ACTIVITIES

Spirit Soars . . .

Rebels showed their spirit during Homecoming Week held November 10-14. Dressing up, making banners, and voting for the homecoming queen were just a few of the activities that made this week so special.

The dress-up days started with No Sweat Day. Students wore warm-ups to symbolize that it would take no sweat to defeat their opponents, the Pecan Island Broncos. Tuesday was Day of Mourning. Rebels came to school clad in black to mourn the death of the Pecan Island teams. Shoot-'em-Up Day symbolizing the big hunt for the Broncos was held on Wednesday. Duck hunters arrayed in their camouflage gear and blowing their duck callers sparked the Rebels' spirits. Round-Up Day followed. Students decked in western attire were abound. On Friday students wore the traditional red, blue and gray for Spirit Day. Many students enjoyed dressing up and agreed that it was a welcome change from an ordinary school week.

The Pep Rally held during lunch period on Friday provided additional excitement and fun. Classes competed for the spirit stick by trying to out yell each other. After a roof-raising tie between several classes, the junior class pulled together and won.

As the school week came to a close the excitement did not cease. Students, alumni, and fans returned for the homecoming game and the crowning of the queen on Friday night. After the court was presented to the audience during the pregame ceremonies, Stacey Jinks Badon crowned the new queen, Cherelle Duhon.

In spite of the show of school spirit, the Rebels were defeated in both contests. However, the losses did not dampen the enthusiasm of the students as they danced to the music of Odessey at the homecoming dance held in the gym following the games.

Moving to the beat of "Word Up," the Rebel cheerleaders perform for the fans at homecoming.

Holding noise makers, students listen to their competition in the yell contest held by the cheerleaders during the pep rally.

Members of the homecoming court are Amanda Trahan, Joanie Constance, Cherelle Duhon, Sherry Goodwin, Sandy Salter, Erica Laria and Sonja Trahan.

On their way to class, modern day cowboys Dale Jinks and Shase Broussard pause for a picture.

Showing their spirit, Dale Jinks, Cherelle Duhon, Nathan Delino, Scott Romero, Ricky Harrington, Bobby Constance and Richard Miller crowd the hall on "Shoot-'em-up" Day.

Breaking away from the routine, Mrs. Devall, Mrs. Pulver and Mrs. Sandifer join in the fun of dress-up days.

Members of the girls' and boys' basketball teams take part in the pregame ceremonies.

Homecoming Queen

1986-87 Harvest Festival Queen: Sandy Salter

Last year's winners, Melissa Trahan and Tiffany Romero wait to be introduced to the audience.

Festival fun . . .

Dances, advertising signs, hayrides, a track meet and the usual raffles were some of the ways found to raise money for the annual Harvest Festival sponsored by the Athletic Association. With a sharp decline in the number of entrants for the queen's contest, the three lone contestants sought to combine fund raising with fun.

To raise money, Amanda Trahan and her ninth grade classmates held weekly dances at the Community Center. With the help of her parents, Amanda also provided hayrides around the community.

In her first year at JBHS, Erica Laria made friends quickly by becoming a contestant. Students especially enjoyed Erica's Halloween dance held in the school gym.

Supported by her classmates, Sandy Salter, a new student, brought some fresh ideas to fund raising. She led off with a track meet for runners of all ages. Sandy and the rest of the junior class combined fund raising with spirit raising by selling a "foot" to followers of the Rebels.

The hard work came to an end on Friday, November 21 when the Harvest Festival was held in the gym. Following three hours of fun and games, the contestants and their escorts were presented to the audience. They were: Amanda Trahan and Todd Jinks, Erica Laria and Bobby Constance, and Sandy Salter and Jeffery Tramonte. Last year's high school queen, Tiffany Romero crowned the new queen, Sandy Salter. Helping Tiffany was Melissa Trahan, the elementary winner for 1985-86. Together they presented trophies to the first and second runners-up, Amanda Trahan and Erica Laria.

Creatures of all kinds show up for the Halloween Dance given by Erica Laria.

Amidst Frills And Hearts

Valentine's Day was a busy day for contestants in the annual Sweetheart Pageant sponsored by the FHA Club. Entrants in both divisions met early in the day with a panel of three judges to be interviewed. After some last minute practicing, the girls returned home to dress for the pageant held in the school gym.

