's door contest.

Representatives of the Calcasieu Marine and Cameron State Banks and the school board staff and the Cameron Lions Club reported that their employees and members had signed pledges to support the special week.

The school board adopted a resolution congratulating all of the schools, students, faculty and public for their support of the special week.

DU banquet

Saturday, Nov. 19, has been set for the annual Cameron Parish Ducks Unlimited banquet, according to Tom Hess, D.U. chapter chairman.

It will be held at the K.C. Hall in Creole, with the no-host cocktail hour beginning at 6 p.m., followed by the dinner at 7:30.

Guns will be given as door prizes to both the adults and Greenwingers, in addition to a custom made crawfish table.

There will also be many other prizes awarded during the auction.

Tickets and membership may be purchased at the door or from any D.U. committee member.

10th graders to be readied for tests

In preparation for a state mandated test for 10th grade students next spring, the Cameron Parish School Board Monday approved an enrichment program to prepare the students in the parish's four high schools for the test.

The test will test the students on their knowledge in language arts, writing and mathematics. Should they fail the test they will have to take remedial studies and will have to be able to pass the test before graduation.

Assistant Supt. Robert Ortego said the school board staff was proposing to offer before or after school tutoring to 10th graders who were weak in these subjects to enable them to pass the test.

Supervisor Adam Conner said that 10th graders failing the test would be required to take remedial work in the summer before entering the 11th grade. He said a program has been worked out with the principals to offer two to four hours a week of pre-test aid to students desiring it before the test is taken next spring.

These classes will be voluntary on the part of the students and will be offered either before or after school. Parents or students will need to make arrangements for transportation.

Conner said that the tutoring will be done by regular teachers, adult volunteers and some 12th grade volunteers.

In addition, students will be taught special skills in taking tests.

The following year, these same students, now in the 11th grade, will be given a state science and social studies test and those who fail will have to have remedial work.

It was pointed out that the school system will only administer the tests, which will come from Baton Rouge, and will be returned there for grading.

It was emphasized that students will have to make passing grades on these tests the first time or at a later date when they retake them to be able to graduate.

Conner estimated that the cost to the board to pay teachers for the extra hours to conduct the pre-test tutoring will be about $9,000. It is anticipated that a language arts and a mathematica teacher will be paid to head the tutoring at each school with the rest of the tutors being volunteers.

It was also noted that letters will be sent to parents of students deemed to need the tutoring explaining the program.

4-H report is given

The Cameron Parish School Board heard a report on the parish 4-H program at its monthly meeting Monday.

Mrs. Nancy Cronan, Home Demonstration agent, reported thee were 473 students enrolled in the program for the past year, an increase of 53 over the previous year. There were 51 adult and junior leaders in the program.

Agent Paul Coreil, who is in charge of the parish extension office, said that due to budget restrictions it was not expected that the position of county agent would be filled any time soon.

He also noted that the travel budget for the three agents in the office has been cut by 30 percent and that by the end of the fiscal year the agents have to pay travel expenses out of their own pockets.

School Board President Arnold Jones asked Coreil to give the board a summary of their travel expenses and said the board would consider helping with the travel expenses at their next meeting.

Grand Lake meet

A meeting of the Grand Lake-Sweetlake citizens will be held at 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 24, at Grand Lake High School to get public input on a proposal to build new facilities at the school.

School Board Member Ricky Guidry told the school board at its last month's meeting that the school's enrollment was continuing to grow and that it was felt that more facilities were needed. He was authorized to meet with the school principal and the board's architect to prepare a proposal for possible expansion.

At the board's October meeting Monday, he showed some preliminary architectural plans for a new wing to the school and announced that the public meeting would be held on the 24th.

Guidry said he has received "an overwhelming response" to the proposal from the public and said that the meeting was being called to give everyone to express their thoughts on the matter.

Should the community support dictate it, a bond issue could be presented to the district at some future date, he stated.

Sections leased

Despite the cutbacks in waterfowl hunting, bids on surface leases on eight Cameron Parish school Board 16th sections brought good bids when they were opened at the board's monthly meeting Monday.

Most of the hunters were seeking the sections for duck and goose hunting, although the leases also are good for trapping and farming.

Successful bidders on each section and the amounts they bid were as follows:

Sec. 16-14-3--Jimmy Roberts, $1111.11. V. L. Guidry, Jr. also bid.

Committee set

The Cameron Parish School Board Monday approved the appointment of a steering committee to study methods of improving student performances in parish schools.

Asst. Supt. Robert Ortego said the committee, composed of administrators, principals and teachers, would seek to find means of getting higher performances in the schools.

He said that students and parents needed to become more accountable and work harder to improve students performances.

Board Member Betty Seay asked the board to try to set up remedial programs to help slow learners in the schools. She said there were programs for students with learning disabilities and for students that excell but none for students who are just slow learners.

The board agreed to ask the new committee to address this problem also.

It was also agreed to write the state congressional delegation to try to get federal funds approved for a slow learner program.

In other business, the board:

* Accepted the low bid of Moreno, Inc. for the installation of a boiler at Hackberry High School.

* Named Delores Boudreaux, fromamong 32 applicants, as a lunchroom worker at South Cameron Elementary School.

* Approved advertisement for bids for the resurfacing of the South Cameron and Johnson Bayou running tracks.

* Heard a report from Supt. Roger Richard on the cost of operating parish-owned school buses. He said the diesel buses were cheaper to operate.

UFO sightings--local report

BY GENEVA GRIFFITH

I was watching a new TV series the other night entitled "Unsolved Mysteries" and there was a segment on UFO sightings in a town in Florida.

It seems that over 150 people in the town witnessed UFO's over a period of a month.

They even showed pictures and a video that one man took, which was from a collection of over 100 pictures he took from his back porch.

He had been ridiculed so much over it he declined to appear on the show, even though he allowed the use of his pictures.

This brought back a vivid memory to me and is one of the reasons I would never make fun of anyone claiming to have seen a UFO, and why I get mad at people who do, because I too have had a similar experience and it has made a believer out of me.

About 18 years ago my husband, my daughter Cherie and her good friend Rosilie LaBove (now Shetler) and I were traveling to Baton Rouge to attend a LSU ballgame.

It was early on a Saturday morning and just breaking dawn. We were on Interstate 10, between the Chloe Exit and Jennings, heading east.

I suddenly saw something ahead in the distance that I could not explain. There seemed to be a round disk-like object with lights all around that was hovering just above the power lines on the north side of the highway.

All four of us saw it and were mesmerized, and I guess we were really unbelieving what we were witnessing.

As we got closer we could see that the lights all around the flying saucer-like object seemed to be coming from portholes all around the hovering craft.

I exclaimed "Do you all see what I see?" and we all excitedly answered at the same time, and I for one was apprehensive about what it would do, even though it was north of the west bound lane of the highway.

About the time we got even with it, it lifted up from its hovering position above the electric wires and sailed off in a westerly direction.

I made the statement that it looked like the craft was drawing power from the electic power lines.

We later heard that there had been reports from people in Orange, Texas about a UFO sighting.

We never did report what we had seen because we didn't want to be laughed at and knew people would not believe us.

To this day I do not know any more about UFO's than I did when I actually saw the object. However, I do know that there are many things we have to accept on faith.

For instance, I have never seen God but I know that he exists and live on faith that he does.

Maybe we will never know in this lifetime what we actually saw, but it was real, and probably as real as all of the other reports that have come in from all over the world.

It is reasonable to assume that there might be planets in our solar system with even higher techology than our own and inhabitants that are exploring our world.

Tarpons to host Hanson Friday

By ROBERT MANUEL

Opening District 8A games last Friday, South Cameron defeated Vermilion Catholic 16-13, Hanson upended District favorite North Vermilion 33-17, and Delcambre swamped Gueydan, 41-13.

According to a scouting report from Henry Griffin, assistant football coach at South Cameron, the Hanson Tigers are a ball control team that uses power sweeps, counters and power thrust up the middle with a 205 lb. fullback to control the ball. Most impressive was Hanson's defense that accounted for the recovery of 5 of 6 North Vermilion fumbles. Two of the fumble recoveries resulted in Hanson's second half come from behind victory.

Both South Cameron and Hanson have similiarities in their style of play, with Hanson having an edge in overall backfield size. The Tarpon line, showing an A+ on both sides of the line in the Vermilion Catholic game should be back intact and a little healthier. Their control of the scrimmage line will again be a key factor in the outcome of the game.

South Cameron's victory over the Vermilion Catholic squad was costly as Rozell Smith received a disabling injury in the game. X-rays revealed a hairline fracture of the lower leg tibia bone, just above the ankle. Smith will be out from 4 to 6 weeks. Smith's amazing running capabilities had added a lot to the Tarpon offense. His replacement, Walter Jones, pint size, but big in performance and heart, will still be a running threat to the opposition.

Game time is 7 p.m. at Tarpon Stadium. Bring your cowbells and noise makers folks, the Tarpons have a tough one Friday night.

Tarpons take a district win

By ROBERT MANUEL

A hard hitting Tarpon team made a 16-13 halftime lead hold up for an important District 8A victory over a stubborn Vermilion Catholic team last Friday. Both teams threatened in the second half but outstanding defensive efforts from each squad caused offensive turnovers that stopped every drive.

The game was a seesaw nailbiting affair from the very beginning. Vermilion Catholic jumped to a 7-0 lead with less than a minute in the game, following the Tarpon fumble of the kickoff return. In two plays, a long gainer and a one yard plunger by Leo Hulin put the Screaming Eagles ahead in the first quarter action. The Tarpons showed strong evidence of being able to move the ball but didn't put it all together until the second quarter.

South Cameron mounted its first scoring drive early in the second quarter from its own 5-yard line following a Vermilion Catholic punt. An exploding front line and hard driving Tarpon backs moved grudgingly up field. Tarpon quarterback Chad Mudd probed the length of the line alternating his backs for short yardage.

The break-through on the 95-yard march happened on the 30-yard stripe when tailback Rozell Smith found running room on an off-tackle wham that turned him loose into the secondary. Smith's 70-yard scoring run was truly a spectacular accomplishment that amazed the Tarpon fans and shocked the disbelieving Vermilion Catholic fans.

The Tarpon power offense and its defense of the run and the pass was the difference in the close contest. With the score 7-6, the Tarpons used the two point conversion to go ahead 8-7. Quarterback Mudd used his strong I battering ram to spring him loose into the end zone for the two pointer.

South Cameron's tackle caused a Vermilion Catholic fumble on the 18 and the Tarpons were once again knocking on the Vermilion Catholic goal line. The drive was climaxed by a one yard run by Mudd. Lionel Roberts snagged the two point converson pass from Mudd to up the score 16-7.

Minutes later Vermilion Catholic quarterback Leo Hulin connected on a perfect touchdown pass to Kevin Broussad. Chad Mudd's cover was there but the taller receiver had the deciding advantage in reach. A two point conversion attempt was stopped by the Tarpon defense. The first half scoring ended at 16-13. The scoreless second half was highlighted by the defensive play of both squads.

The Tarpon line shook its backs loose for 294 yards. Rozell Smith rushed for 129 yards before being injured, Mudd chalked up 93 and fullback Robin Rutherford averaged 8 yards per try for a 64 total.

CAMERON REPRESENTED

Cameron Parish will send a big delegation to the Intercoastal Canal meeting in Houston, Tex., on November 8 and 9. This much was decided at a meeting of the police jury of Cameron Parish held Monday, when Leon Locke and O. P. Moss of Lake Charles appeared before that body and asked that delegates be appointed for the purpose of attending the Houston meeting.

