And So This Is Christmas!

Christmas was a bittersweet one this year. Just a few days before the annual Christmas play we lost our precious Ashley. Although saddened by our loss we knew that she was finally at peace. Our Christmas play took on a special meaning as we had it the day after we said goodbye. We did our very best for we knew she was watching.

REBELS HOOP IT UP

The 1995 - 1996 basketball season had many ups and downs. This was due to 3 starters never having played organized basketball before. It was an unruly experience at times for them. However, they hung in, matured, and gained a year's experience. They are all coming back next year, except Andy. This experience will definitely aid in being successful in the upcoming season.

The 95-96 season was a very successful one for the Lady Rebels. We had four returning seniors and several good underclassmen. It was my first year as a coach on the high school level, and it was quite a learning experience. Many times the girls and I did not see everything the same way and at times it created much turmoil among us. We did, however, seem to really gel as a team when the playoffs began. We were able to easily defeat our first round opponents. We then moved on to regionals and defeated Grand Isle in a hard fought contest. Our season ended with a quarterfinal berth against Singer. It was the girls' best game of the season. However, we came up short in the end. All things considered I believe that it was a very good season.

There are lessons in life that can not be learned from a textbook. Thus were the lessons learned from our Ashley. She taught us of strength, courage, friendship, and most of all laughter. Our lives are forever changed because of her ordeal. May we never forget how precious our time on this earth is and never forget those who showed us how to face our fears with courage.

Final Countdown!

Ms. Hicks' 4th graders enjoy the goodies she provided for the last day of school.

As the classes line up for their final day, everyone waves good-bye.

Ms. Garber averages the final grades for her 1st graders.

School employees gather in the cafeteria to reflect upon the past year, enjoy good food, and say good-byes to those who will not be returning.

SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!!!!