As all eyes focused on stage, each smiling contestant introduced herself to the waiting audience. To fulfill a requirement added to the pageant this year, each girl delivered a speech she had prepared.

After judging the girls on poise, appearance, and speaking ability, the judges chose Sherry Goodwin as the high school queen and Jessica Logan as the elementary queen. Runners-up in the high school division were Sandy Salter and Betsy Koppie. In the elementary division, they were Reesa Badon and Jennifer Trahan.

Other high school contestants were Eva Comeaux, Tonya Logan, Becky Cory, Erica Laria, and Elizabeth Comeaux.

Elementary contestants also included Janella Trahan, Diane Foreman, Heather Trahan, Regina McGee, Melanie Duhon, Britney Trahan, Beth Skidmore, Jodi Wells, Selina McGee, Sarah Griffith, Bobi Calhoun, Jennifer Blanchard, Melissa Trahan, Brandy Trahan, Jeanne Garber, Summer Hicks, Tonya Jinks, Raedella Badon, Casey Roberson, and Jessica Kellum.

On stage for some last minute practice, Regina McGee, Sarah Griffith, Diane Foreman, Melanie Duhon, and Selina McGee practice their smiles, too.

Nervous about her upcoming interview, Regina McGee sneaks a peek at the judges.

Winners in the elementary division: Reesa Badon, First runner-up; Jessica Logan, queen; Jennifer Trahan, second runner-up.

Finished with last minute preparations, Elizabeth Comeaux, Eva Comeaux and Becky Cory wait for their turns to greet the audience.

With only a short time left, Sherry Goodwin and Erica Laria read through their speeches.

Behind the stage, Brandy Trahan, Reesa Bardon, Janella Trahan, Diane Foreman, and Heather Trahan listen to instructions during a practice session.

Spring Rituals

With the advent of spring came the traditional junior-senior prom. Decked out in all their finery, juniors and seniors and their dates danced the night away under a canopy of pink and black balloons.

The prom, held Saturday, April 25 at the community center, provided the juniors and seniors with time to look back over their years as classmates and school friends.

After a few hours of dancing and socializing, this special evening came to an end but the excitement and jitters would remain in the memories of all who attended.

While some rituals mark the end; others signify the beginning. Looking forward to their senior year, juniors took part in a ring ceremony, an event started this year. As friends and family gathered on May 6 in the gym, juniors received their class rings from proud parents.

Juniors taking part in the ring ceremony were Tracy Bowen, Cherrille Duhon, Tammy Erbeling, Ricky Harrington, Gilbert LeBeouf, James Miller, Richard Joe Miller, Scott Romero, Sandy Salter, Angie Trahan, Bobbie Lane Trahan, and Kelli Trahan.

Rhonda Jinks and Tracy Erbeling are all smiles on prom night.

Awards, Accomplishments, And Athletes

From October to May athletes find themselves caught up in the frenzy of studying, practicing, and participating in games or meets. At times it seems that it will go on forever, but soon the end of school is here. It is then time to look back at the accomplishments and experiences. With this in mind athletes, students, faculty, and community members met Friday, May 15 for the annual athletic banquet.

After a meal of brisket and trimmings, Coaches Doug Welch, Danny Trahan, and Dan Belliot recognized the following athletes:

Girls' track awards-best distance, Sonja Trahan and Tonya Logan; best track, Cherelle Duhon; best field, Angie Trahan and Sherry Goodwin; best track and field, Betsy Koppie.

Boys' track awards-best distance, Troy Miller; best track, Barry Badon; best field, Scott Sandifer and Scott Romero; best track and field, Dale Jinks.

Wrestling awards-most improved, George Constance; outstanding wrestler, Bobby Constance.

Girls' basketball awards-free throw, Cherelle Duhon; rebound, Sherry Goodwin; defense, Tiffany Romero; hustle, Erica Laria; most improved, Sonja Trahan; most valuable, Cherelle Duhon; all district, Cherelle Duhon and Sherry Goodwin (honorable mention).

Boys' basketball awards-free throw, Shane Blanchard; rebound, Scott Romero, defense, Jeffery Tramoto; hustle, Ricky Harrington; most improved, Dale Jinks; most valuable, Shane Blanchard; all district, Shane Blanchard and Dale Jinks (honorable mention).