But this was not all the Cameron Parish Police Jury did as a manifestation of its interest in the great waterway. An appropriation of $500 was made to help defray the expenses of such preliminary work as is being done by the executive committee of Louisiana.

(Lake Charles Press, Oct. 18, 1907)

RICE IN CAMERON

Orange, Tex., Oct. 12--Messrs. A. F. Lyons of Vinton and J. H. Labit of Orange, are preparing to engage extensively in the cultivation of rice in Cameron Parish next season, and to that end are now arranging to begin work at an early date on the irrigating canal and pumping plant. They have a tract of 4500 acres of land, 2500 acres of which they expect to put under cultivation next season.

The water for irrigating the land will be taken from Black's Bayou, an intake canal being dredged from the bayou for three miles through the marsh to high land, where the pumping plant will be located. The canal will be five miles in length and the work of dredging the first three miles and throwing up levees for the remainder. The headquarters of the company will be in Orange and all of the business will be transacted from this point. The machinery and supplies for the irrigating plant and the farm will be shipped from here on boats and the establishment of this big farm will result in a lively boat traffic up Black Bayou.

(Lake Charles American Press, Oct. 15, 1915)

CAMERON WILL NEED MORE HELP

Charlie Anderson, who has spent the past six months at Cameron, came up yesterday afternoon on the Rex and will spend the winter in the city. Mr. Anderson states that conditions in the lower parish are very bad, and that a great deal of help will be required by the people of Leesburg and vicinity before the winter is over.

"I was staying at the Miller Hotel, on the beach, when the storm of August 16th came up," declared Mr. Anderson, "and we spent an eventful night. My first impulse was to go to Leesburg, where I felt it would be safer, but there were a number of women and children on the premises.

"The wind blew a furious gale, and the water rose steadily. About 11 o'clock at night it came over the lower floor of the hotel. At about the same time the wind shifted suddenly to the southeast and the waves commenced dashing through the building. Fortunately the dining room and kitchen, which were built adjoining the hotel proper, were securely anchored down, so that the women and children, about fifteen in number, went in there and passed the rest of the night in safety."

The house on the beach which Mr. Anderson had been occupying was badly damaged and all his effects damaged by the salt water. He states that the sea water has killed all the fresh water grass so that there is little grass for the cattle to graze on.

Attendance Week

To call attention to the importance of regular school attendance, the Cameron Parish School Board has proclaimed Oct. 24-28, as "Perfect School Attendance Week", according to Uland Guidry, Supervisor of Student Services.

"School absenteeism often leads to higher delinquency, a higher dropout rate and unproductive adults with few or no marketable skills," said Mr. Guidry.

The Louisiana Compulsory Attendance Law holds the parent or guardian responsible for a child's attendance. Under the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education attendance regulations, students must be in school each day of the year unless temporarily excused or due to extenuating circumstances.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Fall fishing and hunting

By Loston McEvers

FALL-FISHING & HUNTING

The cool north winds of last week, sure put a few things in mind. One is getting rid of the hot muggy weather and the high priced light bills for air conditioners. However, it put me to some good redfish, fishing and hunting a few squirrels and rabbits. I do not hunt with bow and arrow, so that's out for me.

On the fishing scene, a few redfish are being caught but this is the season and these cool fronts will turn them on. As for squirrels and rabbits, a few squirrels were taken in the Amoco area with a friend of mine. No reports on rabbits.

Our second phase of dove hunting will start this weekend, Oct. 15 thru Nov. 13. I sure hope we have better luck with this second season, because the first season sure was a lost cause. The hunters north of Gibbstown did fair but down in our area, was a no-no.

WILDLIFE--New Information Officer

Lt. Keith LaCaze, who has been a wildlife enforcement agent since 1980, and also for the last four years has been division coordinator for Operation Game Thief, has been assigned as public information officer for the enforcement Division of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. LaCaze was also a wildlife specialist with the department for the last three years.

REFUGES CLOSED TO MOST FISHING

Don't forget, Lacassine and Sabine National Wildlife Refuges will have most of their fishing, especially bass fishing, closed in their impoundments after this Saturday, Oct. 15. Check at each office to see what areas you may still fish.

Going back to Lacassine Refuge, they will close to fishing and other forms of public use, except for archery deer hunting at sunset Oct. 15. This is the normal time the refuge is closed to the general public for recreational use.

Closing the refuge at this time will provide undisturbed sanctuary for hundreds of thousands of ducks and geese that spent the winter there.

COMMISSION MEETING

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission will meet this week in Baton Rouge.

Items on the agenda include the Calcasieu Lake Oyster Season.

Cancer group picks chairmen

The appointments for chairmen for the Cameron Unit of the American Cancer Society have been finalized, announced Shirley Bonsall, president.

Chairmen are: Mrs. J. Berton Daigle, Public Education; Nell Colligan, Youth Education; Mrs. Conway LeBleu, Service and Rehabilitation; Geneva Griffith, Publicity; Mrs. Emma Nunez, Nominating; Mrs. Conway LeBleu, Memorial Gifts.

Billy J. LaCombe, 19, Crowley, came up on a probation violation and Judge Fontenot revoked his probation and sentenced his time to run concurrent with charges and sentences in Vermilion and Calcasieu parishes.

On Oct. 6, 1988 he was sentenced to one year in the parish jail, two years supervised probation, ordered to pay a $760 fine on his felony charges of burglary and theft; and six months in jail, suspended on misdemeanor charges of simple criminal property damage, contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile and carnal knowledge of a juvenile.

Ghost stories

By Bernice Denny

In what is now Cameron Parish the telling of ghost stories seems to have been a favorite means of entertainment in the 1800's. The practice spilled over into the first decade or so of the 1900's.

When families and neighbors gathered in a home for an evening of conversation there was usually one in the crowd who possessed the knack of spinning superstitious accounts into terrifying narratives. Children who had reached the age of comprehension were torn between the need to go to sleep and the fear of leaving the group for the darkness of the bedroom.

A teller of tales in the 1890's was my grandmother's first cousin, Jesse McCall, known as "Little Jess" to distinguish him from the uncle for whom he was named.

Little Jess, a bachelor at the time, fascinated and terrified the youngsters. From what I gather he might have become a success today as a script-writer for Satruday morning televised broadcasts.

The children fared better when the stories were unfolded on winter nights beside the open fireplace. Then, windows and outer doors were closed, and a child might leave his bedroom door ajar for a feeling of safety as well as for warmth from the crackling fire in the sitting room.

It was in the long summer evenings that the sleepyheads suffered most. Window screens were unheard of. Mosquitoes were as bad then as now. To drive them away a smoke in a discarded tub or bucket had to be maintained on the porch. The children were afraid to leave the adults to go inside to sleep. The mosquito netting that enshrouded their beds would protect them from the pestiferous insects, they knew, but it was no guarantee against the invasion of unknown spirits.

A most frightening bugbear of that day was Sawtooth and Bloodybones. In Little Jess's tales Sawtooth and Bloodybones apparently was even worse than Frankenstein's monster, for the former could turn himself into an invisible horror at will. He could pass through the thickest wall without a sound and could then materialize in fiendish horror.

A favorite role of that day was the playing of Tall Betsey. Even my grandparents did not know its origin. Its purpose seems to have been to scare children into being good.

Regardless of behavior patterns resulting from Tall Betsey's appearance or of the extent of the youngsters' fright, the player of the part was welcomed with excitement, screams, and giggles.

An adult, usually a woman, and the taller the bter, would support a stiff pillow or short bolster atop her head, pull its case down over her face, then wrap a sheet securely around her body.

She staged a better entrance if the house had a staircase for her to descend. Down would glide the white-robed, unearthly creature, bowing carefully lest her headpiece slip off.

Were the personalities of those long-ago Cameron children harmed seriously by the boogyman tales? I hardly think so. Generation after generation has survived the wolves that ate grandmothers and little pigs, witches that put people to sleep for a century, dragons that belched fire, giants that crushed whole villages by one step.

Somehow, those boys and girls must have sensed that the wild tales were make-believe, designed for their entertainment.

Nevertheless, I would not recommend a steady diet of Sawtooth and Bloodybones nor even of Tall Betsey.

Letters to Ed.

Dear Editor:

I'm writing this letter in hopes of opening the eyes of our people here in Cameron Parish, Louisiana and the rest of the United States.

We have an important election coming up in November, the election for President of the United States. I have belonged to organizations for years and held offices in these organizations. I have tried to do for the people of my parish, state and United States, like each one of you have.

I can't help but get angry when I read and hear the remarks of what Michael Dukakis, Democratic Presidential Candidate for President of the United States did with the state of Massachusetts on gun control.

He does not believe in people owning guns, only police and military people. In plain words, he disarmed his state; will he disarm the entire United States? What about our self-defense? What about the Sportsman Paradise we live in?

It seems to me that we would end up like what we see on T.V. news, another country with police and federal power. "Shoot at you!" but don't shoot back.

Families before us in the early 1800's fled other countries to come to this country because it was the land of the free. Our Constitutions and Bill of Rights tell us we are free and have the right to bear arms. If we do not have undivided freedom, I don't see any hope, without hope this will not be the country we know.

Lots of us served our country, some in war time some not in war time, and some couldn't serve, but this land has been defended to be free, and we need to keep it free and clean, but we need to be able to hunt our land, not only for sports, but to have our children eat the wild game of our land, and also to defend ourselves.

He wants no more killing with people who own guns, but he let convicted killers walk the streets of his own state on a prison furlough. Another thing, he's for abortion and that's killing millions of unborn little children each year, but that ssems to be okay, don't folow the Ten Commandments, only 9 of them, but with his type of gun control, he doesn't want to follow the Constitution and Bill of Rights of this great country. Now, I wonder what other rules and commandments he'll want to skip or take out.

In no way am I telling you how to vote, but before you do vote, think about these two things - "Gun Control", taking up your guns, and "Abortion", killing little children.

/s/ Loston McEvers

Bunch of bull

Dear Editor:

We went to the polls Saturday, Oct. 1, and voted on one amendment. When first getting to the polls I had not had a chance to read and study how I was going to vote so I read the amendment about three times, then I asked the commissioners what it meant, but they said they couldn't explain it, only that I was to vote yes or against.

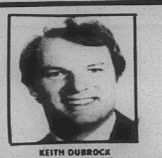
I went in the booth and reread it two more times. After I finished, I came out and said, "This is a bunch of bull!" I help run a country store, so I had to work Sunday. I decided I would run by own survey to see if I was the only dummy on the block. I'm 51 years old and I don't have a lot of book learning experience, but I have a good degree of common sense.

I asked every customer when they went into the booth to vote on amendments, did they understand what they were voting on.

From school teachers to valdictorian of their class, to oil field workers and also a gentleman 87 years old who has been voting 68 years and nurses, etc.

They said, "No, Mrs. Young. Most of the time I don't vote, or I ask someone else what they mean or I just pull the lever on straight yes or against."

Only two people all day said they understood them. One was a lawyer from Beaumont who had come riding on the beach and another man here on the Bayou that had had time to read the paper and study the amendment. I asked the lawyer who wrote the amendments for the polls, and he said, "some idiot lawyer friends of mine."



This is a shame in a country as free as America, that normal people who have the right to vote have to go to the poll and not understand what they are voting for.