Scholastic award-Sonja Trahan and Shane Blanchard.

All around athletes-Cherelle Duhon, Shane Blanchard, and Dale Jinks.

Academic all state-Shane Blanchard.

Special guests were the juniors and seniors. The juniors shared with the audience their startling ten-year predictions for the graduating seniors. Not to be outdone, the seniors replied with their last will and testament, leaving their most prized possessions to the juniors. The Junior Prophecy was read by Angie Trahan and Cherelle Duhon. Rhonda Jinks and Sherry Goodwin read the Senior Will.

Also on the program were Delisa Leger and Sandy Salter, yearbook staff members, who introduced the yearbook favorites to the audience.

Athletes receiving letters or certificates are David Skidmore, Eric Trahan, Karl Romero, Layne Boudreaux, Scott Romero, Richard Miller, Dale Jinks, Ricky Harrington, Barry Badon, Troy Miller, and Shane Blanchard.

Winner of the best distance award is Troy Miller.

Before the banquet, Layne Boudreaux gives Denman Goodwin, Shase Broussard, Tracy Erbelding, and Wally Erbelding a preview of the awards to be given.

Winning awards in basketball are Scott Romero, Dale Jinks, Ricky Harrington, Jeffery Tramonte, and Shane Blanchard.

Track award recipients are Sonja Trahan, Betsy Koppie, Tonya Logan, Cherelle Duhon, Angie Trahan, and Sherry Goodwin.

Tiffany Romero, Cherelle Duhon, Sonja Trahan, Erica Laria, and Sherry Goodwin win the basketball awards.

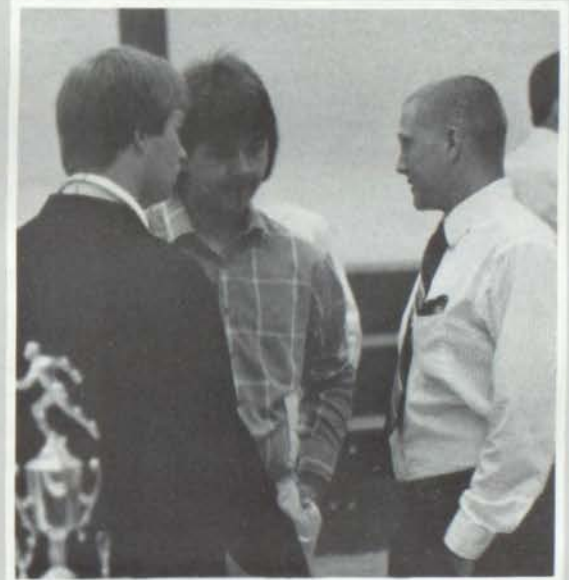

Athletes honored as best all around are Dale Jinks, Cherelle Duhon, and Shane Blanchard.

Final Gathering

Receiving track awards are Scott Romero, Dale Jinks, Ricky Harrington, and Barry Badon.

Winners of the scholastic award are Shane Blanchard and Sonja Trahan.

Richard Miller, Gilbert LeBeouf, and James Miller have their own ideas about tonight's winners.

To make sure they didn't miss anyone, Rhonda Jinks and Sherry Goodwin look over the senior's will again.

Final Gathering

With proud families watching, ten seniors marched down the center aisle of the gym May 22 for graduation.

Shane Blanchard and Wally Erbelding tied for the honor of valedictorian, and Eric Derden was class salutatorian. Following the graduates' addresses awards were presented. Shane Blanchard received the American Legion, Lion's Club Citizenship, Knights of Columbus, President's Academic Fitness, and Scholar-Athlete awards. The Woodman of the World, Masonic patriotism, and President's Academic Fitness awards were presented to Wally Erbelding. Sherry Goodwin accepted the Knights of Columbus and Masonic Lodge Patriotism awards. The American Legion Award was also given to Rhonda Jinks.

Ms. Jean Roberts presented scholarships to two graduates. Eric Derden received the President's Leadership Scholarship to McNeese State University. The Louisiana Board of Trustees Scholarship was awarded to Wally Erbelding.