Thank you,
/s/ Margaret Young

Gator sale brings in $328,000 here

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A total of 1041 alligator hides went on the auction block last Wednesday in Cameron when 57 alligator hunters took part in the 1988 public hide sale.

Five buyers were on hand to put in their bids, which were registered on a big board by lots under each buyer's name - Fonseca, Domingue, Sagrera, Doxey and Backlund.

Paul Coreil, local fish and wildlife agent for Cameron and Calcasieu parishes, who conducted the sale, reported the sale brught over $328,000 into the parish.

The present trend is toward the larger alligators which brought the higher prices. The larger alligators, over 7 feet in length, brought from $48 to $52 per foot and the smaller ones, under 7 feet, averaged from $42 to $47 per foot.

At one time the smaller alligators brought the higher prices per foot, but now the buyers want the most skin per foot.

During the sale one 10-foot skin was confiscated by the wildlife agents for not having the flap cut, resulting in around a $500 loss to the hunter.

All of these skins were from the recently opened alligator hunt which had certain requirements.

Each skin must be tagged on the tail immediately as it is caught and a certain flap must be cut at the time of skinning.

This cut is only revealed the day the hunt starts to deter illegal hunting and outlaw skins before the season.

Persons caught not obeying these rules are subject to fines and confiscation of the skins.

The skin that was confiscated at [illegible] as an oversight by an experienced hunter and no tickets were given for disobeying the law.

Coreil said that because of the great response to this auction and the success of the sale it will be an annual affair conducted at the end of each alligator open season.

Oystering to begin

The 1988-89 oyster season in Calcasieu Lake and Sabine Lake will open a half-hour before sunrise Tuesday, Nov. 1, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries announced.

The harvest, which will be by tonging only, will continue until a half-hour after sunset Wednesday, March 28.

The Commission specified that the lakes be kept open for oyster fishing only so long as the state Department of Health and Hospitals classifies those waters as safe.

In the event of any health closures, the commission authorized LDWF Secretary Virginia VanSickle to extend the harvest. However, no extension would be allowed past April 30.

Lacassine enlarged

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has recently purchased approximately 800 acres of property located near the community of Lowry in Cameron Parish and added it to the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge.

The property, known locally as the "Streeter's Ranch", has been under cultivation for a number of years and the refuge plans to continue an agriculture program with emphasis to benefit waterfowl and public use.

The refuge will seek a private farmer to till the land under a cooperative agreement. The farm has a 300 acre rice allotment. Anyone interested in farming the land should contact the refuge manager within the next 30 days.

$6,000 given to 2 organizations

Susan Marriner, director of the Skylarc Early Intervention program was presented a $3,000 check by three of the students this week. Crystal Conner and B. J. Primeaux from Creole and Ramona Zamora from Grand Chenier.

She said that part of the money will be used to build a ramp at the Skylarc Center in Lake Charles.

Darryl East, local director of the Special Olympics Program since its inception in 1983, was presented a $3,000 check also by Tammie Conner and Debbie Alexander.

Sponsors say that the successful benefit dance will be held annually to raise money for these two worthy causes.

The Council on Aging is again using its portion of the building for the serving of meals, recreation, etc.

The Multi-Purpose center was closed for several months due to a lack of operating funds from the police jury. Recently the voters in the Hackberry Recreation District voted an additional 1.5 mills for 10 years to operate the facility.

Two taxes on ballot

Cameron Parish voters in two areas will vote on local propositions in the Nov. 8, election, in addition to the presidential race.

Johnson Bayou Recreation District residents will vote on levying an additional tax of one-half mill on each dollar of assessed valuation on property subject to taxation in the district, for a period of ten years, beginning in 1989.

Proceeds would maintain and operate the district's recreation and multi-purpose facility.

The Klondike area Fire Protection District will vote on authorization to levy a 4-mill tax on each dollar of assessed valuation on all property subject to taxation in the district for ten years, beginning in 1989, to maintain and operate the district's fire protection facilities and acquire fire protection equipment.

Erosion resolution

The new Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 13, approved the following resolution on coastal erosion which was sent to the police jury, school board, and state and congressional delegation:

Louisiana is dependent on its Coastal Beaches for recreation, tourism, wildlife and fisheries.

These few miles of beaches are gradually being eroded by wave action, high tides, and tropical storms, and all of these beach areas have lost many feet of beach frontage, some losing as much as 300 feet since 1957.

Many businesses, residences, summer camps, and breeding grouds for wildlife and fisheries have been lost and many hundreds of lives have been lost in the last 30 years.

The Cameron Parish Chamber of Commerce petition the proper authorities to protect our valuable coastal beaches from erosion using breakwaters, jetties, seawalls, groins, blocks or other means.

Wade Carroll is the owner of Cam-Tool and Machine in Cameron. He and his wife, Pam, have two children, Wade and Lisa.

Lloyd Carroll is a machinist at Cam-Tool and Machine. He and his wife, Grace, have two children, James, 16, and Bobby, 13. James has been competing in trap shooting for four years. A junior at South Cameron High School, James enjoys football, hunting and fishing.

Cindy Dick, assistant to the coordinator of the championship, said this competition was the first for shotgun athletes. Both trap and skeet shooters participated, and coaches were brought in for each group, she said.

Tarpons lose to Hanson Tigers

The Hanson Tigers used a disciplind offense and a strong defense to outscore the Tarpons 27-18 and take the lead in District 8A. Both teams worked hard with the Tigers getting the upper hand in fulfilling their game plans.

The Tarpons labored to overcome an unusual number of illegal procedure penalties in executing their offense, thus turning the ball over to a Hanson offense that the Tarpon defense was unable to contain consistently.

Hanson got its initial score on their first possession, marching downfield with chunks of yards, right up the middle. Richardson capped the 61 yard drive with a 10 yard sprint. The kick for the PAT was good and the Tigers led 7-0 with 7:02 left in the first quarter.

Shaking off the shock, the Tarpons came right back on a 51-yard scoring march of their own. Chad Mudd's seven yard pass to Lionel Roberts capped the drive. The go-ahead 2 point failed and Hanson led 7-6 at the end of first quarter action.

The Tarpons seemed to have gained control and started a promising drive. That came to an abrupt end as tailback Walter Jones, on an end sweep, was met by a double team tackle from two burley Tigers. The ball was stripped by Hanson's Mark Polson, who scooted into the end zone. Hanson's kick was good and the Tigers led 14-6. The Tarpons didn't overcome the turn of events until the fourth quarter. In the meantime the Tigers had kept up the momentum following their play and tacked on a third quarter score to make it 21-6 at the end of the third quarter.

The Tarpons reared their heads and came roaring back with two scores in the fourth quarter. It was not the Tarpons night, a Hanson lobbed a 13 yard pass to Todd LeBlanc to secure the final outcome of the game.

The fourth quarter Tarpon scoring drives, two 57 yarders, were capped by a 3 yard run by Mudd and a 4 yard run by Jones. The two point conversion attempts failed in both drives to dampen the Tarpons hope of a come from behind victory.

Hason moved up to 2-0 in district play and South Cameron to 1-1 with the Hanson 27-18 victory.

N. Vermilion to be at S. Cameron

Trappers rights

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, Oct. 20, 1922)

RIGHT OF TRAPPERS ON OPEN LAND

It is said that a suit of more general interest and one which will be the largest tried in district court in Cameron Parish in a long time will come up for consideration in the 1922 fall term of court at Cameron, beginning Wednesday, Nov. 8, and lasting until Friday evening.

The suit is one in which corporation and large individual nonresident land owners are seeking to deprive natives of the time honored privilege and custom of trapping at large in the territory in which they live. Furs have become so valuable and the business in Southwest and South Louisiana has grown until this state is leading all others in the production of a big commercial crop.

Since that is true, the matter of hunting on lands not held by title or lease has gotten to be a matter in which the "inherited rights" of the resident population is now questioned. This is true, not in Southwest Louisiana alone, but in many fur bearing sections of the country. In New Orleans the trappers have obtained a restraining order from the courts to prevent a big and owning company from interferring with their operations.

MILLIONS INVOLVED IN SUIT AGAINST CAMERON TRAPPERS

According to estimates of District Attorney Griffin T. Hawkins, who is representing about fifteen defendants in the injunction proceedings of Ferdinand J. Pavell of Orange, Tex., against the native trappers of Cameron Parish, in the Fifteenth Judicial Court for the Parish of Cameron, to be held Nov. 8-11, inclusive, in which the plaintiff seeks to stop their operations on open sea marsh, which he claims to own, and which the natives claim to have an inherent right, the fur business of Cameron Parish alone this season, is one of the biggest items of revenue in Southwest Louisiana, amounting, he says, to five million dollars.

When the plausibility of this statement was questioned Tuesday morning, Mr. Hawkins referred to the official records and reports of the state attorney general's office for 1921, in a well bound volume, and cited cases where suits were instituted for the collection of state severance taxes on furs shipped out of the state and in which the shippers refused to pay the taxes, that amounted to two million dollars. These figures, he said, referred only to cases where there were refusals to pay severance taxes.

Attorney Hawkins said that never before in the history of Cameron has there been such talk and activity in the fur business as this year, nor has there ever been so much supply for the business. Men are attempting to stake off plats of land, as in the old days of gold mining, and forbidding others to trap on their premises. The sea marsh, he said, is infested by hundreds of thousands, even millions of fur bearing animals, and he has no doubt of the figures he gives as the value of this year's crop.

So exciting has the prospect of rich harvests become, he said, not only the natives of Cameron are making great preparations, but there are trappers coming in from distances as far away as the Canadian border. One firm, he said, has leased a lot of land and is selling trapping rights on its leases, at twenty-five cents on the dollar, and other considerations.

H. G. Chalkley, who has charge of lands of the North American Land Company, of which company he is a member, stated today that he thinks Mr. Hawkins' estimates entirely too high, but admitted that he is selling trapping privileges on his lands, however, at much lower prices than those mentioned above.

Mr. Hawkins said that he had no doubts as to the outcome of the defense he and his partner, Mark C. Pickrel, will make for the native trappers in Cameron inasmuch as the marshes are open country and the trappers have inherited this right along with other time-honored privileges.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

Another spell of bad weather and rice threshing stopped for the time being, but it is fine and cool. Ice an inch thick is reported from Kansas City. Well ain't you glad you are in Louisiana?

We received a card from Mrs. Nunemaker's brother, Arthur S. Diehl, who is in St. Louis, with the following data: "This card mailed to you by the first aerial post route established west of the Alleghenies. Distance covered 15 miles, time 12 minutes, the rest of the way by rail." The post mark is as follows: "Aeroplane Station No. 1, Aviation Field, St. Louis, Mo. via Aerial Route." We all think an aerial route would be a mighty fine thing for Cameron Parish.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

Duck outlook bleak

By Loston McEvers

A few months ago I wrote an article on how bad the hatch of ducks was, now things don't look any brighter.

The diminishing population of our ducks so quickly may result into a closed season in just a couple of years, or maybe sooner.

Ken hebert, wildlife educator for Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries, has been informing me on what's happening. Ken has this really in his heart and trying to do everything possible to help matters out.

Our duck population is in a critical stage and should the season be closed, it would be the first time this has happened.

Drought has been a great concern for our ducks, but they can handle the drought. What the ducks can't handle is all the wetlands being draind for farming and other land developments in their nesting area of Canada, where 70 percent of our ducks come from and the few states here at home where about 30 percent hatch.

More and more farmers are plowing their fields larger, many right to the edges of the ponds. What this creates is a smaller space for nestings and of course predators have an easy place to get the eggs.

In 1940 we had 150 million ducks and last year we had only 66 million, that's a loss of 84 million birds in less than 50 years. That's about 1,750,000 birds loss per year. This is serious.

If the federal widlife agents decide to start closing duck season, I know Louisiana will be one of the first states on their list. Like Ken Hebert said, not only because of our good hunting, but Louisiana has had some black marks put on us from all the game violations. I realize things are stricter now, but it's hard to get anyone to believe the old politics are going out.

There have been articles in national magazines carried about the illegal hunting in Louisiana and that will not help us.

MANY AGENTS

Ken gives a free warning, there will be many federal agents in our area this season, in fact they plan on putting a helicopter to patrol Southwest Louisiana. He goes on to say that one of the state's helicopters will be in contact with state police to help aid in patrols.

We as citizens of Louisiana need to take a good look and make every effort to abide by the migratory game laws.

THINGS YOU MIGHT WANT TO KNOW

*Chicot Lake, north of Ville Platte was closed for 5 days, when helicopters sprayed willow trees which had an overgrowth, causing problems.

*Shrimpers in our area have been doing good catching some nice shrimp. Last week a few boats also did good on "seabobs" bringing in several thousand pounds.

*The alligator season is over and a sale was held last week at the Cameron parish Mosquito Control barn. As I had stated a few weeks ago, the smaller your hides average, the less you get paid per foot. The buyers definitely wanted larger hides, and the way it went was like this: A 6 foot average went for around $44 per foot, 7 foot average $48 per foot, 7.5 foot averaged $47.01, but 7.6 foot averaged $48.35.

Eight foot went for around $50 per foot. This is good, but many of the hunters turned down the bid prices, as their gator average was small and prices were around $40 per foot.

*I noticed along the Gibbstown-Creole road there were a few ducks down with the cool spell. A few pintails, teals and coots, however, not large in number.

*I understand next year 1988-89, waterfowl season we will have to buy a Louisiana State Hunting Stamp, at $5. Proceeds must be used for state wetland habitat improvement. As much as 10 percent of the money can go as a donation to the North American Waterfowl Plan. What's bad is I understand these revenues will not go to a Conservation Fund, when that happens, these funds will be susceptible to raids by other branches of our government.

*The legislature gave the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission authority to set limits on saltwater finfish, except speckle trout and redfish, which are under legislative regulations.

Maybe the legislators will someday get out of the affairs of LDWF. The Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is self supported and I don't see why without tax dollars the legislature needs to butt in their actions. "Tell me it ain't politics."

*Talking about the legislature, a bill to let federal agents enforce Louisiana's state wildlife laws was defeated. The reason why I think they should enforce our wildlife laws is because if a federal agent is out at night checking out migratory waterfowl violations and a hunter with headlight and shotgun carrying a freshly killed deer out of season is caught, the federal agent cannot do anything about it. They have no authority to arrest this person for violating a state law.

*Catfish farmers wanted to bring in a grass carp called White Amur to use in their catfish ponds to rid the grass, but the bill was killed, which was to permit importation of carp. They claim it would destroy the habitat of bass, bream and crappie. I do agree with that decision.

MUSING . . .

Chenier had 1st phones

By Bernice Denny

The first telephone service established in lower Cameron Parish was at Grand Chenier circa 1910. It was sustained for six or seven years, at least. Isaac (Ike) Vaughan and his brothers were the men who planned and set up the system.

There were fifteen subsribers to the one-party line. It extended from Dr. L. O. Miller's in the village of Grand Chenier at least as far east a his brother, Arceneaux Miller's.

It included homes in the Vaughan settlement on the Mermentau River where the Delma East family later lived and where a cotton gin was also built. One line ran from the Thompson McCall property (present site of "Sonny" and Carl McCall homes) north to the Thozeme Miller home and from the Ed Stine property north to the Isaac Theriot home, both Miller and Theriot being on Indian Point.

The telephone was the big brown crank-type contracption on the wall. Beside each hung a placard bearing the names of the subscribers and the ring of each.

My grandfather Stine's ring was a short and two longs. The old card remained in the home as a souvenir long after the phone was taken out.

Each time a phone rang in one household it sounded in all the others. Curiosity as to what was going on plus the novelty of the telephone itself probably resulted in frequent eavesdropping.

Letters to Editor

Dear Mr. Wise:

Most anyone in the state of Louisiana who has been awake for the past two or three years, has no doubt noticed that Louisiana is leading the nation in at least one important area. We lose more land to coastal erosion than any other state in the nation. Of the coastal wetlands lost every year in this country, Louisiana's 40% of the nation's coastal wetlands suffers 80% of the nation's total losses; 40 to 60 square miles per year. That's a football field sized piece of Louisiana every 15 minutes.

Obviously, something needs to be done to preserve, protect, and restore our coastal wetlands. However, this massive damage cannot be stopped with a small project "here" and a rock jetty "there". We must have a comprehensive plan, funding for it, and a coordinated overall effort by local, state and federal governments to address the whole problem, not just "bits and pieces." To accomplish this massive job, Louisiana needs (1) an Office of Costal Restoration, in the Governor's Office, (2) a comprehensive scientific and engineering plan of action and (3) funding dedicated to that plan.

The coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana has proposed an Office of Coastal Retoration in the Governor's office. FOCUS (Fresh Outlook for Coastal U.S.), a group of concerned legislators led by Senator Ben Bagert, has announced a similar proposal. In its report, recently presented to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Governor's Coastal Restoration Policy Committee has proposed some specific recommendations and evaluation of additional wetland projects and policies.

And now, during this Special Session, two proposals for funding coastal restoration have been suggested. FOCUS has proposed a dedicatd coastal restoration fund from existing mineral revenues and the Department of Natural Resources has proposed that part of the funds generated from natural gas taxes be dedicated to coastal restoration. And, at Grand Isle, Governor Roemer recently agreed to appoint an assistant for coastal issues.

Much remains to be done. The Governor and legislature must come to grips with their responsibility to address this catastrophe. Louisiana must have an Office of Coastal Restoration, with the authority and power of the Governor's Office. This office must be charged with the responsibility for coastal protection and restoration. This must be where the buck stops!!! Someone must be in charge!

After years of procrastination, abuse, neglect, and after more than one million acres of our beautiful and wonderfully productive wetlands are gone - forever - it is time that you and I, our legislators and our governor (read that as "we") take responsibility. It is time for bold action. It is time to begin work.

Louisiana's coastal wetlands are Louisiana's national treasure. These wetlands provide us with oil and gas resources. They are some of the most productive acres in the world, providing us with a billion dollars per year in renewable resources, plus all the social, environmental and economic benefits we receive; our jobs, our homes; our businesses; our way of life. If we continue to wait and hope that "somebody" does something, our children will one day ask why we, and our leaders did not accept our responsibilities. If we are to have for ourselves, and leave to our children, more than a few remnants of Louisiana's coastal wetlands, we must accept our responsibility to be good stewards.

I submit that now is the time to do just that!

Sincerely,
/s/ Calvin E. Fair

Bonsall are hosts to Dutch visitor

Recent days were exciting times for Dutch visitor, Ida Koppenol of Vuren, The Netherlands.

She was the guest for three days in the home of Charles and Shirley Bonsall of Grand Chenier. She has anxiously awaited her visit to Louisiana since hearing tales about the Cajun culture from her future daughter-in-law, Ellie Langeveld, also from Holland, who visited the Bonsalls in July while in the United States on a student study program.

Ida was quite taken by the Cajun culture and the beauty of south Louisiana. She and her husband, Bert, are avid bird watchers and visited Louisiana to bird watch several times while living in Orange, Tex., a few years ago. This was a special opportunity for Ida to have a hands on experience of south Louisiana life.

Bert's job as product manager for DuPont for Europe has taken Ida to many countries throughout the world. She said in Dutch accent, "Cajuns are for me the most natural informal people in a very good way. I immediately felt a part of the family and that made me feel warm in the heart. The food was new for me and just great."

Ida was dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bonsall. There she exprienced Cajun gumbo and rice for the first time.

Other first time foods for Ida were candy apples, fig cake, and cotton candy purchased while visiting the Abbeville Cattle Festival in Abbeville and watching the firemen's water fight.

Ida was taken by the plight of the Cajuns while visiting the Acadian Village. She said, "The Cajuns are a tough, strong breed that lives from the land. They make the best of what is theirs naturally. It has been a very special time for me to visit Louisiana and be a part of their life."

Larry McNease of Rockefeller Refuge took the group on a tour of the wildlife reserve. Ida enjoyed the alligators but most importantly enjoyed the beautiful birds because the birds found here are unknown in Europe.

Ida attended the Wayne Toups Special Fund Raiser in Cameron and danced Cajun style. She was amazed at how the men could work hard all day on the ranches and dance all night.

"I cannot get over so much open land and so much freedom. You should be proud for the opportunity that you all have here," she said. "I plan to return some day for a visit to the Bonsall home with by Bert so he can be a part of this also."

Historical Soc. hears speakers

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

Genealogy and state archives were the subjects of two interesting talks given to the Cameron Parish Historical Society Monday night in the Cameron Library.

Marie Wise, a newspaper columnist that publishes her column "The Challenge of Genealogy" in 20 weekly and daily newspapers across the state, spoke on tracing a family history and the importance of documenting family tree or pedigree charts on every family member and where one can seek help in doing this.

She said the first place to start is with yourself, putting down dates and important happenings that you can remember.

An important source of information in a family is senior members, who are able to tell of their ancestry, and in each generation a great amount of family information is lost by the deaths of these elder members.

Other sources of information are county records, county, state and private libraries (in the genealogical and historical section), and genealogical societies.

She pointed out that much time and work can be saved by avoiding duplication; for instance, someone else may have already done the leg work on running down a family line that you are interested in finding.

Genealogy charts also make great gifts to present to someone after their line has been researched.

She also had a family tree that she has done of her family tracing back 13 generations, to the 1500's.

Dr. Donald J. Lemieux, the Director and State Archivist with the Division of Archives, Records Management and History in Baton Rouge, invited everyone to come to Baton Rouge and visit and use the new State Archives building on Essen Lane that was dedicated last year.

"Up until now this fabulous, colorful state has neglected to preserve their records, and have lost many valuable things in doing so."

He explained that the new building has beautiful meeting and storage rooms and is a place everyone is welcome to come and research.

"I have a tremendous love for documentation," he said. "My biggest fear is being forgotten, so I must leave behind a record to show I have been here, and without documentation there is no history."

He pointed out that the archives has one of the most valuable collections of genealogy records in the state for everyone to use.

The main floor of the Archives houses the Erbon and Marie Wise Genealogical Library, where some 4,000 books and records donated by the Wises form the nucleus and the beginning of a state genealogical library.

All books mailed to Mrs. Wise for review are being placed in this state archives library.

Dr. Lemieux pointed out that genealogists have supported the archives more than any other group and they form the backbone of what is whole and decent, he said.

He urged everyone to make use of the archives, to attend seminars, use the research rooms and take part in the outreach programs at the library, which is open on Monday through Friday each week from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The successful bidder to whom the lease is awarded on the date of the lease sale shall return the written lease, duly executed, within TWENTY (20) DAYS after bidder's receipt of same under penalty of forfeiture of the lease and the aforesaid cash payment previously tendered and negotiated in the event of failure to do so.