Mr. Howard Romero and Mr. Ron Vining handed out medals to high school students with the highest average in each of the following subjects: science, Angie Trahan; American History, Wally Erbelding; social studies, Sonja Trahan; Home Economics I and II, Dawn McRight; Home Economics III and IV, Sandy Salter; biology, Dawn McRight; typing, Don Morris; math, Tiffany Romero; business education, Wally Erbelding; English, Sonja Trahan, physical education, Barry Badon and Sonja Trahan.

Stephanie Vining received medals in math, science, reading, social studies and English as the top student in the seventh and eighth grades. She also received the Woodman of the World Award for American History.

The President's Academic Fitness Award was also given to Karl Romero, Betsy Koppie, Sonja Trahan, Stephanie Vining, and Jana Wells.

Principal Howard Romero presented the graduates their diplomas, assisted by Dan Billiot, school board member.

After four years of work, fun, and friendship the end had come. Graduation was a memorable evening with graduates feeling happy, sad, and relieved at the same time.

*District 3 wins, 7 losses
Season 21 wins, 14 losses

Had the season ended before district play began, the varsity boys' team would have concluded the season with an impressive 18-7 record. But with the start of district play, came the winds of change. Coach Doug Welch found himself replacing squad members lost due to disciplinary action and failing grades. By the time the team had adjusted, play-off action was out of reach. Despite the additional losses in district play, the Rebels finished the season with a winning record.

Before leaving the team, Eric Derden led the team in scoring. His best, 40 points, was gained in an easy win over Starks.

Tournament action took place early in the season with the team playing at Pecan Island, Bell City, Grand Lake, Orangefield, South Cameron (parish), and home. The boys won their own invitational tournament and finished second in both the Pecan Island and Cameron Parish tournaments.

Senior Shane Blanchard captured district honors once again. He was named to the 8-C All District team.

Although the season ended on a sour note, valuable experience was gained by the five juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen who are looking forward to next year.

On defense, Jeffery Tramonte, Scott Romero, and Shane Blanchard watch for the inbound pass as Hyatt's Billy Woods looks for an opening.

As the West Brook five work for a shot, Jeffery Tramonte, Eric Derden, Shane Blanchard, Dale Jinks, and Ricky Harrington keep the Bruins out of shooting range.

Rebel team members — Kneeling: Barry Badon, Scott Romero, Layne Boudreaux. Standing: Coach Welch, Shane Blanchard, Ricky

Harrington, Dale Jinks, Jeffery Tramonte, Karl Romero, Richard Miller, Don Morris, Tammy Erbeling (manager).

Going in for a layup, Jeffery Tramonte adds two points to a 67-62 win over West Brook in the J.B. Invitational.

With 2 minutes, 16 seconds left in the game, Coach Welch calls time out to make a change in strategy.

Out Of A Slump

Posting a 5-5 district record was a remarkable feat for a team that was also plagued by changes in the team roster. Even before the loss of three members, the Lady Rebels had difficulty playing first-rate basketball for more than two quarters.

Faced with a rebuilding effort, Coach Trahan recruited two eighth graders and reorganized his starting five. After several losses, the Lady Rebels finally came alive. Posting district wins over Reeves, Hyatt, and Singer and losses to Hackberry, Grand Lake and Singer, the girls ended district play. Although their 5-5 district record was not good enough for a berth in the play-offs, the record brought smiles of satisfaction to the team and its coach.

District play seemed to have brought out the best in the players after their earlier struggles. Cherelle Duhon was named to the 8-C All District team.

Team members: Tiffany Romero, Joanie Constance, Cherelle Duhon, Robin Peavy, Sherry Goodwin, Erica Laria, Marcie Duhon, Kris Trahan, April Trahan, Sonja Trahan, Tammy Erbeling (manager), Coach Danny Trahan.

Blocked by Grand Lake's Bernadette Fruge (34) and Rachael Manuel (21), Sherry Goodwin manages to get off her shot.

In position for the rebound are Cherelle Duhon and Hyatt's Shewanna Maltos (5) and Tammy Anderson (20).

Listening to the referee's call, Cherelle Duhon, Tiffany Romero, and Sherry Goodwin move into position after a turnover by Hyatt.