PROBLEM SOLVER TIP

Do-it-yourself projects aren't complete unless you take a few minutes to clean-up the tools used. Hand and power tools always perform best when they're free of dirt, grease and rust. Kerosene removes grease and oil from pliers and wrenches. Spray lubricants are ideal for cleaning cutting surfaces and protecting against rust.

Msgr. Levasseur

Levasseur rites set for Friday

Funeral services for Msgr. Charles Eugene Levasseur, 91, will be at 2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 28, in St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church in Big Lake.

Bishop Jude Speyrer will officiate and Msgr. Irving DeBlanc will be homilist. Burial will be in St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church grounds under direction of Johnson Funeral Home.

Visitation will be from 4-9 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, in Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church, and from 10 a.m. Friday at St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church. A rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. Thursday.

He was born in Bic Providence in Quebec, Canada, and studied in both the Jesuit and Holy Cross Orders in Montreal. He was ordained for diocesan work in 1927.

In 1927, Msgr. Levasseur came to Rayne as assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, serving five years. From 1932-37, he served as a missionary priest around Pine Prairie, Bayou Curan and most of Acadia Parish.

Poor health forced him from the ministry for five years, but he was appointed in 1942 to a "temporary" post as pastor of what was to become St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Church in Big Lake. The temporary appointment turned into a 25-year pastorate which saw the building of a new church at Big Lake and the enlargement of the church at Sweetlake twice.

Since his retirement in 1968, Msgr. Lavessuer has worked with the Catholic Student Center at McNeese and has served at Our Lady of Good Counsel and Immaculate Conception churches.

Survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Elianne L. Brunet, Mrs. Laurance Cote and Miss Gertrude Levasseur, all of Canada.

If they wish, memorial donations may be made to the Msgr. Charles Eugene Levasseur Memorial Fund for the establishment of a Catholic Life Center in Big Lake, the family said.

Firm provides acreage for ducks, geese

Thanks to a rent-free lease granted by the oil producer Amoco, some 7,400 acres of land in southwestern Louisiana have been set aside to shelter wintering ducks and geese.

The agreement was signed Oct. 20, by representatives of Amoco and state and federal wildlife officials in the Baton Rouge office of Virginia VanSickle, secretary of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The 7,400 acres comprises two parcels--a 6,120-acre tract in Vermilion Parish south of Gueydan and a 1,280-acre tract in Calcasieu Parish south of Holmwood.

The two tracts, consisting primarily of rice fields, now become "mini" sanctuaries for migratory species under auspices of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan. They will be jointly administered by LDWF and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as part of the national wildlife refuge system.

Radio beacons delayed to '90

Congressman Jimmy Hayes announced that the U.S. Coast Guard will delay the requirement of upgraded Emergency Position Radio Beacons (EPIRBs) on all uninspected fishing vessels until at least January, 1990. Due to contact from the Louisiana Extension Service and other sources, Hayes was notified of the local concern on this regulation and subsequently requested the Coast Guard to reinspect the issue.

The concern centers around the proposed regulatin which requires EPIRBs to be in place on all uninspected vessels by Aug. 17, 1989. The Coast guard was to grandfather all vessels that have in place a Class A EPIRB as long as it was purchased before Oct. 3, 1988. Should that deadline pass, however, vessels would have been required to use a Category I EPIRB.

Several problems arose from this situation. Most significantly, the demand for Class A types was so great that suppliers are now backlogged for systems. Consequently, vessel owners could not meet the deadline. To purchase the alternative system, a Category I version listed at $2,000, however, costs five to six times the price of a Class A type, and represents an unnecessary burden on our vessel owners.

Congressman Hayes added, "To add insult to injury, the Category I versions are foreign made with no domestic supplier. Why would the federal government require a domestic industry to purchase an exclusively foreign-made product at an inflated price?"

Due to complaints and pressure lodged by Hayes and some of his fellow colleagues, the Coast Guard has decided to delay the implementation of Category I EPIRBs until at least January, 1990.

An extension for purchasing Class A types was denied by the Coast Guard on the grounds that the A system is antiquated and is the main reason for the upgrading. The Coast Guard initially sought to end the use of Class A types due to the extremely high number of false warnings they produce each year, wasting valuable funds.

Amoco tells discovery

Amoco Production Company announced it has discovered natural gas and condensate in an exploratory well recently completed in the Gulf of Mexico approximately 30 miles southeast of Galveston.

During preliminary tests, Amoco's High Island A-22 No. 3 well flowed at a rate of 17.7 million cubic feet of natural gas and 1,929 barrels of condensate per day from a 21/64-inch choke with a flowing tubing pressure of 6,600 pounds per-square-inch. Drilled to a total depth of 12,710 feet in some 60 feet of water, the well penetrated approximately 42 feet of pay in the Middle Miocene Sands. Amoco owns 100 percent interest in the High Island A-22 block.

Collection food slated

"Do a Good Turn Daily" has been the motto of the Boy Scouts of America for over 75 years, and in 1988 Scouts nationwide and in the Calcasieu Area Council will demonstrate their commitment to this ideal in a big way.

"Scouting for Food" will be held Nov. 12-19. Saturday, Nov. 12, Cubs, Scouts and Explorers will deliver bags to homes throughout the five parish area. Nov. 19, Scouts will return to these same homes to pick up these bags and the food items donated by concerned local citizens.

Anyone who does not receive a bag and would like to participate may take non-perishable food donations to a Wal-Mart store during the week.

$1 million plus brought in by 3 gator sales

More than $1 million was pumped into the Louisiana economy through three recent sales of alligator hides.

Cooperative Extension Service fisheries agents in Vermilion, Cameron and St. Bernard parishes were pleased with the turnout of hunters and buyers at events that both facilitated the marketing of valuable alligator skins and brought good prices at each locale.

The fourth annual Southwest Louisiana Alligator Hide Sale in Abbeville outdid itself, said Extension fisheries agent Mark Shirley. "We sold 2,275 hides for a gross value of $777,714.03. Response was almost too big. There may be a need for a sale east of us next year, maybe in Terrebonne or Lafourche Parish." Average hide length at Abbeville was 7.2 feet, with an average price of $47.28.

The Abbeville sale, which began in 1985 with 521 hides selling for an average of $21.50 per foot, could not compare with this year's turnout and bids.

"We started measuring hides at 8 in the morning and didn't get through until after 7 that night," Shirley said of his sale. "Bids were opened around 9:30 and the last truck finished loading around midnight." The largest lot, 455 hides, came from Gheens in Lafourche Parish.

With many of the same buyers appearing at sales in all three parishes, prices were in the same general range, from $43 on the low side to more than $49 for the large, quality skins.

The first annual Cameron Parish sale attracted 1,041 hides selling for a total value of $324,507.11. Average price for skins 7 feet and longer was $49.96, while those less than 7 feet attracted a $43.19 average.

"This was an outstanding turnout for a first sale," said fisheries agent Paul Coreil in Cameron. "This year, it appeared that prices paid in private transactions and at the sales were close to the same."

The 131 hides sold at the second annual Southeast Louisiana sale in St. Bernard averaged $47 a foot, with a payday for hunters of $42,237.66, according to fisheries agent Warren Mermilliod.

"We were hoping for a few more skins, but what we had sold for a record price," he said.

Mrs. January is 100

By WANITA HARRISON

Mrs. Frances January was honored with a banquet on her 100th birthday at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15, in the Ebenezer Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. She is the oldest member on the church roll. Scores of relatives and friends from Port Arthur and Houston, Tex., and Lake Charles attended the event.

The observance program was as follows: Song, "What A Fellowship"; devotion, deacons; chant, "Thank You Lord"; Greetings and the Occasion Allie Carter; Selections, "Moments of Truth"; "Expressions on the Life of Mrs. January," Evelena Jones; Solo, Rebecca LaSalle; and presentation of Rev. Samuel Tolbert, Jr., pastor, by Eula M. Bartie.

Mrs. January was born in Cameron, Oct. 20, 1888 to Nathaniel Ben West and Sarah Florence Wilder, formerly of Mississippi. She attended a one-room school and completed sixth grade wtih a desire to pursue further education. Reading, arithmetic, language and spelling were the main subjects, and interested students were taught handicraft.

At the age of 12, Frances joined the Ebenezer Baptist Church, and was baptized along the coastline of the Gulf of Mexico in Cameron. A devoutly, religious woman, she remained a dedicated member of the church.

Vividly, Frances recalls transportation by horse and buggy to travel from Grand Chenier to Cameron, where she boarded the

Frances January

She recalls hard work as a younger woman. In her earlier life, she worked as a domestic for $1 a day and washed several loads of clothes on a washboard for $1.

She married Charles January, formerly of Lafayette, Jan. 6, 1908. He was a tenant farmer, and raised cotton, corn and potatoes for Andrew Doxey and Dr. Laurent Miller in Grand Chenier. They had six children: Emmaline Clarenda, Sue Ardella Olivia (Lillie), Ben Davis, Peggy Lovenia, Ethel Mae, and Phillip Ray.

Frances served as a midwife most of her life, having delivered over 40 babies. She helped Dr. Miller deliver babies for many years in Grand Chenier.

In addition to this, she also delivered three of her own children, by herself, in a room to which she closed the door and allowed no one to enter.

Frances was famous in Grand Chenier and in Cameron Parish for two of her recipes, 1-2-3-4 cake and teacakes.

Before retirement, she whipped up batches of her famous "Pecan Crispies" for the late Dr. Dix at least three times a year; for the Cameron bookmobile workers, who made weekly stops at the Grand Chenier post office; for Eastern Star meetings and for Home Demonstration Club socials, and club meetings.

Frances is a charter member of Gulf coast Chapter #143, Order of the Eastern Star. She was recently cited with a certificate from Esther Grand Chapter for active and cooperative participation for 31 years.

An avid Bible reader, Frances can recite many passages from memory. She attended church every Sunday, health permitting. She served as a deaconess, finance committee chairman, and assistant church mother at Ebenezer, and was honored as one of Ebenezer's oldest members at the 100th year anniversary, July 16, 1978. She was a liberal financial supporter of the church.

The centenarian is a five-generation grandmother with 15 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren. When asked what is the secret to long life, Mrs. January replied, "Working, never giving up, and doing the things that you like to do."

Probably each and every one!
Now, of course, we all know that there are no iron-clad financial opportunities. Even the traditionally sound real estate market has taken a beating in our area over the last few years.
But there are relative risks. And there are high returns that involve relatively little risk.
Such is our Capital Purchase Program (CPP), offering up to 15% per annum returns to local investors on short term (2 yr.) promissory notes.
We're Lumen Food Corporation, the fast growing Lake Charles manufacturer of meat replacers, serving both domestic and international markets.
The capital requirements for our current expansion involve the purchase of production equipment over and above what local financial institutions can provide.

MUSEUM DECISION EXPLAINED

CAMERON PARISH LIBRARY BOARD WISHES TO GIVE THE FOLLOWING REASONS FOR REFUSING TO OPERATE THE LEESBURG MUSEUM:

(1) The Board questions the legality of spending money voted for the operation of the Library on another organization.

(2) Even if the Museum could raise funds by private donation, the receipts would be insufficient and the Library would have to make up the difference. Board members find this prospect objectionable because it would mean the commingling of private and public funds and also because the Library is presently in financial difficulty itself.