Playing Their Best

In an effort to develop the younger basketball players, coaches lined up several games for the 6th and 7th grade teams with teams from Cameron Elementary, Grand Chenier Elementary, and Grand Lake High School. While the season was a losing effort for both teams pointwise, it was successful in providing valuable experience for the players. The performance of each team showed a noticeable improvement by the last game.

Action for the freshmen teams came mainly in the Cameron Parish Freshmen Tournament held at Johnson Bayou in January. With only three teams in each division in the tournament, the Rebels and Lady Rebels placed third.

Players listen intently as Coach Denise Trahan gives last minute instructions before the start of the team's first home game.

Shout It Out

During the course of the basketball season, the cheerleaders arouse the spirits of the fans and team members with their routines and cheers. Being a cheerleader is a lot of making signs, practicing, and looking good. But when they are on the sidelines they seem to be having a great time.

Returning to the squad were Jana Wells, Reesa Badon, Nicole Duhon, Karen Erbelding, Julie Boudreaux, and Rachael Touchet. Newcomers on the squad were April Tingler and Krystal Blanchard. Helping the cheerleaders in their practice sessions and preparations for homecoming was Bobbie Lane Trahan, student sponsor.

Whether painting signs or leading the crowd in cheers, the Rebel cheerleaders showed the true meaning of spirit and pride.

Rachael Touchet, April Tingler, Julie Boudreaux, Jana Wells, Krystal Blanchard, Nicole Duhon, and Reesa Badon find it almost impossible to build a successful pyramid with Karen Erbelding missing.

Pushing for victory, Krystal Blanchard, Julie Boudreaux, Nicole Duhon, and Jana Wells lift the fans' spirits at halftime in the Hyatt game.

Tracksters Capture Six Meets

When the track season opened, Coach Danny Trahan and his Lady Rebels set their eyes on a third straight championship. The Lady Rebels were young in experience but long on determination. They put forth their best effort in every meet, finishing first in six of eight meets, edging out both class AA and B teams.

Based on their performance in regional, the Lady Rebels were projected to finish second in the state meet. Since meets aren't run on paper but cinder, the results were not as expected. The tracksters finished fourth with 44 points, only three points short of second.

The squad failed to pick up any first-place finishes in the meet. The 400-meter relay team of April Trahan, Tiffany Romero, Cherelle Duhon, and Betsy Koppie picked up a second with a 54:45 clocking.

Depth for the Lady Rebels came in the field, where Sherry Goodwin was third in the shot put (33-6) and Angie Trahan was third in the discus (96-11) and fifth in the shot.

Stephanie Vining was third in the high jump at 4-8 and Cherelle Duhon' took third in the 100-meter low hurdles and fifth in the 400.

Sonja Trahan finished third in the 1600 with a time of 6:08.71 and Tonya Logan was sixth in the 3200 with a time of 14:54.77 to round out Johnson Bayou's scoring.

1600 Meter Relay Team — Sonja Trahan, April Trahan, Betsy Koppie, Cherelle Duhon. With a clocking of 4:35.16 at state, the 1600 meter squad beat out Grand Lake for the first time this season.

Field Events — Betsy Koppie, long jump; Erica Laria, long jump; Stephanie Vining, high jump; April Trahan, high jump.

800-Meter Relay Team — April Trahan, Stephanie Vining, Tiffany Romero, Betsy Koppie.

Ten Reach State

Originally scheduled for Baton Rouge, the state track meet was moved to Lafayette because LSU's renovations on its track were not completed. The location made little difference to Coach Welch and his Rebel squad who were set to defend their Class C crown. With ten qualifiers, the Rebels finished second to Saline with 63 points. Even though they missed the state crown, their performance was top notch.

Leading the Rebel effort was Ricky Harrington, who established a new record of 13-6 in the pole vault. Ricky started at 12-6, flew over that height, then did the same at 13-0. At 13-6, he missed on his first attempt. After moving the standards back, he ascended easily over the bar. His attempt at 14-0 was not as successful.

In addition to pole vaulting, Ricky finished fifth in the hurdles and ran legs on the fourth place 400-meter relay team and sixth place 1600 meter relay squad.

Ricky and Dale Jinks were the only first place finishers. Dale hurled the spear 158-2 to capture the javelin throw. Dale also placed third in the long jump with a leap of 20-0½ and ran on both relay teams.