(3) The Library has experienced very large repair bills on the Bookmobile and on the Library building. We are trying to balance our budget by cutting back drastically on book purchases and travel and will not replace two employees who have resigned. Therefore the Board feels that it would be unable to take on another obligation at this time.

Oyster Season

By Loston McEvers

OYSTER SEASON SOON TO OPEN

The 1988-89 oyster season in Calcasieu Lake and Sabine Lake will open a half-hour before sunrise on Tuesday, Nov. 1.

The season will run through a half-hour after sunset on Wednesday, March 28, 1989. This will be for tonging only.

The lakes will be kept open for oyster fishing only as long as the State Department of Health and Hospitals classifies these waters as safe.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission authorized department secretary Virginia VanSickle to extend the harvest if there is a closure for health reasons. This extension would not be allowed past April 30, 1989.

ARTIFICIAL REEFS

Last year I wrote an article on artificial reefs offshore. As most offshore fishermen know, the rig platforms are a haven for different species of fish and has really been a blessing for anglers fishing around these platforms.

We also said how some of the Japanese were sinking structures to improve their offshore fishing and it would be nice if some of our U.S.A. companies, when abandoning a platform, would use them for artificial reefs.

It's beginning to happen for us. We got our second artificial reef. A 1,125 ton structure, formerly owned and operated by Chevron U.S.A. as an oil rig, was toppled in place in South Timbalier Block 128, about 20 miles southwest of Grand Isle.

This is the first time an entire oil and gas platform was used as a reef and is the first reef within easy reach for Louisiana's coastal fishermen.

Chevron also donated a portion of its savings by participating in this program for Continuation of LARP. This money is placed in a fund which draws interst, to be used for maintaining and buoying these reefs. A buoy is already in place over the structure for safety navigation, and also for fishermen to locate the structure. A mooring buoy was also put to provide anchorage for the reefs users.

On the inshore bay areas, a map is in process to outline all inshore shell pads, wrecks and hazards that already exist. These maps will be distributed to Louisiana fishermen. There are indications that there are over 7,000 inshore obstructions in Louisiana waters, acting as artificial reefs. Some of these reefs could be added to to make them larger, and new ones will be constructed. Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is working with LSU's Coastal Fisheries Institute and Geological Survey to determine whether to build more reef or not.

PRESERVE LOUISIANA'S WETLANDS

The Louisiana Nature Conservency is the state chapter of an international land conservation organization which identifies and preserves important land.

The agency today announced it has received a $25,000 grant from Atlantic Richfield (ARCO) for wetland acquisition within the state of Louisiana.

Louisiana has within its boundaries 40 percent of the nation's coastal wetlands; 25 percent total U.S. wetlands. These wetlands are rapidly disappearing, and with government reductions for wetland protection, a grant such as ARCO, is really a big help and appreciated.

AREA FISHING

Redfish has started hitting in the area since a warming trend is back in the area. Real good catches have been reported, but also anglers are telling me that they're having to release way more than they keep, because of the size. This is really prime time for catching redfish.

I also got a report on flounders hitting real good on the mud flats. In fact I saw 17 flounders in one boat and a couple would have easily gone 4 pounds. Real nice.

STEEL SHOTS

As most of you know steel shot for migratory waterfowl is here to stay. Five new parishes will have to use steel shots this year, making a total of 29 parishes using steel shot for the 1988-89 season. Eleven parishes will be added for the 1989-90 season; eight parishes for the 1990-91 season and for the 1991-92 season, all Louisiana parishes will be shooting steel shots, adding the last16 parishes.

The five new parishes to use steelshots this year are Assumption, Avoyelles, Caldwell, Iberia and Rapides.

Streeter boat landing to be closed in Jan.

The Fish and Wildlife Service recently acquired and added a tract of land to the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge near the community of Lowry in Cameron Parish. The tract contains the boat landing located at the end of Streeter's Road.

The Fish and Wildlife Service plans to close this boat landing at the end of the duck hunting season, Jan. 8, 1989. The reason for closing the landing is so that the site can be used to relocate the refuge's headquarters facility.

Boaters will be encouraged to use other available landings. For further information the public should contact Bobby Brown, manager of the refuge.

The youngest general the United States Army ever had was George Custer, who achieved that rank at 23.

H'Berry Rodeo members win

Thad Little, 1st, saddle bronc; James Boudreaux, 2nd, bareback; Wendy Sue LeBlanc, 4th, breakaway roping; and Shane LeBlanc, 4th, bareback.

Tarps take win over Patriots

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons took a big step forward in their bid for a district 8A playoff birth by winning at the wire on a two point conversion run by quarterback Chad Mudd that gave them a hard fought 30-29 victory over North Vermilion.

The Tarpon defense forced a punt and took over again from their 15 yard line. This time the Tarpon machine clicked 85 yards downfield without a miss. Quarterback Mudd covered the final seven yards on a keeper play. Mudd added the two point conversion on a run.

Minutes later into the second quarter, the Tarpons shook the ball loose from Patriot quarterback Theron Lewis and was back in business on the Patriots 33 yard line. In five plays, the Tarpons had the ball on the one yard line. A quarterback sneak and a two point conversion by Mudd had the Tarpons leading 16-0 early in the second quarter.

The big play of the Patriots turned things around fast, scoring twice before the second quarter ended. The first half score read the home team 16, the visitors 14. The Patriots Carl Chargois had put North Vermilion back in the ball game with two quick scores, a 65-yard pass-run and a two yard run. Chargois had taken a short pass over the middle and threaded his way for the long scoring play.

The Pariots kept their late first half momentum going into the third quarter with Chargois tallying again from the one-yard following several big gainers. The Patriots used Chargois again on a two point conversion pass from quarterback Theron Lewis. The lead changed with the Patriots holding a 22-16 edge after three quarters of play.

The Tarpons took the edge off with a spirited drive led by sophomore tailback Reggie Godette and quarterback Chad Mudd. Godette capped the drive on an off-tackle blast that carried him 7 yards into paydirt. Mudd's keeper play wide for the third consecutive PAT was cut short by a horde of tacklers. The Tarpons nevertheless had a 22-22 tie early in the fourth quarter.

The Patriots took the kick-off from their 20 and moved for one first down. An aroused Tarpon defense put a clamp on the Patriot's forward progress and they were forced to punt. A fourth down roughing the kicker penalty of 15 yards however, gave the Patriots a first down. The break rallied the Patriots efforts as they went on to cap the 80 yard drive with a one yard dive by John Thibeaux. Somehow the Patriots chose the one point conversion instead of their usual two point pass or run. The kick was good and the Patriots lead 29-22 with 2:46 showing on the clock.

The fourth down penalty by the Tarpons Charles Duhon on a punt blocking attempt had failed by just a few inches to put the Tarpons in the drivers seat. It was a team effort that had backfired and the team took it in stride.

The Tarpons needed to move almost the length of the field in 2:46. A highly charged but cool Tarpon team did what they had to do to win, score a touchdown and make the two point conversion. Seemed impossible for a team to move that distance without a long gainer. The Tarpons did, with 26 seconds to spare.

Two personal fouls by the over-charged Patriot defense and a 15-yard scooter by Tarpon quarterback Chad Mudd made the score 28-29. A successful kick at best could only result in a temporary tie, a succesful run or pass would win. The Tarpons put on the muscle and Mudd followed the power train and then made his jump across the borderline. The come from behind 30-29 margin was indeed a spectacular victory for the Tarpons.

The Tarpons moved into second place with the Vermilion Catholic Screaming Eagles, a team they have beat. North Vermilion dropped to 1-2 with still a lot to be determined in the final two district games to be played by all teams.

South Cameron faces second place contender Delcambre 1-2, at Delcambre Friday at 7 p.m. Delcambre lost to league leader Hanson and Vermilion Catholic in two close games. The Tarpons are in no mood to be sidetracked by the homestanding Panthers and will be ready for a tough assignment.

Tarpons to play at Delcambre

By Robert Manuel

In this Friday's games, Hanson 3-0 faces a stern test from 2-1 Vermilion Catholic at Vermilion. South Cameron 2-1 will be at Delcambre 1-2 and North Vermilion 1-2 will be at home vs. Gueydan 0-3.

Games of the week are the Hanson-VC and the South Cameron-Delcambre games. Vermilion Catholic 2-1 and on a 2 game winning streak, is capable of putting the league in a 3-way tie with a victory over Hanson 3-0, provided the South Cameron Tarpons 2-1 can defeat the 1-2 Delcambre Panthers.

The South Cameron Tarpons, playing without injured starters, tailback Rozell Smith and guard Aubrey Brandon scored twice in the 4th quarter to nip North Vermilion 30-29.

This week's game with the Delcambre Panthers represents the last of the high hurdles, as next week they play Gueydan 0-3 at Gueydan. The offensive and defensive units played, in all probability, their best game of the season thus far against North Vermilion.

REUNION

Reunions of the 1940 and 1950 classes of Hackberry were held Oct. 8 at the Carlyss Lions Club building. 265 former class members and teachers of these classes were served a buffet meal catered by Jimmy Brown of Hackberry.

A dance was held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Thanks to all the committee for working so hard to make this event possible.

Bikers to follow the Creole trail

Nine routes have been finalized for the 1st Annual Veterans' Day Bicycling Festival, scheduled for Nov. 12 and 13. The courses range from 15 miles long to a complete circuit of the Creole Nature Trail.

Routes begin at the Avenue of Flags, the mass display of official U.S. flags at the Orange Grove/Graceland Cemetery held on each Veterans' Day. The longest ride will be the Gator 110, a 124-mile route along the Creole Nature Trail.

The Gator 110 became a 124-mile ride when organizers were denied access to the shorter route using the I-10 bridge. Riders will head north through Moss Bluff, cross the Calcasieu River, then cycle through Westlake and Sulphur before heading south to Cameron down Highway 27.

Cyclists face the challenges of roadside gators, the Ellender Bridge, drawbridges, and the Cameron ferry, then must tackle the last leg up Highway 14 to return to home base.

The Bicycling Festival is a project of the Sons of the American Revolution, to fund a foundation to assure that the Avenue of Flags will continue in perpetuity. Hundreds of cyclists from many states are expected to participate.

Letters

Dear Editor:

The Republican charges on gun control are an insult to Johnson Bayou, and Cameron parish's intelligence. Look at the facts before you vote on Nov. 8.

Like President Reagan and the major law enforcement groups, Gov. Dukakis supports legislation requiring people who want to buy guns to wait seven days so that police can determine whether the person has a criminal record or is mentally dangerous. Despite overwhelming police support, George Bush opposes it.

In Longview, Tex., Aug. 26, George said Dukakis wants to disarm the people of his state except for the military and police. Bush knows better than this.

Fact: The number of Massachusetts gun owners has tripled since Mike Dukakis became Governor and grown by almost 50 percent in the past five years. There are 1.7 million handguns, shotguns and rifles in his state with 4.3 million people over age 18.

Fact: In 1968 then Congressman Bush voted for federal gun control, and when it passed he remarked much more should be done to curb purchase of firearms.

People, go to the Democratic headquarters nearest you and compare. You know if you go to buy a car you shop around. Man, this is serious business. Look at your businesses, are they as propserous as of eight years ago?

Roach top legislator

Rep. Randy Roach

State Rep. Randy Roach, Cameron parish's representative, received the highest ranking in effectiveness of the Louisiana legislators on the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate/State-Times' Legislators Scorecard published recently.

Roach had the highest composite score among 144 members of the Legislature--4.5 points on a 5 point scale.

State Senator Sydney Nelson of Shreveport had a composite rating of 4.3 points for top honors in the Senate. Nelson shared the No. 2 spot overall with former State Senator Dennis Stine, of Sulphur, who resigned in July to become state commissioner of administration.

The newspapers' score card is based on responses to a survey mailed to legislators, lobbyists, legislative staffers and others who deal closely with the Legislature.

In posting the highest composite rating, Roach had very high scores in intelligence and honesty/integrity, 4.6 in each category. Roach scored 4.5 in attentiveness, 4.3 in vision and 4.4 in courtesy.

One of the unpaid lobbyists lumped Roach in with the promising new leadership that is emerging in the House of Representatives as part of the "Roemer Revolution."

Other legislators who scored 4.0 or higher on the Advocate/State-Times survey and their composite rating are Rep. Ron Gomex, D-Lafayette, 4.2; Sen. Allen Bares, D-Lafayette, 4.2; Rep. Allen Bradley Jr., D-DeRidder, 4.1; House Speaker Jimmy Dimos, D-Monroe, 4.1; Rep. Virgil Orr, D-Ruston, 4.1; Sen. Randy Ewing, D-Ruston, 4.1.

Also, Rep. Joseph Accardo Jr., D-LaPlace, 4.0; Rep. Bruce Bolin, D-Minden, 4.0; House Speaker Pro-Tem Huntington Downer Jr., D-Houma, 4.0; Rep. John Ensminger, R-Monroe, 4.0; and Rep. Jimmy D. Long, D-Natchitoches, 4.0.

The highest and lowest ratings by category were as follows:

- Attentiveness, 4.5 for Randy Roach and 2.4 for Wilford Carter.
- Intelligence, 4.6 for Roach and 2.1 for Rep. Diana Bajoie.
- Vision, 4.3 for Roach and 1.8 for Sen. Leonard Chabert.
- Courtesy, 4.5 for Sen. Kenneth Osterberger, R.-Baton Rouge, and 2.0 for Chabert.
- Honesty/integrity, 4.6 for Roach and 1.7 for Rep. Sherman Copelin, D-New Orleans.

Training offered

The Office of Women's Services Electro-Mechanical Training Program is accepting applications for the next 13-week training cycle that will begin Nov. 28.

The program is designed to train women for entry-level positions in higher paying non-traditional or blue collar jobs. It provides basic instructions in computer literacy, electricity, principles and operations of mechanical and electrical machines, safe and proper use of hand and power tools, blueprint reading, and mathematics.

Other components of the training program include job counseling, placement assistance, and physical fitness.

To qualify for the program, a woman must be unemployed 15 of the last 26 weeks or laid off from a previous job, have a high school diploma or GED, or a displaced homemaker.

More than half of Cameron parish's 170 teachers have advanced degrees, according to some statistics given to the Cameron Parish School Board recently.

Thirty-four percent have Masters degrees, 17 percent Plus 30 degrees and one has a Specialist degree. The other 82 teachers, or 48 percent, have Bachelors degrees.

Other statistics:

Sixty percent of the teachers live in Cameron parish; 75 percent are women; the average years of experience is 12.6 and the average age is 37.7.

Most of the teachers hold degrees from McNeese--133. Other universities represented are: University of Southwestern, 12; Northwestern, 6; LSU, 4; Louisiana Tech, 4; Northeast, 2; University of New Orleans, 1; Louisiana College, 1; Southern University, 1; and out of state, 6.

Registration

With the registration books now closed until after the presidential election next Tuesday, here is how Cameron parish voters are registered, according to Ruby Kelley, Registrar of Voters.

Of the 6301 voters registered, 5482 or 87 percent are Democrats, 358 or 5.6 percent are Republicans and 461 or 7.3 percent are listed as "others".

Class opened

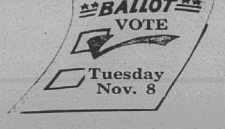
For more information as to the dates and times of classes, call Grand Lake High School at 598-2231 or 598-2056.

TEDs on hold until May 1

Shrimp trawlers have been given a reprieve in the use of Turtle Excluder Devices (TEDs) or reduced two times until next May because of a bill signed by the President Oct. 7.

The bill, public law 100-478, reauthorizes the Endangered Species Act through 1992. It also delays the TED rule until May 1, 1989, in offshore waters and until May 1, 1990, in inshore waters. The delay applies from North Carolina to Texas except for a 60-mile area around Cape Canaveral, Fla.



Next May TEDs will be required on all shrimp trawlers 25 feet or longer in all southeast U.S. offshore waters. Trawlers less than 25 feet must restrict tow times to 90 minutes or less or two TEDs.

No AIDS here

The number of AIDS cases in Louisiana has risen to 983 as of Oct. 5, but none of them are in Cameron parish, according to the La. Dept. of Health.

Neighboring Calcasieu parish has had 19 cases this year of which 10 have resulted in death. Vermilion lists three cases with no deaths this year.

A total of 918 Louisiana men have been diagnosed with the disease and 52 women have been diagnosed.

DAYNE ELAINE WILLIS, representing the Cal-Cam Fair and South Cameron High School, was crowned the 1989 Louisiana Pecan Festival Queen Oct. 22, in Colfax. She will represent the festival at the Mardi Gras Ball in Washington in February.

Parish has two of state's 16 ferries

The state of Louisiana has only 12 state-owned ferries still operating of which two or 16 percent are located in Cameron Parish.

That is the figure given in a recent news release from the Louisiana Dept. of Transportation and Development.

Cameron's ferries are the large 50-car ferry that crosses the ship channel at Cameron and the 6-car ferry that operates between Cameron and Monkey Island.

Years ago before the big ferry was installed motorists traveling west from Cameron had to cross the Monkey Island ferry and then cross another ferry near the Coast Guard station.

Until pontoon bridges were built some years ago, followed by the high level bridges, persons going to or from Cameron parish had to cross ferries on the Intracoastal Canal at the Ellender crossing north of Hackberry and the Gibbstown crossing north of Creole.

There also formerly was a ferry across the Mermentau River at Grand Chenier before the swing bridge was built there.

There were plans several years ago to put tolls on all the state ferries and signs were even put up but the tolls were never implemented. Today the 12 state-owned ferries are still free of charge.

In New Orleans, there are three ferry crossings operated by the Mississippi Bridge Authority of DOTD. Five of the other ferries are on the Mississippi River; Edgard/Reserve; White Castel; Plaquemine/Sunshine; New Roads/St. Francisville; the Duty/Enterprise ferry on the Ouachita River; and the Monkey Island and Cameron No. 2 ferries in Cameron Parish. These last three ferries are 24-hour, seven day per week "demand ferries" which run on a schedule of demand - that is they make a crossing when traffic or pedestrians require it.

The smallest ferries are the Duty/Enterprise ferry (4 cars) and the Cameron/Monkey Island (6 cars).

There are also private ferries that operate around the state, but Louisiana has the largest state-run ferry system in the United States. The state spends $15 million annually to operate the system, including $5.3 million for insurance premiums. Elimination of some ferries and reduced operations of others have occurred in recent years, but DOTD minimized inconvenience to ferry passengers by eliminating shifts during hours of low usage.

Information reward told

This month Crime Stoppers are offering up to a $1,000 cash reward for information which leads to the arrest and prosecution of persons responsible for the theft which occurred at the Cameron Telephone Company yard in Cameron.

Sometime between 5 p.m. June 29, and 8 a.m. June 30, someone entered the yard and broke into two tool boxes in the bed of two of the company's trucks in the yard. Various types of hand tools were removed.

If you have any information regarding this theft, call Cameron Crime Stoppers at 775-7867. You do not have to give your name, a code number will be assigned.

Crime Stoppers is asking that code #1214 recontact Crime Stoppers.

Meetings set on election

Debbie B. Theriot, Cameron Parish Clerk of Court, announced that the Board of Election supervisors will meet on the following dates in connection with the Nov. 8, election:

Friday, Nov. 4, at 9 a.m. in the voting machine warehouse in Cameron to seal the voting machines.

Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m., in the Cameron courthouse to count the absentee ballots.

Thursday, Nov. 10, at 9 a.m. in the voting machine warehouse in Cameron to break the seals on the voting machines and to immediately afterward meet in the Cameron courthouse to tabulate the votes.

Barbecue set in Creole Sun.

The J. P. Boudoin Sr. Council 3014 will hold their annual fall barbecue Sunday, Nov. 6, at the K.C. home in Creole.

Meals will be ready to start serving at the hall or to go at 11:30 a.m. A choice of beef roast or chicken with the trimmings will be served. A cake auction will also start around 1 p.m.

Monies from this function will be for Christmas baskets for the needy in the area from the "Y" to Creole, Little Chenier, Chenier Perdue and the front ridge road.

Your help is asked or any donations will be accepted by Grand Knight Loston McEvers to cheer up and make someone feel like they are not forgotten at Christmas time.

Voting talk

Voting machine procedures will be discussed by Ed Kelley of the Cameron Registrar of Voters office at the Cameron Senior Citizen Center at 10 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 3. All senior citizens are invited to attend.

Election is Tuesday

Local voters will have only one choice to make on candidates when they go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 8, to vote in the national presidential election.

There are six parties listed on the ballot with a presidential and a vice presidential candidate listed for each. Voters may vote for any of the six pairs by pulling the lever opposite the party they choose.

(Technically, voters are voting for the slate of electors listed under party, but a vote for the electors translates as a vote for the respective party's two candidates).

Most voters will be voting for either the Democrats' Michael Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen or for the Republicans' George Bush and Dan Quayle.

However, if neither of the two major parties turn you on, you can vote for one of the four lesser known parties--Independent Populist, Libertarian Party, National Economy Recovery and the New Alliance Party.

Two areas in Cameron Parish will also have local propositions to vote on.

The Johnson Bayou Recreation District will vote on the levying of an additional tax of one-half mill on the dollar of assessed valuation of all property subject to taxation for a period of ten years, beginning in 1989, for maintaining and operating the district's recreation-multipurpose facility.

Fire Protection District No. 15, the Klondike community, will vote on the levying of a tax of 4 mills on the dollar of assessed valuation on all property subject to taxation in the district for ten years beginning in 1989 for the purpose of maintaining and operating the district's fire protection facilities and acquiring fire protection equipment.

Polls are open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Jobless rate is low

The jobless rate was up a tenth of a percent in September, but Cameron parish continued to have one of the lowest unemployment rates in the state.

According to the La. Dept. of Labor, the jobless rate rose from 7.8 percent in August to 7.9 percent in September. Out of a total labor force of 4,750 persons, 375 were listed as out of work.

Only two other parishes were listed with jobless rates lower than Cameron--7.7 percent in Jackson and 5.4 percent in Lincoln.

Calcasieu parish's jobless rate was 10.6, down from 10.7 in August.

For Louisiana as a whole, the jobless rate was 9.7 percent for September, down from 10.1 in August. This was the first time the unemployment rate has been below 10 percent in the state since December, 1987 when it was 9.5.

CAMERON OUTDOORS

They go together

By Loston McEvers

REDFISH & DUCKS GO TOGETHER

Now that alligator harvest is behind us, lots of people have been finding time to do some fine redfish trips. Lots of good catches are coming out of the river and bayous. Some of us are doing a little dove hunting also, but it's time to start getting the mud boats and duck blinds ready. After today we only have 23 days until our duck, coot and goose season opens, Nov. 19 is "D" Day.