Second places came from Nathan Delino in the pole vault and Troy Miller in the 3200. Ranked fourth, Nathan cleared the bar at 10-0. Troy's time was 10:59.17.

Other scoring came from Scott Romero in the discus, Barry Badon in the 100, and Scott Sandifer in the triple jump. Rounding out the relay teams were Bobby Constance, Eric Trahan and Shane Blanchard.

Clearing the bar at 13-0, Ricky Harrington takes another first. This vault places him in second for Southwest Louisiana Track Leaders in pole vaulting.

An eighth grader, Eric Trahan hurls the discus during the regional meet. Failing to qualify in the discus, Eric qualifies in the 1600-meter relay.

What's Cooking?

Students joining the FHA club this year found themselves doing more than just cooking. Early in the year, club members held a Skate-a-Thon at Skate City in Lake Charles. After an hour's ride, the girls skated for four hours to raise money for the March of Dimes.

The annual Harvest Festival brought out the FHA food booth known for its great funnel cakes. This year freshly-squeezed lemonade was sold to the delight of visitors.

During the Christmas season, members raffled off a basket and sold candy grams to raise money for the district and state meets. Members once again became Kris Kringles to faculty members by giving gifts to teachers secretly.

To help with the many activities, committees were organized. Serving as chairpersons were: Dawn McRight, fundraising; Tracy Bowen, entertainment; Sonja Trahan, hospitality; Tiffany Romero, Sergeant at Arms; and Amanda Trahan, projects.

At the annual Mother-Daughter Tea in May, the top FHA member was announced by club sponsor, Mrs. Reneé McDaniel. Based on points accumulated through the year, Delisa Leger was named Miss FHA.

The club beau was Dale Jinks.

Attending the district meet are Tisha Trahan, Delisa Leger, Amanda Trahan, Erica Laria, Betsy Koppie, Dawn McRight, Tiffany Romero, Sonja Trahan, and Joanie Constance.

Being sworn in as officers are Delisa Leger, historian/parliamentarian; Joanie Constance, treasurer; Erica Laria, secretary; Robin Peavy, vice president; and Tisha Trahan, president.

Between sessions at the state FBLA conference in Baton Rouge, Angie Trahan grabs a bite to eat.

After a busy morning, Tracy Bowen and Bobbie Trahan replenish their energy source.

Business As Usual

It was business as usual for the FBLA club, as members launched their big candy sale in April. Coordinating the sales was Richard Joe Miller. As a sales incentive, members competed for money and a T-shirt. Joanie Constance, top salesperson, won $27. and an FBLA T-shirt.

Members also attended the district conference in Lake Charles in February. In competition at the conference, Angie Trahan rated superior in office procedures and qualified for state competition. Entering the poster contest were Wally Erbelding and Dale Jinks.

Attending the state conference in Baton Rouge in April were Angie Trahan, Tracy Bowen, Bobbie Trahan, and Mrs. Juanita Sandifer, club sponsor. In state competition, Angie Trahan received a superior rating in office procedures.

FBLA members were: Shane Blanchard, Tracy Bowen, Joanie Constance, Nathan Delino, Eric Derden, Wally Erbelding, Dale Jinks, Erica Laria, Delisa Leger, Dawn McRight, Richard Miller, Angie Trahan, Bobbie Trahan, Tisha Trahan, and Jeffery Tramonte.

Besides meeting monthly, 4-H'ers are involved in other activities. In October, club members traveled to the Prien Lake Mall for a Fun Day. Taking part in the style show were Reesa Badon and Tonya Logan.

Troy Miller spent many hours caring for his prize-winning pig. Troy entered his animal in the Parish Livestock Show in Cameron in January and the district show in February in Lake Charles. His efforts paid off when he sold his pig for $2.75 per pound.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Linda Touchet, the club also sold candy, hosted several dances and provided refreshments for the teachers during Teacher Appreciation Week.

Senior club officers: Troy Miller, president; Kris Trahan, secretary-treasurer and reporter.

Volunteering her time, Linda Touchet attends monthly meetings, holds workshops, and travels with the group.