I guess most or at least half of us who love to hunt ducks and fish redfish kind of think they go together in the fall and winter months.

What's a more exciting weekend than to go make a good duck hunt in the morning and then go redfishing afterwards and hook on to a couple of 8 or 9 pound reds. It's sort of like Clint Eastwood's movie, "Make My Day". Both sports are challenging and relaxing at the same time.

Dove season will end Nov. 13, but the other seasons open the same day ducks, coots, and geese opens are rail (king and clapper) and (Sora and Virginia), gallinules, and deer will be open Nov. 5; quail will open Nov. 24, and rabbit and squirrel will still be open.

LOUISIANA'S GOOD NEWS

This is located in Southwestern Lousiana, one tract 1,280 acres in Calcasieu Parish and the other tract of 6,120 acres located in Vermilion Parish, south of Gueydan. The tract in Calcasieu Parish is located south of Holmwood.

These two tracts, which consist mostly of rice fields, are for sheltering wintering ducks and geese, and other migratory waterfowl. This is under the North American Waterfowl Management Plan.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will join together to administer this property as part of the National Wildlife Refuge System.

No hunting will be allowed in the refuge area. Enforcement agents and biologists from both state and federal agencies will monitor the area.

When the program started here in Louisiana last summer, Mrs. Verja Adams Mouton from Kaplan, contributed the use of 640 acres.

There were two other donations. The goal was set at between 3,000 to 5,000 acres, but now that Amoco's acreage has topped this, a new goal of 10,000 acres was set.

Other good news in Louisiana was the bald eagle is making a comeback. Aerial surveys conducted during the 1987-88 nesting season show that 36 pairs of bald eagles were nesting, which doubles the count of 18 nesting pairs recorded in 1984.

The goal is to have 40 pairs of nesting bald eagles in Louisiana. However, Louisiana has more pairs of nesting eagles than any other southeastern state except for Florida.

In 1972, nesting pairs were down to only six or seven, but with the control of pesticides entering the environment and putting them on the endangered species list, things have really gotten better.

During the last nesting season, data from 31 of the 36 active nests were taken. Twenty-three successfully raise one or mor eyoung eatlets.

RECORD FISH

A new all tackle world record brown trout, 38 pounds 9 ounces, was caught on the North Fork River in Arkansas. The river flows through North Fork River through North Fork Lake then joins the White River below Bull Shoals.

The brown trout measured 39 inches long and was a male.

Two other records were set in Arkansas. Two yellow bass, one 11¼ ounces and the second 12⅛ ounces.

For Louisiana, no new state records, but back in 1963, a record crappie (white perch) was set at 6 lbs., caught by Lettie Robertson.

LOUISIANA LICENSE

Louisiana sold a total of 791,497 fishing licenses, tags and permits for 1987 fiscal year. Residents bought 748,917 while non-residents bought 42,580. These sales made a total of $2,982,308.

Louisiana also sold 539,065 licenses, permits, and tags to hunters for a total of $5,780,459. Residents bought 530,692 and non-residents, 8,373.

TONY PORCHE, director of the Cameron Rec-Plex, had 11 visitors from Australia, England, Israel, Germany, Holland, New Zealand, and Japan stop by the local complex on their way through Cameron. They are pictured in a group.

Oyster season open in Calcasieu Lake

The 1988-89 oyster season in Calcasieu Lake opened one-half hour before sunrise Nov. 1, and will run through one-half hour after sunset March 29, 1989. Health Department approved areas include all of West Cove and an area marked off with PVC pipe in East Cove. These two areas opened Nov 1, however, all other areas will be closed. (Including Sabine Lake).

The open season will be based on the Calcasieu River stage at Kinder, in Allen Parish. The oyster season will remain open when the river stage is below 12 feet. When the river stage exceeds 12 feet at Kinder, the oyster season will close immediately and remain closed until the river stage drops below 12 feet and remains that way for at least 48 hours. Oyster harvesting will then resume after the 48 hour wait.

Commercial fishermen will be responsible for checking the Calcasieu River stage at Kinder listed each day in the Lake Charles American Press weather section. Additionally, all oyster buyers will be responsible for informing their fishermen when a closure is expected. The Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service Office in Cameron will also monitor the river stage and will inform buyers and docks in the event of a river rise.

"Past data indicates we will see below 12 feet Kinder river stage readings about 70 percent of the time. During a dry winter, few closures will be experienced. During wet winters, many periods of closure will be expected," according to Paul Coreil, LSU Extension SErvice.

Commercial fishermen are limited to ten sacks per boat per day. Recreational fishermen are limited to two sacks per boat per day. All undersized oysters and dead shells must be returned to the reef. Oysters can be legally taken only with hand tongs or by hand. Dredges are prohibited.

Athletic Assoc. meets Thursday

Dear Editor

Dear Editor:

This Tuesday, Nov. 8, is Election Day. To fulfill the requirements for becoming an Eagle Scout, I have been conducting a "Get Out The Vote" campaign here in Cameron. I would like to take this opportunity to remind every registered voter in this parish of their duty and obligation to vote. It is not true that your vote does not make a difference. It is not true that you do not have any real choice.

What is true is that there is just no excuse for not voting. It is a right which many, many people do not have. There are many privileges which come with being an American. There are also some responsibilities which come with citizenship in this country, and this Tuesday, each registered voter must fulfill one of his most important responsibilities.

Please remember to vote. You can make a difference.

Sincerely,
/s/ Christopher Hebert

Tarps take win over Panthers

By ROBERT MANUEL

The South Cameron Tarpons placed themselves solidly into the playoff picture by defeating the Delcambre Panthers 37-16 last Friday.

The intensity of the Tarpon effort, offensively and defensively, put a damper on the Panther homecoming early in the first quarter, as on their first possession, the Tarps marched right on downfield, capping a 43 yard drive with a 25 yard scoring pass from quarterback Chad Mudd to split end Dexter Fountain. Fountain fielded the pass on the six yard line and muscled his way into the end zone with two defenders hanging on.

Mudd brought the Tarpon fans to their feet again early in the second quarter when he rifled a perfect pass into the hands of flanker back Joe Duhon, who had a stride behind the nearest Panther defender. Duhon took it in all the way for a 45 yard scoring play. Fountain's two point play made it 14-0.

Only minutes later into the second quarter, Mudd intercepted a flat pass and zipped 25 yards for more real estate. The PAT failed and the Tarpons went in with a half-time lead of 20-0.

The third quarter was more of the same Tarpon domination. Although the Panther defense was apparently geared to stop Mudd's keeper plays, the Tarpon quarterback had other options that the Panthers had underestimated. Tarpon tailback Walter Jones picked up 175 yards rushing, in which there was a 64 yard scoring dash, in the third quarter. Kelly Vincent got into the kicking game with a boot that split the uprights to make the score 27-0.

Delcambre got its first tally on its next possession. The 70 yard drive was capped with a 3 yard run following a pass completion that had carried to the three.

With the score 27-8, Mudd zipped another touchdown pass, his third of the night, to tight end Lionel Robert. The 12 yard pass capped a 55 yard drive. Kelly Vincent once again split the uprights with a kick to make the score 34-8 to end third quarter action.

The Delcambre Panthers started the fourth quarter with a drive that ended abruptly when Chad Mudd intercepted. Head Coach Parry LaLande then called on reserves to try and take it in. The drive stalled with a fourth and 7, then in comes Kelly Vincent for his second try of the season for a field goal. Vincent booted a 33 yard goal to add still another dimension to the Tarpon scoring attack. The score was now 37-8, with a little less than 11 minutes for the reserve forces to battle the Panthers in the fourth quarter.

Delcambre was to score once more on a 20 yard pass from quarterback Jason Falgout to split end Randall Delcambre. The final score, Tarpons 37, Delcambre 16.

For the Tarpons, it was a super game performance. Its down linemen, Jamie Carroll and J. M. Boudreaux, with relief from Kelly Vincent and Dwayne Guilbeaux, stopped the fullback dives, forcing the offense to option wide into the arms of ready linebackers, ends and corner backs.

The Tarpon offense displayed their most diversified attack of the season and clicked on every option to set the record straight on what they are capable of doing.

The Tarpon defense accounted for five interceptions, their best effort of the season. Three key interceptions, two by Mudd and one by Walter Jones, were big blows in untracking the Panther offense.

Tarps tied for lead in district

By ROBERT MANUEL

District 8A, with but one game left on the district schedule, has three teams tied for the district lead. South Cameron, Hanson and Vermilion Catholic each have one loss. Should each team win Friday, the district championship will be shared three ways. Playoff positions will be decided by point spread among the three tied teams.

Vermilion Catholic, with a plus 10 will take position one, Hanson with a minus 4 will take position two and South Cameron with a minus 6 will be the wild card team and play Elton, the district champ from District 7A.

All this could change Friday as Vermilion Catholic has a tough one at home with North Vermilion, and Hanson could face problems with a rebounding Delcambre. South Cameron will be at Gueydan, winless in district competition.

When cotton was king in Cameron

By Keith Hambrick

(Lake Charles American Press, Nov. 3, 1916)
CRESCENT NOW IN CAMERON TRADE

S. W. Sweeney, clerk of court of Cameron parish, and J. A. Sells, formerly with the North American Land and Timber Company, have purchased the gasoline boat Crescent, from Isaac Vaughan, of Grand Chenier, and will use it for a cargo boat in the Cameron neighborhood. The boat will have no regular schedule. Mr. Sells will be in charge of the craft.

The Crescent is 60 feet long, and has a twenty-five horse-power gasoline engine. Its cargo carrying capacity is unusually large. The Crescent arrived today from Cameron with 20,000 pounds of cotton seed and 32 bales of cotton from the Sweeney gin. Mr. Sweeney to date has shipped 200 bales of cotton and about 100,000 pounds of seed out of Cameron Parish.

(Lake Charles American Press, Nov. 2, 1923)
LARGER ACREAGE IN COTTON

S. W. Sweeney of Cameron, deputy clerk of court of Cameron Parish, is spending several days in Lake Charles. Asked Saturday about crops in his parish, Mr. Sweeney stated that there was about a 20 percent larger acreage planted in cotton this year than last, but owing to the rains in the spring, farmers would make only about a half crop.

This he said, applied to Johnson's Bayou, the Cameron section and Grand Chenier. Corn and potatoes are the other crops in lower Cameron and these, he said, have done very well.

Mr. Sweeney believes the coming fur season in Cameron will be a good one and reported that trappers and fur companies are ready for the season that opens in a few days. Asked if the people of Cameron are expecting engineers of the state highway commission to make the survey for a road to his parish in a short time, he replied that he had not heard anyone express such expectations and therefore could not say concerning that matter.

LAKESIDE LACONICS

We were treated to a pretty sight last week when the Jennie Barbour of Morgan City passed up the lake in the night with every light aglow.

It is reported from Chenier that the high water is hard on the cattle and hogs and will prevent ducks coming in as no feed will be in sight.

(Abbeville Meridional, Nov. 2, 1912)
LAKESIDE LACONICS

The orange crop will be about one-half of what it was two years ago. The trees seem to be affected to an unusual extent this year. It is probably the "scale" at work. Many trees are denuded of foliage and the oranges crack open before attaining full size.

Paul Jollisant has been put on the mail route. We are sorry to lose Capt. George but we are glad to see his place filled by Mr. Jollisaint.

A two days rain and now a cold spell of weather. Our rice friends are getting along nicely with their crops.