Deadlines

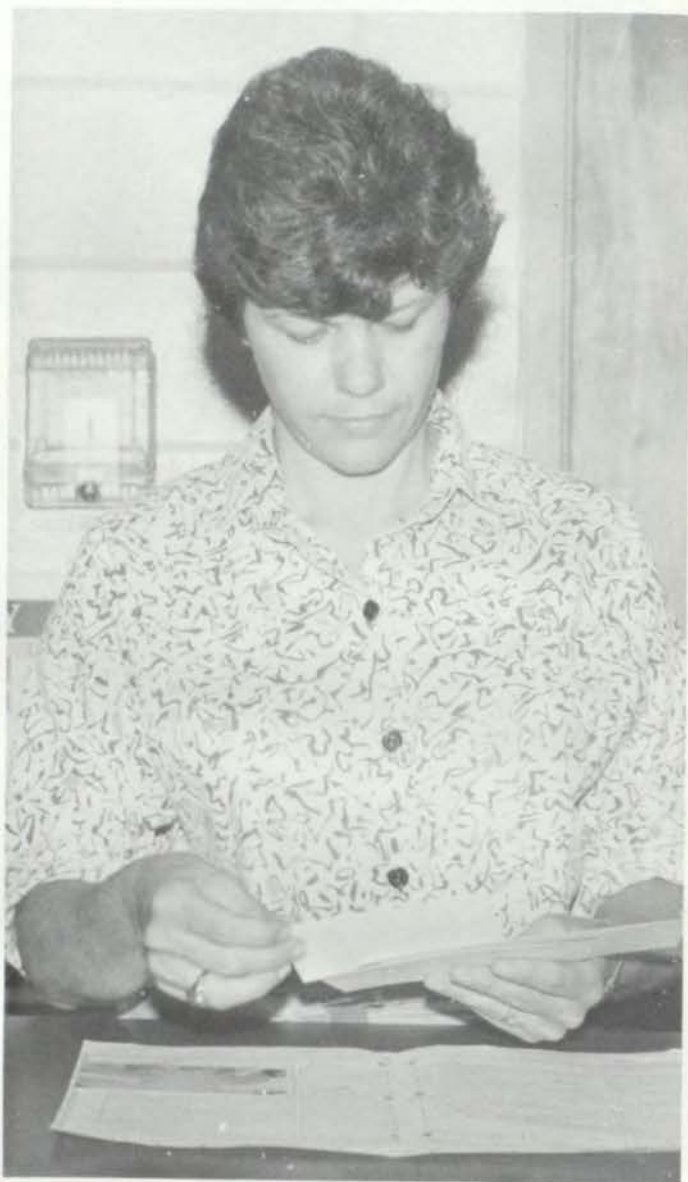

Deadlines. Even the word created a negative image. When it came to meeting the inevitable deadlines necessary to a yearbook's production, there was a rush to finish layouts, develop pictures, and write copy. If a picture was to be misplaced, deadline time was the most likely time. Dealing with all these problems and more were new staff members Delisa Leger, Betsy Koppie, Sandy Salter, and Tammy Erbelding.

Members also found much of their time spent in raising money for the annual. Besides selling the yearbook, members sold old photographs, jewelry, caps, and buttons. In January, with the help of the Athletic Association, an elementary wrestling tournament was held. The staff closed out their fund-raising activities by spending a day in Cameron selling ads. Accompanied by Mrs. Wynette Erbelding and sponsor, Peggy Boudreaux, the group had a rewarding day.

With such a small staff, it was necessary to ask for help from others. Parents, teachers, and students were often-asked to take pictures at events, to loan negatives or pictures, or to raise money.

As the school year ended work on the yearbook did not. June and July were spent completing the layouts for the final pages. A sigh of relief could be heard when the last deadline was completed and the envelope marked "Final Shipment" was dropped in the mailbox.

Looking over newly developed photographs, Mrs. Boudreaux chooses pictures for a layout.

Sandy Salter and Betsy Koppie put up signs advertising the yearbook sale in October.

At the athletic banquet, Sandy Salter and Delisa Leger introduce yearbook favorites.

When it comes to finding new ideas for layouts and graphics, Betsy Koppie, Delisa Leger, Tammy Erbelding, and Sandy Salter pour through sample pages.
